U.S. Women's Teams Triumph

By Fred McMane
UPI Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — They have held together almost as long as the Olympic rings and epitomized the sacrifices and frustrations of the American athlete over the last six years.

With gold and silver medals dangling from their necks today, members of the U.S. women's basketball and volleyball teams can proudly say it was all worth it.

The U.S. women's basketball team won the gold medal Tuesday night, defeating Korea, 85-55, and fulfilled a goal it had set after finishing second to the Soviet Union in the 1976 Olympics. It was the first gold medal ever for U.S. women in Olympic basketball competition.

The volleyball team's dream didn't quite come true as it lost the gold medal game to China in three sets. Yet, members of the team could hold their heads high because they had lifted the sport to previously unreach heights in this country. It was the first medal ever for U.S. women in Olympic volleyball competition.

Coached by Ari Selinger, a survivor of Nazi concentration camps, the volleyball team includes seven players who have been with the team for five years or more. Many quit jobs and postponed their education to dedicate themselves to making U.S. women's volleyball respected. They suffered through the 1980 Olympic boycott and

Deals Denied; Sturm Drops Out

Rose Firing Less Likely

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

T. Duncan Rose III's firing became less likely today with Seminole County Commissioner Barbara Christensen saying she has no intention of voting to remove him from the county administrator's post. Last week she said she was ready to vote to fire him.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Bob Sturm told his colleagues Tuesday he no longer has the ambition of becoming county administrator.

And Commissioners Sandra Glenn and Barbara Christensen denied published reports they made a "deal" where Mrs. Glenn would support Mrs. Christensen's re-election bid and Mrs. Christensen would vote to fire Rose.

Mrs. Christensen also denied a published report that former Assistant County Administrator Jeff Etchberger, executive director of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, is demanding a $63,000 annual salary to accept

'...It is my wish that my name be removed from any further consideration... for the position of county administrator.'

—Bob Sturm

the county administrator's job. Etchberger could not be reached for comment today.

Rose, contacted at his county office today said, "Nothing has really changed. I'm continuing to look at whatever opportunities are out there. Until all this resolves itself, I'm here and it's business as usual."

Mrs. Christensen said, "I have not talked to the man about becoming county administrator. I was told that Jeff's salary in Orlando is $63,000 and I said if he wants that salary working for the county it would be a stumbling block to getting the job," she said.

As far as Mrs. Glenn's support for her re-election effort, Mrs. Christensen said, "Sandra is and has been supporting me for re-election. We are both Republicans. Our philosophy is the same. We made no deals on anything."

Mrs. Glenn said today, "Barbara and I have personally discussed her campaign for re-election many times. Yes, I am supporting her."

"We have also discussed problems with Rose, but we have made no deals," she said.

Mrs. Glenn said she has seen Etchberger several times at social functions over the past year. "I asked him if the county administrator position became available would he be interested in coming back to Seminole County."

"He showed an interest, but never committed to apply for the job," Mrs. Glenn said. Of the $63,000 annual salary mentioned in published reports, Mrs. Glenn said, "I believe that is what he is earning at his present job including fringe benefits."

Sturm, reading from a written statement at Tuesday's county commission meeting, said: "After careful deliberation and due consideration of all people involved, it is my wish that my name be removed from any further consideration of the Board of County Commissioners, or any other party, for the position of county administrator."

Health Facility For Sale

The Seminole County Mental Health facility, built 11 years ago by the county to house the violent mentally ill, is up for sale and County Administrator T. Duncan Rose III is recommending it be sold to Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

The price tag is $525,000. Royce C. Thompson, hospital administrator, has indicated the price is right.

The Seminole County Commission has authorized Rose to have a draft contract prepared for the purchase and sale and bring it back to the commissioners for final approval. Rose said he expects the sale to be completed by the end of this month.

The facility, off state Road 436 near Palm Springs Drive, was built adjacent to the hospital in 1972 and dedicated in March, 1973. The cost of construction was financed by a bond issue.

Some $340,000 is owed on that 1972 bond issue, he said.

Rose said the facility, with provision for maximum restraint of patients, is no longer needed. At the time it was built it was the sole responsibility of the county to house mental patients. Now, with the Baker Act, a state law specifying how such cases should be handled, a county-owned facility is not called for.

A crisis stabilization unit at the old nursing home near the county services building is handling the few cases left to the county, Rose said, and much less expensively.

Sexual Advance Said To Have Led To Shooting

Angry that her husband and two men had asked a niece for sex, Sammie Earl Husted told the niece she was going to shoot her husband, according to testimony in the first-degree murder trial of the Altamonte Springs woman.

Later the same day, Nov. 9, Joseph Husted, 29, was killed by a single shotgun blast to the left eye while he and Mrs. Husted were alone in their home.

She contends the shooting was accidental. The state claims she committed premeditated murder.

Mrs. Husted, a 24-year-old mother of three, listened to testimony Tuesday from her husband's niece and Seminole County sheriff's investigators who said they went to the couple's 1131 Pine St. home after Mrs. Husted, who was six months pregnant at the time, ran to a neighbor's house and said she had shot her husband.

According to testimony, Mrs. Husted was upset that her husband and two other men offered to pay a niece to have sex with them.

The niece, Tina Hammock, testified that she called Mrs. Husted, told her what happened, and that Mrs. Husted said she was going to shoot her husband. Ms. Hammock also testified that during the phone conversation, Mrs. Husted calmed down and said she was going to ask her husband to leave home for a few days.

Mrs. Husted's attorney, Mark Horwitz, said his client did not intend to shoot her husband and only armed herself with the 16-gauge shotgun for protection. He said Husted was a wife beater and Mrs. Husted feared Husted would abuse her and her unborn child.

Horwitz said Mrs. Husted had the gun with her in the kitchen of her home where Husted was sitting at a table. He said while his client's head was turned, Husted started to get up, hit the single-shot gun, causing it to go off.

Sheriff's sergeant Chad Barton testified that Husted could have been getting up when the gun went off.

Horwitz and Barton demonstrated before the 12-member circuit court jury how the gun could have been fired by pulling the gun while someone was holding onto the trigger.

Barton testified that there was gunpowder residue on Husted but none on his wife. According to testimony, Husted was shot at very close range.

Mrs. Husted, who was treated for shock after the incident, is expected to testify during the trial. —Deane Jordan

Freeze Ate Up Cash Flow

Growers' Association Calls It Quits

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The December freeze that came through Central Florida did more than shrivel the area's citrus groves — it nipped a major growers' lobbying organization in the bud.

The Orlando-based United Growers and Shippers Association Inc. has folded, largely because the December freeze, the third in four years, wiped out member growers' cash flow.

"If you don't have any fruit to sell, you don't have any money to pay dues," General Manager Wilson McGee said Tuesday.

The organization represented the interests of area growers and shippers before the Citrus Commission. At its peak it had 500 members, McGee said.

This is the second time in United's 47-year history that it has gone "inactive," McGee, 71, said.

In addition to financial reasons, McGee said United closed its doors because of urbanization, which has taken out many groves in Orange and Seminole counties, and a shift in the citrus industry to South Florida because of the multiple freezes.

But the organization is closing on a good note, McGee said. He said there is evidence that the Florida legislature and the citrus industry may pursue changes that United fought for. He said a House committee has been formed "to look over the shoulder" of the Citrus Commission. And the commission has a new chairman, Ben Hill Griffin III, whom McGee believes may be an aggressive policy-maker.

"Hopefully, with some forceful leadership from the Citrus Commission, things will get straightened out and stay straightened out," McGee said. "What needs to be 'straightened out,' according to McGee and the association, is what he called "the Brazilian situation."

McGee says Brazil is dictating the price of citrus on the world market by selling "a lower quality product" at a lower price. He also said Brazil sends this "junk" fruit to the U.S. and people think it comes from Florida. This leads to another problem United has been pressing the Citrus Commission on —

Investigators Seek Clues In Child's Death

TITUSVILLE (UPI) — Investigators searched today for clues into the death of a 5-year-old Brevard County girl, whose nude body was discovered in a marshy area near an automobile junkyard.

The body of Amanda Griffin, the subject of an intense three-day search, was found Tuesday.

The decomposed body was identified through fingerprints. Authorities had not determined the cause of death. An autopsy was to be completed today at the Holmes Regional Medical Center in Melbourne.

"This certainly has been a frustrating case," said Sgt. Robert Blakely of the Titusville Police Department.

The body was found in a ditch in front of the Sunshine Auto Salvage Co. about 40 feet off State Road 50. A junkyard employee discovered the body while mowing grass.

The junkyard is just west of Titusville and 5 miles from Amanda's home.

Amanda was last seen playing with a frog in the Forest Park South Apartments where she lived with her parents and 2-month-old brother.

The brown-haired, pigtailed youngster was wearing a Mickey Mouse shirt with light-blue shorts when last seen. No clothes were found near her body Tuesday.

Edye Griffin, Amanda's mother, was watching over the child when Amanda left their apartment Saturday to play.

"She was playing outside," Mrs. Griffin said. "She never wandered off. We can always call her and she comes right away."

"When it started getting dark and she hadn't come home, I went looking for her. Nobody had seen her. I thought maybe she had gone fishing with her dad."

But Randy Griffin, Amanda's father, returned home alone an hour later.

More than 100 searchers, including the National Guard and Boy Scouts, scoured the area where the child lived over the weekend but found no trace of the child. Deputies also dragged two small ponds near Amanda's home and checked ditches and dumpsters searching for the girl.

NATION IN BRIEF

Ferraro: Call For Financial Probe Is 'Politics As Usual'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Geraldine Ferraro says a conservative foundation wants to "politically embarrass me" by seeking Justice Department and House probes into whether she illegally withheld data on congressional financial disclosure forms.

Ms. Ferraro told reporters she expects to release a detailed account of her financial picture within two weeks. The Federal Election Commission requires such a report within 30 days after being nominated.

The issue focuses on her decision to omit the financial holdings of her husband, real estate developer John Zaccaro, from the annual disclosure statements she has filed since 1979 as a member of Congress.

Under House rules, spouses may be exempted when a member "neither derives nor expects to derive, any financial or economic benefit" from those holdings.

Even though Ms. Ferraro listed herself as secretary-treasurer and a shareholder of P. Zaccaro Co. Inc., her husband's real estate management firm, she said, "I don't believe I have violated the law."

Senate Rushing To Pass Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With almost a month's recess a few days off, the Senate is trying to resolve sharp differences on a $6.8 billion bill that combines money for several domestic programs with extra military aid for El Salvador.

Debate on the supplemental appropriation bill began Tuesday with a warning that the food stamp program will run out of money in about two weeks if the bill is not passed.

The measure is needed by several federal agencies to finish the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, and Congress is under great pressure to complete action on it before recessing this weekend until after Labor Day.

Congress has approved $128 million in military aid for El Salvador for this fiscal year, but the administration said more funds were needed to keep the Salvadoran armed forces supplied until the end of the fiscal year and asked for the additional $117 million.

Coal Lease Sparks Resignation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department's inspector general is resigning following allegations that he failed to properly investigate a controversy involving the largest coal lease sale in U.S. history.

Richard Mulberry, inspector general under former Interior Secretary James Watt, remained in the job when William Clark took over the department last year. His resignation is effective Sept. 30, the department said Tuesday.

Mulberry, interior's chief investigative officer, was himself the target of a General Accounting Office investigation in June that accused him of failing to look into allegations that interior officials leaked confidential information to a coal company prior to the 1982 Powder River Basin coal lease sale.

DeBary Chamber Planning Annual Fair For Oct. 20

The DeBary Area Chamber of Commerce is formulating its plans for the fifth annual DeBary Fair on Saturday, Oct. 20. All businesses and volunteer organizations are asked to participate as exhibitors.

The chamber can accommodate 75 exhibitors for a rental fee of $25. Exhibitors will be responsible for their own tables, shelter, booths and displays. Food exhibitors and those needing electric utilities are requested to make early reservations.

Those who do not wish to be an exhibitor might consider sponsoring a non-profit organization, such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts or Jaycees.

Volunteers are needed to help the Fair Committee for a few hours on the day of the festival.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsors the fair to display the services available from the many civic organizations and to promote the products and services offered by the business establishments in the DeBary area.

For reservations or further information, contact the chamber office at 688-4614.

Sexual Assault Charges Dropped

An Oviedo man accused of sexually assaulting two girls in separate cases will not be prosecuted for either because of a lack of sufficient evidence.

Charles Edward Blackshire, 24, of Rt. 1, Box 248, Vanarsdale, arrested May 16, will not be prosecuted for the alleged rape of a 15-year-old and sexual battery of an 11-year-old because lack of physical evidence to corroborate the girls' testimony and discrepancies in the testimony, according to the prosecutors assigned to the cases, George Wallace and Steven Plotnick.

The prosecutors said the belated reporting of the incidents by the girls — one incident three months old and the other four — prevented the collection of medical evidence to substantiate the girls' testimony.

On May 11, a 15-year-old girl from Oviedo told Seminole County sheriff's investigators that she had been raped on Feb. 15. The assailant, she said, took her to a boat house at the Black Hammock Fish Camp in Oviedo where he forced her to have sexual intercourse, a sheriff's report said.

The 11-year-old girl, from Chuluota, said she had been taken to the same location by the same man on March 18 and forced to submit to sex acts.

Both victims picked a suspect out of a photo lineup at the sheriff's department.

STRONG-ARM ROBBERY
A Sanford man who took a shortcut home was robbed of $175.

James Russell Lindstrom, 35, of 817 1/2 W. 1st St., told police he left a friend's house at 22nd Street and Pinehurst Park about 2:30 a.m. Saturday and as he was riding home on his bicycle a woman called to him near 13th Street and Olive Avenue.

As he pedaled to the woman to find out what she wanted, a man on a bike came up behind him and took a bag from Lindstrom that contained his wallet. He said he reached for the bag and the man hit him, knocking off his glasses. The man took the money, then returned the wallet, Lindstrom said.

BURGLARY ARREST

An Orlando man that Altamonte Springs police reportedly saw enter a closed business at the Village Shoppes on Westmonte Drive has been charged with burglary and possession of burglary tools.

Police reported seeing the suspect prowling around that shopping center and entering Hill Richards Co. at about 2:50 a.m. Sunday. A key box outside the business had been pried open and the man entered the business, using a key, but came back out, within about 30 seconds, lawmen report. The officers confronted the suspect outside the business and found a screwdriver in his pants pocket, a police report said.

Charles Fredrick Huff, 34, was arrested at 2:58 a.m. Sunday. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

RIFLE ASSAULT

An 18-year-old Oviedo man was charged with aggravated assault and possession of marijuana after an Oviedo woman reported to police he had threatened her with a rifle during an argument and a small amount of pot was found in his possession when he was searched by police.

The man was also charged with forgery after Oviedo police discovered the suspect was wanted in Seminole County for forgery.

Police report that Clara M. Finney, 32, of 645 Tyson St., complained that the suspect had threatened her with a rifle, which she confiscated and turned over to police. The suspect was arrested at Ms. Finney's home at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Ulysses Francis Jr., E.

Broadway, was being held without bond.

ROBBED UNDER CAR

Henry Birdsong, 62, of 2410 Southwest Road, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that at 11:40 a.m. Monday, as he worked under a car at his home, two men robbed him.

One held his legs while the other lifted his wallet containing $87 from his pants pocket. Deputies report that the suspects, who had approached Birdsong earlier Monday and asked if he wanted to buy some boat parts, fled north on foot after the robbery.

CORRECTION

The address where a Sanford woman was abducted Aug. 6 was incorrectly recorded on a Sanford police report and as a result was incorrectly reported in Monday's Herald.

The woman was abducted at 1:15 a.m. by two men from the Park-N Wash Coin Laundry, 2530 S. Park Drive, not from the E-Z Coin Laundry at 2587 S. Park Drive.

1 Doctor Reprimanded, Second Gives Up License

A Sanford doctor has been given a reprimand for prescribing marijuana without a valid medical reason, and an Oviedo doctor has escaped punishment by relinquishing his temporary license to practice medicine in Florida.

Dr. Thomas J. Brodrick, of 801 E. 1st St., Sanford, appeared before the state Board of Medical Examiners Saturday in Tampa during an informal hearing on the charge that he issued a prescription for marijuana to a former patient for pain caused by osteomyelitis, a condition that causes inflammation of leg tissue originating in the bone marrow.

Brodrick did not dispute writing the prescription on June 22, 1982, for James Houston, a Sanford area resident who moved to Oklahoma. Brodrick said he wrote the prescription after Houston had been arrested for growing marijuana and did not have any for his condition.

Brodrick said his intent was good but that his judgment was bad in issuing the prescription and called the situation "embarrassing."

The board recommended a reprimand to be placed in his state file and that he pay the cost of investigating the charge against him and the administrative costs of the board incurred while deciding his case, according to Diane Hull, spokeswoman for the Department of Professional Regulation. She said the administrative cost of Brodrick's case has not been determined.

In the second case, charges against Dr. David Corey, 78, of Oviedo, who also appeared before the board Saturday, were dropped after he turned in his temporary license to practice medicine.

As part of the agreement, Corey agreed to stop practicing medicine in Florida.

He had been charged with practicing medicine and surgery with an expired temporary license, writing excessive prescriptions for drugs, writing prescriptions for drugs in dangerous combination and improper record keeping.

Ms. Hull said that Corey was issued a temporary permit in 1978 to practice medicine in Oviedo which had been designated an area short of medical services. It is a licensing procedure sometimes used with out-of-state doctors who want to start a practice in Florida, she said.

Symms Tells Taxpayers: 'Grab Your Wallet And Run For Cover'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With President Reagan and Walter Mondale swapping jabs on the issue of raising taxes next year, Congress began studying tax reform proposals that could drastically change the average American's tax bill.

The Senate Finance Committee Tuesday held the first of a series of hearings on proposals to streamline federal taxes, including modifications of the "flat tax" idea under which individual tax rates would be equalized and lowered and deductions severely limited.

Americans are "irritated, fed-up, dissatisfied and just plain mad at our tax system," said Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., author of one tax simplification proposal.

Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, warned taxpayers to be wary of proposed overhauls of the tax system.

"We have to be careful so this doesn't end up being a tax increase for middle America," Symms said. "My advice to my constituents is: When Congress talks of tax reform, grab your wallet and run for cover."

Underlying the discussion is the problem of whether to raise taxes to cope with the monstrous federal deficit, forecast at around $180 billion next year and in future years.

In Santa Barbara, Calif. where Reagan is vacationing, White House spokesman Larry

Speakes refused Tuesday to say whether the president's vow to not "allow any plans for a tax increase" slammed the door on any kind of revenue raising.

Reagan has said he will not raise personal income taxes but has not said the same about other kinds of taxes.

Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., who met with Mondale this week to talk about tax plans, suggested Reagan may be thinking about a national sales tax.

"Until I hear him (Reagan) say 'I will not raise taxes by a national sales tax or a value added tax,' I assume that's the plan," said Bradley. A value added tax would levy assessments on products as they are made and eventually would fall on consumers.

Mondale, who has said the deficit is so huge that taxes will have to go up next year regardless of who is in the White House, hit hard Tuesday on an apparent contradiction between Reagan's statement that seemed to rule out any increase in taxes and a subsequent statement by Vice President George Bush that the president, like any chief executive, "would keep options open."

Mondale used the apparently conflicting statements by Reagan and Bush to hark back to 1980 when Bush accused Reagan of practicing "voodoo economics" by proposing a balanced budget by cutting taxes while increasing military spending. Bush, after joining the Reagan ticket, recanted.

"Mr. Reagan says that he won't cut the defense budget. Yesterday he said he won't raise taxes. He says he won't cut the safety net and he says we'll have a balanced budget in this next term. How's he going to do that?" Mondale demanded.

"What it is again is voodoo economics," Mondale said, answering his own question.

Bradley and Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., are sponsoring a simplified tax system — dubbed the "Fair Tax" — that puts all Americans into three tax brackets, with four out of every five taxpayers in a 14 percent bracket and a top bracket of 30 percent.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: The dog days of August pushed the mercury past 100 in the Plains and a string of storms from the Midwest to the Atlantic triggered fires, injured a hot air balloonist and ended a five-day smog siege in Boston. Thunderstorms poured rain along a path from Texas to Wisconsin today. Flash flood watches covered western Texas and southern New Mexico. Downpours in Massachusetts ended five days of smog in the Boston area late Tuesday and dropped sticky temperatures slightly. Lightning sparked a fire at a suburban Boston hardware store and warehouse. Another bolt knocked out a suburban radio station seconds after Boston City Councilor Albert L. O'Neil promised on the air to investigate a constituent complaint, vowing, "May lightning strike me dead if I don't." The mercury soared to 103 in downtown Kansas City, Mo., and 102 at Altus, Okla. It was a record 92 at Flint, Mich. Readings of 97 at Moline, Ill., 90 at Bridgeport, Conn., and 88 at Muskegon, Mich., all tied records.

EPA Begins Nationwide Dioxin Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency says it has begun its two-year, $7.4 million nationwide study to investigate sites that might be contaminated with the cancer-causing chemical dioxin.

The study, already announced in December as part of the EPA's "national strategy" to study the effect of dioxin, will investigate at least 1,000 areas around the country where the chemical either was produced, was used in making another product or was near production facilities.

The agency said the study "is well under way" at those sites. The EPA said it believes 80-90 percent of the dioxin in the environment is located at those sites.

As part of the study, the agency said it will sample fish from more than 400 waterways and collect soil samples from 500 urban and rural locations. If contamination is found at more than one part per billion in residential areas, the site will be referred to the EPA's Superfund program, which is charged with cleaning up toxic waste sites.

The EPA said it has confirmed contamination at a number of locations, and the companies involved are undertaking a cleanup or are in negotiations with the EPA for a cleanup.

Alvin Alm, EPA deputy administrator, said the study was started in December to "provide a much clearer picture of the dimensions of the problem and help us plan appropriate protection measures."

Alm also said citizens should not assume there is contamination if investigations are conducted near their homes.

"Our investigators will be collecting samples with no advance expectation of finding contamination," he said, adding that if contamination is found, "it should generally be at very low levels."

FAA May Hire More Air Traffic Controllers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Concerned about widespread flight delays and air traffic controllers complaining of working conditions, the government will take a series of initiatives aimed at improving the strained system.

Donald Engen, chief of the Federal Aviation Administration, said he would hire additional controllers if a government study determines they are needed.

"I am personally reviewing our current projected air traffic control full staffing number, and I will not hesitate to raise that number if I feel that is necessary in order to accommodate increased air traffic levels," Engen said.

There are 13,300 controllers throughout the nation whose job is to direct air traffic. That number is scheduled to be increased to 14,400 by the end of the year, and Engen said there might be additional hiring.

Some controllers have complained of poor working conditions and forced overtime to cope with increased commercial air traffic. Many of the workers are relatively unseasoned, replacing thousands of striking controllers fired by the administration three years ago.

The system is strained especially in the East and Midwest with widespread delays for planes that are taking off and landing. The problem is aggravated by airlines that schedule more flights than airports can handle.

Engen said he is trying to improve the situation with more controllers and increased centralization of the air traffic control system. But, he said, there can be no immediate improvement for such congested areas as New York City's Kennedy and LaGuardia airports.

"I don't see quick improvement in the Northeast sector," he said.

Despite problems, the nation's air traffic system is "indeed safe. It truly is," Engen said.

In a related development, the Justice Department said Monday market-based approaches should be used to allocate take-off and landing rights slots at four airports — Kennedy and LaGuardia in New York, O'Hare in Chicago and National in Washington, D.C.

The Transportation Department and the FAA have proposed that if an airline scheduling committee fails to allocate slots, all previously allocated slots should be assigned to their current users and newly available ones given out by lottery.

Stained Glass Window Taken

A thief took a $500 stained glass window from a home being built at 233 Flame Ave., Altamonte Springs.

Builder Del E. Belflowers, 56, of 520 Cranes Way, Altamonte Springs, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have removed the glass, which had been installed last week.

The 1977 Plymouth station wagon of Maria Groom, 28, of 230 4th St., Lake Mary, was stolen while it was parked at Merit Fastners, 1998 N. county Road 427, Longwood, between Aug. 2 and Monday. Deputies report the car is valued at $1,000.

A burglar who ransacked the bedroom of Dorothy Marie Brooks, 28, of 304 Forest Park Circle, Longwood, stole $300. The break-in occurred between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday, according to a sheriff's report.

Copper tubing worth $360 has been reported missing from two construction sites.

Carlos Alberto Puccini, 48, of Miami, reported to deputies that a thief stole four rolls of the tubing worth $240 from a home he is building at 481 Wekiva Cove Road, Longwood. Deputies say that the theft between Saturday and Monday is the third time in a week that tubing has been stolen from that house.

In the second theft, Robert Brian Reichl, 28, of 509 Bluff Oak Court, Apopka, told deputies that two rolls of copper tubing, a total of 200 feet worth $120, were taken along with three brass valves worth $30 each from a home he is building at 281 Liverpool Drive, Longwood. That theft occurred between Friday and Sunday, deputies report.

A video disc player and a 25-inch television, with a combined value of $800, were among items taken by a thief who entered the home of Keith Watters, 31, of Orange Boulevard at Interstate 4, Sanford, Sunday or Monday. Deputies report that the stolen video equipment was rented.

Our Sinking Merchant Fleet

A recent study by the National Academy of Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering points the way to rescue the sinking U.S. merchant fleet. The study, published by the Marine Board of the National Research Council, proposes innovations in technology, management, regulatory policy and labor relations to increase the efficiency and lower the costs of the shipping fleet. But powerful maritime labor unions threaten to torpedo the whole proposal.

At the end of World War II the U.S. shipping fleet was the largest in the world. Since then it has steadily declined in numbers, until today it is ranked No. 11 in the world, after Italy. Greece has the largest merchant fleet today, with 2,893 ships as of Jan. 1, 1982.

There are many reasons for this decline, and the drop in the number of ships is not as bad as it may seem. For one thing, one of today's mammoth oil tankers can carry the same amount of oil as up to eight tankers of the immediate postwar period. And increasing numbers of U.S.-owned ships are registered under so-called "flags of convenience," in such countries as Panama and Liberia, with their cheaper taxes and lower wage rates.

But the decline in U.S. fleet presents critical national security problems. In the event of war or other crisis demanding a military response, the U.S. Navy could be caught without enough cargo ships to transport supplies. This is especially true in the volatile Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean region, where the United States does not have an alliance like NATO on which it can depend for supplies and ships.

The federal government has not stood idly by during this period. It has tried to aid the shipping industry with massive direct and indirect subsidies, totaling more than $6 billion since 1970. Unfortunately, this solution has not worked, because the industry's problems cannot be solved simply by cash transfusions. In fact, the federal aid may have made the problems worse. To survive in world competition, the maritime industry needs a spur, not a crutch.

The new research study does not simply accept the industry as a given, and then advocate pumping money into it because the shipping companies are losing money. Instead, it compares the U.S. industry to its more profitable foreign rivals, and finds that the U.S. shippers are losing money in large part because of restrictive work rules. U.S. ships have 25 percent to 40 percent more crew members than similar foreign ships, and each U.S. crew member receives higher wages than do foreign crews.

The study found that, in its words, "crew reductions were made possible by improved vessel designs, technology, and equipment." In other words, to stay afloat the U.S. industry must modernize. Modern propulsion machinery can be monitored from the bridge, eliminating the need for round-the-clock engine room watches. Maintenance needs can be cut by use of epoxy paints and automatic monitoring systems. Cargo operations can be made more efficient by use of microprocessors.

Moreover, crews can be reorganized, with better training and more flexibility so smaller crews can perform diverse functions. The traditional division between deck, engine and steward responsibilities can be broken down into a general purpose rating. Skippers can take a turn standing watch.

Of course, the maritime unions are less than pleased about such suggestions. Understandably, their members do not want to lose their jobs, but such a view is extremely short-sighted. Billets aboard U.S. vessels have declined from 168,000 after World War II to only 18,826 in July 1982. If present trends continue, soon many fewer American seamen will have jobs.

The key to saving jobs is not to continue present practices but to reform work rules more in line with the reality of foreign competition. Such "reform" will cost jobs temporarily but will create jobs over the long run. And, as the study suggests, shippers must work with the unions to implement changes in a fair manner.

BERRY'S WORLD

New legislation, the Victim and Witness Protection Act, will have an effect on Florida's Department of Labor and Employment Security Bureau of Crimes Compensation Program, the program that supervises payments to victims by the convicted.

The new legislation provides the Parole and Probation Commission the authority to require the assailant to pay the debt owed the victim. If the commission does not require payment as a condition of parole, it must state why. The legislation is stronger because its language is changed from "may" to "shall" according to Barbara Doran of the state of Florida Department of Labor.

The legislation also promotes the principle that victims have some protection in the courts and that victims must receive certain information about services available or about programs such as crime compensation.

"Our department supports this new legislation," Secretary Wallace Orr of the bureau said. "We are pleased to see new emphasis added to existing laws for victims of crimes."

The legislation will help force assailants to compensate victims or will give the victim a reason why the assailant is not required to make compensation, Ms. Doran said.

The rest of the bill provides basic guidelines for the criminal justice system to assist victims.

According to the act, the victim will be notified of the trial of the accused, changes in court proceedings and other things which a victim should know about the proceedings.

The law also discourages and protects the victims against harassment, governs the return of the victim's property, and establishes that, as a pre-trial condition of release, the accused refrain from criminal activity and avoid contact with the victim.

The Florida Association for Community Action, in cooperation with the Missing Children Information Clearinghouse, and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement will operate a statewide project coordinating 22 agencies to assist in locating missing children.

As of April 30, there were 3,135 reports of missing juveniles in Florida, according to the association.

Nationally, 1.8 million youths are reported missing each year and annually 5,000 unidentified bodies of youths are found.

WILLIAM RUSHER

On The Israeli Elections

JERUSALEM — Observing another nation's elections is a little like watching somebody else's divorce proceedings: It's almost as exciting as going through one's own, but without the pain. I arrived in Israel the day before Likud (the incumbent party — conservative on economics and hawkish on foreign affairs) took on its rival, Labor (wooly on economics and more inclined to compromise on foreign issues), for the 120 seats in the Knesset, Israel's parliament.

Everybody knew that neither Labor nor Likud could win the necessary 61 seats all by itself. An absurd provision of Israel's Fundamental Law entitles any party that can win just 1 percent of the total popular vote to a seat in the Knesset. (Representation is strictly proportional.) This has encouraged the formation of a score of tiny splinter parties, about a dozen of which have enough support to entitle them to anywhere from one to five seats. The two major parties must therefore scramble after every election to include enough of these little monsters in a coalition to add up to the magic 61 seats.

Since the small parties range from members of orthodox religious sects to outspoken communists, the process of assembling a majority coalition always involves a lot of good clean fun, however much it damages Israel's reputation as a stable democracy.

In the current case, everybody also knew that the Likud government was on its way out. Its 1982 decision to invade Lebanon and throw Yasir Arafat's PLO bodily out of that tormented country turned out badly: Syria, Israel's mortal enemy, now effectively controls most of Lebanon. As for Likud's economic policies, it is enough to note that interest rates currently range from 18.5 percent to 27.5 percent monthly. (The annualized equivalents are 687 percent and 1,760 percent.) And inflation is at the incredible rate of 400 percent a year.

No one was surprised, therefore, when the opinion polls all reported that Labor was running far ahead of Likud. One prominent Likud politician put it this way, privately, on election day: "The polls give victory to our foe. The press gives victory to our foe. We must look to God to give victory to us."

And, you know, it appears just possible that God has obliged him. Final unofficial returns give Labor 44 seats to Likud's 41, but the distribution of seats to minor parties appears to make it slightly easier for Likud to recruit among them the crucial 61. Negotiations are now under way, and no conceivable outcome can be ruled out: not a Likud coalition, not a Labor coalition, not even a broad "national unity" government.

Whistle Blower Still Persecuted

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the good guys win.

A couple of years ago, I made a random check of two dozen government whistle blowers who had dared to accuse their superiors of wrongdoing. Every last one of them, I found, had subsequently been hounded and harassed by the government agency he had embarrassed. Some of them had even been forced, Soviet-style, to submit to psychiatric examinations.

One of these gutsy heroes is William Clinkcales, whose ordeal was cited by Ronald Reagan in the 1980 campaign. For treading on the toes of higher-ups in the General Services Administration, Clinkcales had been stripped of his investigative duties and relegated to a do-nothing job behind a desk stuck in a corridor.

Against the quiet but stubborn resistance of the agency, Clinkcales was "rehabilitated" by Reagan, appointed a senior policy

JEFFREY HART

Let's Dump Jackson

Maybe it would be a good thing if Jesse Jackson ran against Strom Thurmond and got soundly thrashed. His most recent complaints about not being consulted about the vice-presidential choice and about there being no black women near the top of Ferraro's organization must have made many people realize how boring all this racial interest group politics has become, and how irritating it is to see Jackson's sullen and aggrieved kisser on the TV screen. The Jesse Jackson act has been on the boards too long. It's time for the gong.

We now know that it took tremendous pressure from Senator Edward Kennedy, exercised through black political leaders, to get Jesse Jackson to issue his brief denunciation of Louis Farrakhan's statements about Judaism being a "dirty religion," the creation of Israel being an "outlaw act," and the supporters of Israel being part of a "criminal conspiracy." Jackson was first informed about those latest Farrakhan statements in Havana, where he was praising Che Guevara and hailing Castro's "moral leadership." It took Kennedy's moral leadership or elementary instinct for Democratic political survival to elicit even the belated statement Jackson eventually made.

The Mondale strategists are reported to be practically prostrate with relief over Jackson's repudiation of Farrakhan and convention apology, but these had been so long in coming and were exacted under such pressure from Kennedy and other Democratic leaders that it is impossible to believe in their sincerity. After all, Farrakhan has been saying much the same thing for months, besides issuing death threats to Milton Coleman, the Washington Post reporter, visiting Libyan dictator Qaddafi, praising Hitler, and other fringe goodies, all of which evoked no criticism from Jesse Jackson.

So bizarre is all of this that New York's Mayor Ed Koch believes that Farrakhan has a blackmail hold on Jackson. Koch has charged that Jackson is afraid to repudiate Farrakhan because, "I think he knows where Jesse Jackson's money comes from. I think it comes from Libya."

New York Daily News columnist Jimmy Breslin did some digging into Farrakhan's past and concluded that Jackson may be afraid of Farrakhan violence. Breslin finds that Farrakhan has been in the general vicinity of all sorts of violent events dating back to the murder of Malcolm X. "All Jackson has to do," writes Breslin, "is condemn Farrakhan and walk away from him. And that will be the last time anybody will bother to report on what Farrakhan has to say. Surely Jackson knows the damage Farrakhan causes. He maims Jackson and harms all black candidates at any political level. Given the history of these things as I recall them, I think it is legitimate today to ask Jesse Jackson if he is afraid of Louis Farrakhan."

In view of Jackson's entire performance over the last several months, the speculations of both Mayor Koch and Jimmy Breslin are far from implausible, but my own opinion is that Jesse Jackson is an anti-Semite who essentially agrees with Louis Farrakhan. We have of course the famous Jackson remarks about "Hymie" and "Hymietown" but we also have the uncontradicted testimony of reporter Vic Gold about Jackson remarking to Washington Congressional Delegate Walter Fauntroy that "I don't care what they say, you just can't trust the Jews" and further that "I have never trusted those people."

In my own estimate, Koch and Breslin have plausible theories about the Jackson-Farrakhan relationship. There may be a Libya connection, since Qaddafi has, on the record, contributed to Jackson enterprises and Farrakhan did recently visit Libya, and there is also no doubt that Jackson could well be afraid of Farrakhan. After all, Farrakhan did threaten the life of reporter Milton Coleman. But I have to conclude that Jackson has handled Farrakhan the way he has because Jackson himself is a scarcely concealed anti-Semite himself. In praising Adolf Hitler and calling Judaism a "dirty religion" and all the rest of it, Farrakhan just went public, stepped out of the closet.

Lack Of Iron Is Problem

By Tim Bryant

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A pediatrician says iron deficiency is a serious but largely unrecognized problem that often is mistaken as a learning disability.

Dr. Alvin N. Eden said as many as half of the 8 million children who will be born in the United States in the next two years will suffer from poor nutrition.

"Make sure you give them a daily amount of iron and it will improve their school performance," he said.

Eden, the author of four books, is a crusader for proper child nutrition. He says obesity, iron deficiency and emotional stress in children are major causes of their poor health as adults.

Many poor children suffer from iron deficiency because their families are unable to afford iron-rich food and iron-fortified formula, he said. Teachers often fail to consider diet as the possible cause of a child's problems in school, he added.

"We now know that iron deficiency can lead to central nervous system problems in the brain," Eden said in an interview. "It affects a lot of organ systems, but mostly the brain."

He cited a 1983 report on a study by Upstate Medical Center in Syracuse, N.Y., that said as many as 35 percent of infants in a national survey were iron deficient.

Most of those children came from "the lower socioeconomic groups," said Dr. Frank A. Oski, the author of the report.

"If others can confirm our results and demonstrate the reversible nature of the behavioral abnormalities associated with iron deficiency, the societal implications are obvious as well as enormous," the report said. "Iron deficiency may have significant implications in terms of learning and ultimate scholastic performance for many members of our society."

Eden, a pediatrics professor at the New York University School of Medicine, said many doctors are unaware of the link between a child's iron-poor diet and lack of achievement in school.

He said the body produces no iron, and must obtain it by eating green vegetables, meat and liver.

Humans are born with a supply of iron that will be exhausted in a few months if not replenished through diet. Because there is no iron in cow's milk, babies should be breast fed or be given an iron-fortified formula through their first year, Eden said.

New mothers must eat iron-rich foods because babies can appear deceptively healthy on an iron-poor diet, said the doctor, adding that 50 percent of the nation's women of child-bearing age need more iron.

contract with the Bell System. I failed miserably."

The continuing allegations against Clinkcales now make a file weighing close to 10 pounds. In a typically irreverent memo to his bosses, Clinkcales made this critique of the inspector general, Joseph Sicken:

"Our IG, Inspector Clouseau, has made a career out of investigating me or my organization. He hardly finishes one inquisition before he starts another, and only his ineptness has prevented the situation from getting totally out of hand."

Clinkcales believes his harassment is the result of his repeated suggestions that Sicken is not doing his job properly. Last April, for example, Clinkcales denounced Sicken for maintaining video-camera surveillance on the fifth floor of the General Services Administration building during working hours. "This raises the specter of George Orwell's '1984,'" Sicken wrote to Sicken.

Clinkcales wrote to Sicken.

A week earlier, Clinkcales excoriated the IG for investigating parking lot problems at GSA. "I consider it incredible that you would divert experienced auditors from the billions of dollars the agency handles in the contracting area when (other experts) are available to conduct parking studies," he wrote.

In other memos over the years, Clinkcales accused Sicken of failing to give GSA contracts proper scrutiny, of waging "turf battles" instead of preventing wrongdoing, of gutting the IG's contract inspector force from 70 to 40, and of overpending his budget so badly that investigations into travel expense have been shelved for the rest of the year.

Sicken's office denied Clinkcales' charges of harassment. But the unregenerate whistle blower's deliverance may be at hand. Sicken resigned a few days ago.

'I Can Cope' Planned For Cancer Victims And Their Families

Cancer treatment, nutrition, body image and sexuality are among the many topics covered in an American Cancer Society education program for cancer patients and their families called "I Can Cope."

"I Can Cope" seeks to help participants deal with the disease and take an active role in their own health care. The course will be offered at South Seminole Community Hospital (SSCH), Longwood, on eight consecutive Thursdays beginning Aug. 16 7-9 p.m.

"I Can Cope" classes give participants an opportunity to share their concerns with others having the same experience and realize they are not alone in their adjustments to everyday life," said Lisa Smith, SSCH Director of Education.

"Those with cancer and their loved ones need ways to cope with fears and anxieties as well as with the disease," she said.

During the course, instruction will be given by professionals in the field of cancer management, including Renee Nash, P.A., on Living with Cancer; Dr. Peter Selassie, hematologist/oncologist, on Cancer Diagnosis, Treatment, New Methods and Research Progress; Pam Mosure, R.D., SSCH dietitian, on Dealing with Daily Health; Mike Smith, senior clinician at West Lake Hospital, on Understanding Your Emotions; Betty Hanacek, M.S.W., SSCH Director of Social Services, on Self Esteem and Sexuality; Pons Tucay, Director of Rehabilitation Services at SSCH on Keeping Active in Mind and Body; and Betty Hanacek will coordinate a session with speakers from various support systems and resources in the community.

Registration for the free eight-week course is limited. For information and registration contact Lisa Smith at SSCH, 834-1200, ext. 192, or Betty Hanacek at ext. 158.

Teacher Evaluation Called Inadequate

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Many American school districts are using master teacher programs and merit pay to improve education, but most of the evaluation systems used to rate instructors are inadequate, researchers say.

A Rand Corp. report sponsored by the National Institute of Education, an agency of the U.S. Department of Education, said most of the nation's school districts have only "perfunctory" evaluation systems.

"When we started our work two years ago, no one was looking at merit pay and master teacher programs," said Arthur Wise, principal author of the study.

"Now, in virtually every state they are being considered," he said. "If educators implement these programs without looking at teacher evaluation, they will doom them to failure because teachers rightfully resist systems that are not fair or valid.

American colleges not doing their jobs, page 7A

"Teacher evaluation is not a trivial undertaking. Done properly, it requires substantial resources and a great deal of attention," Wise wrote.

"Our preliminary assessment led us to conclude that school authorities do not agree what constitutes the best practice with regard to instrumentation, frequency of evaluation, the role of the teacher in the process or how the information could or should inform district activities. These differences in practices, we believe, indicate that teacher evaluation presently is an underconceptualized and underdeveloped activity."

The survey was the first comprehensive look at teacher evaluation systems, and reviewed 32 school districts with highly developed evaluation techniques.

The researchers focused on four of the most advanced districts, which have successfully managed to identify and weed out incompetent teachers and improve teacher performance.

The study said those four districts were successful because they devoted more time, money and care than most school districts have so far invested in teacher evaluation.

KGB May Have Planted Report Sakharov Hunger Strike Over

MOSCOW (UPI) — The KGB may have planted a report that Andrei Sakharov had ended his three-month hunger strike and the Nobel Prize winner's wife faces trial on charges she defamed the Soviet state, dissident sources say.

The sources Tuesday based their information on two letters sent by Yelena Bonner, Sakharov's wife, from apartment house arrest in the closed city of Gorky to friends in Moscow.

The sources said the letters make no mention of the health of Sakharov, the Soviet Union's best-known dissident and the inventor of the Russian hydrogen bomb who began his hunger strike in an effort to win approval for his wife to seek medical treatment outside the country for a heart ailment.

Some dissidents believed Monday's report that Sakharov had ended his fast was planted by the KGB to calm Western public opinion which has been inflamed by unconfirmed reports that Sakharov was being force-fed and treated with mind-altering drugs.

Hijackers Free Hostages

ROME (UPI) — Hijackers who seized an Iranian jetliner and demanded to go to Paris released 129 of more than 300 hostages — most of them Moslem pilgrims bound for Mecca — at a Rome airport today in return for a promise of fuel, food and medicine, officials said.

The first passengers — elderly people, children and women wearing the traditional black chador over their faces — began leaving the European-built Iran Air A-300 Airbus about 90 minutes after it landed on a runway at Rome's Ciampino Military Airport.

There were 165 passengers and 11 crew members still held hostage.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Record Quaalude Ring Broken, Causing Prices To Skyrocket

MIAMI (UPI) — Authorities who charged 57 people with making and selling methaqualone powder took more than 23 tons of the drug off the world market, causing the price of illegal Quaalude tablets to increase tenfold.

Drug Enforcement Administration agents said Tuesday the two-year "Operation Hammerhead" all but halted south Florida trafficking of methaqualone — the generic term for Quaaludes — and put "a tremendous crimp" in peddling of the hypnotic drug worldwide.

Since the investigation began, the street price of Quaalude tablets has risen from $1 to about $10 in south Florida, Jack Lloyd, assistant agent in charge for the DEA in Miami, said.

The alleged drug smuggling operation was the largest ever uncovered, Lloyd said. Between July 1979 and December 1983 the group netted about $216 million "on the wholesale level" and moved at least 54 tons of methaqualone powder.

Phone Calls Up To A Quarter

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Public telephone users in central Florida, the Tampa Bay area and the Capitol region will see a 150 percent increase in the cost of using a pay phone Jan. 1.

The Public Service Commission voted unanimously Tuesday to let all telephone companies charge a quarter per call for pay phone use — just as Southern Bell has been doing for the past seven years. Southern Bell serves about 60 percent of the state, but customers in some other areas were still making calls with a dime.

The PSC agreed to extend the 25-cent pay phone charge to General Telephone, Central Telephone, United Telephone (which serves the Orlando area) and some smaller companies. The commission staff said actual cost of service averages nine to 34 cents per call for those companies.

Iran Denies Red Sea, Suez Mining

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Four U.S. Navy minesweeping helicopters are en route to the Red Sea to remove underwater bombs that are disrupting shipping — mines supposedly planted by the pro-Iranian terrorist group that blew up the Marine barracks in Lebanon.

The Iranian government denied any involvement in sabotaging the shipping lanes, and accused the United States and Israel of conspiring to blame Iran. It called for an international inquiry to expose "the agents behind these moves" so the waterway once again can be made safe for shipping.

"The Foreign Affairs Ministry of the Islamic Republic strongly condemned a new conspiracy by the U.S. and the Zionist regime in the Suez Canal and the Red Sea to damage the reputation of the Islamic revolution and Republic," the official Iranian news agency IRNA said in a dispatch from Tehran, monitored in Beirut.

Fourteen ships have been hit and damaged by the mines in the Gulf of Suez and the Red Sea since July 27, the Pentagon said Tuesday. Lloyd's of London, the world's foremost shipping insurer, reports 12 ships hit.

Tehran radio, in a broadcast monitored in Kuwait, said the Islamic Jihad (Holy War) terrorist group claimed responsibility for planting the mines.

Islamic Jihad is the pro-Iranian group that said it staged the October 1983 twin suicide truck bombings in Beirut that killed 241 U.S. servicemen and 58 French paratroopers.

The radio praised the mining as "part of the bitter struggle against the forces of enslavement and domination."

But Iranian Prime Minister Hussein

Musavi denied at a news conference in Tehran that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's Islamic regime was involved in the mining and protested the search of two Iranian ships in the Suez Canal.

At Egypt's request, four U.S. Navy Sikorsky RH-53D Sea Stallion helicopters, support equipment and slightly less than 200 personnel flew aboard five huge C-5A Galaxy transport planes from Norfolk, Va. to the U.S. Navy base at Rota, Spain Tuesday en route to the Red Sea, Pentagon officials and sources said.

At Rota, the helicopters will be put aboard an amphibious transport dock (LPD), the 8,977-ton Shreveport, that will steam through the Suez Canal into the Gulf of Suez to begin operations in a week to 10 days, the sources said.

At least two more Galaxies with support equipment were to fly to Rota today.

Researchers: Colleges Not Doing Their Jobs

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Education Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which investigated high schools and found they were not doing their jobs, is turning its attention to colleges for the same kind of study.

Carnegie President Ernest Boyer, a former U.S. Education Commissioner, said the foundation will begin an inquiry of undergraduate education this fall.

"There is disturbing evidence that college students are not well informed about the world in which they live; that they are becoming more parochial at the very time the human agenda becomes more global; that many students lack historical perspective and have little knowledge of significant social trends that will consequently shape their lives," he said.

"Some of our colleges and universities rank with the finest in the world; others do not deserve high marks."

Boyer, also former chancellor of the State University of New York, said there were several indications that all is not well on all the nation's campuses:

—There has been a growing gap between the benefits of liberal education and the highly sought after job-related majors.

—Business and industry leaders complain about communication skills and work patterns of graduates.

—There has been a decline in the performance of college students on the verbal section of Graduate Record Examinations.

—Among faculty, there is great tension over growing pressure to gain tenure.

—Few activities aside from athletics bring faculty and students together outside the classroom.

"There is an urgent need to redefine carefully those educational purposes common to all institutions, to clarify conditions on campuses, and to be clear and constructive in offering proposals for renewal," Boyer said.

College students are said to be parochial, lacking in verbal skills and good work patterns, and more and more concerned with getting a job after graduation.

He linked the need to strengthen the four-year liberal arts program to the current drive for high school reform, saying "curriculum confusion in the lower schools reflects ... confusion at the collegiate level."

"If the push for excellence is to persist, the nation's colleges and universities must also ask hard questions about the focus and quality of their work."

Observers from the foundation based in Princeton, N.J. plan to visit 30 representative colleges. During about three weeks on campus, they will interview students, faculty and staff members, sit in on classes, gather information and participate in the informal 'life of the institution.

To provide a statistical base for the report, the foundation is conducting extensive mail surveys of students and faculty at representative colleges and universities with help from Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J.

Carnegie researchers also will visit high schools, looking at higher education from the perspective of counselors, students and parents.

...Evaluation

In the 25,000-student Salt Lake City district, the "hard-nosed" evaluation process has removed 37 incompetent teachers in the past nine years.

Lake Washington, Wash., an upper-middle-class suburban district of 18,000 students, uses conferences with teachers and detailed personal development plans for educators found to be unsatisfactory. About 40 teachers have been "counseled out" over a four-year period.

In Toledo, Ohio, a working-class, union city with a strong teachers' organization, fiscal problems and strikes led administrators and teachers to agree on a system that utilizes skilled consultant teachers as evaluators. Four teachers and four interns have been removed from classroom teaching in two years.

Payne Plans Tennis Tourney — SCC Netters In The News

Bill Payne is a basketball coach, so what's he doing running a tennis tournament? Coach Payne, the head roundball mentor at Seminole Community College has announced that SCC will host a tennis tournament August 17-19.

This tournament will be in men's and women's singles and doubles, is non-sanctioned (you do not need a USTA card) and the entry fee is $10 for singles and $10 for doubles team.

Why the sudden interest in tennis by a basketball coach. It's simple — it's expensive to operate a big time junior college basketball program and coach Payne sees this as a way of supplementing his basketball budget hopes are high for a large turnout.

Anyone interested in playing should call coach Payne or this writer at SCC

323-1450. We will put you right in the draw. Deadline for entry is Wednesday, Aug. 15 at 12 noon...

Mike Pernfors, former SCC #1 player and current NCAA champ is back in the U.S. and playing in major tournaments all over the U.S. Mike is of course preparing for the U.S. Open which starts late this month.

Mike has been slowed for the past several weeks with a severely sprained ankle. His speed and mobility have been greatly effected and he has not been able to practice. When Mike gets healthy watch for him to go right to the top 20. He is simply, to good not to...

Greg Miller, former SCC All-American, has been in Europe playing on the clay court circuit over there. Greg will be a junior at Oklahoma

Larry Castle
SCC Tennis Instructor

State next year and along with former SCC teammate Ake Svensson will be starters on this tennis powerhouse. Oklahoma State is ranked among the top 20 Divisions 1 teams in the U.S. and may break into the top 10 next year...

Tobias Svantesson, another SCC star, has decided to come back to Florida to finish his collegiate tennis.

Tobias played #1 singles for Oklahoma State last year but misses the sunshine state and wants to be back in Florida. Tobias will enroll at NAIA powerhouse Flagler College in September. Look for Flagler to win a national championship with Tobias playing #1...

Former Lake Brantley High and SCC star, Richard Shanklin has graduated from Old Dominion University and is working for Southeast Bank in Leesburg. Rich is also playing a lot in the area and plans to be married in September. He will marry college sweetheart Cathy Livingston from Trenton, N.J....

So many people ask about former S.C.C. players, where they are and what they are doing that I thought I'd include a short list from time to time to mention a few: Steve Cox is a pharmacist in Toronto, Canada. Mo Cassion is a medical doctor in Canada. Stu Thompson and Colin Davis are school teachers and tennis pros in Melbourne, Australia.

Phil Richie has recently been named head tennis coach at Oglethorpe University. Chris Little is a teaching pro in Canada. Peter Roberts is a computer programmer in Nashville. Buddy Gonzales is a pharmaceutical salesman in Birmingham. Troy McQuagge sells insurance in Panama City. Timo Palo recently graduated from Helsinki University in architecture design and Sanford's own Scott Reagan will graduate this coming year from the University of Central Florida in business management.

Reichle's Spell Bewitches Cocoa

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — Tuesday night's game between District 14 and Cocoa didn't get over until after the bewitching hour, midnight, but big Darrin Reichle had cast a spell on the opposing hitters ever since the game began.

Because of a downpour earlier in the day, the games at Tinker Field had to be moved back and District 14 and Cocoa didn't get started until after 10 p.m.

The delay didn't bother Reichle, though. He was at his overpowering best Tuesday night as he hurled a one-hitter and Dean Hazen came up with another big hit as the District 14 Big League All-Stars edged the Cocoa All-Stars, 3-2, in the Big League Southern Regional Tournament at Tinker Field.

District 14 moves into Thursday's 9 a.m. final against the loser's bracket winner, Cocoa and Virginia play tonight at 7:30 in the loser's bracket final. Virginia advanced via a 12-9 victory over Texas in Tuesday night's first game. A second, winner-take-all, game, if necessary, would be played Thursday morning at 11.

The games are being played Thursday morning because the tournament champion has to fly out to Fort Lauderdale Thursday night at the Big League World Series gets under way on Friday.

Although they had never faced Cocoa before, District 14's coaches had scouted the Florida State Champs. Pitching coach Max Westgate, of Euatis, knew the book on Cocoa and Reichle threw the book at them.

"Max (Westgate) did an excellent job preparing for this game," District 14 manager Howard Mable said. "We felt we had a pretty good book on them and Max did a good job calling the pitches and Darrin (Reichle) carried out the rest."

Reichle gave up a two-run triple in the bottom of the first, then shut Cocoa out on no hits the rest of the way. The big righthander struck out 12, including six in a row at one point, and walked five.

"He (Reichle) just had a fantastic game," Mable said. "The win puts us in the driver's seat now. The winner tonight will have to come and get us."

District 14 broke out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first with Hazen's double the key hit. In Monday's opener, against Texas, Hazen slammed a three-run homer that brought District 14 back from a 4-2 deficit.

In the first Tuesday, Todd Auckland drew a walk to lead off and Jeff Greene followed with a walk. Dwayne McLeod then laid down a bunt, but Auckland was forced at third for the first out. Cocoa pitcher Tony Sebree then struck out Todd Maulroy for the second out, but Mable put the double steal on on the third strike and Greene stole third while McLeod swiped second.

Hazen then stepped up and drilled a line shot to right-center for a double, driving in both Greene and McLeod for a 2-0 District 14 lead.

"Dean (Hazen) has had a

number of big hits for us," Mable said. "He had the big hit for us in one of our wins last year in the World Series."

Cocoa came back with two runs in the bottom of the first to tie the score at 2-2. Reichle struck out leadoff man Jerry Lenz, but Todd Kull drew a walk. Reichle struck out Kevin Wakefield for the second out, but then walked Brian Allgood. Sebree then came up and he lifted a fly ball to deep center field. District 14 centerfielder, McLeod, had a beat on the fly ball, but he slipped on the wet grass and the ball went over his head for a two-run triple. Reichle then struck out Tom Ohstad for the third out.

"It was a well-hit ball, but he (McLeod) would have caught that ball if he didn't slip," Mable said.

From the second inning until the seventh, the pitchers took control. Reichle breezed through the Cocoa lineup the remainder of the game and was never in trouble again. District 14 had one scoring opportunity, in the fifth, but came away empty.

District 14 finally got to Sebree though in the top of the seventh. With one out, Charles "Julio" Brooks singled to right past the second baseman. Paul Esposito then tried to bunt Brooks over, but popped it up to the first baseman. Esposito ran out the bunt anyway, and the first baseman dropped the ball. Brooks was forced at second, but Esposito's hustle kept the inning alive.

Scott Zimmerman then went in to pinch run for Esposito and Sebree walked Reichle on four straight pitches to put runners on first and second. Sebree then ran the count full to Auckland and Auckland fouled off three pitches before coaxing a walk to load the bases.

Sebree then got out in front of Greene, but Greene fouled a few pitches off, ran the count full, and fouled a few more off. With the count full, the bases loaded, and two outs, Zimmerman broke from third base and the payoff pitch to Greene was ball four and Zimmerman crossed the plate with the go-ahead run.

"I think sending Zimmerman distracted the pitcher just enough that he threw a ball," Mable said.

Reichle came back to retire the side in the bottom of the seventh, with defensive help from Jeff Lowrey at third base. Reichle struck out the first hitter of the inning and Juan Kenda then came up and drilled one toward the left field line. Lowrey stabbed the hot shot and just nipped Kenda at first for the second out, and the defensive play of the game. Reichle then got Lenz to fly out to left for the final out.

"We're in very good shape now," Mable said. "All of our pitchers will be eligible for Thursday's game, so I don't know who we'll be going with yet."

Anthony Laszalc had things pretty much his way Tuesday night. The 14-year-old righthander allowed just one hit as the Altamonte Senior League All-Stars routed Coral Springs, 13-0. In the corresponding photos, Laszalc shows off his fluid motion.

Seniors Just 1 Win Away

4-Homer Barrage Backs Laszalc's 1-Hit Shutout

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

CORAL SPRINGS — Anthony Laszalc twirled a sparkling one-hitter while Ryan Lisle, Dan Beaty, Mike Schmit and Neal Harris each delivered home runs as the Altamonte Senior League All-Stars moved within one victory of the Little League Senior World Series with an easy 13-0 victory over Coral Springs at Mullins Park Tuesday night.

The game lasted just five innings due to a late start, a power outage, and an 11 p.m. curfew. Laszalc, a 14-year-old right-hander, played beat the clock when he retired the side with nine pitches in the fourth inning at 10:59:30. Five innings is considered an official game when the home team is behind.

Had the Seniors not beaten the time limit, the game would have been suspended and picked up at the point of interruption tonight.

"I wasn't worried about the time limit," said Laszalc. "The coaches said, 'Just pitch your game.' It doesn't matter if we beat them tonight or tomorrow."

Laszalc made sure it was tonight. He used a sharp-breaking curveball to strike out nine hitters while walking just two. He faced just 16 batters as catcher Lisle cut down a runner trying to steal in the fifth and left fielder Beaty gunned another runner trying to go from first to third on a single in the second.

Scott Barlow had Coral Springs' lone hit — a line single to left in the second.

"I threw about 60 percent curveballs," continued Laszalc. "I heard from everybody that they were a fastball hitting team, so I wanted to keep them off-balance with curves."

The victory puts Altamonte in great shape. Coral Springs, Abeline, Tex. and Childersburg, Ala. will battle the next two days for the chance to oppose Altamonte in Friday's 6 p.m. championship game. Once there, one of them — probably Abeline — would have to beat Schmit and Laszalc in back-to-back games to earn a trip to Gary, Ind.

"We don't care who we play," said manager Gene Letterio. "But I guess we might as well play Texas. They're probably the best of the three and we haven't played them yet. It would be good for us to play a good team before we go to Gary."

Altamonte hasn't played one yet. The Seniors, who rapped five pitchers around for 10 hits Tuesday, erased any doubt early. Lisle opened the game with a walk and stole second. Shane Letterio promptly drilled a scorcher over the third baseman's head for a 1-0 lead.

And, for the second night in a row, Schmit followed with a first-inning, two-run homer for a 3-0 lead. "When he got me 0-2, I was looking curveball all the way," said Schmitly about Scott Vara's left-handed deliveries.

"He just laid it right in there."

In the second, Beaty beat out an infield hit and Laszalc drew the first of three walks. Then, two sets of lights went out in left field, but it was just a short stay of execution for the host team.

Lisle stepped up after the 10-minute delay and powered reliever Jim Nipper's offering over the right field fence for a three-run later and a 6-0 lead. "I knew it had been awhile since he threw a pitch," said Lisle. "In that situation, the pitcher usually throws it right in there. It was a fastball low and away, so I took it out."

For Nipper, it was a rude greeting by some old neighbors. Nipper and his father, Tom, had lived in Altamonte Springs three years ago. Tom was a Little League manager and a board member in the Altamonte Little League.

Nipper shut down the Seniors in the third, but Altamonte drove him from the mound in the fourth with a five-run explosion to take an 11-0 lead.

With one out, Schmit walked and stole second. Mark Coffey drew another pass to signal the end for Nipper. Luke Beck came on and struck out Harris, but a wild pitch moved up both runners. Beck then walked dangerous "Dandy Randy" Green to face Eddie Taubensee.

Taubensee, who took over center field due to Bill Henley's injury, spoiled the strategy when he crushed a fastball up the middle for a two-run single. Beaty, inserted in left field, followed with a towering blast to center for a three-run homer and an 11-0 bulge.

"It was fastball inside and I hit it on the handle," said Beaty. "It stung like hell."

The final sting came one inning later. With one out, Coffey reached on an error by the second baseman. Harris then picked on the first pitch from Barlow and clubbed it way over the left field fence for a two-run round-tripper and the final 13-0 count.

"It was right in there, the same place I struck out the time before," said Harris. "This time I just kept my head in there and crushed it."

South Koreans Protest 4-1 Decision For Page

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The South Korean boxing delegation Tuesday protested the 4-1 decision of American light welterweight Jerry Page's over Dong-Kil Kim and threatened to pull out of the Olympic competition.

Seung Youn Kim, president of the South Korean Amateur Boxing Federation, said his delegation was upset not only with that particular decision but also with the entire system.

Heartsaver Course Free For Youth

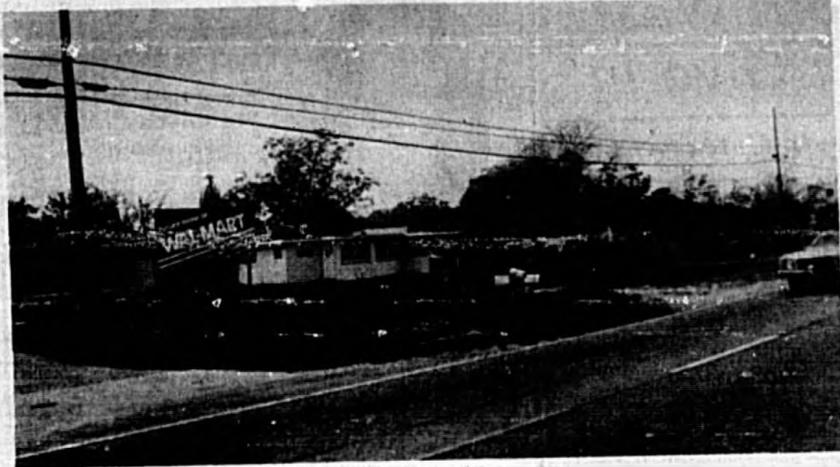

Young people 12 to 18 years old are eligible to participate in the Heartsaver Course being offered free on August 10 by Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Tailored specifically for young people, the class is set for 1 to 4 p.m. in the hospital classroom. For those who qualify, the course will provide the basis for certification in one-person cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

Hands-on practice with manequina will take place as well as demonstrations of infant resuscitation and airway obstructions.

Slide tape programs explaining the importance of healthy living and how to recognize the symptoms of heart attack will be featured. The steps of CPR will also be featured on a slide tape presentation.

Mothers of participants are welcome. Enrollment is limited. To register, contact Central Florida Regional at 321-4500 or 668-4441, extension 607.

The sign announces a Wal-Mart discount store will be built on this section of the 30-acre tract that stretches for 500 feet along the east side of U.S. Highway 17-92 directly across the street from the old Harcar building and the American Legion, near the Foxfire restaurant to the south. Wal-Mart is to have 80,000 square feet in the proposed 251,000 square foot shopping complex to be built by Horne Properties Inc. of Tennessee. Construction is expected to begin this fall with a tentative opening date of spring, 1985.

the growing pains of becoming proficient at the sport.

"One of our goals was to bring visibility to this sport and we have reached that goal, whether we won the gold or the silver medal," said Selinger.

Although the basketball team hasn't been a unit quite as long as the volleyball team, the squad does include four players who were caught in the heartbreak of the 1980 boycott. Most of the squad has been together for over a year and experienced the pain of losing to the Soviet Union by one point in the world championships last year.

Meanwhile, in an Olympics nearly devoid of controversy, the action remained on the playing field today with track star Carl Lewis going for his third gold medal and Greg Louganis attempting to prove himself the best diver of all time.

The Games have been so peaceful, police announced Tuesday that some officers patrolling areas surrounding the events would be redeployed. Commuters have found the Games to be a blessing, with freeway traffic lighter than normal.

The only waves to disturb the calm Monday were a threat by the South Korean boxing team to leave the Games because of "unfair decisions" favoring the American home team and a flap over an Olympic diary by runner Zola Budd that appeared in a British newspaper.

Budd, Britain's South African-born middle distance runner, was threatened with expulsion from the Olympics over the diary. Charles Palmer, the Chairman of the British Olympic Association, said the articles, entitled "Zola Budd's Olympic Diary," appearing in the Daily Mail, contravened the Olympic Charter which says that athletes are not allowed to work as journalists at Games in which they are competing.

He was certain that both the Daily Mail and Budd were unaware that they were breaking a rule, and said that once told, both agreed to suspend publication of the series, which started at the end of July.

In the first international controversy to arise at the Games, Kim Seung Youn, president of the South Korean Amateur Boxing Federation, charged Olympic boxing judges were favoring the U.S. team.

"All the Americana win," he said. "I think sometimes they lose and they still win. If this keeps up, there is no reason for us to continue fighting."

The Koreans filed a protest as the United States boxing team clinched at least three Olympic medals by advancing to the semi-finals.

"We came here not only to box but to see how to run perfect games in 1988 (at Seoul)," he said. "But there is nothing to learn. I'm upset with unfair decisions."

Officials conducting the boxing competition, however, indicated they did not expect the South Koreans to withdraw and its fighters later appeared in the ring.

Lewis, who has already won gold medals in the 100-meter sprint and the long jump, attempts to duplicate the feat in the 200-meter in his quest to duplicate the late Jesse Owens' four gold medal performance at the 1936 Berlin Olympics.

Louganis, considered to be the best diver in history, made his first of two attempts for gold medals.

The U.S. victories Tuesday pushed the U.S. medal count to 103, including 48 gold. West Germany was a distant second with a total 34 medals and Romania was second in golds with 16.

Police Cmdr. William Booth said that some officers assigned to two task forces responsible for policing neighborhoods around the Olympic villages and venues are being shifted back to regular patrol duties.

"But there is absolutely no change in security at the venues and villages," Booth said.

The assignment changes were made because the task forces have been very successful in suppressing crime in the neighborhoods adjacent to the Olympic sites. Police said Tuesday most of the 857 arrests made by the Olympic task forces since opening ceremonies last week have been for minor offenses.

Booth stressed, however, that the police department was redeploying its officers — not reducing its massive security effort.

"We are able to instantly deploy people right back into the impact areas if necessary," Booth said.

Greg Louganis of the United States, one of the top divers in the sport, will make an attempt for gold medals in springboard and platform events. He may emerge with acclaim as the best diver of all time.

"For many reasons, be they political, professional, or personal, I feel that it is in the best interests of my constituents that I expend my efforts as an elected official, working to make the Board of County Commissioners a better and stronger commission," he said.

Last week, Mrs. Glenn said she hoped Sturm didn't put his fellow commissioners in the position where they would have to choose whether to vote for him for the job.

The controversy over deals or possible deals, has been swirling around Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Christensen and Sturm for the past two weeks since Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather challenged the three when they voted to purchase the Greenwood Lakes Utilities.

Feather charged at the time a deal had been struck between Mrs. Glenn and Sturm to trade her vote for Sturm as county administrator for his vote to fire Rose. Feather also said Mrs. Glenn traded her vote to purchase the utility in exchange for Mrs. Christensen's vote to fire

Rose.

When Mrs. Glenn made a motion to fire Rose, it died for lack of a second.

In any event, Mrs. Christensen said today that Mrs. Glenn told her in December, "It was time I (Mrs. Christensen) faced up to my responsibility and did something about the problems we were having with Rose."

Mrs. Christensen said at the time she went to Rose, outlined the list of problems she was hearing about his administration of the county and suggested he correct his deficiencies.

"But he ignored me and nothing changed," she said.

Although Mrs. Christensen said last week she was ready to vote for the firing, she said today she made her statement in anger and she actually never had the intention of voting to fire the man.

"I personally like Duncan, but I don't believe the taxpayers are getting their money's worth from him," she said today. Rose's salary is $48,800 annually.

"I've tried to persuade him to resign," she said.

"If we get identification for our product, that will offset some of this Brazilian stuff," he says.

In addition to Brazilian competition, McGee said the Florida citrus industry needs to bolster its fresh fruit competition with other states, like California, instead of just marketing juice.

'Go For The Gold' A Winner For Junior Hostess

To celebrate the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, California's Junior Miss, Kristin Thomas, planned a "Go for the Gold" party for her entry in the National Kraft Hostess Awards contest held in Mobile, Ala. winner in Mobile, Ala.

Miss Thomas was second runner-up and received a $1,000.00 cash scholarship.

First place winner of a $3,000.00 scholarship was won by Amanda Ober, 18, of Bedford, N.H., for her "Capitol Caper" party plan.

The Hostess Awards is a cash scholarship competition of the America's Junior Miss Program. It was established by Kraft, Inc. in 1970 to heighten awareness of good nutrition and the role of food in our lives and to recognize and reward young women for their food creativity, party planning, and entertaining skills. Scholarships are awarded at the state and national levels.

Kathryn Call, Blackfoot, Idaho, was first runner-up in the competition and received a $1,500 cash scholarship. Fawna Gillette, Bountiful, Utah, third runner-up, was awarded a $750 cash scholarship.

For the competition, each girl planned a party, complete with theme, menu, recipes, and activities. The party plans are judged on party menu and recipes; originality of theme and party execution; decorations and table setting.

Judges in the national competition were Carole Horst, Executive Editor, Young Miss magazine; Dian Thomas, Author and Food Consultant to NBC's "Today Show"; and Gina Punch, 1983 National Kraft Hostess Awards winner and former Michigan's Junior Miss.

The winning "Capitol Caper" party celebrated American food and Washington D.C., our nation's capital. "Congressional Chicken," "Blair House Beans," and "Fil-Or-Buster Cake" were some of the foods in the party plan.

Kathryn Call, Idaho's Junior Miss, saluted Idaho potatoes in a Harvester's Holiday party, a down-home evening featuring potato carving, potato sack races, good food and a hayride.

Fawna Gillette created a "Super Sleuth Supper" party for her friends who arrived in trench coats for a fun-filled evening of intrigue.

The award-winning party plans are as different as the young women who created them, yet they share a common element. Each party has a simple, creative theme carried out with consistency and imagination. The parties can be adapted to any age group or location.

A full-color booklet featuring the top Hostess Awards parties and recipes is available this month. For a free copy, write to: Kraft Hostess Awards, P.O. Box 844, Dept. NM-84, South Holland, IL 60473.

During Kristin Thomas' "Go for the Gold" party, guests competed in party activities ranging from a horseshoe toss to soccer ball dribbling. Afterwards, they were served an Olympic salad buffet including "Gotta Have Heart" Salad, "Lettuce Win" Shrimp Salad, and "Crab A Medal" Muffins. The celebration continued after dinner with a game of volleyball.

Marinade Adds Zing To Steak

Marinating a cut of beef for grilling adds to its flavor and also tenderizes the meat.

GAUCHO'S MARINATED STEAK

- 1/4 cups dry red wine
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 teaspoons chile powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons fennel seeds
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon crushed red peppers

2 cloves garlic, pressed
2 to 2 1/2 pounds top round steak (cut 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches thick)
In bowl, mix all ingredients except steak to blend thoroughly. Place steak and marinade in plastic bag (carefully pressing out air); tie securely and place in pan in refrigerator for 8 hours or overnight. Remove steak from marinade (reserving marinade) and place on grill over ash-covered coals or on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat.

Broil at moderate temperature to rare or medium (25 to 40 minutes, depending on thickness of steak and doneness desired), brushing with marinade and turning occasionally. Carve in thin slices.

Yearbooks Are Forever

DEAR ABBY: I differ with you on your views about children who don't want their parents to read their yearbooks.

You stated that the yearbook belongs to the child and should not be read by the parents without the child's permission. Well, baloney! I paid for that yearbook, and if my son isn't brave enough to tell his friends to watch what they write in his yearbook, that is his problem. I will certainly look at his yearbook if I feel like it.

I also told him that I didn't want him writing filth or trash in other people's yearbooks.

DON'T USE MY NAME

DEAR ABBY: When I was in my last year of junior high school, a boy I had known since grade school wrote a filthy expression across my picture. I tried to erase the words and ended up erasing my picture. The words are still readable, so I had to cut them out with a razor blade.

When I asked the boy why he did it, he said he was just kidding. I was ashamed to show my yearbook to anybody because of the stupidity of one person. To this day I've never shown my yearbook to my parents or anyone else.

D. IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: The question of privacy in yearbooks came up in our family the same week you mentioned it in your column.

Dear Abby

I saw my granddaughter's yearbook and was appalled to see the filth written by some of her classmates. One boy she said she hardly knew except to say hi to wrote: "Dear Debbie, I only wish I had taken you up on your proposition. I really do want to make love to you. There's still time. Give me a call. Steve."

My granddaughter is a good student, well-liked and was never in any trouble that I know about. When I told her that I knew about some of the writings in her yearbook, she said, "Oh, Gram! You're so old-fashioned. Don't believe any of that stuff. The kids just make up things to write so they'll sound cool."

Well, Abby, I guess I'm just a 60-year-old fossil. What do I know?

APPALLED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school teacher in New York City, and the letter regarding yearbooks interested me because last month I had occasion to look through the yearbook of one of my favorite students — a lovely, refined young lady. Almost every autograph contained a sexual reference. She appeared to be intimate with half the boys in her senior class!

Later she explained that it was only a joke — all the kids wrote stuff like that.

That week I began talking to groups of seniors about the importance of a yearbook as a legacy. I told them that there will come a day when their own children will want to read those yearbooks. How will they explain that what was written was "only a joke"?

I urge all young people to think before they write! Yearbooks are forever, so write kind, caring, readable-by-everyone messages. If you must get personal, do so in a small autograph album. You'll never regret it.

LA MAESTRA, N.Y.C.

DEAR ABBY: It seems that lately in your attempt to "get with it," you are really screwing up. You defend a child's right to privacy, and say parents should not look at their children's yearbooks without permission.

Come on, Abby. Everyone knows that children have no rights. It is the responsibility of the parents to see that their children are reared in a clean and wholesome atmosphere.

Children need to be protected — not given rights to do wrong.

Middle East Feast

Classic Lamb Recipes Centerpieces Of A Hearty Repast

In the Middle East, most native recipes do not specify the meat to be used. It is understood that a dish will be made with some form of lamb, since beef is rarely available and pork is forbidden to Moslems. Many specialties that can enliven feasts come from this time-honored tradition of creating exciting meals with lamb. Two adaptations, a roast leg for a large group and shoulder chops for a smaller gathering, will suit any menu.

Lemon-Honey Leg of Lamb calls for a piquant glaze which displays the sensitive balance in sweet and sour flavors that is a feature of Middle Eastern cuisine. Though lamb is never served pink in the Middle East, it is the pink stage that is preferred elsewhere for flavor and tenderness. New Zealand Spring lamb owes its fine texture to the ideal raising conditions of the country's temperate weather and lush, green pastures.

Once the roast has been glazed, insert a meat thermometer with care to accurately note the moment the lamb is done to your liking. The thermometer should be placed in the thickest part of the leg with the tip not resting in fat or lying against the bone.

If a smaller cut is more convenient for you, New Zealand Rosy Lamb Chops Braised With Rhubarb will entice your diners' palates. The Persian penchant for combining meat with fruit results in a subtle blend of textures and flavorings, and rhubarb is a fine substitute for the quinces, apples and pears that would be used in the Middle East. It is added toward the end of cooking to simmer until just softened.

Either of these variations on classic lamb recipes becomes the centerpiece of a hearty, satisfying repast when served with wild rice and a salad.

LEMON-HONEY LEG OF LAMB
1 frozen leg of New Zealand

Spring Lamb (5 to 6 pounds), thawed

- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 3/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 teaspoon salt

Trim off any excess fat from lamb. Place lamb on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Combine lemon juice, honey, ginger and salt; mix well. Brush half the mixture over lamb. Roast in a 325 degree F. oven 45 minutes.

Brush remaining juice mixture over lamb. Roast 45 minutes longer or until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees F. for rare, 160 degrees F. for medium or 170 degrees F. for well-done. Let rest 10 minutes before slicing. YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

ROSY LAMB CHOPS BRAISED WITH RHUBARB

- 8 frozen New Zealand Spring shoulder lamb chops, thawed
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
- 1 cup beef broth
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- Pinch ground allspice
- 3 to 4 stalks rhubarb, cut into 1-inch pieces (2 cups)
- 1/2 cup chopped parsley

Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. In large skillet heat oil; brown chops on both sides. Remove and reserve. In same skillet saute onions until tender. Add broth, scraping up bits from bottom of pan. Stir in orange juice and allspice. Return chop to skillet. Cover. Simmer 20 minutes. Add rhubarb, simmer 15 minutes longer or until chops are tender. Remove chops to serving platter; keep warm. Boil pan juices until mixture is lightly thickened. Sprinkle with parsley. Spoon sauce over chops. YIELD: 4 servings.

Lemon-Honey Leg of Lamb blends sweet and sour flavors in a Typically Middle Eastern Way

Experts Say Pets Are Good For One's Health

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
UPI Health Editor
 America's going to the dogs — and cats, fish, rabbits, birds and other pets claimed now to number 150 million.

"It's good for health," says Dr. Michael J. McCulloch, a Portland, Ore., psychiatrist who pioneered pet therapy for those with broken spirits. To hear him talk, a dog or cat can be a furry tranquilizer or pep pill one day and a crying towel the next — depending on the mood of master or mistress.

"It's good for children," says Dr. Lee Salk, child development expert and housemate of an orange and white cat, Seymour. Salk even claims pet ownership among childless couples may be an impetus for having a family. He says raising a pet reassures couples they have ability to be a good parent.

"It's good for prisoners," says Dr. Earl O. Strimple, a Washington, D.C., veterinarian who helps supply pets to the D.C. Department of Correction Central Facility in Lorton, Va., and who once cared for President Lyndon B. Johnson's beagles, Him and Her.

"There isn't much chance for intimacy in jail," Strimple said. "So to pick up a cat and stroke it is really remarkable. One guy has five cats and when he goes into the yard and whistles the cats come up to him."

Strimple said pets first went to prison in Oakwood Forensic Center, Lima, Ohio. Injured wild animals are cared for by the prisoners.

"Three or four injured deer were there last time I visited," Strimple said.

At Purdy Treatment Center for Women, Gig Harbor, Wash., Strimple said, prisoners train mutts to be "hearing ear" dogs for the deaf and also to fetch or pick up things for people in wheelchairs.

Strimple's prison pet project depends on good-heartedness on both sides of the bars. The pets come from animal shelters; food is donated by a pet food company, vitamins and vaccines come from drug companies.

Some prisoners buy other things for their pets out of the $21 a month they earn in prison, the veterinarian said.

A survey of 13,000 readers of Psychology Today, 12 percent of them non-pet owners, was the occasion for a discussion about pets recently in New York.

The survey found nearly 100 percent of owners talk to their pets, some in baby talk. One in four mark their pet's birthday. And 54 percent of the pets share a bed with a family member.

Owners ranked pets immediately after family members and other relatives in importance, and ahead of friends, neighbors and their jobs.

The report on the survey, said to be the first large-scale national survey on pets and people, also said pet owners are more satisfied with their lives and have higher self-esteem than non-owners.

Pet owners consistently scored higher than non-owners in feelings of life satisfaction, self-esteem and overall well-being. Pet-owning respondents also reported feeling particularly excited or interested about something in recent weeks, as opposed to non-owners.

"The fact that owners rank their pets third in their lives reinforces the notion that pets are a part of the family," McCulloch said.

"Pet owners value the consistency and non-judgmental nature of their relationship with a pet. Sometimes just the fact that the pet is there when his owner needs him is enough."

Sixty-nine percent of the survey respondents said they turn to their pet when depressed.

Asked why pets help when depression gets people down, McCulloch said: "The non-critical nature of a pet allows a person to air his feelings without the fear of being embarrassed or disputed. Pets draw us out of ourselves without judging us. Everyone needs a sounding board from time to time."

Readers participating filled out a questionnaire printed in the April issue of Psychology Today. These were analyzed by NFO

Research, a Toledo, Ohio-based research firm. Funding came from the Pets Are Wonderful (PAW) Council, a national, not-for-profit public service organization based in Chicago.

Dr. Virginia O'Leary, editorial consultant to Psychology Today and an associate editor of the Journal, American Psychologist, said the survey is the first to point out some consistent differences between those who own pets and those who don't.

INTRODUCING

THE HONEY BAKED HAM CO.

ORIGINATORS OF SPIRAL SLICED HAM

NATIONALLY FAMOUS AND NOW IN ORLANDO

THE HONEY BAKED STORY
 Over 40 years ago Harry J. Hoenselaar had an idea for a unique machine which would slice a ham in a single continuous "spiral" and leave the meat attached to the flavor preserving bone. He was granted two patents, (#'s 2470078 and 2599328), one covering the machine and the other covering the ham itself as "support" for the slice.

Harry knew to end up with the finest ham you must start with the finest hog; selectively chosen on the basis of outer fat cover; obtained by controlled feeding with grain rich mash. The hams were carefully trimmed of excess fat and cured with a special mild cure then "pickled" (stored) to allow flavor development.

For tenderness a ham must be cooked slowly. Harry's hams were cooked as long as 30 hours (over three times as long as most hams). This insures tenderness and allows the hickory and applewood smoke to penetrate every fiber with that unforgettable mouth-watering flavor.

Next the ham is "spiral sliced" on Harry's machine to make serving easier than you can imagine. Any radial cut to the bone releases perfect slices of just the right thickness. (Ready to place on your serving tray or your sandwich).

The final step is the glazing, with imported spices to seal in all the tender moist flavor until you are ready to use it. The rest is up to you! Enjoy the ham that Harry made "So good it will 'haunt' you 'til its gone."

Take Traditional Reuben From Deli For A Cool Salad

Most supermarkets feature tender corned beef, the basis for the famous Reuben sandwich.

Here's a version that becomes a cool, crunchy Reuben salad—a definite departure from the traditional salad of greens or vegetables.

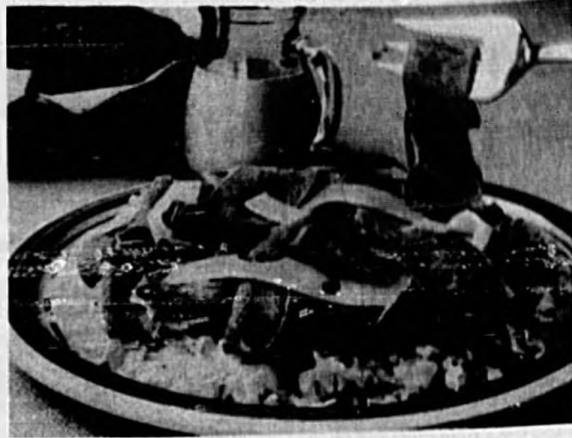

This makes a great take-along dish for a tailgate picnic in the football stadium parking lot.

CRUNCHY REUBEN SALAD

- 12 ounces lean sliced cooked corned beef
 - 1 package (16 ounces) sauerkraut, well drained
 - 4 slices (3 by 3 inches) Swiss cheese
 - 3 tablespoons butter
 - 1 clove garlic, crushed
 - 1 1/4 cups pumpernickel bread cubes (about 3 slices)
 - 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
 - 1/4 cup Thousand Island dressing
- Arrange sauerkraut around outer edge of large platter. Cut cheese into 1/4-inch strips. Place corned beef and cheese in center. Heat butter and garlic in large frying pan until butter is melted; remove from heat. Stir in bread cubes and cheese, mixing until cubes are coated.

Place bread cubes on 15 by 10-inch pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 14 to 16 minutes or until stirring occasionally. Serve croutons and dressing with salad. This kitchen-tested recipe makes four servings.

Reuben salad stars sauerkraut, corned beef and crunchy croutons

Slimming Supper Menu

After you've watched your waistline all summer long, you don't want to "fall" back into old eating habits. To help you, The Lipton Kitchens has developed this Slimming Supper menu. It's a simple low-calorie meal to keep you eating right, eating light.

- SLIMMING SUPPER
- Sparkling Berry Spritzer
- Polynesian Shrimp Boats
- Assorted Crackers
- Vanilla Ice Cream

Begin with a cool beverage like "Sparkling Berry Spritzer." Perfect for the peak of Indian Summer, this favorite thirst-quencher is a delicious blend of low-calorie lemon flavored sugar-free iced tea mix, cranberry juice cocktail and club soda. The iced tea mix, which is minus the calories but not the taste, creates the perfect flavor base for this beverage.

To create Polynesian Shrimp Boats, simply scoop fresh pineapple from shell and toss with cooked shrimp, Chinese pea pods, mandarin oranges and bottled lite creamy cucumber dressing. Vanilla ice cream completes this "delightful" meal by adding only 150 calories per half cup serving.

For in-between meal snacks, be sure to keep a jar of low calorie sugar-free iced tea mix on hand. It's simple to prepare, refreshing and flavorful. And, at only 2 calories per serving, it's a perfect beverage for calorie-conscious consumers.

SPARKLING BERRY SPRITZER

- 2 tablespoons low-calorie lemon flavored sugar free iced tea mix
- 3 cups cold water
- 1 cup cranberry juice cocktail, chilled

Club soda
In pitcher, combine all ingredients except soda. Top with soda and serve with ice. Garnish, if desired, with orange slice. Makes about 4 servings. 45 calories per serving.

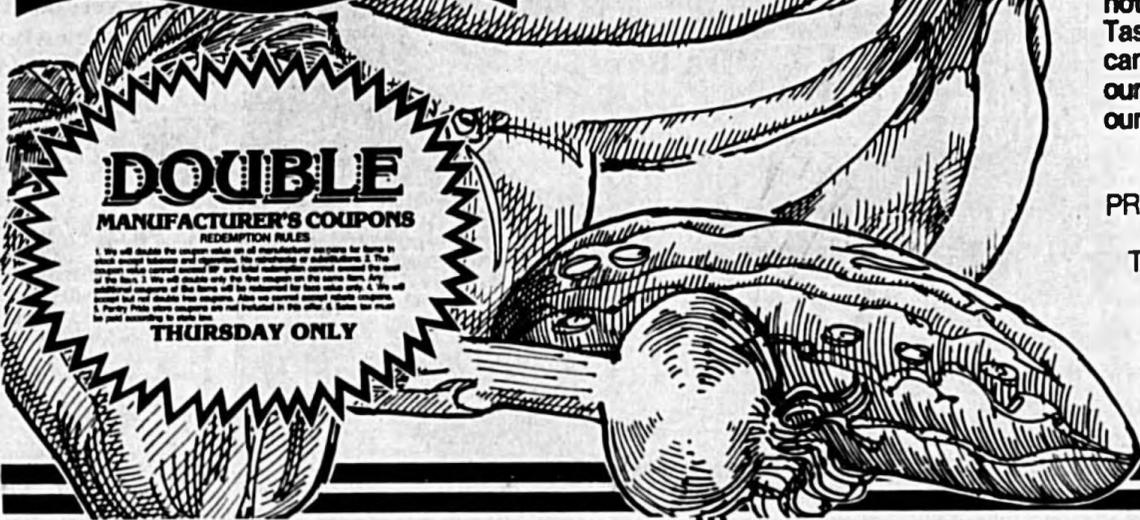

GARDEN FRESH PITA PIZZAS

- 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
 - 1 cup mushroom slices
 - 1 cup chopped zucchini
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
 - 1/4 cup (1 oz.) Kraft grated parmesan cheese
 - 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves, crushed
 - 6 pita bread rounds
 - 1 8-oz. pkg. Kraft shredded natural low moisture part-skim mozzarella cheese
- Combine tomato sauce, vegetables, parmesan cheese and oregano; mix well. Top each pita bread round with 1/2 cup vegetable mixture and 1/4 cup mozzarella cheese. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees, 15 to 20 minutes or until sauce is bubbly. 8 servings

Variations: For a crisper crust, spread both sides of bread with soft Parkay margarine. Bake at 350 degrees, 10 minutes. Turn bread; continue baking 10 minutes. Continue as directed.

Top vegetable mixture with 4-oz. pkg. sliced pepperoni; continue as directed.

Make ahead: Prepare vegetable mixture as directed. Cover; refrigerate up to 24 hours. Continue as directed.

Food fair starts at the grill where sausage gently sizzles

Sausage Inspires Fine Entertaining With An International Flavor

Enjoy an international food fair in your own backyard: French style Sausage Potato Salad; Spanish Onions and Peppers with Pepperoni; Italian Antipasto; Garlic Sauce a la

Grec, and savory sausage on the grill with the aromatics of laurel, fennel, oregano and other herbs. Don't think this extravaganza is complicated or lots of work. It isn't. And what a welcome change from the standard hot dogs, hamburger and the humdrum of old fashioned barbecue. This new approach to cooking and serving summer fare, whether indoors or out, brings new life to any party. Or, it's just plain fun whether for family, friends, guests or anyone and everyone — including the liberated cook.

Let's start with the grill where your choice of natural casing sausage gently sizzles. Just sprinkle crumbled laurel or bay leaf, fennel, oregano or any other favorite aromatic herb over the glowing coals. The flavor penetrates the natural casing of your favorite sausage and sparks an exotic new taste in the succulent meat.

That's chiefly why we say use natural casing sausage — because within their natural curve nestles the best meats available. Some sausage makers identify their products with the symbol: "Made in Natural Casings". But in most cases when the sausages are not identified, look for the natural curve, trust your eye or ask your butcher. There are more than 200 different natural casing sausages in the United States alone. So you have no trouble finding the taste and texture you like best. And the natural casing allows the meat to breathe and to exchange the flavor of other foods, spices and herbs.

GARLIC SAUCE A LA GREC FOR GRILLED NATURAL CASING SAUSAGE
makes 2 cups sauce
8 garlic cloves, cooked (grilled or baked)
2 cups cooked potatoes, sliced or mashed
1 cup olive oil
1/4 cup vinegar
1/4 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
Process garlic and potatoes until smooth. Slowly add oil, vinegar and water in thirds, blend thoroughly after each addition. Season with salt and pepper. If oil separates, stir briskly before serving.
Use as Dipping Sauce for grilled sausages or mix with butter for garlic bread or to season salad dressings.

SPANISH STYLE ONIONS AND PEPPERS WITH NATURAL CASING PEPPERONI
6 servings
3 medium sized onions, grilled
4 medium sized sweet red peppers, grilled
1 medium sized green pepper, grilled
1/4 cup dry sherry vinegar
1/4 cup olive oil
Salt, pepper to taste
1 lb. pepperoni, thinly sliced
Grill onions and peppers until skins are blackened on all sides. Peel, seed and slice. Combine vinegar, oil, salt and pepper. Pour over vegetables, let marinate for 30 minutes. Toss with sliced pepperoni before serving.

FRENCH STYLE POTATO SALAD WITH NATURAL CASING SMOKED SAUSAGE
6 servings
2 pounds small red potatoes
3 tablespoons white wine vinegar
6 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 lbs. smoked grilled sausage, sliced into 1/2-inch slices
1/2 cup sliced green onions, including tops
2 tablespoons capers
Lettuce leaves
Cook potatoes in water until done, approximately 20-30 minutes. Drain; cool. Slice potatoes, toss gently with vinegar, oil salt and pepper. Add sausage to potatoes. Sprinkle with green onions and capers. Serve on lettuce leaves.

ITALIAN STYLE ANTIPASTO
6 servings
1 cup sliced raw fennel, white only (substitute celery if no fennel is available)
6 green onions
1/2 cup sliced red onions
6 black olives
6 green olives
6 artichoke hearts, halved
1/2 cup pimiento strips
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 pound Genoa Salami, sliced
Line a small platter with lettuce leaves. Arrange cut vegetables and Genoa salami evenly on platter. Sprinkle with lemon juice and olive oil.

Husband's Impotence Has Wife Seeking Help

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Five years ago I got remarried to a wonderful man. Unfortunately, he's impotent. I knew this when I married him, but hoped because he was 42 that this would pass.

He says he had sex up till he met me. He was a very heavy drinker and was using pills to keep awake when we met. He still drinks but doesn't take pills. I can't handle it anymore. I have needs too. One of us needs help. How would I go about getting help? He went to a doctor and he gave him hormone pills but he got bad headaches from them, so he gave up.

DEAR READER — It's unfortunate your husband had a bad experience when he tried to get help. I would suggest he see a urologist as a starting point.

His longtime use and continued use of alcohol may be the primary problem. Alcohol will destroy testosterone, the male hormone, in the bloodstream and diminish the amount produced by the testicles. Alcohol decreases a man's virility and his sexual drive and ability. He'll probably need to quit drinking to improve his performance.

That is just one possibility. Impotence is a symptom, not a diagnosis. He will need a good evaluation to find the underlying cause. If his situation is as you have described it, the cause is probably from an underlying medical problem, such as from too much alcohol or another unrecognized problem.

If your husband has a medical problem that can't be corrected or his impotence is permanent, he should know that he can use a mechanical device. Surgically implanted cylinders have been used successfully for quite some time. But I don't think such a device should be a substitute for stopping alcohol.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read a recent article on the dangers of taking megadoses of vitamins. At the time, I was taking vitamins C, E, B-complex, lecithin, calcium, manganese plus phosphorus and vitamin D put out by a well-known vitamin company.

DEAR READER — Your information from the people selling you these products is biased.

It is also wrong. Their motive is to sell you vitamins to make money. Your motive is to protect your health. The two can be in conflict.

Whether they are dangerous or not depends on how much of each you are taking, but the potential is there. Too much vitamin A and D in particular can be harmful regardless of whether it's from a food source. People can get dangerously ill with vitamin A toxicity from eating halibut liver, which is a natural food source.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

When your contract looks easy to make, ask yourself how you can go down. When you've answered that question, ask yourself what you can do about it.

Today's declarer grabbed the ace of diamonds and played two rounds of trumps. When West showed out, declarer did at trick three what he should have done at trick one — he stopped to think. Too late! When East came on lead with his natural trump trick, he was able to exit safely with a diamond and wait for the setting trick in spades.

What should declarer do at trick one? He can go down if trumps split badly. What can he do about it? Maybe nothing. But if the defender with four trumps has the king of spades and fewer than four diamonds, there is an antidote to the poisonous trump distribution.

After winning the diamond ace, South trumps a diamond. The play of the A-K of hearts announces the bad trump split. Declarer now plays the heart queen, leads a club to the ace and trumps another diamond.

Now he plays high clubs. East can trump in or not, chooses. But he has nothing left but spades, so he will have to lead away from the king and South will make his slam.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 9, 1984

A portion of this year may be spent dispersing obstacles that have impeded your progress. Once they're out of the way, you'll put yourself on a promising path.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If others do things your way today, you'll be easy to get along with, but if they attempt to do things their way, you could be quite unreasonable. The Matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which signs you are best suited romantically. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you are able to discern today between sensible boldness or merely being foolhardy, there's a chance you could make a costly mistake.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your possibilities for fulfilling your material ambitions are good today, but don't do so in ways that will make enemies. Be unselfish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be careful today not to make more of something in your mind than it actually is. Dwell on positive aspects, not negative ones.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're basically a generous person, and a scheming acquaintance who is aware of this fact may try to manipulate you today to his or her advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even though you are a competent individual, don't put yourself out on a limb today by promising more than you can deliver. Make realistic projections.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you might learn of something untrue that another has said about you. Do not overreact, because this could make it appear that his or her words have credence.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

You may be involved with someone at this time that you're better off without. If you can't shake the association, at least watch this person carefully.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful in career situations today. One who has thwarted your progress in the past may pretend he or she is supportive of you today but, in truth, is not.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not leave important tasks until the last minute today. If you try to play "catch-up," you might crack under the pressure and make mistakes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you'll treat persons who don't mean too much to you with consideration and understanding, but you might be unduly demanding of those you love.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is not a good day to associate with negative thinkers, because they could cause you to doubt your judgment and make unwise decisions.

Former 'Angel' Tries Wings In 'Night Court'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Debutante, Seven Sisters college graduate, top model, with a house in Los Angeles and an apartment in Manhattan — the good things in life seem to have showered down on actress Shelley Hack.

But at least one thing has been elusive in her life so far and that's a successful run on a hit TV series.

This fall she'll have another try at it when she joins the cast of the half-season-old, still-struggling NBC situation comedy "Night Court."

True, Miss Hack was a cast member of ABC's popular "Charlie's Angels."

However, she joined the long-running series — conceived by the network as detective drama, baptized by the critics as "massage parlor television" — in 1979, a time when angels were coming and going as fast as last fall's new programs.

Miss Hack's angel, Tiffany Welles, lasted only one season before she was replaced by Tanya Roberts' angel.

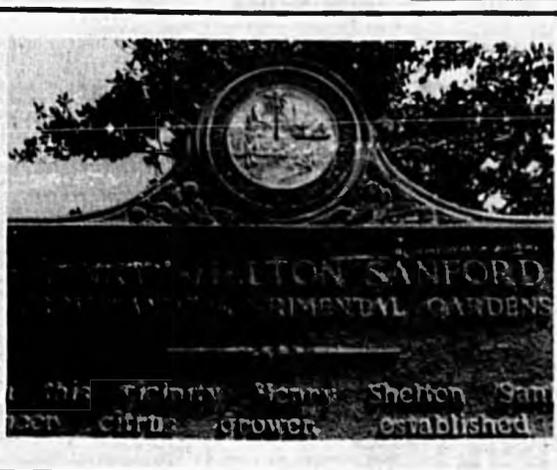

Then came last year's CBS disaster "Cutter to Houston" in which the tall blonde played a surgeon at a small hospital in Cutter, Texas that was connected by helicopter to the Houston Medical Center.

It was not a good year for doctors with helicopters. ABC's "Trauma Center" also proved to be a terminal case.

She has written the whole thing off as a learning experience.

"So many TV shows are yanked off the air, the chances of staying on are teenie. You really have to be philosophical. It's just hard to get a hit show."

On "Night Court" — one of only four new situation comedies to have survived the past TV season — Miss Hack will play a Legal Aid attorney who will become romantically involved with Judge Harry Stone (Harry Anderson).

Ooops!

The two signs in front of the General Sanford Memorial Museum and Library Tuesday appeared to disagree over the middle name of the city of Sanford's namesake. Shelton is the correct name and Jim Jernigan, director of parks and recreation, said the misspelled word on the new $200 wooden sign, which just went up in front of the museum 'will be corrected' as soon as the sign man gets back from vacation. The repair will cost about $25, he said. Who goofed? "I don't know whose mistake it was," Jernigan said.

'Andria Doria' Will Truly Be The Final Chapter

By Julianne Hastings
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The worst thing Peter Gimbel and Elga Andersen foresee happening when the bank safe from the sunken liner Andrea Doria is opened on live television next week is that nothing is left but a pile of green mush.

The safe, recovered three years ago by an expedition led by Gimbel and his wife, Ms. Andersen, will be opened 33 1/2 minutes into the 2-hour documentary "Andrea Doria: The Final Chapter."

The program, hosted by George Plimpton, will be shown over an ad hoc TV network through Television Program Enterprises, Division of Telerep, Inc., covering more than 90 percent of the nation's TV households (consult local listings).

Since the flagship of the Italian Line went down 28 years ago after colliding with the Swedish passenger ship Stockholm in fog 50 miles south of Nantucket Island, it has been rumored that its safes held a fortune in cash and precious stones.

Gimbel and Ms. Andersen, however, maintain that because the safe they recovered from 240 feet of water was a bank safe, it probably contains currency and travelers checks.

"I'm not a treasure hunter," said Gimbel during an interview in the screening room of his upper East Side triplex. "I didn't sell this project on the basis of what was in the safe."

Still, the producer of the acclaimed theatrical feature "Blue Water, White Death," about the great white shark, admitted that when he was finding backers for the project he saw eyes light up when the safes were mentioned.

Since its recovery, the safe has been kept submerged in cold seawater in a tank at the New York Aquarium.

Last week, locksmith Sal Schillizzi, who will open the safe on television, ran into a snag when after working the safe's combination, he found that because of rust, he couldn't budge the door's handle.

To handle the problem, Gimbel had flown to New York from England a "S.W.A.T." team of professional "safecrackers" — experts employed by the makers of that safe and its parent company whose job it is to demonstrate how good a safe is by breaking into it.

Also involved in the safe opening is a group of chemists who will use a fluid displacement ment system containing a heavy liquid that does not attack ink or paper fibers to float the safe's contents out of the door once it is opened.

"I'm not saying nothing can go wrong, because on live television, there are so many unknown factors," Gimbel said. "The worst would be that we opened the safe and all we had was green mush."

"I won't be going there again," he said, "because I don't think I can make a better film."

TV 43 All Shook Up Over Elvis Presley Movie Week

Starting Monday, WMOD Channel 43 will dedicate an entire week to the films of the immortal Elvis Presley.

Presley's films combined the best of his music with his handsome looks and romantic appeal. None of his films were ever award-winning material, but they were light, colorful and entertaining. Movies will be shown at 8 each evening.

Monday: "Roustabout" — Presley stars with Barbara Stanwyck and Joan Freeman as a free-wheeling singer who joins Stanwyck's carnival and learns the meaning of hard work and true love.

Tuesday: "Fun in Acapulco" — Elvis stars with Ursula Andress. Presley is working as a lifeguard and entertainer in the fun and sun of the exciting Mexican resort.

Wednesday: "Girls, Girls, Girls" — Stella Stevens joins Elvis as he is chased by swarms of girls and he can't decide which one he prefers.

Thursday: "Paradise Hawaiian Style" — Elvis and Suzanna Leigh star in the Hawaiian story of Presley as a pilot who runs a charter service while romancing local dolls.

Friday: "Charro!" — Elvis stars with Ina Balin. Presley is a reformed outlaw who escapes from his old gang and helps save a western town.

An Ice Cream Delight

"In the Good Ole Summertime. In the Good Ole Summertime!" The kids are out of school, relatives and friends drop by to visit and it seems like the perfect time for a "good ole" backyard picnic.

To top off your picnic and to cool off in the hot weather, bring out the ice cream churn to make everyone's favorite summertime dessert — cool, refreshing homemade ice cream. For an added treat, try this ice cream recipe that combines two more American favorites — peanut butter and chocolate.

Enjoy Peanut Butter Chocolate Ice Cream in your "Good Ole Summertime!"

PEANUT BUTTER CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 cup creamy peanut butter
 1/2 cup light corn syrup
 2 cups heavy cream
 1 cup milk
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits chopped

In a medium bowl, beat eggs until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar until dissolved. Add to cream can of ice cream maker. Follow manufacturer's instructions for making ice cream. Stir in chocolate bits. Freeze until firm. Makes about 2 quarts.

Homemade Ice Cream a cool treat in "Good Ole Summertime"

SUNBURN TIPS
 A few things to remember in midsummer: Red-haired persons burn most easily, blonds are next. You burn more easily on a hot day than on a cooler day. But it's also easy to burn on an overcast day.

Wind and wet skin also speed up sunburning. Perfume makes some peburn faster. Zinc oxide ointment is still the most effective protector, with sun-block products next. Reapply these frequently. Some medications also promote sunburning.

HAIR STYLING
 Your hair style is your single most important accessory. Choose it according to your hair type, body proportions and personality.

A good salon cut is worth the money, but you can do any necessary body perm or coloring yourself.

When tempted by extremes in styling, remember your working complexion is a really good treatment. One leading cosmetics house the long-term promotions.

SHADOW CONCEALERS
 Under-eye makeup sticks for concealing dark circles have been greatly improved. Their formulas have been lightened so they blend better into fine under-eye skin.

They now contain moisturizers to combat the lines that develop so easily in this naturally dry area.

NEW FACIAL KIT
 Facial massages are still the best way to give the complexion a really good treatment. One leading cosmetics house offers a complete at-home facial kit containing five items.

Two are masks: one to remove all dead top-layer skin cells, the other to firm and smooth the skin. Men may also use this home treatment.

SOOTHING COSMETICS
 Even normal skins can become sensitive in hot weather. A leading irritant to skin — present in many creams and cosmetics — is perfume. Switch to a summer moisturizer, cleanser and makeup in a hypo-allergenic line.

MANICURE AIDS
 Three new products from a firm specializing in manicure aids give you practical benefits at low prices.

One is a felt-tipped wand made to clean out polish that has spilled over into the cuticle rim. Then there's a quick-dry nail spray to save enamel drying time.

Third is a polish thinner, poured through a pipette into the enamel bottle, which you then shake to mix well.

PEP UP YOUR HAIR
 Pep up your hair color without permanently tinting it, says the leading maker of hair colorings.

Their new gel product, with an associated conditioner, comes in 14 shades that blend away naturally in about six shampoos, living up the natural color while improving hair sparkle.

Some shades can be used to lend your hair a new tinge, such as auburn gel to give a glow to brown hair, or blond for golden glints.

Fat Suctioning Growing Field In Cosmetic Surgery

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Kathy Beffield says she always felt her body resembled a bowling pin despite her efforts at exercise and diet, so she recently underwent fat suctioning, a kind of cosmetic surgery increasing in popularity.

"I would do it again in a minute," said Miss Beffield, a dental hygienist and para-esthetologist from the small southeast Missouri town of Potosi. "I was abnormal. All it did was make me normal."

Miss Beffield, 29, said she had had "maddiebags" on her upper thighs as long as she could remember. She ran, dieted, tried spot exercises and saunas — but still "had the humps" outside of her upper thighs.

"If I'd lose weight, I'd look like a bowling pin," she said. As a result, she said she purposely kept about 150 pounds on her 5-foot-9 frame to "balance things out" although she was able to maintain her weight at 125 pounds.

Two years ago she saw a television discussion of blunt section lipectomy, in which high-powered equipment is used to suction fat and contour the body. The technique was developed by Dr. Yves-Gerard Ilouz of France.

Miss Beffield underwent the operation March 18. The only vestiges of the surgery are two inch-wide horizontal scars on the side of each hip and a slight numbness.

Dr. Leroy V. Young, a plastic surgeon with Barnes Hospital and Washington University who performed the procedure on Miss Beffield, said the purple marks eventually will fade to white and the numbness also should leave.

Young said the inconspicuous scarring is only one of the advantages blunt section lipectomy has over other fat-removing operations, such as wholesale fat removal through surgery. He said it also has less risk of infection and blood clots and minimizes damage to blood vessels and nerves.

Young said the procedure is becoming increasingly popular across the country as more doctors learn to do it. He said he performs the technique on about 15 to 20 patients each month, three-fourths of them female.

Before the operation, doctors inject the patient with epinephrine, an adrenaline, to reduce bleeding.

The patient's skin is then marked with a pattern of spikes radiating outward from the point of incision. Doctors insert a blunt-edged instrument called a cannula under the skin.

The cannula creates tunnels and breaks up the yellowish fat, which can be seen as it is suctioned with some blood through rubber tubing into liter bottles. The doctors work until they think they have taken out enough fat.

Young said he removed nearly 4 pounds of fat from Miss Beffield's thighs. He said the most he had ever removed from anyone was roughly 6 pounds.

Miss Beffield typifies the candidate that Young said is best for the operation. He said it is better if the patient is under 40, has good skin elasticity, is physically fit, not obese and has an "abnormal location of fat."

Young said he had discouraged a 5-foot-6 260-pound man and a woman in her 60s from undergoing the operation.

Fat can be removed from the stomach, waist, inner thighs, knees, hips and the back of the arm. Young also said the procedure can be used to refine "tummy tucks" and face lifts and to temporarily reduce lymphedema, the swelling that follows a mastectomy.

The fat never returns, Young said, explaining, "If a person gains weight, they will gain weight all over but retain the normal contour."

Young recommends hospitalizing the patient after the procedure, although he said it can be done on an outpatient basis to save costs. Miss Beffield said the total cost for the surgery and her hospital stay was about $2,025. Young said insurance companies as a rule do not pay for such cosmetic surgery.

Miss Beffield said after her surgery she experienced no pain and had none of the bruises the procedure sometimes causes. Miss Beffield said she gained about 9 pounds after returning home. She had been told not to exercise for about two months after the surgery, and she said she felt depressed for a time and cheered herself with junk food.

Young said it is common for patients who have undergone cosmetic surgery to feel some anxiety.

"You've done something that God didn't make you do," he said.

Miss Beffield said she was initially embarrassed about undergoing the procedure, and told her employer she was having an operation on her ovaries.

"I tried my best to make my body look as good as it could," she said.

She said she had been prepared to accept that she could not reach ideal proportions "but if you don't have to, why?"

THE FRUIT OF PARADISE

The banana is sometimes called "The Fruit of Paradise." Moslem legend has it that Eve used this luscious fruit to tempt Adam in the garden of Eden.

THE MILLION-YEAR-OLD FRUIT

The banana may very well be the oldest of fruits. Some scientists say that the banana plant dates back to the Pliocene era, which occurred some one million years ago.

Along with the entry of men into the kitchen is a growing interest among working couples in staying at home and having informal dinner parties.

Entertaining With Elegance And Ease

With more than half of all females over 16 working outside the home, it is only natural to expect that responsibilities for meal planning and preparation would begin to be shared. This is, indeed, the case: not only are more men cooking and taking interest in meal planning, but men currently comprise 40% of the shoppers in supermarket checkout lines!

Along with the entry of men into the kitchen is a growing interest among couples in staying at home and having informal dinner parties. The result: a new wave of working couples who want to entertain at home with elegance and ease.

Fortunately, with a little list writing and advance planning, you can take care of most of the details for your dinner party beforehand. This way, you will leave plenty of time to relax and enjoy your guests.

Your guests will love the fresh taste and appeal of those recipes and you will love the time you save in serving them.

CHICKEN INDIENNE

Makes 6 to 8 servings
1 1/2 cups white grape juice
1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons curry powder
2 egg yolks
8 pounds chicken parts
Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups crushed cornflakes (6 cups whole flakes)
1 cup flaked coconut
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 teaspoons cornstarch

In a large shallow baking dish (use two if necessary), combine white grape juice, curry powder and egg yolks. Lightly season chicken with salt and pepper and add to baking dish. Cover and marinate in the refrigerator several hours or overnight, turning chicken occasionally. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Drain chicken, reserving marinade. On plate, combine cornflakes, coconut and orange peel. Coat chicken with cornflake mixture; arrange on rack in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with any remaining cornflake mixture. Bake 1 hour or until chicken is tender. Meanwhile, place reserved marinade in saucepan. Stir in cornstarch until smooth. Stir over low heat until thickened. Serve sauce with chicken. If desired, serve with chutney. Other nice accompaniments include brown rice, chopped cucumber and tomatoes marinated in yogurt (an Indian dish called raita) and green peas.

SWEDISH FRUIT SOUP

(makes 6 to 8 servings)
1 1/2 cups purple grape juice
1 1/2 cups apple juice
Generous dash allspice
Generous dash ground cardamom
1/2 cup cantaloupe balls
1/2 cup coarsely chopped unpeeled apple
1 medium orange, sectioned, cut in chunks
1 can (8 ounces) peach slices, undrained (or use fresh peaches), coarsely chopped
Combine all ingredients. Chill well. Serve in individual hollowed out cantaloupe halves or orange shells.

VERY BERRY CHARLOTTE RUSSE

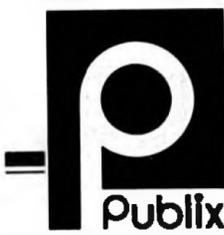

Makes 10 to 12 servings
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups purple grape juice, divided
1/2 cup grape jam
2 cups fresh strawberries, pureed
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 cups heavy cream, whipped
16 whole ladyfingers, split
Additional whipped cream, strawberries for garnish
In a medium saucepan, sprinkle unflavored gelatin over 1 cup grape juice; let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved, about 5 minutes. Stir in jam until smooth. In a large bowl, combine gelatin mixture, remaining grape juice, strawberries and orange juice. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Fold in whipped cream; turn into 9-inch springform pan lined with ladyfingers. Chill several hours or overnight. To serve, garnish

Begin exotic meal with Swedish Fruit Soup and crown with a variation of a traditional dessert, Very Berry Charlotte Russe with whipped cream and strawberries.

Fresh Blueberries Make An Attractive Dessert For Parties

Take advantage of the blueberry season as it moves across the country. Many cooks like to put up syrups and freeze blueberries during the summer while the berry is in season, saving it for the winter months.

Fresh blueberries make an attractive party or bridal-shower dessert as part of a cream cheese round. If you do not have scalloped cutters, use other shapes such as a gingerbread man (for all three sizes).

This pretty dessert, with the special flavor of fresh berries, is one to savor.

BLUEBERRY CREAM CHEESE ROUNDS

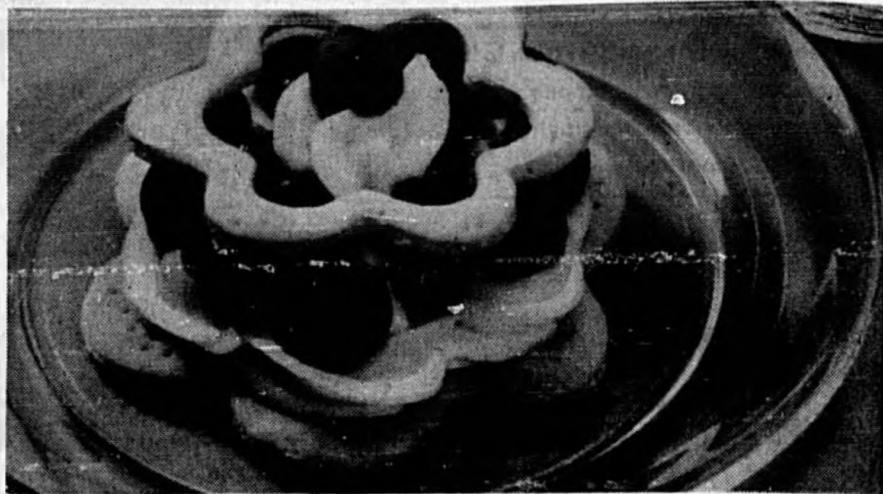

- 6 tablespoons sweet butter, room temperature
 - 8 ounces cream cheese, room temperature
 - 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 tablespoon cream
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 cups fresh blueberries
- Blend butter and half (4 ounces) the cream cheese with a spoon until creamy. Add flour gradually, blending well after each addition. Chill dough for easier handling. Heat oven to 400 degrees. Roll out dough on a lightly floured board to thickness of 1/8 inch.

Cut 10 pastry rounds with scalloped 3 1/4-inch cutter. Then cut 10 additional rounds with a 2 1/4-inch scalloped cutter. Cut centers from the smaller rounds with a 1 1/2-inch cutter, forming pastry rings. Place larger rounds and rings on cookie sheets.

Prick each several times with a fork. Bake 8 to 10 minutes. At serving time, combine the remaining cream cheese, cream, sugar and vanilla. Spread the cheese mixture over the pastry rounds. Place about 1 cup fresh blueberries over cheese mixture. Top each with a pastry ring and a dab of remaining cheese mixture. Top with a blueberry. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 servings.

Blueberry Cream Cheese Rounds make use of berries in season.

Books In Brief

The Los Angeles Times Book of the 1984 Olympic Games (Abrams, 191 pp., $30) This well-illustrated book is a collection of articles by the staff of the Los Angeles Times, plus two introductory essays on the birth of the Games and a look at the '32 Olympics, which were held in Los Angeles. Each of the 32 articles deals with an event and what it entails. There also is a complete list of the gold medal winners and their scores or times at the two previous Olympics. This is a worthy companion to the Games.

The Other Side of the River, by Douglas Wallop (Norton, 287 pp., $14.95) Wallop, who wrote "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," examines the dark side of the soul in this novel. Photographer Charlie Ellis' wife, Anne, is fascinated with evil and that leads to disaster. Charlie's revenge takes him through many places including Mayan ruins and a prison for the criminally insane. He eventually finds peace with the daughter of the man he has slain.

I Stand Corrected, More On Language, by William Safire (Times Books, 488 pp., $18.95) This is a collection of columns by one of the masters of language use. Whether or not you agree with him, he's almost always interesting to read.

The Audubon Society Handbook for Butterfly Watchers, by Robert Michael Pyle (Scribner's, 274 pp., $17.95) How to identify butterflies, practical advice for the field, and butterfly behavior are all discussed in this guide written under the auspices of the Audubon Society. This is a valuable book for the beginner and seasoned enthusiast alike.

An Uncommon Man: The Triumph of Herbert Hoover, by Richard Norton Smith (Simon and Schuster, 488 pp., $22.95) Most people think only of the Depression when they hear the name of Herbert Hoover. This biography looks at Hoover's behind-the-scenes influence after he was no longer president. It tells of his negotiations to head off a Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, and his involvement with Nixon and Kennedy, among others.

Cristina Ferrare Still to Have It in Every Part of Your Life, by Cristina Ferrare DeLorean (Simon and Schuster, 205 pp., $18.95) Miss Ferrare is a top model who now shares her tips for looking stylish and living in style. She gives her views on, and methods for, ski hair care, exercise, how to dress, what makes a home comfortable and why you might need a decorator. There are even low-cost recipes. Miss Ferrare, as all must know by now, is the wife of former car manufacturer John DeLorean.

Microwave Magic

Peach Season Brings Variety Of Desserts

This season peaches have been of better quality and more plentiful than they have been for several years. I've canned some 36 quarts to enjoy this winter as well as eaten as many as hand fruit at lunch. We've had peaches and ice cream and fresh peach pie and these microwave recipes have all been tested in my home kitchen.

Peach Crisp is quicker to prepare than peach pie and microwaves very well.

PEACH CRISP
6 medium peaches
2 tablespoons sugar
TOPPING:
1/2 cup rolled oats
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3 tablespoons butter
Dash of salt
Combine topping ingredients and cut in butter with pastry blender. Set aside.

Peel, seed and slice peaches in a 10 x 6-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar. Microwave uncovered on 100% power for 6 minutes. Stir several times during cooking. Sprinkle with the oat mixture. Microwave uncovered on 100% power 3-6 minutes. Serve warm.

This peach pie is made with a microwave graham cracker crust and a glaze poured over the fresh peaches. Top it with whipped cream, or ice cream when served.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST
(19 or 10-inch crumb crust)
1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons brown, or granulated sugar
Melt butter in 9 or 10-inch pie plate on 100% power for 50-60 minutes. Stir in crumbs and sugar. Press crumbs firmly and evenly against bottom and side of plate.
Microwave on 100% power 1 1/2 minutes. Cool.

PEACH GLAZE PIE
5 cups sliced, peeled fresh peaches (divided)
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Mash 1 cup peach slices with fork. In 4 cup measure, combine sugar and cornstarch. Stir in water, lemon juice and mashed peaches. Microwave on 100% power 2-5 minutes or until thickened and clear, stirring after 2 minutes, then every minute. Place remaining peach slices in shell. Pour peach glaze over peach slices, carefully covering all the peaches. Refrigerate until chilled.

FRESH PEACH COBBLER
Combine 1 1/4 pounds fresh peaches, peeled and sliced with 1/2 cup brown sugar in a 8x8-square microwave safe container. Cover and microwave on 100% power for 3-5 minutes or until tender. Stir in:
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
For topping combine:
1 cup buttermilk biscuit mix
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened

2 tablespoons hot water
Stir until dough pulls away from sides of bowl and forms a ball. Gently spread topping over filling. Sprinkle with additional cinnamon. Microwave on 85% power (MEDIUM HIGH) for 9-11 minutes or until topping is set.

Fresh peaches, in a tart shell, can be served at breakfast as a special treat.

BREAKFAST PEACH TART
1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup oil
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup peach or apricot preserves

3 cups fresh peach slices
Combine flour, oil, milk, sugar, and salt. Pat into bottom and sides of a 9-inch glass pie plate. Pierce with fork. Microwave on 100% power 4-6 minutes. Cool. Arrange peach slices on tart shell. In glass measure heat preserves 30-45 seconds or until melted. Pour over the fruit. Cut into wedges to serve.

Delicious Dimension To Stir-Fry

Light, easy and spicy-hot, Szechuan Dragon Chicken adds a delicious dimension to stir-fry cooking. In just minutes the full flavor of the Orient can be at your table. The key ingredients to success in many Chinese dishes are fresh vegetables and brewed soy sauce. This recipe takes advantage of the abundance of carrots, succini and sweet onions to provide summer-fresh flavor and color. The characteristic taste of naturally brewed soy sauce combines with garlic and crushed pepper to "add the spice and everything nice" to the marinade and piquant, spicy-hot sauce. Stir-fry cooking is not only delicious, it's easy, nutritious, inexpensive and gets the cook out of the kitchen - fast!

SZECHUAN DRAGON CHICKEN STIR-FRY
1 whole chicken breast, skinned and boned
4 tablespoons soy sauce, divided
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 clove garlic, minced
4 teaspoons cornstarch
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided
2 carrots, cut diagonally into 1/2-inch slices
1 onion, chunked and separated
2 small zucchini, cut in half lengthwise, then cut into diagonal chunks
1/4 cup unsalted peanuts
Hot cooked rice
Cut chicken into thin, narrow strips. Combine 1 tablespoon soy sauce and next 3 ingredients; stir in chicken and set aside. Blend 4 teaspoons cornstarch, remaining soy sauce, red pepper and 1 cup water; set aside. Heat 1 tablespoon oil in wok or large skillet over high heat. Add chicken and stir-fry 2 minutes, or until chicken is tender; remove. Heat remaining oil in same wok. Add carrots and onion; stir-fry 3 minutes. Add zucchini; stir-fry 2 minutes. Stir in chicken and soy sauce mixture; cook and stir until sauce boils and thickens. Just before serving, stir in peanuts. Serve immediately with rice as desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.
