

FOUR BOOSTER SOCKETS fall away from a guided missile propelled by a ram-jet engine. It was developed by Britain for use in tomorrow's airliners. The boosters drop off after accelerating the engine to a speed of over 1,000 miles an hour. Shock waves can be seen ahead of the rockets and on both sides of the missile. The engine is most effective at about 1,500 miles an hour. A new speed record by an aircraft (bottom) that starts out as a helicopter and converts itself into an airplane in mid-air was announced by the Air Research and Development Command headquarters in Baltimore, Md. The craft reached speeds of 300 miles an hour, exceeding the old helicopter figure by 60 miles an hour. It was first flight-tested in 1935.

Many Visit Palomar Telescope

By ALTON L. BLANKENEE
PALOMAR OBSERVATORY,
CALIF. — A mile high atop this granite mountain sits man's great window upon the universe — the 200-inch telescope, cool, gray, massive, fascinating.

It is a giant given the tender care accorded to a baby. It is probing staggering distances across the oceans of space to answer some mysteries and creating more.

This great telescope sees stars enough to fill thousands of them for every human who has ever lived. Each star is a sun, many far bigger than our own sun. Some, many astronomers believe, by life giving planets or worlds peopled with life like ours.

This telescope sees star families estimated to be up to two billion light years distant. One light year is six trillion miles, the distance light travels in a year at a speed of 180,000 miles a second.

Even so it has not seen the edge of the universe. From what the big eye sees, there is some evidence the universe is three billion years old—and some evidence it may be as much as five or six billions.

It tells astronomers the universe is apparently still expanding, with the galaxies or milky ways all rushing away outward. The most distant ones seem to be speeding away at 40,000 miles a second.

But astronomers find some evidence that perhaps the rate of expansion is slowing down. If that be so, perhaps the universe will collapse, with ours and other galaxies all rushing back together to form one great, atom billions of years from now, perhaps to explode again into a far flung universe.

But you cannot look through this telescope.

And it cannot tell us much more about the Moon or Mars or other nearby planets than much smaller telescopes can.

Every year about 100,000 visitors drive up the 18-mile winding road to the top of Palomar Mountain, 160 miles southeast of Los Angeles to see the telescope which explores by taking photographs or sensitive plates, usually with long exposures to gather far more light and to create clear images which the human eye could not see.

As for Mars or the Moon, the telescope cannot tell us much more than other telescopes, explains Dr. Ira S. Bowen, director of both the Palomar and Mt. Wilson observatories.

The main reason is the shimmering of light as it passes through our own earth's sea of air. This air creates turbulence like that you see over a hot stove or over a summertime highway.

Once in a while the seeing conditions would be good enough for wonderful shots of nearby planets.

But "you can't afford to have the big eye waiting on that night after night. It has far more important things to do," said Dr. Bowen.

The general public cannot come close to it. You can only look at it through the glass window of a gallery part way up the 135-foot-high dome that houses the telescope.

For the big eye would be ruined for its night work if the temperature inside the dome changed as much as five degrees during the day, as it would from the body heat of visitors and the inrush of outdoor air by day.

That much temperature change would warp its mirror, 200 inches in diameter. It would take hours to adjust to the cold night air.

When a night's work is done, the slot in the dome is closed and the big room remains at almost exactly the night temperature throughout the day, changing only one or two degrees.

Even a small object, perhaps, only a paper book of matches, dropped the 65 or 70 feet from the observer's cage, could scratch the aluminum surface of the mirror enough to distort the image of distant galaxies. That would require removing the eye to put a new ultra-thin aluminum face on it.

The great telescope cost eight million dollars, donated by the International Education Board and The Rockefeller Foundation. Its glass eye was two years being cast at the Corning Glass Works. It was 11½ years being polished and ground to precision—with interruptions during the war years—at the optical laboratory of the California Institute of Technology which owns and operates the telescope jointly with the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The task of aiming the great telescope at some particular pinpoint in the reaches of space is compared with aiming a rifle and hitting a rolling penny 20 miles away. So delicately balanced is the great telescope that a small motor of only one-twelfth horsepower manages to swing the 530-ton scope. The mirror alone weighs 14½ tons.

Weather and visibility are good enough atop Palomar to permit the telescope to work 275 to 300 nights a year, either part of the night, or all night.

THE NEWLY COMPLETED Southern Bell Telephone Co.'s "Fairfax Two" building at Ninth St. and Laurel Ave. (Photo By Jamison)

New 'Fairfax Two' Bell Building Is Now Completed

The new "Fairfax 2" telephone building at Ninth St. and Laurel Ave. is now completed except for landscaping and minor interior work. Completion of this $305,000 structure represents a significant "point of progress" in conversion of the local telephone system to dial which was revealed today by Gordon J. Rothermel, Sanford DeLand Group Manager for Southern Bell.

The tremendous job of installing the new long distance switchboards costing $104,500 and the new number five crossbar automatic dial switching equipment costing $178,000 will begin within ten days.

Rothermel stressed the fact that the local expansion program will provide more than just dial equipment. Between now and next March 17 additional cables will be extended into all sections of the exchange so that customers will be able to obtain promptly any desired class of service after the installation of the new switching equipment has been completed.

Construction of a new unattended automatic dial central office in De Bary, known as "North 8", will be completed in sufficient time to coordinate with installation of service here on March 17. Plans call for the "De Baryes" to be able to dial one another or directly into Sanford without additional charge. Additional cable facilities will also be installed in De Bary during the interim to provide all residents with the desired class of service.

Blind Negro Woman Is Charged With Murder

A 39-year-old blind Negro woman was bound over to Circuit Court this morning on a charge of first degree murder following a preliminary hearing held before Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan.

Ida Mae Brown is charged with the kitchen-knife murder of Eddie Lee Worthington on Aug. 11 in a Negro cafe in the Goldboro area.

Worthington, alleged to be the husband of the blind Negro woman, was knifed in the throat by Ida Mae Brown in the Orange Blossom Cafe owned by Willie Bailey and located on Southwest Road. He died the day following the cutting about noon at Seminole Memorial Hospital, according to Deputy Sheriff William L. Long, the Negro deputy who took the blind woman in to custody on the night of the affray.

Two witnesses appeared at the preliminary hearing. Willie Bailey, owner of the cafe, was an eye witness and testified that Worthington hit Ida Mae Brown with his open hand following an argument over whether or not they were going home.

The blind woman, according to testimony this morning, wheeled around with a paving knife in her hand and slashed at her alleged husband, inflicting a deep wound in the left side of his throat.

Deputy Sheriff Long testified that the woman handed him the knife which she had wielded in the scuffle.

Assistant State's Attorney Volle A. Williams Jr., told the Negro woman that sufficient evidence had been heard from the two State's witnesses to have her "bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of first degree murder."

Ida Mae Brown was advised that the preliminary hearing was not a trial but was held, at her request, to determine if she had committed an offense of sufficient seriousness to be tried in Circuit Court. She was not represented by an attorney.

The blind woman was committed to the Seminole County jail following an order by Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan the "she be held without bond on a charge of first degree murder until the Circuit Court convenes in November."

Polio Shots Urged

With the opening of school less than two weeks away the Seminole County Health Unit today urges parents to be sure their children are immunized against polio before they start to school.

Dr. Terry Bird, County Health Officer said this morning that only about 30 per cent of the children have received the Salk polio vaccine shots. However, he said, this figure is about the average in the State.

Dr. Bird pointed out that the clinic is open on Tuesday and Friday for giving the polio vaccine injections from 8 to 11 a. m.

At the same time, he said, "We are examining children who are attending school for the first time and also giving the various immunization shots where necessary."

Commenting on the polio vaccine, Dr. Bird said "A lot more of the parents should take advantage of the opportunity to have the immunization shots against polio than are coming in for them."

"In Florida," says Dr. C. M. Sharp, director of Preventable Diseases, State Board of Health, "polio has several times in the past taken an upswing during the months of September and October. In 1934 polio started to rise sharply during the middle of September and reached an exceedingly high peak, the highest of the year, about the beginning of October."

It is felt, Dr. Sharp explains, that the return of children to schools and the increased danger of exposure to polio virus may have a definite bearing on this rise during the early fall months.

The polio situation in Florida is different from that of many other states, points out Dr. Sharp, in that there is such a long summer season and the months of September and October are usually hot.

There have been five deaths in Florida from polio during the first six months of this year, as compared to four deaths for the period of January through June in 1935. There have been fewer cases of polio, however, Bureau of Vital Statistics records show a total of 201 cases of polio reported up to August 17 of this year, as compared to 329 for the same period last year.

"With plenty of polio vaccine available, no parent should deny his child this important protection," states Dr. Sharp. "The federal Salk vaccine is still available to the eligible age group, 0-19 years and expectant mothers. Take your children to your private physician or local health department to receive their shots."

There are also ample supplies of Salk vaccine available through commercial channels for adults over 20 wishing to have this protection.

Jaycees Receive 'At Scene' Report Of Demo Confab

Volle A. Williams Jr., delegate to the Democratic National Convention from the State of Florida at large, gave the members of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce at their noon meeting yesterday at Jim Spencer's Restaurant, a word picture of the convention as it took place in Chicago last week.

Not only did the speaker give the Jaycees a veritable "at the scene" description of the convention but he pointed vividly to some of the political skirmishes that took place during the five-day Democratic event to gain top place in the nomination of the candidates for President and Vice President.

"To those who take their politics seriously," said Williams, "the Democratic National Convention was wonderful."

Davey Thomas, program chairman for next week's meeting of the local Jaycees, said that a most interesting program has been arranged at which time the local group would hear from those who had participated in hurricane investigations and had flown into them. Thrasher said to Comdr H. C. Cole, Executive Officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station and Lt. J. H. Allison, Station Aerologist, would be the speakers.

Final plans for next week's Jaycee Fishing Rodeo were given to the club members and complete committees announced by Fishing Rodeo chairman Jack Sewell.

More than 200 wives, guests and members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club attended the first of two annual "Ladies' Night" events last night held at the Sanford Farmers' Auction Market.

Ed Lane, chairman of the annual event, told the Kiwanis Club Ladies' Night audience that there would be "no speaking" since Kiwanis Club members staged the affair to entertain their ladies and guests.

On the menu was barbecued chicken, pork and rabbit along with cole slaw, potato salad, pickles, hot rolls, ice tea, cake and ice cream.

The barbecue was prepared by Mrs. Carl Williams and served by Mrs. Roberts Gatchel assisted by a committee of Kiwanis Club members.

Entertainment was provided by Dave Shannon and his Funmakers, who throughout the evening, played requests from the audience.

A. L. Wilson, local Kiwanis Club president, presided over the meeting which also included group singing.

Marion Loses Case Against Higginbotham

A dispute over the keeping of domestic animals in Sanford between City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham and Paul C. Marion, a resident of the Wynnewood section came to a climax this morning when Judge Vassar Carlton handed down a decision and a final decree.

In a final hearing and an opinion by Judge Carlton of the Ninth Judicial Circuit, the order read that "equities of the case are with the defendant."

Judge Carlton said in the order that "The defendant has not violated any of the ordinances of the city of Sanford relating to the keeping of domestic animals nor has he violated any of the laws of the State of Florida relating to the keeping of domestic animals."

The judge, in his order also said "The Plaintiff's right to relief based upon the defendant's maintaining a nuisance injurious to health was not proved by the preponderance of evidence."

The long standing argument between the two men was brought to a climax by a final decree also signed and issued this morning by Judge Carlton in which he ordered "the case dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff."

The defendant, Earl Higginbotham, was represented by Volle A. Williams Jr., and the plaintiff by Attorneys R. W. Ware and Edgar Waybright of Jacksonville.

Frank Anderson McDonald

District Governor Will Visit Local Rotarians Monday

The Rotary Club of Sanford Monday will be host to Frank A. McDonald, Governor of the 24th District of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 47 Rotary Clubs in Central Florida. He will address the local Club and confer with President Dr. Charles L. Parsons, Secretary Dr. Rudolf W. Ruprecht and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. McDonald is Vice-President of the Eagle Roofing and Art Metal Works in Tampa, Florida, and is a member and Past President of the Rotary Club of Tampa. He is also President of the Gulf Freight Association in Tampa and on the Board of Directors of the Community Chest, Boy's Club, Family Service Association and Salvation Army. He was elected as a District Governor of Rotary International for the 1935-37 fiscal year at Rotary's 47th Annual Convention in Philadelphia last June. He is one of 248 District Governors supervising the activities of more than 8,100 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 431,000 business and professional executives in 89 countries throughout the free world.

Wherever Rotary Clubs are located, President Parsons asserted in discussing the Governor's visit, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Sanford because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community-betterment undertakings, raising the standard of living.

Board Has Special Session

The Board of Public Instruction of Seminole County in special session this morning adopted rules and regulations for implementing the pupil assignment law passed by the Special Session of the 1935 Legislature.

The Board stated that each child enrolled in the public schools of Seminole County in the School Year 1935-36 is assigned for the School Year 1936-37 to the school which he or she attended during the last school term, except those children which by promotion are required to attend a different school, and such children so promoted are assigned to the school which they would have attended last year had they been so promoted, and also except those children which in the School Year 1935-36 attended a Seminole County School outside of the attendance area designated by the Board of Public Instruction as serving a particular school. These children are assigned to the school serving their designated attendance area.

The School Board will assign to a school for the 1936-37 School Term each qualified child not heretofore attending a school by assignment from this Board whose parent applies for admission of such child. Application for admission shall be made on forms approved by the Board and made available at the various schools. Application will be made to the school serving his or her designated attendance area.

The Board expressly reserves the right to change the assignment of any pupil at any time whenever in the opinion of the Board upon consideration of the factors set forth in the pupil assignment law, such reassignment would be in accord with the intent and purpose of said law.

The Board strongly urges that each child register on Wednesday, Aug. 28, in order that all registration forms may be processed before the opening of school on Sept. 4. Failure to register on Wednesday may delay the attendance of a child to school for several days.

In other action by the School Board at this morning's special session, two buses for the transportation of children to the Jaycee Fishing Rodeo next Wednesday was approved.

Voting Machines To Be Used Nov. 6

More than two-thirds of the voters in Florida's Nov. 6 general election will express their choice for President on voting machines, which will include all of the precincts in Seminole County.

An Associated Press survey showed that 27 of the 87 counties, a record number, will use machines either countywide or in some of the larger boxes. Only the major precincts used voting machines in Seminole County in the Primary elections but subsequent action by the County Commission placed them in all precincts.

Two other counties — Wakulla and Manatee — are holding referendums on the question.

There also is talk about formulating a plan at the 1937 Legislature for providing state financial help for counties which want to install machines but don't have adequate funds.

Altogether there has been more voting machine talk the past year than in any year since they first were employed in Florida in 1932. The recent annual convention of the Florida Supervisor of Registration voted unanimously to endorse a proposal that voting machines be acquired by all counties.

Earl Sellers, publisher of the weekly Washington County News at Chipley, said he had discussed with Gov. Collins recently his plan for state aid to counties to buy machines. Funds would be distributed under a formula somewhat akin to the Minimum Foundation school plan on the basis of local effort and ability to pay.

Sellers said his idea was that many of the smaller counties were unable to find the funds to buy the machines and that the state could help.

Collins didn't express himself publicly on any particular plan for providing machines but he has said he would like to see them used statewide.

Most of the larger counties now use machines.

The secretary of state's office said the counties which had voting machines in the last primaries were:

Alachua, Broward, Dade, Duval, Escambia, Hillsborough, Leon, Marion, Monroe, Orange, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Polk, Sarasota, Seminole and Volusia.

James T. Landon, representative of the Shoup Voting Machine Co., said that to the best of his knowledge the counties which will be using voting machines the first time in November will include: Clay, St. Johns, Brevard, Martin, Okechobee, Charlotte, Walton, Bay and Pasco.

Highlands also plans to use 10 machines in November and Jacksonville is making plans for using machines in some of the larger boxes.

St. Lucie is still undecided. Landon said counties which have been considering putting them in their budget for next year include Flagler, Nassau, Bradford and Baker. The machines cost $1,200 of more.

Proponents of machines contend that paper ballots leave the way open for cheating on the returns whereas the machines make it virtually impossible for returns to be altered.

Miss Hattie L. Coles, veteran Leon County registration supervisor, said that when the costs of hiring additional election inspectors and clerks are taken into account, it's no more expensive to operate voting machines than to use handwritten ballots.

Social Security Changes

BY PAUL K. WEAVER
The Orlando Social Security Office

Some important changes have been made in the old-age and survivors insurance program as a result of the Social Security Amendments of 1952 which President Eisenhower signed into law on Aug. 1, 1952.

All of the changes, directly or indirectly, affect our people as a whole. Working persons - employed and self-employed - need to know about them; their families need to know about them. I realize that it is part of my job as district manager for the Social Security Administration in this area to explain these changes in the law. I hope to achieve this in part through this series of articles.

In the articles to follow I shall describe the changes singly and in detail; today, I shall restrict myself to a summary of the three most important changes designed to strengthen this Federal insurance system which provides partial protection against loss of earned income upon the retirement or death and, now - under certain conditions - upon the total disability of the worker.

Effective this year, benefits will become payable to women when they reach age 62. Survivors benefits for widows and, in certain cases, mothers of deceased workers will start with a payment for November which will be received early in December. The amount of the monthly payment will be the same that they would have started getting at age 65 under the old law. Beginning with November 1956, retired insured women workers and wives of retired insured workers can start getting benefit payments at age 62. In these cases, the amount of the payment will be somewhat less than the amount that would have been payable at age 65 under the old law.

A change has been made in the total disability provision in the law. While the "disability freeze" provision which protects the social Security insurance rights of workers is continued, monthly cash benefit payments beginning with July 1957, will be made to totally disabled workers when they reach age 60. Beginning with January 1957 monthly benefits are now payable to a disabled unmarried

Department Store Reports Record Sales, Earnings

ATLANTA (AP)—Rich's Inc., Atlanta's largest department store, has reported record sales and earnings for the first half of 1956 and hinted at expansion into other Southern cities.

At present Rich's operates only one store in Atlanta and one in Knoxville, Tenn.

Frank H. Neely, chairman of the board, told a meeting of directors Tuesday that sales climbed 4.3 per cent above the 1955 level for the six months ended July 23, the first half of the corporation's fiscal year.

This record volume of $32,654,308.10 produced net profit of $608,882.14, up 38.5 per cent over the same period of last year. The directors voted quarterly dividends of 17 1/2 cents a share on common stock and 9 3/4 on preferred, both payable Nov. 1 to holders of record Oct. 18.

Neely's report to stockholders included this reference to expansion: "The committee of the board of directors on research and development of our business is studying seriously the possibilities and advantages of our plant equipment to meet the needs of our growing population, both locally and throughout the entire South.

"Conclusions of these studies will come later."

Neely said a 30 per cent increase in sales at the Knoxville store contributed to the over-all volume.

6 Persons Injured In Warehouse Fire

CHICAGO (AP)—Six persons were injured in a massive fire which destroyed an eight-story abandoned warehouse in the huge Chicago Union Stockyards last night.

Nearly half of the city's fire-fighting equipment brought the blaze under control after a five-hour battle. More than 75 pieces of fire equipment were sent to the scene in response to five alarms and six special alarms.

Firemen maintained a watch over the smoldering ruins today. Chief Fire Marshal Albert Petersen said the fire might not be fully extinguished for another two days.

Paving Of Section Of Sunshine State Parkway Underway

FT. LAUDERDALE — First paving on the Miami to Ft. Pierce section of the Sunshine State Parkway got under way recently when Rubin Construction Co., of West Palm Beach, began the surfacing just south of the West Palm Beach interchange.

Workers put down an inch and a half binder course which will be followed by laying the final one inch smooth surface.

Within a few days the Rubin Construction Company, of Charlotte, N. C., will begin surfacing a 21.63-mile section of the turnpike from Ft. Pierce south. At the end of the strip the MacAsphalt Corp. of Lakeland, will surface a 10-mile section of the two 24-foot roads.

Rubin's contract covers slightly more than 80 miles in the center of the Sunshine State Parkway with the Asphalt Pavement Co. of Coral Gables having two contracts covering 44 miles most of it at the extreme southern end of the Sunshine State Parkway.

Some of the changes I have mentioned are retroactive to the beginning of 1956, others will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1957; and one does not become effective until July 1, 1957.

In my next article I shall discuss the newly-covered professional groups and explain the steps they must take to have their earnings correctly reported for social security credit under the amended law.

FONDNESS FOR PIGEONS LEADS TO DEATH
 ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fondness of 14-year-old Marvin D. Ivey for raising pigeons led to his death in a 60-foot fall from a railroad trestle under MacArthur Bridge. His companion Dale Moon, 15, told police Marvin had been climbing in the trestle taking young pigeons from their nests. He apparently lost his balance and fell.

Authentic amphibious warfare maneuvers involving 200 ships of the U. S. Navy and 10,000 marines were filmed in Technicolor and VistaVision by Universal-International for incorporation in "Away All Boats" which opens Sunday at the RITZ THEATRE with Jeff Chandler, George Nader, Julie Adams, and Lex Barker in the starring roles.

The studio scheduled its production of this picture to coincide with the maneuvers, which took place in and around the Virgin Islands.

Cast and crew operated mainly on and from the U. S. S. Randall, an attack transport, which doubled as the Ballina, the fictitious vessel on which the story, based on Kenneth M. Dodson's best-selling novel unfolds.

SPINNING IMPRESSION
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Paul White, 24, really made an impression when he went for a spin the other day on U. S. 119.

He sidestepped two cars, knocked down two utility poles, left a wreckage of power lines along the highway, tore down sixty feet of fence and nine steel posts, and finally hit a third utility pole which demolished his car.

White walked away with a slightly puffed lip.

TV Industry Is Swamping San Francisco

By SAUL PETT
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Through a variety of gadgets and ulcers, the television industry is swamping this convention city just as it did Chicago last week.

You trip over TV cables in hotel corridors, you're stopped by traffic clustered around delegates being interviewed for live cameras in lobbies, and on the floor of the convention itself, you can't move down as aisle without running into men carrying Martini-like mobile equipment.

One delegate, intrigued by an outer-space type of portable transmitter in the hands of a network reporter, walked up and demanded, "Take me to your leader."

In all, more than 1,200 people with about 100 cameras are providing TV coverage from inside the Cow Palace, on the streets, in the hotels and at airports.

John Daly of ABC is the only TV commentator operating directly within the convention hall. He and a dozen assistants work in a tiny booth up near the roof.

"We're sitting on each other's shoulders," he said, "but we feel that being right here in the hall is the only way to cover it—getting a first, not second-hand view, of things as they happen. The other networks, by being off the tower, have to become slaves to their cameras. Here, the cameras follow the narration which follows the events on the floor itself."

Marshall Diskin, the director, coordinates ABC's coverage in a master control room beneath the stands. Thus far, he hasn't had a moment as bad as one in Chicago last week when an ABC camera caught a closeup of an obviously pregnant woman. On her shoulder was a big pin "Harriman is the man."

"We did just edit it out in time," Diskin said. "It never got on the air."

Walter Cronkite, CBS' anchor man, operates from a studio off the convention floor. In front of his desk is an "electronic window," about 4 feet by 7 feet, on which a live picture of the floor activity is superimposed while Cronkite talks.

"It is a constant sword hanging over our heads," he said. "We keep worrying one of the technicians will go wrong and the audience will see what's actually on the other side of the window—lights, surplus cables, bare walls."

Also on the ground floor and a good distance from the assembled delegations are NBC's Chet Huntley, Dave Brinkley and Bill Henry.

S. Booth Thinks One Should Work Up To Something

By HAL McCLURE
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shirley Booth leaned back in her chair beside her swimming pool and said, "I wish I hadn't won the Academy award so soon."

Not that the Oscar—for her 1952 portrayal of a frumpy hausfrau in "Come Back Little Sheba"—has done her any harm.

"But, I felt it came too quickly. It was my first motion picture, you know. I always think you should work up to something," she said.

Her success on the stage with "Sheba" and subsequent plays came after many years of hard work, frustration and tears. Miss Booth, by the way, made her Broadway debut in 1923 with a young fellow named Humphrey Bogart.

The red-haired actress is a temporary Hollywoodian while appearing in the play, "The Desk Set." "It's a funny thing," she went on, "when success arrives in your later years, no one is envious at all. Older people hope the same lightning might strike them; the younger folks aren't a bit jealous because they know you've been working for it a long time."

Shirley, who doesn't look her 49 years, recalled a conversation with her ex-husband, Ed Gardner, creator of "Duffy's Tavern."

"Ed said, 'Shirley, people envy me my success, but they all hope you'll make it to the top one of these days. They say, 'good' of Shirley; she's been pluggin' away a long time.'"

Long-remembered radio fans might recall that Shirley played the original "Miss Duffy" on the radio for two years. She and Gardner were divorced in 1943.

Shirley interrupts her busy schedule at the end of the month for a two-month tour of England, France and Italy. She returns to San Francisco and several more weeks with "The Desk Set." In January, she starts, "Next of Kin," her third motion picture.

She plumped some pillows behind her, leaned back and sighed: "O! Shirley—maybe a little tired — is still pluggin' away."

Then fit he pad with a removable muslin case which can be sued in the washing machine along with the suit.

Ample Parking Facilities Will Make City Shopping Mecca For This Area

The city parking problem is really so simple—more square feet of cars than of parking space. Putting the usual number of cars a day into any given town makes about as much sense as trying to stack all the children's play blocks into a box that's too small.

There are two obvious answers: to create more parking space, with lots, ramps and quicker turnover at the curb, or to cut down the volume of cars to be parked.

Cities generally are engaged in valiant efforts to make more parking space, but they can't catch up with the need. As for reducing the number of cars flowing in, it could be done by widespread plans to share rides for work, shopping and business errands, and by greater use of public transportation for short trips.

But for most Americans the automobile is a symbol of independence, of freedom from other people's schedules. Most people would rather risk spending twenty minutes looking for a place to park than wait ten minutes for a neighbor finishing an errand.

Here in Sanford, the parking problem is no great menace should the angle parking along downtown streets be eliminated.

There is an unusually large parking lot available to shoppers and business people, though to take care of many more cars than generally use it. And in using this Free municipal service, there are no long tail lights, bumpers, and extremely long wheelbase cars protruding into the street to hinder the motorist.

City planners should take advantage now of the opportunity to change the old-fashioned angle parking habits of our city and become modern with plenty of room to drive and move cars through traffic at a faster pace.

Our friends about us will enjoy their shopping visits here if we do not crowd them out. There is no doubt that ample parking facilities will make our city a shopping mecca for the Central Florida area.

It's the comfort and ease that they like—not being pushed about as one would find in a crowded, congested and uncomfortable downtown shopping district.

2 Kinds Of Medicine

There are, broadly speaking, two kinds of medicine. The one with which we, as patients, are familiar is that which works to correct a specific illness.

The other is preventive medicine. Its purpose, as the name implies, is to see to it that we don't become ill. And the progress made in this all-important field in the last half century has been little short of miraculous.

Writing in the Journal of The American Medical Association, Dr. James Watt says: "While literally thousands of cases of malaria were seen each year in my home state when I was a child, today there are virtually none. If the diphtheria mortality rate of 1900 prevailed today, there would be over 60,000 deaths a year. In 1950 there were actually 410. According to rates of 1900, there should now be over 45,000 deaths from typhoid; actually in 1950 there were 114. Similar figures could be given for other major communicable diseases." Now the medical fraternity is battling the diseases and afflictions which have not been defeated.

It is worth noting that preventive medicine has suffered most in countries where medicine is either socialized or controlled by the government. Writers on England's national health system have pointed to this. Doctors in such countries are often overworked. They lack the time for study, experiment, and research. And the bureaucrats who make the rules and issue the orders have small interest in projects which may not produce results for long periods of time.

Progress in medicine—like all progress—flourishes in an atmosphere of freedom, and withers in an atmosphere of coercion.

TV Industry's Problem

The television industry is faced today with a problem encountered by the motion picture industry many years ago. The question of what is and is not good taste, suitable for showing in the homes of viewers, is a perplexing one.

Censorship of television by an outside agency, such as a governmental body, does not seem to be the answer. Such a solution gives a relatively small group the right to decide for an enormous number of people what should or should not be seen.

It seems likely that some code devised by the industry itself is likely to evolve. Such a code would succeed only if the people in the industry really wanted it to succeed. They should want this; their own profit and self-respect depend on it.

Those who undertake the difficult task of entertaining, informing and educating the public—and television is supposed to do all three—have definite responsibilities. Television is an intimate medium; it comes into our living rooms, speaks to our children.

No intelligent person would want to see it bound by needless restrictions. But surely the people who make television work succeed in the important task of governing television's manners when it visits our homes.

Family Sight-Seeing Trip

The last week before school starts again—when the kids feel that they've done everything and played everywhere and have run out of vacation ideas—is a fine time for one last family sight-seeing expedition.

It doesn't matter much where, as long as it's a place new to most of the family. It might be a trip to a different lake or woods or pleasant country picnic place. Or to a museum or zoo or factory with conducted tours. Or a trip to a neighboring town to see old friends or relatives seldom encountered.

The one last fling of summer, while there's still time to be leisurely, is always fun before plunging into fall work.

MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM

Po Finally Goes To Dentist

By DAVID J. ROADSEK
HONG KONG (AP)—It took a large economy-size toothache to drive Po Hsiao-chou to a Peiping dentist. He should have stayed in bed.

After three weeks of suffering with a swollen jaw, Po decided to risk it. Like all good Communists, he toddled off to the state hospital in Peiping.

Like all dental patients, he heaved a sigh of relief when the dentist couldn't see him on the first trip. His fever wasn't high enough to get him into line with a horde of other patients. But the tooth nagged and a short time later, Po whipped up his courage and trotted off to the state hospital again. This time they admitted him.

There was a big crowd in the waiting room again, so, just to while away the time, Po picked up a thing called the "Suggestions Book," a Communist invention in which people inscribe their complaints about life in a workers' paradise.

"I began to read," said Po, in a feature article written for the Peiping People's Daily. And the more he read, the more his fever rose.

One patient wrote: "Today you smashed my tooth while pulling it out hard. Because the under part of the tooth was still there, operation was required to take it out. So you pulled apart the opening with knives and used drill, chisel and other instruments to extract it. Then in stitching the opened part you broke three needles.

"Then, you waited for a long time for new needles borrowed from other sections. This time, you snapped the needle point and what was worse, the point just disappeared. You searched inside my mouth for the broken piece and even used small hooks to probe the part operated on."

For a while, Po could read no further. He wondered if his ailing tooth really had to be taken out.

Po turned the page and found the doctor's reply to the patient's complaints.

"Comrade, your remark is basically correct. We accept it wholeheartedly.

"But the situation on that day requires explanation. Your tooth has had an abnormal growth and this makes our job difficult.

"As to the broken needles, they are homemade ones bought in Shanghai. As the needles are not of good quality, we wish here to apologize to you on behalf of the needle factory.

"As to the time spent in locating the broken needle point, it was entirely worthwhile. For if the point were left in the jaw, it might develop complications.

"However, we have done our very best and the point has not been found. Maybe, it might have been washed away together with the blood."

Stassen Digs Own Political Grave

By JAMES MARLOW
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Harold Stassen dies hard. He dug a political grave for himself and Wednesday he jumped in. But when last seen he was still having political twitches.

Stassen, pure poison to most Republican politicians since he started his fight against Vice President Nixon's renomination, Wednesday wound up seconding Nixon's renomination.

Then, without visible embarrassment about this gigantic switch, he predicted he'd be talking on political issues for years to come.

As a political force, Stassen has been going down for years. And here he landed in the basement.

No one was ever more alone—or left more alone—than Stassen and his anti-Nixon drive.

He might have been able to recapture some stature—at least as a prophet—if he had remained quiet, once he had lost, and if the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket was defeated in the Nov. 6 election.

But he threw away that possibility when he stood—in full view of the convention and the national television audience—and backed Nixon with high praise.

His argument against Nixon had been that the vice president, running with Eisenhower would cost the Republicans millions of votes.

No wonder he became poison to the politicians: not directly but by implication, he was raising the question of Eisenhower's physical ability to serve out another four years.

For, in saying millions of voters would turn against an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket, he was saying millions wouldn't want Nixon for president if anything happened to Eisenhower.

The 48-year-old Stassen had been an immensely ambitious man. The national spotlight seems to attract him. He has been flitting around it ever since 1940 when he was keynote speaker at the Republican convention.

Three times—in 1944, 1948 and 1952—he tried for the Republican presidential nomination. Three times he got his wings singed, finishing a poor also-ran.

He is not a man who stays quiet long. Steadily from 1944 to 1952 he had been making political speeches and public statements, advising both Democratic and Republican leaders what he'd do.

In 1953 Eisenhower gave him a government job. Most recently he has been the President's adviser on disarmament. In these jobs within the Eisenhower administration he hasn't had much opportunity for talking.

But a few weeks ago he broke through by announcing his drive against Nixon and suggesting Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts should be the Republican vice presidential candidate.

Herter hurriedly said he not only wasn't a candidate but would put Nixon's name before the convention. This didn't stop Stassen.

Republican leaders crossed to the other side of the street to get away from him. They said they were all for Nixon.

So Stassen, without a candidate, came here to continue his fight. Pretty soon he found there were not any delegates going along with him either—publicly, anyway. He gave up.

Another man might have simply kept quiet after this. Not Stassen. Under the bright glow of the spotlights he made a long speech for Nixon.

Cloudy Weather Does Not Stop O.E.S. Members

The Eastern Star's annual picnic, held Wednesday night at 8 p. m., was a great success; in spite of the fact that cloudy weather made it necessary for them to utilize the Oviedo City Hall instead of holding it in Sweetwater Park as originally scheduled.

Mrs. Phil Wyatt, Worthy Matron, gave the invocation after which there was no further program planned, other than the "enjoyment and relaxation" of the members and their guests.

The 68 members, relatives and friends present could not begin to do justice to all the "delicious" food brought to the picnic by the members, in the form of basket lunches. In fact there was so much to eat that they just didn't know what to do with it all and finally had to take a great deal of it back home with them.

Birthday Dinner Serves As Prelude To Surprise Party

Mrs. Margaret Benham entertained at a dinner in her home Wednesday night to honor "Chuck" Wirth on his birthday. The Benham home and dinner table were gaily decorated for the occasion with vari-colored biblicious.

Invited to the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wirth of Columbus, O.; Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Benham, Mrs. Elma Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Benham, Miss Corine Benham and Charles Benham Jr.

After the dinner was over, more friends of the honored guest arrived for a surprise birthday party. Some games were played at which prizes were won. But then more games were played and all the prizes taken away from the former winners and exchanged in a "blatant" manner that prevented anyone knowing who had won prizes and who had not.

A cake with the words "Happy Birthday Chuck" printed across the top centered the refreshment table which was overlaid with a white linen cloth and brightly adorned with many gay-colored biblicious and assorted greenery. With the cake, the guests were served red punch, after which "Chuck" was presented with an array of gifts.

Those present, in addition to the dinner guests, were, Mrs. Jim Lumberton, Miss Gladys Easley, Miss Denise Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Jack Hunter, Earl Lagg, Paul Lasher, Gerald Van Dyke.

Auction Market Introduces New Mode Of Buying

One of the newer modes of buying introduced recently to Sanford and Seminole County shoppers takes place at the Sanford Farmers Auction Market each Saturday night beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Stated as "Poor Boy the Auctioneer", the vendor entertains the audience with his auctioneering which he calls the "world's worst."

Heavy merchandise is featured among the hundreds displayed for sale at the open air pavilion just off 17th south of Sanford.

However, it was pointed out, no vegetables are sold at the Saturday night auctions.

One of the features of the weekly auctions is the "mystery bag" available to all of the spectators and participants at the auction.

HEBREW-CHRISTIAN EVANGELIST Lester L. Marx will speak Sunday night at 7:30 at the First Baptist Church in Sanford. He will include in his program a film of widespread interest. The young Hebrew-Evangelist will also speak next Wednesday at noon before the Sanford Kiwanis Club as he concludes his series of appearances before local church and civic groups and begins his appearances in Seminole County schools.

R. J. Fitzsimmons Gets Appointment In Regular Navy

L. (J. G.) Robert J. Fitzsimmons Jr., a Sanford resident, currently deployed with Heavy Attack Squadron Five to the Mediterranean, has recently accepted his appointment for a commission in the Regular Navy. In a brief ceremony aboard the carrier USS Intrepid, Fitzsimmons was sworn into the Regular Navy by Comdr. Paul M. Speke, squadron commanding officer.

L. Fitzsimmons entered the Navy's flight training program as a Naval Aviation Cadet at Pensacola in June 1953. Upon receiving his wings he came to Sanford in January 1955 on orders to VAI-5 at the local air station. With his wife Ethel he had been residing in Sanford up to the time of the squadron's deployment in May.

In addition to his regular duties as a bombardier navigator in a tactical crew, Fitzsimmons was selected for training as a squadron Landing Signal Officer. The selection was determined by rigid mental and physical requirements demanded by the task. Fitzsimmons is being instructed in this key assignment by Lt. Comdr. Frank H. Dauer, also of Sanford.

Sanford Dentists To Hear Lectures In Ocala Sept. 10

Your dentist may be absent from his practice on Monday, September 10. If so, he probably will be attending lectures in Ocala to keep abreast of some of the latest developments in the dental profession.

The lectures are to be given at the summer meeting of the Central District Dental Society of Florida, which covers 10 leading counties of the state. The featured speakers will be two professors of dentistry from Emory University, a professor of pharmacy from the University of Florida and an expert in local anesthetics from nationally known laboratories.

Man Killed, One Knifed In Fight Over 25 Cent Bet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — One man was shot to death and another knifed critically late last night in a fight over a 25-cent bet.

A 19-year-old man, stabbed in the chest, told officers he shot Hilton Campbell, 21, to death in a street fight. He told officers he and Campbell bet several weeks ago on which date voters would go to the polls.

They voted Saturday in the Democratic runoff primary. No charges had been filed early today.

Raceway Plans Revealed

By MRS. RAYMOND MORRIS CASSELLBERRY — Development of Seminole Park Raceway into the "Saragatos Of The South" and one of the largest and most attractive trotting horse training centers in the country, was outlined by W. R. Kemp, president of the raceway here, in a talk before the Lions Club Thursday night.

With a franchise already granted by the Florida State Racing Commission, subject to approval by a county referendum, Kemp said that Seminole County stands to benefit in an unprecedented manner if the vote is favorable in the November elections.

Present with Kemp were R. V. Klippstein, secretary-treasurer of the corporation, and Carl Lindenberg, a director, both of Ocala. Other officials are Jack Roberts, of Orlando, Vice-president, and Walter S. Gibbons, of Foxboro, Mass., a director. Gibbons is secretary of The Bay State Raceway, a national figure in trotting horse circles and is well known in Central Florida.

Seminole Park Raceway will attract thousands of new tourists to Florida annually and more than four millions of dollars, according to Kemp. And the goal of the corporation is to develop the plant into the most attractive as well as one of the largest horse training tracks in the country, with pari-mutuels being of secondary consideration.

Kemp cited figures showing that the growing popularity of the trot has gained to the extent of attracting more spectators last year than all of the major league baseball teams combined. The total attendance was given as eighteen and one-half million.

Kemp said that one of the greatest benefits will come from the national and international publicity emanating from the local training center. Effective publicity has already caused one of the major oil companies to mark Casselberry and Orlando with a sulky and horse on road maps now being distributed. Kemp also stated that with more than 600 horses training at Ben White Raceway at Orlando annually, added to the potential of the local plant, a Southeastern Harness Circuit can easily be formed.

According to Kemp, the State Racing Commission, in granting a franchise for harness racing here, said that the location is the most practical one to be found in the state.

The corporation plans to add twelve new stables, providing an overall capacity for more than 500 horses during the training season. Also, a five-eighths mile infield track will be built in the one-mile oval, and a paddock and emergency veterinary hospital will be constructed.

The club approved Tom Hueston for membership, and guests included Michael Fisher and Kenneth Arnold, of Casselberry, and Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes Conklin, of Orlando.

As a prelude to the first full day of school on Sept. 4, pupils in Seminole County will register at their respective schools Wednesday morning, Aug. 23.

Registration will take place from 9 a. m. to 12 noon in all schools with the exception of Pinecrest where the hours of registration will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m.

The earlier registration at Pinecrest School is made necessary by a double run of buses according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Rayburn T. Milwee.

School buses will make their regular runs Wednesday to pick up children registering in Seminole County schools returning the children to their homes at noon, or in the case of Pinecrest School at 11:30.

Pupils are slated to meet their new teachers Wednesday and receive assignments to their classrooms.

It is estimated that there will be an increase of around 300 pupils reporting for classes this year in Seminole County with an approximate total of around 7,000 attending school in all of the county's schools.

There are 175 white teachers and 115 colored teachers with 19 principals in the local school system.

"No double sessions of classes are anticipated this year," said Milwee. "However," Milwee said, "there will be some double run of school buses which necessitates the early registration at Pinecrest School."

There will be some reassignment of pupils because of the implementation of the pupil assignment law passed by the special session of the Florida Legislature this year. A full review of the action taken by the Seminole County School Board, at its meeting last Friday, appeared in The Sanford Herald last Friday afternoon.

School bus drivers will meet tomorrow morning at the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the Education Building on Commercial Ave. where drivers are expected to receive last minute instructions for the 1956-57 school year bus operation and be assigned their buses for the year.

Administrative Assistant Walter Teague, in charge of transportation for the Seminole County school system, will meet with the corps of bus drivers as will representatives of the three law enforcement agencies, Seminole County Sheriff's office, Florida Highway Patrol, and the Sanford Police Department.

Senator George Smathers (D. Fla.) has accepted an invitation from Adlai Stevenson to accompany him and Estes Kefauver on their nationwide pre-campaign tour this week.

The trip will include eight sectional meetings with state and local leaders designed to rally Democratic forces for the forthcoming campaign.

As Chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, Smathers is co-ordinating efforts to retain the Democratic majority in the Senate. The Florida Senator was renominated by his state's largest recorded majority this spring and is unopposed in the November election.

Stevenson has emphasized that this trip is not a "speech making or public appearance tour" but is designed to allow him to confer with local leaders and candidates in the fight to bring the issues home to the American people and get out the biggest Democratic vote in history.

Stevenson, Kefauver and Smathers together with a crew of campaign aides flew from Chicago today to a meeting with representatives from New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Arkansas and Arizona, in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Tomorrow they will meet at Bonnevilles Dam, Washington, with leaders from that state and Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

Wednesday's gathering at Sioux City, Iowa will bring together officials and candidates from Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

On Thursday, the flying Democratic caravan moves to Knoxville, Tenn. for an important session with Southern leaders from Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Florida, Kentucky, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Virginia.

The group will return to Chicago on Friday for a meeting with representatives from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri and Ohio.

The times and places of the other three sectional meetings including the big north and northeast will be announced later this week.

Breckenridge Resigns As C of C Manager

Forrest E. Breckenridge, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for a number of years has resigned his post here "effective" at the earliest convenient date.

It was announced this morning that Breckenridge submitted his letter of resignation last week to President George Fouhy of the local Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

Breckenridge said this morning that, "I have accepted a position as manager of another Chamber of Commerce in Florida."

The announcement of the new position to be assumed by Breckenridge will be made by officials of the Chamber of Commerce with which he will be affiliated in the immediate future.

President George Fouhy, contacted on the release of information concerning the resignation of Chamber of Commerce Manager Forrest Breckenridge, said: "Breck has devoted a great deal of time and energy to the development of the interests of Seminole County, and while he has been with the Chamber of Commerce, the economic aspects of the community have expanded considerably. I appreciate his cooperation and his sincere efforts here. I am sure that when I express a hearty 'thank you' to him, there are scores of others who join me. Saying goodbye to friends is never an enjoyable experience, but as Breck leaves his many friends here, he carries with him our best wishes for success in his new work."

Youth Found After Spending 7 Days On Mountain Slope

SEATTLE (AP) — Snatched from almost certain death after a week in a mountain wilderness, plucky Richard Mizuhata rested in a hospital today and his main concern was catching up on the meals and the comics he missed in his lonely wanderings.

Doctors said Richard, 13-year-old Japanese American Boy Scout, was showing an "amazing comeback" from his seven days six nights with little food or water on the slopes of Mt. Rainier, 60 miles southeast of here.

Fire Spreads To Lowe House; Child Killed

An AJ-2 Savage plane attached to VAI-7 at the Sanford Naval Air Station crashed into a home today on Orange Ave.

The home, owned by William M. "Cotton" Brown, was completely destroyed as the plane apparently nosed into the front end of it, exploding and leaving a trail of fire behind it.

Brown, hearing the noise of the plane, was attempting to leave his home when the explosion blew him out with the carport falling over him. At the scene of the fire and crash Brown apparently was suffering from shock but appeared to be uninjured.

The fire also spread to the home next door to it, owned by L. J. Lowe Jr., and destroyed the interior and north end of the home.

The homes were located at 2403 and 2404 Orange Ave.

The plane was first noticed flying low as it came over the southern section of the city "flying so low that it could have hit the tree tops."

L. J. Lowe Jr., and his wife Minnie Louise and their son David, 6, were burned in the flashing blazes. The two parents were found on the lawn of their home apparently blown out of it.

One of the children Marilyn Sue, was found, shortly after one o'clock today, dead. At first when the parents were found, the child was seen standing near them but later had disappeared. Only after a search of the home by Eddie Keith, a relative of the family, was the body of the youngster found.

A witness to the flying plane, before it crashed said, "I saw the tail of the plane flying low with smoke trailing behind it." The young man, Leonard Lepic, who said that he saw the plane from a home he was visiting said, "It didn't seem that the plane was cutting out but it was flying terribly low going through the tree tops (as he pointed) before crashing."

The plane, whose entire crew of three was killed in the crash, left a trail of fire behind it as it crashed.

Rotary Clubs Unite To Promote World Understanding

Rotary Clubs in 90 countries throughout the free world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace. That was the message of Frank A. McDonald of Tampa, Governor of District 94 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of Sanford today following a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 9,100 Clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, McDonald explained, Rotary International has spent more than $2,000,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as Rotary ambassadors of good will. Since 1947, when this program was established, 834 Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to students in 61 countries for study in 60 countries.

Mrs. Louise Sand of St. Petersburg is now studying at the University of Chile in Santiago, Chile, and will be back about Jan. 1.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 41,000 business and professional executives throughout the free world, regardless of differing nationalities or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District Governor emphasized.

"In addition to the promotion of international understanding," McDonald continued, "special emphasis is being placed by Rotary Clubs in this District, which includes 47 Rotary Clubs in Central Florida on ways to improve our community, our vocations and assistance to youth program."

McDonald urged the local Rotary Club to be well represented at the Rotary District Conference to be held in Winter Haven on Oct. 14-15-16, and to make plans for the Club to be represented at the 49th Annual Convention of Rotary International, which will be held in Lucerne, Switzerland, next May.
