Lake Mary Tells Postal Service: Stop That Work Postal Service Says 'Take Us To Court'

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Lake Mary has ordered the U.S. Postal Service to stop all work on the new post office on Lake Mary Boulevard because it hasn't conformed to city regulations governing new construction. And it may prevent a larger proposed regional post office from being constructed until the issue is resolved. However, a postal service spokesman said today if the city wants to halt the work on the smaller facility already under construction, "they'll have to get a court order."

there unless we get a court order to stop them," West said. He said the city won't seek a court order at this time, but it has asked the city attorney to research the matter.

And the city apparently will do nothing at this time to interrupt the construction until it learns the city's options are, according to West. "And, we're not to the point where we're going to go out there and start arresting people and impounding work-vehicles (construction equipment)," he said.

The clearing of land for Lake Mary's new post office came to an abrupt, but short halt Wednesday morning when City Planner Matthew West issued a stop-work order on the project. West said he issued the order at 11:30 a.m., but the Postal Service Project Coordinator, Marilyn Wittmer, based in Tampa, has told him the postal service plans to ignore the order because it doesn't have to abide by local rules on new buildings. "They said they're going to continue working out workers apparently stopped working briefly until they got word from the project coordinator to resume. They did.

Kruppenbacher informed West this morning that he is working on finding out what the city's options are in the matter. "He (Kruppenbacher) told me yesterday I did the right thing in issuing the order," West said, adding, "I wasn't even sure of our legal position when I stopped the work, but we're just going to let the attorney handle it from now on."

A spokeswoman for the Swaine Company, the Longwood general contractor in charge of the project, said they halted work for a short while, but resumed after being told by Wittmer to continue because they are not governed by city regulations. The spokeswoman said the project architects, Spillis Candella & Partners, also told them they could resume clearing the land.

The Swaine Company was the lowest bidder on the project at $1,428,000. The spokesperson

City Wants Someone On Its Side

Consultant Aids Sanford In Wastewater Studies

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

A consultant will work with city engineers and the state Department of Environmental Regulation to determine if wastewater can be pumped into the St. Johns River north of Lake Monroe during wet weather.

The Sanford City Commission unanimously approved Monday hiring a consultant from HydroQual Inc. of New Jersey. The fee for the consultant cannot exceed $7,500 unless further authorization is given by the commission. Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons said he recommended the firm because HydroQual has assisted the city in other water quality testing efforts and is considered well qualified based on prior experience and basic expertise.

Simmons said the consultant will be called in on specific aspects of the study being conducted jointly by city engineers and DER representatives on the water quality of the north of Lake Monroe.

"The role of the consultant is to make sure Sanford gets expert advice in all aspects of the wastewater allocation study," Simmons said.

"The DER acts as the rulemaker, judge, and jury when it comes to providing an analysis of the problem and proposing a solution. I feel we need someone on our side (during the course of the study) to look at the whole (water testing) process, ask questions, and tell us what further steps need to be taken" to determine if the city can release wastewater into the river north of Lake Monroe when it rains, he said.

City Manager Frank Faison told the commission the state Environmental Protection Agency also uses HydroQual to review other cities' water quality testing efforts. Faison said the money for the consultant will come from the city's utility bond fund.

Simmons said the goal of the study, which began in May, is to analyze the river water and determine if treated wastewater can be added when it rains without producing a negative effect. Simmons said water samples are collected from different sites and sent to Joyce Environmental Consultants Inc. of Casselberry for analysis. Simmons said one of the things for which the lab tests the water is the dissolved oxygen content. If the dissolved oxygen content is zero, the water is

EPA Finds Asbestos In Buildings

Schools Cited In 15 Violations

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has cited the Seminole County Schools with 15 different violations of the federal prohibition of asbestos in school buildings.

Asbestos, which was once a common insulating material, has been found to be a possible cause of cancer and is now banned from all public buildings.

Richard Wells, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation for the school system, told the board the asbestos was found in the insulation around boilers and heat pipes in Sanford Middle, and Longwood, Milwee and Casselberry elementary schools. He said there is no immediate threat to children because they are not in the boiler room areas where the asbestos was found.

Wells said the school system would make sure all custodial and maintenance personnel, who work in the areas where the asbestos was discovered, are told of the existence of the asbestos, and respirators will be provided until the asbestos is removed.

Notices of the existence of the material in the area must be posted at the schools.

The EPA also cited the school district for not testing for the presence of asbestos and filing the results in the offices of Seminole and Lyman high schools. Wells indicated that changes in EPA rules have brought about the charge.

Lake Brantley High School needs to have records of asbestos testing on file in its school office, according to the EPA. The agency also told the school district that Goldsboro, Ivyville, Forest City, Red Bug and Sterling Park Elementary and South Seminole and Tragus Middle Schools need to have notices posted stating that there is no asbestos on those sites. Hooper Exceptional Education Center also needs negative asbestos signs posted.

Wells told the board that asbestos is only dangerous if the material is flaking into pieces

Redskins Back, NFL Strike Scalped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NFL players' union chief Gene Upshaw, facing an onslaught of defections and the prospect of whole striking teams returning today, says "one major hurdle" is preventing an interim agreement to end the 24-day strike.

Striking Washington players attended a meeting today at a hotel then entered Redskins Park, their training facility. Upshaw said Wednesday that the Redskins, previously the only team with no defectors, would cross the picket line today.

None of the players would respond to reporters questions about whether they were becoming the first team to abandon the strike en masse.

A team spokesman said the players were meeting with Coach Joe Gibbs.

More than 100 players, including superstars Lawrence Taylor, Eric Dickerson and Steve Largent, defied the strike and reported to work before management's 1 p.m. EDT Wednesday deadline to get paid for this weekend's games.

Motorcycle Crash Victim Identified

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The victim of a motorcycle and school bus accident early Wednesday in Winter Springs has been identified as a former Sanford resident.

Dead is Stephen Holmes, 23, of the Fountain Tree Apartments, 1184 W. State Road 434, Winter Springs. Holmes' previous address was in Sanford, but police say the Sanford man has had in the local area.

Holmes has two brothers living in Orlando and parents in North Carolina.

He was killed when his motorcycle struck the side of an unloading school bus on SR 434. Holmes was leaving the complex entrance when the bus was passing and he ran into the bus' side near the rear wheel, police said. The impact tossed both Holmes and the motorcycle, which landed on top of him. He was dead at the scene. An autopsy was scheduled for today.

Holmes is the 20th traffic-related fatality in the county this year.

The bus driver was not injured, and no charges were filed.

Tax Debate Leaves Tallahassee For The Road

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The Legislature adjourned Wednesday when Democratic leaders despaired of reaching a compromise with Gov. Bob Martinez on the services tax and sent weary lawmakers home after four weeks of bitter and frustrating debate.

The second special session of the year ended at 5:18 p.m. EDT when the House adjourned. The Senate followed minutes later.

Martinez, who summoned the Legislature to the Capitol to force repeal of the services tax, lashed out at "liberal Democrats" and he would not rule out calling lawmakers back into special session immediately, although he added such a move went against his "gut instincts."

Democratic leaders believed a delay might give them time to turn public opinion, which has run strongly against the tax. A delay might also give them time to develop other options.

Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs, said some political observers in the Capitol believe the Democrats intentionally dragged their feet this week to end the session without a bill just to buy time.

By adjourning without resolving the tax dispute, the Department of Revenue will continue to collect the special services tax, which is expected to raise $750 million this year.

"It's a mistake. The Democrats would rather die politically than repeal a tax," Martinez said. "There's only one defeat here — and that's the people of Florida."

But he was expected to continue fighting to repeal the tax, which he strongly backed in April.

House Speaker Jon Mills and Senate President John Vogt planned to call the Legislature back into special session Dec. 1 to reconsider the services tax. In the meantime, they planned a series of hearings to generate public support for the levy.

"I don't feel that bad about it. I voted for the bill in the first place. The law needs some revision," said Vogt, of Cocoa Beach.

A citizen's initiative drive to amend the Florida Constitution to outlaw any tax on services also continues, being led by an organization called Sales Taxes Oppressing People, or STOP.

Some Democratic leaders had remained hopeful some compromise might be reached until Tuesday night, when Martinez announced he would let lawmakers go home if no solution were possible by Friday — final day of the current session.

Lawmakers said they were tired of pointless wrangling and wary of voter reaction at the impasse and at an estimated price tag for a special session of $40,000 per day.

Grindle said it was possible the tax would be considered during a November special session on the medical malpractice issue. He said the service tax item could be introduced as the gun-law change was bought up and passed.

Grindle disagreed with the quoted $40,000 per day cost for special sessions.

Grindle said that was an exaggeration by those who disagree with the calling for the special sessions. He said the House alone in per diem expenses would not total more than $6,000 a day, that is $50 a day for the 120 members.

The Legislature had already voted to revise the tax, subject to a referendum, but Martinez vetoed the bill and vowed to reject any bill that fails to kill the services tax or calls for a referendum.

If the Legislature doesn't repeal the tax, "an avalanche of people" will join the STOP petition campaign, Martinez said. If the campaign garners about 340,000 signatures, the constitutional ban on services tax will appear on the November 1988 ballot.

Martinez said he would not join STOP, because while he wants the levy killed, he opposes a constitutional ban.

POLICE

Suspected Purchaser Of Stolen Goods Nabbed In Rendezvous

Longwood police received a tip that a Longwood man was seeking to buy stolen property and arranged a meeting between an undercover officer and the suspect at about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Police reported that the officer sold the suspect an equalizer which the police agent told the suspect was stolen.

The man paid the police agent $5 and promised him $20 more in two weeks, police said. The deal was reportedly made at the suspect's workplace, Negozio's Restaurant, 600 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood. The suspect's car was stopped as he drove away from the sale site.

Daniel Focarno, 21, of 500 Country Club Drive, has been charged with dealing in stolen property. He has been released on $2,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 2.

Car Stopped, Pot Discovered

A car that Altamonte Springs police spotted leaving Spring Lake Hills Apartments, onto Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs, was stopped by police at the Interstate Mall, State Road 436, because it had no decal on the license tag and had a cracked windshield.

Police reported questioning the two occupants of the car, asking them what they were doing at that apartment complex. They reportedly said they were there to see a girlfriend, but the two could not give police her apartment number.

Police noticed clothing, stereo gear and household items in the back seat of the car and determined the driver's license had been suspended. Police asked to see what was inside a bag the passenger was reportedly trying to conceal. When the man opened the bag, police reported seeing marijuana inside the bag.

Both occupants of the car were arrested for possession of over 20 grams of marijuana. The driver, Michael Anthony Nami, 28, of Orlando, also was charged with driving with a suspended license. Both he and William Wiley Knight, 22, of 3648 Lake Harney Circle, Oviedo, were being held in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following people have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

- David Scott Sutherland, 20, of Orlando, was arrested at 6:20 a.m. Monday after his car was in an accident on State Road 434.
- Russell Irving Smith, 25, of Orlando, early Wednesday after his car was in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park.
- Clarence Leon Austin, 39, of Alabama, at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday after his car was in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of Sanford.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

A representative of Jim Walther's Homes of Orlando, reported to sheriff's deputies that 23 shingles valued at $150 were stolen from a construction site on 20th Street at Sipes Avenue, Sanford, between Sunday and Tuesday.

A $400 vacuum cleaner and a $100 nightstand were stolen from a shed on Airport Boulevard, Sanford, between Aug. 15 and Tuesday. A sheriff's report said the items belong to Tina Jennings, 31, of Wildwood.

Suspect Nabbed In Rape Case

A 27-year-old Altamonte Springs man has been charged with sexual battery in a brutal Winter Park rape. The suspect was arrested at his workplace where he is a property manager. He is being held without bond in the Seminole County jail.

Winter Park police arrested Eric Grantham Langer, of 801 Lotus Landing Apt., 201, Altamonte Springs, at 6:50 p.m. Wednesday at 820 Country Creek Parkway, Altamonte Springs.

He is accused of beating and brutally sexually assaulting a woman at about 10:30 p.m. July 22.

The woman had arrived at her workplace and parked and locked her car near Winter Park Memorial Hospital when she was grabbed from behind by a man who began beating her and knocked her to the ground. The man continued to beat the woman by pounding her head against pavement. She passed out and, while she was unconscious, was raped with an object.

About one hour later a co-worker found her, still lying in a parking lot. Her was called, the victim was taken to Winter Park Memorial Hospital and then was transferred to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs.

There she underwent surgery to repair severe internal injuries. The victim also suffered massive blood loss, police reported.

She described the assailant and after she recovered from her injuries and moved to another state, police identified a possible suspect in the case.

Police sent that man's picture, along with those of 50 other men, to the woman's new home, where she reportedly singled out a suspect. That led to Wednesday's arrest in Seminole County.

Man Pleads No Contest To Traffic Death

By Deane Jordan
 Herald Staff Writer

An Orlando man is scheduled to be sentenced in November for the traffic death in April of a Winter Springs man. It was one of four cases heard recently.

James Franklin Methany, 48, is set to be sentenced Nov. 18 by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. Methany pleaded no contest to vehicular homicide, a third-degree felony, which is punishable by up to a year in the county jail.

Methany, 48, was arrested after an investigation by the Florida Highway Patrol into the death of Urbana Manfredi, 68.

The accident occurred at about noon on State Road 419 east of U.S. Highway 17-92. Methany's 1985 Toyota passed a cement truck and collided with a station wagon Manfredi was driving in the opposite direction.

Manfredi was transported to South Seminole Community Hospital in Longwood where he died about 90 minutes later. His wife, Margaret, 60, who was traveling with him, was treated for injuries to her knees and ribs.

Manfredi's car was dragged 38 feet after impact with Methany's vehicle. Troopers reported that Methany, who is diabetic, may have had an insulin reaction which caused him to stay in the wrong lane too long after having passed the truck.

In a second case, a Sanford woman was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail for pointing a rifle at her husband. She was initially charged with attempted first-degree murder for firing the rifle six times at him.

Kimberly L. Robinson, 26, of 1606 W. 8th St., also was ordered by Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. to serve five years probation for the March 22 incident. She pleaded guilty in August to aggravated battery.

Her husband, Daniel, was struck by one bullet in the back of the head from the .22-caliber rifle. He spent about a week in the hospital.

In other court cases:
 •Karen Michelle Evans, 19, of 1080 Willa Springs Apartments, #110, has pleaded no contest to battery and guilty to criminal mischief stemming from a July 1 incident.

In that incident, Evans' boyfriend was two hours late from a furniture shopping trip and was stabbed in the right hip by Evans when she apparently became enraged at his tardiness. She also reportedly went out and stabbed the tires of his car, leaving the knife under one of the wheels.

When deputies arrived at the address, they met her outside and she reportedly pointed out the knife and said she stabbed the tires.

Eaton set Dec. 3 for sentencing.

•David Jeffrey Lindsey, 31, of 1012 Bee Lane, Geneva, has pleaded no contest to aggravated child abuse. The plea stems from an incident in July in which his 13-year-old stepson was reportedly beaten with a belt and buckle for not picking up a pile of trash.

Davis set Nov. 18 for sentencing.

At the time, the boy fled from his home to that of a neighbor. The neighbor called the Sheriff's Department.

Deputy Pete Kelting reported that the boy had cuts and bruises on his face and that his left ear was black and swollen. The boy said his vision was blurred. He accused Lindsey of poking fingers into his eyes. He also said he had been grabbed by the neck.

The boy said it wasn't the first time he had been attacked but said he had been afraid to report the other incidents.

Woman Uses Knee To Escape Assault

A Sanford woman being assaulted Sunday escaped by striking the man in the groin.

Patricia Moore, 28, 2801 Georgia Ave., told Sanford police at 5:30 p.m. Sunday a man started pushing her and tried to grab her purse in the parking lot of Winn Dixie, 1514 S. French Market Place. Moore reported she used her right knee to hit the man in the groin, then escaped when the man fell to his knees.

According to Moore's description, the man had long, dark curly hair and a dark mustache.

Other actions investigated by the Sanford Police Department include:

•Four tires and wheels were reported stolen from a city vehicle between 6 p.m. Oct. 8 and 7 a.m. Oct. 12. The police report indicated the vehicle was parked in front of the Streets Department Shop, 800 W. Fulton St., inside the fences of the compound. The tires and wheels are valued at $350.

•Someone took a stereo and two speakers, valued at $200, from a classroom at the First United Methodist Church, 419 S. Park Ave., between 7 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday.

•Mary Constable, 42, 1703 W. Second St., reported to police several pieces of jewelry and a .32-caliber handgun were stolen from her home between 7:30 a.m. and 3:20 p.m. Tuesday.

•Lisa Whittenberger, 19, 1403 1/2 W. First St., told police she came home Tuesday at 11:20 p.m. to find two men, about 6 feet tall, wearing blue jeans, long sleeve shirts and black stocking caps, robbing her house. According to Whittenberger, the men struck her across the face to get her three rings. The men also took $180 and a color television before leaving through the front door.

•A $2,500 heating and air conditioning unit was reported stolen from the Rescue Church of God, 1700 W. 13th St., between 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. According to the police report, the church is under construction and the unit had not been wired yet.

•Sanford Police Officer Richard Burke responded Sunday at 8:11 p.m. to a call of a burglary in progress at Rescue Outreach Mission, 1701 W. 13th St. According to the police report, an $1,500 air conditioning unit was missing. Burke recovered the unit in a field southeast of the mission.

Balmy Days Will Stay Here Awhile

Staff And Wire Reports
 The winds of trouble are sweeping Tibet so maybe we can blame for the frigid breezes that gave us the cold morning. A communist conspiracy! On the other hand, it's a welcome relief, kinda, from the broiling we went through a couple of weeks ago. We really should be thankful, we're blessed with many more good days than bad.

And, today ain't bad. Chilly morning but well up in the 70s later and a "promise" of 80s tomorrow. Those 50s in the morning should end, right now, and be replaced with 60s tomorrow. That's a better low.

Still, we're so much better off than the rest of the nation. Plus, the lower temps are supposed to make the orange juice sweeter.

A Canadian cold front that drove temperatures to record lows from the Plains to the East this week has broken apart, and warmer weather was forecast throughout much of the nation today.

"The high pressure is weakening and with all of the sunshine the states have been getting over the past few days, temperatures have been getting warmer," National Weather Service meteorologist Pete Reynolds said today.

But he predicted remains of the front would bring a pre-dawn chill in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee — and perhaps states along the Atlantic Coast — would set record lows. Reynolds said a freeze and frost warning was in effect this morning in the Dakotas.

High temperatures in the 40s were forecast for Minnesota and western Montana with highs in the 50s over northern Maine, upper Michigan, the upper Mississippi Valley, the northern half of the Plains, the northern Rockies and much of Washington state, the NWS said.

Warmer temperatures were forecast for central New England, North Carolina, the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley region, western Kansas, the Texas Panhandle and much of the central Pacific coast with highs in the 60s.

High temperatures in the 80s were expected across southern Florida and much of Texas and the inland Southern California, the NWS said.

The 3 inches of snow that fell in the foothills south and west of Denver Wednesday had melted by early today as had the 2 inches just north of Custer, S.D., in the Crazy Horse area of the state, the 3 inches at Centennial, Wyo., and the inch at Casper, Wyo.

Scattered showers were expected for upper Michigan, Wisconsin, the upper Mississippi Valley, the eastern portion of the Dakotas and the central Plains with snow flurries scattered over western Montana.

More than 50 record lows were set from the Plains on east since the weekend. At least 15 cities across Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Louisiana, West Virginia, Alabama, New Hampshire, Mississippi and Texas reported record lows Tuesday.

By the way, can't find Floyd on the map anymore so maybe he's gone.

Local Report

The high temperature Monday in Sanford was 73 degrees and the overnight low was 55 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. No rainfall was recorded. Partly cloudy today with expected high in the upper 70s and little or no chance of rainfall.

Area Forecast

Today becoming partly cloudy. High near 80. Wind northeast 15 mph. Tonight and Friday partly cloudy and a little warmer. Low in the lower 60s. High in the low to mid 80s. Northeast wind less than 10 mph tonight and 10 to 15 mph Friday.

Extended Forecast

The extended weather outlook, Saturday through Monday, for Florida except northwest — Partly cloudy and mild with a chance of showers mainly south and central. Lows averaging in the mid 50s north to lower 70s south. Highs in the upper 70s to lower 80s north and mid 80s south.

County Fire, Rescue Team Wins Trophies

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Fire/Rescue Division's extrication team brought home three trophies from a Southeast Regional Extrication Competition in Macon, Ga. The competition and learning symposium was held by the Mercer University School of Medicine and involved extrication teams from Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and the U.S. Air Force.

Extrication teams compete in the speed at which they can remove a mock victim from a wrecked car, using hand tools, power tools, or a combination of the two.

The Seminole County team placed first in the mandatory category, using hand tools; second in the optional category, using both hand and power tools; and placed third overall.

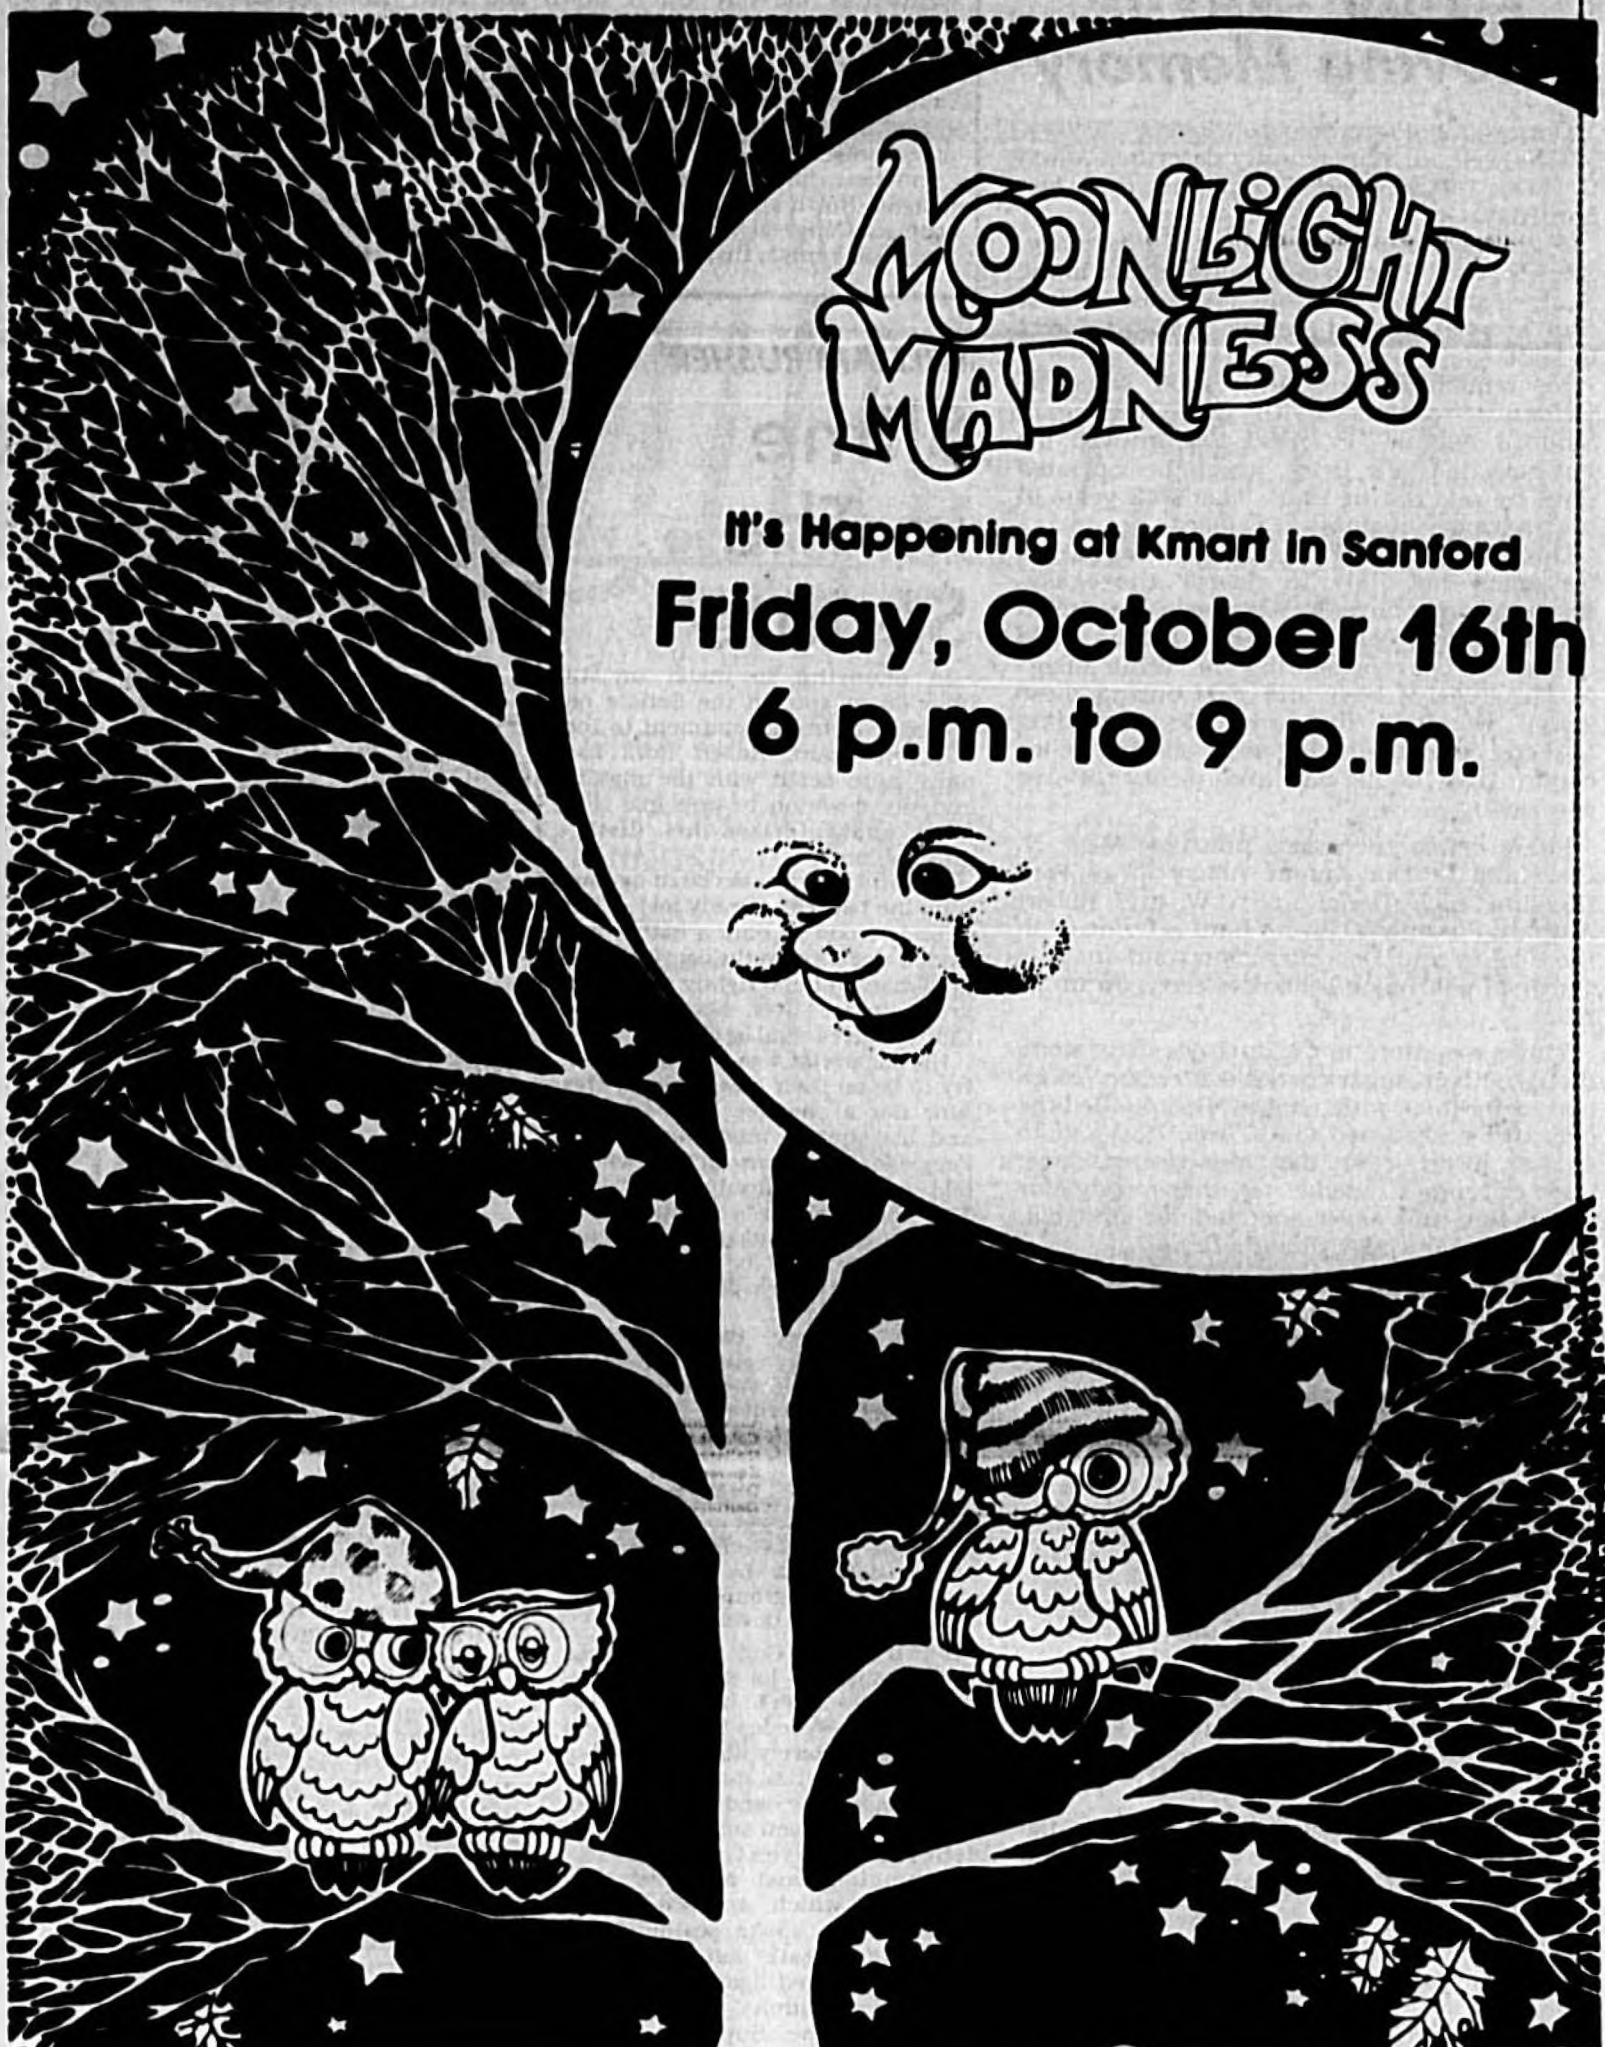

Lt. Chip Crider, a member of the Seminole County team, said the team also competed in the international contest last June in Toronto, but did not bring home any trophies.

"It's a good training experience for the team, and we learn a lot by seeing what other departments are doing and what kinds of tools and tactics they use," he said. "It is amazing to see the tools that some people have invented, and made themselves, to improve on what is available to do different jobs in getting people out of wrecked cars."

Members of the Seminole County extrication team are Battalion chief Tom Schaefer, administrative liaison: Lt. Mike Hammond, team captain; Lt. Dick Criswell, Lt. Crider; Fire Service Technicians Steve Thiebauch and Sam Romaldo; and Fire Service Technician/Paramedics John Caines and Scott Matson.

Battalion chief Norm Miller, who is responsible for the division's Emergency Medical Service (EMS) also attended the event to view the techniques and tools.

Utilities Bond Pact Struck

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The city of Longwood and Sun Bank signed a new $3 million water and sewer revenue bond agreement Tuesday, clearing the way for the city's plan to hook up to Seminole County's Greenwood Lakes sewer facilities on the Longwood-Lake Mary Road.

The agreement revalidates the bonds originally sold to Sun Bank on Aug. 28, 1987. The bonds were first issued for a $2.5 million 600,000-gallons-per-day Grant Street sewage treatment facility and pay off a $500,000 loan to Freedom Bank for water system improvements.

When the city commission decided to scrap plans for building the city's own plant and use the bond money to help reserve sewage treatment capacity with the county instead, bank officials saw this as a violation of the contract. They also were concerned about how the city was going to pay off the bond issue, because cost estimates for both projects exceeded those anticipated when the bond agreement first was concluded.

Cost is estimated at $3,990,300 for the purchase of capacity and construction of the facilities required in acquiring a capacity of 600,000 gallons per day at the Greenwood Lakes sewage treatment plant.

After the city came up with a satisfactory plan for funding repayment, the original documents had to be amended to reflect the changes in plans and were signed by the mayor and city clerk on behalf of the city.

City Administrator Ron Waller hopes to have the site plan ready for the master sewage lift station by Dec. 28. Construction on the lift station, to be built next to the present Skylark sewage treatment plant, is expected to begin in January 1988, and the hook-up with the county's sewer system is expected to take place in July 1988.

The old sewage facilities at Skylark and Columbus Harbour will be eliminated once the city is being served by the county. They have been a source of complaints by residents and the Department of Environmental Resources for years because they were not working properly.

City Attorney Michael Kramer, announcing Tuesday's bond closing, said the delay has held up development in the city and that more capacity will be available for developers once the hookup is completed.

2 From County On Dole's Team

Two Seminole County Republicans have been listed by the Bob Dole presidential campaign organization as being part of "Floridians for Dole," a newly-created group formed to organize support for the Senate Minority Leader's bid for the GOP nomination.

Fred Streetman of Longwood, chairman of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, and Christina Collins of Sanford, legislative aide to Rep. Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs), are included on a list of 37 people from Central Florida who support Dole. —Brad Church

A Living Legend, A Loving Memory

Gone, but not forgotten.

This well-put phrase aptly describes Alfred C. "Doc" McReynolds, 92, who died last Saturday.

A graduate of Atlanta College of Pharmacy, Atlanta, Ga., "Doc" was a living legend in the Sanford area from the time he opened his first drug store at Sanford Avenue and 25th Street in 1928.

He remained there until 1960 when he yielded to progress with the widening of Sanford Avenue. In 1960, Doc moved his business to Park Drive which he operated until he sold out in 1988. That's 42 years in the pharmacy business in Sanford.

Doc's place was a popular haven for teenagers—not only to devour those sky-scraper, sugar-covered, chocolate ice cream cones for five cents—but Doc helped mold characters by representing the father image to hundreds of boys and girls during those years. He gave the kids jobs, including hopping cars and jerking soda, all the free ice cream they could eat and plenty of free counseling.

Some of his successful proteges: Mack N. Cleveland Jr., Don Knight, Ashby Jones, Paul Hodgins, R.H. Taylor and J.W. and Robert Altman. Pharmacists were hard to come by in those days and Doc offered to send many a youth to pharmacy school to carry on in his name.

There was more to the curbside drug store, though, than sugar-coated ice cream cones and super-thick milk shakes. Doc pushed the pills and worked two shifts, from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m., nearly every day. Money was scarce. Doc extended credit to the needy for medication and never sent out the first bill. Most eventually paid, though, he said.

The Rev. Leo King and the Rev. Archie Bule were the officiating clergymen at Doc's eulogy Tuesday. They described Doc as a "kind man ... a Christian ... a fine man ... a caring man ... a Southern gentleman."

In mentioning Doc's penchant for enjoying himself, King, who came to Sanford in the early seventies when Doc was in his late seventies, said he knew Doc only socially and that at socials, Doc was often the center of attraction. A charming man.

Doc and his wife, Dorothy, made their home in a comfortable house more than 100 years old and situated on several acres.

For nearly 20 years after Doc's retirement, they enjoyed the freedom, relaxation and serenity of the country—away from the frustrations of a bustling business.

Doc will be sorely missed by the community on which he has left an indelible and unforgettable mark. A great man.

Contras Don't Deserve Additional Funds

When historians write the story of the Reagan years, they will marvel that he was able to sell Congress, and much of the American public, on funding a war to overturn Nicaragua's government.

Reagan has defied Congress, the lessons of history and the realities of Central America in pressing for more dollars for what he calls the "freedom fighters" of Nicaragua. Notwithstanding the international embarrassment involved in the illegal transfer of funds to the contras, the president is now pressing Congress for another $270 million to back this hopeless enterprise.

To a considerable extent the contras are the creation of the CIA, Oliver North and other free-wheeling agents of the Reagan administration. They have little popular support in Nicaragua. They have neither the will nor the capacity to seriously challenge the Sandinista Army. They are, for the most part, thugs and opportunists.

In short, the contras are the creatures of Reagan, North and Co., and they will vanish as soon as Congress cuts off the American dollar. They will vanish, that is, unless the administration gets out its tin cup again and begins begging foreign governments and wealthy right-wing Americans for funds.

One of the most searing indictments yet offered against the scandalous contra business is that of respected author Frances Fitzgerald in the Oct. 22 issue of Rolling Stone. I do not know how any member of Congress who reads this article could even consider giving Reagan another $270 million.

Ms. Fitzgerald points out that the administration approached at least 10 countries for money for the contras. These efforts apparently produced $32 million from Saudi Arabia, $10 million from Brunel (subsequently misplaced in a Swiss account), $2 million from Taiwan, plus $1.6 million from private American Reaganites.

"In effect," writes Ms. Fitzgerald, "administration officials put the country's foreign policy up for auction and came back only with the Saudi money plus $2 million and change."

One illustration points up the deceptive character of the Reagan administration's efforts. On March 1, 1985, at a meeting in Costa Rica, the three civilian directors of the contras came up with a statement of principles and a proposed peace settlement with the Sandinistas. President Reagan hailed the document as a formula for peace and used it to persuade Congress to give him another $27 million.

During the congressional investigation of the Iran-contra scandals, North said the Costa Rica contra declaration was "just like our own Declaration of Independence and our own Constitution ... It was hammered out ... in the same way as the founders of our own Constitution did, in a hot, sweaty room ... I get a little emotional about it, perhaps ... but when the president of the United States referred to the similarities between the Nicaraguan resistance and our own Founding Fathers, he meant that."

This was the kind of emotional TV spectacle that created a wave of "Olliemania" among non-thinking Americans, but it had no basis in fact.

Please, congressmen and senators, don't throw another $270 million down the contra sinkhole.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Slime In The Senate

In choosing to insist on an up-or-down vote in the Senate on the issue of his appointment to the Supreme Court, Robert Bork has once more acted with the dignity and the devotion to principle that have characterized his distinguished career.

With 53 senators declared against him, the battle is already lost — if it is understood as only a battle over Bork's elevation to the court. But he (and many others) rightly see it as a great debate over how Supreme Court justices shall be chosen.

His senatorial foes will, of course, try to be on their best behavior this time (for a change). Norman Lear and his squalid mudslingers from People for the American Way will be told, quietly but firmly, to get lost. The shrill lobbyists of the ultra-feminist clique and the career civil rights crowd will be counseled to suspend further mailings and hold their tongues.

Sens. Kennedy, Biden, Metzenbaum and Leahy, and such lesser but indispensable spear-carriers in the anti-Bork crusade as Sens. Lautenberg, Specter and DeConcini, will make long speeches calculated to leave the impression that they are men of almost indescribable rectitude. Then the Senate will vote — and Robert Bork's nomination will be shot down, on the orders of the special-interest groups that these senators serve so devotedly.

But if the pro-Bork contingent in the Senate does its job, the American people won't be allowed to forget what preceded this final act of the drama. Rarely does the level of American politics, on an issue of this magnitude and gravity, fall quite so low. Even such notoriously liberal publications as the Washington Post and the New Republic, which opposed Bork's confirmation, spoke scathingly of the intemperate nature of the campaign waged against him. The Kennedys, Bidens, et al. have cheapened the Senate and — in those cases where it was still possible — cheapened themselves.

The odd thing is that they won't even manage, by this excursion through the political sewers, to prevent conservatives from taking control of the Supreme Court. For President Reagan will simply nominate somebody else, as conservative as Judge Bork or more so, and that nominee will sail through the confirmation process with comparative ease.

Prosecutors Crack Down On Phony Bolts

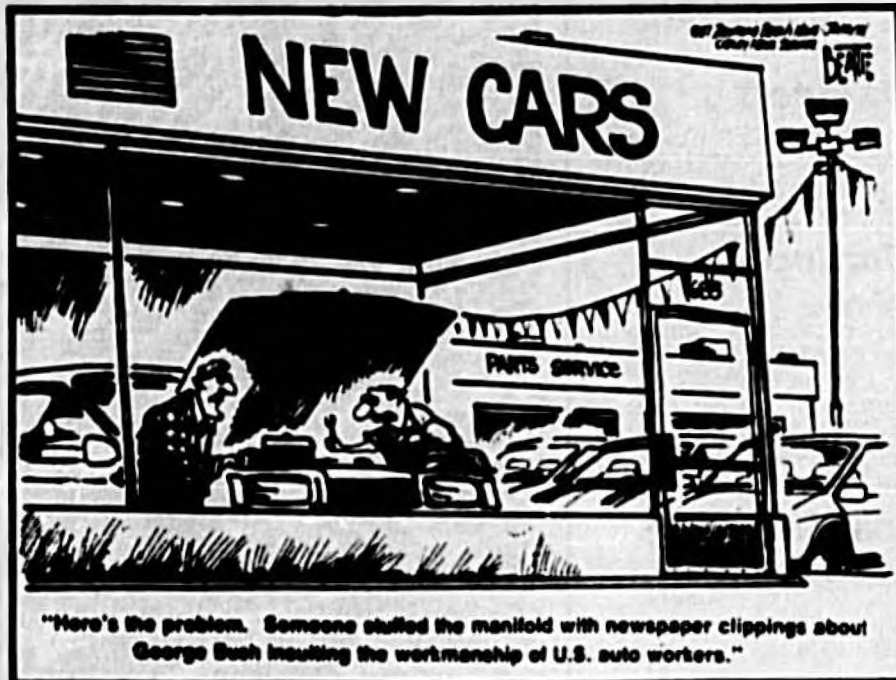

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Federal authorities are beginning to tighten the noose around the counterfeit bolt trade.

Federal prosecutors are finally taking our warnings seriously. Last month U.S. attorneys in Orlando, Fla., persuaded a grand jury to hand up the first indictment in a case of alleged fraud by a steel bolt supplier. And the Justice Department has joined a lawsuit filed by a bolt salesman against a former employer, in which he charges that the company sold thousands of counterfeit bolts to the military.

For months we have been reporting the potential danger posed by counterfeit steel bolts that can't withstand the stress put on them by military hardware. The substandard bolts turn to putty at high temperatures, possibly putting American military personnel in fatal trouble.

This action by federal prosecutors comes none too soon for Pentagon investigators, who have been trying for the past year to nail the so-called "schlock houses" that sell industri-

JEFFREY HART

Post-Communist Era

Going on toward 50 years since the end of World War II, it begins to feel as if we are entering a new phase of history.

Forty years ago, communism was a living idea and a looming presence. Those who abandoned it felt a terrible sense of loss. An important book of the early post-war period was titled "The God That Failed," meaning communism—but a God, nevertheless. In Arthur Koestler's "Darkness at Noon," Rubashov willingly sacrifices himself and truth to "the Revolution." In his masterwork "Witness," Whittaker Chambers portrays communism as a fascinating but lethal idea, overpowering in its evil attractiveness.

All of this now seems antiquated. The great post-war European communist parties, in France, Italy and, underground, in Spain, are virtually out of business. For a generation they were able to pull 25 percent of the vote, and command the allegiance of intellectuals. There was a brief afterglow, called "Euro-Communism," the meaning of which was that maybe some form of communism other than the Soviet one might, after all, work. When was the last time you heard the word "Euro-Communism"?

Communism certainly is not a compelling idea in the sense that it was for Koestler, Chambers, and the rest. It has entirely lost its high metaphysical and emotional claims. In his novel "1984," George Orwell really thought that totalitarian terror could make people believe that two plus two equals five. No. We now know that what Stalin ran was not a fascinating anti-church, but a simple gangster imposition, without any moral authority. It was not a "revolution." It was a racket run by thugs like Lavrenti Beria. None other than Nikita Khrushchev told us all about it.

The whole thing is over, except perhaps in university departments of comparative literature.

Both Deng in Beijing and Gorbachev in Moscow are in desperate straits, trying to do something about obviously failing systems. Deng gazes across the Taiwan Strait, and can see, with a telescope, Chinese who have 10 times the per capita income of his own subjects. That hurts. Gorbachev knows that even the Portuguese are richer than Russians. His army cannot beat the Afghans, and 3,000 of his soldiers have defected and are held by Afghans and Pakistanis.

The loneliest man in the world must be Fidel Castro. His "socialist experiment" would die next Monday if it were not subsidized at $1 million per day by the Soviets. But their pockets are not bottomless. And they have signaled that they may no longer be willing to prop up the disastrous Ortega regime in Nicaragua. Gorbachev may be ready to throw the Nicaraguan thugs overboard.

Who knows whether Deng and Gorbachev can introduce the kinds of reforms necessary to make their countries function. Tito, the Yugoslav dictator, smelled failure early, broke with Stalin, and eased his country toward market economics. Today, "communists" Yugoslavia has about as much private enterprise as Sweden.

It may be that the world is entering a whole new ball game.

Supernova Companion Is Puzzle

By Al Roesler Jr.
UPI Science Editor

FAIRFAX, Va. (UPI) — Astronomers say the bright star explosion discovered last winter has behaved rather predictably so far except for the somewhat controversial report of a mysterious companion object last spring.

The astronomers who reported sighting the puzzling supernova companion last March and April said Tuesday they were unable to see it in May, June or July and they told fellow researchers they may just have to accept their word that it existed.

They plan to return to Chile next month, however, for another attempt to photograph the enigmatic phenomenon.

Existence of a companion to the remains of the star that exploded 163,000 light years ago in the Large Magellanic Cloud would represent the most startling discovery of the international scrutiny of the supernova because such an offspring was not predicted by theorists.

Other phenomena such as the recent discovery of X-rays from the supernova, and the detection of subatomic particles called neutrinos had been predicted by scientists who study supernova processes.

The puzzling companion object was reported by Costas Papiolios and Peter Nissen of the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics on the basis of observations made from Chile March 25 and April 2. The supernova, designated 1987A, was discovered last February.

But Papiolios said at a supernova conference at George Mason University that attempts to detect the object in late May and early June and again in July were unsuccessful.

He said this may have been because the expanding cloud of gas from the supernova was brighter then, and also because it was lower in the horizon, meaning astronomers had to look through more of Earth's murky atmosphere to see it.

Nevertheless, Papiolios said he and his associates are convinced their data from last spring show the existence of the object.

"I and my colleagues don't think there's any doubt what we saw was real," he said. "We believe the data are there. It's real."

"You just have to accept the fact that the companion was there when we observed it."

al fasteners to the armed services.

Several investigators have told our associate Stewart Harris they're worried about the magnitude of the counterfeit-bolt problem and its potential for catastrophe. At the Pentagon's "hardware store" in Philadelphia, the Defense Industrial Supply Command, one out of every three Grade 8 bolts is a fake. Grade 8 steel bolts are the workhorses of industrial fasteners.

Alerts on the danger of fake, substandard steel bolts led to an appalling discovery: Counterfeits were in the replacement stockpile for use on the catapult systems of the carrier USS Vinson. Catapults that send planes off the Vinson every 45 seconds generate extremely high temperatures, which the counterfeit bolts can't handle.

The counterfeits are made of cheaper boron steel, which can lose their strength at temperatures above 600 degrees Fahrenheit. Some counterfeit bolts fail at room temperature. Genuine Grade 8 bolts can withstand temperatures as high as 800 degrees without crumbling.

Sources tell us that the Navy has issued warnings to its aircraft carriers about the deadly potential of the substandard bolts. We've also learned that counterfeits have been discovered in submarine tenders, which resupply the nuclear-armed subs that make up a vital part of U.S. deterrence against Soviet aggression.

Last month the Justice Department joined a lawsuit filed by Nathan Haga, a steel bolt salesman who is cooperating with the Defense Criminal Investigative Service, the Naval Investigative Service and the Customs Service. Haga filed the suit under a 1986 amendment to the False Claims Act allowing whistleblowers with direct knowledge of fraud to sue the perpetrators. If the federal government wins its case, Haga could get as much as one-third of the monetary award.

The lawsuit is asking for more than $1 million from Aircrom Fasteners Inc. of Arlington, Texas, where Haga worked in 1984 and 1985. Aircrom sold more than 43 shipments of counterfeit bolts to the Defense Industrial Supply Command, according to court papers. Company officials are not commenting on the lawsuit.

Documents we've obtained indicate that Aircrom sold the Pentagon boron-steel bolts instead of authentic Grade 8 bolts. One purchase order from company files asked a Japanese bolt manufacturer to supply 90,000 Grade 8 bolts — but the words "boron steel" were typed into the space marked "Description."

Haga's lawsuit charges further that Aircrom sold the Pentagon bolts plated with zinc instead of cadmium, a more costly rust-resistant treatment.

The indictments in Florida charge officers of Edgewater Fastener Inc. with conspiracy to defraud the Pentagon and with making false statements. The charges involve the alleged supply of foreign-made steel nuts and bolts when domestically manufactured fasteners had been specified in the contract.

Commissioners To Hear Out Animal Control Grievances

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer
Complaints about the county's animal control department surfaced again at the county commissioner's informal agenda review meeting Tuesday morning and were not allowed to be heard at the regular Tuesday afternoon meeting. However, the commissioners voted to hear comments about the department at their

Oct. 27 work session. Kay Irwin, who said she was a volunteer at the county's animal shelter, appeared at the board's agenda review meeting at the invitation of Commissioner Barbara Christensen, who said Irwin would not be able to attend the regular afternoon session. She appeared after County Administrator Ken Hooper informed the board that Tom LaCrosse had been appointed temporary acting director of the department and Cheryl A. Lauterbach, an animal control officer, had been appointed temporary chief animal control officer.

Former department head Bob Young resigned last week, and David Murray, former chief animal control officer, was fired following Hooper's investigation of complaints about the department. After Irwin was invited by Christensen to speak to the board, Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff complained that the board's agenda review meeting was not a public meeting at which comments from citizens could be heard. He left the meeting, saying he was unsure of the legality of hearing complaints at that meeting. Commissioner Bob Sturn left shortly afterward for the same reason. Irwin told the remaining commissioners that the appointments of LaCrosse and Lauterbach were premature because the job openings had only been posted internally and should be posted more widely. Fred Streetman, board chairman, said the hiring and firing of county employees is Hooper's job, as delegated by the commissioners. "The item on the appointment of these two employees is for our information only — it requires no action on our part," he explained. "The only way the commissioners could do anything about it would be to take the power to hire and fire away from the county administrator, and I don't think we want to do that," he said. Hooper said he plans to post the job openings outside the animal control department in about 45 days. "Things are in kind of a turmoil out there. I think they will settle down in 45 days, and I want to wait until then to begin advertising for permanent replacements," he said. At the board's regular afternoon public meeting, Commissioner Christensen informed her fellow commissioners that she had told members of the animal control department's advisory board to address the commissioners at 3 p.m. "I don't think personnel changes of this type have been made before without close consultation with the advisory board," she said. The board's business had been completed and commissioners were making whatever comments they wished before adjourning the meeting when the advisory board members appeared.

RV Park Rezoning Approved

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer
Rezoning for a proposed recreational vehicle park near the junction of state roads 46 and 415, and a 183-acre housing development northwest of the junction of Red Bug Lake Road and SR 426 were approved by Seminole County commissioners Tuesday night.

The 11.18-acre plot for the proposed RV park, to be named Fort Seminole RV Park, was rezoned from A-1 agricultural to RM-3 trailer park at the request of Garnett White, who said he plans to develop a 94-space park. The land is located north of SR 46 about 700 feet east of its junction with SR 415. White said the development would preserve as many trees as possible on the site and would have paved roads and parking pads.

The rezoning was approved with commitments from White to help pay for a traffic signal at the park's entrance, if one is deemed necessary, to pay for right- and left-turn lanes at the entrance, and to deed the development's package sewage treatment plant to the county if the environmental services department requests it. Central water will be furnished by the city of Sanford.

The 183 acres rezoned in the eastern part of the county is for a housing development proposed by the Green Street Corporation and Howard Lefkowitz on land currently owned by A. Duda and Sons.

A request for a Planned Unit Development designation for the site was rejected by the commissioners last June as not being compatible to surrounding property because of his housing density. This time developers said they have reduced the planned density and included buffer zones of very low density around the borders.

The request was to rezone 166.4 acres of the property R-1 residential, with a 9.35-acre buffer of R-1AAA zoning along the northern border and 6.9 acres of RC-1 zoning along the western border.

After hearing representatives of the adjoining Northern Way, Tusawilla Estates and Palomino Way Estates object to the developers' plans, the commissioners voted to rezone the property as requested, except for the large part being rezoned R-1A instead of R-1.

Residents of adjoining developments objected to the smaller lots in the proposed development. They said it would lower the value of their property, which is divided into lots of two acres or larger. They also said the more than 400 homes planned for the development would increase traffic on already congested Red Bug Lake Road and overcrowd area schools.

Hal Cantor, an attorney representing the developers, said the developers had agreed to a Planning and Zoning Commission request that houses built on the lots would include at least 1,600 square feet, even though R-1 zoning allows houses as small as 1,100 square feet to be built.

Deputy County Attorney Robert McMillen said he doubted the legality of enforcing such an agreement. The board accepted a staff recommendation to rezone most of the property R-1A, which requires minimum house sizes of 1,600 square feet.

The rezoning also was approved on condition that developers pay for a traffic signal at the development's entrance. In addition, developers must help pay for the relocation of Red Bug Lake Road in connection with the construction of the Seminole County Expressway.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in heavy trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which plunged 95.46 points Wednesday, was down 22.04 to 2390.68 shortly after the market opened. Declines led advances 949-112 among the 1,371 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 21,759,000 shares.

Stocks tumbled Wednesday on news of a larger-than-expected August U.S. trade deficit.

The government Wednesday said the U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $15.68 billion in August from $16.5 billion in July, but the financial markets had expected a figure nearer $14 billion.

"The markets are demoralized and in disarray," said Hugh Johnson, head of the investment policy committee at First Albany Corp. "The trade figure suggested that the dollar will decline further, that inflation will rise and that protectionist sentiment will be revived. It completely shook the confidence of the credit markets."

The Dow Jones Industrial average fell to 2412.70. Wednesday's drop exceeded the Dow's previous record loss of 91.55 points on Oct. 6.

Deficit Blamed For Drop

NEW YORK (UPI) — A wider-than-expected August U.S. trade deficit left the stock market "demoralized and in disarray," sending the Dow Jones industrials on a record dive amid warnings of rising inflation, analysts said.

The government said Wednesday the U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $15.68 billion in August from $16.5 billion in July, but the financial markets had expected a figure closer to $14 billion.

The Dow Jones Industrial average on Wednesday dropped a record 95.46 to 2412.70. It fell to about 310 points below the peak of 2722.42 set Aug. 25, handing the bull market its first 10 percent correction since 1984.

"The markets are demoralized and in disarray," said Hugh Johnson, head of the investment policy committee at First Albany Corp. "The trade figure suggested that the dollar will decline further, that inflation will rise and that protectionist sentiment will be revived. It completely shook the confidence of the credit markets."

Responding to the record fall, President Reagan said he didn't think the stock market drop meant the country's economic recovery was coming unraveled.

The New York Stock Exchange Composite Index fell 4.76 to 171.26.

Seminole Sales Up, Nation Down

Staff And Wire Reports

A sharp decline in automobile sales drove retail sales down 0.4 percent to $128.8 billion in September, the Commerce Department reported today but Florida officials cite figures for Seminole County showing sales going up.

This compared with a strong 1.7 percent gain in retail sales during August.

September automobile sales were down roughly $500 million or 1.4 percent after a strong August performance when U.S. automakers used incentives to increase sales by 5.7 percent to $31.1 billion, the Commerce Department said.

The five percent sales tax collected in Seminole County was up in August, the latest month for which figures are available, according to the state Department of Revenue. The July figure of $9,033,131 rose to $9,304,489 in August indicating a strong retail sales movement within the county.

Estimates for September indicate a stronger sales record than that elsewhere in the nation.

Connection Probed In Rape Cases

From Staff And Wire Reports

Longwood Police investigators are looking into a possible connection today between a suspect arrested in Kissimmee in the rapes of two Osceola County sisters and a rapist sought in a Sept. 23 sexual assault on a Longwood woman, according to Lt. Jack Bloland.

Authorities said the man being held without bond today in Osceola County has been linked to the rape and murder of a 12-year-old girl in neighboring Orange County.

The Longwood and Kissimmee police departments have been working closely on the two cases since a car stolen in the Longwood case was discovered Sept. 24 in the Kissimmee neighborhood, where police were searching unsuccessfully for a provier and possible suspect in the kidnappings and rapes.

Police acting on a telephone tip kicked in the door of a house Wednesday night and, after searching the home, found Robert Beeler Power, 27, hiding in the attic, officers said.

Power was arrested on charges of kidnapping, rape and possession of a firearm while committing a felony in connection with the pre-dawn assaults Sept. 11 on 12- and 16-year-old Kissimmee sisters abducted from their home as their parents slept.

The victims identified the suspect in a photographic lineup, said Kissimmee police Lt. Ren Taylor.

Investigators believe the same man also abducted two sisters, 12 and 15, from their home about 15 blocks from where the other girls lived. The second double rape occurred about 24 hours after the first.

The Kissimmee rapist may have assaulted a Seminole County woman Sept. 23 in Longwood, police said. A car stolen and used to flee the Longwood rape scene was found in Kissimmee, launching a massive search of the area without finding a suspect.

Orange County Sheriff Lawson Lamar said Power will be charged, possibly today, with assaulting and robbing Orange County Deputy Richard Welby last week as he searched a wooded area south of Orlando for a suspect in the abduction of Angeli Bare.

considered polluted.

The study also gauges river flow per day and per second, as well as river speed. Simmons explained that river flow and speed are being studied because in the past, according to DER data, the St. Johns River has reversed its flow. When the river does this, it flows into Lake Monroe. The DER already has told the city that by 1989 the city must stop pumping wastewater into Lake Monroe. So the DER will not permit the city to pump wastewater into the river if there is an indication the river will reverse its flow direction.

Simmons said there are two reasons why the city is investigating the process of pumping wastewater into the river during wet weather. First, Simmons said, is to have an alternative way to dispose of wastewater when it rains. Simmons explained that during wet weather, the land being spray-irrigated with treated wastewater cannot absorb as much as it can when the sky is clear. He said both St. Petersburg and Cocoa Beach have alternate sites for waste disposal when it rains.

The second reason ties into the river flow problem. Simmons said historically the river won't reverse its flow during rain. If the city can show the DER that the river flow reversal won't happen during wet weather, then the DER will have to withdraw its objection to pumping wastewater into the river on that point.

Simmons said the study will take another year to complete. At that time the city will know if it can safely pump quality wastewater into the river during wet weather, as well as how much the river can handle.

...Stop

said the expected completion date of the building is some time in August.

West said he is still researching whether the federal government or the postal service actually owns the property. "If it's the postal service (which owns the land) they do have to comply with our ordinances," West said. But not the federal government, West said he believes.

The biggest reason West said he decided to issue the order to stop the work was because of the "disregard of the city's arbor ordinance, which regulates the number and types of trees that may be destroyed within the city limits." According to West, at least 30 trees were totally destroyed by the clearing of the land for the building. "The fine for doing that would be about $28,700, and I think they got another tree, which would bring it up to over $30,000," West said.

City Manager Bob Norris, who is in Miami for a National League of Cities Convention, said he had instructed his staff to issue stop work orders on all construction on both the new regional and city post office buildings because the city has not received any information on the site plans or any offer to pay city impact fees. The regional post office site will be on Rinehart Road.

Norris said that Kruppenbacher has advised the city to treat the post offices like any other developer when it comes to meeting local building standards and paying fees.

According to Norris, the Postal Department hasn't officially contacted Lake Mary about any of its plans for either of its new buildings.

"To my knowledge they've (postal authorities) submitted zip (nothing)," Norris said. He added he would not allow his staff to issue building permits or let the buildings come on the city's water system until the postal service complies with ordinances for the construction of new buildings within the city limits.

Norris said that even if it turned out the postal service is exempt from part or all of the city ordinances and impact fees, it would still be common courtesy for the city to be given information on exactly what's going to go in on those sites.

"I think they (those who run post offices) would want to be recognized as members of the Lake Mary Community," Norris said. He added the city wants the new post office operators to be responsible corporate citizens.

Error Tarnishes Man's Sterling Background

DEAR ABBY: I am a 37-year-old, single, honorably discharged Vietnam veteran who is well-thought-of in my community. I have excellent credit, a responsible job as an investment manager, and I work with disadvantaged children. I help raise money for charities and have a wonderful circle of friends. So what's the problem?

Recently, pursuant to the upgrading of corporate policy, a new background check was run on employees. No problem. Nothing for me to hide. Right? Wrong. It seems this large international investigation company returned a report on me saying that I had been arrested six years ago for drug possession, fined and imprisoned. There's just one minor problem. It wasn't me. By referencing the case number and calling the records divisions of the court, I was able to discover that the individual they referred to in the background report:

1. Had a different middle name
 2. Obviously, a very different Social Security number.
 3. Was a different race than I am.
- This little fiasco caused indescribable tension with my employer and unbelievable embarrassment to me.
- Abby, I am lucky. My employer at least showed me the report rather than immediately firing me as he might have. The point is not that I was able to get things straightened out and obtain a very halfhearted apology from this firm. The point, more significantly, is how many innocent people are haunted by these grossly inaccurate, indeed, even libelous reports that they never get the chance to see? Jobs, mortgage loans, memberships to organizations—who knows what all a person will be denied because of one of these "small errors" in data retrieval?

Please let your readers know that anytime they suspect that one of these checks will be run on them, they have the right to request that a copy of the report be sent to their home. It would be a hell of a nice idea if some legislators would introduce a bill making dual reporting mandatory. What do you think? Incidentally, I am suing the reporting company.

MAD AS HELL IN SEATTLE

DEAR MAD: I think I would be even "madder" than you had I been victimized in that manner. Thank you for a valuable letter.

DEAR ABBY: I work as a secretary in New York City. I recently purchased—from a vendor on the sidewalk—a "1987 Edition of Webster's Dictionary."

On several occasions I have consulted that dictionary to verify the spelling of a word, and much to my amazement, those words were not to be found!

On closer examination, I noticed in small print on the title page a disclaimer stating: "This book is not published by the original publishers of Webster's Dictionary—or by their successors."

Dear Abby

Abby, please print this letter to alert my fellow secretaries, students, and the public in general.

JANE LARRICOLA, N.Y.C.

DEAR JANE: Lucky you. You got a worthless dictionary but learned a valuable lesson: Never buy in haste, and only from reputable dealers.

DEAR ABBY: If you receive a gift, and thank the giver in person when you receive it, is it necessary to send a written thank-you note?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Yes. People with the best manners always send written thank-you notes. And promptly.

DEAR ABBY: This is for women who believe that every bachelor is eligible for marriage. After the death of my husband, who had been a loving, caring, generous man, I married the "prize" bachelor in town. What a disappointment! I soon learned why he had never married. He cared for no one but himself. He never learned how to give. He was a selfish, self-centered tightwad.

Abby, some confirmed bachelors should remain single. They know themselves better than others know them, and are probably most eligible for bachelorhood.

BEEN THERE IN IOWA

DEAR BEEN THERE: The name can be said for some "independent" women.

Kathy Smith, Gary E. Vogel Repeat Vows

NATION IN BRIEF

Bush's Speeches Show Changes Of Mind On Taxes, Priorities

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — Vice President George Bush switched his top priority from education to national security and back again as his 1988 presidential campaign shuttled between the Midwest and the Deep South, and seemed to do a similar flip-flop on the issue of raising taxes.

Speaking to a friendly crowd of about 450 Republican precinct delegates in Dearborn Wednesday night, Bush said, "Education is going to be the top priority for me. I'd like to be known as the education president."

Bush had a different story for an Atlanta luncheon crowd of about 300 people Wednesday afternoon. "There are many issues before us today," he said, "but one issue overwhelms the rest. The No. 1 priority for any candidate for president must be the national security of the United States."

Zaccaro Cleared; Ferraro Glad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Geraldine Ferraro, who maintains her historic 1984 bid for the vice presidency prompted her husband's bribery and extortion indictment, said in the wake of his acquittal that she may seek public office again.

A state Supreme Court jury in Queens on Wednesday found John Zaccaro innocent of charges that he tried to extort a bribe in 1981 from a company that unsuccessfully sought a lucrative cable television franchise.

Toddler Falls Into Well; Rescuers' Work Slow

MIDLAND, Texas (UPI) — Grim rescuers slowly drilled through solid rock today toward a sobbing 18-month-old girl who slipped down a narrow pipe and became trapped in a dark, dry water well about 22 feet under ground.

The businesslike rescue effort continued early today for tiny Jessica McClure, who fell down the 8-inch-wide pipe while playing with other children behind her aunt's child care center about 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Police Cpl. Jim White, one of the exhausted rescuers at the scene all night, said workers reached the girl with a hole the size of a drill bit shortly after 6 a.m. but would need several more hours to widen the hole.

As the tiny hole opened, the rescue team briefly turned off the massive, noisy generators powering their equipment to listen to the girl.

"We shut everything down and the quiet woke her up," White said. "I guess you could say the silence was deafening after all that noise after all that time."

Richard Caech, Midland's police chief, during the night expressed frustration. "It's not going very good."

Caech said. "It's just going so darn slow. They're drilling into hard rock. It's going to be a number of hours. The child will still cry out occasionally and sometimes she sleeps. She's had no food, no liquids. There's no way we can get at her to give her that."

Dr. Chip Klucinh, one of the physicians on duty since the accident occurred, said the girl should be able to survive easily for up to three days without water.

Using seaming equipment, rescuers said they could hear the toddler's sobs and her calls for her mother.

"It looks to us to be an 8-inch pipe that drops down 22 feet into a bell-shaped area (about 6 feet wide). There's dirt all around her there," Caech said.

Rescuers were pumping oxygen to the child, and Caech said a camera was lowered down the hole allowing doctors to see Jessica. They said she had no visible injuries.

Rescuers experimented with various types of drilling equipment to bore their way inch-by-inch through solid rock.

The drillers, four men working in 30-minute shifts with a jackhammer, were nearing exhaustion and White issued a call for more volunteers. "We are trying to get a new rotation of four men," White said. "They are just worn out. We need other people to help us out."

Patrolman Brad Luckey, on duty all night waiting for an opportunity to go into the hole after Jessica, said of the drillers, "Their arms are just too tired to use that hammer. They can't get strength behind it anymore."

Mrs. McClure had just stepped away to answer the telephone when Jessica fell down the pipe.

Siblings Flee, Nabbed On Shoplifting Charges

A Winter Park brother and sister were followed out of Sears in the Altamonte Mall, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, by the store's security officers, who suspected they had been shoplifting in the store, and the pair allegedly fought the security officers in trying to flee.

As the suspects were walking away from the store and the officers at about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, a security officer grabbed a bag that one suspect carried. The bag ripped and out fell women's and children's clothing that had not been paid for, according to an Altamonte Springs police report.

Both suspects continued to try to flee, police reported. After the two got into a car, the security officers reportedly fought with the suspects until subduing and holding them for police.

Police reported recovering $483 in clothing that reportedly was stolen from Sears.

Renardo Calingford Sneed, 23, and Hope Levetta Sneed, 21, both of 678 Swoope Ave., Winter Park, were each charged with strong arm robbery, grand theft and battery.

They were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

2 'Noles Take An Optimistic Stance For '87

Is the glass of water half full or half empty?
Is the Seminole football season promising or bleak?

Ron Blake and Jerod Jones took the Sanford Optimist Club test Wednesday at Western Sizzlin. Every Wednesday, Sanford's youth-devoted club recognizes Seminole's Offensive and Defensive Players of Week for their contributions the previous Friday.

After three consecutive losses, Blake and Jones did the usual amount of worrying during the trip from the high school to the Sanford restaurant.

"Oh man, I don't know what I'm going to say to these guys this week," Blake, who also won the award last week, muttered. "It's tough facing these guys after a loss."

Jones' reaction said it all for him. "You mean we have to get up and talk?" he asked.

Although the hard-hitting monsterback and the quick-stepping halfback may have been uncomfortable during the ride, after one hour of fellowship with this positive-thinking club, there was no doubt which direction their attitudes had taken.

Both were ready to put on the warpaint for Friday night.

As expected, the duo entered with shoulders slumping after heartbreaking setbacks to Lake Mary, Orlando Dr. Phillips and Lake Brantley the past three Fridays. When the last morsel had been swallowed, however, chests were puffed out and heads were again held high for both optimistic Seminoles.

Victories over Leesburg (Friday) and Oviedo (Oct. 30) will wrap up the District 5A-2 championship and a berth in the state playoffs.

Promising or bleak?
Maybe coach Roger Beathard should consider sending all 43 of his 'Noles through this Wednesday exercise in The Optimist Creed.

Promise Yourself... "To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future."

"The real season starts Friday against Leesburg," Blake maintained. "Even though we've lost three games, we can turn things around by beating Leesburg. It's been frustrating so far, but we are going to get better."

Promise Yourself... "To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true."

"We are going to beat Leesburg Friday and then beat Oviedo to win the district championship," Jones promised. "I still have a lot of confidence in this team."

And if Seminole is looking for a young man to lead it from this three-game wilderness, it could not do better example than Ron Blake. This determined youngster has not thrown in the towel despite a frustrating five games during his senior year.

Blake, a senior who is fifth in the county in tackles with 11.8 a game, provided a step in the right direction last Friday when he fielded a blocked field goal attempt and sped 87 yards for a touchdown. Jones ran for 83 yards and danced in untouched on a 13-yard romp around the right side.

Blake's return gave the Seminoles a 7-0 lead but Brantley came back for a 20-14 victory. The emergence of Blake as a leader has been one of the positive things during a 2-3 season thus far.

During his younger days, while playing baseball for the Sanford Recreation Depart-

Ron Blake, left, and Jerod Jones have not thrown in the towel despite a disappointing last three games.

Cox, Cards Trump Giants

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals bring a record string of scoreless innings to a World Series in which they face a slugging team that plays in a ballpark suited to power hitters.

Danny Cox pitched an eight-hit shutout Wednesday night in St. Louis' 6-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants that earned the Cardinals a World Series berth against the American League champion Minnesota Twins.

St. Louis' victory in the decisive seventh game of the National League Championship Series gives the team its 15th appearance in the World Series, its second in three seasons and third in six years. The World Series begins Saturday in the Metrodome at Minneapolis.

"Any time you win a pennant, you are happy," said Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog. "But this is a three-step thing. First comes the division, then the pennant, then the Series."

"We lost the Series in '85 and that's the first time I've had that awful experience. That's the big one."

The Cardinals' offense arrived from unexpected sources, while the Giants failure to produce a run extended their scoreless string to a playoff-record 22 innings. Only one Giant got as far as third in the final two games of the series.

"After we won two in a row at home (to take a 3-2 series lead), we came in here and got no runs in two games. I never expected that," said Giants Manager Roger Craig.

Cox claimed his second title-clinching victory this season. He also won the game in which the Cardinals eliminated the Mets from the NL East race.

"He's just a competitor. It is as simple as that," Herzog said of Cox. "Before the series started I wanted to pitch him in Games 1, 4 and 7 and we got him in 4 and 7 because of his neck injury.

"Going back to 1985 when he clinched the division against the Mets, Danny has always been there when we needed him."

"I think I'm just in the right place at the right time," Cox said. "We got eight runs when we clinched the division against Montreal and six tonight. Honestly, I think these are the only two good games I pitched all year."

The Cardinals spotted Cox a 4-0 lead in the second. Terry Pendleton, Tony Pena and Willie McGee each singled to account for the first run and Jose Oquendo hit a 3-2 pitch into the standing-room only crowd beyond left-field to drive in three more.

"I hit it well, but I thought it was just a line drive to the outfield and I ran real hard to first base," Oquendo said. "Then I saw the booms (fireworks) outside the stadium. That's when I knew it was a home run."

"No one expected Jose to hit a home run," said Cox. "We seem to have a different hero every game and today's was Jose. We seem to find a different way to win each time we play."

St. Louis added two runs in

Howell Subs Topple Mary

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

LAKE MARY — The life of a volleyball substitute is not an easy one. The "subs" are asked to sit on the bench, which can be a pain in itself if you sit long enough, cheer for the starters, occasionally dish out water during time outs — and not complain.

Lake Howell's Pam Jones, Eva Miranda, Rixja Millwood and Dana Boyesen know first-hand what it is like to be a sub. But those four showed Wednesday night that, when they get their chance, they are very capable of holding their own on the court.

The four Lake Howell substitutes may not have done anything overwhelming Wednesday, but they all contributed in some way in the Lady Hawks' 15-11, 15-10 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Lake Mary before 151 fans at Lake Mary High.

Lake Howell improved to 7-9 overall and is now tied for third with Lake Brantley in the SAC at 5-4. Lake Mary fell to 7-8 overall and 4-6 in the SAC. The Lady Rams return to action Monday at home against Eustis. The Lady Hawks have a big conference game tonight at home against second-place DeLand.

"I think we're ready for DeLand now," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "About two weeks ago I would have been lying if I had said that but, right now, we're ready."

Lake Howell's substitutes were definitely ready Wednesday night, particularly Jones who started in place of injured Carey Manuel. In the two games, Jones had two kills, converted on 6 of 7 serves and played well in the back row. It was only the second start of the season for Jones.

"Pam (Jones) is doing a good job filling in for Carey (Manuel)," Luciano said. "She is not as big a hitter but is consistent all the way around."

Miranda, who saw limited action early in the year, now rotates in as the second setter in the Lady Hawks' new offense. Miranda's ability to get the sets up has sprung senior co-captain Tammy Lewis free to do more hitting and the Lady Hawks have been successful with the new offense.

Millwood and Boyesen did not make their appearances until the second game Wednesday, but both had a hand in the Lady Hawks' victory. Millwood made several good passes from the back row, which is her specialty, served the 14th point of the game and was even 1 for 1 in spiking. Boyesen, one of only two sophomores on the team, served the 13th point of game two and also played mistake-free on the back row.

"All of our substitutes gave us solid performances tonight," Luciano said. "And I was very pleased that, no matter who we had in, we were able to keep the lead once we got it."

It was Lake Mary that jumped out to the early lead in game one as Valerie Smith served the first three points, one an ace, and Lora Splatt and Brooke Taylor each served one for a 5-0 lead. Lake Howell pulled within 5-4 on Susan Hayden's serve, one an ace, then took the lead for good as Stormi Littrell served two points.

Lake Howell had an 11-6 lead when one of Lake Mary's subs, Faraw Mirza, served three points to pull the Lady Rams within 11-9. Lake Mary hung within 13-11 when a hit by Lewis gave Lake Howell a side out and Hayden served out the game.

In game two, Lewis served three points and Jones two for a quick 5-0 Lake Howell lead. The Lady Hawks then ran the lead to 12-2 with Debbie McDonough serving five points. During McDonough's serve, Littrell had back-to-back impressive plays at the net as she blocked a hard

Interests Divided For DeLand Invite

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

In the past, the DeLand Invitational was always one of the most popular regular-season cross country meets. That's because, for many years, it was the site of the State Championships and any team that felt it had a chance at state, wanted to run on the DeLand Airport course before the state meet.

In 1987, however, the State Cross Country Championships have been moved to Dunn Airpark in Titusville. The DeLand Invitational has now become just another meet for Central Florida area teams and may some day become extinct as some area coaches do not like to run at DeLand.

"As long as the state meet was there, you wanted to go to the DeLand meet," Lake Mary girls coach Mike Gibson said. "Now, though, we have already run on the state meet course (Dunn Airport) and there is no reason for us to go to DeLand."

"I really don't like the DeLand course anyway," added Gibson. "There are a lot of treacherous areas on the course and I don't want to risk one of my runners getting hurt there. I'd rather have my team run on a safer and faster course."

Lake Mary was scheduled to run at the DeLand Invitational this year, but both the boys and girls teams have since landed a spot in the Gateway Invitational Saturday at Gateway High in Kissimmee.

On the other hand, Lake Howell girls coach Tom Hammontree says he likes to have his team run at the DeLand Invitational.

"The girls have always run well at DeLand so we like to go back there," Hammontree said. "We have had a lot of positive things come out of meets run there in the past."

Hammontree's eagerness to return to DeLand is understandable. It was at the DeLand Airport course last year where his Lady Silver Hawks captured the Class 4A State Championship. In the last four years at DeLand, Lake Howell has been Lake Brantley High is also expected to run at DeLand.

Meanwhile, Lyman High will go to Atlanta for the Westminster Invitational, which draws some of the top teams in the south.

Lyman coach Fred Finke said Saturday's meet in Atlanta will be a good challenge for his team, ranked fifth in the state in Class 4A, and his top two runners in second-ranked Teddy Mitchell and third-ranked Nick Radtewich.

"The meets usually draws some of the top teams and runners from the southeast," Finke said.

Hairline Crack For Bucs: Backup Turk Crosses Line

TAMPA (UPI) — A hairline crack developed in the solidarity of striking Tampa Bay Buccaneers players as reserve center Dan Turk returned to camp in time to be eligible for Sunday's game against the Minnesota Vikings.

But player representative George Yarno brushed off Turk's return Wednesday, calling it not a true defection, and said the striking Bucs remain united, staying out until NFL owners sign a collective bargaining agreement with the players' union.

With quarterbacks Steve DeBerg and Vinny Testaverde out for the third straight game, the Bucs signed veteran NFL quarterback Jim Zorn. He worked out Wednesday and will be ready to play Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings, the club announced.

Zorn, a left-handed passer, was with the Seattle Seahawks for nine years, from 1976 through 1984, and played with the Green Bay Packers in 1985. The Bucs already have quarterbacks John Reaves and Mike Hold in camp.

The Bucs also signed offensive tackle Jim Huddleston and wide receiver Stanley Shakespeare Wednesday, and to offset the signing of the three new players, they waived quarterback Kelly Bradley, place kicker John Carney and defensive lineman Don Thompson.

Although Yarno said Turk was not considered a defector, the players were surprised and disappointed with his action Tuesday.

"All we asked was that if a player was going to do something, to tell his teammates first," Yarno said. "He felt that wasn't necessary and I think the players are a little upset that he bypassed his players."

"He did not consult his teammates. He made the decision on his own," Yarno continued. "He has not practiced with the team the entire time we have been practicing or has come to any of our team meetings, so we were not aware of his situation until early this morning."

"The other Bucs are out until there is a signed agreement," he said.

TRC, Six Flags Post Victories In Sanford Softball Openers

Tim Raines Connection pounded Stromberg Carlson, 13-2, and Six Flags Nursery dropped Bridgewater, 7-3, as the Sanford Men's Softball League opened play Wednesday night at Pinchurat Park.

TRC used a nine-run fifth inning to break open a tight game. Eddie Jackson's two-run single was the key blow. Bob Jacobs, Billy Griffith and Rod Turner also drove in runs.

Tim Raines made the transition from baseball to softball smoothly with two singles and an RBI groundout. Burnett "Slim" Washington had three singles while Jacobs had two hits and Thad Brooks drove in two runs. Levi Raines added a triple and Ned Raines a double.

Mike Hartwig singled home John Martin and tripled and scored on Tony Madison's single for the second tally. Madison had a pair of hits.

Six Flags, meanwhile, erased a 3-2 first-inning deficit to whip first-year Bridgewater. Terrel Ervin singled, doubled and homered for Flags while Clancy Wallace and Jim Clements added three hits each and Buddy Stumpf two. Kevin Julian singled and tripled for the losers.

Flames Dismantle Oilers, 5-4

United Press International

The Calgary Flames demonstrated their ability to dismantle the Stanley Cup champion Edmonton Oilers in still very much intact.

The Flames fell behind 2-0, but still demonstrating mastery of previous coach Bob Johnson's system, rebounded with five straight goals Wednesday to earn a 5-4 victory at Edmonton under new coach Terry Crisp.

Johnson's game plan helped the Flames register six victories and a tie in eight meetings with the Oilers last season.

"The key was we didn't panic when we were down 2-0," said rookie Joe Nieuwendyk, who scored the first Calgary goal and a key short-handed effort to give his team a 3-2 lead. "We stuck to our game plan. We used the same system as last year under Badger Bob and it seemed to work."

Elsewhere, New Jersey defeated Hartford 3-1, Chicago beat St. Louis 5-3 and Minnesota topped Toronto 4-3.

Sheffield Charged With DUI

TAMPA (UPI) — Gary Sheffield, a shortstop in the Milwaukee Brewers organization and cousin of New York Mets pitcher Dwight Gooden, was free on bond Wednesday following his arrest for driving under the influence.

Sheffield, who is on probation as a result of the well-publicized confrontation between Gooden and police in December, was arrested Tuesday night and in addition to the DUI charge, was charged with fleeing and eluding a police officer.

He was released on $1,000 bond at 2:34 a.m. EDT. Police said an officer saw Sheffield speeding and tried to stop him for more than a mile, using his emergency lights and siren. Sheffield, 19, was arrested after he drove his 1988 Corvette into the driveway of a friend's house.

He offered no resistance and told the officer he didn't stop because he didn't realize he was being followed.

Disney Purse Up By $100,000

LAKE BUENA VISTA (UPI) — Having increased its purse by $100,000 for the second straight year, the PGA has attracted an unusually strong field for the $600,000 17th annual Walt Disney World Golf Classic.

After an eight-year run as the National Team Play championships, the Classic is now in its sixth consecutive year as an individual medal play event. Defending champion Ray Floyd is coming off of a seven-week layoff to lead the chase for the $108,000 top prize.

Floyd, who holds titles in every grand slam event except the British Open among his 21 career victories, has been selectively reducing his schedule over the last few seasons in order to stay mentally fresh and avoid burnout. Having turned 45 just last month, Floyd is returning from a lengthy break that included a vacation in Europe with his wife.

Witherspoon Decisions Williams

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Tim Witherspoon, former two-time heavyweight champion, won his second straight comeback fight by finishing strong to claim a split decision over previously unbeaten Mike Williams.

Witherspoon, 27-3, wore Williams down and rocked him repeatedly with right-hand bombs over the final four rounds. Until then, Williams threw most of the punches and stayed out of Witherspoon's punching range. He tired late in the fight, however, and had little left down the stretch. Williams, of Houston, fell to 13-1.

Judge Eva Shain scored it 96-94 and Tom Kaczmarek had it 97-94 for Witherspoon. Richard Strange favored Williams, 98-92.

Colangelo Restructures Phoenix

PHOENIX (UPI) — Jerry Colangelo envisions himself as more like Al Davis than George Steinbrenner.

Colangelo became a primary owner in the Phoenix Suns earlier this week, and on Wednesday announced a restructuring of the front office that places him as the club president and chief executive officer.

"I'm going to be there on a day-to-day basis," Colangelo told reporters at a news conference. "What I intend to do is to funnel and delegate responsibility."

Pippen Signs Multi-Year Pact

CHICAGO (UPI) — Scottie Pippen of Central Arkansas, the top draft choice of the Chicago Bulls, Wednesday signed a multi-year contract.

The 6-foot-7 forward practiced with the Bulls later in the day and is to suit up for Friday night's exhibition opener against the Utah Jazz.

"We feel he has a fine future and we're looking forward to having him join our club," said Jerry Krause, the club's vice president of basketball operations.

12,500 Fans Greet Wildcats

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — More than 12,500 fans filled Memorial Coliseum with a deafening roar as the 1987-88 Kentucky Wildcats began practice at midnight — the very first minute allowed by the NCAA.

The fans chanted "Blue — White" and other traditional cheers for 20 minutes before Coach Eddie Sutton's 1987-88 squad ran out onto the floor behind a huge banner sporting a "K" about one minute before schedule.

Cool Weather Spawns Feeding Sprees

Doesn't the cooler weather feel great? It has been a long, hot summer and most of us have been looking forward to the end of the heat wave.

Believe it or not, our finny friends also appreciate the cooler weather. High water temperatures stress many species of fish and they react to periods of intense heat by becoming lethargic and dormant.

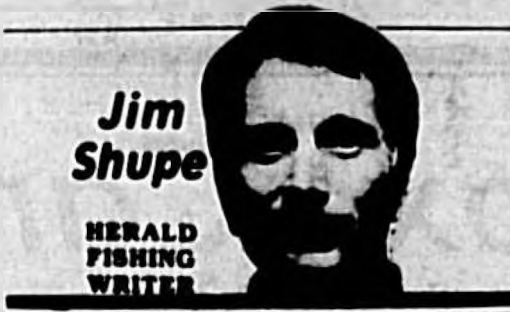

Fish celebrate the cooler weather by increasing their activity and going on a feeding spree. On the fresh water scene, bass, strippers, sunshines and speckled perch have an insatiable urge to devour everything in sight. The end result of this increased feeding activity is some of the year's best fishing.

Traditionally, the largest bass are caught during the cooler months as they fatten up for the rigors of winter. Yes, this is the time of year to catch that "wall hanger" you've been dreaming about for so long.

Boat traffic also tapers off considerably during the cooler weather. Most recreational boaters store their boats at this time, waiting for the warmth of spring.

Another fringe benefit of cool weather is the opening of hunting season. Many fishermen are in the woods in pursuit of deer and other game. This translates into less competition on the lakes and rivers for the sportsmen who like to fish all year.

Salt water anglers also have reason to be optimistic. Redfish, trout, snook, flounder and other inland species also go on a feeding binge. Migrating schools of finger mullet offer these fish some of the year's best dining. For a month or two, they can eat to their heart's content without having to waste a lot of energy chasing bait. The finger mullet are so thick that a snook or trout could get plenty to eat blindfolded!

Offshore fishermen will have to pick their days. Cold fronts have an uncanny knack for arriving on Fridays—just in time to churn the ocean into walls of white caps for the weekend.

On the good days, bottom fishing for grouper and snapper can be fantastic. These delicious fish move into shallower water as temperatures drop, and anglers can make good catches in 80-100 feet of water instead of 160-240 feet.

Deep water fishermen, who like to troll, anticipate the best angling for sailfin of the season. Although most of the sails will be caught in the Fort Pierce/Stuart area, anglers out of Ponce Inlet and Port Canaveral will also catch their share. On good days, it is not uncommon to catch as many as three or four of these fine gamefish.

Don't pack up those rods and reels. Now is the time to put on fresh line in order to bring in some of the biggest fish of the year.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Live bait is hard to beat when water temperatures drop. Bass and other species become almost dormant and will not chase a bait very far. A live bait wiggling in front of their nose, however, is difficult for a bass to resist.

WEEKEND CAST — Rick Rowles of Highland Park Fish Camp said that fishing is improving daily in spite of the high winds. Speckled perch are biting in the open water in Lake Woodruff. Trout with Wal Flats or drift with Missouri minnows for the best results. Bass are being caught on wild shrimp fished near cover. Most of the bass are running from 3.5 pounds, with an occasional lumber over 8 pounds being weighed in weekly.

Dell Abernathy of Osceola Bridge reports that specks are biting good in the old river channel and in Lake Ruess. Drift deep with Missouri minnows to catch a mess of these fine eating fish. Bass fishing has been good, but the rising water will provide new areas for bass to roam in search of food. Bass anglers will have to fish further back in the coves and creeks for good action. The new bridge is still hot for steady action from brown, specks, and strippers.

Sebastian Inlet will be slow until the water clears up from the steady high winds. If you have to fish, live finger mullet fished on the bottom would be a good bait for flounder, redfish, trout, or snook.

Captain Jack of Port Canaveral reports that the ocean has been uncatchable for the past week. Seven to ten foot seas have even kept the commercial boats at dock. Offshore fishing this weekend will be doubtful as the winds continue to blow from 15-20 knots. If you want to relax, catch some finger mullet in the Port and fish for flounder, redfish, trout, or mangrove snapper. If you don't have a cast net, buy some live shrimp and catch sheepshead from among the many pilings to be found in the Port. If it isn't too windy, trout and redfish will be biting in the Banana and Indian rivers. Trout can be found on the flats along with a few reds, but most of the reds will be found along channel edges.

The New Smyrna jetties have been virtually uncatchable as giant waves continue to pound over the rocks. When the seas subside, look for redfish, flounder, whiting, drum and sheepshead.

Tyson: 31 Down, Biggs Next To Go

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Mike Tyson has handled all 31 heavyweights who have stepped in the ring with him, and few expect him to have trouble with Tyrell Biggs Friday night.

But when it comes to dealing with Lou Duva, Biggs' short and round 65-year-old manager-trainer, Tyson's co-manager believes he must save the heavyweight champion from punishment.

Jim Jacobs jumped to the aid of Tyson Wednesday when Duva was telling Tyson why Biggs would cut short his reign as champion in Friday night's 15-round bout at the Atlantic City

Boxing

Convention Center. Jacobs countered by accusing Duva and Biggs' other handlers of culling the challenger a "mental case."

"They said 'We don't know about this kid, he disappears, he's a real mental case,'" Jacobs said. "Their word was 'fragile.'"

Biggs' co-manager Shelly Finkel, promoter Dan Duva and Lou Duva all deny making those statements.

Tyson is a 10-1 favorite to retain his heavyweight championship against Biggs, the 1984

Olympic super heavyweight champion. But Lou Duva said Tyson's lack of boxing skills would cost him the title.

"We're going to beat you and beat you good," Duva said to Tyson. "You never learned how to box, because you chose not to or nobody bothered to teach you."

As Tyson sat simmering, Jacobs jumped to his defense. Jacobs said the Duvas and Finkel had asked him and his partner Bill Cayton to persuade HBO to buy Biggs bouts against Renaldo Snipes and David Bey "because these were the only two men in the division they could beat."

When Jacobs was asked who made the comments about Biggs, he said, "The whole team."

"He's out of his mind," promoter Dan Duva said. "It was the cheap shot of cheap shots. Has Tyrell ever disappeared? His problems are history."

Lions Anxious To Atone For '86 Embarrassment

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Anxious is a word Oviedo coach Jack Blanton uses a lot when talking about Friday night's Seminole Athletic Conference showdown between his Lions and the host Lyman Greyhounds.

"Last year, Lyman embarrassed us at our home field so we're anxious to play them again," Blanton, a Greyhound graduate, said. "It was a close game but they pretty much moved the ball on us at will. The kids are anxious to get another shot at them."

Oviedo, coming off a 17-7 loss to Daytona Seabreeze last Thursday, goes into Friday's game with a 3-2 overall record and 1-1 in the Seminole Athletic Conference. Lyman, which fell to 2-3 with a 28-13 loss to Lake Mary, is 0-2 in the league. The Greyhounds hold a 2-0 advantage in the series against Oviedo.

"Lyman is a lot bigger and stronger than they were last year," Blanton said. "They have one of the best backs (Victor Farrer) we'll face. I think our defense is anxious to go out and give its best effort. The question is, will it be enough?"

Oviedo's defense has allowed 59 points in the first five games and has recorded one shutout, 14-0 over Orlando Dr. Phillips. The Lions' defense against the run will be put to the test Friday as Lyman has the second-leading rusher in the county in Farrer who has run for eight touchdowns. In the passing department, Steven Jerry has thrown for 210 yards but completed under 40 percent of his passes. "Our defense against the run has been up and down this season," Blanton said. "This is a big challenge for the defense and a good game will head it in the right direction."

Among the Lions' defensive leaders are linebackers Willie Pauldo (11.4 tackles per game) and Pete Lingard (8.6), defensive back Chad Duncan (8.0) and two-way lineman Andy Palmer (8.8). Emery Sneed leads the team with five sacks and Duncan has two interceptions.

Offensively, Oviedo has had its moments, including a 28-point outburst against Lake Brantley, but has also struggled. Oviedo has been held to just seven points in both its losses.

"With 148 and 150-pound running backs there's not much we can do but try to mix it up on offense," Blanton said. "And we have to be able to take advantage of any mistakes Lyman makes."

Oviedo's leading rusher is Rodney Thompson with 283 yards while Preston Dames has run for 237 and Duncan 126. Quarterback John Pettit, who sat out last week's game, has thrown for 268 yards and two touchdowns. The Lions have also scored twice on the halfback pass.

The disappointing loss to Seabreeze, in which Seabreeze scored both of its touchdowns on defense, did not dampen the Lions' spirit going into Friday's big SAC matchup with Lyman. "We've had some real intensity in practice the last couple days," Blanton said. "For the first time this season we had a couple skirmishes in practice. The kids are anxious to hit somebody else."

After the meeting with Lyman, Oviedo will turn its attention to the District 4A-7 race. Oviedo, 1-0 in the district, has an open date next week and will have additional time to prepare for a big district encounter with Seminole High on Oct. 30. Oviedo will conclude the season against SAC foe Lake Mary, district opponent Edgewater and conference toughie Lake Howell.

"We look at the conference and respect all those teams but all of them are 5A except for Sanford," Blanton said. "It's hard for us to compete against 5A schools."

And how does Blanton feel about the big game with Seminole in two weeks? "Anxious."

Lake Howell Continues Search For Big-Play Formula Vs. Pats

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

Last season, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks had formula for winning; big play after big play equals a victory.

When the pressure was on, the Hawks always seemed to come up with the big play. Lake Howell went on to post an impressive 9-1 record.

But coach Mike Biaciegla and the rest of his team have not been able to find the big play formula this season. The Hawks have not gotten the big plays when they have needed them, and consequently have a 1-3 record to show for it.

Lake Howell will have an opportunity to find its magic formula on Friday night as it will travel to Lake Brantley for a Seminole Athletic Conference/District 5A-4 encounter. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Tom Storey Field.

The Hawks are 1-1 in the SAC and 5A-4. Brantley is 3-2 overall, 1-2 in the SAC, and 1-1 in 5A-4.

"We are still alive in the conference and district, and we need to win this game in order to stay alive," Biaciegla said. "Lake Brantley is a very good football team, and we are going to have to play extremely well to beat them."

"I thought that we played pretty well last week (a 10-7 setback to Winter Park)," Biaciegla added. "We have lost a few close games, but our kids have still got a lot of confidence." Howell's three losses have been by a total of 20 points.

Football

Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said Howell's record is deceiving. "They are a darn good football team and I'm not letting that 1-3 record fool me," Almon said. "They should have won a few of those games."

"Our kids are pretty fired up, though," Almon said. "We are confident, and if we play the way we have in the past three weeks, we should come out on top." The Patriots have won their last three games after dropping their first two.

Biaciegla said that he is concerned with the Lake Brantley wishbone offense. "The have a solid offense," Biaciegla said. "We haven't faced a wishbone team yet."

"You have to prepare differently for them," Biaciegla said. "Their quarterback (Clint Johnson) is fast and their fullback (Mark Sepe) is a tough runner. I hope that we can stop them."

The Lake Howell offense has been rusty at times this season, but seems to be smoothing out. Quarterback Jeff Neace has come on strong in the past few weeks. Neace, a senior, has thrown for 248 yards and three touchdowns.

"Jeff is improving all the time," Biaciegla said. "He is starting to mature, and that is what we need from him."

Center Jason Kotar, a starter last season, said that the team is still in good spirits despite the three losses. "We have been a block away from winning a couple of those games," Kotar said. "We are still sticking together."

"I think that Brantley looks pretty tough this season," Kotar added. "But we really need to win this game and I think that we have a pretty good chance to win it."

Lake Howell offensive line coach Mike Bouch said that once the team wins, he expects them to do it again. "A lot of these kids haven't experienced winning," Bouch said. "Once they win a few games, I think that they will get a feel for how to win."

"We have put ourselves in a position to win in a lot of games," Bouch continued. "But we haven't come up with the big play. Hopefully, we will."

Bouch also said that he is expecting a tough affair from the Pats. "Their defense is very aggressive," Bouch said. "Our offense is going to have to really be fired up."

Coach Bob Ervin's defense has played very well of late. Linebacker Steve Ryan, who is averaging 8.5 tackles a game, and Todd Shockley (10 tackles a game) have both been outstanding performers. "Our defense has been doing a good job," Biaciegla said. "We played very well last week, and we are going to need another strong effort against Brantley."

Smiths: Emmitt, Marquette Use Flashy Freshmen Feet

While 1987 may be remembered for the royal mess in professional football, on the amateur level in Florida it may also be referred to as the "Year of the Freshman Running Back Named Smith."

At the University of Florida, a true freshman by the name of Emmitt Smith has practically carried the Gators' offense while former Heisman Trophy candidate Kerwin Bell and the passing game has struggled. Smith, out of Pensacola Escambia High, has rushed for a nation-leading 838 yards in six games and has scored 10 touchdowns.

Smith, the third-leading high school rusher in history, is averaging 139 yards per game and is practically light years ahead of the freshman pace set by such stars as Herschel Walker, Marcus Allen and Tony Dorsett. Although he is still a freshman, he has a lot to learn. Smith, who has rushed for 100 or more yards in 33 consecutive starts dating back to his sophomore year in high school, should still be considered a Heisman Trophy candidate this year.

While Emmitt is blazing to new rushing records at Florida Field, Lake Howell High School has its own standout freshman running back named Smith — Marquette.

Marquette, a starting high school back at just 14-years-old, has a lot in common with Emmitt. They are both small but stocky with quick feet, have the ability to cut back on a dime and the capacity to make something out of nothing.

And, of course, Marquette still has as much to learn about high school ball as Emmitt does about college.

So far this season, Marquette Smith has run for 348 yards on 49 carries and has scored two touchdowns. He ranks fifth in Seminole County in yards gained and second in yards per carry (7.1) for players with more than 10 rushing attempts.

Along with being a standout running back for Lake Howell, Smith is also considered one of the best young track and field prospects in the area.

Last week, the Fearless Fister Forecat recorded its second consecutive 8-2 record to run the overall mark to 36-14-2. The Forecat also ran its record to 2-0 in head-to-head confrontations with a 3-1 record in high school games compared to 1-3 for challenger Scott Sander.

Here's a look at this week's games:

Leesburg at Seminole
After two disasters in a row, Seminole High will regroup and keep its District 4A-7 chances alive this week. The Seminoles,

2-3 overall, have a tough defensive opponent in Leesburg but should be able to score enough points to win. Leesburg has not done much offensively so Seminole's defense should have a good outing. Seminole by 10

Oviedo at Lyman
Lyman has used its ground attack, led by Robert Thomas, to win the last two meetings with Oviedo. Thomas has since graduated, but the Hounds have another electrifying back in Victor Farrer and his running, plus an improved Lyman defensive unit, will be the difference. Lyman by 7

Lake Howell at Lake Brantley
The first five weeks of the 1987 season has been a complete opposite of last year for both Lake Howell and Lake Brantley. Lake Howell, 9-1 a year ago, stands at 1-3 so far in '87 while Brantley, 1-9 last year, is now 3-2 with a three-game winning streak. Lake Howell will bring a little reality back into the picture though by showing it is still one of the stronger teams in the area despite Brantley's improvement. Lake Howell by 14

COLLEGE — In college football games this week it should be UCF by 9 over West Georgia; Florida by 38 over Temple; FSU by 55 over Louisville; Oklahoma by only 40 over Kansas State; Penn State by 10 over Syracuse; Oklahoma State by 1 over Nebraska in upset 1 and Kentucky by 3 over LSU in upset 2.

TWINS IN 7 — In baseball, the Minnesota Twins will win in seven games over the St. Louis Cardinals with Tom Brunansky getting the MVP award he deserved but didn't get in the AL Championship Series.

Redskins To Break Solidarity

United Press International
The Washington Redskins, previously the only NFL team with 100-percent union solidarity, were set to become the first team to break the strike en masse today. NFL Players Association chief Gene Upshaw said.

"I'm sure that they (the Redskins) are going back, they have said they are going back, but there are still 27 other teams," Upshaw, the union's executive director, said late Wednesday. "Even if some more teams go back, it will be interesting to see what type of football we'll see on Sunday if all of the regular players are not back."

No Redskins returned to work before 1 p.m. EDT Wednesday, the deadline set by management for players to be paid for this weekend's games, as the team became the only one in the league with no players crossing the picket line during the three-week strike.

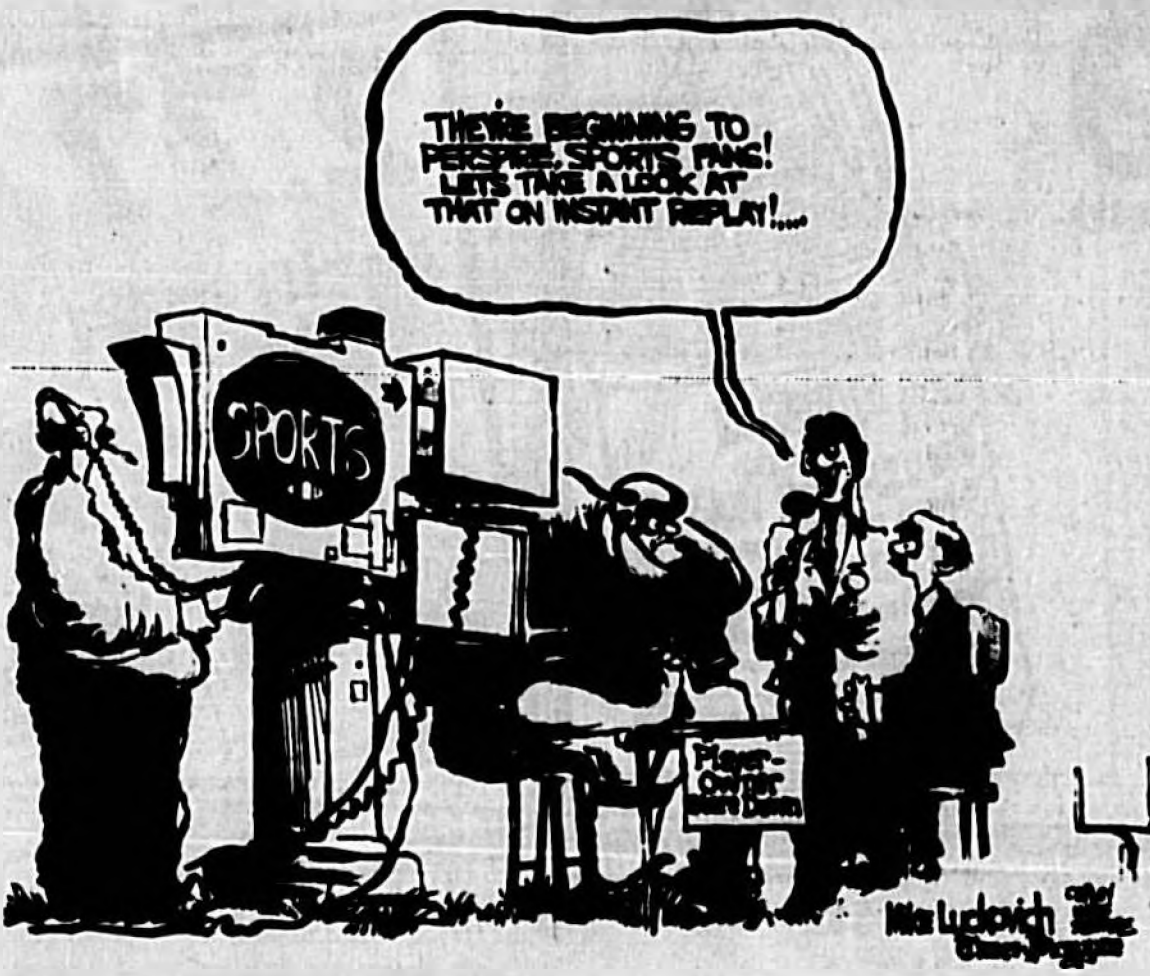

Redskins union representative Neal Okewicz, who presided over a team meeting earlier Wednesday, refused to confirm or deny the Redskins would return Thursday.

"They came out together and they decided to return together," Upshaw said. "But there is no way all of the players in the National Football League will return (Thursday). The strike continues, the strike will go on until we can reach an agreement on the conditions on which we will return."

The NFL Management Council said the Redskins still would not be able to play against the Dallas Cowboys Monday if they returned Thursday because they missed the Wednesday deadline.

Meanwhile, striking players feared Wednesday's mass defections had already taken their toll on bonds between teammates.

Over 100 players, led by superstars Lawrence Taylor and Eric Dickerson, crossed picket lines in the largest one-day defection since the union began its walkout Sept. 22.

"What disappoints and discourages me is the Jets haven't stayed together," New York player representative Kurt Sohn said. "The Jets haven't stayed together as a team. Everyone can come up with reasons and excuses. That's good and fine, but in the final analysis you're balling out and that disappoints me."

Five Jets, headed by backup quarterback Pat Ryan, returned to the team, bringing the number of strike-breakers on the club to 10. The Los Angeles Raiders have a league-high 26 defectors, including 10 who returned Wednesday.

The NFL Management Council reported 109 players joined their clubs Wednesday, bringing the total number of players who have defied the union to 280 or 18 percent of its 1,585 members.

Quarterback Dan Marino, a member of the NFL Players Association Executive Committee, said players who cross the picket line hurt all the players.

"The more people that cross, it gives the owners hope that more guys will cross next week," he said. "We're out there trying to get a good agreement, then they go in and they're going to get the same agreement. To me, it's really lopsided."

Quarterback Gary Danielson and tight end Ozzie Newsome led 16 Cleveland Browns, eight on injured reserve, across the picket lines.

Some of the strike breakers entered the practice facility to cries of "Scab, scab, you just wait," from picketing players.

"What you see is a changing of the guard here. We need new captains," said cornerback Frank Minnifield, referring to offensive captain Newsome and defensive captain Carl Hairston, who also crossed. "We need guys who are able to sacrifice personally."

Said Hanford Dixon: "What upsets us is that we all decided last night that we weren't going to do anything until we met later (Wednesday night). All of us came to the agreement that we would act as a team. I speak for all the guys when I say I feel betrayed."

Cleveland owner Art Modell said he doubts the defections would cause lingering dissension within his team.

"I respect Frank Minnifield, but I do not accept the fact that walking a picket line is necessarily a sign of leadership," Modell said. "Once we get back, I think you'll find that winning will be a fast healer."

Bojanowski's Key Leg Propels Rams Past Lyman, 87-85

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

Jaime Bojanowski's spectacular anchor leg on the 400 freestyle relay enabled Lake Mary's Rams to pull out an 87-85 victory over Lyman's Greyhounds in a dual meet Wednesday afternoon at Lyman High.

"It was an extremely close race," Lake Mary coach Sandy Brown said. "Jaime (Bojanowski) won it in the last 50 yards. He had an excellent turn at the last wall, pulled out ahead and won by 1 or 2 lengths."

Bojanowski's anchor leg capped off the second dual meet victory by Lake Mary over Lyman in the last two years.

While Lake Mary's boys used the final event to win by a scant two points Wednesday, the Lady Rams showed their strength with a convincing 119-45 victory over Lyman's Lady Greyhounds.

Joining Bojanowski on the winning Lake Mary relay team Steve Kostowicz, Wes Simecek and Brad Bridgewater. Kostowicz and Simecek also claimed a pair of firsts apiece for the Rams Wednesday. Kostowicz took the 100 butterfly in 54.83 and the 100 backstroke in 59.45. Simecek won the 50 freestyle in 22.48 and the 100 free in 49.44.

Chuck Reinighaus took a pair of firsts for Lyman as he swam a 2:01.38 in the 200 individual medley and a 1:03.74 in the 100 breaststroke. Also taking firsts for the 'Hounds were Dave Bandy in the 200 free (1:46.78), Nick Radkewich in the 500 free (4:58.81) and Chris Hebert in diving (137.75 points). The Greyhounds also won the 200 medley relay in 1:50.3.

In the girls meet, Lake Mary won both relays and all but two of the individual events. The 200 medley relay team of Mary Jo Connell, Shannon Campbell, Jessica Polito and Ingrid DeGraaff won with a time of 2:15.87 and the 400 free relay team of Ellsa Maher, Kelley

Swimming

Wise. Alyson Cook and Stasi Bojanowski won with a time of 4:08.41.

Individual winners for the Lady Rams included Wise in the 200 IM (2:23.38) and 500 free (5:33.08), Maher in the 50 free (27.41) and 100 free (1:01.2), Bojanowski in the 100 back (1:13.55), Campbell in the 100 breaststroke (1:22.10) and Jennifer Caputo in diving (124.05 points).

"The girls have been working very hard getting ready for the conference and district meets," Brown said. "We're in pretty good shape and will have a better idea where we stand in a quad meet with Lake Brantley, Bishop Moore and Seminole next week and one more dual with Trinity Prep."

Karen Long continued to swim well for Lyman as she won the 200 free in 2:06.66 and the 100 fly in 1:05.23.

NSPI - Orlando's Justus Aquatic Center Saturday will host the National Spa and Pool Institute Invitational.

Swimming preliminaries will begin at 9 a.m. with the girls swimming the North Course and boys swimming the South Course. Consolation and championship finals will be in the South Course and will begin at 6 p.m.

The order of swimming events is as follows: 200 medley relay; 200 freestyle; 200 individual medley; 50 freestyle; 100 butterfly; 100 freestyle; 500 freestyle; 100 backstroke; 100 breaststroke; 400 freestyle relay. Diving competition will begin at 2 p.m.

NO REPORT - No results were reported from the Lake Brantley-Trinity Prep meet Wednesday.

Spike by Taylor in the middle for a point and tipped a ball away from Taylor for another point.

Lake Mary, behind the hitting of Taylor and Smith, battled back within 11-7 but Lake Howell went on to take a 14-8 lead. Taylor served two points to make it 14-10 but any hopes of a Lake Mary comeback were dashed when Lewis slipped a spike through the block for a side out and Littrell served the final point.

"We only played half a game in each game," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "We played well at moments but you can't give a good team like Lake Howell half the game."

"We had some good play from Brooke (Taylor), Faraw (Mirza), Crissie (Snow) and Karin (King)," Henry added. "But we also had some breakdowns from some of our leaders which we can't have."

Lake Mary's once-beaten junior varsity was put to the test Wednesday but the JV Lady Rams managed to pull out a 15-13, 11-15, 15-11 victory over Lake Howell. Tammy Scott, Lori Leckie, Terri Peters and Amy Alexander led the way for Lake Mary which improved to 13-1 for the season.

OAK RIDGE DROPS TRIBE

Seminole had a 10-9 lead in the third and deciding game but could not hold on as Orlando Oak Ridge pulled for a 15-11, 8-15, 15-10 victory in nonconference action Wednesday at Seminole High.

The Lady Noles dropped to 5-10 overall and return to action Tuesday at home against Lake Mary. Oak Ridge improved to 8-3.

Heather Brown served Seminole to a 5-0 lead in game one and Adrian Hillsman later served for a 9-4 lead, but Oak Ridge battled back behind the hitting of Lisa Crapps and Jovenie McDuffie to win the game.

Cindy Bengie and Liz Long dominated at the net for Seminole in game two with Bengie's five blocks and two kills leading the way as the Tribe evened the match.

In the third game, Seminole led 10-9 and had the serve when Crapps put down a spike to give Oak Ridge a side out and the Lady Planners reeled off six points to win the match.

"We had the momentum after the second game but we were too meticulous on the floor the third game," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We were not going to the ball as strong as I would have liked us to."

OVIDEO WINS 11th IN ROW
An improved Bishop Moore

team gave Oviedo all it could handle Wednesday, but the Lady Lions used the power of Jill Knutson and Suzanne Hughes to bring the Lady Hornets in the end, 15-6, 13-15, 15-11 at Orlando Bishop Moore High.

Oviedo ran its record to 13-1 overall with its 11th consecutive victory. The Lady Lions return to action Tuesday in a big SAC match at home against Lake Brantley.

"Bishop Moore has really improved a lot and gave us a real good game," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "We played much better than we did against Lake Mary. We had a few breakdowns in serve return but we had the rest together."

In game one, Hughes had five kills and Jodie Switzer put in four dinks to lead Oviedo. In game three, Knutson and

Broad Brush Retires To Stud

BALTIMORE (UPI) - Broad Brush, who won $1.2 million this year in nine starts, has been retired and will stand stud at Gainesway Farm in Kentucky, officials announced Wednesday.

Broad Brush has recovered from stretched sesamoid ligaments but owner Robert E. Meyerhoff said he retired the 4-year-old colt because of prohibitive weight assignments in the nation's top handicapraces.

"Up until a week or two ago, I was still considering putting him back into training," Meyerhoff said. "But the next big race would have been the Santa Anita Handicap (in March), and we would have carried top weight again."

ment's Major and Junior leagues. Blake's attitude was known to take a nosedive after a strikeout or error. It affected his game in a negative manner, something he has since corrected tenfold.

During five years of attending these luncheons, I have never seen the Optimists warm to a player more than Ron Blake. They hang on his every word and appreciate his first-class and honest approach. "I'm a little tongue-tied today," he began. "I don't know what to say. We all thought we would win that game Friday, but we let ourselves down."

Blake faces his accomplishments and failures with the same frankness. The return for a touchdown and 15 tackles still could not erase the stigma of defeat. Yet, he greets these challenges with a determined smile, something an Optimist must do.

His Seminole teammates

should rub shoulders and catch a little of this feeling. Maybe then, one wouldn't slam his helmet off the track and desert his teammates in the midst of the game. Maybe then, another wouldn't spear a Brantley player long after a play is over, drawing a 15-yard penalty. Maybe then, two defensive teammates wouldn't square off in the middle of the game. Maybe then, two others, senior leaders, won't stay on the sidelines after the game and not congratulate the Brantley players for a hard-earned victory.

Promising or bleak?
Ron Blake and Jerod Jones have decided to promise themselves.

If 41 others join them, this season may really be a championship one after all.

HOMEBODIES - All of the county football action is close to home this Friday.

Seminole, which is attempting to break a three-game losing streak, entertains Leesburg in a big District 4A-7 test. The Seminoles are 1-0 in 4A-7 and trail 2-0 Oviedo by one-half game. Leesburg, 0-1, lost to Oviedo, 14-7, two weeks ago.

If both Seminole and Oviedo continue to win, the Oct. 30 showdown at Sanford between the two schools could determine the district champion. The 4A-7 winner plays the 4A-8 survivor, probably Dade City Pasco which has a 2-0 district mark thus far.

Orlando Dr. Phillips has been officially dropped from 4A-7 by the Florida High School Activities Association. The first-year Orange County school has a student population of 2,800, well over the 4A limit.

In other county play, Oviedo journeys to Lyman for a big SAC contest. The Lions are 1-0 in the SAC and trail Lake Mary (3-0) by two games. Lyman has lost its last two games - both conference - after opening the season with a pair of victories.

The third game Friday has Lake Howell invading Lake Brantley for a SAC/District 5A-4 encounter. Lake Brantley is 1-2 in the SAC, but 1-1 in the district. Lake Howell is 1-1 in both places. Lake Mary also leads 5A-4 with a 2-0 mark.
