MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 10—Twenty-three constitutional amendments, including one to tighten up on Alabama voter registration requirements, will be settled in an off-year special election.

Polls open at 8 A. M. (CST) and close at 5 P. M. in rural counties, and a hour later in cities.

The voter registration amendment would require new voters to be of "good character," embrace the "duties and obligations of citizenship," make a satisfactory showing on a written question; sign an anti-Communist oath.

Rival spokesmen brought out their final arguments today in the hotly contested battle over the proposed $25,000,000 road bond issue.

Purpose of the borrowing is to raise $25,000,000 which could be matched with a like amount in federal funds to provide for a $50,000,000 highway development program. The bond amendment is No. 1 on the ballot.

Another amendment, the "off-season" proposal, has stirred up its share of controversy, too. It is designed to open the way for a falltime senator for each of the state's 67 counties instead of the existing 33-district system.

United Nations

PARIS, Dec. 10—The United States today asked the United Nations for an immediate cut of her share of U.N. costs—and ran into vehement opposition from the Soviet bloc.

U. S. Delegate John M. Vorys had suggested a reduction from 80.80 to 33.33 per cent, arguing that no single country should be asked to pay more than one-third of the costs for running the world organization in normal times.

E. C. Catherall, of the Soviet Ukraine, attacking the U. S. proposal, said the U. S. contribution "should not be reduced but on the contrary considerably increased."

He complained that "the current trade policy of the United States and its embargo on trade between the United States, the Soviet Union and the people's democracies" was making it very difficult for the Soviet bloc to earn dollars.

Egyptian Crisis

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman appealed to the European consultative assembly here for "immediate" political control of such an army, so that British participation might be attracted. But West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer urged formation of a unified army without Britain, if necessary, as soon as possible.

Belgium's Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeebeke appealed for British participation in a diluted version of the "European Plan" Army, but Italian Premier Alcide De Gasperi urged immediate steps toward a political federation as a base for such an armed force.

The debate came on the eve of six-power talks here on political and financial features of the Eleven Plan—named for French Premier Rene Pleven.

McKinney's Income

The deal was disclosed in records of the bankruptcy proceeding of Empire Tractor Corp., conducted in Philadelphia by L. Letoy Dwyer, a U. S. referee in bankruptcy.

The records showed that McCalla made a similar profit from the new defunct corporation, and that McCalla's wife, Mabel McCalla, made an $18,500 profit by investing in the same deal.

McCalla, Democratic National Committeewoman from Indiana, sponsored McKinney for the Democratic National Chairmanship.

McKinney told the news conference he has no intention of resigning the post.

He said his investment resulted from a tip from Oscar Sallinger, President of the Milwaukee Baseball team of the American Association, at a "luncheon" meeting.

Acting on the tip, he said, he purchased 1,000 shares of Empire Tractor common stock at one dollar a share, but also had to purchase "22,500 worth of preferred stock" to get the common.

Asked whether anyone could have purchased the stock from Frank Cohen, executive of Empire, the chairman said he does not know.

"I knew Cohen very, very slightly," he added.

Ten months later, in 1947, McKinney continued, "the management got into a fight" for control of the common stock, and Cohen offered him the fat profit. He said he asked for an hour to think it over, then agreed to sell the common stock if Cohen would take back the preferred stock at the original purchase price.

"I never believed in sitting on an egg too long," he explained.

He said he received "between $25,000 and $34,000" from Cohen, the sum representing $25,000 for the preferred, and about $10,000 for the common.

He said the whole thing figured out to a profit ratio of "about 4 to 1."

McKinney said McCalla's purchase was "an entirely separate" transaction.

"We are friends," he said, "but I have never been asked by any shady venture."

He said he has had "two or three business deals" in which McCalla was involved. He didn't describe them.

McKinney emphasized he held no political position or government job when he bought and sold the stock.

Caudle Testimony

(Continued From Page One) "clique" in Washington but said that Nathan and Naster had shown him oil leases papers indicating they were partners with Caudle and Jess Larson, head of the General Services Administration, in an oil venture.

Cohen said, too, that his understanding of the amount allegedly demanded for a "tax fix" was $350,000 instead of $500,000.

When he told Caudle about Tellbaum's story, Cohen related, Caudle was "very angry" and called Nathan on the telephone.

Caudle, who was fired by President Truman from his post of Assistant Attorney General last month, was called to the witness stand following Cohen.

Caudle said that when Cohen told him the story about Nathan and Naster, he was incensed to learn that Nathan had used his name in connection with the oil lease.

"I became so enraged and so mad," he said, "I immediately called Nathan long distance and found him at his home and told him of the story. I did not divulge the source. I told him I absolutely could not tolerate a thing like that."

Caudle said he advised Nathan that he was getting rid of his own interest in the oil deal.

"I told him I would not have anything to do with my name being used in a shady deal," he said.

Iran Threatens To Give Oil To Russia

TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 10—(AP)—Iran threatened indirectly today to offer 2.5 million tons of oil products for sale to Russia or her satellites unless Western buyers take it off Iran's hands almost immediately.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi told a news conference that Iran's diplomatic representatives abroad will deliver notices within the next three days giving the Western buyers 10 days to buy the oil, now in storage tanks at Abadan.

This action was announced as 38 opposition deputies and newspaper editors remained camped inside the Parliament building. They claim "government gangsters" are threatening their lives. ## Highest Court Finds Lorain Paper Guilty

Refusal To Do Business With Radio Station Clients Cited As Cause

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today decided the Lorain Ohio Journal violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act by refusing to accept advertising from merchants who patronized a competing radio station.

The high tribunal by 7-0 vote upheld a decision by U. S. District Judge Emerich B. Freed of Cleveland. Judge Freed said the Journal could not deny space to advertisers who used radio station WEOL of Lorain and Elyria, Ohio. He found the Journal was trying to "destroy" WEOL as a competitor.

Justice Burton delivered the high court's opinion. Justices Clark and Minton took no part in the case.

Senator Stennis Supports Russell For Presidency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Senator Stennis today declared he is supporting Senator Russell (D-Ga.) for president next year.

Stennis, back from a 55-speech tour of Mississippi, said broadly that if President Truman were to win he will face an organized Democratic revolt in the South.

"Senator Russell is my choice for president and there may be circumstances under which the election could be thrown into the House," Stennis said.

Stennis obviously was referring to the possibility that some Southern state Democratic Party organization might individually back another candidate if Mr. Truman again is the nominee.

Poll Shows Sanford Backs Odham And Sees McCarty-Odham Runoff

Favorite son J. Bradley Odham is the present day Florida gubernatorial choice of Sanford voters, while attorney Dan McCarty, Fort Pierce, is their overwhelming selection to oppose Mr. Odham in the run-off primary next spring, according to a survey of public opinion conducted by the Herald on the streets of Sanford last Saturday.

This Herald reporter asked the opinions of 43 people selected at random in downtown Sanford. In the overall questioning as to whom they favored for governor, 44 per cent said Mr. Odham and thirty-five per cent registered no opinion. Answering the query as to who they thought would reach the run-off primary, 41 per cent could give no answer while 30 per cent saw Mr. McCarty making it with 23 percent favoring Odham as his opponent.

Most of the people who took part in the Herald's sampling of public opinion expressed uncertainty as to their choices giving these reasons:

STRASBOURG, France, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, leading advocate of European unity, resigned today as president of the European Consultative Assembly. He denounced European politicians—especially British representatives—for pleading special interest and blocking unity plans.

 strangely reminiscent of a man preparing to make a long and

Although Florida has long

 Florida to continue its growth to do is to let those people know

Our Strongest Point

Although dreams of other ways of solving world problems have been brought out and refurbished from time to time, the old game of power politics still prevails in the relations of the nations. There is little question that the atomic bomb remains the highest trump card we have in that dangerous game.

A renewal of the Russian demand for a United Nations ban on the bomb brought from Jules Moch, French delegate, the declaration that the weapon is essential to the defense of France. He did not mean a French atomic bomb, for there is none, but the American one. Our atomic weapon is what the Atlantic Pact nations really put their trust in, for they have little faith in the possibility of holding back a possible Russian aggression in Europe by any other means.

The threat of atomic attack may be the only real pressure weapon we have left for Korea, hitherto the threat has been small because military men have said that no worthwhile target exists. Now it is announced that there are new types of bombs and atomic artillery shells, which could be used in Korea. They might offer the means to force a decision there, as the first bombs forced a decision in Japan.

It seems quite clear that strength is the only bargaining point recognized by Russia, and that our atomic weapon is the point of strength most respected by the Russians. Because of these and other reasons for the vital importance of the atomic weapons, the proposal for an additional expansion of our atomic program appears to have been announced at a very propitious time.

Retirement Problem

Some colleges have rules which make it necessary for professors to retire at the age of 65 despite the fact that they may still have years of academic usefulness before them. This fact troubles many in the field of education because they know that often these men possess valuable qualities of scholarship which are wasted if they can no longer appear in the classrooms. Several colleges have recently developed plans by which retired professors can continue to be employed either full or part time.

There are probably good arguments for the retirement of professors at a fixed age, when conditions warrant it. At 65 most persons who are able to do so are glad of the chance to lay aside their work and spend their remaining years enjoying life. Retirement plans make this possible and also open jobs to younger men. But there are many teachers who at 65 are still near the peak of their academic powers, and retiring them may be a serious waste of wisdom and experience. The same situation occurs in other lines of work.

If programs can be developed to utilize more fully the knowledge and skills of older persons in the special jobs for which they are most suited, not only in education but in all fields, we should get much benefit from them. Many a retired person, happy though he may be for the chance to relax, would be even happier if he still had some useful work to do.

Foods For The Fat

A New York food processor has announced a jelly which is said to have so few calories that it can be a regular item in the diet of a person who is trying to lose weight. The problem of reducing is attracting more attention, probably not because there are any more people than before who ought to reduce but because more of them believe it when the doctor tells them so.

Dieting once meant giving up just about all foods which the overweight person usually finds most appetizing. It still calls for sacrifice of some favorite dishes, but many dietitians have created many new items to meet the demand for foods which are safe, appealing and nutritious but will not add weight. A non-fattening jelly is one of many such things. The time may come when people who tend to put on weight will be able to eat their cake and have slim waistlines too.

Eliminating the no comment from the above percentages and using only those voters which specifically designate a candidate the results read as follows:

Odham	68
McCarthy	29
Adams	3

The people's inability to forecast who would be in the next spring's primary run-off is shown by 41 per cent expressing no comment. Surprisingly enough more Sanford people feel Mr. McCarthy will reach the run-off than think Mr. Odham will. Here are the figures for those answering the question, "Who do you think will be in the final primary?"

No Comment	41

Odham	30

McKethan giving specific answers to who will be in the final primary gave Mr. McCarthy 51 per cent. The specifically designated candidates for the run-off are as follows:

It is noteworthy that while not an announced gubernatorial candidate Alfred McKethan, State Highway chairman, was mentioned as one of the men who will reach the run-off by one person.

THE WORLD TODAY
 By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—Theron Lamm Caudle is a big man with wavy brown hair and a southern accent that is strictly from the honey chile school.

And he likes to use it. It's amazing how this 47-year old lawyer, who was snatched from relative obscurity in North Carolina and given a top government job, seems to like to talk.

Yesterday was no exception, although before the day was over he wound up being embarrassed and even at a loss for words. Still, it wasn't the first time he had been embarrassed recently.

When President Truman fired him Nov. 16 as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Justice Department's tax prosecutions, Caudle said his heart was broken. In spite of this disability he seemed extremely vigorous when yesterday he began to testify before the House Subcommittee which is investigating the tax scandals. The committee called him.

Many another trained lawyer, who knows that volunteering in a few minutes, suddenly stopped, a little puzzled, told the committee he realized he hadn't been answering the question, and asked for it again.

And the more he talked the more questions he seemed to put in the heat of the committee since he was opening new avenues for questioning. One example will explain it.

The committee, reminding him that he had previously spoken of frequent trips to race tracks, asked him if he ever won a good sized bet. Caudle could hardly say: "Yes. Once I won $1,701 on a daily double. Period."

But he explained the time, place, kind of day, who was sitting in front of him, who was behind him and how he sprinted down just at the last minute to place his $10 bet.

How did he come to pick that particular daily double? The committee didn't have to ask. Caudle volunteered: He had heard rumors it was a good bet. So, he bet. The committee wanted to know how he heard the rumors. Caudle suddenly grew vague.

It was later in the day that his sunny expression disappeared, his face grew sullen, and he was truly embarrassed.

The committee had been told in previous sessions by a Chicago lawyer, Abraham Teitelbaum, that two men, Bert K. Weller and Frank Nathan, had tried to shake him down for $500,000.

The two men told him, Teitelbaum said, that they were sitting in a cliche of important Washington officials, including Caudle. They were rummaging around, Teitelbaum related, for soft touches like Teitelbaum, who has no tax trouble. He said the two threatened him with serious tax trouble, if he didn't come across.

Yesterday—just before Caudle took the witness chair—another lawyer, I. T. Cohen of Atlanta, told the committee Teitelbaum had told him this same story months ago. Then Cohen said he told Caudle about this story which involved him. That was Aug. 30.

But the story didn't come to light until Teitelbaum testified last week. The committee asked Caudle—since Cohen swore he had told Caudle about this story ago—what he had done about it. Had he investigated? Had he called in the FBI? Anything?

Caudle said he hadn't done anything. He was less talkative now. He was white. The chairman of the subcommittee, Sen. King, California Democrat, did the talking at the end.

He said Caudle—who admitted to "indiscretion" but not dishonesty—was a failure as a public official and had done his country harm that wouldn't be mended for a long time.

Christmas Tree Fire—Not If You Take Precautions

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 11—(AP)—Don't have to call the fire department to put out your Christmas tree.

That admonition came today from Extension Forester Louis T. Nieland of the University of Florida Agricultural Extension Service who said: "A surprisingly large number of fires occur every Christmas season, and many of them start with Christmas trees or other decorations."

If you put lighted candles on your tree, or keep it near any kind of heat, or use electric lighting with frayed wires, loose connections, and faulty sockets—you're inviting trouble.

"Even though the Christmas tree is kept in water or wet soil after several days in the house, and are highly inflammable, Nieland said, adding:

"It's fine to have a pretty candle burning on the mantel or table, but be sure it isn't near any Christmas decoration."

The extension service worker offered these suggestions: "Select the freshest tree you can find. If a little shake sends off a shower of leaves, it has dried out."

As soon as you get your tree, sprinkle water over it. Saw off an inch or so off the butt end to open water channels in the trunk. Then rip up a ball or tub with four wooden strips across the top so they will hold the tree.

Set the tree in the center and place bricks or stones in the bottom to hold it in place. Place the tree where you want it, and then pour water in the tub. Stretch red paper, tinfoil, or unite. The Germans, he said, wanted national unity first, the Belgians wanted Britain to join first, the French refused to join up alone without Germany, and the British kept referring to their "special position."

He declared Europe is facing a grave crisis "living on the fear of other material across the top of the tub to cover it. If you can't keep the tree in water, place it in moist soil in a pail or tub."

$20 Given By Circle As Christmas Gift

A collection of $20 was taken for the "Little Moon Christmas Offering" at the meeting of the Elks Knight Circle of the First Baptist Church which was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Varn on West Ninth Street last night with Mrs. N. C. Saylor presiding.
The story of Miss Moon's life which was dedicated to the work of Christ as a missionary to China was given by Mrs. John Kader. Miss Moon was born near Charlottesville, Va., and when a young girl studied to become a missionary, later going to China where she suffered many hardships. All of her small inheritance as well as most of her salary was spent to further the foreign mission work. Finally, after becoming old and ill, she started home and died aboard ship on Christmas Eve since that time Baptist churches throughout the South have taken a special offering at Christmas time for foreign missions.
Mrs. J. T. Denton reported an enrollment of 25 and welcomed a new member, Mrs. John Rogers, who invited the circle to meet with her on Jan. 14. Mrs. Denton also reported a total of 42 cards sent during the month and 12 visits and contacts.
Mrs. A. J. Peterson, president of the W.M.U. attended the meeting and spoke briefly to the group, reminding them that the circle is to sponsor prayer meeting attendance during December.

Opponents May Have To Score 100 Or More Points To Beat Kentucky

By JOE FALLS
NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—How to beat Kentucky? This problem has been confronting college basketball teams for—well, it seems like forever.

And it may be that the only way to whip the Wildcats this winter will be to score 100 or more points. They may be that good. Kentucky has played twice now—both victories, of course—and the Wildcats have finished some mid-season form, winning with 86 and 87 points. Last night they whipped a stubborn Xavier (Ohio) quiet, 97 to 72.

What makes Kentucky's early scoring blazes amazing is the fact that the Wildcats are operating without their All-America center, seven-foot Bill Spivey. The lanky pivot star is sidelined with a knee injury and may be out of action until mid-January. The Wildcats didn't miss him last night, though. They smashed Xavier with a 30-point barrage in the last quarter at Cincinnati. Cliff Hagen, playing in Spivey's center post, scored 29 points while teammate Frank Ramsey hit for 25.

These weren't the only outstanding individual performances of the night, however. Ernest A. Evanson, Ill., sophomore Frank Petronek made a basket in the final 30 seconds to give Northwestern a 30-27 decision over Western Michigan. It was the Wildcats'—this seems to be the season for Wildcats—second straight victory.

Another brilliant solo effort was turned in by Purdue's Ernie Hall, who netted 32 points as the Bolle-makers drubbed Marquette, 81 to 48, at LaFayette.

In other top midwestern games, DePaul rallied to down Minnesota, 64-57; Iowa State trimmed Drake, 61-49; Oklahoma defeated Baylor, 66-48; and Kansas, led by Clude Lovellette's 25 points, turned back Creighton, 65-47.

There wasn't much action elsewhere, but in the South Dayton University of Ohio edged Mississippi Southern, 69-57, and Tulane slugged Alabama, 61-48, in a Southeastern Conference overtime game.

Veteran center Don Holt and Freshman Guard Nat Cervini split the honors for Tulane.

Cervini, who led Tulane with 15 points, sank a long shot with 30 seconds left in the regular time to tie the game at 47 and Holt got a pair of field goals in the first minute of overtime to wrap up the game for Tulane.

Tulane staged a magnificent freeze that Alabama tried vainly to break for four minutes.

Center Paul Sullivan led Alabama with 13 points.

In the East, Duquesne won easily over Bowling Green, 70-62 and Syracuse lunched Brigham Young, 63-58. Idaho downed Montana, 64-58, in the Far West.

These weren't the only outstanding individual performances of the night, however. Ernest A. Evanson, Ill., sophomore Frank Petronek made a basket in the final 30 seconds to give Northwestern a 30-27 decision over Western Michigan.

Another brilliant solo effort was turned in by Purdue's Ernie Hall, who netted 32 points as the Bolle-makers drubbed Marquette, 81 to 48, at LaFayette.

In other top midwestern games, DePaul rallied to down Minnesota, 64-57; Iowa State trimmed Drake, 61-49; Oklahoma defeated Baylor, 66-48; and Kansas, led by Clude Lovellette's 25 points, turned back Creighton, 65-47.

There wasn't much action elsewhere, but in the South Dayton University of Ohio edged Mississippi Southern, 69-57, and Tulane slugged Alabama, 61-48, in a Southeastern Conference overtime game.

Veteran center Don Holt and Freshman Guard Nat Cervini split the honors for Tulane.

Cervini, who led Tulane with 15 points, sank a long shot with 30 seconds left in the regular time to tie the game at 47 and Holt got a pair of field goals in the first minute of overtime to wrap up the game for Tulane.

Tulane staged a magnificent freeze that Alabama tried vainly to break for four minutes.

Funds Cut Given As Reason Cager Quits Bradley U.

Officials Say Action Necessary Under Conference Code

CHICAGO, Dec. 11—(AP)—Bradley University considers the case of Pat Dunn closed after the sophomore basketball star's attorney, Stacey W. Osmond of Chicago, issued a statement last night revealing why the youth left school.

Dunn and another Chicago youngster, Dick Pickrone, and Don Anick of St. Louis led Bradley Dec. 1, hours before their team opened its basketball season. Of the three, Dunn was the only regular on the team.

Through his attorney, Dunn disclosed that while he was playing basketball at St. Patrick's Academy in Chicago he and his parents were approached by Bradley Coach Forrest Anderson and a Bradley booster club member. Arrangements were made for Dunn to get $125 a month, tuition, books and a $16 meal ticket at Bradley.

That his father received some money and later a much larger sum upon Dunn's registration at Bradley for the purpose of paying some debts.

That Dunn took a job at the local city dog pound for $120 per month.

That while attending summer school to make up a failed subject he took such subjects as elementary typing, advanced basketball, softball, swimming, track and field, community hygiene, personal hygiene and recreational activities.

That he purchased a car on which a booster made a down payment.

That this fall he was advised by Coach Anderson he no longer would get the $125 monthly (this amount includes the $120 as night watchman at the dog pound) but that the new deal was $18 per month, room, tuition, books and a $16 weekly meal ticket but no job.

That Dunn and the boosters arranged to get back his old job at the dog pound at $51 every two weeks.

That he received his pay checks regularly until the middle of November. They then stopped coming.

That Dunn needed the outside job. Osmond said, "and since he had obtained it himself, did not see why he couldn't keep it. When Dunn could not reach an agreement with Anderson, the youth decided to quit school before playing a game that would affect his eligibility if he enrolled at another school."

Arthur J. Bergstrom, Bradley director of athletics, issued a statement which in part said: "This fall the Missouri Valley Conference ruled that no boy receiving a full grant-in-aid from a member institution, whether from actual work or outright grants, could earn or be granted more than $18 per month in addition to the grant."

Because of our sincere desire to comply fully with conference regulations without evasions, I am informed that he must quit his job, even though he was doing it well, and even though we knew he might withdraw from school as a result.

"He and two other boys left the campus on their own volition and the university considers the incident closed, too."

Carl Glasow, ministerial school senior at Duke who is out for the basketball team for the first time, received his B.S. in mechanical engineering at Cornell and his master's degree in physical metallurgy at the U. of Rochester.

Rumor has it that in 1952 the Florida State League will be operated independently with the help of the league, John Krider, PFL head, returned to Sanford from the minor league meetings in Columbus, Ohio empty handed. This was not because of lack of offers but rather because of poor prospects of arranging an agreement with a major league team which could provide adequate talent to make Sanford a contender.

After last year's experience with the New York Giants, who are poorly supplied with Class D players, Krider probably is thinking twice before jumping into any blind agreement. A look at the attendance for Sanford shows the reason why. Only 12,500 people watched the Giants last season, placing Sanford at the bottom of the league in attendance. Patinka lead the circuit with 21,141 and even scolar-swalling Coors outdrew the Sanford line with 24,200.

There is no substitute for a winning ball club. Mr. Krider may have tried to get in touch with the Yanks who have been known for years as having one of the largest array of Class D talent in baseball. Other teams which Krider may, or may not, have contacted were the Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Browns two teams which are in the process of rebuilding. Both clubs have been in the process of signing young players for Class B, C and D teams.

In any event we may rest assured that Mr. Krider won't rest until he has been in touch with the Yanks who have been known for years as having one of the largest array of Class D talent in baseball. Other teams which Krider may, or may not, have contacted were the Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Browns two teams which are in the process of rebuilding. Both clubs have been in the process of signing young players for Class B, C and D teams.

The unique aspect of the Sanford Herald's Football poll is that everyone is given a chance to see all the players the coaches deem mentionable and how they stack up according to the way they have been in the process of signing young players for Class B, C and D teams.

Television, bowl games and spring football practice are other major issues.

These mentors have selected these 22 players, we will have, with possibly a few exceptions, the same players on our teams. What then do you say is the difference between the two polls? The answer is the results of the Herald's poll will designate the first and second teams and will reveal what the coaches thought of the other players who just missed being named.

At this point our poll is lacking in the nominations from two coaches which should be in tomorrow on the next day. So as one coach put it in his letter to us, "You're for better sports."

College Heads To Aid In Enforcing Subsidizing Code

CARMEI, Calif., Dec. 11—(AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference is calling on its college presidents to help enforce its rules on proselytizing and subsidizing of athletes.

The conference decided to abandon its system of routine fines—up to $2,000 each for violation of the athletic code—and to bring the president of each of its nine universities directly into the enforcement setup.

Under the enforcement system, the president of each university will be asked to study and take action if necessary on each charge of a rule violation on his campus. At its semiannual meetings, the conference will accept the president's findings or, if dissatisfied, apply such sanctions as expulsion or suspension from the conference, restrictions on scheduling of games, or fines.

A conference spokesman, H. J. Everett of the University of Washington, said: "Around the country, judges and others are wondering why those at the top level are not apparently aware of athletic violations. This is trying to find out what's wrong with athletics."

The nine university presidents met and agreed they must be closer to the athletic picture. Idaho, Washington State, Washington, Oregon, Oregon State, California, Stanford, Southern California, and UCLA make up the PCC.

Colleges To Probe Athletic Problems

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—The 91 colleges composing the Eastern College Athletic Conference join scattered other conferences today in trying to find out what's wrong with athletics.

They begin a four-day meeting at which the biggest item of business is a seven-point program prepared by the conference commissioner, Aaa Bushnell.

Bushnell proposes, among other things, that athletic recruiting be eliminated and that grants-in-aid be given only in cases of proven need. He suggests college presidents be made responsible for enforcing the code.

Television, bowl games and spring football practice are other major issues.

Kentucky Cagers Voted Nation's Best In AP Poll

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats today walked off with top honors in the first Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

The Wildcats, NCAA champions, were named No. 1 in the land by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters. They received 41 of the 102 first-place votes to outdistance St. John's University of Brooklyn, which finished second.

Kentucky piled up 1,021 points—the only team to go over the 1,000-point figure. St. John's had 810 points and 17 top ballots.

These two hardwood powers collide next Monday night at Lexington, Ky. in what may be the "game-of-the-year."

The rest of the top ten teams were, in order: Illinois, St. Louis, Kansas State, Washington, Seton Hall, Kansas, La Salle and North Carolina State.

Kentucky played only one game before the voting, but its 95-66 drubbing of Washington & Lee apparently convinced the experts that the Wildcats are tops again. Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the final AP poll last season.

Champion Boxers Warned By NBA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—(AP)—Three world's champion boxers have been warned: The National Boxing Association wants only fighting champions, and if titles aren't defended, they'll be forfeited.

The bluntest warning went to Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba. Gavilan must sign a contract within 10 days to fight Charles Humes of France, the NBA said, or his title will be taken away from him.

Col. Harvey L. Miller, executive secretary for the NBA, said Gavilan had been given the title only on the condition that he would give Humes, the European champion, a crack at it.

Heavyweight Champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Light Heavyweight Champion Joey Maxim were reminded that they have only three months in which to decide whom they will meet in title fights.

Stanky Due To Sign Contract As Manager Of St. Louis Cards Today

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, Dec. 11—(AP)—Eddie Stanky is due to sign a two-year contract as player-manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today and Joe DIMaggio will announce his future plans.

The Stanky and DIMaggio developments probably will overshadow the seven-player deal completed last night between the Cincinnati Red's and Philadelphia Phils.

In the only official swap of the winter meetings, Cincinnati sent Pitcher Howie Fox (9-14), Second Baseman Connie Ryan (234) and Catcher Forrest Burgess (237) to Phils for Catcher Andy Seminick (233), Outfielder Dick Sisler (2377), Pitcher Niles Jordan (2-3) and infielder Eddie Pellagrini (234).

Stanky's switch to St. Louis for Pitcher Max Lanier (11-9) and Outfielder Chuck Diering (259) hinges on an agreement between the peppery little second baseman and Fred Saigh, Card owner. That is a foregone conclusion.

Saigh and Stanky talked on the telephone last night and will compromise on a two-year contract at $37,500 when Eddie flies into St. Louis today to meet his new boss.

Although the Giants and Cards didn't announce the players involved in the Stanky deal, it was learned Lanier and Diering are the men. There was a slight complication last night when Lanier said his St. Petersburg restaurant business might keep him out of baseball next year.

Lanier, 36-year-old veteran lefty, would bolster the Giant staff and Diering, a good-field, no-hit center fielder, would provide center field insurance in case Willie Mays is drafted.

Stanky, who played 145 games last year and hit .247 for the pennant-winning Giants, expects to play second base for his Cards. In that case, Red Schoendienst might be shifted to first base. As Giant leadoff man, Eddie walked 127 times last season and hit 14 homers.

The DIMaggio announcement will settle the future of the 37-

Baylor Studying Tech Technique For Orange Bowl

WACO, Tex., Dec. 11—(AP)—Baylor's football squad returns to practice Thursday and the first thing the Bears will hear is that Georgia Tech, their opponent in the Orange Bowl, is "terrific."

Jim Crow, who scouted the Techs in their game with Georgia, has brought back word that the Yellow Jacket are very fast, have many scoring weapons and boast a great defense.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be devoted chiefly to imparting Crow's report to the squad and also watching films of three Georgia Tech games.

Coach Bobby Dodd of Tech and Coach George Sauer of Baylor swapped pictures. Tech got the Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Games; Baylor the Kentucky, Auburn and Florida games.

"Man what speed!" said Sauer. "And all-around offense. We're in for plenty of trouble."

Next week the squad will get down to hard work. Although no practices have been held since Dec. 1, when Baylor played its last regularly scheduled game with Rice, most of the Baylor players have kept in trim playing basketball, handball, tennis and golf.

Sauer expects Dick Parma, his fullback, who missed the Rice game because of a broken collar bone, and End Stan Williams, who played only part of the time because of a bruised leg, to be ready for workouts next week.

With Parma back in harness, Jerry Coody will move back to his old spot, right halfback.

The Baylor squad will fly to Miami, Dec. 27.

...and the price is up far less than most things you buy!

RAPID GROWTH—that's one thing this young fellow has had in common with telephone service since his babyhood.

ACTUALLY, in just five years the number of local telephones Floridians can call has more than doubled. And this year's increase in Florida telephones is expected to reach about 51,000.

BEST OF ALL, this bigger, better "package" of service has gone up on the average less than a fourth as much as prices in general...and less than our cost of providing the service.

ALWAYS one of your biggest bargains, telephone service is today an even better buy than it was ten years ago, and a smaller part of your family budget.

Picture of a man making a smart decision

HERE is a man who's been doing a lot of thinking. Someday, he's told himself, I'm going to turn in my old car and get a new one. And he said, still talking to himself, when I do that I'm going to size up the field—give 'em all a real going over. You see him here at the wheel of a Buick. He hasn't bought it—yet. It's a demonstrator, and he's trying it out. But the more he tries it, the more he knows he's been wasting a lot of time. From the moment he looked inside, he said: Here's the room—and the comfort—and the style I've been looking for. Then he nudged its Dynaflo Engine into action. It's a high-compression valve-in-head, as you probably know. He eased out into traffic. Stopped and started for a couple of traffic lights, and said something to the effect that this Dynaflo Drive® is a honey. Why don't they all build 'em this way? He saw a bump ahead. Place where the pavement had been torn up. Other cars were braking down to a creep to cross it. He held back—rolled right across at regular speed with barely a bobble. It's hard to believe, he said, but what they say about Buick's ride is right. Ten minutes later he was out on an open stretch of road. Tried an experimental push on the gas treader. Boy—what a take-off! You couldn't want more power than that. Ten minutes more—and he knew something else. You don't really steer a Buick. It just about steers itself. Stays right on the beam on the straightaway. Even straightens itself out after a curve. To make a long story short—he's found out that nothing else he's tried out can hold a candle—not even a little Christmas candle—to this Bonnie beauty. Back at the Buick showroom, he's going to get one more surprise. The price of a Buick is a lot less than he'd guessed it would be. Moral: Smart Buy's Buick—right now.

J. Edgar Hoover
Commends Press
For Assistance

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover today commended the American press for publishing the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

The newspapers and news services are performing a service vital to the public interest by publishing the photographs and descriptions of the ten "most wanted" criminals, Hoover said in a statement.

"The American press has published information about these fugitives not only for its news value but also because of a real interest in the welfare of society, and is to be congratulated," the FBI director added. "Cooperation between the press and law enforcement agencies has proved itself a most effective weapon in the fight against crime."

Hoover noted that several of the most wanted fugitives have been arrested as a direct result of stories and pictures in the press.

One of them: Ernest Tull, arrested in Miami, July 12, 1951, after several businessmen, who had seen his photograph and description in Miami papers, telephoned the FBI and identified him as a recent customer. This was only one day after Tull had been placed on the list.

The FBI said the "ten most wanted" list grew out of stories carried Mar. 17, 1950 by the Associated Press, the United Press and International News Service about the ten fugitives whose arrest was most wanted.

Tax Frauds

The government $62,263,000—some $90,000,000 of it clipped from paychecks by employers but not turned in to the tax collector.

The report on tax fraud cases gave this comparison for the July-September quarter:

In 1950, 110 new cases were turned over to the Justice Department from the penal division of the Revenue Department. The Justice Department declined prosecution in 63 cases, dropped or dismissed 36 others after they reached court, and got 48 convictions. There was a backlog of 1,101 cases at the beginning of the period, 1,064 at the end.

In 1951, 268 cases were turned over for prosecution. Only 11 were dropped or dismissed, and prosecution was declined in only 42. Sixty-four defendants were convicted.

This is an increase of 144 per cent in convictions; a decline of 69 per cent in the number of cases dismissed and a drop of 81 per cent in the number which the Justice Department refused to take to court.

On the filings, a bureau spokesman said the total of 103—less than half of which have been announced—includes routine offenders for such charges as drunkenness, morals, inefficiency, etc. which have not been brought into the current investigations. There is always some attrition, he added, among the bureau's 67,000 employees.

The figures on tax delinquency were announced by the bureau yesterday, covering accounts as of Oct. 1. The total indexed $605,000,000 in income taxes.

New Red Plan On Prisoners Gets Nowhere

U. N. Alarmed Lest Communists Not Re- lease All The Pri- soners They Hold

U. N. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Dec. 12—(AP)—The U. N. Eighth Army is going to stay right here in Korea, until South Korea can defend itself, Gen. James A. Van Fleet declared today. "That is my mission now," the Eighth Army commander said in an interview. "Of course the plans can change, but right now I am under orders to build up the South Korean army until it can stand on its own two feet."

By ROBERT H. TUCKMAN, MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 12—(AP)—A new Red plan for exchanging prisoners of war and an Allied compromise for supplying a Korean truce with neutral observers fell on cold shoulders today.

The United Nations command expressed fears publicly for the first time that the Communists might not give up all the prisoners they hold.

The fear was expressed in turning down a five-point prisoner exchange plan advanced today by Communist negotiators at Panmunjon. The Red proposal still called for release of all prisoners. The U. N. insists on a man-for-man exchange.

"The U. N. command is concerned," an official communiqué said, "that premature agreement on bulk exchange of prisoners before adequate data is available could result in sizable numbers not being recovered."

Allied negotiators, the communiqué added, "excoriated the Communists for not letting the Red Cross see how prisoners are being treated and for refusing to say how many prisoners they hold and where."

The Reds have said they would supply the information only after the Allies agree on a blanket exchange. They kept this stand in their five-point plan.

The number of Allied troops in Red hands has been estimated as 78,000 to 80,000. The Reds say they hold between 120,000 and 150,000 Chinese and North Korean Reds.

The only new factors introduced in the Red plan would be to exchange prisoners in groups at Panmunjon, the sick and wounded first, under joint Allied-Red supervision.

The Reds said it would take a month to deliver all prisoners. U. N. spokesman said "the question of prisoners of war is being held over our heads" to force what he called an "unpleasant solution."

Either Buy Our Oil Or We Will Sell, Iran Says

TEHRAN, Dec. 12—(AP)—The "buy or else" ultimatum given the West 10 days ago until Dec. 12, to agree, was delivered in the form of letters to 18 ambassadors and 24 legations in Tehran. Observers here said the ultimatum was evidence of the deepening Iranian crisis caused by the loss of revenues from oil after nationalization of British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company properties.

While the government's National Premier Mohammad Mossadegh was delivering this threat, 15 opposition deputies and 15 opposition newspaper editors remained holed up in the Majlis (parliament) building. A spokesman for them accused Mossadegh's followers of "trying to make us into the next victims to be killed by government gangsters."

More than 30 Moslem mujahids (prelates) pitched camp inside a nearby mosque, announcing that they would defend the city against "Mossadegh terrorists."

TEHRAN, Iran—Strike-ridden Iran today handed the West this ultimatum: Buy our oil or we will sell it. The Iranian government meant it would sell to the Soviet bloc nations.

Krider Proposes Local Operation Of Baseball Club

C Of C Directors In- formed Of Progress Made On Terminal

Local operation of the Sanford Baseball Club during the coming season was advanced by John Krider, president of the Florida State League, in a talk to members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting last night at the City Hall at which Jack Hall presided.

Mr. Krider, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Baseball Committee, who has just returned from a meeting of leading baseball executives at Columbus, Ohio, stated that he had conferred with many of these as to the prospect of training here, but found that most of them already had their training programs already arranged for the season.

He declared that although he had talked to numerous baseball people, he had not as yet received any assurance from anyone to operate a team here during the coming season. He expressed optimism that this could be done during the following season.

He declared that he had talked to prominent people here who believe that the team can be operated successfully by local interests during the coming season. He urged that a team continue to be held here, and declared that he could see no reason why this should not be done.

Mr. Krider completely out of the League would be had for future baseball prospects here, he said. He pointed out that Sanford has a fine new baseball stadium now nearing completion.

Mr. Krider stated that several months ago he had received an offer from Atlanta baseball interests to bring a complete team here. At that time he was unable to give them an answer, as the New York Giants had not yet announced their intentions concerning the local team, and he learned that the Atlanta team had been placed in Alabama.

He declared that he knew of several major league clubs which are looking for a training location next year, but pointed out that the major obstacle here is the lack of a place to house players. Major league representatives who have visited Sanford, however, are pleased with the baseball facilities, he said.

Christmas Talk Is Given Kiwanis By Rev. McInnis

Dick Holtzclaw Pre- sents Program Of Baritone Solos

A talk by the Rev. A. G. McInnis on the spiritual significance of Christmas, and the singing of Dick Holtzclaw, noted baritone of the New York City Opera Co., and the Chicago Opera Co., was enjoyed by Kiwanians today at the Yacht Club, which was gaily decorated in holiday manner.

President Joel Field expressed appreciation to the Pilot Club for leaving the decorations after their meeting last night.

The Rev. McInnis, who was introduced with much gusto by the Rev. J. L. McKinley, and by Harold Kastner, urged the Kiwanis not to forget that Christmas is the celebration of the birthday of Christ, and not just a time to clean the stock and balance the budget.

"After all is said and done," he declared, "there is still in the hearts of all of us a feeling that Christmas is something special. It is the season when friendships are renewed and less fortunate people are remembered. Christmas is not blanketed out by the world war, for the real Christmas is in the heart of man in whom love, joy and hope are all kindled."

Mr. Holtzclaw presented a program of baritone solos, including "The Christmas Carol," "The First Noel," and "The Little Drummer Boy." The program was well received by the audience.

The program concluded with a prayer by Rev. McInnis, and a benediction. The Kiwanis members expressed their appreciation to the speakers and the hostesses.

The meeting was held in the Kiwanis Clubhouse, which was decorated with Christmas lights and garlands. The program was a success, and the members enjoyed the evening.

The Kiwanis Club is a fraternal organization of business and professional men. It was founded in Sanford in 1908 and has since then grown steadily.

The club has a membership of over 100 men and holds regular meetings on Wednesdays. It has a fine dining room and a billiard room.

The club is active in community work and has sponsored many charitable projects. It is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

The club has a fine library and a reading room. It also has a social hour on Wednesdays, which is a popular feature of the club.

The club is open to all men who are interested in community work and who are willing to contribute to the betterment of our community.

Naster Denies Try To Shake Teitlebaum

Nervous Florida Wit- ness Testifies He Physically Feels To Answer Quiz

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Herb Naster denied today he ever tried to get money from Abraham Teitlebaum in connection with Teitlebaum's tax troubles.

Under oath before House investigators, Naster declared there was no truth in Teitlebaum's story that Naster and Frank Nathan tried to shake Teitlebaum down for $500,000 in a "tax fix" extortion.

Naster, a shaking, nervous witness before a House Ways and Means subcommittee, denied, too, that he ever suggested the name of any lawyer, to Teitlebaum.

Naster is a Hollywood, Fla., business man, Nathan, the other man named by Teitlebaum, also has denied the story in testimony to the House group.

Attorney General McGrath has ordered a grand jury investigation of the whole matter. Justice Department officials said it probably will begin its inquiry next week.

At one point in the questioning about Teitlebaum, Naster balked at giving answers. He said he did so because of "physical fear."

Naster had told of meeting Teitlebaum in Florida. Adrian DeWind, commission counsel, asked: "This was the first time you met him? You had heard of him before, but you had considered no transaction with him?"

Court Order Bars Tallulah Bankhead From Proceedings

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP)—Actress Tallulah Bankhead was excluded as a spectator today from a real-life courtroom drama concerning her off-stage life.

Judge Harold E. Stevens ordered all witnesses cleared from the courtroom at the opening of the trial of her former personal secretary and maid, Mrs. Evelyn R. Cornish, charged with forgery and grand larceny from the star.

Miss Bankhead, expected to testify for the prosecution, was the only person to leave the courtroom as the judge issued the order on "the court's own motion."

Defense Attorney Fred G. Muritz yesterday had accused Miss Cornish of making "facial remarks" and had asked the court to make her "shut up."

The House inquiry already has brought out that Caudle received discounts on automobiles and other money went to buy "rocking chair" and a "chariot" car from a Charlotte, N. C., firm who has been having tax troubles.

The News quotes Montgomery as saying: "There were other things in the report, but I'm not willing to trust my memory and haven't been able to see the FBI file since."

Mrs. J. J. Andrus rented a room in her West Twentieth Street home, left the roomer a key and went to church. "The 20 minutes isn't up yet," said Police Chief Roy G. Williams in reporting the incident.

$64 Question—Should Children Be Taught What Communism Is?

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 12—(AP)—Should Florida's school children be taught what Communism is—or should they be kept from all knowledge of it?

The State Department of Education doesn't know. On one side of the question are a good many people who feel children familiar with the Russian form of government will appreciate the American system so much the more. On the other side are numbers of parents who don't want anyone to teach their children anything about Communism.

At present, Communism is dealt with in the schools only in passing if at all. There are no books devoted to the subject on reading lists.

State School Supt. Thomas D. Bailey—who is on the side of those who think children should be informed about Communism—said the Department of Education is getting pressure from both sides.

He reported teachers have found that if children take home books giving Communism even passing mention, some parents will "show up their hands in holy horror."

Some they're afraid the children might be converted to Communism, he said.

Bailey himself, thinks high school seniors and college students ought to have a chance to know what Communism actually is. It is entirely possible that giving a true picture of Communism as it exists would be the best way to increase pride in the American way of life.

Early Action By President Foreseen In Tax Scandals; FBI Warned Against Caudle

Tom Clark Advised Of Caudle's Indiscre- tions Before He Became Assistant

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 12—(AP)—The Charlotte News today says that Tom C. Clark, then Attorney General, was advised by T. Lamar Caudle as U. S. Attorney in North Carolina before Caudle's nomination July 19, 1946, to be an assistant attorney general.

During House hearings in Washington yesterday, it was brought out that there was certain "information" supplied by the FBI, in the Justice Department's file on Caudle-Joseph C. Duggan, an assistant attorney general, spoke of it as only a "fact."

The News said the House Ways and Means subcommittee, investigating tax scandals, had known of this for some time. It quoted a committee source, not identified, as saying one reason the committee had not explored it more fully was that the committee did not know "enough" about Caudle to show a justice of the Supreme Court.

Clark was not immediately available in Washington for comment. Caudle technically was nominated for assistant attorney general by the late President Roosevelt. He was named a few weeks ago by President Truman for "outside activities."

The News said it got the story from a report from James H. Montgomery Jr., a former FBI agent in Charlotte who told it "recently." Montgomery is now associate judge of the Richmond, Va. juvenile and domestic relations court.

The News story said that he was assigned to make a "background investigation" in such an unqualified manner that his report showed that Caudle indicated that he had been "induced" that "somebody kept putting pressure on me to get a trip to New York with Beatty in connection with one of Beatty's business enterprises; that he had written a check for $100,000 for a stationery when his friend was seeking a beer distributorship."

The House inquiry already has brought out that Caudle received discounts on automobiles and other money went to buy "rocking chair" and a "chariot" car from a Charlotte, N. C., firm who has been having tax troubles.

The News quotes Montgomery as saying: "There were other things in the report, but I'm not willing to trust my memory and haven't been able to see the FBI file since."
