Army Announces Plans For CBW Destruction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army today announced an elaborate one-year, $12 million plan for the safe destruction of U.S. biological weapons. The plan, which has taken more than a year to develop, will carry out President Nixon's order of Nov. 25, 1969, for the total destruction of all offensive germ weapons. The Army said these weapons have been created since 1943 at a cost of $720 million. Col. Gerald Watson, project officer for the destruction, told a Pentagon news conference that the plan can be put into effect as soon as approval is given by federal agencies and safety agencies. The danger of contamination with germs and the necessity for absolute safety were given as the reasons for the high cost and long duration of the program. Watson said flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees and sterilizing steam at a temperature of 280 degrees will be used in the course of burning and burying or evaporating the material. Most of the destruction will be carried out at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., where all U.S. germ warfare materials designed for use against human beings are stored in three buildings called "spikes," two of which are kept at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero. Destruction of biological materials designed for use against enemy troops will be carried out at Ft. Detrick near Baltimore, Md., at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Denver, Colo., and at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif. Watson said the program will take 40 weeks at Pine Bluff, 26 weeks at Ft. Detrick, 22 weeks at Rocky Mountain Arsenal and long duration of the program. Watson said flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees and sterilizing steam at a temperature of 280 degrees will be used in the course of burning and burying or evaporating the material.

Resident Urges The Sanford Zoo Be Retained

Editor, Herald: Please read what I have to say before consigning it to the waste-basket. We have lived in Seminole County for nearly 30 years. We love it here. It has been good to us that it why I am about to "protest"—a word I use as a friend of the residents of the Sanford Zoo.

Through the years we have had many and (I do mean many) relatives, friends, and acquaintances visit us from the north and west and all points, and I have been a great pleasure to take them to the Sanford Zoo. Our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren have been thrilled with the animals.

I have heard many people say they had visited other zoos some larger, but this was the nearest most complete zoo they had ever seen and they never fail to go back time after time to visit the animals and of course shop while in Sanford.

The greatest attraction Central Florida has had been the Big Tree and the Sanford Zoo. We have watched Seminole County grow from a vast wooded area to many new developments. Dr. Otto Gerner, Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor said he found nothing to the charges. The White House said President Nixon would understand for such intelligence gathering.

The President picked John B. Connally Jr., former Democratic governor of Texas, as secretary of the Treasury, replacing David M. Kennedy who is to be an ambassador at large.

The Food and Drug Administration pulled about a million cans of tuna off market shelves after they were found to contain mercury. The agency said the tuna was not unsafe. Republican governors and senators-elect met in Sun Valley, Idaho, and had a closed session with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Some of them criticized Agnew for his campaign tactics, but he said he would attack the Democrats in the same manner in the future.

The court-martial of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged in connection with the My Lai massacre in South Vietnam, recessed for the holidays. A hearing was held at Ft. McPherson, Ga., to determine if his company commander, Capt. Ernest L. Medina, should stand trial.

On the zoo situation... I am not impressed with the number of "letters" which all of the area school children are composing on this subject. What I'd like to know is... how many of their parents are going to be willing to support their youngster's actions with the long green from their wallets?

And where the cattle once pastured is a large hospital. But the main attraction for Sanford has been the zoo, not the racing stables or Jai Alai or beer joints, but a fine little zoo. Do the city fathers have the right to do this? I'm sure the residents of Oviedo and close surrounding areas will power want a raise in pay they get it. Let's find a way to keep the zoo, for the day it closes for good, please fly flags at half mast for it will be a death blow to a lovely city. Just sign me.

Sanford First.

Zoological Society Formation Urged

I am 42 years old and grew up in Jacksonville. One of my memories from childhood is stopping at the Sanford Zoo when my family drove from Jacksonville to Orlando to visit relatives.

I say "hooray" to all the children who are writing letters and I will add my support to them.

Sanford's charm has always been its location on the river or Lake Monroe and the zoo right there on it. I have no children, but now that I live in South Seminole County I have taken children of friends and relatives to the zoo.

In our urban and suburban life today many children no longer have the acquaintance of wild life as we used to have. I consider a zoo a great contribution by any municipality and cannot understand the attitude it is an unnecessary frill in this day and time.

I'm in a position now to make small contributions and if there are a thousand or so like me it might add up to enough to form a zoological society to help. Enclosed is a check for $10 made to "Zoo Committee." I'm sure you can forward it to an appropriate group to use it for a zoo.

Perhaps the commissioners who are objecting to the zoo are hoping to get support like this outside the city. I hope they will from individuals and other governmental bodies.

Zoo Ideas Broached

By BILL SCOTT
Sanford's zoo committee will meet tomorrow at 7:30 a.m. at House of Steak to discuss the aftermath of the Saturday "Zoo in" which attracted several hundred people in a show of opposition to a planned phase out.

Also expected to come before the committee are two methods by which the Sanford City Commission at a Friday meeting held the 45-year old attraction can be saved from its scheduled demise in nine months.

These include a city-wide referendum to be held, probably in February, to allow free-holders to express themselves via the ballot box to approving up to four extra mill tax to fund the projected $300,000 cost to relocate the zoo to the new 14-acre site adjacent to the Sanford Herald.

Other privately expressed opinions believe that if the county does take the zoo, it will cease to be free.

Still another idea is flourishing that enough subscriptions to a county-wide zoological society will be obtained by the Oct. 1, 1971 phase-out date, to help fund the relocation to the site just selected near The Sanford Herald.

In the meantime, several groups including Sister and Carol Gager's taxpayers association are continuing their efforts to keep the zoo by getting signatures to petitions.

AND THEN THE FUN BEGAN...
LOOKS OF eager anticipation show on the faces of youngsters in the Lyman High School Child Day Care Nursery as goodies shower down on them from the pinata made by the Spanish Club, which celebrated Christmas party.

Mayor's Post To Be Filled

By MARION BETHEA
NORTH ORLANDO — Filling the vacancy in the office of the mayor will be under consideration by Village Council tonight at a 7:30 meeting.

The vacancy was created by the resignation of Mayor Clifford Jordan, effective Jan. 5, when he ran unsuccessfully for the district 4 seat on the County commission. Council has the elective of appointing Jordan to the post, or of appointing Vice Mayor Pat DeVillaggio.

Also to be considered tonight is the franchise issue of an ordinance granting a natural gas franchise in the Village to Florida Public Utilities. At the meeting on Dec. 7, which took place last night, a continuation, DeVillaggio stated that he would like to give more consideration to the franchise when it was pointed out that there might be toxic effects. Former Mayor Mrs. Irene Van Espel was also present to express opposition because of possible toxicity.

Discussion will be held relative to employment of a maintenance man in the city. Councilman Charles Rowell has mentioned that there is a need for maintenance in the Village.

There are two requests for zoning changes. One request is from Florida Land Company, for a commercial rezoning on the property located on Moss Road. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Parker

Water Study Funded
A water resources study which has been initiated by the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council in the amount of $50,000 will receive a portion of funding from Seminole County.

County Commissioners have voted to contribute the county's share in the amount of $2,500, provided that the other four counties to be included, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Indian River, also contribute.

County Commissioners have voted to contribute the county's share in the amount of $2,500, provided that the other four counties to be included, Orange, Osceola, Lake and Indian River, also contribute.

The county stressed that the funding is not to exceed the specified amount, and that should the study not be funded by the council, that the county will consider participation with other counties.

The Council has experienced problems in funding the study due to the fact that one county has dropped its membership, and this has necessitated the remaining counties to assume this share of funding for the studies.

Run-Off Election Day Presents Voter Challenge

Let Us Forget! Tomorrow — Dec. 22 — is the day on which the registered voters of the City of Sanford will elect a new city commissioner to serve for three years.

Under their direction the city will be operating all the city services. But the policy, which is the backbone on which all municipal acts must depend for support, is the sole duty of the elected commissioners.

This is most natural, most welcome and to be expected. Yet if we return to the subject of civic duty — not only on the part of the commissioners, but the citizens — there can be no denial that greater attendance at the polls and at the meetings would be a tonic which would stimulate our officials and spur the municipality to greater achievements.

Day during Christmas Week is a calendar coincidence which could defeat the purpose of such an event. Let it not be so in Sanford tomorrow. Let it be known that the Sanford voters and taxpayers can be a total which will show civic pride by acts not words among Sanfordites and seal the new commissioner with solid support!

Merchant Marine

In spite of the years of debate that preceded adoption of President Nixon's maritime program, there are still those who persist in writing off as failures past programs to maintain the U. S. Merchant Marine and who downgrade the new program.

The president of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping has endeavored to set the record straight. He says, "The contributions of the American Merchant Marine are important in terms of national growth and well-being are most significant and yet little known."

As other nations, most notably Russia, move to vastly enlarge their maritime interests, the U. S. has the choice of either applying its technological superiority to creating a merchant marine capability that commands respect as part of its overall sea power or of withdrawing to the position of a second-class nation. The latter is an untenable proposition.

Going All Ape

The Lincoln Park Zoological Society in Chicago has hit on a novel way to raise funds for a new ape house in the Lincoln Park Zoo: adopt an ape. A donor contributes $25 which becomes an honorary parent and will receive a photograph of his foster ape. Better yet, anybody who donates $10,000 can have an ape in the zoo named after him, or anybody who donates $5,000 can have an ape at the zoo who's named after you, "might be a little unsettling, but it certainly would make an ideal present for the man who has everything."

Life is like baking bread—the more the heat, the crustier you get. The way inflation is going today, a man who hasn't a nickel to his name isn't a helluva lot worse off than one who has $100,000. People who work on the 7th floor of a skyscraper feel that they have worse head colds in winter than those who work on the 10th floor because of their longer, ear-popping elevator rides. Maybe one of their fringe benefits should be altitude pay.

There are a number of good reasons for marrying a woman for her money, but one overriding reason not to — it usually doesn't pay.

Domestic Comment:

This election year has seen several clergymen — Protestant and Catholic — running for office. In Connecticut and Rhode Island, men of the cloth were at the center of the controversy of mixing politics and religion. This disturbs many people, who feel that ordained ministers should not seek public office, fearing undue influence for their particular sect or denomination.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today held the key to congressional adjournment but remained locked in debate over the controversial supersonic transport—SST—program.

NUMEROUS YOUNG couples, engaged to be married, wish they weren't. That's obvious from recent surveys. One out of five young men so involved told pollsters they intended to call the whole thing off, but wanted to wait awhile before doing so.

Skit Highlights Christmas Party

By ELLA MAY FRAZER

DELTONA — Civic Association Auxiliary members gathered in the Community Center on Lake Monroe Dec. 17th for their Christmas Party and exchange of gifts.

Santa Claus made "his" usual appearance, but Mrs. Claus lagged along! Dressed in a red mini skirt befitting our delightful Florida climate, she was loath to return to the North Pole.

President Lillian Flynn opened the meeting and immediately a motion was made to dispense with the business except to hear the treasurer's fine report.

A motion had been made at the last meeting to make a financial donation to the Deltona Library and Mrs. Louis Lindwig, head librarian, was there to accept the gift.

The Auxiliary announced a dinner dance they are putting on Jan. 16th at the Community Center, which is open to the public. Mrs. Jerry Amundson is in charge of ticket sales. Mrs. Pat Lynch is in charge of the arrangements for the party. Mrs. John Medlicott and her Committee will cook the meal. Norm Right's Orchestra has been engaged.

To order tickets phone 668-6633. And better hurry, as only 160 can be accommodated.

There were six guests and five new members: Mrs. Wynona French, Mrs. Florence Kugler, Mrs. Blanche Parkhurst, Mrs. Mary Rose Gray and Mrs. Bertha Sylvana.

When the meeting was turned over to the Program Chairman, Mrs. Winifred Zeberte, some of the group disappeared "into the wings" to dress for a skit on the Christmas excitement caused by a visit from Santa and his wife!

Mrs. Marie Ryan played carols and everyone sang during this waiting period.

Then, first to come "on stage" was a member dressed for a Minnesota Christmas — red and black plaid wool shirt, pulled tight, heavy muffler, red mittens, and a cap pulled way down. She removed the mittens to play for the skit! Memories of Minnesota winters were enough!

Santa and his wife (Mrs. Weidig and Mrs. Stuhrenberg) sang a specially composed song depicting situations that might arise in Santa's escapades while away from his workshop in the far North! Laughter filled the Center as a dozen members cavorted and danced, dressed in

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always criticizing women. He says the worst thing that ever happened to this country is when they gave the women the right to vote, he says they are nowhere near as intelligent as men, and all women should be kept pregnant or barefoot.

Whenever he sees a driver do something dumb, he says, "That has got to be a dame!" He blames everything from the San Francisco earthquake to the Chicago fire on the stupidity of women. Next time he starts up with me about how dumb women are, what can I say to shut him up?

BROOKLYN

DEAR ABBY: Ask him why he didn't remain a bachelor.

DEAR ABBY: When I went overseas I had a girl who promised she would wait for me. We started to live since eighth grade. Her letters kept me going, and I slept with her picture next to my heart every night. After I got home I found out she had been running around with other guys since the day I left. Everybody knew it but me. Her mother told me she kept on writing to me like everything was the same between us because she didn't want to break down my spirits while I was away.

She's getting married to a guy she's only known a month. I'll love her, Abby. Please tell me how I can get over her. "GONE TO POT" DEAR GONE: You can get over her by facing the facts. She is marrying someone else. If she started to run around on you the day after you left, she's no bargain. Better to have had a cheating girl friend than a cheating wife. Maybe you're luckier than the guy she's marrying.

DEAR ABBY: I have read with much interest the years of your encounters with women who write. "My husband likes to wear lace panties what shall I do?" Or, "Is my husband perverted because he sleeps in a nylon nightgown?" Your answers usually reflect wisdom and compassion.

I am a 40-year-old man who has been wearing women's clothing for at least 40 years. I find much comfort in a corset, nylon and bloomers under my male attire.

My wife is very understanding, and has always helped me to obtain feminine clothing. We have raised three fine children. I am very masculine (outwardly) and have

You are all stirred up and want to accomplish a lot of work, but you need to consider carefully what the other person has in mind if you are to get the worthwhile results desired. Try to be more cooperative and not so wrapped up in your own aims and ambitions. Treat any inquiries quickly to prevent infections.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)—It is important to carry through with promises you have made to others, so get busy early at that. Listen to suggestions, requests of male, also. Follow through wherever possible.

A Christmas for most of us is a combination of busy shopping and candlelight and happy faces. A time for cracking walnuts before a fire.

It's seeing a girl utterly overcome when she unwraps her first pair of earrings.

And hearing her call a friend to say, "I got the records I wanted but I refuse to listen to them until you can come over."

"Dr. Crane," her grandmother began, "I'd like to give Lois a present which will be an aid to her in later life."

"But I don't have a lot of money, so I can't offer her a college scholarship."

"So what else would you recommend?"

"A typewriter for Lois now, at her age of 18, probably will do more to get her into college than a $1,000 scholarship when she is 18."

Unless a person can read easily and express his thoughts neatly, he hasn't much chance of getting into college, anyway.

Thus many parents who take out college insurance policies for their children, fail to nurture their interest in cultural subjects, so those youngsters flunk out of high school.

Or, because of low grades, they develop a dislike for education.

Remember, if a person is good at anything, he usually will like it.

But if he is poor in his grades or the "dummy" of his class, he will hate education and never aspire to go onward to college.

You can often procure a good secondhand typewriter for $50, since that is the usual trade-in allowance thereon.

And a used typewriter will prove quite adequate for the pupil in grammar or high school.

Actually, such a child will also gain higher school marks because of the neatly typed letters and class reports.

Khrushchev: From Coal Miner To Powerful World Politician

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

The Khrushchev memoirs illustrate the complex character of Nikita S. Khrushchev and provide clues to what made him one of the world's most spectacular political figures in his time. What was there about this roly poly with the amiable grin which permitted him to rise from the mines, where he and his father had begrimed themselves with back-breaking toil, to become one of the most powerful men on earth?

In the memoirs, published today in book form, the former premier and Communist party chief of the Soviet Union shows himself as a man who always was enormously ambitious and who in his younger days developed a mighty thirst for power. Another side to his personality, as illustrated by his words, shows him as a man with a wide streak of honest peasant in him. He seems to have had a large capacity for indignation, although often this, even by his own accounts, was misdirected. Khrushchev could be terrifying when the occasion demanded, but his reminiscences make it appear that he rather regretted the means he had to use to climb to political eminence. He probably did what he was told to do because it would lead him where he wanted to go to the top. If he did not particularly like what he had to do, he was a realist about it. Stalin's enemies were automatically liquidated. When the job fell to Khrushchev in the Ukraine, he overawed it with customary thoroughness. Yes, his words often suggest he would have preferred to be Khrushchev the likeable. That was the gregarious side of him. He would have liked to like people, to like even Americans and other foreigners, and he gave them the impression of being gung-ho. The other side, the side of the suspicious Russian, the side which could not help being wary or, at times, impudently arrogant, as well as to potential rivals at home the worst of possible intentions. Direct and blunt himself, Khrushchev confesses to having been baffled by Mao Tse-tung and the Communist Chinese with their devious ways. Just as he was deeply puzzled by the seeming illogicality of the Arabs whom his regime befriended. The deviousness of the Soviet leadership was of a different sort, along side the Chinese, often seeming so transparent as to be almost childish. Khrushchev's words show him as the sort of man who could be both bombastic and crude and

Economy Gauged With Unstable Standard

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Year after year we used rigid standards for weight and content among other things, but when it comes to the economy we use an unstable standard that can only delude.

Nothing but a computer can say precisely what a current dollar is because its value changes by the minute. General inflation has made the dollar worth less and less, the inevitable result of persistent inflation year after year.

Let us assume, merely to illustrate, that the dollar was worth 100 cents in 1969. By 1970 it was worth only 83 cents and by 1971 only 40 cents. Then came the depression, and buying power rose to 17 cents in 1938, to 37 in 1940.

After that, the dilution of purchasing power continued. In 1959 the dollar that was worth 100 cents 50 years earlier had dropped to just 33 cents. In 1960 it was worth 27 cents, and this year it is worth 23 cents.

Now apply this standard to the gross national product.

which is supposed to be, but really isn't, the sum total of all goods and services produced by a nation. This week it is said to have reached $1 trillion a year. Check your almanac and you will find that about 10 years ago the GNP was just a little more than half that figure, which suggests that in one decade the United States doubled its output, an entirely erroneous conclusion.

Since the GNP for 1960 was measured in 1960 dollars, and the GNP for 1970 was measured in 1970 dollars, there simply is no comparison that can be made without resort to a mathematical formula.

The 1970 dollar must be discounted by about 24 per cent to make it comparable with the 1960 dollar. If the 1970 dollar is used as the measure, then that 1960 GNP was close to $650 billion. If the 1960 measure is used, the 1970 GNP is closer to $500 billion rather than $1 trillion. Nevertheless, the nation this week not only claimed to have achieved a trillion dollar GNP but heralded it as a momentous achievement. It meant, said the President, that the nation was now strong enough to correct many social ills. The GNP in reality has not grown in 15 months; the illusion is created by inflated current dollars. The delusion is compounded by inherent contradictions in the GNP concept. There are many places' activities. Such efforts are unpaid, at least in dollars. If the student were to quit school and become a laborer, his activities would

"UNROOM" or multiple purpose family room of a newly designed, completely computerized house has one feature that would be any woman's dream. The floor that doesn't need waxing. In fact, you couldn't wax it if you wanted to because the

Local Academy Exception To Rule

By DAVID L. LANGFORD

SANFORD, Fla. (UPI) — Like the cadets of Gascony, those defenders of old homes, old names, old splendors, the sons of Southern gentry once were schooled early in the use of lances and gunpowder.

Military academies flourished across Dixie. Their histories or legends — are filled with stories of how boy soldiers fought and died in the Yankee onslaught. Time nullifies tradition.

"In today's world, children don't want to go to a place and live under rules and regulations where they can't have cars and do what they want all the time," said Capt. Earl M. Clark, headmaster at Admiral Farragut Academy in St. Petersburg.

And some parents, according to Jack Natcher of Miami Military Academy, "feel military training is a passport to Vietnam."

Enrollments down — The National Association of Independent Schools said 14 military prep schools, responding to a recent survey reported their enrollments down this year. Kentucky Military Institute recently closed its winter facilities in Venice, Fla., and students for the first time this year to help ease the economic pinch. Natcher, executive vice president, says he is "gratified with the result."

Georgia Military Academy at Milledgeville, Ga., McCallie School at Chattanooga, Tenn., and Bolles in Jacksonville, Fla.,

Values are sometimes reversed. Today, shouts of "hell no, we won't go" are drowning out the evidence of young cadets.

Shortage of Money — Faced with a wave of anti-military sentiment, growing permissiveness in the home, and a general shortage of money, the nation's military prep schools are struggling to keep their doors open.

Some have succumbed and closed. Others are staying alive on the strength of endowments and cutbacks. A few have altered tradition by admitting girls.

"We believe a young man with college acceptance on his mind will concentrate and succeed in a strictly masculine environment," Turner said. "Occasionally we lose a boy who wants to go home with his girl friend, but the Sanford battalion is generally willing to work harder for weekend furloughs."

Matter of Economics — Miami Military Academy enrolled 17 coeds as students for the first time this year to help ease the economic pinch. Natcher, executive vice president, says he is "gratified with the result."

"I feel we're on the right road," said Natcher. "Besides the matter of economics, the girls are stimulating more interest in social things and manners. They help out with the yearbook, serve as canteen sponsors and are helping plan our military ball.

Military prep schools are expensive. At Sanford, for example, tuition, board, and uniform allowance total $2,241 a year. The rules are rigid, the discipline strict. While many public schools are marketplaces for marijuana, a boy can get kicked out of Sanford for smoking tobacco in his room.

Values are sometimes reversed. Today, shouts of "hell no, we won't go" are drowning out the evidence of young cadets.

Shortage of Money — Faced with a wave of anti-military sentiment, growing permissiveness in the home, and a general shortage of money, the nation's military prep schools are struggling to keep their doors open.

Tragedies Are Needless Christmas Safety Hints

By ANDREW R. KELLY

Every year, from a few days before Christmas to the week following New Year, a plague of fires rages up and down the country. Many are the result of the extra hazards which exist during the holiday season and from carelessness that would not be tolerated at any other time.

Most of the tragedies are needless, and the Seminole County Firemen's Association in cooperation with the National Fire Protection Association recommends that you follow these simple safety rules to make 1970 and future Christmas fire safe.

THE TREE

Cut a growing tree or try to try one that hasn't dried out from prolonged storage. (When too dry, tree branches are brittle and shed needles easily.) Stand the tree in water outdoors until you are ready to use it indoors.

Bring the tree indoors just before Christmas and take it out as soon afterwards as possible. (December 26 is recommended.)

Use the largest tree the greatest of the hazard, so don't get one any larger than you need.

Just before setting up the tree, saw off the trunk at an angle at least one inch above the original cut.

Place the freshly cut tree trunk in water and keep level of water above the cut the entire time the tree is indoors. (Check the water level at least once a day for absorption and evaporation.)

Support the tree well. Don't put it near sources of heat.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

William Tell, a Swiss folk hero, was alleged to have shot an apple off his son's head. The World Almanac says that according to legend Tell had refused to comply with a decree that the Swiss must uncover their heads before crossing a tyrannical Austrian barrier. As punishment he was forced to perforate his legendary feat.

'Girl In The Box' Is Back To Normal

By ERIC SHARP

Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — As Barbara Jane Mackie does her holiday shopping in Atlanta, there's nothing about her to suggest she was the center of a drama that kept the city's spotlight on her for two years ago.

Robert Mackie paid $500,000 in cash to ransom his daughter from a tomb 8 1/2 feet long and 3 1/2 inches high. Now his days are filled only with the worries of a father with a pretty young daughter.

She plans to spend part of the holidays at Boone, N.C., where she is working for the Junior League.

Barbara was a junior on the Dec. 17 in 1968 when her mother sent to Atlanta to visit. The women stayed at a motel near the university.

At 4 a.m. that morning, a jagged and bound Jane Baynell Mackie floundered across the night parking lot.

Progress Came In '70 To Christmas, Florida

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
CHRISTMAS, Fla. (UPI) — It was lunch hour at a topless bar down the highway from Christmas and a string-haired nymph was working out of a recording of "Jingle Bells Rock."
Closer to "the city of peace," the American Indian Club had a hand-painted sign on the road advertising a turkey shoot every Saturday and Sunday until Christmas.
And outside the community center the Christmas Women's Club was holding its annual bazaar.
The ladies were peddling homemade pies and cakes and dolls and dolls to spin-off customers from the bazaar.
"That highway has everything messed up," said Mrs. Margaret Vickery, one of the bazaar ladies. "By this time of day we used to sell $75 to $100 worth of stuff. I bet we haven't taken in $50 today."
Progress has also come to Christmas in the form of a brand new yellow Post Office building with 3709 emblazoned on its front. And though the ladies at the bazaar were having their problems, long-time Postmaster Juanita Tucker hasn't noticed any slackening of the seasonal deluge of mail.

Patrol Car Secretary

Police officer leaves his car to discuss possible traffic violation with motorist while his "secretary" — the new Xerox Mobile Printer — automatically records radio calls and prints them on a roll of paper. The radio-operated device prints at the rate of 280 words a minute and means patrolman won't miss any messages — routine or urgent — while he's away from his vehicle. The compact device fits on the front seat and can be incorporated easily into existing networks. It was developed by Xerox Corporation's Communications Products Division in Rochester, N. Y.

Interview With Red-Nosed Rudy

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEW YORK (NEA) — Short of sitting down to a private session with Keeffe Braselle and/or Fran Jeffries, the ambition of a young, red-nosed American reporter I know is to get an exclusive with Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer.
So, when Rudy's public relations man called and said he'd like to see me, I rushed over to the Hill Building (known as "The Tower") — a 200,000 sq. ft. office building and found Rudolph, his publicity man and Johnny Marks, who wrote the song about Rudy's adventure, huddled up in a histro on the ground floor.
Rudy looked a lot different from the way I had pictured him, but Johnny had a quick explanation.
"It's natural that you'd be surprised to see him signing other women of show business. 'It's true,' said the songwriter, 'but you have to remember that this is his 21st birthday. He's very much a member of the New Generation.'"
Rudy was in town, it turned out, to do some drumbeating for his record and explore some other avenues of show business. "It's true," I asked, "what one columnist wrote that you're considering a couple of sex exploitation films — 'Trancer and Dancer and Donner and Blitzen' and 'Sexual Freedom at the North Pole'?"
"Nonsense," snorted Rudolph. "I don't even know the guy who wrote that junk. Never talked to him in my life. It's also untrue that I'm heading up a Reindeer Liberation Movement."
As far as what Rudy calls "The Record," goes, hardly any of the 40 million copies of the record have been sold. Rudy's disc has sold 10 million copies (40 million in the United States and abroad) and is recorded by 40 artists. The sheet music sales are over five million. (Gene Autry's original version accounts for seven million of those record sales.)
"It's the second biggest seller of all time," said Johnny, "right behind 'White Christmas.' But you have to remember that 'White Christmas' is eight or nine years older."
"That's pretty impressive, too. The show has run for seven straight years and, according to an ad his producers took in Variety, it's the highest rated longest-running serial in TV history."
"Look," said Rudy, chomping on his pipe, "I have nothing against Frosty the Snowman or Charlie Brown or the Grinch. All good buddies of mine, but it bugs me when people go around calling Milton Berle 'Mr. Television' and Jackie Gleason 'Mr. Crazy' — they've never come up with a special that out-pulls mine and I'll do along with them, but baby, they can't do it."
"That's why I decided to hire a public relations man. I've been hiding my nose under a bushel for too long."

Aussie Locomotive Going Strong

By GORDON TAIT
Associated Press Writer
SYDNEY (AP) — Loco 3246 is the granddaddy of the New South Wales Railways, 77 years old, with 2,245,000 miles on the clock.
She is still hauling passenger trains as she did May 15, 1903 when 3246 first went into service, but her days are numbered. Rail men say that in a year or two all steam locos in this state of Australia will have gone to the scrapheap, except perhaps a few kept to haul train loads of steam enthusiasts.
Loco 3246 has pulled passenger trains all over New South Wales, and at the height of her career was hauling express and Newcastle at 60 miles per hour. Then she was a gleaming green and red, the colors of the aristocrats of the tracks.
Today 3246 is black, travels at a sedate pace between Singleton and Newcastle with a load of steelworkers, school children and shoppers. But with only this daily return trip of 100 miles, 3246 has virtually no chance of catching up the 111,250 miles by which she trails the now-retired 3242 for the mileage record.
And even if she is given extra time for the record, it likely will have been overtaken by one of the diesels. Some of these, put on the rails only 15 years ago, are on the two million mile mark.
While train enthusiasts will be sorry to see the end of the "right ladies," the crews will be glad to exchange the coal shoveling and smoke and hot and cold of the open footplate for the push buttons, the diesel's conditioning, and the hot plates (for meals) of the diesel and electric locos.
One railwayman who remains sentimental about the steam engines is Des Melton, assistant district loco engineer at Broadmeadow, the depot where 3246 warms up.
"I feel the steam engines have a certain personality that the diesel lacks," he says. "Even here in the depot they have an atmosphere and life about them all the time they're in steam. But when a diesel comes in, it's shut down and is just dead machinery."
Engine driver John Bates of 3246 says: "I reckon she's the best diesel engine ever made, and she can still get up to 60 miles an hour, our speed limit. But there's no comparison with a diesel for comfort and handling."

Dream Come True

New Laws Protect Consumer

Editor's Note: Holder in due course, a legal doctrine dating to the 17th century, still confronts today's consumers. How it can affect you, and what is being done to change its impact, is examined in this dispatch from the AP Special Assignment Team.

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Problem: You bought a new car this fall. The first week the carburetor needed adjustment. The second week the electrical system failed. The third week the brakes went out. And the fourth week the lemon just conked out completely.
Solution: Stop making those $30 a month payments until the car is put in working order.
That solution seems like a dream to owners of automotive lemons. But in Massachusetts a new set of laws has made such recourse more than a dream—it has, one official said, become "a real possibility." And consumer advocates are working to get similar laws across the country.

Laurence R. Huxbaum, the Massachusetts assistant attorney general who described the car scenario as a possibility, adds: "To my knowledge it has never been tested." The state's newest law is only a few months old.
The main effort nationwide has been in stripping the law of provisions which have created a haven for outright swindlers. The swindlers have included home improvements and the sales of pots and pans, records, books and food freezers.
Getting the heaviest scrutiny is a doctrine called holder in due course. Massachusetts has outlawed it. Virginia Knauer, U.S. President's assistant for consumer affairs, has urged other states to follow suit. The Consumer Federation of America has endorsed its repeal.
"What is holder in due course?" A New Jersey family found out when they signed a contract to purchase a stereo record player and 140 record albums over a three-year period.
The family received the record player and 12 albums and began making monthly payments of $22.77. They later received another record, yet it wasn't until the family had paid over $300 that they tried to stop making payments.
It turned out the firm which had sold the record player and albums had gone bankrupt. Meanwhile, the firm had sold the lending note signed by the family to a finance company. The finance company argued it was not a holder in due course, meaning it was not responsible for the performance of the record seller and was entitled to collect the money due under the contract, even if the merchandise was never delivered. The finance company demanded the financing contracts to somebody else, taken the cash and left town. The homeowners are left with sizable debts, a shoddy job and no way to get back at the seller.

"It's a tremendous umbrella protection for fraud," said Blair Shick, one of the center lawyers who has specialized in holder in due course.
"There is a branch post office in Christmas, Mich., but postal officials say the volume of mail there is very light."
Mrs. Tucker is the daughter-in-law of the community's preceding postmaster, Lisette O. Tucker, who got the job in 1982 when the mail was halted twice a week from Chuliotta 12 miles to the north. Most of the year she runs the office by herself, but in December she gets five helpers.
(Cecil A. Tucker II, of Citrus Heights, Sanford, former Seminole County agricultural agent, is a son of Postmaster Juanita Tucker.)
"Whoever I laid out that packing lot must have been out of his head," he said. "It ain't half big enough."

Progress has also come to Christmas in the form of a brand new yellow Post Office building with 3709 emblazoned on its front. And though the ladies at the bazaar were having their problems, long-time Postmaster Juanita Tucker hasn't noticed any slackening of the seasonal deluge of mail.

Holder in due course permits shady operators to set up business with nothing but a telephone and a record office. A holder in due course is a person who has purchased a negotiable instrument (such as a check or promissory note) from a seller who has sold the instrument to a finance company. The finance company argued it was not a holder in due course, meaning it was not responsible for the performance of the record seller and was entitled to collect the money due under the contract, even if the merchandise was never delivered. The finance company demanded the financing contracts to somebody else, taken the cash and left town. The homeowners are left with sizable debts, a shoddy job and no way to get back at the seller.

"It's a tremendous umbrella protection for fraud," said Blair Shick, one of the center lawyers who has specialized in holder in due course.
"There is a branch post office in Christmas, Mich., but postal officials say the volume of mail there is very light."
Mrs. Tucker is the daughter-in-law of the community's preceding postmaster, Lisette O. Tucker, who got the job in 1982 when the mail was halted twice a week from Chuliotta 12 miles to the north. Most of the year she runs the office by herself, but in December she gets five helpers.
(Cecil A. Tucker II, of Citrus Heights, Sanford, former Seminole County agricultural agent, is a son of Postmaster Juanita Tucker.)

Hanukkah Observed By Jewry Of World

By ANN RILEY

Jews around the world begin the eight-day observance of Hanukkah at sundown today, commemorating the victory more than 2,000 years ago of a small band called the Maccabees over a Syrian tyrant.

According to tradition, the Maccabees found a lamp with oil for only one day as they were cleansing and rededicating the temple in Jerusalem.

But the lamp burned for eight days, giving rise to the custom of lighting candles during the holiday, also known as the Festival of Lights.

Barbara and Julius Haberman and their three daughters, of Indian Hills, are among those of Seminole County who will celebrate this holiday in the traditional manner with the lighting of the Menorah candles and the serving of latkes (potato pancakes).

Since this is such a joyous occasion, gifts are given to the children of the family for eight days, plus Hanukkah gelt (chocolate coins wrapped in gold paper).

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

When the guy called me yesterday to arrange for a photographer, I really thought he was putting me on.

At last night's coronation for Miss Seminole Junior College, the caller said that the new "queen" would be wearing "crumpled satin trousers" . . . and sure enough, that's what Bob Holand had on.

Was I surprised that a he won? Nah, but I did have reservations about those satin trousers, though . . . (Do you really think that "her majesty" will wear the tiara to all of his classes, too?)

And now how do you gals feel about your stupid "lib" movement . . . just go to show you that we males are stupider than you, eh?

Calling all kids . . . calling all kids . . . (at least those living down Allamonte Springs-way.) The fire department will pass candy throughout the five protection districts served by these fire fighters.

It'll take place tomorrow, starting at 6 p.m.

About The Sanford Marina, behind the scenes maneuvering will probably break the deadlock, and eliminate the problematical 2-year judicial fight on the sunken docks matter. Let's hold our breath and say a prayer or two, O.K.?

It's getting to be more and more common, and perhaps one of the contributing factors on why more citizens don't show up . . . talking about governmental meetings throughout our county and the fact that instead of sticking to the agenda, everything BUT that is covered for about an hour before the elected officials get down to the nuts-and-bolts.

Come on gents . . . those seats get awfully hard, not to mention that many of those attend- ing just might have another meeting to get to as well.

Big smile originating in Oviedo . . . thanks to a special dividend being mailed to all of the stockholders of The Citizens Bank of Oviedo.

According to L. H. Webb, Executive Vice President . . . not only the regular dividend but an extra one, too.

And next year they'll be celebrating their 25th anniversary with a promise from Webb that "we hope to make it one of exceptional growth."

From The Sanford JayCees . . . "Tell all the people that all profits from tree sales will go toward the zoo."

The Seminole County School Administration office, including all annexes, will close at 3 p.m. Wednesday for the employees annual (sic) Christmas party.

EXTENDING Happy Hanukkah Holiday Greetings to all, are "The Habermans" — Lisa, Barbara, Sherri, Julius and Stacy of Indian Hills.

Way Is Sought To Continue Zoo

By BILL SCOTT

Sanford's zoo committee today has offered a $100,000 annual fee for which the Sanford zoo would be operated by a non-profit organization.

In a 90-minute session held at the House of Steak, the committee agreed an action course to approach the City Commission at the next regular meeting, Dec. 28.

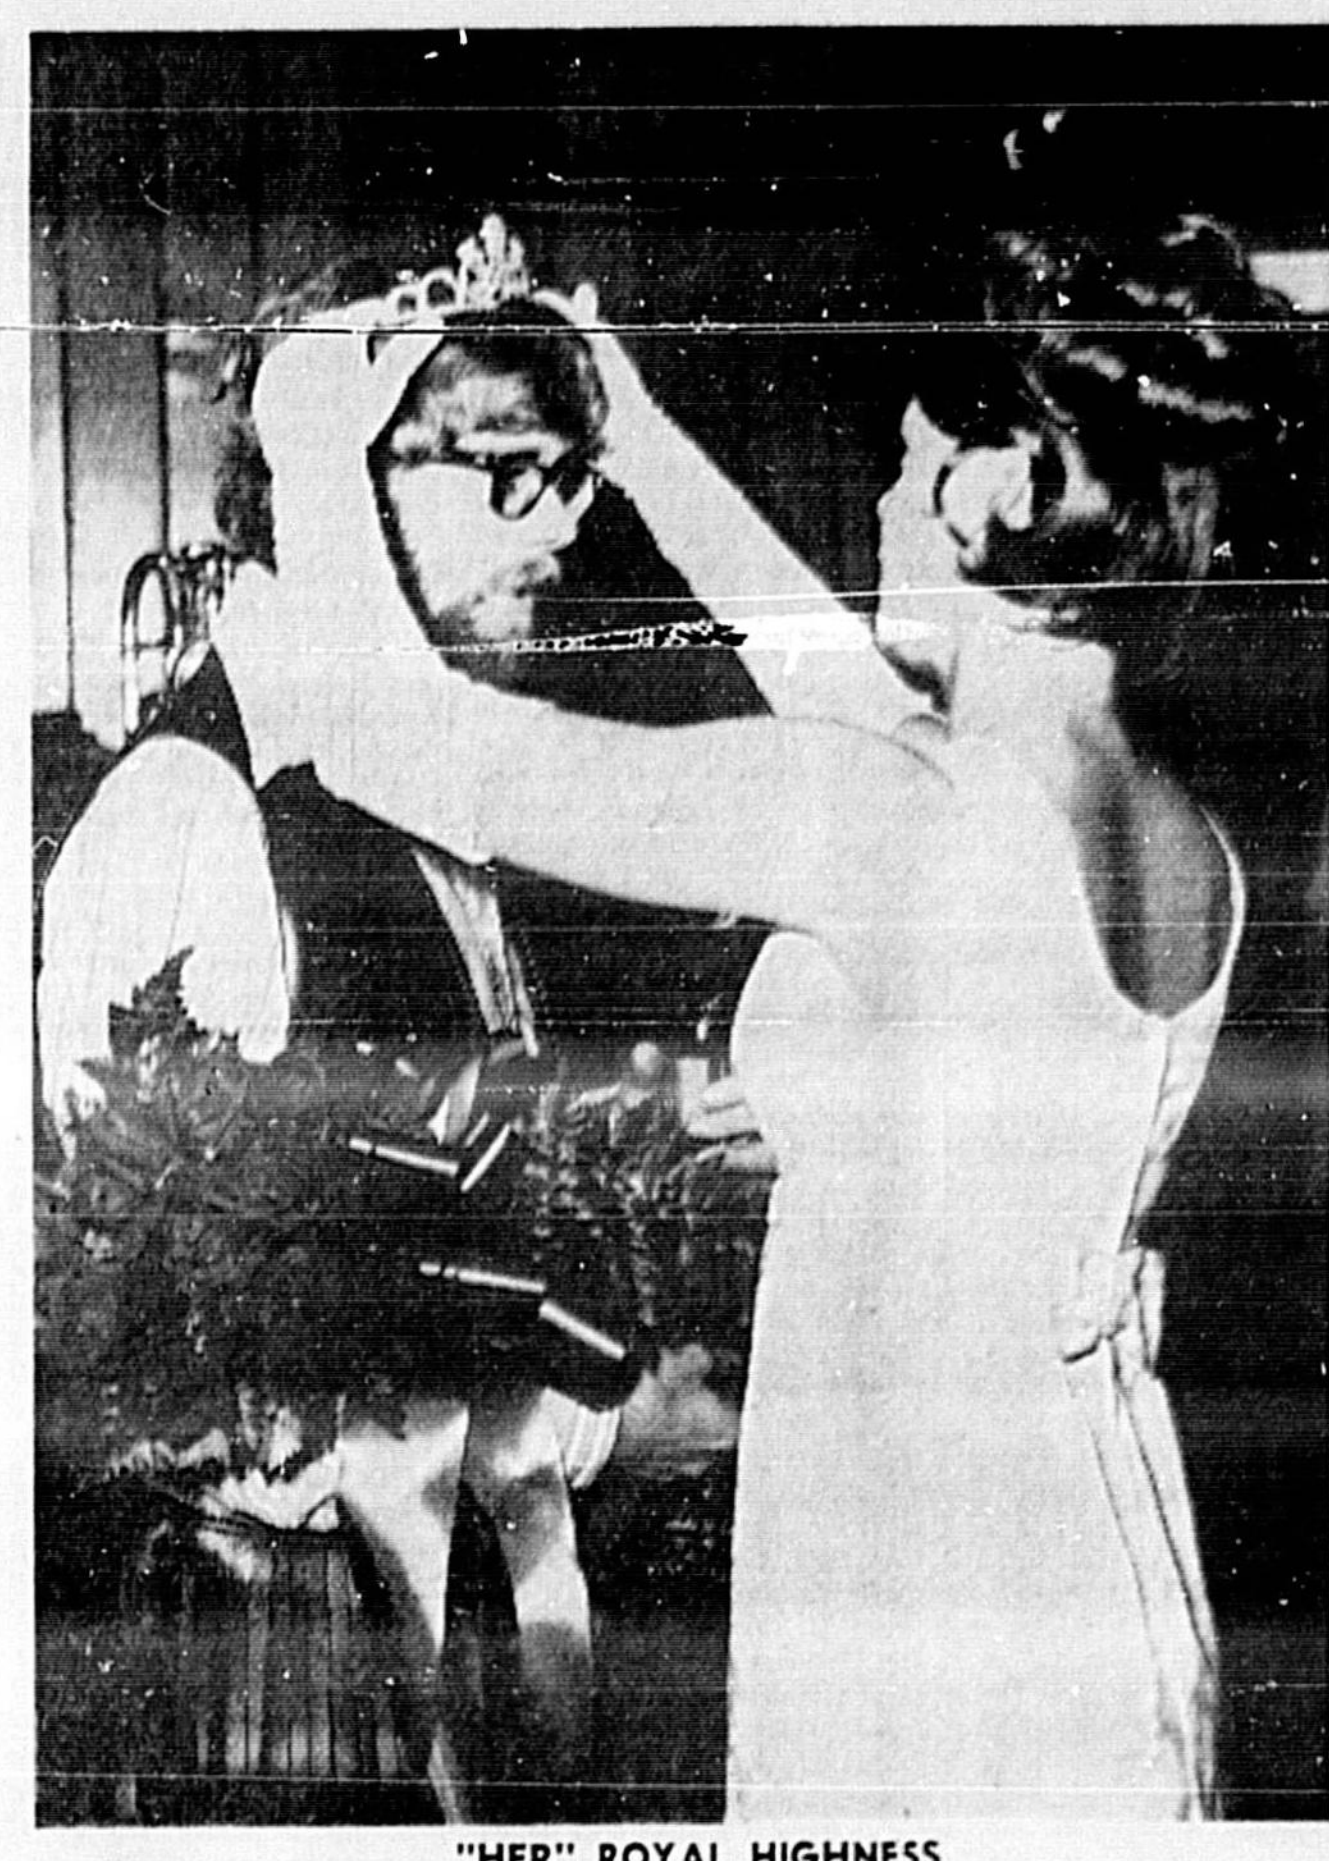

The committee will ask the commission to lease the present zoo site for two years and seek a lease on the new 14-acre site off Seminole Boulevard at $1 a year or 99 years to a zoological society to operate the zoo.

The commission also will be requested to release the $30,000 in zoo relocation funds to the non-profit society to be used for zoo purposes, along with an additional subsidy each year of a sum of money for zoo operation.

Previously the commission had offered a $100,000 annual funding to the county, if that body would take the zoo off the city's hands, but the County Commission declined the offer when it was made two years ago.

At a special Friday meeting between the zoo committee, SISTER, a civic improvement group, and City Commission, there was an indication that the commission would offer the $30,000 zoo relocation money and the new zoo site to the county, if the county would operate the facility.

The zoo committee said today it would not seek to obtain a referendum of Sanford freeholders to fund the zoo relocation with a levy of up to four mills as suggested by the commission. (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 1)

Deficit Income Reported

By MARION BETHA

County Engineer William Bush this morning was requested by County Commissioners to prepare a break-down of primary and secondary road expenditures, exclusive of rail road signals, preliminary engineering and annual maintenance for each project in order that the Commission may ascertain the balance of funding needed for bona fide construction projects in the five year road plan.

It was reported that there is a deficit in the income to secure primary rights-of-way and in the secondary road program in the amount of $100,000. A particular increase is noted in the projects of SR 46 and SR 46, and the fact that the board does not have sufficient primary right-of-way construction projects in the five year road plan.

The two committee said today it would not seek to obtain a referendum of Sanford freeholders to fund the zoo relocation with a levy of up to four mills as suggested by the commission. (Continued on Page 1B, Col. 1)

Purchase Action Protested

Sanford Port Authority (SCOPA) at last night's meeting took no action to request from the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that the authority become a chamber member at a $100 annual fee.

M. L. Raborn, port member, moved no action be taken after the request for membership was outlined by a letter from the Chamber.

It was apparent from the expressions of the authority members that the reasons for not adhering to the request hinged on feelings that a tax supported governmental body not be a Chamber member.

George Harden, authority member, in viewing the request said he felt a taxpaying entity should not support the Chamber.

Edward Yarborough, a county commissioner and member of the port board, agreed with Harden and stated, "I feel a governmental body should not be a Chamber member."

Raborn questioned why the requested $100 fee and said he thought memberships sold for $15.

"I have nothing against the Chamber but it is strange a governmental body should be asked to become a member," Raborn added.

In other actions, Raborn requested that James Ryan, Port Authority administrator, have a report on what firms are being contacted to use the new pier completed port at the next monthly meeting.

Ray Paulley, of Lawton Brothers, appeared to protest the award of a bid to Tennant for a sweeper by the authority.

Paulley contended his firm submitted the lowest bid by $517 under the machine that was purchased but W. C. Hutchison, port attorney, stated the authority was within its rights not to accept the lowest bid, according to dollars and cents.

He said the bid invitations called for the lowest and best bid and it was decided by the authority that the Tennant sweeper was the best sweeper for the use for which it was intended.

Extremely Light Vote

Sanford voters were showing an almost complete disregard of the municipal election Tuesday in which Julian Stenstrom and Earl Higginbotham seek a lone seat on the Sanford City Commission.

Poll workers, at the Sanford Civic Center, reported shortly after noon today that only 593 voters had cast ballots, out of more than 6,500 registered voters in the city.

The polls will close at 7 p.m.
