A Seminole County man reported missing when his empty boat was found Monday on Lake Harney in Volusia County turned up this morning after spending a day and two nights in the woods.

Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said Jack Sullivan, in his 70s, walked into Lindsey's Fish Camp on SR 46 near Geneva, this morning after being has been known in the junior high programs. One reason for not having football might be the possible injury to a young growing boy or the feeling that only a small percentage of the student body would be affected.

There are many valid reasons for having football middle schools. One reason is the competitive factor, as the American way of life is based on competition. The total potential of the individual must be developed and a good well-rounded athletic program is as important as the scholastic program of a school. In sports such as football a boy is asked to give his top effort and if he can become successful it will carry over into his academic and social life. Athletics and football in particular teach a boy the value of teamwork and the fact that every person must carry his load or the team will not succeed. Winning is important, not just games but the game of life and by winning it usually proves that the boys who are playing have won the battle over themselves.

In our society nothing succeed's like success, and athletics teaches young boys to live, work and achieve with the help of others. A good athletic program will keep numerous young boys working hard and long and this will in itself justify the program as a tired young boy will go home and go to bed. Busy athletes have little time for loafing and trouble makng such as drugs etc. Athletics will build self-confidence for the young boy and he can form the habit of success and it doesn't matter how many times he has failed in the past. What matters is the successful attempt. The young athlete must accept himself for what he is and everyone is "somebody". Athletics will bring the student body closer together than any academic program. Seminole County would have enough middle schools that no team would have to leave the county for football games.

This alone is reason enough to play athletics. So administrators, teachers and students take a long look at yourselves and decide but please decide wisely as the decision will affect the entire county.

As His Trial Nears End

By CHARNER LEONE

The tension of two days' participation in a trial for first degree murder, in which the death penalty could possibly be evoked, were apparently too much for Carl Lee Bowers. He "broke down" on the witness stand late Tuesday afternoon, sobbing that he had loved his common-law wife whom he is accused of murdering. The 12-man jury was hustled from the court-

ng of Berrylien Bess Bowers, then pistolwhipping and stomping her face in the 1969

State Attorney Abbott Herring said this morning, in his closing argument, that evidence proved Bowers the earlier testimony of a neighbor who claimed that she saw Bowers drag his wife down the steps of his mother's home into the mud and stomp her in the face.

In this morning's testimony, Mrs. Bessie Bowers, mother of the defendant, said that she was in her house while Bowers and his wife were in a back bedroom. She heard the sound of the shots, entered the room with a neighbor who was visiting, and saw her daughter-in-law lying on the floor with blood on her face. Bowers was standing nearby holding a gun in his hand. The two women then ran, screaming, out of the house and down the street. Bowers, when questioned by his attorney, Sam Mur-scene. He claims that his first recollection of the incident is of his ride to the jail with Constable Chester Boyd following the alleged murder. Circuit Court Judge E. Thom Rumberger will continue to hear the closing arguments this afternoon, as attorneys make their final pleas.
