This year the game is late in starting, especially here in Florida. This year the issues are definable as rough as ever in terms of words. In terms of meanings they are being obscured. Election of Richard M. Nixon, perennial Republican candidate, as president in 1968 changed just about everything in the national political world. Now in 1970 the new Nixon administration confronted with the old testing time, the old litmus paper which defines for the guidance of those in and out of office, how the public taste reacts. This year the Democrats, its national figure changed by the unbelievable stupidities of the '65 campaign into one of ineffective mustering of political strength which was once unassailable, struggles for a unifying purpose.

Now it is the Republican strategy which demands analysis. Now it is its most controversial spokesman - Vice Tresident Spiro T. Agnew -- who is engaged in a polarizing of the American people which Candidate Nixon had promised to "bring together." Wooing of Fig Labor by the GOP is on in earnest. This is a fundamental decision made by the Nixon Republican leadership in order to change the Grand Old Party into a Grand New Party which would attract, maintain and deserve the majority From the viewpoint of a political observer or a student of long-term political developments, this GOP maneuver is one which bears in it possibilities for needed improvements in the political machinery

Yet from the point of view of the non-aligned voter, or the discerning Republican or Democrat, what is important right here and right now is what is happening to our times and ourselves.

Voter understanding of what is at stake, of the responsible views of responsible candidates, of the need to sift the chaff out of the harvest or words. are obvious the overall necessities.

Thus it seems increasingly incredible that the attack by Agnew, unleashed for the two purposes of raising funds for GOP warehests and spearing pelitical enemies with passion, could be allowed by an experienced old political hand at this tactic as is

The national strategy of both parties has selected various states where show-downs have been experienced or are being experienced. Florida is one in which the Republican cambidate for the U.S. Senate, Rep. Bill Cramer of St. Peteraburg is being given total support by the President.

"Say It Isn't So!"

There are times when even editors just can't believe the printed word!

words. All of us are well aware of what happened in Los Angeles and its assumption of "greater" as limitless.

If it weren't for the fact that some ill-informed persons may believe as fact what is fiction, it would be enough to take a look, chuckle and file it away.

But we are jealous of the reputation of our own Greater Sanford area. We are not ready let Orlando absorb us either by inference or

And we would advise at least one TV station, who described the momentous and importan't decision of Stromberg-Carlson to come to the General Dynamics-Dynatronics Division plant already operating in Lake Mary as an Or-lando Area event located in "South Seminole" to check on their news sources.

We are proud of the choice which the Stromberg-Carlson management has made. We wel-come them and their folks to Greater Sanford. But the plant, we must explain, is not any where but in Lake Mary, Seminale County, a good 15 miles from Orlando!

Fashion for the young in heart is a whole new scene for fall. New fabrics, silhouettes and new freedoms have been combined to make every girl's outfit her very own thing. The sportswear look plays a big part in this fashion revolution. For a real swinger, there is the great head-to-toe look (left) in deep brown felt. The soft, floppy-brim hat is fringed to complement the cut-out sleeveless jerkin and midi skirt. The three-piece, head-to-toe ensemble (right) is of bold-est tricolor plaid. The newsboy cap has a new, wide visor, and is worn with a jounty slouch. The look is completed with a sleeveless midi jerkin and matching, fringed midi skirt. These are from Geronimo

Another complaint to Seminole authorities about Clark was filed by a man who said Clark threatened him at a Casselberry bar. The sheriff's office investi-gated the complaint filed last night and reported Clark said the man was just drunk. No charges were made against Clark as a result of the bar incident. Sanford police reported an incident of a man trying to entice young children into his car in the Lake
