

CATTS COMES BACK TAKES TUMBLE TO SELF APPOINTS ALL NOMINEES

JUDGE PERKINS AND STATES ATTORNEY JONES GET THEIRS

While circuit court was in session yesterday Judge Perkins and States Attorney Jones received a wire telling them that they had been appointed by the Governor for their respective positions.

Both of these officials were elected in the primary and should have been appointed by the Governor but it seemed that Governor Catts had already promised the positions to some of his friends and in the attempt to have Senator Alexander endorsed by the senate for the position of Judge of the Seventh the Catts people met their first jolt for the senate refused to accept any but the Democratic nominees.

Something evidently happened in the Governor's office to make the decided change of heart but nevertheless the friends of both the judge and states attorney are glad that they have their appointments and that the old ship still sails under Democratic rules and regulations.

Judge Perkins and States Attorney Jones made the race and won the nomination and having complied with the rules did not feel that they were being treated right by the Governor and his advisers and their legion of friends did not think so and expressed themselves accordingly but now all is peace and hogs and honey at the Governor's mansion again and everybody is happy.

Notice to the Public

We desire through this medium to inform the people of Sanford and vicinity that we are temporarily closing the Pan American College of Commerce for the summer months. We regret exceedingly that this condition has been thrust upon us, but the unfavorable circumstances under which we have been working have compelled us to take this step.

The students having scholarships will be taken care of through correspondence with the Miami school, or if they wish may be transferred to our school at Miami, until such time that conditions justify us in reopening the Sanford school.

Good Sunday School Meeting

The Sunday school people of Monroe City enjoyed a rare treat last night as they listened to Miss Price. She is always intensely interesting. Her presence in the county bids fair to stimulate greatly the enthusiasm of all the faithful workers in the great cause that is so near to her heart.

The rally that will be held under her leadership at Lake Mary Sunday morning and afternoon is a joint meeting of several of the small schools of the county. It begins at 10 in the morning with a school conducted by F. M. Baldwin to illustrate how the small school may be run.

trated talk. At noon the good folks will serve a basket dinner on the grounds. During the afternoon session there will be a number of addresses to show the value of the small school: "How I Would Run a Small School," Mr. A. R. Chappell, Supt. Sanford M. E. S. S.; "The Small School, Why?" H. C. DuBose, Supt. Pres. S. S., Sanford; "The Small Child in the Small School," Mrs. Maxwell; "Enthusiasm," Capt. Smith. The closing address will be by Miss Price. The exercises in the afternoon will be brief, so as to let Miss Price and the Sanford friends get back to the meeting there at 4 o'clock.

Register on Tuesday

Tuesday is the day to register and Seminole county should get the returns as early as possible for the county is small and no time should be lost. Everything is in readiness and the big Sanford precinct will be taken care of by the acquisition of the clerks who understand their business and will be ready and willing to give the applicants all the information desirable.

Remember that all men between the ages of 21 and 30 must register on Tuesday in their own precinct.

Starved Collar Doomed

London, June 1.—The stiff or starved collar virtually is doomed and the men of Great Britain will soon be wearing the soft collar. Captain Batfurst, the assistant Food Controller made the announcement in the House of Commons that the extractions of starch from food cereals would be prohibited in the near future. He is already anticipating the future and is wearing a soft collar himself.

Red Cross Notice

The time of the regular meeting of the Red Cross has been changed from 3:30 to 4 p. m., meeting as usual each month at the Woman's Club rooms.

It has been decided to make no charge for special seats (for the benefit of the Red Cross) at the Band concert at the park the evening of June 5th (Registration Day), so the usual free seating system will obtain.

Those who wish to become members of the Red Cross can give the necessary fee to the members of the Red Cross serving in Red Cross uniforms on Tuesday next.

School Board Wednesday

The Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida.

Will you kindly publish the following notice in Friday's issue of the Herald:

Respecting the declaration of Governor Sidney J. Catts that Tuesday, June 5th, be regarded as a holiday throughout the state, in order to facilitate registration for military duty, the Board of Public Instruction will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, June 6th. Any one having business with this body will kindly hear in mind this change.

Set Clocks Ahead

Washington, D. C., June 1.—"Daylight saving" legislation, requiring all timepieces to be set forward one hour during summer months is expected to come before the senate within a few weeks, with the favorable recommendation of the commerce committee. Senator Robinson of Arkansas has filed a report for the committee upon the bill of Senator Calder of New York approving it as "fairly calculated to accomplish valuable economies in our national life."

Longwood Incorporated

Among the bills signed Wednesday by Governor Catts was a house bill incorporating the town of Longwood. This makes Longwood the only town in Seminole outside of Sanford that is incorporated. Before the big freeze Longwood was an incorporated town with all duly elected officers.

DESPERATE IN ATTACK ON FRENCH

WAR NEWS IN SUMMARY, SHOW BUT LITTLE CHANGES ON FRONT

London, June 1.—British casualties as published in May show that a total of 5,902 officers and 106,331 men.

The British offensive on the Arras front, involving some of the severest fighting of the war, naturally has resulted in a large increase in casualties over the inactive winter season. Casualties for the last few months have not been received but in February the total reported was only 1,243 officers and 17,185 men.

The assertion of the British that their losses are 50 per cent smaller than in the battle of the Somme, notwithstanding the fact that larger forces are engaged, is not borne out by the May figures, although in the absence of the casualty report for April, early in which month the offensive war was launched, the showing is not conclusive. The casualties recorded in the first three months of the Somme drive were 307,169 officers and men. In August of last year the second month of the Somme battle, the casualties were 27,945, as compared with 112,733 for May, the second month of the Arras battle.

German Attacks Beaten Down

Paris, May 31.—The German attacked the French lines in the Champagne with extreme violence at several points last night. The attacking forces were checked at some places by the French fire and at other points by the bayonet, the Germans retiring each time after heavy losses, the war office announced today.

The fighting was particularly desperate in the region of the Taton, the Casque and Mont Haut, the attack being launched in four successive waves after a heavy bombardment from large guns and sulfocating gas shells.

The French took prisoners during the fighting, including two officers.

Raising Sweet Potatoes

The Tavares Herald says that St. Clair Abrams has gone into the potato business on an extensive scale. The Herald says that up to this date he has planted 105,000 slips. If these do well the potatoes raised will greatly help to reduce the h. c. of L. and the Major will have justly earned his title.—Arcadia News.

More Good Roads

Bartow, June 1.—With the passage of $15,000 bonds for the Auburndale special road district, the issue of bonds for hard surfaced roads in Polk county reach a total of $1,975,000. Out of this fund there have been constructed 299 miles of short county roads connecting with main roads, which gives this county one of the best systems in the state.

Lyric Tonight

It is an unusual and thoroughly charming story that is told in "Moral Courage," the new World Picture Brady Made which will be seen on tonight at the Lyric Theatre. It tells of the manner in which a canny Scotch lassie who works as a "hand" in the Connecticut mill owned by old Joshua Anson, marries Anson's son, Chadwick, and then when his father disinherits him wins a fortune in a striking and unexpected manner. Many of the scenes were taken in one of the biggest Connecticut mills and they are notable for the beauty and exceptional news interest. The story itself is a thoroughly charming one and is altogether different from the ordinary story of factory life. It is a consistently pleasing tale without a single discordant note in it. Muriel Ostreich plays the role of the girl and invests her characterization with an unforgettable charm. Arthur Ashley plays the hero in a stalwart, manly manner to win him many new friends. Romaine Field directed the production and his direction was little less than inspired. See "Moral Courage" and see one of the most delightful attractions that has ever been filmed.

Ice cream social at Geneva Town Hall tonight. Good road all the way.

Grand Jury Presentment

In Circuit Court, Seventh Judicial Circuit in and for Seminole Co., Florida, Spring Term A. D. 1917. To the Hon. James W. Perkins, Judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, in and for Seminole County, Florida.

We, the Grand Jury empanelled and sworn for the spring term of the Circuit Court in and for the county of Seminole, state of Florida, for the year A. D. 1917, beg to report to this Honorable Court that we have examined witnesses, considered testimony and found eleven true bills finding bills in all cases where the evidence warranted. We further make the following general presentment: We make the following recommendations in regard to roads: We recommend that the stumps be grubbed, bridges repaired and roadway thrown up from intersection of brick road on Sanford ave-

LEGISLATURE LAST GASP CLOSES TODAY AT NOON AN EXPENSIVE BODY

APPROPRIATIONS WILL MAKE TAX LEVY OF TEN MILLS

Tallahassee, June 1.—The legislature is today grinding out the last legislation to be written on the statute books of Florida until 1919, unless a special session is called, for tomorrow after 60 days of continuous session the general assembly will adjourn sine die at noon.

With its ending the 1917 legislature will go down into history as perhaps the most expensive in the history of the state, and the probabilities are that there will be a 10 mill levy as a result of the heavy drafts on the state's revenues.

The general appropriations run several hundred thousand dollars above the appropriations of the last session, and still the special appropriation of $350,000 for citrus canker, an appropriation for a state marketing bureau and several other authorized are not included.

With less than 24 hours remaining in which to work, if the last few hours of the session were not given over to foolishness as is sometimes the case, both houses have many bills on the calendar with no chance for passage. The assembly is supposed to adjourn at noon, and when the noon hour arrives, unless the clock is continued to be turned back until all of the very necessary and most important legislation is put through, these bills will be left to die like many of the same character and nature have been left to die on the calendars of preceding legislatures. It is not expected that any general bills of real importance will die. According to Speaker Hardee, who has checked up the many bills which have found their way into the house, 1,700 have been introduced in this end and of the assembly and it is probable that about half that many were introduced in the senate though many were duplications.

In spite of the fact that the general impression before the convening of the assembly was that it would be a session noted for its economy and job-slashing, many new commissions have been created and more appointments have been placed at the disposal of the governor.

Among the bills still hanging fire is one by Senator Farris, providing for the placing of one more justice on the supreme bench, making the maximum number authorized by the constitution. It is regarded today that there is little chance of its being brought up before the session closes, since the senate yesterday afternoon refused to waive the rules and take the bill up out of its regular order. Had this bill passed it is the belief in political circles that Attorney General Thomas F. West would have been justice, and W. W. Flournoy of DeFuniak Springs, chief counsel for Governor Catts in the famous contest cases prior to his election, would be made attorney general.

By adopting the McLeod substitute for the Seals bill, and the agreement of the house last night to accept the substitute, the legislature carries out a pledge of the Governor made to the people of Florida prior to his election that there would be no closed institutions, secular, religious or otherwise. Under the measure, which is sure to be signed by the Governor, all such institutions are made subject to public inspection.

Members of the house and senate will tonight present their respective presiding officers with handsome presents as tokens of appreciation of their faithful and efficient services as Speaker and President. Appropriate ceremonies will be conducted in both ends of the capital. Attaches of both houses will also present the presiding officer with fine tokens of friendship and appreciation.

Mrs. J. H. Overman of Tampa is spending a few days in the city, the guest of friends. Mrs. Overman is on her way to her old home in Kentucky where she will spend the summer. Her many friends here will be glad to learn that she has entirely recovered from her accident that placed her in the hospital for so many months.

Union meeting of the young people of the city Friday, June 1st at 7:30, with the Presbyterian C. E. to hear Miss Price present the claims of the S. S. to the Young Peoples Societies.

Report on the Jail and Court House

We, the Grand Jury, beg to report that we have examined the jail and that we have found it as good and clean condition as it is possible to make the building. The light and ventilation of that building is defective and cannot be made any better. The windows on the south side are evidently very dangerous and might easily become a menace, and we cannot see any way to remove it, while the vacant lot on the south remains the property of some one else, therefore we recommend the purchase of same other lot and that a jail be built which will be a credit to the citizens of our county. We recommend that a locker be put in the building for the use of the jailor. We have made inspection of the court house and find same in good condition. On account of poor ventilation and small size of room now being used as Grand Jury room we recommend that the room located at the northwest corner of third floor of court house be put in shape for the use of future Grand Juries. We recommend that the Superintendent of Education have President Wilson's message on "American Democracy" read and explain to the pupils of our public schools until they learn the great difference between our liberal democratic form of government and the despotic government of some of the nations of Europe. We think this should be done in every school of our land and country. In regard to the Poor Farm We have made inspection of poor farm and found everything in first class condition. The house is clean, windows screened, farm growing different kinds of vegetables which will be of benefit to the inmates. Some of the glasses in the windows are broken and need repairing. We recommend that a well be driven by the back porch to supply water for house, as the well now there is too far from house to be of benefit, and we also recommend that bath tub be installed. And we recommend further that the house that is occupied by the inmates be found in good health and contented with conditions. We further submit the following resolutions: Resolved, That we, the grand jurors, to the Hon. James W. Perkins extend our appreciation for the courteous treatment and consideration shown us by him. To the Hon. Joseph H. Jones we extend our commendation and hearty appreciation for the manner in which the work has been handled and information presented to this body, and we would like to see these honorable gentlemen retained in office for the term which they were elected. To the sheriff, E. E. Brady, and his deputies, we extend our appreciation and thanks for the efficiency shown and for the manner in which the sheriff and his deputies execute the duties of the office. And now, having concluded our work, we beg to be discharged for the term. Robert B. Smith, Foreman. Wm. C. DeCoursey, Clerk.

"IS ANY GIRL SAFE" : Lyric Theatre : TONIGHT

Among The Theatres

"Vera the Medium"
Kitty Gordon, the incomparable British beauty who has graced so many sumptuous musical comedies and other stage productions will be seen on the screen of the Star Theatre on Thursday in an adaptation of Richard Harding Davis' story, "Vera the Medium."

This is not Miss Gordon's first appearance, but in comparison with her former production it is said to present this famous beauty for the first time in the role that gives her a full opportunity to make the most of her talents as an actress. In addition to wearing one magnificent gown after another, Miss Gordon portrays an intensely dramatic character and in a fashion that proves her not only a great beauty but an emotional actress of extraordinary gifts.

"Is Any Girl Safe?"
One of the most impressive productions ever screened in New York was shown for the first time in Maxine Elliott's Theatre yesterday. It is "Is Any Girl Safe?" and—just as it is advertised—"it is a fearless arraignment of a monstrous evil." The picture conveys a great moral lesson without the objectionable features of many similar productions, and in addition it is perfect in an artistic sense.—N. Y. American.
Lyric Tonight.

Pauline Frederick in "Her Better Self" Friday at the Star
When asked whether she enjoyed the filming of her latest Famous Players Paramount picture, "Her Better Self," Pauline Frederick replied that it was "the best ever." She called the wild auto ride in the last part where she rushes to save her lover, unjustly accused of murder one of the most thrilling experiences of her life. "They wanted to 'double' me and let a professional driver do this ride for me," she continued, "but that was one time when I wanted the fun myself—and got it," she added, with the famous Frederick smile. "Her Better Self" will be the attraction at the Star Theatre Friday.

"Is Any Girl Safe?"—A Cry Against Vice
The large holiday audience that fought its way into Maxine Elliott's Theatre last night to witness the sensational motion picture, "Is Any Girl Safe?" were undoubtedly thrilled to the core. Mothers departed with a prayer of thankfulness that their daughters had escaped the lot which had dragged other mothers' daughters to the lowest depths this side of Hades. What is done by Harriet Ward Beecher's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in the way of exposing black slavery can be duplicated by this picture in making the American public wake up to the plain ugly truth of white slavery. "Is Any Girl Safe?" is to white slavery what "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was to black slavery.

There is nothing overdrawn about "Is Any Girl Safe?" This picture is not merely a story; it is a sort of picturized editorial and sermon rolled into one, and it really ought to accomplish a great deal of good.—N. Y. American; Lyric Tonight.

"Her Hidden Children"
Stars of equal prominence in "The Hidden Children," the Metro-Yorke screen version of Robert W. Chambers' novel of the same name, are Harold Lockwood and May Allison, who have already been seen on the Metro program in "The Promise," "Pidgin Island," "The River of Romance," "Big Tremaine," "Mister 44," and other productions.

Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison represent the best type of young American screen stars. Both were born and educated in this country and have received America's stamp of approval for their work.

May Allison is a southern girl, a native of Georgia. Educated at Cleveland, Tenn., and in Philadelphia, she went to New York to become an opera singer, but turned to the speaking stage instead, and soon was playing with such stars as De Wolf Hopper in "Miss Caprice" and understudying Ina Claire in "The Quaker Girl."

Motion pictures offered her a wider scope for her work, and she was first seen in "David Harum," a screen version of the famous novel. Here she first met Harold Lockwood.

Harold Lockwood spent his early years in Brooklyn, on Newark, N. J., and in Norwalk, Conn., attending school in the last named two places.

His family settled in New York and it was in that city that he gained his first motion picture experience. After supporting Mary Pickford and Marguerite Clark he became a star in his own right and then joined forces with Miss Allison. The stage proved an irresistible lure to the boy and time has proved that his choice was a wise one.

Harold Lockwood laid a good foundation for his later success by experience in musical comedy, stock work and vaudeville. He played in "Mephisto" and with Otis Harlan in "The Broken Idol," and then, adopting a screen career, appeared first with Nestor in 1910, in 1912 joining Nymf. With Famous Players he appeared in "Tess of the Storm Country," "Wildflower" and "Hearts Adrift" and going to the American-Mutual, where he was co-starred with May Allison, he appeared in "The Lure of the Mask," "The Buzzard's Shadow," "The Turn of the Road," "Life's Blind Alley" and other productions, and there was built up that stellar combination of Lockwood and Allison which has proved to be such a favorite with the picture going world.

Little Girl Earns 'Salary of Bank President'

Ever since Gladys Hulette can remember she has been an actress. When she was three years old she first saw the foot lights and liked them. A tiny part in a tiny production gave her a chance to run across the stage. She was cute and the audience applauded. Gladys turned and curtsied and fled into the wings. Immediately she made up her mind to become an actress, and nothing could stop her. Today, one of the youngest favorites of the screen she is earning the salary of a bank president at the age of eighteen. She has her own home and her own automobile paid for by her own money.

This might lead to the conclusion that she is a spoiled little girl but she isn't. She has been before the public on stage and screen ever since that childhood debut, but she is not the least spoiled by it.

Miss Hulette's first professional appearance was with DeWolf Hopper in "Wang." She was one of the kiddies. Then she played child parts with Bertha Kalich in "The Kreuzer Sonata" and with Nazimova in "The Doll's House." She was the original Tytyl in the New Theatre's production of "The Blue Bird."

She has been in moving pictures nearly eight years, and she still is a mere child. Before she was signed by Edwin Thanhouser, by whom she is now being starred in productions released through Pathe, she was with Edison and later with Vitagraph.

Miss Hulette is a daring horsewoman and an excellent swimmer. Her latest Pathe Gold Rooster play is "Her New York," which is to be the feature at the Lyric Theatre Wednesday.

Moral Courage at Lyric Theatre Friday Will Draw Strongly

Muriel Ostriche in Moral Courage is specially alluring and great at the Lyric Friday.

When a plot contains the elements of a poor mill girl, sought by the owner's own son, with the owner bribing a villain to betray the girl, you naturally expect class hatred and playing up of the "popular" conceptions of such situations. Instead, here is fine acting and one of the cleanest plays.

Joshua Allen (Edward Elkas) is a miserly mill owner who has lived only for his son, Chadwick (Arthur Ashley), whom he hopes to see marry a "society" girl. Chadwick, however, falls in love with a pretty mill girl, Mary MacClinton (Muriel Ostriche).

Angus MacClinton (Robert Forsyth), being a thrifty Scot, has picked out a mate for Mary, and, dodging this bore, Mary slips out with Chadwick and goes skating with the merry throng. News of this travels fast and both parents object. Angus thinking the boy is merely trifling with his daughter, Joshua not wishing his son to waste his time on a poor mill girl, especially in his own mill. So Joshua "frames up" Mary. Thugs are employed. An attempt is made to drug her in an unfrequented inn. Mary sees in a mirror the drug poured into her cup and gives the thugs a neat slip, marries Chadwick and they return to beg forgiveness. Joshua offers $100,000 to divorce Chadwick immediately. She accepts, goes to Reno, comes back with her papers, and with the $100,000 in cash, defies Joshua to bring further pressure to bear, calling his attention to the fact that his agreement did not require her to remarry. The old man decides he is glad his son has such a clever wife.

Daily Thought.
This seems to me a great truth, in any exile or chaos whatsoever, that sorrow was not given us for sorrow's sake, but always and infallibly as a lesson to us from which we are to learn somewhat; and which, the somewhat, once learned, ceases to be sorrow.—Thomas Carlyle.

About Coats for Springtime.

Blue broadcloth is used to develop this stylish spring coat, which is trimmed with a straight belt with square pocket, convertible collar and deep turn-back cuffs for the sleeves.

All of the new coats for spring are full of line, although they vary in length. The best models also have collars that may be rolled high or worn low. The design pictured today is made of blue broadcloth and has a straight belt with a square pocket.

Mapping the United States.

Beginning nearly forty years ago to construct accurate topographic and geologic maps of both the known and the unexplored regions of the United States, the United States geological survey has steadily progressed with this part of its work until topographic maps of 40 per cent of the country are now published, besides maps for large areas in Alaska and Hawaii. Extensive areas have also been covered by geologic maps, and all the work from the beginning of the field survey to the printing of the finished map is done by this government bureau. Other activities of the survey are the classification of public lands, the annual collection of mineral statistics of the United States and investigations of the nation's water resource, all involving the publication of scientific and technical reports containing over 200,000 pages annually.

During the last thirty years over $15,000,000 has been spent by the geological survey in geologic and topographic surveys in the United States.

Seeing Distances.

About 200 miles in every direction is the distance a man can see when standing on a clear day on the peak of the highest mountain—say at a height of 20,000 feet; a little over five miles above the level of the sea. An observer must be at a height of 6,000 feet above sea level to see objects at a distance of a hundred miles. The distance in miles at which an object upon the surface of the earth is visible is equal to the square root of one and one-half times the height of the observer in feet above sea level. Some allowance has to be made for the effect of atmospheric refraction, but as the refraction varies at different heights and is affected by the various states of the weather no precisely accurate figures for general purposes can be given. Probably from one-fourteenth to one-tenth of the distance given by the formula would have to be deducted owing to the refraction of the atmosphere.

Caustic Criticism.

A young New York man, a member of one of the first families as far as wealth is concerned, had been in the habit of writing poems, which, unable to dispose of, he managed to get printed in certain publications by paying therefor at advertising rates. He attended a social gathering at which a cynical old fellow named Timble, who despised the would-be poet, knowing of his manner of obtaining publicity, chanced to be present. The rich young man lost no chance of referring to his "works," and finally remarked, ostentatiously, that he was born on the same day that Washington Irving died.

"Both of which occurrences," snapped old Timble, "have had a very depressing effect upon American literature."

"Ma," said little Harry, "I'll tell you what you ought to do."
"What, dear?" his mother asked.
"You ought to go over to live in some country where the people are Mohammedans."

"What on earth ever put such a thought as that into your dear head, darling?"
"Cause over there they think all fat women are beautiful."

"Harry, if you dare to open your mouth again this evening you will be sent to bed with nothing to eat!"
Chicago Herald.

Nonsinkable Safes For Ships.

Nonsinkable safes are placed that they will rise to the surface as soon as a ship sinks are the invention of Menotti Nanni. The Popular Science Monthly in describing them tells of the hundreds of millions of dollars now at the bottom of the sea that might have been saved by their use.

A Housewarming.

"I want a dress to put on around the house," said the lady in the department store.
"How large is your house, madam?" inquired the fresh clerk.

Sure Cure.

Patient—What would you recommend for somnambulism? Doctor—Well, as a last resort you might try insomnia.—Indianapolis Star.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Helping Digestion.
Many persons dread to eat what is ordinarily considered a good dinner for fear of the resulting after effects. Foods that are well masticated and eaten slowly are not apt to cause indigestion, particularly if an acid dessert is taken at the end of the meal instead of a sweet dessert. Puddings and pies are sweet and not well digested by persons disposed to have dyspepsia. Too frequently the dessert is hurriedly eaten and not well masticated. This neglect makes such substances of greater indigestibility.
The belching, swelling and full feeling so frequently complained of after meals will be cured and prevented by eating acid fruits for dessert. Apples, apricots, peaches, pears, oranges and grapes are excellent for this purpose. Pineapples are excellent too. The gastric juice (in the stomach) normally contains about 2 per cent hydrochloric acid. If this acid is insufficient for any reason of ill health digestion is interfered with. So it is therefore easy to aid digestion by eating acid fruits.

The Wrong Word.

"Oh, come! Stop borrowing trouble."
"Borrowing! Gee whiz, man, trouble isn't like money! When I borrow money I can forget about it right away."—Boston Transcript.

His Grouchy Opinion.

"The office should seek the man."
"And the girls aren't hanging back either these days."—Kansas City Journal.

A Race at the Aero Club

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

Down at Wellington they've got the aeroplane craze. There's a concern that has made a machine with a lot of safety appliances that is especially fitted for amateur aeronauts. The women have taken up the fad the same as the men. They've organized a club, with first rate starting grounds, and, although it's all brand new, there are a dozen members who own their machines, and in good weather some of them are flying all the while. Those who haven't aeroplanes sit on the clubhouse porch with opera glasses in their hands watching the fliers and flirting.

A race between two individuals, Beverly Yorke and Jim Springer, took place not long ago, on which there was a lot of money placed. It wasn't a fair race, but there was nothing that came within the rules as being foul.

A 200 mile course was laid out, starting from the clubhouse. It first went to Arlington, then south to Jonesville, then southeast to Merryman, then northeast to Hilton, then straight west to Barrington, then to the clubhouse. The fliers were to go over a certain church spire in each town, except Jonesville, where there was a big factory, and they were to pass above the 200 foot chimney that belonged to it. Yorke was to start westward and Springer eastward. The one who got back to the clubhouse first was to be declared the winner. As the fliers observing all the rules, this was secured by a club member being stationed at the different points they were to pass over.

The machines, being merely for pleasure, were not especially powerful. There were machines with strong engines in the club, but this race was limited to the pleasure class. It wasn't expected that the race would be made in less than three hours. At 10 o'clock the club grounds were full of members and guests to see the race, and a number of machines were flying about, dashing hither and thither, rising, ducking and doing different stunts.

One of these belonged to Kate Winterton, who in the air topped every other woman member for flying and an terra firma topped them all for flirting. She had every man in the club by the ears, and it was generally conceded that when she undertook to bring a man to his narrowness he might as well come down at once.

Yorke was the favorite at odds of five to four. At least these were the odds up to the day before the race. But that night they suddenly changed to two to one on Springer. The queer thing about it was that no one could find out why this change should have come about. There were rumors about Yorke not being in a condition to race, or his machine having been found wanting in some particular, but they were nothing but rumors and were looked upon as mere jockeying for odds.

At 11 o'clock the two machines were felled out on the starting grounds, the one pointed west, the other east. The racers took their seats, and half a dozen men did the starting for each machine at the same moment. As they rose the aeroplanes that were tilting about to see the fun started off in different directions, either to intercept the racers or to take some central point where they hoped to keep the machines in sight by means of glasses.

Kate Winterton's last victim was Jim Springer. She had been seen on the clubhouse porch during the evening before the race spooning with him, and it was expected by their observers that she would keep in touch with him in the contest to encourage him. But in this they were disappointed. She followed neither of the fliers, hovering over the club grounds and by signs communicating with those below how the race was going. When the racers had been out a couple of hours she was seen to fly away in the direction of Merryman and was soon out of sight.

When she came within seeing distance of the fliers they had met and Yorke had passed the halfway point greatly ahead of Springer. Kate made a bee line for Yorke, who had started westward and was nearing Hilton. He had met his opponent so far ahead of the point he should have been and felt so certain of winning that he was not pressing his machine. Kate called up within hearing distance.

"Oh, Mr. Yorke," she called, "I'm so glad!"

"Glad about what?"

"You're going to win."

"That's very nice of you."

They sailed along in company for awhile when something seemed to go wrong with Kate's machine. It careened first on one side, then on the other.

"I'm afraid I'm going to fall!" she cried in a voice of terror, and, true enough, she went down rapidly till she struck the earth, but managed her machine so well that there was no absolute drop. Yorke was too much of a man to leave her in distress and followed her, finding her lying on the ground beside her machine in a state of collapse.

Well, to make a long story short, Kate kept him ministering to injuries that were not serious till he had lost the race. But he came out ahead in the game of love if he lost the race. He refused to say a word about what Kate confessed was a frame up, remunerating those who had lost money backing him and otherwise showing that he was a thoroughbred. This won over Kate, and instead of Yorke tumbling to her she tumbled to him.

Here's Jim Thorpe, Indian Athlete, All Set, Ready to Swing at Fast One

WHEN it was announced that Jim Thorpe had been bought by the Cincinnati Reds it meant another shift for the great Indian athlete. Since throwing up his prizes and becoming a professional ball player Thorpe has been on four different clubs. With the Reds he will have a much better chance than he would in New York working as a substitute. Evidently Matty thinks well of Thorpe—either that or McGraw thought so well of him that he tipped his old pitcher off. The players say that Thorpe ought to be a wonder on some club where he could get a chance to be in the regular batting order.

Story of a Dress Model

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

Something—I don't know what—always caused me to doubt that my mother was my real mother. Perhaps it was an indistinct memory of other scenes, when I was a tiny girl, that my shabby home that first put the idea into my head.

The fancy that I was born a lady was enhanced when I became seven-year-old by being dressed like one. My mother had by this time forced me to earn money, and I did so by being a model for the showing of clothes at a department store. The first costume I put on was a stylish morning dress. When I stepped before a mirror I was astonished.

But it was not until I put on a ball dress, decked out with paste jewelry, that I realized that I had been born a gentleman. A member of the firm on seeing me in this costume asked me about my antecedents, and when I told him that I had been lowly born he said that he didn't believe it. "Some necessity of yours," he said, "was a shining light in an upper circle."

Of course all these matters tended to confirm me in the belief that I had been taken from my proper surroundings, but there was no one to give me any information about myself except my mother, and I could not bring myself to ask my questions.

One day I was informed that the firm desired me to show an especially artistic creation in a ball dress gown for the movies. I declined at first. I presume it was a repulsion against showing myself to the gaze of the crowds as a model, but I was offered so large an amount in payment that I consented. I was photographed in a garden amid a multitude of beautiful flowers. My photographs had not been on exhibition long when one day, while at my place of employment, I was sent for, to go to the private office of the head of the firm. On reaching it I found beside my employer a young man apparently the same age as myself, and it seemed to me that he was myself dressed in men's clothes. At any rate his face was the very counterpart of mine. Taking from his pocket a photograph he showed it to my employer, who in turn passed it to me. It was the reproduction of a full length portrait of myself in full dress, though I did not remember to have ever worn that particular costume.

"What is this?" I asked, puzzled. "I have never been photographed in this costume."

"It is a photograph of a portrait of my mother when she was a girl. I verily believe that you are her daughter, and if you are her daughter you are my sister."

Then he began to question me as to my past life, but I could only tell him that I had lived with a woman who I did not believe was my mother and that she had forced me to earn my living, which I had done as a dress model. He told me that he had seen my picture on the screen and had been struck with my resemblance to the painting of his mother. He, too, had lived with a family with whom he had nothing in common. When he was fifteen years old he had run away from these people, but afterward they had found him and taken him to his present home, where he had been received by his grandfather and acknowledged as such. No explanation had been made to him of his having been placed with those who had brought him up except that his mother had married against her father's will.

The young man insisted upon my going home with him to his grandfather. I had on a becoming street costume and wore it to a handsome dwelling, where I was confronted by an aristocratic looking old gentleman who the moment he saw me showed an intense interest in me. He led me to the portrait of the photograph of which I had seen and after looking from me to it and from it to me several times he took me in his arms and kissed me.

"Your mother," he said, "was the pride of my heart. I designed her for a marriage involving either great wealth or a title, or both. She married a struggling artist, and I cast her off. What because of her I did not know till your brother here was returned to me not long ago from the family with whom his mother had placed him. He did not know, or at least he did not tell me, that there was another child, a girl, who was placed elsewhere. These persons were undoubtedly paid for the keep of the brother and the sister, but I do not know by whom. We will try to confirm what I say, and if you are my daughter's child—and I have no doubt that you are—your home will be with me in the future."

My supposed mother gave an account of my coming to her which I did not wish. My mother had died when I was a baby, and my father had placed me with my foster mother, paying her for keeping me. He died just before I began to earn my own living, and his reluctance ceased. At his death my brother's foster father found our grandfather and returned the boy to him.

We were all happy at the clearing up of the mystery, though our grandfather lived in continued regret at his treatment of his daughter. My brother and I believe that we are twins, though we have never been able to prove this. One thing in our peculiar experience in patent—the movies are excellent means of communication in a line covered by newspaper persons.

Rattling Windows. In some houses the windows have an unpleasant habit of rattling at all times of the day and night when there is the least wind. In such a case an ordinary clothespin is most effective. It must be split in half and one half inserted on each side between the framework and the window or between the panes. A good plan is to paint the clothespin the same color as the window frame and secure the pieces by a cord and screw to the frame so that they will be in readiness when needed.

A Problem. "That is my hired man asleep up there in the crotch of that oak tree," said honest Farmer Hornbeak. "You are entitled to one guess as to whether he clumb up there to slumber or went to sleep on the ground on top of an acorn which grew up with him."—Kansas City Star.

A Cent. The habit of calling the cent piece of our American coinage a "penny" is utterly without foundation or excuse. We have no penny in our coinage. At one time half cent pieces were coined, but now the unit is a cent, the hundredth part of a dollar.

Wonderful. In the art department a few days ago one of the students drew the picture of a hen so lifelike that when she threw it into the waste basket it laid there.—Liverpool Post.

Give Her Time. Mother—I hope you do not allow him to kiss you as yet. Daughter—I cannot break him of all his foolish habits in a month, can I?—Life.

Brain Trouble. "Cholly has brain trouble." "Is that so? What kind?" "It troubles him to think."—Boston Transcript.

We have no right to say that any good work is too hard for us to do.

Fragrant Fern.

Some say it has the fragrance of new mown hay. It reminds others of fresh strawberries. There are also those who detect in it the perfume of the wild rose. Opinions differ as to what the fragrance resembles, but all opinions are unanimous in praising it. So they call it the fragrant fern.

It grows in small, round clumps in clefts on the face of a precipice, out of reach of collectors, who haven't the patience to hunt for it. For this reason it is not well known. Its out of the way haunts provide an effectual hiding place.

The hardness of the fragrant fern surprises the amateur collector. It grows in full glare of the sun, in places where more common ferns would be scorched and withered. Yet the fronds remain green throughout the year, and even the year-old fronds which turn brown at the end of the season, curl up around the roots of the plant and cling to the rocks.—Philadelphia North American.

Tact and Success. Tact is a combination of good temper, ready wit, quickness of perception and ability to take in the exigency of the occasion instantly. It is never offensive, but is a balm allaying suspicion and soothing. It is appreciated. It is plausible without being dishonest, apparently consults the welfare of the second party and does not manifest any selfishness. It is never antagonistic, never opposes, never strokes the hair the wrong way and never irritates. Tact, like a fine manner, eases the way, takes the jar out of the joints, oils the bearings, opens doors barred to others, sits in the drawing room when others must wait in the reception-hall, sets into private offices when others are turned down. It admits you into exclusive circles, where wealth abounds, even though poor. It secures the position when merit is turned away. Tact is a great manager. It easily controls people, even when combined with small ability, when genius cannot get along.

A Way the Dutch Have. The Dutch have a delightfully original way of collecting their taxes. If after the notice has been given the money is not sent the authorities place one or two hungry militiamen in the house, to be fed and maintained at the expense of the defaulter until the amount of the tax is paid.

Its Oddity. "There is one thing in a lawyer's profession which is different from any other." "What is that?" "The longer he is at it the more he has of a brief career."—Baltimore American.

In His Line. "He is building an immense artificial mountain on his country estate." "Well, I guess it comes sort of natural for him to put up a bluff."—Puck.

Marital Amenities. "My hand is always in my pocket." "That's just what I'm complaining about. It never comes out."—Exchange.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT

Consumption. A diet of penicils is suggested as a cure for consumption by Dr. Brewer in the Journal of Hygiene. This seems too simple to be true, but Dr. Brewer tells of two young women who had grown sick of cod liver oil and tonics and who were treated by him with salted penicils—all they could eat—combined with inhalations of vinegar.

"One would think this a very indigestible diet," he writes, "but they craved them, and it has always been my policy to find out just what my patients desire to eat, and unless it is too unreasonably I humor them. Both young ladies have become plump and after one year's inhalation have ceased coughing, and I pronounced them cured."

Penicils are recommended also for sleeplessness.

American people are calling for a new national air and it's a wonder that the President doesn't assign Fred Delery or Harry Floyd to write it.—Tampa Times.

It is reported that the farmers of Seminole county are preparing to build ten or more 100-ton silos this season. The most progressive farmers everywhere build silos. There is no a doubt that it pays them to do so.—Arcadia News.

Our good friend Bob Holly, talented editor of the Sanford Herald thinks we've been talking in our sleep. There's "nix" on the sleep business here—concluding in the army of agricultural patriots. Kissimmee Gazette.

Sanford has established a curb market where the farmer can sell his vegetables and produce direct. It started with a whoop. The grocery stores in a small city find the price good line a very poor fit. Usually they welcome these green goods curb markets. Leesburg Commercial.

We might be induced to believe Bob Holly's story of music by the Orlando band killing a mule, but it is hard to swallow his trimness. He says Carl Dean and Clark Robinson were driving the mule. Somebody must have been well-eyed. Must have been on a state mule. Leesburg Commercial.

The editor of the Herald in a letter way shows the hard-ship that farmers have to contend with in spring. Hundreds of dollars in losses. The farmer's struggle is not over and will next be successful as long as the war is on. The Herald.

Newspaper men are now getting some recognition. Senator Trammell has appointed as editor of the Annand National Academy. R. J. Holly of Sanford, son of the editor of the Sanford Herald, and Allen B. Meek of Fort Meade, son of the editor of the Fort Meade Leader.

Bob Holly said something. Sometimes some people talk a great deal but say nothing, and some others write about the same thing, but Bob Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald is not one of them. He has really said something, as witness the following: "I had found stuff. Yes. Spent thousands on road roads. Yes. What is the use when a ten-cent tick ridden cow can get in your field and eat up all your stuff in one night? Or you ruin a thousand dollar car on a ten thousand dollar road by running into a ten-cent, tick ridden cow?"

editor of the Fort Meade Leader. These young men will undoubtedly give splendid accounts of themselves and reflect credit on their esteemed fathers.—Tampa Tribune.

DIXIE IS PEEVED
Charlie Jones is peeved because The Herald gave space to the incident in Tallahassee relating to the firing of Bryan Mack as clerk because he was absent for a day while in Jacksonville enlisting in the army. This article was written by our special Tallahassee correspondent, Andrew Carter, and if his name was not signed to it or if it was signed we take the full responsibility. This paper is not a Catts organ by any means but we give every man a square deal and Bryan Mack should not be censured for doing his duty to his country. Charlie Jones is getting a high temperature over nothing in this case and if he can see no good in anything that is done in Tallahassee he is blind indeed.

BILLIE HILL, SECRETARY
The announcement last week that W. L. Hill of Gainesville would be the private secretary of Senator Fletcher gives great pleasure to the many friends of this estimable young man. W. L. Hill grew to manhood's estate in Gainesville where his father is one of the pioneers. Known far and wide as Billy Hill, he is very popular having travelled the state for years as state agent for various insurance companies and then several years ago taking up the study of law and making good in his chosen profession. Mr. Hill comes to the Senator's assistance with mature years, with a world of experience, with political and business acumen, with plenty of friends in Florida and elsewhere. That W. L. Hill will prove an efficient secretary is an assured fact and in this appointment as in every thing else Senator Fletcher has shown rare judgment and his secretary will prove equally as popular as Mack Cateheart who now takes the position as collector of internal revenue at Jacksonville.

THE BOOSTING GAME
It is a game that is played in every town when the citizens all stand around with their hands in their pockets and indifferently wait for something to turn up. If the capitalists or big business men do not get their share of the wheel and do a little hustling they are sure to get the other side of the wheel. This is the game that is played in every town when the citizens all stand around with their hands in their pockets and indifferently wait for something to turn up. If the capitalists or big business men do not get their share of the wheel and do a little hustling they are sure to get the other side of the wheel. This is the game that is played in every town when the citizens all stand around with their hands in their pockets and indifferently wait for something to turn up.

BOB HOLLY SAID SOMETHING
Sometimes some people talk a great deal but say nothing, and some others write about the same thing, but Bob Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald is not one of them. He has really said something, as witness the following: "I had found stuff. Yes. Spent thousands on road roads. Yes. What is the use when a ten-cent tick ridden cow can get in your field and eat up all your stuff in one night? Or you ruin a thousand dollar car on a ten thousand dollar road by running into a ten-cent, tick ridden cow?"

Beautiful South American Tree.
By far the most beautiful of the trees of Uruguay, South America, is the mimosa. This tree is an evergreen, and grows to a height of about forty feet. Even when not in flower it is very handsome, on account of its lark green fernlike leaves and gray-green trunk. The flowers are like little balls of golden-yellow pollen, and they have a sweet scent. They cover the branches of the tree from top to bottom, and at a distance one would almost say the whole thing was made of gold, or had been transplanted from fairyland.

Wanted Something Different.
A clerk in one of the Waterville stores was endeavoring to sell a book on Bible stories to a small boy, and after she had extolled the beauties of the book, the little fellow looked up and innocently replied, "Yes, I like those books very much, but I have several books by Jesus now and think I would like something else this time."—Portland Evening Express.

Florida's greatest need today is legislators with some backbone, and with no thought of using the legislature as a steppingstone to higher things.—Ocala Banner.

One Tampa firm which has contracts for building two government ships expects to employ fully 1,000 workmen. As many as ten Tampa firms have sites for the building of ships, and Tampa expects to go after the contracts, hoping to secure contracts for at least forty vessels during the year.

ITALIANS RUSH ON WITH VIM

CLAIM MANY PRISONERS—MINOR FIGHTING ON OTHER LINES

Italians have fought their way to within two miles of Duno, the most formidable natural barrier between them and Trieste. The great battle now enters its 18th day without any sign of abatement in fury. Vienna stubbornly refuses to concede the Italian victories but the map tells the story of Gen. Cadorna's steady advance. Duno, at the gates of which the Italian guns are now hammering, marks a point at which the Carson plateau almost touches the sea. Protected by the ocean on one side it is powerfully defended on the north by Mount Querezo, a height of considerable magnitude which dominates the country for miles around. At the foot of Mount Querezo, running west, lies the little town of Medasala, and the Italians have snatched their way to within 100 yards of this. It is possible a full scale battle will occur in the near future.

They are also making considerable gains in the various war zones elsewhere. The Franco-Belgian front operations reveal heavy fighting at a few points, but no marked changes. The Germans continue efforts to gain control of important observation points recently wrested from them by the French in the Champagne. Paris reports the capture of all the German lines in the Champagne region. The French report declared the ground taken by the Germans was captured in a counter attack.

Dispatches from Russia say it is only a few days before the Russian army will be in a position to begin the eleven nation fighting the central power. At the same time the Russian army is reported to have captured a number of German prisoners. The French report declared the ground taken by the Germans was captured in a counter attack.

The battle between the Russian and the German armies is reported to have been a hard fought one. The Russian army is reported to have captured a number of German prisoners.

Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's activities indicate the political situation in that country, but the ability of the minister contradicts the information that also across the border.

American Trade Tempered Copper.
The early Transients, a McKean tribe, once possessed the art, now lost, of tempering copper. One of their legends is that they learned from the Hindu story of Krishna. According to them, Krishna, the Hindu god, assumed an old man's form in a great boat laden with copper. Even the story of the legend is followed, for Krishna went forth first in a culture and then a humbling black and so ascertained that dry land was the best.

TORONADO SWEEPS OVER MIDDLE WEST

MORE THAN HUNDRED KILLED AND MANY WOUNDED

Chicago, May 28.—More than 150 persons were killed, a thousand or more injured and millions of dollars worth of property destroyed by toronados which swept through Kansas on Saturday and parts of Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky and Southern Illinois Sunday. Reports indicate that a large number of farm implements were destroyed. The toronado season during this year was unusually early, although the seasonally wind swept only here and there in its pathful play through the rural regions. Crop damage is said to be not heavy in grains.

The heaviest toll of life was taken at Madison, Ill., a city of 20,000 people, in the toronado country of Central Illinois, where 71 are known to be dead and 500 injured, with a property loss of $2,000,000.

Charleston, Ill., 10 miles east of Mattoon was also partly wrecked Saturday evening with a loss of 36 lives and 150 injured. The property loss there is a million dollars.

Thirteen men without legs were at Avledo, Ky., where 24 were killed and a score injured on Friday. Dublin, Ky., suffered three dead and 17 injured today.

South Dayton, Tenn., suffered 10 deaths and 100 injured in a toronado. Near Wytheville, Ark., 10 persons were reported killed and 12 injured and 200 were injured in Birmingham on Saturday.

Reports from Indiana show at least 75 persons killed at Ellettsville, Xouts and other places, and the death list may reach twenty.

Smaller towns in Illinois lost a dozen dead on Saturday with two score injured, while in the southern part of Illinois wind storms today killed a hundred and injured a score.

How a Regiment Was Saved
By RICHARD WACKLEY
In a little town near the Russian border Colonel Udenoff was encamped with his regiment. There was at the time no enemy very near him, and he sent for his daughter, Sonia, to come from Moscow to visit him. But there might be fighting at any moment. So the colonel wrote his daughter to come with as little baggage as possible and be ready to get back at short notice.

When Sonia came she was escorted by Paul Schumsky, a citizen. "Didn't I write you," said the colonel, "not to bring any useless baggage?" "Yes, papa," "Then what did you bring that wackling for?" "Well, he offered to be my protector, and I—" "Protect! Do you suppose that whippersnapper could protect any one? Why, he'd need a nurse himself." "If he needs one I'll take care of him." The very next day the colonel's attention was diverted from Schumsky to an attack of the enemy. He had barely time to tell his daughter to get back to Moscow as fast as possible when he was called upon to head his regiment in battle.

The Russian position was on a low ridge that rose above the surrounding country. The toronados were in the air.

began to make a pair of pliers of themselves, their favorite strategy, driving in the Russian flanks. When they had their enemy in the shape of a horseshoe they proceeded to drive in the heels and soon cut off the Russian communications. Colonel Udenoff, realizing that unless he could be reinforced his command would be captured, was in despair. He sent several officers to the rear to beg for succor, but none of them got through. When he was meditating surrender he was told that a man in citizen's dress had come from the rear and desired to speak with him. Then who should appear but Paul Schumsky, his clothes half torn off his back, dirty, begrimed with powder and blood.

"What's that?" cried the colonel. "How did you get through?" "I'm on my way." "With a message?" "Yes, colonel." "A promise of re-enforcements?" "No, colonel." "Then what in thunder is it?" "I proposed marriage to your daughter, and she referred me to you."

A group of officers standing about broke into a laugh. The colonel looked as if he didn't know whether to laugh or to cut the citizen down with his sword. Presently an idea struck him. "Come you have come through, may be you can go back."

"I can try." "Well, go back and send me re-enforcements. If you succeed you shall have my daughter."

Scarcely had the words been spoken when Schumsky betook himself to the rear so rapidly that it occurred to those viewing him that his legs were a great advantage to him. Being on an eminence they could see him at a great distance. A German horseman saw him and gave chase. The ground was rough, and Schumsky was a better runner than the horse. Then he sprang on a hole, fell, popping at him on both sides. He fell, but got up and went on, this time with a limp. The horse started for him, but he led them into a strip of timber, emerging on the other side, while they remained in the wood. Again he fell, and when he arose he limped some more. Finally he disappeared from view in the distance and was not seen again.

The colonel, who had been watching him through a pair of glasses, lowered them and muttered: "If he gets us succor he can have Sonia, and I'll give him a dozen other daughters if I had them. Think heaven, night is coming on! The enemy can't drive us to the wall before morning."

Soon after daylight the sound of firing was heard in the Russian rear, and after awhile a force was seen constituting a wedge that was driving apart the backs of the German horseshoe. The approaching line advanced rapidly, and the colonel, mounting his horse, rode to meet it. There he found the officer in command, who was being piloted by Paul Schumsky. Paul cut a ridiculous figure. He wore a dirty hat, a tattered coat and spats over his shoes.

"I've won her, colonel!" he said enthusiastically, waving his hat. The colonel gave him a look of mingled admiration, contempt and gratitude.

"Yes, you've won," he said in a snarling tone, "but go and get off that torgery and put yourself into a uniform before I go back on my word." With that he turned to the officer commanding the re-enforcements for consultation. The result was that the Germans were driven off and Colonel Udenoff's regiment was saved from capture.

Before the colonel would permit the marriage between Schumsky and his daughter Schumsky was forced to enlist and was soon after promoted to a commission. It seems that Sonia, who had been bothered with his begging her to say yes, in order to get rid of him, had told him to go ask her father, never dreaming that he would do so. However, her father would not hear of her going back on her word, and she finally willingly married the man who had saved the regiment.

Corn and Water.
To those engaged in the handling of grain the natural shrinkage of shelled corn while in storage and in transit is a matter of prime importance and often a source of dispute because of shortage reported at time of receipt at warehouse and a further loss at date of final sale. In order to determine the amount of shrinkage or loss of weight occurring in corn the department of agriculture conducted an experiment with 500 bushels of shelled corn. At the time of storage the moisture content was 18.8 per cent and at the close of the test 14.7 per cent, or a loss of 4.1 per cent. The weight per bushel had decreased from 54.7 pounds to 52.0 pounds, and the total loss of weight was 1,570 pounds, or slightly more than 7 per cent.

Says the Sun Didn't Stand Still
Joshua's command to the sun and moon to "stand still" only meant that they should be "eclipsed," according to Dr. Thomas Dick Wilson, professor of Hebrew at Princeton Theological Seminary. The word usually translated "stand still" in the Bible is the Hebrew "dagan," said Dr. Wilson, which really means "eclipse." "When my students come to me and ask me why I doubt as to the possibility of the sun and moon standing still, I refer them to the question of Joshua 10:12-14," said Dr. Wilson, "and the fact that the sun and moon stood still for a day and a night." PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.
Cleaning the Teeth.
A clean tooth never decays.
The best way to clean the teeth is to place the bristles of the brush firmly against the teeth and with a rotary or vibratory motion go up and down the surface of the upper and lower teeth both inside and out and up on the gums. Go also behind the teeth. After seeing that every bit of the surface of the teeth has been cleaned in this way rinse the mouth thoroughly, forcing the water between the teeth several times to loosen any food particles. Do this more than once and always spit it out. To keep the teeth as clean as they should be kept in order to preserve them and prevent decay it is necessary to wash them after each meal so as to remove all food particles. They should also be washed the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. It is well to have more than one brush on hand at a time, so that it will never be necessary to use a wet one.

Parentheses and Brackets.
Know all writers, compositors and proofreaders by these presents: Marks of parenthesis (which are frequently required) are not to be confounded with brackets [Hear! Hear!], which serve a different purpose. The use of one for the other [vide almost any newspaper page] is extremely sloppy newspaper pounce and is highly reprehensible. It is a mark of familiarity with, or indifference to, the technique of writing. [Applause.]—Chicago Tribune.

He's Dead Right.
A witty Frenchman said: "Only death is an excuse for not keeping a dinner engagement, and even then a polite man would send the undertaker to apologize for him."

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND FAITH, "HELL PRENT 'EM" SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

I note by the papers that Turnbull county has been turned down by the Legislature and will not come up again. Now when you come to think about it the name must have had something to do with it and yet the name fits the county, the representatives, the senator and the legislature generally and the county should have been elected on general principles.

T-U-R-N-B-U-L-L, yes, good name, don't you think?

The city market may not suit those who have been making a good thing out of country produce, heretofore, but it suits the producer and the consumer and is growing more popular all the time. The people are the ones we are looking after and this war is going to cut out a lot of "middlemen" before it is over.

There should be no argument about selling or giving cigarettes to minors, for it matters not what our opinions may be as to the effect cigarettes may have upon our youth, so long as the law says "thou shalt not." The law sets aside opinions until opinions set aside the law.

Probation Officer Lanier of Jacksonville, in speaking of our boys and cigarettes, says:

"Ninety per cent of the boys before the juvenile courts in this and other cities are users of cigarettes, according to the records of these courts, and all probation officers find that boys addicted to the cigarette habit are weak both mentally and physically and do not respond or make good on probation as easily as boys who are not users of cigarettes, because the habit has weakened them both in physical stamina and will power to do what they know to be right."

Scientific facts of the injurious effects of the cigarettes are numerous: Hudson Maxim, the noted inventor, says: "The cigarette is a maker of invalids, criminals and fools." Thom as A. Edison, of worldwide fame says the cigarette produces degeneration of the cells of the brain, which is quite rapid among boys, and that he employs no person who smokes cigarettes. A large number of the big manufacturing concerns in the country are refusing to employ men who use cigarettes. Ty Cobb, the greatest of ball players has this to say about the cigarette: "Cigarette smoking stupifies the brain, saps vitality, undermines one's health and lessens the moral fibre of the man."

The following letter was written by Henry Watterson, the famous editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal a short while before the vote was taken on the selective draft bill to Hon. Champ Clark, speaker of the house:

"As an old and steadfast friend, whom you have sometimes honored by calling him your teacher, I am constrained to challenge the vote it is reported you are about to cast upon the army bill. If the war should last long enough to put the issue to actual test, it will surely return to dog your political future and bar your usefulness in public life. Our beloved country never faced a more exigent situation. Congress will make mistakes at the peril of all we hold dear and dear. The volunteer system, like the stage served its purpose in primitive times, but like the stage coach it proved unequal to the expanding needs of modern times. The selective draft system is the contribution which experience offers to intelligence. The talk about Prussianizing our army is the chatter of unreflected demagogues. We must meet organisms with organisms, and fight the enemy with both hands, not with one hand tied behind us. Out here in God's country the people understand the question perfectly. They knew that the volunteer system favors the slacker and the shirker, while the selective draft system is fair to each and every man, but, able all they know that the volunteer system has been a failure wherever tried, and seeking efficiency they prefer the selective draft system, just as seeking speed they would prefer a locomotive to an ox cart. I am distressed that you cannot see your way to this view, but seem about to ally yourself with the policy of obstruction which can only embarrass us and aid the enemy. And it is in due solicitude for our country and sincere affection for you that I venture to intrude this protest."

Editor Hetherington replying to a recent suggestion that some editors seem to write what they think, says:

"No real editor will write just what he thinks, just as no real gentleman will at all times give utterance to many things of which he says nothing. He sees what he knows to be pitiful shortcomings on the part of others; deficiencies, mental or physical; poverty, suffering, misfortune. But, because he is a gentleman, he does not blurt out what he thinks of these things. He does not unnecessarily wound the sensibilities of others by saying things much better left unsaid. And so it is with an editor. He sees the "seamy side" of life. He comes in contact with many of the foibles of humanity. He has many opportunities for holding these foibles up to ridicule, for making more heavy hearts than are already sore. If he has the instincts of a gentleman to start with, newspaper almost invariably makes him charitable, temperate and kind. We do not envy those editors who boast that they write just what they think. In nine cases out of ten they belong to the bully class and are cowards at heart."

ENDORSE DR. COX Want Him Appointed

At the regular meeting of the Orange County Medical Society on Thursday evening, May 24th, the following resolution favoring the appointment of Dr. Wm. H. Cox of Brooksville, as State Health Officer of Florida was passed by unanimous vote.

Whereas, Dr. William H. Cox has announced his intention to make application for appointment as State Health Officer of Florida during the coming administration of the State Board of Health, and

Whereas, we are of the opinion that if appointed he will make the state a most efficient and capable executive; Therefore, be it Resolved, That the Orange County Medical Association in regular session assembled, does hereby endorse the application of Dr. Wm. H. Cox and commend him to the State Board of Health for favorable consideration, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be mailed to each member of the new State Board of Health, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of the society.

Dr. Cox is one of the pioneer physicians of Florida, having graduated in the state of Tennessee in 1893. He was licensed to practice medicine in Florida in 1894, and has been in active practice practically all of the time since graduation.

He is a member of the Florida Medical Association and the Association of surgeons of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company. He has represented the Medical Department of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company for many years past, and is regarded by his associates as one of the most competent railway surgeons on the entire system.

Aside from his professional qualifications, he is a man of strong and pleasing personality, and possesses all of the attributes which go to make up a true, Christian gentleman. He is also endorsed with that peculiar executive tact which is by far the most important asset that a State Health Officer can have. His many friends and admirers predict that the incoming State Board of Health under his executive control will prove to be the most progressive administration that Florida has ever seen.

Where to Register

The Registration Board, consisting of the clerk of the court, E. A. Douglas, the sheriff, E. E. Brady and the county physician, J. T. Denton have announced the registrars for the various precincts and the place where the young men of the ages of 21 to 31, both inclusive, must register on June 5th, 1917. Nothing whatever will excuse any man whose age is between the numbers given for registering on that date, and the penalty for failure to register may be one year in jail—there is no optional fine, and if you are convicted of wilfully neglecting to register then you must serve a sentence—therefore the Herald advises that all people who are subject to registration should register as early on June 5th as is possible to do so.

Remember that you must register in your home voting precinct. Registering places open at 7 a. m. and close at 9 p. m., Tuesday, June 5th, which is next Tuesday.

Following is a list of the precincts where registering will be had, and those appointed as registrars:

- Precinct No. 1, Sanford, H. C. DuBose, office on Park avenue. Registrars, H. C. DuBose, C. C. Woodruff and J. K. Mettinger.
  - Precinct No. 2, Osteen's store, Monroe. Registrar E. A. Osteen.
  - Precinct No. 3, Sanford, City Hall on Palmetto avenue. Registrar E. F. Householder. Seville Mainea, C. F. Lefler, M. D. Gatchel and W. W. Abernathy.
  - Precinct No. 4, Paola, regular voting place. Registrar to be named.
  - Precinct No. 5, Oviedo. L. T. Hunt's office. Registrar, L. T. Hunt.
  - Precinct No. 6, Geneva, post office. Registrar, H. H. Pattishall.
  - Precinct No. 7, Chuluota, D. D. Daniels' store. Registrar, D. D. Daniel.
  - Precinct No. 8, Gabriella, regular voting place. Registrar, S. H. Mathers.
  - Precinct No. 9, Longwood, regular voting place. Registrar, W. R. Healey.
  - Precinct No. 10, Lake Mary, Sjoblom's store. Registrar, A. E. Sjoblom.
  - Precinct No. 11, Altamonte, Fuller's store. Registrar, A. H. Fuller.
- MEN, REMEMBER, if you have attained the age of 21, and have not attained the age of 31 years, then you MUST register.

THE WHITE WAY SPIRIT

Manufacturer Likes Herald Method of Progressiveness

The following letter has been received from the George Cutter Company, manufacturers of the Colony post that has been installed by the Sanford Herald:

R. J. Holly, Editor Sanford Herald: Dear Sir—I just read, with a great deal of interest and pleasure the article on "White Way Lighting," which appeared in The Herald May 8th, 1917. The Electric Appliance Company of New Orleans was kind enough to send us The Herald of that date.

Your serious consideration of a White Way lighting system us in keeping with the spirit of the times. Such a method of lighting the town of Sanford will undoubtedly make for greater civic interest and pride. The town will prosper and the entire community will profit and progress.

Good lighting is synonymous with good living and cleanliness. Good people will avoid dark streets and promenade the light ones, while burglars and crooks of all kinds will flee the well lighted thoroughfares. Good lighting reduces burglary insurance to a minimum.

The Colony post, a sample of which you have installed in front of The Herald office is a popular design and is installed in a great number of towns throughout the country. Tarpon Springs, Florida has a few of them and our reports from there indicate that they are much pleased with their installation.

The attached night scene was taken in Detroit, Michigan and conveys some idea as to the effectiveness of the White Way system of lighting. Sanford will take a long step forward when its people decide to install White Way standards. We hope to be able to assist you in taking this forward step and desire to congratulate you on the spirit of progressiveness which so evidently actuated your article on the 8th.

Yours very truly,
Frank A. Clark.

The Good Work of the Sanford Schools

Mr. Editor: It has been my happy privilege to attend most of the exercises given by the students of the Sanford schools during the past week. It isn't necessary for me to write what I am going to say but it gives me satisfaction to write and this is the reason.

I came from a state which is proud of its educational opportunities and standards of excellence in things educational. It likes to boast of them too. I have also visited for not a little time in another state whose educational standards are high for excellence, hence feel that I may be justified in passing a remark or two upon the work of the Sanford schools.

Permit me to say then, dear sir, that the work done by the Sanford schools, as manifested during the Commencement week, beginning with the Baccalaureate sermon given by Dr. Stephens, May 20th, and ending with the High School Commencement exercises Friday night was of a high order and compares very favorably with the work done in those states which spend millions on their educational institutions and facilities for obtaining the highest results.

The various programs rendered were comprehensive, inspirational, educative and gave ample opportunity to the young people of versatile talent, to display those talents.

The work done by the grades, from the Fifth Grade exercises, with its program, the reading of the honor roll, the presentation of medals for excellence in quality of work, to the exhibit displays in the primary and grammar schools was unusually fine and uniformly good. It was a constant source of surprise and delight to see what the little folks and the larger little folks had accomplished, some of them in a very short period of time. Assuredly the newer methods of instructing the children have much to commend them and have it all over the older methods of teaching.

The children are to be commended for their performance and congratulated on having such a genial, competent teaching corps; and the teachers are to be congratulated on having such fine, versatile groups of children to work with and complimented for the work done, and the school board and citizens are to be congratulated on having both a competent faculty and a clever bunch of students.

The parents who have young people in the schools and who failed to avail themselves of their opportunities, which meant so much to teacher and scholar, not only missed a real pleasure but an inspirational treat.

I shall always appreciate and understand better the splendid work of the public schools because of these hours I was permitted to spend with the Sanford schools this Commencement Week.

J. A. Davidson.

Red Cross Announcement

The regular meeting of the Seminole Branch of the Red Cross will be held at the Woman's Club rooms Thursday, May 31st, at 3 p. m. If you are not a member come and become one.

One Friday evening, June 1st, an ice cream social will be held at Geneva, Fla., to which the people of Sanford are cordially invited.

On June 5th (Registration Day) members of the Red Cross will be in evidence with boxes for contributions and note books in which to enter names of new members. An invitation to join the Red Cross is not necessary. Give your name and membership fee to some member of the Seminole Branch to report to the secretary or hand it in yourself at one of the regular meetings.

The evening of Registration Day there will be a band concert in the Park opposite the Episcopal church and chairs will be furnished at five cents each by the Red Cross Society, through the committee in charge that evening.

Tickets at fifty cents each are still on sale for performances at the Lyric Theatre until June 7th, for the benefit of the Red Cross. Six entrances for 50 cents is less than 10 cents for each person and includes all performances until the date specified. One person may share his ticket with five others or it may be used for a less number as the tickets are punched at each performance for each entrance.

Special Services

Notwithstanding the intense heat of Sunday, fine audiences came together to share in the special services observed in the Congregational church.

In the morning at 11 o'clock a Memorial service was held in honor of the soldier men both living and dead. The church was appropriately decorated for the occasion, the music was fine and suited to the day while the minister gave a sermon on "The Goal" applicable not only to the past but to conditions existing today and to the time when the great democratic ideals of men will be realized.

In the evening the young people of the Sunday school and choir gave a program which was unusually well rendered and was acceptably appreciated by the parents and friends of the young folks who gave in C. R. Walker, the superintendent of the Sunday school presided at this service.

"Long on Short Whistle"

Ask each one of a company of fifty people to rise separately and remain standing for one minute. There will be 50 different records, varying from 10 to 60 seconds. Ask 10 workmen each to bring you a short and a long board, and you will get 20 different lengths of board. These illustrations are used by a railway man to emphasize the necessity of a mechanical device to eliminate the element of uncertainty as to what constitutes a "long" or a "short" whistle by a locomotive. It is not right, he says, to trust the safety of a trainload of passengers to a guess upon a guess.
