

French People Plan To Do Financial Penance To Help In Step To Stabilize Franc

PARIS, July 21.—The holders of French government and city bonds and other French obligations payable in paper will contribute, in addition to the taxes they pay, something between 50,000,000,000 and 100,000,000,000 francs to the financial settlement of the war if the franc is stabilized and revalorized as now contemplated by the minister of finances at a rate somewhere between 25 and 40 per cent of the gold value. This will be the permanent shrinkage in the purchasing value of the paper franc from which there will be no appeal.

The peasant, servant, clerk, retired merchant retired officer whose savings are, as a rule, invested in government securities will be no worse off than they are today, but their loan will be definitely concentrated.

M. Caillaux refuses to fix any specific rate at which he hopes to stabilize the franc, but the "average Frenchman" has firmly become convinced that the minister's warning to the French people that "the hour of financial penance is at hand" is fraught with dire consequences to their pockets and to their investments. Rumors persist that M. Caillaux is ready to accept the present value of the franc in relation to gold at about 25 centimes. This would mean that the 277,000,000,000 francs of government bonds outstanding would be really worth only about 69,250,000,000 francs; that is to say, the purchasing power of the franc being reduced to a fourth of its face value; the income from the bonds would suffer a permanent depreciation of 75 per cent. All the information obtainable in official circles, however, indicates that the revalorization of the franc will be undertaken only after a serious effort has been made to improve its exchange value to approximately 70 to the pound and 14 to the dollar. These rates are recognized in French financial and economic circles as representing the real value of the paper franc. In that case the 277,000,000,000 francs of government obligations would be worth 92,000,000,000 francs gold.

The net shrinkage with a franc at 14 to the dollar would be 187 billion; at 20 to the dollar, it would be 211 billion, on the face value of the bonds. The franc was already depreciated, however, when the most of these bonds were subscribed. It has been estimated that the subscribers put up the equivalent of 60 centimes gold of 60 per cent of the face value so that the real shrinkage, compared with the value when purchased, would be around 60,000,000,000 francs in one case and 86,000,000,000 in the other.

In the most favorable hypothesis the peasant, servant, retired officer or clerk will contribute to payment for the war twenty times more than he has been received from Germany on reparations account and many times more than the "average Frenchman" expects Germany will ever pay.

The principal victims of the revalorization are awaiting their fate with the resignation of the helpless. The peasants, who are generally supposed to be the greatest sufferers in such an operation, and who thus far have paid little in the way of direct taxes, are guaranteed in a way by the readjustment of prices.

France is going to do something about her debts. That's the trouble with debts. You must do something.

Music Is Developing American Manhood

Boys' Camp Director Ranks Melody With Athletics As Educational Influence

Music and out-door sports are the headline pastimes of American youth, says Paul Pearce, owner of Camp Ha Ya Ya for boys in Harrison, Maine, and one of the most famous directors of boys' activities in the country.

"Music is more than half of camp life and as important as athletics in the development of American manhood," asserts Mr. Pearce. "At our camp, we have a pianist to play between courses at meals, so much a part of our schedule do we make music.

Camp Song

"I do not need to emphasize the place the camp song occupies in the affections of our lads. Every body who has ever visited a camp and heard the boys shout lustily the strains of their favorite popular piece, can testify to the song loves of youngsters. They make up their own verses, which encourages originality and ingenuity. Two years ago they sang 'You We Have No Bananas, with infinite parodies. Last year, it was 'It Ain't Gonna Rain No More,' and this year it is 'My Gal Don't Love Me Any More,' which abounds in possibilities for impromptu verses.

Simple Tunes

"All of these songs have the simplest kind of tune but one that you remember the first time you hear it and find yourself whistling in the bath tub.

"It's good for licks, too, with a marching rhythm. Do you know that we use as much care in selecting a song leader as we do in choosing a competent equestrian director, or nature teacher or tennis instructor? Music is getting to be a real part of the modern boy's education and it's my belief he is going to turn out something good in the way of composition some of these days as a result."

IN 1865, Virginians did not roll down their sleeves. They turned patiently to the task of making ashes into gold. And now, on the battlefield of a great war, the corn is exceedingly deep.

Virginia, the anvil on which nations have been wrought, is ringing with the sound of industry and the forge is bright—but no brighter than the new day that has broken in her skies.

The value of manufactured products in Virginia increased from $108,600,000 in 1900 to more than $650,000,000 in 1920. In diversity of the products from farm lands, mines and from her waters, Virginia presents a dazzling array of wealth, present and potential. Consequently, she is also a market of very wide possibilities for our products. She is near at hand. Our salesmen and our goods can reach her without great cost for transportation.

Her newspapers offer a quick and ready entrance to the attention of her buyers. Through them we can reach this "New Dominion" whose present prosperity is but a faint portent of the vast development yet to come.

Those Real Emblems of Success

The Miami Tribune has the temerity to assert that the American people don't adore their dollars above all else. The Tribune insists that it is no longer a man's wealth that tell the measure of his success. And because The Tribune is speaking truth from one strong viewpoint, the remarks it makes on the subject are decidedly good.

"It was not many years," the Miami paper explains, "since a man's wealth was the measure of his success. His dollar told the story.

"Today educators, philosophers, scientists, and the world economists believe that achievement is rapidly taking the place of money as the emblem of success. People marvel at Henry Ford rather because of the millions of motor cars he has produced than on account of his enormous fortune.

"Rockefeller, senior, used to be famous mainly as the world's richest man. In time his dollar will be eclipsed by his organizing genius and his wisdom in spending millions for medical research and education.

"Success," the Tribune concludes "is not so much a matter of results, but in character, and doing the best we can with limited abilities and opportunities. Life is a spiritual gymnasium, not a Klondike or prize fight."

Living in Miami where the man with money has always been able to buy his way into any company. The Tribune editorialist yet knows that he is speaking to many readers who will agree that things "ought" to be as he says, as any rate. And undoubtedly the values are beginning to appeal to more and more people.

But it is still the Almighty Dollar, the Tribune man back to earth will agree, that rules the world. Greedy hearts, willing to sacrifice all else for a money hoard, really could not read with understanding that Tribune editorial.

"Service" is one of the new words in the language. "Service" and "Stewardship" are the terms that men and women are only beginning to learn. It is still only the occasional man and woman who has sense enough to see the "emblem of success" in achievements in which money has had no part at all.

Men who class material far ahead of spiritual values must feel just awful when they learn that in their best physical condition they would only be worth about ninety-nine cents to the junk man.

According to no less an authority than Dr. Charles Mayo, eminent surgeon of Rochester, Minnesota, the human body contains enough fat to make about seven cakes of soap. And the chemical elements in a good specimen of the adult human being consist of "iron enough for a medium-sized nail; sugar enough to fill a salt shaker; lime enough to whiten a chicken coop; phosphorus enough to make up the tips of 2,200 matches; magnesium enough for a dorse of magnesia; potassium enough to expose a toy cannon; and sulphur enough to rid a dog of fleas."

These chemical ingredients, Dr. Mayo asserts, would have a commercial value of only ninety-nine cents. So, after all, the real worth of some of the folks you know is just about what you thought it was.

Reports this morning indicated that a large number of tickets have been sold for the benefit dance to be given tonight at the city hall by officials of the Sanford Baseball Club of the Florida State League as a means of raising additional funds for the support of the Celery-Feds.

Many of the people who have purchased tickets were looking forward with keen anticipation of the event which, like the one staged last week, is expected to be a very enjoyable occasion.

Plans for the dance, it was said this evening, have been completed and a large number of Sanford people are expected to attend tonight when Joe Reizenstein's orchestra with George W. Brookhahn at the piano will render the music for the occasion.

Betty Compson And Jack Holt Come To Milane Thursday

"There's screen history in the Paramount picture, 'Eve's Secret,' which comes to the Milane Theatre on Thursday of this week. It gives film fans their first opportunity of seeing Betty Compson and Jack Holt, two of Paramount's most popular stars, in the same cast. Both are so-starrred in the production in parts said to present them at their best, but are also claimed to have an opportunity to cut loose with everything they have," declared Manager J. L. Marett of the theater this morning.

"Betty is given every opportunity. First she is seen as a pretty and lovable peasant girl. Then fate reaches out. She has wealth, and she lavishes it in surrounding that team with richness. She is seen in a procession of glittering modish gowns.

"Holt appears in an entirely new type of role. It is something he has never done before and should mark the beginning of a new fan following for him. He steps wide of his splendid portrayals in 'Wanderer of the Wasteland,' 'North of 36,' and 'The Thundering Herd.' He completely forgets his chaps and spurs, his sombrero and his holster, but in his pocket rests his faithful gun. And he uses it. Not as a westerner but as a European aristocrat with a great reputation as a successful duelist.

"The story, adapted to the screen by Adelaide Heilbron from the stage play, 'The Moon-Flower,' in which Elsie Ferguson starred, is one of a Duke who falls in love with a peasant girl, sends her to Paris to be educated, intent on making her his wife, and then has to fight to keep her for himself.

William Collier, Jr., recently seen in 'The Devil's Cargo,' heads the strong supporting cast. Clarence Badger, who made 'New Lives for Old,' directed."

Brazil Carrying Out Road Improvements

BELLE HORIZONTE, Brazil, July 21.—A boom has struck the development of state highways in the state of Minas Geraes. The head of the highway commission reports that public expenditures for good roads during 1924 totalled $350,000 and that improvements planned for 1925 will require an additional $500,000. If completed according to present plans, the state highway system will include 8,500 miles of good roads. The state has a population of 6,000,000.

So few are the good roads in Minas Geraes that it has been impossible to motor from Belle Horizonte, the capital, to any neighboring state. Three roads are being worked at present, one headed towards the cocoa district of Brazil and the other two towards Rio de Janeiro.

Englishmen Wants To Climb Mountain Again

LONDON, July 21.—Addressing the Royal Geographical Society's anniversary meeting, the president, the Earl of Ronaldshay, said neither the members of the late Mount Everest Expedition, nor of the Mount Everest committee were prepared to admit defeat with regard to the conquest of Everest.

The prospect of putting the matter to the final test, he said, depended upon the willingness, or otherwise, of the Tibetan Government to grant permission to another expedition, rather than upon the readiness and ability of the committee to organize and dispatch it.

Stewart's Washinton Letter

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, July 20.—If Gifford Pinchot is elected to the United States senate next year, it will be over the bodies of all Coolidge administration supporters in general, of course including the body of Senator George Wharton Pepper, whose seat Pinchot wants to take away from him, and over the body of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon in particular.

When one considers how tremendously big a man Secretary Mellon is in the present administration, what weight his word carried . . . and the things Pinchot has said about him . . . incidentally landing some ringing cracks over his head, upon the presidential dome itself . . . and when one considers that Pinchot is trying to get into the senate from Mellon's own state . . . and at the expense of Senator Pepper, whom the administration likes pretty well . . .

When one considers all this, one understands why the idea of Pinchot's senatorial aspirations makes the administration froth so.

Secretary Mellon didn't want Pinchot for governor of Pennsylvania in the first place. The Republican state organization fought him but he won.

This angered the organization to begin with and Pinchot angered it worse later.

Then he began making trouble for the national administration by complaints of federal prohibition non-enforcement. This was injurious and Pinchot added insult to it.

President Coolidge explained that the national administration was doing its best and it was up to the state governors, including Pinchot, to help some. To the statement that the national administration was doing its best Pinchot, in effect, answered with a contemptuous "Bosh"—a way no president likes to be talked to.

Pinchot didn't even concede that the administration "meant well." He said Secretary Mellon didn't want to enforce the law. Why not?—inquired some.

Whereupon Pinchot pointed to the secretary's distillery interests. . . . Analyze the innuendo in this explanation and it becomes evident it's the kind of thing a public man—particularly a very high and mighty one, like Mellon—is apt to put in the absolutely unforgivable class.

Tokyo Insects Sold For Musical Purposes

TOKYO, July 21.—Singing insects are now on sale by street vendors along the Ginza, the gay "Main Street" of Tokyo. The principal warblers of the insect variety are crickets and longhorned grasshoppers. To the Japanese the "song" of the cricket and the grasshopper lends a peculiar charm to the summer evening.

The diminutive insects are sold in quaint bamboo cages, decorated with silk ribbons. Prices range from fifty sen to as high as twenty-five yen each.

Learning the Spanish government had given active aid to the British forces in Florida, General Andrew Jackson attacked the forts at Pensacola and caused their surrender on November 8, 1814. He set for New Orleans on the next day and on January 8, 1815 fought the historic battle of New Orleans.

Business Can't Be Conducted On "Good Intentions"

No matter how good your intentions are, business can't be conducted on them. It takes money.

When you buy merchandise and have it charged, the merchant from whom you make the purchase is counting on your check by the tenth of the month following purchase. He needs the money you owe him to pay his employees, to buy new merchandise, to pay insurance bills—in other words, he needs this money to run his business.

He can't pay his employees with good intentions. He can't defray his operating expenses with good intentions. It takes money.

Stop and think for a moment what an injustice you do the firm with which you trade when you fail to keep your promise to pay your bills at the time agreed. Something comes up and you spend the money you owe for merchandise bought on something else. Whose money are you spending? You are spending the merchant's money when you incur new obligations when old ones are unpaid. Is that fair?

Now look at this problem from another angle. Surely you must realize that when you fail to pay what you owe, the merchant is forced to borrow from the bank. Banks charge interest. This additional cost of doing business incurred by the necessity of borrowing must eventually be passed right back to you. It will mean that you will pay more for what you buy than you would have to if you paid promptly.

Keep faith with the merchant who trusted you. Pay the old bill and start the new month with a clean slate.

IT IS NEVER UPHILL TO THE MAN ON THE LEVEL

LAKELAND TAKES OPENING CONTEST FROM ALLENMEN

Highlanders Take Kindly To Cobb's Offerings and Send Him to Showers; Foley Invincible for Rest of Game

LAKELAND, July 22.—The Highlanders knocked Cobb off the mound here Tuesday in the first inning for four runs and behind the excellent pitching of Watt Luther maintained a lead throughout the game with the Tampa Smokers, taking the contest, 4 to 1. Foley, new Tampa hurler, went on the mound for Tampa in the first inning with the out and pitched to 23 batters in his seven and one-third innings, permitting only two of them to reach first base.

Celery - Feds Split Double Bill Here With St. Petersburg

First up Messner doubled to left field. Allen struck out. Doyle reached first safely when Wade dropped his fly, which the Sanford center fielder went into left field to get, and Messner scored on the play. Doyle was out at second on a fielder's choice hit by Brown. Brown stole second and scored on hit by Hernandez to center field. Hernandez went to second on a wild pitch, but was out, catcher to third, after Cox had walked.

On a hit, followed by a sacrifice, an out via short to first and a misplay by McQue, the Saints scored their third run in the third inning. In the seventh after two were out, Block hit for two bases and Hewitt was hit by Alverson. Messner got his fourth straight hit of the game scoring Block, Allen fanned.

Sanford threatened in the second inning but was unable to score. In the seventh with Frisbie down, McQue hit safely to right and Wade followed this with a pretty bingle to the same area, McQue going to third. Bailey struck out and Crawford went to first safely on an error by Allen. McQue scored and Wade went to third in this misplay. Alverson hit a grounder to short-stop who threw to second to get Crawford. Doyle dropped the ball, however, and Crawford was safe as was Alverson at first. Hardy hit a long drive to left field which threatened to score two additional Sanford runners, but it was snatched out of the sky by Cox, left fielder for the Saints, ending the game 4 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

Pittsburgh Drops Back To Second Position By Falling Before Mitchel's Hurling

PHILLIES WIN PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Clarence Mitchell again proved he is the one southpaw in the National League who can beat the Pittsburgh Pirates by holding them to four hits Tuesday and beating them, 4 to 2, thereby knocking them out of the league lead. Eddie Moore's home run in the seventh was the only earned score the visitors obtained.
