$23,000 Would Buy Consultants' Recommendations

Firm To Offer Sanford Museum Study Proposal

A $23,500 proposal for professional planners to look into possible futures for the Henry Shelton Sanford Museum-Library is expected to go before city commissioners later this spring. One commissioner already opposes the expenditure, but acknowledges the city is committed to financially supporting the museum.

The commissioner, John Mercer, is a member of the museum-affiliated Historical Preservation Society, which heard the private firm's proposal to analyze the museum Thursday night. The presentation, by the Maitland financial consulting and planning firm of Selwyn and Wallace, was a dry run for a subsequent appearance before city

After the presentation, Mercer said the $23,500 proposal "is too much money."

"I don't think there's a chance we (the city commission) would spend that kind of money,"

The preservation society is a club that has no official jurisdiction at the city-owned museum. The museum has a board of trustees who have some decision-making authority. The museum is located at 520 E. First St., east of the downtown business district in Ft. Mellon Park.

During the session Mercer told preservation society members of the city's willingness to help the museum, including the two $90,000 expenditures tentatively planned for museum expansion in the next two budget years.

"Unfortunately, the museum is an unknown resource," Mercer said. "It's a gem the city has, really a tremendous asset, but it's a piece of coal that hasn't been polished to a diamond yet."

The city owned museum is located in downtown Ft. Mellon Park. Its budget is supervised by the Sanford parks and recreation department, whose director, Jim Jernigan, endorsed the consultant's analysis proposal

Approximately 20 of 160 preservation society members were present for the session, which was held at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building on First Street. Those attending were asked by preservation society President A.B. Peterson Jr. to attend the planners' subsequent Joe Diebold, 83, was pulled from his burning 606 Oak Ave. home by firefighters who arrived minutes after receiving an emergency call from Lori White, whose husband, David, had seen the fire on Diebold's porch while walking past the home. The Whites live nearby at 111 W. Sixth St.

Dead, Dying Dogs Found

Animal cruelty charges are expected to be filed this week against a Sanford woman following the discovery of six dead dogs and two sick ones at her home. The owner has denied any mistreatment of the animals.

The Humane Society of Seminole County reportedly has custody of eight other dogs from the same home at 1816 Lincoln Ave.

The dogs were found Friday, according to a sheriff's report. The dogs, pupples 10 to 13 weeks old, apparently had died recently. A mixed German shepherd and pup were found in poor health and had to be killed by a veterinarian, according to reports.

Saturday, a flea- and worm-infested dog and its seven pupples were also taken from the same address.

Louise Rembert, owner of the puppies, said today something must have happened to the dogs.

"Six pupples just don't turn up and die. They were fine. Somebody has to know something. Somebody had to give them something. It's just a mystery to me," she said.

'They were fed. If my pets don't eat, I don't eat. It hurts. It really hurts for me to have to lose my pets this way."

She said she was waiting for the pupples to be weaned and was going to find good homes for them. She said the other dogs were turned over under threat of the society going to court to file cruelty charges.

The deputy reported the carcasses were found on a pile of household garbage. There was no food or water for the dogs outside the home, according to the report.

U.S., NATO Optimistic Over Soviet Arms Proposal

GENEVA (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet officials believe the issue of verification will be the major obstacle to negotiating Moscow's offer to eliminate U.S. and Soviet intermediate-range missiles in Europe, but NATO and European leaders praised the proposal as a positive

Max Kampelman, chief of the U.S. delegation to the Geneva arms talks, told ABC News Sunday that the proposal made by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev was a positive move. But he said it could take six

IN BRIEF

Woman Arrested For Theft After Incident At K Mart

An Orlando woman was arrested on a retail theft charge after she reportedly tried to hop into a truck after being stopped by store personnel.

Security personnel and store employees at K-Mart, Fern Park, stopped a woman Friday around 3:40 p.m. after she left the store without, they believed, paying for objects in her purse, according to an arrest report.

After the woman was detained, she asked to say goodbye to her sister, who apparently was nearby. Instead, the woman reportedly tried to toss the purse in the truck and hop in. They pulled the 5-foot-4, 180-pound woman from the truck, according to the report. She continued to struggle until told an officer was on his way to the scene, the report said.

Charged with retail theft and resisting a retail merchant was Sandra Jo Plummer, 26, of 7668 Forest City Road. Her bond was set at $500.

2 Arrested Fixing Car

Two men who told an officer a car they were working on did not belong to either of them were picked up on possession of marijuana charges.

According to an arrest report, an officer saw two men trying to start a car at the Hot Line Bottle Club, 801 E. Altamonte Drive, the incident occurred around 4:17 a.m.

The officer reported that the man working under the hood of the car said the car wasn't his and probably belonged to the man in the driver's seat. That man, however, said he did not own the car.

When the officer then said that since neither owned the car it must be stolen, the man working under the hood said it was his but he did not have proof of ownership. He told the officer he bought the car from some man named Jack and maybe there was something in the glove box. In the glove box the officer found a small amount of material that appeared to be marijuana. He also found a car dealer license plate and a trailer license plate.

The dealer plate was registered to an Orlando car firm, the car to an Orlando woman and the trailer tag to a man in Orlando. None of the items were reported stolen.

Arrested and charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana were the car's owner, Kirk Hohensheldt, 18, and Thomas James Dooley, 34, both of 2918 Kinnon Drive, Orlando.

Agents Arrest 3 Suspects

Three men were arrested in separate incidents by undercover agents working in the William Clark Court area of Sanford.

According to the arrest report, the agents approached three men on different occasions to buy crack coaine. All the men fled when police tried to arrest them. The arrests occurred Friday afternoon. Arrested and charged with delivery of cocaine, possession of cocaine, and resisting arrest without violence, was Cortrell Brevard Knight, 20, of 44 William Clark Court. Bond was set at $1,000. Arrested on charges of sale and delivery of cocaine, possession of cocaine and resisting arrest was London Dontee Mathis, 19, of 37 conspiracy was Robert Kennedy Griffin, 20, of 5 Seminole Gardens. His bond was set at $1,000 also.

Taxi Ride Not Free

A woman who refused to pay for a taxi ride was picked up on a charge of petty theft after reportedly being verbally abusive to the officer and the taxi cab driver.

According to the report, the woman was taking the cab from the Hot Line Bottle Club in Altamonte Springs to an Aloma Avenue address when she told the cabble that she thought he was driving around the block to push up the fare. She got out, without paying, and began to flag down a ride. The incident occurred around 4:48 a.m. Saturday.

The officer told the woman that if she had a complaint she should file it with the cab company but if she did not pay the bill she was going to be arrested for petty theft. She still refused to pay and reportedly made racial comments. She was arrested and during booking reportedly became combative and had to be restrained.

Arrested was Drema Wood Cadle, 27, of Winter Park.

2 Charged At Oviedo High

Two men were arrested at Oviedo High School Friday after police checked them out because they apparently were suspicious.

In the first arrest, officers stopped a 22-year-old man and found he was wanted on a warrant for failure to appear in court in Seminole County on a 1984 battery charge. Arrested around 11 a.m. was Richard Aaron Evans Jr. of Geneva. His bond was set at $500.

Another arrest, apparently at the same time according to case numbers and computer search numbers, occurred when a computer check showed the man was wanted on a warrant for violation of probation on a 1985 charge of possession of a gun and lights.

Arrested in connection with the violation of probation was Vincent Edward Bowen, 24, also of Geneva. His bond

Little Damage From Oil Spill Reported

NEPTUNE BEACH (UPI) - Divers were unable to patch a freighter that has leaked 100,000 gallons of fuel, but the Coast Guard said high winds and rough seas have minimized environmental damage from the Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Jim Simpson said a specially equipped Falcon jet would cruise the spill area from Mayport to St. Augustine searching for any oil that has yet to be jetty, to protect the fragile oyster beds. spotted.

A preliminary aerial survey of the area Sunday revealed "nothing extensive and nothing concentrated," Simpson said. "We just want to make sure we don't have any large patches of oil lurking anywhere."

A private contractor has scraped 20 trucks of oil-soaked sand from beaches and planned to haul the sand to a dump in South Carolina.

Ten-foot-high seas and 25-knot winds Sunday helped break up the spill, but the rough weather prevented divers from patching the Norwegian-owned freighter Fernpassat, which has been leaking fuel since it hit a jetty in Jacksonville harbor Thursday, gouging holes in two of its six

Crews from the Coast Guard, the Florida Marine Patrol and the independent contractor hired by the freighter's owner - Oil Recovery Corp. of Jacksonville - scoured the beach, digging into the sand every 100 yards to ensure there were no buried patches of oil.

"We found some places where there was oil down a layer or two. We found some tar balls, small hard nuggets of oil. They also found some debris and seaweed covered with oil. The contractors are picking that up," Simpson said. The Fernpassat, which carried 2,000 Volkswagens bound for the Port of Jacksonville, was towed to within 15 miles of the shore Thursday to escape the worst of the storm, Simpson said. It had been towed out 34 miles from the harbor after the accident.

Indians 'Ecstatic' Over Court Ruling

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Indian lobbyists say tribes are "ecstatic" over a Supreme

More than 100 tribes nationwide are involved in bingo, card games and electronic games, said Manny Fierro, a spokesman for the National Indian Gaming Association, a Washington lobby group. The decision does not apply to horse racing, dog racing or casino gambling.

"The tribes were ecstatic," he said. "I think the gaming association is going to step back and take a look at the decision and digest what happened. We need to analyze the decision and evaluate all the options. There is a concern that there may be a need for national standards.

regulation and enforcement procedures."
Current legislation in Congress would legalize other forms of gaming only with the sanction of a five-member commission and investigation of all management contracts.

If that legislation is not passed, Fierro said, those operations would be the next set of watershed legal cases.

Florida Leads Nation In Lightning Casualties

By Kathy Tyrity Herald Staff Writer

What will you do in case a tornado or other severe weather system is targeted for this area? Florida is the leading state in the nation in lightning deaths and injuries, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration which supplied the following information. Lightning has killed 269 people and injured 736 people in Florida during the past 28 years. Lightning has also caused about $22 million in damage during this period 1959 through 1986.

Unlike most weather phenomena, specific lightning warnings are not issued by the National Weather Service. Any thunderstorm can produce a lightning bolt or bolts which can kill you. Lightning takes its toll in-Florida by killing one person at a time in most instances, and so by heeding the safety rules, you can help save your life. • Stay indoors and do not venture outside unless absolutely necessary.

 Stay away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks, and plug-in electrical devices.

 Do not use electrical plug-in equipment like hair dryers, electric toothbrushes, or electric razors during a storm. Turn off the television set and unplug it.

• Do not use the telephone during the storm. Lightning may strike the telephone lines out-

• Do not take a bath or shower during the storm. Do not try to take laundry off the clothesline.

 Do not use metal objects like fishing rods, tennis rackets. and golf clubs. Golfers wearing cleated shoes are particularly good lightning rods.

 Do not seek shelter under tractors or heavy construction equipment. Tractors and other implements in metallic contact with the ground are often struck by lightning.

• Get out of the water, off small boats, and off the beaches.

• If no buildings are available for shelter, your best protection is a ditch, culvert, or under head-high clumps of trees in open forest glades.

• When there is no avoid the highest object in the area. If only isolated trees are nearby, your best protection is to crouch in the open, keeping twice as far away from isolated trees as the trees are high.

· Avoid hilltops, open spaces. wire fences, metal clotheslines, exposed sheds, and an electrical conductive elevated objects.

• When you feel the electrical charge, if your hair stands on end or your skin tingles, lightning may be about to strike you.

Drop to the ground immediately.

The enclosed cab of a car or truck provides excellent protection against lightning.

Some of the worst counties in Florida for lightning deaths and injuries are Brevard, Broward, Dade, Hillsborough, Palm Beach, Pinellas and Polk. Seminole County has had 20 deaths and injuries from lightning since 1959, which is above average for Florida has had about as many severe thunderstorms as tornadoes. During the six-year period 1981 - 1986, Florida had a total of 348 confirmed severe thunderstorms which caused eight deaths, injured 60 people, and produced more than $23 million of property damage.

Severe thunderstorms often occur during tornado activity. At other times they are associated with fast-moving squall lines or unusually severe summertime afternoon thunderstorms.

Most deaths in severe thunderstorms occur from electrocution by stepping on downed power lines, trees falling on people, or strong winds overturning mobile homes or boats. Major damage from wind occurs to mobile homes, airplanes, hangars, and shopping centers. Large tents and associated crowds at fairs, shows, etc., are also the target of of your home. severe thunderstorm winds. Large hail can cause damage in the millions of dollars to crops, and cars are also at high risk.

Severe thunderstorm watches and warnings are issued in a manner similar to tornado watches and warnings but when tornadoes are not expected. However, many severe thunderstorms do produce tornadoes. Most safety rules for tornadoes and lightning are applicable to severe thunderstorms.

Thunderstorms may produce flooding, so stay out of dry creek beds and be alert for flooding of street intersections and other low lying areas. Listen for warnings and statements from your local National Weather Service Office (in Orlando).

According to statistics, the spring and early summer months are particularly dangerous months for severe thunderstorms.

On April 8, 1982, a series of severe thunderstorms struck Seminole, Volusia, Lake, Marion and Brevard counties. Hail the size of golf balls covered the ground in many areas with the heaviest damage in Seminole County. Total crop damage was estimated to be $4 million and property damage nearly $5 mil-

In nearby Orange County, on July 17, 1981, one person died and 15 others were injured, three seriously, after panicking when high winds ripped a 10,000 square foot hole in a 90-foot high pavilion canopy at a tourist attraction there. The canopy was designed to withstand 120 mph winds. Another person was killed in Alachua County when a large oak tree crushed him in his car.

Central Florida leads the state in deaths and injuries associated with severe thunderstorms for the past six years.

In case of a severe thun-derstorm, keep calm and know that most of them are of short duration. But pay attention to the safety rules. Remember that the mature stage may be marked on the ground by a sudden reversal of wind direction, a noticeable rise in wind speed, and a sharp drop in temperature. Heavy rain, hail, tornadoes, and lightning generally occur only in the mature stage of the thunderstorm.

The National Weather Service wants residents of mobile homes to know that mobile homes are especially vulnerable to the high winds of a thunderstorm and are subject to overturning and rolling if not properly anchored to the ground. Professional advice should be obtained from a reputable mobile home contractor. As a minimum, the frame should be secured to the ground with heavy steel straps. Heavy straps should also go over the top of the home with both frame and over-the-top ties secured in concrete footings. Mobile homes. however, provide no shelter in a tornado regardiese of how well tied and should be abandoned for a storm shelter.

Tornadoes can develop suddenly and without warning during severe thunderstorm activity. The approach of a funnel cloud during the day or a loud roaring sound at night calls for inmediate action to ensure your safety. In a school, factory, or hospital, move to an interior corridor on the lowest level and avoid large open rooms such as gymnasiums. At home, go to the interior room of the lowest level

A Tornado Watch is issued by the National Weather Service when conditions - which may produce tornadoes are expected to develop. Stay tuned to weather reports and alert for the abrupt onset of violent wind, rain, hall, or a funnel-shaped cloud. Listen for a sudden increase in wind noise. When in doubt, take cover.

A Tornado Warning is issued when a tornado has been detected. The warning will tell you the last known location, and if possible, its speed and direction of movement. Persons close to the tornado should take cover

If you see or hear a tornado, take the following safety measures

 Seek inside shelter immediately. Protect your head and eyes. Lie flat and make as small a target as possible. Take a portable radio.

• In homes, take cover in the smallest room with stout walls, or under heavy furniture, or a tipped-over upholstered couch or chair in the center part of the house. Seek the lowest floor possible or basement in available.

• Mobile home dwellers, try to get to a safety shelter. If that is not possible, do not stay in the mobile home when the tornado is approaching. Seek refuge in a ditch or culvert as a last resort. Also, as a group, select a leader to monitor weather reports and sound a warning.

• In schools, wherever possible follow advance plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Hallways oriented in an east-west direction generally offer a greater protection than those with a north-south orientation. Avoid the south and west ends of hallways which open to Preparedness for the outside. Avoid seeking County, at 323-2500.

shelter in any classroom which has an outside wall facing south or west. In all cases, do not remain in auditoriums, gymna siums, or other structures with wide free-span roofs. If a building is not of re-inforced construction, go quickly to a nearby re-inforced building, or to an open ditch and lie flat with your head covered with your arms.

Do not stay in a school bus or other vehicle. Unlike for lightning, automobiles and other vehicles are not safe refuge for tornadoes. Seek refuge in a sturdy building or as a last resort in a ditch or culvert.

Office buildings, con dominiums, and hotels - the basement or an interior hallway on a lower floor is safest. Upper stories are unsafe. If there is no time to descend, a closet or a small roiom with stout walls (bathroom) or an inside hallway will give some protection against flying debris. Otherwise, get under heavy furniture.

• Factories, auditoriums of other large buildings with free! span roofs - These are particularly vulnerable due to the large roof expanse upon which the wind force will act Move quickly to the section o the building offering the greates protection, such as basements of small interior rooms. Or go to other sturdy buildings if possi-

• Open country - Seek inside shelter if possible, but if not possible, then lie flat in the nearest depression, such as ditch or culvert, and protect your head with your arms. If no ditch is available, a car may provide some shelter from flying debris; crawi under it.

Help When Struck By A Catastrophe

Old age is portrayed as a golden time of sunsets and peaceful communion before the darkness closes in. But catastrophe hovers like the shadow of death over proud and frail white heads.

All who live must die; the elderly know in their bones. Yet nature is not always content to kill you. Some it will hurl into a maze of tubes and machines in intensive-care wards. Others it will cripple until they can no longer care for themselves. Life-saving medical care for catastrophic ilinesses may consume all your government benefits and then take away all you've saved, your home, your children's inheritance. People married 60 years have been forced to divorce in order to save the family home to pay for medical bills.

! Must it be like this? President Reagan has proposed a catastrophic health-insurance program for the elderly. By pooling together $4.92 a month from each Medicare recipient, it would raise $1.8 billion. No one covered by Medicare would have to spend more than $2,000 a year in out-of-pocket medical expenses.

"For too long many of our senior citizens have been faced with making an intolerable choice, a choice between bankruptcy and death," President Reagan said. This program would "help give Americans that last full measure of security."

President Reagan deserves praise for proposing to expand government responsibility for helping the elderly, despite conservative opposition within his administration. His own age, perhaps, has made him conscious of the threat of catastrophic illness.

But his proposal raises the question of effectiveness, equity and cost.

Is it any less catastrophic for a person to be consigned to a nursing home which, after months or years, takes away everything he earned in life? Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., wants nursing home care included in the catastrophic medical care program. Congress der this need.

Is a young sense, stricken by a catastrophic illness less harmed than an old person at the people without insurance can be devastated. with results lasting for a lifetime. Young families have a better chance of getting catastrophic insurance from private insurance companies than do the elderly. But incentives must be found to improve the availability of such coverage.

Even if catastrophic insurance is needed, can the United States, in the midst of a deepening budget crisis, afford it? Government actuaries maintain that contributions of the elderly would be sufficient to pay for the care, without adding to the budget deficit. Payments must be pegged to the rate of inflation for health care, not the general consumer price index. We dream of a day when Americans of all ages can purchase insurance against catastrophic illness, at an affordable sum, either through the government or private companies. That is an ideal. How do we get from here to there?

One way would be to adopt Reagan's program, test how it works, and then find ways to extend its scope. Another way would be to create a more comprehensive system of catastrophic insurance from the onset. We await proposals from Congress before making Insurance can't prevent catastrophe from striking. But catastrophic insurance can help protect the dignity and independence of proud old people.

Primary School Teaches Valuable Lessons

The other day a friend of mine, after looking at some public opinion polls, asked me: "Would the Democratic Party really nominate Gary Hart?" His question revealed some of the misconceptions about how we nominate our, presidents. It being only about a year until the first of the 1988 presidential primaries, we can try to clear up at least the easy myths and explain something of the craziness about to to

First: There's really not much of a "Democratic Party" or "Republican Party" when it comes to nominating a president. What the system now boils down to is many primaries and a few caucuses where millions of people who sign in as "Democrats" or "Republicans" simply go out and vote. The picking of the president is in the hands of "the people," not "the party." All the evidence shows that "the bosses" can't deliver many votes in presidential primaries. Endorsements from other politicians or famous athletes can't deliver many votes. Home state "favorite sons," who want to be power brokers, rarely win primaries. In short, since 1972, when the number of primaries proliferated, the nature of our political world has changed.

The second misconception is that the polls mean much at this stage of the game. A year before they were nominated, George McGovern and Jimmy Carter were running at about 2 percent in the polis. Then they won some small, early primaries and caucuses, became well known nationally and cleaned up. So to say "Gary Hart is the front-runner" means only that he is now well known to voters. But, typically by the time the primaries arrive, other cast-didates will be well-known, too, thanks to the evening television news and their own television commercials demonstrating how wonderful they

To make things even wilder in 1988, this is the first time since the advent of the mass primaries that both parties will field a full boat of candidates. From 1972 to 1984 either one or the other of the parties had an incumbent running, which had the effect of driving out or sharply curtailing competition.

But this time both sides are loaded for bear. Even after Gov. Mario Cuomo dropped out, the following Democrats - plus Rep. Richard Gephardt, who recently announced his candidacy — are seriously considering the race:

Gov. Bruce Babbit, Sen. Joseph Biden. Gov.
Dale Bumpers, Gov. Michael Dukakis, Sen. Gary
Hart, Rev. Jesse Jackson and Sen. Sam Nunn.

That adds up to 19. What will happen when so many, many candidates all try to buy television commercials timed for the first early contests in lowa and New Hampshire? Will anyone bother to watch? And how can the networks give fair coverage to 19 candidates?

The process has only one redeeming future. When it's over, a president is chosen, usually competent. There is no violence, little corruption, no riots. The torch is passed. The people accept the verdict as fair.

Worker Vs. Union Vs. Boss

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (NEA) - Unfolding here is a saga that typifies the nationwide struggle between old-line industrial companies and their blue-collar workers as both desperately seek to preserve their dwindling economic security.

The anguish experienced by both employer and employees is part of a broader pattern of economic dislocation attributable to new technologies, global competition and other factors often beyond the control of those whose lives are threatened with disruption.

On one side of the struggle is Mack Trucks, Inc., which has its corporate headquarters and several major manufacturing facilities in

On the other side are Mack's 5,610 blue-collar employees, all members of the United Auto Workers. In addition to the Allentown plants, the company has production facilities in Hagerstown, Md., and Somerset, N.J.

Last year, Mack stunned this community when it announced it would shut down an assembly plant that employed 1,830 people and new, $80 million facility in

Winnsboro, S.C. whose work force would total only 850 because of advanced technology. The Allentown plant was antiquated but it was abandoned only after the UAW's international leaders rebuffed Mack's attempts to secure a broad range of concussions from the union and its members. Although the threat has never been explicitly stated, Mack has left little doubt that continued rejection of concessions will lead to the consolidation of all its operations at the South Carolina facility. Nonunion wages at that plant, which is scheduled to open this summer, will be about half of what production employees now earn.

The company is demanding that the typical blue-collar employee. now earning $520 a week, accept slightly more than $41 per week worth of reductions attributable to a wage freeze and other concessions.

Mack employees also would relinquish their right to strike, accept new job classifications and give up one of the weeks of paid vacation and three other days off now granted every year.

In return for union acceptance of a six-year contract containing those provisions. Mack would agree to maintain its existing production facilities in Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey through 1993.

E-6 Double Play

WASHINGTON (NEA) - A vital fleet of communications aircraft is being based, not in Spain. Maryland, Hawaii or the Philippines - where it could be activated on a moment's notice - but in Oklahoma, tens of thousands of miles from where it will be needed.

This move has been greeted by cries of outrage from Navy planners who warn that the basing plan could all but erase the usefulness of the entire communications system.

What's going on?
Apparently the administration wants to reward a representative who has been steadfast in his support of contra funding.

Last spring the Navy went to Congress for funding to deploy the TACAMO ("Take Charge And Move Out") system. In the works since 1933, it involves some 20 E-6 aircraft, a modification of the Boeing

In time of crisis, the president and his military staff would immediately take off from Washington in the E4-B flying command post, dubbed the "Doomsday Plane." The president's orders would then be relayed to the Pentagon — if it still existed - or directly to U.S. installations

The 20 TACAMO aircraft would fly at very low altitudes, virtually skimming the water's surface. Each would drag a five-mile long antenna under the water. The planes would relay orders to our nuclear submarines, many of which sit on the ocean bottom awaiting firing orders.

According to sources in Congress, the Navy planned to base about half the 20 aircraft in Hawaii and the other half at the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center in Maryland, with a couple based in Spain and the Phillipines. But last June the administration had another problem. It was trying to reverse the previous House votes denying continued funding for the Nicaraguan contras trying to overthrow the Sandinista government. As the debate unfolded, the key player became Rep. Mickey Edwards, R-Okla.

Edwards led the fight for contra aid. He was instrumental in engineering the 221-210 House vote allowing shipment of weapons to

Now Secretary of the Navy John Lehman has announced the TACAMO planes will be based at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City, more than a thousand miles from any ocean — but dead in the center of Edwards' home district.

Reportedly Lehman overruled strong objections by Navy planners to basing the aircraft at Tinker. The Navy now says the decision was actually made for sound nationalsecurity reasons.

Navy sources say the E-6s would be primary targets in any Soviet first strike. By basing them near the water they would be very close to Soviet submarine-launched nuclear weapons. Basing them in the center of the country means that it would take Soviet missiles considerable time to reach them. This would guarantee that the planes would be sirborne long before the missiles

But Edwards has told his constituents the decision to base the TACAMO aircraft in Oklahoma City was the result of "months of discussions" between his office and Lehman. Further, he says Lehman made the commitment to Tinker in a July 2 meeting, six days after Edwards got his contra aid amendment through the House.

Navy sources say that basing the TACAMO aircraft in the center of the country for security reasons had been examined very closely during the planning stages of the program. VINCENT CARROLL

Gary Hart Lapsed Liberal

Now that New York Gov. Mario Cuomo has refused to run for president, liberals are said to be searching for another candidate to lead their cause. They should relax. Front-runner Gary Hart easily meets their requirements.

Isn't it odd, the lingering confusion over former Sen. Hart? Three years after his presidential bid faltered before the withering challenge of "Where's the beef?" Hart's politics still mystify many people. It's as if his 12-year record in Washington had disappeared down a memory chute.

For those who have bothered to follow his career, the nature of that record has never been in doubt. Hart was a pedigreed liberal when he first ran for office in 1974, he remained so throughout his Senate years, and he doubtless would continue to please the left wing of the Democratic Party during a four-year term in the White House.

This is the man, after all, who managed George McGovern's presidential run in 1972. And this is the same individual who, in his early Senate years, advocated "literal full employment, with a job guaranteed to every American," the federal chartering of energy companies, federal education aid equal to onethird of local school budgets, and regional and national economic planning.

Even in his second term, Hart was often listed among senators most likely to favor expanded federal spending, by such groups as the National Taxpayers Union.

Hart also has led a number of efforts to centralize economic authority, such as when he plumped for "industrial policy" in the early 1980s. Admittedly, the former senator has expressed occasional reservations about government planning. In practice, however. Hart suffers from the professorial trap: He simply can't conceive of a world in which smart people like himself don't tell the rest of us what to do.

So why the confusion about his politics? Perhaps his personality is in part to blame. Just as conservatives distrusted the loner Richard Nixon, many liberals find Hart too aloof. He is clearly not a man of the barricades.

For the most part, though, Hart generates the uncertainty himself. Coming from conservative Colorado, he often has felt compelled to pose as a pragmatic centrist. To this day, he and his supporters work to sustain this impression.

JACK ANDERSON

Navy Makes Its Own Deal With Iran

By Jack Anderson

And Dele Van Atta WASHINGTON — Here's a bizarre twist to the Iran/contra arms scandal: U.S. Navy officials conducted their own secret negotiations with Iran over military hardware in late 1985 and early 1986.

The Navy wanted to buy back some sophisticated aircraft maintenance gear that had been sold to the shah. But when the Iranians demanded U.S. weapons in return, the Navy refused, and the negotiations were broken off.

Unbeknownst to the Navy, of course, the White House was actively shipping arms to Iran at the time, in hopes that the Ayatoliah Khomeini would use his influence to win freedom for Americans being held hostage in Lebanon by pro-Iranian terrorists. Lt. Col. Oliver North, the National Security Council aide who was the chief engineer of the Iranian arms deal, was informed by Navy officials about their secret dickering with Iranian in-termediaries — but North didn't tell the Navy what he was doing.

The Navy's secret overture to Iran was basically a cost-cutting move. in late 1984, Navy officials began weighing various options for pro-viding three new aircraft carriers with F-14 "test benches" - the electronic scanners that pinpoint malfunctions in the aircraft's engine and other components. They are incredibly fancy versions of the electronic testing machines used in auto-repair shops.

The Navy figured it needed 12 of the test benches to fit out the three new carriers. The test benches, called VAST - for Versatile Avionics Shop Test - are produced by the Harris Corp. of Florida.

But the VAST system, designed for the F-14 in the early 1970s, was no longer in production. Harris estimated it would cost $96 million for 12 new ones - and the Navy didn't have that amount to spare.

Then, in the summer of 1985, a Navy intelligence officer reminded the brase that the shah had bought about a dozen VAST systems to service the F-14s he had ordered in the 1970s. Why not buy them back from Khomeini on the cheap? It seemed reasonable. The shah had taken delivery of 79 F-14e. Two of these crashed before the shah was overthrown.

This left the ayatollah with 77 F-14s — on paper. Most of the Iranian air force people who knew how to fly and service the F-14s fled the country. There weren't enough spare parts to keep the planes flying. In fact, fewer than a dozen Iranian F-14s have been operable at any given time throughout the six-year-old war with Iraq, and these are used mainly as airborne radar platforms instead of missile-equipped fighters.

What fascinated Navy intelligence were reports from Iranian air force defectors and others that some of the F-14 test benches hadn't even been taken out of their crates, and the ones that had been used were in virtually mint condition. With its dwindling supply of F-14s and no spare parts for them, the Iranians might be open to a strictly business proposition.

Discussions with the Iranians began in London in the fall of 1985 mainly through an Iranian engineer living in France. The Navy offered $10 million — tops — for the test benches, and the Iranians seemed interested.

But as the discussions proceeded, the Iranians suggested trading the F-14 test benches for TOW anti-tank missiles and other weapons. The Navy officials, having no idea that the White House had shipped 1,000 TOW missiles to Iran via Israel in mid-February 1986, refused to swap weapons for test benches, and the talks broke off in March 1986. North, of course, knew what the Navy was trying to do; the Navy had told him. He didn't discourage the Navy, but he never told them about the White House/NSC/CIA arms deal - which might at least have explained to the Navy negotiators where the iranians got the idea they could get TOW missiles from the UnitedStates Footnote: The Navy finally settled its test-bench gap by taking one from each existing carrier and giving them to the three new ships.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The waves of scandal churned up by the Iran arms-Contra aid crisis are threatening to wash away the chances of Robert Gates to be confirmed as director of the CIA.

The Washington Post reported today that Gates will withdraw his nomination this week.

Publicly, two days after White House chief of staff Donald Regan became the latest victim of the burgeoning scandal, a presidential confidant said Sunday the nomination might have to be withdrawn because Gates has "the smell of Irangate on him."

FAA To Testify On Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administration officials will testify next week in what a congressional aide reports is an effort to learn why personnel records of nearly 500 air trassic controllers were altered after their 1981 firing in Chicago.

Shultz, Chinese Officials Relaxed As Talks Open

BEIJING (UPI) - U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz met today with several Chinese officials, who made it clear that Beijing is unwilling to abandon its communist system for any Western-style democratic reforms.

Shultz, on the first business day of a five-day trip to China, met with Premier and acting Communist Party chief Zhao Ziyang in the ornate Hall of the Purple Light inside the Zhongnanhai government compound.

Zhao, smiling and joking with Shultz, made small talk about Chinese landscapes and cuisine, saying he preferred Sichuan scenery and food from Guangdong.

Amal Militia On Alert

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — In the most critical rift within the Shiite Moslem militia Amal in five years, a fired official led a mutiny against forces loyal to militia leader Nabih Berri and claimed to taken control of most villages in southern Lebanon. Seven militiamen were killed in the fighting.

Offer Enhances Gorbachev Image

By Charles Mitchell

MOSCOW (UPI) - Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev stole the international diplomatic sputlight with his offer to separate the elimination of intermediate-range missiles in Europe from talks on the U.S. "Star Wars" space defense plan.

But it is a move likely to create tensions within the NATO alliance and force a re-examination of NATO defense policy, while adding to Gorbachev's image as a flexible arms negotiator.

The return to a variation of the so-called "zero option," in which each side would have no intermediate-range missiles in Europe and 100 outside Europe, would remove the Western alliance's main deterrent against the overwhelming conventional forces superiority of the Warsaw Pact countries.

For example, the Warsaw Pact has a 16,000 to 4,680 advantage in tanks, a 22,400 to 4,150 lead in artillery pieces and a 37,000 to 8,650 advantage in armored personnel carriers.

Talks held in Vienna on the reduction of conventional forces in Europe have bogged down for 13 years with little sign of any real movement. The elimination of the NATO missile deterrent could give those talks a new sense of urgency. "American missiles in Europe signify a commitment to the defense of that continent," a European diplomat said. "Having them there provides a comfortable cushion against an attack and they are cost-effective. "If they were to go, NATO countries are going to have to spend more to build up conventional forces or be subject to a kind of constant blackmail, a constant threat from the other side

with nothing really able to stop a Soviet ground assault.' The 1979 plan to introduce 108 American Pershing II and 464 cruise missiles to counter the estimated 441 triple-warhead Soviet SS-20 missiles created problems for many NATO governments faced with protests and claims from oppostion parliamentarians that European governments were pawns of Washington.

Despite initial public reaction from Western Europe that Gorbachev's offer was a positive development, some European diplomats believe the withdrawal of U.S. missiles and the placing of a larger burden of defense on the NATO countries will cause as much tension and friction between Washington and the European allies as placing the missiles did.

The official Soviet media portrayed the surprise Saturday night announcement as a bold new step in Soviet arms policy, but Western diplomats said it amounts to a return to the Kremlin position held two years ago.

It was Gorbachev's coupling of a deal on European missiles with concessions on the testing of the "Star Wars" plan, as the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative is popularly known, that led to the impasse at the Iceland superpower summit in October.

President Reagan refused to give in on SDI. Gorbachev refused to "de-link" the issues and thereby allow for a deal on intermediate-range missiles in Europe. Saturday night, the Soviet position was reversed and for good measure. Gorbachev offered to pull out short-range missiles from Eastern Europe once all intermediate-range missiles are

Following the October Reykjavik summit, officials from both sides said a deal on European missiles was tantalizingly close, but verification of such a withdrawal is likely to be one of the major obstacles in actually concluding the deal.

Friends Advise Reagan

WASHINGTON (UP. Friends and foes alike say trest dent Reagan must use nice than just a speech this week to pull himself from the Iran-Contra swamp; it demands the kind of strong personal involvement he prefers to leave to

During weekend consultations with aides and outside advisers, Reagan set out to chart a new course for his administration in the wake of harsh criticism by the Tower Commission he appointed to review the Iran arms-Contra aid scandal. But even as he prepared for a Cabinet meeting today and a televised address expected Wednesday night, Reagan was told only a sustained personal effort and a change in style hold hope for freeing him from the grip of his worst crisis.

The days of hands-off policy, in connection with serious policy matters, are over for Ronald Reagan," said former Sen. Paul Laxait, R-Nev., a close friend and political confident of the presi-

"Under these circumstances, with a vigilant press watching every move and recognizing that this has been a difficult period, he's going to have to get his head and his guts squarely into this operation and stay on top of it," Laxait said Sunday on ABC's 'This Week with David Brinkley." Such action would be a sharp contrast to the Reagan style first demonstrated as California governor and now as president. He has relied on subordinates to resolve problems and narrow policy decisions down to welldefined options.

Laxalt said Reagan has been blessed over the years "in not having that backfire," but added, "It did in this instance, and I think he's learned a very forceful lesson.

Troy Ends Frustration, Wears 171-Pound Title

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor "It's about time."

With those three words and the 171-pound state championship, Seminole senior Troy Turner added the perfect finishing touch to a fine career Saturday night before 2,701 fans at the Class 4A State Wrestling Tournament at Lyman High School.

Turner, twice a state runner-up at 159 pounds as a sophomore and a junior, dominated Clearwater Countryside's Dennis Nelson, 9-1, to grasp the only remaining jewel in his brilliant career. The talented senior finished 32-0 this year and posted a 115-5 record for his four varsity seasons. "If there is anybody that deserves to be a champion it is Troy," Seminole coach Glenn Majolini, who coached his first state winner, said. "He is a champion in every respect. There were a lot of contributing factors the past two years that made the championship even better.

This is the third consecutive season Turner entered the state finals unbeaten. As a sophomore, Turner finished 27-1, the loss a 19-8 decision to St. Petersburg Seminole's Mark Surrette in the state championship. As a junior, Turner posted a 31-1 mark but suffered a broken thumb in a semifinal victory which prevented him from wrestling the final against arch-rival Solomon Fleckman of Merritt Island who he had beaten earlier in the year, 8-6, in a dual meet. As a freshman, he qualified for the state meet but was sidelined by an injury.

"It has been past due," Turner id. "But it sure feels great to finally set it.

"The first thing I thought about was my family. My mom (Etlene) especially. She's the one that about had a lieart attack through this whole thing," he said. "My dad (Carl) and brothers (Tony and Tracy) have been behind me all the way,

Turner, who pinned Orlando Colonial's Mike Sousa at 2:32 in the semifinals, said he felt is he could get the first takedown against Nelson, he would get his much-desired title.

Which is exactly what happened. Twenty seconds into the match, Turner secured his takedown for two points and pancaked Nelson into a near fall for a 5-0 lead 50 seconds into the match. "I caught him off guard," Turner said. "I acted like I was going to let him escape, then I clamped down on him.

Maiolini said Turner was at his best in the final, "reacting" to what was available. "If he sees an open window, he penetrates," he said. "He reacts better than anyone I've seen."

Nelson picked up an escape midway through the second period but Turner built his lead to 7-1 with another deceptive move with 22 seconds left. Cornering Nelson near the out-of-bounds line, Turner fooled him again.

"I faked like I was going for a single leg," Turner said. "When his body moved forward I got a duck under. I knew it was over then." Turner picked up his last two points when the desperate Nelson missed a flying cradle and Turner reversed him for the eight point victory.

Turner's march to the title began Friday when he recorded a technical fall over Dan McDeavitt of Fort Worth J.I. Leonard in the first round. He carved out a 4-2 decision over Darren Kolofsky of Pinellas Park in the second round. The pin of Sousa followed Saturday morn-

Leto Closes Rams' Storybook,

LAKE MARY — The ending of Lake Mary's storybook post-season rally was not as happy as they would have liked, but, before it was finished, the Rams gave the most powerful team in the state a run for its money.

And, as it turned out, the only goal in a match that was acoreless for 94 minutes was not seen by either the person who kicked it or the goalkeeper who tried to save it.

Carlos Cubas grounded a ball through traffic and acreened Lake Mary keeper Pete McNally could not pick up the hall before it went in as top-ranked Tampa Leto claimed the 4A State Soccer Championship with a 1-0 overtime victory over upstart Lake Mary before 3,501 fans at Lake Mary High.

The first time I saw the ball was when it was in the back of the net," said McNally, who played on the state clampionship team in North Carolina last season. "Now I know what it feels like to lose one of these."

Lake Mary concluded its most successful season ever with a 22-4-4 record and district, region and section titles.

The Rams, who won their first district title, were second in the Seminole Athletic Conference and second in the

"We never got a whole lot of respect all season long but the guys proved they belonged here." Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle, who won five state titles at Orlando Bishop Moore, said. "It was a great way for our seniors to end their careers and gave the underclassmen good experience.'

Leto, top-ranked since the second state soccer poll, finished the season with a 21-0-1 record and its second Class 4A championship.

"We got some unlucky breaks in regulation and I felt it was only a matter of time before we scored in overtime," Leto coach Ray DiPompo said. "It was a supreme effort by the kids and they finished a great season with a solid performance. Lake Mary deserves a lot of credit, too. They played a tremendous game and never let up.

Leto was the offensive aggressor in the 80 minutes of regulation play as it outshot the Rams, 15-7. McNally had a ing and came up and started hugging tremendous game as he had 10 saves in regulation and the defense for Lake Mary was outstanding. Senior Rick Morales marked out Leto's top goal scorer, Pat Poff, while sweeperback Scott Schmitt and defenders Chris Riske and Pete Kinsley all had solid games.

The Falcons had some excellent opportunities in regulation including a ball that was saved off the goal line by Lake Mary's Rick Broennie. Leto also had a shot at a wide open goal that ricocheted off the post and into McNally's arms.

Neither team had any good chances in the first of two 10-minute overtime periods but the second OT was full of attacking and counterattacking and went right down to the final horn.

With 5:46 left in the second OT. Cubas, a senior midfielder, made an overlapping run, got the ball at the top of the penalty box and kicked through a crowd of about five players in front of the goal. McNally had no chance to make the save.

"I couldn't see the net when I took the shot," Cubas said. "I didn't know it went in until everybody started cheer-

The game wasn't over after Cubas' goal, however, as the Rams had two golden opportunities in the last three minutes. With 2:30 remaining, Ernie Broennie had a clear shot from 15 yards out that sliced away and hit the side of the goal. Then, with 59 seconds left in the second OT, sophomore Manny Roldan chipped a shot that hit off the crossbar and Leto survived the last minute without any more close calls for the victory.

"It's disappointing to lose, but we were delighted just to be in the state tournament," McCorkle said. "The kids ended their season in an outstanding way."

The game totals had Leto taking 20 shots on goal compared to 11 for the Rams. McNally, a junior, had 12 saves while Leto keeper Brett Phillips made three in recording the 36th shutout of

"McNally was a key factor in us getting here," McCorkle said. "He'll be back next year and with such a talented keeper returning, there's a good chance we'll be back next year as well."

LONGWOOD - Seminole's Troy Turner may have been Seminole County's only champion but five other wrestlers were each state place winners at the Class 4A State Wrestling Tournament Saturday night before 2,701 fans at Lyman High School.

Lake Mary senior Bill Richards was runner-up at 149 pounds; Seminole senior Sheralton Mays was fourth at 116; Lake Mary senior Troy Jackson was fourth at unlimited; Lake Mary junior Scott Flores was fourth at 109; and Lake Howell senior Henry Heim was fourth at 171.

Team-wise, Clearwater Countryside, a third-place region finisher to Brandon and Sarasota, took home the top trophy with 78 1/2 points. The Cougars had a Seminole County connection in 116-pound champion Manny Blanco, who attended Milwee Middle School before moving to Clearwater four years ago. Sarasota and top-ranked Miami Southridge tied for second with 74 points apiece. Merritt Island was fourth with 61 while Brandon and Tampa Leto were tied for fifth with 60 each.

Lake Mary's Rams completed a successful campaign with 46 1/2 points a ninth-place finish. Lake Mary had the seventhhighest point total but the ties at second and fifth pushed them to ninth. Coach Doug Peters' Rams were Seminole Athletic Conference, district and region champions for second consecutive

"We had a good state tournament," Peters said. "With a couple of breaks, Jackson and Flores could have been wrestling in the finals, too. I'm happy with our season. We proved we belong with the best.'

Seminole's Fighting Seminoles totaled 32 1/2 points for an 11th-place finish. Coach Glenn Maiolini said an injury to 159pounder Tracy Turner probably kept his 'Noles from doing as well as last year's seventh-place showing. Turner, brother of Troy, injured ligaments in his wrist in the region. He won his first-round match but lost in the second round and could not continue in the wrestlebacks.

"Troy's championship was something special," Maioini said. "It's something for the rest of the kids to look up to."

The three Rams, meanwhile, all carried unbeaten records into the tournament. Richards and Flores were beaten by state champions while Jackson lost to the runner-up.

• Richards, who finished a spectacular 32-1 season, ran into a buzz saw in Brandon's Bret Gustaison. The tall, defending 142-pound champ jumped to a quick 5-0 lead en route to a convincing 11-3 victory.

The match turned at the 1:25 mark of the first period. Richards appeared on his way to a 2-0 lead when he had Gustafson in a single leg but the wily senior rolled Richards all the way over and into a cradle. Richards could never recover from the five-point

"You just don't get five points behind a kid like that and come back," Lake Mary assistant Ron Pinnell said.

With 10 seconds left in the period, Gustafson picked up another three-point near fall with a tilt. Richards rallied briefly in the second period with an escape and a takedown but. Gustafson put him away in the third when Richards allowed an escape and Gustafson followed with a takedown.

"We knew Gustafaon would be tough," Peters said the traditionally strong wrestling family (seven state titles). "He deserves to be state champion."

• Jackson, who finished 28-2. saw his unbeaten streak end in Saturday morning's semifinal used a tip from coach Emory Blake and came away with three wins, along with anchoring the winning mile relay team, in the Lake Howell Invitational Track & Field meet Saturday at Lake Howell High.

Seminole won the meet going away, compiling 107 points. Howell was next with 52. Lake Brantley finished sixth with 22 points, Lake Mary was seventh with 20.5 and Lyman finished ninth totaling 16 points.

"We're using these meets to polish ourselves up for the meets hat count," Blake said. "We run the meet like it is a workout with competition. It's nice to run good times but how fast a person runs now is not important.

Martin won the mile, coming back in the last 50 yards to nip Marjorie Hawk of Daytona Beach Father Lopez. Martin finished with at 5:20.9 and Hawk at 5:21.8.

"I told her (Martin) if she was tired at the end of the mile she would win it," Blake said. "She's been finishing it and not being ired. It showed today in her kick over the last 50 yards just how nuch she had left."

Martin was named the meet's outstanding distance runner as he also won the 880 with a 2:26.1, beating Janice Wilder of Vinter Park by over six seconds 2:32.6).

Martin also won the high jump ind anchored on the winning nile relay relay team. Seminole inished with a time of 4:10.1 to rush second place Orlando Coonial which finished at 4:20.9.

Dorchelle Webster also picked p a pair of wins for the Lady Noles. Webster won the long ump with a leap of 17-11/2 nches. Teammate Adrian lillsman was right behind, umping 16-41 to nip Lake lary's Tonya McCrae who inished third at 16-3.

Webster also won the 330 itermediate hurdles with a time 45.8, the time may of been ch faster if the wind, that was rong all day, was not blowing hard as it was when the inners it the stretch.

Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson aid he was pleased with the dy Rams' effort, "I though all ir hurdlers ran well and tid ell in the jumping events," he id. McCrae's third place finish was the highest field event place Mary. Lisa Shelby cleared 4-6 in the high jump to finish in a tie or fifth place. Onyeke Berry and Tabatha Gano were Gibson's hurdlers. Gano finished fifth in the 330s and Berry sixth in the 110s. Berry, though, showed promise in the 330s, leading the field over the first three hurdles before stopping due to iliness. The Lady Rams finished third in the 440-relay and fourth in the two-mile relay. In the two-mile relay Gibson managed to get the qualifying time to get into the Florida Relay's where he feels he has a better chance to lower the time.

"The wind was so strong that no one ran any incredible times," Gibson said. "We had two girls run faster times in a dual meet last week as compared to the times they ran Saturday."

The Lady Silver Hawks. though somewhat hampered, came away with second place in a meet that coach Tom Hammontree felt was not one of their better performances.

"I'm shocked we finished sec-ond," Hammontree said. "We didn't run well and we have no sprinters."

Lake Howell was led by its strong distance running to keep ahead of everyone except run-away Seminole. "We have a nice blend of veterans and ninth and tenth graders," Hammontree said. "They've worked hard and helped each other but I know they're capable of doing better."

Lisa Samocki, an all-state caliber runner for the Lady Silver Hawks, has been ill and has not been able to turn in her strongest efforts so far this

"It's frustrating to her and to me," Hammontree said. "She can't go out and do what she is used to doing as a competitor and I have to keep her coming along slowly so we don't lose

Samocki was third in the mile at 5:31.5 and fourth in the 880 at 2:35.2, last year she ran a 5:13.4 in the mile which is the meet record.

Only two records were broken Saturday. In the two-mile relay Lake Brantley's Kristen Pauley. Heather Camino, Lisa Frizzel and Dee Decker combined to finish with a time of 10:22.6.

Lady Patriot coach Mary Littiebrant was impressed with the record-breaking performance but was disappointed when her mile relay team false started.

"Everything was doing u until that false start," Littlebrant said. "We had a chance to finish third in the meet, we only finished two seconds behind Seminole last time and would of had a good chance in the event."

Lyman's Eileen Costello won the discus with a record-breaking toss of 118-3. Costello also finished second in the shot and claimed the most valuable field athlete trophy.

Winter Garden West Orange's Darlene Reed was the most valuable sprinter, winning both the 100-meter dash at 12.8 and the 220 at 26.2.

All Seminole County teams except Lake Howell will participate in the Seminole Relays Friday night at Seminole High School. Lake Howell will travel to Colonial on Saturday for the Colonial Invitational.

Earnhardt Tests, Takes = Goodwrench

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (UPI) — When the Feb. 22 NASCAR race at Richmond, Val., was postponed because of snow, Dale Earnhardt team packed up and traveled to North Carolina Motor Speedway for a day of testing.

Sunday, Earnhardt cited that day as a major factor in his Goodwrench 500 victory.

After qualifying on the 1.017-mile track Thursday. heavy snow aleet and rain washed out practice sessions Friday and Saturday, leaving competitors with only experience to draw on for the cars', actups.

"We were lucky we came! down and did a little testing," Earnhardt said after collecting-$53,900 for his first career win. at the speedway in North Carolina's sandhills.

"We were real pleased with the car in the test and we were: pleased with the car on Thursday until the driver went down: there and made a big mistake; and qualified 14th," he said. "Io had two days in the rain to think! how bad I messed up."

Earnhardt said he, car owner Richard Childress and crew chief Kirk Shelmerdine discussed the chassis setup for the race and the car responded favorably.

With the testing we did the week prior, we weren't worried! about not having any practice those two days, the NASCARI Winston Cup champion said. "There were a lot of them" concerned about it, but we felt we had a combination we could adjust during the race. We were just fortunate we came down and tested last week."

Earnhardt, driving all Chevrolet, wasted little time in moving from 14th into the lead, taking it for the first time on lap 30. The Kannapolis, N.C., native led on 10 more occasions for 320 of the 492 laps before taking av 10.5-second victory over Rickyl Rudd in a Ford. Neil Bonnett^a finished third in a Pontiac and Bill Elliott took fourth in a Ford. One-lap down in fifth was! Morgan Shepherd in a Buick.

Earnhardt averaged 117.556 mph in the 500-mile event that was slowed by 10 caution flags; for 54 laps. There were 22 lead changes among 10 drivers.

Despite his monopoly of the event. Earnhardt said; "I don't feel I was the dominate car."

"With the right combination of! tires and some cautions, I could have gotten beat by Neil (Bon1) nett) or Ricky as good as they? were running."

After Benny Parsons' engine blew in his Chevrolet on lap 79! only Rudd and Bonnett seriously? challenged Earnhardt. Bonnett's victory chances were spoiled when he missed his pit on lap 224 while leading the race.

"I ran out of fuel coming down the straightaway." Bonnett said, "I never saw the 75 (his car number) sign on pit road. I never got on the brakes."

Bonnett finally stopped in front of Earnhardt's pit and the eventual winner's crew gave his Pontiac a few gallons of fuel and helped push the car until it restarted. Bonnett spent the rest of the race crasing his two-lap

Rudd led twice for 69 laps but in the closing stages lost too much time to Earnhardt on the final green flag pit stop to make up. Rudd pitted on lap 402. received rightside tires and gas in 16.2 seconds. Earnhardt pitted on lap 409 and received the same service in 15.5 sec-

"We just weren't quite where we needed to be in the handling department in that last part of the race," Rudd said. "I think we were better than 99 percent of the field. The only ones that may have been better there at the end were maybe Earnhardt and Bonnett.

"The guys in the motor room have done a good job. I have complained the last two years because we weren't getting good torque off the corners. I think it will be a short matter of time before we get to victory lane this

Tribe Wins 2 Of 3 Relays

By Mark Blythe Herald Sports Writer

L Martha Ferraco, (LH)...

Seminole coach Ken Brauman set up three major relays Saturday at the Eagle Relays at Winter Park's Showalter Field and came away with two winners.

Seminole's mile relay and a record breaking performance in the sprint medley relay came away as winners. Two mixups on handoffs ruined any chance of placing in the 440-relay.

"We went for three relays, the ones that will be the most important when we come down to the big meets," Brauman said. "Only two relays (440 and mile) are run in regular high-school meets."

The Tribe finished with a time of 3:22.0 in the mile relay, which surprised Brauman. "That is a real good time for this early in the season," Brauman said. "We still have to improve though." Dwayn Willis, Eric Martin, Allen Seward and

Maurice Roberts came together for the winning effort in the mile relay. Willis, Lewis Butler, Steve Warren and Martin teamed up for the record performance in the sprint medley. The relay is formed by two runners running 110 yards another running 220 yards and the final runner running 440 yards.

The Tribe finished at 1:32.8 as Martin anchored the event. Martin finished seventh last year in the open 440 and has already run 49.6 this season in a dual meet with Lake

Other first place finishers for Seminole were Seward in the 330 intermediate hurdles finishing at 39.9, Butler, just a freshman, won the triple jump with an outstanding leap of

Arthur Hersey finished second in the 110high hurdles with a time of 15.0, and John Herberger, David Johnson, Rufaro Montipano and Seward teamed up to finish sixth in the two-mile relay with a time of 8:43.

Chris Ready, Kyle Faulkner, Karl Richardson and Montapon teamed up and finished fifth in the mile medley relay with a 3:47.4 clocking. Lake Mary also had a fine day in both the relays and open events. In the 2,000 meter steeplechase Scott Plyler finished sixth setting a school record with a time of 7:27.7.

In the two-mile relay Eric Petersen, Anthony Surles, Jeff Johnwick and Paul Evans came together and finished fifth with a time of 8:31.5. The 880 relay team of Richard Burkett, Erwin Edwards, Paul Jenkins and Jeff Pommier also finished fifth at 1:32.6, which set a school record.

MIAMI (UPI) - Miami defensive back Selwyn Brown, charged with raping an 18-year-old student, Sunday was suspended from the team. Coach Jimmy Johnson said.

In a statement issued Sunday night, Johnson said Brown was suspended "because of the seriousness of the allegations made against him concerning his Feb. 28 arrest. The suspension will remain intact pending the outcome of the current criminal proceedings." Johnson said Brown will remain on scholarship during those proceedings. "This action was taken with the concurrence of university officials," the statement said. "The university is con-

Brown, 21, was arrested by Metro-Dade County police about 9:15 p.m. EST Saturday in his campus dormitory. The Brown was charged with two counts of sexual battery and one count of kidnapping. If convicted of those charges, Brown could face life imprisonment. The senior, a three-year starter, was to begin spring practice Monday.

He was released from the Dade County Jail Sunday on $10,000 bond, a spokeswoman there said.

According to police spokeswoman Lucy Fitts, the woman involved went to a room in the athletic dormitory where Brown lives "and engaged in sexual intercourse with the witness." The witness was not identified, but was a friend of the victim's, Fitts said.

Martina Navratilova was too much for nervous Gabriela Sabatini Sun-

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) - Topseeded Martina Navratilova, who advanced to the fourth round of the Lipton International Players Championships, said nerves may have played a part in her victory over 15-year-old Gabriela Sabatini.

Navratilova easily beat Sabatini, the Key Biscayne resident and native Argentine, 6-1, 6-3 in Sunday's matches. "I think Sabatini was really nervous out there playing on her home court," said Navratilova. "I'm sure she was trying too hard to do good and as a result had a bad day. Her first serve wasn't working in the first set and I was attacking her second serve. In the second set he began to get her serve in but it wasn't as hard or effective."

Men's top-seed Ivan Lendi also advanced easily. He took a set to warm up but then had little trouble with Thomas Muster of Austria in a 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2 win. Sixth-seed Jimmy Connors his passing shots going.

"I feel I haven't played too well this year so far," said Lendl. "I just haven't got enough work in as yet to do everything I'm capable of doing. Earlier in this tournament I wasn't able to make my passing shots work for me. In my last match with Paul Annacone I was forced to make that shot work and it helped me again today."

One of the more exciting matches invloved the 16th seed, Brad Gilbert. He won his match against Marc Flur in straight sets but had to win a 12-10 tie breaker in the first set and a 7-5 tie-breaker in the second before closing out the match in the final set 6-3.

Newcomers Ridley, Miller Lead Renaissance For Streaking Caps

United Press International

Mike Ridley and Kelly Miller, acquired by Washington from the Rangers in the Jan. 1 deal that sent disgruntled center Bobby Carpenter to New York, have turned the trade into a Capitals renaissance.

The transaction, which at the time seemed to favor the Rangers because of the Capitals' desire to unload Carpenter, has benefited Washington more than New York.

Sunday, Ridley recorded two goals and an assist and Miller added a short-handed score to help the Capitals defeat the Rangers 7-3. The victory was the Capitals' fifth straight and snapped their four-game losing streak against

"It was nice to score against my old team," Ridley said. "But individual glory doesn't mean much to me. The big thing is we're winning. It's very satisfying."

The Capitals, 13-19-6 before the trade, are 15-9-2 since. Sunday's victory pushed them to the .500 mark, 28-28-8, for the first time since Oct. 29. Ridley and Miller have combined for 20 goals and 19 assists for the Capitals, while Carpenter has registered only two goals and six assists for the Rangers.

Celtics Record 2,000th

The Boston Celtics recorded the franchise's 2,000th regular-season victory Sunday despite following a pattern dis-turbing to Coach K.C. Jones. "I don't know what happens, Jones said after the 112-102 victory over the Detroit Pistons. "We get up by about 12, then I think we try to throw the big pass, or make the big bucket that'll really put the game away. "Instead, we make a bad pass, take a bad shot, and the other team climbs back in. We've got to stop doing that."

Kevin McHale equaled his season high with 38 points to lead Boston to its 10th straight victory over the Pistons in Boston Garden, dating to Dec.

19, 1982. "Sometimes you have one of those nights where you feel good and the basket looks like the ocean." McHale said. "Other times, it looks like a pea." The Celtics, who won their first game Nov. 16, 1946, improved their regular-season re-cord to 2,000-1,125. Boston's total victories, including playoff games, is 2,235. The only pro team with more wins is the

Harlem Globetrotters. Larry Bird scored 23 points and Danny Ainge and Robert Parish contributed 10 apiece for the Celtics, Islah Thomas led Detroit with 20 points, Vinnie Johnson scored 17 and Adrian Dantley added 14. The score was tied 85-85 entering the fourth quarter, but reserve guard Jerry Sichting sank 2 straight jumpers to give Boston an 89-85 lead. The Pistons came no closer than 3 points thereafter.

"... Crunch time calls for desperate measures, I guess," said Jones. "You get scared into playing tight defense, making smart passes, and taking good shots.'

The Pistons cut the lead to 98-95 midway through the quarter.

Nets 105, Bulls 95

At East Rutherford, N.J., Mike Gminski had 25 points and 16 rebounds and Buck Williams contributed 21 points and 15 rebounds to lead the Nets. Michael Jordan, the NBA's leading scorer, paced the Bulls with 30 points. Tony Brown and Leon Wood held Jordan to 7 points below his average.

76ers 102, Rockets 97

At Houston, Tim McCormick scored 26 points, including a pair of free throws with eight seconds left, and Maurice Cheeks added 17 points to lead the 76ers. Roy Hinson scored 13 of his 15 points in the second half, and Charles Barkley finished with 14 for the Sixers. who snapped a four-game losing streak. Rodney McCray and Akeem Olajuwon each scored 24 points for Houston.

Pacers 122, Knicks 115 (OT) At Indianapolis, Chuck Person scored 35 points and John Long added 30 to help the Pacers break their three-game losing streak. Herb Williams hit a field goal to open the scoring in overtime, giving the Pacers a 110-108 lead they never relinquished.

Young Adds Third Distance Jewel

LONGWOOD — In six previous seasons of competition at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. Dennis Young's powerful kennel had claimed two victories in the All-Distance Medley.

During the past two weeks, considering all of the top challengers in the annual highlighted event. Young wasn't quite certain what to expect when the 'hounds were in action over SOKC's four courses. For the third time, however, a surprised Dennis Young is once again at the top of the lead-erboard and his kennel is champion of the All-Distance Medley following the marathon 7-16ths mile finale Thursday night. The reason for Young's surprise, after his greyhounds earned 45 points, three more than runnerup Ben Woon, is strnple. It's all thanks to a greyhound named Redhot Bebop, the December of 1984 son of PK's Jet and Tina Cash, who as his name suggests came around just at the right time. Make it times.

After a second-place finish by

Bebop was yet to come, much like a Hollywood script which seems to drag at the beginning but ends up a smash hit at the box office. What Young didn't realize at the time was that Redhot Bebop. who, had run in the money in Grade A at 3-8ths and never run a marathon, was about to earn his initial victories at the final two distances to wrap up the closest ADM in recent memory.

"This year's All-Distance Medley was incredible," said SOKC director of racing Tom Bowersox. "I've been around here for the past 27 years and I've seen a lot of things happen. This All-Distance Medley ranks right up there with the best of

"There were only eight points separating the top 10 kennels after three rounds. And then with the draw, we had the four leading kennels entered in the same race for the marathon on Thursday.

"It's tough to describe the feeling. I know it had me excited."

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) - Prices opened higher Monday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues as the rising market carried over from the end of last week.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 11.25 last week, was up 7.45 to 2231.44 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 667-410 among the 1,534 Issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 12,218,000 shares.

The stock market ended narrowly higher in moderate trading Friday, buoyed by firm bond prices and modest gains in oil and banking

Traders said stocks got a boost from the bond market, which strengthened after the Commerce Department reported that the January trade defleit widened to $14.79 billion in January. The trade data, combined with the 7.5 percent drop in January durable goods orders reported Thursday and a sharp plunge in January retail sales, revived concerns about the economy's prospects, traders said, but alleviated worries that interest

Mitchell Meisler, national sales manager at Shearson Lehman Brothers, said the market spent the week in a seesaw pattern, "digesting" a lot of economic and political news. But Meisler said the Dow's hovering above the 2200-level was presentation to commissioners. Peterson and Jernigan both said the consultants could provide the kind of objective and thorough analysis needed to determine the museum's future.

The preservation society members and museum board of trustees say a lack of city support in the past has left them without the direction and funds to properly manage and improve the operation.

City commissioners budgeted $24,000 for the museum this year, mostly to maintain operations, which museum supporters say falls short in several respects. Many original Sanford documents are stored in a downtown bank vault, for lack of space in the museum. (Copies are accessible at the museum on microfilm, however). Supporters also cite a need for funds to properly preserve the Sanford items.

Commissioners indicated they'd have committed $90,000 in this year's budget for museum expansion if a parks department application for a matching $90,000 grant had been successful.

The preservation society's account contains $11,000 in museum funds, treasurer Juanny Mercer reported Thursday. These monles are raised mostly through membership fees and fund drives, she said.

In addition to the $180,000 tentatively earmarked by the city over the next two budget years, 1987-88 and 1988-89, commissioners have also discussed an ordinance for the museum board, to clearly define its and the city's responsibilities to the museum.

The Selwyn and Wallace presentation Thursday was arranged by four preservation society members, acting independently of the full membership, after a discussion two of them had with commissioners last fall about shortcomings with the museum's operation, such as lack of city guidance, and potential ways of improving the fee to work up analysis guidelines, Selwyn said.

Alan Selwyn and June Wallace were retained by Peterson, Ned Yancey, Albert Fitts and Seminole Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. for a nominal

The result is a $23,500 proposal "to prepare a quality plan that objectively explores all realistic alternatives (regarding the museum)," he said. Options to be looked into would include closing the museum, as well as maintaining or expanding

The effort would take between three and four months and include polling of community residents, which Jernigan endorsed. He said considerations about the museum's operation should extend beyond those offered by supporters, such as preservation society members.

After the results are in, the firm could be retained again, this time for about $3,500, to provide assistance in implementing the chosen course of action and developing maintenance programs, Selwyn said.

In addition to monitoring the safety of new developments, Larson was also instrumental last fall in getting the word out to city residents about potentially hazardous electrical wiring in homes built between the late sixtles and 1975.

The wiring, once accepted by national building standards and widely used during the cited time period, was determined in 1975 to create potential fire hazards through deterioration.

High Court To Decide Extent Of U.S. Employee Immunity

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court agreed today to decide the extent of immunity protecting federal employees from damage sults. The court will hear arguments next term in a case brought by the government seeking review of a ruling by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which reinstated a personal injury lawsuit against a federal official. The case involves injuries suffered by William Erwin, Sr., a warehouseman at the Anniston Army Depot in Anniston, Ala.

Seeking high court review, the government said "in recent years, the courts of appeals have developed a bewildering variety of standards to determine when a federal employee is protected from tort liability by the immunity principle recognized" in a 1959 Supreme Court ruling.

"Any federal employee, regardless of his duties, undoubtedly will be affected by the prospect of litigation and personal liability for harms that allegedly result from the performance of his job," the government said. Elephant Bolts; Surprise Ride

PENSACOLA (UPI) - Two children got an unexpected ride Sunday when a usually docile elephant got spooked by a Mardi Gras parade and bolted across a busy street, deputies said today.

Gary Montee, a supervising officer with the traffic division of the Escambia County Sheriff's Department, said the elephant with two men in pursuit - ran across a four-lane road and stopped at a four-foot fence 400 yards away.

"It was terrifying," said James Cox, who said his young daughter and an older 5-year-old boy got scratched by tree limbs but were otherwise all right following the ordeal.

· It happened when a Mardi Gras motorcade, with sirens wailing and horns honking, went through a shopping center. The cacophony apparently upset the elephant that was giving rides in the mall parking lot. "I watched in horror as the elephant became spooked, Cox said. "It broke loose from its chain, jumped out of its ring and ran across Fairfield (Drive).

"I never thought an elephant could run so fast. It ran through an empty lot next to a bank. Then it kept running through a wooded area for about a halfmile. We were trying to keep up. It finally came to a fence and stopped."

Medical Advances Turn Old Jokes Into Current Reality

DEAR ABBY: Many years ago, a woman who described herself as being pregnant "out to here" wanted to know what to say to people who asked, "Are you pregnant?"

Your reply: "Next time somebody asks you that question, say, 'No, I'm carrying this for a friend."

Well, Abby, in recent weeks we've been witnessing a child custody battle between a surrogate mother and the contractual parents, and I was again reminded of the irony of your prophetic advice. I thought it was such a great and funny line, I never forgot it.

Did you ever dream that one day it would actually happen?

D.L. CAMPBELL, DETROIT

DEAR D.L.: Never. It's happening not only in the spirit of altruism (carrying a baby for a woman who might otherwise never experience the joy of motherhood), but there are also women with wombs for rent for $10,000 for nine months — plus delivery and carrying charges.

DEAR ABBY: "Mother of Girls" wrote from her hospital bed with tears streaming down her cheeks after just giving birth to her fifth daughter. (She felt that she had let her husband down becasue he had desperately wanted a son.)

ly wanted a son.)

Well, I am writing to you from my hospital bed with tears streaming down my cheeks because I just gave birth to a son who did not survive. This is my third pregnancy that ended in tragedy for my husband and me.

Abby, please tell "Mother of tragedy for my husband and me.

Abby, please tell "Mother of Girls" to stop complaining and to count her five blessings. I'm afraid that your advice to adopt a boy wasn't very realistic. Adoption today is a lengthy and often costly procedure. Also, not many agencies would give priority to a family that already have five birth children.

I'd gladly settle for one child — girl or boy.

MOTHER OF NONE

Only one who has experienced the tragedy of losing a child (at any stage of pregnancy) can know your pain. One of the saddest inequities among women is that some are able to conceive and bear as many children as they wish, but others cannot. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure that many women felt as I did when they read that letter signed "Mother of Girls." I am 35 and my husband is 37 and we have been trying to have and we have been trying to have a child for nearly 10 years. I have had four operations and we've spent over $20,000 on doctors and fertility clinics. Nothing has worked for us. (I

"Mother of Girls" should be offering prayers of thanks for her because she didn't have a boy.

She should be ashamed of Women who can readily have a child can't appreciate the anguish and disappointment we childless women go through. And our disappointment is compounded every month that pregnancy is not achieved. Worse yet, we feel that we've let our husbands down for being unable to give them a family. Sign me...

CRYING ON THE INSIDE

DEAR READERS: "Slim and Hurting" asked if there was a support for family members of obese people.

There is. It's an organization called O-ANON. For information about the chapter nearest you, write to: O-ANON, P.O. Box 4305, San Pedro, Calif. 90731. And please send a stamped,

o-ANON is to Overeaters
Anonymous what AL-ANON is to Alcoholics Anonymous.

Compulsive overeating is a progressive terminal disease, but it can be controlled. Compulsive overeaters need compassion and understanding — not ridicule and criticism. Everyone who loses (weight) is a winner.

"Goldlocks" really ticked me off. She's the gal from Sarasota who (according to her) was just one of the crowd until she dyed her brown hair blond — then men started to stop her on the street and in stores just to make conversation with her. (They probably thought she was a hooker.-

Listen, I am a brunette and have never had any trouble getting attention. I've always been popular with girls and boys (now men), and it couldn't have been my looks. I was friendly, outgoing and natural. Just being myself appealed to people.

I'm 28 and married to a wonderful guy who all the girls used to fight over. 'All of his ex-girlfriends were blondes, and look who got him — a plain-looking "32-B," and a brunette to boot.

Strange Treatment Eases Diarrhea

DEAR DR. GOTT - Recently. my neighbor's baby son had diarrhea. When I went to visit them, he was drinking some revolting-looking liquid from his bottle. It was liquid Jell-O. which, believe it or not, his pediatrician had "prescribed." Is this acceptable treatment?

DEAR READER - Liquid Jell-O is appropriate treatment for infants with diarrhea. The sugar and simple protein in Jell-O are easily digested and the drink provides fluid to prevent dehydration. Your neighbor's pediatrician is correct in pre-scribing a safe, inexpensive and palatable treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My mother, 86, has suffered from tinnitus 24 hours a day for the past 15 years: She hears ringing. whistling, banging doors, freight-train noises and now, several people singing. She wants to leave her head for medical study after death, but the ear specialist said there was no need for it. Is it true that there is no research into this problem or are there enough head donors?

DEAR READER - You raise two questions.

Tinnitus is a ringing or roaring in the ears that is due to a malfunction of the auditory mechanism. It often is difficult to treat but, by and large, is an innocuous nuisance, not a serious condition.

The fact that your mother is also hearing sounds that aren't there — such as banging doors and singing - suggests that she is experiencing auditory hallucinations, rather than simple tinnitus. She needs to be examined by a neurologist to discover whether her symptoms are caused by an abnormality of the central nervous system. For example, certain types of de-generative brain disorders can cause auditory hallucinations."

The second question concerns research. From a practical standpoint, I would feel more comfortable if a diagnosis could be established before your mother dies. That way, she could be helped and her life improved. Nonetheless, autopsies are an important way to diagnose diseases and teach doctors about methods of diagnosis and treatment of live people. Although fewer autopsies are being performed now than in past years, I believe that post-mortem examinations remain an invaluable part of medical education. They also give the family specific proof of cause of death, which can be hereditary diseases are present.

There is no oversupply of post-mortem material. Most medical schools will welcome patients' willed bodies. Such gifts help train young doctors and further research.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

My friend Mike Lawrence has been a prolific writer of bridge books for the last 15 years. His first book, "How to Read Your Opponents' Cards," was recently reissued by Devyn Press. This week we'll look at some of those deals.

After leading the diamond ace, West shifts to the club jack. Declarer wins dummy's ace and plays a spade. When East plays the jack, there is no reason not to play the queen. That loses to the king and back comes another club. Declarer should win the king in his hand, play a spade to dummy's 10 and ruff a diamond. Down comes the king from West. Declarer returns to dummy with the club queen, cashes the diamond queen, on which West discards a low heart, plays low, of course.

Since West has already turned up with A-K, J-10 and a king, it's a fair presumption that he does not have the heart ace. (With that card too he might well have bid three hearts immediately over two spades.) What about East? If he had only the heart queen and the lone spade jack for high cards, wouldn't he likely have passed his partner's opening bid? And if East did have the queen, would he have been able to resist covering dummy's heart jack? All these things considered, declarer should arrive at the winning solution and play the heart king.

What is worth noting here is that any tentative idea you may have about the location of key cards should be supplanted by the actual knowledge you gain as the cards fall.
