

South Dominates 1959 All-American Football Team

LSU's Billy Cannon Is Squad's Only Repeater

CHICAGO (UPI) — The South, with four players and the East, with three, dominate the 1959 All-American football team selected today by the American Football Coaches Association.

Chosen as the finest 11 collegiate players in the land by the 350 coaches who are members of the association were:

Ends — Chris Burford, Stanford and Bill Carpenter, Army.

Tackles — Dag Lannephar, Wisconsin and Don Floyd, Texas Christian.

Guards — Roger Davis, Syracuse and Zeke Smith, Auburn.

Center — Max Baughan, Georgia Tech.

Quarterback — Noble Lucas, Penn State.

Halfbacks — Ron Burton, Northwestern and Billy Cannon, Louisiana State.

Fullback — Charlie Flowers, Mississippi.

All are seniors. Cannon, who was the only junior on the coaches' All-America team last season, is the only repeater.

Baughan, Smith, Cannon and Flowers gave the South the strongest representation geographically with the East following with Davis, Lucas and Carpenter, the "lonely end."

The Midwest, which usually dominates most All-America teams, placed only two men — Lannephar and Burton. The Southwest and Far West each won one berth — Floyd and Burford, respectively.

Davis is the giant of the team standing 6-3 and weighing 228. The line averaged 215 pounds; Burford at 198 being the only lineman below the 200-pound mark.

The backfield averages 194 pounds with Cannon at 208 the heaviest and also the tallest at six, one.

This 1959 All-America team is the 70th annual selection in the tradition originated by Walter Camp at Yale in 1890 and popularized for more than a half century in Collier's Magazine. Camp made the selections until his death in 1925, when he was succeeded by Grantland Rice.

In 1918, the coaches association undertook the responsibility of selecting the All-America team on the basis of a new and impartial principle — rating the leading All-American players each week by using slow-motion game movies.

When Collier's discontinued publication in 1956, sponsorship of the coaches' All-America was assumed as a public service by General Mills. United Press International distributes the coaches' All-America team exclusively.

The coaches' association set up a 10-man board, headed by association president Wallace Butts, University of Georgia coach, to make the final selections. It studied the ballots of the 356 coaches at more than 150 colleges. Their votes reflected on the field observations, comprehensive scouting reports and expert analysis of game movies.

Serving on the final selection board with Butts were Jack Carter, Stanford; Leonard Casanova, Oregon; Jess Neely, Rice; William Murray, Duke; Boddy Dodd, Georgia Tech; Hugh Daugherty, Michigan State; Jordan Oliver, Yale; Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma and Rip Engle, Penn State.

This year, for the first time, the coaches association is producing ing a half hour film, adaptable for television, of the 1959 All-America team. It runs 26 minutes on 16 mm sound and will feature the All-Americans in action, plus campus and practice field sequences with leading coaches among those doing the commentary. Butts said the film has been sold to sponsoring groups in 66 cities.

Cannon, Tigers Beefy Line Paces All-SEC '59 Team

ATLANTA (UPI) — Halfback Billy Cannon of Louisiana State was a near-unanimous choice again and Auburn's beefy line won three positions on the 1959 United Press International All-Southeastern Conference football team announced today.

Cannon, All-America last year, was named both SEC back of the year and SEC player of the year by tremendous margins. He is among the leaders in nearly every phase of conference offense.

Cannon was also first team All-SEC in 1958 and second team All-SEC in 1958 and first team in 1957. Auburn's three all-conference linemen were guard Zeke Smith, center Jackie Burkett and tackle Ken Rice, Smith and Burkett, 220-pound seniors, were first and second team All-SEC respectively last year. This is the first appearance for Rice, a 250-pound junior.

The second-ranked Mississippi Rebels and the Southeastern Conference champion Georgia Bulldogs each landed two berths among the first eleven. Mississippi's chosen players are fullback Charlie Flowers who leads the conference in rushing and guard Marvin Terrell who was also named SEC lineman of the year.

The champion Bulldogs were represented by quarterback Francis Tarkenton and Jimmie Vickers, the only players on the first team weighing less than 200 pounds.

Rounding out the first team are halfback Tom Moore of Vanderbilt, and Dave Hudson of Florida and tackle Joe Schuster of Tennessee — making a total of seven schools represented.

There were two extremely close battles. Tarkenton barely edged out Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs, SEC's best offensive leader, and Vickers squeaked past end Larry Grantham of Mississippi and Gerald Birch of Georgia Tech.

Louisiana State had only Cannon on the first team but led second-team balloting with three players — backs Johnny Robinson and Warren Rabb and tackle Charles Strange.

Georgia Tech and Mississippi each had two second teamers. Birch was joined by Tech center Maxie Baughan while the Rebels had Gibbs and Grantham.

Other players on the second team are quarterback Bobby Hunt of Auburn — the only sophomore among the first 22 — guards Pat Deo of Georgia and Don Cochran of Alabama, and tackle Walter Suggs of Mississippi State.

Rice and Tarkenton, both juniors, are the only seniors on the first team. Cannon, Moore and Smith are the only repeaters. There are only four seniors on the second team — Baughan, Grantham, Robinson and Birch.

UPI's All-SEC third team lineup like this ends, Mickey Mungham of LSU and Cotton Letter of Tennessee; tackles, Larry Wagner of Vanderbilt and Billy Shaw of Georgia Tech; guards, Richard Price of Mississippi and Ed McCready of Louisiana State; center, Tom Goode of Mississippi State; backs, Billy Majors of Tennessee, Ed Dyas of Auburn, Calvin Bird of Kentucky, Charlie Britt of Georgia.

Pistons Setting Hot Pace In NBA

United Press International

The Detroit Pistons are setting a fast pace in the National Basketball Association because of the steady scoring of Gene Shue.

Shue, fourth leading scorer in the NBA, tallied 43 points Tuesday night in leading the Pistons to a 104-91 victory over the hapless Cincinnati Royals.

Detroit, increasing its Western Division lead to a game over St. Louis, built a 31-24 margin at halftime as Shue contributed 26 points.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

There is a big lad on the football squad who will be greatly missed tonight. Although Co-captain Charles Bogan never ran for any touchdowns or caught any passes, he has been the key to the Seminole line play all season. Last week during practice the big tackle was hospitalized with an injury and will not get to finish the 1959 season. Charles played last year as a regular and has been one of the outstanding linemen throughout the season. His great blocking in the offensive line has contributed greatly to the outstanding scoring that the Seminoles have done and although he will not be on the field tonight, we know that he will be there in spirit.

His leadership as a student and co-captain has been outstanding during his four years at SJS and it is a person like Charlie who continues to make the sports program what it is today.

Charlie, we wish you a speedy recovery and nothing but success in years to come!! I'm sure your teammates will make this a victory for you tonight.

It hardly seems possible that another season will come to a close tonight. At the time of this writing the temperatures are in the 70s and, thinking back over the years, I can never remember a season when a fan didn't have to bundle up for at least two games.

This season every game has been played in shirt sleeve weather.

As the season nears its close there have been many young players that make the future look bright. Of course, the senior members of the club will be missed when the action starts next fall, but looking over the lineup at present there are many sophomores and juniors there who can handle the job. Coaches Pigott, Laude, Silvers, and Laver have made the game of football a real attraction for all the male students at SJS and there isn't a real shortage of material anywhere in sight.

Colts, Browns, Giants Favored In Key Pro Football Contests

United Press International

The Baltimore Colts, Cleveland Browns, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers are favored in Sunday's key National Football League games. The Detroit Lions 2-1 and Green Bay Packers (4-1) open the 10th week of the 12-week campaign Thursday in their traditional Thanksgiving Day clash. The Lions are two-point choices for the Western Division game at Detroit.

Baltimore, tied with the San Francisco Forty-Niners (each 6-3) for the Western lead, is a 10-point choice to whip the visiting Los Angeles Rams. The Browns, trailing the first-place New York Giants by a game in the Eastern race, entertain the Forty-Niners in a clash which will affect both divisions.

The Browns (6-3) are favored by 10 points. If the odds-makers are right about these two games, the Colts will be alone in first place, a game ahead of the Forty-Niners, Sunday night.

New York (7-2) entertaining the Washington Redskins (3-6) and is favored by nine points. Pittsburgh (4-4) upset New York and Cleveland in its last two starts and is a 3½ point pick to whip its third straight contender when it plays host to the Philadelphia Eagles (6-3). The Eagles and Browns are tied for second behind New York in the East.

In Sunday's other game, the Chicago Bears (5-4) are seven-point favorites for their annual clash with the Chicago Cardinals (2-7). The Bears are only a game behind the two Western leaders and could tie for first place by winning. If the Forty-Niners and Colts lose.

If past results this season hold true, Sunday's heavy favorites could be in for rude shocks. Teams favored by seven or more points have been defeated by underdogs in eight of the 54 games played so far this season. For example, the Redskins were 10 point underdogs when they tamed the Colts, the Lions were 11½ point underdogs when they downed the Rams, 17-7, and the Steelers were nine point underdogs last Sunday when they edged the Browns, 21-20.

Sanford Winds Up Season Tonight

By JERRY COVINGTON

The newly crowned OBC champion Sanford Seminoles travel to neighboring DeLand tonight for the last game of the 1959 football season.

The Seminoles will send 14 senior members of the squad against the stubborn Bulldogs and they are hoping to close out their careers in fine fashion.

Seniors Lavel Risher and Charles Bogan are the only two members of the graduating class that will not be dressed out for the final tilt. Lavel was lost to the starting lineup when he received a broken jaw in the St. Augustine contest and Charlie was hospitalized two weeks ago after an accident at practice. Both boys are two year lettermen for the Seminoles.

Members of the backfield who will be playing their last game are: Ray Lundquist, John Lovelace, and Randy Toon. Lundquist and Lovelace have been the key

NL Attendance Dips In 1959; AL Gate Gains

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Total attendance at National League baseball games slipped 1.6 per cent during 1959 but still hit the third highest figure in its history — 9,994,200 fans, the league reported today.

That total was 170,398 less than the 1958 total of 10,164,598, which was the second highest total in history. The all-time league record of 10,388,470 admissions was set in the post-war entertainment boom year of 1947.

The American League attracted 9,149,454 fans to games during the 1959 season, its best year in attendance since 1949, President Joe Cronin announced today.

The total represented a net increase of 1,853,420, or about 25 per cent, over the 1958 season which drew 7,296,034 fans.

The turkeys, which the Garden Club members fabricated from pine cones, pipecleaners, crepe paper and toothpicks, were placed on the patients' food trays today.

Florida Thunder Squalls End; Snow Spreads Across Nation

By United Press International
A storm swept out of the Rockies into the Midwest today, covering states from Montana to Indiana with two to eight inches of snow.

The snow spread from the Dakotas, southern Minnesota and Iowa through the southern Great Lakes and into central Illinois and Indiana during the night and was expected to move into northern Missouri and northern Ohio today.

Florida recovered from a series of violent thunder squalls that caused thousands of dollars damage and western Washington officials watched their rivers recede toward their banks and predicted the state's worst flood in 27 years "might be over."

The snows, pushed by strong winds, dumped eight inches on Montana, three to five inches on North Dakota and two to three inches in Colorado through central Illinois. Lander, Wyo., reported an isolated two-inch fall.

South of the snow area sleet put a hard glaze on highways from Arkansas into Kentucky and Tennessee. Four inches of snow fell in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, causing driving hazards.

A cold air front followed the snow out of the Rockies and dropped mountain temperatures 20 to 30 degrees from readings of 24 hours before. The Atlantic coastal states also reported temperatures down 20 degrees.

The Western Bureau predicted the Canadian air would move south today, chilling the Midlands from the Dakotas to Texas and heading west through Nevada into the Southwest.

Florida storms brought winds up to 60 miles an hour at Fort Lauderdale, where three light planes were ripped from their moorings, part of a hangar roof was blown off and trees were uprooted. No injuries were reported, but torrential rains accompanied the high winds.

The Washington floods had blocked cross-state traffic, flooded several hundred valleys and drove 1,100 persons from their homes. But civil defense officials said the water had receded from all but the lowest valley.

Union Member Threatens Use Of New Labor Ruling

GARY, Ind. (UPI)—A dissident steelworker threatened today to leverage the steel, whose members he said would vote under the new Labor Reform Act.

Albert B. Gibson of Gary said he had telegraphed Atty. Gen. William Rogers that five members of the United Steelworkers Union deprived him of his rights. Gibson said he would proceed with court action against the five.

But Steelworkers President David McDonald said he had wired Gibson and advised to stop his grievances through union mechanism.

Gibson said he was ordered from picket lines at U. S. Steel's National Tube Co. Oct. 26 because he called McDonald a "dictator" and complained that the union head was outbidding negotiations to end the steel strike.

Gibson told Rogers he planned to sue Eugene Pritchard, local 2697 grievance committee head; union sub-director Orval Kennard; union trustee Clifford P. Taylor; and Herman Anderson and John Trapp, both members of the local grievance committee.

Stripper Divorced, Married, Ready To Go To Jail
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Stripper Candy Barr was divorced Wednesday, married Wednesday and today faced a 15-year Texas prison sentence.

The shapely exotic dancer said she was "in a fog" about what to do over her troubles as a convicted possessor of narcotics.

She learned only Wednesday that the U. S. Supreme Court had turned down her latest appeal, leaving her with little choice other than to journey back to Dallas to begin serving the sentence meted out in 1957.

Friends said she indicated she planned to return to Texas today so she could start serving the sentence.

Miss Barr, free on $5,000 bond and Jack Sabakian, 28, a Beverly Hills, Calif., beauty shop operator, less than 12 hours after her first husband divorced her in Dallas.

Tray B. Phillips divorced Miss Barr on grounds of cruelty and desertion. She shot him in the stomach in January, 1956, but he did not press charges, according to police.

Rube Goldberg Hurt
NEW YORK (UPI)—Cartoonist Rube Goldberg, 74, was hospitalized today with a dislocated left shoulder and chipped bone suffered when he slipped and fell on a sidewalk as he left a New York barber shop.

Pritchard confirmed he chased Gibson off the picket line because he was "always popping out and causing diversion."

Under the new Landrum-Griffin Labor Reform Act, a union member can take his case to the attorney general if he has not received a fair trial at a union hearing.

CHICAGO (UPI)—A four-engine cargo plane was flying as low as 90 feet too low when it plowed through five houses and an apartment building and killed 11 persons, aviation officials said today.

This was one of the few clues released by city and Civil Aeronautics Board officials investigating the straying, $4 million crash Tuesday of the Trans World Airlines Super H Constellation.

A CAB spokesman said results of the board's detailed probe probably will be released at a CAB hearing in Chicago.

High Water Delays Hunting Season
TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—High water has caused postponement of the opening of deer and wild bird hunting season in South Florida.

The Game and Fish Commission issued an emergency order Wednesday covering Broward county and parts of Dade and Palm Beach counties. The season was delayed until Dec. 19 because of conditions created by recent rains.

LONDON (UPI)—During the week David Gustave Taylor, 47, was a humble bookkeeper. On Fridays and Saturdays he donned a Salvation Army uniform and collected pennies for the poor. On Sundays "Wow!"

On Sunday night he became the playboy of the Western world, moving in London's fanciest nightclubs, tipping big and living big with the $54,919 he had embezzled from the jewelry firm where he worked.

The triple life of Taylor came out Wednesday in Old Bailey where he told the judge he was guilty on all 102 counts of larceny, theft and embezzlement. But he wanted one thing certain:

Woodruff Denies Report He'll Quit

GAINESVILLE (UPI)—Florida Football Coach Bob Woodruff, on the eve of the season's final game against Miami, has again denied a newspaper report he intends to quit.

In the latest of newspaper stories about Woodruff's future at Florida, the Miami News said Thursday Woodruff will not be asked to stay on in his dual capacity of coach-athletic director.

The News said his announcement may come early next week in Gainesville.

Woodruff told United Press International the story was just another rumor and has no basis of fact. Our only concern is beating Miami Saturday.

Diplomat Who Refused To List Freedom Fighters Found Dead

NEW YORK (UPI)—A body identified as that of Povel Bang-Jensen, former Danish diplomat who was fired from his United Nations job for refusing to name participants in the Hungarian anti-Communist revolt, was found today in a park in Queens borough.

Police said there was a gun near the body and the face had been smashed. Lomicide detectives were assigned to the case, but it was not known immediately whether he had been slain or committed suicide.

Bang-Jensen vanished Monday and had been the object of a 17-state missing persons alarm. He was last seen when he left his home in Lake Success, N. Y., for work at a job with CARE where he was employed after his UN discharge.

Bang-Jensen lost his UN job when he refused to turn over to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold a master list of party participants in the 1956 Hungarian revolt against the Communist government.

He subsequently agreed to destroy the document in the presence of UN security officials so the list would not fall into Communist hands and result in reprisals against relatives of Hungarian refugees.

Mrs. Helen Noland Bang-Jensen said her husband left home Monday for his "stop-gap" job with CARE Inc., but CARE officials said he never arrived for work.

Police said he had been under a psychiatrist's care and had been dependent over loss of his UN job and difficulties in getting a new one. They feared he might have taken his own life.

Mrs. Bang-Jensen said she did not think he would commit suicide and, instead, expressed the fear he might have become an amnesia victim.

In Copenhagen the afternoon newspaper "B.T." speculated today that a family dispute over Bang-Jensen's plans to return to Denmark might be the real motive for his disappearance.

B.T. said he recently told a Danish friend his chances in the United States had been spoiled and he wanted to return to his native Denmark.

Police discounted the theory advanced by some of Bang-Jensen's neighbors that he might have been kidnaped by pro-Communists or Communists in connection with the incident which resulted in the loss of his UN job.

Jimmy Durante Decides To Wed

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jimmy (Schmoozler) Durante, 66-year-old entertainer who boasts the world's most famous nose, says he's going to marry his girl friend of 14 years—but not right away.

The famed entertainer who speaks a dialect all his own said he and Margie Little, 40, would be married next year, probably in June.

"I finally got someone to lead me around by the nose," cracked the laughing Durante. He was married once before, but his wife of 22 years died in 1943.

Durante told United Press International Wednesday night that he proposed to Miss Little about a month ago at Frank Sinatra's restaurant.

"Den, the old everybody we're getting married, and dat's it," he said. "It's definitely on."

He denied his marriage would end in that particular direction.

"Lotta times the newspapers say I'm gonna put the ol' nose out to pasture and take life easy," he said. "So far I ain't got no plans in that particular direction."

"There are the conditions that prevail."

"Maybe I shoulda got married long ago—it's been rumored so many times," he laughed.

and selling copies of his magazine "War Cry."

Most week nights he and his wife sat home reading the Bible and sometimes he would tour the pubs in uniform, collecting pennies while singing his favorite song "Count Your Blessings."

Then on Sundays he would revert to the life of a playboy, telling his friends he was the owner of 800 jewelry stores while he passed out gold watches to hostesses who caught his eye. One night four of the hostesses staged a hair pulling brawl over his attentions.

Capt. Edwards Relieves Cdr. McInnis At VAH-3

Capt. Frank G. Edwards relieved Cdr. Norman K. McInnis as commanding officer of VAH-3 at an impressive change of command ceremony at the Naval Air Station Wednesday.

Capt. Edwards has been in VAH-3 for several weeks attending Plane Commander School.

Capt. Edwards was on the staff at SHAPE in Paris, before being ordered to VAH-3. He was promoted from commander to captain in July.

Capt. Edwards entered the U.S. Naval Academy in 1938 and graduated with the class of 1941. He was assigned to the USS Mahan and USS Frolic before entering flight training in 1943. He was designated a naval aviator in 1944. He then went to VA-79 as Executive Officer. From VA-79 he was ordered to VF-90 as commanding officer. After the war he was on the staff of USN1 and project pilot at NAF Inyokern, Calif.

During the Korean conflict he was executive officer of VC-35 and commanding officer of VF-152. After Korea he was chief project officer at the Naval Air Test Center and then attended the NATO Defense College. From there he was assigned to the staff of SHAPE at Paris.

Edwards, his wife, the former Miss Chono Bell of Oakland, Calif., and two daughters, Susan and Katherine, live on Fairview Drive, Sanford.

Some of the medals Capt. Edwards wear include three Air Medals, the Commendation Ribbon and the Navy Unit Commendation.

Cdr. McInnis will go to VAH-13 on the West Coast to take over as commanding officer. He reported to VAH-3 in 1958 as executive officer. He relieved Cdr. E. R. Borrell as commanding officer in July.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White branded the lawmaker's charges "completely untrue." While refusing detailed comment, White noted that this country is engaged in talks with the Philippines on the status of U. S. forces in the islands.

Moon Shot Is Flaming Failure

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—An Atlas Able moon rocket, America's largest space vehicle, failed today to put a 372-pound satellite in orbit around the moon.

It was the United States' sixth straight failure to launch a moon rocket.

Dr. A. K. Thielen of Space Technology Laboratories said "something went wrong in the upper stage, and the satellite, including that beautiful payload, fell into the ocean."

What at first appeared to scientists as an apparent success in launching to match Russia's space probes ended in dismal failure when a piece of the rocket fell flaming minutes after launching.

Even the giant Atlas booster, the first of the four stages of the 98-foot rocket, apparently failed to expend its 200,000-pound thrust fully before the missile conked out.

"We did not get a full flight of the Atlas booster because something apparently happened in the upper stages," Thielen said. An Air Force spokesman in Washington said the Atlas booster appeared to "function well" however.

Thielen said a search would be made by boat probably today to recover the part of the missile that fell into the Atlantic.

A new guidance system and a facsimile device to get the lunar world's first pictures of the "far side" surface were features of the new Atlas Able.

"This booster's scientists' confidence in either hitting the moon or orbiting it."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department says it has no evidence to back up a congressional charge that the Philippines government sent a harassing U. S. troops and sinking at large scale looting of American property.

But the department said it would be glad to investigate any specific allegations by Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb.), a member of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, who returned recently from the Philippines.

Chairman George Mahon (D-Tex.) announced, meantime, that the subcommittee would investigate Weaver's charges. He said U. S. Pacific field commanders would be summoned to Washington to testify, as Weaver demanded.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White branded the lawmaker's charges "completely untrue." While refusing detailed comment, White noted that this country is engaged in talks with the Philippines on the status of U. S. forces in the islands.

Construction Of 33 Homes Is Planned

Sanford developer Sam Lawson said yesterday that he plans to build homes on 33 lots on West Third St. "as rapidly as the demand justifies."

The 33 homes in the $10,000 class will have three bedrooms and about 1,250 square feet of space, he said. They will be on lots that vary between 31 and 33 feet wide and 125 and 127 feet deep between Parsimon and Poncegranate Avenues.

Chiang Planning Revolution Move

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek plans to parachute 3,000 Chinese Nationalist agents into Communist China to organize a revolution "within the near future," Rep. Silvio O. Conte (R-Mass.) said Wednesday.

Conte said Chiang is not planning an invasion but intends to encourage and help anti-Communist Chinese on the mainland stage a major revolt.

Chiang is pledged under agreements with the United States not to use force as the "principal means of seeking for the downfall of the Chinese Communist regime on the mainland."

The United States discounts the possibility of a successful popular revolt in Red China unless large elements of the army turn against the regime or line up with a dissident faction within the Communist Party.

SHS Class Of 1939 Plans Reunion

A 20th class reunion for the Seminole High School Class of 1939 is being planned by a group of local class members.

Dec. 26 has been set as the date for the event which will be held at the King and Prince Restaurant near Casselberry.

Invitations have been issued to all members whose addresses are known. They will be contacted at the former Ethel Dale, Christine Goss, Hertha Mae Hart, Lorraine Hegman, Octavia Blader, and Grady Gallan. If anyone with information concerning these 1939 grads is asked to call Mrs. Dick Aiken.

Doubt Expressed That Government Can Settle Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Union sources expressed doubt today that a new government peace-making effort would bring about a settlement in the six-month-old steel dispute.

Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan announced late Wednesday that he was summoning steel union and management officials to a new round of conferences here next week in hopes of ending their impasse over a new contract.

The conferences probably will start Tuesday. They represent the government's first formal step to reopen negotiations since the 500,000 steelworkers were forced to call off their 116-day strike and return to work Nov. 7 under a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Union sources expected little to come of the new talks because they doubted that the companies would come up with a revised wage offer until shortly before the 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction expires Jan. 26.

Under the law, the presidential fact-finding board which recommended the Taft-Hartley injunction must report to the president by Jan. 6 if the dispute has not been settled by then.

The National Labor Relations Board then must conduct a vote among the steelworkers to find out whether they want to accept the companies' last offer.

Union sources said the steel companies were not likely to make new concessions until just before the "last offer" vote.

If the workers reject the offer, the president must end the strike by Jan. 26 or risk a declaration of a national emergency.

The companies' most recent offer was made 10 days ago. It was promptly rejected by the union.

IN PATH OF DISASTER — Here is one of the homes smashed by the TWA Constellation freight plane which plunged into a residential area near Midway Airport, Chicago. The craft was attempting an emergency landing immediately after takeoff when it crashed. The pilot and co-pilot and at least four persons in homes were reported dead. Nine others were missing. At bottom, an unidentified homeowner searches through wrecked house. Fire-blackened erib lies on its side at left.

Minister Stresses Need For Service In Kiwanis Talk

"Since we have more material blessings than any other nation, why aren't we a happy people," the Rev. Bascomb Carlton, superintendent of the Enterprise Methodist Children's home, asked Sanford Kiwanians yesterday.

"Why are half our hospital beds filled with patients suffering from mental tensions? Why are tranquilizers so popular?" the Methodist minister asked.

The reason is that our material blessings don't send us to God as they should, Rev. Carlton said. Determination to get simply the material things in life makes for an empty existence. Those who have the most materially, often seem the most unhappy, he said.

How different this situation is from the Pilgrim fathers who spent their first year in America wracked with disease and on the verge of poverty and yet offered three days thanksgiving to God, Rev. Carlton pointed out.

America is truly blessed by God, Carlton stressed. We have a billion acres of farm land, 500 million acres of forest, 100 million acres of mineral land, 127 million major machines and a radio for every three people.

"But, many of our children have lost the way; they are in the courts because they need someone to reach out and help them," he said, and cited the need for service rather than mere personal gain in life.

THE BIGGEST TAX CHECK given the city so far in this year's tax collection was presented to Sanford City Clerk Henry Tamm Friday by Robert Shedd, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company's Sanford branch. The check was for $16,862.64.

Worry Clinic

Joseph Simon is typical of business heads who now realize you can prevent a lot of labor trouble and inefficiency by the wise selection of workers at the very outset. You readers be the jury and mark your own answers to the questions below. In each case, one worker is definitely superior to the other:

BY — GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE C — 481: Joseph Sunnen, aged about 30, is a prominent manufacturer, as well as a staunch YMCA worker, at St. Louis.

Recently he visited my Bible Class at the Chicago Temple, and we dined together afterwards.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I have worked out a quick telephone technique by which I can weed out 75% of the undesirable who want executive jobs with my company.

"For example, I tell about a couple of concrete cases and then ask them how they'd handle those actual problems.

"Obviously, this doesn't give them much time to think, as I realize, but I like to see how they will approach the problems.

"What else can an employer do to check on a prospective worker?"

TEST FOR EMPLOYEES

Well, let's parry that question and let you readers vote. Assuming that other things are equal, which of the two men below will usually make the more reliable worker?

The married man or the bachelor?

The fellow who earned his own money by carrying a newspaper route during high school or the boy whose parents simply gave him an allowance?

The man who carries adequate life insurance or the improperly insured applicant?

The man who smokes or the non-smoker? The man who uses liquor or the teetotaler?

The man who is in hock to the short loan companies or the fellow who lives within his budget?

FROTHY OR STABLE

Many people have frothy personalities whereas others are stable and reliable. Which of these men is usually more dependable?

The active church member or the non-church member?

The Sunday School teacher or the non-teacher? The Boy Scout or YMCA worker vs. the non-worker in such youth groups?

The home owner or the renter? The parent vs. the non-parent? The fellow who originally came from the farm or a city man?

The high school graduate vs. the non-graduate?

The oldest child vs. the middle (or youngest) child?

The divorced man or the one who is happily married?

The fellow who takes his recreation with his family vs. the one who runs off with his male cronies?

The former operator of a farm or other private business vs. the fellow who has always punched a time clock for a living?

The man who tells vulgar jokes vs. the one who does not?

The fellow who bets on the horses vs. the non-gambler?

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

Anybody who has graduated from an accredited or large high school has usually proved his intelligence, without other expensive I. Q. tests.

So the answers to the questions above are then of tremendous value in weeding out the less efficient.

In each query cited, one man is generally superior to the other.

Seminole High To Join Biggest School Program

Seminole High School will join in the largest nationwide educational testing program in history this spring, county testing program director W. W. Wharton told the Pinecroft P-TA at this week's meeting.

Seminole County students equalled national average or above it last year, which is a reflection of a good school program, Wharton said. The educational tests showed two per cent gifted, 14 per cent superior, 68 per cent average, 18 per cent below average; and two per cent mentally retarded.

Scholarships are often awarded on the basis of these exams, he said.

Seminole county school leaders are working on two pilot projects to deal with the two high and low categories. There is one qualified teacher for exceptional children in the south part of the county, Wharton said. Teachers will consult with parents to help the parents understand their children's problems, he explained.

Pinecroft's delegate to the 36th Annual Florida P-TA convention held in Jacksonville Nov. 16-18 told the local group that now more than ever he is proud to belong to P-TA. L. A. E. Chevalier said that the convention atmosphere was purposeful and enthusiastic.

P-TA is non-partisan but definitely political to the extent that it engages in politics to get legislation passed for better education, Mrs. Clifford Jenkins, first vice president of the national P-TA reminded the Pinecroft parents.

Pinecroft treasurer and finance chairman Freeman Baggett presented the proposed budget which was unanimously approved. Pinecroft's P-TA now has 186 members, Mrs. W. A. Horn, reported.

All World War I veterans and their wives or widows are invited to attend this meeting and the Christmas party, scheduled for Dec. 16 at the Legion home on 17-52.

Auxiliary chairman, Winifred Stiles and barracks chairman Ed Ludecke, would like to remind all eligible persons that it is not necessary to be a member to attend either or both of these meetings.

Final arrangements for a dinner and business meeting were made for Dec. 1. Miss Mildred Parrish, of Tallahassee, governor of district four, Pilot International, will be the honored guest.

Mrs. Sidney Ives, mental health counselor, gave an interesting talk on the subject and Val Robbins of the health department, showed a film on how the mentally ill can be helped by competent counseling.

Twenty-six members were present for the dinner and meeting.

TV Has Its Share Of Turkeys Too

By FRED BARKIS
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Thanks to octopus, bigger, fatter and moister turkeys are headed for the Thanksgiving Day tables.

I don't know who to thank, however, when it comes to TV turkeys, of which there have been some mighty plump specimens this season.

The blue ribbon turkey, in my opinion, was "The Last Supper," starring Jerry Lewis. But the turkey that looked right along behind it was the Louis Lurich special, The Million Dollars special with Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, Victor Burgin's Copenhagen special and the Bob Hope show with the four Crosby boys.

But if you're sleeping around for turkey, it's not necessary to wait for the special. Each night of the week, some newly-hatched specimens turkeys make up some of TV's prime time. Here are the candidates for this podium hog:

Monday — Bourbon Street Beat; Adventure In Paradise.
Tuesday — Dennis O'Keefe show; Signpost.
Wednesday — Hawaii Eye; Wichita Town.
Thursday — Betty Hutton show; Johnny Ringo.
Friday — Howdy; Hotel De Paris.
Saturday — Five Fingers; Bonanza and The Men and the Challenge.
Sunday — Riverboat; The Alaskan.

Officially, the trail ends next week for NBC-TV's daytime quiz show, Treasure Hunt. Actually, the show died weeks ago.

The recent congressional investigation of TV quiz shows touched off a wave of no-interest in Treasure Hunt on the part of sponsors. And Jim Murray, the emcee and owner of the program, found himself meeting with the district attorney and the NBC brass. I have no doubt that as the program now stands, it is absolutely honest.

The reason is that you can't fool around much with nothing, and nothing happens on the show.

Monday, for example, Murray hid around with a winner for nearly 15 minutes before he could bring himself to open a treasure chest and show the man what he had won on last Friday's show. I know many shows are nothing but time-killers, but this is carrying it to an extreme. Incidentally, the contestant gave Murray a gift during the show — it was a wash cloth for getting all the spine — and I conjured up a new TV format in which the plain people go on and try to outdo each other with easy gifts for the emcee.

While the loss of Treasure Hunt is not too hard to bear, I note that the replacement will be Play Your Hunch, a Gordon-Todman game show that has kicked around the networks before. There's very little to indicate that daytime viewers are out of the nursery school class when you compare "Hunch" and "Hunch."

The Channel Swim: An hour-long study called "Iran: The British Ally," is being put together by Edward R. Murrow and Winston Churchill. A CBS report broadcast on Friday, Dec. 18... Pauline Goddard fills in for panelist Arlene Francis on next Sunday's What's My Line... Add to the roster of Art Carney's NBC-TV special, "Very Important People," set for Friday, Dec. 4, actress-actress Florida Vanderbilt... George Schaefer, producer of the Hallmark Hall of Fame special this season, has been signed to co-produce and direct "Aimee," the Aimee Semple McPherson story to be seen on NBC-TV's Starline next year... Kate Smith joins the Ernie Ford NBC-TV show for some songs on Thursday, Dec. 17... Sally Ann Howes has signed to star in the romantic comedy by Tony Webster, "After Hours," scheduled for NBC-TV's Sunday Showcase on Feb. 7.

Letters To The Editor

At this Thanksgiving time we wish to thank those who have bestowed us with kindness.

Many thanks to the different church groups who have included us in their circle of love; to other women's groups who have found it in their hearts to spread their cheer our way; to the individuals who render us these services; to our creditors for their continued patience; to our neighbors for their understanding; to you who may remember us in your prayers. Thank you, May the Lord be especially bountiful to you and yours.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Fred Zinnemann has cleared the rights to three Australian folk songs to be sung by Robert Mitchum in "The Sundowners," which was shot on location in Australia. The tunes are "Wild Colonial Boy," "Morty Bay" and "The Lime Juice Tub." The lyrics will be toned down for the picture.

EN ROUTE FROM ANTARCTICA — Maybe it was the honky-tonk piano maybe it was the frontier streets of McMurdo, where instead of dust kicked up by horses' hooves it was dry, powdered snow sent flying by tractors.

Perhaps it was the heavy beard, the portly staves and the bent stoves sticking out of weathered, old frame buildings. Possibly it was the attitude of the men — careless, proud, rugged.

Whatever it was, now that you've left it, you recognize it as the old, real spirit of the pioneer. The Antarctic is probably the final place on earth where men still find the excitement, the romance, the struggles and the hardships of the era of the '40ers.

Already I miss the camaraderie of McMurdo, the little Navy town near the Ross Ice Shelf. There was the wardroom — the town hall, so to speak. And then there was the gal about town. In the days of '48 they had Klondike Kate. This young lady's name is Tillie.

Tillie repeats above the bar, almost life size, and the men — who haven't seen a woman in person in nearly a year — speak of Tillie as if with awe, and respect, although to me she hardly looked like a lady.

She was painted by Naval Lt. Joe McNally of Fall River, Mass. Joe is a gangly, bearded, emaciated, modest fellow, the camp's outgoing supply officer. Joe's wife, who's been awaiting him out in Oakland, California, would have approved of the "lady," he said. After nearly a week on the ice, I was beginning to approve, too.

That genuine honky-tonk music on the upright in the corner of the wardroom was the product of Air Force Capt. Noel Arsenault, a Globe-master pilot from Chelsea, Mass. The captain spent two days tuning the old box before he sat down to play the first tune.

The morale of these isolated men on a continent larger than the United States is astonishingly high. But some of them suffered, as I supposed the old pioneers did, from "The Big Eye."

I asked "Frenchie," the radio dispatcher, just what "The Big Eye" meant. And he replied forlornly: "Sir, that's a ten-yard stare in a five-yard room."

I asked Dr. Ed Hedblom, Navy captain and base surgeon who comes from my neighborhood in Bethesda, Md., about the psychological effects on men in this isolation — and bitter cold. Well, the doc said, the men are always ravenously hungry. A fellow will come off a hike across the snow and the first thing he does is grab for a quarter-pound stick of butter. Each man gets three pounds of meat a day in the Antarctic. A lot of it is fat.

Like the old-timers did in the days of the Old West, they do some mining here. But not for gold, of which there is plenty in the hills. They mine snow. The men bring it by the steep-sloped hill above camp and dump it into a snow melter for drinking and bathing.

The law of this frontier is: No showers often than once a week. And no one complains. The most distressing thing is those outside toilets. For an outlander, I found it takes great courage and tremendous urgency to crawl out of a warm bed in the middle of the night to pile on five layers of clothing and brave the icy winds.

Antarctica is the last frontier.

Many Problems Face Ike On Visit

By PHIL NEWSON
When President Eisenhower visits Kabul, capital of Afghanistan, on his 11-nation tour next month, the magnificence of its mountain setting may remind him of Colorado Springs, Colo.

But Kabul's magnificence ends with its view of the snow-capped Hindu Kush mountains.

It is a muddy, dark-brown city with only a few modern shops. Russian buses and cars dominate its streets, which also were paved by the Russians. Green lawns and attractive flower beds are hidden behind walled compounds.

Afghanistan is one of five nations the President will visit which have common boundaries with the Iron Curtain.

Of them all, Afghanistan is the closest to becoming a Russian satellite.

The reasons are many.

One is the country's geographical location which makes it a buffer between Russia and India and Pakistan, and a natural for Soviet infiltration. At the same time, Afghan-Pakistan relations have been strained over Afghanistan's demand for a free pathan state which would include some of Pakistan's northwest territory.

But, as is often the case, the real reason for Afghanistan's present close relations with Russia is economic.

Afghanistan has received economic aid both from Russia and the United States, but by far the greatest amount has come from Russia which has granted the country a 100 million dollar loan and flooded it with Russian experts of all categories.

In contrast, U.S. aid, while steady, has amounted to a comparatively small five million to seven million dollars per year.

Russian and Afghan barges ply the Oxus River, bringing in Russian machinery, petroleum, sugar, fabrics and other goods in exchange for Afghan wool, cotton oil seeds and dry fruits.

Russian experts assist in Afghan oil explorations. Russian engineers build power and irrigation projects, and drive a tunnel through the Hindu Kush mountains, bringing closer Afghanistan's southern and northern provinces by nearly 150 miles. Other Russian aid builds airports, cement factories and metal works.

While small by contrast, U.S. aid also has been substantial, including dam and airport construction and assisting in Afghanistan's substantial educational program.

In years past, Afghan trade flowed southward through the Kyber Pass to Pakistan. Today, the bulk of it is moving northward into Russia.

Inez Robb Says

By INEZ ROBB
Come to think of it, purple prose and its handmaid, investigative, are almost one with the dead. The only full-time operators in the purple prose department nowadays are a few old-fashioned politicians, the nation's labor leaders and New York's infallible Robert Moses. They are the only practitioners around with a gift for hyperbole and the dead-pan needed to project it.

We live in a statistical age in which people are more prone to beat a computer with logarithms than a dead horse with purple prose. So perhaps that's what gives the invective a comic tinge.

When George Meany, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., cries out against the Taft-Hartley Act as "a slave labor law," I marvel that he can do so with a straight face. The "slaves" he addresses are not only possessed of creature comforts but have only to go to the polling place to exercise a secret ballot in national, state and local affairs. And, thanks to the Landrum-Griffin bill, these same slaves will soon be able to exercise a secret ballot even in union affairs.

New I have no more sympathy for management than for labor in the current steel hassle. If I had my druthers, I'd knock both their heads together with equal enthusiasm.

But it seems to this innocent bystander that the union leaders aren't at their persuasive best in picturing their followers as "slaves" in bondage vile. It makes me wonder if these gentlemen have ever read so much as a single volume on the subject of slavery.

Only those interested in the prosecution of purple prose can really take at face value the outcry of David McDonald, president of the Steelworkers, that the industry would apply "a black-whip on the backs of workers." (Next week: William Jennings Bryan in "Cross of Gold.")

Either the labor leaders have a sense of humor or else they feel the public has none when they picture American organized labor as "slaves." How workers in the rest of the world must envy these American "slaves," who can afford their autos, homes, television, washing machines, et al!

But the big boys are in love with the slave image (and if American organized workers are "slaves," what have the leaders been doing all these years?)

Now Louis Pierre, a member of the steel union's wage policy panel, wears an armband with the legend: "U.S.W. of A., Ike's Slaves."

Not to be left on the side lines when the purple prose flows, Walter F. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, has come up with a description of the steelworkers as "victims of the brutal injunction of government."

Still and all, in the invective Division, Purple Prose Dept., I am the first to admit that the Meany, McDonald, Meany and Reuther have to take a back seat in the presence of the old master, New York's Mr. Moses. In his most recent outburst against his critics, Mr. Moses favors Billingsgate over vulgarity, and stakes a claim to the doctrine of infallibility, heretofore reserved for the Pope.

Maybe there is a moral for these gentlemen in the shepherd boy who cried "Wolf!" once too often. I'll bet a dime that the neighbors would have been fed up with him much quicker and left him to his fate far sooner if he had continually cried, "That blankety-blankety-blankety blank wolf!"

Purple prose, like garlic, should be used sparingly to be effective.

Hoffa's Political Fund $250,000 A Month

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is a shocking muscle behind Jimmy Hoffa's threat to knock off in next year's election the members of Congress who voted for labor reform.

The muscle adds up to a little more than $250,000 a month. That is what Hoffa's teamsters will put up each month on the basis of a 15-cents-a-head deduction from their dues. Hoffa will have a political war chest to goggle the eyes of fund raisers for mere political parties.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats have a money tree such as that. The Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 laid a heavy hand on Big Labor's political spending.

John L. Lewis in 1936 dumped nearly $500,000 into Franklin D. Roosevelt's second term campaign. The CIO Political Action Committee in 1944 accumulated that much from various union treasuries for political purposes.

The Taft-Hartley Act amended the Corrupt Practices Act to restrict union spending just as political spending by national banks and corporations is restricted. Taft-Hartley forbade unions to make contributions to candidates or to spend money in connection with primaries and elections for the selection of federal officials.

This prohibition of political expenditures — not of political contributions — was invalidated by the Supreme Court. Big Labor may spend but it may not contribute. That did it, so far as any real restriction on labor's political spending was concerned. Big Labor went into the field of political education in a big way — educating the voters for some candidates and against others.

The CIO moved in 1934 to knock the remaining bars way down. CIO funds paid for nine television programs boosting the U. S. Senate candidacy of Democrat Pat McNamara. The Justice Department got an indictment but lost the courts. The courts held that the CIO merely was spending for "political education." McNamara won.

The head-tax system is used widely by Big Labor to finance its expenditures for political activity. Big Labor in Michigan levies six cents a month on AFL-CIO members to raise about $300,000 in good times. Recession and unemployment have cut the take now to about $200,000.

This gentle bit is simple. The end political result of this levy on union members should assure the envy of Republican fund raisers, causing them to wish they could lay a head-tax of even a nickel on somebody. They cannot do that. Neither can the heads of the great corporations lay a head-tax of even one cent a month on their stockholders or their employees.

There would be coast-to-coast commotion about that. Many so taxed could and would object that they were being compelled to contribute, however little, to political purposes of which they did not approve.

Some union members have made that same complaint. There is moving now toward late winter decision in the U. S. Supreme Court a legal dispute which might spoil Big Labor's big political take.

In this case, a few union members seek to limit strictly to purposes of labor negotiations and collective bargaining all use of their dues money. If the protesting union members win that one, big labor is likely to get out of the political education business, fast.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Warner Brothers publicist Bill Latham has an added incentive to plug hard for the picture he's working on, "Tall Story." His two-year-old son, Dana, plays the part of Ray Walston's son in the comedy.

Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

Well, it's over for another year. Coaches Jim Pigott and Dave Laude brought their junior-studded lineup out of an early season slump and roared home with a very respectable 5-5 season record.

These two fine coaches, along with their assistants, Bud Lauer and Dick Silvers, deserve nothing but praise for the outstanding job that they have done this year. Although the record indicates only an average season, it was the most colorful team to watch in quite a few years.

Seeing that a conservative type of football didn't suit their ball club, they immediately adjusted to a wide open offense and passing game and it did the trick. During Coach Pigott's first season with the Seminoles two years ago the team compiled a great 9-1-1 record while scoring only 74 points. This year the Seminoles rolled up 188 points in 10 ball games and scored enough to beat just about everybody they played with a few breaks.

Coach Pigott attributes the great offensive flourish this season to the professional football that the boys have been watching on TV. Seeing the great fan appeal that a high scoring offense makes, the boys just naturally like to go with the ball. What better way of moving the ball is there than passing?

Although the Seminoles will be losing their great pair of pass catching ends and their running halfbacks, looking at the ones that will be back next year gives you quite a thrill. Mike Roberts can be expected to be one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of the school. He came of age about halfway in the season and took charge of the field. His passing and signal calling has been outstanding and with this year of experience under his belt he should be second to none.

Juniors Bobby Barbour and Alex McKibbin also got the experience this season and will be able to add to the offense. Sophomores Bill Phagan and Billy Rowles are also waiting for a shot at the offense and should find little trouble in making the step upward.

The forward wall should also be second to none. With fellows like James Markham, Rusty Simas, Johnny Welchel, Charles Fox, Glenn Hodge, and Doug Tamny, there will be plenty of beef to stop the opposition.

With a combination of this material and the great Seminole coaching staff, I'm giving odds that we go undefeated right now. During Coach Pigott's three seasons at SHS he has compiled an outstanding won-lost record of 22-8-2 and with a 10-0 next year that will look even better.

Congratulations, Seminoles, on a fine year!

Lions After More Than Statistics With Packers

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Lions won't be looking for a statistical win when they face the Green Bay Packers today in the ninth Thanksgiving Day battle between the two teams.

They want a win on the scoreboard.

Partly they want revenge for an earlier 20-10 shattering administrative by the Packers, and partly they want to make up for the 24-14 loss to the Chicago Bears last Sunday when the Lions rolled up 339 yards gained to only 130 for Chicago.

It's also a question of jobs for next year.

Tobin Rote, number one quarterback when the season opened, but now only a substitute, has indicated he'll quit after this season if he can't make the grade as Detroit's chief signal-caller. Earl Morrill, currently the leading passer in the National Football League, was expected to start for the Lions at quarterback.

But Morrill couldn't get a score against Chicago. It was Jerry Reichow, sometimes an end and sometimes a quarterback, who directed both last-period touchdowns against the Bears.

Lion backs had four fumbles recovered by the Bears, and four Detroit passes were intercepted. Green Bay has a powerful running game led by a pair of 215-pound backs, Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, and quarterback Bart Starr completed 11 of 19 passes attempts his last time out.

For six players, the Thanksgiving encounter will have a personal meaning.

Rote was a top quarterback for the Packers before coming to Detroit. Halfback Don McIlhenny and tackle Norm Masters went to Green Bay in the deal that sent Rote to the Lions.

Halfback Lew Carpenter is a former Lion and Ollie Spencer, who went to the Packers from Detroit in the Rote deal is now back with the Lions.

Linebacker Dan Currie was a popular All-American with Michigan State and end Ron Kramer played college ball at Michigan. Both will be hoping to impress home-state folks and Masters is also a former State player. Former packer head coach Scooter McLean is now a Lion side and Red Cochran, a former Detroit assistant, is now on the staff at Green Bay.

A capacity crowd was expected for the game, in which the Packers will try to even their season record at 5-5 and the Lions will attempt to remove some of the tarnish from a 2-6-1 slate.

Record Night Slate
CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox will play a record 34 night games at home in 1959. Last season, the club scheduled 23 night games at Comiskey Park.

Space Scientist Says Soviet's Program Smaller Than America's

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Defense Department scientist said today that Russia's military space program is likely to be much smaller than America's.

G. P. Sutton, chief scientist of the Advanced Research Projects Agency, said the Soviet military space effort might be "only a very minor one."

He said he based his opinion on the fact that Russia has not launched any earth satellites since May 1958, and on the assumption that the Soviet Union has little need for communications or peeping tom military satellites.

Sutton told the American Rocket Society's 11th annual convention that Russia is concentrating on scientific exploration and the psychological political effects that accompany new space achievements.

Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario (D-Conn.) who spoke to the meeting earlier, proposed international registration of all satellites to prevent possible triggering of "a monstrous war."

Sutton said the military part of the U. S. space effort would "remain relatively small" compared with development of earth-bound offensive and defensive weapons.

He said that space technology takes only about a half billion dollars of the $1 billion dollar military budget.

He said space vehicles of the immediate future chiefly would be designed to get, give and transmit information but would not have military defensive or offensive chores.

He said Russia and its allies are close together and can use wire and radio communications rather than satellites. He said the Soviets do not need spy satellites because they already know about the free world's military facilities.

Daddario, in proposing registration of satellites, said that it is imperative "that we find a form of world law to avert catastrophe."

"If we fail to achieve law and order as we venture into these uncharted fields," he said, "the cost will be immeasurable."

Others have expressed concern lest the launching of a peaceful scientific space vehicle be misinterpreted by another nation as the beginning of a missile attack.

U. S. Tells Allies They Must Share Aid Burden

The United States has told its European and Asian allies that the horn of plenty is running low.

Not low enough as yet to be a danger to the American economy, but enough to bring about a serious reappraisal of U. S. military and foreign aid expenditures and for the United States to tell its allies that they now must help to shoulder some of the burdens formerly borne by the United States almost alone.

The result has been that in world capitals from Tokyo to London, other governments also have faced up to a reappraisal and with surprising unanimity have decided that the United States has carried the burden long enough. They will help.

Since 1912, with the exception of one year, the United States has had a trade deficit with other nations which by the middle of this year had reached a staggering total of nearly 15 billion dollars.

It has been a cause for growing concern for the reasons that a deficit and that an unbroken outflow of gold eventually must be reflected in reduced faith in the U. S. dollar.

So it was for these reasons that U. S. Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon warned in a speech last October that either other nations must put their financial shoulders to the wheel or face the possibility the United States would take steps to protect itself.

In their extreme, these steps could mean a return to high U. S. tariffs and the development of a kind of economic isolationism.

The warning was aimed at those nations who have received unstintingly of U. S. aid, while at the same time erecting barriers against U. S. goods to protect their own recovering economies.

And it pointed up the inequality of a situation in which the United States in 1959 alone, suffered a four billion dollar trade deficit while others prospered.

These nations were quick to take the hint.

In rapid-fire order Japan, Britain and France announced moves to lift restrictions against the made in U. S. A's label.

Sweden noted that five times this year, she has reduced restrictions against U. S. goods, the latest this month lifting barriers against import of coal, coke, some woolens and some farm products.

Judge Passes Sentence On 5

Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams passed sentence Monday on five defendants whose cases were heard in this month's Circuit Court session.

Betty Jean Baker, 422 E. Fifth St. Negro, was sentenced to six months to 20 years in the State Department of Correction. She was found guilty of manslaughter.

Edward Lee Brown Jr. of 412 Cypress Ave. was sentenced to six months to five years in the Correction department. The court found the Sanford Negro guilty of breaking and entering with intent to commit misdemeanor.

Longwood resident James Kenneth Lycans received a sentence of six months to five years in the Department of Correction after he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and breaking and entering with intent to commit a misdemeanor. Charles Anderson who pleaded guilty to the same charges was given six years probation. Anderson also lives in Longwood.

T. V. Brown Jr. and Curtis Hall, both of Sanford, were placed on probation for seven years each. They pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony. Brown lives at 1218 Randolph St. and Hall at 1206 Palmetto Ave.

Julie Harris feels television is the most frustrating of the three media in which she's worked: "On TV, only once can a performer have the satisfaction of performing before an audience."

Lion Cub Proves Trifle Too Much For Owner, Ends Up A Jail Bird

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — George, a cuddly 55-pound lion, is looking for a home.

Lonesome George had to spend Tuesday night in the Oklahoma City jail to the horror of 45 intoxicated guests who, thinking they were seeing beasts, tried in vain to brush the fur off their eyeballs.

The nine-month-old cub was placed in the investigation cell adjacent to the drunk tank because George's owner got tired of his sassy ways. It was just another episode in an unhappy childhood.

The owner, finance company manager Ted Moore, explained he couldn't get in touch with the local zoo and the jail was the only place with bars.

"He has taken over my apartment," moaned Moore. "He is too big. The latest is that he has grown too fond of trying to drive the car."

Moore's eviction of his frisky roommate was not the first for the cub, even though George is house-broken.

Zoo director Dr. Warren Thomas, who will reluctantly put George up until another lion-lover decides to take him, pointed out the baby beast has had a series of owners.

"He was a bit too much to handle" for each of them, Thomas said.

Hungarian Executions Continue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, special UN representative on the Hungarian question, reported today that trials and executions resulting from the 1956 freedom revolt in Hungary still are being carried out.

Munro, in a formal report to the General Assembly, said Russian troops remained in the country with an assurance by Hungarian Prime Minister Janos Kadar that "the time will come when Soviet troops will be withdrawn."

Both the Hungarian and Soviet authorities, Munro said, had refused him permission to visit Hungary in his capacity as a UN representative and had returned his correspondence.

"That the present report continues the theme of previous reports is entirely the responsibility of the Hungarian authorities," Munro said. "No response has been forthcoming such as may reasonably be expected of a member of the UN organization concerned to promote the purposes of the organization and to act in accordance with its principles."

Five prison sentences were handed down between last March 24 and April 1 to defendants charged with conspiring to overthrow the "state order," according to the Hungarian telegraph agency, Munro reported.

On Oct. 17, a Hungarian spokesman told Western newsmen in Budapest that sentences had been carried out in connection with at least 100 crimes committed during the 1956 revolt, he said. Ten death sentences were said to have been performed on or about Aug. 13. Some 26 prison sentences were reported.

"In February and March," Munro's report said, "the trial took place of a large group of young people accused of, according to the statement of an official Hungarian spokesman on March 13, political crimes committed in 1956." As to the sentences imposed, definitive information is not available.

U. S. C Of C Urges Immediate Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce today urged an immediate tax cut for all individuals and corporations to help stabilize the dollar and promote economic growth.

The business organization said the revenue loss could be offset by a temporary across-the-board sales tax.

The chamber said the tax reductions are "vital to our recovery." It threw its support behind two House bills which gradually would trim the lowest individual tax bracket from 20 to 15 per cent and the highest from 91 to 47 per cent. Other rates would be reduced on a graduated scale.

Corporate income tax rates would be cut from 52 to 47 per cent, with some modifications in depreciation allowances, capital gains, estate and gift taxes.

The House bills, proposed by Reps. A. Sydney Herlong Jr. (D, Fla.) and Howard H. Baker (R, Tenn.), would provide a gradual tax reduction over a five-year period. The immediate revenue loss would be about $1,500,000,000.

The chamber said the reductions would stir up so much new business activity that they would soon increase the government's revenue. It said the tax burden would be more equitably distributed and incentive would be provided for business to expand and create more jobs.

Tail End Of Holiday Snow Storm Hits New England; West Hit Hard

United Press International—The tail end of a Thanksgiving Day snow storm blew into New England today, but weathermen said it would be much calmer than the storm that dumped 14 inches of snow in Colorado.

Light snow was reported falling early today from the Midwest through New York State, but most amounts averaged only one to two inches.

The storm buried Boulder, Colo., under 14 inches of snow, then dropped three inches around the lower Great Lakes, five inches in Iowa, eight inches in North Dakota and 10 inches in the upper Great Lakes.

The snow began to die out as it neared the Atlantic Coast, but still had enough punch to bring six inches in western New York.

Several fatal holiday auto crashes were blamed on snow-slicked highways, two men were killed when their plane crashed in a snow storm near Kiowa, Colo., and seven drivers, blinded by blowing snow, were involved in a seven-car chain-reaction crash near Conway, in the Texas Panhandle.

A biting cold wave which dipped temperatures as low as 15 below zero at Grand Forks, N. D., spread today from Canada to the Mexican border and invaded Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee and Louisiana.

The cold air was expected to push into West Virginia and Alabama today.

On the edge of the snow belt, freezing rain fell from Louisiana into Ohio and Pennsylvania, Bowling Green, Ky., reported a 19-inch rainfall in six hours.

Western skies were mostly sunny for Thanksgiving, but hundreds of holiday travelers were stranded in California when fog shrouded the Los Angeles and Long Beach airports.

Snow was forecast today for Northern Ohio through New England, with rain south of the snow belt through the mid-Atlantic states and into the Southeast.

Selling Power

There's at least one man in town who'll attest to the fact that The Herald's classified ads have plenty of selling power.

A trailer was advertised for sale and its number in the trailer park was given as No. 74. Now, this was a slight error, as the trailer's correct number was 75.

All day yesterday, people kept calling on the owner of Trailer No. 74 wanting to buy it. Somewhat surprised, he was not in a selling mood.

Mrs. Harriet Johnson, who is in charge of the classified department, was told later that "finally, one fellow made me an offer I couldn't hardly turn down."

Trailer No. 74 will have a new tenant in two weeks. Mrs. Johnson has suggested that the seller of No. 74, buy No. 75, since its owner bought the ad in the first place.

Award-Winning Artist To Paint At Art Show
An award-winning professional artist will be an added attraction at the Sanford Art Association show scheduled Sunday at the Civic Center.

Mrs. T. B. Booser, a New Smyrna artist, will demonstrate her talents by creating a portrait in pastels during the exhibition.

Mrs. Booser recently took first place in the still life category at the 1958 Daytona Beach Art League with an oil painting and second place in the same category with a watercolor rendition. She also has been awarded first prize in the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs art exhibits.

Her activities in art also include teaching courses at the Daytona Beach Junior College and the Children's Museum of Jacksonville.

Mrs. Booser, who is founder of the New Smyrna Beach Art Workshop, studied two years at the Conservatory of Music, Ga., and at a federally sponsored art school in Jacksonville.

The show at the Civic Center is scheduled to start at 2 p. m. and continue until 9 p. m. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. J. O. Gregory, art show committee chairman, reported that 150 entries have been submitted for competition in the show.

Jail Hearing Set Tuesday

The county commissioners face a week of hard work starting Monday as they sit at the board of equalization on that date and on the following days, the proposed new jail will be discussed.

The equalization meeting is scheduled to start at 10 a. m. and will be held in the county commissioner's room in the courthouse.

For the past two weeks, property owners have had a chance to look over the assessment rolls at the tax assessor's office and Monday will have the opportunity to take their complaints to the board.

Taxpayers were given an indication of what the millage rate will be this year when the commission adopted a tentative rate of 11 mills for the operating budget.

Tax Assessor Richard McCanna told the board he estimates the assessment roll will list $162 million in property valuations for the tax rate.

The board will adjourn late Monday afternoon as an equalization board and will meet Tuesday as the board of commissioners for a public hearing to determine the need for a new jail.

At that time, according to Chairman John Krider, the board will consider entering a contract with an architect to draw up plans for the facility and, if necessary, set a tax levy to secure funds for the jail.

Estimated cost of a new jail is approximately $100,000. Commissioners will convene again Wednesday as a board of equalization and will meet for the remainder of the week until they hear all complaints and testimony on taxative property. Krider said.

Ike Cites Need For World Court
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will ask Congress to strengthen the World Court by giving up this country's power to veto consideration of any case involving the United States.

Such action, he said, would place the United States in a better position to urge other countries to agree to wider participation of the court.

Then, he indicated, the world would have a more effective means of coping with and preventing such "brutal uses of force" as the Communists displayed in Hungary and Tibet.

Eisenhower announced his intention in a letter to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Thursday. Specifically, he said he again would ask Congress "on an appropriate occasion," to strike from an international agreement the requirement that America must decide for itself when a case involving this country falls within the court's jurisdiction.

Humphrey had written the President seeking his support for a resolution to repeal the clause. The reservation was authorized years ago by Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.)

'JUNGLE BREATH' was beginning to bring complaints from spectators at the Fleishacker Zoo in San Francisco, so to keep the hippo, Bubbles, from public embarrassment, Zoo Director Carey Baldwin concocted a spray of chlorophyll and milk of magnesia. Bubbles apparently appreciated it.
