

A CHALLENGE TO 499 OTHER PERSONS

1. To pledge $1,000.00 each.

2. To form a corporation, for profit, to build and operate dock and terminal facilities at Sanford to serve all of Central Florida.

3. To ask the newly elected City Commissioners to prove their impersonal stand on the dock question by granting such a corporation, if founded, a lease on the dock area at nominal rates, and some tax concessions.

4. To prove their faith in Sanford and in water transportation.

Either Sanford or Orlando will be THE CITY. Which do you want? There has been too much talk and not enough action. The money to do the job is in Seminole County—but do we have the courage?

Smathers Names Sanford Kin For Chief Assistant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. (Special)—Senator George A. Smathers announced today the appointment as his executive assistant of John T. (Jack) Carlton, 42, long time southern newspaper man and Washington news correspondent. Mr. Carlton is the brother of Mrs. W. B. Egan of Sanford.

The Senator announced the appointment at a breakfast Saturday morning at Miami where some 150 members of his successful 1939 campaign organization gathered for an anniversary rally.

For the past five years Mr. Carlton has been Washington correspondent for the Miami Daily News. He is one of the few newsmen, representing newspapers and news services from all over the world, comprising the Standing Committee of Correspondents which supervises operation of the Congressional Press Galleries and press arrangements for national events such as National Inauguration and Presidential Inaugurations.

Mr. Carlton came to Washington in 1940 after 4 years overseas service during World War I in Alaska, Hawaii and Okinawa. He was a member of the staff of the late Lt. General Simon Bolivar Buckner who was killed on Okinawa. Mr. Carlton still a Colonel in the active army reserve, is winner of the Legion of Merit for his work in Alaska during 1942-44.

Although a writer, George W. Col. Carlton has many family competitors in Florida and is widely known in the state through his newspaper work and numerous visits to the state. He has worked closely with members of the Florida Congressional delegation and Floridians visiting in the Capital.

JOBLESS BENEFITS

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 14. (Special)—Unemployment compensation payments were still on the decrease as anticipated for the week ending Nov. 9, by approximately $18,000, to $134,014 with 17 of the 67 counties non-participating, according to a report by Raymond E. Barnes, Chairman of the Florida Industrial Commission.

In Seminole County, 50 unemployed persons received $803. The average check issued amounted to $17.20.

The average age of the Brandeis University football team is 19.5 years. The average weight of the squad is 191 pounds.

Florida Vegetables Rank High On List For Thanksgiving

WINTER HAVEN, Nov. 14. (Special)—Florida grown cantaloupe for breakfast on Thanksgiving morning, with corn-on-cob, fresh tomatoes, cucumbers, tender green beans, crisp Florida celery for Thanksgiving dinner, with possibly fresh strawberries for dessert are among the wide variety of items available on the Florida State Farmers' Markets.

Cantaloupe at this season are most unusual and the 20 crates averaged $3.40 on the Wauchula State Farmers' Market last week represent the first ever produced in this area for the Fall season.

The first Florida celery this Fall sold on the Sanford State Market for $5.50 per crate for U. S. is Plant City's first crop of strawberries was auctioned on Friday, the proceeds going to the Baptist Hospital fund. William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets stated in his week-by-week report of market news today.

"In addition to cantaloupe the Wauchula State Market sold over 10,000 packages last week for gross returns of $70,770.17. Canned tomatoes in volume with better than 13,000 bushels averaging $4.48; 2,017 bushels of eggplant averaged $2.90; a small supply of tomatoes averaged $3.10; pepper $5.98; yellow squash $5.30; white squash $3.35; Pole Beans $5.34 and green beans $3.51. Cucumber volume is declining though quality continues exceptionally high. All other items are reported as very good and steady volume increase is expected.

"The Pompano State Market reports offerings on that market continue light with only 3 to 5 cars of beans and less than carload quantities of eggplant and squash daily. Volume is expected to continue light until about December 1st.

"A light movement of tomatoes on the Palmetto State Market averaged $5.19 per bushel with very light supplies of Pole Beans averaging $6.39; fancy squash $3.40; fancy pepper $6.94; bush beans $3.50; eggplant $2.82, the past week. Volume is steadily increasing and with good weather prevailing, excellent crop conditions are expected.

"Peanut sales on the Bonifay State Market brought growers $3,552.59 gross receipts for 5,555 pounds of Stewards and 19,580 pounds of Stewards.

"Tomato volume continues light in the Fort Pierce State Market area, the cooler weather retarding maturing of fruit. Approximately 19,516 crates for the weekly period ending November 13th sold for $23.50 to $9.10 per No. 1 greens, 2,353 crates of No. 2s averaged $2.55; 631 Pinks sold from $3.50 to $6.50 with sales totaling $138,293.10. Not included in the total volume of sales were 4,000 bushels of excellent quality cucumbers, the best packs being $6.50 per bushel.

STATE CABINET ENDORSES DEMOCRATIC RALLY—Governor Fuller Warren and members of the state cabinet are shown here as they enthusiastically endorsed plans for the state-wide Jackson-Jefferson day Democratic rally to be held at Miami on December 8 at 8 p.m. They received a report of the plans—and bought admission tickets—from Joe H. Adams, chairman of the Miami arrangements committee, and J. Irvin Walden of Sarasota, secretary-treasurer of the Florida Democratic Executive Committee. Those in the picture, left to right, are: Comptroller Charles M. Day, Secretary of State H. A. Gray, J. Irvin Walden, Joe H. Adams, Governor Fuller Warren, State Hotel Commissioner James T. Landon, Attorney General Richard W. Ervin, Treasurer J. Edwin Larson, and Superintendent of Education Thomas D. Bailey. Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo was absent.

Warren Indorses Holland-Smathers Democratic Rally

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 14. (Special)—The $100,000 Jackson-Jefferson Day Democratic Rally at Miami on Dec. 8, which is being sponsored by Senators Seward Holland and George Smathers received the enthusiastic endorsement of Governor Fuller Warren and members of the Florida Cabinet here this week.

The cabinet received a preliminary report about the gigantic rally from Chairman Joe H. Adams of the Miami steering committee, and J. Irvin Walden of Sarasota, secretary-treasurer of the State Democratic Executive Committee. And they bought tickets to the rally, because there will not be any free passes issued to anybody.

U. S. Senator Ernest McFarland of Arizona, majority leader of the Senate, is scheduled to be the principal speaker at the rally in Miami's Dinner Key auditorium at 8 P. M. on December 8. Several movie stars and other top figures in the entertainment world will participate in the program.

State Treasurer J. Edwin Larson, who is general chairman of the rally, announced this will be the only state-wide function by the party this year to raise $100,000. Tickets are $10 minimum. There will not be any dinner. The proceeds will be divided between the national and state Democratic committees.

Senators Holland and Smathers of Florida, members of the Florida congressional delegation, high state officials, and other leaders in the Democratic party will attend. They will be among the speakers.

Statewide sale of tickets for the rally is now under way. It is being directed by Adams, who has successfully conducted several similar campaigns. He was general chairman of arrangements for the mammoth American Legion convention just concluded in Miami.

Increasing Small Investors Is Way To Stop Socialism

By MAL HOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP)—I swept down to Wall Street the other day to see how a young Phi Beta Kappa there is doing in his campaign to make America a land of little capitalists.

He is doing right well.

"The idea of not apologizing for capitalism has made quite a bit," said George Keith Funston, George, who is 41 and tall enough to play basketball for Kentucky University, is the new chief shepherd of the bulls and sars of the financial district. He recently gave up the presidency of little Trinity College to become president of the big New York Stock Exchange.

This $100,000-a-year post-adolescently makes Funston a middle-class capitalist himself at least. But he has a program to manufacture more American capitalists by the millions, and he believes that is the way to turn back Communism and Socialism.

His idea is to broaden the base of industrial ownership by getting small investors to buy shares of common stock.

"People are for what they have a vested interest in," he said. "They follow their pocketbooks. If a man buys a share of stock, whether that stock goes up or down, he will still remain a capitalist."

Funston thinks nobody should buy stock unless he can afford to take a risk, but that anyone with an income who has provided against emergencies can afford to take the risk of stock investment.

How many stockholders are there in America? No one knows for sure.

"We estimate about 15,000,000," he said. "But we are taking a census now to find out more exactly."

"I think it will show, however, that it is Main Street, not Wall Street, that owns American industry."

Funston believes there should be at least 30,000,000 stockholders in America, and that such a number would have a tremendous effect in bolstering faith in capitalism.

"We might have to have a country where nearly everyone was prosperous," he said. "That's a big order—but I think it's possible."

One of the big difficulties he has found is convincing small investors that stockbrokers are not interested only in people who come in waving a handful of $1,000 bills.

"We're trying to break that feeling down," he said, "and get them to realize that brokers are interested in small business as well as big business."

He hasn't found too much difficulty in adjusting himself to the change from the academic cloister to the hurly-burly of the stock exchange.

"You still deal with people," he remarked, and then added, smiling:

"One of my biggest problems is to explain to people that I really don't know myself what is going to happen next on the stock market. Nobody knows."

On that point he has to worry as much as anybody else. He's an investor, too.

Cold Wave

A big chill flowed into the states from Canada. It continued to move eastward from the Mississippi Valley today with little likelihood that temperatures would warm up soon.

A southern flow of warm air promised respite for inland Texas points as well as Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma where temperatures were below 20 yesterday.

The whopping 18-inch snowfall at Kane, in northwestern Pennsylvania, is regular winter fare for the area and residents gave it lighthearted treatment. Not so, however, in Cleveland—or rather part of Cleveland. Weirally, three-foot snow drifts piled up in the southeastern section of the city, while on the other side of the town the snow barely topped a man's ankle.

The same heavy and light snow pattern was true in Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh had only a trace of snow, but Meadville, 90 miles to the north, had 15 inches.

Early morning temperatures today showed some of the coldest spots being Duluth 2, International Falls, Minn., New York 21, Chicago 18, Cincinnati 18, Los Angeles 55, New Orleans 58, Portland, Ore., 13, Amarillo, Tex., 30, Seattle 51.

which courses up to more than 25 miles north of parallel 38.

The Reds apparently want to refer the matter to Peking—where Red China's Foreign Minister Chou En-lai today issued a statement backing up a Russian proposal that Parallel 38 be the line of demarcation for divided Korea.

Chinese Red Gen. Hsieh Fang of the Communist delegation said the Reds, after studying the plan, would come back Wednesday with the overall reply. The hour of the next meeting will be 11 A.M. (9 P.M. Tuesday, EST).

The Allies have proposed that the present line of battle contact across Korea be accepted as a temporary demarcation line now and that such a line become the permanent cease-fire line if a full armistice is signed within 30 days.

In central Korea today Chinese Reds furiously counterattacked but couldn't budge a dug-in Allied division which had smashed them back three miles in a two-day line-straightening offensive.

British forces beat off a 12-hour Communist attack on the western end of the battle line.

In the East, U. N. Communist troops were knocked off two hills, but recaptured one a few hours later.

Allied jet fighters sweeping over North Korea Monday counted only eight Communist MIG jets but none of the eight ventured south of the Yalu River, boundary of their Manchurian sanctuary.

A pair of daring American sabre jet pilots Sunday shot up eight Red MIG-15 jets on the ground at an air base in northwestern Korea—the first time enemy jets have been caught on the ground. Seven other MIGs were reported hit in three air battles.

The Allied division which showed the Communists off a series of ridges southeast of Kumsong on the Central Front was hit three times Sunday night and Monday morning by counterattacking Reds.

A Chinese battalion tried for three hours to dent the Allied line but the attackers were thrown back and finally quit the battle shortly before dawn, the Eighth Army said. Two other counterattacks also failed to dislodge the doughboys, the Army added.

Allied infantrymen pushed the Reds off still another hill on the nine-mile divisional front east of the Pukhan River.

In the west, the Chinese threw self-propelled guns and foot soldiers into the 12-hour fight to dislodge the King's shropshire Light Infantry of the British First Commonwealth Division from a strategic hill west of Yonchon Sunday night. At dawn the Britons still were atop the hill and the Reds pulled back.

each of the five would have veto power in the council. The commission would draw up for the world conference treaties of "regulation, limitation and balanced reduction of all armed forces and all armaments."

"We can seize this great opportunity for peace," Acheson said in a conciliatory speech which was greeted with great applause from the committee, "or we can fritter it away."

The Secretary of State made no direct mention of the Soviet Union, whose acceptance would be necessary to start the plan rolling.

"There is no magic" in the West's proposals, Acheson said, but he insisted the plan could be a turning point in world history. He told the delegates they were dealing with the "most important problem any group of statesmen have ever dealt with—the question of national survival."

In the second political committee, meanwhile, Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik tilted bitterly with Selim Sarper of Turkey. Political committee No. 3 helps the first committee handle the heavy load of political problems before the general assembly.

Sarper was elected by acclamation chairman of political committee No. 2, and Sven Grafstram of Sweden defeated Ukrainian delegate I. T. Palamarchuk for vice chairman. The snarl between Sarper and Malik on this contest looked like the prelude to a long series of East-West wrangles in the committee.

The first political committee abandoned its plans for an afternoon session so that its members could have time to study Acheson's speech before going on with the

FRIDAY, NOV. 16, 1951
 TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

A great teacher strives to make his pupils strong enough to go alone along the path he showed them. It is expedient for you that I go away.—Jn. 16:7.

"Governor Warren Hits Out At Dishonesty In Government" headline. Governor Warren, of California, that is.

President Truman is getting quite sensitive about his administration. He actually fired one of the crooks in office the other day.

The withdrawal of Henry Baynard, able young St. Petersburg legislator, from the gubernatorial prospects should be of great help to Brailley Odham in his campaign for governor.

A good suggestion to cattlemen around here comes on the eve of the hunting season from New Hampshire where Westmoreland farmers, tired of having their cows mistaken for deer during misty twilight hours, have painted on the sides of their cows in large letters "C.O.W."

Seminole High School's annual homecoming game could not be bogged down by the "unseasonable weather" which hit this city Friday night. The football game went on as usual, and with rich rewards. It just goes to show that where there is a will there's a way.

One of the first political polls we have seen in a long time was conducted recently by the DeLand Sun News and showed among many other interesting conclusions that anti-Truman sentiment in our neighboring country is extremely strong, and that former Senator Pepper would have no chance at all against coming Holland. As to the governor's race, most people seem to have adopted a "wait and see" policy.

A good suggestion comes from Albert Fitts of Petite Paris who offers to put up a thousand dollars if 499 others will put up another $499,000 to build docks and terminal facilities in Sanford. That is the old American way steeped in the spirit of free enterprise, liberty loving Americans exercising the freedom of their ancestors, and voluntarily associating themselves together to build an empire. Five hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money, but where there is abundant faith in a community and sufficient courage, it is not an impossible sum.

Senator Anderson of New Mexico is confident the Democratic party split can be sealed before the 1952 election even if it flares up somewhat during the convention. "This split can be healed in time to give us a united front in November," he confidently predicts. Senator Byrd of Virginia thinks otherwise. "If the President is right in his forecast of the party platform, especially as to civil rights," says Senator Byrd, "it will touch off a bitter new fight." The best way for the South to assert itself in national politics is to vote as a bloc and to vote independently.

From Fort Pierce, by way of Tallahassee, comes the long expected announcement that Judge Allen Adams is a candidate for governor of Florida. Fellow citizens of Dan McCarty's home town, Judge Adams, with the backing of many of Florida's political big wigs, would seem likely to split with Adams the following in the next candidate who ran for governor a close second. Ed Cramer, former assistant for Governor Caldwell, now assistant for Commissioner of Insurance Adams, will be the

Spending By Lobbies

A summary prepared by the Congressional Quarterly says that $4,288,300 was spent in the first half of 1951 by lobby groups. The sum sounds very large. Yet in comparison with the federal budget of seventy billions, which the lobbyists were trying to influence in one way or another, the sum spent for lobbying was pittance.

The total was smaller than in the corresponding period of 1950, but it was the first decline. If any congressmen had thoughts of reducing the number and activities of lobbyists by the law requiring registration they must have been disappointed, for numbers and spending have risen steadily and rapidly until this year.

For a while there was a widespread notion that all lobbying was bad, and that no self-respecting person or organization would want to admit being a lobbyist. That notion was responsible in part for the lobby registration act. Now the notion is less prevalent, and there is more recognition of lobbying as a reputable activity.

Almost anyone who takes an interest in governmental affairs will feel the urge at times to try to influence them, and it is perfectly proper that people should do so, for ours is the people's government. But government has become so big and complex that the individual citizen has small chance of being heard, except at his voting place. Most lobbying, therefore, is done by associations, national organizations and the like.

There are probably few individuals who are at all active in community affairs who do not belong to some organization which acts as a lobby in Washington.

Problem In Athletics

Presidents of ten leading universities are serving on a committee appointed by the American Council on Education to study the ethics of practices in intercollegiate athletics. The committee will report its findings and make recommendations to the 979 universities and colleges which make up the council.

The committee will encounter many problems which will not be easy to solve. The wide spectator appeal of such sports as football brings needed dollars into the athletic funds of many schools; these funds are often used to support other desirable but less profitable college activities. Gate receipts vary with the success of the teams, and since has become a business at some schools various means are taken to assure winning teams. Pressure from alumni groups, which also want winning teams, is often strong and has an effect on an institution's athletic policy.

These and other problems in intercollegiate athletics unquestionably require solution. The financial considerations and prestige of sports competition should not dictate the ethical standards of educational institutions. Sports need to fulfill the function of teaching sportsmanship and clean competitive practices if they are to have real value in education.

Remembering A Hero

It sometimes seems that heroes in America enjoy only a short-lived acclaim. But occasionally a man who performs a brave deed so completely captures the hearts of Americans that they show their gratitude and admiration in the big way that Americans do everything. It was so in the case of Bob Smith, the first quadruple amputee of the Korean War.

A year after the tragic sacrifice which Smith made in Korea he used the heroic which have replaced his hands to sign his name to a $116,000 trust fund made up of money collected, with little solicitation, throughout the United States.

There is no way that a man can be repaid for the loss of his arms and legs. But people did demonstrate their readiness to show their appreciation for his sacrifice in the only way open to them—voluntary contributions to assure Smith of lifetime financial security. America's memory may often seem as short as some critics say it is, but her heart is very big and in this heart she holds her heroes.

 University. Mrs. Boner is with him here.

"I like Florida very much," he declared, "and especially the central area which I prefer to the coast."

Miss Mable Maher, of Chicago, Ill., who was on the staff of the hotel last season, will serve as auditor. Robert Weibel of Lakewood, N.J., will be back for his fourth season as chef. Robert Speer will serve as head waiter. Joe Kamf will continue as maintenance engineer.

Others on the staff will be Miss Alice Jones, Boston, Mass., resident auditor; Mrs. R. G. Williams, private secretary to Mr. Maxian, and Mrs. Jenn Ray, secretary to Mr. Boner.

Mr. Weibel, the chef, spent the summer at Lakewood, N. J., and stated that he is glad to be back in Sanford. He pointed out that equipment in the kitchen includes a new water softener. Much other new equipment was purchased last season.

Mr. Weibel learned his trade during his youth in Saxony, Germany, and for seven years, 1907-1914, was chef aboard the liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie. He has been chef at the Argosy Club in Boston, Mass., and in many famous hotels. He has had charge of the menus of the Giant farm club at the Naval Air Station. Under him are five experienced cooks, and pastry cooks, pantry-men and other help totalling about 20.

The grounds of the Mayfair have been put into fine condition and many new shrubs, flowers and bushes planted.

Recreation facilities include the swimming pool, with its small pool for the kiddies and a sun trap adjoining.

Two cement tennis courts are available, and other sports include shuffleboard, archery, badminton and boating. Guests also enjoy the privileges of the Seminole Country Club golf course.

The 1951 Boston Braves finished the National League race in last place and lost 115 games, a league record for most games lost in one season.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—It would be a little gruesome if the Communists took over here, judging from what's happened elsewhere.

Wherever they move in they have the immediate problem of trying to stay in. This seems to be a continuing problem since the Russian Communists, after being in 34 years, still need a secret police.

For the Communists, as their history shows, staying in means getting rid of members of the opposition, active or potential, or crushing it in several well-known ways: confiscating their property; forcing them into labor camps; or executions.

Traditionally the Communists look for their opposition in these two groups:

1. Those with material possessions who can be expected to embrace the Communists for taking it away from them—the rich, property owners, businessmen, and farmowners whose land will be collectivized.
2. Those who disagree with the Communists on ideological grounds, a large group including religious leaders, teachers and intellectuals.

Suppressions and liquidations in Russia are familiar. There have been some recent examples. Reports from China, reliable or not, tell of more than 1,000,000 people executed in massive purges.

From Hungary come stories of more than 50,000 of the middle-class taken from their homes in just a couple of months and thrown into labor camps with farmers and landowners.

Besides telling of thousands of American soldiers, sailors and airmen taken from their homes in just a couple of months and thrown into labor camps with farmers and landowners.

Thanksgiving turkeys, no matter how many are eaten, seems always a fresh supply, it seems.
