PICKIN' AND A-SINGIN'

"Willie Nelson" (Jeremy Kaiser, 8) was on stage Wednesday as Wilson Elementary School, Sanford, jumped on the country-western bandwagon with its own version of Grand Ole Opry. The third-grader, strumming a cardboard guitar, was one of many students who portrayed their favorite performers. Included in the presentation were clogging, bands and singers. Mrs. Berniece Litchfield and Mrs. Becky Ellis were the third-grade teachers in charge.

Space Study County Eyes Options For Its Office Space

The Seminole County Commission wrapped up a two-day session with Chicago-based consultants Walter H. Sobel & Associates on Wednesday, and now must decide on a variety of options in its decision to find much-needed office space.

The Sobel Space Study, conducted over the last six months, showed the commission that the county will need to double its present office space by the year 2000. The price tag on new construction for that office space is pegged at $20 million.

Of the options, the common denominator is some kind of split and shuffling of present downtown Sanford office facilities and a shift of some offices to the county-owned Five Points complex just south of Sanford and five miles from downtown.

The commission is faced with the decision to either expand facilities in downtown Sanford — an option greeted with mixed reviews by city officials — or make a major move to the south.

New construction in downtown Sanford to house county offices could be considered a plus for local merchants, due to the projections of increased employees, but traffic problems and vital parking space that would be necessary to accommodate downtown expansion means taking private land off the city's tax rolls.

In making its decision, the commission has four basic options from which to choose. They include:

— Leaving the state attorney, public defender, the courts, the clerk, the County Commission, building and zoning officials, the elections supervisor, tax collector and property appraiser downtown and moving the Sheriff's Department from Sanford Airport to the Five Points complex. That option would have to include the construction or addition to the current courthouse of office space to accommodate projected growth of the judiciary system.

— Moving the criminal and juvenile courts, the public defender and state attorney to Five Points while leaving other offices at their present downtown locations.

— Moving all other offices to Five Points while leaving the entire court system, the clerk, the state attorney and public defender downtown.

Leaving the civil courts, the clerk, property appraiser and tax collector downtown while moving all other offices to Five Points.

Regardless of which option the commission chooses, the Sobel study indicates the county will have to spend $20 million to finance new office space over the next 20 years to accommodate a projected increase of county employees from 938 to as many as 1,860 additional employees.

Square footage will need to be increased from the present figure of 136,275 square feet to as much as an additional 95,000 square feet.

Because of rapid growth in the county over the last decade, office facilities were considered inadequate even at the time the county staffs moved into the courthouse in 1977. Space has been a continuing problem facing the commission, leading to a lawsuit filed earlier this year by Seminole-Brevard Public Defender James Russo, who contends he's waited more than a year for proper office space and will need more in the future because of approved staff increases.

Greyhound Park Manager To Appeal Denial Of License

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Carroll Toler, general manager for Seminole Greyhound Park last year, says he plans to file an appeal of a decision by the state Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering not to grant him a license to become the dog track's assistant general manager this year.

Toler currently holds a general manager's license, valid for three years, but according to pari-mutuel industry law, he must obtain a new license if he changes positions with a pari-mutuel facility.

Allamonte Springs lawyer Leonard Wood, representing Toler, said the Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering notified Toler in a letter just days before the track's May 3 opening date, citing five reasons for the denial to issue a license.

The division contends Toler willfully consorted with John Fountain Jr., a former Brevard land speculator convicted in 1972 on gambling and conspiracy charges.

Fountain has left the state and is believed to be living in North Carolina.

The division also contends Toler permitted an associate of a licensed veterinarian to substitute for him at the track. Pari-mutuel laws say that in addition to being licensed as a veterinarian by the state, a pari-mutuel veterinarian also must be licensed by the Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering.

Wood contends, however, that veterinarian activities fall under the supervision of on-site state pari-mutuel officials, not the track's general manager.

A third reason for the denial was that Seminole Greyhound Park sent about $7,000 in charity funds from its annual charity racing night to seven Florida colleges and schools, instead of sending the money to the state Board of Regents.

Wood said Toler contacted the Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering to seek information about how the charity donation should have been handled and was told the division had no rules against the track's sending the money directly to the schools instead of to the Board of Regents scholarship fund.

A fourth reason cited in the letter deals with the track running too many "T" races — races involving more than one dog from the same kennel or dogs of more than one racing classification. Greyhounds are classified from Maiden to Grade A dogs depending on their age, the number of races and the amount of first- through fourth-place finishes.

Wood said the track's racing secretary was aware of the scheduling problem and contacted the division about it. He said the secretary was told by state officials that the state understood the track had a limited number of dogs and not to worry about it. He also said there is some question as to whether Seminole Greyhound Park's Slakes Medley Races — races involving dogs from the same kennel over different racing distances — can be qualified as "T" races.

Wood said the letter also contained a charge that Toler made a wager on an NFL football game with an Orlando bookie.

But Wood said the state provided no evidence and pointed out that the dog track is open from May through August and that the NFL season doesn't start until September.

Wood said he feels the denial was based on a personal grudge between former Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering secretary Gary Rutledge and Toler. Rutledge is now the secretary of the state Business Regulation Division.

"Carroll Toler has been involved in the greyhound industry for 27 years and he's never had any previous problems nor has he been cited for any violations," said Wood.

"Toler is being railroaded and his livelihood is being jeopardized. He's being made the victim of a vindictive miscarriage of justice," he added.

Toler's appeal hearing will take place within 30 days, either in Orlando or Miami.

Wood said that if Toler loses the appeal he has the option of appealing the hearing decision to the district court of appeal.

Lake Mary May Give Its Police Quicker Pension-Plan Vesting

The Lake Mary City Council will consider an ordinance revising the structure of the city's police pension plan at tonight's council meeting at 7:30 at City Hall, 158 N. Country Club Road.

The council will consider the adoption of an ordinance that would change police officers' vested time in their pension plan from 10 to 5 years. The council also will take a look at plans to upgrade the police pension disability and death benefits sections of the pension fund.

The council also is scheduled to consider a resolution that would set Lake Mary's annual maintenance fee for a proposed flashing traffic light at Palmetto Avenue and Old Lake Mary Road. The city's maintenance fee would be set at $490 per year.

Other items on the agenda include a request from William Stead to ban motor boats on Big Lake Mary.

Following the regular council meeting, city officials will hold a workshop session to review recommendations on zoning decisions compiled by the city's Planning and Zoning Board. —JOE DeSANTIS

Fern Park Bank Robbed

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents have taken over the search for two men who reportedly robbed a Fern Park bank at gunpoint Wednesday.

The Flagship Bank of Seminole, 1716 N. Orlando Ave., lost "a substantial amount of money" to two armed gunmen at about 11:50 a.m. Wednesday, said Seminole County Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolaki.

According to deputies, two black men wearing stocking masks, one carrying a gun and the other wearing "a woman's dress and accessories," walked into the bank, stole the money and fled.

"According to one of the clerks on duty during the robbery, one man, dressed as a woman, approached the counter while the other man went to the opposite side of the room," Spolaki said. "After the 'woman' was satisfied that the only people in the bank were a few employees, he called the other man, ordered the clerks to lie on the floor, stole the money and ran. No one saw which direction they fled or whether they were in a vehicle. However, the men told the clerks that if they went for help someone would harm them."

Clerks Debbie Peters, 30, of Maitland, and Lisa Bartholomew, 19, of Casselberry were not injured during the holdup, deputies added.

Key West Residents Are Still Boiling At U.S.

MIAMI (UPI) — The U.S. Border Patrol checkpoint that spurred Key West residents to "secede" from the union has been discontinued, but people in the island town still are boiling mad at the federal government.

Local officials say the roadblock continues to hurt tourist trade in the Keys although patrol agents no longer are stopping cars.

"People won't start coming down here again until the roadblock is gone," said Key West city commissioner Jimmy Mira. "Even if the Border Patrol is not stopping cars, tourists will see them being there as a time bomb ready to explode any time, maybe on a Sunday afternoon."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Rosenberg filed papers in federal court this week asking for the dismissal of a lawsuit brought by the Key West Chamber of Commerce. He argued the issue is moot because the roadblock at Florida City is no longer in use.

He added, however, the government reserved the right to reopen the checkpoint in the future.

Rosenberg said no cars have been stopped by border patrol officers since May 1, although two agents still are stationed at the roadblock to protect equipment and observe passing cars.

"The Border Patrol checkpoint established on April 18 at Florida City is no longer in use as a checkpoint in that vehicles are not being stopped and occupants are not being questioned," Rosenberg said in a legal paper filed with U.S. District Judge C. Clyde Atkins.

The roadblock on U.S. 1 just south of Florida City sparked the much ballyhooed "Conch Republic" movement in tourist-conscious Key West. Unhappy Key officials said it created a massive traffic jam that was ruining the tourist season.

The retreat of border patrol officers from U.S. 1 did little to end complaints from Key West residents.

Sanford Paying All Of Nance's Expenses

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

"The city takes care of its employees, and we don't want anyone to think otherwise," said Sanford Police Sgt. Herb Shea concerning questions raised about recent monetary donations on behalf of a Sanford detective who was shot by suspected robbers last week, and is currently hospitalized.

According to Shea, the assistant to Police Chief Ben Butler, a reward and a family fund have been set up on behalf of Ron Nance, who was shot when he attempted to stop two suspected armed robbers who reportedly had just held up George's Tavern, 1811 S. French Ave., Sanford.

"The city is currently paying all of Officer Nance's medical expenses and will continue paying his full salary while he is down," Shea said. "The funds were set up only because we had so many calls from people who wanted to help by donating money to either the family or as a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man or men who shot him."

While Shea and City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said they appreciate the generosity of so many concerned residents, they do not want anyone to be misled that Nance is incurring financial difficulties because of the shooting.

Nance, a nine-year veteran of the Police Department who receives an annual salary of about $18,225, is being treated for his wounds at Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville.

Doctors are expected to decide Friday whether it will be necessary to operate on him to remove shotgun pellets from his eye, according to his wife, Betty, Shea said. The pellets appear to be irritating the eye, causing bleeding and some swelling, he added.

Shea said that to date about $348 has been donated to the Nance Family Fund and that about $550 has been donated to the Nance Reward Fund, both through the Flagship Bank in Sanford.

But Who Got To Pay The Bill?

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — University of Massachusetts students say they have held the world's largest barbecue, with 4,134 people turning out to feast on chicken, ice cream and watermelon.

Despite strong winds and heavy skies Wednesday, they broke the $229 total recorded in the Guinness Book of World Records.

The barbecue was held on huge lawns at the university where each student was given half a barbecued chicken, salad, ice cream, soda, milk, watermelon and as many napkins as necessary.

Parents Learn About Pets

The complex relationships between children and pets — and the ways parents can use those relationships to help their children — are the subjects of a new adult-oriented television special hosted by Emmy Award-winner Fred Rogers, creator and host of the "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" children's program.

The special, "Mister Rogers Talks with Parents About Pets," will air on PBS Saturday, May 29. The following Monday, an all-new week of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" children's programs, also about pets, will begin. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

"Having pets can help children in many ways," says Rogers. "A good relationship with a pet can help show the child differences between fantasy and reality, can help them work out normal feelings of loneliness and fear, and can help them learn about discipline and responsibility.

"It's important that parents be closely involved in that relationship — more closely, perhaps, than many parents foresee when they decide to get a pet for the family."

The parents who appear in the program say that the issue of responsibility for the pet is a difficult one, and Rogers agrees. "It's more than a tug-of-war about whose turn it is to feed the dog.

"Each parent has to think carefully about the child's own abilities, and what the child is and isn't capable of doing. Young children simply aren't able to take major responsibility for the feeding and cleaning of their pets, any more than they can take full responsibility for those things for themselves; but little by little, year by year, they can grow into it."

How can a parent help a child through the trauma of a pet's death? The parents say that the loss of a pet can lead to one of the hardest times in the life of a child. Rogers suggests that, when faced with the situation, parents first try to help their child understand that there are sad things that happen in life, which the child is not able to prevent and which the child did not make happen: Their pet did not die because the child was naughty.

What about the natural inclination of a parent to quickly provide a replacement for a pet that has died?

"Children need a lot of help understanding death, and, like all of us, need time to grieve," Roger says.

"When a pet dies, the understanding of what death means will come only little by little — as will a child's readiness to accept a replacement. It takes time."

Rogers says that a family considering a pet for the first time might want to start small — with a fish, bird, gerbil, hamster, guinea pig or rabbit. Those smaller, simpler pets can be easier to care for, and introducing pets that are more for watching than for handling can help children begin to learn about the capacities and limits of animals.

ABC Nudges CBS In Nielsens

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS landed its "Miss USA Beauty Pageant!" in the Nielsen's top slot last week, but ABC countered with its usual primetime line-up, bolstered by a fifth-place win for "Inside the Third Reich, Part II." The result — a virtual tie.

Even with its epic "Marco Polo" in third place, NBC could not escape from the basement.

ABC, which tied the 22 rating earned by the CBS beauty pageant with "Too Close for Comfort," losing only by two share points, held a slender edge for the week with a rating of 15.4 and an audience share of 27. CBS was 15.2 and 27 and NBC held its usual third place at 13.2 and 24.

The CBS "Evening News" led news ratings again at 11.2 and 24. ABC's "World News Tonight" was a close second at 10.6 and 23 and NBC's "Nightly News" was a distant third at 9.0 and 20.

The top 10 programs for the week ending May 16, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1. Miss USA Beauty Pageant (CBS).
2. Too Close for Comfort (ABC).
3. Marco Polo, Part I (NBC).
4. Three's Company (ABC).
5. Inside the Third Reich, Part II (ABC).
6. Magnum, P.I. (CBS).
7. 60 Minutes (CBS).
8. Hart to Hart (ABC).
9. The Jeffersons (CBS).
10. Trapper John (CBS).

Celebrity Couples Who Are Separated By Roles

By RUTH THOMPSON
One business in which working couples are not a new phenomenon is show business. But it's still not always easy on the relationship. A lot of theatrical husbands and wives may have had it easier in the old days because they were often hired for the same company — either a repertory touring company or a major hit that went on tour.

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne may have been the last wedded twosome to pull it off. With the exception of one movie ("The Guardsmen") and a minimum of television appearances, they were theater people and they preferred to be hired as a team.

With movies and television now the dominant mediums, getting tandem jobs is less likely and location filming mandates separations. Here is how some couples cope:

Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara met over 20 years ago when they both sat in the waiting room of the same agent. They were serious actors and became the Stiller-Meara comedy team only when they decided to start a family and stay fairly rooted to their home base, New York City.

After gaining television popularity as a team, they phased out their act in favor of separate acting roles. Anne has just finished three years opposite Carroll O'Connor in "Archie Bunker's Place" on CBS. She commuted to New York most weekends, where she and Jerry maintain a business office, and now she plans to re-root there for a while.

Joe Silver, who recently co-starred on cable in Showtime's "Murder Among Friends," met Chevi Colton when they were both cast for "The Dybbuk" back in the golden age of television. Now wed for 25 years, they're faced with one of their first major job-related separations. This year, Chevi is on tour as Golda in "Fiddler on the Roof," presently playing in Los Angeles.

Joe's solution, right after he finished "Murder Among Friends," was to head for Los Angeles. "I don't like being alone," he says.

David Birney and Meredith Baxter met when they co-starred in the television series "Bridget Loves Bernie." For togetherness — and it counts big with them for the sake of their children — summer theater was a happy answer.

Did Natalie Wood Really Speak Russian?

DEAR DICK: My husband and I recently watched "Meteor," with Natalie Wood and Brian Keith playing Russians and they seemed to speak the Russian language. What we want to know is, did they really speak the language that well or did someone else do it for them? T AND C. PARSONS, Brownwood, Texas

Both Natalie and Brian spoke their own words in that film. Natalie had spoken Russian as a child, so all she needed was a little refresher course and it came back to her. Brian Keith, however, learned his speeches phonetically — a syllable at a time — from a Russian linguist and he memorized them that way.

DEAR DICK: I'm an avid Beatles fan. Could you please tell me the years and dates that all four guys were born? A PATLES FAN, Kitchener, Ontario, Can.

From oldest to youngest: Ringo Starr was born on July 7, 1940; John Lennon on Oct. 9, 1940; Paul McCartney on June 18, 1942; and George Harrison on Feb. 25, 1943.

DEAR DICK: I have written several stories suitable for the "Darkroom" series, but I can't find out where to write to try to submit these stories for consideration. Can you help? MRS. A.N., Trenton, N.J.

Ask Dick Kleiner

I suggest you file them with your stories for "My Mother, the Car" and "Gunsmoke." "Darkroom," alas, has been canceled.

DEAR DICK: Do you have anything on an actress named Helen Twelvrees? No one believes me that there was such an actress. FLORENCE BEILINGER, Pembroke Pines, Fla.

There was indeed a Helen Twelvrees. She was a major star in the '30s. Her real name was Helen Jurgens, and why she changed to Twelvrees is anybody's guess. She starred in such films as "The Painted Desert" and "King for a Night." If she were around today, with inflation and all, she'd be Helen Thirteentrees.

DEAR DICK: Is Sidney Sheldon, the author of "The Other Side of Midnight" and "Rage of Angels," the same Sidney Sheldon who created "I Dream of Jeannie" and "Hart to Hart"? JENNY TRAILS, Tucson, Ariz.

Yes.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me the real names of Missy Francis of "Little House on the Prairie" and Swoosie Kurtz of "Love, Sidney"? M.J., Saginaw, Mich.

Missy is really Melissa Francis. Swoosie is really Swoosie Kurtz. Her father and mother named her after her father's World War II plane, the Swoose. Her father was the most decorated WWII Air Force officer. The plane, in turn, was named after a song of that period — "Alexander, the Swoose," a bird who was half swan, half goose.

DEAR DICK: Please settle a bet between my brothers. What series did Robert Vaughn star in, a detective or spy series of the late '60s or early '70s? ANNA OSBORN, Michigan City, Ind.

Vaughn was "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.," which ran from '64 to '68.

Brooklyn Bridge's Televised Birthday

NEW YORK (UPI) — It takes real artistry to turn a bridge of steel and concrete into a poem made of color and living history, but that's just what a young filmmaker named Ken Burns has done for the Public Broadcasting Service.

Burns' "Brooklyn Bridge," which won a CINE Eagle award and an Oscar nomination last year, will air Monday under various PBS listings in commemoration of the famed span's 99th year. Never has a structure been given such a birthday party.

Building the Brooklyn Bridge — at its completion in 1883, the largest in the world — was a herculean effort in a pretechnological age in which such things literally had to be put together by hand.

From its conception in the brilliant mind of its creator, engineer John A. Roebling, to the 14 tons of fireworks with which New York celebrated its opening during the administration of President Chester Allen Arthur, it was a project plagued by death, misfortune, political chicanery and corruption.

The bridge cost Roebling his life and broke the health of his son, Washington Roebling, who took over at his father's death. It also introduced a mysterious new malady to the human race — the "caisson disease" suffered by workmen laboring in the pressurized foundations of the bridge's massive underpinnings.

The "caisson disease" killed many of them, most painfully, by compressing nitrogen bubbles into their bloodstreams — a condition deep sea divers later called "the bends."

Since the opening of the mighty span, it has become immortalized in story, film, art and legend.

It is the bridge street-smart New Yorkers are purported to sell again and again to naive hayseeds from out of town.

Frank Sinatra was stary-eyed over it in "It Happened in Brooklyn." Johnny Weismuller dived off it in "Tarzan's New York Adventure." Hart Crane and John Dos Passos wrote about it, Joseph Stella and Georgia O'Keeffe painted it, and an eccentric publicity hound named James Brody gave the language a new slang term when he "copped a Brody" from one of its spans and lived to tell the tale.

"Brooklyn Bridge" is more than just a short course in one colorful phase of American history. It is a thing of grace and beauty — one of television's few truly golden hours.

NBC, desperate to escape the Nielsen cellar, dumped most of its prime-time fare in the annual overhaul for fall, but "Saturday Night Live" is safe for another season.

Mark Russi and Gina Willis try out some patio furniture in preparation for the long, hot summer months ahead.

Who Says You Have To Stay Inside?

Patio Furniture: Relax In Style This Summer

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

At one time, people were satisfied to put out a couple of folding chairs when entertaining friends around the pool or patio. But with high gasoline prices, people are staying at home more than ever.

As a result, they are furnishing their pool and patio areas more like the inside of their homes. The only difference is that the furniture is weatherproof.

Mark Russi, manager of a Sanford furniture store, finds that people are looking for outdoor furniture that reflects their own taste and sense of style.

Redwood, aluminum and wrought iron have long been used for outdoor furniture, but several new materials are gaining in popularity.

Instead of bare metal, many aluminum pieces now come in a variety of colors and instead of folding are welded into a one-piece unit.

And better quality aluminum pieces are double-tube at stress points little things the customer usually doesn't notice unless they're pointed out to him by the salesman.

Furniture made of PVC (polyvinyl chloride) pipe hit the market as an innovation just a couple years ago and has caught on fast, Russi said. While at first it was believed to be a fad, it has become increasingly popular.

At first, the PVC furniture was assembled with pipe fittings like a piece of plumbing. Now, however, pieces like tables and chairs are molded to resemble wood and bamboo.

Some PVC furniture is comparable in price to other materials or may be slightly higher. Warranties vary.

"There's no way it can rust," Russi says.

Most of the aluminum outdoor furniture is painted white.

The outdoor furniture cushions if made of dacron can be left out in all kinds of weather with no harm. Those with dacron filling will dry almost immediately.

Mildew is usually no problem with this kind of cushion.

Mildew on other types of outdoor furniture can be controlled by washing periodically with a mild solution of chlorine bleach and water, Russi says.

An outdoor table with umbrella can cost less than $40 while an outdoor table with umbrella and chairs can cost more than $400.

It's all a matter of style.

Sex Hormones Linked To Mental Ability

BOSTON (UPI) — Medical researchers, reporting on the first study of its kind, said sex hormones influence humans' intellectual abilities and possibly their talents but a Harvard University psychologist said he is skeptical of the findings.

The study, conducted by doctors in Boston and Chicago, showed men who were deficient in male hormones because of a syndrome that blocks puberty had lower scores on spatial tests that measure ability to visualize shapes and sort out visual images.

In the study of 19 men, the more severe the low testosterone syndrome was, the more poorly the men did on spatial tests, such as finding a shape amidst distracting lines, the researchers wrote in the New England Journal of Medicine. All scored high in vocabulary tests and others showing verbal ability, which involves reading, writing, spelling and abstract reasoning.

The team concluded the deficiency caused the men's inability to deal with spatial relationships.

"The most important point is that it's the first study that shows an absence of sex hormones produces a change in human intellectual behavior," said Dr. Daniel B. Iller, who headed the study.

"It shows there are receptors for sex hormones in the brain. There may be changes in brain function and presumably brain structural organization related to these ... It may explain why we're different, to some extent."

Bul Jerome Kagan, professor of human relationships in Harvard's psychology department said there are "serious reasons" to remain skeptical. "Although the data ... are of interest, it is not yet obvious differences in spatial ability among adults are mediated by androgens (sex hormone) acting on the brain or by a sexlinked gene," he wrote in an editorial accompanying the study.

Men generally do better than women in spatial tests, while women excel in tests measuring verbal abilities. Many reasons have been suggested for this — including social conditioning.

But both men and women have different levels of male hormones, said Ilter a University of Chicago assistant professor of neurology, so "we would be very reluctant to say this is an explanation of why men and women are different."

What the study may eventually help explain, he said, is why some people turn out to be Beethovens and some become bricklayers.

The study was conducted at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center in Chicago and Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OBL

For Saturday, May 22, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 22, 1982
Greater opportunities as well as larger responsibilities are likely in your chosen field of endeavor this coming year. Do your best. This could be a cycle of rapid advancement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
It's good to be assertive today in meaningful situations where you are trying to advance your self-interests, but forgo using aggression in your social involvements. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
Your compassionate instincts will be easily aroused today. Those who need your help will receive it. Unfortunately, others may not treat you as thoughtfully.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Associate with companions today who know how to enjoy themselves without seeking outlandish adventures. Erratic pals could involve you in something risky and foolish.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You have the capacity for substantial achievements today, provided you don't switch objectives just when your goals are within your reach. Follow through.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
You're likely to be a bit more daring and bold than usual today. This is well and good if it is channeled constructively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
In your commercial dealings today, take pains to do things in a business like manner and all will come out as you hope. Departures from proper procedure won't do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Even though you may have strong urges to do things your way today, everything will work out better if you subdue them and go along with the majority.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You'll be more productive today if you use methods that you know from experience to work. Sometimes it pays to experiment, but not now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
At social gatherings today, be very careful that you're not too attentive to a new acquaintance while ignoring an old pal. You might lose a buddy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You will handle several difficult situations with considerable skill today, but you must be careful that, once they are resolved, you don't reopen these issues.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
If you get careless today, there is a chance you may relinquish something advantageous and turn a winning proposition into a losing one.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Budgeting your resources is very important today. If you fail to put limitations on your expenditures, you may dole out more than you should for non-essentials.

Cysts In Breasts Are Rarely Cancer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 29 years old and have developed what the doctors think is fibrocystic breasts. I'm married and have two wonderful kids, ages 3 and 3. I noticed this about a week before my menstrual period last month in one breast. This month I noticed some of the same feeling on the other side.

What causes this? Can they develop into breast cancer? If I have fibrocystic breasts should they be causing lumps or pain? Is there any cure for this?

DEAR READER — Cysts in the breast are quite common. They are round purplish colored cysts and as smooth as a grape. They are formed from the milk ducts in the breast. They are almost always found first in women in the childbearing years. As a generalization they occur in younger women while breast cancer occurs in middle-aged or older women, but there are exceptions.

They may be painless and a woman notices them when she does her monthly breast examination and feels a round smooth lump. They can be painful, particularly just before the menstrual period.

No, they do not cause cancer and are rarely associated with cancer. If there is an associated cancer it is not because of the cyst but as an independent finding.

Every lump, smooth or otherwise, that a woman finds should be examined as soon as possible by a physician. If it should be a cancer the early diagnosis may be lifesaving.

After your doctor has examined you and you know you have cysts, then there is evidence that avoiding completely all caffeine as found in coffee, tea and colas is important. Also, cigarette smoking seems to affect the cysts. Nicotine in cigarettes and caffeine affect the cell growth and replacement in such a way as to stimulate the formation of cysts. Some studies show that a high percentage of women who are willing to eliminate these will stop having cyst problems. I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-12, Breast Basics, which gives information on fibrocystic disease and related breast problems. Others who want this letter send $3.00 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman in my middle 60s and have always had nice hair. Now I have seborrheic dermatitis which comes and goes. The medication the dermatologist gave me seems to help but leaves the scalp so dry it will not move. The skin on my legs and arms is also dry. The skin sometimes cracks and I can peel small pieces off. The scalp is my biggest concern. Are there any creams I can apply to the scalp without damaging the hair? What about vitamins like vitamin A?

DEAR READER — Seborrheic dermatitis is a common ailment. It produces scales and usually red spots. The scalp and hair line is most often involved. It can affect the face and other areas where sebaceous glands (skin oil glands) are common. The cause is not known. Frequent medicated shampoos are the usual treatment for the scalp. Corticosteroid creams are commonly used for the face.

You can't use creams on the hair. You can use medicated nongreasy lotions, but your dermatologist may already be using these. The nature of the disease is to come and go and you treat it to control the acute episode. Extra vitamins will not help.

hearts, played four rounds of trumps to take care of East and then lost the club finesse. East had led a second heart to force South to ruff with his last trump. Now South could take dummy's two good clubs, but had no way to get back to his hand to score the all important 10th trick with the 10.

"The trouble with you is that you squander your substance on riotous living," remarked North, "You led too many rounds of trumps."

North was right. South should have taken his king and jack of trumps. At that point the 6-1 break would show up and he should immediately take the club finesse. East would take his king and lead a heart. South would ruff and carefully lead a club to one of dummy's two remaining honors. Then he would lead dummy's queen of trumps and overtake with the ace. The last trump winner would be played next in order to take care of East's last nuisance card. South would have thrown dummy's last high club on that last trump and would collect his ninth and 10th tricks with the club 10 and nine.

South had taken his ace of

Perennial Debate: Removing Turfgrass Clippings

A perennial debate among people in the turf business is the necessity, or lack thereof, to remove the turfgrass clippings from a turf area. Turfgrass clippings are grass leaves and sometimes stems which are cut by mowing. The clippings are about 80 percent water and 20 percent dry matter. This dry matter contains significant amounts of nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium along with other essential nutrients.

Arguments in support of removing the clippings include: reduced thatching tendency, reduced disease incidence, reduced injury from heavy deposits of clippings, and generally improved turfgrass quality.

Turfgrass clippings DO NOT need to be collected or removed under normal lawn management practices. Under such conditions the clippings do not lead to thatch accumulation. Clippings are decomposed by soil microorganisms soon after being deposited, particularly during warm or hot weather when the volume of grass clippings is the highest. The association between returning clippings and disease severity may have been exaggerated in the past. Clippings are a source of plant nutrients and contain significant amounts of nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium. After microbial decomposition, these nutrients are available for turfgrass use. Research has shown that recycling of turfgrass clippings can save as much as two pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet per year. This is equivalent to the amount of nitrogen in 12 pounds of a 16-4-8 fertilizer. Thus allowing the clippings to fall to the soil surface reduces fertilizer requirements, eliminates the time required to collect clippings as well as cost for bags and trash disposal, and ultimately conserves energy.

There are times when turfgrass clippings should be removed. This is usually when there is an exceptionally heavy amount of clippings when large deposits cause clumping.

Large clipping deposits can be avoided by mowing often enough so that no more than 30-40 percent of the leaf tissue is removed at one time. Excessive clipping deposits can also be avoided by not mowing wet grass which tends to clump on the turf surface.

Finally, following proper fertilization and watering practices maintains steady growth at a reasonable rate which also helps reduce excessive clipping production.

So, combine proper mowing, fertilization and watering practices to increase turf health and quality. Recycle those clippings and reduce fertilizer requirements and labor while improving turf appearance.

The Geneva Church of the Nazarene will be welcoming their new pastor this Sunday with a dinner on the grounds in the all-purpose building behind the church.

Miss B.J. Johnson of Geneva will be returning this weekend from a trip to Nashville where she recorded her first L.P. gospel album. Miss Johnson was accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Ada Reynolds, also of Geneva.

Where Were Criers During Last Years?

DEAR ABBY: Recently I lost my dear mother, who was 85. The next few days I was kept busy "entertaining" relatives and friends who came to cry. Most of them had not seen Mother in 25 years or more.

Later, as they were leaving, the tears reappeared along with the same utterance from each, "I hope next time we will meet it will be for a happier occasion."

Abby, where were these criers when mother spent her last four years in a nursing home waiting for someone to come and visit her?

BITTER DAUGHTER

DEAR BITTER: Good question. If misery loves company, take consolation in the fact that you are echoing the sentiments of countless others.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a wedding where there were 240 couples, plus 30 singles attending. That means 270 invitations have been sent out.

Now, somebody had to sit down and address all those invitations.

The question on my mind is: Do you think this couple should sit down again and write out another 270 thank-you notes for the gifts received?

Why not just have the band drum up a silence at the wedding reception and have the bride and groom thank one and all for gifts received? What in the world would be wrong with that?

A MAN IN N.J.

DEAR MAN: Nothing. The band could "drum up a silence," at which time the bride and groom could thank their guests for coming, but the wedding gifts require a written note of thanks.

"Last September, my friend, Edith Recht of Port St. Lucie, Fla., entertained a group and used a set of German-made teaspoons of which she was particularly fond. When putting things away the next day she discovered that one spoon was missing!

"After a thorough search and many inquiries, she concluded that it must have been carelessly thrown out with the trash or garbage. Edith was both annoyed and saddened but accepted its disappearance as final.

"Six months later a stranger appeared at Edith's door, saying he had something that might belong to her. Then he produced the long-missing spoon! Edith immediately claimed ownership and asked where he found it. He replied that he had stumbled upon it while scavenging through trash piles.

"Her next question, posed in continuing astonishment, was, 'But how did you know it belonged to me?'"

"He replied, 'Because it was mixed in with a bunch of advertising circulars all addressed to you.'"

"Edith retrieved the spoon; in bewilderment, thanked and rewarded the spoon-bearer in gratitude and closed the door in utter incredulity."

Orange Crush Bottles Up White Lightning

Herald Photos by Tom Vincent

Seminole White Lightning running back Ronald Burke (right) streaks for end zone for a touchdown as Torin Williams (no. 65) pursues in the Tribe's intrasquad game Thursday night. Burke was the leading rusher for the night with 165 yards. The Orange Crush whipped the White, 28-24.

When's the last time you saw White Lightning in a bottle of Orange Crush?

With just 2:50 to play, Seminole High's Orange Crush was backed up to its 1 yard line and holding onto a precarious 28-22 lead in Thursday's intrasquad game at Seminole High.

On fourth and 1, fullback Ronald Burke of Seminole's White Lightning bulldozed into the middle of the Orange Crush defense which stopped Burke cold to preserve an eventual 28-24 victory for the Orange.

Although Burke was stopped on that attempt, it was one of the few times for the evening. The hard-charging fullback was the best back on the field, ripping off chunks of real estate totaling 165 yards.

"I think we've found us a couple fullbacks," said Tribe coach Jerry Posey who ran the clock in the press box while the assistants handled the coaching. "Burke was fantastic and Daryl Collins did a good job while he was in there."

The White opened the game as if it was going to blow the Orange into 25th Street. Burke and Dion Jackson ripped off big gainers until "Jax" chugged in from the 3. Rendel Manley circled the end for an 8-0 bulge.

Later in the quarter, Burke rolled in from 5. The run for 2 failed, but White Lightning held a 14-0 edge.

The Orange turned on a little lightning of its own moments later when Tim Lawrence zoomed down the right sideline for a 48 yard romp and a TD. A run for 2 failed.

With two minutes to play in the half, speedy Deron Thompson flashed around the left end for a touchdown and then dashed the same way for the extra points and a 14-14 deadlock.

Just a minute and a half later, Thompson was at it again. He raced through the White line, blocked a punt, scooped it up at the 18 yard line and raced in for the score. Only 22 seconds remained when Lawrence rumbled in for the 2 points as the Orange Cru: h seized a 22-14 lead.

Earlier in the third quarter a White fumble set up the Crush again. After a run and a penalty moved the ball to the 2 yard line, quarterback Mike Futrell dove into the end zone for the score. The run was no good for the PAT, but the Orange had assumed a 28-14 bulge.

While the Orange offense was gearing up, coach Hank Daviero's defense was holding Burke, Jackson and Manley in check. Middle linebacker William Wynn and cornerback Lawrence were the big hitters for the night.

Burke, nevertheless, broke loose around the right end and scooted 60 yards for a touchdown with eight minutes to play in the game. Manley powered over the PAT to close the Orange lead to 28-22.

An Orange fumble set up the White Lightning crew just 22 yards from a tie game. Quarterback Rob Cohen, though, was separated from the ball and Orange had it back.

The Crush promptly fumbled it back on the next play to give the White another shot. Cohen rolled for 2, Manley sprinted for 4 and a face mask penalty moved the ball to the 6.

Collins, however, broke through and dropped Manley for a 6 yard loss back to the 12. Manley regrouped for 2 and Burke slashed for 7 to the 3. Two more tries were stopped short, however, and the Orange Crush had bottled the White Lightning.

The Orange was caught for a safety to make the final count, 28-24, for the Crush.

TEEPEE TALK — When someone pointed out that the Orange Crush had an extra man on defense, he wasn't exaggerating. Coach Hank Daviero roamed the field like a middle linebacker apparently oblivious to referee Jeff Linton.

"He can't do anything to me," said Hank. "I've got him in two classes. He wants to graduate doesn't he?"

Not only did the Orange overcome the White Thursday night, but it beat the clock too. With a third and 3 on the 5, two minutes and 50 seconds remained.

Two plays later it was announced that three minutes and 30 seconds remained.

Have you checked your Timex lately, coach Posey?

Hopkins, Caughell Lead Defense Past Offense In Rams' Intrasquad

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

The Lake Mary Rams locked horns in an intrasquad game Thursday night and head coach Roger Beathard was pleased with the effort his young team showed.

"I feel good about this game," Beathard said. "They showed some good signs, what we need to do now is work hard and get a little more experience."

The Rams defense stood out as probably the most impressive part of the game. The defense held the offense to 13 points and scored 24 points.

Two points were awarded the defense for fumble recoveries and interceptions, one point was awarded for a quarterback sack or if the defense denied the offense a first down on four downs.

"I was impressed with the defensive effort," Beathard said. "They were aggressive and hit hard." Linebackers Jeff Hopkins, and Bill Caughell and safety Reg Anderson were the defensive standouts.

On the second play from scrimmage the defense recovered a fumble for a 2-0 lead. A couple of minutes later Jim Sadoski intercepted a pass for two more points. Caughell also intercepted a pass in the first quarter and Mark Lundquist later came up with a quarterback sack.

The offense scored its first touchdown late in the first quarter on a 22 yard run by Pat Murray. Greg Shatto broke off a 45 yard run and quarterback Kyle Frakes hooked up with Scott Underwood for 30 yards for the big offensive plays in the first quarter.

The stingy Ram defense tightened up in the second quarter and did not allow the offense to score. Hopkins, Mark Swartz and Cornell Young all sacked the quarterback in the second quarter and the defense rolled to a 13-6 halftime lead.

Frakes provided the offense spark in the second quarter with an 11 yard run and passes of 22 yards and 15 yards to Shatto and Murray. The defense was in control for the entire third quarter. Young recovered a fumble and the offense was stopped twice before making a first down and the defense led 19-6 after three quarters.

Early in the fourth quarter Hopkins picked off a pass to give the defense a 21-6 lead. But with about four minutes remaining the offense got back on track and put together an impressive touchdown drive.

Underwood went up the middle from four yards out for the TD. Underwood also booted the extra point making the score 21-13.

"You showed me a lot of heart tonight," Beathard told his troops after the game.

Now Lake Mary will prepare for next week's jamboree in DeLand on Friday. Beathard said there are a few things that need to be worked on.

"We need to work on timing up our pass patterns, improve pass blocking and work on snap counts on offense. Defensively we will work on pass defense."

Overall it was a good workout for the Rams who will step up to play 3A varsity football next season.

Rae, Norton Buoy Hawks' Offensive Line

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Bisceglia, in his second year at Howell, can wait, though. The personable ex-Hialeah High junior has two offensive linemen that he thinks have already reached that exalted level.

"Dan Rae and Billy Norton are major college prospects," said Bisceglia Wednesday. "They make our offensive line our strongest point."

Spring Football

Rae is a 6-foot-1½, 230 pound offensive guard with a 4.3 40-yard dash speed. The senior-to-be has exceptional quick which helped him to a district wrestling title this past winter. Rae will also hold down a linebacker spot on defense.

Norton, who will also be a senior, will line up beside Rae at tackle. Needless to say, Bisceglia labels that side of the line his strong side. Norton is 6-foot-2½ and 210 pounds. He also runs a 4.6 40.

Center Mike Jones, guard Eugene Boyle (6-foot-2, 190), tackle Jim Royal (6-foot-1½, 205) and tight end Fred McNeill (6-foot-3, 200) complete the Silver Hawks veteran offensive line.

The versatile Lang, meanwhile, heads up the defensive secondary from his free safety spot. Bisceglia doesn't mince words when describing how good he feels the 6-foot, 180 pounder can be.

"Bill Lang will be the best defensive back in the state of Florida by the time he's a senior," predicts Bisceglia. Lang is joined by Charlie Hodges at strong safety, Fred Huebler at strong cornerback and Mike McKnight at weak cornerback.

Defensive coordinator Bob Becker lost David Hart with a broken ankle at one linebacker spot, but will back him up with Steve Cina.

TROY QUACKENBUSH
...at the controls

On the defensive line Rick Pugh (6-foot-3, 195) and Joe Navarro (6-foot-1, 195) will handle the ends. Pat Lavore (6-foot-3, 220) and Jeff Bryant (6-foot-1, 205) is the noseguard.

The Hawks biggest losses came on offense where all-purpose back Scott Grant graduated along with quarterback Scott Frick. Grant is attempting to make the Florida Gators as a walk-on punter this fall.

Troy Quackenbush, a leftyhander who will be a junior, shared time with Frick last year and will move into the QB slot. "He's done real well so far," said Bisceglia. "He makes good reads running our veer."

One of the Silver Hawk running backs will be Jay Robey. Robey also logged valuable time last year. He weighs in a 180 pounds on his 6-foot frame. Jeff Solomon (5-foot-8, 140 pounds) is the other running back with Lang also seeing action.

Either Lang or Darin Slack will handle the punting, while soccer-style kicker Tito Martorell or Robert Kerr will do the place kicking. Martorell was the leading scorer on the soccer team.

"We're way ahead of last year," said Bisceglia, whose team dropped its first six games before winning three of the last four. "The coaching staff has been together a year and all the kids know the system."

"I think we'll be a lot better than last year."

The Silver Hawks will hold an intrasquad game Friday night a 8 at Lake Howell. There is no charge for admission.

Color Big Blue Baby Blue In '82

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

For years, the Lake Brantley football squad has carried the nickname "Big Blue."

But as third-year head coach Dave Tullis surveys his troops during spring training for the upcoming 1982 prep football campaign, he might well feel like changing the nickname to "Baby Blue."

"We are really young," says Tullis. "We graduated a lot of seniors and the ones we have coming back didn't see a lot of action."

"I can honestly say that we're in somewhat of the same position as Lake Mary," pointed out Tullis. "We've got a lot of people who will be juniors and sophomores in the fall who will have to do the job for us."

Despite the youthful outlook, Tullis says he's been pleased so far with spring practice progress. "We've got some players, it's a question of where to play them," he said. "The key for us is to mature quickly."

The senior leadership that Tullis does have back is impressive. "Two solid returning starters are back to anchor what will be a very young Patriot defense."

Returning are defensive tackle John Desmet, a 6-foot-11, 190 pound senior who earned all-Five Star Conference honors a season ago. He'll be joined by another senior in the trenches, 6-foot-1, 180-pound defensive end Richie Smith who earned all-conference honorable mention last year.

To combat the wide running games and passing attacks of the opposition, Tullis will be looking at Brian Hammond, a 6-foot-3 180 pounder who played offensive guard last year at a linebacker spot, while cornerback duties will fall into the hands of juniors-to-be Scott Horowitz at 5-foot-8, 150 pounds and Mike Evans, a 5-10 165-pounder.

Scott Hubbard, a game sophomore-to-be at 5-10, 175 will also see plenty of game time in the secondary while Tullis is looking for Tennessee transfer Mike Clayborne, a 170-pound six-footer, to fill the all-world shoes of graduated free safety Phil Baber.

Offensively, the Patriots have experience in jump center Bill Bragg, a 170-pounder who earned the starting job four games into last year's 4-4 effort.

Spring Football

Bragg will be snapping to a pair of junior varsity quarterback graduates who are presently battling for the starting job.

Pat James and John Harris both move up this year to fill the spot at quarterback vacated by the versatile Baber.

James, 6-foot-1 and 175 pounds, and Harris, 6-foot and 155, will both be juniors when the fall season rolls around.

Tullis feels if his quarterbacks can develop quickly, they'll both have a talented tight end to throw to in 5-foot-11 215-pound Lonny San Angelo.

"He can catch anything near him," says Tullis. "And if we can get the ball to him he can get the job done for us."

The Patriot skipper will be eyeing upcoming junior Donny O'Brien, 5-foot-10, 180, as a starter at wide receiver.

The Brantley backfield will also sport a fresh look thanks to graduation.

Currently Tullis is taking a long look at four possible starters.

Senior Andy Raridan heads the list at 6-foot-1, 175 pounds. He'll most likely split duty with junior-to-be Alan Armstrong, 6-foot-6, 160, Chuck Stallings, 5-foot-8, 160 and Keith Thompson, yet another junior-to-be at 5-foot-8, 155. "We'll probably carry as many as eight sophomores this year, and they'll see a lot of game time," said Tullis.

Other players the Patriot coach will be looking for strong performances from include Bill Black, a 5-foot-8, 160-pound sophomore slated for game time at cornerback; Tom Whitmore and Phil Logas at split end and upcoming junior offensive tackle Robert Maier, a 6-foot-3, 310-pounder who Tullis labeled as the most improved player thus far in spring practice.

"The one area I felt we'll be very strong in is the kicking game," said the former Gator.

Stallings, Larry DeLong and soccer style booter Raridan are currently jockeying for the starting place kicking duties that were handled a season ago by Kyle Davis and the punting duties that were capably handled by Baber.

Tullis gets his first good look at his "Baby Blue" squad when the Patriots stage their annual Blue-White intra-squad scrimmage tonight at Lake Brantley Junior varsity action begins at 6:30 with varsity action following at 8 p.m. Friday night.

The Patriots will take part in Apopka's Spring Jamboree next Friday night, facing Lake Howell in first quarter play and perennial rival Seminole in third quarter play. Apopka's six-team jamboree kicks off at 7 p.m.

Thomann Rates Defense Over Offense

Lyman High assistant coach Paul Thomann rates the defense ahead of the offense after the Greyhounds scrimmaged for an hour Thursday at Lyman.

The Hounds first team offense, led by quarterback Jerry Axley, ran 12 plays against a second-team's defense before turning the ball over to the second team offense for 12 cracks at the number one defense.

"Our two inside linebackers (Mike Hill and Dave Williams) looked real good," said Thomann who is coordinating practice for head coach Bill Scott. Scott's father was taken ill in North Carolina last week.

Thomann is looking for Hill and Williams to spearhead Lyman's 4-4 defense. Junior-to-be Mark Schofield, a 6 foot, 190 pounder, was also impressive at defense tackle.

Offensively, Axley hooked up with his favorite receiver Todd Marriot for a couple of long gainers and Thomann was encouraged by the running of Theo Jones and Carl Simmons, a ball player up from last year's junior varsity.

Lyman tallack Vince Preckley set up the scrimmage with a "very slight" ankle injury.

"Both teams looked sharp when they came out, but I'd have to give the edge to the defense," said Thomann. The Hounds' only casualty was Phil Germino, who separated his shoulder.

Hamp's Coasts To 10th Win

The race for the pennant in the Women's softball League heated up last night as the top two teams went at each other. And it was Hamp's Angels that coasted to its 10th straight victory without a loss over perennial nemesis the Elkettes, 11-1.

Doc Hogan, Johnnie Bennett and Robin Higgins each collected two RBI to back the three hit pitching of Hogan. Hamp's also took advantage of four Elkettes errors and five walks. Bootsie Jackson took the loss for the Elkettes who fell to 7-3.

Hamp's Angels now has a 24 record in the second half, 10-4 overall. The Elkettes fell to 1-1 in the second half followed by Cardinal Industries, 1-1 and 4-6 overall, Cooper's Pub, 1-1 and 4-6, and Rush Hampton brings up the rear at 0-2, 0-18 overall.

In other Women's League action, Cooper's Pub ripped 15 hits and breezed to a 15-0 drubbing of Rush Hampton. Sandy Cooper led the Pub's barrage with two singles, a double and a triple, knocking in six runs. Ruth Burk had three singles and Mary Johnson collected three hits and five RBI. Dee Enright also had three hits including a solo homerun and Marlene Burk had two hits and five RBI.

In the Ladies League Rotary Breakfast got home runs by Tewana Chisholm and Aretha Higgins and played solid defense in a 5-0 win over Kiwanis.

Chisholm was the winning pitcher allowing the Kiwanis only five hits, two of those were by Tracy Williams. Losing pitcher Sharon Stevens allowed Rotary only six hits.

Chisholm's homer was a two run blast in the first inning and Higgins hit a solo shot in the fifth. Also in the Ladies League, Optimist came up with a six run first inning and held off Pat's Electric 6-4.

Ann Perry knocked in the first Optimist run with a double and scored on a single by Tina Roberts. Roberts scored on Melinda Jackson's single and two runs came across on Phyllis Moore's triple.

Pat's Electric came back to score four runs in the second inning, the big blow was a two run homer off the bat of Belinda Anderson.

Beverly Wright, Roberts, Regina McKinney and Jennifer Hines all had two hits for Optimist. Linda Jackson had three hits for Pat's Electric.

Optimist and Rotary are now tied for the Ladies League lead with 7-1 records. Kiwanis is 3-6 while Pat's Electric fell to 0-6. —CHRIS FISTER

Cadhia Boosts O-Twins

Chlo Cadhia's first homer of the year couldn't have come at a better time. His eighth inning solo blast broke a 4-5 tie and gave the Orlando Twins a victory over Columbus Thursday.

Smooky Everett, 3-2, got the win with 3 and two thirds perfect innings of relief. Mark Funderburk was the O-Twins other offensive star. He blasted his seventh homer of the year and also singled, knocking in four runs.

The Twins will be home tonight for another series against Columbus.

Lakers Win Coin Toss

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last time the Los Angeles Lakers had the first pick in the NBA draft they came away with a fellow named Magic Johnson.

This time around the Lakers are hoping there's a bit of magic in the 1962 silver dollar that came up "heads" Thursday, assuring them the No. 1 selection in next month's draft.

"This has been a Laker year so far," Jerry West, special consultant to the club, said from Inglewood, Calif. "Four more victories and it'll be perfect. Win the championship and the top draft pick."

Ivie Clobbers 2 Homers, Tigers' Streak Grows To 8

United Press International Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson may wind up celebrating May 6 more enthusiastically than his own birthday. That's the day the Tigers signed Mike Ivie.

"You don't get a break like that but once in a great, great while," Anderson said Thursday night, after watching Ivie hit a pair of two-run homers to lead Detroit to its eighth straight victory, and 11-3 decision over the Oakland A's.

"He's not even quite ready yet," continued Anderson. "But he can do anything, he wants to do and that's why he's contributing already."

Ivie belted his first home run of the game in the first inning off Tom Underwood, 1-3, and his fourth of the season to greet reliever Bob Ovechinko in the middle of Detroit's five-run fourth inning.

Ivie, signed after being waived by the Houston Astros, refused to predict what would happen the remainder of the season.

"If I say something like I'm going to get 40 home runs and I don't keep hitting them, I'll start pressing and that isn't going to help the club at all," explained Ivie, who has four homers and 13 RBI in 11 games.

Larry Herndon went 5-for-5 to aid Ivie in a 17-hit attack that supported the seven-hit pitching of Milt Wilcox as the Tigers equaled their April winning streak.

Wilcox, 32, walked five and struck out four in pitching his third complete game of the season. Herndon's perfect night at the plate included two triples and an RBI and Kirk Gibson drove in three runs.

Red Sox 11, Mariners 2

At Boston, Jim Rice knocked in five runs with a three-run homer and a double and Rich Gedman added a three-run homer to lead the Red Sox. Carl Yastrzemski scored the 1,740th run of his career, tying him with Honus Wagner for 15th place on the all-time list. Brewers 4, Angels 1

CAL RIPKEN ... 3 RBI

At Milwaukee, Don Money cracked a two-run double to highlight a three-run first and Moose Haas scattered six hits to snap California's six-game winning streak.

Orioles 6, Twins 0

At Baltimore, Cal Ripken drove in three runs with a single and a double to back the five-hit pitching of Scott McGregor, 5-3, and lead the Orioles. Blue Jays 2, Indians 0 At Cleveland, Ernie Whit singled home Al Woods with the go-ahead run in the seventh to give Toronto's Jim Clancy, 5-2, his fifth straight victory.

LaPoint Masters San Diego, 6-3

United Press International The two Davida Whitley Herzog got in a trade with Milwaukee 17 months ago could end up being a couple of giant-killers in a few years.

Herzog took a lot of criticism when he traded away Ted Simmons, Rollie Fingers and Pete Vuckovich to the Brewers for Larry Sorensen, Sixto Lezcano and a couple of minor leaguers named David Green and Dave LaPoint.

But he may end up having the last laugh. He wouldn't OK the trade unless Green and LaPoint were included and they are making important contributions to the St. Louis Cardinals' early season success.

Green, 22, earned a starting outfield spot in spring training and was performing admirably before pulling a hamstring.

And LaPoint, also 22, scattered eight hits over seven innings Thursday to help the Cardinals defeat the San Diego Padres, 6-3.

National League

The righthander, making his first major-league start, struck out five and walked only one before tiring in the eighth and giving way to Bruce Sutter, who pitched the last two innings.

"Today, I really didn't have the good stuff in the first two innings or so," LaPoint said. "But as a starter, you can work your way out of it."

Herzog was more than pleased with LaPoint's performance.

"He did a fine job. He stepped in there when we really needed him," Lonnie Smith and Tito Landrum drove in two runs apiece to pace the Cardinals' offense.

Giants 3, Pirates 1

At San Francisco, Joe Morgan singled home two runs in the eighth inning to lift the Giants. Pinch hitter Guy Sularz started the winning rally with a walk and went to second on a sacrifice by Johnny LeMaster. The Pirates walked Jim Wohlford intentionally and both runners moved up on a wild pitch by loser Rod Scurry, 1-3, before Morgan delivered his game-winning hit.

Cubs 5, Dodgers 3

At Los Angeles, Ferguson Jenkins pitched a six-hitter and moved within one strikeout of the 3,000 mark for his career in leading the Cubs. The 38-year-old Jenkins struck out eight in defeating Fernando Valenzuela, 5-4, and snapping a personal three-game losing streak.

Milanovich, Rodney Rip Longwood

By CHRIS FISTER Herald Sports Writer

Forest City II got seven of its 10 hits from two players in a 11-1 drubbing of Longwood in Bronco League action at the Seminole Pony Baseball complex at Five Points.

Bobby Milanovich blasted two homers and ripped two singles, knocking in four runs with Matt Rodney, had a double and two singles for Forest City II.

J.W. Waring pitched a three hit game and struck out seven while issuing no walks. Dale Stevens took the Longwood loss.

In other action, B.J. Calapa pitched a one hitter and Matthew Will slugged a homer and two singles to lead Winter Springs I over Winter Springs II, 8-1.

In Mustang softball, Altamonte Billiards racked up two straight wins over Newham Plastering, 6-4, and Barnett Bank, 7-4.

Kim Robinson: picked up both pitching victories. Patricia Yeakle and Dannie Maxwell were the leading hitters for Altamonte Billiards.

Five Points

Newham Plastering, behind four hits by Jaundon Jones, rebounded for a 5-2 victory over Chek Cola. Tamara Lewis also added two hits to the 16 hit Newham attack.

Rax, Casselberry 2, beefed up its attack and claimed consecutive victories over Chek Cola, 18-7, and General Elevator, 11-3.

Tunya Lowell had a homer, double and single and Bobbie Osborne scored four runs to lead Rax past Chek Cola. Betty Hill clubbed two hits to lead Rax over up and down General Elevator. Lowell got both pitching victories.

In other Mustang action, Barnett Bank rolled to a six run second inning and outlasted General Elevator, 10-8.

Studies Show TV Violence Effects

There may never be a conclusive end to the debate over how the violence depicted on television affects the behavior of children and adolescents. Even the most careful studies are open to criticism of their methodology, possible bias, and interpretation of data.

Still, those who argue that violence on television incites heightened aggression in young people seem to be winning gradually on points. The latest endorsement for this critical view of television's influence comes from no less a prestigious organization than the National Institute of Mental Health.

In a report released last week, the government-funded institute concluded that there is "overwhelming" evidence that violence on television leads to aggressive behavior by children and teenagers.

The report, based on an extensive review of several hundred research studies conducted during the 1970s, is an update of a 1972 Surgeon General's report that came to similar conclusions.

Defining the dimensions of this problem is difficult enough. Deciding what to do about it is even tougher.

Government censorship would be undesirable for obvious reasons even assuming the First Amendment could somehow be construed to allow bureaucrats to decide what should be shown on television.

Handing over control of the airwaves to self-appointed censors — the Moral Majority types or the anti-violence crusaders — is likewise undesirable, and for the same self-evident reasons. Freedom of expression is a goal worth enshrining despite the certainty that it will sometimes be abused.

What about self-policing by the broadcasters themselves? The National Institute of Mental Health report leaves little doubt that self-policing has not come close to curbing television's daily diet of mayhem.

"Violence on television seems to be cyclical, up a little one year, down a little the next, but the percentage of programs containing violence has remained essentially the same over the past decade," the report said.

More to the point, the fortunes of broadcast executives and the commercial networks that employ them ride with the ratings. The stylized violence depicted on television remains popular despite its unwholesome effects on children.

Nevertheless, there is much to be said for keeping the pressure on broadcasters to curtail excessive, gratuitous violence, especially during hours when children are most likely to be watching. Without such pressure during the last decade, the incidence of violence on television might easily be far greater than it is today.

The ultimate and most practical sanction, however, remains with parents. No network mogul has the power to prevent responsible parents from simply switching off the boob tube when what it offers might harm their children. Were this to happen often enough, the ratings would deliver an unmistakable message to broadcasters about violence on television.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I would say Glen is like the majority of America's bridges — FALLING APART!"

By TENI YARBOROUGH

The week of May 23 through May 30 has been proclaimed Firefighter's Appreciation Week in both Casselberry and Altamonte Springs. However, Casselberry firefighters will have to share their week with home health care workers as proclaimed by Mayor Owen Sheppard.

At Monday night's City Council meeting in Casselberry, Sheppard signed an official proclamation recognizing the two groups and calling for a citywide appreciation week for the public servants.

Sheppard said that because Florida is recognized as ninth in the nation with the fewest fire-related deaths and that because 46 percent of Florida's firefighters will be injured in the line of duty this year, it is only fitting that we set aside a time to commend them for their work and show our appreciation.

Sheppard added that because of the "high quality of care" that is continually given throughout the year by nurses, medical social workers, speech therapists, physical therapists and other health care workers in the home, a special time of recognition should also be afforded this group.

Likewise, Mayor Ray Ambrose of Altamonte Springs signed a proclamation at Tuesday's City Commission meeting designating the week as Firefighter Appreciation Week in his city. He added that Seminole County ranks 22 in the nation as having the least amount of fire-related deaths among firefighters.

Also, Commissioner Lee Constantine, who serves as coach and player for the Loeman volleyball ball team, was congratulated by his legislators for his team's overall victory in the Altamonte Springs Challenge Week competition recently.

Constantine's band of volleyball players defeated six teams from across the state in round-robin competition and went on to beat the University of Florida team in final competition.

And, for all of you who want to know how the war on crime is going in Florida, these statistics are just in from the Crime in Florida annual report.

The good news — Overall there appears to be a decrease in the state of such reported crimes as murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, breaking and entering-burglary, larceny and auto theft with a 3.3 percent decrease as compared to the first three months of 1981.

Among violent crimes alone, which includes murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault, there reportedly is a 12.3 percent decrease of such reported crimes for the first quarter of 1982 as compared with the same time period of 1981.

Nonviolent crimes, including only breaking and entering — burglary, larceny and auto thefts, decreased by 6 percent from 1981, with burglaries showing the greatest singular decrease of the group by 13.9 percent.

Also, the value of property stolen in the state during this year's first three months decreased by $7,863,450 from the first quarter of 1981, or 4.4 percent decrease. State law enforcers were successful in recovering 17.5 percent of the total property loss, or about $29,260,345 during the first quarter.

And now the bad news — Arrests for crimes in the first quarter of 1982 decreased by about 3.2 percent from that same period in 1981; of these arrests, juvenile arrests dropped 19.6 percent and adult arrests rose 5.8 percent.

Of the violent crimes mentioned earlier, including murder, rape, robbery and aggravated assault, rape reflected the highest percent increase during the first quarter with 9.8 percent.

Hong Kong Skyscraper For The 80s

By NEAL ROBBINS

HONG KONG (UPI) — Hong Kong's biggest bank is building what it calls the skyscraper of the future — spacious, comfortable and terrorist-proof.

The 41-story, $265-million project is under construction on a prime site in the British colony's financial district for the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corp.

According to a study commissioned by the bank, its layout makes the tower more efficient than any other building in the world in terms of usable space per total floor area.

Architects of the building say individual work areas can even be fitted out with personal, adjustable environmental controls like those of a first-class airplane seat.

In an effort to humanize the office, the designers grouped each three floors into "village" units where the open layout encourages friendliness among workers. Walls, and even floors, are easily changed.

And people in the 18-story high lobby of the steel and glass giant will bask in rays of the sun mirrored in to light the cavernous entryway.

The massive latticework of the skyscraper is designed, however, with the darker side of the coming decades in mind.

Eight external masts — supports that rise up out of the ground and go all the way to the helicopter pad on the roof — are reinforced to make it nearly impossible for terrorists to topple the building with an explosion.

The structure also will stand up to attacks by nature. It has been designed to resist earthquakes up to 7.9 on the Richter Scale and to be safe from the strongest typhoons ever known to hit the South China coast.

Aside from such chilling touches, the building incorporates all the latest technological and design innovations, according to Christopher Seddon of Foster Associates, the architectural firm behind the concept.

At 10-story intervals between the masts are supports resembling those used on suspension bridges. From the supports hang the intermediate floors, making it unnecessary to waste precious space taken up by columns rising through the building core.

The unusual frame gives the building walls and floors that will be movable after the skyscraper goes up. For example, that would allow the installation of an atrium between the 33rd and 35th floors without weakening the building's structure.

The design also lends itself to a novel floor plan with elevators rising on the outside of the skyscraper and escalators interspersed inside to ease movement through the building.

The bank's "village" concept is the work community of the future designed especially to bring computer, communications, heating and cooling to any point in a room entirely through the flooring, rather than the ceiling as is usually done.

This builds in a potential for work places that can be "controlled much as a person does in an airplane seat," says Seddon. "The worker can adjust the air and light to suit personal preferences."

High School Honors

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
UPI Education Editor

A new spirit, a new pride, is sprouting across the nation in city high schools, according to the Ford Foundation.

The Foundation inspected and selected schools in 36 cities, looking them over for awards of $1,000 in recognition of improvements. To qualify for inspection the school had to enroll 30 percent of its students from poor families.

Some 119 schools were found to have significantly improved.

One education expert who roamed school corridors and talked to persons on all rungs of the school's ladder said the schools that improved had an atmosphere that mixed pride, cleanliness, order, achievement and commitment of staff.

Evelyn M. Davila said she visited three schools in Tampa, Fla.; three in Houston, Texas; three in San Antonio, Texas.

About the schools that stood out, she made these points:

—The principal was always visible, often approachable by students.

—Staff, including those on the administrative level, called students by name about 90 percent of the time.

—Students got the idea, from the spirit among faculty and administrators, that they could accomplish anything. No one said to a student, "You can't try to do that."

—A feeling of pride surfaced from the student body, pride about the school. There was a sense that "this is also my home." It translated to a clean school, a pleasant school, even in the much older buildings.

"A boy told me," Miss Davila said, "When I came here, I was a real problem and I was going nowhere."

The school turned him around in three years. Now he was president of student council.

Miss Davila is one of 16 onsite visitors who helped the Foundation find schools worthy of recognition. She is manager for the Urban University Study at the College Board, Washington, D.C. Previously she was on the staff of the assistant secretary for elementary and secondary education, U.S. Department of Education. A Ph.D. candidate at Catholic University, she taught in Puerto Rico.

Franklin A. Thomas, the Foundation's president, announcing the 110 awards in 36 cities, said:

"This high school recognition program has confirmed the birth of a new spirit in city high schools all over the country. Although many of the schools continue to have some educational deficiencies, they are making notable progress..."

Schools winning awards included: —Walbrook High in Baltimore, Md.: Things that make Walbrook special include a Triple A — for Attend, Achieve, Advance. "The program has produced the only advanced placement class in English in Baltimore and honors sections in most other subjects."

—Fowler High, Syracuse, N.Y.: "Student leaders conducted a survey asking how students feel about the school. From 690 responses, 80 percent indicated they would pick Fowler again because it is close to their homes and because the teachers are good."

—Roosevelt High, Fresno, Calif.: "Average 10th grade verbal test scores went up 10 percent from 1977 to 1980. Math scores went up over 25 percent during the same period. And the percentage of students performing below grade level decreased."

—George Washington High, Indianapolis, Ind.: "The atmosphere at George Washington is positive, purposeful and enthusiastic. The administration, faculty, and students believe that by pulling together they have changed the school for the better in the past couple of years."

—North Division High, Milwaukee, Wis.: "North Division has a great deal of school spirit, virtually no vandalism, and an orderly, pleasant environment with few discipline problems."

Bone Loss Cause Is Unknown

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly one of every three women 65 or older in the United States has suffered a fractured hip. Roughly one of five has had a vertebral fracture.

Osteoporosis most often is the cause. This loss of bone is a major cause of disability in the nation and its cause remains unknown.

"Controversy exists whether the primary abnormality is an absolute increase in bone resorption, an absolute decrease in bone formation, or some combination thereof," said Dr. B. Lawrence Riggs, professor of medicine at Mayo Medical School in Rochester, Minn.

"The preponderance of evidence suggests that menopause accelerates bone turnover and that this is superimposed upon an age-related decrease in bone formation."

He discussed osteoporosis at the 30th annual clinical meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists recently in Dallas.

"The common forms of primary osteoporosis, sometimes called postmenopausal and senile osteoporosis, occur in middle-aged or older persons of either sex but are more frequent and severe in women than in men," he said.

Maximum bone density is attained in young adult life and after that, virtually all human beings lose bone with aging.

"Between ages 45 and 75... loss is about 30 percent in women and about 15 percent in men," Riggs said.

"Studies have shown a mean rate of bone loss about 1 percent per year during the first 20 to 30 years postmenopausally. After age 75 years, bone loss diminishes or ceases."

"Those individuals who achieve greatest bone density following cessation of growth can subsequently sustain the greatest bone loss without fracture."

Riggs said black males have the greatest bone density, followed by white males, black females and white females in that order.

"Because initial bone density may be inherited... certain individuals may be constitutionally predisposed to osteoporosis," he said.

"Both oral calcium supplements and sex steroids decrease bone resorption. However, after long-term treatment with either there may be a secondary decrease in bone formation. Thus, these agents are capable of only arresting or decreasing rate of progression of bone loss."

The most common symptom of osteoporosis? Acute, sharp back pain caused by a recent crush fracture of the vertebrae — as Riggs told it.

"When severe, this should be treated by support with an orthopedic garment, although occasionally bed rest is required," he said.

"Analgesics should be used liberally, and heat and gentle massage may be helpful to relieve spasm of muscles."

"The acute pain usually subsides over a period of one to four weeks as the fracture heals."

Among investigational therapy underway at research centers, Riggs cited as particularly promising one combining fluoride and calcium.

Argentine Radio Messages Disrupted

WASHINGTON — It may be 20 years or more before the full story is told of Britain's successful use of electronic warfare in the Falkland Islands crisis. It took longer than that to find out about the electronic warfare (EW) devices used in World War II.

It's not surprising that the British have effectively used their high-technology "boom busters" and other sophisticated electronic equipment to jam Argentine communications and confuse their ships and planes. The Brits are pioneers in the field.

One of the earliest EW applications, code-named HEADACHE, was used in 1940 to mislead Nazi aircraft navigators trying to "ride" radio signals to targets in England. By 1943, the British had developed a transmitter known as the "Airborne Cigar" to jam German plane frequencies, and by D-Day, Britain's electronic wizards were able to "deploy" whole fleets of phantom ships to confuse the Nazis.

Intelligence sources told my associate Dale

Van Atta that in the Falklands conflict, the British several times disrupted radio communications between the Argentine mainland and the invasion troops' headquarters in Stanley. By jamming radio frequencies, the British were able to achieve surprise in their bombing raids.

The British also succeeded in disrupting the Argentines' plane-to-plane signals, and, occasionally, taking a leaf from D-Day 36 years ago, created radar phantoms that lured Argentine pilots into useless pursuit.

EW weapons are offensive as well: It was a Tigerfish torpedo, controlled on much of its 20-mile path by an electric wire unscrewed behind it and hooked to a submarine computer, which sank Argentina's second biggest ship. Lacking proper electronic countermeasures or even detection devices, the Argentine ship was no match for the Tigerfish.

By the same token, the $80 million HMS Sheffield was sunk by a French-built Argentine Exocet missile because the British destroyer lacked the latest EW equipment. The Exocet has its own self-contained computer and radar to lock in on a target as it skims six to nine feet above the waves, but the Sheffield would probably still be afloat if it had been equipped with up-to-date detection devices and anti-missile missiles.

The Falklands conflict has demonstrated the literally vital importance of electronic warfare devices. For want of such equipment, hundreds of Argentine and British lives were lost.

Though Britain has always been a leader in EW development, the United States is generally conceded to be the best in the business today. The Pentagon has spent billions — an estimated $4.6 billion this fiscal year — on EW weapons, on ECM, or electronic countermeasures, and even on ECCM, or electronic counter-countermeasures.

In the AWACS planes, we have the finest electronic warfare platform in the world. But the Russians are working hard to close the EW gap.

"The Soviet Union presents a capable and technologically advanced threat to U.S. Communications channels used for the direction and control of nuclear forces," a top-secret Pentagon report warns. The Russians are known to have at least 352 high-frequency jamming transmitters at 30 different sites.

The concern over Soviet advances in EW technology, of course, is that, by jamming U.S. spy satellites and other early-warning devices, they could blind our defense forces to incoming missiles or preparations for war, or cripple the U.S. ability to retaliate.

The Soviets showed a disturbing skill in electronic warfare 14 years ago, when they managed to keep NATO detection devices from spotting the deployment of their troops in Czechoslovakia until it was too late to respond.

Nuclear Disarmament

An Idea All Politicians Can Rally Around

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There was a time when motherhood and the flag were what every politician loved. Now, nearly four decades into the atomic age, the common denominator of political affection is desire for an end to the nuclear arms race.

President Reagan says, "To those who protest against nuclear war, I can only say, 'I'm with you.'" Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., says, "I do not believe that we can go on as we have for another third of a century without setting off the spark that could ignite that cloud again and consume the earth in nuclear fire."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., says, "We recognize that a nuclear war would cause devastation on a truly incomprehensible scale — indeed, threaten the survival of all mankind."

Rep. James Leach, R-Iowa, says, "There can be no doubt that controlling the weapons wrought by 20th Century science is the most pressing problem facing mankind."

It might sound as if all four are on the same track. In fact, they are talking about achieving the same goal of nuclear disarmament, but in two very different ways:

—Kennedy and Leach are calling for an immediate end to nuclear weapons testing, production and placement by both countries, then negotiations to reduce the existing weapons stockpiles of both.

—Reagan and Jackson favor an agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to reduce nuclear arms "to an equal and far lower level" before a freeze is imposed.

There is more than a chicken-and-egg, which-came-first difference between the two positions.

A third player in this contest is Leonid Brezhnev, who has announced the Soviet Union will cease stationing its new SS-20 nuclear missiles in the European part of Russia and called for a two-thirds reduction of medium-range weapons by 1990.

Reagan and members of both parties in Congress who support him say Brezhnev's offer is a trick, a transparent effort to perpetuate the advantage Russia holds in "cheater weapons" — several hundred of their most up-to-date nuclear missiles already in place and targeted on NATO countries in western Europe.

Moving the Soviet missiles out of European Russia, they say, still would leave them within range of Bonn, Paris, London.

It is this advantage the United States seeks to counter in the next few years by stationing Pershing II and cruise nuclear-tipped missiles in NATO countries. And, says the administration, that is what Brezhnev wants to block with his pullback offer.

The U.S. plan also has set off a wave of anti-nuclear demonstrations in Europe, to which Reagan responded with his "zero option" — disarmament proposals that simply would banish all mid-range nuclear missiles aimed at European targets, Russian as well as American.

Kennedy and a big bipartisan group in Congress pushing for a freeze do not concede a Soviet advantage in nuclear weapons. They argue the United States has everything needed to defend itself and allies with the "Triad," a mix of land, sea and air-based weapons that need not be based in Europe to defend it.

In effect, they say nuclear parity of the sort sought by Reagan — and Jimmy Carter before him — never will be achieved, and the escalation of weaponry will continue until someone finally begins firing.

For them, the urgent priority is to stop the build-up now then work to reduce all nuclear weapons on an equitable and verifiable basis.

They argue a freeze at least would keep a bad situation from getting worse, while an effort by the two nuclear superpowers to match — let alone surpass — each other would lead both closer to a war no one really could win.

The argument over a freeze sometimes gets confused because there are two different types of weapons involved. The first is the familiar ICBM, the intercontinental ballistic missile buried in silos in the American Midwest and the Soviet heartland as well as carried as missiles in submarines and as bombs in jet warplanes.

Among the most expensive items in the Reagan administration's defense buildup portfolio are its plans to replace and modernize the American long-range capacity with the new MX missile and the B-1 bomber. Noting this cost, advocates of an immediate nuclear weapons freeze claim that, in addition to easing the threat of extinction, a freeze might also help the United States solve its deficit problems.

These so-called "strategic weapons" were the subject of the SALT talks that began way back during the Nixon administration and which will be the centerpiece of what the Reagan administration calls the START negotiations — strategic arms reduction talks. The SALT II agreement, never ratified by the United States, would have imposed a freeze on the number of ICBMs held by both nuclear superpowers.

The other kind of weapons are shorter range missiles. With the mobile SS20 and its older SS4 and SS5, the Soviets have more than 630 nukes capable of hitting western European cities. The United States has some short range Pershing I and Lance missiles in Europe that could not reach the Soviet Union, and it is these that the administration would replace with 106 Pershing II and 464 Cruise missiles, all capable of hitting Russia.

It is these "cheater" (of operations) missiles that Reagan focused on with his "zero option" offer to cancel the Pershing and Cruise plans and Brezhnev's announcement of a halt to further SS20 deployment.

But both leaders have also talked about reducing the number of intercontinental missiles that make up the bulk of the two nuclear arsenals and considering the amount of negotiating that has gone on since the early 1970s, they are the weapons that will be hardest to get back into the bottle.

Reagan has suggested that he and Brezhnev both appear at a United Nations disarmament conference this summer; the Soviet leader, said to have been ill earlier this year, countered with a proposal for a summit later in 1982.

It is at such a meeting of the two men who have the final authority to unshack the planet-smashing power of the nuclear missile arsenals that a freeze would have to be negotiated.

Advocates of an immediate halt to the nuclear arms race say a freeze, like a cease fire, might be far easier to achieve than a final solution to the arms race. Its critics agree, but say the Soviets would like a freeze because they are ahead now and a halt to further development by both sides would leave them in the lead.

NATION IN BRIEF

NOW Leader Detects Shift Toward ERA Ratification

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the days left for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment dwindle, the head of the National Organization for Women thinks the tide is turning in three key states, but a leading ERA foe insists nothing has changed.

NOW President Eleanor Smeal pointed to a decision in North Carolina to put ERA up for a vote in the general Assembly in June and said the tide was also shifting in Florida and Illinois.

But Phyllis Schlafly, head of Stop ERA, said, "My answer is there's been no change. If anything, they have lost votes."

Thirty-five states have ratified ERA, and three more are needed by June 30 to make it part of the Constitution.

Military Recruitment Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While the nation endures the highest unemployment since World War II, the all-volunteer military force is headed for a banner year in recruitment and re-enlistments.

The Pentagon announced Thursday the military exceeded its enlistment goal for the first half of fiscal 1982 and re-enlistment shot up 12 percent over the same period last year.

Farmers Hint At Trade War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American farm leaders plan to warn the European Economic Community next week that attempts to change the duty-free status of some U.S. agricultural exports could bring trade retaliation.

Robert Delano, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Saturday will lead 20 state Farm Bureau presidents on a week-long trip for talks with EC leaders in Europe, hoping to convince them to moderate trade and agricultural policies.

Senate Nears Budget Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republicans, having defeated every major amendment, aimed for final Senate approval today of their $713.5 billion budget plan with a projected 1983 deficit of $113 billion.

The Democratic-dominated House was scheduled to begin its budget debate today, and House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., warned it would be "a grueling affair" that could last all next week.

Kids' Animal Art

The Central Florida Zoo, Burger King and the Seminole County Council of Arts and Sciences will sponsor "Young Artists Day at the Zoo" from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday for preschool through 12th graders. All children wishing to participate in the art contest should register from 10 a.m. to noon at the small group picnic shelter at the zoo. Each child should bring their own art supplies. Admission will be free for participants.

The young artists will draw or paint the animals at the zoo and entries (one per child) will be judged according to grade level. First place drawings will be purchased for permanent display at the zoo. The awards night will be May 28 at the Longwood Burger King. Winners will receive trophies.

'Bunny' Bandit Robs Convenience Store

By TONI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford police are still looking for a man who made "bunny tracks" in the sand after he reportedly robbed a Sanford convenience store at gunpoint late Thursday night.

David E. Steele, 42, assistant manager for the Lip' Champ Food Store, 2732 Country Club Road, told police that he locked the front door of the store at about 11:20 p.m. and was walking to his car when a man carrying a gun approached him and ordered him to "walk to the side of the building and shut your eyes."

Steele complied with the gunman's order and once the two were behind the building, the robber asked Steele if he had any money, police said. Steele told the man he did and handed the gunman his wallet which contained $150 cash, police said.

The gunman ordered Steele to remove his pants and lie face down on the ground, then fled on foot.

Investigators discovered tennis shoe tracks in the sand with a Playboy "bunny" imprint in the middle of the shoe sole near the store. The tracks disappeared at Berier Road, leading police to surmise the bandit had a car waiting to make his getaway.

SANFORD MAN CHARGED

A Sanford man has been charged with sexual battery of a Sanford woman and delivery of illegal drugs.

According to Sanford police, Raymond Reacy Grantham, 35, of 2106 Cornell Drive, was arrested for sexual battery of a woman he reportedly assaulted after he took her to his home at 1 a.m. Saturday.

Police said no arrest was made immediately because the woman said she knew her alleged attacker only as "Ray." However, in cooperation with police, the woman, who suffered a broken nose and multiple bruises in the attack, agreed to meet with the man again. When the two got together at about 2:12 p.m., Saturday, he offered her some marijuana, amphetamines and Quaaludes in an apparent attempt to "make up" police said.

Police then arrested Grantham and charged him with the two offenses.

STUDENTS FOIL BURGLARY

A Geneva student returning home from school discovered a man removing property from her home. The would-be burglar was so startled that he ran away, leaving his car parked in the driveway.

Cara L. Pfundston, 18, of 312 Lake Geneva Road, told deputies she returned to her home at about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday with a friend and noticed an unfamiliar car parked in her driveway. While the two students were looking at the car, a man came out of the home carrying a radio, deputies said.

Miss Pfundston told deputies that the car's trunk was already loaded with numerous other items from her home and that the man apparently was stealing the radio also.

However, when the would-be thief saw Miss Pfundston and her friend, he ran into a wooded area near the Geneva home, deputies said. A search of the area failed to turn up the suspect.

Deputies recovered a man's gold ring, $20 worth of half dollars, a stereo, two handguns, and a color television.

BEATEN WITH BOARD

A 19-year-old Sanford man was treated for multiple bruises and released from Seminole Memorial Hospital after he was reportedly struck several times with a board by another man.

Harry L. Harvey, of 13 Higgins Terrace, told police he was playing a game of pool at Joe's Variety pool hall, 1301 W. 13th St., Sanford, at about 7:10 p.m. Monday when a man demanded his cuestick. When Harvey refused to give up the stick, the man reportedly hit him in the back and arm with a board, police said.

TWO HELD ON DRUG CHARGES

A Camelberry man and Altamonte Springs man are being held today in the Seminole County Jail on $8,000 bond each following their arrests at about 9:00 p.m. Wednesday on drug-related charges.

Michael William Downey, 22, of 274 Plaza Oval Drive, Camelberry, and David Lee Neutgens, 30, of 611 Truesdell Ave., were arrested after they reportedly sold hashish to undercover sheriff's agents.

The two men have been charged with possession, sale and delivery of hashish, conspiracy to sell hashish, and possession of drug paraphernalia, deputies said.

Undercover narcotics officers said they met with Downey at the parking lot of a Longwood restaurant near Dog Track Road and U.S. Highway 17-92 Wednesday night to buy one pound of hashish for about $1,200. Downey reportedly told the agent he would meet him at a nearby convenience store at 17-92 and South Street with a friend to make the deal, deputies reported.

When agents met with Downey at the store, Neutgens arrived, reportedly showed the agent the hashish and indicated he wanted to make the transaction behind the West Seminole Professional Building along Maitland Avenue, deputies said.

After the deal was completed, the agent called deputies in to make the arrest. Upon searching the men and their vehicles, deputies also discovered drug paraphernalia and more hashish, reports indicate.

CULPRITS TAKE CAMERA EQUIPMENT

About $1,200 worth of photographic equipment was stolen from the home of Mitchell Meltzer, 30, of 1260 Alberta St., Longwood, sometime between May 6 and 9 p.m. Tuesday.

FOREST CITY HOME BURGLARIZED

Thieves stole about $1,250 worth of property from a Forest City man's home sometime between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Herman Davis, 73, of 2038 Hillview Drive, told deputies someone entered his home through a dining room window and stole a black-and-white television, two record players, a silver tea set, a portable radio and two .22-caliber rifles.

Consumer Prices Rise; Inflation Still With Us

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices crept up 0.3 percent in April, reversing a one-month downward trend, the Labor Department said today. Food and housing costs offset a record decline in gasoline and oil prices to produce the April advance.

The April increase, if figured on an annual basis, works out to a 3 percent yearly hike in the Consumer Price Index.

Based on increases for the first four months of 1982, the annual rate of inflation is only 1.5 percent, after adjustment for routine seasonal variations. By comparison, prices went up 8.9 percent in 1981 and 12.4 percent in 1980.

In March, the rate went down for the first time in 17 years, but such dramatic deflation was not to last despite the steepest drop in gasoline prices recorded by the government for one month, a 6.7 percent drop.

Overall energy costs, including a 3.8 percent drop in home heating oil, were down the most in more than 18 years, department analysts said, pulling overall transportation costs down a record amount as well.

The turnaround in food prices for the month, decline of 0.3 percent, combined with increasing housing prices to more than wipe out the energy benefit.

The cost of a new house, as measured by the government, went up 1.2 percent while mortgage interest costs were up 1.8 percent, the department said.

The overall housing index went up 0.8 percent for the month compared to a decline of 0.3 percent in March.

The Consumer Price Index for April was 284.3 before seasonal adjustment, which meant the government's sample "market basket" of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967 has increased in cost to $284.30.

Clothing costs went up 0.1 percent, less than the 0.4 percent hike in March but still not as good news to consumers as the 0.1 percent drop in apparel costs in January.

The overall transportation index went down a record 1.8 percent, even though its major components other than fuel — new and used car prices and the cost of bus fares — went up.

The increase in medical care costs continued to be immune to the moderation evident for everything else. Up a full 1 percent for April, medical care has become 12.1 percent more expensive over the past year.

Only a miscellaneous category of prices has remained with medical care in the double digit range of annual increases, up 0.9 percent for April and 18.4 percent for the past twelve months.

Entertainment costs were up 0.3 percent, the smallest increase of the year.

Food prices advanced over a wide range, following marked acceleration for beef and pork. Poultry prices actually went down for the month, but seasonal adjustment showed they have declined even more at this time in prior years and so were recorded as an increase.

Egg prices and fresh fruits and vegetables went down, even after adjustment, but not by as much as in March. Restaurant meals and alcoholic beverage both went up in April.

...Ambulance Workers To Unionize?

procedures to increase revenue for the company before the petition was filed and that action will continue.

"We provide a vital service to Orange and Seminole counties," he said. "It currently costs Seminole about $36,000 a year for our emergency service. It would cost the county about $200,000 no matter what they did to provide it themselves."

Chewing said that if the employees vote in favor of unionization, negotiations for increased salaries could result in a possible increase in the cost to the county for the service.

"But for right now it's a wait-and-see thing," he added.

...Getting Mosquitoes To Bug Off

terminating the little stingers.

"Mosquitoes are an important part of the food chain, so you have to be sort of philosophical about them," he says. "They're only trying to make a living."

Johnson's stoic attitude may be due in part to simple helplessness. Accustomed to run-ins with the pesky devils in his work along Florida's marshy coast, he has learned from experience that "there really isn't a good cure. A lot of home remedies like vinegar and water don't work. The only thing I do is scratch a lot."

Around Seminole's many lakes, where boating and outdoor entertaining become a way of life in the warm summer months, there's no butter or bouncer big enough to keep the unpopular mosquito from crashing the party. They don't pay attention to guests' lists. So a problem arises: Is it chic to scratch?

Hinckley Described As A Bright Schizophrenic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John W. Hinckley Jr. is a "quite intelligent man" but nearly scored off the charts on a test for mental illness, a psychologist testified.

"Mr. Hinckley suffers from a very longstanding — by that I mean many, many years — depressive disorder," testified Dr. Ernest Prelinger, the third defense expert to contend Hinckley was insane when he shot President Reagan.

Prelinger Thursday quoted the 26-year-old drifter as telling him after the March 30, 1981 attempted assassination, "Now I am the most infamous man in the world."

The Yale University psychologist was to return to the witness stand today for cross-examination by assistant U.S. Attorney Roger Adelman. The prosecution contends Hinckley

Some Families Possibly Inherit Cancer Syndrome

CHICAGO (UPI) — People who suffer from deadly forms of cancer may be victims of a "family cancer syndrome" characterized by chromosome defects or inherited diseases that result in cancer, researchers say.

National Cancer Institute doctors who detected an unusually high incidence of breast cancer, soft-tissue sarcoma and other neoplasms in members of four different families said the combination of malignancies may constitute a family syndrome.

Dr. Frederick P. Li and Joseph F. Fraumeni, NCI epidemiologists, reported in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association they found 52 cancers among 40 of 87 individuals in the four families.

More than half were breast cancer and soft-tissue sarcoma, while others included acute leukemia, nerve tissue tumors and cancers of the lung, skin, pancreas, throat and prostate.

Lake Mary Revises Police Pension Fund

Revisions of the city's police pension fund and a decision to do some more checking on maintenance fees of a traffic signal light highlighted action taken at Lake Mary's City Council meeting Thursday night.

The council unanimously approved on second reading an ordinance that would revamp the police pension fund.

Changes in the ordinance are:
—Any police officer who has attained the age of 60 is eligible for retirement benefits. The benefits will continue to accrue as long as the officer is employed.

—Should any police officer who has been in the service of the municipality for at least five years elect to leave his accrued contributions to the fund, such officer upon attaining his normal or early retirement age will receive a retirement benefit of his accrued benefits.

—A police officer who, certified by a doctor's report, is unable to perform any police duties due to a service-connected disability, will be eligible to retire. When he is disabled, the pension fund will be based on 90 percent of the officer's current compensation at the time of the disability with no regard to the years of service. Any officer not able to perform for reason of non-service-connected disability will require five years for eligibility.

—If a police officer's death is service-connected, his or her beneficiary will receive 10 percent of his yearly compensation for life. If death is not service-connected, benefits will be based on the present plan, except that the vesting provision will require only five years for eligibility.

The council also proclaimed the week of May 23-30 Firefighters Appreciation Week. Mayor Walter Sorenson informed the council that firefighters in Florida rank ninth best in the nation in lowest deaths per capita.

The council also tabled action on approving an ordinance that would set the city's annual maintenance fee for a flashing traffic signal light at the railroad tracks at the intersection of Palmetto Avenue and Old Lake Mary Boulevard.

City Manager Phil Kulbes advised the council that recent legislation requires railroads to pay for the maintenance costs of the signal lights. The council instructed City Attorney Robert Petree to investigate and return to the council with his findings.

The only other action the council took was to deny a request by Walter Stead, 329 E. Lake Mary Blvd., to ban the use of motor boats on Big Lake Mary.

Stead provided the council with research showing what adverse affect a low water table combined with the use of large outboard and inboard motorboats has on other Florida lakes, but the council felt that imposing a ban would infringe on the rights of inland property owners and possibly lower their property value. — JOE DESANTIS

Lawmakers Hammering Out Redistricting Compromise

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Lawmakers return to the capital today for a one-day legislative session to try to reach a compromise agreement on congressional reapportionment.

Gov. Bob Graham called the mini-session after leaders of both houses said they at last were very close to agreement on a plan which should have enough support to pass.

The legislature has been under increasing pressure from incumbent congressmen to get the job done before the federal courts step in and take it from them.

A New Kind Of Moo Juice

ORLANDO (UPI) — Milk that doesn't need to be refrigerated before opening should be on Florida supermarket shelves by the end of the summer, and Orlando has been picked as the nation's test market, officials say.

The shell-stable Grade A is known as ultra-high temperature milk for the intense heat to which it is exposed during processing. It will come in both plain and chocolate-flavored and will be available in whole and low-fat forms.

The milk will retail for about 30 cents a quart or $1.00 for a three-pack of half-pints. It will not need to be refrigerated until the carton is opened.

'Fat Albert' Sics Dopers

MIAMI (UPI) — A blimp known as "Fat Albert" is the newest military weapon federal officials hope to use in the war on drug smuggling in south Florida.

The latest electronic wizardry, expected to receive Defense Department approval this week, is a $10-million blimp on a tether. It would be stationed at Patrick Air Force Base, just south of the Kennedy Space Center in Brevard County.

"Fat Albert," formally known as Seek Skyhook, would be teamed with a blimp operating out of Cudjoe Key for the past two years. Together, they would provide U.S. Customs agents with 24-hour radar surveillance over most of Florida and 50 miles off of each coast.

OPEC Debates Oil Controls

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — OPEC oil ministers were split sharply today between those who want continued restrictions on the cartel's production and those who fear it will drive off customers by forcing up prices.

OPEC Secretary General Marc Nan Nguema said the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries needs to see firm prices before any change is made in the current production ceiling of 17.5 million barrels a day.

British Troops Invade Falkland Islands

United Press International
Britain landed "a number of raiding parties" on the Argentine-occupied Falkland Islands today and bombed separate targets from air and sea, the defense ministry said.

A British helicopter was lost in an accident prior to the attack. One man aboard the helicopter was killed and 30 men were missing and presumed dead, spokesman Ian McDonald said.

He gave no indication whether these were hit-and-run raids or whether they were designed to capture and hold parts of the islands Argentina seized April 2.

Raw winds whipped crests on the open sea but also blew off cloud cover from the South Atlantic Island. The break in the weather improved conditions for military operations.

In Buenos Aires, a military spokesman denied that Britain had launched an assault on the Falklands.

"I spoke to the Malvinas (Falkland Islands) 44 minutes ago and they were absolutely nothing happened," a military spokesman told UPI.

"The British are trying to be cute," the spokesman said. "They really lost their men in the attack on May 1, so they announce another attack now to account for their losses then. I guess they had to account for their losses sometime."

Spokesman Larry Speakes said the White House is aware of the reports of British troop landings. He said that President Reagan would receive his intelligence briefing later this morning.

A State Department spokesman said there would be no immediate comment on the British action.

The United Nations Security Council was considering a call for a cease-fire and Peru offered both sides a proposal to end the fighting.

McDonald said "a number of raiding parties" hit the Falklands beaches during the night in actions that "are still in progress." "Early indications are that they are achieving their objectives," McDonald said.

At the same time, navy ships bombarded targets near the Falklands capital of Port Stanley with 4.5-inch guns and Sea Harrier jump-jets attacked targets near Fox Bay on Falklands Sound between the two main islands, McDonald said.

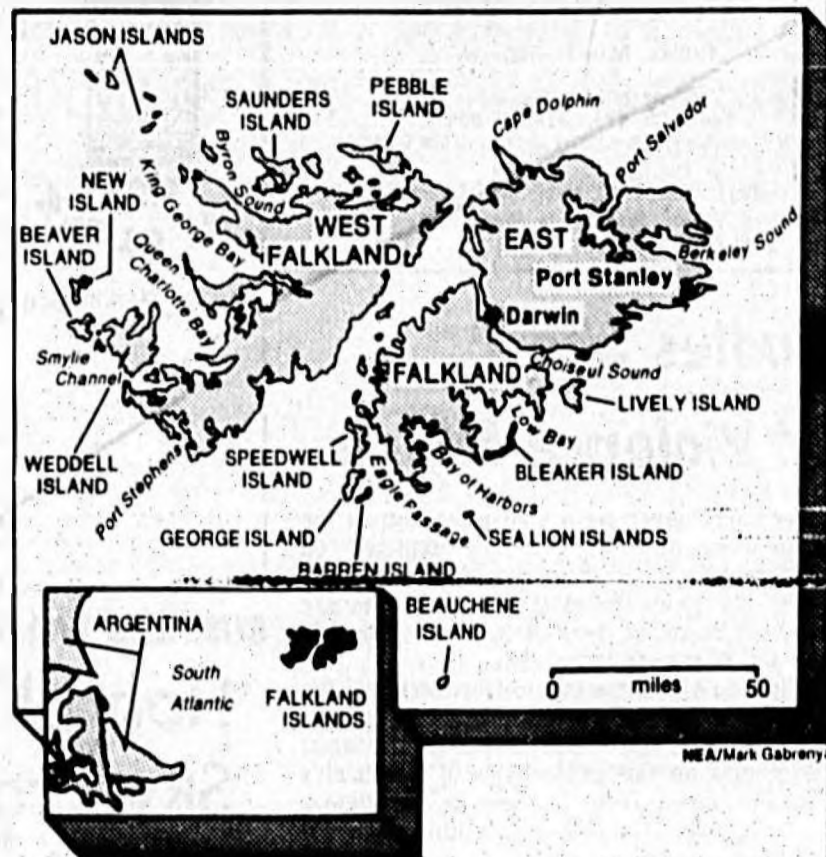

A defense specialist quoted by the British Broadcasting Corp. speculated "somewhere over 1,000 British troops" were on the islands "fighting right now." He said there probably were "a minimum of half a dozen raids, with at least 100 to 200 men each."

"Sadly, in the course of a transfer of personnel between ships in advance of these operations, a Royal Navy helicopter with 30 men on board met with an accident and ditched," McDonald said.

"None of those on board were rescued. One dead body was recovered. Twenty are missing and presumed dead."

All indications were that the "raiding parties" together with the sea and air bombardments were the long-awaited British invasion to recapture the South Atlantic Islands Argentina seized April 2.

Foreign Secretary Francis Pym said earlier that Britain was keeping its negotiating options open. But Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and all other British leaders have insisted since the crisis began that the search for a diplomatic solution did not rule out or postpone any military action. In past combat, more than 400 Argentines and at least 20 Britons have been killed.

Information about your electric rates.

FPL files rate request.

Florida Power & Light Company on April 23, 1982 filed with the Florida Public Service Commission a rate increase request of $281 million. The rate request was assigned Docket No. 820097-EU.

Cited as the primary reasons behind the request were substantially higher operating costs due to inflation and the higher cost of borrowed funds. FPL is financing new electrical generation and other facilities that will be needed over the next several years to provide reliable service to all customers.

Under Florida Law the Commission has eight months to hold public hearings and evaluate FPL's request.

Interim rate increase.

FPL also is requesting an interim rate increase of $65.9 million. This would permit the Company to earn the previously authorized minimum rate of return while the full rate increase request is pending. Any interim revenues granted would be collected subject to refund, pending the final decision on the full rate increase request.

Rates available for inspection.

FPL has filed with the Florida Public Service Commission rate schedules based on the above rate increase request and interim increase request. These filings and schedules are available for inspection at your local FPL office.
