Shah Faces Execution

On Return To Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Ibrahim Yazdi, Iran's new deputy premier for revolutionary affairs, said Monday he had "no doubt" that exiled Shah, now living in Morocco, would be executed if brought back to Iran for trial.

Hijackers Thwarted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—A man and a woman claiming to be armed with a bomb hijacked a Soviet Aeroflot liner today but police stormed the plane after it landed in Stockholm and arrested the hijackers.

Gandhi's Son Given 2 Years

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Sanjay Gandhi, son of former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and a major power during her emergency rule, was sentenced today to two years in jail for destroying an anti-government film that had been subpoenaed by the Supreme Court.

Cosmonauts Welcomed

MOSCOW (UPI)—Two Soviet cosmonauts aboard the Soyuz 6 space lab found a very tidy new home in space today and a note of advice left behind by the previous tenants.

Relics Displayed in Naples

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—The sacred and mysterious relics of Naples' patron saint will be displayed in an effort to ward off the baby-killing "dark disease" that has claimed the lives of 70 infants, church officials said Monday.

KKK History Exhibit Draws Reds, NAACP

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—The Forsyth County Library had just opened the exhibit on the history of the Ku Klux Klan, and the local communists and the local NAACP were milling around inside and the NAACP was picketing outside, but the situation seemed under control.

China Rebuffs U.S. Plea To Withdraw

United Press International The United States today urged China to withdraw its invasion forces from Vietnam, where the fighting between the two communist nations was intensifying, but China said it would not pull back unless Vietnam negotiates a ceasefire.

State Power Firms Warn 'Lights Out'

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Three of Florida's biggest power companies are warning "the lights will go out" in weeks if they aren't allowed to burn high polluting oil because of a shortage of cleaner fuels.

Graham Chided

FORT MYERS, (UPI)—The Lee County Democratic Party executive committee chairman has taken Gov. Bob Graham to task for not meeting with local leaders before he nominated coal judge Jett for the student Board of Regents seat.

Chairman George Williams said in a letter to Graham last Friday that he had broken a campaign promise by not asking local Democrats what they thought of the appointment in advance.

Leonard Woodcock will miss the formal opening Thursday of the U.S. Embassy in Peking, despite the Senate's unusual — and unexpected — speedy approval, 82-9, of his appointment as ambassador to China.

Where's Our Foreign Policy?

President Carter's trumpeted foreign-policy address in Atlanta was unusually disappointing. Instead of describing how the United States might reassert its influence in the increasingly troubled international arena, or even defining the brewing dangers in Iran, Southeast Asia and Southern Africa, he merely proclaimed the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II) to be the cornerstone of administration foreign policy.

In declaring that the nearly completed U.S.-Soviet pact is "a fundamental element of strategic and political stability in a turbulent world," the president unwittingly made his foreign policy more than ever hostage to the U.S. Senate, where SALT II is known already to be in difficulty.

Thus, he will have magnified the adverse impact of a possible ratification defeat.

Such misdirected salesmanship of SALT II was not what the people wanted to hear after a week in which their president was publicly rebuked in Mexico, a U.S. ambassador was kidnapped and murdered in Afghanistan, a Communist mob stormed and captured the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, and China invaded Vietnam.

Indeed, the president seemed to reaffirm the schizoid, pulling and hauling within his administration between the realists of Zbigniew Brzezinski's national security camp and the detenteists of the State Department.

Once more he refused to link Soviet misbehavior and SALT II, and spoke reassuringly of our relationship with the Soviet Union as being "a mixture of cooperation and competition."

Meanwhile, in Asia, Africa, and the Middle East, things are going from bad to worse or threatening to do so.

The United States, says Carter, will remain neutral. But is this really enough? Might we not offer some sort of a mediation role to give China and Russia a face-saving way out of their escalating situation in Southeast Asia?

No wonder even members of his own party, like Illinois' Sen. Adlai Stevenson, have labeled Mr. Carter as "embarrassingly weak" as a world leader.

And then, of course, we have Howard Baker, Minority leader of the Senate and erstwhile presidential candidate, telling an audience of Seminole and Orange County Republicans that our current foreign policy lacks coherence and stability.

The latter, of course, is to be expected, with Republicans waiting in line to comment.

No matter how much prominence you give him or with what degree of fervor you accept Howard Baker, it is hard to argue with his appraisal.

We suggest that the best thing that can be done now is for all presidential aspirants from both parties to debate foreign policy.

Perhaps this will stimulate some constructive movement.

ANGLE-WALTERS Demo Rift On Debt Payment

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The growing tension between the Kennedy family and President Carter has produced a potentially serious rift in the Democratic party's supposedly unified effort to pay off its 10-year-old debt.

The deficit, which totalled $8.3 billion in the months immediately following the 1968 presidential election, has been gradually repaid during the past decade and now amounts to slightly more than $1.4 million.

Officials of the Democratic National Committee (DNC), currently controlled by President Carter's political operatives, last year mounted a major campaign to wipe out the deficit prior to the 1980 presidential election.

But DNC officials privately are bitter about what they view as an unwarranted rebuff of their request for assistance from Stephen Smith, who manages the Kennedy family's finances.

Charles Weaver, a vice president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., told United Press: "We must be careful not to exaggerate either the potential of trade with China or the speed with which trade expansion is going to be accomplished."

The Westinghouse executive said the Chinese "have a sufficient volume of goods to export to us to export to grow."

The goods China is selling to the United States include cotton, silk, tea, feathers, fireworks and antiques. And the American markets for these things are large.

"Try to look at it this way, Rosalynn — It's the practical equivalent of diplomacy."

BUSINESS WORLD Trading With China

BY KAZUO MIKAMI NEW YORK (UPI) — With Coca-Cola's entry into the Chinese market as a symbol, American business sees good prospects for expanded trade with China.

The National Council for U.S.-China Trade estimates bilateral volume may triple by 1981 from an estimated $1.2 billion.

China's external trade should amount to $85 billion by 1985 with the United States accounting for about 20 percent, according to the semi-governmental Council, established in 1973.

Essential to expanded Sino-American trade is the brisk sale of Chinese products in the American market as well as its active purchases of technical know-how and industrial equipment.

China's Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping told Senators during his eight-day official visit to the United States: "We need many things. You have many, many good things... We plan to import many things including capital. So there is the question of repayment. So Chinese goods should be able to be sold on the American market."

Charles Weaver, a vice president of Westinghouse Electric Corp., told United Press: "We must be careful not to exaggerate either the potential of trade with China or the speed with which trade expansion is going to be accomplished."

VIEWPOINT Arms: Business As Usual

By DON GRAFT

Not the least of Washington's concerns in the Iranian debacle is the fate of the American weapons with which the shah's armed forces had been so lavishly outfitted.

Some equipment, particularly advanced warplanes, may have been slipped out of the country before the roof fell in. But much more has gone with the rest of the spoils to the victor in the Iranian revolution — the Ayatollah Khomeini.

What he chooses to do with it is what is now of concern. The shah, as the pillar of stability upon which Western power relied in the Persian Gulf area, was not the recipient of outdated odds and ends from periodic Pentagon inventory clearances.

It is damaging enough that these arms are likely to be lost to the Western side. There appears to be no reason to doubt that Khomeini will deliver on his now to neutralize Iran. It would be ever so much more so should they fall into unfriendly hands — namely Soviet.

So damaging that Washington is having second thoughts about its entire policy of arming underdeveloped countries to advance American strategic interests. Sen. Frank Church, new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said as early as 1978 warned in a staff report that arms sales to Iran were "out of control."

As things stand now, the Chinese are out for dollar credits — and thus are eager to upgrade links with major American banks. Bank of America, largest U. S. bank, has formed a full banking relationship with the Bank of China, the country's foreign exchange bank, and other leading banks are upgrading their arrangements.

But some financial analysts sound a warning concerning Western credit commitments to China in view of the already mounting debts of non-producing developing countries.

There was some criticism of the gesture as being considerably less than forceful since the planes were unarmed.

Carter: Gas-Ration Plan For 'Crisis Of Energy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter wants congressional authority to order coupon-type gasoline rationing and three less-stringent mandatory conservation measures for use in severe energy emergencies, administration sources say.

In addition to rationing of the kind last used during World War II, sources say Carter's proposed standby measures to save fuel include weekend service station closings, temperature limits for public buildings and a ban on nonessential outdoor advertising lighting.

Imposing all the steps short of rationing would save almost a million barrels of oil a day, sources say. Although Carter sent his request to the House and Senate Monday, his proposals were not scheduled to be announced publicly until this afternoon to make certain key members of Congress got the word first.

Chief presidential spokesman Jody Powell, without disclosing details of the measures, said the standby authority would be exercised only "in event of a serious crisis of energy."

Anybody who knows Washington knows there is going to be no real wage insurance until the Teamsters go to the bat," Meany also said Carter's plan to cut $50 million from federal job training programs as part of an austerity move was inconsistent with the Democratic Party's traditional role as the champion of the underprivileged.

Brown 'Arrives' Just In Time

By JIM HAYNES
Herald Sports Editor

KEN BROWN

Ken Brown couldn't have picked a better time to mature.

Oh, not physically. The 6-7, 210-pound freshman basketball player for Seminole Community College has been considered a "big boy" for some time.

But as a basketball player, it was only last week that Brown officially arrived.

SCC coach Joe Sterling credited the play of Brown as the extra boost the Raiders needed to climb through the Division 2 tournament and qualify for the state tournament, which opens Thursday afternoon in DeLand.

"Now that we have shown how we can play, I feel that we can come through it again if we continue to play the same way," said Sterling this morning, indicating he felt his team could win it all again.

Seminole meet Citrus in Thursday's 3 p.m. game in the Stetson University gym. Their first-round games see Manatee playing Edison at 1, Brevard meeting Miami-Dade North at 7 and North Florida facing Lake City at 9.

Brown's development has been slow, but steady this season.

The Seminole High graduate came to SCC with some sparkling qualities as a competitor. He had averaged 14 points and 18 rebounds a game in high school, and had a penchant for coming up with the big play.

At SCC, he found himself surrounded by a number of all-stars, and was a little slow breaking into the lineup.

But once he did, everyone knew he was there. His defensive efforts were cited by Sterling as the difference in beating Florida JC and Valencia in last Friday and Saturday's toughest.

"He has earned the status as starter," added Sterling. "Everyone made a strong contribution in the tournament. I just hope we can keep it going."

Richard Crooks, Robbie Laing, Curtis Smith and Ron Johnson also made sizeable contributions in the divisional tourney.

MAKING HIS MARK

MARK ROTH DIDN'T SCORE HIS FIRST TWIN UNTIL THE 5TH STOP ON THE PGA'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY TOUR. BUT IT PUT HIM ON TOP OF THE LIST AT THE TIME. HE IS NOW ON THE LIST FOR A 3RD CONSECUTIVE TOUR MONEY TITLE, AND A 4TH CONSECUTIVE SCORING AVERAGE CROWN.

King Heads All-SEC Team

ATLANTA (UPI) — Alabama's Reggie King, Alabama's all-time leading scorer and the fifth-leading rebounder in league history, was elected to the all-conference team for the third time Monday when United Press International announced its 1976 All-Southeastern Conference basketball team.

King, the 6-foot-6 forward affectionately called "Mule" by Clemson Tide fans, joins a very select group of former stars who have won all-SEC honors three or more times in a row.

Named with King to the 1976 all-conference first team were Tennessee's John Stroud of Ole Miss and Kyle Macy of Kentucky and sophomore DeWayne Scales of Louisiana State.

The only other former all-SEC performer besides King who would have been eligible to repeat this year was Louisiana State junior Durand Macklin who broke his foot in practice after the second game of this season and sat out the rest of the campaign in order to retain two years of full eligibility.

King, a first-team choice on all but three of 51 ballots, also was the leading point-gainer for the second year in a row in votes by sportswriters and sportscasters from throughout the seven-state Southeastern Conference region.

All 10 of the SEC schools had, at least one representative on the special all-conference baseball to reflect on the unquestioned Hall of Fame-style credentials of Willie Mays.

For the renowned ex-outfielder, it was always comfortable in the glare of public acclaim — the new hoopla just intensifies the legend surrounding his exploits.

This gets into a sensitive area because the Willie Mays who for 23 years played some of the greatest baseball in the long history of the game was not as dependable, cooperative or entertaining when he donned his uniform — at least in the latter stages of his career.

Herman Franks, who had made big money in shopping centers, became the Giants' manager in 1968 and also started re-creating Willie's finances. In late 1971, Willie was remarried to Mae and his home life stabilized.

Part of the resentment Willie uncovered was that during the 1960s and into the '70s, he had been playing for a team owned by a man who had made big money in shopping centers, became the Giants' manager in 1968 and also started re-creating Willie's finances. In late 1971, Willie was remarried to Mae and his home life stabilized.

Four-Fifty Beats One-Thirty

POMPAHO BEACH (UPI) — Sparky Lyte was talking one day about all the screaming, scuffling and backbiting that went on in the New York Yankees' clubhouse and suddenly the phrase came out naturally, almost automatically.

It was just like "the Bronx Zoo," he said.

That was long before the second half of last season, when he pitched so little he nearly died of neglect and couldn't wait to get out of the Bronx Zoo.

Now that he has, would you believe this — he misses it. "I'm happy here," he says, meaning with the Texas Rangers, who deal for him last November, "but I had a good rapport with all the guys over there. That's what you miss most, the guys you spent so much time with. There's a bunch of nice guys here, too. I've got a lota memories from my time over there. Good and bad. But you know how that is. You forgive and forget."

Among the better memories is how Lyte led the American League twice in saves while he was with the Yankees and how he won the Cy Young Award as the No. 1 pitcher in the circuit two years ago.

Among the bad ones, is how he hardly ever was called upon to pitch after last year's All-Star break and a year before whenever the game was on the line, the odds would go out to the bullpen for him.

Last year, Goose Gosage was the one who always got the call. Lyte never complained one. He caught up on a lot of sleep in the bullpen because he knew he wouldn't be called upon.

"People wondered why I wasn't pitching," he said, toiling his chest after showing in the Rangers' clubhouse. "It's so simple. Who are you gonna pitch in if you're making four-fifty and the other guy is making one-thirty? You pitch the guy making forty."

I'd have done the same thing, George (Steinbrenner) didn't have any choice. They would've crucified him if I had pitched and done well."

The "four-fifty" Lyte was talking about was the $450,000 a year being paid Gosage, and the "one-thirty" was the $130,000 being paid him. Lyte's salary always was a source of unhappiness with the Yankees, but he never complained.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Relief Bill Introduced

For Clemente Survivors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Resident Commissioner Baltasar Corrada del Rio introduced a bill Monday in the House to provide relief to the families of baseball superstar Roberto Clemente and his companions, who were killed in the Dec. 31, 1972, crash of a cargo plane carrying relief supplies to Nicaragua earthquake victims.

The bill would provide the family of the former Pittsburgh Pirate slugger, including his widow, Vera Zabala Vda. de Clemente; children, Roberto Jr., Luis Roberto and Roberto Enrique, and mother the full $2 million sought in a federal court suit. The families of Angel Rafael Lozano would receive $485,000 and Francisco Matias $628,500.

O'Malley To Mayo Clinic

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Los Angeles Dodgers' owner Walter O'Malley was flown from the team's spring training site to the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota Monday complaining of dizziness.

Club sources said O'Malley, 74, was taken aboard the Dodgers' private jet and flown to the clinic in Rochester, Minn. O'Malley underwent two major operations last year, lung surgery in June and major heart surgery in February.

Thornton U-M New S.D.

MIAMI (UPI) — Charley Thornton, assistant athletic director at the University of Alabama for the past 15 years, signed a five-year contract Monday night to become University of Miami athletic director.

Thornton, 43, takes over Monday, replacing Lou Saban, who served as both athletic director and head football coach until he resigned in January. Terms of his contract were not disclosed. As athletic director, Thornton will oversee six varsity sports.

Expos Chased Indoors

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Bad weather chased the Montreal Expos indoors for their exercises and curtailed their workout for the second straight day Monday.

While it was rain and wet grounds which hampered the Expos Sunday, it was cold weather and cutting winds which made the drills miserable Monday.

McNamara Not Discouraged

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Because of Monday's inclement weather, Cincinnati Reds pitchers and catchers had an abbreviated workout for the second straight day, but John McNamara, making his debut as Reds manager this spring, wasn't discouraged.

"We were still able to do some throwing and running, and the guys got plenty of leg work on the exercise bikes," he said. McNamara said he's excited. "I've never had a chance to manage a club as good as this one."

Rodriguez Traded To K.C.

SUN CITY, Ariz. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Brewers Monday traded reliever Ed Rodriguez to the Kansas City Royals for cash and a minor league player to be named at the end of the season.

The Brewers also held their first workout for catchers and pitchers Monday and Manager George Bamberger put them through a 2 1/2-hour drill in fundamentals, throwing and calisthenics.

Devine Wins Kennedy Award

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — The John F. Kennedy National Award this year will go to Notre Dame football coach Dan Devine, the Holyoke Saint Patrick's Day Parade Committee said Monday.

The selection Monday marks only the second time in the award's 21-year history a sports personality has been chosen to receive it. Devine will get the award at St. Patrick's Day Mass in Holyoke March 17.

Potts Backs SMU Coach

DALLAS (UPI) — Southern Methodist Athletic Director Russ Potts said Monday he had recommended basketball coach Sonny Allen be retained for at least another season.

Allen had been under pressure because of his team's failure to challenge for the South-west Conference's first division this season. The Mustangs ended their season Saturday, finishing 11-6.

Sabres Nab 3-1 Victory

By United Press International

The next goal was going to win this one. And the Buffalo Sabres got it.

"I just reached back and got the blade of my stick on the shot," said Buffalo center Don Luce Monday night after his goal-mouth deflection with 7:46 left gave the Sabres a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs in a fierce battle for second place in the Adams Division.

"It was a hard-hitting game — our kind of game," said Leafs' Coach Roger Neilson. "But they got the tip-in goal. That was the difference."

"I'm going after Bousy now," Luce wisecracked, referring to Mike Bousy, the league leader in goals with 50. Luce, with two goals in the game, now has 20 for the season. But he seldom has scored more significant goals.

The first came at 4:59 of the second period and led the score after Lanny McDonald's first-period goal gave Toronto the lead.

"The puck bounced free," said Luce. "I just beat the defenseman to it."

Then in the third period, Luce won a faceoff, broke for the net, and tipped in a point shot by Jerry Korab to decide the lively WHA.

There were no games in the Kings' center Marcel Dionne's 63rd goal of the year at 7:31 of the first period was all Luce needed. Charlie Simmer added an insurance goal at 18:07 of the same period when he circled the net and tucked the puck between the legs of Vancouver goalie Gary Brimley.

2-Year-Old Wallpaper Now Has 700 Patterns To Buy
 While parents are shopping, children can play in well-equipped play area in Wallpaper Now, San Sebastian Square.

Wallpaper Now located in San Sebastian Square on SR434 in Altamonte Springs specializes in service and the qualified staff will be glad to give you tips on decorating your home and on how to do your own paper-hanging.
 Co-owner Mariene Morris majored in home furnishings and has worked in related fields for 20 years.
 Twice a month, Wallpaper Now offers free classes for "do-it-yourselfers" on how to hang, measure and figure measurements for wall coverings.
 One session is held in the morning; one in the evening. Anyone interested may call 862-3600 to register, or drop by the store.
 For the convenience of those who work during the day, Wallpaper Now is open on Monday and Thursday nights until 9 p.m. The store is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on other days except Sunday, when it is closed.
 While parents are selecting from the more than 700 wallpaper patterns in stock, the children can play in a well-equipped play area in the store.
 There are also hundreds of books to choose from for those who prefer special-order wall coverings. Wallpaper Now stocks only first quality merchandise—no seconds, but offers specials on close out patterns. There is a wide range of prices from $3.95 per roll up.
 Samples and books may be checked out. In addition to traditional wallpaper, Wallpaper Now carries in stock large scenic wall murals, pre-pasted wallpaper, and folia, vinyls and grass wall coverings.
 Wallpaper Now will celebrate its second anniversary on April 1 and in the process of expanding to enlarge its showroom area.
 In addition to wallpaper, the store also sells paint, custom window shades, vinyl flooring, carpets and paste, tools and supplies for paper hangers.
 "Paint can be custom-colored to go with wallpaper or interior and exterior paints may be color mixed to go with anything," said Mrs. Morris.
 Wallpaper Now carries woven wood shades and mini-blinds.
 Whether when building a new home or redecorating an old one, you can depend on Wallpaper Now for quality materials and advice.—ADY.

In And Around Altamonte
Cub Scouts
Win Awards
'By The Sea'

"By The Sea" was the theme of Cub Scout Pack 237's Blue and Gold Banquet which was held Saturday evening at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center.
 It was an evening set apart to honor the cub scouts who had worked so diligently to earn coveted badges and pins; and judging by the numerous awards presented by Cubmaster Willard Barnhart and Assistant Cubmaster Larry Solodky the boys of Pack 237 have been very busy.
 Boys and their leaders receiving awards were: Den 1 (Gerardo Mendez, Leader), Jason Cornican, Michael Dobbish, Greg Demperio, Robert Larrick, Thomas Lohman, Chris Mendez, Mike Peterson, Ricky Sheets, Jeff Tollas.
 Den 4 (Lorena Byrd, Bev Salkaus), Christopher Bird, Lloyd Byrd, Tom Fisher, Ricky Kuznick, Robert Lawson, David Manil, Carey Rencher, Christ Timenatos, Timothy Johnson.
 Den 7 (Alice Fay Sproul, Ruth Walls)—Matthew Beck, Kevin Danforth, Larry Law, Baxter Phillips, Kevin Sproul, Jeff Walls, Chad Weinkauf, Jason McCallister.
 Den 8 (Lillian Norlkan, Ann Harsch)—Brent Athan, Mike Benner, Danny Fahy, Bill Harsch, Bruce Wallenquist, Richard Meadows, Michael Moore.

MR. AND MRS. LEO JERKINS

Also, receiving the coveted Arrow of Light award — the only award a cub can transfer and wear on his Boy Scout uniform — was Matt Hoover.
 The 19 participants in the Wetkwa District Grand Prix were all awarded badges. Tom Fischer took second place honors with his pinewood derby, and Glen Athan placed third.
 Honored guests at the banquet were Rev. Harry Walters, who gave the invocation, and Mrs. Walters, Ken Moffat, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ruffanelli, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barati, Eddie Rose, and District Executive of Central Florida Council Ray Boyd.
 The "By The Sea" theme was carried out by centerpieces and place settings, appropriately, Sea World provided the entertainment.
 Cubmaster Barnhart didn't forget the parents, and ended with a special note of appreciation, noting that "without moms and dads helping, encouraging and signing off their achievements, the boys couldn't have advanced. It's a matter of good teamwork."
 The 50th wedding anniversary came as no surprise to Carolyn and Leo Jerkins who have called Bram Towers, Sanford, home for over a year.
 But the surprise came when the couple was honored at an afternoon reception Saturday in the parlor at Bram Towers.
 Arranging and coordinating the party were Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Cochrane and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.
 Family and friends traveled from New Hampshire, Hollywood, Daytona Beach and points in between to attend the happy occasion. Over sent messages of love and congratulations.
 The couple moved to Florida from Beverly, N.J., where Leo retired from Public Service. He is past presiding officer in various Masonic Orders and is a Shriner. Carolyn is an Eastern Star.
 Leo is interested in Florida history while Carolyn is adjusting to Florida living. They attend Holy Cross Episcopal Church and serve as good Samaritans by driving friends and neighbors on necessary missions.

Surprised
On Wedding
Anniversary

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man, 34, with questions in mind about my wife of less than six months. We married after a whirlwind courtship of 10 weeks. Our courtship included some heavy romantic sessions, but we never actually went all the way because Marie (not her real name) insisted that she was saving herself for her wedding night.
 Marie claims that I am her first lover, but since our marriage her actions have led me to believe otherwise. I have had only three other women in my life, but my bride has taught me more about love-making than I dreamed existed! It just doesn't seem possible that she had no previous experience.
 I'm not complaining, but it is hard for me to believe that I am her first.
 I don't want to insult her, but I would like to know the truth. How do I find out?
 L. IN DENTON, TEXAS

Wonderful Living Doesn't
Compensate For Absences

DEAR ABBY: I know he's good because he won't nearly every sales contest his company has had.
 He makes a wonderful living for me and the children, but it doesn't compensate for his absences. He is busy nearly every night entertaining customers and prospects until the wee hours.
 Weekends are a nightmare. He's exhausted and sleeps every Saturday morning, plus every night entertaining customers and prospects until the wee hours.
 Sex has long been forgotten. He doesn't have the time or energy for that anymore.
 I plan to stay until the youngsters are old enough so that I can leave with a clear conscience. Then I will try to make another life for myself — if I'm still desirable. I see no other alternative. Do you?
 MARRIED BUT ALONE

Trinity Joins Honor Society

Trinity Preparatory School held its first ceremony for induction into the National Honor Society this month.
 Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay, the headmaster, and Robert Fulmer announced the following students for the initial tapping ceremony:
 Tenth grade: Susan Dye, Danny Golwyn, Scott Miller, Stacey Plater.
 Eleventh grade: Brian Abner, Josh Corey, Caroline Kirkland, Laura Lilly, Terry Noyes, Elisabeth Walker.
 Twelfth grade: Donna Denicole, Madeline Duva, Kent Foyer, Chris Marshburn, Bill Stewart, Steve Tresser, Joel Wells.
 A banquet will be held at the Langford Hotel on March 1 for the members of the National Honor Society and their parents.

Sponsors Theatre Party
Follows Ballet Saturday

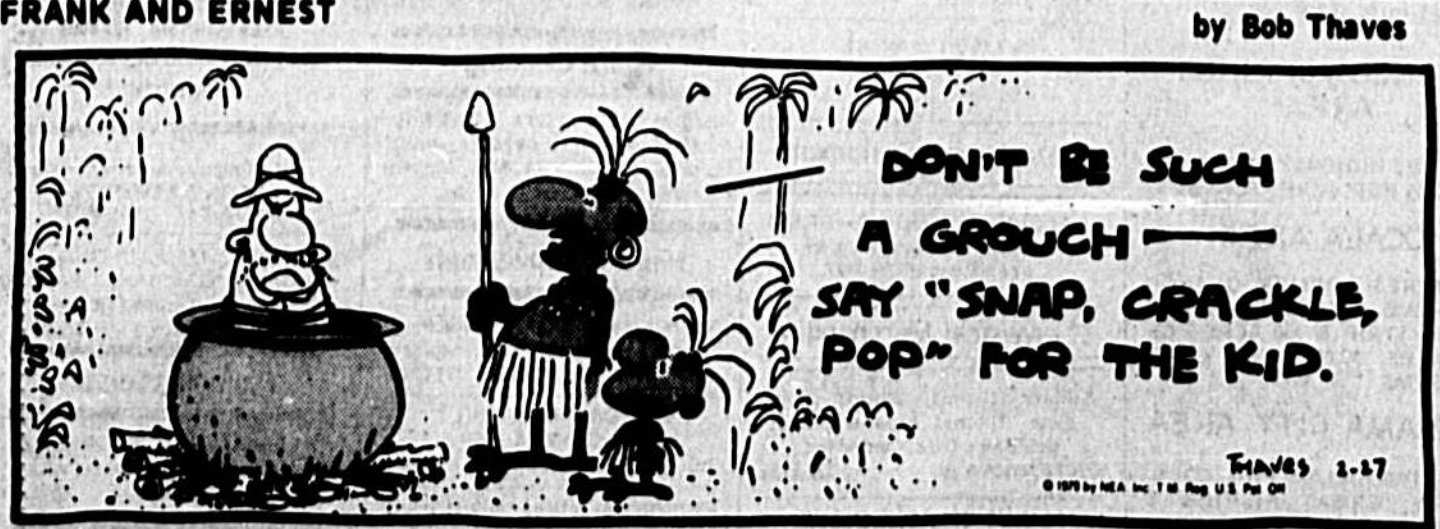

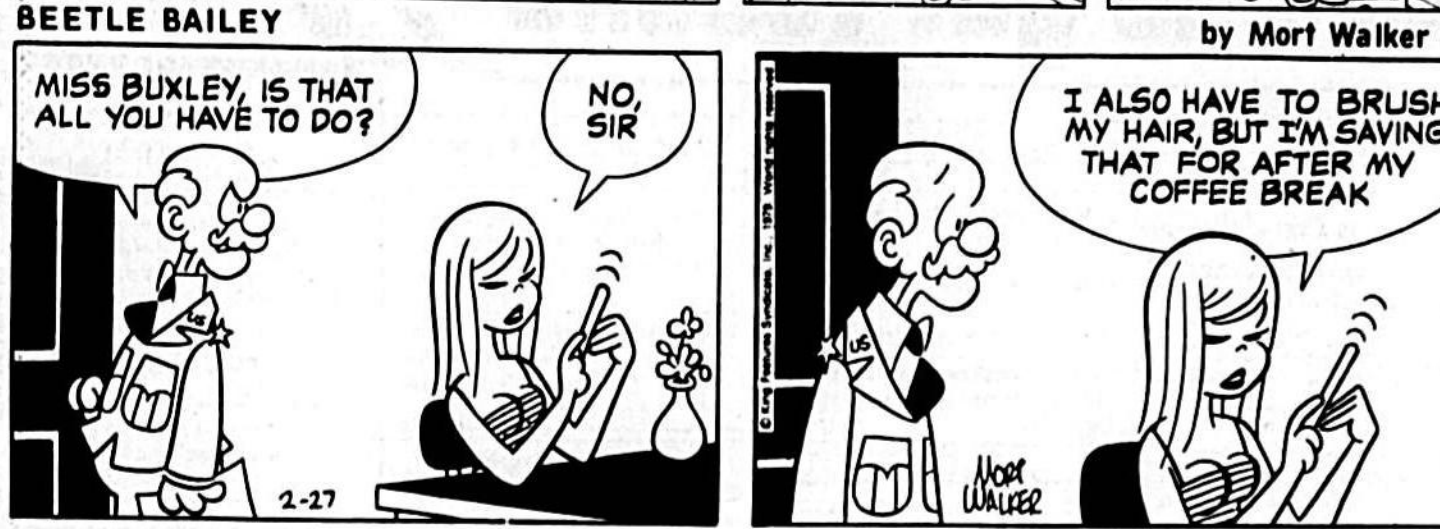

It's the annual concert time for Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole.
 And coming up Saturday and Sunday at Seminole High School auditorium is "An Evening of Dance & Lyrics" with the Central Florida Chorale furnishing the lyrics.
 Loretto Rozak, one of Chicago's leading choreographers and dance masters, has joined the guild this season as assistant artistic director.
 Miss Rozak has choreographed three dances which will be premiered by the 17 BGS company dancers.
 The March 3 performance honoring sponsors and their guests is closed to the public. One sponsor card will admit two. Guest adult tickets are $3 each; children under 12, $1.50. The curtain rises at 7:30 p.m.
 A backstage theatre party and reception is planned immediately after the finale of Saturday's concert. Sponsors are invited backstage to meet their dancers in costume.
 Two performances are scheduled Sunday, March 4. Times and prices are 2:30 p.m., $2; and 7:30 p.m., $3; children under 12, $1.50 both shows.
 Tickets are on sale at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Flagship Bank of Seminole (Downtown), School of Dance Arts, Don Knight's Show Store, Sanford Shoe Center, the BGS office or at the door. For information call 323-2810. Ballet Guild office, 323-2810.

Betty Jack, vice president of the City Council of Beta Sigma Phi (BSP) presents a check to Mary Blair, Ballet Guild director and chairman of sponsors backstage theatre party and reception following the Saturday performance. The contribution from BSP will apply to the reception. Beta Sigma Phi members will also assist in serving.
