MEMBERS BRITISH ROYALTY GUESTS OF U. S. MINISTER

English King and Queen Are Present With Distinguished Gathering to Say Farewell To Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The king and queen and a distinguished company of Britains and Americans were the dinner guests Friday evening of Ambassador and Mrs. Kellogg at Crewe House their London home.

Mr. Kellogg leaves soon to succeed Charles Evans Hughes as Secretary of state.

The gathering at the American envoy's abode was significant in more than a social sense for it is broad at other tables than their own and their is no recent instance of their having attended a formal dinner at the home of any diplomat assigned by a foreign nation to the court.

Baldwin Also Present.
With the king and his consort at the Kellogg board sat the head of His Majesty's government, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, archbishop of Canterbury, with their wives. From the continent, two prominent Americans crossed the English channel to attend the dinner—Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France and Seymour Parker Gilbert, agent-general for reparations payments. Mrs. Gilbert accompanied her husband.

In all, there were 32 guests. Besides the king and queen, the guests included Chamberlain, secretary of state for foreign affairs; Lady Astor, Herbert Asquith and wife; the Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry, the Countess of Leicester, the Countess of Stafford; Viscount and Viscountess Grey of Faldo; Viscount Courcy; Viscount, Viscountess, Lord and Lady De Lough, Lord Calbrooke, Lady Northcot, Major Richard Seymour, Counselor of the Embassy and Mrs. Frederick A. Starling; Mrs. John S. Lawrence, Ray Atherton, first secretary of the embassy, and Boylston A. Beal, special attache of the embassy.

Hall Brilliantly Decorated.
The ambassador's table was set in the spacious and dignified dining hall of Crewe House and was decorated in flaming colors and azeles with tall silver candelabrae. There were tall gilt baskets of pink azaleas and ferns about the hall. In the yellow drawing room there were pink and white lilacs while lilacs and white tulips lent color to the green drawing room.

Ambassador Kellogg gave his arm to the queen as the guests moved into the dining room, while Mrs. Kellogg was accompanied by His Majesty. Mrs. Kellogg wore a creation of a Parisienne design, a gown of soft blue green chiffon flecked with white, trimmed softly throughout the dinner.

On Feb. 16, the Kelloggs will be the guests at a formal reception at the home of Lady Astor.

Scouts To Observe Fifteenth Year Of National Council

Plans for participation by Boy Scouts of Sanford in the celebration next week of the fifteenth anniversary of the scout movement in America, were announced Saturday afternoon by M. C. Haddock, deputy scout commissioner in charge of scout activities in Sanford. A program that provides for appropriate observances each day in the week has been arranged.

Sanford Boy Scouts will be guests of the First Baptist church at services Sunday night when the pastor, Dr. F. D. King, will give a special sermon on "The Boy and His Big Battles."

Scout activities at 10:15 o'clock a demonstration of scout work will be made at the high school auditorium. A similar demonstration will be conducted at the grammar school Wednesday morning at the same hour. On Wednesday night all scouts are invited to the show at the Milane Theater as guests of the management.

The annual reunion of the organization will be conducted Thursday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock in the Ninth Street park. Friday night all scouts and former scouts and boys of age to join the organization who desire to go, will camp overnight at Silver Lake. A truck to haul the campers to the grounds will be at the Baptist church Friday evening.

The week will be ended Saturday which is "join up day." Boys desiring to become members will be able to see Mr. Haddock, the commissioner at 110 Sanford avenue.

SATSUMA GROWERS MEET

PENSACOLA, Feb. 7.—Satsuma fruit growers will hold their annual meeting at Round Lake on Feb. 10, it is announced here. Specialists in the production of satsuma oranges are on the program for talks designed to aid the growers in the cultivation of trees and fruit.

MITCHELL TELLS COMMITTEE THAT U. S. FIFTH IN AIR

Assistant Chief of Army Air Service Says Japan, Britain, France and Italy Are Ahead of This Country

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Brig. General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air craft committee, told the house air craft committee that the United States ranks fifth in air power, being surpassed in this branch by England, Japan, France and Italy.

Representative Perkins (R) New Jersey, committee chairman, remarked that the committee's statement made near the end of today's hearing, conflicted with earlier testimony from Brig. Gen. Drum of the army general staff, to the effect that the United States ranked second in air craft.

This clash of views added to the maze of contradiction the committee has received over the controversy in the army and navy circles as to the value of aircraft carriers, which further was complicated today by General Mitchell's reply to Secretary Weeks' demand of an explanation of recent testimony "seriously reflecting" on the war department.

The controversy Thursday also reached the White House, where it was made known that General Mitchell, with a representative of a publishing company, had called on President Coolidge some time ago to ascertain his attitude toward the publication of a series of articles dealing with the efficiency of air craft against battleships. The president's response at that time was that he had no objection to publication of the articles if the assistant air chief obtained the approval of his superiors. The articles subsequently were published, but officials of Secretary Weeks' office said today, that although General Mitchell had been ordered more than a year ago to present writings of such nature to the department for approval before publication, he had not done so in this instance.

General Mitchell, in making public his reply to Secretary Weeks' objections to his testimony today, adopted the unusual course of reading a copy of it to the committee in open session several hours before the original reached Mr. Weeks. Although the document was in the hands of the war secretary tonight, he declined to comment, but said he would begin examination of it immediately and indicated he might later issue a statement.

Floggings Stopped; Klan Faces Action

JEFFERSON, N. C., Feb. 7.—With legal action threatened against alleged members of the Klan by at least one victim of masked and robbed floggers and reports of an anti-Klan organization being secretly formed, tension persisted in West Jefferson today although there had been no raids such as characterized several nights last week. Several liquor raids and a least three floggings have been performed by men in masks alleged to claim membership in the Klan.

J. FLEISCHMANN'S BODY LEAVES FOR N. Y. LATE FRIDAY

Funeral Service for Late Yeast King and Sportsman Will Be Held Monday and Burial Takes Place Tuesday

MIAMI, Feb. 7.—The body of Julius Fleischmann, millionaire yeast manufacturer who died suddenly Thursday at Miami Beach while playing polo, was started for New York Friday night in his private car "Middle Neck" accompanied by a party of friends.

Funeral services will be held in New York Monday morning. It was stated by H. B. Miller, vice president of the Fleischmann company, who was one of those accompanying the body, and on Monday afternoon the funeral party is to leave for Cincinnati. Services are due to be held there at noon Tuesday and then the remains will be placed in the Fleischmann vault at Spring Grove Cemetery beside those of Mr. Fleischmann's mother, Mrs. Charles Fleischmann, who died recently.

Informal services in memory of the millionaire philanthropist and sportsman were held late Friday under the palm trees on the lawn of his estate which was just being completed at Miami Beach. The Rev. E. A. King, pastor of Miami Beach Community Church, spoke briefly on Mr. Fleischmann's sports and philanthropy and after reading of Kipling's "If" I. T. Weir, concluded the service with a prayer.

Polo players and other friends including the Fleischmann house party, former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio; Thomas Meighan, movie star, and stable men and other employees around the estate, comprised those who attended the informal services. Afterwards most of them came to Miami and took a last look at the body as it lay in an undertaker's chapel here.

There was but little ceremony and no attempt at formality for his friends said the man would not have liked it. The body, placed in a metallic casket, lined with gray silk, and covered by a blanket of ferns, roses and lilies from the Flamingo Polo club of which Mr. Fleischmann was a leading spirit, was carried to the private car and there received by J. C. Cooley, who has charge of the Fleischmann farm at Middle Neck, Long Island, and of the polo stable here. The casket was put into a metallic vault and placed in the observation compartment of the private car. Numbers of bouquets and wreaths from friends were placed around it, but all were simple floral offerings.

The funeral party gathered about half an hour before the train left and was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Plimpton and Julius Bergan, the father of Mr. Fleischmann's private secretary, all of New York. Walter Knudson, Mr. Fleischmann's valet for many years and several servants accompanied the party.

INDEPENDENTS SEEK PROBE OF PICTURE TRUST

Company Headed by Will Hays Declared to Have Monopoly in Film Production Business

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Trust methods calling for investigation by the federal government were alleged against the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of a letter made public Friday by Murray W. Garson, head of Garson Enterprises, and Independent Motion Picture Producers.

In his letter, addressed to Mr. Hays, Mr. Garson says that the union will call a meeting here of important picture producers, distributors and exhibitors throughout the country to consider a course of action against the alleged trust methods of the Hays organization. This meeting, he wrote, "further will present the facts to the proper branches of the government for an investigation of the monopoly and for the enactment of such laws that will protect the independent producers, the independent exhibitors and the motion picture going public."

Mr. Garson's charges against the producers and distributors organization which came into being several years ago for the purpose of leveling differences between various interests in the motion picture industry, were similar to those recently voiced by the Vitagraph Company of America, oldest motion picture producer unit in the country, on its withdrawal from the association. It is charged that the picture men's body is conducted primarily in the interest of producer-exhibitor firms. Famous Players-Lasky, the Metro Goldwyn organization, in which Marcus Loew has extensive interests, and the First National Exhibitors.

"Basket Market" Is Host To Nearly 1,000 People On Morning Of Opening

Virtually 1,000 people passed through the Basket Market during the four hours that followed the formal opening at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Stock and fixtures in all shops, of which there are nine in addition to the Federal Bakery, with one exception were in place.

A record crowd filled the Betty Ann tea room during the lunch hour. Music provided by the Rines Music and Radio Shop featured the dinner hour. Refreshments, ice cream and pastries and confections made in the new bakery were given to all that appeared.

Preparations are being made to entertain the biggest rush of the day which is expected to begin shortly after 4 o'clock and continue until 10 o'clock. A five piece orchestra, engaged especially for the occasion, will begin playing for dancing which will continue through the dinner hour. Dancing on the floor of the tea room which is located on the second floor, will begin at 4 o'clock.

Officials of the Federal Bakery company, who are generally in charge of the market and who made the alterations converting the building into its present form of an arcade, were recipients of many compliments on the appearance of the market. All equipment is new and the building is tastefully arranged and decorated.

The market is under the general management of Ray Darden, who was promoted to his present position from the Daytona store of the bakery company. He is assisted by H. G. Benwick, formerly of the advertising department of The Sanford Herald.

Building Activity In February Starts With Record Figure

To the 1925 total in building permits, which amounted to $75,275 during January, is added $13,825 the amount issued during the first week of February. The total for the year is brought to $89,100. A gain of 84.3 per cent is shown in the permits issued during January over those of a year ago.

There have been 12 permits thus far during the month, nine of which were for homes. Note-worthy among the permits five taken by J. J. Cates for five one-story frame residences which are being built at a cost of $500 each, according to the permit information.

Permit to erect a two story frame residence on Park Avenue in Pine Heights has been granted to L. H. Connelly. The cost of building is given as $5,500. A one story residence is being erected by R. W. Deane at a cost of $3,000.

A two-story frame warehouse on an alley next to First street is now being erected by W. S. Pierce at a cost of $2,000. Other permits are:

Violet Baggett, addition to roof of home on Park Avenue, $100; Allan Scott, repairs porch on Celery frames, 306 Martin street, and Campbell Cowan, 2 story frame residence at Perimmon and Goldsboro Avenue, $700.

Lawyers of Robber Face Federal Charge

LITTLE ROCK, Feb. 7.—Wallace Davis, son of the United States Senator Jeff Davis, and Tom Poe, Little Rock attorneys, employed by Herbert Holliday, convicted mail robber to defend him following his arrest here in connection with the $2,000,000 Round Out, Ill., robbery, were today set at liberty under bonds of $20,000 each following indictment yesterday on charges of conspiracy in receiving and concealing government bonds.

Rescuers Will Not Reach Floyd Collins Before Sunday Night

'DOOM APOSTLES' ARE OBLIVIOUS TO JEERS OF OTHERS

Large Numbers of Men And Women Throughout Country Awaited Coming of World's End on Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Oblivious to the jeers of the unbelievers, large numbers of men, women and children at various parts of the country unflinchingly awaited the crack of doom Friday night.

From several points in the United States came news of the patient vigil of the band, disciples of Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen of Los Angeles, and self-styled members of the Seventh Day Adventist Reformed church, steady in their faith that Christ would start from His Heavens on a second pilgrimage to earth, to lead the faithful to salvation.

End Set for Midnight.

The beginning of the millennium was set for midnight, but it wasn't clear whether the sign from heaven was to be expected at that hour, eastern standard time, or Pacific coast time, three hours later. For the elect seemed to be in treu accord on but one thing, and that was that all were to be transported to a mountain near San Diego, Cal., from where they were to watch fire and pestilence ravage the world of the faithless, after which they were to begin a seven-day trip to heaven, stopping at various planets en route, for food and to gather others of the chosen in their train from Hollywood, Los Angeles, and Oakland, Cal., came stories of the patient vigil of the elect. Similar stories were told of their steadfastness at College View, Neb., at Washington, in upstate New York and a half dozen other places.

Await End in Homes.

Fewer than two score of the band, residents of Long Island towns, awaited the event, for the home, built in their respective homes. Their leader, Robert Reidt, and his trusting wife and their four small children awaited the sign from the skies under the guard of skeptical county policemen. The landscape for half a mile around their dilapidated little home on a hillside near East Pachogue, was cluttered with automobiles or laughing men and women who had motored from points many miles away to feed their amused curiosity upon a sight of "the doom apostles."

Moving picture men adventuring too near the Reidt abode were routed with cans of boiling water.

Reidt, in his family, his brother, William, Downs, a giant, thirty man of 57 years, a glieeman and two newspaper men were in the house, with the doors locked. Outside a half dozen policemen tried to keep the crowd in order. While a dozen traffic officers, stationed at various places along the nearby roads, had difficulty in routing the ever-coming car loads of curious.

Kentucky Troops Are Standing By While Miners Sink Shaft To Collins' Prison

Added Precaution Taken By Miners

RESCUE LEADERS WORK IN RELAYS: 20 FEET OF EARTH REMOVED

CAVE CITY, Feb. 7.—Kentucky troops stood by today much more to go another 48 as miners digging away at the new shaft; to sand, where Floyd Collins entombed, has laid pinned by a boulder for almost 200 hours. Early today the shaft had gone to a depth of 20 and with that hours will probably pass before the opening is made.

Determined that no effort will interfere in any way with the operations, guardsmen under Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, Friday night ordered Homer Collins, brother of the victim and John Gerald away from the cave. Gerald was the leader of one of the numerous rescue parties and fruitless efforts to get Collins through the cave entrance. Their activity slowed the work of officers. It was explained to them.

An added precaution to miners who have worked with the knowledge that the bottom of the shaft might drop out the moment it neared any underground cavern, was taken today when a drill began sinking its narrow bit into the ground near the mine.

If the drill strikes a cavern at 60 feet H. T. Carmichael, in charge of the rescue work, will be prepared to protect the miners from possibility of dropping into space.

Despite all precautions which may be taken for safe-guarding the mine, one has yet found a method of escaping the mine. Volunteer workers have yielded their places to experienced men from the Kentucky coal fields and from various parts of the country. Frequent changes in the shifts were ordered. One pair of miners remained an hour, another two hours, but no longer.

The rock and dirt which earlier in the day had been lifted to the surface on a platform is now being hoisted with a crane.

Around the surface of the mine the laboring rescue work progressed orderly. "The mine" went into the little valley near by a trip to the hill top revealed a strange contrast. The rescue camp offers an unrealistic picture of order and disorder.

Motor trucks bump over the rough roads and dump machinery of all sort haphazardly on the hillside. Who ordered it in most instances is a matter of guess work as a thing not considered at the moment. Sometimes one on the scene can offer what use the apparatus might be placed.

A constant stream of motor cars move along the road a greater part of the day. License plates from more than 20 states were counted in a single day.

The crowds are daily heterogeneous accumulation of persons through curiosity or a genuine desire to aid.

Selfishness and unselfishness among the workers are found side by side and jealousies have threatened the very rescue of Collins himself. Charges have been made that one faction was inspired solely through desire for the glory which might befall them. But the tragedy has its heroes too—Homer Collins and his brother, Marshall, kinsmen of the victim, William B. "Skeets" Miller, dimwit, staff correspondent for the Courier-Journal; John Gerald, Collins' chum; Alfred Mattox, Central City miner and others, all of whom forgot personal safety in their efforts to reach Collins and free him. Today's developments were incidental to the slow sinking of the shaft.

A second appeal for financial aid to feed and clothe miners and other workers was issued.

Andrew Collins, another brother, arrived from Kewanee, Ill., and set out to find another cave entrance. Military authorities and his father, Lee Collins, interfered with his plans to enter a cave back of Sand Cave.

The shaft itself was lowered a few feet and timbered. Dynamite was ordered used if blasting becomes necessary.

Chinese Delegates Leave Opium Meeting

A telegram, from J. M. Martin, chairman of the Palm Beach Shrine club, under auspices of which the Bob Morton Circus is now showing, commending highly the circus as a provider of high class entertainment, was received on Friday by E. F. Lowe, president of the Local Shrine club which is making preparations to bring the circus here during the week of Feb. 16.

Sanford nobles are looking forward to the Shrine banquet to be held Monday night in the new dining room of the Seminole Cafe. J. Putnam Stevens, Past Grand Master of the Potomac Shrine, will be the special Potentate, will be the function. Nobles from Easton, Daytona, DeLand and Orlando are planning attendance.

A program, with Mr. Lane as toastmaster, is being prepared. A number of unusual features which will be brought out at the banquet, are being arranged for the occasion.

The telegram received is as follows: "Bob Morton's Circus showed here this week under auspices of the Palm Beach Shrine Club. This organization has a wonderful show providing high class entertainment. We are having fine attendance and the public is well satisfied."

Affirmative Winner In Debate on World Moral Improvement

A debate, "Resolved That the World is Getting Better Morally," in which C. M. Stephenson espoused the affirmative and Henry Roddenberry the negative, conducted by the Young Men's Debating Society of Sanford, resulted in a decision for the affirmative when argued at the Presbyterian Church Thursday night. Judges in the contest were D. L. Thrasher, Mr. Mundy and Mr. White.

Mr. Stephenson maintained in his argument that the appearance of increased evil was due to a wider circulation of news and not to actual increase. He declared that conditions are better now than ever and that the lack of news made past ages appear more moral.

The present day era of motion pictures, bootleggers and "yellow" journalism were pointed out by Mr. Roddenberry as indications of retrogression. He admitted progress scientifically, industrially and educationally but declared these progress stopped.

Lots Are Being Sold In
BEL-AIR
"The Subdivision Beautiful"

TERMS
 THE TERMS we are offering are not to be compared with those of any other subdivision of similar excellence in the city. One hundred of our 307 lots in this beautiful property are offered at the extremely low figures of from $300. to $700. Ten per cent cash is all that is required. The balance will be made as easy as possible to suit the purchaser. Don't say you cannot afford to buy; you really cannot afford NOT to.

LOCATION
 BEL AIR, which has frequently been termed "The Subdivision Beautiful" on account of the unusual natural beauty of its surroundings, is located on Mellonville Avenue, a paved thoroughfare, beginning 1000 feet south of the Municipal Park and extending 1925 feet further south. It is entirely within the city limits, but a short distance from the business district and offering to the homeseeker a wonderful opportunity for homesites.

All Taxes for the year 1925, on this property, have been paid. Remember, $30 will make you a property owner in this beautiful close-in subdivision. Compare these values with anything else in Florida

AMBULANCE NOT
 WPA, Feb. 7.—The ambulance more suitable vehicle for hauling safe crackers, burglars and pocket than the patrol, is in honor the declaration of Chief Detectives Joe Carter, who has acted his men to "shoot first ask questions afterward; and necessary shoot to kill," in an effort to rid the city of "the anti-air-time invasion of safe-crackers, burglars and pickpockets." Chief Carter stated that "we are going to treat 'em rough." A series of hold-ups and robberies have been reported here and in other cities during the last few days.

CHECK CRIME WAVE
 PETERSBURG, Feb. 7.—Commissioner Snyder has urged that vigorous action be taken by the city authorities to check the crime wave that has cost merchants and home owners of St. Petersburg several thousand dollars during the past two weeks. A number of trained detectives from other cities to work with the local police in the steps the commissioner believes would help the situation.

...of the medicines prescribed by the best of physicians. But to most people the proverb is just a familiar group of words they have never analyzed for the truth the proverb might convey.

The man who keeps a merry heart is pretty certain to have good digestion. The man who looks out upon the world with merry eyes is certain to find the more cheerful things of life, with his own physical being responding. And the man who carries his happy disposition among his fellow men, carries a tonic that can drive away actual disease.

Often, too, men who do the most good with their cheerfulness have burdens and apparent cause for anything but cheerfulness. We have in mind a man who has had enough trouble to crush the average man. He has gone through disasters and sorrows that have robbed him of his dearest and best. But his religion has always been a simple creed based upon the Golden Rule, and he refuses to impose his trouble upon his friends.

When other men gloomily look for trouble, this man laughs. Indeed he has mastered that best of lessons, he has learned to laugh at himself. He has learned to stand back and say to himself, "Well, my little man, you don't run this interesting universe it seems."

Coming down the street in the morning this man starts the people he meets to smiling. The ice-boy grumbling at his task hears his merry "Hello, Jim" and forgets his grouch. The old cobbler mumbled maledictions on her slow way to work hears his "Good morning, Auntie" and her black face becomes a smiling moon.

His merry heart doeth good like medicine. Let's have more of the merry heart medicine. Let's check up our own contribution to the happiness of the world, and incidentally note how our own health is affected by our cheerfulness.

THE ONLY SAFE TRUST:—Come trust in chariots, and some in horses; but we will remember the name of the Lord our God. Psalm 20:7.

WHERE ARE THE MEN?

There isn't a lad but wants to grow manly and true at heart, and every lad would like to know the secret we impart. He doesn't desire to slack or shirk. Oh, haven't you heard him plead? He'll follow a man at play or work, if only the man will lead. Where are the men to lead today, Sparring an hour or two, Teaching the lad the game to play just as a man should do? Village and town are calling—come. Here are the boys, indeed, Who can tell what they might become? If only the men will lead?

Motor and golf and winter sport Fill up the time a lot. But wouldn't you like to feel you'd taught Even a boy a knot? Country and home depend on you, Character most we need; How can a lad know what to do If there isn't a man to lead?

Where are the men to lend a hand? Echo it war and wide, Men who will rise in every land, Bridging the "Great Divide," Nation and flag and tongue unite Joining each class and creed. Here are the boys who would do right. But where are the MEN to lead? —Exchange.

It all depends upon the woman as to who is an ideal man.

Words, money, all things else, are comparatively easy to give away; but when a man makes a gift of his daily life and practice, is plain that the truth, whatever may be, has taken possession of n.—Lowell.

There is nothing like being frank out a thing. The Fort Mauder prints on the front page picture of a danseuse balanced prettily on one toe. It is added to the public like this: "A nger who interviewed President Ohio and says he is not Silent." Dangers, as it were affect ferent people differently.

The Herald's argument is sound, it needn't suppose anybody on Journal wrote the mess of rot refers to. It came from a synate.—Ocala Star.

THE UNIVERSAL PARASITE Damnably Entrenched

The Dearborn Independent offers the American business-man something to think about in an editorial captioned, "The Universal Parasite." Before reading the article to which we intend giving space in this editorial, ask yourself what that universal parasite is, and when you finish reading the Independent's editorial, reproduced here in its entirety, ask yourself how such a parasite can be exterminated. Says the editorial:

"The usurer's business is as menacing to the well-being of the State as the dope traffic—and it is organized on an equally extensive scale. There is not a section of society from which the money-lenders are not drawing toll. By their exactions they drive men and women to crime and even to death."

The London Daily Mail thus gives expression to an opinion based on special inquiries it has made regarding an evil which is not confined to any particular country but to the world at large. It is pointed out that there is one point about money-lending which emphasizes its similarity to the dope traffic; it is largely in the hands of aliens, many of whom have become naturalized and have adopted English names.

When it is considered how strong a fight was put up against the system of interest and usury by all the moral forces of the Anglo-Saxon world more than three centuries ago—that the whole system was resisted as a poisonous and destructive invasion—there is no doubt but that our fathers foresaw the entrenched evils which are now becoming terrifyingly manifest. The essential immorality and anti-social power of usury is beginning to force itself upon the consciousness even of the financiers.

The blight of usury is perhaps the greatest evil that the world suffers from today. It is the universal parasite.

With money more plentiful in the United States than it has ever been, it would seem that there would be less opportunity for the usurer to ply his damnable trade. But always is there a Shylock wanting his pound of flesh, and unfortunate victims always writhing in the grasp of one of these Money-Barons, robbing his way to affluence—murdering his way to power.

PHONOGRAPH AND RADIO

McCormick, Chialapini, Werren-rath, Galli-Carri, Scotti, Tito Schipa and other stars of concert and opera, whom the great portion of the public has heard heretofore only through the medium of the phonograph record, have been released by the company controlling their contracts in order to sing for radio. Thus their audiences are at once enlarged hundreds of times and the millions of radio "fans" and the millions of radio "fans" are the immediate beneficiaries.

In deciding that their business will not be injured by granting their stars permission to radiocast their golden tones, the phonograph companies are in much the same position as the newspaper. Writing in a current periodical, More A. Rose of the Buffalo Evening News discussed the often-asked question as to whether the radio-bulletining of news will eventually result in the doing away of the newspaper. There are those who earnestly argue that the radio is the newspaper's arrival and that to aid the air news service is to encourage a project that may cut off a newspaper's sales.

The point is made, however, that the sending out of news bulletins, far from satisfying the appetite of newspaper readers, only serves to whet it. The experience of newspaper radiophone owners proves this. Anyone interested in any particular piece of news wants to read more of it. Further, there are many channels of information and entertainment included in a newspaper's pages which can never be broadcast. Nine times out of ten radio "fan" who listen to a public speech or convention activities, buy papers afterward to compare the reports with what they have heard, or to clear up some point they have missed.

Like the newspaper, the phonograph manufacturers calculate that news discussed far from causing a falling off in the purchase of their records, the bulletining of news will eventually result in the doing away of the newspaper. There are those who earnestly argue that the radio is the newspaper's arrival and that to aid the air news service is to encourage a project that may cut off a newspaper's sales.

BUSINESS LATIN

The story is familiar of the venerable preacher who justified his frequent use of Hebrew quotations on the ground that everybody knows a little Hebrew. Apparently the business mind of this day of many college graduates goes on the similar supposition that everybody knows a little Latin. To judge from advertising, Latin seems to have a selling power. Dozens of new commercial terms have been made by combining initials with the first two letters of the word company, words like, Cico, Antico, Pebeco and others. If the strange vocable Cico should meet your eyes interpret it as meaning merely City Lumber Company. Of course, Nalibus has become a familiar household word.

Now, all these new terms have a hauntingly familiar look, not because they suggest the abbreviation for company but because they suggest the common Latin verb ending. In the English language,

THOSE dogs of the Esquimaux breed, galloping in relays over the frozen trails of Alaska, covered 650 miles in 5 1/2 days. Wonderful four legged creatures they are, and a brave man in Gunnar Kason, who pushed on through the blizzard without waiting for the relay that failed to meet him.

OF ALL animals man is the most wonderful, having developed to the highest point, the topmost joint of the spinal column, the one we call the skull, containing the brain. The curious thing is that man excels the animals in physical endurance, as well as in thinking power.

We are amazed that relays of heavy four-legged animals, powerful Siberian hounds, should gallop over the snow and ice 650 miles in 5 1/2 days.

Their endurance does not compare with that of the tall Irishman, afterward elected Mayor of Long Island City, who walked and ran more than 600 miles in six days in Madison Square Garden, with no relay, on his own two legs.

Man is indeed "fearfully and wonderfully made," and has many reasons for praising the Lord.

TWO DAYS ago Bill Goodman, of Nauvoo, Ala., was called a "hobo." When he traveled he hid in freight cars or "rode on the rods." Now he is a hero, with a pass authorizing him to ride comfortably on all trains of the St. Louis & San Francisco line.

On Monday night he crawled out of his hiding place on the train, after a collision, and, risking his own life, saved that of the engineer, lying beneath his engine, in danger of being scalded to death.

THE DISTANCE between hobolism and heroism is often short, and often only an opportunity is needed to change a hobo into a hero.

THE NEWS of almost any day would seem strange to a traveler from an old, civilized planet.

At Johns Hopkins University they will perform an operation on a man from Colorado accused of murdering his wife. Cutting his skull, giving the brain room to expand, may eliminate alleged criminal tendencies. In days to come operations on the skull to remedy brain pressure, especially on the top, may become frequent.

IN LOS ANGELES a railroad official died after having a tooth-pulled. His disease was hemophilia, which means "a liking for hemorrhages."

In that disease the slightest cut is not to cause fatal bleeding. We don't realize how ingeniously we are made, the average cut healing itself, and the white corpuscles attacking and destroying outside germs, like vigilant policemen, while the healing goes on.

IN MONTE Carlo ladies play lawn tennis—perfectly respectable ladies—with skirts cut off far up on the hips, with stockings rolled down and bare knees. Dressed that way they play better, and the air does them good.

Esquimaux women have always kept an opening around the knees, or around the waist, to let in the air. The skin also must breathe.

IN HOLLYWOOD, Mrs. Margaret W. Rowan, with her followers, "Reformed Seventh Day Adventists," are waiting for the world to end next Friday. They will watch with her, while the world ends and Divinity again appears on earth.

Somebody will be disappointed on Friday, either Mrs. Rowan and her followers, or the Los Angeles real estate owners.

Marcus Loew bought a block out there for $10,000, over the protest of his managers, who said he was paying too much. A little later he sold it for a million. Can you imagine how he would have felt had the world ended just before the buyer signed on the dotted line?

ALL ROMANCE is fading from the earth. The North Pole has been reached. And now regular automobile trips are made across the Desert of Sahara, with hotels and electric lights on the road.

Moore, our Ambassador to Spain, says, "Come to Spain. That's the only place where the grass isn't all trampled down and you can see something real."

The earth grudge drill. You go to the mountains of the Northwest to kill a grizzly bear, and run into a sign reading "57 Varieties."

FLOYD COLLINS, the man lying in a Kentucky cave, held down by a 14,400 pound rock, was still alive yesterday afternoon. Men crawling 300 feet into the cave gave him coffee and other food and encouraged him. A hundred other men are drilling and trying to dig a tunnel in the hillside, to get him out. No doctor thus far has appeared to crawl in, chloroform him, cut off his leg and release him.

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. HOLLY

You never miss the water until the well runs dry and you never miss the wonderful climate of Florida until you have to make a trip north in the winter time and get a little taste of snow and ice and zero weather. The climate of Florida is worth millions to all of us.

It is very gratifying to discover that Sanford is in the public eye as never before. Years ago you heard much about Sanford that was not only displeasing and distasteful but you were constantly on the defensive. But now everyone agrees with you that Sanford is destined to become the greatest commercial center of the entire state.

Some of our older citizens are taking a great interest in the "girl shows" that have been coming here this winter and I note several of our prominent "old parties" on front seats when the curtain rises. It just goes to show that in time celery tonic is better than hair tonic.

I heard a man tell an old darkey in one of the big buildings in Chicago that he was the best working darkey he had ever seen. The old man replied that he certainly was a good worker—he had been in a convict camp in Florida for ten years.

If some of those folks who are always finding fault with the Chamber of Commerce would attend the meetings every Friday and learn something about their problems as well as the good work they are doing on a little bit of money they would change their tune and become active members. I often wonder just what kind of town we would have here were it not for the Chamber of Commerce.

Strangers here all say that when Sanford builds that fine tourist hotel and has tourists together with all the many other advantages we know that Sanford will be the best city in Florida. We have known this for many years—it has been difficult to make other folks see it but they are learning and they are investing their money here now.

I have often said it before and want to repeat it that Sanford has the best class of negroes in the world. They are industrious, many own their homes. They are law abiding as a rule and give the authorities but little trouble. We are proud of our negro population in Sanford.

Glad to see that Seminole County will be represented at the Orlando Fair. We always have a good exhibit there and we show to thousands of people who learn what a wonderful country we have here. It is a kind of publicity that pays and we should endeavor to have exhibits at many fairs next year. Seminole County really has a greater variety of fruits and vegetables than many counties can boast and we always take the prizes in poultry and other live stock. Help Benjamin Whitner, the county agent to get up a good exhibit this year.

I think I have been able to interest several parties in the idea of bottling grapefruit and orange juice in Florida and shipping it north in barrels or bottles there to be served at the soda fountains all the year round. Oranges and grapefruit are bringing but little in the markets—why not take advantage of this fact and bottle the juice thus saving packing and freight charges on crates. It will be a wonderful business some of these days and I will have more to say about a big factory here in Sanford later on. This is no secret and I am passing it on with no thought of opposition since there will be several of these factories in the state in the next twelve months.

Lady up in my neighborhood told a tramp the other day that he looked like he was able to work and he promptly told her that he was not as foolish as he looked. Of course he did not tell the truth until he had eaten his free breakfast.

Our big bond issue for good roads in Seminole county should be voted as a matter of course but we must always remember that this money is the tax payer's money and we should spend it carefully and get the very best materials obtainable. Drainage and other matters should be investigated for these roads will have to last us for many years. The idea of spending the bond money in one, two and three years is also good and we can build them as they are needed without burdening the county with the whole snore at one time. This will give Seminole the finest system of roads in the state and will bring every part of the county in close touch with the whole county.

Speaking of the new hotel I would like to rise and remark if Frank Forester, Forrest Lake and Will Tunncliffe will loan me enough money to build a hotel I will hire myself out as a bell hop and make enough back the first year to pay off the loan—speaking from the angle of bell hops and Pullman porters in other parts of the county.

Sanford will realize a lot of good publicity from having the Milwaukee team train here this spring. We should all get behind the idea of making their stay here pleasant and we will have to do our stuff to bring the folks here from other Florida cities to witness the exhibition games.

We should all boost our Country Club and golf links. It is really one of the most delightful spots in the state of Florida. You can enjoy a morning or afternoon out there and get a good meal at any time and it is a fine place to spend an evening at a dinner party or dance.

Our city and county officials deserve a lot of praise for the manner in which they operate this halliwick. If you don't think we have a fine community and a fine set of officials just try living in some other cities in other states for awhile

SATURDAY EVENING SERMON

BL DR. F. D. KING.

Sunday morning, Feb. 1, 1925.

The text introduces us to "a most vehement and impetuous figure—"And men of violence take it by force." At once we think of the army of the vicious and the wicked, heedless of the plans of justice, driving ruthlessly for some coveted treasure. When the figure is first brought to our attention, we think of the highwayman armed with guns compelling the innocent tourist to give up his possessions. Some on referring to one of the great military feats of history says:

"The Japanese did not saunter into Port Arthur by easy and luxurious paths; they entered the stronghold at the cost of passionate and exhausting persistence, along a stiff and bloody way."

Some enter the church with unscrupulous ideals of the church-actor of the crusade. Just to come to church when convenience commands may satisfy the mind of one who attends occasionally the annual circus, but it does not reveal the spirit of Him who said, "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me." To permit social engagements, or business activities to consume the best of one's thinking, and then to offer to the Kingdom tasks and fabled heroism is not the ideal of Him who said, "And men of violence take it by force."

My comrades, the crusade of the Kingdom of our Lord is constantly in demand of initiative, aggressiveness, alertness, readiness, and boldness. Why should not the Kingdom man and the Kingdom woman be as anxious, enter into the program as the runner in to enter the race? Who ever saw a football player who had to be urged into the game? You have seen those virile, vigorous fellows weep when the wounds called them out of the contest. Many of us who have confessed Christ to be our Saviour, and have entered the church must have our notions reconstructed. If I think that I can excuse myself from further work in the Christian program which I have given a tenth of what God is entrusting to me, I have yet many lessons to learn in the art of a crusader for Christ.

The Invasion of the Forest of When I was in my third year in college, my name was presented to the debating and literary society of which I was a member for an honor coveted by most students of the school. A fellow student who had been considered by his friends for the same honor came to me, placed his hand upon my shoulder, and said, "The field is left to you." Just a few days before the annual election a friend of the very fellow student who had told me that his name would not be considered for the place was not only working for the honor, but that his men were working among my hearty supporters. In that day when college life was a wonderful world, that announcement came as a very serious surprise. But there are conditions now before every student of modern life which are indeed alarming.

The forces of death are assaulting the very citadels of righteousness. With relentless determination the powers of darkness are attempting to invade the very training ground and base of supervision of the army of redemption. Only a few days ago I saw in the social columns of a paper which comes to some of your homes an account of a dance, and two of the characters were one of the ministers of the town and his wife. Think of a man who is supposed to be called of God to preach the tidings of His grace championing a dance! At a dinner given by a commercial club, not in Sanford I

LOCAL EASTERN STAR CHAPTER IS ENTERTAINED BY G. I. A. LADIES

On Thursday at the close of the regular meeting of the local chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, the G. I. A. ladies presented a fine program. Twenty-four uniformed ladies under the able direction of Mrs. Alfred Lilja, gave one of the best programs ever given in the Masonic Hall.

The program was composed of fancy drills interspersed with readings and vocal music, as follows:

Introductory drill, at which Mrs. Murray Jarvis, worthy patron of the local O. E. S. and Mrs. J. M. Fesperman, Grand Guide of the G. I. A. of the United States were introduced and presented with beautiful bouquets as members of the occasion. All members and visitors were invited to come forward and welcome the Grand Officer and with the worthy matron a successful year.

Next on the program was the

G. I. A. song given by the G. I. A. ladies, which was followed by a reading by Miss R. E. Griffin.

A group of splendid duets were rendered by Mrs. R. L. Christensen and Mrs. Robert Glynn accompanied by Mrs. Walthour.

Fancy Drill—G. I. A. ladies, reading by Miss Evelyn Wheeler.

Song by G. I. A. ladies the words of which were composed by Mrs. Lilja.

Corn drill in which every one present joined, the proceeds to start a rug fund for the new Masonic Temple.

At the close of the program delicious refreshments were served by the O. E. S. under the management of Mrs. R. L. Shinholser.

Much credit for this fine entertainment is due Mrs. Lilja and the 24 G. I. A. ladies who so ably assisted her. The music for the drills was furnished by Mrs. Walthour.

these two words, "violence" and "force," you are in possession of a thrilling picture. You behold the forces of the Prince of Peace, imbued with the courage of their Commander, marching "from victory unto victory." And why not, my comrades? Why should we loiter by the way? Ours indeed is a mission of destiny. Why, oh why, men and women, should we linger to play in the puddles when the forces of death are assaulting the very citadels of the Kingdom? When we have complete access to exhaustless stores of perfect equipment, why should we not advance? When multitudes of imprisoned souls are appealing to us for immediate help, why should not our blood leap at the very thought of the privilege?

Thrilling is the picture now. "Men of violence take it by force." The darkness is being subdued by the light of the countenance of the Man of Calvary, and the forces of death are retreating before the men and women of violence. In this day of preeminent privileges remember this fact: The success of our warfare depends upon our taking and holding the offensive. And, soldiers, why should not our church maintain a mighty offensive? He who said "Go" has never cancelled His command. He who said "Go" contributes His presence every moment of the way.

My fellow Workers, He has assigned to you and me a task of great moment here in this city and district, and, if we will advance in the strength of the equipment which He provides, He gives us every assurance of victory. He is still saying, "Go," and He is saying that to you, my friends, and to me. Let us gather up all our resources of body, mind and spirit, and commit ourselves to Him for the conquest.

or read the papers. We should all be proud of our law abiding community.

The water at the tower of the city plant ran over last night causing a shut down of part of the electric system until it could be fixed as water is a good conductor and caused a fire at the tower. Only a small part of the city was out of light for a short time but it reminded me of the fact that we now are getting excellent service from the Southern Utilities Co., and we now have one of the best plants in the state. This was no fault of the electric plant Thursday night but the men of the Southern Utilities Co. were on the job at once and demonstrated that they are ready to give Sanford real service all the time day and night. The shutting off of the lights gives us an time to ponder over the fact we are getting real services and what an awful time we would have here now if our electric plant was not one of the best. Sanford is growing so rapidly that it takes constant improvements and much money to keep up with the demands for light and power and the utility company is meeting every demand.

NOTICE
 To whom it may concern:
 This is to notify all interested in the organization of a new millwork company forming a stock company to build a new millwork shop; that I am not interested in the proposition and do not intend to take any stock in the company or have anything to do with it. I will continue to run the Sanford Novelty Works Shop in my own name and management after February seventh, 1925. The proposition was started without my knowledge or consent and I was not approached in regard to it for several weeks after it was started. I have never consented to go in or have anything to do with it, except to offer to sell out to them, which offer is withdrawn. Very Res. Yours,
 V. C. Collier, Sanford, Fla.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER
 Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.
 Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.
 Jad Salts is inexpensive, and it is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.
 Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.
