Herring's Staff May Probe Buy Clay Pit Complaints Checked

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Complaints about the Seminole County Commission's pending purchase of a $17,000 clay pit have been forwarded to the state attorney's office, and (Related Story, Page 2A)

Investigators are checking facts to determine if a full-blown investigation is warranted, said today.

"We're interested if there was a conflict of interest involved here. I told my investigators to determine if there is sufficient matter for an investigation and report back Tuesday," Herring said. The Seminole-Brevard Chief Investigator also said he couldn't "pull conclusions" from his office would be interested if "there's a conflict of interest."

On Tuesday, Herring said Seminole investigators are scheduled to deliver a report on the clay pit. Then, he said, he will make the decision whether to investigate, or not.

Herring said he received complaints concerning the clay pit, which is located on a 104-acre site west of Interstate 4 and east of Markham Woods Road, on Friday.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. said commissioners will be in the office on Friday. If the facts warrant, "I will adopt an attitude of 'complete cooperation' towards a probe by Herring's office."

However, Vihlen said he was "personally aware of no reason that would warrant an investigation" and would resent such an investigation unless additional facts are forthcoming.

"If the facts at hand are used, it would amount to pure harassment activities and a waste of the taxpayer's money," the chairman said.

Vihlen said the site for the clay pit was selected by the county's professional staff. "The commissioners themselves did not select the individual parcel but it was selected on the basis of professional engineering data," he added.

Vihlen also said he was not aware of any other complaints concerning the clay pit.

Mike Hattaway asked for and won commission approval of a 30-day moratorium on the clay site. That moratorium expired last week, and the commission agreed to consider an ordinance today which would allow the county to secure money for purchase of the site.

Some Markham Woods residents questioned the contract because Laurel Reilly, the broker at the time, employed a son-in-law who is a first cousin of County Attorney Tom Freeman. Binford has since resigned his position with Laurel Reilly.

Last Tuesday, Freeman told commissioners that, legally, "We can proceed."

Hattaway, emphasizing the end of the 30-day moratorium, said no citizens came before the commission to protest the purchase on the clay site since the moratorium was imposed. Initially, he said the moratorium was to "clear the air" of complaints and allegations of conflicts of interest presented by some Markham Woods residents. Though residents have not been back before the commission, they did file a law suit seeking to block purchase of the site.

However, Freeman said pending litigation is against the county's board of adjustment, and not against the commission.

Also on tap for Tuesday's commission meeting is a memo from Circuit Court Clerk Art Beckwith Jr.

Beckwith says he will ask the commission to revert back to the old method of paying county administrators on a monthly basis. Or, he said, he will ask that a yearly salary be divided by 52 weeks to insure administrators 52 pay checks for like amounts.

The issue was raised by some administrators who said paychecks were short last week, the last pay period in the 1974-75 fiscal year.

County To Hold Off On Road Cuts

The Seminole County Commission today agreed not to delete any road projects as a result of a $73,000 reduction in money that was earmarked for road construction this year.

Instead, the commission, at a work session, agreed to hold off for six months. Public Works Superintendent Bob Andrew said in six months his department will have a better overview of the situation.

Today's work session was called after $75,000 was deleted during last month's budget sessions. The deletion was at the insistence of Commissioner Mike Hattaway. Commissioner Dick Williams expressed some reservation about work that is planned for Airport Boulevard and SR 46A. Andrew said it's conceivable that sufficient money will be available for one or the other of the two projects. However, he urged the commission to wait until the workshop six months from now to make any decision.

Hattaway said it is conceivable that "no roads will be cut." The reason, he said, is because six months from now the commission may be able to shift programs instead of cutting road projects.

SR 46A and Airport Boulevard are in Commissioner Sid Vihlen Jr.'s and John Kimbrough's districts. Neither commissioner was present at today's meeting.

County To Hold Off On Road Cuts

At the time the $75,000 slated for road material was deleted from the budget, commissioners said they would decide at a later date in whose district the road or roads would be deleted from the county's road program.

The reduction was of the major parts which brought next year's budget to $17,000 less than the figure needed to meet the millage set by the county's property appraiser. At the present level, Seminole taxpayers pay $8.40 for each $1,000 of taxable property.

The 1975-76 budget was finalized at $18-million, down from $22-million in requests from department heads. The '74-75 budget was slightly more than $18-million.

Pre-Trial Publicity Cited By Defense

Venue Motion Denied In 'Steal-To-Order' Ring Trial

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

A defense motion to move out of Seminole County the trial of two suspects arrested in connection with an alleged "steal to order" (theft) ring was denied today by Circuit Court Judge Robert B. McGregor.

Herman E. "Cooter" Fields, 38, 125 Grace Boulevard, and Donald R. Crowder, 44, 551 Karen St., both Altamonte Springs, are accused of buying, receiving and concealing a 1960 horsepower outboard motor that police say was stolen in Orlando in January.

Affidavits by the defendants filed with the motion for a change of venue allege news articles have contained "misleading and inaccurate statements that are adverse to them in connection with pending charges."

Defense attorneys Tom Freeman and Ned Woolfolk alleged that "by exposure to newspaper articles the persons selected for the jury will necessarily have preconceived ideas concerning the defendants' guilt."

Freeman told the court that his clients cannot receive a fair and impartial trial in Seminole because of the "vast amount of pre-trial publicity."

He claimed "this series of cases has been in the newspaper every day for the last 30 days," but filed with the defense motion every day for the last 30 days, but filed with the defense motion every day for the last 30 days.

Judge McGregor said the Fields-Crowder case will be the second case to go to trial this week and told Freeman that he would have "one hour notice."

Freeman alleged there may be problems since his firm also is scheduled to represent the Seminole County Commission Thursday in Tallahassee in a hearing on Sheriff John Polk's budget appeal.

The county has also retained Sanford attorney Mack Cleveland Jr., a former state senator, to fight Polk's appeal for $285,000 more in funds for the current fiscal year.

Assistant State Atty. Charles Gordon, prosecutor in the Fields-Crowder case, said he hasn't seen the change of venue motion filed Friday by Freeman.

Gordon, according to documents in the court file, is conducting a state attorney's investigation today by "oral examination" of Mrs. Carolyn Crowder of Altamonte Springs and Roger Coppedge of Longwood in connection with the Fields-Crowder trial.

Mrs. Crowder is the wife of Donald Crowder and is also one of 13 suspects arrested following raids by sheriff's agents Aug. 15 in which agents said stolen property valued at approximately $30,000 was recovered.

Scheduled for trial beginning Tuesday, in connection with the alleged theft ring, is Ralph Dilisio, 41, of Maitland — owner of Maitland Marine, U.S. 17-92, Fern Park. Dilisio is accused of buying, receiving and concealing an air compressor that twice was stolen in Orlando last November.

When agents raided Maitland Marine Aug. 15 a wrecker was used to haul away a large industrial-type air compressor seized in the raid.

Street Completions Expected By July

City Paving Program On Schedule

By JOE ASKREN
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's federally-funded $1.2 million city street paving program is "very much" on schedule, City Engineer Mack LaZeny said today.

"The rainy season was considered earlier and the weather hasn't delayed the overall project at this point," he said.

All 22 miles to be paved in the five-phase project began last June and are expected to be finished by July 1976, he said.

LaZeny said the fourth contract was let last Wednesday to Halifax Paving Co., Daytona Beach, at a cost of $272,989.75 for 5.72 miles in two sections of the city.

The sections include streets in the North section between Sanford Ave. and Poplar Ave. including all streets north of 13th St. and north of 3rd St., west of Poplar, LaZeny said.

The contract also includes the Southeast section of the city, East of U.S. 17-92 and Sanford Ave. and South of 15th St., he said. Completion of contract IV is expected by April 1, said LaZeny.

"Surveyor crews will precede the actual paving work," he explained.

LaZeny said contracts III and IV in the Goldsboro area are "90 per cent complete" and asphalt work on the 7.43 miles involved is to begin "this week, depending on the rains." He said completion of these projects are expected by the end of November.

"All five contracts were awarded at the same time this past June to Halifax Paving," LaZeny said. The contractor chose the priorities, he added.

The other two paving projects include—Contract I for $233,595.47 in the Georgetown area to start Feb. 1 and be complete by July, 1976. A total of 4.43 miles in this Northeast portion of the city is involved.

Contract II for $233,127.87 in the Drexelwood area or South-west portion of the city will begin paving of 4.33 miles Dec. 1. Completion is expected by May, 1976, LaZeny said.

The paving project is being paid for with federal revenue sharing monies. LaZeny said the outgrowth of a civil rights suit filed in U.S. District Court in Orlando last year by Georgetown residents actually delayed the overall paving project. Georgetown residents had refused to be assessed for the paving work, LaZeny explained.

"We are very busy with three contracts (projects) going on at the same time," said LaZeny.

He explained the city has also contracted with Singer-Jayne Atlantic, Orlando, for two additional water wells in the West part of the city, near the Mayfair Golf Course. This is a $60,000 project.

LaZeny said bids are expected by Oct. 15 on the $25 million Public Works Area project on a city owned 14 acre tract. He said this job is scheduled to be completed in 120 days.

Council Swearing Slated

OVIDO — New council members will receive their oaths of office and an election for President and Vice President will be held today when City Council meets at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

A public hearing to consider amending the zoning ordinance to allow home occupations by special exception in all zones and schools in all zones is also scheduled.

Goals and objectives of Ovidio, a resolution appointing a Special Municipal Judge; and the appointment of a trustee to the Pension Program are subjects slated for consideration at the meeting.

Under the heading of "Old Business," Council will hear a committee report on two bids for city insurance; and the second reading of Ordinance 284.

There will be a public hearing on that ordinance.

Phone Charges Voted

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Public Service Commission agreed today to let two telephone companies charge for information calls while the commission decides whether such charges should be imposed statewide.

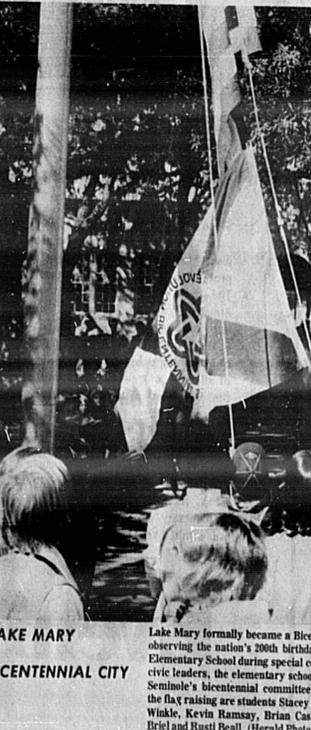

The commission voted formally to allow General Telephone Co. to put the charge into effect Oct. 10. General Telephone will charge 15 cents per call, after more than six in one month.

To meet technical requirements, the commission delayed a formal vote on allowing Winter Park Telephone Co. to charge only if the number requested is listed in telephone books. However, Commission Chairman Billy Mayo and Commissioner Paula Hawkins both said they supported this idea.

The experimental charges by the two companies would remain in effect until the commission could complete a statewide study.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. and United Telephone Co. both have asked to start directory assistance charges.

Mayo said he expected all companies in the state to seek them eventually and that the commission should decide in a general investigation rather than a case-by-case basis so there will be statewide uniformity.

Striking Firemen Blamed For Kansas City Blazes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — City officials say they believe striking firefighters are responsible for some of the 217 blazes which have erupted since firefighters walked off their jobs Friday in a pay dispute. Fire Director Frank Spink said there are "strong indications that arson was involved in six fires" over the weekend, and police reported one firebreaking Sunday night. Spink said the city had asked surrounding communities which have mutual aid agreements with Kansas City for firefighting assistance, but "got no's, no's, no's. There were no burning, and nobody would do anything." He said union agreements in the other cities take precedent over the mutual aid pact.

Kidnap Spree Urged By SLA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A communique signed "Symbionese Liberation Army" and proclaimed that the "SLA lives on" urges terrorists to go on a kidnaping spree among the rich to raise bail money for their imprisoned comrades. The FBI said there is no way to immediately determine the authenticity of the communique, similar in format to past messages from the SLA and delivered to media in three California cities during the weekend. The message promises future proof that the SLA remains strong and active, despite a statement by FBI agent Charles Bates after the Sept. 18 arrests of Patricia Hearst, Bill and Emily Harris that all members of the terrorist group were either dead or in custody.

Hoffa Lead Called Hoax

DETROIT (AP) — A search for the body of ex-Tammany president James R. Hoffa stemmed from a hoax developed by an ex-cop from Los Angeles who demanded $12,000 to pinpoint the location of a grave that never existed, according to law enforcement sources here. "My information is very solid that this whole thing is a hoax," said one source. "This guy demanded $75,000 to find Hoffa's body, and a number of people agreed to pay it. The figure went up later to $125,000. I don't know whether the money has been paid. I suspect it has." Another source confirmed the figures and a third agreed that the entire episode was a "flimflam" but said he did not know how much money was involved.

School Classes To Resume

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Seniors were to return to classes today at Danbury High School, closed for three days last week following racial violence in which 13 people were injured and 12 were arrested. About 25 police officers and state Board of Education monitors were to be on hand when school opened, and Schools Supt. Pasquale Nappi said they would remain until a peaceful opening was assured. Seniors were to return to classes today, juniors and seniors on Tuesday, sophomores only on Wednesday and all students on Thursday. Friday and next Monday are school holidays, which Nappi said he hoped would contribute to a calm continuation of classes.

CIA Attempts Detailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — CIA attempts to kill Cuba's Fidel Castro occurred under three presidents but there is no hard evidence that any president authorized such schemes, according to the chairman of the Senate intelligence committee. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Sunday that "plans and attempts" against Castro's life "span the years from the Eisenhower administration through the Kennedy administration, and into the Johnson administration." Appearing on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Church also said, "We have no hard evidence that directly relates this activity to any order that was given by any president."

FBI Political Tricks Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newly released FBI documents reveal the agency engaged in political dirty tricks in Michigan and once cost a Cleveland woman her job because her husband had worked for a Socialist-oriented party in a campaign. ## Unidentified Men Sought

Three Weekend Robberies Reported

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police today were investigating three reported weekend robberies — in each case allegedly committed by two unidentified men. Bobby Coffield, of 1612 Peach Ave., Sanford, told detectives that two men stopped him and asked for a match at 11 a.m. Sunday on the corner of Pear Avenue and 16th Street. Then one of the men stuck a pistol in Coffield's face, police reported, and told him, "put your hands up or I'll kill you."

Police said the men fled with $172 taken from the victim and were last seen in a green auto. Levi Chandler, of 1801 McCarthy Ave., Sanford, reported two men, one of them armed with a pistol, snatched him out of a telephone booth on W. 13th Street about 10 p.m. Saturday and dragged him into an alley warning "if you holler, I'll kill you."

Chandler told officers the bandits took $47 and fled on foot down the alley. Police are also investigating a report that two men held

Buster Ward, 1221 Lincoln Court, in his yard Friday and fled on foot after taking $60 from the victim.

Two Arrested

Sheriff's deputies reported they have cleared up a weekend burglary at Longwood with the arrest of two juvenile boys, ages 14 and 16. Investigators said $913 in guns and personal papers have been recovered. Deputies said three shotguns, a rifle, pistol and ammunition were taken in a burglary at the Carlton

Vihlen Pledges Cooperation With Any Probe

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. today sent a letter to State Attorney Abbott Herring, Chief Investigator Jack Fulenwider and county commission investigator Jack Fulenwider pledging "full cooperation" in any investigation of the county's pending purchase of a $317,000 clay pit. However, Vihlen's letter says that unless there are "facts I am unaware of an investigation would be a waste of tax money. Unless there are facts I am unaware of, this issue is above board." Vihlen's letter was in response to statements by Herring that requests for an investigation have been filed with his office, and he has asked for a report from Jack Fulenwider, Seminole County's chief investigator for Herring. Fulenwider today refused to comment and said any statement will have to come from Herring, who is the chief attorney for Seminole and Brevard Counties. "I understand from press sources that the state attorney's office is considering initiation of an investigation into the details of county commission's decision to purchase properties for clay resources. "Should an investigation be launched, may I on behalf of the board extend a pledge of full cooperation with your efforts. Hopefully, before a decision is made I would respectfully request that all details be considered," Vihlen said in the letter. He also asked for a meeting to clarify "certain details surrounding this issue."

A major complaint by homeowners was that the 104 acre clay pit near their Markham Woods homes would devalue their property.

other recent burglaries, deputies said. In other sheriff's reports, burglars seemed to favor firearms in weekend break-ins. S.R. Lewis, Oak Trail, Forest City, reported two antique pistols — one of them 70 years old — were taken from his residence. Deputies said the pistols were valued at $150. Steve Kunk, Elm Avenue, Oviedo, reported a rifle, chain saw, lawn mower and black saddle and bridle with silver studs were taken in a burglary at his residence.

A shogun and a chain saw were taken in a break-in at the Geneva home of James T. Goodman, according to a report filed by deputy J.M. Patton. Sheriff's deputies reported two air conditioning condenser units, valued at $1,200 were stolen from the rear of San Jose Executive Center, SR-436.

Masaryktown Wins Third Straight Plucking Title

SPRING HILL (AP) — The feathers were flying this weekend. And when the air cleared, an unflappable team from nearby Masaryktown emerged with its third straight World Chicken-Plucking Championship. "It was a case of old hands over new chicks," said a member of the nimble-fingered, four-woman team from the small Hernando County community of poultry farmers. The squad stripped 12 birds in a record 47.8 seconds.

"Us old mud-bens came through," said Sammie Alexus, captain of the Masaryktown team, which included two wives of poultry farmers.

Pitts, Lee To Campaign

MIAMI (AP) — Two black men who gained freedom last month after serving 12 years in prison for murders to which a white man first confessed in 1956 say they are determined to keep their case in the public eye. "It would be a helluva set-back to justice if we just walked away and started picking beans or something," says Wilbert Lee. "We need to explore exactly what happened to us and make sure it never happens again."

Lee and Freddie Pitts, a soldier at the time of his arrest, twice were convicted in North Florida for the 1963 slayings of two white service station attendants. But in 1966, Curtis Adams, a white man convicted of an almost identical crime in Fort Lauderdale, confessed to the North Florida slayings.

Charges Levied In Drownings

PORT CHARLOTTE (AP) — A Port Charlotte man was in jail today charged with manslaughter in the drowning deaths of 2-year-old twins, police said. The Charlotte County sheriff's office said that Robert Lee Chaney, 47, was arrested Saturday night after Tod and Julie Jones were found drowned in a pool.

A sheriff's spokesman said Mr. and Mrs. William Jones left their children in the care of a woman with whom Chaney was living but the woman asked Chaney to watch the infants while she went to the store. The spokesman said Chaney passed out from drinking and the twins wandered through a sliding glass door and fell into the pool.

Commissions Probed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Some insurance agents are tripping their commissions by wrongfully putting good drivers into the assigned-risk category, says Paul Steinberg, D-Miami and chairman of the House Insurance Committee. The possibility of limiting the commissions that insurance agents can charge was one of several key issues to be considered today by Steinberg's committee.

Also slated for today in the October round of House committee meetings was a discussion by the Education Committee on a bill that would reduce from nine to five years the terms of members of the Board of Regents.

11 Killed On Highways

By The Associated Press Traffic accidents in Florida during the weekend claimed at least 11 lives, state troopers said today. Two of the victims were 16-year-old motorcycleists.

Ted Jordan Montgomery was struck in the rear by another motorcycle Saturday in the Florida Keys, was thrown to the highway and struck by a car, troopers said. Roger Hall Gresson of Cocoa lost control of the motorcycle he was riding early Saturday in Brevard County and was killed when it slammed into a tree, they said.

Lawyers Deny Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst has confessed to several crimes, including a bank robbery and a baby robbery, and will testify against her terrorist comrades in return for immunity or special treatment, the New York Post reported today.

The report was immediately denied by the U.S. attorney in San Francisco and by a lawyer for the 21-year-old Miss Hearst. The Post said it learned from "sources familiar with the interviews" that Miss Hearst confessed during discussions with court-appointed psychiatrists. It said Miss Hearst decided to cooperate after her attorney F. Lee Bailey told her that the only way to avoid a long prison term was to turn state's evidence.

The Post's sources said Miss Hearst described her part in various crimes, including a bank robbery last April 21 in Carmichael, Calif., in which a woman was murdered. It said she also identified several persons who harbored her when she was a fugitive. Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, already has been

Airmen To Hold First Reunion

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Some 650 crewmen of the planes that penetrated Nazi Germany's "Fortress Europe" and helped end World War II meet this week for the first reunion of the Eighth Air Force Historical Society. The Eighth suffered 47,000 casualties among the 300,000 servicemen who flew, maintained or provided support for the B17 Flying Fortresses and B24 Liberators. "Of the 36 planes in our bomb group, we would lose one or two on an average mission," said Arthur Selevan of Miami. Thinking back, crewman Jack Hamory, now 60, said that although he enlisted for cadet training right after the attack on Pearl Harbor, "I thought on a single sortie into Berlin's annexed by Sanford before Lake Mary was incorporated in 1973. Knowles said that de-annexation of the property has been discussed by city officials but "it has never been settled in court."

Knowles said that Massey's letter is expected to involve Sanford's taking the initiative in going to court "in a friendly suit to obtain an answer to a question of annexation or incorporation."

Vihlen said the county's approach is that the plan will be a detailed expression of the inter-relationship of land capability, goals of the citizens, costs of facilities and available revenues to lead to a specific plan and land use map that have a direct relationship to zoning and the actual use of property.

Vihlen said the city's plan appears to be a more general approach and "overview" concerning the future growth of the city.

Vihlen said in his letter the county will cooperate with the city to meet guidelines of both state and local laws.

Since the early days of newspapers in Colonial America, the people of this country have fought to protect their right to a free press. The first news publication in the American colonies was called "Public Occurrences" which was published in 1690, beginning a tradition of informing people of the activities of all levels of government through the foremost print medium, the newspaper! Even the Stamp Act of 1765 which Parliament passed to impose a tax on all paper and documents could not keep the people from wanting to know all of the news. As we approach the 200th Anniversary of the United States, we would like to salute the brave

Northern Ireland Britain's Vietnam

Six months ago there was cause for optimism in strife-torn Northern Ireland. Catholics of the Irish Republican Army had reached a six-month cease-fire with British troops; and three months later Protestants and Catholics met in a constitutional convention to seek a political solution to the sectarian violence that has taken 1,275 lives since 1969.

But recent headlines have proved the futility of that hope: A London hotel is ripped by a bomb blast attributed to a breakaway faction of the IRA. Hooded gunmen kill a Catholic farmer and his daughter near Belfast. Eight Protestants, three Catholics die in seven-day period.

Apparently a slight measure of success by the convention contributed to the cease-fire violations. The 17 Catholic and 46 Protestant members of the convention have been behaving with uncommon courtesy toward each other. According to some reports, the Catholic delegates privately agreed to give up their aim of uniting with the over-whelmingly Catholic republic to the south. The Protestants were said to have agreed to at least talk about sharing power with the Catholics instead of demanding absolute majority rule.

Indeed if the vast majority of Ulster's 1.5 million people are as moderate — Catholics and Protestants alike — Northern Ireland would likely find peace. But IRA extremists who want to unite with Ireland and Protestant extremists who are certain that any power sharing would lead to a takeover by Ireland appear bent on wrecking the convention.

While the murder squads roam the countryside, there is growing sentiment in London to bring back Britain's 14,000 troops stationed in Northern Ireland. On a lesser scale, Ulster is Britain's Vietnam, with hundreds of British soldiers killed, and more than $3 billion spent in trying to bring peace to the country. Meanwhile bomb-carrying terrorists have carried the battle to Britain's cities.

The influential "Guardian" newspaper summed up feelings in Britain: "The British dimension in Northern Ireland is dying, if not dead."

The constitutional convention may propose an independent Northern Ireland. But the crucial questions to be answered would be the country's future ties with London and Dublin, the role of the Catholics in the government. (Catholics are outnumbered by Protestants, 2-1) and the method of dealing with terrorists of both sides in the absence of British troops.

The greatest danger now is that the British government, facing monumental economic troubles, will lose faith in its efforts to serve as a midwife for a new government in Belfast. As it is, the British army still symbolizes the rule of law in Northern Ireland. If the British should wash their hands of their responsibility, the worst of the Irish "troubles" may still lie ahead.

Best Contribution

President Ford and Treasury Secretary William Simon have "respectfully" rejected a plea from delegates to the meeting of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank that the United States help the world out of recession.

Simon noted that "too many of our current domestic troubles are rooted in excess in the past," cognizant, no doubt, of a U.S. debt hovering at the $500 billion mark and a budget deficit upwards of $20 billion.

And Mr. Ford insisted, correctly, that "a sound, healthy and growing U.S. economy is the best lasting contribution this nation can make to other nations."

Indications that the American economic recovery is progressing satisfactorily already are seen by the stubborn embers of inflation.

A vigorous policy encouraged by sound, stable domestic economic growth should be the U.S. solution to global money problems.

The fact that I knew that her appearance as a witness at a trial would endanger her pregnancy was one of the reasons I chose to plead guilty, so as to avoid a trial.

"She subsequently miscarried anyway, and my insistence on being with her in the hospital at that time, despite the unavailability of a bed, created active press comment in England."

Yoko's miscarriages, pleaded Lennon, "were both physically damaging to her and very emotionally trying as well." They tried surgery, which was successful. Now Yoko is "scheduled to give birth on November 1, 1975."

But Lennon declared: "Her doctor ordered Yoko to remain in bed and confined to her room for the remainder of the pregnancy. He has also ordered her to avoid all emotional and physical excitement or pressure, as any strain might cause her to go into premature labor."

National Shut-In Day will be observed throughout the country on Sunday, Oct. 19. It's a day set aside for visiting the lonely, the sick, the elderly and the imprisoned.

The loneliness of the Shut-In is a curable disease. And YOU are the cure.

Remember, the situation could be reversed and you could well be the shut-in next time around.

Congratulations are in order for Ginny Davis, administrative assistant to State Representative Bob Hattaway (D, Altamonte Springs), who has recently been named one of Ten Outstanding Young Florida Democrats for the period 1973-75. Of the 10 people to receive such an honor, Ms. Davis is one of just two women, the other being Pam Hollingsworth of Tallahassee.

Senior Lawton Chiles and Mrs. Mary Jim Everidge, president of the Democratic Women's Club of Florida Inc., will present the award to Ms. Davis and the other honorees at the annual Democratic Women's Convention in St. Petersburg on Saturday, Oct. 18.

This is Fire Prevention Week and we urge all our readers to do all within their power to make it a safe week.

Matter of fact, now might be a good time to take a look around your home, checking for possible fire hazards that you can eliminate.

There are many helpful hints everyone should observe to avoid fires and we're sure you know them by now.

Just take a few minutes this very day to check around. Those few minutes today may save you much grief for a long time to come.

So you want to become a lawyer.

Anyone interested in doing so, and those who are interested in discovering what is expected of law students, are invited to a two-hour presentation at Florida Tech University (FTU) on Wednesday.

The program, staged by six law schools and sponsored by FTU's political science department, is under the direction of Dr. Roger Handberg, pre-law advisor at FTU.

Included in the program will be presentations by law school representatives and follow-up individual conferences with students.

The presentations are scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. in the multipurpose room in FTU's Village Center. On hand will be representatives from Emory University, University of Florida, Mercer University, Florida State University, Cumberland School of Law and Stetson University.

Conferences with students and others interested are slated to start at 2 p.m. in the multipurpose room.

Persons wishing to sign up for the afternoon conferences must do so during the morning sessions, according to Dr. Handberg.

Don Oakley Dolphins Resolve Dilemma

Our belief that dolphins, those admirable creatures whose brains are equal in size and complexity to those of humans, have something to teach people about getting along together has been a reality.

A kind of soap opera took place at Miami Seaquarium recently. It began when a female dolphin was born in the tank sometime during the night of Aug. 31.

When trainers arrived in the morning and found the newborn with an adult female named Cha-Cha, they assumed it belonged to her. The father was Flippy. He is the only adult male in the tank, so that much was certain.

Three days later, however, Cha-Cha began giving birth to another baby, a male, and rebuffed the female baby. Since twin dolphins births have never been recorded, the humans were puzzled.

Enter April, another dolphin who had shown definite signs of pregnancy and who now approached the stranded female. According to John Scanlon, director of animal training, April had been behaving strangely those past three days. She had lost a great deal of weight but refused to eat, showed unusual aggression and would not interact with the other dolphins.

It was then realized that the first baby belonged to April. Cha-Cha, the dominant female in the tank, had taken it away from its mother shortly after birth. When Cha-Cha had her own baby, she gave the female back to April.

But then two nonpregnant females challenged April. They attempted to take her baby away from her again and a violent struggle ensued. Flippy got into the act and the baby was dumped from one adult to another. The baby was not harmed, but Seaquarium officials were unable to enter the water because the fight was so violent.

Cha-Cha, who had started all the trouble, remained discreetly apart.

As quickly as it began, however, the turmoil subsided and both dolphin mothers contentedly circled the tank with their precious babies.

Maybe the dolphins do have something to teach us after all. They resolved this domestic drama without recourse to lawyers, lawsuits and social case workers. Would that humans could always do the same.

The recent wave of "martial arts" movies has transformed the ancient Eastern discipline of karate into a commercialized and potentially lethal sport.

So claims George Takahashi, a fourth-degree black belt and instructor of karate at the University of California in Los Angeles. Because of the declining emphasis on the spiritual aspects of the art and the concentration on aggression and violence, injuries are increasing and deaths are inevitable, he warns.

Karate is a self-defense art, not combat training, and if constraint and respect for life are not taught, the technique has been subverted and is dangerous. Preservation of life also means knowing more than kicks and blows. It includes knowing when to run.

Former Beatie John Lennon's wife, Yoko Ono, has had not only her baby's life but her own put in possible jeopardy by harassment from immigration agents, secret affidavits attest.

The fact that I knew that her appearance as a witness at a trial would endanger her pregnancy was one of the reasons I chose to plead guilty, so as to avoid a trial.

"She subsequently miscarried anyway, and my insistence on being with her in the hospital at that time, despite the unavailability of a bed, created active press comment in England."

Yoko's miscarriages, pleaded Lennon, "were both physically damaging to her and very emotionally trying as well." They tried surgery, which was successful. Now Yoko is "scheduled to give birth on November 1, 1975."

But Lennon declared: "Her doctor ordered Yoko to remain in bed and confined to her room for the remainder of the pregnancy. He has also ordered her to avoid all emotional and physical excitement or pressure, as any strain might cause her to go into premature labor."

"If she were to go into premature labor, her doctor has advised that she would require a major operation, that she would suffer massive internal hemorrhaging which could be fatal to both her and the baby."

Yoko's obstetrician attested to her medical condition. "Mrs. Lennon is completely dependent on her husband, John Lennon, physically, emotionally and financially," the doctor added.

"Any separation from him at this time would, at the very least, be extremely traumatic and could cause the death of this unborn child."

It took this life-or-death plea to persuade the Immigration Services to call off the harassment temporarily, at least. It began, as we previously reported, after the personal intervention of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

In a private letter to the Justice Department, Thurmond cited a charge that Lennon had attempted to help Yippies disrupt the 1972 Republican convention. The former Beatie stoutly denied the allegations. The Immigration authorities, nevertheless, singled him out for special attention.

The former regional immigration director, Sol Marks, acknowledged under oath: "I suspected that there were some people in high places who were terribly interested in getting Mr. Lennon out, but I never made inquiries about it."

Marks was asked whether he knew that Thurmond had written a letter bringing pressure on the Justice Department.

"No," replied Marks, "I first learned about it when a fellow on Jack Anderson's staff called me about it and published something about it."

He admitted that he not only had received pressure from Washington to deport Lennon but had agreed to it to the press. The decision to move against Lennon, Marks had told the press, was his own. But under oath, he acknowledged that he had not told the truth.

He had misled the press, he said, "not because I had been instructed to do it but because I had the feeling that... they would have been unhappy if I had attributed it to them."

"Because it was irregular?" he was asked. "They would have preferred me to take the fact that then, putting it bluntly," replied Marks.

He added, under cross examination, that his boss, former Immigration Commissioner Ray Farrell, "was very political-minded. He owned his job to political appointment."

TOM TIEDE Running One Step At A Time

To the best of anyone's knowledge Sen. Lloyd Bentsen has never been characterized as the leading Democratic candidate for president.

This is because, according to polls, only about 10 per cent of the nation's Democrats want him in the office, and only about 15 per cent of everybody else even knows who he is. Indeed, after months of campaigning for nomination to the nation's highest office, it is said that on the stump the man still has difficulty getting a good table at Burger King.

So it is not surprising that, in recent weeks, Bentsen has quietly announced that in addition to the presidency he will also in 1976 seek reelection to the Senate. It is at least discreet for a man unknown by 85 per cent of Americans to minimize his political risks. Besides, as Kin Hubbard once wrote, there seems to be an excess of everything except parking spaces in the United States.

Limerick jokes are seeking a man and a woman with IRA links in connection with the kidnapping. The man is Eddie Gallagher, 27, a laborer from County Donegal, and the woman is Marion Coyle, 19, of Londonderry.

Other than Johnson and Bentsen, though, there have been no modern candidates this presumptuous. The history books are curiously silent about the dual candidacy condition. Even the normally precise research staff at the Library of Congress is unsure about the specifics of the matter, yet the consensus is that the Johnson-Bentsen thing is freakish.

Johnson muscled a permitting law through the Texas legislature, and Bentsen is taking advantage of it. In at least most other states dual candidacies are forbidden.

For example, a presidential candidate up for reelection in the senate next year, cannot by law appear more than once on his state's ballot.

Jackson, actually, says he would not run for both offices even if authorized, and claims to have squashed an earlier movement in Washington State to have ballot laws modified for his benefit. His heroes, however, are diminished by the fact that the Washington filing date for congressional office (August) comes after the Democratic nomination convention, thus if Jackson loses the party bid he still has time to file for the Senate.

Actually, the only presidential candidate of recent times choosing not to run for a fallback office was Harry Hopkins. He had enough influence in Arizona in 1960 to get a favorable dual candidacy law, but declined on the grounds of personal ethics.

Ethics perhaps is the core issue in instances of dual candidacies. The question is whether American voters should take the candidate seriously who runs for this and that simultaneously.

Guerrillas Attack Army Post

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — In a daring coordinated raid, leftist guerrillas attacked a provincial army garrison Sunday in an abortive attempt to steal guns, then fled in a plane hijacked by accomplices, leaving at least 26 dead by official count.

The action began when more than 50 Montonero guerrillas raided an infantry garrison in Formosa, a small provincial capital on the Paraguayan border 575 miles north of here, security sources and the official Telam news agency said.

"I'm sitting on $5 million now in unclaimed funds since 1961," Carson said, when asked how much abandoned property banks had turned over to the state.

Ed Sessions, director of the state's division of Treasury, said escheated funds go into a special state school trust fund and no interest is paid.

Carson said that legislation being drafted would increase his activity and it would make it easier to "find people with inactive accounts and reactivate their accounts (return their money)."

Carson said he hasn't received any opposition from bankers yet on the proposed reduction in escheat-law time limit. It would prevent the bank service charges "from the whole eight years and mean more money for the state," he said.

He said about $1 million of the total $5 million in abandoned property from savings and checking accounts, safety deposit boxes and certified checks escheated to the state since 1961, has been returned to owners upon proof of identity.

Vietnamese Children Face Special School Problems

The Herald Staff

As Vietnamese refugee children enter American schools, language is not the only hurdle they face. Cultural differences also create a formidable barrier. There are a number of these children entering schools in Seminole County.

Even Buddhism has a direct effect on their learning. Academic placement of the children may be confused by the Buddhist system which calls a child one year old when he is born. Thus his age would place him a grade higher than he should be.

The adjustments necessary for the Vietnamese children and their new American teachers are discussed in a report prepared by the faculty and staff of the Developmental Research School (DRS) at Florida State University.

Based on the DRS experience this summer with 21 Vietnamese students in the five-week summer school program, the report makes specific recommendations for schools with similar students.

The report, which will be published in the bulletin of the Center

AMARANTH ROYALTY

It's Fire Prevention Week

DEAR READERS: If statistics bore you, please read this anyway. One fact might stick in your mind that could save your life:

1. Last year approximately 12,000 Americans perished in nearly three million fires. And in Canada, there were nearly 900 deaths caused by approximately 73,000 fires.

A large percentage of those who died were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were:

1. Smoking
2. Electrical wiring
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Children playing with matches
5. Open flames and sparks
6. Flammable liquids

Never smoke in bed.

Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 97 per cent of all the fires in which they are sprayed, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat, and the back bedroom.

More recently, some excellent fire-detection systems have become available to homeowners. Ask your local fire marshal about them.

Now, in case of fire:

If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No fire — not even the family pet — is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day.

DEAR ABBY: I'm the mother of a 15-year-old daughter and a 14-year-old son. They're good kids as far as behavior goes, but they are a pair of lazy sloths when it comes to keeping their rooms picked up.

I have pleaded with them, yelled at them, and threatened them with the worst kind of punishment, but to no avail. We live in a lovely new home, and each has a beautiful room, but you would never know it, as they are so messy.

Abby, I am not a fanatic, nor am I unreasonable. I just want them to hang up their clothes and keep their rooms presentable. I don't even ask them to make their own beds.

When guests come over and want to see the house, I have to want to see the house. I have to keep these two rooms closed off because I'm ashamed of the way they look most of the time. Can you help me?

GIVING UP: You are fighting a losing battle, Mother. Say no more to them, keep their doors closed, and enter their rooms only to change the beds, and rake it once a week. When they get tired of living in that mess, they'll clean it up. Until then, don't let it aggravate you. It's not worth it.

DEAR ABBY: Tell FLAT to cheer up. The slim, willowy look is in. Look at the fashion models.

At 14, I was flat, and still am at 35, but it doesn't bother me. I still have the body and muscle tone of a teenager, while most of my big-busted sisters are getting flabby and saggy.

Applied Linguistics, urges teaching the American children that the reserve of the Vietnamese is not shyness or timidity. At times American children mistake the Vietnamese shyness and reserve as a form of cowardliness, according to the report, and on occasion "larger and more aggressive American children displayed a tendency to bully or intimidate" their new classmates.

Often, the newcomers put up with this for long periods of time but when they had had enough, they "soundedly trounced their aggressors. The point was not lost on their American classmates."

The report advises that an interpreter is essential — at least at the outset. A specialist in English-as-a-second-language should be available to work often with the teachers.

American teachers and students can help bridge the gap by learning about the Vietnamese culture and language.

Other specific suggestions for schools enrolling Vietnamese refugee children were:

- Students should be one or more grade levels below the regularly assigned grade if they cannot speak and/or understand English.
- Assign more than one Vietnamese, if possible, to a classroom.
- American sponsors of the children are the best means of communicating with the Vietnamese parents. A conference with parents and sponsors is helpful.
- If possible, designate one school (in a district) which can be oriented toward the Vietnamese for Vietnamese to attend for at least one year.

Tips On Food Savings Menu-Planning A Must To Stay Within Budget

A budget, according to Webster's dictionary, is a plan for systematic spending.

To us homemakers, it's doing the best you can with what you've got.

Everyone of us could use tips on how to cut corners, how to stretch a dollar that is worth less each day.

One sure-fire way to make the most of your limited income is to plan your meals according to a prearranged menu — and stick to it.

Depending on how often you shop, take five or 10 minutes to sit down and decide what you and yours would like to eat for the next week. A necessary aid to your decision is the food sales section of The Evening Herald.

What is on special this week? Take advantage of all the bonus buys. Clip coupons for the particular foods your family enjoys. Every little bit helps. These coupons can result in several dollars saved for other items each week.

Now using a pencil and pad of paper, write the day of each week for the length of time between your shopping trips. Beside each day mark down the meat, vegetable, potato, noodle, rice or casserole you will serve that evening.

Going by the menu, write on your grocery list all the necessary items with their approximate prices.

Add to your list, any other items you'll need with their prices.

This is particularly important.

Add up your grocery list and see if it's within the food allowance of your individual food allowance.

If not, do a little paring. Do you really need this or that item? Couldn't you do without it?

When you have the grocery list completed, add a couple of dollars to the total. This is necessary for two reasons:

- 1.— To include every woman's need to splurge.
- 2.— To insure once that need is satisfied you will stay within your specified allowance.

Post the menu on the side of your refrigerator. Each day check on what you had planned. If you're not in the mood for tonight's menu, use one that's planned for another night. In other words, just switch nights.

Be flexible.

By using a menu you accomplish several things.

Purchasing according to a menu you have all the food items necessary, thereby avoiding running out of an item.

We all know running out to the store causes gas that is not in the category called cheap. We also know very few women go into a store and buy only what they need. Invariably, we'll pick up "a few extra items."

There goes your "weekly planned budget."

Another bonus for a menu-planned meal is the saving of time. No more do you have to sigh and wonder what on earth you'll serve your hungry brood tonight.

One extremely versatile item on your grocery list that is inexpensive, but if you purchase whole chickens, and cut them up yourself, you'll save even more of those precious pennies.

In every whole chicken there is a bag of giblets. After cutting up the chicken, reserve the back and neck portions. Put them in a small plastic bag along with the giblets and freeze the entire package.

When you have accumulated a half dozen or so portions, and you have some time to spare, you may wish to try a side dish called "Chickenless Chicken Soup."

Here's how you can make this delicious and inexpensive dish:

- 1/2 doz. necks, backs and giblets
- 4 cts. water
- 4 stocks of celery, diced
- 1 small onion (chopped)
- 2 lbs. parsley flakes
- 8 chicken bouillon cubes

Put necks, backs and giblets into water. Add onion, celery stock and parsley flakes. Boil one hour or until meat is cooked enough to fall from bone. Remove chicken pieces and stir all meat from bones. (The giblets can be frozen and saved for use in stuffing.)

Put meat back into water, add bouillon cubes and boil another 10 minutes.

If you wish, you may add rice or noodles to make a heartier soup.

Giving 'em the old one-two is Trinity Prep's offense, above, and defense, left. ## Trinity On Hot Streak

By LOUIS SAPPIS
Herald Correspondent

Hopelessly down by three TDs and trying to merely get a score on the board, Farragut consumed the last half of the third period and the first half of the fourth stanza moving the ball from its 12 to the Saints' 16. A penalty stalled the scoring threat.

Trinity's defense still hasn't given up a touchdown on the ground. In fact, since yielding two TDs via the air in a loss to John Carroll, the Saints have played air tight defense. The other loss was a 1-0 tie breaker.

Another interesting aspect to the game is that Trinity stopped taking statistics when the rain started early in the first quarter. "We listed ourselves with 152 yards, but we had closer to 200," said Kelley. "I didn't want to run all the stats."

The home team was able to score just eight plays after taking the opening kickoff. The payoff came on a 35-yard dash around left end by halfback Brent Matthews, but the big play came four downs earlier.

On Trinity's 49-yard line, in a fourth and two situation, Kelley decided to go for it. He sent running back Norbert Seals off tackle and the 155-pound junior responded by picking up the first down with a three-yard burst.

Matthews' TD jaunt came with 7:28 left in the first period, when quarterback Pete Knowles faked the ball to Seals.

It took Trinity just six plays to get the ball across the line. The touchdown was gained on a lob pass from Knowles to Mike Prosser that covered nine yards.

Then with 1:53 left in the half, Knowles intercepted a sideline pass and returned the ball 35 yards for the final score of the game.

Prep Gridders In 5th Week

High school football hits the midway point in the season this weekend, and four Friday night games and one on Saturday comprise this week's schedule for Seminole County teams.

Seminole High, trying to regroup after a heart-breaking 18-13 loss to Deland, is home against St. Augustine.

Lake Brantley, 2-1 and highly optimistic, plays at Kissimmee.

Oviedo, which broke the ice last week against Lake Howell, tries for No. 2 at Cocoa Beach.

A big, tough Class AA team from Mount Dora plays at Lake Howell Friday night.

And on Saturday, Trinity Prep, 2-2, is at Sarasota Cardinal Newman.

The win squared off both teams' records at 5-0. The Saints are now 2-2 while the Blue Jackets are 1-1.

Milwee's Midgets Not Short, 66-0

Oh, those Milwee midgets! They stood mighty tall in Pop Warner League ranks last Saturday, posting an imposing 66-0 victory over Jackson Heights.

Who scored? Just about everybody who got their hands on the ball. Scott Jackson led the way with four scores on plays covering 16, 47, 23 and 62 yards. Also getting in the touchdown action were Audie Cleveland, Russ Stroose and John Haas with two each.

Milwee's junior midgets led Jackson Heights, 7-7.

And St. Cloud took thunder away from Milwee pees in a 25-7 verdict.

Lights On, Turf Club Resumes Tonight

CASSELLBERRY— The lights go back on tonight at the Seminole Turf Club after damage from lightning forced cancellation of Friday and Saturday night's harness racing programs.

"In an attempt to show fans we appreciate them bearing with us we are not going to charge admission to the grandstand tonight, and admission to the clubhouse will be half price," said general manager Neil Makin Monday morning.

In addition, tonight's fans will have a 10-race program featuring the best horses on the grounds.

So, unless the Detroit coach was just building up the Cowboys' front wall, Lions' quarterback Greg Landry will take to the air in tonight's nationally televised game against the Dallas Cowboys.

And with quarterback Roger Staubach running Dallas' shotgun offense, the Cowboys are expected to throw plenty, too. Rain won't make any difference. The air-inflated fabric

AL: Goodbye Charlie

BOSTON (AP)— The Boston Red Sox, playing as if they invented baseball, are just one game from the American League pennant, ready to end the hopes of the mighty Oakland A's and owner Charles O. Finley for a fourth consecutive World Series championship.

The Red Sox, who laughed at pressure in ousting the Baltimore Orioles as East Division champs during the regular season, held a 2-0 lead over the A's in their best-of-five playoff for the pennant and a World Series berth.

The Red Sox, who whipped the A's 7-1 on Luis Tiant's three-hit pitching Saturday, completed a sweep of the two games in Boston with a 6-3 comeback victory Sunday.

"It's do or die. That's it. No refunds after Tuesday if we don't win." — Alvin Dark Partisan fans serenaded Finley with "Goodbye, Charlie," and even the A's had to wonder what was hitting them. Now the A's are in a situation where they have to win three in a row as the series moves to Oakland for the third game Tuesday.

"That's it. No refunds after Tuesday if we don't win." — Alvin Dark

It still takes three to win this thing," Boston Manager Darrell Johnson cautioned. "We'll just go out there and do what we have to do."

Dark and Johnson agreed that the Red Sox played virtually a perfect game in rallying to beat the A's in the second meeting.

"Those fellows have done a great job," Dark said. "They just outplayed us today. They did everything you need to do in the game of baseball to win."

"We played a game of baseball as well as it can be played," Johnson said. "We played the game to perfection. It's not possible to play any better."

The Red Sox will send 19-game winner Rick Wise to the mound in the third game. However, Dark planned to wait (Continued on Page 2-B)

NL: Still Nip, Tuck

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are within one game of a sweep in the National League playoffs, but Spahn Anderson said it was still nip-and-tuck in the pit of his ulcer-ridden stomach.

"They are very capable of annihilating us today. They did everything you need to do in the game of baseball to win."

Nevertheless, the Reds dominated the Pirates in the first two games and the best-of-five series could end Tuesday night in Pittsburgh.

"We are capable of playing this game as well as any team can ever play," admitted the white-haired Anderson, who swills milk to appease his stomach.

"This is a five-game series. You don't win a two-game series in two games." — Danny Murtaugh ach lining.

Indeed, the Reds set a championship playoff record with seven stolen bases Sunday with a running display on synthetic turf that would have looked more at home on a cinder running track or a football field. They've also limited the Pirates to a total of 15 hits in the first two games. Pittsburgh managed just five hits Sunday off Fred Norman and Rawly Eastwick.

"But we are also capable of being very shabby for three games, so I'll stay very low key," said Anderson.

Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh, whose only key is low key, was stone-faced after the last weekend, which included an 8-3 setback Saturday.

"This is a five-game series. You don't win a five-game series in two games," Murtaugh reminded.

Tony Perez gave the Reds all the runs they needed Sunday when he stroked a first-inning pinch hit from Jim Rooker over the leftfield wall for a two-run homer.

The Reds added four more runs, the help of a running game that included three stolen bases by Ken Griffey, two by (Continued on Page 2-B)

Polk's Request Won't Up Taxes If Approved. By ED PRUCKETT Herald Staff Writer. Sheriff John Polk journeyed to Tallahassee today in preparation for his showdown Wednesday with the county commission over his request for $2.65-million to operate the Seminole County Sheriff's Department in fiscal 1975-76.

Polk said he has received several calls and letters from citizens who were concerned taxes would increase if he won his fight. "I want the people to know if Tallahassee gives me the money... and I emphasize this — it will not increase the tax millage already levied by the board," the sheriff said.
