Local Lenders Find Few Can Qualify For Mortgages

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

High interest rates have forced several south Florida savings and loan associations to withdraw from the home loan mortgage market temporarily and local savings and loan associations are having trouble qualifying applicants for mortgages.

Gilbert Edmonds, president of First Federal Savings and Loan of Seminole, which raises its interest rate to 16.75 percent this week, said for all practical purposes mortgage loans have been shut off as not many people can qualify at these rates.

A survey Thursday found a growing number of lending institutions retrenching in the face of rising interest rates. Rates on home loans in south Florida have hit 16.5 percent at many institutions.

"People were having trouble qualifying at 15.5 percent," said Edmonds, who expects interest rates generally to be high the balance of this year.

"About the only home sales now are with mortgage assumptions," Edmonds said. "Nobody can purchase a home with an interest rate of 16.5 percent or more but I don't think it is going to stay up, it's going to bring everything to a halt until rates are more reasonable."

Another problem, loan officers say, is that many people are withdrawing their savings to invest in more lucrative paper certificates, such as money market funds. "We're in the same boat," said Edmonds, "we had a savings outflow last month, but right now we are having a positive savings flow."

Dot Brenner, branch manager for First

Federal of Mid-Florida in Sanford, said people are having a hard time qualifying at their interest rate of 16.5 and she expects the rates will go higher yet.

Edmonds said the negotiable mortgage which has a lower rate of interest, will be replaced by a new mortgage on which they are now working out the details. It will be an adjustable rate mortgage, for which the interest rate will likely be less because it will contain an option to adjust rates periodically, Edmonds explained.

"By the third quarter, I am hoping for rates to level off," said Brenner, "and people would be better off to hold off."

"It seems like in the last few weeks people have given up, we've had a big influx of applications. But they look at the high interest payments and back off," she added.

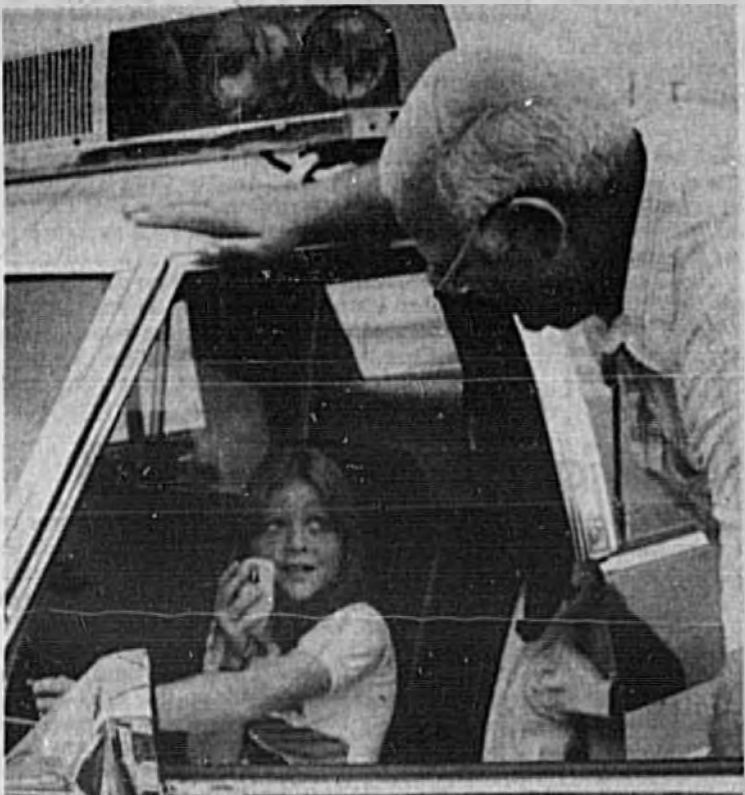

To illustrate the difficulty some homeowners have in paying monthly mortgage costs, here's how some of them break down at 16 1/2 percent:

If the mortgage amount borrowed is $1,000 for 30 years, the monthly principal-interest payment is $281.08; $30,000 is $421.82; $40,000 is $562.16 and $50,000 is $702.70. Those figures do not include taxes or insurance.

Holly Miller, loan officer at the Altamonte Springs branch of The First, said the current rate for 80 percent home mortgages is at 16.25 percent with a 13.5 percent rate for negotiable (variable) mortgages in which the rates can go up or down a maximum of 1.5 points every three years, according to market conditions, up to a total of 5 points.

"For those who are on the borderline for qualifying, 1 point can make a big difference," said Miller.

SHE'S SHERIFF TODAY

Pint-sized lawman Cathy Walton, 9, shows Seminole County Sheriff John Polk how it's done Friday as she talks with deputies in the field (left), advising them that she has taken over as sheriff. To prove her point, Cathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Walton Sr. of 126 West Lauren Court in Fern Park, assumes Polk's favorite position (right) as the sheriff wonders what the kid is doing in his chair. It was all in fun as part of Career Day in which area school students take over local government. It didn't take Cathy long to get the hang of the job. After walking around greeting employees with, "Hi, I'm your boss. Now get to work," she said she planned to "take a nap, get some lunch, and rest for the balance of the afternoon." Sounds like Cathy may have figured out Polk's daily routine.

Unemployment Steady

Energy Price Rise Slowed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Energy costs rose at a slower pace in April to cool inflation and hold wholesale price increases to 0.8 percent, nearly half the March rate, the government said today.

The 0.8 percent rise in seasonally adjusted producer prices of finished goods compares with the 1.3 percent level posted in March, the Labor Department reported.

If the April rate continued for 12 months, the compounded annual rate of inflation would be 10 percent, well below the 16.8 percent annual rate registered in March.

Meanwhile, the department also reported that unemployment remained at 7.3 percent in April, the same level measured in both February and March, even though 860,000 more people were employed.

Most statistical unemployment categories were unchanged or showed only slight adjustments, including the jobless rate for black and other minority teen-agers aged 16-19, which dropped from March's 37.3 percent to 36.1 percent in April.

The department said the moderate April price increase reflected "considerably slower increases in finished energy prices." Gasoline prices rose 1.3 percent in April, well below the 7.3 percent increase posted in March.

Consumer food prices, which showed no change in April, also helped to hold down the overall inflation rate. Large increases in eggs, pork, fruit and bakery prices were offset by declines in poultry, vegetables, sugar, and coffee prices.

However, prices for finished goods other than food and energy moved up 1.0 percent, twice as much as in March, the department said. A major influence in this category was car prices, which rose 1.4 percent in April following a 0.3 percent hike in March.

Over the past 12 months, the government said, energy prices at the wholesale level rose 21 percent. Consumer food prices, moderated by several months of price declines at the farm and food production levels, rose only 9.3 percent over the year, the government said.

Wholesale prices for consumer goods other than food and energy rose 8.4 percent over the year.

Analysts with Evans Economics, a private forecasting firm, and the Georgia State University forecasting project attributed their lower inflation predictions for April to a slowdown in energy price hikes.

They said the strong March fuel cost increases at the dealer's level that reflected President Reagan's early decontrol of domestic crude prices faded in April. Food prices, meanwhile, increased only slightly last month.

The Georgia project found that for the first time, neither food nor fuel was the major upward influence on prices in April. Instead it was price escalations for office machinery, computers, typewriters and copiers.

Director Donald Ratajczak said another problem area was auto prices, which began going up when rebate promotions ended. He also said natural gas and electricity prices were swinging upward, but "for the first month, the problem area is not energy."

Michael Evans, of Evans Economics, said, "The main trend is that inflation is going to come down for the next few months."

But why interest rates continue to go up while inflation goes down "is the $64,000 question," he said. "It's mainly psychological."

He predicted interest rates will go down "sharply around June." In the interim, Evans said higher interest rates have forced a sell-off in the commodity futures markets, exerting a downward pressure on wholesale food prices.

Wholesale food price trends usually shows up at the retail level within a matter of weeks.

Other employment categories were unchanged over the month — with the unemployment rate for adult women remaining at 8.6 percent, for teen-agers, 10.1 percent, and for white workers, 8.5 percent.

Adult men experienced a slight 0.1 percentage point drop to 5.8 percent. The rate for black and other minorities declined 0.5 percentage points to 13.2 percent, and the rate for Hispanics had the largest decline, 1.6 percentage points, to 9.1 percent.

Although overall employment increased by 580,000 during April, a bureau survey of establishments showed non-farm payroll employment down 230,000, mainly due to the strike by 160,000 soft coal miners.

Workers on strike are considered employed in the main household survey that provides most of the government data on jobs, but are not included in the payroll figures.

Construction jobs in the payroll figures declined by 80,000, but were still 100,000 above last July's recession low.

To Justice Department

Lake Mary School Zone Plan Explained

Seminole County school officials were in Washington Thursday to explain their zoning plan to fill the new Lake Mary high school with students. They had to go there because the U.S. Justice Department attorneys reviewing the zoning plan indicated this week the 19.7 percent black student population expected at the school to be low.

And, while school officials said a "positive atmosphere" prevailed in Washington when they answered justice department attorneys' questions about the zoning plan, they indicated they could not say for certain if the plan will be approved.

School Supt. Robert Hughes, who was joined in the trip to Washington by school attorney Ned Julian Jr., Board members Roland Williams, Bill Kroll, and Asst. Supt. of Instruction Theodore Dagg, said federal attorneys were still "non-committal," even after the group explained "as fully as possible" the procedures used in mapping out the zoning area.

Denounced by a group of Sanford parents as "further isolating the less advantaged Sanford community (Croombs-Seminole) from the more affluent north Seminole area," the zoning plan was approved by the school board in February.

County officials set the Thursday afternoon meeting after receiving a letter from U.S. Attorney Burtis Dougherty who expressed concern over the fact that Lake Mary zoning would produce a "virtually all-white" student body.

Further, the letter stated that "the effect of this proposal is to further isolate the Croombs-Seminole High School zone from the remainder of the county.

Dougherty explained today that the meeting was a chance for the two sides to "get together and spell out their positions and answer questions."

"We'll sit down with the old information and the new information we now have," he said.

Seminole school officials refrained from further comment on the meeting, calling the issue "very sensitive at this point." Dougherty said some decision would be released in the next two weeks.

Lake Mary Wants Water Conservation

Lake Mary City Council members like green grass and nice shiny cars as much as the next guy. But with near-drought conditions plaguing much of the state, they're asking city residents to conserve water by cutting back on their lawn watering and car washing.

At the council's Thursday night meeting, councilmen gave City Manager Phil Kulbes the authority to implement a voluntary conservation program aimed at easing demand on the already-overtaxed aquifer — a natural underground reservoir — from which most of central Florida draws its water.

"We don't have a real problem right now," Kulbes said, "but unless people start doing something right away, we're going to have one soon, particularly if we don't get some rain."

Lake Mary joins Longwood and Casselberry which have begun similar conservation efforts.

SPLISH, SPLASH
JUST A TEASE

Maple Avenue between Third and Fourth Streets in Sanford flooded Thursday afternoon during a downpour. The Sanford sewer treatment plant recorded one-half inch of rain during a brief period in the afternoon, but the showers turned out to be just a tease. Central Florida remains drought-stricken amidst appeals for water conservation.

Boss Runs Afowl Of The Law

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — A North Carolina aerospace manufacturer ran afoul of federal labor laws by ending its practice of giving Christmas turkeys to its employees, a National Labor Relations Board attorney charges.

Judith Dowd told the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Aeronics, Inc. should have bargained with the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers before discontinuing in 1976 its Christmas bonus given to each worker of a 14-18 pound turkey.

But Aeronics attorney James Lawrens contended the Christmas turkeys were a gratuity given to the firm's 1,100 employees at plants in Pineville, N.C., Lanadale, Pa., and Middletown, Ohio. The company had every right to discontinue the practice if it wanted to, Lawrence said.

NATION IN BRIEF

House Votes To Strip Major Social Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House leaders have been issued marching orders by a majority of their members — give President Reagan the budget cuts he wants to restructure the government and strip down social programs.

Over the emotional pleas of Democratic leaders to save programs "that made America great," the House voted, 253-178, Thursday to endorse Reagan's $598.3 billion spending plan for fiscal 1982.

Reagan, in a statement issued by the White House, called it "a resounding victory." He said Americans have been telling the government for years to put its house in order, and, "Today, the people have been heard."

4 Dead In Shooting Spree

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Four people were killed and 20 others wounded Thursday night by a young man who fired several rounds from a pistol inside a crowded tavern, police said.

Taken into custody and charged with first-degree murder was Lawrence William Moore, 25, a resident of Lyons, Ore., a town of 800 in the Cascade Mountains 25 miles southeast of Salem.

Three fatally wounded people died at the scene. A fourth died at the hospital.

Police said Moore entered the tavern near the Willamette River at 10:24 p.m. and "began firing shots into a crowd of patrons from an automatic pistol. The gunman fired multiple rounds, reloading clips of ammunition several times. No motive has been established."

Sickle-Cell Discovery

CHICAGO (UPI) — Early treatment of sickle-cell anemia—a blood defect primarily affecting blacks—can save the lives of small children suffering from the inherited disease, a California study shows.

Dr. Darleen Powers of the Sickle Cell Center of Los Angeles County described a dramatic turnaround in the treatment of youngsters under the age of 6.

Pneumonia infection has been the single greatest cause of death for children with sickle-cell anemia in the first five years of life. The infection progresses to meningitis and death unless treated promptly and effectively.

Missing Youth Found

ATLANTA (UPI) — A 14-year-old youth police feared was abducted by the killers of 26 young blacks turned up safe Thursday night. It marked the longest lull of the year in Atlanta's grim procession of deaths.

Eric Thompson was found in suburban Cobb County and was being questioned by juvenile officers.

Coal Talks Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers and the soft-coal industry are remaining silent on renewed contract talks aimed at ending a six-week nationwide strike by 160,000 miners, marred by scattered violence.

Union and industry representatives ended a three-week stalemate Thursday by returning to the bargaining table for a five-hour session. They were to meet again today.

Reagan, Suzuki Hit It Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ronald Reagan and Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki seem to have hit it off just fine personally, but there remains a nagging problem on defense matters.

An administration official said their first 50-minute meeting at the White House Thursday, followed by longer talks with Cabinet members, "established a very close working relationship" and was devoted more to "getting acquainted than settling grand issues."

At a glittering White House dinner Thursday night, Suzuki underlined the new rapport. He said he and Reagan "already were like 'old friends' who had 'known each other for many, many years.'"

Hurricane Arlene Begins To Lose Steam

MIAMI (UPI) — Off-season tropical storm Arlene fling 40 mile an hour winds and heavy rains into mountainous eastern Cuba today on a course aimed at the Bahama Islands.

At midnight EDT, the storm was centered on the southeast coast of Cuba, about 60 miles south of the city of Camaguey, near latitude 20.6 north, longitude 78.1 west. It was moving toward the northeast about 13 mph.

As Arlene hit east Cuba's mountains, its top winds dropped from 40 mph to 40 mph and satellite pictures indicated a slight lessening of rainfall.

Childers Maneuvering

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Senate President W. D. Childers has offered the chamber's 13 Republicans an unprecedented voice in the upcoming reappointment debate, a move to stem a growing revolt that might keep him from serving a second term.

Childers said Tuesday night he will appoint two reappointment committees and name two chairmen to head each panel—one Democrat and one Republican. Republicans also will hold about a third of the seats on each committee, comparable to their representation in the full, 40-member Senate.

Diagnostic Test Developed

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A University of Florida professor has developed a diagnostic test that enables women to know for sure if they are carriers of a rare hereditary disease called Menkes' Kinky Hair Syndrome.

Board Lists Most Costly

Going To Hospital? Check It Out

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A preliminary list of the most costly hospitals in the state will enable penny-pinching patients to shop around before checking into the institutions.

The Hospital Cost Containment Board Thursday released the list of the most expensive hospitals, which could mean a closer examination of the hospital's budgets and possible public hearings.

The state's general acute-care hospitals were outlined by using 200 computerized charts called "primary screens." Each primary screen compared a single hospital's 1979 patient-care revenues and operating expenses with the averages of similar sized institutions.

The board said hospitals in the top fifth in "total cost per adjusted admissions," one of 19 ways the primary screen determines averages and individual hospital figures, are subject to further examination.

Al Fletcher, director of the board's financial analysis staff, said the identification of target hospitals through the screens "is only the first step toward a completed analysis."

"Such a display does tell the board and the public which institutions we will be reviewing in depth as prospective budgets are submitted by each hospital this year," Fletcher said.

"(The screens) do not take into consideration possible legitimate reasons why a hospital might fall into the upper 20 percent," Fletcher said. "We expect to determine which hospitals in the upper 20 percent have solid justification for high costs and which do not."

Each of Florida's 254 hospitals were placed in one of 20 groups — 10 general or community hospital groups offering short-term general care, and 10 groups of specialized institutions.

The hospital will be reviewed in detail if its budgeted expense per admission exceeded the National Hospital Input Price Index over the applicable time period, said Sam Draper, acting chairman of the board's financial analysis committee.

In a list described as "preliminary" the hospitals were identified as:

Williston; Lake City Medical Center, Lake City; Daytona Beach General Hospital, Holly Hill; South Shore Hospital and Medical Center, Miami Beach; St. Francis Hospital, Miami Beach; Metropolitan General Hospital, Pompano Park; Community Hospital of South Broward, Hollywood; and Community Hospital of the Palm Beaches, West Palm Beach.

Also targeted by the board were Sun Bay Community Hospital, St. Petersburg; St. Petersburg Glaucomatic Hospital, St. Petersburg; Ormond Beach Memorial Hospital, Ormond Beach; Medical Center Hospital, Punta Gorda; Interbay Community Hospital, Tampa; Sun Coast Hospital, Largo; Medical Center Hospital, Largo; Ft. Myers Community Hospital, Fort Myers; and L. W. Blake Memorial Hospital, Bradenton.

Victoria Hospital, Miami; Pembroke Pines General Hospital, Pembroke Pines; North Shore Medical Center, Miami; North Shore Medical Center, Miami; Lucerne General Hospital, Orlando; International Hospital, Miami; Imperial Point Medical Center, Fort Lauderdale; Coral Gables Hospital, Coral Gables; University of Miami Hospital and Clinics, Miami; Las Olas General Hospital, Fort Lauderdale; Hillsborough County Hospital, Tampa; and Highland Park General Hospital, Miami were also identified by the board.

Jackson Memorial Hospital, Miami; South Miami Hospital, Miami; Mercy Hospital, Miami; Florida Hospital, Orlando; Cedars of Lebanon Health Care Center, Miami; American Hospital of Miami, Inc., Miami; Kissimmee Memorial Hospital, Kissimmee; Good Samaritan Hospital, Tampa; and Cape Coral Hospital, Cape Coral.

Other hospitals included Memorial Hospital,

'Converted' Preacher Wants Church For Gays

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — A Southern Baptist minister who underwent a sex change operation faces being stripped of her license to preach, but is determined to open a church for gays and transsexuals.

Priscilla Ann Rene, formerly Andre M. DeBejare, had a sex change operation in January in Colorado and has been living as a woman since. A court hearing in Bartow, Fla., Thursday acknowledged her female status and changed her last name to Rene.

A native of Los Angeles, DeBejare moved to the quiet central Florida community of Winter Haven in 1974. A graduate of California Baptist College in Riverside with a degree in religion, he received his minister's license from the First Baptist Church of Fontana, Calif.

It is that church that is now threatening to revoke the license.

"No way we would transfer the license into the woman's name," the Rev. George Horton, pastor of the Fontana church, told the Winter Haven News Chief in a copyright story. "We do not believe in this kind of thing. It goes against the Bible."

Horton said he will ask his congregation to revoke the license at its June business meeting.

But she remains determined to preach.

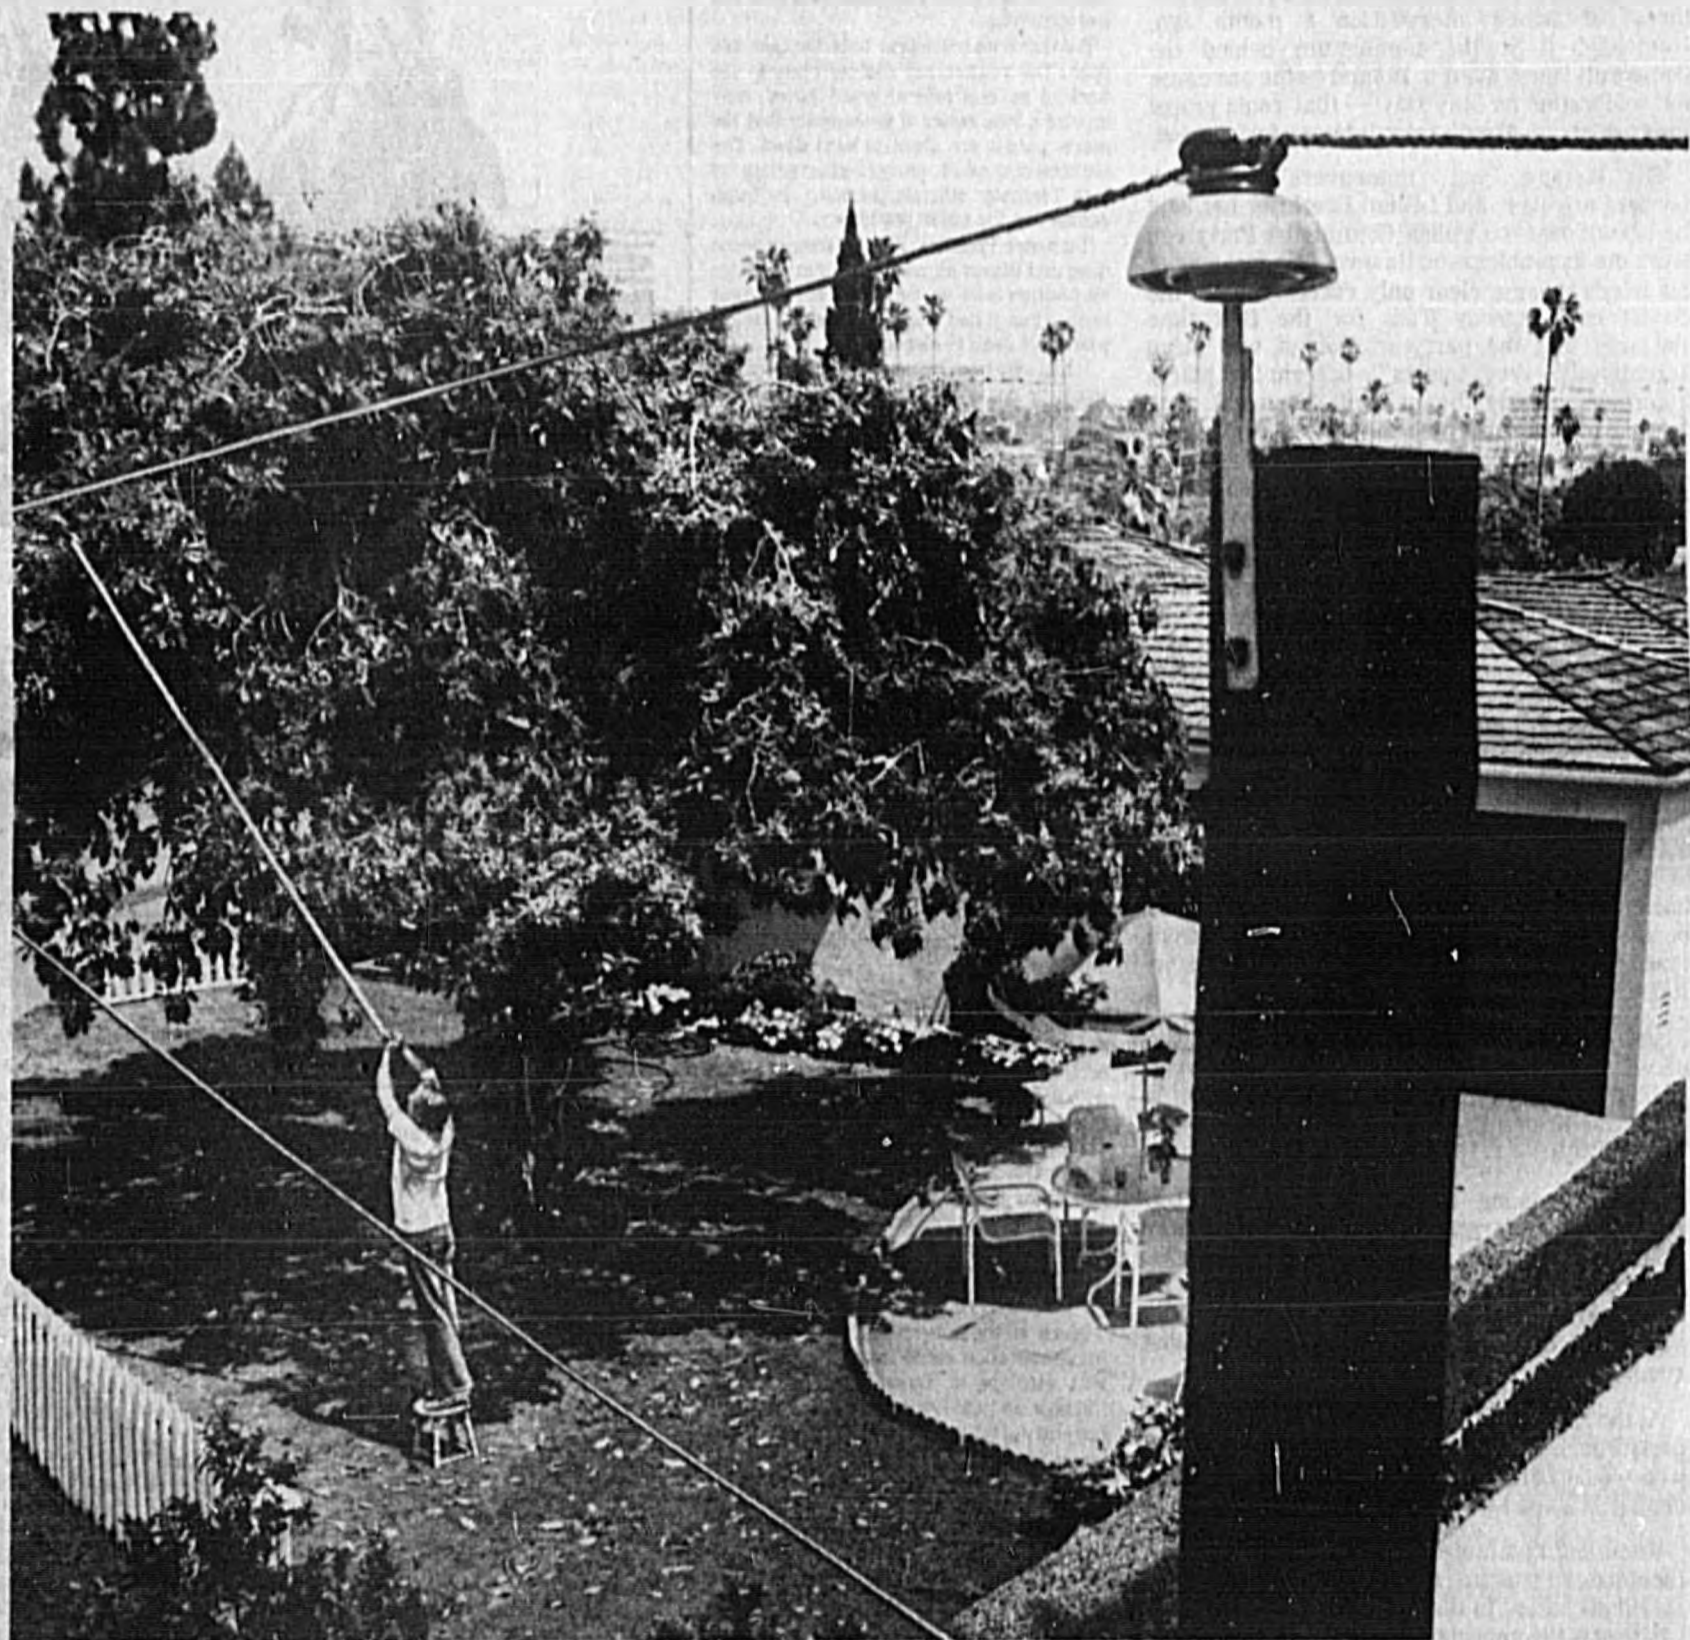

"Just because I had a sex change doesn't mean I'm not a Christian. I was called into the ministry to preach the gospel. I feel I have the right to continue preaching the gospel," she told the newspaper.

"I would like to open a church for people who are shunned because of their appearance — for transsexuals, homosexuals and blacks. Who is going to minister to these people? They have a right to know God's word."

"I do not regard what I have done as immoral. I have no guilt. I feel clean, religious and close to God. I don't smoke, drink, do drugs or use vulgar language. That's how I have always lived my life and how I always will."

"I want people to understand. I want them to have some feeling for me. I am not who I was in the past," she said.

Trees can be dangerous to your health.

Before you pick your fruit or prune your tree, please look up to see if any power lines are near. This simple precaution could save you from a serious accident.

You see, if a branch or your pole should come in contact with a power line, you could receive a serious shock. And under certain conditions, such as wet weather, you could get a shock just from touching the trunk.

We're doing our best to keep trees clear of power lines, but if you see one where Mother Nature got the better of us, call Florida Power & Light.

Celebrities Come To Aid Of Humane Society

Phyllis Dale Fashion Show Moderator

By TOI FITZPATRICK
Special to The Herald

A group of Central Florida celebrities is coming to the aid of the Humane Society of Seminole County in an effort to raise funds for a new shelter. They are volunteering their services to help hold the society together.

A musical, auction, fashion show and luncheon will be held May 16, beginning at 11:30 a.m., in the Buccaneer Lounge of the Cavalier Motel, U. S. Route 17-92.

The fashion show will be moderated by Phyllis Dale, who is called "Miss Beauty-full" by many. Sharing the limelight with Phyllis will be Art Grindle, Clay Daniels, Oliver Hardy, Red Hot Mama Sherli Davis and other mystery guests.

A full buffet will be served for a donation of $6 with proceeds directed to the new humane shelter.

Call Eunice Shomo, 862-4561 or 323-8685, the Humane Society Shelter, for tickets and information.

Phyllis Dale is living proof that "large can be sexy and attractive, as well as good-natured and fun to be with," as she puts it.

A self-taught musician, Phyllis was born in Bedford, Ohio, and at the age of 11, appeared on television, she organized a girls trio at 13, and has been involved in some type of show business ever since.

In 1974, after traveling for many years in the different aspects of her vocation, Phyllis received a long distance call from her agent in Chicago who said, "You are wanted in Fern Park, Florida at Freddie's Restaurant."

At that time, Phyllis said, she had no idea where Fern Park was, but she immediately fell in love with the Central Florida area. "I always wanted a home and this is it — I will never leave here," she added. She is still entertaining at Freddie's.

Phyllis comes from a family of large people. They have always been happy, outgoing and active people, she said. Her grandmother, who is now 90, sits more than she used to, but as Phyllis said, "At 90, even thin people are a little more sedentary. My family has never let their weight 'weigh' them down!"

She continued, "A few years ago, due to medication and physical problems, I gained quite a bit of weight very rapidly. It was then that I got to know the large person syndrome first hand... the problems of finding a proper fitting long white slip or slacks that fit without straining, colorful clothes cut to flow not cling and the real emotional problems about being fat."

There are over one-third of the people in this country who are classified as "large-sized", but so many hide in their homes, leaving only when absolutely necessary. They are self-conscious and often ashamed of their appearance, Phyllis said. They do not know how to dress comfortably and attractively nor where to start looking for clothes, she added.

PHYLLISDALE
... 'Miss Beauty-full'

"There were so few places equipped to help the large person, I decided to start an agency that would cater to the needs of the large sized people. "Beauty-full," fashion modeling for the full-figured was born," she said.

Phyllis moderates the fashion shows and models along with her other models, including the "Red Hot Mama" from Rosie O'Grady's, a magazine editor, a realtor, a medical receptionist, a nail sculptress and several housewives—all different sized, but, Full-Figured.

Phyllis and her models have been busy with modeling assignments all over the state. Harry D. Cupp interviewed Phyllis on Channel 35 before he left, and she is still receiving calls and mail from people commending her on this venture. Her agency was also recognized in the recent issue of BRW, a national magazine for large women.

Phyllis is diversified. She invited a group to her home one Sunday. They soon formed a club called the "Sunday Fun-makers." The group has grown to over 300 members. There are no dues, but the hat is passed to defray party expenses. Phyllis is a director of the Sunday Funmakers group and helps plan the parties.

She also has plans for a club "Plus and Plenty" which will give the really large people a chance to meet and talk with others who have insight into their mutual problems and solutions, diets and attitudes.

According to Phyllis, the large person frequently needs help to stay in the mainstream of life — a few tips on dressing, care of self and personal habits, and frequently help with identity problems.

Many of the weight control places are not structured for the needs of the large person. When a person is trying to lose 100 or more pounds, and is placed with people complaining about trying to lose 13 or 20, and is unable to keep up with the group exercises or programs, he feels out of place, self-conscious, and discouraged, she says.

There is also tremendous trauma to the body of one who is trying to lose so much. No one can diet effectively unless he is emotionally stable, realizes his own worth and purpose in life, Phyllis added.

"After 30 years in show business, which I love and will never willingly leave, I am pleased with the opportunities I now have through the modeling agency to meet people and offer help to them with some of the problems they may be facing. I am available to anyone who is going through problems with weight depression and diet. I have others who are willing to help with these problems, if needed. There is no charge, and no lectures about diet, control, will power, etc. . . just friendly support. I can be reached at 833-3013. I love people and want to help everyone to have a full and happy life," said Phyllis Dale, a truly "beauty-full" person!

New Indoor Plants Need Acclimatized

It seems incredible but the environment inside your home could be fatal to a new house plant, even though you know from experience that the light, temperature and humidity are just right for older plants of the very same species.

You could bring a new plant into your home and give it the same care your other plants thrive on only to watch it slowly die.

Many plants, including some of the most popular house plants, produce specialized leaves suited to the light conditions they grow in. These are sun leaves and shade leaves.

As a rule, sun leaves are smaller and thicker. They help plants avoid light injury but they don't necessarily make the most efficient use of low light in food production. Shade leaves are usually larger and thinner. They help plants make as much food as possible under low light conditions.

But they're easily damaged by too much direct sunlight. For low or medium light areas in your home you need plants with shade leaves. But some nursery plants grown out doors in full sun have sun leaves. So, unless the house plants you buy are properly acclimatized for indoor growing conditions, you can expect trouble.

The main reason sun leaves can cause problems for plants moved indoors is their high respiration rate. In simple terms — they use up a lot of food. That's fine for plants growing in direct sunlight.

Usually the rate of photosynthesis is greater than the rate of respiration. Again, in simple terms, the plants get so much light that they can make food faster than they use it.

But if a plant with sun leaves is moved to a shaded, indoor location, the high respiration rate will continue for many weeks. Unfortunately, as I said, sun leaves are designed primarily to prevent light injury, not to make the most efficient use of low light in food production.

So, in low light sun leaves produce less food than plants need. To make up the difference, plants have to consume stored food, they feed on themselves. Unless the respiration rate and the photosynthesis rate are brought into balance, the plant may die.

On the other hand, if a plant with shade leaves is moved into full sun for even a short period, it will be severely injured because of cell death caused by high temperatures. In either case plants must be acclimatized or gradually prepared for their new locations. Today more and more plants sold at reputable garden centers are already acclimatized to the light conditions for which they are recommended.

However, it's often desirable to move plants from one location to another in the home, and this can cause new acclimatization problems.

So I'll offer some examples of changes that will work and changes that won't. You can move a plant from a fluorescent light to an east window where it doesn't get direct sun, but you can't move a plant from a sunny terrace to a location under fluorescent lights.

You can move a plant from a south window to a terrace spot where it only gets early morning sun or partial shade all day, but you can't move a plant from a north window to the same location.

You can move a plant from a shady terrace to an indoor spot near an east or south window, but you can't move a plant from an east window to a sunny terrace or patio.

If you need additional information about acclimatizing your indoor plants please contact the Agri-Center in Sanford at 323-2500, ext. 175.

All extension programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

Date Is A Date, Not 'Property'

DEAR ABBY: Here's the picture: I took a date to a lovely dinner dance. Mary Jo sat at my left and to her left sat a gentleman named Bill who asked her to dance. Without any further ado, Mary Jo turned to me and said, "I'm going to dance with Bill."

Dear Abby

On the way home, Mary Jo and I had a few words about what happened. I say either Bill should have asked me if he could dance with Mary Jo, or she should have asked my permission to dance with Bill. I figure that she is my girl for the evening, and I don't like giving her free to entertain single men who are there. It just so happens that Bill's wife would not attend with him because she thought the modest amount for the evening was too much. (Incidentally, this couple is very well-heeled.)

But even if the evening cost me only a dollar, I still think my date should have shown more loyalty to her escort. What is your opinion, O Wise One?
RICHARD IN LANSDALE, PA.

DEAR RICHARD: You're right. Mary Jo should have asked you if you minded if she danced with Bill. And-or Bill should have asked you if he could dance with your date. However, Mary Jo is not your "property": she is only your date, and as such she is not yours to "give free" or withhold.

DEAR ABBY: A former associate of my husband (a married woman) has been in love with him for some time. I found some letters she had written to him. He admitted receiving them but said he never loved her — only liked her — and he was not responsible for what she wrote. He said he never responded to those letters, but it's hard to believe that she would write such passionate letters without some encouragement.

The problem is that although she is no longer associated with him, she visits him regularly at work. I have asked him to tell her there is no future in it for her and that she should quit visiting him. He says to tell her this would be making more of the relationship than exists. I think she is trying to wear him down. What do you think?
UPTIGHT IN ENCINO

DEAR UPTIGHT: I think by not discouraging the woman, your husband is encouraging her. And regardless of what he tells you, he is getting something he enjoys out of her visits.

'Not Ready For Prime Time' Rockets Attract Boston Believers

BOSTON (UPI) — They may call themselves "The Not Ready For Prime Time Players," but the Houston Rockets really think they belong in the NBA championship finals — even if others don't.

But, add the Boston Celtics to their rapidly growing list of believers.

The Rockets evened the best-of-seven series Thursday night with a 92-90 victory. Houston snapped a 14-game losing streak to the Celtics, dating back to Dec. 12, 1978, and also set an NBA record of eight road wins in the playoffs.

"We believe in ourselves and before this series is over, people in the Eastern Conference will believe in us too," said Houston's Billy Paultz.

The Rockets got a 31-point, 15-rebound performance from a full-throttle Moses Malone, but also got some key hoops and rebounds from unexpected sources in Bill Willoughby, Allen Leavell and Mike Dunleavy. They are the first team in 30 tries this season to beat the Celtics by scoring less than 100 points.

"We were so sloppy; we played like grade-schoolers," said Boston guard Chris Ford.

The Celtics again were plagued by turnovers (22) and mediocre (40 percent) shooting. Still, they were able to lead for most of the game and appeared headed for a win until Houston launched a 9-4 spurt in the final four minutes. The Rockets kept the pace slow, which is the way they like it.

The Celtics led, 86-83, when Malone was fouled by Larry Bird on a layup attempt, and the bid turned into a three-point play when the Celtics' star was called for a technical foul — his second in three games. The game was tied and a Malone free throw with 2:49 left gave Houston an 87-86 lead.

Boston came back for its only field goal in the last 4:20, a driving layup by Cedric Maxwell, but Houston scored the next four points on a corner jumper by Willoughby, who despite being ill had 14 points, and a gutsy fallaway by Leavell from the lane with 28 seconds left.

"We had good pressure on him (Leavell)," said Bird, who led the Celtics with 19 points and had 21 rebounds for the second straight game.

The Celtics cut the deficit to 91-90 on two Nate Archibald free throws, but Dunleavy converted one of two foul shots with 11 seconds left. A wideopen Archibald then missed a 12-footer at the buzzer.

"This game didn't affect me, but it looks like it affected some of my players," said Boston Coach Bill Fitch.

"When we were ahead, we didn't play well... There's nothing wrong with our team except fundamentals."

A key to the Houston win was the dismal effort of Boston center Robert Parish, who fouled out, had two rebounds (Archibald had three) and played just 14 minutes. Malone continually worked Parish over on the boards and the Celtics were forced to go to a banged-up Rick Robey longer than expected.

"Robey did a good job, considering he couldn't even lift his arm to his ear," Fitch said.

The Celtics expected Malone to play as he did. They didn't expect to be as shoddy as they were. But maybe Houston had something to do with it.

"Give Houston credit; they played a helluva game and controlled the tempo," said Kevin McIlale.

Merthie Pop Proves Ptomaine For Poppa Jay's; Shell Wins 18-8

Merthie stepped to the plate Thursday night as the leadoff batter for Sunland Corporation in the bottom of the third. His team was being pounded 11-0 by Poppa Jay's.

Merthie looked for his pitched, found it, barked it about 25 feet beyond the field fence. It signaled the beginning of the end for Poppa Jay's.

Before the third inning was over, Sunland had scored 11 runs to take a 13-0 lead and then ended the game under a 10-run slaughter rule with nine runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Final score: Sunland Corporation 22, Poppa Jay's 12.

First Federal dumped Sanford D.A.V. 6-4 in an earlier game, and took a game and a half lead in the Sanford Little League when Poppa Jay's lost.

In Thursday's other game, Clem Leonard Shell whipped Cardinal Industries 18-8.

Todd Revels was the winning pitcher for Sunland, coming in to pitch after starter Travis Brown loaded the bases in the top of the third. Revels got the first out when he enticed Ronald Blake into hitting into a run-scoring fielder's choice and then struck out the next two batters. Revels gave up one run and one hit in the fourth.

Revels and Merthie each blasted a home run and single for the winners. Ronald Blake and Joey Sheehan had homers for Poppa Jay's.

D.A.V. and First Federal were locked in a tight game until winning pitcher Shane Lee blanked D.A.V. in the third and his team scored five runs in the bottom of the inning.

Andy Griffin paced First Federal with two hits, both doubles. Roberto Fonseca and Timmy O'Neil rapped doubles for the losers.

The first inning was the difference between Clem Leonard Shell and Cardinal Industries. Clem Leonard Shell scored 10 runs and Cardinal Industries ended up with nothing. The two teams played evenly the rest of the game.

Cardinal Industries out-hit its opponent five to four, led by Dwayne Willis with a pair of singles.

Kevin Wynn had a double for the winners.

Sporting Goods 6-Run Third Rips Rinker Materials

Seminole Sporting Goods rallied for six runs in the third inning and upset Rinker Materials 8-4 Thursday in the Sanford Pee Wee League.

Defending champ Adcock Roofing dumped Butch's Chevron 16-3 for its first win of the season in Thursday's other game.

Clem Leonard Shell and Ken Kern's Garage battle for sole possession of first place in the Sanford Pee Wee League in a 5 p.m. tilt today at Fort Mellon Park. Both are 1-0.

After Seminole Sporting Goods scored one run in the top of the first, Rinker Materials chalked up five in the bottom of the first. But Seminole Sporting Goods scored another single run in the top of the second and then took the lead with six runs in the top of the third.

Timmy Hampton, who came on to pitch for Seminole Sporting Goods after the first inning, retired the side in order in the second, allowed one run in the third and then blanked Rinker in the fourth despite loading the bases with two outs.

Seminole Sporting Goods had two hits, triples by Eddie Phillips and Steve Willis. Edgar Lemon had a triple for the losers.

Adcock Roofing pounded seven hits and capitalized on six errors to beat Butch's Chevron. Adcock scored six runs in the first and increased the lead to 9-0 before Butch's Chevron came up with its three runs in the bottom of the second.

Jessie Nightingale was the winning pitcher, with relief from Sean Washington. They combined to pitch a one-hitter.

John Bryant and Anton Reid each blasted a pair of triples for Adcock Roofing. Ray Adcock also tripled for the winners.

Nightingale had the only hit for the losers.

KOC Can Clinch With Win

Knights of Columbus goes for the first half championship in the Sanford Junior League today when it battles second place Kiwanis at 5 p.m. at Chase Park.

Knights of Columbus, 8-0, has already clinched at least a tie for the first half title. A win today would clinch the title. A loss would force Knights of Columbus to play a makeup game with Kiwanis.

Kiwanis, defending champion in the league, is 7-3 and is the only team that is not mathematically eliminated from the first half race.

Elks, in third place with a 5-3 record, has finished play in the first half and is idle today.

In today's 7 p.m. game, Rotary plays Masters Cove Apartments.

The second half of the 10-game schedule begins Monday.

Alouettes Court Collinsworth

(ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)) — The Montreal Alouettes are courting Florida wide receiver Cris Collinsworth and he plans to visit the Canadian Football League team.

"I'm going to go up there and see what they have to say," Collinsworth told the newspaper by telephone from Gainesville.

"At this time in my life, I have to look at football from a financial point of view."

Williams Throws Today Burch Leading Lady For Tribe Track Hopes

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

While Tony Hardy and Brenda Davis continue to limp along, senior Reuvenia Burch has taken over the leadership role of the Seminole girls track team which shoots for its highest finish ever in the State Track Meet Saturday at Showalter Field in Winter Park.

"Reuvenia's been carrying the load," said Coach Emory Blake about his prize hurdler. "She's come a long way and she's the only one that's getting better each time out."

Burch will run the 110-yard low hurdles and the 330-yard intermediate hurdles Saturday. She will also compete on the mile relay team.

The long jump and the discus will open the ceremonies Saturday at Showalter under the direction of Winter Park's respected track coach Bob Mosher. The shot put follows at 4:30 p.m. The high jump and the pole vault begin the night's activity at 6. The running finals are at 7 p.m.

Davis and Hardy, meanwhile, continue to improve from nagging muscle pulls. "Tony's improved a whole lot," said Blake. "She's about 90 percent and Davis is 80."

Hardy will compete in the long jump which she won at the Lake Worth Regional with a leap of 16-7 1/2. Her best jump this year is 18-11. Hardy will also run legs on the mile and 440-yard relays. Along with Hardy on the 440 relay is Arlene Jones, Davis and Crystal Caldwell. Sophomore Jackie Fort is an alternate to any injured performers.

Crystal Caldwell will also team with Hardy, Davis and Burch on the mile relay. Two of Blake's flashy freshmen—Traci Brown and Sharon Jenkins—team with Revonda Caldwell and senior Sharon Newell on the mile medley relay.

Blake and Assistant Coach Nate Perkins are confident the Seminoles will do well, with or without great performances by Hardy and Davis.

"Oak Ridge is real tough. They'll probably win. But our kids should finish in the top four," said Blake. Perkins felt Jacksonville Ribault and Ft. Lauderdale McArthur and Ft. Lauderdale Dillard would give Sanford its toughest competition for a third or fourth spot.

While the Seminole girls have been much bally-hooed for their young, fast team, down the road a piece at Lyman Coach Larry Bater probably has the most startling fresbie in Schowanda Williams.

"Schowanda is a very hard worker," attests the personable Baker about his 99.3 quarter-mile champion in last week's regional. "Her attitude is superb. She's really done a great job for a freshman."

Lyman also qualified senior Brenda Haggins in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles. She was third in the regional. Williams and Haggins combine with veteran Rhonda Hollenbaugh and sophomore Anjanette Cleveland for the Lady Greyhounds' mile relay entry.

While the Tribe women are concerned about where they will finish in the standings, boys' coach Hank Daviero would be satisfied with a place from one of his two crack relay teams.

"I've been trying to track down some times," said Daviero Thursday night. "But I haven't had much luck. I think our mile medley team has the best shot. Their times have been coming down every time."

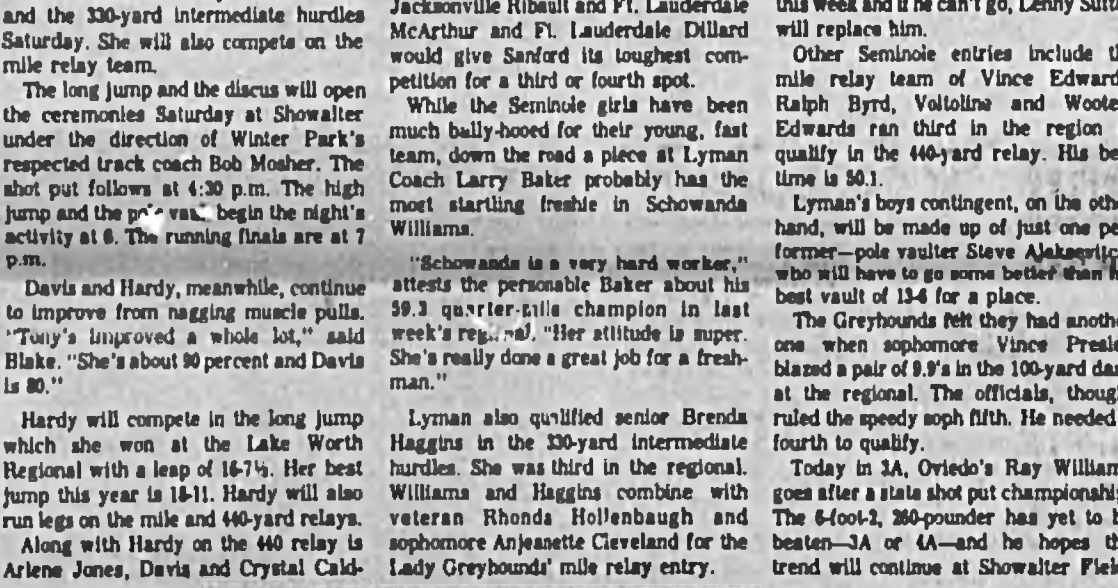

The medley is composed of Larry Eason (2:20-23.0), David Humphrey (2:20-22.7), Jim Voltoline (4:40-48.5) and Mike Wooten (8:02-00). Eason turned an ankle this week and if he can't go, Lenny Sutton will replace him.

Other Seminole entries include the mile relay team of Vince Edwards, Ralph Byrd, Voltoline and Wooten. Edwards ran third in the region to qualify in the 440-yard relay. His best time is 50.1.

Lyman's boys contingent, on the other hand, will be made up of just one performer—pole vaulter Steve Aleksevitch, who will have to go some better than his best vault of 13-6 for a place.

The Greyhounds felt they had another one when sophomore Vince Presley blazed a pair of 9.9's in the 100-yard dash at the regional. The officials, though, ruled the speedy soph fifth. He needed a fourth to qualify.

Today in 3A, Oviedo's Ray Williams goes after a state shot put championship. The 6-foot-2, 260-pounder has yet to be beaten—3A or 4A—and he hopes the trend will continue at Showalter Field.

SCC Down 7-0, Rallies For Victory

Wednesday after a 10-4 setback to Florida College, Seminole Community College Coach Jack Pantelias was saying how six runs was too much for his Raiders to make up.

Wrong again Jack, Thursday, the Raiders surged back from a 7-0 deficit to remain alive in the Junior College State Baseball Tournament by whipping Gulf Coast 10-7.

"I was impressed with the way we came back," said Pantelias. "I was kinda awed."

The Seminole victory eliminated Gulf Coast and pits the Raiders against Chipola today at 5 p.m.

Chipola lost a narrow 6-3 verdict to Manatee, who along with Dade South are the two teams without losses.

Dade South whipped Florida College 5-3.

Valencia, meanwhile, sent top-seeded Indian River home without a victory 13-4 as just six teams are left in contention.

Today's Pairings:

In the Seminole victory, Steve Birchmeier came on for starter Eddie Augustine and hurled seven scoreless innings to pick up the Raider.

Birchmeier, 3-0 and the top SCC reliever all year, yielded just seven hits.

"He's been phenomenal," raved Pantelias about his right-handed junior.

If SCC wins today, they play the loser of the Manatee-Dade South showdown at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Raines, Valenzuela Not Only Rookie Stars Says Tanner

By United Press International Fernando Valenzuela and Tim Raines have been getting a lot of attention, but there's a rookie in Pittsburgh who's also been impressing the boss.

"He can throw, he can catch and he can hit the ball," said Pirates' Manager Chuck Tanner of his rookie catcher, Tony Pena, who got the game-winning RBI in Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory in the opener of Thursday night's double-header with the Cincinnati Reds. The Pirates also capped the nightcap, 7-1.

Pena, 21, is being eased into the regular lineup by Tanner, who fears he may be hurt if pushed too quickly. "We're bringing Pena along slowly," Tanner said. "For a rookie, he calls a game very well. We're looking for great things from him."

In the first game, Pena's RBI single to center broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning. John Milner's sacrifice fly gave the Pirates an insurance run and made Rick Rhoden, 4-0, a winner.

In the nightcap, Dale Berra drove in four runs to help the Pirates sweep Eddie Solomon, 3-1, making his first start of the season, went eight innings and Grant Jackson pitched the ninth.

In other games, Atlanta topped St. Louis, 6-3, Houston shut out Chicago, 6-0, Los Angeles got past Philadelphia, 3-1, Montreal beat San Diego, 3-1, and New York stopped San Francisco, 3-2.

In the American League, it was Oakland 3; Detroit 3; Toronto 6; Cleveland 3; Texas 9; Chicago 4; California 2; New York 1; and Seattle 4, Milwaukee 1.

Braves 4, Cardinals 3 ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Bruce Sutter knew when he threw the ball that the St. Louis Cardinals were in trouble.

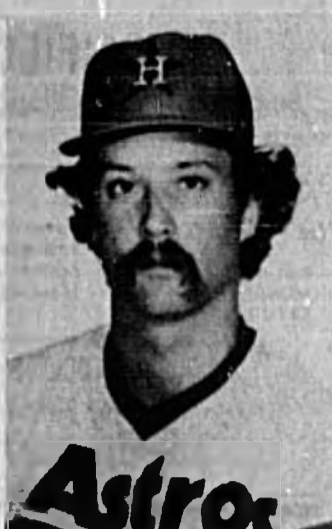

Sutter, the relief specialist the Cardinals acquired from the Chicago Cubs over the winter, was facing pinch-hitter Brian Asselstine with the bases loaded and two outs in the eighth inning of Thursday's game against the Atlanta Braves.

He had worked the count to three balls and two strikes when he let go with his spliffingered fastball.

"It was a ball," Sutter admitted later. "I had good stuff today. I just walked him. What can you say?"

The walk forced in pinchrunner Jerry Royster and gave the Braves a 4-3 victory — handing the Cardinals their first back-to-back losses this season.

Sutter had relieved starter Silvio Martinez, who was charged with the loss, with one out in the eighth and runners on

BOB KNEPPER ... three shutouts

TIM RAINES ... speedy home run first and second. On his first pitch, however, Royster and Dale Murphy worked a perfect double steal.

Astros 6, Cubs 0 Bob Knepper pitched a six-hitter for his third shutout of the season and also singled and scored in the second to lead the Astros. Knepper, 3-0, struck out five and walked two in lowering his ERA to 1.00.

Dodgers 2, Phillies 1 Steve Garvey broke a 1-1 tie with an eighth-inning RBI single and Jerry Reuss, 3-1, scattered six hits and retired

14 straight batters between the fourth and ninth innings to lead Los Angeles. Expos 2, Padres 1

Ellis Valentine snapped a tie with an RBI double in the eighth inning, and Raines hit an inside-the-park homer to carry the Expos. Raines also stole his major league-leading 22nd base.

Metas 3, Giants 2 Mike Jorgensen went 3-for-3, including a two-run homer in the sixth, and Doug Flynn added a solo shot to help the Mets to only their third victory in the last 13 games.

Boosters Need Donations

The Seminole Booster Club's Flea Market Sale will take place Saturday, May 16 at the Flea Market on French Ave.

should call Seminole-Business Manager Gay Alling at 322-4332 extension 232. The items will be picked up Saturday, May 9 and Alling urges that the donors call as soon as possible.

AL Roundup

Angels Nip Yanks, Fregosi On Ropes?

By United Press International The California Angels appear to be asking Manager Jim Fregosi what he's done for them lately. They may not even wait for an answer.

"Jimmy's not happy, I'm not happy and Gene (club owner) Autry's not happy," said Buzzy Bavasi, Angels executive vice president, Thursday night while watching the Angels defeat the New York Yankees, 2-1. "I haven't discussed this matter with anyone as of this moment. Who knows what's going to happen tomorrow?"

Last year, injuries left the Angels with a 65 win record and sixth place in the seven-team division. This season the team continues to flounder with a 13-15 record.

Fregosi explained living with "rumors" is part of his job. "I heard them all winter but rumors will be rumors," he said. "I just think rumors have an unsettling effect on our ball club. But I'll be at the ball park tomorrow to see if my uniform is still here."

Don Baylor singled in Dan Ford from third base in the sixth inning. Ken Ford, 4-1, struck out five and walked three in 7 2/3 innings. Don Aase finished and earned his second save. Tommy John, 4-2, yielded six hits but wild-pitched home the Angels' first run.

In other games, Seattle defeated Milwaukee, 4-1, Texas bombed Chicago, 9-4, Oakland overpowered Detroit, 8-3, and Toronto beat Cleveland, 8-2.

In the National League, it was: New York 3, San Francisco 2; Atlanta 4, St. Louis 3; Houston 6, Chicago 0; Los Angeles 2, Philadelphia 1; Montreal 2, San Diego 1; and Pittsburgh 3, Cincinnati 1 and Pittsburgh 7, Cincinnati 4.

Rookie David Henderson hit a two-run homer and Tom Paciorek lofted two sacrifice flies to lead Seattle to its second consecutive victory under new Manager Rene Lachemann.

Rangers 6, White Sox 4 Bump Wills drove in three runs, two with a single that keyed a seven-run eighth in the Rangers' fourth straight victory. Ed Farmer, the fourth White Sox pitcher, fell to 0-2.

A's 5, Tigers 3 Cliff Johnson, Mitchell Page, Tony Armas and Jeff Newman hit home runs in the A's comeback victory. Mark Keough was knocked out in the third inning, the earliest departure for an Oakland starter this season.

Blue Jays 6, Indians 2 Dave Stieb, 3-3, fired a five-hitter and Otto Velez and John Mayberry hit solo homers. Toronto went hitless for 3 1/3 innings until Velez reached Rick Waits, 7-1, to spark a four-run fourth.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

'Dowager's Hump' Can Be Controlled

DEAR DR. LAMB— I have osteoporosis with numerous fractures of the vertebrae. Recently in your column in an answer to a woman's question about a hump in her back you told her she probably had osteoporosis and that it could involve other bones in the body. If bones in the knee and leg are involved by osteoporosis what are the symptoms? Can it be diagnosed as different from arthritis? My orthopedist has told me that only the spine is involved in this disease, but it does make sense to me that if lack of calcium in bones causes it, that it would cause trouble in other bones.

DEAR READER— I'm sure you misunderstood your orthopedic surgeon. He probably told you that only your spine was involved. Osteoporosis, the loss of bone structure that leads to the dowager hump, can and does involve other bones. In fact, one of the earliest signs of Osteoporosis is the loss of bone tissue around the roots of the teeth, which in turn can be one cause of pyorrhea.

Osteoporosis is more complicated than just not getting enough calcium in your diet, although lack of calcium increases your chances of having such problems.

Osteoporosis, Bone Softening. Readers who want this issue for more details can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Lack of hormones is an important factor in causing this problem after the menopause.

DEAR DR. LAMB— How much milk or calcium rich foods should an adult woman consume to help avoid "Dowager's hump"? I am 33 years old, 5 feet 3 and weigh 118 to 120 pounds.

DEAR READER— You are too young to worry about that yet. The problem doesn't start until after a woman has passed through the menopause. While the exact role of calcium in the diet as a factor in causing osteoporosis is not established, women on calcium-deficient diets are five times as likely to develop osteoporosis as women getting adequate calcium.

When osteoporosis involves the other bones, including the thigh bone or arm bones, they are said to be brittle bones. They fracture easily. These brittle bones are the underlying cause of many fractures in older people. Otherwise, a decrease in the amount of bone tissue doesn't cause any symptoms. The bones may bow or you may see loss of density on X-ray films. The degeneration of the spine causes symptoms by pressure on nerve structures emerging from the spine.

dummy's jack. West rose with his king and led a diamond, but the Prof was home free. He was able to discard dummy's low diamonds on two good clubs and wind up with just three losing tricks.

"Your play worked," said the student. "But it would have cost you the contract if East had held both the ace of diamonds and king of clubs, or could you have pained some other rabbit out of your hat?"

"There was no way for me to lose the contract," replied the Prof. "West needed the king of clubs or ace of diamonds for his opening bid. East needed one of those cards for his raise. Thus, they were going to be split. My only real problem was whether or not I should have played for an overtrick. If West held the ace of diamonds I could lead diamonds toward dummy and finesse for the king of clubs in the East hand and make five odd."

The game was duplicate, but the Prof had been wise not to think about the overtrick. Only a few South players were in four spades so that the important declarer consideration was to make sure of the contract.

For Saturday, May 9, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY May 9, 1981
 This coming year your prestige and influence over your peers will be considerably enhanced. You won't necessarily seek the mantle of leadership, but developments are likely to thrust it upon you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 There are things which you can do around your place today to beautify the surroundings, and probably save yourself some money in the process. Go to it!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 You're very lucky today at making favorable impressions with persons who can help you advance your self-interests, even though your intentions won't be to make points.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Some days material things come to us easier than they do on other days. This could be your day. In fact, you might be fortunate in several areas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Focus your efforts and energies today on things which are enjoyable. Give your worldly ambitions a rest. Save your push for the work week.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 If you're on the track to something today which could help you careerwise, operate as unobtrusively as possible. Skirt the spotlight, don't stand in it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Your judgment is very good today, provided you allow yourself time to study propositions brought to you. Mistakes are possible if you submit to pressure.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Don't wait on others if there is something important you hope to achieve today. You could spend too much energy trying to rally their enthusiasm.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 You'll function very well in the realm of ideas and intangibles today, but you could lack ability where physical skills are required. Be careful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 Putting business deals together could turn out rather fortunate for you today, but don't oversell, give the other guy a chance to say "yes."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 To maintain harmony on the home front today, you may be required to bend a little extra in order to placate your mate. So what? It's worth it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 This could be a very productive day, but don't overdo or push yourself too hard. If tasks aren't finished completely, you'll still have tomorrow.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 This should be fun day for you because you will be well received, no matter where you go. However, recall: You don't have to pick up everybody's tab!

Florida Baseball School Operator Wes Rinker (left) shows an aspiring major leaguer the proper form when throwing a baseball. Rinker believes that throwing starts from the ground up as can be seen by the young man's position.

It's How You Throw The Game

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

It's the first inning of any ball game anywhere in the United States. The batter, a 10-year-old Little Leaguer, dribbles a soft ground ball down the third base line which rolls foul near the coaching box.

His 10-year-old opponent at third base leisurely jogs over to pick up the ground ball, squeezes it tightly next to his palm and hurriedly whips it without any fluidity back to the pitcher.

A simple occurrence you might say. Throwing a baseball. Maybe for you throwing started with rocks or tennis balls or golf balls. Everybody knows how to throw don't they?

Wes Rinker says no. "They might throw, but they don't throw correctly." And for a baseball or softball player — regardless of the age — it could lead to arm problems and short-circuiting of an enjoyable recreation.

"There were 240 kids on 12 teams from DeLand out here the other day and none of them knew how to throw correctly," said Rinker. "And they're of Senior Little League age."

Rinker, a strapping 6-foot-7, 220-pound left hander, grew up playing baseball all day in Grand Ridge, Ill.

Upon high school graduation he signed with the New York Giants. Rinker credits the scout that signed him, former major leaguer Tom Sheehan and his first minor league pitching coach, Frank Shellenback, with helping him become a connoisseur of throwing a baseball.

"I could always throw. I guess I learned by accident, but Sheehan and Shellenback helped me a lot," Rinker said. "It was just in the last 10-12 years I've felt I have perfected it."

After a brief tour of duty with the Giants in 1950, a bum arm sidelined Rinker's Major League dreams.

He turned to scouting. In LaSalle, Ill. a Polish-dominated sports town in upper central Illinois, Rinker was holding a tryout camp for some Major League scouts.

He got so frustrated seeing 18, 19 and 20 year olds who couldn't throw a baseball right, he said, that he decided to give throwing instructions.

Some say he has become the foremost expert on throwing in Central Florida if not in the southern part of the United States.

Working out of the Florida Baseball School, which he runs from Sanford Memorial Stadium, Rinker has conducted over 600 throwing clinics in the past 14 years, including many in other parts of the United States and Canada.

From January through March Rinker's baseball complex is over-run with students from out-of-state colleges and high schools.

strumental in signing Sanford's Tim Raines, is one of Rinker's biggest boosters.

"I've seen a lot of them (clinics) in 24 years of baseball," said Moore who scouted for Detroit for 15 years and Montreal the last nine. "But Wes has the best baseball instruction and technique I've ever seen."

"I've been watching him for four years now and he didn't even know I was watching the first year and a half. This facility is outstanding. It has the best baseball instruction in the United States," Moore said.

It didn't start out that way.

Rinker took a dying and decaying Memorial Stadium and built it into an outstanding complex which now houses the stadium field and four baseball diamonds — including one named for the late Zinn Beck — outside the stadium, which he leases from the city of Sanford.

The movement started in 1975 and Rinker has added something new every year. He has batting cages, extra pitching mounds, hitting tires, a video tape machine, complete with a viewing room underneath the stadium's first base grandstand.

It is a perfect baseball paradise for the person that wants to know the correct way of not only throwing a baseball, but any of the game's finer points.

And the instruction knows no bounds. Rinker's pupils range from Raines — one of the National League's hottest rookies this year — and David Wiggins, who is tearing up the league at Phoenix (Giants' AAA) to little Eddie Taubensee who is doing the same at his level for Smith Insurance at Five Points.

Well, just what is so hard about throwing a baseball correctly, Professor Rinker?

"You have to have a feel for the ball," he said.

"Now remember, we're talking about an infielder, outfielder or catcher throwing the ball. A pitcher will hold the ball differently because he wants to move," Rinker explained, taking out a special baseball painted green between the wide seams and yellow between the narrow seams.

The two-tone baseball had two holes the size of a screwdriver drilled through the center and from top to bottom.

"This hole shows the rotation of the ball. When I spin the ball on the screwdriver with my fingers over the wide seams, what do you see?"

Green.

"That's the correct rotation."

"When I turn the screw driver with the seams, what do you see?" queried Rinker.

Green and yellow.

"That is incorrect rotation."

"You have to hold a round baseball 'square,'" Rinker said. "You hold the ball across the seams with the fingers together. When the ball is turned over, the thumb must be directly between those two fingers. Younger players may not yet have the finger size to do this, but it will come.

"This is a perfect grip. The ball will go straight, hard and fast if held with this relaxed grip. The least resistance is offered when a ball is thrown in this manner," said Rinker.

Rinker backs up his theory with some solid facts.

"I went over to Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University (Daytona Beach) and took a student that had never thrown a baseball before. I taught him to throw, then he and I threw using both grips (across the seam and with the seam).

"The balls thrown across the seam got to the catcher 12-18 percent quicker than the ball thrown with the seam," said Rinker.

Rinker said he feels the biggest problem facing today's ballplayers is their grip. "They grip it too hard and too far back in their hand," he said.

"Throwing is done with the fingers and the wrist first. The fingers and wrist must go in a straight line. The wrist must face where you are throwing.

"One of the big reasons players get a sore arm is because they don't throw with their fingers and wrist. If a ball is thrown with an arch, they're throwing just with your arm."

Rinker likened the throwing of a baseball to that of throwing a dart, where a quick, flicking motion is used.

"The fingers and wrist must do the work. Then the forearm and arm will follow along naturally," he said.

The Rinker method, in short, included these steps:

- 1) Get the feel of the ball.
- 2) Grip the ball across the wide seams.
- 3) Hold the round ball "square" with fingers and thumb.
- 4) Hold the upper arm horizontal.
- 5) Hold the lower arm perpendicular.
- 6) Cock your arm and throw strikes.

"There are some kids on Little League All-Star teams as pitchers that have not thrown a ball enough in their life to know what they're doing," said Rinker. "They tell me 'I can throw a curve ball. I can throw a knuckleball. I can throw a slider.'"

"They can throw everything but what is most important — throwing a ball straight. Only a very small percentage of these kids are going to end up pitchers. They must learn to throw the ball straight to play other positions," Rinker said.

"But what's missing most is one word. Practice. They don't practice enough. They don't warm up properly before games and that's why you have the sore arms.

If young persons are taught correctly, they find throwing a baseball is fun and enjoyable and successful, he said.

And if you don't believe that ask Tim Raines or David Wiggins sometime.

DEAR DICK: My questions are about the fantastic "Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters" show. Which of the three is not married? How old are they? Who are the Krofft puppets supposed to be? I know the drum player is John Denver, the bass guitarist is Willie Nelson, the fiddler is Doug Kershaw and the pianist is Leon Russell, but who is the lead guitarist? My uncle says he's either Merle Haggard or Charlie Daniels, but I don't agree. BOBBI BOYD, Purdy, Mo.

All three Mandrells are married, and they are in their late 20s or maybe early 30s. You're right about the puppets, but your uncle is right about the one you didn't know — he's very Charlie Daniels-ish.

DEAR DICK: I saw a Laurel and Hardy movie years ago, which I think is a classic: I. & H quit their jobs and leave on horseback for a holiday. They get robbed so they decide to rob other people, and try to rob an elderly gentleman. But he's deaf and can't understand them. It ends with I. & H feeling sorry for him and giving him what little they have. Then they join some real thieves and in the end are shot by the thieves. What is the name of the movie? LOUIS F. CAMPANA, M.D., Williamsport, Pa.

I have gone through William K. Everson's book, "The Films of Laurel and Hardy," from cover to cover. In it, he gives the plot of every L. & H movie made. There is no plot such as the one you outline. Either Everson missed one or your memory is playing dirty tricks on you.

DEAR DICK: Would you settle a tiny bet. In "Little House on the Prairie," which aired in February, there was a girl named Sylvia. At the end, did she die or was she just asleep? I hope she died (because then I will win my bet with my friend). READDY CUMMINGS, Bloomington, Ind.

Ask Dick Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

Good news! She died! Actually, lots of people wrote in about that story, which did end oddly. But Sylvia was dead.

DEAR DICK: I have spent two years trying to find the name of a movie. It stars Greer Garson and Gregory Peck and the place is Wales. He is the son of a wealthy coal mine owner. He's married. Greer comes to work as a maid and they fall in love. There's a strike in the mine. A battle takes place on a bridge and the father is killed. Please help me find the name of this picture. JULIA M. MIZDA, Trenton, N.J.

The only picture it could possibly be is "Valley of Decision." However, the setting wasn't Wales; it was Pennsylvania. And that's the only film Peck and Garson made together.

DEAR DICK: Recently, I watched the old movie "Good News." I would like to know who the dark-haired girl (who sang and danced with June Allyson? I thought she excelled in both dimensions. I.M. ARMER, Hollywood, Fla.

That was Joan McCracken, who was definitely a bi-dimensional Whiz — an ex-Broadway star, she was a top singer and dancer.

DEAR DICK: Please settle an argument by answering this: who was the first person to play the part of Daria Stevens on "Betwitched"? LAURIE HAMILTON, Tucson, Ariz.

Dick York. The story went that he quit the show because of "the aftermath of a movie accident."

TV Producers Reflect Fashion Elegance Trend

Elizabeth Hawes, an American designer popular several decades ago, wrote a book called "Fashion in Spinach," in which she preached that someone with a true sense of style transcended fads. It was possible, she warned, to spend heavily to be "in fashion" and still not be well-dressed.

How right was she? On the mark, it would seem, since a wide section of the public craves quality, and wants the gimmicky costumes and makeup confined to discos and roller rinks. No one has sensed the trend toward elegance faster than television producers, who are not only springing for stylish designs, but even bringing real designers into the story-lines and onto the screen.

For example: When the lavish update of Jacqueline Susann's "Valley of the Dolls" (for fall release as a CBS mini-series) finally gets to the screen, you'll be viewing a selection of garments costing up to $4,000 each. All are being designed by Jean-Pierre Dorléac and, in addition to the dolls worn in the story by Catherine Hicks, Jean Simmons, Lisa Hartman, Veronica Hamel, Carol Lawrence and Denise Nicholas-Hill, there will be a whole fashion show sequence narrated by Dorléac himself.

Note that the Hawes definition of fashion was limited to the discussion of fads, but the current crop of prestige clothing designers seem to equate the word with style that endures. Indeed, fortunate owners of early creations of Halston and Geoffrey Beene, among others, find that when they dive into the backs of their closets to don one of the oldies, it still rates compliments.

As another example of the trend to get real designers into storylines, both Geoffrey Beene and Halston were among those drawn from America's designers for the recent two-hour ABC "Love Boat." Others aboard that special sailing of "The Love Boat": Gloria Vanderbilt and Bob Mackie. Now known nationwide as the jeans queen because of her television commercials, Miss Vanderbilt previously put her name on collections that included elegant dresses and evening coats, often with the oversized neck ruff she still favors in her private wardrobe.

Bob Mackie's fame came first as the costume designer who enhanced the television images of Cher and Carol Burnett. Subsequently he has branched out into the retail field, most recently with a lingerie line.

In a television interview, Mackie was asked if his mother wore his designs. He said no, they weren't her type. She applauded them, but stayed with what suited her lifestyle: polyester pantsuits. The implication was that she thought eye-catching outfits were only for the slender.

For others with a similar view, Adrienne Arpel took some time out from her duties as the head of her own cosmetics company to co-author, "How to Look 10 Years Younger," which included her tips on how to shop for slimming clothes. You can camouflage what can't diet off, she says. She brought a slightly overweight model to the "Mike Douglas Show" to prove the point.

Hagman Carries This Fan; Blake Debunks Techniques

By CINDY ADAMS
NEW YORK - Peter O'Toole, whose latest role was in the TV movie "Masada," is looking around for a Broadway role "where I can use my resources more as an actor" ... "Deathtrap" star Farley Granger won't tell the title of the autobiography he's currently writing because he fears people will steal it from him... Would you believe John Ritter gets up early Saturday mornings just to watch TV cartoons? His favorite is "Tarzan."

Larry Hagman travels with a portable pocket fan. Too much smoke in a room? Out pops the fan.

A Loni Anderson doll, in the image and likeness of the original, will soon hit the market... Jane Wyman's running hot again. She's done a half dozen shows for a new series, "The Vintage Years."

Nine-year-old Ricky Schroder on his film career: "Look, it's better than just sitting on the block and playing baseball... Robert Blake: "Actors don't need special techniques. Once they, asked Spencer Tracy what he looked for in a script. He replies, 'Days off'."

Bob Barker converted his garage into a gym in order to keep his youthful appearance. He does push-ups inside the garage, while his car sits outside in all kinds of weather getting bronchitis. At least it's keeping his bones on television... The "Mummy Dearest" author, Christina Crawford, is doing it again. This time it's a novel... Rabid anti-smoker
