Four Leading Men Support Crawford In New Picture

Taylor, Tane, Douglas And Stewart Fall For "Hussy"

Not one but four young, handsome and romantic leading men come with Joan Crawford in her new picture, "The Gorgeous Hussy," dramatic romance of the nation's capital in the early nineteenth century, which plays the Ritz Theater Sunday and Monday.

Co-starring with Miss Crawford along with Lionel Barrymore, is the sensational Robert Taylor, the most talked-about "discovery" since Clark Gable. Taylor, in a brilliant performance, appears as "Bow" Timberlake, officer of the U. S. S. Constitution and the first husband of tempestuous Peggy O'Neal, daughter of a tavern-keeper who rose to an amazing career as the First Lady of Democracy.

Franchot Tone, making his first appearance with Miss Crawford since their marriage, checks up another sterling portrayal as John Eaton, Minister to Spain, who ultimately saves Peggy O'Neal from the scandal-spreading tongues of Washington society.

Others who add to a picture remarkable for its superb acting are Melvyn Douglas as John Randolph of Virginia, the man with whom Peggy O'Neal first falls in love; James Stewart as the fictional character of "Rowdy" Dow, dashing Washington newspaperman, who also offers his hand and heart to the flirtatious Peggy.

Throughout the story of "The Gorgeous Hussy" stalk such colorful characters as Andrew Jackson, Dolly Madison, Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, Martin Van Buren, John Calhoun and a host of other political one hundred and twenty-five years ago.

The production bears all the earmarks of the directorial genius of Clarence Brown, the man who has produced such hits as "Ah, Wilderness!" "Anna Karenina" and "A Free Soul." In "The Gorgeous Hussy" he shares honors with the stars in creating one of the most beautiful pictures of the year.

THE GORGEOUS HUSSY

Joan Crawford doesn't look much like a hussy in this charming picture, taken from the film "The Gorgeous Hussy," with an all-star cast, which opens Sunday at The Ritz.

The Gorgeous Hussy Brings To Life Era Of Andrew Jackson On Sunday, Monday

Francis Lederer, Ann Southern Star

Bette Davis, Award Winner, In Newest Sophisticated Film

Joan Crawford scores another hit in her first costume picture, "The Gorgeous Hussy," which plays at the Ritz Theater Sunday and Monday. The scenes are laid in the Jacksonian era, with Miss Crawford playing the part of an inn-keeper's daughter, who rises to become a person of importance in the White House. The settings and costumes are unusually beautiful, and Adrian created no less than 24 elaborate dresses for Miss Crawford. The entire cast is printed elsewhere on the page for those who are interested.

On Tuesday, Francis Lederer, one of the newer screen lovers, co-stars with Ann Southern in "My American Wife," in the story of a European nobleman who marries a rich American girl and tries to become an American cowboy—with good results!

David, William Temple Again Sings Co-Star In Dashiell In Return Showing Hammett Mystery Of Favorite Film

Bette Davis and Warren William come to the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday in their new co-starring Warner Bros. production "Satan Met A Lady." Warren William plays opposite Miss Davis, while others in the cast include Alison Skipworth, Porter Hall, Arthur Treacher, Marie Wilson, Winifred Shaw and Olin Howland.

The picture is based on a novel by the famous writer of fiction, Dashiell Hammett, which is one of the best of the author has turned out. It is written in his usual style, with mystery and thrills combined with sophisticated humor, love and intrigue.

The story is woven about the search by a band of crooks for a legendary ivory trumpet, supposed to contain a fabulous fortune in jewels. Murder follows on murder as the crooks double cross each other in their battle to cheat each other out of the fortune.

A double feature will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday—"Satan Met A Lady," starring Bette Davis with Warren William, and a return engagement of "I I Had A Million." In the first picture, Bette Davis plays the role of a hard-boiled Borgia, a characterization in which she fits best. The story was written by Dashiell Hammett, who gave us the "Thin Man." It is spritely, sophisticated and debonair.

On Friday is another double feature: "Hollywood Boulevard," which deals with the ups and downs of a career in Hollywood, and whose main interest is the comeback of 14 old-timers to the screen. On the same bill will be a return engagement of "Captain January," starring Shirley Temple, and including in the cast are Guy Kibbey, Buddy Ebsen and Slim Sumnerville. This is one of the Temple's best pictures.

Saturday also has a double feature, Richard Arlen in a mystery drama, "The Mine with the Iron Door," and "Rustler's Paradise" in the Western. "Rustler's Paradise."

All in all, this week at the Ritz won't be disappointing to the movie public of Sanford. The programs are varied, from historical to ultra-modern, with a couple of mysteries thrown in.

14 Former Actors Nobleman Tries In Unusual Picture To Become Cowboy Of Movie Capital In Lederer Picture

After many years on the screen as stars and leading men, fourteen of the best-known old-time actors are enjoying the unique experience today of playing themselves for the first time. The fourteen are Francis X. Bushman, Charles Ray, Maurice Costello, Betty Compson, Max March, Herbert Rawlinson, Frank Mayo, Jack Mower, William Desmond, Bryant Washburn, Pat O'Malley, Creighton Hale, Jack Mulhall and Roy D'Arcy.

They are only part of a score or more, old-timers of the silent days who are supporting the picture, which is being produced by the four former actors, Francis Lederer and Ann Southern. The film, which plays Tuesday at the Ritz Theater, is "My American Wife," a story of a European nobleman who marries an American girl, and then sets about to prove himself a better American than she is and a better cowboy than his neighbors in Arizona, as presented in "My American Wife." Paramount picture starring Francis Lederer and lovely Ann Southern. The film will play Tuesday at the Ritz Theater.

The star of "One Rainy Afternoon" is given a story perfectly suited to his charm in "My American Wife," and Miss Southern, in light-footed romantic sequences of the film, proves herself a perfect screen mate for the European actor. Fred Stone, Billie Burke, Ernest Cossart and Grant Mitchell head the supporting cast.

Giving a "reverse angle twist" to the theme of the wealth-seeking Old World aristocrat and the little-seeking American girl, the film introduces Lederer and Southern after their marriage. Lederer finds Arizona, his wife's home, to his liking. He wants to become a rancher and make his living from the soil.

His wife, however, is led by her mother into making capital out of Lederer's social prestige. She forgets her Arizona background and insists upon keeping her husband in brand and medals. The romance almost hits the rocks before the two are reunited.

Theodore Lorch Is Novel Of Harold Bell Villainous Character Wright Stars Arlen

If you want to gaze upon the real thing in black-hearted, unmitigated villainy, drop in at the Ritz Theater, Saturday where the new Harry Carey Western, "Rustler's Paradise," is on view, and get a comprehensive flash of El Diablo, as played by that extremely efficient actor, Theodore Lorch.

In the story this peculiarly cold-blooded scoundrel is known only to his rascally outlaw band members by the Finnish sobriquet he affects. He lives up to it, too, for Mr. Lorch succeeds in making him as repulsive a specimen of malignant manhood as ever committed crime on the screen.

"The Mine With The Iron Door," Columbia's screen version of the popular Harold Bell Wright novel, plays Saturday at the Ritz Theater with Richard Arlen in the stellar role.

Combining the elements of an outdoor action picture, a thrilling detective story and a red-blooded romance, it is said to provide the type of screen entertainment which offers the most universally popular appeal.

Cecilia Parker appears opposite Arlen. Henry B. Walthall, Stanley Fields, Spencer Charters and Barbara Bedford are prominent in the cast. David Howard directed.

Gary Cooper Only One Without Stage Training In Film

Gary Cooper is the only one of the imposing array of stars appearing in "If I Had A Million," showing Wednesday and Thursday in a return engagement to the Ritz Theater, who had no stage experience before going to motion pictures.

Included in the list are George Raft, who had stock work to his credit as well as being a dancer in many musical shows; Jack Oakie, who was also a musical comedy hooper; Charlie Ruggles played featured comedy roles in both dramatic and musical productions; Mary Boland who spent years on the stage, including six of them as John Drew's leading woman; W. C. Fields toured the world in vaudeville and musical revues; Alison Skipworth who had 28 years stage experience before entering movies; Myrtle Estess who recently celebrated her 50th anniversary as a veteran legitimate trouper, and Richard Bennett who belongs in Miss Robson's class.

Asked About Women Taylor Discusses Fish!

"The biggest kick I got out of New York was seeing the Aquarium," smiled Robert Taylor as he stepped out of a TWA plane at Hollywood recently.

Taylor was returning from a hurried ten-day vacation in New York, his first.

"But how about the women who mobbed you?" asked the reporter.

"Seeing the Statue of Liberty was another thrill," enthused Taylor.

He started counting on his fingers.

"And I saw Central Park, too. And Grant's Tomb. I got up at five o'clock the first morning to walk down Broadway, but it was quieter than Flley on a busy afternoon."

Filley, Nebraska, is Taylor's home town, and the furthest east he had ever been until his trip to New York.

"Put how about the women who mobbed you?" insisted the reporter.

"I wanted to see the Brooklyn Bridge," replied Taylor, with a disappointed frown. "But I had to go to Radio City that afternoon and rehearse for my broadcast."

"You should have seen the 'Queen Mary' come in. That was a picture against all those giant buildings."

"I got lost in the subway," grinned Taylor. "A nice old lady set me straight."

"But," pleaded the reporter, "how about the women who mobbed you?"

"Have you ever seen the Aquarium?" asked Taylor as he got into his car to drive to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for his new role with Joan Crawford in "The Gorgeous Hussy," coming to the Ritz Theater.

"I want to go back to New York sometime when I can really have a chance to go through it. I never saw so many fish," he added.

ROMANCE IN THE ROCKIES

Cecilia Parker and Richard Arlen in "The Mine With The Iron Door," a Columbia picture playing next Saturday at The Ritz.

Low Companions Enter Testimony In Slaying Trial

WAUCHULA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Companions of a C. Lowe on a three-day boogie but July testified yesterday, at his trial on a charge of slaying E. D. Adkinson, Cavalon mechanic.

Carl Kowalski of Ocala and two girls—Gladys Walker and Theda Coker—said Lowe spent some $20 while they stayed several West Coast cities in Adkinson's automobile.

The state charges Lowe shot Adkinson and robbed him of about $100. Officers said the two men left Clewiston together July 4. Adkinson's body was found July 9 in a creek near here. There were two bullet wounds in the head.

Kowalski said Lowe would not permit anyone to ride in the ramble seat of Adkinson's car, and the four stayed in the front seat, during the boogie.

Kowalski testified, Lowe took a job of treasurer from the rear of the automobile and drove them away.

Sheriff G. B. Dinning previously had testified Lowe came to him before Adkinson's body was found and said he was concerned to a witness.

Richard Arlen's One Of Happiest Of Hollywood's Pairs

Despite the fact that Dame Fortune has smiled benignly upon Richard Arlen, he lives quietly and sanely in a small but rambling early American home north of Hollywood. He has no retinue of servants, no string of high-powered cars or stable of racing ponies. Instead he has a home that he can thoroughly enjoy with his wife, the former Jobyna Ralston, and his three-year-old son, Richard Ralston "Ricky" Arlen.

Arlen's home is as picturesque as it is comfortable, with gnarled oak, cobblestone walks and a swimming pool. Dick brags a little about having put in the cobblestones, much of the gardening and the cement fish pools himself.

As for the Dick in concerned "swimming nights," film colony dinners and "cocktail parties" held out years ago. On the other hand, he loves company at home—the more the merrier—and frequently entertains with small, informal dinners. The Arlens have their own circle of friends, among them the Bing Crosby's, the Jack Oakies, the Gary Coopers and others.

With such happy home surroundings, it's easy to understand why Richard Arlen's enjoyment of life is reflected in such wholesome screen portrayals as that of Bob Harvey in Columbia's screen version of Harold Bell Wright's novel, "The Mine With The Iron Door."

Arlen is surrounded by a cast which includes Cecilia Parker, Henry B. Walthall, Stanley Fields, Spencer Charters and Barbara Bedford. David Howard directed.

Because there was blood in the rumble seat of the automobile. The sheriff said Lowe told him Adkinson had decided to stay at Hamilton Green after they left Clewiston on route to Wauchula.

The sheriff quoted Lowe as saying he later found Adkinson on a highway down street and was told the blood in the car came from the head he had carried to a witness.

WEARS OAKLEY HAT

A hat, a saddle and a rifle once owned by the famous marksman, Annie Oakley, are today in the possession of Fred Stone, stage veteran who appears with Francis Lederer and Ann Southern in the film romance at the Ritz Theater Tuesday, "My American Wife." The hat is one Stone was Oakley years ago. She returned it, with the saddle and gun, as mementos shortly before her death. He wears it in a sequence of the current picture.

NEW FASHION NOTE

Designed by Orry-Kelly for dinner wear, a satin gown with slim black skirt and white top has the bodice covered with white yarn braid, this being one of the new style tricks the Warner Bros. designer employed to advantage.

Long, belted sleeves have narrow, turned-back cuffs on this gown, while the skirt meets the bodice in two wide notches above the belt, similar to the cut of Armani riding breeches.

Farmer's Market Shows Expansive Step In Progress

Smaller Growers Of County Benefited By Car-Lot Shipments To North

Sales Trend Runs To Truck Buyers

24 States Served By Organization In Year's Operation

By JIMMY CHAPMAN
Proof that unusual success has accompanied the growth of the Sanford State Farmer's Wholesale Market, Florida's largest state-owned farmer's market and the first to be established in this state, is exemplified in the seasonal report on the market's activities, released today by Manager J. G. Michael and the Florida State Marketing Board.

Scope of activities, which include general activities, sources of supply and sources of distribution, and the difficulties encountered in the market operation, were outlined in a report prepared by a survey of the results which have been obtained to date.

Advantage of the market to the small farmer is shown by the fact that the market enables them to include their vegetables and produce in car lot shipments to the north, together with those of other farmers. Persons farming on a small scale would be unable to do this without this special service, because their volume would not be sufficient to warrant such large shipments.

Naturally, the largest trend of sales has run towards the truck buyers, who purchase in quantities ranging from one package to as high as ten tons. Therefore, (Continued on page two)

Naval Revolt In Portugal Spreads Tension Of War Over Iberian Regions

By The Associated Press
Spain's Fascist rebels scornfully rejected an offer for the surrender of besieged San Sebastian today while a short-lived naval revolt in Portugal spread war tension all across the Iberian peninsula.

The surrender offer was turned down at a conference in France and defenders of San Sebastian informed they would be punished if they bore arms against the advancing insurgents. It appeared almost certain that anarchists within the northern resort town would set it afire rather than surrender.

In offering to give up San Sebastian, the governor asked for amnesty for its defenders in an effort to prevent destruction of the city.

Sanford Brought To Eyes Of Boating Enthusiasts

Capt. W. W. Acheson Tells Of Trips Down St. Johns In September Issue Of Motor Boating

Sanford and the St. Johns River are thrown into the national limelight of yachting and boating enthusiasts through an article from the pen of Capt. W. W. Acheson, Jacksonville, appearing in the September issue of Motor Boating.

Capt. Acheson's story is titled, "Florida's Wonder River, the St. Johns," and in it he takes the reader winding down the dark waters of the stream which has gained world-wide distinction because it flows to the northward.

The captain advises the yachtsman to stop in Sanford where minor boat repairs may be had. But, he continues, if one is inclined to cruise any farther southward it is advisable to secure the services of Tony Smith as the pilot.

"Tony can be found at his father's boat yard," writes the captain.

Unveiling the splendor of the St. Johns, Capt. Acheson paints verbal pictures of Silver Springs, of Salt Springs, of Silver Springs Glen, of Blue Springs and other natural beauty spots.

Included in the story are instructions for the best enjoyment of a cruise down the river. There are recommendations of places to stop, explanations of charts and other data which the yachtsman finds indispensable.

The captain, an ardent sportsman, does not overlook the fact that large and fine black bass may be taken almost at will while one drifts along the surface of the St. Johns.

There are many side trips mentioned on file at his office.

Traffic accidents caused 257 deaths while drownings took 20, airplane crashes 12, train wrecks four, and other accidents added to the total.

New high travel records were set in most sections of the nation as holiday revelers taxed transportation facilities in most states.

National Safety Council statistics had figured there would be 200 traffic fatalities over the holidays including those whose injuries resulted fatally weeks later. An estimated 21,000,000 passenger cars were on highways.

Michigan led all states in accidental deaths with 21 killed in auto accidents, one by a fall and one drowned.

The Government Census Bureau's reports from 124 cities listed 5,637 automobile fatalities for the 35 weeks of this year as compared with 6,007 for the corresponding period in 1934.

Seminole Commission Approves Petition Signed By 1,056 Qualified Voters

Ministers Score Public Victory

County Group To Set 1936-37 Budget In Afternoon Session

By PAT PATTERSON
Seminole County Commissioners today wrote a decided okeh to a petition of qualified voters that a slot machine referendum be called on Nov. 3.

The board took action when the Rev. Martin Bram presented a document containing 1,056 names of voters who signified their approval that the slot question be decided by popular vote.

Instructions are to be prepared for the clerk of the circuit court to make arrangements for the slot machine question to appear on the Seminole County ballot in November when the general elections are called.

The petition presented by the Rev. Bram was originated by the Sanford Ministerial Association. A greater portion of the signers affixed their names during the recent senatorial primary election last month.

After taking action on the slot machine petition, considered one of the major items of the day's work, the Commission jumped into another hoop—adoption of a 1936-37 budget. The work was expected to consume the entire afternoon session and possibly some activity tomorrow.

A tax roll also is to be adopted. Indications were that a slight slash in County millages may be effected.

The board voted to purchase from Pearl Malby a right-of-way running across her property lying between Altamonte Springs and the state road.

Purchase of two trucks from the Strickland Motor Company was authorized.

Approval was written in the application of Houtf Majewski for a liquor license.

Other activities of the morning assembly included the approval of a notary bond for R. R. Duhart, the awarding of the month's grocery contract for the county home and farm to C. W. Zarinz, and the receipt of a request from George H. Bridge that the County abandon a road traversing his property near the Markham Road.

A field day reel, showing an automobile doing everything but the pole vault will be flashed on the screen and will contain movies of Chevrolet automobiles doing the shot put, like a champion track and field star.

Fighting Men Then And Now

Mussolini's boast that he could put eight million soldiers into the field at a moment's notice has aroused a deal of speculation as to whether Il Duce can be taken at his word this time or whether he is just spoofing.

Granted that the world has progressed a long way in the matter of military preparedness since the fatal days of 1914, the thought is inescapable that Mussolini, in citing his figures, did not mean actually 8,000,000 fighting soldiers, men who would see the firing line, but 8,000,000 men occupied in the various tasks in the prosecution of a war.

With Italy boasting such tremendous man power, it is interesting to take a look at how other powers, those that might be allied with Italy and those that might oppose her, would stack up. Military authorities have estimated that the forces immediately available are: Italy, 2,500,000; Germany, 1,800,000; Austria, 1,000,000; and Hungary, 300,000.

Another obvious group would include: France, 1,200,000; Little Entente, 2,400,000; and Russia, 2,000,000. This side would total 6,600,000. But to complete the picture attempting to show the number of available soldiers in Europe it would be necessary to add England with 850,000, the Balkans with 825,000, the Baltics with 670,000 and neutrals, 1,250,000. This group adds up to 3,645,000 and the grand total equals 10,245,000. This figure is just 6,700,000 more men than were available in 1914.

However, whereas in 1914 the number of men immediately mobilized was only a sixth of the total finally put into the field, today the total which could eventually take arms would not be more than four times the number mobilized at the outset of hostilities. In other words maximum mobilization would come much sooner now than it did in the World War.

Hits At Lotteries

In an editorial captioned "Is This Society's Surrender" the Bradenton Herald laments the newspaper endorsement of municipal lotteries to raise funds for civic improvement and goes on to show how reprehensible such an attitude by a unit of government is.

"This newspaper," says the Herald, "has always stood for sensible liberality in thought and action. We have no patience with hoary blue laws that are resurrected from time to time through fanatical endeavor since they have no place in a condition that has been changed by the march of time. But to advocate law violations as a means to an end or excuse it on the far fetched assumption that it is the lesser of two evils is not permissible unless we are willing to permit the future to take care of itself. No matter what may be said in defense of expediency we can't flout the law and build respect for it at the same time. Lack of the latter is rather vividly evident on every hand in spite of the efforts that have been made to hold the lawless in check. We dislike exceedingly to visualize the consequences if the brakes are removed entirely. If a city council can legally conduct an outright lottery as is being done in at least one city in the state and approved by the voters of more than one of the other states, it is entitled to pursue his avocation without restraint of the law. Their classification automatically becomes identical irrespective of what interested legal opinion may be. Toleration of the municipality's act on the grounds that it lessens the business of the racketeer is not only childish but an admission that the situation is out of hand. Since the lawless can't be suppressed there are communities with some newspaper support that propose to set up a competitive business with the object of getting rid of them by bankrupting them. Such a conclusion is nothing less than a complete surrender, and if there is truth in the promise that what is sown will be reaped we dislike to vision the harvest that is to be.

"The individual since the beginning of time has sought advantages without regard for entitlement, has permitted greed to warp his sense of right, has been ruthless in his desire for personal gain. This is regrettable without, however, being surprising. But for organized society as represented in governmental bodies to adopt a similar attitude on the pretext that it is unable to cope with forces threatening to undermine it is to admit a subordination that means the end of orderly progress. That newspapers which are supposed to mold opinion and work unceasingly for the upbuilding of their communities should support the proposal brings us to a point we never expected to see reached. Few things have happened to point more clearly to the need for an awakening."

the German prince, Bernard Zuplpe Blaserfeld. She has been the subject of much speculation by royal matchmakers in Holland, her name being linked romantically with several eligible including King Edward VIII of Great Britain.

Farmer's Market Shows Expansive Step In Progress

(Continued from page one) the primary purpose for the establishment of the market has been realized, since it has supplied an outlet for the products of the small farmers and grocers.

During the preceding season 25 counties were represented at the local market by suppliers, which gave it a representative source of fruit and vegetable supply at all times of the year.

Distribution of the products brought to the market was made throughout 24 of the 46 states with truck buyers from as far west as Texas and North Dakota, as far southwest as Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota, and as far north as Quebec and Ontario, Canada.

Out of these 26 points of distribution more than 400 cities and towns were represented by truckers, which evidences the fact that our local market is supplying smaller markets with "direct service" at an ultimate lower cost to consumer in dealer profit and additional freight and hauling charges.

Report of the activities of the market for the 1934-35 season displayed a decidedly slow movement, which was due almost entirely to the freeze of December, 1934, causing a delay of the market opening until Jan. 15, 1935. The freeze caused a shortage of supply, but a good volume of business in March and April was transacted to bring the total sales for the year to slightly better than the half million mark.

Though it was fully expected by the market management that total sales for the current season of 1935-36 would reach better than the million mark, unforeseen circumstances stepped into the way and sales were limited to $662,844.05. Continued rains and light storms during the earlier winter season coupled with dry weather in the Central Florida section during the spring season were attributed as the cause for this unexpected low volume of sales.

A total of seventy different varieties of Florida fruit and vegetables were sold during the 1935-36 season. Celery led all other commodities as to total sales and volume with $122,434.40 in sales recorded for the season which represented 60,796 crates at an average of $2.01 per container; closely following celery sales were snap beans which were sold for total sales of $111,111.11, an average of 70,900 containers at $1.56 per container bringing their total sales to $110,314.00. Next in line to beans were green cabbage with a total of $68,870.85 in sales, attained by the sale of 3,163 tons at an average of $21.74 per ton. Tomatoes brought total sales of $73,645.14, which represented 47,381 containers at an average price of $1.50 per container. Irish potatoes brought the next highest sales with $35,821.31 recorded by the distribution of 1,158 containers at an average of $3.09 per container. Other products bringing high totals of sales and volume were oranges, with over $27,900 for over 21,000 crates, grapefruit, with more than $23,000 for some 16,100 crates, and beets and squash, each with approximately $15,000 in sales totals.

The total number of containers represented in the total sales were 505,605, out of 70 varieties of fruits and vegetables handled. Based on poundage, cabbage led the field with a percentage of 25.9 of the total fruits and vegetables handled through the market, while celery came second with a percentage of 17.7. On the other hand, based on gross return as exemplified above, celery led with $122,000 and over in sales for a percentage of 19.5 of the total sales made. Beans came a close second with a percentage of 18.4 of the total sales. Local supply compared more than favorably with that of the rest of the state, since the Sanford market supplied more celery and cabbage than any other section and was at high or higher in other vegetables or fruits than other sections of the state.

While the Sanford market was built and operates primarily for the benefit of the Florida farmers and growers as a sales outlet for their products, there is gradually being built up a sales outlet there for out-of-state products, which Floridians must have. Competition can be more greatly reduced by truckers bringing their loads north, if the products are handled through the Sanford market, than would be possible should they public their products from state to state.

Rebels Reject Surrender Of San Sebastian

(Continued from page one) were fired upon and captured by government land forces after the crews mutinied and attempted to swim away for an unannounced destination. Whether the revolt was connected with the civil war in nearby Spain remained undiscerned.

Portugal, while protesting neutrality, is inclined to sympathize with the Fascist Spanish Rebels. Madrid Socialists have accused Lisbon of arming the rebels. In Washington, the State Department announced that Madrid formally disavowed the responsibility for the (recent) attempted bombing of the American destroyer Kano by an unidentified airplane in Spanish waters.

Fighting continued on all fronts in Spain proper. OYSTER MEN SUE TAMPA TAMPA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Circuit Judge L. L. Parks began hearing arguments Friday in a suit brought by R. E. Gibson and seven other owners of oyster beds, who seek $50,000 damages from the City of Tampa for alleged pollution of Tampa Bay by the city's sewage disposal system.

New York, one of 13 original states, has been since 1820 the most populous in the union.

Ritz Books Picture Of Title-Hunting Woman Of America

The romantic story of a titled nobleman who marries an American girl, and then sets about to prove himself a better American than she is, and a better cowboy than his neighbors in Arizona, is presented in "My American Wife," Paramount picture starring Francis Lederer and lovely Ann Sothern. The film opens today at the Ritz Theater.

The star of "One Rainy Afternoon" is given a story perfectly suited to his charm in "My American Wife," and Miss Sothern, in her "reversing angle twist" to the theme of the wealth-seeking Old World aristocrat and the title-seeking American girl, the film introduces Lederer and Sothern after their marriage. Lederer finds Arizona, his bride's home, to his liking. He wants to become a rancher and make his living from the soil.

His wife, however, is led by her

The event took place in the east wing of the Hyde Park Country Club in the presence of about 500 wedding guests, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. William Carroll, pastor of the Tallahassee Catholic Church.

"The bride was given in marriage by her father, and had as her attendants, her sister, Miss Louise Iona Anders, as maid of honor, and her cousins, Miss Annie Laura Pace, Mildred Louise Brown, Opal Elaine Anders of Hendersonville, N. "William Hood of Tallahassee was Mr. Aycocke's best man. Groomsmen were Allan Nease of Tallahassee, Byron Fox of Sanford, William Q. Dowling, Jr., and Guy W. Seashole, Jr., of Jacksonville. Acting as ushers were St. Elmo Acosta, Jr., McSwain Woods, Jr., Fred C. Langston and John Seashole.

"The beautiful young bride wore a lovely Molyneux model of ivory-tinted bridal satin, made with a full length Directoire coat, fastened from the youthful round collar to the hips with tiny satin covered buttons, releasing it to fall into a long graceful train and to reveal the satin slip. The sleeves were long, full at the armhole and tapering down to fit snugly at the wrist. The veil of sheersat's illusion tulle followed the lines of the graceful gown to the end of the train, and was caught to the hair with a coronet of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was a melodious arrangement of white hybrid orchids and lilies of the valley in a deep shower and tied with white satin ribbon.

"Mrs. Anders, mother of the bride, wore a Mona blue moire gown trimmed in Dubonnet and fashioned on long, slender lines. A jaunty jacket was a feature of the costume and Dubonnet hat and shoes were worn, and blue gloves. A corsage of pink roses and valley lilies completed the charming outfit.

"Mrs. Aycocke, mother of the bridegroom, selected a Royal blue Chantilly lace gown fashioned along simple lines. The dress was worn over slipper satin and accessories were navy blue. Her flowers were a cluste of pink roses.

"Following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was given in their home at 1145 Owen Street by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Elbert Anders. ## Florida Mentor Expected To Rebuild Grid Morale

New System Of Play Should Help Build Team From Large Group Of Candidates Who Gave Florida's New Coach

SANFORD, Sept. 2.—(AP)—When previous game experience has been gained, Coach Cody is no advantage, but there are certain things which he must do in his inaugural year as head coach of the Florida State University football team.

By well understood procedure, the coach has selected a team of 25 players from a group of 100 candidates who were given a tryout in the week-end camp at Sanford last week.

There is a fourth situation which should be mentioned. With the exception of Stetson and Sevens, there is not a single player on Florida's schedule that does not figure to be considerably stronger than last year. And we all know what happened last fall when we were trying to whip Kentucky, Maryland, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Auburn. Two newcomers, Citadel and Mississippi State, are expected great teams this fall. Even South Carolina is looking for a much improved team. Florida lost the Gamecocks last year, along with Stetson and Sevens.

There is one other thing which Coach Cody has brought to Florida in his new system of football. It is the matter of the "backfield." The old backfield was made up of three players. The new backfield will consist of four players. This is a particularly important change. It is not in the nature of the word on a easy change to make. It is a change which will have a profound effect on the team's performance.

Coach Cody has only one end with two years of varsity experience. He has only one center, Solie Mims.

He has only two backfield men with two years of varsity experience. Harold Rowe and Dick Brown. Neither has ever played a first string position.

Generally, juniors and sophomores, the latter with no varsity experience whatever, must, in the main, be the gridiron mainstay of 1936. There are lines

Celery Feds Begin Hard Drills

Tough Sessions Are Scheduled For This Week

Blocking, Tackling Practice To Be Held By Local Mentors

Coach Leonard L. McClure and his assistants, "Whitney" Gordon and Russell McCracken pulled their Seminole High grid boys through the first day of the second week of practice here yesterday afternoon, as fore-runner to a week of hard drills, which is expected to include both blocking and tackling practice.

More than forty of Seminole County's choice youngsters continued to enter the daily routine of practice, which began last Monday and will continue till game time on Oct. 2, when the Seminole High grid boys open the season here against Ervitt.

Highlights of the first week saw Brantley Odham returned to his old position as tackle and Jimmy McElhannon shifted to the center post as the only available candidate. Coach McClure possibly believes that the big youngster will do more good at the tackle assignment than he would have at center, since his weight is such an advantage in breaking through the opposition's line.

When the candidates go out for practice next week, they will be wearing their shoulder pads and helmets, for at that time tough scrimmage sessions will be begun between different teams as picked by the Seminole mentors.

As the tough work is begun, it is practically a certainty that the first eleven men will be selected for service in the opening tilt with the Lake counties. Weight should play a big part in the Celery Feds' chances for a good season this year, since they will put a line on the field which will have been overshadowed by only one line in over a dozen years, that of the 1932 eleven, when Riser, Branan, Harrison, and Preston were the shining stars of the forward wall.

This season's backfield will also play a deciding part in the weight advantage, and it, too, is probably overshadowed by only the '32 team but elusive. Willson Smith, Skinny Vincent, "Dub" Entzinger, George McClelland, Johnny Courier, H. H. Odham and other ball carrying luminaries perform under Celery Fed colors.

'I'M COUNTIN' ON YOU, BIG BOY'

Cash Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt had to do a lot of climbing to whisper encouragement into the ear of Buford "Baby" Ray, 270-pound Commodore tackle who was very much in evidence at the opening of football practice. "I'm counting on you this season, big boy," confided Morrison when he finally scaled the "peak" with "Baby" help. (Associated Press Photo)

Tennis Tourney Enters Quarter Final Matches

Perry Trosser Make In Fast Match As Grant Also Gains

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—England's Fred Perry produced one of the most inspired matches of his career, Sidney Wood of New York and two other favorites were eliminated and Champion John Jacobs defeated her right thumb yesterday as the national tennis singles championship moved into the quarter final round.

Playing before a holiday crowd of 10,000, which included his pretty actress-wife Helen Watson, Perry thrashed Gene Mako, Los Angeles, eleven-ten in the first set in the country, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

It was apparent from the start that Perry was going to take no chances with Mako. He raced through the first set in eight minutes, looking like a motion picture on how to play tennis, while the astounded Mako ran all over the court and won only three points in the entire set.

The Englishman had everything. His speed of foot and stroke remarkable, and he brought the ball up with his commanding drive. Always he was too mercifully fast for the Californian, who never fought harder at so thankless a task.

Wood went out before the fine placements and bullet service of Henry M. Culley of Santa Barbara, Calif., an automobile salesman who has made his tennis reputation as the doubles partner of Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., took advantage of Wood's faltering start, won the first two sets, 6-4, 7-5, and then kept hitting back until Wood gave out. Wood, runner-up last year and second third in this tournament, won the third set, 6-3, but Culley raced on after the interval to close him out in the fourth, 6-3.

In the final set, Culley won his own service in the first game, broke through to take Wood's in the second, and was never headed.

Two other favorites, Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Mary Greaf Harris, Kansas City, were eliminated. Mrs. Harris went out before Gussie Rogerson, a pretty youngster from San Francisco, who is rated No. 2 in the Northern California district, and Mrs. Van Ryn, a member of the American Wightman Cup team, lost to Kay Stammers of England, 6-2, 6-4.

Collegians Meet Pro Gridders In Battle Tonight

Cheer Berman Will Make Changes In Starting Lineup

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Football stars of the past and present will shoot under the glaring arena lights tonight at historic Polo Grounds where Bernie Bierman's College Aces of 1935 match speed, brains and gridiron trickery against the New York gridiron Giants.

The game, sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune for the benefit of that newspaper's fresh air fund, may attract a crowd of 50,000 spectators and help settle, in a measure, the question as to the superiority of professional and college football.

Not until the best college team meets the best pro team can any question of gridiron superiority be answered to the satisfaction of all parties and fans, but the star games, originated three years ago by Sports Editor Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune, has been the next best proving ground.

Because of their "moral victory" over the Lions, the All Stars rated as slight favorites over the Giants, who lost their pro title to the Lions last fall.

Bierman, assisted by Coaches Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, Lou Little of Columbia and Bo McMillan of Indiana, has a free hand in choosing his starting line-up. In the Chicago game, he selected the Cordele-Tallahassee series from the Georgia-Florida League in a seven game series to determine the champion of Class D loops in this section of the South.

Today, the Capitals from Tallahassee were leading by a score of two games to none over the Reds from Cordele, with the Floridians a good bet to become the league champions for the second time in as many years.

Regardless of whether the Saints win this series, they have their free trip to the World Series with all expenses paid, a prize awarded them by the Flieger fortune holders, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Francis, King and Queen of baseball in the "Ancient City."

Marion Talley, who makes her movie debut as a singing star this fall, was one of the first singers to be recorded in sound films.

SPORT CHATS

By JIMMY CHAPMAN

Speaking of football, one word comes to mind—the outcome of the Southern Conference. Who, for instance, would be picked as the conference winner this season?

Personally, but not officially, we would select the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets as the potential winner, with Auburn, Alabama and Kentucky giving them a close race to the finish. There is probably no team in the nation which can compete with the Jackets when it comes to youth and speed, and the boys from the Georgia capital are plenty powerful and heavy to go with that.

Our own Gators have little or no chance to gain any real championship recognition this season, but they should at least supply interesting opposition to all comers this season since Cousin Josh took over the reins at Gainesville.

In the Southern Conference, North Carolina is woefully weakened by the graduation of its outstanding star, a Sanford boy, Don Jackson, and it also lost several other members of last year's squad, who dropped from school. Duke, seems at present to be the most logical choice as the Southern Conference champion this season, while there are several other elevens who will give them a plenty tough fight.

Up North, there are several teams who promise to be strong contenders for national honors this ensuing season, with Minnesota leading the pack. The powerful Gophers have remained, year in and year out, to be always possible champions, always a threat to opposing teams.

Forham, too, is expected to trot out a heavy, experienced team, which will be hard to stop, while Princeton is virtually assured of the Big Three Championship, for neither Yale nor Harvard has material even worth watching.

Down in the cattle country, where last year, the Southern Methodist team ran rampant, Texas Christian and S. M. U. should again fight it out for the championship of the Southwest, with Rice University coming in for a share of the glory.

Of course, there has never been an expert who could exactly figure out the Far West winner, but from a natural standpoint, Stanford again looks to be the cream of the Pacific Coast crop.

Questions That Some Folks Ask About Cardui

Benefit For Mal-Nutrition
Thousands of women testify Cardui has helped them to overcome malnutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation.

"What is meant by 'helping to overcome malnutrition'?"
Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs, and by their action more energy (for strength) is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength, but Cardui serves as the means to this end by its good influence on the digestive system.—Adv.

More Reductions In Long Distance Rates

For the seventh time in the past ten years, long distance rates have again been voluntarily reduced.

Effective September 1, the rates for both person-to-person and station-to-station inter-state long distance calls were reduced to points 235 miles or more distant. The amount of the saving on calls ranges from five cents to $1.50 depending upon the distance.

Also on inter-state person-to-person calls the charges for overtime after six minutes of conversation are reduced. (Overtime charges begin after three minutes conversation.)

It is estimated that these reductions will save Bell telephone users $7,150,000 annually.

Copyright—1936 By The Associated Press NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 9.—The Reich's Chancellor Adolf Hitler today proclaimed a four-year program, embracing aggressive colonial demands, aimed at the goal of making Germany economically independent of the rest of the world.

The proclamation, sounded suddenly before 800,000 Nazis assembled in the fourth annual convention, disclosed Hitler has signed decrees reorganizing national economy and hitting the planned production of all industrial and agricultural products.

Their realization, he declared, "is only a question of our energy and determination. Our colonial demands are part and parcel of this program. We must build up our raw material forces."

The proclamation also declared the "shackles of the Versailles Treaty" have been torn, the army, navy and air force are now capable of defending Germany against all enemies.

Jenkins Prepares Papers On Personal Tax Problem

Seminole Collector Ready To Tackle Job Of Collecting Delinquent Bills On Individual's Holding

Executions for the collection of delinquent personal taxes are being issued and will be turned over to the county sheriff for service, J. D. Jenkins, Seminole County tax collector, announced today.

He pointed out that while most persons in this county have settled their personal assessments, there are a few still in arrears. The Seminole collector called attention to the following Associated Press dispatch which originated in the Tallahassee office of Attorney-General Cary D. Landis:

Attorney-General Landis previously ruled that "in collecting personal property taxes which were levied and assessed against the taxpayer because of the ownership of tangible personal property, the county tax collector is authorized to seize and sell all personal property, both tangible and intangible, belonging to the taxpayer within the county where the levy and assessment were made."

"I am of the view," he continued, "that this personal property, subject to seizure and sale, includes property acquired subsequent to the date of the assessment, but prior to the levy and sale."

The press dispatch to which Mr. Jenkins referred reported a ruling following an inquiry from Comptroller J. M. Lee, who said Senator J. Turner Butler of Jacksonville reported the Duval County tax collector had encountered difficulty in collecting personal property taxes levied in Jacksonville.

Chamber Asked To Boost State Industrial Unit

Legislation Sought To Establish Plant At Gainesville Site

The endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce was being sought today for a movement to enact legislation for the establishment of an industrial experiment station at Gainesville.

Fred Williams, Sanford engineer, last night appeared before the Chamber Board of Directors and outlined the benefits to be obtained from the existence of the institution in Florida.

Mr. Williams outlined five major projects that the station could undertake at the same time emphasizing that there are scores more.

The particular proposals to which Mr. Williams referred are (1) locate tropical storms, (2) find an economical and practical way to use Everglades peat, (3) study beach erosion, (4) find an economical, practical and quick way to cure Spanish moss, and (5) experiment with the commercial application of tung oil.

In elaborating on the phase of tropical storms, the engineer set forth that the University of Florida at present has an apparatus by which the direction of a hurricane may be determined, but that with only one such instrument the exact location cannot be ascertained.

Mr. Williams said that with two or more of the stations it would be possible to keep track of all storms without being dependent on ships in the low barometer area, a method now employed by the government bureau.

Mr. Williams also appealed to the Board to work toward the abolition of a shack which has recently been erected on Lake Shore Boulevard between the road itself and Lake Monroe.

He declared that the structure's presence is a menace to the boulevard, since an excavation of the "road slope" was required before the house could be built.

President T. E. Simpson named Fred Wilson, E. P. Haines, Judge James G. Sharon, H. J. Lehman and Mr. Williams on a committee to investigate for the purpose of attempting to discover any method by which the building might be removed.

Superintendent Lawton said regular bus routes schedules will be observed as a convenience to pupils who regularly use the county school transportation system.

Rebels' Artillery Is Silent For First Time Since Revolution Hit Spain

By The Associated Press UNOFFICIAL reports reached Madrid today that government military forces had entered the Toledo Alcázar preparatory to an attack on 1,700 Rebels who had defied an eight-weeks' siege of the ancient fortress.

Insurgent artillery and snipers from within the crumbling walls were mute during the night for the first time since July 29 and some unconfirmed reports said the Rebels had surrendered.

An epidemic of sympathy strikes in France by Left workers demanding "guns and planes for Spain" spread today.

Hundreds of fugitives from an impending bombardment of northern cities arrived at Bayonne, France, as European diplomats sought to save beleaguered San Sebastian from becoming a city of ruins.

Rebels yesterday refused an offer of the governor of the city to surrender in return for amnesty for the defenders but diplomats tried again to arrange a truce.

Delayed, uncensored dispatches from Madrid said mass executions of Fascists are continuing daily in the Spanish capital. Estimates placed the total number of dead from firing squads at more than 1,000.

In Washington, the State Department indicated it may again call upon the Spanish government and Rebels to explain the attempted bombing of an American dirigible in Spanish waters recently.

European powers sent representatives to London to talk embargo plans to enforce non-intervention agreements.

Beautification Of Lake Monroe Shore Is Seen Possible

A little pressure on the City Commission may bring about a lakefront beautification project, R. L. Glenn, of the County Planning Board, told Chamber of Commerce directors last night.

He pointed out that there is a good probability that WPA funds could be made available for the endeavor.

Several members of the Chamber responded by asserting that lakefront beautification is, perhaps, one of the most worthy of local proposals.

The planning board member reported that several other projects, to be executed by WPA funds, have been approved and are in Washington awaiting allocation of funds.

Mr. Glenn said he expects some releases in the near future.

Included in the projects are plans for work on several city streets' improvements to the sewer system and certain changes to be made on the local athletic field and golf course.
