

Seaboard Railway Will Build Hospital And Homes At Indiantown Junction

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 13.—In announcing the establishment of headquarters for its Cross State division at Indiantown, on the St. Lucie canal near Lake Okechobee, S. Davis Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, made a declaration which the Florida State Chamber of Commerce asserts might well be studied by every city and town and by every local Chamber of Commerce in the state.

"Apart from the operating desirability of locating centrally of the division," said Mr. Warfield, "the railroad needs extensive room for future expansion; it is attainable here, elsewhere property cost would be prohibitive."

In connection with its headquarters at Indiantown, the Seaboard will build a hospital, a Y. M. C. A. building, schoolhouses and churches, and a shop. It also plans to erect scores of homes to be occupied by its employees. In short, it is laying the foundation for a small city which will grow larger as the territory about it develops, says the State Chamber.

Indiantown will become a city, perhaps the metropolis of the Everglades region, simply because the railroad found it possible to obtain sufficient land for its needs at prices which were not prohibitive.

The outstanding example in Florida of a lack of encouragement to persons or corporations seeking land at reasonable prices is furnished by the experience of the late Henry B. Plant. Thirty-five years or more ago Plant decided to build in Florida what he expected would be the finest hotel in the world. He sought a proper location and settled upon Cedar Key. The tract of land he desired was offered at a fair price. He agreed to it but the owner, raised it. Plant agreed to the second raise and was met by another increase. This time he left in disgust.

The Tampa Bay hotel was built in Tampa instead of Cedar Key because Plant was driven from the latter by a greedy landholder. At that time Tampa and Cedar Key had about the same population. Tampa now has a population 150 times greater than that of Cedar Key and occupies the position in the life of Florida that Cedar Key might hold today had Plant built his hotel there and run his railroad to that point.

It has been said that Ferdinand, possessor of one of the finest natural deep water harbors on the Atlantic Coast lost its opportunity years ago through the greed of landowners who sought to hold up corporations in search of harbor front property as sites for private wharves and manufacturing plants. They came thirty miles south and built Jacksonville because the citizens of what then was a small town welcomed them and their enterprises and made it possible for them to obtain suitable property at reasonable cost.

The Seaboard, within recent months, has experienced difficulty in obtaining a right of way for its projected line from West Palm Beach through Miami to Florida City. It also has had a great deal of trouble in the vicinity of Fort Myers, to which city it is building.

The Florida East Coast, which intended building south of Okechobee to the Miami Canal and into Miami, has been forced within the last two or three weeks to cancel all arrangements for construction south of Canal Point because property owners seek prohibitive prices for a right of way.

At Pasadena, near Dade City, a project which business men declare would mean much to the eastern portion of Pasco county, has been held up or abandoned entirely because property owners sought prohibitive prices for the land needed to carry it out.

The State Chamber of Commerce asserts that communities have everything to lose and nothing to gain through hold-up tactics of land owners and declares that municipal and civic officials could do nothing better than launch an educational campaign designed to eliminate the evil.

What Becomes Of All The Sons Of Ministers?

BY SAM THACKREY
NEA Service Writer.
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The "minister's son" has ceased to be a joke. With a background of "common persecution" more than 500 sons of Methodist ministers have banded themselves together as the National Society of Methodist Preachers' Sons to refute the idea that the minister's son could come to no good end.

World; Emory Buckner, vice-president, U. S. District Attorney, who has been placing padlocks on New York night clubs with great regularity; Melville E. Stone, also a vice-president, president of the Associated Press; Mark Luescher, manager of the Hippodrome theater; Jason S. Joy, assistant to Will Hays, movie dictator; Prof. Ashley Herace Thordyke, noted psychologist of Columbia University; Dr. George E. Vincent, head of Rockefeller Foundation; the Rev. S. Park Cadman, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America; John E. Andrus, 87-year-old financier with a rating of $200,000,000, but who invariably rides the subway to his home in Yonkers.

The society had its beginning at a recent meeting called by the Rev. Chris F. Riesen, pastor of Broadway Temple, to obtain funds for the church. The 20 men who attended found that each of the others was the son of a Methodist minister. They decided to form an organization.

More than 175 are now members. To completely demolish the theory that the son of a minister labors under some innate handicap, Mr. Hubbell quoted Roger Babson, the statistician. Babson recently computed that 67 per cent of the outstandingly successful men in the United States were the sons of ministers. Incidentally, the two presidents elected by the Democrats since the Civil War, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, were the sons of ministers.

Thomas Lamont Emory Buckner was after a Halloween exploit in which the citizen's gate left its moorings. The only question was what jail, and how long. Hubbell now is manager of the Belmont Hotel. He hasn't been to jail yet.

Paul Helms, now president of the General Baking Corporation, started as the son of a minister. Recently Helms purchased the box of August Belmont at the Metropolitan Opera. The price was $200,000. Now the opera is to change its location, and the price has risen to $280,000. Helms is a vice-president in the society.

Other names in the long list include men of prominence in every field of business and grade of society. A random selection included W. P. Beazell, assistant managing editor of the New York

Arthur Fulvi, 23, and four of his children were found dead in their Cleveland (O.) home and Mrs. Vera Fulvi (above), his wife was found seriously ill after the family had partaken of a banquet. A fifth child, Jeano, was also made ill, and chemists found traces of poison in her mouth. A murder plot is suspected.

BILLY EVANS Says

Remarkable feat Serious Handicap Unusual Pitching

ONE remarkably pitched ball game often makes a pitcher in the majors. This is particularly true if it comes early in his career, as it gives him the confidence that is usually the one asset most needed.

It is not often that one remarkably pitched ball game tends to handicap a twirler's career, yet many of the wise men of baseball are inclined to think that Charley Robertson, formerly of the Chicago White Sox, has been such a victim.

It so happened that I umpired the game that many of the experts believe injured, rather than helped, Robertson's career as a big leaguer.

It was a no-hit, no-run game, in which not a player reached first base. To make the feat all the more extraordinary, it was made at the expense of the Detroit club, the hardest hitting outfit in the American League.

Robertson pitched that great game in the spring of the year. Only a few weeks previous he had made his big league debut. Detroit had 10 men in the 300 class that year, which will give some idea of the power of the club at the bat.

Throughout the game Robertson pitched like a veteran instead of a rookie. He merely laughed at the protests of the Detroit club that he was doctoring the ball.

THAT one game made me feel pretty well satisfied that Mr. Robertson was going to be quite some pitcher. He showed me everything in the line of speed and curves and had plenty to pose.

Four years have elapsed since that extraordinary game. At times Robertson has given signs of reaching stardom but on the whole he has been a bit of an in-and-out, good when good and bad when bad.

An extraordinary sporting feat is always the subject for much publicity as a result of his no-hit feat. A majority of the baseball experts believe that particular game proved a detriment to his career.

Escapes Death

Willie Cavalieri, 16, is shown entering the Eastern Pennsylvania Penitentiary—the youngest prisoner there. His death sentence was commuted after nation-wide protests. He killed his grandmother in Pottsville, Pa., for a small amount of money.

GAS PRICE ERAISED
NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Wagon gasoline prices have been advanced one cent a gallon by both the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and the Standard Oil Company of New York throughout their territories. The Standard of New Jersey's new quotation is 16 cents a gallon, and that of the Standard of New York, 18 cents, at the Sinclair Refining Company.

Zeller did:
Struck out 12 men in nine innings, 19 in 13 innings. Did not give a base on balls and hit only one batter, the first man to face him in the opening season.

Pitched 23 strikes in succession, six in the ninth, nine in the tenth and five in the eleventh.

Of the 39 outs in the 13 innings, 19, or practically half, were retired on strikes. At one time he whiffed seven men in succession, getting the last two in the ninth, the side in the tenth and two in the eleventh.

That game got Zeller a big league trial but illness forced him to retire from baseball before he made the grade.

ALL HAVE BLUE GATES

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 13.—In going from here to Centralia, Mo., one is struck by the large number of farmhouses which have one bright blue gate or door, or window, some where about. No matter what the color scheme may otherwise be there is always this distinguishing color. This is the "trade mark" of the Tucker family, which came to Missouri nearly 100 years ago and established the custom.

HENDRICKS HELD FOR GRAND JURY IN $4,000 BOND

Alleged Assailant Of Sjoblom Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Attempted Robbery Saturday Night. Aged Man Downed Thief.

George Hendricks, who attempted to hold up and rob Postmaster A. W. Sjoblom of Lake Mary late Saturday night according to authorities was arraigned before County Judge J. G. Sharon this morning and after entering a plea of guilty to the charge of attempted robbery was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. Hendricks, who is about 25 years of age, is charged with the attempt to murder, which was alleged against him by the authorities because of the fact that he is said to have struck Mr. Sjoblom on the head with a piece of lead pipe during the robbery attempt.

Mr. Sjoblom closed his place of business in Lake Mary about 11 o'clock Saturday night and started for his home. He had almost reached home when Hendricks, who is alleged to have jumped out, struck Mr. Sjoblom a blow with a piece of lead pipe and started after a roll of money which Mr. Sjoblom is said to have been carrying on his person at the time.

Although receiving a severe blow on his head by the blow, Mr. Sjoblom grappled with his assailant, forced the pipe from his hand and in turn, felled the man who later gave his name to the authorities as Hendricks.

Mr. Sjoblom, who is a prisoner until Deputy Sheriff C. C. Stephenson arrived on the scene and took charge of Hendricks. At the time of the arrest Hendricks had a revolver in his pocket but it is said he did not attempt to use it during the encounter.

Several stitches were required to close the wound on the head of his intended victim.

Mr. Sjoblom is said to be a man very strong for his age, which is 60.

Sixteen years ago, Mr. Sjoblom was shot twice following some trouble with a customer in his store. Although badly wounded, he recovered and is now a resident of the town.

Hendricks is believed to come from Indiana and has been hanging around Lake Mary for a number of weeks, according to residents of that place.

New Appropriation Bill Carries More Than $200,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Completion of European monuments to America's war dead in time for dedication on the tenth anniversary of the signing of the armistice is provided for in the independent office appropriation bill reported today to the House carrying $202,488,000 for the various independent boards, commissions and bureaus of the government.

The amount is $20,000,000 above last year's bill and $4,000,000 above budget estimates.

The direct appropriation for the American Battle Monuments Commission is $80,000,000, plus a contract authorization of $2,200,000.

The total increase of more than $50,000,000 is the result of large appropriations for the veterans bureau to care for adjusted compensation and insurance requirements, the appropriation totaling $182,965,000.

Without changing the budget provides for the following: Federal treasury commission $997,000, a decrease of $11,000; Interstate Commerce Commission $4,142,000, a decrease of $700,000; railroad labor board, $285,000, a decrease of $11,500; tariff commission $800,000; decrease of $22,500; and shipping board, $14,108,000, a decrease of $10,000,000.

CONSTRUCTION ON ROAD NO. 3 TO START SOON

Chairman Of State Road Body Advises That State Is Now Ready To Advertise Bids When County Is Prepared

Hathaway Asks For Immediate Action

Condemnation Proceedings Against Property South Of Geneva Avenue May Begin

Immediate action is expected to start the construction of the new State Road No. 3 to Orlando following the recent conference between members of the State Road Department and E. A. Douglas, chairman of the committee appointed by the County Commissioners to investigate the status of the new route as changed by the county and the city of Sanford.

The route as proposed by the city and county has been accepted by the state, and letters just received from Dr. F. H. Hathaway, chairman of the State Road Department, is said to have encouraged the belief that work will get under way immediately. The letter, in part, reads as follows:

"Mr. L. B. Thrasher, Davidson, Engineer, has presented to us a plan showing the proposed revision of routing of Road No. 3 south of Sanford and recommends to the Department its adoption. This plan is the same that is shown on the plan forwarded to this office by Mr. Fred T. Williams, County and City Engineer. Mr. Thrasher advises the Department that this revision has the approval of your Honorable Board and also of the City Commission of Sanford.

"While the distance is a little greater, the alignment is not bad, and saves as it has been stated, considerable expense and trouble in securing right of way. The Department is glad to accept this revision. Your Board and the City Commission may consider the location as finally determined and proceed at once to secure all rights of way along same.

"As soon as the two Boards shall have secured deeds to a continuous right of way from Sanford to the Orange County line, the Department will be ready to advertise for bids for the construction of this important road. It may become necessary to condemn the land immediately south of Geneva Avenue to a width of about 600 feet. If this situation should arise I strongly recommend that you institute condemnation proceedings just as soon as you find this to be necessary, in order that no time may be lost in getting this work under way.

"With reference to the building of shoulders to the present road, we wish to state that a crew was put on this job within a very short while after my visit to Sanford, but the failure to get material, due to embargoes, has prevented the progress of this work to such an extent that very little has been accomplished. Now, with the traffic situation clearing up somewhat, we have hopes of securing rock in sufficient quantities to make better progress. This job when completed will make this a better road than it has ever been, as we propose not only to build the rock shoulders but to surface-treat the same with oil and slag.

"I am sure that the people understand and appreciate what this shoulder work has not progressed more rapidly.

Body Of Murdered Man In Pawtucket Is Still Unidentified

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The body of a man, who was shot and thrown from a liquor truck in the center of this city yesterday, presumably by hijackers, lay unidentified and no clues have been found to his slayer or slayers.

As police were holding Joseph Lemonte, of Mansfield, R. I., owner of the truck, but he denied ever having seen the dead man and declared his truck was stolen yesterday afternoon.

James G. Payne, a motorman, said that during a heavy rain storm he saw a man leap into the cab of the truck. A moment later he saw an object thrown into the street. Under the dead man's arm were several telephone numbers in this vicinity.

The truck, found abandoned a third of a mile away, contained more than 100 quarts of choice liquor. On the floor of the cab were three empty shells. The windshield had been splintered. Some witnesses thought four bullets were fired from an automobile just ahead of the truck. Others just ahead of the truck follow the trail.

Chapman Loses His U. S. Court Appeal

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Gerald Chapman, convicted bandit and murderer, today lost his appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a writ of habeas corpus. The appellate court confirmed the order of Federal Judge Thomas of Connecticut in dismissing Chapman's application for the writ.

Chapman, under sentence to hang on Mar. 3, for the murder of a British agent, Commissioner, sought by the highest court proceedings to be returned to Atlanta penitentiary from which he escaped after serving only a short part of his 25-year sentence for the million dollar mail robbery in New York City.

U. S. AND MEXICO TO MAKE WAR ON VICE CONDITIONS

Petec Tragedy Causes Both Countries To Take Action To Clean Out Tin Junkies, State Department Active

TIA JUANA, Mex., Feb. 15.—(AP)—On two sides of the international boundary moves are under way against the Tin Junkie conditions, brought into the spotlight by the Petec tragedy, which resulted in murder charges being pressed in Mexican courts against several men, held in connection with the killing of Audrey and Clyde Petec. If found guilty, the prisoners will ask that the seven men be deported to their own country.

In Tin Junkie, 75 per cent of the saloons are reported facing closure as a result of orders by Governor Rodriguez restricting saloons to two drinks and also of these under $100,000 cash bond. Women entertainers today are banished and suspicious characters are to be deported from the island of the Tres Marias islands in the Gulf of California.

In Santiago, Maj. John L. Bacon has called a public meeting this morning at which plans are being made by the United States and Mexico to clean up the border town conditions as to be discussed. The question of closing the border to entry except by passport is expected to come before this meeting.

The United States State Department has just received information regarding the Petec case yesterday, when H. H. Bacon, American consul in Mexico, moved to Tia Juana to take sworn affidavits in connection with the affair. Information is being furnished to charge Luis Andrade, proprietor of the Oakland Bar, Refugio L. Alvarez, bartender, Francisco Navarro and Salvo Encinosa, Rivers and Juan Y. Sandoval, hotel owner, with attacking Petec. The seven are all accused of responsibility for the deaths in the Petec family.

Accident Results In Police Court Fines

E. J. Rueger was fined $50 and costs in police court this morning on a charge of reckless driving as a result of an accident Saturday afternoon in which the machine he was driving struck a six-year-old boy. Willie Dierck, who sustained lacerations about the face and head.

Policeman A. H. Beckwith, who happened to be near the scene of the accident, arrested Rueger who gave bond for his appearance in court this morning.

The youngster was seriously injured, failed to reveal any injuries. He was removed to his home immediately afterwards and was in court this morning.

COMMITTEE TO BEGIN WORK ON TAX REVISION

Problem Of Changing Act To Conform To Wishes Of Two Houses And Treasury Facing Joint Committee

Senate Increase May Be Dropped From Bill

Chairman Green Says Other Bills Are Jeopardized If Huge Slash Is Permitted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The problem of revising the tax reduction bill so as to meet the approval of the House, Senate and Treasury today confronted conferees appointed by the two chambers to straighten out points of differences.

Passed by the Senate, the bill provides for reduction by $180,000,000 or more than $22,000,000 more than Secretary Mellon believed the condition of the treasury will permit this year. A considerable portion of the increase appears to be doomed by the attitude of House leaders who would adhere to their own figures.

Chairman Green of the Ways and Means committee, heading the House conferees, has declared that any increase over the $230,000,000 reduction proposed by the House not only threatened a treasury deficit but also jeopardized enactment of several pending appropriations, including the House bill.

Mr. Green also declared that while government actual estimates for 1926 show a surplus of $100,000,000, the actual reduction would amount to $180,000,000 annually, where the bill goes fully into effect in later years.

The House conferees also have made or less support from the three Republican representatives of the Senate, inasmuch as the major increases in reductions voted by the Senate were made on the basis of the estimates of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The taxes which seem most likely to be restored to the bill possibly at lower rates, are those on the income of corporations, and on the income of individuals.

Conferees appointed by the Senate to work with the House representatives are Senators Smoot of Utah, McLean of Connecticut, and Reed of Pennsylvania, Republicans; Simmons of North Carolina and Gerry of Rhode Island, Democrats.

House Committee Is Asked To Abolish The U.S. Tariff Commission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A demand for abolition of the tariff commission was made to the House Appropriations Committee during its consideration of fiscal funds for that body. It was disclosed today in published reports of the committee.

The demand was made in behalf of the National Board of Farm Organizations by its secretary, Chas. W. Holman. He presented a resolution adopted by the farm organization at a recent meeting charging the commission with guilty of "unwarranted delay in arriving at decisions, prejudicial treatment of parties appearing before it" and attacking its secret hearings as having "created a situation approximating closely to a public scandal."

Dayton, O., Has Large Blaze This Morning

DAYTON, Ohio, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Loss estimated at $750,000 was caused by fire this morning, which for a time threatened the heart of the business district. The fire broke out in the National Meat Market, spreading rapidly to the Home Store Building, a department store.

Officials of the store estimated the damage of the Home Store at $500,000 while that of the American Building, 14 story office structure, was placed at $100,000.

Funeral Services For M. E. Moye, Jr., Are Held Today

Funeral services for Madison Edward Moye, Jr., 23, whose untimely death resulted at the Fernside Hospital Saturday afternoon at 7:30 o'clock were held at 3 o'clock in the Methodist church, Dr. F. D. King presiding in the absence of Dr. T. J. Nixon. Interment followed at the New Mount Cemetery.

Mr. Moye's death came as a great shock to his many friends, who were unaware of the persistent seriousness of his condition brought about by blood poisoning following the removal of a tooth.

Palm Beach Society Awaits Count Salm's Next Act After Seeing Son For First Time

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Still at large over the thrill it got yesterday when Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoegstraten met his son, Peter Constantin, for the first time in Palm Beach society awaited the next bombshell, which was promised today in the form of statements from the Count and H. H. Rogers, father of the Countess.

The thrill came when the Count attempted to banish the private detective unless Blumenthal came along with the nurse and young Peter. The sleuth, Genus Gotham, was not of the banishing type, and the Austrian's glare failed to wither him. He told the Count he was not at all tickled to let him see the baby in his room anyway, so would they all come outside in the garden.

The Count waved his papers, which had been signed by Justice O'Malley of New York and demanded his rights. The detective insisted on the garden or the beach. Baby Peter, honestly scared, started to cry. His godmother, the Dowager Countess, had hysterics.

The hullabaloo was heard all through the corridors of the exclusive Poinciana and the gathered crowd of playgroup members to be seen. The Countess was entertaining a party of friends on the porch near home, after which they went to a restaurant and road house.

MISS CLARK WILL SERVE AS HEAD OF PLAYGROUPS

Chicago Board of Education Appoints Miss Clark to Head of Playgroups Committee. To Begin Duties At Once

Miss Mary Clark of Chicago, who was recently secured by the city playground commission to act as head of playgroup activities in San Francisco, has arrived to assume charge of the work, which is to begin today.

Miss Clark was formerly with the Chicago Board of Education as a member of the playgroups committee, having charge of sports, festivals, folk dancing and other activities in connection with the city school system. Her playgroup activities in San Francisco are said to have been most thoroughly systematized in the United States.

Miss Clark stated today that several events were planned for that day providing the apparatus arrives in time to be installed properly.

The apparatus was ordered sometime ago and most of it has been shipped to the city and is expected to arrive within the next few days, he said.

Negro Accused Of Shooting Robinson Is Still At Large

CHARLES EDWARDS, negro, who early last night shot and seriously wounded Charles Robinson and Asia Chever, two of his companions in a crap game and drinking festival near Benson Springs, is still at large, according to Sheriff C. M. Hard, under whose direction an extensive search is being conducted for the accused man.

The shooting took place following an altercation over the favor of "lady luck" in the form of dice, and may result in one fatality owing to the serious condition of Robinson who was shot through the abdomen. An operation was performed on Robinson at the Fernside Hospital in an unsuccessful attempt to locate the bullet.

Authorities do not know at this time whether or not a reward will be offered for the apprehension of the alleged gunman.

MINE BLAST AT BELLAIRE, O., IS FATAL TO ONE

Nineteen Others Are Injured In Early Morning Explosion; 600 Escape Unhurt

Shaft To Reopen For Work Tuesday

Victim Is Drowned When He Falls Face Downward In Puddle

BELLAIRE, O., Feb. 15.—(AP)—One miner was killed, 19 others injured, one perhaps fatally, at the Powhatan mine 10 miles south of here this morning. Six hundred other men in the mine escaped uninjured.

Injury to 19 others. Ten of the injured were taken to a Bellaire hospital, while the other nine were sent to their homes.

The miners engaged in working farther in the main shaft, which was closed through the main shaft within three hours after the explosion.

By a strange fate the miner killed was drowned. The blast threw him into the air and he landed face downward in a puddle of water. He has not been identified.

The mine had been closed down since Friday. It reopened this morning. The mine is owned by the Powhatan Mining Co. It formerly was the property of the Cleveland and Western Coal Co., but changed hands recently.

Cause of the explosion is not known. The blast rocked houses in the vicinity and flames shot 100 feet higher than the mine shaft.

The Pennsylvania Railroad made a special train here from Chicago to handle the bodies of the two men killed.

Two Speakers Are Heard At Weekly Realty Board Meet

Thomas D. Talbot, President of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Charles Robinson, a member of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, were the speakers at today's luncheon of the Sanford Realty Board, presided over by H. C. D. Boss, president.

Mr. Talbot, who has spent a number of years in the mountains of Kentucky doing welfare and missionary work among the people of that back country, devoted his remarks to telling his experiences in the mountains and of his desire to see people in general look upon life in a lighter vein, "to spread sunlight and joy is the greatest work man can do," he said.

Dr. Latah was sent here by the National Council in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. work in this city. He is to attend a number of meetings today and this evening and will confer with local leaders concerning the recent organization of the Y. M. C. A. in this city.

The assembly heard President Duffless read a telegram from the State President wherein it was said that the investigation conducted in Florida by the Better Business Bureau of the United States was now proceeding under the direction of the state board, and that many matters which were not at that clearly understood by Florida real estate men had been straightened out to the satisfaction of the board.

Fort Myers Yacht Destroyed By Fire

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—A mass of twisted metal and charred wood projecting a few feet above the surface of the water, marked the site of the yacht "Paul C. Chaffler," which was destroyed by fire yesterday after a three-hour voyage.

The fire was discovered at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The flames proved quick and other yachts toward the center of the river.

McGAW ASSERTS BIBLE TEACHING FOUNDED NATION

Nationally Known Lecturer Talks to Audience Last Night at High School Auditorium Church Service

Dr. James S. McGaw, general secretary of the National Reform Association, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, Pa., was the speaker at the First Christian Church in the High School auditorium last night, his subject being "Our National Heritage, Shall We Keep It?"

A lecturer explaining that the reform association had been at work for the past sixty-one years to re-establish the fact in the minds of the people throughout the United States that the reading of the Bible in our schools and homes, and the observance of the Sabbath as a day set apart for the worship of God is a national heritage, Dr. McGaw took as his text the verse of Psalm 119: "The Lines Are Fallen Unto Me in Pleasant Place, Yes I Have a Goodly Heritage."

He then spoke of the wonderful story that America had made in its industry, education and business organizations, making faster progress than other countries, being blessed as no other country is blessed, and explained how the open Bible has been the means of such blessing. Mention was made of how other countries, many of them seemingly to be making very slow progress and living in almost the same conditions as they did many years ago, and who are guided by one version in place of the complete Bible.

Babson was quoted as saying that "What America needs most is Religion" and that the "secret of prosperity is the promotion of Religion." In accordance with the scriptural text of "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

Dr. McGaw stated that "most men have a religion of some kind, and there is a cry in the human heart to find God. Our forefathers had it when they came to this country, and realizing that state and church were not the same thing they established religious freedom, making as honest a acknowledgment of the Lord Jesus Christ as their King of Kings and Lord of Lords. They handed down to us on our coins the fact that America was founded as 'In God We Trust.'"

"Our great danger today is that we lose sight of this fact of the word of God as a necessity," Dr. McGaw stated.

"As America was founded on the Bible," Dr. McGaw stated, "There are from twenty to thirty millions of people in this country who are not Americans in heart, as they do not acknowledge God as their leader and have no thought of the benefits of His word."

Dr. McGaw received a vote of thanks for his talk and the National Reform Association was given a vote of approval in the work they are attempting to carry out.

He will continue his lectures throughout the state, it was announced.

"The 'rushes,'" Alma Rubens said, "enable me to pick out the flaws in my own work. I know they are incomplete, so far as the film showings are concerned, but I prefer watching the picture as it is being filmed, but waits for the theater preview."

MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Extensive adjustment were carried out in the bond market today, resulting in a marked confusion of price movements through the early dealing.

Railroad issues followed no definite trend with the strength of Bullington 3 1/2. Western Maryland 4s, New York, Susquehanna and Western General 5s, and St. Paul 4s contrasting sharply with the selling of Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s, Illinois.

Extreme nervousness was shown by the holders of stock under the guidance of professional cliques following the collapse of pool operations in Devoe and Reynolds which, after Saturday's precipitate drop of 37 points, fell almost 10 points further to 51.

This intensified selling in other parts of the list and before the end of the first-half hour, Baldwin Hudson, Woodworth and General Electric were forced two to four points lower. The government's determined fight against food combinations caused further reaction in this group, with Wagon Wheel, "B" first National series and California Packing extending their declines.

Other outstanding heavy spots included General Motors, Union Bag, Sear's Roebuck, International Harvester, Foundation Company, American Wool, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Rock Island. A 15 point rise in Danish Kroner featured the opening of the foreign exchange market with sterling unchanged at 4.84.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The New York stock market opened with a general advance, but was soon checked by a sharp decline in the foreign exchange market.

Many of the companies recognizing leaders also yielding to selling pressure, with a loss of one to three and half points registered by U. S. Steel, General Electric, Mack Truck and Southern Railway.

REV. T. B. TALBOT TO SPEAK AGAIN ON MISSION WORK

Former of Popular Lecturer Delivered at Presbyterian Church Last Night Is Well Received by Congregation

Rev. Thomas B. Talbot, of Lexington, Ky., occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church last night and delivered a talk on his experiences in mission work among the mountain people in Kentucky, which was declared by his listeners to be one of the most enlightening, yet humorous, speeches many of them had ever heard.

Rev. Talbot, in commenting on the work of his call to the ministry in 1912 and of his subsequent duties to the small congregations in the villages of the Kentucky back country.

He gave the congregation a history of the development of the missions and church work in the village of Whitesburg, Tellico, Blackey, Highland, and near and other parts of the state, where Sabbath schools were started, out of which grew mission schools which constructive work in wiping out ignorance among the mountain people has been commended by the pulpit of the United States on many occasions.

The many humorous anecdotes the speaker related kept his audience in a frame of mind which left them, at the conclusion of his talk, wishing there had been more of it.

"Among the greatest difficulties experienced by the churches in the small Kentucky towns was that of securing a pastor who would stay long enough to get acquainted with his congregation," Rev. Talbot said. "The squallid life led by so many of those ignorant people was such as to discourage many of the young pastors sent out to assist them in the way of religious living and in getting an education."

Rev. Talbot will speak again tonight at 7:30 o'clock and a large audience is expected to be present. The speaker will be in the city for a very inspirational series of messages.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Norman McDermont's abandonment of the management of Everyman Theatre with the announcement that there is no public for intellectual plays in London has stirred many managers and producers to defense of the public.

Miss Sybil Arundell believes the Everyman Theatre was too small, and that in her opinion a serious theatre must have seats for at least 700 persons and sell many of these seats at such a low rate that persons of intelligence who have been impoverished by the war can afford to attend.

Frederick Harrison, of the Haymarket Theatre, thinks there is room for serious as well as for light plays. He points to "Saint Joan" and "The Man with a Load of Mischief," both of them serious plays, as conspicuous successes. He attributes the failure of Everyman Theatre, which is in Hampstead, largely to its great distance from the West End, where the patrons of serious plays live for the most part.

Philip Ridgeway, of Barnes Theatre, also arises to the defense of the management of Everyman Theatre.

Of Products Farm Schools Shown At Fair

Sanford students are proud of their blue ribbon for the best display of truck and vegetables, which were sent from the Sanford school farm. Baby Cooper is instructor of the Sanford agricultural students, and is helping to guide a large number of boys in carrying on the work of reaping agricultural benefits from the rich soils of this section.

Although the main agricultural course in each of the schools throughout the state covers the same general subject of what a young farmer ought to know, each school, on account of the location and advantages, specializes in various departments of agriculture, one of the instructors explained. Thus a school located in a part of the state where the soil is specially adapted for the growing of celery and vegetables, and where students come from farms of this kind will specialize in study along that line.

The Dade county school, which is one of the most interesting exhibits in the fair, is an example of the specialization. The majority of the students are concentrating on horticulture, and ornamental plants. Since the school is located at Lemon City, on the borders of Miami, there is an almost inexhaustible field for landscape architects and growers of ornamental shrubbery, for the decoration of the winter villas that are springing up throughout this section.

Trucked To Fair
All the beautiful ornamental plants and materials used for this exhibit, according to J. L. Butts, instructor, were put on a truck at Miami and driven to Tampa without the breaking of even one flower pot. This exhibition of landscape work represents a tropical garden adjoining a portion of a pictureque little house. Growing bananas are shown. Italian rye grass, planted the first day of the fair, is now a velvety lawn, bordered with a neat row of hies, and with massed shrubbery of the green and variegated leaves of ornamental plants. Varieties of the maiden-hair fern, which was awarded a blue ribbon; crotons flecked with yellows and reds, which make unusually attractive spots of color; the hibiscus; the phoenix; feathery leaf variety of palm and scarlet sage are some of the plants which make this garden spot so beautiful. Members of the Dade county agricultural school already have put their knowledge to profitable use, and have earned a great deal of money by landscape gardening for new houses outside of their school work. The boys have earned as much as $1,200 on one job for this interesting work.

garder products and vegetables, produced under the instruction of W. K. Wheeler. This was awarded third prize for the best display of truck products, and a green ribbon for the collective display.

The agricultural school at Winter Haven is exhibiting for the first time this year, and shows an interesting display of farm shop work for which it received a blue ribbon. Here one may find such useful farm contrivances as a poultry feed box, a feed hopper, a milking stool, tool cabinet and coils and a machine used for keeping record of the egg production of each hen. These are the last work in farm efficiency, and were made by the boys under direction of Alvin Johnson, instructor. A display of 24 kinds of fertilizer in common use is of educational value.

Four Branches
Plant production, animal husbandry, horticulture, and farm machinery are the four branches studied during the four years of agricultural work, said Professor Smith of the Hillsborough school. "Plant production is studied in the first year, and the other subjects taken up in order, but all four are necessary for the well rounded farmer."

M. Smith emphasized the fact that profit was the aim of every farmer, and a thorough technical knowledge of crops, soils and markets was necessary in order to attain this object. Before planting a crop, pupils are taught to consider the yield per acre, cost of production, and market prices, and if one crop should fail they are taught to plant a quicker maturing crop to overcome the loss.

Students all over the state are becoming more enthusiastic over this work and with Florida soil for a laboratory, a bright future is assured. One agricultural student, without a cent of his own under the patronage of an agricultural instructor, borrowed enough money to buy a cow, made enough from the milk to pay for it, and inside of a year, through his own efforts, required a dairy farm, and now is earning $4,000 a year, although he is not yet 20 years old.

MRS. JOE NIBLACK ENTERTAINS AT CARDS HONORING MRS. L. NIBLACK

Mrs. Joe Niblack entertained three tables of players at bridge Friday afternoon honoring Mrs. Leonard Niblack, a February bride. White and green, the chosen colors for this affair were effectively carried out in the living room. Baskets and bowls of narcissus and ferns adorned the room and softly shaded lights added a pleasing touch.

Scores were kept on tallies suggestive of the wedding, being done in miniature brides and grooms. After several progressions, scores were counted and a dainty vanity was awarded Mrs. Carter, holder of high score. The men's prize—a box of linen handkerchiefs, was won by Mr. Johnston. The low score prize

MRS. LEE PECK HOSTESS AT SHOWER GIVEN FOR MRS. RICHARD MAY

Mrs. H. Richard May, a recent bride, was honored on Friday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Lee Peck at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Smith on the lake shore.

Golden calendars and ferns were used in decorating this gracious home, together with potted plants and ferns.

The honoree wore for this occasion a crepe silk two-piece costume of batik figures with small hat to match.

Invited to meet Mrs. May were Miss Dorothy Mero, Miss Ethel Butler, Mrs. C. A. Merritt, Mrs. Eugene Tittle, Mrs. Joe Gonzalez, Miss Claire Zachary, Miss Emily Griffin, Miss Lena Belle Ragan, Miss Carmela Barber, Miss Margaret Peters, Miss Frances Teague, Mrs. James Jackson, Miss Miss Hand, Miss Marie Hand, Mrs. W. Book On Manitoba Soil Brings Young School Teacher Reward Of $13,500

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Winning a prize novel contest "is just an entering wedge to success and in some respects a handicap." Such is the observation of Martha Osteno, a school teacher who turned experiences on Manitoba soil into a $13,500 novel and who has returned to the soil—back in New Jersey—to give further play to her talents.

The noise of a great city was not a creative inducement to one who had lived in small towns of the Northwest. Nor did a residence in Greenwich Village offer her any creative "atmosphere." So she is back in more natural surroundings attempting to show in words the "susceptibility of young American men."

"When I speak of a first novel I mean that the prize novels are discounted by many critics and at the same time, the second book is subjected to very strict criticism," Miss Osteno said. "I do not consider I have achieved success."

"The award brought money—badly needed, I may say—and perhaps recognition. But it also developed that I had many previously unheard of relatives seeking financial assistance. Others demanded loans or their business would fail."

Born in Norway

When she was seventeen years old, the girl, who was born in the mountains of Bergen, Norway, and was brought to this country by her parents when she was two years of age, went into the bleak northern frontiers of Manitoba to teach children of the Icelanders and Indians. There she viewed the material for her book, "Wild Geese," which five years later Dodd, Mead and Company and the Famous Players-Lasky company declared to be the best first novel by an American author.

In 1920-22, Miss Osteno was back in Brooklyn, where she worked in a charity organization and also took a course in novel writing at Columbia University. Then she returned to Winnipeg, where "Wild Geese" was written in a period of six weeks at a time when her family was badly in need of funds. The book finished, she sent it to friends in New York and here it took a position in a Winnipeg department store selling in a salary of $14 a week.

MRS. HARRY B. LEWIS ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Of the many delightful social events of the pre-Lenten season, one of the loveliest was that of Saturday when Mrs. Harry B. Lewis entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Hotel Forrest Lake in honor of Mrs. James Lynch and Miss Loretta Lynch of Providence, R. I., the guests of Mrs. Harry T. Bodwell.

The elegantly appointed luncheon table was placed in the private dining room, and was indeed a work of art. Pathery sprays of asparagus ferns, interspersed with dutch silver baskets filled with pink radianse roses, ageratum and baby breath tied with fluffy bows of pink and blue, and silver candle sticks tied with blue and pink tulle and clusters of pastel tinted sweet peas, held lighted pink tapers. Silver compotes filled with salted nuts and lavender and pink embossed mints were placed at intervals down the long table. Marking the places of the guests were miniature figures dressed in spring gowns,

Mrs. Dwight Babbitt Entertains At Dinner Honoring Mrs. Ulrich

One of the most delightful of the many social affairs of last week was the novel valentine dinner party given on Saturday evening by Mrs. Dwight S. Babbitt, honoring Mrs. Dock Ulrich of Niagara Falls, N. Y., the guest of Mrs. Sandy Anderson, Mrs. Charles C. Remington. In cutting for the consolation prize, an exquisite Chinese embroidered tray cover was won by Mrs. Mary T. Bodwell. The honoree presented boxes of dainty French handkerchiefs.

Mrs. Lewis was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. Donald P. Drummond and Miss Katherine Wilkey.

Many Enjoy Sunday At The Country Club

Sunday at the Sanford Country Club was enjoyed by a large number of golfers, and others coming out for luncheon and dinner.

The club house was decorated with potted plants and baskets of various spring flowers. The small luncheon table were centered with crystal vases filled with callulias and ferns.

Among those having luncheon and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Chittenden, of Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Jones of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; R. W. Deane; Miss Evelyn Anderson; J. E. Leelan, Detroit, Mich.; W. E. McGraw, H. Hanson, Harry A. Reed, Al J. Sukaber, Lewis Green, Bill Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Winters, Lake Placid, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Brubaker, Lake Placid, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Voorhes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hoar and party of 6, Mr. Haggard, Mrs. H. Voorhes, Alfred Lee, B. Worthington, Chas. E. Schenk, Eric, Pa.; H. C. Talbot, Boston, Mass.; Frank M. Ward, Big Rapids, Mich.; Wilbur F. Coe, Newark, N. J.; A. M. Seeler, S. Orange, N. J.; A. Ward Ford, Birmingham, N. Y.; Miss Mary Clark, Chicago, Ill.; Miss Wilhelmina Clark, Chicago; James Clark, Chicago; William Clark, Chicago; Lloyd Voorhes, Otis George, Winter Park; Paul R. Forbes and A. P. Haggard.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Martin, whose marriage was an interesting social event on Feb. 9 at Chattanooga, Tenn., have returned from their wedding trip and are now home to their friends at the home of Mrs. C. H. Smith, corner Third Street and Palmetto Avenue.

Bridge Club Formed Of Young Members

A group of the younger members of the social set met on Saturday evening at the home of Misses Beulah and Margaret Anderson on Palmetto Avenue for the purpose of forming a bridge club.

The rooms where the card tables were placed were bright with baskets of deep red roses combined with ferns.

After a most interesting game of bridge, scores were collected and the prize for top score, a set of bridge tallies, was given Miss Rebecca Stevens.

Refreshments of fruit salad, pickles, olives, saltines, and hot chocolate were served.

Substituting for absent club members were Miss Margaret Cowan and Miss Katherine Entzinger. The club members are Misses Elizabeth Knight, Rebecca Stevens, Beulah Anderson, Margaret Peters, Camilla Puleston, Elizabeth Turnbull, Ruth Henry and Frances Teague.

MEETING POSTPONED

On account of the joint meeting of the Parents-Teachers Association of the city to be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the City Hall, in celebration of Founders Day, the regular meeting of the East Side Parents-Teachers Association meeting on Thursday afternoon has been postponed until further notice.

Snow Flurry In Kitchen Now Made Possible By Science

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Science now makes it possible to start a snow flurry in the heart of the Sahara desert, or in your kitchen. A simple twist of the wrist—and there it is.

Of course this dry snow, or "pure cold" as it has been termed, has a utilitarian purpose, or nobody would have taken the trouble to invent it. This purpose is refrigeration.

The inventor was J. Lavigne, an engineer, who got his bright idea while eating a nut sundae at a soda fountain and watching the action of carbonated gas which itself is an unusual refrigerant. Eight consulting engineers and chemists later worked on the process, spinning out a harmless preparation which is mixed with the carbonated gas in an easily transportable tank.

As predicted by experts that these tanks will one day be peddled from house to house like ice or that stations, similar to refueling stations for autos, will be scattered about.

Even the problem of ice at cocktail parties will be solved by the invention, it is said, since ice can be manufactured in small cubes within a short time through the simple motion of turning on the "snow" machine. A block of waterless snow is actually manufactured and tests have shown unusual lasting powers, it is announced.

Less than a minute is required to make a "snow" disk large enough for the top of a farmer's milk can or an ice cream freezer. Snow blocks for refrigerators can be made in a similar length of time.

MANAGERIAL MINDS

It's hard to figure the big league managers.

Eight American League bosses walked on First Baseman Walter Pipp of the Yankees, Manager Jack Hendrick of the National League was the only one in his league to claim him.

"Pipp should make the Cincinnati club a pennant contender," says Hendrick. "My dope is that he's a far from through."

"When Cincinnati took the aged Jack Daubert, after no other club wanted him, rival managers laughed at the very idea. Yet Daubert until his death was one of the most valuable players on the ball club. He made the team.

"Lack of a competent first baseman cost the Cincinnati club at least a dozen games last year, perhaps more. Put a dozen games on the won column of last year and the Reds would have been right up there."

"I look for Pipp to go along for at least three more years."

Cincinnati is banking on a player of relative ease of the American League, to make the club a pennant contender. I am inclined to agree with Jack Hendrick's judgment.

Hard To Fathom

Last spring after watching the Chicago White Sox in training, Manager Eddie Collins asked me what rookie infielders I liked best.

"Johnny Butler and Ike Davis are the only two new infielders who impress me," I replied, "and I like Butler the better of the two. His range looks like a good fencer and if he can hit, he will fill the gap at short."

It seems Collins had a similar opinion. When the team started north it was a battle between Butler and Davis for the position at short.

The breaks at the bat were against Butler. He, himself told me that he didn't hit a ball hard all spring in the exhibition games. When a player isn't hitting he fails to impress. Incidentally he usually slumps in the field as a result of worrying over the scarcity of base hit.

Ike Davis played shortstop for the White Sox last season and did a pretty good job of it. Johnny Butler was sent back to the minors before the race started.

The other day Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Nationals gave six players for Johnny Butler who had a big year of it with Minneapolis in 1925.

The Second Guess.

A year ago George Sisler traded Pitcher Usher, shortstop for Joe Bush. Now Bush goes to Washington in exchange for the veteran Tom Zachary and the rookie Ballou.

Last year George Sisler took George Mogridge as part payment for Catcher Hank Severid. He wanted to bolster up his pitching staff.

Now Mogridge goes back to New York, a club that turned him loose to Washington several years ago. In his place Sisler takes the veteran catcher, Wally Schang. He wants to strengthen his catching.

Conditions are constantly arising in baseball that call for changes in personnel. A manager must juggle his players in trades or sales to meet all such situations.

PEP is Vitality

More energy will increase your earning ability

It is the red blooded people who win success in this world! Red blood gives men and women the vitality—the energy—the strength and the activity to earn what they deserve!

Nobody can do justice to themselves when they are suffering from want of rich, red blood. It is the impoverished condition of the blood that causes so many failures in life. There's no place at the top for the weakling—the men and women with poor, weak blood.

Build up your blood! Get to the red-blooded class—and get the rewards you deserve. S. S. S. will do it for you! S. S. S. helps Metro build millions of red-blood-cells! S. S. S. sends rich, red blood tingling to every fibre of your body and every pore of your skin. You are fairly radiant with energy, vim and vitality.

You'll look like success, too! The rich, red blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build for you will clear your skin of any ugly blemishes—your eyes will sparkle with enthusiasm—firm, solid flesh will round out your figure—strength and power will come to weak, flabby muscles.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. The larger bottle is more economical.

PARIS LETTER

PARIS, Feb. 15, (AP)—The offer of a prize for the best drinking song in honor of Champagne marks the latest effort to hasten the return of Rheims, the center of the champagne-making country to its pre-war prosperity. The offer is made by the "Rheims Prosperity Bureau" a municipal organization which is arranging a "champagne week" to be held from May 30 to June 6. The first prize will be a crystal cup specially cut and 500 francs. There will be twelve other prizes consisting of specimens of Rheims' only flourishing industry—that which furnishes the subject matter for the songs.

The purchase of American military supplies left in France after the war has turned out a very poor stroke of business for France. The amount France has received by selling these stocks is officially stated to be $3,095,594,000 francs. This figure cannot be regarded as final as there are still a few sales to be effected and some accounts checked.

It is difficult to compare them with the price that France undertook to pay $400,000,000 as the sales have spread over next to six years, during which the value of the franc has varied considerably. At the present rate of England the receipts represent about $124,890,000.

The stocks were paid for in state bonds dated August 1, 1920, with five per cent interest payable half yearly, to be redeemed in ten years. The interest has been paid regularly.

English has become the universal language of the Riviera. One hears it in the casinos, palaces and promenades, on the street, in theatres, everywhere. It is spoken with the twang of the Yankee, the drawl of the Southern states, the sharp accent of London and here and there the guttural tones of Scotland.

The residents of the Riviera have become accustomed to the sound of English, and wonder whether this is France or some seaboard series of resorts of the North Sea or the coast of New Jersey.

In the Nice casino recently four Germans were talking rather loudly in their own language. In a group of French people nearby the following conversation occurred:

"These Germans are certainly making a lot of noise. I should think they might be more reserved. Somehow this German language gets on my nerves," said one of the women. A man wearing the legion of Honor button replied: "Let them alone. It is rather a relief to hear something besides English spoken here, even if it is German."

The jovial and not so old bachelor who presides over the French republic is rapidly developing into a regular Saturday night "stepper out."

Every week end there are balls given by students societies, alumni of some of the great French schools, such as the Ecole Polytechnique, Saint Cyr, and the Ecole Normale, or other organizations promoting the dances for charity. Hitherto they have been, given "under the high patronage" of the President. Now they are being held with the active participation of President Doumergue.

The President does not dance but he likes young people, to see them enjoying themselves. So, every Saturday evening, accompanied by one of his military or naval aides, he "looks in" at the two or three dances, is greeted by the strains of "Le Marseillaise" and the low bows of the reception committee; registers his famous smile, exchanges compliments with a few of the Dowagers of his acquaintances and goes his way. His predecessors in office, all married men, never used this democratic way of making themselves popular with the rising generation.

Duplex garments, light rosy colors and gold tissues are the most notable features of the spring fashions for 1926. A new duplex model that is attracting wide attention is a cape coat which is really two coats that can be worn together or separately and which can be draped in so many different ways that every time it is worn it has a fresh aspect. Some designers are even offering what they call "triple and quadruple" models based on a similar variability of style. Light rosy hues, subtle tones of beige, bisque and gray are the ruling colors. Gold tissue of an almost chiffon thinness is the favorite trimming. The slim, slit-haute, but with a graceful flowing line, continues to predominate in the designs.

Little Edouard Herriot, former premier and now president of the Chamber of Deputies, thinks when he writes his big book on Madame Recamier as a university thesis that it would form the basis for "A lyric comedy in one act." That is what happened to M. Herriot's biography, and the work is soon to be produced at the Casino at Nice. The music is by M. Charles Pons, who wrote the score for Georges Clémenceau's "The Veil of Happiness." "The Tiger" opera is every now and then again played at the opera Comique and a film has been made of it.

JANE COWL SEES ENDOWMENT AS DRAMA RESCUER

Famous Artist Believes That Endowed Theater And Public Education Alone Will Year, Authorities Declare

NEW YORK, Feb. 14. (AP)—Two things, in the opinion of Jane Cowl, can save drama in the American theater. One is to "keep dipping" at people that they must give their support. The other is the endowment of a theater for the production of fine plays.

The actress has been predicting the spoken drama will pass away within a few years, unless there are favorable developments. As for the developments, she has a rather pessimistic outlook. Many good actors will have to find something else to do—"bricklaying, perhaps," to borrow her expression. Miss Cowl, who is best known to the public through her performances in "Within the Law," "Common Clay," "Smilin' Through," and "Romeo and Juliet," discussed not so much the cause of the present situation as what can be done in a remedial manner.

Briefly, she attributes conditions to inroads made by the movies, radio, revues, musical comedies, heavy traveling expenses on the "road," the gradual disappearance of good legitimate theaters and the sending out of poor plays and sorry companies by producers.

"I approve of the movies and radio as forms of entertainment, but not as substitutes for the spoken drama," she said. "We do not appreciate the beauty and influence of the human voice. What will be our loss if it is replaced on the stage by something mechanical?"

"We go to the theater principally for entertainment, but the educational value of the drama can not be overlooked. No good play as seen and heard without causing people to think and leading to the better things of life.

"Museums are endowed. Schools are endowed. Other institutions are endowed. Why should not the same thing be done with the theater?" "The average individual certainly is visited oftener and the theater is the one institution where virtually all the arts are combined in production."

THOUSANDS VISIT NEW ORLEANS TO SEE MARDI GRAS

"Old Timers" Declare Annual Carnival Is Greatest In History Of City; Prohibition Officers Are On Job

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15. (AP)—Thousands of visitors from near and distant cities and villages today forgot their cares and responsibilities to share with residents of New Orleans the entertainment of what many "old timers" believe is the greatest Mardi Gras in the city's history.

The more pessimistic tell their visitors that the best carnivals were those held before the advent of prohibition.

Federal prohibition officers concede that liquor can be purchased here, but believe their work has been recently successful and cite facts and figures to prove that many bootleggers have been arrested and convicted in the New Orleans territory recently and thousands of dollars worth of prohibited fluid and supplies for its manufacture confiscated.

The carnival fun makers made their way through the crowded streets today amid the small army of street vendors. Antique shops, horse and dog race tracks attracted many visitors while thousands of visitors were attracted by scenic and historic places.

The main streets during nights of the carnival, which has been in full swing since last Thursday and will continue until late tomorrow, present an unusual appearance. They are strung with thousands of lights, are a-flutter with flags and serve as a stamping ground for many masked men and women who seem to be leading carefree lives.

Tomorrow is Mardi Gras day—the happiest in New Orleans calendar. It is then that street dances are in vogue. Rex, the greatest of the carnival gods will be the principal attraction of tomorrow's parade and care, the last of the Mardi Gras to appear, is due to be in the line of march tonight.

Golf Has Outgrown Those Organizations Which Seek To Control It, Says Fownes

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Gold has outgrown the organizations which aim to control it, in the opinion of W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, president of the U. S. Golf Association. Golf has grown so rapidly in America that some 5,000 clubs have been formed on an average of about one to the county throughout the United States.

Out of these organizations only 1,270 belong to the U. S. G. A. and the Western Golf Association and many of these are duplicated. Probably enough clubs are affiliated with regional and state associations to rally 1,225 clubs which owe allegiance to some ruling body, or only one fourth of the total.

How the game grows is shown by reports for 1925. For club developments for that year alone were 6,100 and except for Nevada, each state in the union had at least one newly perfected club. In 1925 only 113 clubs were added to the roster of the U. S. G. A. and lesser number than the W. G. A. and many of these were not among the clubs formed in that year. The dues are only from $10.00 to $30.00 for each member, but students of the organization have decided the very newness of the game caused clubs to hold back and neglect to support the organization which helped further and manage the sport.

Much work has been done by regional associations so that rivalries of golf clubs have grown up, with the organization realm so that clubs would belong to the same subordinate body which in turn would form the supreme association.

Suzanne Lenglen And Helen Wills May Meet Twice During This Month

CANNES, France, Feb. 15.—(AP)—while all the Riviera is in a state of great expectancy over the anticipated battle across the net Tuesday between Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen, there already is on foot a plan by which the loser may have another chance to meet the winner before the end of the present month.

Frank J. Gould announces the offer of a $10,000 gold cup for a tournament in women's singles to be played on his new courts here. Invitations are to be sent to the eight best women players not on the Riviera or in France. Invitations already have been sent to Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Wills, Mlle. Didi and Miss Hen Harvey and Miss Satterthwaite, of England.

Both Mlle. Lenglen and Miss

Wills are in fine form for a match. Miss Wills in her play yesterday showed a varied and diversified game against Miss Bennett, of England, whom she defeated in straight sets 6-2, 6-0.

She worked her fast forehand and cross court dives with great speed. Her back hand was the best seen in these parts. Her overhead, however, lacked steadiness. Miss Wills watched her prospective opponent of Tuesday.

"Do you expect to beat Miss Wills in straight love sets?" Suzanne was asked.

"Never mind about Miss Wills," the French flash replied. "I'm talking about the tournament, not the final. I wish you would not question me about Miss Wills."

BIG AID TO WHITE SOX

"The two Teds made our ball club last season," says Eddie Collins, manager of the Chicago White Sox.

"When two pitchers, regarded as uncertainties, win 38 ball games for you, they have contributed more than their share of victories. I always knew Blankenship was a great pitcher. Fame came his way the moment he began to mix five shutouts, more than any other slow ball and a fine change of pace made him.

"Lyons arrived over night. He's the best young pitcher developed in the majors last season and I am not excepting Kent Greenfield of the Giants."

Lyons joined the White Sox in June, 1925, coming direct from Baylor University.

Thus with little less than three years' experience, he won 21 games for Chicago last season and scored five shutouts, more than any other pitcher in the majors.

Haymakers That Made History

BY JOE WILLIAMS

SOME 25 years ago a pink-faced, cherubic-looking youngster came out of the west, unheralded and unknown, to give boxing one of the most astounding surprises the ancient sport has ever embraced.

They called him Young Corbett, though his real name was Billy Belwell, and out in Denver, whence he came, they knew him as a "fightin' fool."

Matched to battle Terry McGovern—Terrible Terry—at Hartford, Conn., on Thanksgiving Day, 1901, Young Corbett, then scarcely 21, was conceded less than an outside chance to last the limit.

Eastern critics, familiar with Terrible Terry's slashing onslaughts, actually felt a bit sorry for the invader, and his boyish manager, Johnny Corbett, who came wearing a kilt and a vest of muskrat skins, the hairy side out.

They predicted a short fight and the betting odds, 2 to 11 favoring Terrible Terry, at that time champion of the featherweights, seemed logical enough.

It was a short fight. A dramatically short fight. It lasted less than two rounds. Young Corbett won by a knockout, a swinging, swishing right-hand uppercut, that caught Terrible Terry on the angle of the jaw, ended the fight after one minute and 44 seconds of furious slugging in the second round.

Terrible Terry had come in overweight. After the fight he refused formally to relinquish the title.

Young Corbett replied with a remark revealing philosophic depths:

"All right," he said, "maybe I'm not the champion, but when I go down the street people will point at me and say, 'There goes the guy that knocked out McGovern.' That'll do me."

No fight between featherweights before or since matched this one for brevity, savagery and drama. Corbett, thought to be purely a boxer, met McGovern, a relentless boring-in type of battler, at his game—and battered him to the floor under a flood of heavy blows that caused old-timers to gasp.

White counted him out. Here's the blow-by-blow detail of that history-making haymaker:

Round Two

McGovern rushed in with a left to the body, clinched and there was an exchange of rights and lefts. Corbett, on the defensive, met McGovern's rushes with stiff punches and straight left jabs. With a left-hand uppercut he sent McGovern to the floor. McGovern took five and came back like a wild man. All science was abandoned and both men began slugging.

McGovern was the wilder of the two. They made a half circle of the ring in this manner. It was anybody's fight, depending on whose minutes had been clobbered off he was a bent, crumpled figure on the canvas, trying desperately to get to his feet while Referee White counted him out. Here's the blow-by-blow detail of that history-making haymaker:

Principals In Main Bout At Armory Are Well Known To The Local Fans

Kid Rourke, Orlando fighter who meets Jimmy Russell at the Armory tomorrow night in the 10-round feature of the evening's card, is well known to local fans through his fight here with Charles Diaz, Tampa scrapper, three weeks ago.

In that bout, which was a whirlwind of action while it lasted, Diaz hurt his hand and had to retire after four rounds of some of the best boxing seen here in a long time. If Russell can only equal the punching ability of Diaz, local fans are going to have a treat when he and Rourke come together. Rourke is a little fellow, but carries a punch in either hand.

Irving Meets Lewis

In the semi-final, Young Irving, Orlando boy, who has become very popular with the Sanford fans, will mix things with "Kid" Lewis in what promises to be as good a scrap as the main go.

Irving has been fighting here for several weeks at the regular Tuesday night shows and his work has been very impressive. Looks as though this boy really had something of a future.

Miss Wills' Chances Good, Says Whitman

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—(AP)—G. W. Whitman, former president of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, thinks Helen Wills has better than an even chance to defeat Suzanne Lenglen.

"It's anybody's match," he said. "If Miss Wills is on her game she cannot be beaten except by a player who can hit harder than she. When Miss Wills plays her game with all the speed of which she is capable, no woman, and indeed few men players can withstand the withering pace."

The cannon-like ball drive played first into one corner and then into the other corner of a singles court is a winning game and in women's tennis it is an unbeatable game."

Race Track Betting Banned In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Following announcement that Attorney General Crabb of Ohio would begin injunction proceedings against race tracks which attempt to operate with pari mutual betting, Safety Director Edwin D. Berry of Cleveland, declared today that he would not wait for Crabb to act.

Berry announced that he would exercise his power to stop pari-mutual betting within four miles of Cleveland.

But he added he was not certain the betting could be stopped. It would be extremely difficult, Berry said, to secure evidence beyond "reasonable doubt" that would bring conviction on charges of oral betting.

URGENT COD AND HIS CODFISH SQUAD

"These are codfish balls, fried, boiled, and baked very hard," he bellowed, and they were as well. They will turn into bicycles, or even if necessary, into automobiles. If anything happens to you in the Land of the Blue Cherry, just say: "Help my fish-balls."

"Get me out of these walls!"

"And puff, you'll be out before you know it."

The Twins took the fish-balls and put them into their pockets. But when they tried to thank the kind codfish, Nancy could only say "Tomato-soup!" And all Nick could stammer out was "Waffles and syrup!"

"I'm sure you're quite welcome," said Sergeant Cod stepping back into line and saluting. "It's too bad you didn't come in by the wicket gate. It would have saved you much trouble. Your heads, too."

Nick was thinking, "I do wish we could find out about the Blue Cherry. We haven't seen a sign of it since we came and poor Twinkle Pen is probably writing over everything in the Fairy Queen's palace and cure him."

By this time they were inside of Blue Whiskers' palace and what a sight met their eyes!

(To Be Continued)

"Oh, will the lady and gentleman please give the policeman a hand," said the sergeant of the squad.

St. Augustine—$1,486,000 seen...

LONDON LETTER

LONDON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Fifth Avenue method of traffic control, with its alternating lights has been adopted for Piccadilly, from the famous circus to Hyde Park corner.

London will not adopt New York's graceful metal watch-towers, for all the space in this main artery is needed for the increasing number of automobiles, but signal lights, controlled by an officer in Piccadilly Circus or at the intersection of St. James street, will stop and start traffic simultaneously all along the street.

This is only one of the many innovations adopted to relieve the congestion of London's narrow and irregular streets. In the larger squares and circles the one way movement of traffic has been adopted with great success from the standpoint of everyone but the pedestrian. In Parliament Square particularly, pedestrians on their way to the houses of parliament or Westminster Abbey have much difficulty in dodging through the steady stream of motors which pour through Whitehall and Victoria street and across Westminster bridge. To care for this problem tunnels under the streets will be constructed for foot travelers.

Queen Mary needs a new cook. The old one is not quitting because of too much company at Buckingham Palace, too few nights off or anything like that, but is about to retire after 25 years as "cook royal" in supreme command of the palace kitchens.

Applicants must be adept at both plain or fancy cooking, for excepting on the more formal occasions, the fare at England's royal board is very simple. On Sundays if there are no special guests, King George's family often lunches on soup, roast beef, apple tart and cream. But on formal social occasions when the solid gold state plate is shined up and put out on the great dining table, the palace chef must rise to the supreme heights of his art.

Queen Mary, good housewife that she is, usually chooses menus, and although herself fond of the simple dishes of England, she has fine discrimination in French and other foreign cooking.

The increasing vogue of the double breasted coat has caused men of fashion in London to resort to dieting to remove fat. No fat man looks his best in a double breasted suit; hence the "banting" denial of favorite dishes and painful hours of massage in the Turkish baths of Piccadilly and St. James.

Those undergoing the martyrdom of fashion find physical consolation however, in the advice of Doctors that the fatter the man the higher the blood pressure and that it is the thin, wiry men that live longest.

Well to do society women have not enough to do and there is a very great danger that the "rot of idleness" might set in." Viscountess Margaret Haig Rhonda, one of England's leading business women, told an audience at Southport during a talk on feminism.

The Viscountess said she was led to believe that the reason the women's movement drew its chief inspiration from the well-to-do people was because there was during the 19th century a very real danger of degeneration and decay arising which might have destroyed, "which might still destroy, society itself."

T. P. O'Connor, "Father of the House of Commons," also is father of the corps of American newspaper correspondents in London. At one time or another he has been on the staffs of many of the American journals represented in the British capital long before their present day correspondents were born.

"Pay-pay," drew upon his remarkable memory for many stories of his 55 years as a London correspondent at a recent luncheon of the correspondents' association, at which he was the guest of honor.

At 77 he is known to his colleagues as the world's champion obituary writer and as a regular contributor to London papers, aside from his work in parliament. Nobody of importance can die anywhere without "Pay-pay" penning a kindly column.

American ice cream sodas have replaced tea as the popular drink at the larger London dance halls, where the sale of alcoholic beverages is not permitted.

"White coffee" about half hot milk and coffee, served in tall glasses is second on the list for popularity at the soft drink dance halls where tea, since ice cream was introduced has been pushed down to the bottom of the menu, some reason don't go well together.

At the Covent Garden Opera House, which has been turned into an immense dance hall for the winter and has a license to sell alcoholic drinks, beer is the most popular beverage, with Scotch and soda next and ice cream soda as the third in England.

Tea is called for so seldom nowadays at Covent Garden that most of the tea pots have been relegated to the long storage room with the lemons and ginger ale glasses which were in use before jazz showed the waltz and the boards.

Mrs. Sophie Elliott Lynn, first member of the London Light Aeroplane Club to gain a pilot's license, who has become famous for her loops, rolls and other maneuvers in her "moth" is planning a trip by air to Ireland and back, the longest flight ever undertaken by a woman. The trip will cover about 1,000 miles and include two crossings of the Irish Channel. The start will be made from Stewland Aerodrome, at Edgware, Middlesex, the headquarters of the London Flying Club.

---A Distinctive Home Community
Where refinement and contentment Abound

"Nature's Century Old Masterpiece"

THIS is a spot where Nature seems to have planned a perfect home community. Her magic wand has touched it into rare beauty and filled it with stately oaks that rear their massive heads to the skies. In the dark centuries that are gone, when the Red Man roved the uncharted paths of a vast wilderness, Nature slowly formed this spot into a place of exquisite beauty, with the inherent skill of an artist wont to deal in the architecture of the sphere. She cast the charm of unexcelled natural beauty around it and with the skill of a master-craftsman touched Wynnewood into life in the varied hues of universe.

It is not often that you have the opportunity of buying a homesite already prepared for you with century old oak trees and a beauty of surrounding that is seldom equalled. It takes years to do that but here you will not have to wait for the slow growth of shade trees, flowers, and shrubs to beautify your home. In Wynnewood they are already there and have been growing since the white man first came to these shores.

Wynnewood is in the path of the city's great Eastern trend of development and already in the city limits Day by day men and machinery are at work clearing streets and laying out boulevards. Rapidly an unusual and wisely restricted home community is coming into being. Now is the time in which to secure the most desirable lots, either for sound investment or for a universe.

Let one of our representatives take you out to see Wynnewood. We shall be glad to have you as our guest.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach; is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory for the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

STATE NEWS BRIEFS
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

DELAND—The two and a half year old baby of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Wynne, near Orange City, was smothered to death when it accidentally fell into a non-used cistern. It was necessary to dig a trench to the bottom of the well before the body was recovered.

CLEARWATER—Young married people with children are assured of at least one place to live. A new $50,000 apartment to be built here will be rented to young couples with off-springs, in preference to bachelors and old maids, the builder announced.

GAINESVILLE—Chester White, local resident, shot and killed Dewitt Bradley, negro restaurant keeper, during an argument in the latter's establishment.

FORT MYERS—One case on the police court docket did not come up here according to schedule. Hubert W. Taylor, looked upon as a "second Houdini," who was arraigned on a charge of theft, faded completely out of the courtroom "scene" and before the eyes of a number of patrolmen.

TAMPA—E. Hanovaga, of Tampa, accepted an automobile ride when invited by two strangers. He later reported to the police that he had been slugged and robbed of watch and money.

STUART—Martin county has appointed a traffic officer all its own. The county commissioners, at the last meeting, engaged Harry Sharpe, former deputy sheriff, to see that the speed and reckless driving laws are carried out.

FORT MYERS—Four men and 180 quarts were taken in a mid night raid by deputy sheriffs. The liquor was being carried in 30 jugs, and was being unloaded from a small skiff when the four were "snubbed."

TAMPA—Tampa was invaded by fanatics when Nick Altrock and Al Schuet, the noted "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean of baseball were found registered at a local hotel. The two were among the vanguard of the Washington Senators, who are coming to Tampa for their spring training.

SENTIMENT FOR HARD SURFACING ROADS GAINING

State Road No. 1, Especially In Need Of Surfacing Owing To Heavy Traffic In Past Year Authorifies State

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 15—Sentiment is crystallizing throughout West Florida in favor of hard-surfacing State Road No. 1, the Old Spanish Trail, all the way from Jacksonville to Nonaconia according to reports to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. The highway already is hard-surfaced between Jacksonville and Lake City, a distance of sixty miles, and the sentiment for hard-surfacing elsewhere is growing so rapidly it appears funds will be available by the time the road is completed as a sand clay project. Dr. F. A. Hathway, Chairman of the State Road Department, told the State Chamber several months ago he believed the Highway would be hard-surfaced throughout its length within the next three years.

Leon county already has voted bonds for the work through its confines. Suwannee has planned a bond issue as has Jefferson and Gadsden. Sentiment for the work in Walton county is such that Editor Cleveland, of the DeFuniak Springs Herald, has been led to remark editorially: "Just trot out your bond proposition, gentlemen. We are ready to vote and work it. The bigger the bond the better we'll be pleased."

The State Chamber of Commerce, which believes that the hard-surfacing of the highway would be the greatest step West Florida could take toward accelerating its development, and that the quicker the work is done the earlier the benefits to be derived will become apparent, suggests that representatives of all the counties west of and including Columbia, traversed by the highway, hold a conference at Marianna or some other central point in the near future to discuss concerted action and a program. Dr. Hathway's presence and his advice, the Chamber adds, would be helpful. All counties should be represented whether they have voted bonds for the proposed work or not.

Conditions are better. Some food prices have declined from exorbitant to unreasonable.

SHRAPNEL WOUND KNOCKED COLMAN INTO LIMELIGHT

Green Star Now Playing In Large Productions, First Worked On London Stage Following War Injuries

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15. (AP)—A piece of German shrapnel knocked Ronald Colman into the acting profession. He decided to let fate guide his course. Now he is playing opposite Norma Talmadge in the movies.

It happened back in the days of the World War. Colman, an Englishman, enlisted in the London Scottish regiment and was ordered to the front as one of the first hundred thousand. At Ypres he was struck by shrapnel.

A splintered ankle placed him in a London hospital for months. Surgery eventually brought cure, but in the interim a young soldier had been discharged from the army.

Lena Ashwell, the actress, took Colman into her company for two weeks' engagement and then introduced him to every manager in London. There was a possibility of an appointment to an Orient consular post. He decided to take the first offer made him. Forty-eight hours before the appointment came, Colman was in-

Is this your BIRTHDAY

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 14
If so, you always will be popular no matter where you go. You are born with a pleasant manner and make friends easily. You should take care not to become too pleasant and talk too much about your friends and neighbors. You are inclined to do this and unless you fight it off you will get the name of a gossip. You care too much for too many and many disappointments may be in line for you.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15
If so, you are born with the traits of a genius. This does not mean, however, that aladdin is going to be easy for you. You must develop these traits and fight off inclinations to abandon a plan before it is completed. You are born with a good taste for literature and are inclined to be poetical and musical. You will have many personal friends and a few bitter enemies due to your strong likes and dislikes.

OUR 2ND IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PROPERTY HOLDERS IN

Loch Arbor

STRAIGHT TALK

Where do you always find the best homes in town? If you and the other citizens of Sanford are right in your belief that Sanford is going to grow or keep on growing at its present rate, then the best homes will NOT be DOWN TOWN—the business, jobbing and wholesale districts will, no doubt, within a few years be spreading down Palmetto, Magnolia, Park, Oak, Myrtle and Elm just as it is doing out Sanford.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

Your property in Loch Arbor will be the same beautiful setting for a homestead that it now is—there, will be the best homes—there, will be the highest priced resident property in the whole Sanford district, and, as a far sighted citizen, one of wide vision, you should build that home where you will not be crowded out by the encroachment of business—in a place where there will be a continuous and persistent demand for high type resident property.

WE HAVE A VERY IMPORTANT BUILDING PROGRAM AWAITING YOU.

In a few days we will be in a position to offer to you a very interesting building programme, one strictly in line with sound financing and one that will make it possible for you to own a home with a very small financial outlay. Nothing will enhance values of your property and that of your neighbor quite as much as building homes—have you noticed that you may ride about, up one street and down another—and rarely will you find a "for sale" sign—indicating that if we are to take care of the people who want to come here to live we must build more homes.

A Country Club Property of Lakes and Hills

Tunnel Through Divide Nears At Rapid Rate

The tunnel is about 16 feet in width and 24 feet high. Parallel with the railroad is a water tunnel eight feet wide and eight feet high. Through this Denver will get a water supply from tributaries of mountain streams that tap the Colorado River. Eight cross cuts are being built to connect the water and railroad tunnels.

Undeveloped northwestern Colorado, which will be opened by the tunnel, has enough coal, geologists say, to supply the United States for 1,500 years. It has oil shale beds of stupendous proportions. There are almost equal undeveloped resources in northeastern Utah.

The railroad bore of the project, fully enlarged, is fifty-two per cent finished, while the water tunnel and the main headings of the railroad bore are seventy-nine per cent built.

Last year Crater Lake, a reputed bottomless body of water, 1,500 feet above the workmen in the tunnel, emptied its waters into the passage. The lake was drained and has been forever eliminated as Completed this summer, one locomotive will haul a train of 24 cars from Tabernash to Denver in less than half the time.

It is proposed to extend the Denver & Salt Lake railroad, also known as the Moffat Road, through the tunnel and continue its line westward from Craig to Salt Lake City. Thus a new transcontinental route will be provided. Centers like Denver will be brought 173 miles closer to the Pacific Coast.

Twenty-five years ago David H. Moffat planned to build the Denver & Salt Lake railroad through the great barriers of rock and gorge dividing Colorado and Utah.

Moffat was submitted to the voters of Colorado. They rejected it, principally because of opposition from the Pueblo district.

The Moffat tunnel act provides that it shall be owned by the improvement district and remain forever a public utility for transportation and communication.

The tunnel is about 16 feet in width and 24 feet high. Parallel with the railroad is a water tunnel eight feet wide and eight feet high. Through this Denver will get a water supply from tributaries of mountain streams that tap the Colorado River. Eight cross cuts are being built to connect the water and railroad tunnels.

Tragedy Amuses Tia Juana As Officials Ridicule Plan To Execute Guilty Mexican

Peteet And Wife

Police Chief Who Attacked Two Peteet Girls Is Too Powerful To Get More Than Six Years In Penitentiary

Vice Dens Are Still Wide Open To Public

Strange Suicide Pact Of 4 Members Of Peteet Family Reveals Veritable Hellhole

Here is the first of a series of articles by Russell J. Bidwell, special writer for NEA Service and The Sanford Herald, giving a first-hand account of conditions at Tia Juana, the Mexican border town where two American girls were so mistreated last year and their parents committed suicide together. A second story will follow tomorrow.

By RUSSELL J. BIDWELL
TIA JUANA, Mex., Feb. 18.—Here in Satan's town the devil still bosses his playthings. And over in San Diego across the border where the girls were mistreated, their parents committed suicide together. A second story will follow tomorrow.

Four fresh moans of death as three, blood-stained, and the ill-fated Peteet family, Audrey and Clyde, young and pretty sisters—unwilling members of the deadly, infernal party, met there with father and mother. The girls said they were trapped, directed and despised by Tia Juana's chief of police, Zendea and a gang of his. Tia Juana friends, there to escape the shame of living, the whole family laid down to die in the words, "quiere ser unido y eterno." But here in the city of sin there are no words of mourning.

The Old Story
Seductive music pours out into the tepalcates atmosphere from the shops, saloons and cabarets, thousands of dollars exchange hourly in the gambling halls; the old story still continues in the alley of nameless women and scabbed-eyed American and Mexican girls—lures to beat the tourist-caucher for the day and men they support.

The Peteet family was lured one day, and on the following began Tia Juana's gayest four-day carnival—a gesture to keep business going as usual in this most important cesspool of degeneracy and delinquency in the history of the North American continent.

Night descended on Leper Lane like a heavy, black, and electric blue flash. Her eyes closed, the girls of all races, nations, and colors, with their hands on their heads in the streets, shrieking and running, sought refuge in the nearest building. The girls were first directed by Luis Anador, proprietor of the Hotel Nacional, where Tia Juana's chief of police, Zendea, and his gang, were waiting to receive them.

Not one place of pleasure or den of inebriety has been closed here, according to the Oakland bar, where the Peteet girls were first directed by Luis Anador, proprietor of the Hotel Nacional, where Tia Juana's chief of police, Zendea, and his gang, were waiting to receive them.

And an alibi path has been paved for the attackers of American women to travel to freedom. "Dates has too much power, too big a factor in Mexican political circles, to be dealt with harshly," is the unanimously spoken comment here.

The probability that he may be sentenced to face a longer term is a joke. An agent of the United States, who has been in the city for some time, mentioned such a sentence for his crime.

"Not serious, but the very most he could get under the law," he chuckled.

"I have not been able to find a single person who believes that Llanos will get any penalty at all. However, some believe that one of the group of miscellaneous at-

UNION MINERS FAIL TO REACH INDIANA FIELD

Illinois Union Sympathizers Not Present For Reported Demonstration Against Non-Union Men At Evansville

Reports Of Caravan Are Still Unverified

Twenty Are Hurt In Clash Early This Week Between Sympathizers And Miners

EVANSVILLE, Ill., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Police today were unable to verify reports that a caravan of union sympathizers was enroute from Illinois to the southwestern Indiana coal field to participate in a demonstration against non-union miners.

Authorities said they had reports from all points along the Wabash River and that there had been no invasion from Illinois this far. Work was resumed this morning at the non-union mines which the union sympathizers have been seeking to close.

Police who were on duty today were unable to say where the caravan had come from early this morning to the effect that the caravan was enroute here. The caravan was given by Capt. Harry E. Freer, said his information had come from a motorist's account.

Capt. Harry Freer, in charge of the Evansville police, said he had received authentic information that the caravan passed through Evansville, Ill., in a short time and that it was 50 miles from Evansville.

The police have learned that the union sympathizers made arrangements to be housed across the Wabash River at Mt. Vernon, where the ferryman had completed his regular schedule for the night.

600 Escape Ohio Mine Blast

The main shaft of the Cleveland & Western Coal Company's mine at Puchin, O., was wrecked, one man was killed and twenty-two were injured by a coal dust explosion—but 600 men in the mine escaped unhurt because rock dust, had been sprinkled on the floor and walls. Photo shows the wrecked mine tipples at the top of the shaft.

C. W. Brown Elected Head Of Tourist Club At Dance At City Hall Thursday Night

Approximately 250 visitors in Sanford attended the Chamber of Commerce "retreat" dance held at the Municipal Hall last night for the purpose of preparing the way for the formation of a tourist club composed entirely of transients, who will be encouraged to utilize their own resources for the purpose of preparing a program, with the active assistance of the Chamber of Commerce.

At 9 o'clock the hall was packed with visitors, old and young and middle aged. After the first couple had taken to the floor under the direction of the "Seminole Syncopator," persuasive music began to follow still in dancing space was crowded.

14 Are Taken From Jap Vessel Adrift In Pacific For Month

Standard Oil Tanker Rescues Men Thursday; Rest Of Crew May Have Perished

Men Had No Food For Twenty Days

Story Of Suffering Is Pictured In Brief Dispatch To Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—(AP)—With food and water gone, after drifting more than a month after a storm had rendered their vessel helpless, 14 of the 33 members of the crew of the Japanese steamer Daishin Maru were rescued in mid-Pacific Thursday by the Standard Oil Company tanker Java Arrow.

The other 19 of the crew who left the Daishin Maru in lifeboats are believed to have perished. The Japanese ship, with its fuel exhausted and its cargo jettisoned, was sighted by the Java Arrow on its way from Yokohama to San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

Her crew including the captain, mates and engineers had been without water for five days and without food except rats and the ship's cat for 20 days.

Word of the rescue was relayed early today to the Associated Press by the Dollar Line President Wilson, 3,000 miles from this port.

The Daishin Maru left Yokohama Jan. 17 for Mororan, on the island of Hokkaido, in the northern part of the Japanese archipelago, with 30 tons of coal as fuel.

On Jan. 29 one lifeboat with 11 men put away from the drifting steamer. Five days later eight men left in a second lifeboat.

A wireless message at the Federal Telegraph Co. station here, addressed to the Associated Press, told of the deprivation of the rescued men. It said:

"Men aboard have not eaten for 20 days, no water in last five. Today aboard the Java Arrow, bound for San Francisco, mates and engineers had been without first and second mates, the chief and eight of the crew."

A light docket came up in police court this morning for Judge W. E. White's disposal and court was only in session a short time. Nine cases dealing with parking violations were on the list. Many defendants failed to show up and their bonds were ordered estranged.

R. R. Edridge ordered a $5 bond for violation of the new parking law and W. W. Duffness ordered a bond of $5 on the same charge.

John Henry Clary was fined $1 for driving with bright lights. John Smith, I. C. Hall, T. R. Bell and Paul Reaves each paid $3 for parking without lights. A. B. George was fined $5 for parking without lights and on the wrong side of the street. Lonnie Wilson ordered his bond of $3 on the no light charge.

E. J. Smith was fined $10 on a charge of drunkenness and Joe Frazier surrendered a bond of $10 on a charge of non appearance in court.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—(AP)—This city, with its perennial contention that the national census bureau does it justice today claimed a population of 1,550,360. The claim is calculated by multiplying the number of names in the new directory by 2.65.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 19.—(AP)—A hand full of little copper rifle shells left by the "phantom rifleman," who had killed two persons and sent laden pellets whistling too close for comfort to others, compressed them on which police were working today.

"I'm completely up in the air," Police Chief Van Deusen said. "An all-night vigil in the part of town in which the man, believed to be a maniac or drug addict, had appeared, was kept again last night. With daylight, officials feared another victim might be revealed as was the case yesterday when Dr. A. D. Seales, was found dead in his office, his head drilled through by a .32 caliber bullet.

The first victim was William McDewitt, shot to death Sunday night in similar manner, except that he was killed on the street. With the posting of rewards totalling $750 by newspapers and concentration of police efforts, was

HEAVY FROST IS PREDICTED FOR STATE TONIGHT

Florida In Area That Will Be Scene Of Storm Of Much Intensity And Wide Extent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Heavy frosts in Florida are predicted tonight as far south as northern Florida and light frost may be expected nearly to Miami, the Weather Bureau forecast said today.

The Weather Bureau report states that one center of a storm of wide extent and marked intensity is over northern Virginia. Barometer readings are below 29 degrees as far south as northern Georgia.

The disturbance has been attended by widespread precipitation over the eastern half of the country and numerous thunderstorms are south to the Gulf Coast.

The storm, it says, will move rapidly northward and will be followed by much colder weather although generally fair, in the Atlantic and Gulf States.

The weather will remain generally fair on Saturday, with the exception of Tennessee, where cloudiness is predicted. The temperature will be about normal along the South Carolina coast.

The storm warnings are displayed from Jacksonville, Fla., to Eastport, Me., and marked craft warnings from Gray Bay, St. Louis, Mo., to Jacksonville, Fla.

Sanford Student Is Given First Prize In Literary Contest

Miss Anna Clark of the Sanford High School took first prize in the girl's division of the Irving Bacheller essay contest at Rollins College, which was held last night. The trophy was by Miss Clark was a gold medal. Second place went to Miss Geneva Miller of the Kilmann-high school.

The trophies are offered each year by Irving Bacheller, noted author and by the Florida High School Contestants.

Among those present from Sanford for contest last night were: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McKay, Mrs. Blawie, Miss L. Gray, Mrs. Mary Cobb, Mrs. Steel and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, together with a number of high school students.

Following the contestants were entertained at a banquet by one of the college literary societies.

Sanford Golf Club To Elect Officers Next Monday Night

A meeting of the Sanford Golf Club has been called for next Monday night in the club house at which time the regular election of officers and directors for the ensuing year will be held and plans made for the club's activities for the next 12 months.

Club officials are enthusiastic over the results of the activities during the past few months and said that 1925 and early 1927 will bring many big events to the following year of the game in this city.

It is reported that at least four tournaments of major importance will be held during the year, cups shared, according to officials.

The date for the second annual Central Florida Open championship is expected to be made known within a short time. Officials are confident that the second tournament will attract an even larger field than the one which participated here in January.

J. G. Sharon Will Seek Election As County Judge

County Judge J. G. Sharon, who was appointed by Governor Martin to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Schelle Malmes, announced yesterday that he would be a candidate to complete the four-year term at the election to be held in June.

The term of office of the county judge here four years, the appointment by the Governor is only in effect until such time as the election is held to fill the vacancy caused by the death or resignation of a regularly elected judge.

Judge Sharon stated that he would publish his regular announcement at a later date, but that he felt it necessary at this time to make known his intention relative to again seeking the office.

Before being appointed to the office of County Judge, Judge Sharon occupied the post of municipal judge of the City of Sanford, and during his time in that office he made a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who predict that he will be elected next June by a very large majority.

It is said that his action in making public the fact that he will be a candidate, came as the result of the insistence of many friends throughout the county, who know that numerous civic organizations are planning to inaugurate their civic efforts by electing him to the office.

May Organize Bank For City Of Osteen At Meet Saturday

A meeting will be held Saturday night in the director's room of the Seminole County Bank for the purpose of discussing the possibility of organization of a banking institution for the city of Osteen, according to an announcement made this morning by Mayor Forrest Lake, who, together with various business men of Sanford and Osteen, are promoting the project.

The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock and Mr. Lake stated today that every business man of this city who cared to be interested in the proposition was welcome to attend the conference.

A large group of representative men from Osteen are expected to be present, as well as a number from this city.

The need for a bank in Osteen has been very evident for some time, according to reliable information. The formation of an institution would result in much benefit to the community. It is estimated that the bank would have a building and equipment already there.

FUNERAL RITES FOR H. L. WALSH TO BE HELD HERE

Final arrangements have been completed for the funeral rites of Harry L. Walsh, well known local citizen, who died in a Jacksonville hospital Thursday and who will be buried here Saturday morning.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock at St. John's Catholic Church and Solemn Requiem High Mass, one of the highest ceremonies of the church, will be sung. The officiating of the mass will be in charge of Mrs. E. E. Bourhill.

Funeral services will be held at Paul Monahan, C. L. Britt, Edward Higgins, John Mauro, Jr., Henry McDonnell, Frank Fitzpatrick and Dick Scendon, all members of the Knights of Columbus, an organization in which Mr. Walsh was very prominent.

Mr. Walsh had been a resident of Sanford for the past seven years and was at the time of his death sales manager for the Florida Vegetable Corporation. He was formerly a resident of Detroit and had returned to this city a number of times recently for treatment. He was 45 years of age at the time of his death, which occurred following an operation which was hoped to restore his health.

Surviving Mr. Walsh are his widow, his father, James Walsh, and a brother, William Walsh.

One Killed, Another Hurt In Train Wreck

ANDALUSIA, Ala., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Engineer M. J. Jagers was in a hospital here today, swollen and bruised and his negro fireman, named Rhodes, is dead as the result of a derailment at Opp last night, when Louisville and Nashville passenger trains ran into an open switch.

The fireman was killed when the engine went over while Jagers saved his life by jumping. Just before the train reached the switch, it was shunted that a freight crew had left the switch open. This was not discovered in time to save the train and Jagers jumped while his fireman went to his death.

The train was derailed through by a .32 caliber bullet.

The first victim was William McDewitt, shot to death Sunday night in similar manner, except that he was killed on the street. With the posting of rewards totalling $750 by newspapers and concentration of police efforts, was
