Citizens Group Pays For 'Impeach Salfi' Billboard

A newly-formed Citizens for Justice organization based in Altamonte Springs is spending about $600 a month for an Impeach-Judge-Dominick Salfi billboard that greets motorists coming into Sanford via the Sydney O. Chase Jr. overpass on state Road 46.

The billboard sign was installed Saturday and will remain there until the end of the Nov. 6 general election, said Ms. Budsy Kirchman of Orlando, formerly of Altamonte Springs, chairman of the citizens organization. Listed as vice chairman of the group is N. Lois Adams of Altamonte Springs.

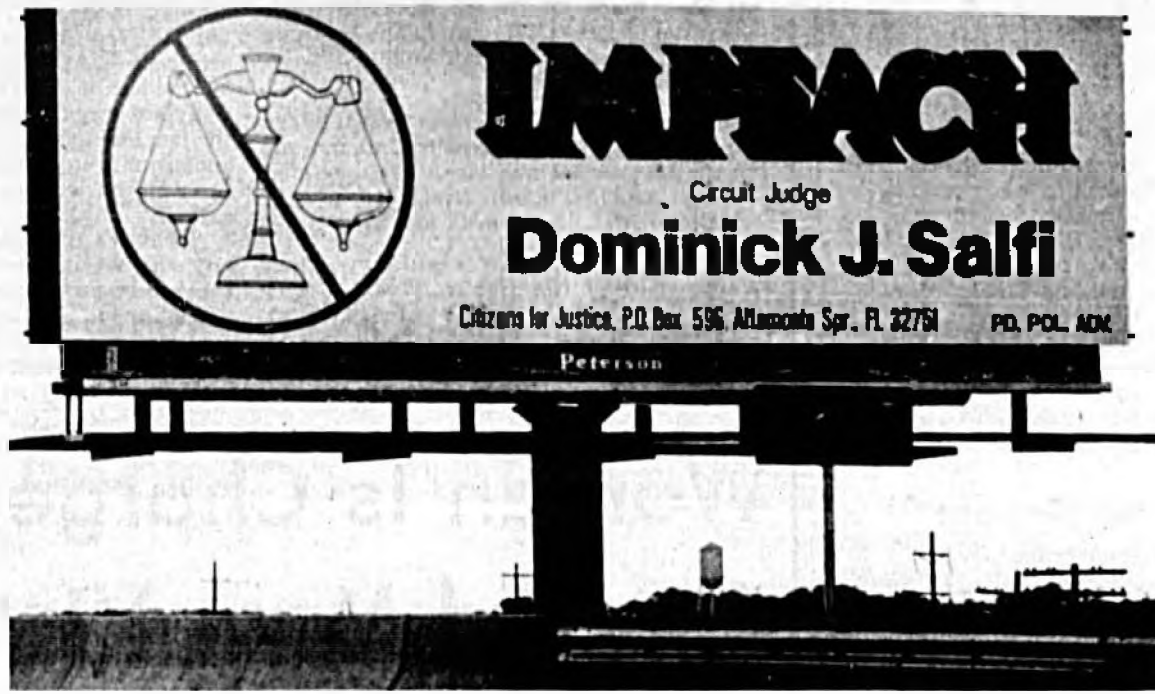

Ms. Kirchman claimed today the organization now has about 100 members in Central Florida whose prime purpose is to "halt corrupt practices and incompetence... in the judiciary."

She said Judge Salfi, who handled her divorce case, was chosen as a target of the group "because he dispenses justice in an arbitrary and capricious manner based solely on an unorthodox, unfair and personal philosophy of justice," rather than using "standard and accepted judicial procedures."

Ms. Kirchman said her organization intends to file "briefs in the pursuit of having Salfi removed from the bench."

Judge Salfi is vacationing in Italy and was unavailable for comment. He is expected to return to Sanford Oct. 17, according to his secretary.

Motorists coming into Sanford are greeted by this impeachment sign.

Woman To Get New Trial In Death Of Ex-Husband

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford woman convicted of second degree murder will get a new trial because the judge in the case set an arbitrary time limit on closing arguments.

Florida Jeanne Harrison Neal, 32, of 2301 Dollarway St., Midway, charged with murdering her former husband, Ronald Neal 34, of state Road 46, Midway, has been scheduled for retrial during a 3-week period beginning Friday. Her 1982 second degree murder conviction was overturned by the 5th District Court of Appeal, Daytona Beach, on June 28.

The court reversed her conviction and 10-year prison term plus 5 years for violating probation on an arson conviction, because the trial judge, Dominick J. Salfi, set an arbitrary time limit for closing arguments. The court also said Mrs. Neal's Miranda rights had been violated by sheriff's investigators.

Mrs. Neal was convicted in 1982 for the Dec. 26, 1981, shooting death of her former husband and for the wounding of Bernice Golden, 46, of Broadway, Midway.

According to court records, Mrs. Neal was accused of entering the Club Two Spot, state Road 46 in Midway, and threatening her ex-husband with a revolver after an argument. When her former husband grabbed a bystander, Ms. Golden, and held her in front of him, Mrs. Neal started shooting. Neal died when a bullet perforated his lung and liver. A bullet went through Ms. Golden's wrist and lodged in her hip.

In its four-page decision the appeal court said a 25-minute time limit set by Salfi for prosecution and defense attorneys to summarize their cases was arbitrary and unreasonable.

Mrs. Neal's public defender, Marlene Alva, said the time limit was too short for a case which lasted 3 days and included 30 witnesses.

She also said the court reversed the conviction because her client's rights were violated when, under pressure from sheriff's deputies, she involuntarily waived her right to remain silent after she had asked for an attorney.

Ms. Alva said a third reason the conviction was reversed pertained to jurisdiction in the case.

She said Salfi retained jurisdiction over Mrs. Neal for the probation violation, meaning she cannot be paroled without his approval. Ms. Alva said the law does not allow Salfi jurisdiction in that matter.

Mrs. Neal has been in jail during the appeal because she could not afford bond, Ms. Alva said.

Sales Tax On Agenda

County Set To Adopt Budget

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's $88.4 million budget for fiscal 1984-85, calling for a countywide tax rate of $4.18 per $1,000 assessed valuation, down by 25 cents from the 1983-84 year, is slated for adoption after a 7 p.m. public hearing session Tuesday at Room 200 of the county courthouse.

After the public hearing the commissioners are expected to allocate for spending some $961,416 not yet budgeted.

A public hearing to consider adopting an ordinance calling for a special referendum on a one-cent sales tax for jail expansion will be held after the budget hearing. The referendum would be part of the Nov. 6 general election and asks planned asks whether a one cent sales tax ought to be levied for one year with the $13.2 million expected proceeds to pay for expansion of the county jail, building access roads to the county jail and renovations of the courthouse into purely judicial functions.

The 500-bed expansion of the jail from 236 beds to 736, will cost an estimated $9.57 million. The plan approved by commissioners calls for the expansion to be of modular design with the jail cells manufactured of pre-cast concrete off site.

The facility, patterned after one recently built in Pinellas County, is to have five octagonal shaped pods of two stories each branching out from a central core. Each pod is to house about 100 prisoners in two-person cells. Medium security beds for 200 prisoners and minimum security beds for 300 are to be provided.

The county has selected Watson & Co. of Winter Park, designers of the Pinellas County jail, as architects for the proposed new facility.

Representatives of the architects said the precasting will reduce maintenance and security problems.

The commissioners at a series of workshop meetings Tuesday beginning at 1:30 p.m. will consider the wording to be on the Nov. 6 ballot concerning the proposed sales tax.

The commissioners will also discuss the upcoming United Way campaign among county personnel; regulations for construction of boat docks and houses and agricultural zoning uses.

$10M Sanford Budget Slated For Approval

Sanford's proposed $10.4 million budget for fiscal 1984-85 with a property tax rate of $3.45 per $1,000 assessed valuation is expected to get final approval from the city commission after a public hearing a 7 p.m. meeting today.

The commission is also expected to approve a one-year extension of a lease arrangement with the Seminole County Commission for the ground floor office space at city hall and to hear a report that the county's board of adjustment has given its nod to a plan for a new city well field at a 24-acre tract on Oregon Avenue adjacent to the Sanford city limits.

The public hearing on the proposed budget and new tax rate is slated to open tonight's meeting. The city commission gave preliminary approval to the $10.4 million budget at its Sept. 10 meeting after only one resident objected to the budget. The new $3.45 tax rate is a reduction of 62 cents per $1,000 from 1983-84's $4.07.

The objection registered by Roy E. Ermeat, 137 N. Elliott Ave., was that despite the city commission's planned reduction of the tax rate from $4.07 to

Reagan Wants Negotiations, Regular U.S.-Soviet Talks

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — President Reagan today called for "constructive negotiations" with the Soviet Union, saying "deterrence is necessary but not sufficient," and urged regular meetings between U.S. Cabinet members and the Soviets.

In a major foreign policy address before the 39th session of the U.N. General Assembly, Reagan said:

"We recognize there is no sane alternative to negotiations on arms control and other issues between our two countries which have the capacity to destroy civilization as we know it."

"I believe that this is the view shared by virtually every country in the world and by the Soviet Union itself."

Reagan had a friendly meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at a reception the president hosted for U.N. delegates Sunday night and Gromyko was in the U.N. assembly hall today to hear Reagan's address.

The president said that he is prepared to discuss "a wide-range of issues of concern to both sides" such as the militarization of space.

He announced for the first time that during such talks he would consider "measures of restraint" that both sides might take on space while negotiations proceed.

The Soviets have proposed a moratorium on building anti-satellite weapons before such talks begin.

But Reagan stuck to his premise that both sides also must resume negotiations on intermediate and long-range strategic missiles.

Reagan said he hoped to begin talks on space weapons by the end of the year or shortly thereafter.

He said he was proposing that the two countries "agree to embark on periodic consultations at policy level about regional problems."

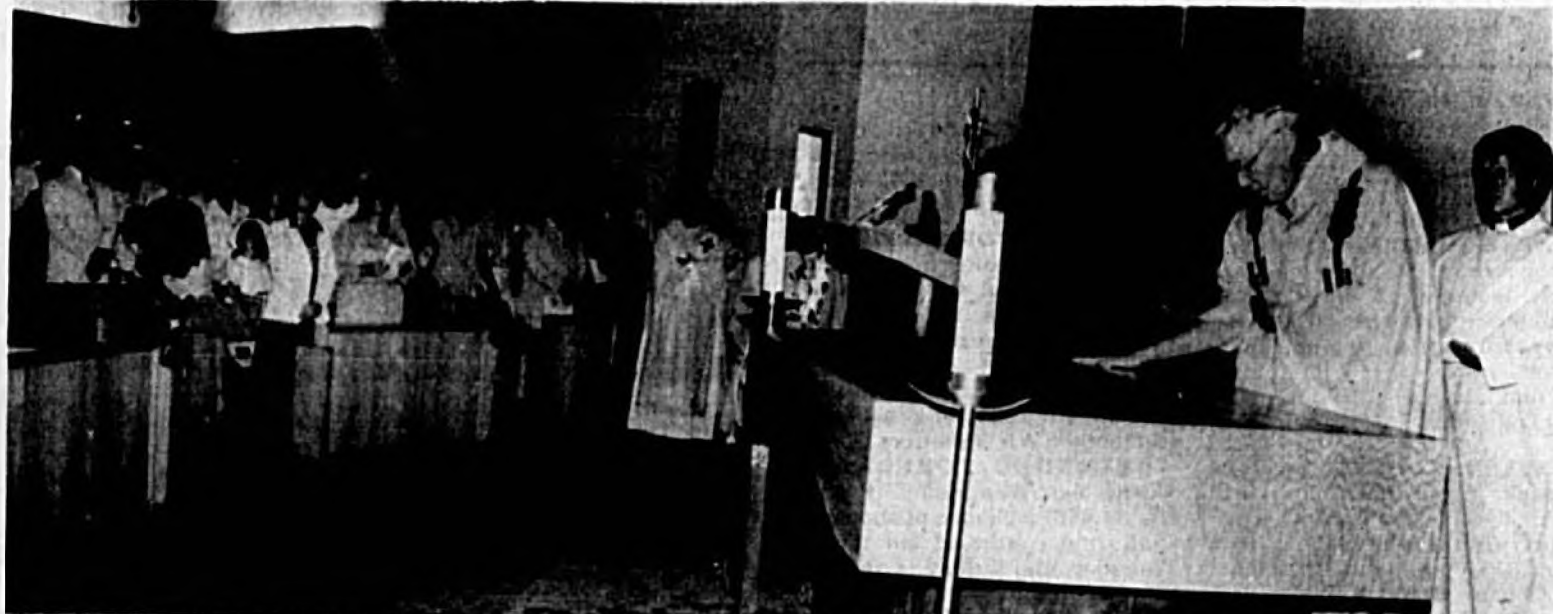

"We will be prepared," he said, "if the Soviets agree to make senior experts available at regular intervals for in-depth exchanges of views."

Reagan said that he has asked Secretary of State George Shultz to explore his proposal for Cabinet-level meetings with Gromyko when they meet Wednesday.

Bishop's Blessing

The bishop was joined in celebrating the 11 a.m. High Mass with the Rev. James C. Selbert, pastor and other area priests. The church, located on County Road 427, was organized in October, 1960. Ground was broken for the new building on June 5, 1983.

Mondale: Reagan Should Call Off The Hecklers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Walter Mondale wants President Reagan to make a "clear statement" and issue orders to Republican committees nationwide calling off the hecklers that have dogged the Democratic ticket.

"He hasn't done that," the Democratic presidential candidate said Sunday. "I wish he would."

The Reagan-Bush campaign, however, angrily denies any involvement in the heckling that has plagued Mondale and his running-mate, Geraldine Ferraro.

Mondale, conceding he is trailing Reagan but predicting his campaign will "pick up dramatically," makes a one-day campaign trip to Texas today, with stops in Texarkana and Houston. An ABC News survey last week showed Reagan leading Mondale 60 percent to 31 percent in the key state.

Scandal Sparks Honor Debate

United Press International

School officials and students alike are debating the merit of a policy that has been a moral staple of some of the country's most prestigious and oldest universities — the honor code.

Questions over whether the code is an effective deterrent to cheating were sparked by a recent cheating scandal at the Air Force Academy that prompted the military college to suspend its honor code. That code requires cadets to report any cheating they know about, whether they were involved or not.

The academy acted in the spring in the wake of its worst cheating scandal in 20 years when it became known that there were at least 19 instances where morning test questions were passed to students taking an afternoon test.

Academy officials believed more cadets cheated than the 19 who were suspended and that cadet-run trials acquitted some cheaters despite the evidence.

Man Kills Wife, 2 Others, Self

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A wealthy industrialist who quarreled with his estranged wife about a reconciliation went to her mansion after a benefit and fatally shot her and two friends before committing suicide.

The victims of the shootings early Sunday were identified as socialite Virginia Mallin Egedy, 45; her friend Betty diFiore, 52; real estate agent Jack Levy, 66; and Alex Egedy, who police said shot himself to death after firing bullets into the heads of the others.

"We found no suicide note," Sgt. Frank Jergovic said. "All we know at this point is that the shootings occurred after some kind of a domestic dispute."

Mrs. Egedy, was the former wife of Stanley Mallin, an original owner of Circus Circus Hotel. Police quoted family associates as saying the Egedys' marriage "had been short-term and fiery."

Chernenko Turns 73 Today; Given Soviets' Highest Awards

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Konstantin Chernenko received the Order of Lenin and the gold Hammer and Sickle, the Soviet Union's two highest awards, on the eve of his 73rd birthday.

Chernenko, who at 72 became the oldest man to be elected to head the Kremlin, was awarded the two medals and named a Hero of Socialist Labor, the official Tass news agency said Sunday.

There was no mention of Chernenko's birthday in the Soviet news media, but birthdays are traditionally chosen for the presentation of high awards to Kremlin officials and leaders of allied countries.

It was the third time Chernenko was named a Hero of Socialist Labor.

The awards decree, signed by the leaders of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet — the Soviet Union's legislative body — praised Chernenko for "outstanding services in the party and state activities in the development and exercise of the Leninist domestic and foreign policy."

Israeli Price Hikes In Effect

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israelis rushed to supermarkets and jammed gas stations hours before austerity measures took effect today that boosted the price of gas 30 percent and raised food costs by as much as 55 percent.

The new prices and a tax increase package, announced Sunday, came two weeks before Prime Minister Shimon Peres was scheduled to meet with President Reagan in Washington to plead for additional U.S. economic aid.

A $2.6 billion aid package is pending before Congress and Israeli officials have said Peres would ask for an additional $700 million to $900 million to help Israel through its worst economic crisis in years.

Israel television said Sunday the 18 percent to 55 percent hike in the prices of government-subsidized food would raise the September inflation rate to about 20 percent. The country's annual inflation is running at 400 percent.

Military To Honor U.S. Servicemen Killed In Beirut

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (UPI) — Air Force Lt. Richard Williamson, who attended many of the services last year when the bodies of 241 Americans returned from Beirut, said he was not looking forward to attending two more.

Today at the East Coast's largest military mortuary he planned to attend memorials for the two servicemen killed in the second terrorist suicide bomb attack on a U.S. installation in Lebanon in 11 months.

To be eulogized today were Army Chief Warrant Officer Kenneth V. Welch, 33, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Michael Ray Wagner, 30, of Zebulon, N.C., who died with 22 other people last Thursday in an attack on the Embassy annex in East Beirut.

The service — scheduled for 11 a.m. EDT — was to be held at the same airplane hangar that held the bodies of the 241 servicemen killed in an attack on the U.S. Marine barracks in Beirut last October.

"I saw seven of the memorial services in the last instance," Williamson, an Air Force spokesman, said Sunday. "I cannot hear the Navy Hymn without having a tear come to my eye."

"I haven't met anyone whose worked on any memorial service that doesn't have some feeling or emotion about it."

Williamson said the families of the slain soldiers were to attend today's service, which he said would last about 15 minutes. "Both families will be represented," he said Sunday.

Williamson said the three highest ranking military officials expected to attend the service were Maj. Gen. Julius Parker, Rear Adm. Don McDowell and Lt. Gen. John T. Chain.

After the ceremony, the bodies of the two servicemen were to be taken to their hometowns.

The two bodies were returned to the air base — the largest military mortuary on the East Coast — late Saturday.

Ringed by 14 pallbearers and 25 honor guards, the bodies were taken in slow procession from a C-141 Starlifter while two military chaplains from the Army and Navy said brief prayers over the caskets.

Prisons Get More Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judges are sending thousands more criminals to state prisons each year, ordering people to jail at a rate that increased 12.5 percent in a single year, the Justice Department says.

A survey of 33 states released Sunday by the Bureau of Justice Statistics found that state judges sentenced eight people to prison out of a population of 10,000 in 1980 and the number increased to nine per 10,000 by 1981 — an increase of 12.5 percent.

In a state with a population of 10 million, for example, that would mean 1,000 more people were sent to jail in a single year.

The survey, which drew responses from 33 states, showed 121,211 offenders sent to prison in 1981 and 101,943 released. There are about 435,000 people in prisons nationwide.

The bureau said the increase "represents a substantial growth in the fraction of the adult population entering prison," and is part of an upward pattern that has been evident since 1978.

"A larger segment of the adult population is experiencing incarceration," the bureau said.

$3.45, his taxes were still going up.

Mayor Lee P. Moore and city Commissioner David Fry explained the taxable value of his property was raised by county Property Appraiser Bill Suber and this caused the tax increase.

The two city officials recommended that Ernest take his complaint to Suber's office at the county services building.

Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett will report to the commission that the county's board of adjustment has approved a special exception for the agriculturally zoned 24-acre tract off Oregon Avenue, and bounded by county Road 46A, Upsala Road and the railroad tracks which the city plans to use for a new well field.

The city commission Aug. 6 agreed to take a 120-option to purchase the property from RGK Inc. of Burlington, N.C. RGK was general contractor on the Chase Overpass at 46. Part of the property was used as a claypit to provide clay for the overpass construction.

The city has paid $8,500 down on the $170,000 purchase. The sale must be concluded by Dec. 1 or the city will forfeit half of the downpayment, $4,250.

The option is subject to the city's receiving the special exception for the well field from the county, that it has now received, and approval from the St. Johns River Water Management District after water samples are obtained.

Hydrologists commissioned to take the water samples after test wells are drilled are Jammal & Associates of Orlando.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles has said the city ought to be able to drill at least five and possibly six wells at the site.

The city has three operating well fields — at the Mayfair Country Club, at U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard and in Hidden Lake Park — with 19 wells.

However, city officials are concerned about the stability of the seven Country Club wells, rehabilitated after contamination late last year by EDB (ethylene dibromide), a fumigant injected into the soil by golf course operators in July, 1983 to kill nematodes in the soil.

While the city found a suitable site for a fourth well field near the country club several months ago, the well field site was in Lake Mary and Lake Mary refused to grant a special exception for Sanford to use it.

On the renewal of the lease with Seminole County for use of the first floor at city hall for county office space, the Sanford City Commission informally approved the extension some weeks ago.

The original lease between the city and the county was executed on Nov. 2, 1982. It is to expire Sept. 30. The renewal calls for a new lease from Oct. 1, 1984 through Sept. 30, 1985.

Under the lease agreement, the county will pay all costs of electricity, sewage, water and rubbish removal. In addition the county will pay $2,481.67 per month for renting the entire first floor of city hall — 14,977 square feet.

Teacher's Case Against School Board To Be Heard

An Altamonte Springs teacher named in a 1980 civil suit against the Seminole County School Board by a student burned by boiling tar has won on appeal to have determined whether the school's insurer should have defended him.

In the original suit, which was settled out of court for $220,500, the school board's insurer refused to defend the teacher saying the incident did not occur in connection with his function as a teacher.

The 1982 case of Don MacLeod vs. the School Board of Seminole County will, according to procedure, be rescheduled for further consideration in Seminole Circuit Court.

According to court records, MacLeod's appeal stemmed from an injury a Lake Brantley High School student received May 3, 1980.

In that incident, records show, a group of boys, many of them reportedly industrial art students, were helping to tar the roof of an all-purpose athletic building at the high school. During the tarring process one student, Gregory Richard Miller, then 15, of 105 Collier Dr., Longwood, tripped while carrying a bucket of 400-degree tar. He fell into the spilled tar and received burns on 26 percent of his body, mostly on his torso, according to the court records. While he suffered scarring, there was no mobility damage.

MacLeod, an industrial arts teacher, was reportedly supervising the work with two other teacher/coaches, though Miller was not one of his students and he had not met the 15-year-old.

The school board's insurer, Commercial Union Co., said the incident occurred while MacLeod was not acting in his capacity as a teacher and refused to defend him.

MacLeod contended that Commercial Union, as the school board's insurer, should have defended him but his complaint was struck by Circuit Court Judge Kenneth Lefler. MacLeod appealed to the 5th District Court of Appeal.

On Sept. 17, the court said that in the student's suit it was alleged that MacLeod was a teacher and was supervising construction of the athletic building on the high school grounds at the time of the injury.

The court said that assertion was sufficient to invoke Commercial Union's duty to defend MacLeod under its teacher's liability coverage rider which provided coverage to teachers for bodily injury arising out of their "teaching activities."

The rider defines "teaching activities" as including "acts or omission of the insured in connection with his occupation as a member of the faculty..."

Seminole Defendants Sentenced

Cocaine Conspiracy Costs Casselberry Man 3 Months

A Casselberry man arrested on charges of conspiracy to sell cocaine and traffic marijuana was sentenced Friday to 3 months in the county jail and two years probation.

John Curtis Elias, 21, of 1714 Sundance Apartments, was also ordered by Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize to complete 80 hours of community service and pay the public defender $450.

According to court records, Elias and five other people were arrested March 2 in connection with a month-long investigation by Seminole County Drug Task Force agents at the Buccaneer Lounge, Cavalier Motel, Sanford.

Another defendant, George William Walsh, 46, of 4852 Golden Rod Road, Goldenrod, awaits sentencing. Four other defendants, Diane Elizabeth Spooner, 21, of 304 San Rafael Court, Winter Springs, William Robert Fenton, 22, of 123 Tindale Circle, Longwood, Debora Frances Lapanaki, 21, and Thomas Elgin, 17, of 170 Lombardy Road, Winter Springs, are in various stages of litigation.

According to arrest reports, the investigation began Feb. 1 with an agent purchasing two $25 bags of marijuana from a barmaid on Feb. 3 and 8 and buying a gram of cocaine for $80 to $100 per gram on three separate occasions between Feb. 7 and March 2.

The investigation climaxed when an informant met with a bouncer at the motel and a second man to buy an ounce of cocaine for $2,000.

Agents then arrested Elias and Walsh. Ms. Spooner was at the same time. Ms. Lapanaki, Fenton and Elgin were arrested about 3 hours later.

Elias could have received a year in the county jail.

In other court action before Mize Friday, a Sanford man who threatened two men with a shotgun has received 2 years probation.

Nurell Lee Monroe, 49, of Rt. 3, Box 514 French Ave., was also fined $250 and ordered by Mize to complete 120 of community service.

According to court records, Vireil Carpenter, 42, of 500 Oak Ave., Sanford, and Charles James Holmes, 44, of 3301 S. Sanford Ave., told police that Monroe held them at gunpoint and threatened to shoot them.

The incident occurred at about 5:05 p.m. April 30 at C & J Grocery, Sanford Ave., Sanford. The victims said Monroe fled when they hit him on the side of his head with his own gun.

Monroe was arrested within minutes of the assault and police reported finding a shotgun in his truck.

He was treated for minor head injuries at Central Florida Regional Hospital before he was booked into the jail. He could have received a year in the county jail.

An Altamonte Springs man was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail and 2 years probation for snatching a gold necklace.

Johnnie Frank Realford, 19, of 806 Pine St., was arrested about 2 hours after he grabbed a $500 gold necklace from the neck of a woman who was leaving a service station.

Penny Gail Persley, 44, of 1171 Ridge Road, Longwood, told sheriff's deputies she was leaving the Eastern station at state Road 436 at Lake Howell Road near Casselberry at 5:50 May 14, when a man ran up and snatched her necklace.

Realford must also pay the public defender $250 and have no contact with controlled substances. He could have received a year in the county jail.

A Winter Springs man and a companion from Maitland convicted of possession and sale of marijuana have received jail sentences for the crimes.

David Lowell Osburn, 21, of 1155 Duncan Drive, Winter Springs, was sentenced to 3 months in the Seminole County jail plus 2 years probation and Job Scott Martin, 19, of 144 Roann Drive, Maitland, was sentenced to 10 weekends in the county jail and two years probation.

Mize also ordered Osburn and Martin to complete 80 hours of community service each. They faced up to a year in jail each.

According to court records, members of the sheriff's drug task force met the men at a 7-11 store on Winter Springs Boulevard Jan. 18. At that time, Osburn offered to sell the agents two bags of marijuana, one bag for $20 and one for $35. After the agents bought the $20 bag from Osburn, he turned the cash and the remaining marijuana over to Martin, records said.

Osburn was then arrested. Martin reportedly tried to flee but was captured at the scene. The officers found two additional bags of marijuana in Martin's possession when he was searched, a sheriff's report said.

A Casselberry man charged with grand theft after rolling two carts filled with more than $100 worth of groceries out of a Fern Park store on June 5 has received 1 year probation for the incident.

Alan Thomas Leigh, 20, of 101 Melton Drive, was also ordered to pay $175 in restitution to Pantry Pride of state Road 436 and complete 80 hours of community service. He could have received up to a year in the county jail.

Two other defendants arrested in the case, John Dale Ford Jr., 22, and Bryan Alan Campbell, 20, of the same address, await disposition of their cases.

A bench warrant was issued by Mize for a 34-year-old Orlando woman who failed to appear for sentencing on a charge of attempting to obtain a strong narcotic cough suppressant with a phony prescription.

The warrant was issued Friday for Virginia Carolyn Teague.

Ms. Teague was arrested Feb. 24 after Samuel Pratt, pharmacist at Gooding's, state Road

436, Casselberry, reported that he was suspicious of a call from a man saying he was Dr. I. Matthew and had prescribed Tussionex Liquid for a Kathy Martin.

Pratt called the number the man gave and found that it was bogus.

At about 7:30 p.m. when Teague said she was Martin and asked for the prescription to be filled, Pratt accepted her money for the drug but had another employee call Casselberry police while he stalled her, according to a police report.

An officer arrived at the pharmacy and called Dr. Matthews who confirmed that he had not prescribed the drug for the woman.

Teague was charged with attempting to obtain a controlled substance by misrepresentation or deception or both. She reportedly told the officer that the man who called in the prescription was waiting in a car in Gooding's parking lot. The man, however, could not be found and may have fled when he saw the officer arrive, according to the report.

Back From The Brink

Two years ago this month, Mexico participated in a sudden awareness of the financial crisis threatening several Latin American countries by announcing it could no longer pay its debts on time. Brazil, Argentina, Venezuela, Peru, Chile and Ecuador in turn announced their debts were also unmanageable.

Now, Mexico is leading Latin America out of its debt crisis. Mexico recently reached an unprecedented debt rescheduling agreement with its major bank creditors that is a benchmark for its neighbors. About $50 billion of its $96 billion foreign debt due during the next six years has been refinanced; instead of falling due on or before 1990, repayment has been extended 14 years. Moreover, interest payments on the debt, which are estimated to be more than $10 billion annually, will be reduced and pegged to the London inter-bank rate. London's loans are one point below the U.S. prime rate, now at 13 percent, to which the Mexican debt has been pegged. Interest reduction will save Mexico an estimated $500 annually. In other words, U.S. bankers have made some painful concessions in their own self interest.

Without the agreement, Mexico would have had to make $14 in principal payments in 1987 alone, an amount almost equal to its entire petroleum exports last year. There is no dispute about Mexico's inability to sustain such a hemorrhage.

Mexico's gifted finance minister, Jesus Silva Herzog, was able to look his creditors in the eye because Mexico has cut its inflation rate by nearly half from 100 percent and has reduced its budget deficit. Significantly, Mexico has earned a trade surplus of $13 billion this year, which is crucial in servicing the debt load.

Indeed, the unexpectedly strong economic expansion in the United States, Japan and Western Europe has enabled most debt-ridden developing countries to rebound from financial disaster that threatened only a few months ago, despite the burden of prevailing high U.S. interest rates.

Even so, much credit must go to Mexico's President Miguel de la Madrid for carrying out the austere economic discipline called for two years ago by the International Monetary Fund as a condition for reorganizing the debt. The IMF has been vindicated in its insistence on restricting subsidies, price controls, cheap government loans to favored industries and uncontrolled inflation through ever-increasing internal money supplies. Financial austerity, as painful as it has been, has caused far less domestic distress than a continuation of previous, profligate policies.

Herzog correctly warns that Mexico is not yet delivered from the consequences of its past follies, and has only earned breathing room in which to devise its economic salvation. Most economists are convinced that increased exports constitute the best formula for Third World prosperity. But the United States and its industrialized allies also have much at stake in more exports from the developing nations.

The London Economist advises that "an open trade border with its southern neighbors would be Washington's cheapest and best step towards the continental stability which is, quite rightly, Washington's principal foreign-policy preoccupation. ... Let local producers and American multinationals use the cheap labor of the teeming subcontinent to provide the United States with those industrial goods which are now flooding into it from Japan and Europe. ..."

Just so. Before Mexico ran out of money two years ago, it was the United States' third largest customer, larger than West Germany or Britain.

A new Marshall Plan for Latin America called for by Argentina's President Raul Alfonsin would only subsidize the waste and mismanagement that took our southern friends so near the brink of ruin. The best hope for Latin America is to be found in the Mexican model of economic discipline — and expanded trade.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Susan Loden

If you're the parent of a Seminole County elementary school pupil chances are either this week or next your child will bring home a Seminole County Sheriff's Department safety check quiz that he or she will ask you to help with.

The Home Safety Check is part of a safety awareness program, which sheriff's Capt. Beau Taylor is scheduled to take into the schools this month. Taylor said the program is especially geared to help teach children what to do when confronted by a stranger who may be a threat to their safety or how to handle emergencies that might arise when they are at home alone.

The take-home quiz is designed he said to involve parents in the program, by having them review the check list with their children.

To give you a headstart on the quiz the following are some of the questions your child will be asking you to review with him or her:

Do you have emergency phone numbers next to your phone? Do you have the number at home where to contact your parents at work? Mom or dad has told me what to do if a stranger approaches me. If someone calls on the phone for my parents and they are not at home my parents have told me what to do. Have you asked your teacher to tell you about safety in the classroom, such as playing with pencils and playground rules? If you have a swimming pool, do you know the rules that will keep you safe? Will you try to obey bike safety rules at all times? Do you wear a seat belt in the family car? If you see someone doing something wrong will you tell mom or dad so they can help?

The children are also asked to write five safety rules and parents who take the quiz will be given six tips on what they should know about their child.

The children should be well motivated to take and return the quiz to their school, because after they do they will receive a certificate for free biscuit and soft drink from a Sanford restaurant.

Cultural Conflict At Hand?

Are America's lunch pail and briefcases fated to clash in the next few years?

This disturbing question arises from a recent front page story in The Wall Street Journal which described the "widening polarization" in Pittsburgh between these two groups. As the headline on the story put it, "Hungry Jobless Grow Bitter As Young Professionals Pursue Life of Fashion." The article reported on the transformation of the former steel capital, where thousands of steelworkers have lost their jobs in the past five years, and the rise of a service economy that supports a "boutique-style culture."

The ugly mood spawned by these changes has resulted in street protests against the institutions of the affluent.

These aren't "welfare rights" protesters but former well-paid industrial workers, hard hats who have lived in solid neighborhoods and subscribed to solid American values. They feel that not enough has been done to preserve America's industrial base and their jobs. They are losing their place in the middle class.

Ironically, the excessive demands of the Steelworkers Union has contributed to the ill-fortune of these displaced workers. For years, the union insisted on wages that went far beyond productivity.

Nevertheless, the angry workers have a case. The nation has been singularly unconcerned in recent years as foreign competitors, many of them subsidized or nationalized companies, grabbed a large share of American steel markets. The industry leaders have repeatedly warned what is happening, but Congress and the Executive branch did nothing, retreating behind a protective wall of free trade dogma. The result of the deindustrialization is to be found in Pittsburgh and many other industrial cities. Conditions are likely to get much worse in the next years unless the issue is addressed. Advanced industries such as computers and aircraft will be as much affected as steel.

Can Americans live by boutiques alone? It's time that question be answered. It's fine to have a prosperous class of "yuppies," to use the term employed during Gary Hart's adventure in presidential politics. But "yuppies" are paper shufflers; they don't create wealth. The real wealth of a nation is created by mining, manufacturing, and agriculture — areas of our economic life which are in deep trouble. The country can't remain strong by selling hamburgers and silicon chips. As a matter of fact, it can't sell silicon chips unless it has domestic heavy industry to buy them.

That's the economic side of the situation.

Parting Shot At Reagan's FTC

WASHINGTON — Taking the poet's advice, departing Federal Trade Commissioner Michael Pertschuk has made it clear he won't "go gentle into that good night," but will "rage, rage against the dying of the light" he has held aloft to protect consumers for the past seven years.

His 300-page critique of the agency's performance has already been summarized in The New York Times, drawing an indignant rebuttal from the FTC's conservative chairman, James Miller III.

Miller derided Pertschuk's blistering report, writing: "While Commissioner Pertschuk's rhetoric displays a certain energy, his report breaks no new ground. It is a rehash of his diatribes and a stringing together of his various positions, bracketed in sarcasm."

What Miller hasn't seen yet is Pertschuk's brief appendix to his

EDWARD J. WALSH

Defying The Bankers

At this moment, Mexico owes the rest of the world some $90 billion. In August 1982, the government simply ran out of money to make debt service payments, when the total was about $80 billion. On Aug. 12, Finance Minister Jesus Silva Herzog telephoned U.S. Treasury Secretary Donald Regan, Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker, and Jacques de Larosiere, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, and advised them that within days, Mexico would be broke. In effect he dared them, the central bankers of the entire Western world, and more than 800 private banks who held pieces of the Mexican debt, to let the country collapse. They didn't.

Over a four-month period at the end of 1982, that included a purge of Cabinet ministers, the expropriation of Mexico's banks, and the investiture of a new president, the bankers reworked Mexico's massive indebtedness, in a settlement that included a tangle of oil prepayments by the U.S., extensions of public and private credit, and new IMF financing. President Lopez Portillo, whose demagogic recklessness and corruption had contributed to the destruction of his country's finances, left office on Dec. 1, a humiliated, but rich man. Today, he directs his yacht around the Mediterranean. Neither he nor his predecessor, Luis Echevarria, who served as president from 1970-1978, were invited to the de la Madrid address to the nation on Sept. 1.

But while Mexicans and Americans castigate both ex-presidents, their economic travesties are the consequence of the one-party state. The economic theories of the Mexican president, sound or not, are the nation's. President Echevarria, on taking office, believed he could spend the nation into prosperity, high-quality health care, and better education. No one told him the money wasn't there. Inflation decimated the currency, the peso was devalued, and Mexico ended up $20 billion in debt, with its economy managed by the IMF.

But there was oil — and billions in oil revenues. The Mexican oil industry had been nationalized in 1938. President Portillo paid off Mexico's debt to the IMF by 1979 with the oil receipts, changed finance ministers, and resumed Echevarria's habits of buying and borrowing. And everyone wanted to lend; after all, Mexico had plenty of oil and other minerals, close economic ties with the United States, and a strategic border with the U.S. that Washington would not allow to be jeopardized by debt. Perhaps a thousand banks participated in loans to Mexico. None of them — not the biggest, most sophisticated of them — saw what was happening.

What happened was the inevitable. In mid-1981, the world price of oil dropped. The PRI refused to allow Pemex, the national oil company, to cut prices, and $5 billion in orders were lost. Investors began converting pesos to dollars, and Mexico turned to more credit. Pemex alone borrowed $10 million in 1981.

Bankers anxious to make money in Mexico liked to believe they were lending to autonomous, self-financing government agencies. But there is really only one government agency in Mexico, the PRI. The head of the PRI is the head of the country. He picks his own advisors and, in effect, his own Congress, and plunges on. No one in the country tells him no.

In late August of this year, Mexico renegotiated about $50 billion of its debt again on more favorable terms. Interest rates were lowered to match banks' costs rather than market rates. The payment of principal due in 1985-1990 was converted into a new 14-year loan with only interest due in 1998. In return, the banks will share in dictating Mexico's economic policies.

Some Mexican ideologues will boast that Mexico has won this showdown. Its people are poorer and hungrier. Inflation is about 60 percent, although "down" from 117 percent last year. Still, the PRI reigns supreme. That, for its supporters is victory.

JEFFREY HART

Campaign Wit And Humor ...

Before things really get serious, maybe this column can risk a light moment. This year's presidential campaign has given rise to a good deal of political humor, and the Dallas convention was especially rich. Here are a few from the notebook:

During the presidential primary in New York, Walter Mondale and Gary Hart were engaged in an absurd dispute about which of them had been the first to suggest moving the U.S. Embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. Someone cracked, "Jessie Jackson may have called New York City 'Hymietown,' but Mondale and Hart are acting like it is."

The inside story of how Geraldine Ferraro got the nomination goes as follows. One of Mondale's top aides said to him that it was vital to the ticket to carry the queens' vote. Mondale thought he meant Queens.

At the convention, when someone mentioned Reagan's off the record crack about bombing the Soviet Union within the next five minutes, a right-wing journalist remarked: "More broken promises."

Mondale's only chance now is to find a secret connection between Ronald Reagan and John Zaccaro.

Chuck Colson may not really be inactive, but operating from the deep cover of his Christian fellowship. The Louis Farrakhan affair had all the earmarks of a Colson sting. Jesse Jackson may be a Colson man too, as almost given away by his remark that Jesus Christ would not have done too well under a Reagan administration. But John Zaccaro is Colson all the way, a loyal Republican mole who has bided his time until he could pull off one of the biggest stings in history.

Does Walter Mondale have a secret plan to pardon Geraldine Ferraro?

So Reagan dozed off at a Cabinet meeting, as revealed by image-maker, Mike Deaver. If Mondale becomes president the Cabinet will go to sleep.

Is Mike Deaver a Democratic mole in the White House? Is there a Democratic Colson?

Nixon has proposed a compromise. Chuck Colson will read John Zaccaro's tax returns and tell us whether anything is wrong.

"You people married to Italian men, you know how it is." Who designed the Ferraro sting?

report. This rubs salt into what Pertschuk feels are the commission's self-inflicted wounds under Miller's leadership. My associate Tony Capaccio has obtained a copy.

The appendix is titled, "A Reader's Guide to Claims About the Wonder of Reagan's FTC." Pertschuk charges that the FTC's conservative leadership has habitually tried to make "a silk purse out of a sow's ear" and "has been having fun with numbers and history." He explains: "And by fun, I mean indecent liberties with the historical record and with facts of the present."

Pertschuk writes: "Every government agency puffs up its own record of achievement. We certainly did when we were in charge." But, he complains, "there is a point at which puffery passes beyond the bounds of fair characterization into cynical press agency."

What particularly riles Pertschuk is the way he says Miller's crew takes credit for actions they actually delayed or opposed.

For instance, last May, Carol Crawford, director of the commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection, told the House committee on aging that the FTC's new rule designed to give protection from shady undertakers "has great impact on older Americans." She neglected to mention that Miller had opposed the rule, calling it "a deceit upon American consumers."

Crawford also boasted that the FTC had initiated rules to lower the price of eyeglasses. But Pertschuk notes in his appendix:

"Convenient forgettery precluded her from mentioning that she had just recommended that a key provision — that eye-care providers routinely turn over a copy of eye prescriptions to consumers — be eliminated."

In what Pertschuk calls "the most bald-faced denial of responsibility,"

Miller told Congress the FTC hadn't buried a rule to monitor hard-sell techniques by hearing-aid salesmen. "The commission has not buried the rule," he testified. "The votes for the rule simply did not exist."

Pertschuk writes: "The translation of this sophistry is: 'Neither I, Miller nor my two colleagues appointed by President Reagan would vote for the rule.'"

Regarding a commission press release last March claiming that the FTC acted on 98 "consumer protection matters" in 1983, Pertschuk writes:

He notes that 51 of the actions were votes "to delay or kill actions or to relax and weaken prior orders restraining manufacturers from unfair or deceptive practices."

Fans Come Alive For County Scrap

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It was 11:15 p.m. Friday and the last few cars were trickling out of Lake Mary's football stadium parking lot. Although the game had been over for quite some time, the electric atmosphere was still prevalent.

It was an atmosphere which began much earlier. Probably as early as Monday or Tuesday in the high schools of Lake Mary and Lake Brantley. This game had become unbelievable in its magnitude.

Why? The fact that Lake Mary and Lake Brantley have excellent teams helped. Both were unbeaten and needed a win Friday. Lake Mary got this one, 20-13, but not without a struggle.

The game, of course, was great. But the crowd may have been greater. What a mob. Attendance is pretty tough to estimate, but it's possible there could have been close to 10,000 people there. Easily a record for a Lake Mary football game.

The fans came often and early. An hour before the kickoff, cars were lined on Longwood-Lake Mary road. At 7:15 p.m., traffic was stop and go two miles from the field.

Fans from Lake Brantley staged a car caravan. They had anti-Rams signs painted all over their windshields. Some printable, others not. All dripping with school spirit. These kids were really into this game.

That's refreshing. So many kids are bored with school. It's become a job to a lot of them. They need some kind of spark. Sports is responsible for keeping many athletes in school. Maybe the same can be true for non-athletes.

The Rams were just as exuberant in their support. When the Lake Brantley fans tumbled onto the field, the Lake Mary kids started a chant, not the most tasteful I might add, but it fueled the fire. And it was contagious. You could tell as the players marched onto the field. They were alive with the excitement of the crowd. I overheard many of the players comment as to how great it was to play before so many people.

No doubt, it pushed them to superior efforts. The blocking and tackle was ferocious. If you had the ball, you got hammered. It was as simple as that. Sure Lake Brantley fumbled seven times, but Earl Campbell might have coughed up the ball on some of those hits.

The hits stuck with you, too. Lake Brantley pulled a surprise fake punt with Phil Colliard. He ran for 15 yards until he hit Byron Washington. The crack could be heard in Sanford. Colliard and ball separated. Donald Grayson took the recovery away from his own teammate.

Another time, Lake Mary was running out the clock in the first half when Jeff Morris unloaded on Pat Murray. What a belt. The ball went flying. Somebody recovered for the Lake Brantley. Later, none of the Patriots could remember who recovered. "Give it to Sean O'Brian," said Morris. "He played a great game."

A lot of people played a great game and paid for it. Kurt Marn, who had been overshadowed by teammates Steve Emmons and Scott Salmon the first two games, ran the ball with authority. He seemed to be able to follow man-mountain center Curt Mull and guards Bill Neville and Greg Risee up the middle for six yards at a time in the first half.

Then, Lake Mary noseguard Darrin Washington toughened up. "Coach (Harry Nelson) told me not to wrestle with him (Mull) because he was so big (6-8, 275)," said Washington. "So I used my quickness to get around him."

Washington and Marn were both helped off the field in the last quarter. Washington was snowed under by the "Mull Avalanche" on an off tackle play. Marn was wiped out by a wicked crack-back block by Hartsfield.

Even as he was limping off, however, Marn was screaming at

Leto's Red Row Runs Down Rams — Penick Is Tops

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The Tampa Leto cross country team is known as the Long Red Row. Saturday, Leto's row of runners seemed to never end to its varsity and junior varsity opponents as the state's third ranked (4A) boys team dominated the Lake Brantley Patriot Invitational at Seminole Community College.

Leto had seven of its runners finish in the top 10 in the varsity race as the Long Red Row wore down Lake Mary's Rams. Lake Mary's pack was ahead of Leto's for the first mile of the three-mile race, but the Tampa team soon took over and finished with a team score of 21, compared to 66 for seventh-ranked (4A) Lake Mary. Coconut Creek finished third at 104 followed by Lyman (119) and Seminole (123).

"We were ahead of them (Leto) in the first mile," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "But they took over in the second mile. It was our best race all season, we got our top five in the top 23. Our goal is to have our top five in the top 20 in every big meet and we're getting closer every week."

Seminole's Billy Penick went out fast and never looked back en route to the individual title and a time of 16:07. Tampa Leto then had the next four finishers (second through fifth). Leto also had the seventh and 10th place finishers.

Leading the way for the Rams Saturday was senior Matt Palumbo who came in sixth with a time of 17:08. Junior Ken Rohr was eighth at 17:20 followed by senior Harold Pitts (11th at 17:32), senior John Amrhein (18th at 18:04) and sophomore Tom Wait (23rd at 18:16) rounded out the top five. Also running for the Rams' varsity included Bob Howard (26th at 18:22) and Jim Shepherd (30th at 18:32).

"The times were terrible, but they are no indication of how well the team performed," McGee said. "We'll run on a lot faster courses the next two weeks and hope it will build our confidence."

The Rams will compete in the Seabreeze Beach Run this Saturday and then will travel to Largo next Wednesday (Oct. 3) to take on some of the top ranked teams in the state.

While Lake Mary chased Leto Saturday, Penick was all alone in first place. "He (Penick) went out at 4:41 and opened up a 40-yard lead in the first mile and totally obliterated the competition," Seminole coach Ted Tombros said. "He stretched the lead to 50-60 yards in the second mile and coasted the rest of the way."

As a team, Seminole improved from its performance the past two weeks. Senior Kelly Faint was the Tribe's second runner as he came in 17th with a time of

Nystrom's Courageous Run Carries Hawks

You would have to look pretty hard to find a cross country team with as much grit and determination as Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks. With one of its top runners injured and a question mark for Saturday's race, which featured then top-ranked (4A) Tampa Leto, the second-ranked Lady Hawks could have panicked.

But they didn't. Lake Howell's "Pack Attack" rose to the top again as the Lady Hawks came out with a team score of 40 and the Lake Brantley Patriot Invitational title at Seminole Community College. Leto finished a close second with a team score of 48 followed by fifth-ranked Seminole (94), Father Lopez (130), 10th-ranked Lake Mary (142) and host Lake Brantley was sixth at 159.

While the Lake Howell pack was in full force, it was senior Nancy Nystrom that best reflected the team's determination and dedication. Running with a stress fracture in her foot, Nystrom fought off the pain and courageously came through with a 10th place finish.

"She (Nystrom) showed an awful lot of character," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "What she did is all you can ask of anyone."

Seminole freshman Shownda Martin was the individual winner Saturday with a time of 12:09, just edging out Lake Howell's Lisa Samocki who was second at 12:11.

Cross Country

Tampa Leto took third (Nancy Gufley) and fourth (Kim Huffman) places but Lake Howell got its next four runners in before Leto's fourth.

Sophomore Martha Fonseca came through with a fine performance for Lake Howell as she came in seventh at 12:48. She was followed in the top five by junior Amy Ertel (ninth at 12:49), Nystrom (10th at 12:50) and sophomore Belinda Laseur (12th at 12:55). Lake Howell's sixth runner, Mary Fonseca, came in 15th at 12:59.

"The thing about pack running is if one runner is hurt or doesn't run well, there's always someone else there to take up the slack," Hammontree explained. "I'm a little surprised because Leto beat us by 16 points in the jamboree. But, this team has a lot of character and class and showed it today (Saturday)."

Seminole continued to improve and upended a team that had beaten the Tribe in an earlier meet. In the Lyman Opener Father Lopez edged out the Lady Seminoles for second place, but Seminole beat Lopez by 36 places.

Martin ran an impressive race Saturday as she broke her previous school record of 12:17 with first place time of 12:09. "She ran just the way we had talked about before the race," Seminole coach Ted Tombros said. "I wanted her to go out with the leaders the first mile, then pick up the tempo the last three-quarters of a mile. She had enough cushion at the end of the race to hold off Samocki."

Martin was followed in the top five by freshman Dorchelle Webster (eighth at 12:49), junior Debbie Coleman (21st at 13:25), sophomore Jennifer Roberts (31st at 14:03) and senior Katrina Walker (33rd at 14:18). Seminole's sixth runner, Glenda Bass, came in 36th at 14:42.

"We have a really solid 1-2-3 punch," Tombros said. "The key for us is how quick the 4-5-6 runners can get under the 14 minute mark. When they do that, it will make us that much more solid and enable us to keep or maybe improve on our number five ranking."

Seminole is looking for its fourth, fifth and sixth runners to break the 14 minute mark. On the other hand, Lake Mary is looking for someone to run in the 14's and fill in a gap between the third and fourth runners.

Lake Mary has an outstanding top three in sophomore Sue Kingsbury, senior Fran Gordon and freshman Heather Heikkila. The Lady Rams now need some of its other runners to move up if they are to move up in the rankings.

Kingsbury led the way for Lake Mary Saturday, finishing 13th with a time of 12:59. The ever steady Gordon came in 19th at 13:23 and Heikkila finished 22nd at 13:30. After Heikkila, the next finisher, Niki Hays, was in 43rd place with a time of 15:14. Lisa Shelby was Lake Mary's fifth runner Saturday as she came in 45th at 15:22. Also running for Lake Mary were Liz Stone (47th at 15:55) and Jodie McCurdy (49th at 15:56).

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots got a pleasant surprise Saturday when Michelle Herbst turned in a 28th place finish and a time of 13:48. It was the first ever cross country race for the Lake Brantley sophomore.

Kim Pucetelli, a junior, led the way for the Lady Patriots as she came in 24th at 13:31. She was followed in the top five by Herbst, Kim Wain (34th at 14:28), Kim Lubenow (35th at 14:30) and Joanne Hayward (38th at 14:38). Karin Sniffin, Brantley's sixth runner, finished 40th at 14:44.

Tampa Leto took the junior varsity title with a team score of 29 followed by Lake Howell at 56, Father Lopez at 91 and Lake Brantley at 120.

Lake Howell had six JV runners in the top 20 including Diane DiMauro (sixth at 14:35), Gwen Lane (10th at 14:50), Kim Hammontree (12th at 14:53), Rochelle Spearman (13th at 14:57), Angie Rector (15th at 15:02) and Terry Gringer (20th at 15:23).

A trio of Lake Brantley freshmen performed well in the junior varsity race. They included Lynn Gomezperalta (14th at 15:01), Kim Vileno (17th at 15:09) and Barbara Pantuso (18th at 15:19).

Taylor's 4 Sacks Befuddle DeBerg

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Sometimes it seems so easy, even Lawrence Taylor himself is surprised.

Sunday was one of those days for Taylor, as the New York Giants All-Pro outside linebacker caused constant mayhem in the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' backfield. Taylor sacked Steve DeBerg four times, made six other tackles and caused a fumble to help the Giants to a 17-14 win.

In his frequent blitzes, Taylor often found himself with a wide open route to the quarterback.

"I was so wide open, I thought they were trying to trick me," Taylor said. "I think DeBerg got kind of confused. I came from a lot of different areas and they always seemed to be wide open. I'm not sure what they were trying to do offensively."

The New York defense not only clamped the Buccaneers' offense, but also gave Phil Simms and the Giants offense excellent field position. All three Giants' scores — two touchdown passes by Simms and a 34-yard All-Haji-Sheikh field goal — came on possessions which started in Tampa Bay territory. "We let them do too much on defense," Bucs coach John McKay said.

"Most teams are right-handed, they line up their tight end on the right," DeBerg said. "Lawrence Taylor is on the left. He just came through."

Taylor set up a second-quarter touchdown when he sacked DeBerg and knocked the ball loose. Giants nose tackle Jim Burt recovered on the Tampa Bay 22 and Simms hit Bobby Johnson for a 20-yard score three plays later to give New York a 10-0 lead with six minutes left in the half.

Most of the Bucs' offense consisted of James Wilder, who rushed for 112 yards on 24 carries and caught four passes for 65 yards. On Tampa Bay's first possession of the second half, Wilder carried 10 times for 72 yards and capped the 83-yard march by diving over from the 1 to make it 10-7.

Jeff Davis moves in for the kill. Davis and Tampa Bay teammates turned in a strong defensive game against the New York Giants Sunday, but an inept offense stalled the Bucs again.

Tribe Swim Teams Open With DeLand

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

With their biggest turnout ever and a number of returnees from last year, the Seminole High swimming teams are looking to be contenders in the Five Star Conference in 1984.

The Tribe, coached by Donalyn Knight, opens the season Tuesday as it hosts DeLand's Bulldogs at 3:30 p.m.

"This is one of the most dedicated teams I've ever had," Knight said of the '84 Seminoles. "We've had to practice at 6 a.m. every weekday morning. We have a new home at Sanora and have had to work around the schedule this month. At the same time, it has proved to be a great show of teamwork and dedication and it will pay off down the road."

This year's boys team will be led by senior Chuck Burgess who has been to the 4A State Meet two years in a row and holds a number of school records. A promising newcomer according to Knight is freshman Jaime Bojanowski.

Mays' Gift Delights Gooden — Garvey, Suit Get Wet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dwight Gooden just about locked up the National League Rookie of the Year award with his 17th victory of the year Sunday.

Every time I see an episode like the one Gooden was involved in the other day, I'm reminded again how Roy Campanella hit it right on the head when he said there has to be some little boy in you in order to be a ballplayer.

You should've seen Gooden's eyes light up when the Mets' 19-year-old pitching marvel was presented with one of Willie Mays' actual bats and informed he was getting it with the personal compliments of his boyhood hero, the Say Hey Kid.

Gooden, who gets more of a charge talking about his modest hitting than he does about his fantastic pitching, could hardly believe it was one of Mays' bats, but it was. He said he wasn't going to use it, but was taking it home to put it up on his mantlepiece instead.

Mays has never met Gooden, who also has shot at the Cy Young Award, but he's looking forward to it.

"I'm anxious to meet him myself and maybe I'll get a chance sometime this week before the season ends," Willie says. "I've been watching him on television and I think he's one of the greatest young pitchers I've ever seen. When I saw him the first part of the season, all he was throwing was fastballs and sliders. But when I saw him the other day, he was throwing breaking balls. Someone's teaching him good."

That someone is Mel Stottlemyre, the Mets' pitching coach, who I'm sure is also working on Gooden's move to first base, which is somewhere between fair to poor, like most pitchers.

It always surprises me how few pitchers, particularly those who throw so hard, never care to put in all the work they obviously should on keeping the baserunners honest.

Offhand, it's hard to think of more than a handful who have exceptionally good moves to first. Atlanta's Craig McMurtry is one, having been helped by Phil Niekro, and Charlie Hough of the Rangers and Ron Darling of the Mets are a couple of others....

Scratch Gene Michael from among the possibilities for the Montreal Expos' managerial job next season.

The chief reason his name has come up for as much speculation as it has because of the regard Murray Cook, the Expos' new general manager, has for him. Cook hasn't asked permission of the Yankees to talk to Michael about the Montreal job nor is it likely he will because, having worked closely enough with Michael during his time with the Yankees, he knows Michael is happy with New York and they're happy with him.

My own personal opinion is that if Cook could get anyone he wanted to manage Montreal, he'd go for Chuck Tanner. Cook and Tanner were at Pittsburgh together six years.

But maybe you remember what Harding Peterson, the Pirates' general manager, said about Tanner sometime back. He said as far as he and the Pirates' ownership were concerned, Tanner could have his present job as long as he likes. Tanner hasn't given any indication he's tired of it despite the fact that by ending up last in their division, the Pirates are making the poorest finish in 20 years....

One way you find out who your friends are is when you're in the hospital, and Muhammad Ali was nearly deluged by all the new friends he discovered he had among the patients during the two days he underwent tests in Presbyterian Hospital's Neurological Institute.

Everyone wanted his autograph and All obliged them all. Come to think of it, I can't ever remember seeing All turn down anybody who asked him for his signature. Some celebrities complain about having to sign their name so many times. All never does.

The tests substantiated the fact All suffers from a form of Parkinson's Disease. He can live with that for years without a whole lot of discomfort, and with the neurosurgical methods they have today, good results generally are obtained in 80 percent of the cases.

The doctors and nurses who attended All called him a jewel of a patient, "one in a million." With all the excitement and entertainment he provided people all over the world, and with all the help he has given the less fortunate, much of which never was publicized, All certainly deserves to spend the rest of his years in untroubled, peaceful relaxation. He has everyone's best wishes....

If the networks are looking around for a good future prospect to do football color commentary for them, Howie Long, the Los Angeles Raiders' fourth year defensive end, would get my vote as an excellent possibility.

Long is bright, articulate and personable. Most important, he relates the same way to people as John Madden does, and you know how successful the former Raiders' coach has been on TV.

Madden has gotten out a book with Dave Anderson, the New York Times' columnist, titled, "Hey, Wait a Minute, I Wrote a Book." I think I'd rather listen to Madden talking football than anyone else on TV because he's such a natural. I enjoyed his book enormously, too....

Joe Klein, the former Texas Rangers' GM, could be a dark horse candidate for the Seattle managing job. Klein, who managed in the minors, is highly thought of by Hal Keller, the Mariners' Vice President of Baseball Operations....

Padres' owner Joan Kroc, club President Ballard Smith and General Manager Jack McKeon all wound up being tossed into the pool at Goose Gossage's home in San Diego when the Padres celebrated their division clincher Thursday night. High spot of the celebration, though, came when first baseman Steve Garvey was thrown in, three-piece suit and all.

Cubs Sweep Cardinals, Need 1 Win

United Press International

They're getting ready to loop the Loop in Chicago.

A victory tonight by the Chicago Cubs over the Pittsburgh Pirates or a loss by the New York Mets to the Philadelphia Phillies will bring the Cubs their first pennant of any kind in 39 years and touch off a city-wide celebration that will make New Year's Eve seem like a high school prom.

Led by Gary Matthews, one of baseball's best clutch hitters, the Cubs swept a double-header from the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-1 and 4-2, Sunday and reduced their magic number to one for clinching the division title.

Matthews delivered the game-winning RBI in each game to raise his NL leading total to 18. He hit a three-run double in the first game and belted a two-run homer in the nightcap as the Cubs regrouped after having suffered a five-game losing streak.

"Gary is a bonafide, legitimate, 100 percent, pure leader," said Chicago manager Jim Frey. "He's done something to this ballclub that I've seen very few do to a team. He gave us the hit that gave us the cushion in the first game and in the second game, he got the home run."

"This was a big day for us. Dennis (Eckersley) pitched a strong game, probably the most important game he's ever pitched. But we still need to win one more. We're not going to celebrate a tie."

Eckersley, 9-8, went seven innings for the victory in the nightcap. He allowed two runs on six hits and struck out four. Lee Smith pitched the final two innings for his 33rd save.

"Victories and runs get my adrenaline going," said Matthews. "Right now, I feel good. I feel confident at the plate and we won the games. That's what it's all about."

Matthews' three-run double sparked a six-run fourth inning and helped Steve Trout, 13-7, to the victory in the opener. Trout allowed seven hits, struck out one and walked one in notching his sixth complete game of the season.

Elsewhere in the NL, New York beat Montreal 6-1, Pittsburgh trimmed Philadelphia 4-2, San Francisco downed Los Angeles 4-2, San Diego edged Atlanta 2-1 and Houston nipped Cincinnati 2-1.

In American League games, Detroit downed New York 4-1, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 5-1, Milwaukee topped Toronto 8-5, Boston beat Baltimore 6-2, Chicago blanked Seattle 4-0, Oakland defeated Kansas City 5-1 and Texas defeated California 2-1 in 10 innings.

Mets 6, Expos 1

At New York, rookie Dwight Gooden won his 17th game and struck out nine to help the Mets complete a sweep of their three-game series. Gooden, starting his final home game of the season, allowed only five hits over eight innings and raised his major-league leading strikeout total to 278. It marked the first time in five starts that he failed to strike out 10 or more batters in a game. Tim Lincecum was 0-for-4 and didn't steal any bases. He still leads Juan Samuel, 71-69.

Pirates 4, Phillies 2

At Pittsburgh, Johnny Ray singled in two runs and John Tudor and two relievers combined on a seven-hitter to pace the Pirates to their sixth consecutive victory. Jason Thompson went 2-for-2 and doubled in the last run in the Pirates' three-run third inning off losing starter Shane Rawley, 10-5. Steve Jeltz homered for Philadelphia.

Giants 4, Astros 2

At San Francisco, rookie George Riley scattered 11 hits over 8 1-3 innings for his first major-league victory to lead the Giants. Riley, 1-0, took a shutout into the ninth before tiring. Gary Lavelle got the last two outs for his 12th save. Rob Deer homered for the Giants.

Padres 2, Braves 1

At San Diego, Kurt Bevacqua stroked a two-out single to score Alan Wiggins from second base with the winning run in the bottom of the 11th to lift the Padres. Greg Booker won his first game, giving up three hits in two innings. Moore started the 10th inning in relief of Craig McMurtry, who allowed only three hits and struck out 11 over nine innings. Rafael Ramirez homered for Atlanta.

Astros 2, Reds 1

At Houston, Bob Knepper pitched a four-hitter and Terry Puhl and Bill Doran hit home runs, enabling the Astros to snap a four-game losing streak. Knepper, 15-10, allowed two walks and struck out six in pitching his 11th complete game of the year. Nick Esasky homered for the Reds.

Whacky West Bewilders Tiger Scouts

United Press International

Not even Lewis & Clark faced the kind of scouting assignment that the Detroit Tigers do. In the early 19th century, Lewis & Clark set out to find a Northwest Passage. That job was nothing compared to the one confronting the Tigers, who must figure out the American League West.

With a week to go in the regular season, the East Division champion Tigers know they will be meeting someone in the AL playoffs. But whom? Kansas City and Minnesota are tied for the West lead, with California only 1 1/2 games back.

In the meantime, the Tigers must scout all three teams, just to be sure they are well informed about the eventual winner. The work begins tonight when the Angels play a double-header in Kansas City while the Twins play Chicago.

"I still think the schedule favors Minnesota," Kansas City second baseman Frank White said Sunday after Oakland dropped the Royals into a first-place tie with a 5-1 decision.

"If we split our games the wrong way, we could both be out of it," White said. "The only way either of us can neutralize Minnesota is to win three or four games in a row."

"We've got guys who have been down this road before," said Kansas City manager Dick Howser. "It'll be a good series. It's going to be a good week. I said back in spring training that I thought it would go down to the final day. That's one of the few things I've been right on this year."

Rickey Henderson singled, doubled and homered, drove in two runs and scored twice for Oakland.

The Twins beat the Cleveland Indians 5-1 to move into a tie for first place. California fell 2-1 in 10 innings to the Texas Rangers.

California has eight games left, while Minnesota and Kansas City have seven apiece. The Angels and Twins will play all remaining games on the road.

At Minneapolis, Randy Bush's two-run, tie-breaking homer in the sixth inning sparked the Twins. Rick Lysander, 4-3, picked up the victory in relief of starter Mike Smithson, who scattered three hits over five innings before leaving with a sore neck. Ron Davis pitched two innings for his 29th save.

"I woke up at 3 o'clock and haven't been to sleep since," Smithson said. "I couldn't throw a breaking ball. I threw a slider in the fourth inning and the pain just shot down my back real bad. I was going to go out there even if I was going to pitch from a chair."

New Twins' owner Carl Pohlad watched the game with the fans in the right field stands, spending about $60 on beer.

"I told them (the vendors) to buy everyone a beer," he said.

At Anaheim, Calif., the Angels were furious with a fan who prevented third baseman Doug DeCinces from catching a foul ball. With a second chance, George Wright lifted a flyball that advanced a key baserunner.

"It cost us the game," said DeCinces. "It was the turning point, for sure. I reached into the stands and I had it all the way coming down. He (the fan) hits my hand and glove. My glove came off and the ball came out. It was intentional."

Tigers 4, Yankees 1

At Detroit, Jack Morris and two relievers combined on a two-hitter to help Sparky Anderson become the first manager to win 100 games for two different teams. Morris, 19-11, allowed two hits over six innings in the Tigers' 100th triumph of the year.

Brewers 6, Blue Jays 5

At Toronto, Doug Loman belted his first two major-league homers to lead the Brewers. Jim Kern, worked 1 1-3 innings of relief for the victory. Ray Searage pitched the final 1 2-3 innings for his sixth save. Roy Lee Jackson, 7-8, took the loss.

Red Sox 6, Orioles 2

At Baltimore, Jim Rice and Tony Armas blasted two-run homers to lead the Red Sox. Armas, the major-leagues' home run leader, drilled his 42nd in the first inning after Rice had doubled off Dennis Martinez, 6-9. Rice's 28th homer came after a single by Wade Boggs in the fifth and touched off a three-run inning.

White Sox 4, Mariners 0

At Chicago, Britt Burns, 4-11, hurled a three-hitter over 8 2-3 innings and Vance Law drove in two runs to guide the White Sox. The victory snapped a five-game Seattle winning streak and moved Chicago past the Mariners into fifth place in the AL West.

Waltrip Wins Old Dominion 500

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — In recent years Junior Johnson-prepared cars have been considered the ones to beat on NASCAR's Grand National short tracks, and Darrell Waltrip only reinforced that feeling at Martinsville Speedway.

Waltrip, the two-time Grand National champion, took the checkered flag at the half-mile track Sunday with one lap on the field in the Old Dominion 500.

He got his one-lap edge with 21 laps remaining in the 500-lap race when he passed runnerup Terry Labonte's Chevrolet in turn two. It was the fourth time this season Labonte has finished second to Waltrip's Chevrolet.

"I had a good opportunity to put him a lap down and I didn't want to lose it," Waltrip said after earning $38,300.

Waltrip, 37, was never challenged after taking the lead for the first time on lap 187. He led twice for 313 laps, including the final 238, averaging 75.532 mph in a race slowed by eight caution flags for 40 laps. There were 11 lead changes among eight drivers.

"Will you tell me something?" Richard Petty asked. "Was there any excitement in this race?"

NASCAR

There was no wrecks, no nothing."

Bill Elliott took third in a Ford, also one lap behind Waltrip. Two laps off the pace in fourth was Harry Gant in a Chevrolet. Neil Bonnett, also in a Chevrolet, finished fifth.

Waltrip's biggest problem was a slick track.

"It was hot and slick," Waltrip said. "The track conditions were the worst I've ever seen."

Waltrip said several cars dropped oil and grease onto the track, making it slippery.

"It's just incredible," Waltrip said. "I've never raced on a track so slick that's got rubber and oil and you just can't hook up to it very well at all. Going into turn three, you could go down there with a shovel and dig up an inch of pure rubber mixed with oil."

"We were very fortunate to anticipate this kind of condition. We didn't run good to start with but the track wasn't the way we wanted it. When the track came around, then we came around. It was a great day."

For Waltrip, it was his sixth win this year, his seventh at Martinsville, and his 63rd career victory.

In the last 10 years, Johnson's cars have won eight of 20 races at Martinsville. Overall during that time frame, Johnson's cars have won 45 of 99 short track races and 56 of 137 since 1971. Since 1978, his cars have won 44 of 89 races on tracks of less than a mile.

Despite Waltrip's dominance Sunday, the standings for the national championship show him in fourth place, 215 points behind Labonte with five races remaining. And Waltrip didn't hesitate to take a stab at NASCAR's point system.

"I think the man who wins the most money and the most races ought to be the champion," said Waltrip, who leads both categories. "It just needs to be if you win, you win and if you lose, you lose."

"I would much rather say whoever wins the most races is the champion. I have argued this point for five years."

Under the current system, a race winner receives 175 points. Five bonus points are awarded to each driver who leads a lap and five additional points to the driver leading the most laps.

Knights Go For 2, Pull Out 35-34 Win

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — After all the frustration Lou Saban has encountered this football season, he probably figured he had one good thing coming.

Make that two good things. Dana Thyhsen tossed a two-point conversion to tightend Glenn Combs Saturday to hand the University of Central Florida Knights their first victory of the season, an exhilarating 35-34 victory over Western Kentucky.

"To win it the way we did was extra special to us," said Saban after the game. "Dana did a great job of directing the drive and then came up with the clutch play at the end."

Thyhsen, who has been hobbled by knee and ankle injuries the past two weeks, returns to top form Saturday. With the Knights trailing, 34-27, the 6-3 DeLand product put together a 70-yard march to the Western Kentucky 21-yard line.

With just 49 seconds remaining, Thyhsen drilled a pass to Ted Wilson for six points. He then followed up with the two-pointer to give UCF its first win after losses to Bethune-Cookman, Northeast Louisiana and Georgia Southern. The Knights travel to Southwest Texas State Saturday.

Thyhsen finished the day with 18 completions in 36 attempts for 186 yards. Freshman halfback Robert Ector was his favorite target, snaring seven passes for 81 yards. Elgin Davis, slowed somewhat by an ankle sprain, shook off his bad wheel to gain 107 yards in 24 carries.

Western Kentucky, 0-3, jumped to a quick 14-0 lead on a seven-yard TD run by halfback Glendell Miller and a 59-yard scoring toss from Scott Travis to Arnold Grier.

In the second quarter, UCF's Maury Parker picked off a Travis aerial to set up Thyhsen's first TD of the day. Thyhsen hit Ector two plays later for a 23-yard score to pull the Knights within 14-7.

Another Western Kentucky mistake resulted in UCF's second score. Kim Nixon, a converted running back, recovered a fumble in WK territory and two plays later, Ed O'Brien boomed a 39-yard field goal.

Western Kentucky, nevertheless, regrouped as Travis hit Jones three straight times with the last one setting up Jack McKenzie's 47-yard field goal for a 17-10 halftime lead.

Noseguard Darrell Rudd led the defensive charge with nine tackles.

FSU Starts Bowl Talk After Rout Of Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — Suddenly, the Miami Hurricanes are a team in trouble.

After going into Saturday's pivotal game with the Florida State Seminoles ranked ninth in the nation with only one loss in four games, the defending national champions are now looking like a so-so outfit with a 3-2 record and an uncertain future.

In contrast, the unbeaten Seminoles could crack the top 10 this week and they're already talking bowls — including the Orange Bowl — in the wake of Saturday's stunning 38-3 victory over the Hurricanes.

The loss left the Miami players numb, and the coaches searching for answers and something to pin hope on.

"I think this team has the character to come back from this," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said Sunday. "There's no question they were hungrier than we were. We've got to get that hungry feeling back. We will get that hungry feeling back."

"What's disturbing is that our best play is coming from our younger players. After checking out the films this morning the player who graded out the best was freshman (defensive lineman) Derwin Jones," he said.

"It's a concern when some of the freshmen are playing better than the older players. We've got to get better play from our seniors."

Much of the bowl talk in the Seminole camp was coming from Gov. Bob Graham.

"I just saw Hootie (FSU Athletic Director Hootie Ingram). He's already talking to Orange Bowl people. We hope to see you back here Jan. 1," Graham said.

At any rate, the immediate future looks good for both teams. On Saturday, the Seminoles are home to Temple (2-1) which ambushed Pitt 13-12 Saturday and will be favored.

The Hurricanes also rate the favorite's role against Rice (1-1) in the Orange Bowl. Rice defeated Lamar 36-19 Saturday.

ing the way for Lyman was sophomore Mike Mohler who came in 16th at 17:50. Steve Grundorf also finished in the top 20 as the Lyman senior came in 17th at 17:55.

nated the junior varsity race, as the Long Red Row had the top 12 runners. The top Seminole County performers included Lake Mary's Eric Peterson (13th at 19:55), Lyman's Kevin Quinn (16th at 19:00), Lake Mary's Anthony Subles (18th at 19:05) and Lyman's Robin Rogers (20th at 19:08).

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Martina Needs Just 38 Minutes To Run Winning Streak To 60

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Martina Navratilova, taking a mere 38 minutes to defeat Michelle Torres 6-1, 6-0, walked away from a $150,000 tennis tournament with a record winning streak of 60 matches.

Torres, a 17-year-old from Chicago competing in her first final, was the last of five singles opponents Navratilova faced in the tournament, which concluded Sunday.

Navratilova, the world's No. 1 woman player, broke Chris Evert Lloyd's 10-year-old record for most consecutive match victories in the first round of the tournament, the Lynda Carter-Maybelline Tennis Classic.

"It became apparent early that she wasn't going to hurt me," Navratilova said. "I watched (Torres) in warmup and she stood way back. I was able to use the drop shot a lot. I won every point in which I used the drop shot."

"The court was so slow, which was good for me. I was able to roll the ball and get short angles."

Navratilova won $30,000.

McEnroe Collects $40,000 Prize

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John McEnroe practically won the $200,000 San Francisco Open by default, when most of the other top stars on the men's pro tennis circuit decided not to play here, and that's perfectly all right with him.

"I've been on a high since the U.S. Open (which he won)," McEnroe said. "What I'm happiest the most about winning here is the way I played. I'm exhausted but I'm happy because my game is at a high level."

McEnroe played five matches in five days to claim the San Francisco title, wrapping up Brad Gilbert, 6-4, 6-4, Sunday night to win $40,000.

"I didn't serve as well as I would have liked," McEnroe said of his match with Gilbert, "but well enough to beat him."

Other Watson Has Hot Putter

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The hottest golfer on the PGA circuit these days is a guy named Watson, but it isn't Tom. It's a Rhodessaian by the name of Denis.

Denis Watson, who never finished higher than second place in three years on the PGA tour prior to 1984, has won three times in less than two months.

His latest victory came Sunday when he shot a 3-under-par 68 for a one-stroke victory in a $1.1 million PGA tournament.

The event is known as the Panasonic Las Vegas Invitational.

Watson, who won the Buick Open Aug. 12 and the World Series of Golf Aug. 26, picked up a check for $182,000 for his Las Vegas victory. His winnings for his first three years on the tournament trail totaled $167,528.

Watson shot a birdie on the final hole of the five-day, 90-hole tournament to finish with a 15-under-par, 341 total, one shot ahead of Andy Bean.

The victory moved Watson from No. 9 on this year's PGA money list to No. 2, about $65,000 behind the other Watson, who has collected $471,185 so far this year.

Steady Alcott Takes San Jose

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — It's been a great year on the LPGA tour for Amy Alcott, but it would have been greater had she won the U.S. Open.

Her final shot in the Open was still on her mind Sunday when Alcott won the $175,000 San Jose Classic to close out the tour in this country for 1984.

Alcott shot a steady 1-under-par 72 Sunday to win the San Jose tournament by two strokes over Pat Meyers, Kathy Whitworth, Betsy King and Beverly Klass, and finish with a 54-hole score of 8-under-par 211.

"It was a great week," said Alcott. "In fact, I played well all year, but the biggest letdown of my career came in the Open. One bad swing on the last hole cost me the tournament. Since then, though, I've been determined to play the best that I could."

As for the San Jose event, Alcott, who won $28,250, said patience paid off.

'Kemp's Kid' Establishes Identity With 24-24 Victory Over Bengals

United Press International

For all of his four years in the National Football League, he has been referred to simply as "Jack Kemp's kid." On Sunday, Jeff Kemp began to establish an identity of his own.

Kemp, signed as a free agent out of Dartmouth four years ago, was handed the starting quarterback job for the Los Angeles Rams this week after Vince Ferragamo suffered a broken finger. He turned in a solid performance in his first NFL start Sunday, connecting with Olympic gold medalist Ron Brown on a 52-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter to snap a 7-7 tie and lead the Rams to a 24-14 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals.

The son of former pro quarterback and current U.S. Congressman Jack Kemp hit 13-of-23 passes for 205 yards as his father, prominently mentioned as a presidential candidate for 1988, watched from the stands at Riverfront Stadium.

"I feel great. This is one of the most gratifying things in my life," the young quarterback said after the game. "I felt comfortable out there and it was fun. It was really special because my father was here."

"And I think today is a big step in the right direction for our team. I sense we're getting better."

"This is a very big win because some people thought we were in trouble after losing two of our first three and also losing our quarterback," said Rams coach John Robinson. "It was just a helluva performance on Jeff's part. For his first start, he was very efficient. Plus, it's a satisfying win because a lot of players contributed."

With the score tied at 7-7, Kemp lofted a 52-yard pass to Brown, who raced past defender Ray Horton and made a diving, twisting catch at the goal line to give Los Angeles a 14-7 lead with 2:01 left in the third period.

Dolphins 44, Colts 7

Dan Marino threw two TD passes to Mark Duper, including an 80-yarder, and unbeaten Miami rolled over Indianapolis. The 80-yarder came in the second period with the score tied 7-7 and the Dolphins were never challenged after that. Uwe von Schamann kicked a 27-yard field goal. Duper caught a 5-yard TD pass to make the score 23-7 at the half and Don McNeal picked off a deflected pass and returned it 11 yards for another score.

Redskins 26, Patriots 10

John Riggins scored his 100th career touchdown and ran for 140 yards and Mark Moseley kicked four field goals to lead Washington over New England. Riggins became only the fifth player in NFL history to score 100 TDs as he drove over from 13 yards out in the first period for the game's first score. Riggins also became Washington's all-time career rushing leader, passing Larry Brown's 5,875-yard total by 22 yards.

49ers 21, Eagles 9

Matt Cavanaugh, subbing for the injured Joe Montana, fired three TD passes, including a 51-yarder to Dwight Clark, to lift unbeaten San Francisco over Philadelphia. Cavanaugh hit Roger Craig with a 35-yard TD pass and fired a 2-yard TD strike to Freddie Solomon with 12 seconds left in the half to give San Francisco a 14-6 lead.

Saints 34, Cardinals 24

Wayne Wilson caught a 30-yard TD pass from Richard Todd midway through the final period to carry New Orleans past St. Louis. Wilson also scored on a 34-yard option pass from Hokie Gajan. The other Saint scores were a 15-yard pass from Todd to Hoby Brenner and field goals of 25 and 29 yards by Morten Andersen. Frank Waitelet returned a fumble 22 yards for a score on the game's final play to give the Saints their 10-point winning margin.

Seahawks 38, Bears 9

Dave Krieg ran 3 yards for one score and hit Eric Lane on a 55-yard pass for another to carry Seattle over Chicago. Walter Payton produced most of the offense for the previously unbeaten Bears, rushing for 116 yards to push his career total to 12,091. With his third straight 100-yard game, Payton moved past Seattle's Franco Harris into second place on the NFL career rushing list. Payton is just 221 yards shy of Jim Brown's NFL record of 12,312 yards. Payton also figured in Chicago's only score, throwing a 3-yard TD pass to Matt Suhey.

Browns 20, Steelers 10

Paul McDonald's second TD pass, a 3-yarder to Durtel Harris 11 seconds into the fourth quarter, broke a 10-10 tie and Cleveland's three-game losing streak as the Browns beat Pittsburgh. McDonald hit 15-of-28 for 293 yards and two TDs. Pittsburgh's David Woodley was only 9-of-25 for 152 yards.

Jets 28, Bills 26

Pat Ryan threw three TD passes to Wesley Walker, including the 35-yard game winner in the fourth period, as the Jets beat winless Buffalo. The Jets' 21 point outburst in the second quarter gave them a 21-10 halftime lead after Buffalo led 10-0 in the first 15 minutes. Walker's TD catches were for 12, 44 and 35 yards.

Falcons 42, Oilers 10

Steve Bartkowski fattened his league-leading passing statistics by hitting 11-of-13 passes for 195 yards and three TDs while leading Atlanta to its rout of Houston. Gerald Riggs rushed for 120 yards and two TDs and Jeff Jackson scored on a 35-yard interception return to help the Falcons hand the Oilers their NFL record 20th consecutive road loss.

Cowboys 20, Packers 6

Everson Walls and Michael Downs highlighted a defensive effort that allowed Dallas to survive a bland offensive showing and defeat Green Bay. Walls intercepted two passes and Downs recorded two sacks and blocked an extra point attempt from his safety position in sparking the Cowboys to their third victory in four games.

Broncos 21, Chiefs 0

Sammy Winder ran for 139 yards and Denver's inspired defense stopped Kansas City. Winder had a 6-yard scoring run early in the second period and Rick Parros added a 3-yard TD run before halftime after John Elway, who was 18-of-30 for 176 yards, hit Steve Watson on key passes.

Vikings 29, Lions 28

Chris Martin scooped up a blocked punt return and ran 8 yards for a score to back a five field goal day by 40-year-old Jan Stenerud and lead Minnesota over Detroit. Stenerud's fourth field goal, a 34-yarder, gave Minnesota a 26-21 lead. His fifth field goal, a 19-yarder, made it 29-21. Gary Danielson had four TD passes for Detroit.

his teammates to "hold them, hold them." It was a courageous gesture.

But the Patriots couldn't hold them. When Marn was hurt, Charlie Lucarelli had rambled for seven yards to the eight-yard line. Mike Schmit lost a yard on a rollout, but then Nelson made a change which won him the game.

Hartsfield, a shifty and quick runner, was substituted for Schmit, the passer. The 5-7, 155-pounder rolled right, faking a pass. Actually, he had the option to throw or run, but Ray usually chooses the latter.

Again, he made the right decision. He jettied around the corner and just survived a gang-tackling job at the goal line for the TD. "That's the same play we scored our first touchdown on against DeLand," pointed out Nelson.

Although Hartsfield's run won it for the Rams, it was again a strong showing by the offensive line which made it possible. Tackles Mike Galvani and Jay Gilliland combined with center Scott McCaskill and guards Tony Del Rocco and Jeff Reynolds to pave the way for Lucarelli, Murray and Underwood. Lake Mary again rushed for over 200 yards.

When the hitting was finally done, Lake Brantley coach David Tullis was still overwhelmed by the intensity. "This was a big game," he said. "And it turned out to be a great game. But we really got the support of our students and teachers and administrators. It was great all week."

Among the leaders of the girls team are senior returnees Stacy Juntio and Dana Ray. Both were consistent performers a year ago and Knight is looking for another strong year from Juntio and Ray. Shawna Cole, a junior, and Kristy Keeling, a sophomore, also return from last year's team to strengthen Seminole's chances for the '84 season. Other members of the Lady Seminole include Karissa Clark, Kristy Williams, Chris Sparrow, Paula Volpi, Leanne Sundvall, Lynette Jacobs, Cathy Ruso, Julie Archambault, Alicia Huaman, Cindy Phillips and Suzi Nye.

"We're excited about the season ahead," Knight said. "The swimmers have worked hard, have great attitudes and a very competitive spirit. They're ready for an exciting season with some pleasant surprises for sure."

Assisting coach Knight this season is Dennis Hayes, who has been working with the diving program which Knight said should also show considerable improvement.

Seminole was scheduled to open the season last week against Colonial, but Colonial didn't show up and Seminole's boys and girls teams won by forfeit.

Costa Rica Orange Groves Soon To Enter The U.S. Market

By United Press International

An expatriate citrus grower who moved to Costa Rica in search of better growing conditions says the country soon could be an important factor in the U.S. citrus market. Jim Boudet, who spent nearly two decades working in Florida's citrus industry, said Costa Rica could become one of the top five citrus producing countries within 10 years. Boudet is founder and primary stockholder of Contico, a firm that is growing 6,000 acres of oranges and limes in Costa Rica. He said the sheltered groves offer a rosy future ensured by a year-round growing climate, plentiful rainfall and a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour.

Boudet said his 3-year-old orange trees are the size of 5-year-old trees grown in Florida.

In contrast, the prospects of Florida's citrus industry, lately stricken by the dreaded citrus canker, are spiraling downward, Boudet said.

Executed Killer's Funeral Held

QUINCY (UPI) — A minister who conducted the funeral of executed killer James Dupree Henry said society has smothered the commandment "Thou shall not kill" and produced leaders who favor the death penalty.

About 65 mourners gathered under a blue canopy Sunday in the Gadsden County cemetery for the funeral of the 34-year-old killer who died Thursday in Florida's electric chair.

Henry was executed for strangling Zelle Riley, an 81-year-old Orlando civil rights activist.

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told the predominantly black group of mourners the death penalty has racist and economic overtones. He said society is to blame for executions and for producing leaders who favor the death penalty.

Fonda, Olivier Take Top Acting Awards; Hill Street Blues In Tie At Emmys Show

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jane Fonda as a poor Appalachian mother and Sir Laurence Olivier as King Lear won the top acting awards, and "Hill Street Blues" tied as the most honored series in history at the 36th annual Emmys show Sunday night.

NBC, which finished last season third in the ratings, narrowly won the Emmys race with 20 awards. CBS was a close second with 18, followed by ABC with 16, PBS with 10 and independently syndicated shows with five.

"Hill Street Blues" — television's most acclaimed series of the '80s — picked up five Emmys this year for best drama series, directing, film editing and two supporting performances. That gave it a total of 26, tying the record set by "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

"Cheers" won four Emmys, including best comedy series and Rhea Perlman as supporting actress for her role as a sarcastic barmaid. The comedy also won awards for writing and film editing.

Despite the success of the two NBC series, the stars of the shows failed to win any of the lead actor or actress Emmys.

Tom Selleck, host of the Emmys telecast, won for best actor in a drama series in his third try as the macho but whimsical star of CBS' "Magnum, P.I."

"I didn't have a speech prepared for this," said the surprised Selleck.

John Ritter won in his third try for "Three's Company," which ended its run last season.

"I wish my dad was here tonight so I could show off," Ritter said in a reference to his father, cowboy singing star Tex Ritter.

Tyne Daly of "Cagney and Lacey" won best actress in a drama series for the second straight year. One of the losers was her colleague on the show, Sharon Gleason.

Jane Curtin won best actress in a comedy series for "Kate & Allie." One of the losers was her costar, Susan Saint James.

Fonda, who won best actress Oscars for "Kluge" and "Coming Home," took the Emmy in her first television movie, ABC's "The Dollmaker," playing a farm woman trying to keep her family together in the big city. She earlier said she had dismissed TV as inferior to film but recently changed her mind because of her potential impact on larger audiences.

"It was 12 years in the making," Fonda said of her movie. "All that time, the thing that worried me most was I afraid I couldn't play Gertie right."

Olivier won his fifth Emmy for "King Lear," a syndicated production.

Pat Harrington Jr. was named best supporting actor in a comedy series for his role as a janitor and would-be family member in the departed "One Day at a Time" on CBS.

"I've been wanting one of these things for 30 years, ever since I was a child actor," Harrington said in accepting the Emmy, which came on his first nomination.

"Something About Amelia," the ABC film about incest that broke one of the last TV taboos, was named best drama special and won a total of three Emmys. Roxana Zal, 14, won a supporting actress Emmy for her role as the sexually abused daughter.

Ari Carney, who won the best actor Oscar for "Harry and Tonto" 10 years ago and won five Emmys as Jackie Gleason's sidekick in "The Honeymooners," won for his supporting role as Jimmy Cagney's fight manager on "Terrible Joe Moran" on CBS.

Bruce Woltz of "Hill Street Blues" won for the first time in four tries for his continuing role as the snarling Detective Mick Belker. One of the losers was the late Michael Conrad, a fellow regular on the series who won last year shortly before he died of cancer.

Teen-Age 'Tootsie' Likes Wearing Women's Clothes

DEAR ABBY: Recently I went away for a week. Before leaving, I hired a neighbor's 17-year-old son to look after my dog, plants and mail. I've known this boy and his family for about 10 years and felt that he could be trusted with my home and possessions.

Dear Abby

When I returned home a day ahead of schedule, I got the surprise of my life when I walked in and found my house sitter all decked out in my best clothes — high heels, makeup, wig, the works! He explained that he liked to dress up in women's clothes, and he didn't think I'd mind.

I not only "minded," I was furious! He was even wearing my underwear, including a brand-new slip I had never worn. I ordered him to get out of my clothing immediately, then I phoned his mother. When I told her about her son, she made a joke of it. I demanded that she pay to have my clothes cleaned, but she refused and said I was making too big a deal over a small thing.

Abby, this is no small thing to me. I feel that my privacy has been invaded, and I can't bear the thought of putting those clothes on until everything has been dry-cleaned or laundered.

As for my neighbor's 17-year-old "Tootsie," I think he needs counseling. Am I wrong?

ANGRY IN COOPERSTOWN, N.Y.

DEAR ANGRY: No. The boy or his family should comply with your demands. And if "Tootsie" has trouble accepting himself for what he is (a transvestite), he needs counseling.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I prefer big women. I can't tell you why, but I've always found big women very appealing. I am 22, outgoing and athletic. I'm 5 feet 9 inches tall, with curly black hair and blue eyes, and women consider me attractive.

I've been secretly dating big beautiful women for about three years now. I always take them to out-of-the-way places because I'm afraid if my friends saw me with them, they'd probably think I was "sick" or some kind of weirdo.

Are there others like me? Or do you think I'm sick?

V. IN WEST NYACK, N.Y.

DEAR V.: I wouldn't call you "sick"; immature would be a more appropriate description.

Mature people realize that tastes vary, and they are not in the least concerned about what their friends think. And yes, many men prefer voluptuous women and are proud to be seen with them.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure this letter won't be printed, but so what? At least I will have let off some steam. It concerns the letter about the truck driver who wants to get married. The stupid, selfish idiot! There isn't a man worth his salt who would marry a woman and then go trucking.

My husband and I are a truck-driving team and we did not become that until we were in our 50s. We've been married for many years, and this is a present to ourselves. We've always wanted to drive an 18-wheeler. Truck driving is no job for a man who can't take his wife along.

As for "Lady Trucker from Michigan," who suggests a man trucker should team up with a woman trucker to keep from getting too lonesome — she doesn't give a tinker's damn if she walks on the heart of a trucker's wife. Tramps like her are a dime a dozen. I hope she gets kicked in the head by some of her joy-boy drivers. Maybe that will knock some sense into her. Sign this...

Suffering From Lack Of Energy? See Doctor

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman, 24, with three children; the oldest is 5. Could you please tell me why I'm so tired all the time? I usually get 10 to 11 hours of sleep at night, but I'm so tired all day that I could easily lie down and take a nap.

Ever since I had my third child, about 14 months ago, I've had very little appetite. I only eat once a day, maybe twice, and that's forcing it. Usually I just have something like a hamburger or a sandwich, and I don't drink many liquids, either. I'm 5 foot 2 and weigh 130. Would my being overweight drain my energy?

About two years ago, I was into full-time exercise and weightlifting. My weight was 110. Could my lack of exercise be my problem? Am I anemic or do I need more rest? I do not take any vitamins.

DEAR READER — You need a medical examination as a first step to solving your problem. While eight out of 10 people who complain of fatigue do not have a medical problem, two out of 10 do. And I don't think you need more rest if you sleep well for 10 to 11 hours a night.

Your fatigue could be due to your poor nutrition. Your description is not of a balanced diet, and it suggests the possibility of a deficiency in vitamins, minerals and essential nutrients. Poor nutrition can make a person tired.

Why have you gained weight if you consume so few calories? That deserves investigation. You could have developed a low thyroid function, which can cause fatigue and will result in weight gain even if one consumes few calories.

Severe anemia can cause fatigue, but most cases of fatigue have some other cause. You also must consider the possibility of being depressed. Depression will decrease your appetite and cause fatigue.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What special dietary consideration do you recommend for a person who tends to have a low thyroid condition? I am 51 and have had low thyroid levels several times, but not low enough to require medication. This must be hereditary, since three of my siblings also have, or had, low thyroid function. We are of 100 percent Swiss descent, though American-born. It is my understanding that low thyroid function is a problem in parts of Switzerland.

DEAR READER — If your thyroid gland does not produce enough thyroid hormone, then the only good solution is to

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
In addition to knowing the right play, sometimes you have to know the level of your opponent's expertise. Although aggressively bid, six clubs was a decent contract. Barring a bad break in clubs (all four with West), the slam makes if spades are 3-3, or if South loses only one diamond.

How do you play three small diamonds opposite the A-J-9 to lose only one trick? For declarer to be successful, West must hold K-Q, K-10 or Q-10. Since there are two ways for West to hold an honor with the 10 and only one way for him to hold the K-Q, the best play is to lead toward dummy, intending to insert the nine. Declarer won the heart ace, drew trumps and tested the spades. When they failed to split, he trumped the fourth spade and led a diamond. By this time West could tell defeating six clubs required declarer to lose two diamond tricks. So he put up the diamond king. South returned to his hand with a club and played another diamond. When West played low, declarer had to ask himself how much his opponent knew.

A beginner would not play the king from K-10; an expert would always play it. If you place West in between the two, go with percentages and insert the nine. This time you'd be right.
