THE OTHER BANKS WON'T LIKE THIS AD, BUT YOU WILL. WE'VE ELIMINATED THE $200 CATCH IN FREE CHECKING.

In all the ballyhoo about "Free Checking Accounts," it could be that you've missed The $200 Catch.

Here it is: Somewhere, all advertising says something like "you must maintain a minimum balance of $200."

That's bank talk for "either $200 of your money remains in the bank, or your free checking isn't free."

At Barnett Bank, this strikes us as a bit unfair. So as of now, we're eliminating all our checking service charges. No fine print, no ifs, and's or but's.

All we ask is that you keep enough money in your account to cover your checks.

If you have an account with us, you won't have to pay another penny in service charges.

If you don't, this is a good reason to switch. Just stop in and we'll handle the paper work in minutes.

Since we want your business for a lifetime, Barnett we're sure not about to keep you waiting now.

Highway Safety Of Prime Concern given short shrift is regrettable, but understandable.

> Short-sighted planning and equally costly temporizing with such a challenge as now confronts every segment of every area in Central Florida in the matter of traffic control, highway safety and transportation must not be hampered by local rivalries and the injection of political motivations and practices.

Solution of the Orlando tangle is not the sole responsibility of that city. Indeed viewing the overall traffic flow issue, it is the need to channel some of this surplus flow away from that bedevilled city that should get more attention.

The Political Decathlon Is Upon Us

Copley News Service

What comes along every four years, creates a lot of excitement but also a lot of controversy, and provides a severe test of men under the most grueling conditions? You get two guesses. Both of them are pretty sure to be correct. For we are talking about the Olympic decathlon and presidential politics. The decathlon is the classic event of athletics. It is a composite affair, competition in 10 skills, and a man must excel or do well in all of them. He must be agile and strong, swift and enduring

Its events are the long jump, which old-timers continue to call the broad jump; the high jump; the discus, shot and javelin; the 100-meter, 400-meter and 1,500-meter flat races: the 116-meter hurdles and the pole vault.

It rewards versatility rather than specialization. Excellence in certain events may overcome some ineptness in others, but there must be balance. Athletes compete against one another, of course, but basically against a table of

Thus a champion sprinter might score highly in his specialty, the dashes, but would lack the muscles to fling the shot or discus for high scores. The bulky shot-putter would have to throw tremendous distance to offset his shortcomings in the pole vault or high jump. Decathlon winners generally are jacks of all trades, and tolerable masters of them, too How about the other quadrennial madness, presidential politics? This, too, is a highly competitive sport, and it is not enough to be a standout in one aspect. There must be balance. Take Sen. George McGovern; he started out as a one-event star, and everybody said this would do him in when the competition began. Thanks to some pretty fair coaching, he developed some amazing new skills and roared through the field at Miami Beach, which might be called the semifinal. The events, of course, are different. These are the 10 in the political

President Nixon's Aug. 31 meeting in Hawaii with Japanese Premier Tanaka could prove to be a thorny session. Irritations calmed by Japan's 1971 trade and currency concessions are boiling to the surface again. The visible cause of U.S. ill temper is a projected 1972 trade deficit with Japan of around $3.8 billion, up from $3.2 billion in 1971.

last year put limits on their textile exports to America. up-valued their currency 17 per cent, and volunteered to try to curb some other exports to this country. And the net of all this is the prospect of a bigger trade deficit The Japanese recognize the gravity of the problem from our viewpoint. Indeed, at Hawaii, Tanaka will offer

Nixon a plan to make accelerated purchases of U.S. goods to help narrow the bilateral trade gap. These would include aircraft, foodstuffs and raw materials, some of which would have to be stockpiled on Japan's crowded

Japan is hoping, too, that its new program of large government investment in public works may stimulate its economy sufficiently to create a rising demand for imports and thus further narrow the gap.

Tanaka, then, will come to Hawaii with good intent lly aware of this country's crucial importance to Japan both economically and politically. But he is bound also o be burdened with a certain quotient of annoyance.

For one thing, the Japanese say current dollar volume trade figures are misleading. The late 1972 upward revaluation of the yen has, of course, boosted Japan's export prices, tending therefore to blur what is really happening on the trade front.

A report of one of Japan's biggest trading companies states that Japan's export volume, measured in goods rather than dollars, has declined 13.4 per cent since cur. rency revaluation. Sales of ships, a Japanese specialty, are said to be off 31.3 per cent in less than a year. Iron and steel exports are down 25 per cent, television sets 18 per cent. Textile products are down, with woolen fabric exports showing the sharpest drop-51.9 per cent.

Japanese officials say that this past July, when U.S. made automobiles hit an all-time sales high, the sales of the Japanese-made Toyota were off 23 per cent. In the first seven months of 1972, it is reported. Toyota's share of the U.S. market slipped to 2.5 per cent from 3.8 last year. Japan's Datsun was also down a bit.

Furthermore, the Japanese government never has felt that America's narrow emphasis on the visible trade volume situation was altogether realistic. Tokyo's economic specialists argue that U.S.-Japanese economic relationships are in better balance than is apparent-if only they are judged in broader perspective.

For instance, the Japanese make much of the fact that last year, in addition to their direct purchases from this country, they bought $3.97 billion worth of goods from U.S.-owned firms in third countries. They insist these purchases contributed materially to U.S. foreign earnings. In total, they say, more than 40 per cent of Japan's imports come either from America or from U.S.-owned companies abroad. On top of this, in 1971 Japanese trading companies sold $1 billion worth of goods in third countries, hiking Amer-

Calculate to Keep Up with Joneses

One Man's Opinion

By DON OAKLEY

Forget about the electric carving knife or kitchen trash compactor. The latest status symbol the Joneses are buying like crazy is the miniature household electronic calculator. And after 330 years, it's about time. It was in 1642 that French scientist and philosopher Blaise Pascal attempted to add with a machine. As late as 1969, it was impossible to find a good calculator for

Now, thanks to dramatic breakthroughs in microelectronics in recent years, machine costs have dropped to less than $200 and their size has shrunk accordingly

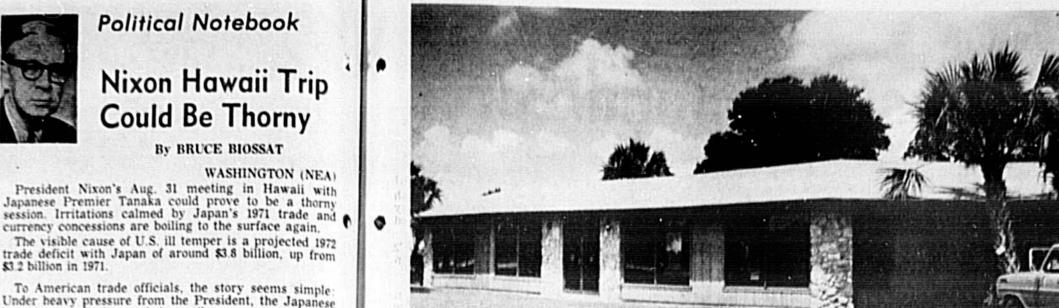

Some new models will fit in a shirt pocket. Who needs an electronic calculator? Everybody, say the manufacturers. With only a basic knowledge of math and a calculator, you can, for example:

Compute the exact square footage needed to carpet a room; the precise amount of draperies required for a window, including pleats, or material for a dress; the exact amount of paint needed for a room or house, or fertilizer for a lawn.

A calculator can also streamline budgets and cut costs in the buying of a great variety of household items.

Bud's Bait and Tackle Shop in Longwood will be closed until Friday of this week, but Jerry Higgins, manager, stated he will not be fishing. Higgins is installing central cooling and filtering system for all live bait tanks in order to be ready for the expected early speckled perch season.

"The new system will make a world of difference in the liveliness and keeping qualities of live bait," said Higgins, "and we want to give our customers the best."

Up Lemon Bluff way, Pat Brooks sends word Woodrow and Nell Bridges of Osteen had both good and bad luck fishing the river upstream from the camp. The good part was that they found a very productive catfish hole and filled their fish basket with nice ones up to 21/2 pounds. The bad part occurred when they started to lift the basket from the water at the end of their days fishing. The bottom tore out and all the makings for a good fish fry went back into the river.

The Bridges family for years had wished for a small houseboat to use on weekends, cruising, fishing and camping out. Now they are the proud possessors of just such a craftthe name of the boat?-"My Wish"!

Bream fishing is coming back strong around Osteen Bridge. Paul Johnson who operates the camp here, reports many good strings taken on worms the last few days. Bass have slowed down considerably for the past few days but some anglers are still finding four or five per trip. Among those reporting in Sunday was Tom Gordie who topped his string with a four pounder

Bob King of Marina Isle Fish Camp reports large speckled perch beginning to congregate in deep holes along the river. King took a few minutes off from work and fishing a Don's "Pot-Gut" jig from the bank near the camp, landed 12 of them Sunday. Another boat picked up nine with live minnows in the same spot Friday. King also mentioned that catfish up to nine pounds are being taken on dead shrimp along the same part of the St. Johns.

Redbreast bream and catfish are still the most consistent sport along the Wekiva River, but Mrs. Bill Shackelford, who lives in the vicinity of Camp Seminole managed to find a hungry three and a half pound bass. A live shiner did the job. Ottis Faulk, operator of Camp Seminole, listed a string of cats and bream totaling 1712 pounds for Vernon Garman, his granddaughter, Jodie Pennington and grandson, Scotty Sunday afternoon. Art Lee came over from Leesburg and landed a five and a half pound catfish to boost the weight of his string to 121/2 pounds. Jeannette Bassinger fished from the bank with mussels for bait and took six pounds of large redbreast without moving from the spot.

George Cheney at the Wekiva River Haven Camp had crowds of visitors on the weekend although fishing was not up to par. Jerry Dillard and party came out for a fish fry bringing with them 43 bass which they had caught in a small take pear Kissimmee. The bass averaged one and a half to Cheney mentioned that hyacinth spraying is being done again in order to keep the river channel open. A trio of Orlando anglers, Ralph Clark, Forrest West and Earl Snyder lished Lake Jessup out of Hiley's Camp recently with excellent results. Shellcrackers and bluegills made up a Speckled perch and bluegills, 29 in all, were reported by Al Nettles and Dagwood Smallwood of Winter Garden. Jo and Canaan Ezell of Apopka put 90 shellcrackers in the boat on their Tuesday trip. Calvin Gregor and wife, along with grandson Eddie fished two days and returned to Orlando with 189 bream to show for their efforts.

Early season speck fishermen are coming in with some unusually large fish for this time of year. Doug Powers and Tom Van Heulen used live minnows to land 16 up to one and a quarter pounds in the Soldiers Creek area last Wednesday. Bass fishing has not been all bad lately, especially for flyrod fishermen. Don Smith of the Seminole Sporting Goods Store had word of a beautiful mixed string of bass and bream for P.N. Davis Thursday. Davis used the long stick and a Boone "Bumble Bee" popper for a total of nine bass and 22

Jim Blythe and Joe Lazare have completed alterations in the Plaza Sports Shop and now have their full line of hunting equipment on display for opening day. In the midst of their labors, both took time out to do a little fishing. Blythe and his party tried the Wekiva River upstream from the reilroad trestle. A mixed string of 48 included eight bass, 12 catfish, three to five pounds, and bream.

Lazare and his fishing partner, "Hoppy Hopkins, stuck to fly-rods for limits of bass and 21 bream. The Boobe popping bug and the Hula popper accounted for all the catch. Larry Blythe celebrated his 12th birthday by fishing with "Grand Pa", Jim Blythe Sr. With Missouri minnows for bait, they landed 21 specs, a catfish, and a large saltwater

SALTWATER REPORT

The cold Labrador current which has been plagueing deep sea fishermen for several weeks possibly helped pier fishermen by bringing in an early run of Spanish mackerel. Bob Rockwell at the Ormond Beach pier listed upwards of 40, some in the four pound class, caught Saturday. Croakers, spots, a few angelfish and good hauls of large whiting were

The run of Spanish mackerel by-passed Daytona's Main Street Pier but came in droves at Sun-Glow, a few miles further south. Along with mackerel, pier visitors here landed some nice blues of two to three pounds each.

Main Street Pier anglers made up for missing out on the mackerel by hauling in trout up to nine pounds and channel bass in the seven pound range. Sheephead were plentiful for those using sandfleas and fiddler crabs for bait. Flounder and a few blues showed up among the week end

Wayne Brady at the "Fishing Hole" Tackle Shop showed off a new lure which he said was getting good results in the Daytona area. The lure, similar in looks to the reliable Trout-Tout, is called the "Doll Ya-Hoo." Snook, trout and even flounder are all finding it equally attractive.

Brady told of a run of grey shrimp in the Halifax River north of Daytona, channel bass in the inlet, and big trout around the jetties. Further south at Indiana Mound Fish Camp, small trout are plentiful and mangrove snapper are keeping the bottom fishermen busy. Head boats working out of Inlet Harbor are finding better fishing each day as the water slowly warms up once more. Trolling is practically back to normal for the charter boats.

Friday trips showed the "Finest Kind" with five amberjack, four kings, and eight bonita. The "Miss Behavin" took 12 kings, 12 bonita, and a barracada the same day, while the "Deep South" landed a sailfish measuring seven feet, six inches, the largest one captured off Daytona this year. On the "Black Duck" 14 kings, 12 bonita, and a barracuda made for an interesting day.

The largest amberjack of the year was landed Saturday by a fisherman aboard the "Angler". The 88 pounder along with three kings and five bonita filled the fish box to its limit. The "Dandy L" was top boat in the fleet Sunday with 17 kings and 17 bonita- all caught within five miles of the

DEAR ABBY: My sister in law thinks she knows everything just because she's a college graduate. I am not a college graduate. In fact I only went thru the tenth grade. but I do have common sense which I wouldn't trade my sister in law for her college diploma.

She and her husband [my brother] sneak out of the house while their 14-month-old baby is being distracted by the baby-sitter because if the baby knows the parents are leaving he will make a fuss and cry.

I say this is wrong. Parents should prepare the baby for their departure and say goodbye, and even if the baby makes a fuss, at least the baby will know they are leaving. II have baby-sat with lots of children of all ages, and I have noticed that most babies will cry when the parents say goodbye, but as soon as they are out of sight the babies

POLLY'S POINTERS Use Cornstarch to Clean

By POLLY CRAMER

Buckskin Coat Collar

DEAR POLLY-Lorna B. could generously sprinkle the collar on her buckskin coat with DRY cornstarch. Rub in gently with the fingers and leave on for 24 hours so the cornstarch has time to absorb body oils. Gently brush away and then repeat if some stains remain. This is also good for removing grease from cement, but allow it to remain for a week before sweeping it up. Also, repeat if

DEAR POLLY-I suggest that Lorna B. uses an art gum eraser to erase the marks from the collar of her buckskin coat that cannot be dry cleaned. She should have a clean collar after using this along with a bit of elbow grease. A friend who used to work with leather told me this years ago and I clean my suede apparel and purses this way all the time.—GEORGIA

DEAR POLLY-I am a seamstress and, as recycling of materials seems so important today. I wonder what use can be made of wooden thread spools. Also, I am completely disgusted with the companies who are putting thread on plastic spools which, as far as I know, are unusable in any way. I would appreciate hearing from someone.-EMMA

DEAR POLLY-My Pet Peeve is with those people who stop in the aisle at the supermarket to have a long visit and their carts block the aisle so no one else can get through -MARY B.

DEAR POLLY-To keep double knit fabrics from stretching when shortening skirts or slacks I zigzag stitch first, cut off the excess and hem.-MRS. G. B.

DEAR GIRLS-This will also prevent any tendency toward raveling, as knits do not take well to being turned under at the top of the hem. The greatest trick ever when putting in such a hem by hand is to hold the edge of the hem down from 14- to 15-inch as you sew, then catch the thread through the back of the hem and then to the back of the garment. When the hem is in, turn the edge back up, press it in place and have no disfiguring line where

DEAR POLLY-My Pet Peeve is with the manufacturers of young boys' slacks and jeans. I wonder why they do not make them in different lengths as they do for men.
