Freeholders Vote 4 To 1 Approval Of Hospital Act

Non-official, Incomplete Returns Give 493 Votes For And 113 Against Bill

Official Count Slated Thursday

County Commission Now Authorized To Call Bond Election

Unofficial returns late today disclosed that Seminole County freeholders voted more than four to one yesterday to give their Board of County Commissioners the authority to call a second election to approve the issue of additional bonds for a proposed hospital.

A late check at the office of County Judge R. W. Ware showed that seven out of 10 precincts had reported, and that the total vote of these was 493 for approval of the act and 113 opposed.

W. J. Thigpen, supervisor of registration, said that there are about 3,000 freeholders registered in Seminole County. It was estimated that less than half of the total number of freeholders went to the polls in the special election.

Votes will be officially counted Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Mr. Thigpen said.

The result of the approval of the special bill in the election of the County Commission now is expected to determine the amount of new bonds that should be issued to pay for the hospital.

Approval of the bill would mean that the county would be authorized to call a bond election to determine the amount of bonds to be issued.

The act provides that the county commission may call a bond election to determine the amount of bonds to be issued for the hospital.

The act also provides that the county commission may call a bond election to determine the amount of bonds to be issued for the hospital.

A five percent manufacturers' sales tax, which he declared would raise $1,250,000,000, was proposed by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan, Republican, who said there was substantial support for the plan in the Senate Finance Committee. Food, clothing and medicine would be exempted from tax.

FBI Agent Tells Kiwanis Club Of Training Routine

New Member, Roy Pippin, Inducted Into Club By Ware

How an applicant for the Federal Bureau of Investigation is put through a series of rigid tests, only one in a thousand successfully complete them and become FBI agents was described at a weekly Kiwanis luncheon at the Walden Hotel today by R. G. Danner, head of the Miami office of the Department of Justice.

About 30,000 applications a year are received by the FBI, Mr. Danner told the Kiwanians. The men must be between the ages of 23 and 35 and be a graduate of an accredited law or accounting school.

When applications are received, the men are given mental and physical examinations at one of the regional offices. If they pass these, thorough investigations are made of the applicant's character, scholastic record and personality.

Those who complete the tests at this point are brought to Washington where they enter a training school for specialized study. The hours are long, Mr. Danner said, from 6:00 o'clock in the morning until 11:00 o'clock at night. This gives the officials an opportunity to see how the trainees stand up under pressure.

The law enforcement school in Washington is regarded as the finest in the world, Mr. Danner declared.

FBI agents do not prosecute, but merely investigate, the official pointed out. Their jurisdiction covers only federal statutes, but these now include all the laws relating to national defense.

Since 1938 FBI agents have authorized to carry firearms and have been given training in this phase of their work. They are not taught to shoot at bull's-eyes, Mr. Danner emphasized, but learn to fire from moving automobiles, standing, sitting, kneeling and other difficult positions.

Only 15 of the agents have lost their lives in gun battles, and most of these fatalities were due to the fact that the men were equipped to handle that particular type of work, he said.

Scientific crime laboratories have greatly aided the work of the Department of Justice, Mr. Danner explained, and have been given training in this phase of their work.

Mr. Danner was introduced by Dr. Luther G. Doss, program chairman.

The speaker was inducted into the club as a new member by Judge R. W. Ware, and officially welcomed by O. P. Morrison, president. Visitors included Tommy Doss, chairman of the Kiwanis Club, and other members.

Bill Revising Commission Is Hit In Talk

Jaycees Told Disadvantages Of Changing Election Machinery By Gut

H. James Gut, member of the City Commission, told the Sanford Junior Chamber of Commerce last night that the proposed change in the method of electing the commissioners would be "detrimental to the best interests of the City of Sanford," and added that it has been "a difficult proposition" to find any merit in the change.

Mr. Gut said he was qualified to speak on the proposed change since he had had two and a half years experience on the City Commission, and he pointed out that the change would not affect him since his term of office expires at the end of 1941, regardless of whether the change is ratified.

The bill, which will be voted on in a special election on Sept. 16, would change the present method whereby the commissioners are elected on the staggered system—two one year, two the next and one the third year—and would have the mayor elected every two years by popular vote.

At present the mayor is elected yearly by the Commission from among its members, Mr. Gut explained.

Declaring that he has been unable to find out who advocated the change, Mr. Gut said: "I am led to the conclusion that the probable reason of those who are behind this bill is that they are disgruntled and wish to clean house. Probably their main purpose is to get rid of certain City commissioners or City employees, even if in doing so it is detrimental to the interests of the City and its citizens."

"Under our present system there are always three experienced men on the Commission and the smooth functioning of City affairs is not interrupted. From personal observation, I would say that it takes at least six months, and with some of us a year or more, before we know what it is all about after being elected to the Commission."

The Commission member cited the "grave danger of the new commissioners" employing new department chiefs and thereby creating great confusion due to the fact that they were all inexperienced.

Mr. Gut also pointed out an objection to the proposal of electing the Mayor by popular vote. He said: "As to the electing of a mayor under the proposed bill, a man might be elected to this position solely because he was able to devote a great deal of time to contacting personally all of the voters and due to his pleasing personality although he may have the voters and due to his pleasing personality although he may have no qualifications whatsoever for presiding as Mayor of the City. Under these circumstances the City would be saddled for two years with a man unsuited to the position."

Nazis Advance On Leningrad

England Regards Further Japanese Acts As Serious

Australian Minister Blames Nippon For Creating Tension

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Any further move by Japan in the Far East would be regarded by Britain as "extremely serious," quarters asserted today.

It was understood, however, that London has given Thailand no specific assurance that this little nation's independence would be maintained by British arms.

The Far Eastern crisis is being "feverishly wrought up by Britain," a news agency in Tokyo asserted on what it said was the authority of a "qualified observer."

In Canberra, Australia, Prime Minister Robert Menzies charged Japan today with creating "Far Eastern tension and asserted that she had the 'means of relief in her own hands.'"

Menzies told the commonwealth House of Representatives that Japanese occupation of French Indo-China bases is regarded by the United States and Great Britain as an unjustified aggression "in a direction of vital concern to both British and American interests."

Germans Begin Using Air-Borne Troops; Red Bulletin Says Several Shot Down

Canada's Chief Flies To Britain

Prime Minister King Makes Trans-Atlantic Bomber Flight

By Associated Press
Masses of Russian tanks were reported by the Germans today in counter-attacking Nazi lines on the lower Dnieper River front late today, while elsewhere on the 1,200-mile battlefield the Russian counter-offensive was said to have recaptured five Soviet villages.

By Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's invasion armies have tightened the ring on Leningrad with another 50-mile advance, the Russian acknowledged today, driving to the Novgorod region 100 miles south of the old czarist capital.

A Red Army bulletin also indicated the Germans are beginning to use air-borne troops in the 60-day-old conflict, reporting that several large four-motored transports loaded with light tanks and troops had been shot down.

Concurrently, British military experts predicted the Nazis would make unprecedented use of air-borne forces in an attempt to smash their way across the formidable barrier of the Dnieper River, in southern Ukraine.

Nazi military dispatches said the left wing of General Von Rundstedt's army of about 1,500,000 men is advancing against stiff resistance toward the great bend of the Dnieper, site of the industrial city of Dniepropetrovsk.

Hitler's field headquarters asserted that Nazi Schnelltruppen (speed troops) are successfully attacking the few remaining strongholds on the west bank of the Dnieper still held by the Russians.

It was evident that a grand assault on the new Soviet defense lines was about to begin.

Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King landed in Britain after a trans-Atlantic bomber flight for conferences with British war leaders.

The southernmost of two major German drives on Leningrad has advanced some 60 miles beyond previously reported positions to the vicinity of Novgorod, the Soviet command acknowledged today.

Moscow's early morning communiqué reported also a resumption of heavy action about Gorkum, above the northern Ukrainian borders, and violent and inconclusive fighting about Odessa on the Black Sea coast from the Dnieper River to the Rumanian frontier.

The German thrust to the Novgorod area which is about 100 miles south of Leningrad, apparently was accomplished by a column last reported in the vicinity of Soltsi to the southwest.

The second Nazi drive, the Red war bulletin reported, still was strongly engaged about Kirgisepp, which is 75 miles southwest of Leningrad.

Still another offensive force—that of the Finns—was striking down the Karelian Isthmus from the north, but the Finns while claiming a progressive encirclement of Red forces acknowledged that Russian resistance was stiffening.

The general picture in the north thus appeared to be that while the invaders were making progress the crisis for Leningrad still could not in any case be considered so imminent as was the show-down in the south.

The revival of the German offensive about Gorkum raised these various possibilities: That the Germans were preparing to turn sharply to the south to add to the already enormous pressure on the Ukraine; that they were heading for an eventual junction with their Smolensk forces on the Moscow approach.

As to the south, the Germans claimed that the fall of Odessa, an important naval base, was imminent and described the city and "small individual islands" on the lower Dnieper as the sole surviving Russian positions in the lower west Ukraine. The Nazi High Command in fact claimed already to hold the entire territory west of the river, but that was a statement in round terms.

Defense Spending Paralysis Cases Hits 51 Billion; Bigger Sum Seen

Congress Allocates Over 37 Billions Since July 1, 1940

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The State Board of Health Tuesday issued a statement saying there is no reason to delay the opening of schools in Florida because of the presence of infantile paralysis in this state and in neighboring states.

The board said 123 cases had been reported in Florida since Jan. 1 but the number of new cases has been on the decline. The board insisted there has been no epidemic of the disease in this state and explained that the number of cases usually increases in the summer months.

"On the basis of opinion of authorities there would appear to be no valid reason for postponing the opening of schools when infantile paralysis is present in the community any more than there would be to take such action when typhoid fever or malaria is present in the community," the statement said.

Cases reported in Florida counties since Jan. 1 were listed by the board of health as:

Bay 2, Broward 2, Clay 3, Dade 14, Duval 38, Escambia 42, Gadsden 1, Glades 1, Hillsborough 5, Lake 3, Leon 2, Levy 1, Monroe 1, Nassau 2, Orange 1, Pinellas 1, Alachua 15, Citrus 1, Columbia 1, Holmes 1, Lafayette 1, Manatee 1, Palm Beach 2, Polk 1, Putnam 1, St. Johns 1, Seminole 1 and Volusia 7.

La Guardia Asks Country To Plan For End Of War

Proper Readjustment Will Be Costly, Director Declares

SYRACUSE, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Mayor La Guardia of New York, national director of civilian defense, called on the nation today to plan for a "new American order" with the war's end, and warned that proper readjustment will cost "for years" as much as the current defense program.

Charges were made and denied in the Senate Tuesday that President Roosevelt had committed the United States to a policy of war in his historic conference with Winston Churchill.

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) charged that the eight-point statement of Anglo-American peace aims issued by the prime minister and the President could be carried out only by war.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.), his voice ringing, said if the President had promised that the United States would go to war "then the President of the United States exceeded his constitutional authority."

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky, heatedly replied that the statement was not a "military commitment in any sense of the word." He denied the President had violated the constitution.

Barkley served as spokesman for congressional leaders who Monday received a report from the President on the conference at sea.
