What has become of the old fashioned man who had a soft job.

Rumor has it that some time before next summer the White House is going to be painted blue.

As though business were not already bad enough, Otto Kahn is ready for $500,000 damages by an opera singer.

We'll bet the next time those Lake Placid bank robbers start to pull a job, they'll pick out a place that isn't so placid.

It isn't our business to say so, but some of these girls look a whole lot better now that dresses extend to the ankles.

Coca Cola declared a big dividend the other day as if to show how much business would be hurt by the legalization of beer.

The city of Miami, wise in the ways of the world, will spend $34,775 during the coming year for advertising, all newspaper advertising.

Overheard on the street the other day: "It isn't that beer will bring back prosperity, you know, it's only that it would make it so much easier to stand the depression."

"One thing about the celery farmers," the Sanford Herald remarks, "they enjoy an exclusive clientele of multi-millionaires who haven't heard about the depression."

For a while the business of boating was somewhat in general disrepute, largely as a result, very likely, of its being overdone during the boom, but more recently the continuance of knocking and persistent pessimism has made boating again something of a happy relief.

Big brawny Dick Graham, of Hackensack, N. J., not satisfied with entering another man's home to be intimate with his wife, boasted of his "way with women," taunted the husband, who finally resorted to the pistol to make things even.

Within the history of the world the only time on record when it did not pay to advertise, was found only a few days ago when Gustav Wilbat, of New Orleans, put a full page advertisement in a newspaper declaring that he would no longer be responsible for his wife's debts.

Bernard McFadden disgusted with wealth, declares he will give away his entire fortune of some five million dollars in order to have perfect happiness.

A State Bureau Of Investigation

Dragging the waters of Long Island Sound in search for pieces of clothing and other odds and ends as clues in the mystery surrounding the murder of Benjamin Collings, three weeks after the murder had taken place, the New York Herald Tribune brands as one of the rankest pieces of stupidity to be found in modern criminology.

The thousands who have followed the (Collings) case," the Herald Tribune declares, "have seen for themselves how little organization there has been, how many possible clues have been neglected, how many inaccurate and misleading statements—some of them very unjust to individuals concerned—have been put about by authorities or allowed to go uncorrected by them.

But the Herald Tribune, in fairness to the officials of counties such as those in which the Collings and Faithfull murders occurred, goes on to say that investigators in smaller counties are seldom properly equipped or adequately assisted for the expeditious handling of mysteries of a really puzzling nature.

In Seminole County, for instance, the expense and the scarcity of crime, prevent the maintenance of any system or agency for crime investigation comparable to the great detective bureaus of metropolitan centers.

What The Individual Can Do

While not attempting to minimize the seriousness of the present situation, or paint a glowing picture of the immediate economic future of this country, the National City Bank of New York, in its regular monthly Letter on Business and Finance, insists that certain industries supplying personal wants are already showing increased sales volume, and goes on to explain what the individual citizen can do toward hastening a complete business recovery.

"Business in this country is contending against many difficulties, but there is much evidence that it is ready to improve if apprehension as to the effects of the disorder in world finance could be relieved. The influence that will eventually pull business out of the rut is the accumulated wants of the people, not only for the daily necessities of life but for the replacement of the wastage and wear and tear of equipment that is constantly going on.

"It is evident that American business is now between these two stages, and due to pass into the second as rapidly as the way can be cleared. Replacement of equipment and capital goods, and expansion plans of all kinds, are never as pressing as replacement of articles of every-day consumption, and are deferred as long as confidence is lacking.

"What can individuals do in a situation which seems so completely beyond the power of an individual to remedy? We have already suggested the answer in noting the decline in the cost of living. Each can put his own affairs in order to fit current conditions, thus not only getting ready for the upturn, but contributing toward it.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Deliberate placing of explosives on the rails of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad at Cascade Crossing, Ga., caused the wreck September 7 in which one trainman was killed, and three injured, according to engineers assigned by the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the affair.

THE BALANCE IN MANCHURIA

Manchuria has been a world problem at least since 1894. An American gunboat that year spent an uncomfortable winter in the strange port of Newchwang, watching the Sino-Japanese War.

But one cannot complete the question too hastily. China is stronger than she was in 1915 or in 1894 not through military power, but through the emotional power that Chinese nationalism has aroused and is able to make effective through the boycott.

States Pledge To Take Care Of Relief Problem

The trend toward wage cuts, joined by such industrial leaders as the United States Steel corporation, was discussed by Wheeler's group at its Chicago meeting earlier this week but not formally brought up for consideration.

Instead, the committee recommended that all work now available be equitably distributed among those normally employed by each unit of the various industries.

Immediate unemployment problems will form a chief section of a general national economic betterment plan that the chamber of commerce directors will receive from the committees of industrial and business leaders.

Establishment of a central board of economic planning to keep an even employment level through prosperity and adversity was understood to be an important recommendation of a committee headed by Henry I. Harman, chairman of the board of the New England Power association.

This committee also was known to favor creation of industrial reserves for unemployment similar to those accumulated for dividend purposes.

We've loaded our store with the grocery counter, and our coffee is not to argue with anyone. So, as long as our customers want good food at low prices, that's what we're going to give them, and without any words about it.

will include balancing of production and consumption and federal anti-trust laws. Government-owned large lines and Russian imports will be given attention.

President Hoover's announcement of Missouri's relief fund was made upon receipt of a letter from Governor Caulfield. It said the entire state was joining "in a vigorous effort to enable Missouri and Missouri communities to take care of their own citizens this winter."

Hoover said Rhode Island, Indiana, Michigan, Connecticut, Illinois, New York, California, West Virginia, and Delaware have taken a similar position.

Reports at Gifford's headquarters today indicated employment distribution is a leading factor in the efforts of trade associations to assist in relief work. The American Engineering Council, the National Association of Dryers and Cleaners, the National Retail Dry Goods Association and the Associated General Contractors of America were among organizations advocating this plan to their members.

In addition to the states named by the president, Pennsylvania is preparing, through a special session of the legislature, to deal with its relief problem. Governor Pritchard of that state some time ago announced he would call the body into session before the end of the year. Federal relief agencies have received an official notification of Pritchard's announcement and for that reason, the White House said, Pennsylvania was not included in Hoover's list of those states which will undertake their own program.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA. GAINESVILLE, Oct. 2.—Hopeful but far from optimistic, Coach Bachman led 33 Gator gridiron warriors to Raleigh N. C., today for the game with North Carolina State Saturday. The University of Florida eleven completed the training for the fray on Florida field yesterday with a signal drill and a long lecture.

Bachman's hopes are based on the splendid spirit and potential strength of the team, but he admits he has nothing about which to be optimistic. The squad is made up mostly of inexperienced men who have never been under fire in a big league game, and whether the youngsters can hold up under the strain is a mystery to the former Notre Dame star.

If the 1931 Gators can overcome the handicap of inexperience, they will be a dangerous team for at least will be based around Al Rogers, the sure throwing halfback and Florida's two powerful wing men, Joe Hall and "Pop" Parnell. Bachman has drilled the team day in and day out in the aerial department and some degree of efficiency has been reached, and if the Florida offensive works the pass plays properly, touchdowns are almost certain to be the result.

Bachman had the Gators walk through a few signals today in the new blue uniforms before leaving by train for Raleigh late in the afternoon. The Floridians should arrive in the Tannehill state early Saturday morning.

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2.—The Tennessee Volunteers went through their last hard workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for the Clemson game here Saturday. Charlie Kohbase and Harvey, two of Neyland's most dependable backs, were unable to join the squad after suffering injuries in Wednesday's short scrimmage. This leaves McEver and Allen, halves; Winn, Fullback, and Brackett, quarter, as the probable opening backfield for the Vols' first conference struggle.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 2.—Thirty V. M. I. players who will make the trip to Durham today were given a long workout by Coach Bill Rafferty yesterday. Their work centers, largely around defense methods expected to be necessary in checking a passing attack anticipated from the Duke Blue Devils Saturday.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 2.—Signal drills and conditioning routine marked the final practice at Virginia Tech yesterday before the squad of 28 left for Athens to battle Georgia Saturday. Early Duke veteran guard, Art McIntire, regular end were left here. Duke had a bad charity hour, and McIntire, a broken shoulder. How and a fall back were uncertain whether he would play.

While a scattered few teams were prepared for games today, the largest football squads of Dixie were en route to the scenes of their Saturday encounters.

The Chattanooga Layola of the south contest at New Orleans and High School's triumph with Duquesne in Pittsburgh, headline today's handful of small engagements. Both these games are at night.

Others include Presbyterian and Emory Rhyne, Murray (Ky.) and Delta State, Louisiana Normal and Eldorado, Georgetown and Union (Ky.), and Louisiana Tech and Copia Lincoln. Howard plays a doubleheader tonight at Birmingham against Bowdon and Georgia State college for men. Following practice yesterday North Carolina's outfit entrained for Nashville and its first big contest with Vanderbilt Saturday. Florida began its trip to Raleigh to meet N. C. State and V. P. I. was enroute to Athens to play Georgia. South Carolina was to leave Columbia today for Atlanta and the game with Georgia Tech. Top flight games for Saturday include Alabama and Mississippi, Virginia and Maryland, Tulane and Texas A & M, Duke and V. M. I. Centre plays Western Kentucky and Mercer meets Stetson in the outstanding Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association contest.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 2.—

The University of North Carolina Tannehill entrained last night for Nashville, where they will meet Vanderbilt's Commodores Saturday. Asked "how about the chances?" Coach Chuck Collins replied: "We know they've got a great club, don't know what we've got yet. Won't be any chances unless we get down and play real ball."

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 2.—Encouraged by their victory over Duke, Coach Billy Laval left today with a squad of 31 players for the South Carolina-Georgia Tech game in Atlanta Saturday. "We know Tech has a strong team and it will be playing in Atlanta," Laval said. "We feel that we have a chance to win, but that's all."

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Oct. 2.—Coach Jess Neely on the eve of the departure of the Clemson Tigers for Knoxville to meet Tennessee, reiterated his statement that the Tannehill were at least routine on holding the score below that of last year. The Vols last year drubbed the Tigers 27-0. Howler guard, and Armstrong, star back, will be left here because of injuries.

Wild Bill Pitches Thriller Backed By Spectacular Plays

Bottomley made a grand stand catch of a difficult foul catch near the Mack dug-out.

Pepper Martin was the batting hero again, getting two hits in three tries, and scoring both runs. Both clubs fielded sensational, with Dib Williams sharing infield honors with Frank Frisch.

First Inning

Philadelphia: The stands were again packed as the two teams began limbering up for the second game of the 1931 World Series. The skies were cloudy, but a sun was breaking through at intervals. After the Star Spangled Banner drew cheers, the game officially got under way as Max Bishop came to bat, accompanied by the cheers of the crowd. Max got three and two on him before hitting a slow roller to Frisch at second, who threw Bishop out at first by a foot. Mule Haas struck out on three straight balls. Colfrane had two strikes called before he drew a ball which the crowd roared at. The crowd went wild, however, when Haas had bled one by Mikes for the second strike out in a row. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Jackie Flowers, playing his third in place of Andy High, faced George Earnshaw, took a called strike and then went out, Bishop to Fuxa, a slow roller. George Watkins, playing in right field today, hit a Texas leaguer into center field which Bishop had trouble in getting with the result that Watkins, taking things in his own hand, stretched the single into a double. Frisch came to bat and hit the first fall right into the hands of Mule Haas in center. Haas threw to third quickly, holding Watkins at second. Jim Bottomley hit the second ball pitched to center field, where Mule Haas made another put-out, retiring the side. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning
Philadelphia: Al Simmons flew out to left field. Haefy making the put-out of the line drive. Jimmy Frix let three balls go before getting a called strike. Frisch hit sharply to Frisch, who threw him out at first. Big Miller struck out on a high ball, outside. Wild Bill was going nicely, throwing only a few balls in this as well as the first inning. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Chick Hafey who had only gotten two hits in 10 tries against Earnshaw last year, hit right into Earnshaw's hands being thrown out at first without trouble. Martin, who out three hits in four tries yesterday, came to the plate with cheers ringing in his ears. He singled to left field where Al Simmons slipped down in trying to field it, Martin going to second in the confusion. The hit was called a double. Martin stole third base on a ball to Wilson. The Mack infield came in close after two strikes and two balls had been thrown to Wilson. The crowd was in an uproar. Wilson flied out to center field, Haas taking the ball. Pepper Martin scored on the play. Charles Gillbert hit the first fall for a Texas leaguer to right field. Bill Haas has stepped to the plate and the leader to appear heard that he, the fans were talking on Haas's hand to drive Earnshaw from the mound. Haas could only strike out, to end the inning. This run, two hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Philadelphia: Up came the weak Mack batter. Dykes flied out to Flowers on the second pitch. Dib Williams got a called strike, missed one, and then struck out on a ball so close to him that he got a rousing razzing from the fans. Earnshaw hit the first catch to Frisch, who tossed him out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Flowers flied out to Mule Haas in deep center. It was Haas' fourth put-out. Watkins got a Texas leaguer to center field, but was held to a single this time. Frisch hit the first fall pitched for a pop fly into the hands of Dib Williams. Bottomley was trying to hit the ball out of the park apparently because he spun about twice, missing strikes. Bottomley hit through the box, but Bishop got the ball and threw him out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Philadelphia: Bishop struck at two before fouting out to Flowers. Back of third base Haas whiffed at two. Hallahan was certainly bearing down, to the delight of the crowd. He was not wasting a single pitch, throwing a teasing wide breaking curve which had the Macks beating their backs. Hastily flied out to Hafey in short left. It was the second ball hit beyond the outfield thus far. Mickey Cochrane was the first Mack to reach first base. He drew a walk that ended the long string of men 10 of them who had gone up and down in order. Simmons forced Cochrane at second when he hit to Gilbert who tossed to Frisch at second. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Hafey struck out on three pitches. Up came Pepper Martin to appear checked by the crowd. He hit Frisch at third who tossed him, at first Jimmy Wilson, who again had a ball so far, smacked out to Dib Williams back of second, and was thrown out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Philadelphia: Jimmy Fuxa lead Hallahan out of a walk to start the inning. Miller singled to right field, the first hit for the Macks. Fuxa went to second. Jimmy Dykes bunted along the first base line to be tagged out by Bottomley. But before runners advanced on the sacrifice, Dib Williams, the youngest, got his greatest change in the series as he came to the plate with men on second and third, one out, and the Macks on top behind Hallahan tried to get Miller off second but failed. Williams was pitched four high, with balls, filling the bases. Earnshaw, Big George was therefore "in the clutch" as they say where the series converge. Earnshaw hit into a double play, Frisch to Gilbert to Bottomley, retiring the side. No runs, one hit, no errors.

St. Louis: That great double play was still exciting the crowd as Gehlbort came to bat. Bottomley struck out. Hallahan struck out. Flowers fouled out to Fuxa, first to retire the side. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Philadelphia: Bishop got two and two before striking out, the fifth strike out for Haas. Haas singled to right field on the first pitch. Cochrane hit a long fly to right field caught by George Watkins. Haas was held at first. Al Simmons forced Haas out at second. Flowers to Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

St. Louis: Watkins came to the plate. The crowd cheered him wildly for his great catch. The ball was in the air for some time before he was able to catch it. He threw to Frisch who hit him out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Philadelphia: Fuxa made a double play on a ball hit by Miller. Miller hit to Frisch who hit to Frisch at second. Frisch hit to Bottomley who hit to Frisch at first. Frisch was held by Frisch at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Philadelphia: Big Bishop flied out to left field. Haas flied out to center field. Cochrane got a walk and Al Simmons flied out to left field. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Watkins struck out on three pitches. Frisch hit to Mule Haas who flied out to left field. Frisch was held by Frisch at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Philadelphia: Fuxa was the last batter. He struck out on three pitches. Frisch hit to Mule Haas who flied out to left field. Frisch was held by Frisch at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Philadelphia: Fuxa was the last batter. He struck out on three pitches. Frisch hit to Mule Haas who flied out to left field. Frisch was held by Frisch at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Box Score
Philadelphia: 1-10
St. Louis: 3-10
