Cactus Curtain Is Prickly Issue

Seventy-six U.S. congressmen have addressed an open letter to President Ford expressing the fear that Mexico is veering so far to the left that a "Cactus Curtain" might ring down along our common border. Predictably, many Mexican eaders have demanded an apology.

The letter cited nine recent developments in Mexican political life which the congressmen interpret as a soft-on-communism policy by the government of President Luis Echeverria. Whether these developments are as alarming as the letter suggests is a matter of interpretation.

It may also be a matter of communication and understanding. The support which Mexico has given to many revolutionary Third World causes has been both puzzling and disturbing. To understand it may require more familiarity with Mexican politics than is common on this side of the Fortune magazine observed some months ago that there is an "artful distinction" between words and deeds in Mexican political life. Amid all the Third World rhetoric and the questionable policies that sometimes go with it, said Fortune, Mexico has shown a respect for the role that private investment must play in sustaining the economic growth which offers the only hope for the country to keep pace with its fast-growing population.

Even the words can change. Mr. Echeverria recently acknowledged that Mexico cannot blame the United States for its own economic deficiencies which lie behind the illegal flow of Mexican citizens northward in search of jobs.

The prospect of a "Cactus Curtain" between our countries should frighten Mexicans more than U.S. congressmen. Not the least of the $1 billion a the "do-nothing" Republican 80th Congress to year economic hopes for Mexico is its tourist in- run against; Ford has the "do-too-much" dustry, which relies mainly on U.S. visitors. The slump it endured when Jews boycotted Mexican tourist centers last winter should have been instructive. It demonstrated to Mexico that when deeds are as prejudicial as words — in this case an anti-Israeli vote on a crucial issue in the United Nations - the hard price can be paid in economic

It is deeds more than words that will determine he course of U.S.-Mexican relations in the future. Nothing will change the fact that our countries have a common border, nor should rhetoric alone be allowed to disrupt the countless economic ties that span that border.

Nevertheless, the "open letter" which many Mexicans found offensive should alert the incoming administration of President-elect Jose Lopez Portillo to the degree of concern which can be aroused in this country by the sometimes baffling mixture of words and deeds which adds up to Mexico's foreign and domestic policies.

Up it will surely go, if only because Jimmy Carter, as the first candidate to be nominated, had the limelight to himself for a month between the Democratic and Republican conventions. Everybody loves a winner, and he was the only winner around for a while. The question is whether the Republicans will be able to ascend all the way to victory in November, or even close

Many in the Ford camp are no doubt inding themselves of the surprise Harry S Truman pulled off back in 1948, when he was thought he could beat Thomas E. Dewey although the spunky Missourian was never as overwhelmingly outclassed in the pre-election polls as Gerald Ford has been thus far.

Truman was also an unelected president seeking a mandate in his own right. Truman had Democratic 94th Congress. Both faced challengers who were state governors and had establishment and who vowed to a disenchanted public to restore responsible leadership to the JOHN CUNNIFF

The candidates answer questions here on key issues facing the state. Questions were prepared by the Evening Herald in conjunction with the Seminole County League of Women Voters.

1. What changes in the rules governing the operations of the Legislature do you propose?

HATTAWAY: Basically the House of Representatives is functioning in a very efficient and democratic manner, even though it appears to some people to be unorganized.

One of the problems we did encounter this last session was the election of the Speaker of the House for a second term. This section of the rules needs clarification and the number of terms an individual can hold that position needs to be set out.

WILSON: I propose that the 60-day limit should be removed because this amount of time causes bills to be rushed through and others left undone. Our legislators are elected to cern. For example, the by "clique cronies.

LONGWOOD — Dick Copeland pulls no punches about this year's football team at Lyman High.

However, in the same breath he is quick to admit that most of his opponents are likely better,

The Greyhounds are better.

The schedule isn't an encouraging one starting with Oak Ridge, picked No. 3 in the state in preseason speculation.

Lyman opens with a Sept. 10 home game against Oak Ridge. Tonight it faces Jones and Colonial in the Metro Conference jamboree at Oak Ridge. "It will be a team effort," he said Wednesday afternoon in his office. "We have more football players this year than last, but we have a lack of depth. We have to be versatile, because matters

The primary offensive names in the Lyman attack are quarterback Bob Burkhart, running back Wyman Jackson, fullback Ben Ansley and receiver Danny Williams.

Copeland insists the war will be won in the trenches. "Blocking and tackling . . . that's still the key," he said, pointing in the direction of the able blocking of Rick Bennett, Richard Beary and Barry

And on defense, it is the tackling of Marcus Kendrick, Herb Felder, Beary, Bennett and Swearinger on which the defense is built.

With a smooth-throwing quarterback, a couple of capable runners and another pair of gifted receivers, the picture looks sound at the Longwood school. But the coach insists that the war will be lost or won in the trenches. It boils down to football basics ...blocking and tackling.

In all, Lyman has six starters going both ways. Kendrick transferred from Seminole High, where he was a stellar performer last season. And Ansley, only a sophomore, is a transfer from Texas. Individually, Copeland expects Burkhart to have a fine season. "He has been throwing the football for us since he was a freshman. Bob has matured and is more poised" said Copeland. Of Jackson, Copeland has a strong, swift back with plenty of experience. "Wyman is not real fast, but he is steady and durable."

cornerback, has shown an ability to catch the ball, and on defense to react well and be in the right place at the right time. Last year's team went 2-8, and the only so-called non-powers on the Greyhound slate are Boone (winless last year), Jones and Bishop Moore.

Predicted finish: 6-4.

Bagwell, Gallego United In Marriage

Marlene Denise Bagwell became the bride of Octavio Gallego Jr., on Aug. 7 at 4 p.m. with Rev. David Baldwin officiating at the double ring ceremony at the Central Baptist Church, Sanford. Organist was Shirley Grieme and soloists were Johnnie Dodson and Nancy Baldwin.

The bride is the daughter of Hubert O. Bagwell and Mrs. June Green, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Octavio Gallego Sr., Colombia, South America. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a forma length satin gown with lace bodice trimmed with seed pearls and a full length train. She wore a lace mantilla and carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies. Sharon Gibson served her sister as matron of honor in a long yellow and orange print gown. She wore a wreath of baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of daisies. Melinda Bagwell served her sister as bridesmaid, attired identically to the honor attendant.

Best man was Dr. Jorge Gomez, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Wayne Peters and Michael Gibson. Following a reception in the church fellowship hall, the couple left on a wedding trip to Miami and the west coast.

The rate increase would be higher, McDonald said, if it wasn't for $107 million the company's new St. Lucie No. 1 nuclear generating station is expected to save in fuel. The plant began operations in June, was shut down for adjustments after a few weeks, and is expected to return to service late this

The company's last general rate increase, which went into effect in May 1975, was only the second in its history. McDonald said it didn't get the company up to the 9.12 per cent rate of return that the Public Service Commission had determined would be fair. Increased fuel costs regularly are passed on to
