

Drug Trafficking Drives 2.5% Crime Rise

From Staff and Wire Reports

A top state law enforcement official said Wednesday serious crime is up 2.5 percent so far in 1987, with Florida headed for its first one-million crime year ever. In Sanford, the crime rate is holding steady.

Florida Department of Law Enforcement Director Robert Dempsey blamed the drug problem. Drug trafficking remains almost unchecked, even though arrests are up, he said, and property crimes are rising with people stealing to maintain their drug habits.

Serious crime was up 2.5 percent during the first half of this year, compared with the same period of 1986. Dempsey reported at a news conference.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said the crime rate in Sanford has not increased, but illegal drugs are still at the heart of many crimes.

"There's no doubt about it," Harriett said. "It's the soul impactor of property violence... It is no coincidence that the rate has jumped again with the additional use of cocaine."

He said putting some bite into sentencing guidelines would help put away the small cadre of individuals who commit a disproportionate amount of crime. "We've arrested the same people over and over again."

He said they have to arrest some people four or five times before they finally get jail time.

Dempsey termed the 2.5 percent increase "relatively small." but said he is alarmed because more than one million serious crimes will occur this year if that rate of growth continues.

"The picture is not a good one. We are very concerned that there is a continuing increase in the volume and rate of crime."

There were 11,813 more cases of the seven most serious crimes in the first half of this year than the first half of 1986. That includes a one percent increase in violent crimes (murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault).

Murders declined alightly, from 658 for the first six months of last year to 653. There were 2,961 rapes during the first half of 1987, 20,810 robberies, 35,656 cases of aggravated assault.

Property crimes were up dramatically, including motor vehicle thefts, which grew 10 percent and totaled about 30,000 for the reporting period. Law enforcement officers have done their job as well as possible, but they have been unable to See CRIME, page 12A

Yellow Jackets Sting Lake Mary Boy;

City Plans To Have Nest Removed By Richard Whittaker

Herald Staff Writer

Stung 14 times by yellow jacket wasps, a 6-year-old Lake Mary boy plans to stay out of the woods near his home for awhile. And after other children were stung a few times in the same area, city officials are looking for a way to rid the area if the yellow jacket's In-ground nest.

The nest is located on a vacant lot off Short Street. Lake Mary police cordoned off the area around the nest late Wednesday.

City Planner Matthew West said he inspected the lot Wednesday after city hall received reports of the children being attacked while playing on the site owned by Invine E. Arnold III. The lot is adjacent to a home located at 240 Short Street. Arnold lives in New York, according to city records.

Peggy Bridgeman, of 241 Short Street. said her 6-year-old son Beau was stung 14 times by the wasps after he stumbled across the nest while playing in the area July 29. Beau was with playmates Justin and Joby Gorman when the wasps struck. Justin 4, and Joby 7, were both stung a few times as well, Bridgeman said.

Bridgeman said she debated whether to call the city about the incident for over a week.

"I'd feel real bad if someone had gotten hurt and I hadn't reported it," she said.

West visited the site with commercial beekeeper Donald T. Reagan, 3210 Old Lake Mary Road. Reagan said the underground comb the yellow Jackets had created in the middle of a group of scrub oaks was pretty large as compared to other bees' nests he's seen.

"The things (yellowjackets) are dangerous," Reagan said, One can cat you up and make you think there's 50 of them." One of the reasons he feels this type of insect is so threating is because the cavities they dig out of the ground are often so well disguised that people can't see them until "they're on top of them". Reagan also said just the size of the nest alone could be dangerous.

Clinic Lowers Drug Prices

By Ted Carter Herald Staff Writer

The Central Florida Community Clinic in Sanford has dropped the price of drug prescriptions to its lowest income patients, having concluded that the fee schedule was starting to put the price of mediciations out of reach.

That is but one the changes occurring at the federally subsidized clinic at 2427 S. Park Ave. Director Susan Moore is leaving in September to take a more lucrative position with a statewide primary health care organization. In June, Hylan Boxer took over as clinic pharmacist. He replaced Jerry Zabler, who left for a job as a Wal-Mart pharmacist.

The clinic's board of directors is reviewing the resumes of about 30 people who have applied for the post Moore is vacating. Moore said she hopes a replacement can be on board in early September.

But in June the same medications went back down to the $25 range. The reason, said Moore, is that Redner and other low income patients had been paying the clinic's cost of the drugs.

Moore said she reduced the prescription prices after concluding the fixed and low income patients "were paying more than they could afford." adding, "We had not had a minimum for our lowest paying patients."

As the hospital wholesale cost the clinic was paying for the drugs increased, so did the fees charged the financially strapped patients, she said. "Our fee schedule hadn't changed in six years. What had changed was that prices had been going up." Redner, who lives off a Social Security pension and is confined to an oxygen machine inside her apartment at Georgia Arms, said she often worried how she was going to continue paying for the

Iranians, Kuwaitis Talk; Ship Re-flaggings Delayed

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Plans to hoist U.S. flags aboard three Kuwaiti tankers were abruptly postponed today and Iran reportedly held high-level talks with Kuwait to urge the Arab nation to cancel the re-flagging operation.

Shipping sources said U.S. officials took the stars and stripes aboard three Kuwaiti vessels - the Gas King, the Ocean City and the Sea Isle City - but they were not hoisted on their masts.

The ships are moored at the United Arab Emirates port of Khawr Fakkhan in the Gulf of Oman, the same area where the oil supertanker Bridgeton and the smaller Gas Prince were re-flagged last month.

The shipping sources quoted U.S. officials as saying the re-flagging was delayed because there were no American captains aboard the vessels and because the Gas King had not been certified by the U.S. Coast Guard as meeting safety regulations.

But diplomatic sources said the re-flagging was believed delayed pending the outcome of reported talks between Iran and Kuwalt.

The London Independent newspaper reported today that a high-level Iranian delegation was in Kuwait trying to persuade Kuwaiti officials to abandon the re-flagging operation, which includes U.S. naval protection for the tankers.

The Independent said the Iranians offered to stop attacking Kuwaiti shipping if the Kuwaitis cancelled the deal with the United States. Iran has been attacking Kuwaiti ships because the Arab nation supports Iraq in the nearly 7-year-old Persian Gulf war.

At the same time, Iran bept up pressure on the United States and its allies today by announcing its war games in the Persian Gulf - codenamed "Martyrdom" - would be extended another day, through Friday.

Iran halled the maneuvers Wednesday as a "magnificent show of power" that included speedboats, planes and the first submarine built by the regime of Ayatoliah Ruholiah Khomeini.

In the latest reinforcement of American forces in the gulf, the United States ordered Army helicopter gunships and Navy fast patrol boats to the waterway. Some military experts compared the U.S. buildup to the one that preceded the U.S. bombing of Libya last year.

The use of Army helicopters on Navy vessels during a mission will be a first. Helicopter gunships, either light and fast observation choppers armed with machine guns or Vietnam-era, rocket-equipped Cobras. were ordered to the gulf aboard Air Force transport planes. Pentagon sources said Wednesday.

POLICE IN BRIEF Assault Suspect Arrested On Weapons, Drug Charges

Altamonte Springs police, who stopped the car of a man being sought Tuesday by Eatonville police, reported that the Eatonville victim of an alleged assault by the man asked that he not be charged in that case.

However, the man was jailed on Altamonte Springs charges after police spotted a handgun hidden under the front seat of his car. Henry Lee Ivory, 5C, of 413 Longwood Ave., Altamonte Springs, was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed firearm. Police searched the car and added charges of possession of a controlled substance and possession of a short barrel rifle after 24 black, unmarked capsules and a rifle with an 81/2-inch long barrel was found in the car.

lvory was arrested at 6:34 a.m. Tuesday on Orange Avenue at State Road 434, Altamonte Springs. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court August 24.

Kidnapped, Forced To Cruise

A 25-year-old Casselberry woman reported to sheriff's deputies Tuesday that at about 10 a.m. Saturday she picked up a hitchhiker on State Road 426 in the Jametown area of Seminole County.

The man forced her to drive to the Zellwood area, where they rode around for about 11 hours until the woman. Cynthia L. Juvera, was released and drove home. But before Juvera was released she said the man hit her and cut her with a knife. Sheriff's deputies reported her right eye was black and she had a light cut on her right arm.

The kidnapper tried several times to kiss her and made sexual remarks, but did not attempt to sexually assault her. a sheriff's report said.

Juvera said the man stole $400 from her and threatened to kill her and her children. That kept her from reporting the incident, until friends convinced her she should, the report said.

Warrant Search Brings Arrest

Sanford police with a warrant searched a home at 815 S. Orange Ave., Sanford, and after reportedly finding cocaine and a smoking device reported arresting Wonzel Lendris Boyd, 25, of that address.

Boyd was arrested on charges of possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Clyde James Emory, of 2681 W. Eight St., Sanford, reported that one earring valued at $5, one work glove valued at $1, and a $30 watch were stolen along with a $250 television from his home Tuesday.

Two cameras with a combined value of $1,500 and $500 in change were stolen along with jewelry and a watch from the home of Diane Murphy, 33, of 6700 Shellbark Blvd., Apopka, Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Judge Denies Summary Decree In Eye Suit

One summary judgment has been denied and another is to be considered in a suit over the loss of a boy's eye during a late night confrontation.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. refused to drop the names of two people in a suit brought by the parents of George Brana. 16, Apopka. Brana lost an eye when he struggled with John Daniels outside the home where Daniels, Marie Chowanski and her daughter Danielle, lived. The incident occurred around 2 a.m., Tuesday, April 9, 1985, at 2831 Bermuda Ave., in west Seminole County.

Daniels went outside to investigate a noise then waited for a few minutes. He saw what he said he believed to be a burglar and chased the boy through a neighbor's yard. Daniels stopped at the intruder's car and ordered a second boy to get out.

The boy who had fled then ran back and began to stuggle with Daniels. During the boy's attempt to get in the car. Daniel's .32-cailber handgun went off, hitting Brana in the right eye causing him to lose it. The bey was reportedly at the home to see Danielle.

The state attorney's office refused to bring criminal charges against Daniels and a separate attempt by a former state attorney before a Seminole County grand jury also failed to bring criminal charges. That is when the case went to civil court. The Branas have since moved to the Miami area and Daniels to Longwood.

The Chowanskis claim they did not know Daniels had a gun and thus They should be excluded from the suit in which they are named with him. Mize ruled Monday that position is a question of fact, not law, and best decided by a jury.

The Chowaskis have cross sued the Branas saying they had a responsibility to keep the kid at home at night. The Chowanskis have asked that Mize grant them a summary Judgment saying the Brana's were responsible for the boy. A hearing on that issue is set for Aug. 25.

Club At Crossings Plans Reopening

or "The Club at the Crossings" just outside Lake Mary will mark a full cycle for the once floundering club, which was almost destroyed last year to put up a new abopping center. After the club, located at Lake Emma land and Greenwood Blvd., was closed by its owner in February loyal members got together to start a campaign to save it from being torn down. The group decided to attempt reopening the facility on July 3, after it accured 200 new memberships, Frank Stagliano, who is one of six directors that oversees the club said 58 more memberships before December should ensure the club of having the funds to make it into next year.

Memberships may be purchased for the entire family at $350 and for individuals at $200. Memberships for the use of the tennis courts only may be bought for $150.

The club is now run by a non-profit corporation formed by the group to handle its day to day management and care. The group hired a full-time manager and other personnel for the club. It also has arranged to contract out for care of club facilities, which includes a pool, tennis courts, clubhouse, showers, changing rooms and lockers. The group will also hire an outside company for landscaping of club grounds.

Stagliano said he was pleased with the results of the group's work in saving the club. He also feels they are showing those who said they couldn't run the operation that it can be done.

The reopening celebration Saturday will be an all day event featuring food and games. as well as the facilities the club has to offer perspective members. "It's going to be a carnival-like atmosphere." The event is open to anyone wishing to attend the reopening. "I hope this will generate more interest in the club," Stagliano said.

Tropical Disturbance Lurks In Caribbean

United Press International

A tropical disturbance pushed strong gusty winds and heavy rains through the Caribbean today but the National Hurricane Center said it "doesn't look like much."

Forecaster Bob Case said a reconnaissance aircraft will investigate the disturbance.

The center said the tropical disturbance moved over the southern Windward Islands at the southeastern corner of the Carribbean late Wednesday and early today, accompanied by strong gusty winds and heavy rains.

An advisory issued at 5:30 a.m. placed it south of Haiti. Case said the disturbance was traveling west at 15-20 mph.

Case said the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Admistration reconnaissance aircraft would record the disturbance's circulation. The level of circulation indicates a storm's chances of gaining strength, he said.

Reagan Fushing Central America Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (UP.) - With shaky backing from Congress, President Reagan put forth a Central America peace plan Wednesday that gives Nicaragua until Sept. 30 to move toward democracy before more U.S. aid is sought for the Contra rebels.

Evoking akepticism from both ends of the political spectrum and a hesitant response even from Contra leaders. Reagan claimed bipartisan support for a diplomatic formula containing terms rejected by Nicaragua in the past.

Contra leader Adolfo Calero characterized the plan as "a repetition of the same concepts that we have floated around before," but said, "For peace, you always have to keep on trying." Reagan voiced hope "that it will produce a peaceful resolution to the conflict in Nicaragua."

"I urge other nations of the world to join in the support of this effort," he said during a brief appearance before reporters at the White House, "and refrain from activities that would jeopardize it."

Reagan directed Secretary of State George Shultz to forward the document to Central American leaders meeting Thursday and Friday in Guatemala. "with a request that these views be taken into account in their deliberations."

Although some major players in those talks oppose the terms set by Reagan, Shultz defended the plan as "reasonable" and "sensible" and said,

"I think we just have to say what we're for and it's up to others to say whilt they're for."

"It's not just a ploy," he told reporters. "It's a serious effort."

In Guatemala City. Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto said the Sandinista government is suspicious of any proposal put forward by Reagan, but is examining the latest plan closely and has yet to decide whether to reject it.

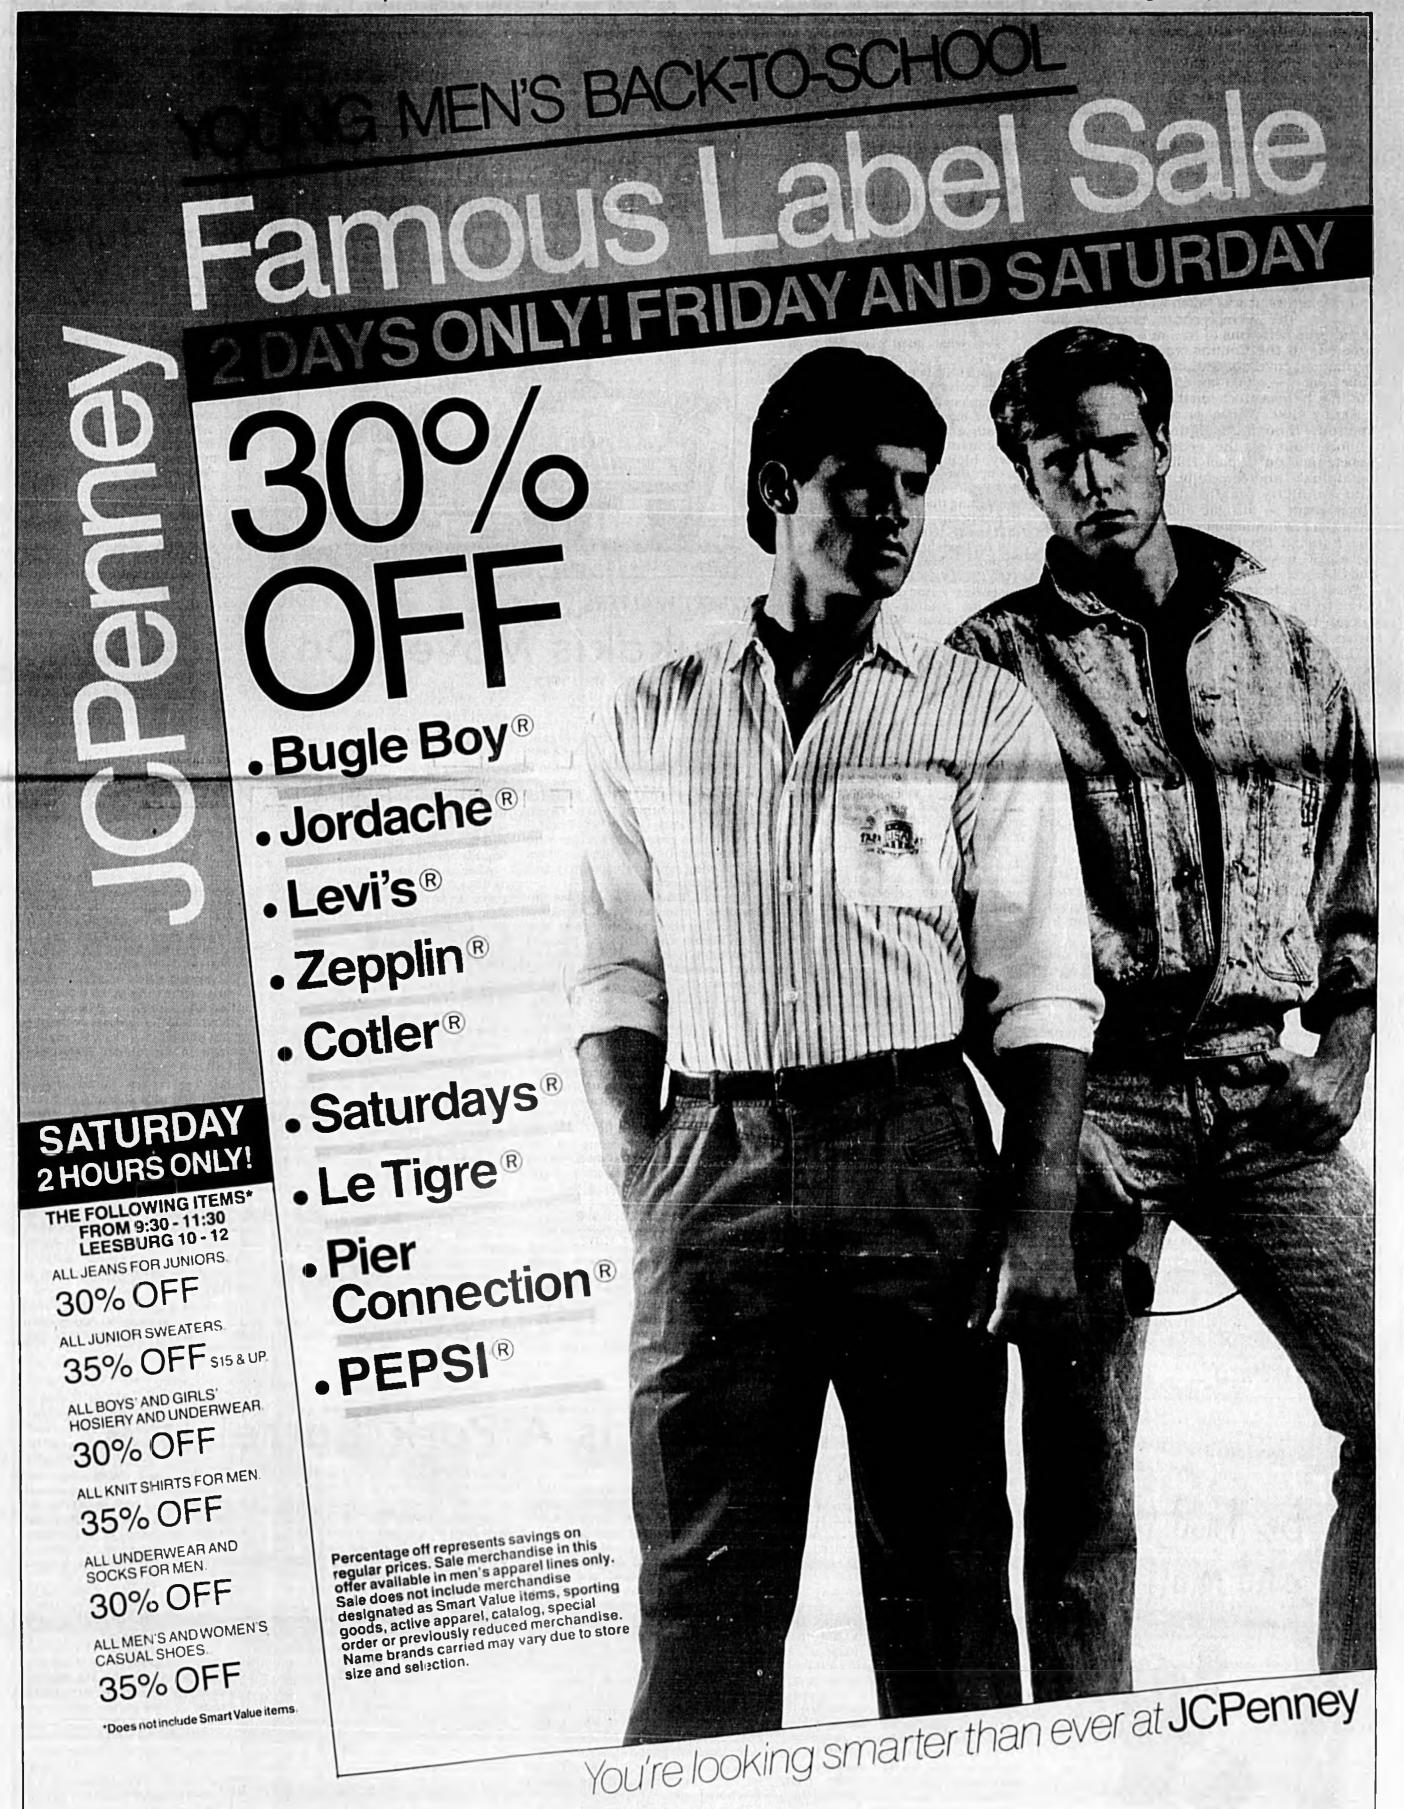

"We are profoundly suspicious of anything to do with President Reagan," D'Escoto said. "He has absolutely no credibility in Latin America or Nicaragua."

"We would like to think he has reflected on the nature of his outlaw policies and is thinking of returning to the community of law-abiding nations but we have no indication of that." the minister said.

The diplomatic overture, hammered out in discussions between the White House and House Speaker Jim Wright, places on temporary hold a request for as much as $150 million in new aid to the Contras — more than Reagan has ever sought in the past — beginning Oct. 1, when the current $100 million aid program expires.

White House officials said the request would be withheld as long as Nicaragua made progress toward meeting the Sept. 30 deadline.

Principles Evident In Public Servant

"Like a syrupy sweet," to borrow the words of Langston Hughes, the image of Ollie North as American hero has already begun to "crust and sugar over," to "sag like a heavy load."

The process was hastened by the testimony of a public servant whose private conduct and public defense of the Constitution is more the stuff of heroes than the dubious and selfaggrandizing statements of Lt. Col. North.

Secretary of State George Shultz, after two days of testimony before the congressional committee investigating the Iran-Contra affair, has helped restore a bit of perspective to a nation stirred in recent days by a visceral spasm of Olliemania.

It was North, we should remember, who admitted altering key documents, shredding many more and withholding information from Congress. It was North who testified that he hoped the secret private enterprise put together to sell arms to Iran and to divert the proceeds to the Contras would survive as a permanent covert operations capability free of supervision - an outlaw CIA, in other words. For this, he was proclaimed a hero.

Shultz, like North, is a Marine combat veteran, though he didn't haul his old uniform out of the cedar closet for his appearance on Capitol Hill. Instead, he laid out frankly and forcefully a tale of intrigue and duplicity at the highest levels of government - intrigue and duplicity woven by a zealous lieutenant colonel on the staff of the National Security Council, by the colonel's NSC bosses and by his de facto boss at the CIA.

What the ideologies in the NSC and the CIA were trying to do. Shultz said, was "totally outside the system of government that we live by and must live by."

Under the Constitution, he pointed out, the powers of government must be shared. "And this is not sharing power," he said. "This is not in line with what was agreed to (at the Constitutional Convention) in Philadelphia. This is a piece of junk and ought to be treated that way."

Shultz told how he, the nation's top diplomat, had been lied to, deceived, undercut and ignored. He told how President Reagan was deceived, how he was fed either erroneous information or no information at all. For months, Shultz said, he was locked in a "battle royal" with CIA Director William Casey, with Rear Adm. John Poindexter and with others for the president's ear. He painted a disturbing picture of an administration in disarray. Shultz, it must be acknowledged, is not blameless. He didn't seem particularly eager to learn what Elliot Abrams, his energetic underling at the State Department, was up to. He didn't seem concerned that Abrams' solicitation of foreign governments for funds to support the Contras might be in violation of the Boland restrictions. In addition, as Rep. Henry Hyde, R-III., suggested to Shultz, he should have resigned. The secretary of state said that on three occasions he threatened to resign; he should have followed through. That act of protest, surely, would have persuaded the president that "the brilliant ideas cooked up by the NSC staff" - Shultz's words - were "a catastrophe." Despite his mistakes, the secretary of state is "a good and honorable man," as Sen. Paul Trible, R-Va., observed. In Trible's words, Shultz "vividly demonstrates that public service can be rooted in principle and graced by nobility."

GEORGE McGOVERN Berliners Learn To Live With Communist Wall

During a recent visit to Berlin, I observed again a large, dynamic city cut in two by a man-made wall and isolated from its longtime position as the capital of a unified Germany. I was struck, however, by the lack of urgency on the part of Germans in the Western or "frec" zone in tearing down the wall or reunifying the country. They seem reluctant to rock the boat.

President Reagan was here a while ago and called on the Russians to tear down the wall. The speech was greeted with polite applause and a yawn. Berliners saw the performance as an artificial political gesture.

The Berlin Wall was built, beginning Aug. 13. 1961, to stop the flow of East Germans to the Western sector. It was the Soviet answer to a crisis, which they largely created. It stemmed from efforts to halt the movement of people between the two zones, and frictions, again largely created by the Russians, among the four sectors of Berlin. Those sectors are apportioned to Britain. France, the United States and the Soviet Union.

The concrete wall is just under 100 miles long. Its height varies between 10 and 13 feet. The eastern side of the wall is backed up by an open area about 100 yards wide containing land mines and barbed wire barriers with armed guards posted at towers. The chief activity along the western side of the wall consists of tourists peering into the Eastern zone from platforms arranged for that purpose. The western side of the wall is covered by graffiti of every conceivable type from political jabs ("Kill a Commie for Mommie") to love messages ("Marie and Richard, 1985").

What impressed me is how Germans have come to terms with the wall. If there is any urgent movement here either for unification or tearing down the wall. I was unable to sense it. Many Germans in the Western zone feel that the construction of the wall ended a political crisis that might have erupted into a serious military conflict. The greater prosperity and freedom of West Berlin is so obvious that it needs no stating.

There is also a feeling here that American forces in West Germany - some 300,000 men - are not so much a source of irritation as a stabilizing factor. It is not simply that West Germans are appreciative of the deterrent effect the American presence has against Soviet moves: there is also a reluctant recognition that the American presence safeguards against the revival of German militarism. The memory of Nazism is still alive in the German mind.

I came to Germany thinking the time may have come to begin withdrawal of American troops over the next decade. That is an option we should keep in mind if it can be done with the cooperation of our allies, and if it can be matched by equal withdrawals of Soviet troops, But I am more inclined now to go slowly on this possibility.

I continue to feel that we must press ahead with diplomatic, political, economic and cultural initiatives to build better relations between East and West. Soviet leader Gorbachev has obviously struck a favorable response here with his arms-control initiatives, including the ban on nuclear testing he invoked in August 1985.

The surest contribution we can make to the security of Germany. Europe and ourselves is to support improved relations between Moscow and the West.

WILLIAM RUSHER Summing Up The Hearings

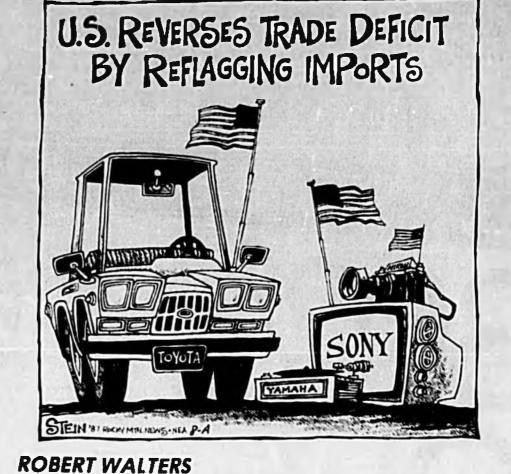

"But what good came of it at last?"

Quoth little Peterkin.

The curtain has finally fallen on the Iran/contra hearings. The majority and minority reports of the joint investigating committee remain to be written, but it doesn't require a very high-grade crystal ball to predict that the Democrats will huff and puff and deplore practically everything that happened, while the Republicans, though concurring that many actions were regrettable. will find extenuating circumstances for most of them.

Viewed solely as an alternative to the ordinary run of daytime television, the hearings had a lot to commend them. Most of the witnesses and a number of the committee members were interesting personalities. At least one - Lt. Col. North - had genuine star quality.

The rather formal, quasi-legalistic procedures of the hearings themselves had the same sort of fascination that has made courtroom melodramas a staple of the British and American stage for many years. The subject matter -secret journeys, evil foreigners, code names. Swiss bank accounts, shredders, etc. - could hardly have been improved upon. Viewed from the standpoint of the Reagan administration, the hearings were a seven-month disaster, partially redeemed by one shining moment. Early on, the Democrats offered the Republicans their choice of two poisoned cups: Either their president was a fool (for not knowing what was going on in his administration) or he was a knave (for knowing). The hearings established that he didn't know about the diversion of the arms sale proceeds, and that the rest of the story is simply too Byzantine to be explained,

Dukakis Moves On

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (NEA) - "I'm having the time of my life," Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis tells old friends and new acquaintances when they ask how he's faring in his quest for the 1988 into a hotel lobby or hallway, he was immediately surrounded by a pack of reporters from throughout the country, all anxious to hear his views on subjects from trade to AIDS.

Nuclear War Hurts Economy By Rob Stein

UPI Science Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) - A nuclear attack on the United States involving less than 2 percent of the Soviet arsenal would devastate the U.S. economy for decades, according to new analysis.

Even using the most optimistic assumptions, an attack involving 240 weapons against key targets, such as oll refineries and ports, would destroy about 10 percent of the U.S. economy, researchers say.

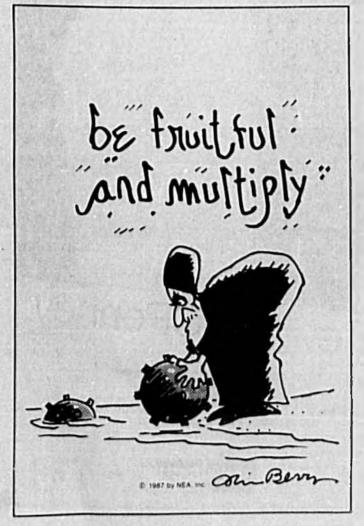

The destruction would knock out critical energy supplies, virtually halting the nation's transportation system and shrinking the Gross National Product to about onequarter of its pre-attack level, they say.

Although the economy would slowly improve. it would not reach more than about one-third of its pre-attack level for at least 25 years. In the meantime, about half of the population would starve.

"It would be a devastating attack." said Joseph J. Romm, a research associate at the program in science and technology for international security at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "Even though it's small, it would destroy a large part of the economy and create what we call a 'nuclear crash," said Romm, who helped perform the analysis. Romm and his colleagues prolected the effect of such an attack using a variation of a computer model originally designed by Pugh-Roberts Associates of Cambridge, Mass., for the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

This crippled administration, indeed this nation, needs George Shultz - now more than ever.

BERRY'S WORLD

The shining moment, of course, was Col. North's: In just one week he gave the American people a college education in the politics of Central America, and may have saved the Nicaraguan resistance in the process. In moral terms, he singlehandedly ran the ball all the way back to the 50-yard line.

And what about the Democrats? They benefited, of course, from the Republicans' discomfiture over the whole affair. Conversely, they were damaged by Col. North's passionate advocacy to the same extent that the Republicans were helped by it. But, far worse from their standpoint, the Big One got away.

JACK ANDERSON

Democratic presidential nomination.

"One day I'm on the Iron Range of Minnesota and the next day I'm in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas." says the 53-year-old governor, who enthusiastically describes the joys of traveling around the country and meeting its people.

Dukakis insists that he was enthralled, for instance, by one recent hectic four-day trip that took him from Boston and Baltimore, through Cleveland and Chicago, to Dallas and Houston and finally to San Francisco.

But the itinerary is only partially responsible for Dukakis' claimed state of near-ecstasy. In recent weeks his apparent momentum has been unmatched by any of the other contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination. In late July, he made impressive performances at back-to-back Michigan conventions of his fellow governors.

At the annual meeting of the National Governors' Association, in Traverse City, Mich., Dukakis deftly handled the role of being the only incumbent state executive in either party also running for president.

He presided over no press conferences, hosted no receptions and scheduled no other attention-getting stunts. That undoubtedly was appreclated by his fellow governors. who have little patience with political grandstanding - when it's practiced by others.

But whenever Dukakis stepped

That extraordinary attention typifies the high level of news media interest elsewhere. Asked how many journalists requested interviews with the candidate, one campaign aide spoke of "a list that would choke an elephant."

After the NGA meeting, Dukakis and his fellow Democrats traveled to this island resort, in the westernmost corner of Lake Huron. The idyllic setting could not obscure a flercely competitive situation as all eight candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination addressed the annual meeting of the Democratic Governors' Association.

Although the political session was closed to reporters, an informal survey of those present suggested that Dukakis had handled himself better than any of his competitors. "They're his peers, so he naturally had an edge," said one attendee who professed neutrality. "What's important is that he nevertheless could have blown it - but didn't." Indeed. Dukakis appears to be doing well everywhere. He has raised more money than any other Democratic presidential hopeful, moved up to the top rank of all contenders in early public opinion polls and assembled an especially impressive campaign staff. Dukakis offers himself to voters throughout the country as a politician whose ability to deal with bread-and-butter economic issues already has been demonstrated in his home state.

The agency released results based on analysis of the model in 1980. but said the model was flawed.

Romm said he and his colleagues spent about four years making changes in the model designed to make it more realistic.

The researchers found that a well-planned attack using between 1 percent and 2 percent of the Soviet arsenal would destroy 95 percent of the petroleum industry, crippling the economy.

The researchers said their calculations were based on using the most optimistic assumptions, such as that people would suffer no adverse psychological reaction. When the impact of mild psychological effects were included. the economy performed even more poorly.

The researchers are distributing the report among congressmen. other researchers, policy-makers and economists.

A Pork Barrel Is A Pork Barrel Is A

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - Congress has its own version of the old quack-and-walk definition of a duck: If it looks like pork and smells like pork, it's actually an essential public-works project.

In our usual suspicious way, we spotted several notably porcine projects in the Transportation Department appropriations bill that recently cleared the House. The projects are not necessarily useless. But classic pork barrel tactics were used to fund them. When Appropriations Committee members failed to persuade the Public Works Committee and its powerful chairman. Rep. James Howard, D-N.J., to authorize the funds. money was taken from the general fund. That means the expenditures will further swell the federal deficit.

Our associate Stewart Harris called the sponsoring members and asked if, perchance, they didn't think the way the projects were lobbled and horse-traded into the bill did not smack of the old pork barrel process.

We should have known better. While most members of Congress would willingly define a pork-barrel project as the useless expenditure of public funds for purely political purposes, none would admit that their own construction items were cooked up just to please the folks in the home district. Here are some typical exchanges:

- The $5 million down payment for improvements on a state road and bridge to Blount Island near Jacksonville doesn't fit the pork profile at all, according to a spokesman for Rep. Bill Chappell Jr., D-Fla. The project, which may cost an additional $10 million to complete, will give the Marine Corps better access to the island so it can be used for bigger things, like a berthing facility.

But some port inspectors we contacted were skeptical of the alleged urgency of the project. They pointed out that if the Marines had considered the access improvement vital, they would have paid for it out of their own budget. The critics also noted that the money will add to the deficit because it is coming from general funds - unlike most highway projects, which are authorized by the Public Works Committee and paid for out of the gasoline tax trust fund. - Two million dollars for a lanewidening project on U.S. 101 near Prunedale, sponsored by Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., doesn't classify as pork either, according to a Panetta aide. As proof, he pointed out that the California transportation department considers the widening so erucial that it will finance 20 percent of it. The project will cost an estimated $58 million to complete - and the money will also add to budget deficits because it will come from the general fund.

- The closest to an admission of political consideration came from the office of Rep. Chris Perkins, D-Ky., who sponsored a $2.5 million road widening between Prestonsburg and Paintsville in the "family district" represented by Perkins and his late father, Carl, since 1949. A Perkins aide was proud that his boss - a second-term congressman - had garnered the project for the home folks, and suggested that the Transportation Department also plays politics in the way it doles out the gasoline-tax money

Perkins's project is expected to cost $78 million more to complete and will also come out of the general fund.

Appropriations Committee member Norman Dicks, D-Wash. used his clout to get $2.6 million for a new bridge in the district of Rep. Al Swift, D-Wash. According to a Dicks spokesman, the congressman asked around among the state delegation to see if anyone had a project in mind, and Swift mentioned a condemned bridge on U.S. 101 over the Queets River. Dicks's aide said the bridge project wasn't pork, but an emergency, and noted that U.S. 101 is the only northsouth highway on the Olympic Peninsula's Pacific coast. The money will come from general funds

Prosecutor's Authority Questioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) -Independent prosecutor Lawrence Walsh is answerable to Attorney General Edwin Meese, who can revoke his appointment at will, a Justice Department attorney told a federal appeals court Wednesday.

An attorney for Walsh, who has vigorously maintained his independence despite the March 5 "back-up" appointment from Meese, also acknowledged for the first time that the Iran-Contra investigation will proceed, if ordered, under the authority of the attorney general.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, considering the third round of challenges to Walsh's authority brought by Lt. Col. Oliver North, did not indicate when it would rule on his latest bid to sidestep a federal court order that he comply with a grand jury subpoena.

North is challenging a federal court ruling that Meese's parallel appointment of Walsh is legal, and that constitutional questions about Walsh's original appointment from a special three-judge court under the 1978 Ethics in Government Act need not be addressed.

Assistant Attorney General James Spears, asked directly by the court who Walsh is responsible to, said, "We believe to the attorney general"

Spears also asserted that Meese could revoke Walsh's appointment any time.

"The answer is the regulation clearly is revokable." he said, but the slim chance of that happening did not warrant the panel addressing the constitutional questions underlying the act.

"The attorney general, the executive branch has spoken on this matter. This investigation shall go forward," Spears said.

Walsh and the Justice Department have disagreed over whether he works inside or outside the department, which has supported only his

Nader Offers Martinez Malpractice Ideas

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralplı Nader said Wednesday Florida's doctors may have conned Gov. Bob Martinez into accepting restrictions on lawsuits as a solution to the malpractice crisis.

Florida should be "cracking down on incompetent physicians" rather than "Increasing the number of obstacles injured or sick citizens must face in...court," Nader wrote Martinez.

"I am concerned that the Florida Medical Association has reached you and appointees to your special task force," Nader said.

"That's ludicrous!" said Jon Peck. Martinez's deputy press secretary. Peck said Martinez is still undecided on malpractice recommendations he will make for a special session of the Legislature later this year.

The Nader letter came on the heels of a report by an academic task force pointing up problems with the legal system as well as the medical community.

The report released Monday says bad medicine is on the rise in Florida, but other factors are responsible for high malpractice insurance rates, including an increase in lawsuits caused by an aggressive trial bar and a propensity of the legal system to favor plaintiffs over doctor or hospital defendants.

The findings will be studied Thursday in Gainesville by the Academic Task Force for Review of the Insurance and Tort Systems, which includes three university presidents — Marshall Criser of the University of Florida, Bernard Sliger of Florida State and Edward Foote II of the University of Miami.

"There are several ways Florida could be cracking down on incompetent physicians," Nader wrote Martinez.

Doctors' license fees should be increased to pay for more investigators for the state Board of Medical Examiners, which reviews complaints against physicians. Doctors should be periodically recertified and state licensing boards should be required to review disciplinary and foreign records before granting or renewing licenses.

Doctors and the insurance industry, which also is pushing for legal restrictions, "have not produced the facts to support their claims that the tort laws in Florida should be changed," Nader concluded.

Nader, a well known leader in consumer affairs, has been a consistent ally of the Florida Academy of Trial Lawyers, which has resisted efforts by doctors, the insurance industry and big business to make it tougher for people to sue for personal injury damages.

back-up appointment in the recent court challenges brought by North.

While the court battle continued, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said he does not expect a successful prosecution by Walsh of North, his former boss, John Poindexter, "or any of the other conspirators."

Proxmire said Walsh may "try to jail these men and others. If Walsh does, he is likely to lose. ... Can anyone seriously believe that any red-blooded American jury would convict this anticommunist fighting Marine?"

But North, fired from the National Security Council Nov. 25 for his role in the secret arms sales to Iran and diversion of profits to Nicaraguan rebels, has been less successful in court, twice losing rounds in his appeals.

He appeared again Wednesday, sitting quietly through the 2 ¹/₂-hour oral argument in his full Marine Corps dress uniform.

His attorney. Barry Simon, contended that to comply with the Constitution, a independent prosecutor must be appointed by the president, with consent of the Senate, and be subject to removal by the president.

Simon said Walsh has refused to accept Meese's appointment by insisting he works outside the Justice Department.

"A person who investigates must answer to the president," Simon said. "That's something the independent counsel has refused to recognize from day one."

Paul Friedman, an attorney for Walsh, reiterated that Walsh clearly has authority to conduct his grand jury investigation — under both appointments.

Asked if Walsh has accepted Meese' appointment, Friedman replied: "He has accepted the regulation and consented to the appointment under the regulation."

However, he said. Walsh disagrees with the government's contention that he works in the Justice Department but added that should a federal court ruling to that effect be upheld, Walsh "would continue to serve under the (attorney general's) regulation."

Army Aides Afraid Of Casey, Set Low Price For Iran Arms

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Army officials undercharged the CIA $2.6 million for TOW missiles sent to Iran last year in arms-for-hostages deals partly because they felt intimidated by CIA Director William Casey, internal investigators say.

Prices set by Army officials normally are reviewed only through the chain of command within the Army and the Defense Department, but an Army inspector general's report made public this week found White House aide Oliver North pressed the CIA last year to make sure the price of the TOW missiles stayed low - and the spy agency, in turn, relayed that to senior Army officials.

Maj. Christopher Simpson, who was instrumental in setting the inaccurate Army price for the TOW sales to the CIA. said it was "intimidating" to be told by one agency official that any requests for a price increase would have to go to "the boss," according to the declassified version of the February report.

Examination of the report Wednesday came as the congressional committees probing the Iran-Contra scandal met for a second day behind closed doors to take testimony from CIA officials. The committees, which ended their three months of public hearings Monday, are trying to tie up some loose ends.

Stark Receives Hero's Welcome

MAYPORT NAVAL STATION (UPI) - With a metal patch over a hole ripped by an Iraqi missile, the USS Stark returned home to a red, white and blue hero's welcome tempered by grief over 37 crewmen who died in the Persian Guif attack.

"We don't talk about (the attack) much more because it happened three months ago. Everybody is sad that they died and happy we're home," said Chris Ryden of Minneapolis, one of the first sailors off the ship Wednesday.

Red, white and blue balloons were released, a brass band played "Anchors Aweigh." and a cheering crowd waved banners, flags, arms and hankies as the ship docked Wednesday morning at the Bravo Pier at its home base.

Several tugboats with fire hoses spraying escorted the ship to its berth.

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) - Iranian land and sea forces held a third day of war maneuvers in the Persian Gulf today as the United States embarked on an unprecedented military buildup in the region.

In the latest reinforcement of American naval forces in the gulf, the United States ordered the dispatch of Army helicopter gunships and Navy fast patrol boats to the waterway, Pentagon officials said Wednesday in Washington.

Some military experts have compared the U.S. buildup to that which preceded the U.S. bombing of Libya last year.

The use of Army helicopters on Navy vessels during an operational mission will be a first.

A "handful" of the helicopter gunships, either light and fast observation choppers armed with machine guns or Vietnam-era Cobras equipped with rockets, were ordered to the gulf aboard Air Force transport planes, bringing Army forces into the gulf for the first time, Pentagon sources said.

Iran Threatens World-Wide Acts

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) - Iran blasted Saudi Arabia with a fresh verbal broadside on the return of the first dead and wounded Iranian pilgrims from Mecca and hinted of possible attacks on U.S. targets around the world.

In turn, Saudi ruler King Fahd, in a message Wednesday marking the end of the annual pilgrimage to Mecca, said splits within the Moslem world were weakening it even further.

The monarch, who made no direct mention of Friday's riot in Mecca in which 402 people died, called on both Iran and Iraq to end their war.

Large crowds at Tehran's Mehrabad Airport chanted "death to America" and "cut off the hand of Fahd" as the first Iranian corpses from the Mecca riots were carried from an Iran-Air plane.

'Star Wars' Steps Forward

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A "Star Wars" missile defense has taken a first step toward becoming reality with the go-ahead from the Pentagon to launch a series of ground and spacebased experiments that will include 13 major space tests.

At least seven of the space experiments are expected to include attempts to intercept missiles in flight within the limitations of the 1972 Soviet-American ABM Treaty, the Strategic Defense Initlative Organization, or SDIO, said Wednesday.

The Defense Acquisition Board, headed by Pentagon weapons buying chief Richard Godwin, approved a plan by the SDIO that for the first time identified six different technologies that will be used in a multibillion-dollar initial stage of a "Star Wars" system.

In a milestone for the highly criticized program, the board recommended to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger that SDI shift from its embryonic "concept and exploration" stage to the "demonstration and validation" phase. in which experiments would be carried out to see if the system would work. "It's a 'Mother, may I step' into the next category." a Pentagon official familiar with SDI said. "It means we're getting the green light to demonstrate and validate those six technologies that will be the first phase of a strategic defense system."

No decision has been made for deployment of the first phase of an SDI system by the early 1990s, a step Weinberger has pursued in hopes of getting "Star Wars" off the ground before the end of the Reagan adininistration next year. The six technologies

Firestone would not say exactly how much he will be paid at Smith Barney, but it will clearly be more than the $85,656 he receives as secretary of state.

"More than the secretary of the lottery, but less than what most pro ball players make," Firestone said when asked about his salary. Lottery secretary Rebecca Paul will be paid $102,000 this year.

Moscow could base similar weapons in Warsaw Pact countries if Washington refuses to include the Pershing 1-A's and their U.S.-controlled nuclear warheads in an agreement. Shevardnadze said.

He charged in a speech to the 40-nation U.N. disarmament conference that it was "a legal sham" for the United States to argue that the major-power Geneva arms talks did not cover such third-party weapons.

The Soviet Union. Shevardnadze said, has "done all in its power" to allow the global elimination of Intermediate shorter- and medium-range nuclear missiles reaching 300 to 3,000 miles.

'So what is holding things up now?" he said. "Our partners have found the snags and the main one is the Pershing 1-A missiles.

"It is only with the United States that we are negotiating an agreement which, if reached, will eliminate all nuclear warheads on two classes of arms of the two countries.

"But if we speak of all warheads, that certainly includes those on Pershing 1-A missiles, too. How can it be otherwise?" Shevardnadze said.

Shevardnadze said "it is of no interest" to Moscow who owns the fuel for the 72 missiles, their airframes, or their transporters. He said that if the United States keeps the warhcads and Bonn retains the missiles, it would constitute "joint ownership of nuclear arms by a nuclear and a non-nuclear state." We, too, have allies who are concerned over the fact that a neighboring country retains shorter-range nuclear missiles which pose a great threat to their security," Shevardnadze said.

"They could ask for the stationing of similar systems on their territories, and the Soviet Union could meet their request." he said. "But a Soviet-U.S. agreement ... would then be truncated, emasculated, and anemic and Soviet long-range strategic nuclear weapons to a ban on all arms in space and strict limita-tions on "Star Wars" antimissile research. The Soviet Union, he said, has developed "a new political thinking" on verification of any U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms treaties, as well as any international conventions on banning chemical arms and all nuclear tests.

There should be on-site inas well as "mandatory access to Soviet and U.S. military facilities in third countries where missiles could be stationed.' Shevardnardze said.

Thursday, Aug. 4, 1967-74

On the tasue of banning chem-ical weapons, he said Moscow now accepts U.S. demands for obligatory "challenge" inspections if other parties are suspect violators.

The United States continually proposed a comprehensive test ban provided there were such Inspections.

City Considers Seminole Blvd. Name Change

Sanford will evidently not have a Lake Shore Drive after all.

The city commission, at the urging of Commissioner John Mercer, last Monday asked City Attorney William Colbert to draft an ordinance renaming Seminole Boulevard to Lake Shore Drive.

Mayor Bettye Smith says. however, that she has been told there is already a Lake Shore Drive in Seminole County and, because of 911 emergency calls, no two streets in the county are to have the same name.

Mayor Smith will propose that Seminole Boulevard be renamed Constitution Boulevard in honor of the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. That promise was made after the Sanford Bicentennial Committee, of which Smith is a member, proposed that the street be renamed.

A proposed band shell which the cit; plans to build, probably in Fort Mellon Park, will also be named Constitution Band Shell, or some similar designation. according to present plans. -Brad Church

Niekro Slapped With 10-Day Suspension

NEW YORK (UPI) - Minnesota pitcher Joe Niekro was suspended Wednesday for 10 days by American League President Bobby Brown for doctoring baseballs in a game this week against the California Angels in Anaheim.

An AL spokeswoman said the Twins notified Brown's office that they will appeal the decision at a hearing to be scheduled later, thus delaying the start of Nickro's suspension.

Brown announced his decision after examining balls thrown by Niekro Monday night. Niekro, 42. was found with sandpaper and an emery board in his pocket when umpires checked him on the mound during Minnezota's 11-3 victory.

Niekro becomes the first pitcher to be suspended for cheating since Gaylord Perry received the same penalty for throwing spit-balls in 1982.

Rule 3.02 of the Official Baseball Rules, states that "no player shall intentionally discolor or damage the ball by rubbing it with soil, rosin, paraffin, licorice, sandpaper, emery-paper or other foreign substance." In the fourth inning Monday, second base umpire Steve Palermo noticed Niekro slipping an object into his back pocket. After plate umpire Tim Tschida checked the pitcher's glove. Niekro was asked to empty his pockets.

"I didn't have to, but I did." Nickro said. "I didn't think I had anything to hide. I guess I was wrong."

Niekro reached into both back pockets and yanked them inside out. As he raised both hands over his head in innocence, the emery board fell to the grass. "I sometime have to file my fingers in between innings," Nickro said. "So I carry an emery board to the mound."

Niekro, who with brother knuckler Phil holds the all-time mark for victories by brothers, said he carries sandpaper because the emery board is ineffective when it gets wet.

Honeycutt missed the last five games of 1980 and the first five games the following season , when a thumb tack was discovered taped to his glove.

Other pitchers who have been suspected of defacing baseballs in recent years are Don Sutton of California, Houston's Mike Scott, and the New York Yankees' Tommy John and Rick Rhoden. who was harassed in Baltimore on June 23 by the same umpiring crew which accused Niekro. Before Brown's ruling, fellow pitchers defended Niekro. John, an ex-teaminate of both Nickros and other knucklers such as Charlie Hough, Hoyt Wilhelm and Eddle Fisher, said they all used nall files or emery boards.

"I think they all kept the nails filed." John said. "They'd file them down so that the end of the Seattle left-hander Rick nail would be straight across. More of the nall would be in contact with the ball that way." Phil Niekro said the league has > the wrong guy. "He's never been accused of doing anything wrong. It's almost like a setup." he said of his brother.

New York Yankees shortstop Wayne Tolleson, a former teammate of Hough, concurs that knuckleballers use nall files but admitted that the sandpaper "might be hard for him to explain."

Scott, a former teammate of Joe Nickro's on the Astros, said it would be impossible to scuff a ball with an emery board on the mound and get away with it.

"When he pitched here, nobody made a big deal about it." Scott said. "Why would he take an emery board out there to scuff a ball with?

PALM BEACH GARDENS (UPI) - It should come as no surprise if a young golfer who never before won a major tournament captures this week's PGA Championship.

A balanced field has resulted in 18 different golfers winning the last 18 major championships - the longest streak in the sport's history. Also, the last five majors have been won by players who had never won one before - equaling the longest such stretch since the U.S. Open began in 1895.

That is a startling statistic," said Ben Crenshaw, who was one of those 18 winners when he got his only major title in the 1984 Masters. "I think we've proven that there is such incred-Ible depth on the tour. "These guys keep coming up and playing great golf at times. That's why there have been so many winners. There will probably be some more, but I like to think I can still do it, too." Added Jack Nicklaus: "Nobody has come forward and dominated during the period but (Australian) Greg Norman and (Spaniard) Seve Ballesteros have had more opportunities than anyone else." Nicklaus won his record 20th major championship in last year's Masters. Still, Arnold Palmer thinks such achievements will grow rarer in light of the Tour's depth. The chances of older golfers like (Raymond) Floyd (who was 43 when he won last year's U.S. Open) or Nicklaus (who was 46 when he won last year's Masters) gets less and less," said Palmer. who won his last major 23 years ago. Fisheries managers face a difficult task. If they make fishing better, a body of water draws more pressure and the fishing quality declines. Each body of water can eventually reach a point where the bass population density and pressure are balanced.

What does all this research mean for the everyday bass fisherman? First of all, bass subjected to heavy fishing pressure (catch and release) can learn to ignore lures and avoid future capture. On the other hand, we all know of situations where the same bass was repeatedly caught in the same area at different times. Apparently some bass are "smarter" (have more keenly developed senses) than others. The smart bass learn to discriminate between fake and natural food items.

Secondly, bass fishermen can defeat themselves by fishing famous bass hot spots such as Rodman or Lake Toho. These areas get a lot of publicity, and the bass in these waters are subjected to heavy angling pressure. Bass fishermen going to the super "honey holes" are frequently greeted by long lines at the boat ramp and hordes of fellow fishermen on the water. Sure, big bass are caught in these lakes - but you have to remember that hundreds and thousands of people are fishing for those few big bass.

Bass fishermen in the Sanford area are lucky to have both the St. Johns River and numerous local lakes in which to fish. These spots may not be as famous as Rodman or Toho, but you can rest assured that these local bodies of water are not subjected to the heavy angling pressure either.

The "grass is always greener on the other side of the fence," but area bass fishermen would be wise not to overlook the green grasses of home.

reasons why few players have doubled up since World War II. But baseball-football "doubles" at various points in pro careers were fairly common in the 1920s and 1930s.

Although baseball players usually have longer careers than their football counterparts, the reverse has been true for this select group of athletes.

The 53 players averaged 2.53 seasons per man in big-league baseball and 3.17 years per man In pro football (the NFL, AAFC or AFL).

Twenty of the two-sport stars had longer careers in football, 21 longer in baseball and nine the same number of years in each.

drove in the winning run in the Fred Toney-Hippo Vaughn "double no-hitter" between Cincinnati and Chicago while a member of the Reds in 1917.

There is not a single Hall of Fame baseball players among the 53 doubles.

Besides Nevers and Thorpe, however, five other pro football Hall of Famers have played baseball in the major leagues. Red Badgro, Paddy Driscoll, George Halas. Ace Parker and Greasy Neale were ex-baseball players who joined football's immortal in Canton, Ohio.

(Neale, actually, does not belong on the list of the 53 athletes who accomplished the double, since he did not play football in the pros. He won enshrinement for his record as a coach and innovator.)

There is one person who is a member of both shrines. Cal Hubbard, an All-Pro lineman who broke into the NFL with the 1927 New York Giants, was selected to baseball's Hall of

Lyman Minus Three Players For State

By Mike Dame Special to the Herald

When a team goes into a state tournament without three of its top players, things begin to look a little grim through the eyes of a manager - unless that manager is Bob McCullough.

McCullough's Lyman American Legion team enters today's Legion State Tournament without hurler Ross Urshan, Jim Lucas and Chris Brock, but he is not discouraged in the least.

Thompson: Soviets Gaining Advantage Training With NBA

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Georgetown University basketball coach John Thompson said Wednesday the Soviet national basketball team is gaining an advantage by training with NBA players.

Thompson, who will coach the U.S. team at next year's Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea, said the tips they are getting from the world's greatest basketball players will make it more difficult for his squad to win the gold medal.

"The NBA ... has been very helpful to our opponents." Thompson said in an appearance Wednesday on NBC's "Today" show. "Presently they are training the Soviet team.'

The Soviets are in the midst of a 10-day tour of the United States to familiarize themselves with the difference between the NBA style of play and international amateur basketball.

The tour, which opened Monday in Atlanta, will include scrimmages in Los Angeles and Seattle.

In October, the Milwaukee Bucks will become the first NBA team to play the Soviet national team when they meet in the McDonald's World Basketball Open.

"I think its going to be tough (to win the gold medal) because a lot of the teams that you're competing against have an opportunity to prepare right now," Thompson said.

"Some of the Soviet team is in this country practicing and ... we won't be able to start practicing until August."

Thompson said the late dates of the games in Seoul, Sept. 17 through Oct. 2, could force some antiletes to "drop out of school."

Voters To Decide On Ballpark

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Voters will decide in November whether to build a downtown ballpark in the Mission District that would be financed mainly through private revenues.

Mayor Dianne Feinstin and seven supervisors submitted the measure Wednesday, the last day for budget proposals.

The measure states the stadium at Seventh and Townsend would be built "with no increases in taxes and all debt repaid with nontax money."

Faeinstin, who appeared with Giants owner Bob Lurie, said she hopes to find private backers for the $80 million ballpark. The stadium might even be named after a corporate sponsor to obtain financing, she said.

Lurie said he was "somewhat close" to working out a private financing package with "two or three" firms.

Although no new taxes or public bond issues would be involved, Feinstein conceded some of the city's hotel tax money might be used if there were a surplus in the fund.

The mayor showed off a design for the facility, which would hold around 42,000 fans. Baseball would be the stadium's prime attraction, although it would be available for other programs such as concerts. It would also have some retail space.

King Ready To Defend

HIGH POINT, N.C. (UPI) -Defending champion and twotime winner Betsy King leads a smaller than usual field Thursday in the opening round of the $300,000 Henredon Classic.

King, a three-time winner on the LPGA tour this season, wonthis tournament last year on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff against JoAnne Carner.

Carner, an LPGA Hall of Famer who has regained some of her past form, will be on hand at the 6,244-yard, par 72 Willow Creek Country Club looking for have enound Houseday title

Other top contenders include Jane Geddes, who has taken home five winner's checks this season, and Nancy Lopez, who won here in 1985.

Two-time Henredon winner Patty Sheehan, Ayako Okamoto, No. 3 on the current money list and Pat Bradley will be missing. along with Amy Alcott, who withdrew because of illness in her family.

The tournament, which pays $45,000 to the winner, has been decided twice in its seven-year history by playoffs — both times debileret Carnet emerv board, the Minnesota Twins may have lost some grit. In the two games since umpires detected the contraband in Niekro's pocket, the Twins have lost two straight games, including Wednesday's 6-1 loss to the California Angels.

Furthermore, despite sharing first place in the AL West with the Oakland Athletics, Minnesota must now contend with the 10-day league suspension levied on Niekro for scutting baseballs. An AL spokeswoman said the Twins intend to appeal the decision at a hearing to be scheduled later, thus delaying the start of Niekro's suspension.

Without him, the Twins offer a starting rotation of Bert Blyleven, Frank Viola, Les Straker, and Steve Carlton.

Blyleven, 10-9, surrendered his 33rd gopher ball of the scason, a three-run shot to Bill Buckner.

"It was a fastball that stayed on the line," Blyleven said. "I was hoping it would slice foul. It was not a bad pitch. He just hit it in the right place, right in the corner.

John Candelaria, 6-3. pitched for California, facing the minimum 18 batters in the first six innings. He last pitched June 16. Three days later, he was placed on the disabled list. The left-hander has been arrested twice this season for drunken driving.

When asked if he was glad his personal problems are over, Candelaria said: "As far as I'm concerned they'll never be over."

Buckner, however, sounds like a firm believer in the new beginning.

"Everything has gone perfect so far," said Buckner. "I'm in a bubble. It's fun coming to the ballpark. I can't even sleep, I want to get out here early every day."

his

John Candelaria pitched six strong innings Wednesday as California downed Minnesota. It was Candelaria's first start since June 16.

Carter Powers Mets To Sweep

United Press International Gary Carter took a little hitting advice from Howard Johnson. who wields the Mets' most productive bat, and helped power New York to a sweep of Philadelphia.

Carter Lonnered issize and Darryl Strawberry belted a three-run homer Wednesday night to lead the Mets to a 13-3 rout of the Phillies and draw New York within 4 1/2 games of the first-place St. Louis Cardinals in the National League East. The game was delayed one hour and 20 minutes at the start by rain and there was a rain delay of 45 minutes in the second inning.

"The rain delay helped me." Carter said. "I went downstairs to the TV projection room with HoJo and I looked at shots from the side angle. "I noticed something and HoJo agreed with me I wasn't hitting down on the ball enough. I concentrated and really hit the first homer. Then I hit one in the gap for two bases. It's there again and I just hope it stays. It was just a little adjustment."

Powerful Cubans Arrive

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) -Bolstered by a special message from Fidel Castro, the first contingent of the powerful Cuban delegation arrived without incident Wednesday for the Pan American Games.

Castro spoke to our team." said Alberto Juantorena, a double gold medalist in the 1976 Olympics. "He told us we need to compete with honor, honesty and modesty, to defend our principles and to do our best to raise the Cuban flag very high."

Juantorena won the 400- and 800-meter runs at Montreal. dedicating his victories to Castro and the Cuban people. He is now vice president of the National Institute of Sports, Physical Education and Recreation, and was invited to Indianapolis to receive a special Olympic award.

Despite concern of a possible political demonstration at Indianapolis International Airport. there were no casual observers and less than 40 media representatives to greet the Cubana Airlines plane when it touched down at 12:15 p.m. CDT. The Cuban-American National Foundation, which is opposed to Castro, opened an office in Indianapolis two weeks ago, but its presence was not seen at the airport.

Games

'We are not really concerned about political things." Juan-terena said in English at the Indiana State Police Training Headquarters, being used as the accreditation center for all athletes. "We came here to compete, to win, to offer a good spectacle. We feel very good and we feel ready to compete.

"This is an important event for us. The competition among the Pan American countries is very high."

The opening ceremonies for the 10th Pan American Games are scheduled for Saturday.

According to Angel Pino, an attache with the Cuban Olympic Committee, there were 149 Cubans on Wednesday's direct flight from Havana, the first of three which will bring the Cuban delegation at the Pan Am Games to 450. This is the largest contingent of Cuban athletes to visit the United States since Castro came to power in 1959. Among those arriving Wed-nesday were Conrado Martinez, head of the Cuban delegation, and representatives from track and field, baseball, kayak, weightlifting. rowing, yachting, shooting and cycling.

Juantorena, who visited highanapolis earlier this year for the Indoor Track and Field Championships, predicted Cuba will earn eight gold medals in track and field, six by the women.

Security at the airport was provided by the Indiana State Police, the sheriff's department and U.S. Customs, with the help of at least two police dogs. The Cubans went directly from the plane to customs, and then were taken in four buses to the accreditation center.

"All normal precautions were taken today," said Mike Adams, head of U.S. Customs in Indianapolis.

Crum Believes U.S. ...Shupe Will Defend Title

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - U.S. basketball coach Denny Crum insists his club is ready to successfully defend its Pan American Games championship with only two weeks of preparation.

"We are as prepared as we can be considering the limited amount of time we have had to practice," said Crum, who assembled his team two weeks ago at the University of Louisville, where he coaches.

Crum gets a final look at his squad Thursday night in an exhibition game against a group of NBA All-Stars at Fort Wayne, Ind. The U.S. team will play its first game in the Pan American competition Sunday against Panama.

Thursday night's exhibition is the last in a three-game tuneup series for the U.S. squad, which is favored to win a Pan Am gold medal. The U.S. team defeated an NBA All-Star team 111-106 in its first practice game and defeated a Louisville All-Star club can Games baseball teams, was -89 Saturday. The All-Star squad in Fort Wayne will include NBA Rookie of the Year Chuck Person from the Indiana Pacers, Cleveland guard Ron Harper, Dallas forward Roy Tarpley and Houston forward Rodney Mc-Cray. Person scored 33 points against the U.S. team in its first game and McCray scored 21 against the Pan Am club in the second game. Former college players on the All-Star team include Steve Alford from Indiana, Doug Altenberger from Illinois, Dallas Comegys from DePaul and Andre Moore of Loyola. David Robinson, the 7-foot-1 center from Navy who was named colege player of the year. has averaged 20 points and 10 rebounds in the first two games. Robinson, the NBA's No. 1 draft pick in June, will not be able to play professionally until serving a two-year naval tour of duty. Guards Jeff Lebo and Rex Chapman have taken charge of backourt scoring. Chapman scored just two points in the first game but hit 9-of-13 shots. Including 4-of-6 from 3-point range, for 22 points in the second game.

"We wanted Jeff because we expect to see a lot of zone defenses in the tournament. His outside shooting makes him a threat and that could open things up for us inside."

The U.S. team likes to run. Crum's main concerns have been creating defensive teamwork and keeping players concentrating on offense.

Crum has warned his team about overconfidence because previous U.S. clubs have won eight of nine gold medals.

"There has never been a gold medal won easily. We know the competition is going to be tough. There are a lot of teams capable of beating us if we're not ready," he said.

rival pointed a gun at him over the Pacific but did not fire, the Federal Aviation Administration said Wednesday.

The pilot of a Cesana was on a spotting flight for a fishing boat off the coast about 150 miles south of Los Angeles Tuesday when he noticed a small plane alongside him at an altitude of 500 to 1,000 feet above the ocean, said FAA spokeswoman Barbara Abels.

The Cessna pilot said the other pilot pointed a pistol directly at him, the FAA said. The Cesana pilot swung away and radloed air traffic controllers.

"A gun was drawn on him," Abels said. "It's a crazy new twist. If this goes on, I'll be at the end of my rope.

The pilot of the other plane, a green and white Citabria, was located Wednesday and denied drawing a gun, Abels said. She said the incident is under investigation.

The pilots, whose names were withheld, work as scouts for rival sword-fishing groups, and the incident appeared to be related to the competition, Abels said.

About two hours carlier, a van swerved in front of a car on the Long Beach Freeway in East Los Angeles. When the driver of the car honked his horn, the van pulled back alongside and a passenger fired two shots into the rear door of the car. No one was injured, and the gunman escaped.

The shootings were the 30th and 31st in a rash of vehicle-to-vehicle violence that has killed three people and injured at least eight since June 18. The arrest Wednesday night of a 17-year-old youth suspected of firing at a car the night before brought the number of arrests to eight.

"I guess this is a new twist to the freeway shootings," said Maj. Hank Polacke at the Marine Corps Air Station in El Toro. "Maybe next time they can do it in rocket ships.'

Pentagon Intruder Killed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A federal police guard shot and killed a gunman who burst into the Pentagon shouting about missiles Wednesday and reached the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the war room, officials said.

He was identified as Dwain Wallace, 30, of Youngstown, Ohio, whom a neighbor described as having "a mental problem." Wallace was taken to the nearby National Hospital for Orthopedics and Rehabiliation in Arlington, Va., where he died of a bullet wound in the heart. Pentagon and hospital spokesmen said.

The FBI said Wallace "had been receiving psychiatric the nation's military complex treatment in Ohio earlier this ycar.'

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

'Trooper Of The Year' Retires Amid Misconduct Allegations

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Barney "the nose" Stallworth. 1986 Florida Highway Patrol trooper of the year, is retiring following a series of misconduct allegations.

FHP spokesman Charles Hall confirmed Wednesday that Stallworth had requested retirement earlier in the day and said, "the request has been granted."

The retirement is effective Friday.

Stallworth. 53, nicknamed "the nose" because of his purported ability to sniff out illegal drugs, is ending a 22-year-career with the patrol that included service in Hillsborough County, Leon and, most recently, Escambia.

He was suspended for two weeks last month for improperly selzing valuables from motorists he had stopped.

Courthouse Security Flap Over

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) - A political dispute between Broward County's chief judges and Sheriff Nick Navarro over courthouse security apparently has ended amtably.

Navarro showed up in Acting Chief Circuit Judge Arthur J. Franza's court Wednesday to apologize for his actions the day before.

Franza had ordered the sheriff arrested on contempt of court charges Tuesday. The judge issued his order when Navarro failed to show up at a hearing on the chaos that occurred Monday after the sheriff implemented a new security plan at the county courthouse.

Navarro and the judge agreed to put all their differences aside Wednesday and make courthouse security their top priority.

The gunships will hunt for Iranian speedboats carrying terrorist death squads on suicide missions against Navy warships and the U.S.-flagged Kuwaiti tankers, the sources said.

The Gas Prince was the first re-flagged Kuwalti tanker to make it through the Persian Gulf, leaving the war zone behind this week.

But there have been problems. The Bridgeton, which steamed into the gulf with the Gas Prince, hit a mine while under U.S. protection. And a U.S. Navy helicopter crashed into the Middle East Task Force flagship, killing four crewmen.

Khomeini and other Iranian officials have vowed revenge against the United States and Saudi Arabia for last week's riots in Mecca, Saudi Arabia, that left 402 people dead -275 of them Iranians.

Middle East diplomats said it is unlikely Iran will attack U.S. warships because the small conventional naval force is no match for American firepower. Eight mine-sweeping RH-53D Sea Stallion helicopters arrived in the Indian Ocean Tuesday for transfer to the gulf aboard the 11.000-ton helicopter carrier USS Guadalcanal.

Dogs That Bite Don't Belong In Any Fenced Yard

California, we are currently experiencing a hysteria about pit buildog attacks on children and adults.

Six years ago, when my son was 10 years old, he was attacked in front of our house by a dog that was half-collie and half-German shepherd. My son did nothing to provoke the dog. I know; I was there. The boy suffered wounds on his face that required 60 stitches. The owners of the dog refused to pay the medical bills because that would have admitted wrongdoing. We sued these people who, by the way, were friends of ours. My son received $25,000 compensation, but in retrospect it was not enough. Due to the scars on his face, our son has been in psychological counseling twice to help him adjust to the social problems those scars left.

Abby, please tell your readers that it is against the law to keep a vicious animal, even if it is tied up in their backyard. If a child climbs over a fence to retrieve a baseball and is attacked by a dog, the owner is liable. Those "Beware of Dog" signs mean chain, growling and snapping nothing. According to the law, the owner is liable for any injuries incurred.

very self-conscious about his scarred face. He is also deathly afraid of dogs.

Parents should teach their children never to make direct have heard that according to eye contact with a dog. Dogs see law, every dog is entitled to one this as a challenge. Try to walk bite, but if he bites twice, he has away as slowly as possible, and to be put to sleep. Is that true? if there is a large object nearby. pick it up - you may have to use it. Do not run! This is also dogs can outrun humans.

DEAR ABBY: Here in trauma our son suffered, it would make my day. DEBORAH FYLER-WERBIL, FULLERTON, CALIF.

DEAR DEBORAE: I am sure many readers will benefit from your letter. Thank you for sharing with others what you learned the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: With so much publicity about "vicious" dogs being killed lately, please repeat the enclosed article you wrote on that subject years ago. It speaks for those creatures who can't speak for themselves.

ROSEMARY BROWN, CLEARWATER, FLA.

DEAR ROSEMARY: With pleasure. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: This is for all newspaper carriers, mail carriers and delivery people: When you see a dog barking and growling in front of someone's house, turn right around and forget that house.

Today, a delivery boy tried to get up to our front door when he was confronted by our dog on a frantically. The delivery boy didn't take the hint; instead he kept advancing, trying to get My son is now 16 and he's still around the dog and up to our front door. Had our dog been able to get to this boy, he could have done him serious damage.

Abby, I'm really worried. I LOVES MY DOG

DEAR LOVES: "Laws" coninterpreted as a challenge, and cerning dogs differ, depending on where one lives. However, it I hope this has helped. I wish I would seem apparent that a had taught my children more barking, growling dog on a chain than just never to pet strange is doing what he has been animals. If my letter will save trained to do - protect his just one child the devastating domain - and anyone who deliberately attempts to invade his territory is asking for trouble. Mail carriers, newspaper carriers and delivery people are usually instructed to "forget" the house that's being protected by man's best friend.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl. I graduated from high school with a B average, have been accepted to the university of my choice, and have a good, steady job. I do not smoke, drink, take drugs or associate with people who do.

My problem? Three or four months ago I became interested in getting a small (about 3 inches high) purple rosebud tattooed on the outside of my ankle. I looked around, and found what I believe to be the safest, most sanitary place to have it done, and I discussed it with the owner. However, being only 17, I need a parental consent form signed first.

My father refuses to sign it. He says, "Taitoos are bad news." He still believes the old stereotype that only drunken sailors. dirty bikers and other "undesirables" have tattoos.

I tried to explain that every day I have seen many people driving Mercedes and BMWs and dressed in business suits with tattoos. I also tried to explain that a tattoo will not change who I am, and that it will be virtually harmless and will not hurt anyone, excluding myself momentarily. What do you think?

TO TATTOO OR NOT TO TATTOO

DEAR TO TATTOO: I think you should quit trying to seli your father on the "harmlessness" of a tattoo, and wait until you are old enough to get one without parental consent. Over the years I have had numerous letters from tattooed readers requesting information on how to remove tattoos. Please reconsider.

Vows Exchanged Couple Wed In Georgia

Angela Rence Goble of Savannah, Ga., and Kenneth William Picklesimer of Sanford, are announcing their marriage today. They were married March 14 at DeRenne Avenue Church of God, Savannah. The Rev. Larry McDaniel was the officiating clergyman for the traditional double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Betty Kaws Hooper of Savannah and Ronnie Allen Goble of Gastonia, N.C. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V.M. Picklesimer, 1109 Cornell Drive, Sanford.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Leigh Prosser attended the bride as maid of honor and Keith Picklesimer served his brother as best man.

The reception was held at Hammond Hall. Assistants were: Stacy Goble, Malina Cook, Glenda Livingston and Viola Bacon.

The couple are making their home at 1830-B Landing Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is on leave of absence from Continuous Forms & Checks of Florida. Sanford. He has been selected to attend U.S. Army Flight School, Ft. Rucker, Ala.
