Troops Abroad Reviewed Price Rise Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move to halve the number of American land-based troops abroad comes before the Senate today. Also to come under Senate discussion is a proposal to slow the development of the Trident submarine program, subject to a lengthy closed-door session Tuesday. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said a cut in the 500,000-man overseas force is necessary to ease the balance of payments deficit, fill domestic needs and end the policy of military confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Compromise Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise $9.9-billion appropriations bill has won House approval to finance farm, food stamp, school milk and consumer and environmental program.

$38 Billion in Overruns

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Alabama congressman says many government agencies are subject to cost overruns on their projects. Rep. William L. Dickinson, a Republican, said he has a list of some $38 billion worth of overruns, including $12 billion for the Interstate Highway system. This proves the military isn't the only area subject to overruns, he said.

Presidential Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—The proposal that the president be elected directly by the people was to be the subject of a Senate hearing today. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said he hopes chances for approval of the plan have been improved by the current climate for election reform. A constitutional amendment would be required. The president now is chosen by a panel of electors who are picked by the voters.

Senate Sustains Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has sustained President Nixon's veto of a bill liberalizing loans for disaster victims. It was the seventh time this year the President's veto has been sustained by Congress. Nixon had said the bill might cost as much as $800 million a year.

Buchanan Claims Smear Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan accused the Senate Watergate committee staff today of maligning his reputation and denied he had any part in political sabotage against Democrats. In an opening statement before a televised session of the committee, Buchanan said there was "an apparent campaign, orchestrated from within the committee staff, to malign my reputation in the public press prior to my appearance." He said what he called a "campaign of vilification" is a "direct violation of committee rules and subod." "How can this select committee set itself up as the ultimate arbiter of American political ethics if it cannot even control character assassins within its own ranks?" Buchanan said he neither recommended, authorized nor was aware of "any ongoing campaign of political sabotage against Sen. (Edmund S.) Muskie or any other Democratic candidate."

'A Perfect Ending To Skylab Journey'

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Doctors were elated with the physical conditions of the Skylab 2 astronauts today after their record 59½-day space mission. Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma planned to sleep late aboard the recovery carrier headed for San Diego, Calif. The astronauts blazed back to earth Tuesday in a perfect ending to their journey. They splashed down six miles from the recovery ship which was waiting about 230 miles southwest of San Diego. The three were quickly hoisted aboard the New Orleans with their precious cargo of films, tapes and other data which could provide vital information about the sun, the earth and man himself.

JACK LOUSMA ALAN BEAN OWEN GARRIOTT

Dr. Royce Hawkins, the chief astronaut physician, credited the good health to a rigid exercise program while they were in space. "All three crewmen are in excellent spirits and they feel well," said the report. "Physicians are very elated with the crew condition at this point."

Ready For Little Togetherness

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Now that their husbands have returned from a business trip that lasted nearly two months and covered some 24 million miles, the wives of the Skylab 2 astronauts say they're ready for a little togetherness. "I'd be so happy to have him home, I won't even ask him to empty the garbage for a whole week," Helen Garriott said Tuesday as she watched the Skylab command craft splash down in the Pacific Ocean. The splashdown ended 59½ days in space for astronauts Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma.

The astronauts walked a bit wobbly when they stepped on the carrier deck after their long exposure to space weightlessness. Smiling and happy, they waved and saluted the hundreds of sailors who lined up for a look at the nation's newest space heroes. They were quickly taken to a medical facility for extensive examinations. A medical report said none of the spacemen suffered from motion sickness and all three had normal blood pressures and heart rates.

Court Fight Seen In Custody Case

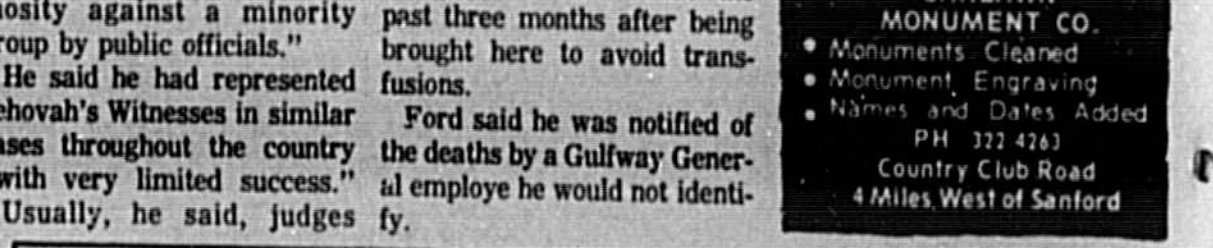

HOUSTON (AP)—An attorney for the parents of a Jehovah's Witness couple, who fled Florida to avoid a transfusion for their infant son, says a custody fight over baby may become a landmark case. Guy and Wanda Lacy of Pensacola, Fla., parents of Guy Talmadge Lacy, are seeking to regain custody of the child who was brought to Houston's Gulfway General Hospital three days after his birth Sept. 9, to prevent doctors from giving him new blood.

Doctors said the infant suffered from an RH blood defect, a condition in which a baby is born with RH positive blood, its mother has RH negative blood and antibodies from the mother's blood attack and destroy the child's red blood cells. The usual treatment is a complete blood transfusion, but Jehovah's Witnesses believe the Bible forbids such transfusions. Glenn Howe of Toronto, Canada, an attorney hired by the Lacy's, said at a custody hearing Tuesday that the case could result in a landmark decision because it is one of only a few cases of this type to come to trial.

United Fund Drive Opens

JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer
The United Fund has already moved down the field. The 1974 campaign goal is $100,000 of Seminole United Fund to be collected over a period of four weeks, Sept. 25, to Oct. 25. Three years ago the United Fund of Seminole County joined forces with the United Appeal of Orange County, and the United Fund of Osceola County. This was done so Seminole County residents could avail themselves of the services of all 68 member agencies, and not just the 11 member agencies supported by the United Fund of Seminole County. Collectively the three organizations are known as the United Campaign. Each is independent, however, maintaining its own office and dispensing to its own agencies. For greater impact and best utilization of publicity all three fund organizations run their campaigns simultaneously. The combined United Campaign goal for 1974 is $1,420,000. Campaign chairman for the United Fund of Seminole County this year is Len Unitas. President is George Foster, with Jack Horner as first vice-president, and Bob Morris as second vice-president. Secretary is Mrs. Walter Glycus, and treasurer is J.B. Glycus. Executive secretary in charge of the United Fund office is Mrs. Margaret Ganas. The United Appeal of Orange County campaign chairman is Kenneth Kientz. He also acts as general campaign chairman, lending a guiding hand coordinating the efforts of the three organizations. The United Fund of Osceola County has co-chairmen—George Kandel and John Crawford. The aim of the United Campaign is to raise needed funds for community service organizations which every year provide a wide variety of health, character building and family services for tens of thousands of men, women and children in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties. The agencies supported by the United Fund of Seminole County include the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts; Central Florida Shelter Workshop; the Children's Home; Good Samaritan; Mid Florida Center for Alcoholics; Red Cross; Salvation Army; Mental Health Association of Seminole County; USO; and YMCA.

Governor Gets Probe

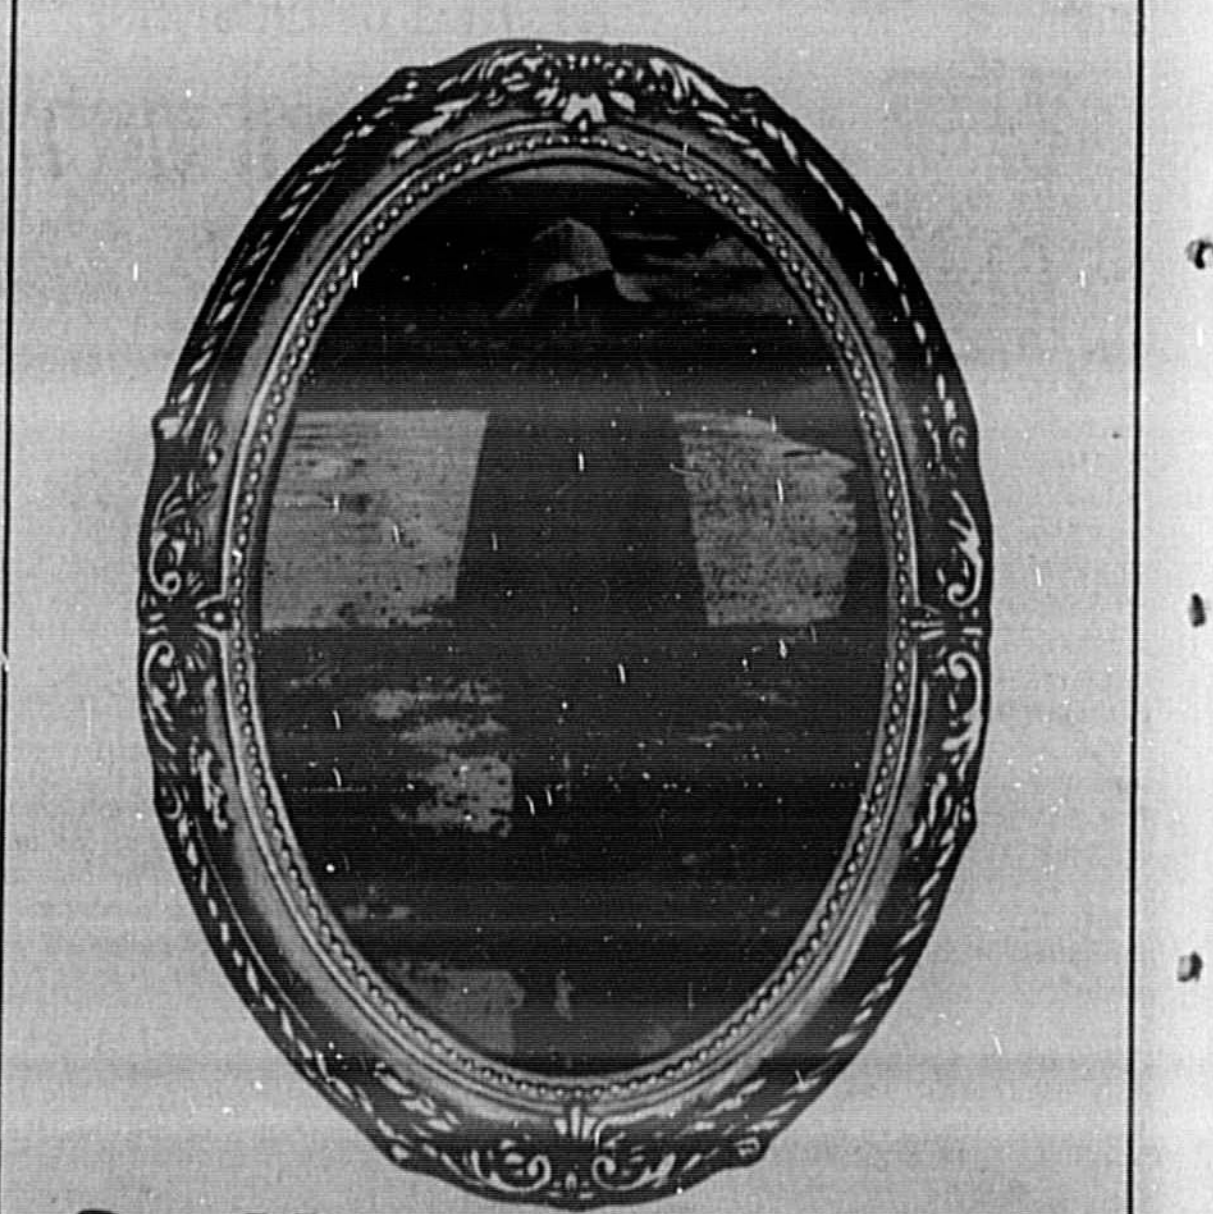

State Atty. Abbott Herring today said his office has completed its investigation of charges against the Seminole County Electrical Board of Examiners and will forward a report to Gov. Heavin Ashew, but Herring would not comment on possible indictments in the case. The governor's office became involved after receiving a telegram from Seminole County residents protesting the county commission's traffic laws, but dealing with a wide variety of complaints, including electrical inspections. Ashew's office passed the electrical complaints on down to the state attorney's office, which had been investigating similar charges since early September, Herring said.

Heart Failure Blamed

(Cont'd From Pg. 1) named, said "you would be negligent if you didn't do that to a patient in extremis, that is, near death from heart stoppage." Garay confirmed the medical facts of Burn's charges, but also challenged the attorney's medical conclusions. However, he admitted, the autopsy revealed no broken bones or cracked ribs. Ogleby's facial wounds were caused by his fall to the parking lot pavement where he was discovered shortly after being attacked, Garay said. Even as Burns, in Tallahassee today, was raising a new issue in his defense of the slight, 88-pound black youth confined in Seminole County jail, a previous jail in his defense strategy apparently collapsed. Burns Monday secured from Seminole Circuit Court Judge Richard Muldrew an order that tapes of the Sept. 11 grand jury indictment against Geter be handed over to the defense. But today, Chief Court Reporter Norman Robbin revealed no tapes of the proceedings were kept, so they were not requested by State Atty. Abbott Herring. Burns had charged the tapes would prove that perjury was committed by one or several of the five witnesses called before the grand jury. The defense had already failed in attempts before Muldrew and Federal District Court Judge John A. Reed in Orlando to gain a preliminary hearing to show "probable cause" for a trial. Burns had hoped to show an August state Supreme Court ruling that preliminary hearings must be held on warrants signed by the state attorney at the sheriff should be extended to cover grand jury indictments. However, according to Assistant State Atty. Bill Staley, who helped prepare the grand jury case against Geter, the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has stayed the Florida court ruling. "Therefore, until the U.S. Supreme Court rules otherwise, this office will assume current state law (allowing trial without a preliminary hearing after a grand jury indictment) applies," Staley said. Burns said his argument, if successful, would have major constitutional implications for the prosecutorial power of a grand jury, and would give defendants in all criminal cases, including misdemeanors, the right to a preliminary hearing. In his own case, Burns said, a preliminary hearing would show that "no crime was committed" because the fight "could not have caused death"—the theme he later enlarged upon by charging medical negligence.

Excellence Reigns

Congratulations To Concert Association

Congratulations are in order for the excellence and variety which marks the Seminole Mutual Concert Association's planned program for the 1973-74 season.

The schedule of six attractions—the Mac Frampton Trio, The Messiah, The Champagne Ball, R.S.V.P.—The Cole Porters, the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole and Central Florida Chorale and The King Family—promises one of the most exciting cultural seasons in the association's history of accomplishment.

It would be only too easy to let the flood of Seminole's happenings of nationwide import present an incomplete picture of our area.

Cultural events, equal to any seen in the larger urban areas, are brought to the county each year through the efforts of the concert association. And support is always seen not only throughout Seminole County but from the neighboring communities of DeBary and Deltona as well.

Officially opening Seminole's social season is the winter gala, the Champagne Ball, to be held this year on Dec. 8 at The Forest clubhouse near Lake Mary. Concert patrons are given first option to attend the glamorous affair.

Christmastime will be marked with a presentation of "The Messiah" featuring a Seminole Community Chorus under the direction of Bert Perinchieff of Seminole Junior College. Members of the Central Florida Symphony will accompany the chorus.

Woodrow Clark, association president, has also announced that the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole and the Central Florida Symphony will share billing early in the new year.

The group of talented vocalists forming the chorale directed by Julie Bishop with Bettye Smith as the accompanist has a highly entertaining style of its own.

The award winning ballet company, composed of 29 area performing members is directed by Miriam Rye and Valerie Weld, both highly talented choreographers.

The Mac Frampton Trio, the King Family and Sally and Jack Jenkins who star in R.S.V.P.

The Cole Porters—are nationally known and nationally recognized.

This annual SMCA series is a product of many dedicated and multi-talented individuals. Over the years, the officers and the members of the board have listed the leaders of this county in every area of human activity.

But SMCA needs support now. It deserves a quick and large response to its membership drive.

Mrs. Robert Karns and Mrs. Walter Gielow will take care of your membership needs. The whole organization justly deserves credit and support.

U.N. Needs Another Approach

COPLEY NEWS

The convening of the United Nations General Assembly every year at this time tends to be a depressing event. It only dramatizes that through another year of war and threats of war, of truces ignored and treaties broken, of suffering by millions of refugees and oppressed peoples, the U.N. is falling pitifully short in providing answers. The world seems trapped in a maze of its own making. The U.N. gropes for passageways, only to find itself back where it began.

bureaucracy have posed a financial crisis for the United Nations, leading Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to propose an increase of nearly 20 per cent in its new budget. The decline in its ability to provide moral leadership and a strong voice on behalf of peace and justice.

This is vigorously denied by White House spokesman Gerard Warren, who said: "The President never received any such money. Rebozo refused to comment on the charges. Sources close to him, however, stated that neither he nor the President have ever used campaign money for personal purposes. We first reported on August 6, 1971, that Hughes' aides 'siphoned off $100,000 from the Silver Slipper,' a Hughes gambling emporium, for Nixon's campaign. The money was delivered by Richard Dannert, a Hughes executive, to Bebe Rebozo, a Nixon confidant."

Rumor mill at top speed over Agnew

By Bruce Blossoc

WASHINGTON (NEA) — However Spiro T. Agnew's current difficulties work out, it's worth laying out what's like in this grand and glorious rumor factory on a day when a story poops loose like the one about him resigning.

By nighttime, it's all over town that Sen. Barry Goldwater is the source of the report. Up in New York, he denies he had anything to do with it, says he thinks Spiro will stay on, that he would so advise him. But who first spread the "Goldwater said it" story? Somebody knows, but I couldn't find him, and neither could many others. Yet that tale was laid on in firm language, not the least bit speculative.

Naturally, you fish around "among people who know something about Agnew's mood and make-up" is his resignation really likely? Is it in character for him to quit while under the relatives who to set up a "mercy vigil" in the Vietnamese talks between the Communist Pathet Lao and the royal government. In an initial agreement, the two sides agreed to repatriate all prisoners and to pass on information about all missing men.

Witnesses have told the Watergate investigators that the $100,000 positively was intended for Nixon, not Rebozo. What the President did with the money, if he received it, remains a mystery.

San Clemente Deal In 1969 and 1970, he was completing the purchase of his San Clemente estate. Both Rebozo and another Nixon cronie, aerosol king Robert Abplanalp, participated in the acquisition.

The financial details were handled by the President's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, who has denied that any campaign contributions were used.

Footnote: More than a decade earlier, then-Vice President Nixon was hit by a blast of bad publicity over a $205,000 loan, which his brother Donald received from the same Howard Hughes. The loan was secured by a mortgage on a Whittier, Calif., lot that cost $13,000. The loan was never repaid.

Painful Pilgrimage: Families of American servicemen missing in action in Indochina are planning a painful pilgrimage to Laos for the deaths of their 400 unreturned loved ones.

In recent days, the league's energetic head, Iris Powers, and executive director, retired Air Force Col. Scott Albright, both of whom have sons missing, have been contacting members of families who, like themselves, still are torn between hope and resignation.

"A show of numbers may produce some shred of information," Albright, a ch-opper but sad-eyed man told us. "We hope to fill every hotel room in Vientiane during the talks."

An American military team has already been organized in Thailand and only awaits permission from the Communists to scour the jungles and mountains for news. Impractical as it sounds, several grey-haired mothers have begged to go from village to village in the treacherous terrain in quest of word on their sons' fates.

Did Nixon Use Hughes' $100,000?

by Jack Anderson

LAS VEGAS — Senate aides are investigating 20 $50,000 contributions to President Nixon from billionaire Howard Hughes. The money was handed over in cash to the President's friend, Bebe Rebozo, in 1969 and 1970.

Although Hughes' aides describe the $100,000 as a "campaign contribution," the President wasn't running for office in 1969 or 1970. The Senate Watergate Committee is investigating reports that the money may have been diverted to the President's personal use.

This is vigorously denied by White House spokesman Gerard Warren, who said: "The President never received any such money. Rebozo refused to comment on the charges. Sources close to him, however, stated that neither he nor the President have ever used campaign money for personal purposes. We first reported on August 6, 1971, that Hughes' aides 'siphoned off $100,000 from the Silver Slipper,' a Hughes gambling emporium, for Nixon's campaign. The money was delivered by Richard Dannert, a Hughes executive, to Bebe Rebozo, a Nixon confidant."

Watergate investigators have now verified our story from some of the principals. The payments to Nixon, the probers have been told, began in late 1969 at a time when Hughes was consolidating his hotel-casino empire in Nevada. His private papers, which have been made available to us, show he was trying to overcome resistance from the Justice Department's antitrust division.

The first $50,000 was slipped to Rebozo in late 1969 not long after the President personally approved Hughes' purchase of the airline, Air West. The money was delivered by Hughes hotelman Dick Dannert to Rebozo, the Senate investigators have been told.

The second $50,000 contribution was made in the summer of 1970 when Hughes became the largest casino operator in the world with the purchase of Harrold's Club in Nevada. Again, it was Dannert who passed the money to Rebozo. But this time, another Hughes factotum, Robert Maheu, witnessed the transaction. We have learned that Maheu spoke candidly to the committee about the deal.

Witnesses have told the Watergate investigators that the $100,000 positively was intended for Nixon, not Rebozo. What the President did with the money, if he received it, remains a mystery.

Graduate students wanting to take programs not offered at Florida universities would be able to enroll in other southern colleges for credit under a program being considered by the state Board of Regents.

The board meets Monday in Gainesville to discuss joining an academic common market of 14 southern universities. Under the program, students would take part in study programs which are unique to certain states and which can accommodate additional students, said Board Secretary Hendrix Chandler.

"This idea would allow students in one state to take courses in another state rather than that state setting up programs of its own," Chandler said.

Florida Politics: Warren

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—An era of Florida politics ended today when he buried the "barefoot boy" from Blountstown, former Gov. Fuller Warren.

"I always regarded Fuller as the candidate with the capital C," said House Clerk Allen Morris, longtime friend of the back-slapping, script-pouting governor of 1965-67. "He enjoyed the campaign much more than the term of office."

Warren, who died Sunday at age 67, was not modest about his ability to win the hearts of audiences with his fiery oratory.

To show his appreciation to the Florida electorate, Warren wrote a book entitled "How to win in politics" after capturing the 1968 governor's race.

"He wrote it between the Democratic primary and his inauguration, but unfortunately it was not a financial success," recalled Morris, then a political columnist who contributed an appendix to the red, white and blue volume.

Warren also excelled in what he called "the most inexpensive of all methods of publicizing oneself"—the letter to the editor.

"He was Florida's most prolific writer of letters to the editor on all subjects," said Morris.

"In these letters I never pulled any punches and I used no vague words," Warren said in his book. "I wrote what I thought and in the strongest language I could put together."

WARREN (AP)—A former vice president in Glenn W. Turner's cosmetic empire says 95 per cent of the people who purchased distributorships in the pyramid sales business failed to break even on their investment.

James said he turned over a service station to his wife's uncle John Turner in 1967 and made only $1 on the deal when the uncle went broke.

"I'd never been exposed to a man so highly motivated and energetic," James said of his decision to junk his business to work for Turner. "It caught me up to the point where I gave my service station away."

But he said in late 1969 he and others went to Turner and complained of a shortage of cosmetics to supply distributors.

"Mr. Turner broke his pencil and said, 'This is my company. If it sinks, I'll sink it. If it swims, we swim with it. If you don't like it, get out,'" James testified.

On cross examination, James admitted that after he was fired from Koscot, he tried to start a club to help people who lost their homes and money and solicited memberships from Koscot distributors.

James also acknowledged he was briefly a consultant to Chantress Cosmetics of Buffalo, N.Y., a company similar to Koscot.

In another development Tuesday, Turner drew a rap on the knuckles from U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat for trying to make a public speech. The judge, who has ordered defendants and attorneys not to discuss the case publicly, said he must give prior approval before any of them agree to public addresses.

Turner cancelled his scheduled Tuesday evening talk at a meeting of gasoline retailers after the judge threatened a bail revocation hearing.

Schaefer Defense To Close

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—The defense was expected to rest today in the murder trial of former deputy sheriff Gerard Schaefer after calling Schaefer's relatives to counter key prosecution testimony.

Schaefer, 28, a former Martin County officer, is charged in the mutilation slaying of Georgia Jessup, 16, and Susan Place, 17, both of the Fort Lauderdale suburb of Oakland Park.

Their dismembered bodies were found in shallow graves last April on St. Lucie County's Hutchinson Island.

Defense attorney Elton Schwarz did not say whether he would put Schaefer on the stand.

On Tuesday, the defense called Schaefer's relatives to dispute testimony offered by prosecution witnesses about articles found in Schaefer's possession.

SENATORS (AP)—Two Florida congressmen are among 27 House members who are asking Congress to demand a more open Soviet emigration policy for Jews in return for U.S. trade concessions.

U.S. Reps. Dante Fascell and William Lehman, both Democrats, joined 15 other Democrats and 10 Republicans Tuesday in urging Congress to include the condition in a foreign trade bill now being drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee.

SENATORS (AP)—Both Florida's U.S. Senators have voted not to override President Nixon's veto of a disaster relief bill.

Democrat Lawton Chiles and Republican Edward Gurney voted with a 59-36 majority Tuesday. A two-thirds vote is needed to overturn a veto.

MIAMI (AP)—A Miami man, claiming he has carried a surgical sponge in his body for 18 years, has filed a $50,000 damage suit against the Mayo Foundation and St. Mary's Hospital here.

He said X-rays taken in August 1972 detected the sponge and an opaque string in the area of his operation.

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—A Miami man, claiming he has carried a surgical sponge in his body for 18 years, has filed a $50,000 damage suit against the Mayo Foundation and St. Mary's Hospital here.

He said X-rays taken in August 1972 detected the sponge and an opaque string in the area of his operation.

Bias Charges Expected To Triple This Year

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The director of the Florida Commission on Human Relations says he expects discrimination complaints to triple this year.

"As the awareness of what constitutes discrimination increases, our job becomes more difficult," says Robert Hackle, commission executive director.

During its last fiscal year, the commission received 128 complaints, Rackleff said, most of them involving racial and sex discrimination in employment.

"This year we are projecting 500 complaints," he said. "I have no doubt that within two or three years we'll have a terrific case load even without enforcement powers."

The commission cannot force an employer to give a person a job or a pay increase or a promotion, Rackleff said.

"We make the employers aware of existing federal laws," he said. "A lot of our job is an educational one. A lot of times when we tell an employer what the law is, the employer complies."

WARREN (AP)—A former vice president in Glenn W. Turner's cosmetic empire says 95 per cent of the people who purchased distributorships in the pyramid sales business failed to break even on their investment.

James said he turned over a service station to his wife's uncle John Turner in 1967 and made only $1 on the deal when the uncle went broke.

"I'd never been exposed to a man so highly motivated and energetic," James said of his decision to junk his business to work for Turner. "It caught me up to the point where I gave my service station away."

But he said in late 1969 he and others went to Turner and complained of a shortage of cosmetics to supply distributors.

"Mr. Turner broke his pencil and said, 'This is my company. If it sinks, I'll sink it. If it swims, we swim with it. If you don't like it, get out,'" James testified.

On cross examination, James admitted that after he was fired from Koscot, he tried to start a club to help people who lost their homes and money and solicited memberships from Koscot distributors.

James also acknowledged he was briefly a consultant to Chantress Cosmetics of Buffalo, N.Y., a company similar to Koscot.

In another development Tuesday, Turner drew a rap on the knuckles from U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat for trying to make a public speech. The judge, who has ordered defendants and attorneys not to discuss the case publicly, said he must give prior approval before any of them agree to public addresses.

Turner cancelled his scheduled Tuesday evening talk at a meeting of gasoline retailers after the judge threatened a bail revocation hearing.

Other Thoughts

Playing hockey and hoping the folks never find out has always been one way for youngsters to live dangerously. What chance does a kid have, though, if he is matching wits with a computer?

A high school at Tucson, Ariz., tried using a computer last spring to notify parents automatically if their child fails to answer the roll. The absence rate fell by half, so Tucson is employing the computer full time as a truancy officer this fall.

Amnesia Victim Recalls His Past

Borrowing Can Be Costly

NEW YORK (AP) — While Americans have found it costly and sometimes impossible to borrow money recently, their tax money has helped provide relatively cheap and easy loans for U.S. exporters and foreign companies seeking American goods.

The loans — some $2.4 billion worth in fiscal 1973 — are made below domestic rates to boost exports, to improve a country's balance of payments or for international political reasons.

They are made by the government-backed U.S. Export-Import Bank, the American Contender in a worldwide credit "war" in which countries offer prospective overseas buyers loans at low, subsidized rates.

Eximbank loans, which also draw on commercial bank funds, have financed exports of nuclear power plants, jet aircraft and military equipment.

Last year, the bank loaned $157 million for an Algerian gas facility, $46 million for a Russian truck factory and $21.6 million for an oil refinery in Iran, its biggest contract.

Today no major domestic company, without a government subsidy, can borrow money at less than the current prime lending rate of 10 per cent.

But a foreign firm wishing to buy American goods, or a U.S. exporter wishing to finance a foreign order, can get a 6 per cent, long-term loan from the Eximbank.

"Call it a subsidy to help U.S. exporters," said John Petty, a partner in the international investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers.

Observers note that Eximbank loans can sometimes have undesirable domestic side effects. In April the bank lent $75 million to the Bank of Tokyo to finance raw cotton purchases from the United States. The loan comes at a time when short supplies of cotton in the domestic market have already contributed to higher prices for cotton clothes.

Warren Glick, Eximbank's senior vice president for financing, said: "At the time we made the loan it was not clear the cotton market was that tight. We would take a much closer look if we considered the loan today."

Since 1969 the Eximbank, established in 1971, has enlarged its direct grant loans from $1.1 billion to $2.4 billion for fiscal 1973. The loans are approved by the bank's board of directors, which is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, and then matched by private commitments from U.S. commercial banks. Eximbank guarantees the private loans.

Petty and Glick said the 6 per cent rate is necessary for "planning and consistency" and to remain competitive in world markets, where Germany, France and Japan finance exporters at 6 to 7 1/2 per cent.

"If we charged the prime rate we would make the American exporter grossly uncompetitive," Glick said.

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Thirty-seven years ago, John R. Crosswhite left his home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., on a business trip to St. Louis. He never returned and although his wrecked car was found, Crosswhite's body was never discovered.

Five years later, a man named John R. Cross, who described himself as a retired contractor, settled in Joplin, Mo., married in 1942 and raised a family.

Cross recently suffered a stroke. As he recovered, he began remembering bits of his past and it turned out that Cross and Crosswhite — who was declared legally dead in 1940, leaving a widow and five children — are the same man.

Martha Jane Barker, a nurse at St. John's Medical Center here and one of two children of the Joplin marriage, said the tale came to light as her father recuperated.

"He started talking and babbling to me and saying his name was really John R. Crosswhite and that we need to get something straightened," Mrs. Barker said.

"We thought he was just delirious and ignored it, but he kept insisting, and a couple of days later he began crying and said he wanted to see his brother," she continued.

"We told him there was no brother, but he insisted there was," she said, noting her father had told her he was an only child. She said he also told her he was a widower before marrying her mother.

"He finally told us to call the Crosswhites in the End (Okla.) area, so I finally located Frank Crosswhite in Hennessey, one of his brothers.

"I knew they were brothers when I saw Frank because they look so much alike," she said.

Frank said he had visited his brother, now 84, twice in the Joplin nursing home where he is now staying. "He didn't remember me at first, but since I've been going to see him, he knows me now."

Mrs. Barker said her father's doctor, Dr. E.H. Hamilton, told her Crosswhite "had a type of amnesia where he remembered the most important things in his young life, then had a big blank."

Frank said his brother remembered friends he had played with as a boy, but did not recall much about the period of his first marriage. In fact, Frank said, he didn't even remember he had been married before.

Also today, public debate began on an amendment seeking to slow development of the $13 billion Trident submarine program. The Trident proposal was discussed for more than two hours in closed session Tuesday.

Mansfield, the Democratic leader, said a reduction in the 500,000-man force is essential to lower the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, fill domestic needs and end the policy of military confrontation with the Soviet Union.

The amendment would require that at least 62,500 troops based in foreign countries be pulled out by June 30 and that another 107,500 be withdrawn over the following two years.

Sea-based troops would be exempt from the cut.

Troop Cuts, Trident Cost Votes Set Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on an amendment to cut in half U.S. land-based troops, strength abroad, a move Sen. Mike Mansfield calls "totally consistent with the Nixon doctrine."

Also today, public debate began on an amendment seeking to slow development of the $13 billion Trident submarine program. The Trident proposal was discussed for more than two hours in closed session Tuesday.

Mansfield, the Democratic leader, said a reduction in the 500,000-man force is essential to lower the U.S. balance-of-payments deficit, fill domestic needs and end the policy of military confrontation with the Soviet Union.

The amendment would require that at least 62,500 troops based in foreign countries be pulled out by June 30 and that another 107,500 be withdrawn over the following two years.

Sea-based troops would be exempt from the cut.

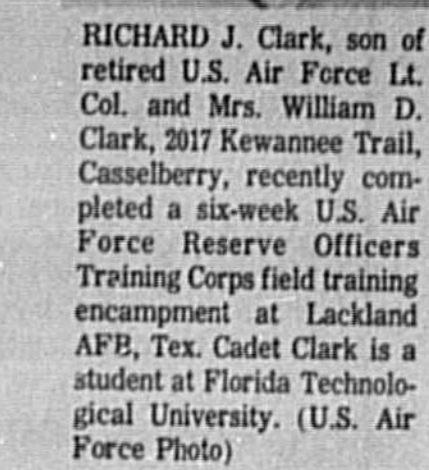

The president could decide from which countries the withdrawals were to be made; this would allow the president to delay until 1976 any change in the U.S. NATO force in Europe.

In addition to Europe, American forces are based in Thailand, Okinawa, Korea, Taiwan, the Philippines and Bermuda.

Mansfield noted that U.S.-Soviet negotiations open Oct. 30 on mutual, balanced force reductions but said unilateral action by the United States could prompt a similar response from Russia.

The Nixon administration contends a unilateral troop withdrawal would doom negotiations with the Soviet Union.

World News Briefs

Irah Strikes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hurricane Irah, described as the strongest of the season in the Pacific, hit the southernmost tip of the Baja California peninsula Tuesday night and headed for the Mexican mainland. Ninety-mile winds lashed with rain levelled at least 100 huts, knocked out power and severed communications. One person was reported slightly injured.

Brandt, Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt will meet in Washington on Saturday. Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the two will exchange views on matters of mutual interest. Brandt is in the United States attending the United Nations General Assembly.

Teen Drowns

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit teen-ager drowned trying to swim across the Detroit River to Canada to win $20 bet, police reported. Officers said Leon Dorsey, 19, was fishing with a friend on Tuesday when he made the bet.

Africans Walk

NAHOBI, Kenya (AP) — Black African and Asian delegates walked out of the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank today when South African Finance Minister Nicolaas Diederichs began to speak. Diederichs kept on speaking, and the Africans and Asians returned after he finished.

Enrollment Up

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Enrollment in the University of Wisconsin system has reached a record 135,224, up 1,522 from the 1971 record, the university announced.

Officials said it was not known whether the figure would change the university's third-place ranking nationally in total enrollment.

Liz' Diamond

PARIS (AP) — Cartier, one of Paris' most prestigious jewelry dealers, says it is willing to buy back Elizabeth Taylor's giant 69-carat diamond for $2 million.

Richard Burton paid a mere $1 million for the pear-shaped stone when he gave it to Miss Taylor for her 40th birthday in 1972.

But now Burton and Miss Taylor are getting a divorce, and Cartier says it's making the offer because the gem might become a point of contention in the divorce settlement.

Turtles Pointed

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Shore patrolmen are rounding up hundreds of baby sea turtles and pointing them in the right direction.

Hatched in the beach's warm sand, the turtles normally head for sea once out of the shell. But baby turtles this year have somehow become confused and are heading inland.

One Department of Natural Resources official suggested highway lights could be attracting turtles traveling at night.

COMPANY, ATTENTION AND EYES RIGHT!

PENGUIN WATCHERS ascribe all sorts of attitudes and simulated actions to these ungainly birds. At first one would think these three were rooting for either the rider or the horse, but they're really showing off for the crowd in Whipsnade Zoo, Bedford, England. The cowboy, meanwhile, is doing his best to stay atop the bucking bronco during rodeo in Alice Springs, Australia. The rodeo draws contestants from all over the world.

Sports Spotlight

By J Richards
Herald Sports Editor

Coach Barry Wenhold and staff are celebrating today and with plenty of cause. Their young griders came away with an 18-0 shutout of the Bishop Moore Freshman gridiron eleven Tuesday night in Sanford for the team's first game of the year. The Panthers sparkled on offense, smothering the Hornets attack, especially in the second half when much of the Orlando effort was wasted on passing attempts that ended up in minus yardage as the quarterback was sacked on almost every try.

The defensive effort was so good, in fact, the Panthers limited the young Hornets to not one first down all evening. Leading the front wall of the Sanford Freshman 11 was Richard Pringle, Terry Smith, Kenny Lee, Randy Pyle and Charles Baker, all of whom came out of the tilt with several "heads" from dumped quarterbacks and mangled halfbacks. When they tackled, you could hear the pads thump.

TIM RAINES STARS

Tim Raines provided most of the offensive punch, score-wise at least, taking the platoon over twice during the tilt on runs of 32 and 15 yards, both of them off tackle, but the blocking looked so good, it could have been and end sweep in the way the defenders were cleaned out of the area. He tallied in the second and third frames.

RICKY BRYSON ROMPS IN

Ricky Bryson also romped in from 15 yards out in the fourth frame after the regulars had been pulled to give the reserves a chance to cross the final line. Back-up signal caller Roy Deterville looked impressive as he maneuvered his mates on the long drive to paydirt.

Starting quarterback John Litton, who had a little trouble finding his open receivers did connect with one circus catch by Richard Pringle, a fine looking receiver with speed and size to make a good shot at high school ball. Coach Wenhold revealed that Litton called most of the plays while he was in control with only a couple of selection sets in the coaching staff.

'PLAYED VERY WELL'

"They executed their plays well, and we made mental mistakes — off sides, holding and downfield blocking infractions — but I was well pleased with their efforts," Wenhold said.

"This was their first game, and the whole team was inexperienced and nervous, but they came alive in the second half," he said. The entire team got in some action and the reserves scoring drive came at eight to 10 yards at a clip going in to score."

HORNETS LOSE STING

The Hornets, who were tabbed sixth in the state in the pre-season tripple-A poll, have come on hard times, we've learned. After the upset shocker loss to Mainland two weeks ago and then the blasting they took at the Hands of Edgewater, the state's top rated Four-A school, the Hornets now face Metro contender Lyman and they're still looking for their sting.

Sanford's David Mendoza, who was injured in a pre-season jamboree, did not play against Mainland and the Hornets sorely needed his quarterbacking skills. He appeared for a short period of time against Edgewater, but left the game again — presumably hurt again — and his status is unknown for the tilt with the Hornets.

Mendoza looked good working against the Eagles from Edgewater until he left the game, but soon after that things began to fall apart. We've heard there are injury problems plaguing the Hornets defensive unit as well, and that's where their pre-season sting was. They worked well on defense against both Edgewater and Colonial in the jamboree, but haven't been up to snuff as yet this season. It's going to be a long first half of the year for the Hornets.

Lyman finished with a team score of 19, Edgewater placed second with 41 team points, and Colonial was third of three teams with 68 points.

Demis Burns brought home the third place honors with a time of 15:48. Burns has been a high finisher in all the meets to date. Included in his finishes is 11th place in the Greyhound Opener, fourth at Lake Brantley, and in the Colonial Invitational, which sported a field of over 150 runners, he finished 24th.

Tom Heron came in fourth place with a time of 15:53. Jim Donaldson was fifth with a 14:01. Donaldson is a transfer from New York and has added much needed depth to the club.

Close behind Sousquet was Jimmy Copeland who finished at 15:53. The two Hound harriers pulled away from the pack early and never relinquished the lead. They finished a full minute ahead of the other runners.

Each runner placed third with a time of 14:50. Ronnie Duncan came in with a 15:03.

Ray Agurris completed the Lyman sweep finishing sixth with 15:46.

In cross-country the places of a teams top five runners are added together to determine the team score. The lowest score possible is 15 which was the baby Hounds score.

Other Lyman runners were Eddie Esch who finished sixth with a time of 16:17, Tom McGriff and James Milliff battled it out for seventh and eighth respectively, McGriff having the edge 16:20 to 16:21.

The Colonial harriers finished second with 50 team points. The high Greyhound finisher was Mike Wiggs who placed ninth with 16:40.

PREDICTION: The Hawks should take first place, beating out the Bulldogs, their division. They had the strongest team since the glory Hawk days of Pettit and Hagan. A great year by Bellamy could even make them champs.

Reds Under Attack By S. Vietnamese

SAIGON (AP) — For the third day South Vietnamese planes today attacked Communist forces that overrun a ranger base in the central highlands.

But military sources said the rugged mountain terrain around the Le Minh camp would impede the large-scale counterattack the government planned.

The Saigon command was reported preparing to send 2,000 troops to retake the base 23 miles west of Pleiku. But one senior officer said it would be "enormously difficult" to position artillery near the camp.

The attack Saturday at the base touched off one of the hardest battles in Vietnam since the Jan. 28 cease-fire.

Military spokesmen said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions are now in action in Pleiku and Kontum provinces.

Survivors from Le Minh said North Vietnamese gunners opened up on the base at noon Saturday with a three-hour barrage of mortar and heavy artillery fire. U.S. sources said about 250 South Vietnamese troops and dependents were in the camp at the time.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, the Cambodian command said its troops were conducting operations on at least five fronts today, the first day of Prachum Ben, the Buddhist festival of the dead.

The Khmer Rouge insurgents staged spectacular raids in the Phnom Penh area during the 1972 and 1971 festivals, and his command is on the alert for an attempt to repeat.

A spokesman said government forces clashed with the insurgents on Highway 38 about 14 miles southwest of the capital. There was fighting also at Vihear Suor, 13 miles northeast of Phnom Penh; at Trapeang Krabeung on the capital's road to the east; on the edges of Kompong Cham, and on the western approaches to Phnom Penh. No major gain on either side was reported.

Peronists War On Marxists

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina's Peronist government today pledged a war on the Marxist guerrillas it blamed for the ambush slaying of the nation's top labor leader.

Jose Rucci, secretary-general of the giant General Labor Confederation and a top confidant of President-elect Juan D. Peron, was gunned down Tuesday outside his brother-in-law's suburban home.

The killers escaped but the government blamed the attack on the People's Liberation Army, the ERP, which has been outlawed.

One radio station said an anonymous caller reported the killing moments after it happened and said it was the work of the ERP.

But no other evidence was put forward to show that the murder might not have been the work of Peronist leftists who have been battling such conservative leaders of the movement as Rucci and who in May killed another union leader.

The unions called a general strike until midnight tonight in protest against the assassination, shutting down public transport, other public services, business and industry throughout the nation.

Survivors' Condition Different

HONOLULU (AP) — Shipwrecked survivor Robert Tinneko was hungry and smiling as he arrived here, but James Fisher was reported in serious condition in a hospital today.

"We just gritted our teeth ... pure determination, that's all," Tinneko said in explaining how the pair survived 72 days drifting across the Pacific in their capsize 34.

Tinneko, 31, of Longview, Wash., peered about alertly and smiled broadly through his full beard as he was carried off the C130 which brought the pair from Midway Island late Tuesday.

Fisher, 36, of Moses Lake, Wash., appeared weak and dazed as he was carried off the Coast Guard plane. He was given water intravenously during the flight, and a spokesman at Castle Memorial Hospital said he was badly dehydrated and was able to eat only juices and broth.

Tinneko said they saw a boat pass every week or so, but no one saw them until the British freighter Bendler chanced across the hull Thursday, halfway between Hawaii and California.

On the 4½-hour flight from Midway, where the Coast Guard had rendezvoused with the Bendler, Tinneko talked with a Coast Guardman about the death of his 22-year-old wife, Linda.

Kissinger Concern In Europe

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave some attention to Southeast Asia today for the first time in his visit to the U.N. General Assembly.

But Europe continued to be his primary concern. Other than scattered references, Kissinger ignored the Indochina area in his first two days in New York. Today he scheduled meetings with the foreign ministers of Thailand and South Vietnam.

However, the major part of his schedule before returning to Washington tonight was strong evidence of his near-occupation with what he has called a "new Atlantic Alliance."

He was to meet with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert. He also planned to attend the General Assembly address by Brandt.

Very little substantive progress has been made toward developing a new concept of U.S.-European relationship during Kissinger's meetings this week.

Fourth Straight Win Hounds Harriers Take Meet

By JOHN CHERWA
Herald Correspondent

The Lyman Greyhound cross-country team took a step closer to the State Championship yesterday as they brought their unbeaten streak to four victories, with an impressive showing, in a three-way meet at Bishop Moore against Edgewater and Colonial.

This has been the third time this season these three teams paths have crossed. The Hounds have emerged victorious in all cases.

Crossing the finish line first was Hound star Kenny Duncan. This is his third victory of the still young season. So far he has also set two course records.

Spelling a Lyman "perfect score" of 15 was Edgewater Harrier Jerry Wright who crossed the finish line second in 13:33.

Lyman finished with a team score of 19, Edgewater placed second with 41 team points, and Colonial was third of three teams with 68 points.

Demis Burns brought home the third place honors with a time of 15:48. Burns has been a high finisher in all the meets to date. Included in his finishes is 11th place in the Greyhound Opener, fourth at Lake Brantley, and in the Colonial Invitational, which sported a field of over 150 runners, he finished 24th.

Branch TD Run Gets Win SHS Junior Varsity Takes Bucs, 10-8

By DAN GILMARTIN
Herald Correspondent

DAYTONA BEACH — The Seminole High Junior Varsity griders jumped into the win column last night for the first time this season as they defeated the Mainland JV's here 10-4 with a fourth period TD run by Herbert Branch.

Mainland drew first blood in the match with a first quarter score capping a sustained drive. The Sanford defenders blocked the extra point attempt and the score remained 6-0 at the end of the first act.

The Seminole defense got the Tribe on the board for the first time in the game tackling a Buc runner in his own end zone to close the gap to 6-3.

Coach John Reichard praised his defense for their outstanding effort which kept the Tribe in the contest until the locals got their offense rolling.

Hampered by ineptitude problems which caused several starters to miss action last Thursday night against Jones, the Sanford outfit moved the ball well considering the lack of playing time together.

The Sanford outfit amassed a total of 176 yard total offense; 26 passing and 149 on the ground.

Leading the Seminole rushing attack was halfback Ned Raines with 108 stripes to his credit in 11 cracks. Raines had two long gainers of 43 and 32 to go along with his short yardage plunges.

Herbert Branch, who scored the Baby Seminole only touchdown of the contest, carried the mail on nine occasions picking up 40 yards.

Fullback Bill McDaniels added 21 "tough" yards on eight callings.

The Tribe finally took charge of the game early in the fourth period when Herbert Branch topped off a Seminole drive with a four yard burst. Branch was also called on for the extra point run and delivered the goods upping the count to 10-4 Sanford.

The Daytona boys were still to be heard from in the match as they drove deep into Tribe territory late in the fourth stanza. The Mainland drive was halted with an outstanding effort at the SHS 3 yard line.

"The boys really showed a lot of heart in the second half, coming back the way they did," said JV head John Reichard. "Especially when they stopped Mainland near the goal line near the end of the game."

Reichard also called attention to the passing game pointing to the balance it provided that was missing last week. JV signal caller Jim Baker hit Kurt Butler with two tosses good for 19 yards and one to George Sinkanich for nine, just enough to keep the Mainland defense honest.

The Baby Seminole will carry a 1-1 ledger into their next meeting on Thursday Oct. 4, when they return to the field on which they were victorious over Mainland. The kickoff for the match is slated for 7:30 p.m.

ATLANTA (AP) — "I fouled out once and brought the feel I have a chance," says Hank Aaron. "I think I can hit seventh with a long drive to two homers in four games."

These are the magic figures remaining for the 35-year-old Atlanta Braves' star as he attempts to equal Babe Ruth's lifetime record of 714 home runs before the end of the 1973 season.

Aaron, who belted No. 712 Saturday night at Houston, went hitless in four trips against Los Angeles right-hander Don Sutton Tuesday night as the Dodgers whipped the Braves 5-1.

"When Sutton has control, he can be one of the toughest in the National League," Aaron said. Sutton called it a "slo drop" night, yielding only four hits, losing his shutout in the eighth inning on a sacrifice fly by Marty Perez that chased him an unearned run.

Aaron bounced out, fouled out, flied deep to center and grounded out in four trips to the plate as the Atlanta Braves lost to the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 Tuesday night.

'Pitching Coming Strong Now' Mets Holding The Upper Hand

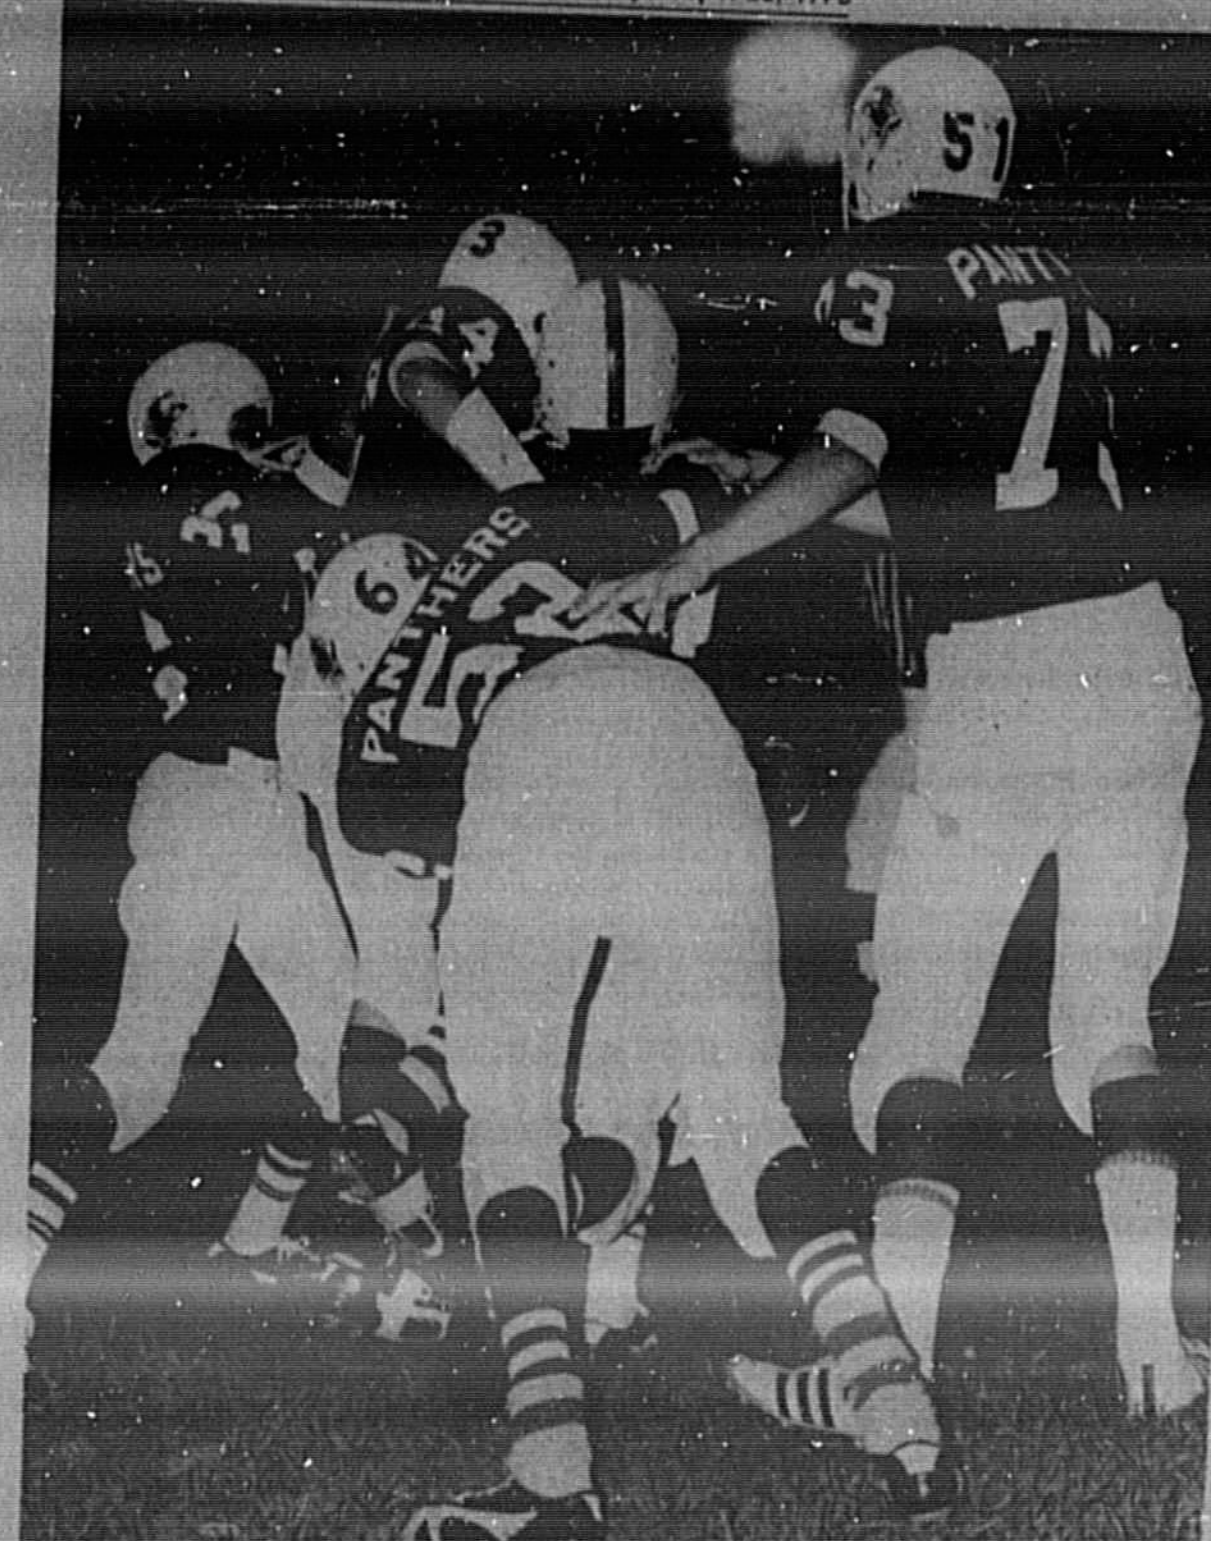

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets hold the upper hand in the National League East and are prepared to deal their ace in the remaining games of high stakes.
"The Met pitching is coming on strong now," says Manager Danny Ozark of the Philadelphia Phillies, assessing the wild pennant shuffle. "And pitching is very important in the stretch."
The front-running Mets strengthened their lead to 1½ games over Pittsburgh with a 2-1 decision over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night while the Phillies defeated the Pirates by the same score.
Tonight, the Mets will pitch right-handed star Tom Seaver against Montreal in the windup of their series at Shea Stadium.

"The Pittsburgh club definitely has the bats and good defense but I know (Manager) Danny Murtaugh is pressing for pitching," said Ozark. "They may be a little weak as far as putting a starting pitcher out there."
"We're going to have to go with what we have," said Murtaugh, who'll have to go with rookie Jim McKees against the Phillies tonight. Still, Pirate center fielder Al Oliver wasn't discouraged over the situation.
"We've never been down on ourselves, even when things are were really going bad," said Oliver. "No one likes to lose, but the next day you have to snap back, and that's what we'll do."

In the other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Atlanta Braves 5; the Cincinnati Reds nipped the San Diego Padres 3-2; the Houston Astros stopped the San Francisco Giants 5-1 and the Chicago Cubs nudged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3.
Cleon Jones slugged a tiebreaking home run in the sixth inning and made a game-saving catch in the seventh to pace the Met success.
Phillies 2, Pirates 1
Mike Anderson and Bill Robinson clouted home runs to back the five-hit pitching of Steve Carlton in Philadelphia's 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

Dodgers 5, Braves 1
Don Sutton fired a four-hitter to pace Los Angeles over Atlanta 5-1. Roy Cey hit a three-run homer for the Dodgers.
Reds 3, Padres 2
Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke cracked successive doubles to drive in two runs and Jack Billingham limited San Diego to five hits as Cincinnati downed the Padres 3-2.
Astros 5, Giants 1
Tom Griffin fired a three-hitter and Bob Watson knocked in two runs with a homer and single to pace Houston over San Francisco 5-1.

Elmer Rush Featured In Arena Fight

By LEE GEIGER
Herald Correspondent

Former heavyweight contender, Elmer Rush, meets Larry Renaud in the 10 round feature Thursday at the American Legion arena at 8:30 p.m.
Rush tied San Francisco as his home base, when he was one of the top 10 fighters in his division. Now he bangs his hat in Atlanta, Ga.
While on the west coast he fought and defeated such names as Billy Daniels, "Big Train" Lincoln, and "Doc" Herring. His biggest accomplishment was a draw with Eddie Machen.
Rush's last fight was six years ago against Charles "Sonny" Liston. The former champ stopped him in eight rounds. That was Rush's last contest, till now.
Matchmaker Joe Parsons has not brought a set-up in for Rush. Renaud has been appearing over in Tampa for promoter Joe Brady.
"Larry is a tough boy," Brady said during a recent visit to Orlando. "He hits hard, and I have never seen anyone drop him."
"I saw him a couple of times," Bill Gore, the acknowledged dean of boxing trainers, added. "He (Rush) had better be in shape for the Canadian (Renaud). I saw Larry lose split decisions to Snake White and Oliver Wright. Both fights had good action for heavyweights."
Rush watched Terry Daniels on a recent Orlando outing, and he wants him. "Renaud, should show me if I still have it. Then maybe one or two more fights, then I want Daniels," he commented.
The local betting gentry has installed Rush at 9-5, with a lot of Benauud money around.
Five preliminaries that start at 8:30 precede the main go.

Gordie Howe, Sons Beat Whalers, 1-0

NEW YORK (AP)—The question had been asked from the moment Gordie Howe decided to end a two-year retirement and sign a contract with the World Hockey Association Houston Aeros: "Can the old man still perform as he did in the National Hockey League?"
It took Howe exactly 21 seconds to provide an answer.
Taking a pass from his 18-year-old son Mark, the 46-year-old Howe rifled his first shot past New England Whalers goaltender Bill Berglund Tuesday night and scored the only goal in Houston's 1-0 victory over the Whalers in the third period of an unusual hockey exhibition.

The Aeros, Whalers, Winnipeg Jets and New York Golden Blades played one 15-minute period against each other at Madison Square Garden before a crowd of 13,000.
But it was not the spectacle of the four-team event, or even the appearance of hockey's "Golden Jet" Bobby Hull that touched the crowd as did the comeback performance of the greatest goal scorer in the sport's history.
Apparently unaffected by the long layoff since his retirement from the NHL, Detroit Red Wings in 1971, Howe skated smoothly—as always—handled the puck easily, and did what he does best, score, to the enjoyment of the Garden crowd.

"It's lots of fun to be back in the game," he said after his goal had won the mini-game for Houston. "I'd like to keep going the way I played."
"He showed me something, I'll tell you," said Hull, who did a fair share of scoring himself in a long career with the NHL Chicago Black Hawks. "And those kids are really going to be something." Hull added, speaking of Howe's sons Mark and Marty. The trio made sport history Tuesday night, becoming the first father-son group ever to compete coincidentally in a major league event.
"Mark's got a lot of poise," Hull said, "and Marty, with a little experience, is going to be a super defenseman."

Oviedo Cops 4-Way Meet

Oviedo used its strong depth to overcome a pair of top-rated Sanford Naval Academy runner and cross country runners to take a four-way meet Tuesday at Sanford Naval Academy's Junior School.
The Lion Harriers, paced by fourth, fifth and sixth places from Marty Gilmer, Dean Nogle and Jay Gore, took the top spot with 44 points. Mount Dora came in second with 47 points on the second place finish of Flash Bertot and third spot running of John Grinnell.
Sanford Naval Academy ace Kenny Evans clipped 27 seconds off his time on the school's 2.2 mile course for a first place finish of 11:03, but the McRie Harriers, plagued by injuries to its next two runners, had only one other man finish in the top ten.
Tim Klein, followed by Steve Odegaard and Steve Von Zabern in 14th gave the Middies enough points to edge Lake Brantley into fourth place, 57-68.

Can 1951 Happen Again? Mays Inspiration For Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Just as Willie Mays' emergence as a raw rookie in 1951 sparked the so-called "Miracle of Coogan's Bluff," his retirement in 1973 may produce another bit of baseball magic, predicts an old rival.
"The coincidence is almost eerie when you think about it," said Joe Black, who played with Willie in the black leagues and was a rival Brooklyn Dodger when Willie was beginning his illustrious career with the New York Giants in the early 1950s.
"Look at it. It was Willie largely who brought the Giants out of the doldrums and now it's Willie's inspiration—in another way—that I think will carry the New York Mets to the National League championship and maybe to their second World Series title," said Black.
Black was one of the many baseball contemporaries who helped honor the Mets' 42-year-old star at Shea Stadium Tuesday night.
Black, a right-handed pitcher, was just one of several former Dodgers and Giants—Duke Snider, Pee Wee Reese, Ralph Branca, Bobby Thompson, Sal Yvars and Dusty Rhodes—who joined in the tearful, poignant salute before a sellout crowd of more than 50,000.
"From all I could gather, away out in Arizona where I live, Willie put Yogi (Manager Yogi Berra of the Mets) in a precarious position," Black said. "It appears that when Willie, who admittedly is aging and hurting and without his old skills, retired, it took a load off Yogi and the team.

"There must have been some relief there. At the same time, he offered them a great deal of inspiration. I could just feel out on the field the guys saying, 'We've got to win for old Willie.'"
Mays, who less than a week ago announced his retirement from baseball, evoked as many tears as he did cheers after being lavished with gifts fit for a king on "Willie Mays Night."
Old teammates, old rivals, friends and the hierarchy of sports and politics turned out to pay tribute to the weary, aging old warrior who said he lacks the strength and desire to go on.
"You don't know what's going on inside me tonight," Mays said in a choked voice, wiping wetness from his eyes. "If you knew how I felt in my heart to hear you cheer and know I can't do anything about it ...
"It is a sad time for me."
Handkerchiefs—men's and women's—fluttered in the stands. The emotion lapped over to the visiting athletes. There was hardly a dry eye in the house.
Willie apologized to the fans and to the Montreal Expos for delaying so important a game, one affecting the National League pennant race, and thanked those who were responsible for keeping him around although he battled only .211.
"It proves I was loved all over the world," he said.

Blue Hens Own Top Small Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

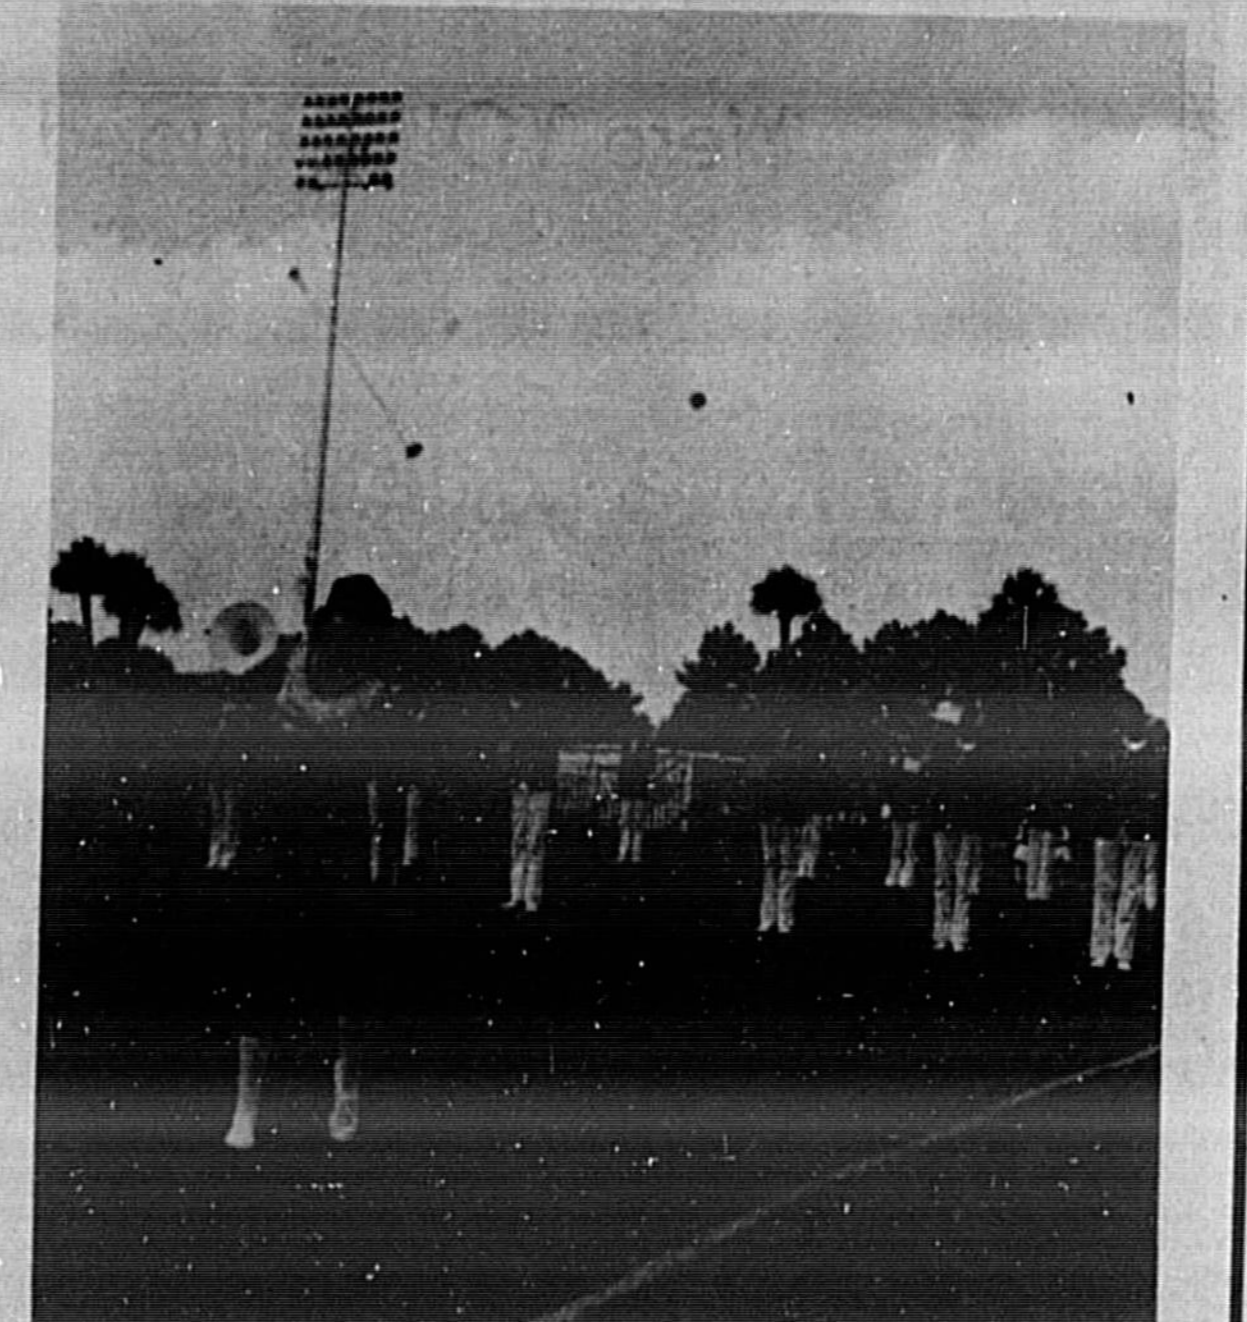

Delaware, following a 60-18 rout of Gettysburg, continued to lead The Associated Press College Division football poll today.
The Blue Hens, after running their record to 3-0 last Saturday, piled up 30 of 46 first-place votes and 840 points from a national panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Delaware has won the college division national title the last two years.

Grambling, with five first-place votes and 722 points, remained in second place. The Tigers beat Morgan State 31-14 last Saturday for their third straight victory.
South Dakota, a 9-7 winner over North Dakota State, moved up one spot to third, while Tennessee State, a 23-20 victor over Texas Southern, fell one place to fourth. South Dakota picked up four first-place ballots.

Eastern Michigan, with one first-place vote, advanced from sixth to fifth on the strength of a 25-14 triumph over Indiana State. Hawaii, tied for 11th last week, was up sixth after beating Fresno State 13-10. The Rainbows earned two first-place ballots.

Ashland, a 37-0 winner over Edinboro State, was seventh and Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo was eighth after topping Idaho State 20-10. Louisiana Tech was ninth following a 23-0 victory over Southwestern Louisiana, and Boise State, a 27-17 winner over Montana State, was 10th.

Rounding out the top 15 were Carson-Newman, Meigs State, which collected one first-place vote, Northwestern Louisiana and, tied for 15th, North Dakota and North Dakota State.
Jacksonville State picked up two first-place votes and Northern Colorado got one, but neither team had enough points to get into the top 15.

Oklahoma Picked To Topple Trojans

NEW YORK (AP)—When you listen to the Southern California and Oklahoma people talk about each other, it's hard to tell who's No. 1.
"Whew!" gasps Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, whose eighth-ranked Sooners tangled with the top-rated Trojans in Los Angeles Saturday night. "What's there to say?"
"They have a super, super team. For us to even have a chance to win we'll have to play a perfect game. We can't put the ball on the ground (fumble), we can't throw the interception, we can't make any errors at all and hope to win the game ..."
Whew! Choices in other top games:
Tennessee 21, Auburn 10—Bill McKay's staff at Southern Cal. "Truthfully, this is one of the best football teams I've ever seen on film. They have everything, as far as offense goes, and they think they have the best defensive team they've ever had at Oklahoma, and that's saying quite a bit.

"We must maintain the football and not make mistakes as far as jumping offenses, clipping and holding penalties. We've got to play a perfect game on offense and not give them the ball. If you give them the ball consistently they're going to move it on you."
Whew!
There you have it. And now you're gonna get it ... Upset Special of the Week ... Oklahoma 24, Southern Cal 21.
Houston 34, Memphis State 14—Losing to Memphis State last weekend was the kiss of death for Mississippi's Billy Kiernan. Not to worry, Bill Yeoman.

Rookie Keeps Baltimore Winning As Vets Rest

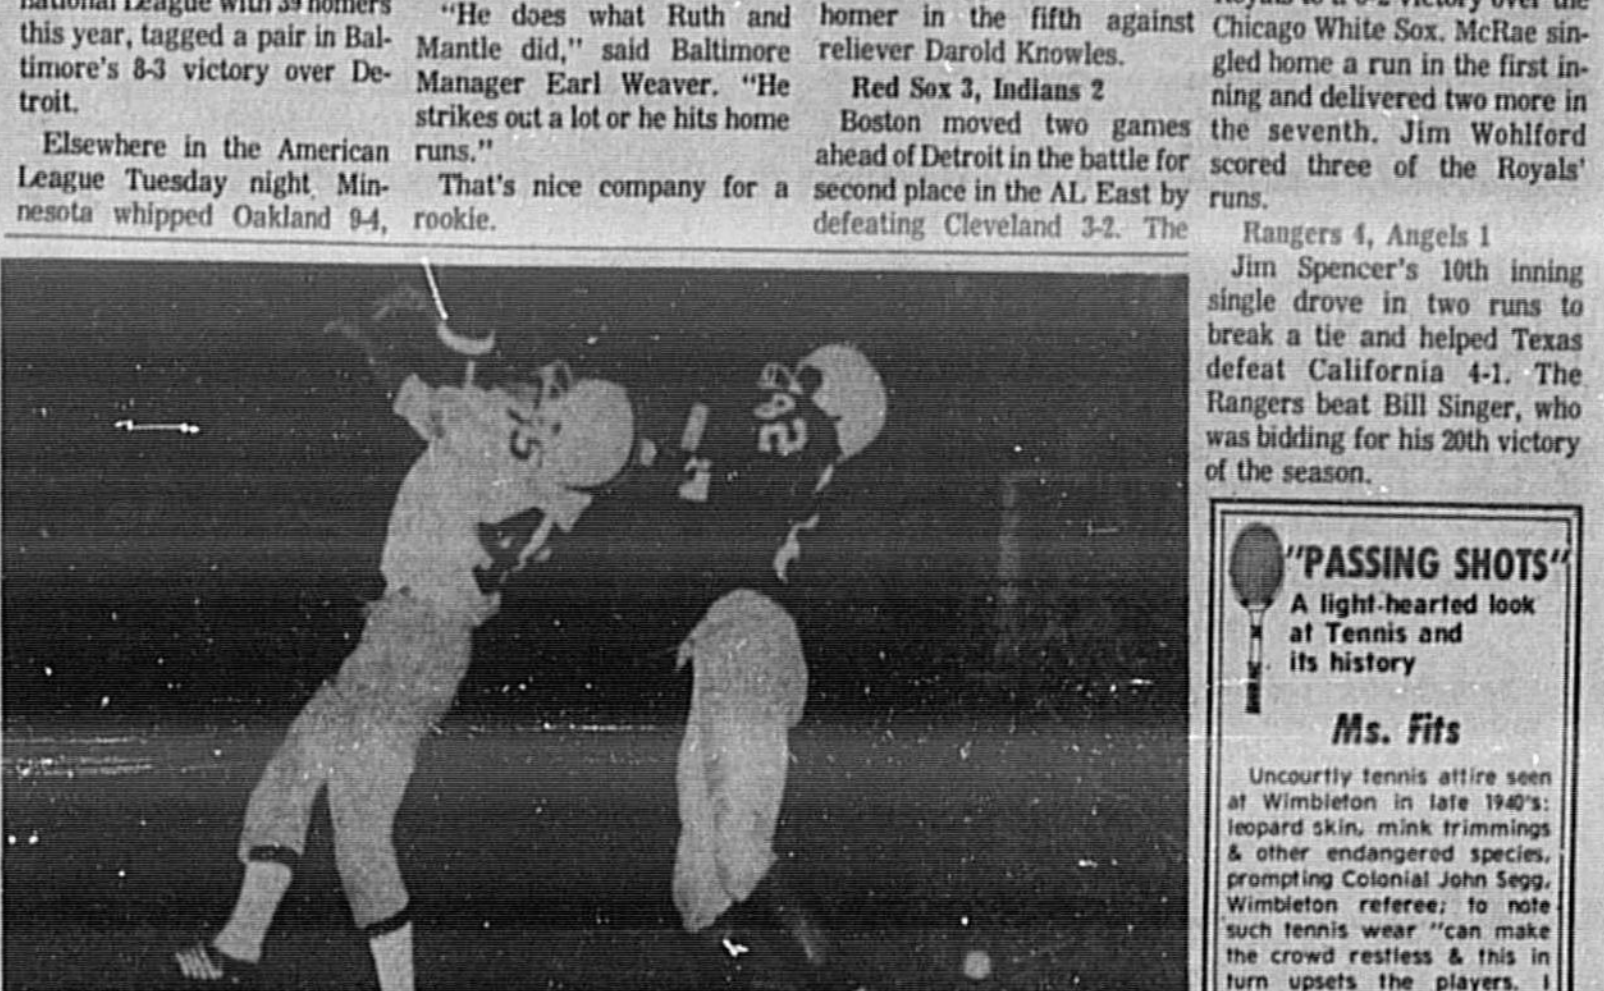

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rich get richer and the poor ... well, the poor lose ball games.
Baltimore's talent-laden Orioles, marking time until baseball's American League play-off, rested a regular and inserted rookie Jim Fuller in their lineup Tuesday night. The results, like the Orioles, were impressive.
Fuller, who led the International League with 35 homers this year, tagged a pair in Baltimore's 8-3 victory over Detroit.
Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night Minnesota whipped Oakland 9-4.

Boston nipped Cleveland 3-2. Milwaukee went 13 innings to defeat the Yankees 3-2, Kansas City downed Chicago 6-2 and Texas defeated California 4-1.
Fuller had an interesting September trial with the East Division champion Orioles. Tuesday's game was typical. He homered twice and struck out three times. In 13 at bats with the Birds, the young slugger has accumulated nine strikeouts.
"He does what Ruth and Mantle did," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "He strikes out a lot or he hits home runs."
That's nice company for a rookie.

Fuller and Rich Coggins had a pair of two-run homers in the first inning as Baltimore ganged up on Tiger starter Jim Perry, knocking him out before he could retire a batter.
Tony Oliva drove in five runs with a homer and a double, leading Minnesota to a 9-4 victory over Oakland's West Division champions. Oliva's second-inning double off Chuck Dobson was good for two runs and he tagged a three-run homer in the fifth against reliever Darold Knowles.
Red Sox 3, Indians 2
Boston moved two games ahead of Detroit in the battle for second place in the AL East by defeating Cleveland 3-2. The Red Sox won it on designated hitter Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer in the first inning.

Brewers 3, Yankees 2
Pedro Garcia drove in Milwaukee's deciding run with a 13th inning single that defeated New York 3-2. The Yankees had come from behind, scoring single runs in the eighth and ninth innings to tie it.
Royals 6, White Sox 2
Hal McRae drove in three Kansas City runs, helping the Royals to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. McRae singled home a run in the first inning and delivered two more in the seventh. Jim Mohrford scored three of the Royals' runs.
Rangers 4, Angels 1
Jim Spencer's 13th inning single drove in two runs to break a tie and helped Texas defeat California 4-1. The Rangers beat Bill Singer, who was bidding for his 20th victory of the season.

Deltona Threatened With Bus Line Loss

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA—All residents of Deltona, interested in continuing bus service through Deltona to Leland, and in extending routes to include more stops within Deltona, are asked to meet at United Methodist Church on Normandy Boulevard, Friday at 1 p.m.

Dwight Hawkins, recreation director for Deltona Corporation, stated that Mackle Brothers wishes to help in any way they can to extend Deland Bus Co. routes to cover all of the first area and extend through the second and third areas. George Hawley, owner of the line is willing to do this only if there are sufficient number of regular riders.

James Ragsdale, assistant director of Government and Community affairs from the Mackle Bros. office in Miami will be on hand as will Hawley, Mrs. Alberta Coy, of DeBarry; Mrs. Barbara Goddard, of Orange City and Robert Smith, manager of the DeLand Chamber of Commerce. All were instrumental in raising the necessary $2500 to continue the line from last May, when the bus line announced it would be going "out of business" if such amount was not forthcoming.

Hawley says, that unless he can be assured of enough riders to cover the cost of maintaining his bus line, he will be going "out of business" at the end of October.

All residents, who wish to use this bus service are definitely asked to call Dwight Hawkins, at 668-4458, and if at all possible, to be present at this meeting on Friday, to hear plans and to offer their opinions.

Miss Harold Is Bride Of Henry L. Collins

Miss Jocelyn Juanelle Harold, daughter of SFC. Lou C. Harold and Mrs. Juanita G. Harold, Sanford, and Henry Leroy Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, Winter Park, were united in Holy Matrimony Sept. 22, 1973 at 6 p.m. in St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church.

Officiating clergyman at the candlelight, double ring ceremony was Rev. Robert Doctor. Earl Everett Minotti, organist, presented an appropriate arrangement of nuptial music.

Two large baskets of white mums and gladioli with baby blue carnations accented the altar with a spiral candelabrum on either side, holding white burning tapers. Completing the arch decor were two baskets of blue and white carnations with baby blue satin bows. White satin bows and gladioli marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was adorned in a formal length gown of chantilly cotton and nylon white lace over a blue silk. Her shoulder length veil of identical lace was secured to a lace covered Juliet cap.

Her train extended from a blue satin bow in the back of the waist, into a chapel length sweep. She carried two white Bible trimmers in white lace with white roses and rosettes on the white streamers.

Miss Monica Dixon, served as maid of honor. She wore a blue silk A-line floor length gown with a round neckline. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers with yellow streamers.

Bridesmaids were Misses Charlotte Ringling, Corena Bracey, Carrie Washington, Patricia Collins, Hazel Collins, and Peggy Collins. Junior bridesmaid was Jamie McClellan. All attendants wore blue boned lace floor-length gowns with sweetheart necklines and white heart shaped buttons. They wore blue net caps with blue velvet bows and carried bouquets of spring flowers.

George Collin Jr., brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Herbert Collins, brother of the groom; Clifford Williams, Sherwood Mobley, Fred Johnson, Michael Sermon, Ike Durham and Junior usher was Christopher W. Collins, brother of the groom. Flower girls were Natasha Harvey and Sandra Martin. Ring bearer was Alvarez J. Maddox.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Erolid chose a formal-length gown of blue-satin with a short waist length jacket, her accessories were of silver and she wore a white carnation corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Collins, wore a blue crepe gown with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Josephine Graham, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a blue satin gown with white accessories and Mrs. Ruth Bernard, grandmother of the groom also wore a blue satin gown with white accessories and both wore white carnation corsages.

Reception site was the lovely home of the bride. The bride's table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and highlighted by candelabra with white tapers and white and silver bells around the table.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated in blue and white bells with a miniature bride and groom. Fruit punch and champagne was served with white crystal punch bowls. Assisting at the bride's book was Mrs. Gwendolyn Thornton, pouring were Ms. Wilmer Pinkney, Miss Kathy Bentley and Mrs. Lige Powell.

Cutting and serving the wedding cake was Ms. Elouise Eubanks.

The couple left for a short wedding trip to West Palm Beach. They will return in Washington, D.C. The groom is employed as manager of photograph department at Zayre's in Casselberry and the bride is a student at Seminole High School.

Out-of-town guests included Ms. Ida B. Williams, John H. Hicks, New York City; Ms. Gwendolyn Thornton, Rochester, N. Y.; Ms. Doretha Burgess, Sonia Burgess, Wandak and Bonnie Burgess, Michael Burgess, Lake City; Jonathan Burgess, Tallahassee and William Odal, Jacksonville.

Garden Clubbers Honor Ruth Post

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA—At the regular meeting of the Iris Circle of the Deltona Garden Club, Mrs. McLain (Ruth) Post was pleasantly surprised with being the recipient of a life membership in the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, as a gift from several of her friends in the Circle and Garden Club.

The presentation was made by president of the circle, Mrs. Edmund Shinton.

Attending the presentation were Mrs. Ewald Korth, president of the Deltona Garden Club; Mrs. Albert Croninger, close friend of Ruth's who received a life membership from her friends last April. Mrs. Cecil Thomas, another life member as of this year, and the 20 members of the Iris Circle. Mrs. Post was one of the organizers of the Iris Circle and the Garden Club of Deltona. Together with Mrs. Croninger and a few other women they organized the Deltona Garden Club and have been active all these years.

She served the circle as president for four years, and also, as parliamentarian of the Garden Club.

When the Triplett's and their son and wife started to enter their home they were confronted with a large group of friends in the living room, who exploded a balloon in their faces and started throwing confetti and shouting "Happy Anniversary."

Needless to say confusion reigned for awhile. Mrs. Triplett almost fainted and after it finally dawned on her that a party had been arranged in their honor she dashed upstairs to dress for the occasion.

Approximately 70 friends were invited to join in the surprise celebration. Fruit punch, nuts and mints were served along with the cake, the couple received many nice and useful gifts and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

Several other friends served as floating hostesses to assist Bill and Nancy. Hostesses for the party, and others who helped arrange the surprise event.

Mr. Triplett's mother, Mrs. Nora Triplett, gave the couple a family Bible and Pat Scintell gave Mrs. Triplett an orchid corsage.

The former Florence White and Bill Triplett were married Sept. 18, 1948 in Catlettsburg, Ky. He was employed by a wholesale gro-drug Co. in Charleston, W. Va. for several years and then came to Florida in 1966. He worked for The Nehi Bottling Co. for awhile and they have been in the retail furniture business for the past 15 years.

Mr. Triplett and Paul Miller own and operate The Central Furniture and Bedding Co. at 119 S. Magnolia Ave., Sanford and are moving to a new location and opening a new store Nov. 1, at 24th and French Avenue.

Hair Stylist Sees Seven-Year Cycle In New Coiffures

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Writer

We are at the seven-year-cycle that brings a new hair style, in the opinion of Edith Imre, long-time stylist.

As she sees the change, one's natural hair will provide a hair-do with height by the addition of hairpieces, a look that has finally evolved from "the worst period of hairdressing"—teased hair with its lacquered height—which all better beauty salons tried to reverse for many years," she says.

Women wanted the height and there was no other way, but they went far avery trying to fit it into fashion.

"For example, many years ago after the high pompadour style, a new look came in flat and short. But women didn't like it because it was not flattering. The hairdo evolved into the popular Italian style because the style helped combine some of the height most women missed from the old pompadour with the softness of the newer, shorter look," Miss Imre adds.

It has taken all this time to get back to a look of natural height which the hairpieces can give because "they can be used to give the height the bone structure needs for the natural look," if they are properly used.

Well-known in the wig market, she was the first to put wigs into department stores. Miss Imre saw the wig business go into a slump a few years later because the wigs were being sold like hats to bolster a dying millinery business. "Some name designers were putting their names on both low-priced and expensive wigs and people became very confused."

"A woman would buy a wardrobe of wigs, perhaps for the low price, and the effect was not as she had envisioned it from the advertisements. But many wigs were sold at department stores and at millinery departments and there was no shopping and styling to achieve a flattering fit. But it isn't a total loss for those who still have such wigs. Beauty salons may still update them with proper styling."

The wig people made many mistakes, one reason for the major slump in the industry.

"For example, many wigs were being made with teenagers in mind, but most teenagers never really bought wigs. But they did buy hairpieces even though many stores did not carry them. They were instead trying to sell everybody a wig. Some hairpieces were sold at counters with barrettes but that was about all," she says.

Couple Surprised At Gala Reception

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Triplett received the surprise of their lives on Sept. 18, when they returned from a dinner given by their son, Bill and his wife, Nancy. It was the Triplett's 25th wedding anniversary and the dinner was supposed to be the only celebration of the event.

While the two couples were out enjoying dinner, the Triplett's children, Mrs. Kaplan (Lynn) Pierce, and Robert, Triplett, Mrs. Betty Place, Mrs. Nora Triplett and Mrs. Pat Scintell all gathered at the honored couple's home, 2404 South Park Ave. and transferred the lovely home into a party area with gold crepe paper streamers, balloons and other decorations.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a yellow, green and gold lace cloth, over green and a beautiful arrangement of Fuji mums, majestic daisies and leaves sprayed silver adorned the table.

Streamers and balloons were suspended from the chandelier to the corners of the ceiling, gleaming silver appointments on the table and a wedding cake decorated with roses and green leaves and the emblem "25" all prepared the dining area for a 25th silver anniversary party.

When the Triplett's and their son and wife started to enter their home they were confronted with a large group of friends in the living room, who exploded a balloon in their faces and started throwing confetti and shouting "Happy Anniversary."

Mr. Triplett's mother, Mrs. Nora Triplett, gave the couple a family Bible and Pat Scintell gave Mrs. Triplett an orchid corsage.

The former Florence White and Bill Triplett were married Sept. 18, 1948 in Catlettsburg, Ky. He was employed by a wholesale gro-drug Co. in Charleston, W. Va. for several years and then came to Florida in 1966. He worked for The Nehi Bottling Co. for awhile and they have been in the retail furniture business for the past 15 years.

Mr. Triplett and Paul Miller own and operate The Central Furniture and Bedding Co. at 119 S. Magnolia Ave., Sanford and are moving to a new location and opening a new store Nov. 1, at 24th and French Avenue.

Department Offers Lessons

Have you heard what the Sanford Recreation Department is offering in its fall program of events. Some of these courses may interest you, so you are invited to join the activities.

BATON TWIRLING LESSONS are being offered to girls 6-12 years old. The course is for beginners who have had little or no experience in baton. Basic techniques in baton will be covered in the course and all girls must furnish their own baton.

Classes will be held each Tuesday and Thursday from 4-5 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center starting Tuesday, Oct. 9.

After the course has been completed the girls will be divided into teams and will be allowed to cheer during boys' basketball season sponsored by the Recreation Department. A thru Nov. 29, 1973. There will be no charge for this course.

CHEERLEADING AND POM-POM LESSONS will be offered to girls 10, 11, and 12 years old. This course will be held each Wednesday from 4-5 p.m. at the Civic Center beginning Oct. 10 for a period of eight weeks. The lessons will include basic cheers and movements and the use of pom-poms.

Two classes are being offered on Tuesday mornings from 10 a.m.—11 a.m., and 11 a.m.—12 noon with the first class starting Oct. 9 for 8 weeks.

Class will be held on the tennis courts at Ft. Mellon Park. Classes will be limited to 12 women per class, so come register now! A nominal fee will be charged for this course.

Registration is being taken now at the Sanford Recreation Dept. for any of these classes between the hours of 8:30-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For further information call 322-3161 ext. 68.

All non-residents must purchase a non-resident card before registering.

Buffet Dinner Entertains Byrnes-Gnann Bridal Party

By LIZ MATHIEUX
Herald Correspondent

The Gnan-Byrnes wedding party was honored at the Lake Harney Beach home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Byrnes.

The buffet table featured an assortment of relishes and condiments and hickory smoked turkey, chicken, macaroni salad, chips and dips, coffee, cakes and high balls.

Others invited to join the brides and Mary Jane Byrnes, her fiancée, Bert Gnann Jr., were parents of the bride-groom elect, Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Gnann Sr. Also Linda and Bebe Gnann, sisters of the bride-groom-elect; Shawn Gnann, brother of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bagwell, Terry Boyd, Joe Lachut, Marcia Godale and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mathieux.

Proteins Needed In Diet

Updey News Service

Many persons have asked for recipes using lentils and beans, especially soybeans as a way of controlling the food budget for adequate menus.

Legumes are rich in proteins and B vitamins — almost twice as rich in protein as cereals. And soybeans contain almost two times the protein as ordinary beans. The proteins of beans and those of wheat flour have supplementary value to each other.

The serving of Boston baked beans and brown bread, chili beans and macaroni, or of a peanut butter sandwich makes a good protein combination. The proteins of potatoes, while low in percentage, are excellent in nutritional quality.

The new American Heart Association Cookbook says "more planning is required to get adequate nutrition from a vegetarian diet than from a diet that includes meat. The difficulty is in getting enough of the right kind of protein." Protein is made up of 22 amino acids, eight of which must be acquired from food; our bodies cannot make them. If one of the eight is missing in the food we eat, then all of the others are useless. Without the missing link, they are powerless to build a single protein molecule. Some vegetable sources, such as beans, seeds and grains, contain high quality protein, but are better eaten in combination rather than alone because they can supplement one another to make far more of it available for body use. The key word here is "available."

BAKED SOYBEANS

- 1 1/2 cups dry soybeans
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 onions, chopped (about 1/2 cup)
 - 2 tablespoons margarine
 - 1/4 cup catsup
 - 1/4 cup molasses
 - 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- Soak soybeans overnight. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer until nearly tender (about 3 hours). Meanwhile, saute the onions in the margarine until soft. Season with salt and pepper. Add to the beans with the catsup, molasses and mustard. Cover and bake in a 300 degree F. oven for one hour, or until the beans are tender, uncovering now and then to allow excess liquid to evaporate. Yield: Two quarts.

SOYBEAN CHILI

- 1 cup soybeans
- 1 cup whole wheat berries (Nole)
- 6 cups water
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1/4 teaspoon hot red pepper
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 2 onions, chopped
- 1 canned Jalapeno hot pepper, chopped
- 4 tomatoes, chopped
- Soy sauce
- Cooked brown rice
- Chopped scallions

Note: Whole wheat berries are the kernels of whole wheat before grinding and may be found in health food stores. Soak soybeans and wheat berries overnight in enough water to cover them.

Transfer to a heavy saucepan, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer three to four hours, or until beans are nearly tender. Heat oil in a skillet. Add the chili powder, red pepper and oregano, and cook stirring two minutes. Add garlic and onion and cook five minutes more. Add chili peppers and chopped tomato. Bring to a boil. Pour into the soybean mixture and continue cooking until beans and wheat are tender. Season with soy sauce to taste.

TUNA TOTE SALAD

- 1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1 hard-cooked egg, sliced
- 1/3 cup chopped pared cucumber
- 2 tablespoons shredded pared carrot
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon chopped scallions
- 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed

In a medium bowl mix all ingredients; chill. For lunch, take in plastic container or wide-mouth vacuum container. YIELD: 2 servings.

Making Ice Cream Can Be Fun

By SHIRLEY GALLINA
Copley News Service

Nostalgia has put a new bloom on things of the past. It is seen today in everything from clothing to furniture, from the preoccupation with old memories to the return to natural foods.

Many persons, tired of the sameness of convenience foods, have returned to cooking from scratch.

What is more rewarding than the return to making real old-fashioned homemade ice cream?

Not only is the taste superior, but the family will delight in the old-fashioned fun of making a freezer full.

That cool, creamy dessert which has kept taste buds tingling for centuries begins with nutritious milk and milk's fluffy relative, whipping cream.

Once you have mastered creamy vanilla, you can make your way to strawberry-banana.

Another source of good taste is in a sauce to spoon over vanilla ice cream, and recipes are included.

Whether you have a hand freezer or motor-driven type, be sure to read the instructions. Different freezers require different ratios of ice and salt.

CREAMY VANILLA ICE CREAM

3 eggs
One and three-fourths cups sugar
2 tps. vanilla extract
One-fourth tsp. salt
3 cups whipping cream

In a large mixing bowl beat eggs until foamy. Gradually add sugar; beat until thickened. Blend in milk, vanilla and salt.

Chill. In a large mixing bowl lightly whip cream to soft stage; fold into chilled mixture. Churn-freeze, using slightly higher proportion of salt to ice than recommended for freezing other ice cream materials.

Yield: approximately 3 quarts.

Variation—Raspberry Swirl: After freezing, transfer ice cream to plastic freezer container, alternating layers of ice cream with raspberry preserves (1 cup); swirl each layer with spatula for marbled effect. Place in freezer to ripen.

Other fruit preserves may be substituted for raspberry.

HONEY BUTTER SAUCE

One-half cup (1 stick) butter
One-eighth tsp. cinnamon
Three-fourth cup honey
Dash of salt

In a one-quart saucepan, melt butter with cinnamon. Remove from heat. Blend in honey and salt. Stir in whipping cream until smooth. Add orange extract. Serve warm. Yield: one and one-fourth cups.

Dishes May Honor Traveler

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

A party theme can be developed with the menu, as well as in format and decor. At this time of the year, many parties are given to honor returning or departing travelers. This furnishes an easy-to-develop theme for a party.

If, for instance, the party is going to have a Scandinavian theme, the menu might feature Swedish Meatballs with Lingonberry Sauce and Herring and Beet Salad. These two can start at a smorgasbord-type meal which also can offer a variety of salads and open face sandwiches.

relish and water. Bring to a boil. Set aside. Turn meat balls out of skillet into serving dish. Garnish with parsley. Pour sauce into skillet. Bring to a boil, scraping up meat drippings. Serve with meat balls. Makes six servings.

Home Canning Brings Big Savings

CANNING EXPERT
... Kathleen Mata

LOS ANGELES — You can save a bundle if you can your own fruits and vegetables. When Mrs. Kathleen Mata puts up tomatoes, a full quart (32 oz.) comes out at about 15 cents.

A 16-ounce can of tomatoes at one supermarket is selling for 21 cents, and a 28-ounce can is 28 cents.

And, who knows what they will cost next winter?

"It really pays to can these days," says Mrs. Mata, who has been canning for 20 years.

"I wait until the peak of the season for each fruit or vegetable to get the best price."

So far this year, Mrs. Mata, of nearby Loma, has put up 62 quarts of tomatoes, 20 quarts each of apricots and plums and 26 quarts of pinto beans. She has made a frozen strawberry jam which she contends tastes better than the cooked variety, and also has frozen whole strawberries.

Next on the fruit list will be peaches and pears. Mrs. Mata and a group of church women planned to go to an orchard where they would pick their own fruit.

"The fruits will cost 12 cents a pound and I plan to buy five lugs of pears and three or four of peaches," she said.

Fresh peaches are selling in a supermarket for 39 cents a pound and pears at 28 cents. A 28-ounce can of peaches of the least expensive brand is now 32 cents, and pears are 49 cents.

"We have to pick the peaches green and ripen them, but the peaches must be canned the next day," she said.

For fruits, Mrs. Mata uses the hot water bath method of canning and the pressure cooker method for vegetables. "Tomatoes are a fruit, should be treated as one," she says. "When putting tomatoes in jars, pack firmly as they decrease in volume. Vegetables, on the other hand, tend to increase."

This summer, Mrs. Mata paid $2 a bag for tomatoes, and put up five lugs in one canning session. She gets 13 quarts from one lug.

"They were picked the morning I bought them and I canned them the same day," she said.

She says you must have a hot water canner for the water bath method.

Here is how she puts up her tomatoes.

First, she removes the skins.

Mrs. Mata's quick peeling method is to put several tomatoes at a time in a large colander and set it in a pot of boiling water for a minute or so, then the skins slip off easily. She uses the same technique for peaches and pears.

Next, she cuts the tomatoes in quarters as they make more juice this way and don't float in the jars.

Put the quartered tomatoes into clean quart jars, packing firmly, until they are one inch from the top. Add one teaspoon salt (not necessary to stir). Put on sealing lids and screw bands on the jars.

"Be sure you tighten the band at this point. If you try it later on, the seal will be broken," she cautions.

Place the sealed jars in the rack, and lower into the hot water canner with the water at a rolling boil. The water must be one inch above the top of the jars.

Boil them for 35 minutes. Set the jars on a board or paper, not metal, and let stand for 24 hours.

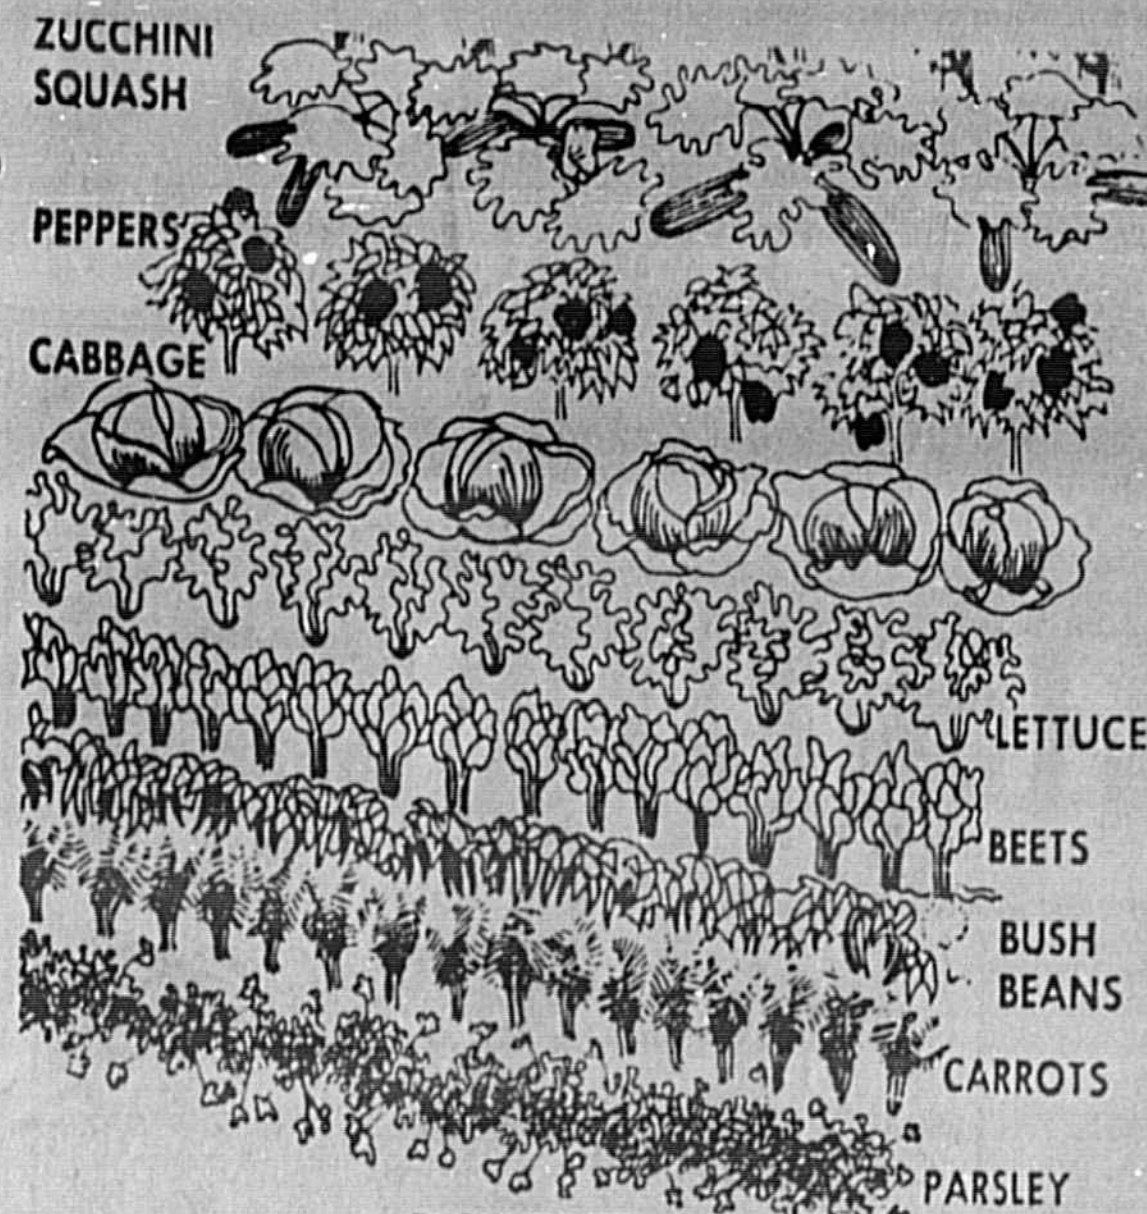

"Don't handle them," she said. "After the 24 hours, remove the bands, wash and put them away for future use."

Fruits are canned the same way, but cooking time varies with different fruits.

The reason Mrs. Mata puts up so many tomatoes is that she uses them all year in various ways, such as in chili and beans, macaroni dishes or any time a zesty sauce is wanted. It's delicious.

GREEN CHILI SALSA
2 cans (4 oz. each) Ortega green chilies cut in small pieces
1 large can (1 lb. 12 oz.) solid pack tomatoes, cut up
1 clove garlic, minced
1 medium onion, finely chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
One-fourth cup vinegar
One-fourth cup salad oil
Pinch of oregano
1 can whole, small, pitted ripe olives (optional)

Mix all ingredients together and store in the refrigerator in a bowl or glass jars. Serve with meats, macaroni dishes or any time a zesty sauce is wanted. It's delicious.

'Nixon Gardens' Grow Up

COPELY NEWS SERVICE

Having a backyard vegetable garden can be a lot of fun but like any project it isn't wise to jump right in without first knowing a little something about it.

There are many places to get gardening tips and procedures such as your local nurseryman who also has a variety of colorful and informative books.

Because the interest in vegetable gardening is so widespread many junior colleges, universities and gardening clubs offer courses on the subject.

For example, the University of California at Davis has a couple of programs for aspiring gardeners.

First, at one location of married students' housing, 68 plots each measuring 16 feet by 30 feet can be "rented" out by the students for an annual fee of $5. The money covers costs of plowing and piping in water for the plots.

In another married students' area, 45 rows each 30 inches wide and 400 feet long, can be rented either for $3 (half row) or $6 (full row).

Also, in the Experimental College program a course in gardening is offered with plots provided for class participants. The same type of class was offered by the Experimental College at California State University at Los Angeles during that school's spring quarter.

According to Glenn Hiatt, assistant director of the Arboretum and Botanic Gardens in Arcadia, Calif., the public interest in home vegetable gardening has been so great that mini-courses in vegetable gardening are being offered there.

The Department of Agriculture has a variety of books and pamphlets available on home gardening.

Among the most popular are: "Growing Vegetables in the Home Garden," AL 77:202; "Growing Tomatoes in the Home Garden," AL 77:180; and "Mini-gardens for Vegetables," AL 77:183.

For further information write the Department of Agriculture, Office of Information, Washington, D.C. 20250.

If the gardening bug has bitten you and you can't wait to start digging and planting, here are some simple guidelines to help you get started:

—Limit plant population and stick to compatible varieties.

—Overpopulation of garden invites predators and lessens yield.

—Turn the soil at least 18 inches in depth. Minerals sink to deep soil and plants also need freshly aerated soil for nutrient conversion.

—Add redwood compost, for bark, or other common organic materials to garden soil. Some soils are severely deficient in organic materials. Peat moss is not satisfactory since it keeps many bedding areas too moist. Nitrogen and potash are also recommended.

—Keep weeds under control either by hand weeding or by using a commercial weed seed germination inhibitor, available at most nurseries.

—Keep garden pests under control either by biological pest-fighters or commercial chemical control.

—Rotate crops so that soil will not become nutrient-depleted.

—Protect cool-weather and freshly transplanted vegetables from too much sun or the "heat" varieties will go to seed before maturing.

—Follow instructions for specific water and nutrient needs for each variety. Tomatoes, for example, need deep watering every 10 days to two weeks instead of everyday soaking.

—Try to germinate delicate plants in the garden and provide them with correct exposure. Cheesecloth, newspaper or cardboard sun shields will far beat vegetables, which require shade from about 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in hot weather.

Teachers Consider Merger

By KENNETH J. RABBEIN
Copley News Service

Prospects for merger of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT-CIO) with the National Education Association range from "inevitable" to "not greater than 50-50."

This was the prediction of some delegates to the AFT's 57th convention in Washington the end of August, only weeks away from the historic first meeting in the nation's capital between the rivals.

Although little controversy was allowed to surface at a convention noted for battles royal, the merger issue overshadowed everything. Grass-roots merger opposition from state and local AFT affiliates nationwide was apparent.

That 50-50 estimate is significant because it comes from Albert Shanker, the AFT's first vice president and heir-apparent to AFT President David Selden.

Shanker was primarily responsible for creation through merger of the nation's largest teacher organization, the 200,000-member United Teachers of New York State.

Shanker foresees lengthy negotiations and believes the main problem will be parceling out power in the new organization, rather than the NEA's refusal to affiliation with the AFL-CIO.

Selden thinks the NEA's labor opposition is for internal political reasons. He said the primary reason for merging the 1.3 million-member and financially better off NEA and the 384,510-member AFT is to vastly increase teacher power to negotiate and to elect local, state and national officials sympathetic to their views and demands for more money for education and teachers.

"Teachers see little need for an alliance except in areas where organized labor has political clout."

"I am hopeful about the merger talks. Mergers are the rule rather than the exception in unionism and most (large unions) are formed that way," Selden explained.

It was difficult to get Selden, Shanker and others to specify how merger would benefit 52 million public and private schoolchildren and taxpayers. Shanker admitted that teachers are fighting for their own interests, but said their fight for such things as smaller classes will also benefit pupils.

Selden believes merger will bring success to AFT and NEA efforts to lower class size because money to make it possible. The AFT wants 20 to 25 pupils per class, depending on grade, and 20 teaching hours weekly.

He said there would be no teacher surplus if class size were lowered and that a third more teachers than are available would be required.

Most teachers say smaller classes would help them do a better job, but there is little, if any, valid, reliable research to show that class size makes a significant difference in what pupils know.

Kremlin Cautious On Rights

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Kremlin today seems to be searching cautiously for a safe way to snuff out what remains of the Soviet civil rights movement; but while it has won some battles, it is far from winning the war.

It has moved deliberately, anxious to avoid arousing the sort of protest outcry that could endanger its quest for important economic concessions from the United States and the West.

This latest in a series of repression campaigns, launched almost two years ago, has wounded the movement severely, but it remains alive. The drive began when the Kremlin was building its current policy of peaceful coexistence.

It has silenced the underground press, the cement that has kept a frail rights movement together. However, the Kremlin ran head-on into a highly publicized challenge, a situation unique in the history of Communist power, when it turned its heaviest artillery on the outstanding figures of the rights movement.

Suborn voices, like those of Andrei D. Sakharov, the nuclear physicist, and Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, the Nobel Prize-winning novelist, refused to be silenced.

The Communist party could remain aloof to this challenge. But these stalwarts were not ordinary men. It would not be as easy to deal with them the way others had been dealt with: shipment to insane asylums, forced labor or exile. Their towering reputations made their voices too clearly heard.

The dissidents are scientists, writers, other intellectuals. In relation to the Soviet population of 240 million, they are just a handful.

Historically, Russians never have been a revolutionary people. In their vast land, change under the czars had to be forced by the very few who dared challenge absolute authority.

Today's dissidents have programs, dreams, ambitions, ideals—but little in the way of organization or cohesion. Their demands by Western standards would seem extraordinary wild, are not these accompanied by the violent clashes with authority so familiar in the West.

Many seeking change come from the ranks of survivors of Stalin's terrible concentration camps. After Stalin died in 1953, some had hoped for a more open society, not through overthrow of the existing system but through liberalization.

Dissent had been impossible under Stalin's one-man dictatorship, but for a brief time of three under Nikita S. Khrushchev, some hopes were stirred.

These hopes became somewhat clouded in Khrushchev's later years even though at late as 1962 it had been possible for Solzhenitsyn to publish his "On the Life of Ivan Denisovich," an account of the horrors of a Stalinist labor camp.

Quick Guide To Cheeses

American beef lovers are looking about for other good sources of protein as substitutes for expensive or scarce meat cuts. One of the best is cheese.

To help the questing eater, Robert Jay Misch has written a bouncy new book, "Quick Guide to Cheese." Much an authority on food and drink, tells how to select and buy cheese, how to keep it and how to serve it. He is sometimes flip, always interesting and frequently comes up with some very valuable ideas.

For cheese lovers with weight troubles he recommends hard, dry cheese, with low butter fat. He suggests for the dieter: Pont l'Evêque

Reblochon, Jarlsberg, Esrom, Tilsit, Feta and Romano.

This gay little volume contains several recipes using cheese lavishly. Among them is the famous Fettucine Alfredo from Rome, and the ever popular Veal Parmigiana, using both Parmesan and Mozzarella cheeses.

Of foreign cheeses, he notes the recent popularity of Crema Dania, Bourain, Boursault and Feta.

Among American cheeses, some of which he praises highly, he gives these definitions, believing not every cheese eating American is familiar with them:

Brick: A true native. Mild, with a sweetish flavor. Softer than Cheddar in body. Made in many states but mainly in Wisconsin.

Coon: One of the very best Cheddars. From upstate New York in a distinctive pitch-black rind and wax.

Baker's: A fresh cheese used to make cheesecake and other cheese pastries.

Farm (Also Farmer): Usually eaten fresh by old ladies, who mix it (or buy it mixed) with sour cream, pepper, onion and fruits. Not unlike cottage cheese.

Sweetpotato Recipes For You

SWEETPOTATO MEATPIE

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup chopped fresh onion
1/2 cup chopped celery with leaves

1 tomato, peeled and chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups diced pared sweetpotatoes (4 medium Sweetpotatoes)
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1 Beef bouillon cube
1 cup water
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell

In large skillet, break up ground meat; cook, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned. Add onion and celery and cook until tender. Add tomato, salt, pepper and thyme. Cook uncovered for 10 minutes. Sprinkle with flour; mix well. Add sweetpotatoes, Worcestershire sauce, bouillon cube and water. Stir until bouillon cube dissolves. Turn into baked pastry shell, cover loosely with foil and bake in 400 degrees F. oven 20 to 30 minutes.

Makes: 6 servings.

SWEET POTATO CUSTARD PIE

1 cup mashed cooked sweetpotatoes (2 medium sweetpotatoes)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon grated fresh orange rind
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Wash potatoes and prick with fork. Place on foil or in an oil baking pan and bake in 400 degrees F. oven 45 to 60 minutes, until soft. Scoop out pulp into large bowl. Mash until smooth. Beat in sugar, milk, eggs, salt, ginger and orange rind. Turn into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven 1 hour; or until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm with whipped cream.

Makes: 8 servings.

Chicken, Asparagus Is Great

Grouping for a simple yet different main dish for a quick family meal or for unexpected guests? Try Chicken Asparagus Rolls which combine a chicken spread, canned asparagus spears and top with cream of mushroom soup. Serve with a hearty green salad and baked canned peaches with ice cream. This is a good bridge dish and also for those Saturdays when everyone is going in different directions.

CHICKEN ASPARAGUS ROLLS
2 1/4-ounce cans chicken
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup chopped water chestnuts (optional)
1 tablespoon chopped chives
1 8-ounce package refrigerated cooked dinner rolls
8 whole milk frozen asparagus spears
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1 1/2-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoons dry white wine or milk

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In a mixing bowl, combine chicken spread, lemon juice, water chestnuts and chives. Unroll crescent dough and separate into 8 triangles. Spread with chicken spread mixture. Place an asparagus spear across the long end of each triangle and roll up to the point. Place rolls on an ungreased baking sheet. Brush tops of rolls with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake for 15 to 18 minutes. Meanwhile, in a saucepan, combine mushroom soup and wine or milk. Stir over low heat until simmering. Serve over baked Chicken Asparagus Rolls. Makes 4 servings.

Calzone: Specialty Of Naples

Each autumn in New York City on Mulberry Street, there's a Feast of San Gennaro. For us the culinary high point of this Italian festival is eating Calzone, those utterly delicious half-moons of yeast dough filled with ham and cheese and deep-fried, that are a specialty of Naples. The following recipe is patterned after the festival turnovers and results in just as great a product — maybe even better. Calzone can make the main course for supper if a soup is served before or a mixed vegetable salad after.

3 to 3 1/2 cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
1 cup milk
1/2 cup corn oil
1/2 pound ricotta cheese
1/2 pound mozzarella cheese, cut in 1/4-inch cubes
1 pound cooked thin ham slices, cut in quarters
1 quart (about) corn oil for deep-frying

In large bowl of electric mixer stir together 1 cup of the flour, the sugar, salt and undissolved yeast.
In a small saucepan heat milk and 1/2 cup corn oil until warm; add to flour mixture. Beat 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl several times. Add 1-3/4 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes longer. Stir in remaining flour or enough to make a soft dough. Knead on lightly floured surface until smooth and elastic — about 10 minutes.
Place in oiled bowl, smooth side down, then turn dough so smooth side is up. Cover. Let rise in warm draft-free place until doubled — 45 to 60 minutes. Punch down dough, let rise 30 minutes.

Cut dough into 12 (2 inch) balls (1/2 cup dough). Flatten and spread dough with hands into 5-inch circles. On one half of circle, place 1 tablespoon ricotta cheese, 1 tablespoon mozzarella cheese and a small piece of ham. Wet edge of circle and fold other half over to form a half-moon; press edge of dough firmly together.
Pour corn oil for deep-frying into a heavy sturdy flat-topped 3-quarter saucer or deep fryer, filling until no more than 1-3/4 inch full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees. Fry the calzone, 2 at a time, until golden brown.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Approx the 13-year-old Jewish girl who was chosen to represent her country in a horse show, but because it fell on the High Holy Days, her parents wouldn't let her. Now, I am a Jewish grandmother, and I think the girl should be allowed to ride on the holiday. Loving horses the way she does, if she is forced to miss this big event, she will grow to resent or even hate her Jewishness.

Some Jews think that going to High Holy Day services makes them good Jews. I disagree. I think your telling the child that she had no choice but to obey her parents was wrong. LILY SELWYN, L.A.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the 13-year-old Jewish girl whose parents refused to let her ride in the horse show because it fell on the High Holy Days is one I would like to answer. I understand exactly how that girl feels because I am a 14-year-old Jewish girl who also loves horses.

Since Yom Kippur is the Jewish holiday when Jews are supposed to fast, why not have the girl tell her parents that if they let her ride in the horse show on that day she will promise not to eat anything, and after the finish with the show, the rest of the day she will observe the holiday the way her parents want her to? ALSO JEWISH

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the Jewish girl whose parents wouldn't let her participate in the horse show on a Jewish holiday. The girl's resentment should be directed not to her parents or to the Jewish faith, but to the organization that scheduled the horse show on a Jewish holiday.

Calendars are available to all clubs and organizations allowing the important religious holidays of all minority groups, so there is no excuse for scheduling an important event on a day that would conflict with one's religious observances. Would they have scheduled a horse show on Easter or Christmas?

With the increasing awareness of the rights of minorities, some progress has been made, but we still have a long way to go. A CONSCIENTIOUS CATHOLIC

DEAR ABBY: Both your attitude and that of the girl's parents burned me up! The girl obviously is extremely interested and involved in horses and horse shows. She has had to work very hard with her horse to be selected to represent her country. This is her passion, her main joy in life, and what she wants to devote her energies to.

She is an individual, a complete human being—not the property of her parents. It would seem that parents should be glad that their child is involved in such a hard-working and constructive activity.

Judaism does not mean that men get to the girl now. Have her own desires and opinions less value because she is younger than her parents? This girl will give more thought and time to religion in her own time when she is ready for it. To frustrate the constructive, joyous energy in her now would be a mistake. J.D.

Highlights TV Time Previews

8-9 CBS, THE SONNY & CHER COMEDY HOUR, Nostalgia time in rock 'n' roll lard as some of the big, contemporary stars such as Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, Bobby Vinton, Jerry Lee Lewis, Chuck Berry and, of course, Dick Clark join our hosts. Vinton sings "Blue Velvet," the Four Seasons do "Big Girls Don't Cry" and Lewis offers "Great Balls of Fire!"

8-8-30 ABC BOB & CAROL & TED & ALICE (PREMIERE) A TV version of the movie, but the producers say only the title is similar. This is a generation gap thing — among adults. There's the free-spirited younger couple, Bob and Carol Saunders (Robert Ulrich and Anne Archer), and the more conservative older couple, Ted and Alice Henderson (David Spierberg and Anita Gillette). In the opening episode, "Can I Help It If She's Crazy About Me?" Ted fires his secretary because he thinks she's falling for him. He proudly tells his wife, who scoffs at the idea such a pretty young thing would fall for an aging geezer like Ted. She wants Ted to hire the girl back, and discusses the incident with friend Carol, and begins to suspect she has made the wrong decision.

8-30-9-30 NBC THE BOB HOPE TV SPECIAL A Typical Hope hour, starting with his monologue, then a tach of sketches, with Bob getting support from Ann-Margret, tennis-hustler Bobby Riggs, singer John Denver and the Jackson Five.

8-30-10-30 ABC WEDNESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "Hijack" Action adventure

WIN AT BRIDGE

Five-heart response — unhappy

Clearly North wouldn't be unhappy about his hand if his spade suit were headed by ace-king-queen. Probably he wouldn't be unhappy if he had three to the queen in either suit. Therefore, South decides to just bid six. Of course, he bids it in no-trump. He counts the same 12 trick suits in either no-trump or hearts except that not only does no-trump count 10 points more but it is safer. Nothing can be ruffed.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

Taking the ouch Out of shopping

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — I, too, have had the problem with "tail-gaters" at the checkout counter in a store. They seemingly do not realize the difficulty they cause. My solution is to bump into me. One time can be an accident, twice can be responsibility. I am glad your cart has a noticeable lack of once and I am sure that was an accident. This ends the problem. — JAY

Worry Clinic

George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Mildred's love for her husband waned when he failed to lean upon her and thus make her feel important. Read Mattie's story for superb advice on how to win a sweetheart or hold a wife's undying devotion. Lean on your children, too!

CASE Y-57: Mildred J., aged 27, wants a divorce. "Dr. Crane," her wealthy husband protested, "what is wrong with her?" "You have indulged her with gifts and her own car and a lavish allowance. "What more could she want to be happy?"

WRONG STRATEGY Many men use the wrong strategy in the realm of love. They think they can purchase undying affection with money! Even Uncle Sam has made the same mistake with his lavish scattering of billions of our taxes among foreign nations.

"Yanks, Go Home," is then the angry retort of such recipients. The real secret for winning friendship (and love) is based on this axiom: "I WANT TO FEEL IMPORTANT."

Mildred fails to feel important when she is treated as a "kept" woman and obligated to her husband for all his gifts. For a sense of obligation DEFLECTS one's pride. Her husband could far more easily have held her love if he had leaned upon her for advice and suggestions.

Then she'd have felt important to him and also retained keenly interested each day in how well her idea had panned out in his business. Thus, she'd have felt like a partner, which is far more inflating to a wife's ego than to be lavishly indulged all the time.

Jesus gave Mildred's husband the cue for holding her interest and love when he stated (Matthew 6:7): "For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

"And treasure" includes our advice, suggestions, ideas and other aid to our associates. Many parents likewise lose their children by similarly indulging them too much.
