Hungarian Cabinet Gathers As Situation In Balkans Intensifies

Yugoslavian Troops Cross Border Into Hungary Nearly To Precipitate Fight

BUDAPEST, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—The Hungarian cabinet met in special extraordinary session to adopt an immediate course of action in a tense situation in the Balkans.

Its protest against the expulsion of 27,000 Hungarians from Yugoslavia as a result of King Alexander's assassination already had been sent to Geneva.

At Reged, Hungary, city officials said they did not think Saeged would be attacked by Yugoslavians but if so they were prepared to defend it.

Regular Yugoslav troops crossed the Hungarian border near here early today and nearly precipitated a battle with Hungarian forces.

Only with the greatest difficulty were Hungarian officers able to restrain their men from accepting a Yugoslav challenge. The situation was most tense and serious trouble was feared.

At Geneva, Czechoslovakia's foreign minister alleged that conspirators were working against post-war states, asserting that attempts similar to the Marseille crime (the murder of King Alexander of Yugoslavia on Oct. 9) were organized against Slovakia in the northern Hungarian frontier.

Hungary, answering Yugoslavia's charges of her "complicity" in Alexander's death said that Croatia (Continued On Page Six)

Jaycees Move To Organize Tourist Club Immediately

Formation of a Tourist Club among Sanford's winter visitors was projected last night at the regular meeting of Sanford Jaycees at the Valdez Hotel.

"There are already enough winter visitors in the city," said Dwight Smith, "to form the nucleus of such a club. They will work out their own plans for recreation and entertainment."

All visitors and others interested are to be invited to meet with the club at its next regular meeting at the Valdez Thursday night, Dec. 13.

Thanks were voted to the City Commissioners for their decision to enforce the one hour parking law in the business section.

Approval was also noted for the action of the city fathers with respect to the installation of a generator to provide more street lights.

President Barnett brought a proposition before the club for cooperating with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce for a series of broadcasts from the stage of the Milane Theatre advertising Sanford and Seminole County. Authority was voted him to further investigate the program and if satisfactory to join in its financial support.

Fletcher Finds That Most Bankers Are Against Any New Changes In Bank Laws

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—A cross-section of banking opinion was revealed yesterday to show a definite opposition to any further radical changes in the federal banking laws.

Chairman Fletcher of the Senate Banking Committee reported this as "the drift of opinion" of half of the 49 bankers, economists and students of finance who have thus far replied to his questionnaire on the need of new fiscal legislation.

Fletcher subscribed to this feeling by his correspondents, but added that his committee would grant hearings on all new banking and monetary proposals, including those for a central bank and unified banking system.

"I am inclined to think that this is a sound position; that we should not disturb business and undertake to upset the whole banking system by some drastic legislation at this time, but should give an opportunity for recently enacted measures to show their worth of weaknesses."

While Fletcher was analyzing the replies to his questionnaire, Senator Thomas (Democrat-Oklahoma) started another on the way to senators, representatives, governors, bankers, economists, editors, educators, ministers and others seeking opinions on his proposal.

YOWELL HEARING GRAND JURY IN HOLDS INTEREST APPEAL AGAINST AT COURT HOUSE PARDON SYSTEM

Rival Attorneys Have Hard Time Selecting Jury For Case

Difficulty was experienced at the Court House this morning in the selection of a jury which would hear the claims and counter-claims of Seminole County and Arthur Yowell in connection with condemnation proceedings brought against the latter.

Selection of a jury began shortly after Circuit Court Judge Millard B. Smith had opened the fall term of court after a recess from sound the criminal docket of yesterday afternoon when he four charges after having assigned and sentenced several negroes.

At noon, it had been found necessary to draw a special venire, and early this afternoon, opposing counsel still were in disagreement as to the personnel of the jury.

The hearing attracted many spectators. It concerns an approximate 1000 foot right-of-way of lakefront land owned by Mr. Yowell and needed for the completion of State Road No. 3.

The criminal docket for the fall term contains only four cases which will go to trial all scheduled for hearing next week. A majority of the prisoners named in the 14 indictments rendered to Judge Smith by the grand jury yesterday pleaded guilty.

Disposition of the indictments in the order in which they were prevented yesterday is as follows:

Lester Coleman alias Willie Green, indicted for breaking and entering, and indicted for burglary, is to be arraigned at a later date. He is now serving a term at Raiford. He is charged with having entered the R. B. Middleton and L. E. Kersey properties on June 17 and June 25, 1934.

With an attendance of over 250 women, the second session of The Herald's Eighth Annual Cooking school took place this morning at the Woman's Club. Miss Jeanne M. Krouse, nationally known home economist, conducted the session with the assistance of economists of the Florida Power and Light Company.

Recipes of the food prepared on the stage by Miss Krouse were distributed to the women at the door and recipes for yesterday's selections will appear in the grocery section of today's paper.

An additional treat at the conclusion this morning were the hot biscuits prepared and served at the large Lily booth at one end of the large auditorium. The biscuits were made with White Lily Flour

200 RUSSIANS EXECUTED AS GRIM WARNING LONG'S DEBT MORATORIUM IN EFFECT

Soviet Reported As Rigidly Avenging Slain Comrade Who Gets Hero's Burial

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—A Warsaw dispatch to the London Daily Express said today that wholesale executions of suspected enemies of the Soviet government had taken place in Russia in the past 24 hours.

The lives of more than 200, including Leonid Nicolief, accused assassin of Sergei Kiroff, and many women and children were taken by firing squads, the dispatch said.

Nicolief's wife, sons, two daughters, and his 85-year-old mother are reported among the victims.

Fourteen officials of the Moscow O. G. P. U., the union state police administration, the story said, also were executed in a grim warning to all disloyal citizens.

Joseph Stalin called on the Red army for the protection of government officials after a clash between Moscow and Leningrad O. G. P. U. detachments.

A hero's funeral was given Sergei Kirov, assassinated communist leader, yesterday as soviet leaders renounced their vows to wreak vengeance on the "enemies of the revolution."

The bullet-riddled bodies of 66 convicted counter-revolutionaries, executed Wednesday, bore mute evidence to the fervor of those vows.

"Indiscretions do not know how to sweep," Dmitri Mandulky, secretary of the committee (the third international), declared, just before Kirov's ashes were deposited in the niche in the Kremlin wall, "but they know how to avenge."

As the rigid investigation that followed had on the heels of Kirov's murder in Leningrad Saturday reached out for new evidence of counter-revolutionary activity, Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the council of people's commissars, charged his murderer was sent by "class enemies."

They must be stamped out, he insisted, even though "they have been so weakened by the bolsheviks that they can only shoot men from behind."

6.2 Inches Of Snow Cover Chicago To Set A New Record

By The Associated Press Nature went still on a rampage over much of the nation from the Rocky Mountains to the prairie states today, but Florida remained a refuge against the rigors of winter.

The Central West was particularly hard hit. Much of the territory was covered by snow and more was promised for today for parts of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, and Kansas.

Low temperatures were predicted for Chicago where 6.2 inches of snow fell yesterday, impeding motorists and grounding airplanes.

The services of 3000 workmen were required to clear away the snow the deepest ever recorded at Chicago on Dec. 6.

One death in Iowa was attributed to the weather when a two-year-old child was killed in an automobile accident caused by an icy pavement.

Temperatures ranged from 41 in Jacksonville to 69 at Miami.

2-Year Extension Of Private Accounts Based On Belief All Men Are Honest

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7.—Senator Long's debt moratorium law went into effect yesterday, based on the assumption that all debtors are honest.

State Senator Colsham Lindsey, cohort of Senator Long, is installed as moratorium commissioner. His powers are broad.

He may grant moratorium without giving reasons. He may decide cases without regard for precedent. He may, and he said he would, keep the names of all applicants secret from all but the creditors involved. He may or may not examine the books of a debtor to see if he needs a moratorium.

He may reopen any case on application of a party involved and he is not limited in the proof he needs.

The moratorium applies to all debts except those owed the state or a political subdivision. It does not apply to taxes. It will be in force for two years.

The procedure will be for a debtor to apply for a moratorium under Lindsey will order a hearing and notify the creditor. The debtor cannot be compelled to produce his books. The commissioner may demand to see the books, by refusing an order until they are produced an evidence, but the creditor may not see them. Nevertheless, the creditor must prove that the applicant is not entitled to relief. The commissioner will keep no records of his hearings and will make no explanations for his actions.

The moratorium law may hold up execution of a court judgment on a debt. All orders of the court (Continued On Page Five)

Bandits Rob Express Office At Gastonia

GASTONIA, N. C., Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—Two masked bandits armed with machine guns late yesterday held up and robbed the Gastonia office of the Railway Express Company of approximately $2,800 and 25 travelers' checks.

Entering the office in the business section, the two masked men forced Manager Emmett T. Brown and his wife and Lloyd Warren, an employee, to lie on the floor in the rear of the establishment. They then bound and gagged the three and forced Brown to crawl to the safe and unlock it.

They took everything of value from the safe and cleaned out the money drawer.

Wallace Warns Of Probable Extinction Of Middle Class By "Economic Hierarchy"

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace last night warned America of "economic hierarchy" they can make mistakes "more damaging to the order of civilization which they hold dear" than the French revolution.

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, Wallace emphasized the need for a broader social outlook than existed in the past century. He quoted extensively from Protestant, Catholic and Jewish pronouncements to show that the New Deal was enjoying into action what the churches had advocated for years.

He pointed out the 36,000 families who had $25,000 average income as an "economic hierarchy" who held a tremendous power over the welfare of their fellow citizens through their money holding and their decisions regarding credit to nourish the economic plant of the nation.

Manager Of Carling Hotel In Jacksonville To Be One Of Group Of Lessees

The municipally owned Mayfair Hotel will be reopened as a tourist-commercial establishment on or about Jan. 15. The Herald was reliably informed late this afternoon.

The announcement is based on a statement made over the telephone this afternoon by Jack J. Kerns, manager of the Carling Hotel in Jacksonville, that he and other associates will mail a signed lease-option contract on the property tonight.

Negotiations between Mr. Kerns and his party have been under way for some days, with Commissioner S. O. Shinhober representing the City under authority of Mayor W. A. Laffler.

Mr. Kerns, and James Page, recently resigned as manager of the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta, were in Sanford this week, conferring with the Commissioners, inspecting the property, and gathering data which indicated that they were preparing to go into every phase of the hotel and its possibilities.

While no official announcement was made by either Mayor Laffler or Commissioner Shinhober, both reportedly encouraged by the prospect of the early opening of the city's largest building.

Satisfied that the contract will be in the hands of the City Commissioners by tomorrow morning, Chamber of Commerce officials began laying plans for a trade body objective which they have been wanting to announce for many months. A convention for Sanford each week in the year.

This will be the Chamber of Commerce's prime objective for 1935, and there was data aplenty on file to indicate that the objective might be reached.

Trade body officials are authority for the statement that Mr. Kerns and Mr. Page are two of the best known hotel men in the South. Both come from plants which are widely patronized by both the tourist and commercial trade and both have been "in the business" for many years.

3 Carolinians Burned For Death Of Banker

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—Benson Given, his son, Lester, and his son-in-law Robert Black, all of High Point, were electrocuted at the North Carolina State prison today for their part in the killing of T. C. Barnes, cashier of the Taylorsville Bank in an attempted robbery.

The execution brought to four the number of lives the state has taken for the murder of Barnes. Mike Steffanoff, alleged to have been a member of the band of robbers convicted of murder was electrocuted last summer.

Numerous petitions and other pressure was brought to bear to save the Greens and Black, but Governor Ehringhaus refused to grant clemency. The elder Green, 44 and first, followed by the son, and then Black.

Seminole High Outplays Rollins Rats Three Quarters Of Way, Loses, 14-7

Forcing their heavier coats of the defensive when a well executed pass attack led to a touch down in the second quarter of play, a spirited Seminole High School football team outplayed the Rollins Rats for three quarters of the final grid game of the local season, only to lose 14 to 7.

Balked at the line and through the air and until just two minutes before the third quarter ended, the heavy Rats, most of them prep and high school stars from Northern states, started ripping holes in the light but scrappy Seminole line to roll a touchdown in the third minute of the last quarter.

With the score tied and four minutes to play, the Rats uncorked a deceptive triple pass in the backfield from their own 38 yard line for a 57 yard gain when left end Little, a 190 pounder, caught a 40 yard pass and raced 17 yards before Oliver Miller pulled him down on the Seminole five yard line. Two line bucks by "Bobunk" Young, former Orlando fullback, brought the second score and the game ended two minutes later.

It was a fast game from the start and for the first time this season, no penalties were called, and Oliver Miller, Seminole, came to his own as a pass snatcher and defensive star.

It had only one jarring note in that many local fans doubted that the Rats would have scored their first touchdown through the (Continued On Page Five)

3 Carolinians Burned For Death Of Banker

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—Benson Given, his son, Lester, and his son-in-law Robert Black, all of High Point, were electrocuted at the North Carolina State prison today for their part in the killing of T. C. Barnes, cashier of the Taylorsville Bank in an attempted robbery.

The execution brought to four the number of lives the state has taken for the murder of Barnes. Mike Steffanoff, alleged to have been a member of the band of robbers convicted of murder was electrocuted last summer.

Numerous petitions and other pressure was brought to bear to save the Greens and Black, but Governor Ehringhaus refused to grant clemency. The elder Green, 44 and first, followed by the son, and then Black.

"KIDNAPED" GIRL RETURNS

DENVER, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—Teachers at Mitchell School reported today that Emaline Harris, 10, daughter of Mrs. George Jennings, who was believed to have been kidnaped, returned to her class this morning. "As if nothing had happened."

Seminole High Outplays Rollins Rats Three Quarters Of Way, Loses, 14-7

Forcing their heavier coats of the defensive when a well executed pass attack led to a touch down in the second quarter of play, a spirited Seminole High School football team outplayed the Rollins Rats for three quarters of the final grid game of the local season, only to lose 14 to 7.

Balked at the line and through the air and until just two minutes before the third quarter ended, the heavy Rats, most of them prep and high school stars from Northern states, started ripping holes in the light but scrappy Seminole line to roll a touchdown in the third minute of the last quarter.

With the score tied and four minutes to play, the Rats uncorked a deceptive triple pass in the backfield from their own 38 yard line for a 57 yard gain when left end Little, a 190 pounder, caught a 40 yard pass and raced 17 yards before Oliver Miller pulled him down on the Seminole five yard line. Two line bucks by "Bobunk" Young, former Orlando fullback, brought the second score and the game ended two minutes later.

It was a fast game from the start and for the first time this season, no penalties were called, and Oliver Miller, Seminole, came to his own as a pass snatcher and defensive star.

It had only one jarring note in that many local fans doubted that the Rats would have scored their first touchdown through the (Continued On Page Five)

Isn't it funny how uncommon common sense is?

The cheapest way to defeat radicalism is to promote business recovery.

One of the most unique events in South American history occurred the other day when the President of Bolivia resigned.

They say that Santa Claus is liable to be a little early this year. Stronous competition is increasing his efficiency.

If the bondholder is the "forgotten man" of the New Deal, as the president of the United Mutual Life Insurance Company says, what does he think the taxpayer is?

The meanest man in town, says one of our ambitious young career boys who makes his living by selling subscriptions, is the man who refuses to take the paper but never fails to read his neighbor's.

The sister of Anne Lindbergh, Colonel Lindbergh's wife, died of pneumonia the other day. It would seem that that Lindbergh-Morrow family is having its share of grief even if they have got plenty of money.

During the first year of repeal, liquor taxes and licenses produced $200,000,000 in revenue to the various states and federal government. Which after all is just another drop in the bucket.

The state chamber of commerce plans a statewide poll to determine whether the people want a state sales tax. It's too late for that, however. The people approved a sales tax on November 6.

Subsidizing home construction may prove an expensive undertaking for the federal government, but at least it is not as bad as subsidizing large shipping interests, aviation corporations and what not. Furthermore it will probably not prove as expensive as making

The story is told of a colored woman applying to register, and being asked: "What party do you affiliate with?" She hesitated, and when pressed for an answer finally said: "If I had to tell that, I won't tell, for he ain't got his divvies yet." - Kay West Citizen, Must Be a Republican.

In Fort Worth, Texas, the other day, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mullins became the parents of a fine 5-lb. female baby. Nothing unusual in that except that Mr. and Mrs. Mullins are only 14 years old themselves. That is rather young to be assuming the responsibilities of parenthood. But then young people today perhaps have more courtship and more respectfulness than their grandfathers did.

Some of the "white guards" are said to be "back" the other day. "The white guard" that they did not believe in completely. We have communists in our midst, who do not believe in the "white guard" form of government. We've got 'em and then to see what we might do some for 'em. The "white guard" were to become the government.

The Methodist Orphanage

The Florida Methodist Orphanage, on the board of which one of our local residents, Mr. L. P. Hagan, serves as president, has just completed a most successful year in which it has established a fine record of accomplishment. Other local residents on the board include Mrs. W. S. Thornton, while the Rev. Smith Hardin, formerly of this city but now of Bartow, is also a member.

The Orphans Friend, an Orphanage publication, reveals that there are now approximately 150 children living in the institution. All of them, of course, are orphans, and but for the shelter they have found at the Orphanage would probably be homeless and wanderers about the country.

At Benson Springs they have been well cared for by officers and teachers who have their hearts in their work. The Orphanage, which has a property valuation estimated at exceeding $200,000, maintains itself largely through voluntary contributions. During 1933 approximately $25,000 was raised for his institution which managed to complete a successful year with only a $300 deficit.

Sanford people are much interested in the fine work which is being done across the lake, and The Herald extends its heartiest congratulations to the officers of this institution on the completion of another successful year.

What Have They Done For Us?

Twelve famous Americans, appraising the five years since the stock market crash, paid separate tribute recently to the fact that the United States can take it. Most of them agree that the American spirit has used the depression for its advantage rather than being defeated by it.

Changes have come to stay they grant in a symposium in the January Cosmopolitan, just out, but the lasting effect will be to restore appreciation for those old fashioned American principles and pioneer values which the gilded post-war prosperity years sought to deny or forget.

HENRY FORD thinks the last five years brought this country nearer to a society based on justice, opportunity and security. This he believes, is to be America's gift to the world.

"We spent the first two years wondering when 1929 was coming back," he says. "We spent the next two years hoping for something that was said to be 'just around the corner.' We have spent the past year believing in Santa Claus. But there are signs at last that people are beginning to take the hint and are ready to enter a positive state of mind regarding this experience."

"I do not agree that the depression has shifted the basis of life in the United States. The shift has always been in process—only people don't see it. It is proof that we are alive. We have been shifting ever since we were a people. To say that the United States begins to shift because business becomes bad, or because administrations change at Washington, is to ignore a constant phenomenon of American life."

Other significant expressions of opinion were: ROBERT M. HUTCHINS, college president: "The depression has taught educators what their problem is. That problem is nothing less than the accommodation up to eighteen or even twenty of all, or almost all, of the population of the United States. There is absolutely no way of solving the problem that these new idle present except through the educational system. If we ever have a thirty-hour week, we shall be face to face with adult education on an enormous scale."

HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK, minister: "Thousands of young men and women are all dressed up with an education and have nowhere to go. They are having driven home on them the fact that our social order needs reformation; that profound changes must come, and that it never can be altogether well with anybody until it is well with everybody."

FRANK VANDERLIP, financier: "The depression has saved many of our young from frustrated lives. They know it and are happier. They have broader sympathies, they have less arrogance, and they are today facing with clear eyes the necessity of giving if they are to have."

EVANGELINE BOOTH, Salvation Army leader: "The depression has taught us that a city is not to be judged by its big buildings and its spectacular squares and monuments. The homes in the back streets are what constitute the city as a place to live. The impoverishment of the nation during these lean years has tended to level all classes."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Miss Eva Walker, who is ever a popular hostess, had a very happy gathering of little folks at her home Thursday afternoon, entertaining the members of her Sunday School Class and little neighborhood friends with an attractive Christmas party. Assisting Miss Walker were Mrs. Walker and the Misses Agnes and Evelyn Berner. The little folks invited were: Margaret Neal, Maude Lake, Olive Newman, Evelyn Wessner, Helen Gonsales, Georgia Nobley, Margaret Berner, Katherine Symes, Margaret Zachary, LeClair Jones, Edward Rumph, Algernon Spear, James Robson, Bernard Edwards, Arthur Zachary, Louder Berner, E. K. Foster, and Billy Pitts.

The younger set was entertained with a charming little party by Miss Nell Evans Friday evening at her home on Magnolia Avenue. Miss Evans is a popular favorite with the young people and her affairs are always enjoyable. HOMESTEADS AND BONDS

OCALA STAR. The supreme court has handed down another of the many rulings that will be coming out of that tribunal, in defining the effect of the homestead tax amendment on refunding bond issues, or on one bond issue that is being refunded in Duval county. The effect, the court by an evenly divided opinion, three Justices concurring and three dissenting, upheld the ruling of a circuit judge in Duval county that homestead properties exempted under the new amendment from ad valorem taxation for government service, are still liable for debt service incurred prior to adoption of the amendment, when counties are forced to refund their obligations. It will be remembered that this point whether homes could be held liable for refunding bonds, was a controversial issue during the pre-election campaign. What ever the difference of opinion then, there can be none now, as the court has held that when the people voted for tax exemption they "intended that new bonds can continue as liens against homesteads because new bonds are merely extension of old bonds." The court also stated that the new amendment was intended to be placed alongside of and not as a substitute for section six of article nine of the constitution which provided for issuance of refunding bonds. "To hold otherwise would be to hold that the people intended a general liquidation of bonds with no refunding bonds to be issued." Under this ruling of the court, though it leaves the way open for further consideration of the case, the provisions of the Wilcox bankruptcy bill seem to be still available to municipalities and counties wishing to avail themselves of that act, despite its sponsor's plan just prior to the election that such would not be the case. It also should be borne in mind that homesteads otherwise exempted under the amendment are not any more liable for refunding bonds than other properties not sharing in the exemption granted. If and when other revenues are provided for debt service, all properties can be relieved from such levies, the contention of proponents of the amendment. Heads of families are not displeased at the court's ruling. It was expected.

RANDOM POLITICS

By E. H. COLLINS

Breadly speaking, three possible approaches to the next phase of recovery now are under debate in Washington. They are:

- 1. A new program of government spending, so directed as to give the maximum stimulus to private business.
2. Contract of government spending to the lowest possible point, with a corresponding larger reliance on private business to get it along.
3. Inflation.
The proponents of these various methods are aiming, in general, at exactly the same goal. They agree almost unanimously that two things are needed—revival of production in the basic industries, and a higher velocity in the circulation of money. A reopening of mills and factories, it is felt, would relieve unemployment, while a more rapid turnover of currency—more buying and selling—would accelerate generally the life-stream of economic activity. The argument is over the method, not the end. Only the first two of these possibilities appear to be taken seriously within the Administration. Agitation for the third—inflation—centers for the time being, at least, in Congress.

If more and cheaper dollars were put into circulation, argue the congressional inflationists, buying and selling would increase automatically, production would be pulled out of the doldrums, and unemployment would disappear.

Administration economists say it wouldn't work that way. They insist that, instead of most of the new money simply would pile up in hoarded surpluses. So inflation stays more or less in the background. One of the other methods will be tried first. If it fails, congressional pressure for inflation may become irresistible.

Those who favor a new spending campaign on the part of the government itself have their case on a ground slightly different from that upon which such spending has rested in the past. They concede that heretofore too much money has gone either into direct relief, where it merely kept people alive, or into enterprises which may actually have hampered business by competing with it.

The new idea is to "take the relief money—which, it is argued, must be spent anyway—and put people to work on permanent construction projects. That would mean, presumably, that they would have enough to do some spending, while at the same time the heavy industries would be revived by the increased demand for construction materials.

What this would amount to, in short, would be an expanded application of the public works theory of depression relief. The other school of thought regards that "large-scale government spending simply is lifting its own weight by keeping private business solvent and working about the budget and future taxation.

That it is added, would mean a real rather than an artificial business boom. In the end, the debate narrows down largely to a direct question of fact: Is serious business spending and able to take over the

We have said that SOILADE is more nourishing and more lasting than ordinary commercial fertilizer. And, that is true.

We have said that SOILADE is now being used exclusively by the finest private estates, public parks and golf courses. That also is true.

But SOILADE was put on the market for YOUR garden. It is YOUR trees, shrubs, flowers and lawns we have in mind when talking about it. SOILADE is for everyman's benefit. It works exactly the same in a small garden as a large one; it is meant for modest homes even more than "Show Places."

It would be a mistake to deprive yourself of SOILADE under the impression that it is either exclusive or expensive. It is neither. A five pound package costs only fifty cents and it goes a long way in the modest home garden.

Don't let your home grounds suffer for want of SOILADE. It pays rich dividends on a trifling investment.

 placed on the 36,000 families at the top of the pyramid which have an average income of $75,000 or more a year," Wallace said.

"They can easily make mistakes which are more damaging to the order of civilization which they hold dear than the mistakes made by the Bourbons of France immediately preceding the French revolution. They can cause unnecessary misery to themselves and to the 11,000,000 families at the bottom of the pyramid by refusing to recognize their responsibility.

"They can by a continuation of highly individualistic decisions in conformity with the principle of enlightened self-interest, bring about the destruction of the great middle class. Is their interest in dividends supreme?"

If the upper class so insists, Wallace said the pyramid will be inverted "with accompanying woe and anguish."

Wallace, however, approved a certain amount of "economic hierarchy." But he raised the question as to whether the 36,000 families at the top were 300 times as meritorious or capable or intelligent as the 11,000,000 families at the bottom.

"Judging from what I know about differences between individuals of the same species in nature, I would question whether they are, on the average, more than 10 times as capable and intelligent," the secretary of agriculture said.

"It would seem that the economic rules of the game have been loaded to produce differences far greater than would be expected in a reasonable society."

NRA hearings showed uniform views as to what was sound and profitable for a particular corporation or even a whole industry, Wallace said, but exhibited all sorts of varying opinions on fundamentals of a national social policy.

An example of how the wealthy "used the corporate form of organization to preserve their enlightened self-interest in contradiction to the social need," NRA industrial production was still 42 percent below 1929 while he pointed out that under the prices were only 15 percent under.

Figures for agriculture were reversed, agricultural production for consumption 15 percent under 1929 and prices 40 percent below 1929, he added.

 for further devaluation of the dollar.

Thomas said the dollar already had been cut from 167 to 130 cents compared to its normal purchasing power. This, he asserted, resulted in a shifting of $162,000,000,000 in values to the benefit of taxpayers and the public generally.

A return to the 100 cent dollar, he said, would in ten years time boost this "benefit to the masses of the people" to $171,000,000,000.

Fans were lauding the work of the Seminole line which played 48 minutes without substitution. Particularly noticeable was the rugged play of Ralph "Monkey" Moner.

The Rats were sluggish and over confident from the start, and their gains were limited until the final quarter when, angered at the possibility of losing to a high school squad, they went to work.

Quillian Jordan, former Seminole high backfield ace, playing for the Rats, exhibited his old time elusiveness and drive in the six times he carried the ball, but...

ROOSEVELT PLANS TO GIVE WORK TO IDLE MILLIONS

New Relief Program Will Supplant Present Direct Doles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. — (AP) — President Roosevelt last night shaped details of a plan aimed at giving work to the millions on direct relief and a co-ordinating emergency spending into one broad program to accomplish the task.

There were authoritative signs as the President returned from Warm Springs refreshed and buoyant, that he intends to ask Congress for emergency sums exceeding $4,000,000,000. This figure was mentioned in informed quarters as probably a minimum.

This central fund, some of Roosevelt's advisors reported, was expected to be apportioned out for carefully drawn projects. They added that the plan would include many that fit in with the President's conception of America in the future.

Whether one central agency would be designated to direct the expenditures contemplated apparently had not been decided but such a proposal has been under discussion.

Some of the things in mind are: Land and water conservation, relief, public works, roads, subsistence homesteads, rural rehabilitation and various others.

The four million or more employable on relief rolls are to be put to work but opinions varied as to the extent that low cost housing, subsistence homesteads, alum clearance or other projects would be used in giving them jobs.

One estimate from a generally reliable quarter said $500,000,000 might be employed in a land and water conservation program.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, who returned with the President, said in a press conference that he did not expect any increase in the amount of emergency relief administration work relief this winter. He stressed the value of such work relief as slum clearance, rural rehabilitation and like projects.

One point was particularly emphasized in other quarters: The President was said to be determined that the four million employable persons on relief rolls shall be taken off and put to work. Between this point and Hopkins' statement, many concluded that while the FEERA might not expand its work relief, some agency would.

United States weather bureau records for 65 years show the average winter snowfall in Norfolk, Va. is eight and a half inches.

LONG'S DEBT MORATORIUM IN EFFECT

(Continued From Page One) mislabeled, however, are subject to court review. The debt will be suspended pending decision on the appeal.

A debtor may single out any one of his obligations, apply for a moratorium on it, and pay the others. The debtor will retain control of his assets during the moratorium and the creditor will have no right to demand security.

Business men were still puzzled over some of the provisions. Lindsey and J. S. Brock, state bank examiner, met with the New Orleans Credit Men's association and attempted to explain the new law. Charles G. Cobb, secretary of the credit association, said neither official seemed very well versed in their subject.

Cobb said the law would tend to tighten up credit, the very thing the Roosevelt Administration was trying to avoid.

"From the viewpoint of the small wholesaler and manufacturer, the act is unfair," Cobb said.

"Take the example of a small retailer who applies for a moratorium. He has 10 creditors. On whatever evidence the commissioner decides is proof he gets a two-year moratorium, prohibiting the creditors from collecting.

"Then the same retailer may continue in business and contract new debts. The other wholesalers, so far as the moratorium commissioner is concerned, are kept in the dark about the retailer's failure to pay his debts. In this way the retailer would be able to contract a new set of debts and maybe at the end of two years only the shell of a business would be left and the retailer would wind up in the bankruptcy court."

Brock replied that business men would have to co-operate in reporting among themselves the names of debtors who applied for moratoriums.

"You gentlemen are assuming the attitude that all debtors are crooks," Brock said. He estimated 90 percent of debtors are honest.

Yugoslavian Troops Cross Border Into Hungary Nearly To Precipitate Flight

A general conspiracy against the territorial integrity of the new states set up after the World War was charged today at Geneva where the League of Nations Council was studying tense relations between Hungary and Yugoslavia.

Earlier, Hungarian reports said that Yugoslav troops had returned to their own territory after crossing the border last night and almost precipitating a conflict with Hungarian forces.

At Washington, evidence that the War Department considered it more important for the Du Pont Company to continue the production of powder than for the nation to guard its military secrets, drew assertions today from members of the Senate Munitions Committee that America was an arming world to its own future disadvantage.

(Continued From Page One) that prisoners are well cared for. "Also, we have inspected the County Court House and find an unsanitary condition prevails in the adjoining toilets in the basement. To correct this condition we recommend that the two adjoining rooms be ceiled and a vent provided.

"Also, some damage has been done to the wooden steps leading from the entrance of the Court House to the hall, and should be repaired. Also we recommend that four additional swivel chairs and six straight chairs be provided for the Bar of the Court Room. With the above exceptions we find the property in good condition.

"We have visited the County Farm and Convict Camp and, so far as we were able to determine, both properties are well kept and conditions appear to be satisfactory. We recommend the work of Capt. Paul Biggs. We particularly wish to commend the work of Supt. R. L. Dann of the County Farm.

"We also wish to commend the work of County Traffic Officer E. T. Hamill for his untiring efforts in patrolling our highways and especially appreciate his courtesies to the motoring public.

"We, the grand jurors of Seminole County, after completing the cases coming before us and noting the number of persons pardoned, paroled and in other ways released by the Pardoning Board of the State of Florida and coming up again for major offenses, wish to petition the Honorable Judge under whom we are called and through him and his Court, the Governor of the State of Florida and the Pardoning Board, to stop releasing these criminals upon society.

"We feel that with all the safeguards that are thrown around the

..... WE SUGGEST A Brand New Set Of Firestone TIRES

Your Battery SPARK PLUGS, BRAKE TESTED Without Charge!

It's seldom that the family car is not in need of at least one tire, and sometimes two. Then when replacements are finally purchased there will probably be one or two bad ones left over.

Good tires are a necessity for general safety in driving, but it happens that some car owners put off buying them until it is absolutely necessary.

So take a look at Dad's car and see if it doesn't need new tires. A new set would take a load off of his mind, both financially and worrying about his family's safety.

We think he would appreciate a new set of Firestones most of all—and the cost is very low for a gift of this kind. Let us help you more between now and Christmas.

NORTHERN ROADS LOSE FIGHT FOR CITRUS REVENUE

ICC Order Is Upheld By District Court In Denying Plea

NORFOLK, Dec. 7.—The application of northern railroads for a greater percentage of the citrus fruit revenues divided between northern and southern carriers was denied in a district court for the eastern division of Virginia.

Regarded as one of the most important to come from the Norfolk court in many years, this decision means about $1,200,000 in back revenues and $300,000 annually to southern carriers, the principal ones affected being the Seaboard Air Line railway, Atlantic Coast Line railway, Southern railway and Florida East Coast railway.

The decision sustains an Interstate commerce commission order dated Jan. 8, 1934, which gave the southern lines a higher percentage of the revenues derived from hauling citrus fruits from Florida to northern destinations and was made retroactive to Nov. 22, 1930. It was on this date that the southern roads applied for a higher percentage of the revenue.

In the hauling of citrus fruits and other commodities from Florida to the north, the traffic passes over tracks of several southern railroads on the way to Richmond and Norfolk, and from there points onward, notably from Richmond, the traffic moves over the tracks of northern railroads.

The principal complaints against the I. C. C. decision were the Baltimore and Ohio railroads, the Pennsylvania railroad and the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, although a number of other lines filed intervening petitions asking for the same relief.

The principal contentions of the northern railroads were that the new division of rates was confiscatory, in that the new percentage did not cover the costs of handling; that the I. C. C. had exceeded its authority by basing a decision partially on the lines' need for financial assistance; and that the retroactive feature of the order was in violation of the seventh amendment to the constitution of the United States. These contentions are dismissed in the decision.

HOPKINS PLANS NEW PROJECT TO AID IDLE YOUTH

Relief Head Wants To Keep Alive Eagerness For Vocations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—In Harry L. Hopkins' folio of work relief plans yesterday rested a program designed to give to many schooled but jobless young Americans tasks for which they are trained.

The relief administrator wants to keep the eagerness for vocations which they so recently brought fresh from high schools and colleges.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt shares Hopkins' interest in this problem. Letters from discouraged young men and women—many of them just out of high school and college—called it to her attention. A survey indicated 3,500,000 young folk in this group were neither in school nor at work.

Special FERA aid for youths is limited largely at present to part-time work relief jobs for poor college students. The government is spending $1,500,000 a month to keep 100,000 students in school. They are paid an average wage of $15 a month for helping librarians and registrars, building campus flower beds, repairing school properties and engaging in other "socially desirable" projects.

Another relief activity in the educational field is the employment of 40,000 jobless teachers at an average salary of $60 a month.

Among other things they teach 12,000,000 citizens to read and write. Nurseries for children of work relief employes also are conducted by the relief-paid teachers. Half of Japan's factory workers are employed in the textile trades.
