Body Of Man Missing In Boating Accident Found

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The body of a former Sanford man who drowned after trying to rescue a woman knocked overboard during a boating accident was found Monday morning about a mile from where he disappeared Saturday night. The woman managed to swim back to the boat on her own.

Thomas Richard Lively, 29, of 1311 Racine Road, Orange City, was found about 8:30 a.m. around 300 feet north of High Bank Marina, according to the Volusia County Sheriff's Department. The area is about 3 miles from DeBary.

Lively, a father of four, dove into the murky St. Johns about 9:30 p.m. to help Peggy Bethel, 27, of Goldenrod, who was jolted off the bow of a 28-foot cabin cruiser when it struck a channel marker, said the boat's captain Fred Good of Sanford. Lively's father-in-law. The channel marker had been vandalized and was not lighted.

When Mrs. Bethel surfaced, she hollered for her husband, Jimmy, 36, who was also on the boat. Bethel and Lively dove in. Lively first from the end of the boat, Good said. Lively reached the woman but could not help her. Mrs. Bethel made her way to the boat, which had backed up to get the trio, while Bethel tried to help Lively who apparently was floundering in the strong current. Bethel tried to tow Lively by the neck but the man struggled. He also tried to drag the man by the shirt but the current was too strong to save him. All three could swim, Good said.

Rescuers searched a two-mile stretch of the river after the incident and continued Sunday and Monday.

Lively, born in Sanford in 1956, moved to Orange City in 1980. He was a field superintendent for Briar Construction Co. in Longwood where he worked for his father-in-law and with his attempted rescuer, Bethel. Lively, who was a U.S. Army veteran leaves a wife, a son, three daughters, his parents, six brothers, a sister and four grandparents.

Funeral services are scheduled Wednesday at Oaklawn Memorial Park, Lake Mary.

Delinquent Driver Caught After Chase

A Sanford police officer who spotted a man he knows has a suspended driver's license, according to jail reports, triggered a high speed chase when the suspect saw him and bolted.

After a chase by car and a quick run on foot the man was nabbed at about 3:50 p.m. Monday.

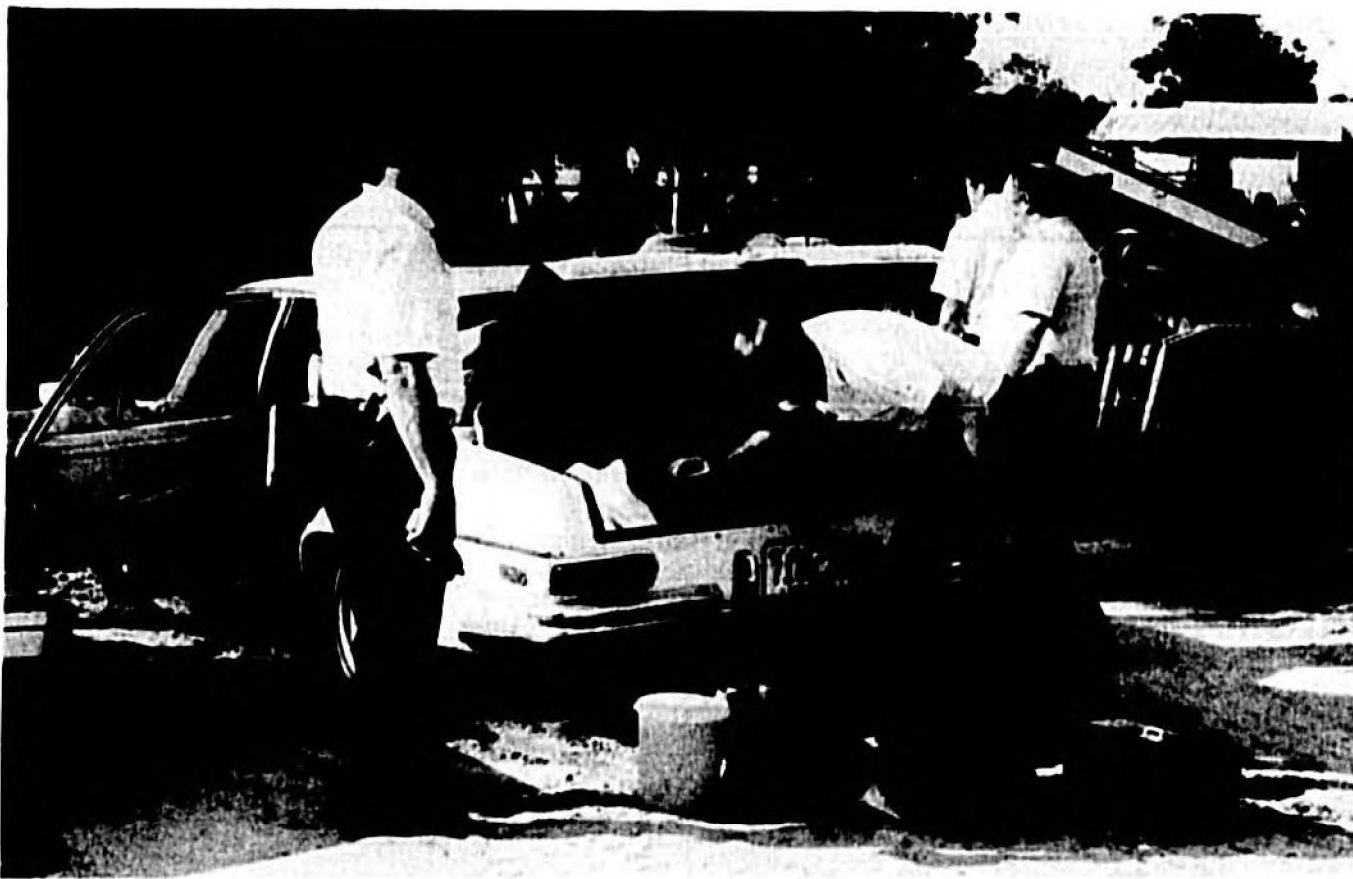

When the driver saw the officer he reportedly sped away north on Tangerine Avenue and then south onto Southwest Road, a police report said.

Police pursuing the suspect's 1972 Mercedes reported it traveled at about 60 mph on Southwest Road, ran a stop sign and almost collided with a vehicle that pulled in front of it on the roadway.

The car slid sideways onto 22nd Street and stopped on Blackston Avenue after the left front tire blew out, the report said.

The suspect jumped out of the car and ran north on Blackston Avenue, where a policeman on foot caught him, the report said.

Sanford Police Captain Herb Shea said today the officer pursued the car because a computer record shows the driver has had one accident, 10 traffic convictions and four suspensions of his driver's license. The 4-door car was preliminarily searched at the scene and impounded for further investigation. It will be returned when the towing bill is paid, Shea said. Billy Lee Cotton, 30, of 33 William Clark Court, Sanford, has been charged with reckless driving, attempting to flee to elude police and driving with a suspended license. He was being held at the Seminole County Jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Cotton is on probation for possession of marijuana and cocaine and is also under a pre-sentence investigation on two of the charges of driving with a suspended license, according to the Dept. of Corrections' probation office in Sanford. He also awaits dispositions in the county court on charges of breach of the peace and battery, records show.

Job On Line For Longwood Building Chief City Set To Air Gripes

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

After six years as head of the building department, Longwood Building Official R.A. "Bud" Bryant's days with the city may be numbered.

Complaints made against Bryant by City Administrator Greg Manning will be considered at a public hearing set for Monday Oct. 21.

The commission opted Monday night to advertise the hearing rather than discuss complaints against him unofficially at a work session so if they decide to fire Bryant after the hearing it will be "by the book."

Bryant said he did not care if a public hearing is held because the complaints against him "are nothing" and "do not apply to the building department. It just shows how little they have against me."

After conducting an inquiry, Manning presented commissioners with his written report at Monday night's meeting, making specific charges against Bryant. In the statement, Manning said, "Mr. Bryant's deliberate violation of the Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual is considered a very serious breach of discipline and bring into question his future effectiveness as a city employee."

In reviewing Bryant's job performance, Manning cited six developments completed within the last five years since the current zoning ordinance was adopted where there were in discrepancies between the approved site plan and regulations and the completed project.

Some of Bryant's problems stem from a vague memo sent by him on Sept. 25 to members of the city commission.

Manning stated "I am concerned about the unsubstantiated allegations made by Mr. Bryant which have seriously harmed the reputation of the city and the building department. I believe that Mr. Bryant is guilty of (violating) Rule No. 20 of the Personnel Policy and Procedures Manual which prohibits any employee from making or publishing any false, vicious or malicious statement concerning any supervisor, the city or its operations. I am also very disturbed by Mr. Bryant's direct insubordination and refusal to comply with my verbal instructions to discuss any problems with me prior to going to the city commission."

He said Bryant not only failed to discuss the memo with him prior to its distribution, but also failed to provide him with a copy. In the memo Bryant stated "...it would appear officials in areas likely to be affected by such catastrophes (such as hurricanes) would look closely at their Building Departments in order to insure that they are adequately staffed with competent, dedicated people whose concern is the protection of the health, safety and welfare of all citizens within their jurisdiction."

"It is quite apparent that this cannot be accomplished unless the Building Department is permitted to perform its duties as prescribed by the adopted building codes and applicable See BUILDING, page 8A

Sanford Nixes Pub For Fairway Plaza

By Fred Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

A request for permission to sell alcoholic beverages at a proposed pub for Fairway Plaza was unanimously rejected by the Sanford City Commission.

Discussion on the proposal consumed most of Monday night's city meeting. The pub was described as a 1,000 sq. ft. establishment which would seat 32, located at 2680 Orlando Drive owned by Lori Enterprises, Inc.

Business and residential neighbors, a mobile home park owner and a spokesman for 140 petition signatories aligned themselves against the request citing noise, proximity to schools, patronage of plaza by school students and negative affect on property values.

Commissioner Milton E. Smith made the motion to disapprove.

Earlier in the meeting, commissioners showed enthusiasm for a report by the Youth Advisory Committee presented by its president Alvin Jones. Several officers and members of the committee were introduced.

Citing a survey of junior and senior high school students, Jones said the youth of Sanford indicated gym facilities, including weights and table games, a swimming pool and dancing area are their greatest needs. The committee is planning sponsorship of a Homecoming parade on November 15, according to Jones.

Mayor Bettye Smith said she will attend a meeting of the group soon and indicated other commissioners may wish to do so also. The committee is composed of both youth and adults.

Jones indicated the parade will follow the same route as the Christmas Parade.

The proportion of the agenda set aside for a public hearing to consider establishing a historic preservation board and an initial historic district and regulations for the district attracted no discussion and the board tentatively approved the measures to be voted on finally Oct. 28. Mayor Smith requested commissioners be ready to make nominations for the board.

High Court To Hear Arguments In Major Church-State Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, which struck down a state law allowing prayer in public schools last term, now faces the major church-state case of this term — whether students can hold their own prayer meetings in school.

The court hears oral arguments today in a case brought by a Christian student group in Williamsport, Pa., which is appealing a lower court ruling that said allowing religious clubs to meet on school time violated the Constitution's prohibition against establishing religion.

A high court decision, expected some time next year, also will help settle the constitutionality of a federal law requiring high schools to permit religious clubs to meet during the school day.

Last term, the high court struck down an Alabama law that mandated a moment of silence for prayer in public schools, saying the law unconstitutionally entangled church and state.

The Williamsport case began in 1981, when a group of students asked to meet to discuss the Bible and pray during the twice-weekly half-hour period allowed at Williamsport High School for various student clubs and activities.

School Principal Wayne Newton agreed and 45 pupils attended the first meeting of the group, called Petros, which is Greek for rock. Some students read Bible verses and some prayed.

5 Measles Cases At Child Center

By Jim Searls
Herald Staff Writer

The discovery of five cases of measles at a day care center in Seminole County has prompted a meeting between school and county health department officials today to determine if all students in the county have been properly immunized.

Dr. Jorge Deju, head of the Seminole County health Department, will meet with Seminole County School Superintendent Robert Hughes today to determine the number of students in the county who have not been immunized for measles. Dr. Deju said of those 40,000 students in the school district, some have not been immunized because of religious or medical

United Way Has $67,059 Of $550,000 Goal

United Way of Seminole County volunteers reported a total of $67,059 in pledges and gifts towards this year's goal of $550,000 at Monday's report meeting held at the Casselberry Senior Center.

This includes the Oct. 4 golf tournament at Sabal Point Country Club that raised approximately $6,500.

Seminole United Way Executive Director Bob Walko said reports are slower coming in and this year's total is running behind last year at this point in the month-long fundraising campaign.

However, Walko said he feels good about the drive.

"We've given more presentations and passed out more brochures to more companies than ever before. We are going to be working toward our goal right up to Oct. 24 and beyond," he said.

There is only one more report meeting scheduled for campaign workers. That is a luncheon at noon on Oct. 22 at the Holiday Inn in Altamonte Springs. The victory dinner, which will cap the campaign, is scheduled for 6 p.m. at the new Altamonte Springs Hilton Towers.

John Knapp is this year's campaign chairman.

Division chairmen include Allen Davis Jr., golf tournament; Ivan Bowers and Barbara Rambo, Seminole County schools; Russ Moncrief, Seminole Community College; Mike Potter, Central Florida Regional Hospital and Robert Blumentritt, Florida Hospital-

Orlando; Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith and Gary Earl, government; Newman Brock and Rick Wollner, professions; Bob Patchett and Bob Douglas, financial; Ken Cone, commercial and special gifts; Sharyn Dickerson, major industry; and Buck Hodges and Ron Pruitt, major retail.

Hepburn's Secret

RADNOR, Pa. (UPI) — Actress Katharine Hepburn says the secret to her youthful appearance and inner happiness is vitality.

"Lack of vitality is a terrible lack," Hepburn, 75, wrote in an article in the Oct. 19 issue of TV Guide. "It can mean that you just don't try."

"Sometimes you have a choice — to try or not to try. And you can't make yourself try. It's that negative attitude and just a terrible habit," the actress said.

Hepburn said despite the physical limitations of old age she finds satisfaction and strength in physical activity.

"What do I consider my vitality?"

First, physical vitality — that which makes me clean that room, dig that flower bed," she said.

Arkansas Retailer Is Richest American

NEW YORK (UPI) — The richest person in America drives a pickup truck, owns a chain of discount stores in small towns and has a name that probably would go unrecognized by most people outside of Arkansas. He's Sam Walton and he's worth $2.8 billion. According to a survey published by Forbes Magazine Monday, the homespun Arkansas retailer has passed Gordon Getty, the son of oil magnate J. Paul Getty, as the wealthiest person in the country. The magazine listed 42 first-time entries in its annual compilation of the country's 400 wealthiest — people whose net worth tops $150 million. Their combined fortunes totaled $134 billion, an average of $335 million each. Walton drives a pickup truck — and owns the 745-store Wal-Mart chain. Last year, Wal-Mart did a business of $6.4 billion, mostly in small towns in the Sun Belt. Walton and his family own 54 million shares of the concern's stock. Walton began his career as a J.C. Penny Co. Inc. management trainee in 1940. After operating a group of Ben Franklin stores with his brother, James, Walton opened the first Wal-Mart in Rogers, Ark., on July 2, 1962.

UAW Chrysler Strike Likely

DETROIT (UPI) — The first United Auto Workers union strike against Chrysler Corp. in the United States since 1973 appeared more likely as little progress was reported among negotiators facing a deadline of midnight today. A 17-hour bargaining session recessed at about 2 a.m. EDT today. Talks were scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. One source said Chrysler delivered "new pieces" of an economic proposal, but neither side would confirm the report. UAW spokesman Bob Barbee said Monday that union subcommittees had met with management, but had made little headway. On Monday night, UAW shop stewards prepared for a walkout authorized by workers last week. Across the border in Canada, contract talks between Chrysler-Canada and the newly-independent UAW-Canada took an optimistic turn late Monday, as union leaders reacted favorably to a new financial package. Contracts are being negotiated separately for the first time by the UAW and its newly independent Canadian branch. The pacts will cover 70,000 U.S. workers and 10,400 in Canada. In the U.S. talks, the UAW rejected Chrysler's initial offer last Wednesday, and as of early today the company had not made another official proposal.

Prison Guard Hostages Released

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — Two guards held hostage for about 15 hours by inmates at a maximum-security prison were released unharmed early today after officials agreed to transfer four inmates, including three on death row, to another facility. The guards were set free from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility after officials agreed to the transfers and to allow a list of inmates' grievances to be read over a local radio station, said Bob Prosser, a spokesman for the Ohio Department of Corrections. Prosser said the guards, Randy Mehaffey and Bill Dunn, were not harmed during the ordeal. They were taken hostage shortly at about 12:30 p.m. Monday in the J-1 cell block, which is reserved for difficult inmates. Dunn was released by the inmates at 2:53 a.m. EDT in exchange for a radio. Mehaffey was released at 3:46 a.m. after the inmates heard the grievances broadcast by the radio station. The four inmates, Jay Scott, John William Byrd Jr., William G. Zuern and Eric M. Swofford, all of Ohio, left the prison at about 4:30 a.m. en route to the Franklin County Jail in Columbus, Prosser said. Byrd, Scott and Zuern all have been sentenced to death.

Killer Wants To 'Die In Peace'

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UPI) — Even an organization called HOPE seems to have given up on condemned killer William Vandiver, who insists his execution take place as scheduled Wednesday. "I want to be left alone to die in peace," Vandiver, 37, said in a recent interview. Vandiver, of Chicago, is scheduled to die in an electric chair at the Indiana State Prison for the March 1983 stabbing death and dismemberment of his father-in-law, Paul Komyatti Sr., 65, of Hammond, Ind. The Rev. Wanda Callahan, spokeswoman for Hoosiers Opposing Executions (HOPE), said her group will not hold a vigil at the prison because Vandiver has chosen not to fight the execution order. "We as an organization choose life rather than death," she said, "and will, therefore, exert our energy trying to keep the rest of the men on death row alive." Henry Schwarzhild of the American Civil Liberties Union's Capital Punishment Project said from New York his organization still has not found a way to stop the execution. Barring any last minute snags, the switch will be thrown shortly after 12:01 a.m. EDT Wednesday, but no later than sunrise, state correction officials said.

Ricky Skaggs Top Entertainer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Country music turned the clock back by naming the industry's top traditionalist, Ricky Skaggs, as entertainer of the year. Skaggs, a bluegrass influenced singer from Kentucky, beat out Alabama, an upbeat, more contemporary group, and Lee Greenwood, Reba McEntire and George Strait in the Country Music Association's 19th annual awards show broadcast Monday night from the Grand Old Opry House. Skaggs' victory had to be considered a major upset because of the dominance of Alabama, a group that had won the prestigious award the three previous years and which continued to be leaders in record sales and concert tickets. Skaggs, Strait and the Judds were the only multiple winners during the awards show. Skaggs' band was named instrumental group of the year. The Judds, a mother-daughter team, won vocal group and single of the year for "Why Not Me." The single award is given to the best song by a performer.

MIT Professor Gets Nobel Prize For Economics

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Italian-born American Franco Modigliani today won the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science for his pioneering analyses of household savings and corporate finance. Modigliani, 67, a professor of economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, won the $225,000 award for developing a theory that people save for their old age and for theoretical analyses on which corporate finance is based. The prize was the third Nobel to be awarded this year and all have involved Americans. Two American geneticists were awarded the prize for medicine Monday and a Boston-based anti-nuclear group founded by an American and a Soviet won the Nobel Peace Prize Friday. Modigliani, reached by telephone at his home in Belmont, Mass., said, "I'm very, very pleased ... that my work has been recognized. This is a nice way to crown my career. "I will use (the prize money) in accordance with my own theories of how people behave — namely, distribute it over the rest of my life," Modigliani said. "I'm not going to go on a binge. I will use it gradually. That's what my theory says people do." Modigliani, who was born in Rome and became a U.S. citizen in 1946, said he began his study on saving habits 30 years ago. "Saving plays a very important role in economic life because it is what permits investment and capital formation, which in turn what is behind growth and well being," he said. "I have been studying why people accumulate or don't and I have a view that is quite different from what used to be believed before," Modigliani said. "It is related to the notion that the major reason why people save is for retirement or for major expenditure." Modigliani published his theory on the life cycle household saving in 1954. The theory has been used as the theoretical basis for the study of pension and retirement systems, the Royal Swedish Academy said. "In particular, it has proved an ideal tool for analyses of the effects of different pension systems," the academy said. "Most of these analyses have indicated that the introduction of a general pension system leads to a decline in private saving." While the life-cycle savings hypothesis deals primarily with microeconomics, the academy also cited Modigliani's macroeconomic work in 1958 with American economist Merton Miller. The Modigliani-Miller theorems helped form the basis of corporate finance. Awards committee member Annsar Lindbeck said Modigliani "gave birth" to the field of corporate finance. The choice of Modigliani continued a trend in which the economics prize is awarded to an aging American professor from an elite university. Economists from the United States have won 13 of the 23 awards announced since the Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences was established in 1969. Modigliani is the second Nobel economic laureate from MIT. Economist Paul Samuelson won the Nobel in 1970. "The United States has gained a position of dominance because it has an enormously efficient university system," said Uppsala University Professor Ragnar Bentzel, one of the five Nobel economics judges.

Ballot Counting Equipment Test Set

In preparation for the $100 million school bond referendum on Oct. 22, Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Sandra Goard is expected to test ballot counting equipment 3:30 p.m. Friday in her office in the County Services Building, 1101 E. First St., Sanford. The procedure, which is a logic and accuracy test required by law, is open to the public. A deck of pre-punched test ballot cards will be run through the computer to make sure it is counting correctly. The same cards will be processed again before and after ballots from the referendum are counted as an added precaution. Seminole county voters will have the opportunity to vote on bond issue between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Oct. 22 at their assigned polling places. The ballot counting equipment will be checked again prior to the three municipal elections on Nov. 3.

Man Gets Two Years For Pot Possession

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer
A motel guest arrested on a drug charge after he drew suspicion by peering into cars in the motel parking lot has been sentenced to 2 1/2 years in prison for possession of marijuana. He is one of four persons with criminal charges against them to appear in court recently. Roland Kenneth Smith, 24, of 28 E. 8th St., Apopka, was also ordered by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Lefler to pay the Public Defender's office $300. Smith pleaded guilty to the charge Oct. 8. Smith attracted suspicion April 30 after the manager of the Fern Park Motel, on U.S.

Highway 17-92, Fern Park, saw the nighttime reconnaissance. After a deputy arrived at the motel, Smith ignored his knocks though he eventually did let the deputy into the room, a sheriff's report said. The deputy reported seeing marijuana laying on a table in the room and more pot was found on the bathroom floor and in Smith's pocket. The other court action a 21-year-old Winter Park barmaid pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine. She was originally charged with sale of cocaine but pleaded to the lesser charge. Edie Michelle Parnell's June 25 arrest was sealed April 27 when she reportedly sold 1/4 ounce of cocaine for $80 to undercover agents. At the time of the sale she was manager and barmaid of the Hideaway Lounge, State Road 436, Casselberry, a sheriff's reports said. She could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced Nov. 20 by Lefler. In a third case a Winter Springs man, hit with a drug charge after being stopped for speeding, has pleaded guilty to trafficking cocaine. Daryl Kenneth Parkhurst, 21, of 251 Tradewinds Road, entered the plea before Lefler who set Nov. 30 for sentencing. Parkhurst faces a mandatory sentence of at least 3 years and a mandatory sentence of at least $50,000. A Florida Highway Patrol trooper reported stopping Parkhurst's vehicle at about 2:30 a.m. Dec. 23 after the car was clocked at 110 mph on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs. A search of the vehicle revealed three bags of cocaine. In another case heard: —Michael Frank Piotrowski, 28, of 2007 E. Lake Drive, Casselberry, arrested May 6 on a charge of selling 1/2 ounce of cocaine to an undercover agent guilty to a lesser charge of possession of cocaine. He could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced by Lefler Oct. 30.

Disney, Jerry Lewis FBI Report Topics

PHOENIX (UPI) — Former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered agents to scrutinize Walt Disney Productions because he felt a 1962 Disney film portrayed his agents as inept and insane, the Arizona Republic reported Monday. The late director was upset that bumbling characters in the Disney movie "Moon Pilot" were identified as FBI agents and that Disney, a friend, reluctantly changed the reference to them to "federal security agents," the Republic said. An FBI file on Disney, obtained by the newspaper through a Freedom of Information request, contained a copy of a review of the movie with a handwritten note in the margin that said, "I am amazed Disney would do this. He probably has been infiltrated." There is no proof who wrote the comment but other information in the file indicates it was Hoover, the Republic said. The file deals primarily with Disney but also contains information on comedian Jerry Lewis. The file has a single, unexplained reference to Lewis as "the unscrupulous actor," the Republic said. After reading a summary of the script of "Moon Pilot," Hoover directed his chief Los Angeles agent to meet with Disney and tell him "the bureau will strongly object to any portrayal of the FBI in this film," the report said. Disney said he would change the reference to the officials from FBI agents to "federal security" agents, although he thought the change "unrealistic," another file memo said. "He (Disney) stated that he would never portray the FBI other than in a favorable light due to his esteem for the director and the bureau," said a memo to Hoover. Movie reviewers commented that the film leveled a "humorous rifle" at the FBI, depicting the agency "as a mass of dolts." Another Disney movie, "That Darn Cat," produced in 1964, also caused grumbling among FBI agents. The bureau closely monitored the proposed film's progress and an August 1964 memo to Hoover said, "an established source at the Disney studios" revealed that the screenplay "depicts the FBI in a most complimentary manner."

They had been stolen from his vehicle and McCreath told deputies the briefcase had contained $3,200 cash, a $5,000 cashiers check and a $150 handgun. The items were stolen Friday or Saturday, the report said. A 1984 Lincoln worth $20,000 has been stolen from the garage of Nathan Harges, 33, of 8420 Admiral Point, Oviedo. Maitland Girl, 16, Beaten, Raped By Two Men

A 16-year-old Maitland girl reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was beaten and sexually assaulted by two men. The girl said she was grabbed by the pair as she walked through a Fern Park apartment complex on her way to visit a friend at about 11 p.m. Saturday.

The girl reported she was grabbed as she walked near the swimming pool at Tiffany Square Apartments. The suspects dragged her to a handball court, beat her, ripped off her clothes and sexually assaulted her. They took her clothes and purse when they fled, a sheriff's report said.

The girl was left unconscious on the court and when she awoke at about 6 a.m. Sunday she went to her friend's home and made contact with the sheriff's department. Deputies who questioned the girl said she had scraped elbows and her face was swollen and discolored. She was examined at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

WINDOWS SMASHED

A 22-year-old Altamonte Springs man who allegedly smashed the windows out of 555 N. Lake Blvd. #53, Altamonte Springs, during a dispute with a woman who claimed to police he was there to take their infant daughter from her, has been charged with burglary to an occupied dwelling.

Altamonte Springs police who arrived at the scene at about 6 p.m. Sunday as the suspect and two other men were leaving in a vehicle, pursued and captured the suspect who reportedly fled on foot into an nearby apartment, a police report said.

The man arrested had reportedly been involved in a confrontation with Kimberly Lueddecke, 22, of 555 N. Lake Blvd., over their daughter. Ms. Lueddecke was cut on the ankle when the suspect allegedly broke windows out of her home with his fists, police reported.

Richard Douglas Corbitt of 550 Holloway Ave. #21, was arrested at a 6:28 p.m. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

BEHIND TREE ATTACK

A Winter Park man reportedly involved in a dispute at a Casselberry apartment ran when Seminole County sheriff's deputies arrived on the scene. A deputy who chased the suspect reported the man hid behind a tree and jumped out to punch him in the chest and continue running.

The man was nabbed, but allegedly resisted when deputies attempted to handcuff him. The other person reportedly involved in the original dispute at the Semoran North Apartments, State Road 436, refused to file charges against the suspect and would not make a statement to deputies, a sheriff's report said.

Robert Thomas Clay, 24, of 1920 Carrigan Ave., was charged with battery on a police officer and resisting arrest with violence at about 4 a.m. Sunday. He has been released on $3,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 28.

KNIFEMAN NABBED

A man chased by Altamonte Springs police from a van parked at Palm Springs Printing, 584 Palm Springs Drive, reportedly discarded a knife during the chase. After he was nabbed the man reportedly said the knife was for protection, because he had been beaten before. Police charged him with armed burglary to a conveyance.

The officer became suspicious of the suspect he saw standing outside the van reaching inside it at about midnight Saturday. The man appeared to be moving something inside the vehicle and ran when he spotted police. He refused a police order to stop, but was eventually nabbed at Atrium III, 4999 Cranes Roost Blvd., a police report said.

Police reported finding a 10-inch, sheathed knife in a Federal Express box near the suspect. He reportedly said the knife was his and he carried it for protection, a police report said.

Owner Cedric B. Keith, 25, of 2740 Ridgewood Ave. #49, Sanford, told police he wanted to press charges, a police report said.

Timothy Ballard Kroger, 22, of 1805 W. Fourth St., Sanford, has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

FLED AFTER ACCIDENT

A 30-year-old Casselberry man who reportedly fled after his car was involved in an accident with a motorcycle at Semoran North Apartments, Casselberry, drove away, but was arrested after his damaged car was found parked near the scene, a police report said.

Kenneth John Lyman, 23, of Minnesota received a broken foot and back injuries in a crash when a car cut in front of his motorcycle at about midnight Friday. Police reported he was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs and damage to his bike was estimated at $600.

The suspect's car, with a damaged rear bumper, was reportedly seen circling the Reflections Apartments, and was later found parked at Semoran North Apartments, a police report said. Damage to that vehicle was estimated at $900.

Kurt L. Elliot, of 1230 Reflections Circle, has been charged with leaving the scene of an accident with injuries and violating the right-of-way. He was jailed at 3:18 a.m. after being arrested at Semoran North Apartments. He has been released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Oct. 28.

Lehman Too Good For Navy Tastes?

John F. Lehman II, 38 years old when he took office, was one of the youngest Navy secretaries in history. He has become one of the most successful. He makes his predecessor in the Carter years, the courtly Edward Hidalgo, seem a polished nonentity.

But now the question is being asked. Has Lehman been too successful for the Navy's own good?

A phenomenal pace of spending and expansion has been set. It cannot possibly be maintained. What will the impact on the Navy be, when key goals and objectives are cut back?

That is the question asked in a Congressional Budget Office study published recently, "Future Budget Requirements for the 600-Ship Navy."

It says the Navy should meet its goal of 600 battle force ships by the end of this decade. That will be a result of increasing the Navy's budget at a real (inflation-adjusted) average annual rate of about 7.5 percent in the last five years. The momentum is irreversible. The new ships will be built.

But to support and operate and maintain and modernize a 600-ship Navy in the 1990s, the Navy's budget will have to continue to increase at a real rate of between 3 percent and 5 percent a year, the CBO calculates. "Such sustained real growth would be unprecedented in peacetime," the budget experts note. The premise of their latest study is that, based on historical precedent and recent congressional budget-cutting actions, the money won't be forthcoming.

Three possible strategies to accommodate the budget cuts are considered in the study:

Strategy 1 — Cut investment, resulting in a smaller or older Navy.

Strategy 2 — Reduce support expenditures.

Strategy 3 — Procure less expensive ships.

These are not mutually exclusive alternatives, and probably all of them will be implemented in combination. Congress and the Navy, as the CBO suggests, had best make long-range plans now to accommodate the budget cuts that are likely to come. Otherwise the Navy's readiness and capability could be severely affected.

Lehman will have to play a leading role. It will be a test of his toughness and his tactical genius. It will not make him so popular as his success in getting the lion's share of the Reagan defense buildup for the Navy. It may be even more difficult. But it will be just as important.

The budget deficit is now the decisive factor in our national life. Unless there is a sudden surge in federal revenues, a deep cut in domestic spending or a change in the president's attitude toward a tax increase, defense spending must level off and perhaps decline. Because the Navy has done so well, it will be the first service to feel the pinch.

No Tea Party

If the British had only waited, there would have been no Boston Tea Party, and the United States might never have become a nation.

In the 18th century, tea was the drink in the Colonies. When the British unwisely decided to put a tax on it, Boston merchants got angry and created a bit of history by dumping tea cargoes off the sides of ships.

We were reminded of this recently by a newspaper article about how to make tea correctly. It is something that few people know how to do, and virtually no restaurants even try to do.

If the Reagan administration put a tax on tea, most people would not care. Today, Americans do not have enough loyalty to tea to dump it in Boston Harbor, which is a pity.

In fact, tea drinkers are among the most abused segments of American society. Just try getting a warm cup of tea in the morning for breakfast at a hotel. Usually some lout brings it with a tea bag immersed in tepid water.

This may not seem important to coffee drinkers, but it is a sign of the times. And tea drinkers might well conclude that our national taste is going down the drain.

Do Black Voters Differ From Leaders?

WASHINGTON — Republican strategists should carefully study the results of a new survey which finds that national black leaders are much more liberal than the black public on a number of political issues.

The survey was conducted by a professional polling firm for the American Enterprise Institute's Public Opinion magazine. The findings were derived from telephone interviews with 105 black leaders from six national black groups, as well as 600 randomly selected black Americans.

The poll shows that many black voters strongly disagree with black leaders on many issues. Its findings also suggest that this divergence of opinion could allow Republicans to make some significant inroads into one of the last voting blocs the GOP has yet to crack.

Consider these findings:
— A whopping 77 percent of black leaders support giving minorities preferential treatment in job and college placement. But among blacks in general, an identical 77 percent reject special treatment under affirmative-action programs, saying that "ability should be the main consideration."

— Only 13 percent of black leaders surveyed like the way President Reagan is handling his job, compared to 30 percent among blacks nationally who approve of Reagan's overall performance.

— Prayer in the public schools? Only 40 percent of black leaders polled favor it, compared to 83 percent support for school prayer among blacks in general.

— On the question of busing schoolchildren from one school district to another, 68 percent of the black leaders polled support forced busing, while busing is opposed by 53 percent of blacks nationally.

— Only 14 percent of black leaders think that abortion should be banned, while 43 percent of the black population supports such a ban.

— Harsher sentences for convicted criminals? A sizable majority of black leaders — 65 percent — say yes. However, nationally, an even greater majority of blacks — 85 percent — want stiffer sentencing.

— Is the Republican Party more or less interested in solving the problems of black Americans? Only 9 percent of black leaders say it is more interested, compared to nearly twice that number, 17 percent, for blacks generally.

— Sixty-eight percent of black leaders surveyed classify themselves as liberal, while only 27 percent of all blacks say they're liberal.

The poll created an uproar among black leaders who attended the Congressional Black Caucus conference here two weeks ago. Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Texas, its chairman, said, "We're obviously not out-of-touch. We have the safest seats in Congress."

But automatically winning re-election doesn't mean that black leaders in Congress, or elsewhere, are in tune with the socially conservative beliefs of their black constituents.

Can a significant number of black voters be effectively appealed to with the kind of economic-growth issues on which Reagan won big in 1984? Richard Wirthlin, Reagan's chief pollster, says his polls show that upwardly mobile blacks aged 24 to 44 are "highly receptive" to GOP economic proposals to expand the economic pie for everyone.

GOP strategists say that opens the way for this Republican offensive in 1988: a powerful political pitch to black voters on social issues as well as on key economic-growth initiatives, such as enterprise-zones legislation, to bring jobs to the inner cities; the youth-unemployment wage, to put unemployed black youths to work; and the Urban Homestead Act.

Mob Rule Indicated In Trial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (NEA) — A criminal trial underway in U.S. District Court here is producing intriguing new information about organized crime's apparent influence over both the Teamsters union and Nevada's gambling casinos.

The federal prosecution of alleged Mafia leaders from throughout the Midwest represents the culmination of a five-year probe conducted by the Justice Department, FBI and Internal Revenue Service.

When the indictments in the case were unsealed two years ago, then-Attorney General William French Smith characterized them as among "the most far-reaching ever returned" by a grand jury examining the power of organized crime.

Named as defendants in those indictments were 15 men, including alleged leaders of the Mafia in Chicago, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Kansas City. Four have pleaded guilty, while two others will be tried later.

The nine men currently on trial are accused of secretly gaining control of a pair of Las Vegas casinos, then looting them of almost $2 million by "skimming" revenues before they were reported to tax or gaming authorities.

The casinos, the Stardust and the Fremont, were acquired in the mid-1970s by the Argent Corp., ostensibly headed by Allen R. Glick, a young California financier.

But almost $62.8 million used to make the purchase allegedly was covertly funneled to Argent and Glick in the form of a loan from the Teamsters union's Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund.

In addition to court-approved electronic surveillance and seized documents, prosecutors here are relying upon a man they describe as "the highest ranking La Cosa Nostra figure" ever to agree to testify for the government.

He is Angelo A. Lonardo, reputed to be a former underboss of the Cleveland "family" of the Mafia who now is serving a life sentence in federal prison following his 1983 conviction on conspiracy and narcotics charges.

In interviews with the FBI, Lonardo has provided this account of his involvement in the selection of both Roy L. Williams and Jackie Presser as successive presidents of the scandal-plagued Teamsters union:

Army Prepares To Repeat Computer Error

WASHINGTON — Last June we charged that a vital Army computer project was turning into another billion-dollar boondoggle, and reported that the Army's inspector general was investigating the mess.

The investigation is now complete, but the Army has refused to release the report.

Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, who is becoming the nemesis of Pentagon wastrels, has asked for a copy but has been rebuffed. Internal Army documents, which we've reviewed, explain why.

In a nutshell, the Army plans to solve the problem by repeating its mistake. Generals, historically, prepare to fight the last war they won. In this case, the Army is preparing to re-fight a war it just lost — and to fight it on an even bigger scale.

The Army has spent at least $40 million on just the "brainstorming" stage of its CAMIS computer project

Bill Will Hurt Taiwan

TAIPEI, Taiwan (NEA) — "Happy is the country that has no history." So goes an old Chinese proverb. But the leaders of the Republic of China on Taiwan aren't so sure about that these days.

In terms of international news coverage, the profile of this prosperous, vigorously anti-communist island nation is a bit lower than they would like to see it.

Peking has hogged the Asian headlines recently — moving toward a free market in agriculture and other areas, replacing octogenarian communist bosses with youngsters in their 50s and 60s, promising Hong Kong a "special" status when Britain turns it over in 1997, etc. Meanwhile, here in Taipei, life hums along pleasantly enough — but what headline can you put over that?

Just now the local excitement is being provided by the so-called "Double Ten": the tenth day of the tenth month, which Free China celebrates as its Independence Day, that being the date on which the Manchu Dynasty was overthrown in 1911. Every year on Oct. 10, units of the armed forces of the Republic of China, plus cadets, school children and special delegations of all sorts, pass in review before the president of the Republic, Chiang Ching-kuo, eldest son of the late Chiang Kai-shek, in front of the Presidential Palace here in Taipei. There are Nationalist Chinese flags all over town, special lighting on the buildings and boulevards, and chattered limousines rushing visiting dignitaries from overseas to one glittering reception and/or dinner after another. But the media thrive on stories of conflict, misery and misfortune, and in the ROC today these are in short supply.

One area of disagreeably newsworthy dispute does remain: international trade. Even here, however, Taipei's real and serious difficulties with the U.S. Congress tend to be overshadowed by the much larger but essentially similar problems involving Japan. Both countries sell the United States far more than they buy from it, with the result that the American trade deficit is, in both cases, proportionately huge. Worse yet, both Japan and Free China are out-competing American manufacturers over a whole range of products — and doing so, it should be stressed, in terms of quality and economy that are by no means simply the consequence of cheaper labor. As a final and unforgivable turn of the screw, both Tokyo and Taipei have in the past undeniably protected certain sectors of their own economies from U.S. competition, though this manifest injustice is diminishing fairly rapidly.

The U.S. Congress, which is understandably responsive to the concerns of American workers and businessmen, is gearing up to do something about all this — but here a word of caution is in order, quite apart from the strong case to be made for free trade on behalf of every American consumer. That word is: Let us not, in pain or anger, unintentionally do really serious harm to our friends on Taiwan.

Gifts Get Attention Miss Vote

By MARY BETH FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the past few weeks, members of Congress have been presented with socks, toys, pants and bags of sugar by lobbyists trying to make a point and influence their votes.

In both cases — the clothing retailers and importers who supplied the socks, stuffed bears and pants, and the coalition of food processors, consumers and candy makers who doled out the sugar — the House voted against their positions.

The special interest groups succeeded in capturing attention — not an easy task in a power-hungry city like Washington. But they failed to accomplish their goal, at least in the first round.

Both may get a second chance when the issues come before the Senate.

Reporters took notice of the unusual lobbying techniques and greedily scooped up the booty, chuckling about filling their Christmas lists and their larders. But reporters don't vote.

Members of Congress do vote, but the question is how many of the lobbyists' gifts made it past the congressman's front office to grab the boss's attention?

Those involved in the visual lobbying campaigns defended their methods and predicted it will catch on.

Pamela Kostmayer is a public relations consultant representing the American Fair Trade Council, a coalition of retailers, importers and shippers opposed to a bill to impose quotas on textile and apparel imports.

Last week, Kostmayer, accompanied by an assistant dressed in a Panda costume, criss-crossed Capitol Hill distributing jeans to members of Congress and the press. The message: "The textile bill gets America by the 'seat of the pants'."

She kicked off her client's $500,000 lobbying campaign two weeks earlier by distributing small stuffed teddy bears with a two-sided price tag. One side listed the lower price the bear sells for now, and on the other side, a price tag more than three times higher than the group said consumers would pay if the import bill becomes law. Most stuffed toys and dolls are made in whole or in part overseas.

The following week it was imported socks, with the message: "The textile bill socks it to America."

"The Competition-in-Contracting Act has created an environment and an expectation that sole-source contracting will no longer take place. It is possible that the sole-source contract ... may be protested."

In other words, it's strictly an image problem. And this, the report suggests, can be handled by a good public-relations campaign. "The Army should attempt to mitigate these risks through an effective liaison and information campaign" — aimed at Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Congress and the media.

At least one Army official, Wayne Grant, acting assistant secretary for financial management, has warned that the "new approach being recommended" — that is, the sole-source contract to Electronic Data Systems — may not be in the Army's best interests.

For one thing, "there appears to be no rationale on a cost-effectiveness basis" for cancelling other, competitively won contracts to be absorbed by Sarnet, Grant wrote, adding: "Largely because of the perception that (Electronic Data Systems) had a lock" on these earlier contracts, "we had to take rather extraordinary measures" to persuade other companies that it was worth their while to bid on them.

"To cancel these (contracts) would at least appear to confirm that viewpoint and could readily lead to protests or legal actions ..."

Grant wrote. He also warned the generals that not only would a sole-source contract on Sarnet "send a clear signal" that would discourage other contractors from future bids, but it would run head-on into opposition from Weinberger and his chief associates, who are now committed to the competitive-bid process.

Lake Howell Sweeps Postal Run

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Howell High wasn't just in the spotlight Monday night. It owned it.

Lake Howell was 4 for 4 as it won the junior varsity boys and girls and varsity boys and girls team races in the Seminole County Postal Run at Lake Brantley High. It was the second time in the history of the Postal Run that a team had swept all four titles.

The boys race was the closest as the top two teams were separated by just eight seconds. The top five times for each team, for two miles around the track, are added up to determine the team champion.

The Silver Hawks finished with a team time of 51:55.5 compared to 52:06.3 for Lake Mary's Rams. Lyman was a close third at 52:49.5.

Lake Mary's 1-2 punch of Ken Rohr and Eric Petersen had the Rams in good shape but Lake Howell bunched three runners together and got its fifth runner in just in time to nip Lake Mary.

Leading the way for the Hawks was Anthony Howe who was third with a time of 10:02.3. Lake Howell's next three runners went 8-9-10 as Jeff Van Buskirk was eighth (10:17.5), John Davis ninth (10:19.9) and Phillip Buster 10th (10:25). Running fifth for the Hawks, in his first varsity race, was freshman Kavan Howell who was 20th at 10:50.8. Also running for the first time on varsity was Steve Steffy who was 21st at 10:52.

"Kavan (Howell) won the JV meet at Boone so we moved him up," Lake Howell coach Joe Corso said. "He's coming along real well. All they guys ran really well tonight."

For Lake Mary, Rohr, one of the top two millers in the state in track, was second to Seminole's Billy Penick at 9:47.5 followed by Petersen in fourth at 10:08.5. Rounding out the Rams' top five were Jeff Hale (13th at 10:39.8), Marc Eskin (14th at 10:40.6) and Anthony Surles (19th at 10:49.9).

Seminole's Penick turned in one of the top Postal Run times ever with a 9:39.2. Following Penick in the top five for the Tribe were Kelvin Abney (15th at 10:45), Kelly Faint (25th at 11:07), David Johnson (28th) and John Herberger (29th).

For Lyman, Robin Rogers and Nick Radkewich continued to run well as Rogers took fifth at 10:14.1 and Radkewich sixth at 10:15.2. They were followed by Mike Mohler (11th at 10:31.1) and Wade Jacobson (16th at 10:45.8).

Lake Brantley's top performers included David Payne (12th at 10:34.9), Jose Calvino (17th at 10:46.5) and Steve Drake (18th at 10:47).

For Oviedo, John Newsom was the top performer as he took seventh with a time of 10:16.6.

The girls varsity race was not as close as the boys as Lake Howell had five of the top eight and compiled a team time of 60:57.2 compared to 64:29.4 for second place Lake Brantley. Lyman was third at 67:38.6.

Lake Howell's top five included individual champion Lisa Samocki (11:34.7), Martha Fonseca (third at 11:55.6), Amy Ertel (fifth at 12:19.4), Jenny Bolt (sixth at 12:24.7) and Mary Fonseca (eighth at 12:42.8). Also finishing in the top 10 for the Lady Hawks was Bonnie Oliver who was ninth at 12:48.5.

"We're just now doing speed work so the girls were a little tight but I was really pleased with them," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said. "They are a very competitive bunch."

Seminole High's Shownda Martin took second with a time of 11:34.7 while teammate Debbie Coleman was 17th at 13:13.7. Dorechelle Webster, Seminole's number two runner, did not run Monday. Also running for the Lady Tribe were Noelle Brown (25th at 14:29.3), Lashownda Gathers (30th at 15:58.8) and Michelle Pearson (31st at 15:59.2).

Lake Brantley placed seven runners in the top 20 including Colleen Lievertz (sixth at 12:42.1), Michelle Herbst (10th at 12:50.1), Kristin Longmire (11th at 12:53.6), Heather

The Lyman 'Battler' Needs Your Prayers

Karren Newman, a person that you couldn't help but admire and respect for her dedication and intelligence, has a never-give-in attitude when it comes to facing life's struggles.

It's an attitude which is etched across her determined face. It's an attitude which she transmits to her Lyman High School volleyball team. When they take the volleyball court, the Lady Greyhounds become a microcosm of their coach, always hustling, always intent, always into the game.

Karren, the daughter of Sanford's Estelle Smith, obtained her doctorate during a two-year sabbatical from Lyman at Florida State.

She returned to the Longwood school this fall. She brought with her a rejuvenated thirst for coaching, enterprising new techniques and the same old Karren Newman who wouldn't give up if she was backed to the one-yard line on fourth down with one second left on the clock.

That's Karren. And she just didn't wear those attributes, she made them work. Her Lady Greyhounds loved her for it.

Three years ago, her Lady Greyhounds won 24 and lost 3. They were the district champions. This year, they may be better. They have won 11 consecutive matches and are considered one of the elite among the state's volleyball powers. Maybe, the elite, after winning the Evans Trojans Invitational earlier this year.

Karren and her Lady Greyhounds were going to find out where they stand among the state's best this weekend when they were to travel to Jacksonville for a tournament among the elite.

Karren's girls will have to make that trip without their coach.

Tragically, Saturday night, Karren Newman was involved in an automobile accident. Her stepfather, Sonny Smith, said she was travelling to Sorrento, to a friend's house. He said she was four miles from her destination, just east of Mount Plymouth on State Road 46 when she apparently lost control of her vehicle in one of the curves. He said she collided with another car. No one was injured in the other vehicle.

Karren was injured, seriously. "Karren said 'she remembered seeing headlights and she threw herself on the seat to avoid the steering wheel,'" Smith said. "It was a glancing blow but the car caved in on her. The doctors said getting down saved her life."

Smith said Karren suffered a dislocated seventh vertebra, a cut on the forehead and a smashed little finger on her left hand.

She is paralyzed from the waist down after a four-hour operation Monday at Orlando's Humana Lucerne Hospital. She is in intensive care.

Smith said the next three days are critical. "There is no brain damage and she came through the operation very well. We're hoping the paralysis is a temporary thing," Smith said. "We're looking for any kind of a sign, the movement of a finger or a toe, anything that will give us hope."

Typical of Karren Newman, her thoughts are not about herself at this critical time. Smith said. "All she thinks about is her volleyball team," he said. "She's thinking about Jacksonville and wanting to get them ready for that."

Lyman Principal Carlton Henley said the whole school has been stunned by the blow. "Everybody has reacted in disbelief," he said Tuesday morning.

Henley said he met with the team Monday and the decision was made to play on, something the girls wanted to do for their coach and something their coach wants of them.

"It's really sad," Henley continued. "The girls were extremely upset and teary-eyed but they wanted to play."

Jerri Kelly, Karren's assistant, and Annette Griffin, who coached in Karren's place while she was at Florida State, will run the team. The girls will resume play tonight against Lake Brantley.

Henley and Smith both said decision right now lies with the man above. "All we can do is hope and pray and keep our fingers crossed," Smith said. "She needs to show some progress in the next few days."

If progress is able to be shown, Karren Newman will show it.

"She's a battler," her uncle, Ron "Lefty" Renaud, said. "If anybody can pull through it, she can. We're all praying."

If might help if you did, too.

Seminole's Cheerleaders: The Backbone With Spirit

By Chuck Burgess
Special to the Herald

They're the women behind the men, the enthusiastic backbone of all football teams and the most easily forgotten.

No, this description isn't depicting the American Mom's Association, it's an account of a high school football cheerleader. The girls that are always there when the team needs them. But most importantly, they too suffer with the losses and celebrate the wins as much as the team.

Seminole High School has an exceptional group of young ladies that are among the best cheerleaders in the state, according to sponsor Gayle Tipton. Tipton said they average about seven to eight hours of practice time on regular game weeks and approximately 20 to 25 hours during cheerleading competition weeks.

Tipton said the Seminole girls won two first-place trophies in "cheers" and "sidelines" categories at the Universal Cheerleading Association competition at the University of Central Florida.

This year's squad is comprised of Linda Cushing (captain), Debra Sensakovic (co-captain), Kelly Castle, Sharon Gaines, Kaylla Givens, Margaret Hall, Jodi Jones, Rebecca Martinez, Nancy McQuatters, Kristin Merrifield, Suzi Nye, Lori Swain, Revonda Wallace and Renee Workman.

Cushing, who Tipton calls a "hard working and devoted captain," feels the key to cheerleading is the crowd. "It's great when the crowd gets into the game and responds to our cheers," Cushing said. "Last week at Lake Mary everyone was up and cheering right along with us."

Although Cushing has a lot of respect for the crowd, she also has a high regard for her squad. "We work very hard during the week and we've come together extremely well," she said.

Coming together often pays big dividends in high school sports. As the Seminole football team will attest after beating Lake Brantley last Friday night at Sanford. Not only were the players in high gear, but the varsity "rah rahs" were swinging and dancing as well.

After losing their first four games, one would think that 'Noles would be discouraged. However, they proved otherwise. "A lot of people were saying the team wasn't doing great and they game up on them," Jones said. "But we have never lost faith in them (football team) because we know how hard they work and try to win."

Cushing said hard work is the key to this year's cheerleading squad, which plans to do well in the state competition later this year. "We should do well at the rate we're progressing," said Cushing.

Although many players and fans alike have a tendency to take the cheerleaders for granted, the girls said this doesn't dampen their spirits. "I guess we're sort of forgotten sometimes," Jones said. "But we don't let it bother us that much."

They have the Rodney Dangerfield outlook on cheering — they don't get any respect, but they keep on trying. "It's kind of hard cheering when the team doesn't win," Cushing said. "But we know how they feel and we feel bad for them."

Emotions play a big part in a cheerleader's career. Every play of a game can be and up or a down. "Last week everyone was crying when we lost to Lake Mary, but this week we're on cloud nine," Jones said.

Watching the cheerleaders has been a national pastime for some people. Many people get just as much enjoyment observing the sideline show as viewing the action on the field.

"They enhance the spirit of the game and really put on a show," said Susan Lazendy, who said she is a devoted Seminole fan.

Not only do Sanford's cheerleaders get noticed, but they do get respect and admiration from their fans. "I think they're the best cheerleaders around the area," Tim Ward, a graduate of Seminole, said. "I know they put a lot of work in their cheering and it really shows in the way they perform."

Even though the girls work as a squad, some stand out because of their frantastic exuberance over the game. Merrifield is one of those who is looked up to because of her spirit.

"Kristin (Merrifield) is probably the most spirited person I've ever seen," said co-captain Sensakovic.

Merrifield, known as 'Spazz', is constantly moving about screaming, clapping, and making spirited gestures. She is one who always thinks the team is going to win.

"I thought we were going to win against Titusville even though we were behind by 14 points," Merrifield said. She was almost right as Seminole rallied in the second half but came up a touchdown short.

In the game against Lake Brantley, the entire squad was motivated much like the group they were cheering for. After each score the girls would throw miniature megaphones into the crowd as souvenirs.

"The things we throw into the crowd are to get the fans excited and help us cheer," Gaines, a cheerleader for four years, said.

All in all one thing is perfectly clear to players and fans. The cheerleaders on the sidelines are there for a reason. And that is to motivate the players and fans to bring more excitement to the game.

Which the Seminole girls do very well.

Ozzie's Homer Helps Cardinals Grab Momentum

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Momentum sides with the St. Louis Cardinals, and history favors the Los Angeles Dodgers entering Game 6 of the National League playoffs.

Fresh from a three-game sweep over the Dodgers, climaxed by Ozzie Smith's dramatic one-out homer in the bottom of the ninth in Monday's 3-2 victory, St. Louis has a pair of 20-game winners ready to try to clinch their 14th NL crown.

Under the old best-of-five format, champagne would have flowed at Busch Stadium Monday. Instead, bags were packed for a return trip to the West Coast.

Erratic Joaquin Andujar, 21-12 during the regular season and the loser in the second game, will pitch in Wednesday afternoon's game. John Tudor, 21-8 and the winner in the fourth game, is set if a seventh game becomes necessary.

The Dodgers can take solace in some recent history. The home team has won 13 straight NLCS playoff games, and their pitcher in the sixth game, Orel Hershiser, is unbeaten at home in 11 decisions and has won 11 in a row overall dating back to a loss July 7 at St. Louis.

"I'm undefeated at home, and I don't think the way our pitching rotation has been set up is pure happenstance," Hershiser said. "As a sinkerball pitcher, I'm much more effective on natural turf than I probably would be on the surface in St. Louis."

In addition, only seven teams have ever have come back to win a seven-game series after trailing 2-0. Five of those series have involved the Dodgers.

St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog elected to go with Andujar, the loser in the 8-2 second game loss, in part because Danny Cox is nursing a sore elbow.

Andujar doesn't talk much to the media these days, but teammate Terry Pendleton isn't worried that Andujar can match the feat of being the winning hurler in the Cardinals' pennant and World Series' clinching triumphs in 1982.

"Joaquin has his ways about him," Pendleton said. "But his attitude and approach toward pitching and winning never varies. When he gets out there, it won't make any difference to him."

Should Andujar again find trouble, Herzog enjoys a bullpen that has proved strong in the playoffs.

"Our bullpen has been outstanding. It got out us out of some jams in today's game," Herzog said.

In Monday's contest, southpaw Ken Dayley escaped a two-on, one-out jam after Bill Madlock knocked out starter Bob Forsch with a two-run homer. He induced pinch-hitter Enos Cabell to bounce into an inning-ending double play.

In the seventh, it was rookie Todd Worrell's turn to bail out Dayley, who walked leadoff man Mike Scioscia on four pitches, and yielded a single by Cabell.

Worrell went to 3-0 on Sax before receiving help from pitching coach Mike Roarke and striking out Sax.

"I was a little bit nervous although I've been in that situation since I've come up," Worrell said. "I was doing some mechanical things wrong that Mike Roarke noticed. I made the correction and got it into the strike zone, made two good pitches and got the third in the strike zone."

"The 3-2 pitch to Sax was evidently a bad pitch," conceded Dodgers skipper Tommy Lasorda. "It changed the whole complexion of the game."

Los Angeles starter Fernando Valenzuela, who survived eight walks and a shaky first two innings, was allowed to hit for himself, and grounded back to Worrell. Rookie shortstop Mariano Duncan fouled out.

Tom Niedentuer, Dodgers relief ace, got Willie McGee to foul out to start the ninth.

Smith, who, like McGee, walked and scored on Tommy Herr's first-inning double, delivered his first major-league homer batting left-handed. It came on a 1-2 pitch and cleared the rightfield wall.

Bostick's 4 Hits Propel Chicks

Mendi, Echeva Eye Partido Win

Mendi and Echeva, the best pair of players the Orlando-Seminole Jat Alai Fronton has ever entered in Partido tournament play, are close to bringing the Fern Park plant its first series championship.

The hotshot doubles team, which took a 2-1 lead in the best of five series with a 21-10 victory Saturday at Ocala, take on frontcourter Arta and backcourter Goronna Thursday night following the 13th game.

Ocala won the first game, 21-8, but Orlando stormed back to take the second (21-7) and third games. In the three-year tournament, Orlando has never won, something parimutuels manager James "Buzz" Bussard said could change Thursday night.

"They're playing real well," Bussard said about the duo. "They could wrap it up. We expect another good crowd. We had 1,000 people stay around and watch the last one. That's unusual."

Lady Lions Can Wrap Up Orange Belt Title

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Ovidio's Lady Lions can say goodbye to the Orange Belt Conference with a bang tonight as a win over Kissimmee Osceola will clinch the conference crown for coach Anita Carlson's team. Ovidio will move up to 4A next season and compete only in the Seminole Athletic Conference.

Tonight's match starts with junior varsity at 6 followed by varsity at 7 at Osceola High.

Carlson said she couldn't remember how many years in a row Ovidio has won the OBC but that, "they (other teams) will probably be glad when we're gone."

The Lady Lions, who stand at 8-0 in the OBC, ran their overall record to 12-2 Monday night with a 15-10, 15-2 victory over Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots in a Seminole Athletic Conference match at Lake Brantley High. Ovidio is 4-2 in the SAC.

"We got off to a little bit of a slow start but came on strong in the second game," Carlson said of Monday's match.

Carlson said Kelly Price and Stephanie Nelson at the net and Lisa Knapp in the back row were Monday's leaders.

"Kelly (Price) had an excellent game at the net," Carlson said. "Stephanie (Nelson) was little off in the first game but came on in the second with lot of blocks and some good dinks and hits. Lisa (Knapp) played the back line really well."

Ovidio returns to SAC action Wednesday night at 6 when it hosts Seminole in what Carlson said should be an interesting match. Seminole has improved significantly since the teams' first meeting.

The Lady Lions are currently second in the SAC, one and a half games behind first place Lyman. Lyman goes for its 12th straight win overall and its sixth conference win tonight at home against Lake Brantley. Lake Brantley is 1-7 overall and 1-4 in the conference after Monday's loss.

In another conference match tonight, Lake Howell (2-1 in the SAC) hosts Lake Mary (0-4).

Thursday, Seminole is at Lake Howell and Lyman at Lake Mary. Lyman will also compete in the Jacksonville Invitational this weekend.

●In cross country Saturday afternoon, many of the top teams on state will be on hand for the DeLand Invitational at the DeLand Airport. Junior varsity races start at 2 p.m.

The DeLand Airport will be the site of this year's state championships (all classes) so most teams within a reasonable distance who have a shot at making state like to check out the course before they run it when it counts most.

●In swimming this week, there are three dual meets with Seminole at Lyman today, Lake Mary at Trinity Prep Wednesday and DeLand at Seminole Thursday.

●In freshman football tonight (kickoffs at 7), Seminole hosts Lyman, Lake Mary is at Ovidio, and Lake Howell is at Lake Brantley. In junior varsity football Wednesday night, Seminole is at Lake Brantley. In JV action Thursday, Lyman is at Lake Mary and Ovidio at Lake Howell.

Also on Thursday night, Seminole High's varsity travels to Daytona Beach to take on Seabreeze in a District 5A-4 game.

In Friday's games, Lake Mary hosts Spruce Creek, Ovidio is at Lyman in an SAC game, Lake Howell is at Winter Park and West Orange at Lake Brantley.

Ozzie Sports New Look

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Ozzie Smith is unique in what he does. Not so much in what he thinks, though.

What he thinks is that too many people look at the way he plays shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals, marvel over some of his spectacular acrobatics in the field and regard him as a one-dimensional player. An extraordinary glove man who isn't much with the bat.

That isn't so hard to understand. After all, Smith has won five consecutive Gold Gloves and his remarkable defense has earned him the name "The Wizard of Oz."

The Cardinals pay him $2 million a year and even he realizes little of that is for what he does with his bat.

Even so, people won't ever look at him the same way anymore.

Not after what he did Monday at Busch Stadium where for one electric moment he made everybody forget about his sheer genius with the glove.

His ecstatic Cardinal teammates weren't thinking about that at all when they mobbed him World Series-style for his ninth-inning homer off Dodger reliever Tom Niedenfuer.

The home run was the first Smith has ever hit left-handed. It powered the Cardinals to a 3-2 victory, moving them ahead of the Dodgers, three games to two, in the National League's best-of-seven playoffs.

The Cardinals now need only one more win to wrap up their second pennant in three years and they'll be looking to get it when they send Joaquin Andujar, their moody, petulant right-hander, against Orel Hershiser, in Wednesday's seventh game in Los Angeles.

Without coming right out and saying so, Smith gives the impression that only his defensive talents are appreciated.

He's probably right about that. But his thinking on the subject isn't that unusual.

Milton Richman
UPI EDITOR/Sports

Granted, Ozzie Smith is a true artist in his own field, but so many other great ones in different fields similarly keep seeking recognition and appreciation in areas where they aren't nearly as skillful.

Smith makes his living with his glove. Some baseball judges like Jerry Coleman, who once played second base for the Yankees and managed the Padres, call him the best defensive shortstop they have ever seen.

Smith played three straight years without hitting a single homer. Last year, he hit one for the Cardinals. This year he went on a minor rampage and hit six — one less than he hit in all his previous eight seasons. So we're not talking about any Babe Ruth here.

"I always felt I was a better offensive player than I was given credit for," said the Cardinals' gymnastic 150-pounder.

Smith rarely goes up to the plate consciously trying to hit a homer. That wasn't what he was trying to do against Niedenfuer, a big right-handed power pitcher who relieved starter Fernando Valenzuela in the ninth and opened the inning by getting Willie McGee on a foul pop.

Niedenfuer worked the count to 1-2 and then came back with a fastball inside that Smith unloaded.

"That's not really what I was trying to do," Smith said. "I was trying to get an extra base hit, get in scoring position. How did I feel about what I had done? I was real happy for the guys. These guys have continued to battle all year. It has been a real joy playing with them."

It was no joy for Niedenfuer. Back in 1981 in a playoff between the Dodgers and Astros, Houston's Terry Puhl hit an inside-the-park homer off him. The Dodger reliever remembered how he considered tackling Puhl as he made his way around the bases.

He had no such impulse with Smith, which was just as well. With some of the moves Smith has, Niedenfuer wouldn't have stood a chance.

"The last thing I was thinking about with Smith up was a home run," Niedenfuer said. "I was trying to come up and in with a fastball and he just turned on it. There isn't anything I can do about it now. I can't go back and get the pitch back. I'm a power pitcher. I'm not gonna take away from my basic game no matter who's up."

Dodger coach Monty Basgall was as surprised by Smith's unexpected display of power as most others in the ballpark.

"I just about fell off the bench," Basgall declared. "The little sonuvagun made himself a good hitter and you gotta give him credit. When he first came up, he couldn't hit you if you ran across home plate. But if anybody has value in this game, he has. The last time he signed they said they gave $2 million to a .180 hitter. Well, he's more like a .280 hitter and getting better all the time."

Smith batted .276 for the Cardinals this season and apart from his first year in the minors that was his best showing. So were his 54 RBI and those six homers of his.

If you watch him with any regularity, you'll see him do a cartwheel and backflip before the first game of the season and the last one. He did it again before Monday's game. The way he's going, the rest of the Cardinals are liable to join him any minute.

Royal Hopes Hang By Gubicza's Nails

TORONTO (UPI) — The Kansas City Royals are hanging on by their fingernails — Mark Gubicza's fingernails.

Kansas City manager Dick Howser has chosen his 23-year-old right-hander to pitch tonight when the Royals try to stave off elimination by the Toronto Blue Jays in the sixth game of the American League Championship Series.

Toronto holds a 3-2 lead after Kansas City's 2-0 victory at home Sunday, and the Blue Jays need just one win in two games to put the first Canadian team in the World Series.

"We've got two games at home and we need to win one," Toronto manager Bob Cox said. "If I could pick one city to play in, I'd chose Exhibition Stadium and Toronto."

The Blue Jays need some friendly confines, because in the last two games at Kansas City, the Royals let Toronto score in just one inning, the three-run ninth that gave Toronto a victory.

That the Blue Jays have scored only once in the last 18 innings can't make Cox feel too secure. It gives Kansas City hope that if it can continue to get that kind of pitching, it can reach the World Series.

Cox has nominated 17-game regular-season winner Doyle Alexander for the sixth game, and has his ace, Dave Stieb, set to pitch either the seventh game or open the World Series on Saturday.

Alexander was routed in the third game, the contest in which George Brett hit two home runs, a double, single and scored four times to personally put Kansas City back in the series.

He earned so much respect, the Royals walked him with nobody out and runners on first and third in the middle of the next night's game.

"We've got a big job ahead," Kansas City catcher Jim Sundberg said. "We've got to win the next two games."

If they do, the Royals will become only the fifth team in major-league history to come back to win after trailing 3-1 in a best-of-seven series.

Toward that end, Howser has made an interesting choice for the sixth game in the 6-foot-5, 210-pound Gubicza.

"The flag's not up," Howser said from the quiet of his office Monday during Kansas City's light workout. "We're not hurting. The distress signal isn't up. We're not in a panic situation."

"We don't have to do this," he said. "But we've got a lot of pitchers. We can do a lot of things."

Howser settled on Gubicza as his sixth-game starter when he warmed up left-hander Bud Black, the starter in the second game, twice Sunday in the middle of Danny Jackson's eight-hit shutout.

"He's the most rested," Howser said of Gubicza, who pitched three hitless innings against Toronto in the first game. "He did have some success, but that doesn't have an effect on how he'll pitch. But it might be a bit of an edge on how he'll feel."

The Royals are almost as confident as the Blue Jays entering the sixth game. They know they held the lead going into the last inning of two Toronto victories, games in

Jets Hassle Marino, Spear Dolphins

Football

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — As much as the New York Jets tried to downplay their battle for first place in the AFC East against the Miami Dolphins in the week leading up to the game, they ballyhooed their 23-7 victory Monday night that gave them the conference's best record.

"First of all, this is a rivalry," explained Jets right tackle Marvin Powell, who led the way for most of Freeman McNeil's 171 yards. "Secondly, they are the cream of the conference, no doubt about it. They are the pride of the AFC East. When Miami goes to the playoffs, every guy in this room roots for them. It is always a milestone to beat them."

It was a milestone victory. The Jets, 5-1, took sole possession of first place for the first time since 1969, snapped Miami's seven-game winning streak over them, and matched their best start ever, winning five straight.

The Jets defense became as familiar a part of Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino's jersey as the number 13, and the offense kept the linesmen moving the first-down chains.

Using multiple fronts, one in which All-Pro defensive end Mark Gastineau lined up as a blitzing middle linebacker, and ter-stepped through Miami's defense.

McNeil became the first player ever to rush for more than 100 yards against Miami four times.

Leahy hit field goals of 22 and 18 yards in the first half to give the Jets a 6-0 lead.

NAMATH'S JERSEY RETIRED
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Joe Namath, who brought glory to the American Football League and New York Jets, had his No. 12 retired during halftime of Monday night's game between the Jets and Miami Dolphins.

The Giants Stadium crowd stood and chanted "Joe, Joe" as the former quarterback was driven on the field. He received a standing ovation for several minutes.

The exuberant crowd refused to let Namath speak. Namath implored them it was "time to run the play," but the fans continued cheering.

"With all my heart and spirit," Namath said after the noise subsided. "Number 12 will always be a New York Jet."

Weeb Ewbank, Namath's coach for most of his 12 years in New York, presented him with his No. 12, the first number retired by the Jets.

Miles Pay Dividends For Penick, Samocki

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole High's Billy Penick and Lake Howell's Lisa Samocki have put in mega miles to get to where they are today. They work as hard as anybody and it showed Monday night as both turned in strong showings at the Seminole County Postal Run despite running with little rest.

Penick, a senior, soared to one of the top Postal Run times ever as he finished the two miles on the Lake Brantley High track with a time of 9:39.2. Lake Mary's Ken Rohr chased Penick for most of the race but Penick pulled away with two laps to go.

Penick's feat Monday night was even more impressive considering he ran in the Bishop Moore Invitational on Saturday and then competed in the DeLeon Springs 20-mile Blathlon on Sunday.

Actually, Penick went more like 25 miles in the blathlon as he and coach Sid Blackwell took a wrong turn on the cycling course. Blackwell said he had just passed Penick in the race and was about to pull away when they went off course. "It wasn't marked very well," he said.

"I was surprised Billy ran as well as he did," Blackwell said. "This is his third race in three days. And he really looked strong."

As did Samocki. The Lake Howell junior had Seminole's Shownda Martin running in her shadow for most of the race before she shifted into high gear with two laps to go and left Martin behind. Samocki, running on one day's rest after winning the Boone Invitational on Saturday, finished with a time of 11:34.7.

"Lisa was still a little tight from Boone but she said she felt good and she looked real strong," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammonree said. "Lisa is mentally maturing. Now, she goes out and sets the pace."

Thorne Land Stuns Raines Connection

After being blanked on four hits through six innings, things didn't look too bright for Thorne Land Clearing going into the bottom of the seventh.

However, its defense kept it in the game as it held the powerful Tim Raines Connection to just three runs.

Then, all heck broke loose. Thorne Land Clearing erupted for four runs on five hits in the bottom of the seventh to pull off the upset of the year, a 4-3 victory over the previously unbeaten and seemingly invincible Connection in Sanford Men's Fall Softball League action Monday night at Pinehurst Field.

The loss dropped the Connection into a tie for first place with Sessions Well Drilling.

The Connection took a 2-0 lead in the second on an RBI triple by Billy Griffith and run-scoring single by Fred Washington. Lloyd Wall's RBI single in the top of the seventh made it 3-0.

Mack Thorne led off the bottom of the seventh with a base hit and, with one out, Danny Gracy smacked an RBI double. Gracy scored on a single by Otis Raines to make it 3-2. Steve Martin followed with a base hit and Raines scored on Mike Whitten's single to tie it. The winning run then scored on a sacrifice fly by Emmitt Davis.

Softball

In Monday's second game, Geyser Systems pounded out 19 hits en route to an 18-3 victory over winless Cardinal Industries. Cliff Reynolds was 4 for 4 and drove in two runs to lead Geyser while Tom Hise added three hits.

In the nightcap, McKee Development outslugged Brown Boveri Electric, 20-14. McKee's six-run sixth inning proved the difference. Brett Von Herbulis had a most productive night at the plate as he was 4 for 5, hit for the cycle (home run, triple, double, single) and drove in five runs.

Official Warns Of Shortage In Public Housing

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — National public housing officials fired the first salvo in their battle to upgrade public housing at their national convention here by urging Congress not to enact a ceiling on the federal debt.

Public housing, community development and social programs would be the first services to go if Congress enacts an accelerated federal deficit cutting plan, Melvin J. Adams, the new president of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, said Monday.

About 3,000 housing officials holding their national convention on Miami Beach passed a resolution opposing the so-called Gramm-Rudman amendment.

Adams said a shortage of low cost housing will become a crisis in Chicago, Miami, New York and every other large U.S. city by 1990. "The stage has been set for a major national housing crisis," said Adams.

Adams, who has been head of the Dade County (Florida) Department of Housing and Urban Development for 14 years, was elected president of the national group Sunday, replacing William Ratzliff.

He said the shortage looms everywhere "there is a homeless population" and current prospects in Congress for tax reform would exacerbate the problem.

Adams said at a news conference that the government must help out with more federal subsidies, housing and favorable tax treatment of rental housing in general as well as low cost rental housing.

MARTA Settlements Considered

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Two environmentalist groups Monday suggested the state abandon its claim to thousands of acres of disputed submerged land, but tighten the law that puts the land into dispute in the first place.

Also on Monday, the state Department of Natural Resources attacked an alternative suggestion that would allow continued private acquisition and mining of the disputed land under the Marketable Record Title Act, but preserve state government's rights to regulate the use of the land and the water on top of it.

In a 37-page report, DNR analysts wrote that the alternative suggestion by phosphate industry would cripple the public's right to enjoy its own rivers, lakes and streams.

The 1963 law allows property owners to gain clear deed to their land as long as no one has filed a counter claim to it within 30 years.

But the law's architects never mentioned what effect it might have on the 22 million acres of river and lake bottom the federal government ceded to Florida at statehood in 1845, but for which the state holds no formal deed.

In 1976, the state Supreme Court held the law allows the transfer into private hands of those "sovereign lands." Since then, MARTA has meant the loss of some 50,000 acres of land the state considered its own.

Newton then decided Petros could not meet the 22-meet approval from the superintendent of schools and the school's attorney. The superintendent said it was improper for the school to approve such an activity on school property or school time.

When the school's attorney concluded allowing Petros to meet would violate the First Amendment ban on entanglement of church and state, 10 club members and their parents sued in June 1982.

They charged that their rights of free speech and of religion, free association and equal protection of the law were violated.

city ordinances. Outside influence in building department decisions is a dangerous practice that can lead to arbitrary protection where it is sorely needed. The Building Department's credibility is based on making decisions that are fully backed by the building code and city ordinances, otherwise it loses the ability to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the city."

The commission interpreted this broad statement as being an allegation that some official, or officials, were pressuring Bryant and interfering with his ability to do his job.

Bryant, who had not been informed by the commission of the hearing as of early today, Manning attributed to him what Manning attributed to him when he said he (Bryant) had not been subject to any influence or pressure to influence any decision made by him in his capacity as building official.

He also made a statement by Manning that "Mr. Bryant states that no member of the City Commission myself or other member of my staff have ever attempted to influence any decision he was required to make in his capacity as Building Official."

Bryant, who had previously declined to comment on the memo to the commission because Manning had ordered employees not to speak to the press without his approval, today said, "I did not intend to point a finger at anyone, but was just making a general statement to the building department. I do not intend to point a finger at anyone, but was just making a general statement to the building department. I do not intend to point a finger at anyone, but was just making a general statement to the building department."

Manning said his interviews with city commissioners and staff also failed to disclose any action by any commissioner or staff member to exert any influence on Bryant.

The commission has been trying to replace Bryant as building official since July by designating City Engineer Charles Hassler head over the Building Department as well as public Works and the Planning and Zoning departments. The city administrator and commissioners have maintained Bryant was hired by the former administrator, David Chacey as a building official since July.

...Measles

reasons and others have moved here from out of the county or state and may have been affected by contact with those already infected.

Five cases of measles were confirmed at the "Kids World" day care center in White Oak Friday, according to Dr. Deju. He said all five children have been removed from the center, taken to the county health department to determine the cause of their illness, and exact cause of their illness, and given gamma globulin to limit their reaction to the infectious disease and to fight the germ.

If they are older than 15 months they will be given measles vaccine three months from the date they were given the gamma globulin, according to Dr. Deju. He said children under 15 months old cannot be given the vaccine and many of the center's kids are under that age, thus prompting a quick response by the health department.

Measles is an acute infectious disease that affects children and is characterized by a high fever and red spots on the face. If untreated it can cause serious injury or death to children and is highly contagious, Deju said.

Eleven children, ages three months to five years old who had been in contact with the children who contracted the disease, have been isolated within the day care center to ensure their separation from the other 70 children at the school, Deju said.

"We have contacted all nurseries in the county and instructed them not to take admissions from parents without instructing them of the necessity of vaccination for measles and we have contacted all school administrators about the danger of measles in the schools," Dr. Deju said.

The outbreak apparently occurred after a woman from Orlando, with the virus, came in contact with a person from this county who in turn made contact with a woman from the day care center, who then infected one of the children at the school, Dr. Deju said.

Dr. Deju said new students to the area have at least 30 days to produce an immunization certificate from their doctors showing they have been properly immunized and that the immunization is current enough to allow them to remain in school. If they have no such certificate, they'll be given 21 days to get the necessary immunization shot or not be allowed to remain in school until they do, Deju said.

Clanahan, chairman, will be invited to the session to respond to questions.

The commission approved a request by John P. White of Plants At Work to set up a table for the display and sale of products at the intersection of the #106 and #202 buildings on the north side of First Street pedestrian mall area.

A staff recommendation for disapproval based on precedent setting for a peddler's license was ignored based on the premise that the sales location will be on private property. The commission also approved annexation of property lying at the northwest corner of the intersection of Airport Boulevard and Country Club Road.

The commission approved a request by John P. White of Plants At Work to set up a table for the display and sale of products at the intersection of the #106 and #202 buildings on the north side of First Street pedestrian mall area.

A staff recommendation for disapproval based on precedent setting for a peddler's license was ignored based on the premise that the sales location will be on private property. The commission also approved annexation of property lying at the northwest corner of the intersection of Airport Boulevard and Country Club Road.

"Victim" should contact the clerk of the court he provided a service for, and the clerk will notify the state treasury to reimburse him. Courts realize that witnesses are the keynote to a trial and have state statutes strictly relating to their reimbursement.

LOGAN PERKINS COLONIAL HEIGHTS, VA. DEAR LOGAN PERKINS: Compensation for witnesses who are subpoenaed to testify varies from state to state, but if I ever witness a crime (minor or major), I hope it's in Colonial Heights, Va. — or in some other community that rewards its witnesses with full compensation.

DEAR ABBY: You have had several letters in your column lately about how to handle unannounced visitors who show up at an inconvenient time. Years ago, I read a delightful book, "Hit on the Hall Table." The lady of the house always kept a hat on the hall table near the front door. When the doorbell rang, she'd put the hat on her head before she opened the door. And if the visitor was someone she wanted to see, she'd say, "Oh, I'm glad you caught me — I just got home. Come in."

If it was someone she didn't want to see, she'd say, "Oh, I'm so sorry. I was just leaving; I have an appointment."

Since we don't wear hats much these days, a purse and car keys on the hall table would work just as well.

Truth Or Consequences Can Be Risky Business In Hospital

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl. Recently I went into the hospital for some minor surgery. When I got there, I was asked a lot of personal questions — routine things, such as, "Do you smoke? Do you drink? Do you do any kind of drugs? Are you on the pill?" Most of the questions I would have truthfully answered no to, but my parents were in the room at the time, so I just said "no" to all those questions so as not to be grounded for the rest of my life. Then, I worried all the way up to the time of my operation, hoping I wouldn't go into a coma or something from the drugs or whatever they used to "put me under." Luckily, everything went well.

DEAR LIED: You are wise to realize that lying about using drugs or being on the pill could have created a dangerous situation, but fortunately for you everything went well.

Knowing you lied, you should have called the nurse after your parents left and revealed the truth.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter in your column from someone signed "The Real Victim." It seems "Victim" had witnessed a minor crime and was subpoenaed three times to appear in court to testify. He complained that it had cost him $487 for time off work, parking, etc.

The court should have informed this individual that if witnesses inform the clerk, either verbally or by letter, of their expenses, they shall be reimbursed. This includes mileage, meals and lodging. Travel can be by any means: bus, air, personal auto, train. Each state has its limits on how much it will pay per mile if a personal car is driven.

Part of my duties for the Supreme Court of Virginia is to reimburse Commonwealth witnesses, and even witnesses for indigent defendants.

DEAR ABBY: You have had several letters in your column lately about how to handle unannounced visitors who show up at an inconvenient time. Years ago, I read a delightful book, "Hit on the Hall Table." The lady of the house always kept a hat on the hall table near the front door. These Attacks May Be Due To Anxiety

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor is not concerned about the attacks I'm having. They start in the center of my chest as a burning sensation, then spread throughout my body. After they stop, a very cool, almost menthol feeling immediately follows. The first one is severe; then they just sweep over repeatedly, in lighter waves. Always there is a cramp or pain somewhere in my body, usually in the left wrist, just prior to these attacks, and I have a blacking-out feeling and tight pain to the left of my chest.

These attacks started in the hospital after a hysterectomy, when an I.V. blew out the vein in my left arm. They said I had "rolling veins." I would deeply appreciate any information you could give me on this.

DEAR READER — You describe a constellation of symptoms which are, frankly, puzzling. It seems to me that you are suffering from a general discharge of nervous energy of the type sometimes seen in anxiety attacks. On the basis of the information you provided, I cannot second-guess your doctor. One conclusion, however, is clear: Your symptoms have nothing whatsoever to do with "rolling veins" or the fact that I.V. fluid leaked out of the vein at the time of your surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 27-year-old female, 6 feet 1 and 130 pounds. I feel comfortable at this weight but have not had a period in two years. I work out and exercise a lot and understand it is common for women athletes to miss some periods, but for this long?

I saw doctors who said not to worry, and I went to herb shops that recommended a Chinese herb, Talk Kuei, myrrh extract and Vitamin E. A doctor gave me progesterone; it didn't work. The same doctor prescribed provera; that made it come back once, but then never again. Nothing has worked. What do you think I should do, and how much have I damaged my body?

DEAR READER — First of all, doctors who tell you not to worry are not going to bring your periods back. Neither will herbs and vitamins. Ovulation and menstruation are exceedingly complex bio-physiological processes. They can be upset by extreme stress, starvation, strenuous physical training and chemical (hormonal) imbalances.

I doubt that you have "damaged" your body, because simple lack of menstruation does not ordinarily reflect a perma-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is a deal from H.W. Kelsey's "101 Bridge Maxims." Today's maxim is a sound principle of defensive play: "Work out what partner needs to have in order to defeat the contract." If you want to take a test, cover the South and East hands and place yourself in West's chair.

Your partner's three-club jump was pre-emptive after North's takeout double, but that didn't slow South down. He jumped right to four hearts. Your opening king of clubs allows you to inspect the dummy while you still have the lead. What next? The bidding tells you it is unrealistic to place more than one defensive trick in the red suits in partner's hand.

(South had to have something to jump to game. If partner has just one trick in the red suits — the diamond ace or heart king — you still need to take some spade tricks to beat the hand. The jack of spades in partner's hand would be enough, but also the 10-9 of spades will do, provided you make the right play. You should play the spade queen at trick two.

Declarer covers with dummy's king. When East later wins the spade 10 and down goes declarer. No other play will defeat the contract, although in practice, declarer would be hard put to duck a spade around to his jack if West plays ace of spades and a small spade.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 15 1985

Favorable changes are in the wind for you in the year ahead, although early indicators might look otherwise. Beginnings will be less important than endings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though there will be indications that your material position is improving, this is not a time to be wasteful. Save rather than splurge. Major changes are ahead for Libras in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Allow yourself adequate time to think your moves through today. Impulsiveness will cloud your judgment and cause you to make avoidable mistakes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Loose talk on your part today could disclose something that should be kept secret. Don't be the one who lets the cat out of the bag.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be watchful today so that a presumptuous, extravagant friend doesn't involve you financially in something you've been trying to avoid. Say no, and mean it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An important objective will not be achieved today if you are too lax or indifferent. Don't blame circumstances for your lack of motivation.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep the lessons you have learned from painful past experience in the forefront of your thoughts today. Old errors might be repeated if you're forgetful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Take pains today not to be careless with the possessions of others. If you borrow something, make certain you return it in the same condition you received it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being a name-dropper today will bore your listeners. It's best not to talk about big shots you know only casually but pretend to know well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Duties and responsibilities should be attended to promptly today. The longer you delay, the less likely you'll be able to get them done.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) There is a possibility that you'll be the one who reaches extravagantly for the check today while your dining companions fumble for their credit cards.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) For the sake of expediency, you might commit yourself to do something for another today about which you will have regrets later. Don't make empty promises.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Guard against tendencies today to blow small setbacks or disappointments out of proportion. A poor attitude will magnify your problems.

ANNIE by Leonard Starr
