BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: THE MIRACULOUS BALANCE OF THE UNIVERSE IS IN GOD'S HANDS. GOD NEVER FORGETS.

From Memoriam Athens, April 1941

(From The Saturday Review of Literature) It rains today. The fruitless cherry tree stands without flower now. And cherry petals plink the cold wet grasses.

We wonder if anybody is making any effort to get a training camp located in Sanford for the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps.

Gov. Holland has informed Secretary Latta that Florida is literally flooded with gas. It seems to be a question of "water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink".

The new cuffless pants are a really great invention. You can walk around in them for days without collecting grass, dirt, or cigarette ash.

Gasoline rationing cards have more than one disadvantage, as we fellow found out the other day when he presented his card at a filling station.

Another thing we should do in Sanford, is to do as possible while the war is going on. It is necessary to build a city which can care for its own boys in the service.

Let's look at it this way: an example. The parents of men in the service should be given the right kind of environment. As a matter of fact, we need more and better in Sanford.

Let's look at it this way: an example. The parents of men in the service should be given the right kind of environment. As a matter of fact, we need more and better in Sanford.

Furlough State

A fine suggestion meaning much to the future of the state of Florida and the welfare of the people of the nation comes from Earl W. Brown, manager of Florida National Exhibits, who says that Floridians everywhere should reach and boost this state as America's Number One "furlough state".

The tourist business, as such, is certainly out as long as the war lasts, but there is no reason at all why the excellent hotels and amusement centers located in our various resorts could not be utilized to the utmost for refreshing war workers, building up soldiers on furloughs and helping veterans recuperate from the fighting fronts.

"In order, too, that the individual fitness of each American, regarded as the "First Line of Defense", may be maintained at a high standard and in order that American families in congested areas may learn of the health, the joy and the economy of living in this land of Sunshine and thus assist the Government in its plan of population decentralization", Mr. Brown insists that the facilities of this state and its matchless climate should be recognized.

"Vacations are out but furloughs are essential to victory both for men in the service, for our business executives and our government officials", he continued. "War work is strenuous. Relaxation is a physical need. The President takes short furloughs. The Secretary of State has just returned from a Florida furlough reviving him in health. England demands short furloughs for her business executives to maintain morale and high production of essential materials. Florida being in close proximity to the portation, climatic conditions and luxurious but economical most strategic position in this essential because of transportation, climate conditions and luxurious but economical facilities."

"America's 'Winter Vacation Land' should be kept before the nation now as 'America's Greatest Furlough Land.'"

Child Health

"The betterment of health among school children was given an unprecedented impetus by the last World War. Now that we are in a second World War, there are already some indications that a new era in child health looms on the horizon." This was the keynote of an address by Dr. George M. Wheatley, Assistant Medical Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who spoke today before the National Organisation for Public Health Nursing, during its biennial session in Chicago.

Immunisation programs, the establishment of facilities for the care of young children whose parents are both employed, and more economical and effective school health services were cited by this speaker as among the more important steps that must be taken today to safeguard the health of the nation's boys and girls.

The draft examinations of World War I revealed many physical defects which might have been remedied in childhood. This led to the passage of laws in several states making it compulsory for pupils to have an annual physical examination. Hailed as the cornerstone of the school health program, Dr. Wheatley said that "practically, these laws have failed to achieve the high hopes held for them because the school usually assumes complete responsibility for the examination but can never secure sufficient money to employ the medical and nursing personnel to carry out the laws effectively."

"The school can improve the school health service without additional tax funds by making greater efforts, in cooperation with organized medicine, to have the school medical examinations made by the physician who treats the child in sickness," Dr. Wheatley continued. "This is possible today because more infants and preschool children are receiving periodic medical supervision by their personal physician or through hospital or health department clinics. The school must make greater efforts to preserve this continuity of medical care, and to teach pupils and parents to look for this service in the community, not in the school. Today when every effort is being made to prevent waste we must save public funds by using more effectively the already existing medical facilities."

To illustrate how this can be accomplished, Dr. Wheatley described to the nursing group the plan, which is part of the health service devised for the public elementary schools of New York City. He stated that in 1936, only 14 per cent of children entering elementary school in New York City were examined by a physician other than the school physician. Today the figure is 40 per cent. "Other communities might look to this school health program as a practical demonstration of what can be done today to eliminate waste motions and strengthen the good points in school health service," he said.

Like Guavas?

Content of vitamin C and pro-vitamin A in three pink-fleshed seedling guavas grown in Florida is so high that it may be considered concentrated, State Experiment station scientists announced recently.

The guavas, called Indian Redskin, Acid, and Stone, contain a higher concentration of these two essential food elements than any fruit yet analyzed by the Experiment station. The two scientists, who analyzed the fruits, Dr. Ouida Abbott and Dr. Rowland B. French, still recommend Florida citrus as an excellent source of vitamin C, but they report that the C content in these guavas far exceeds that in citrus.

Drs. French and Abbott analyzed the content of uncooked guavas and they have yet to determine how much of any of the vitamin C and pro-vitamin A is destroyed in cooking the fruits.

Vitamin C is necessary for good, strong teeth and healthy gums, while pro-vitamin A is necessary for healthy eyes, helps the body ward off respiratory infections, and helps to prevent night-blindness.—Fort Myers News-Press.

MEDICAL DETACHMENT 4th Ordnance Battalion Camp Beauregard, La. May 15, 1942 Editor, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida Dear Sir: I don't find it in our service that the results will be anything but a total success. I trust the officers that will be assigned to the Sanford base will find the right type of activities in which to participate.

The Only Bomb He Fears!

recreation problems have been acute in Sanford for several years. Before my entry into the Army, I advocated several steps that would have eliminated several items that now appear to be necessities in providing activity for the young people of Sanford and the sailors to be stationed there. However, we can easily realize that the time for arguments, discussions, and what have you, has passed and immediate action is now required.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—"National Defense" was a byword long before Pearl Harbor but only now a bill emerges from Congress (it has passed the Senate and probably will pass the House any day) designed to give relief to some 3,000,000 small manufacturers and business firms in this country whose businesses have been turned topsy-turvy by priorities, war contracts, shipping, price controls, and the flow of labor into war industries.

Some political observers around here are saying that this procrastination will probably have more effect on this year's elections than any other factor and that the congressmen who have been worrying about other things are coming back to Washington, despite the fact that their records on other defense matters are clean as a whistle.

I'M A GRATEFUL GUY

Again I wish to thank my many friends of Seminole County for their support in the first primary in my race for the Legislature in Group One and to those others who have since the first primary pledged their support to me in the second primary which is to be held next Tuesday, May 26th. I do appreciate this loyalty and pledge them in return that I shall never let Seminole County down.

The rumor originated while I was in bed that I had been drawn from the race and I am at a loss to know why and by whom such a rumor was started. I have never considered leaving the field to the candidate who polled a minority of the votes cast in the first primary.

One friend told me that he even heard the false rumor over on the East Coast. When I first announced I stated that I was in this race to the finish and I have never changed in that determination. I entered this race on my own without agreement of any kind with any other candidate and have at no time during the campaign promised to step down if I were not nominated in the first primary.

My opponent and myself are good friends. He is a nice fellow and has a splendid family. I trust we shall remain good friends after the campaign is ended.

I am a native Georgian, having been born in Montezuma, Ga., October 4, 1879 and moved to Sanford in February, 1922. I have lived in no county in Florida except Seminole. I have no interest in any county except Seminole. I have no relatives or supporters in any county other than Seminole, and irrespective of what issues might arise at Tallahassee, I shall hold the interests of Seminole County and its people paramount to all others.

I shall appreciate your vote for M. B. (T-Bone) Smith next Tuesday.

Respectfully,

M. B. "T-Bone" SMITH

UNCLE SAM IS CALLING FOR A Healthy Vigorous NATION!

AMERICA has put the spotlight on Vitality for Victory! All of us—in factories, on farms, in homes, offices and schools, need healthy bodies and steady nerves to do our jobs and win the victory. That's why a number of Government Agencies and other important trade and professional organizations are so widely supporting the "ENRICHED" Bread program as part of the greatest nation-wide nutrition campaign this country has ever known.

It is a proven fact that we all need to get more nutrition out of our food. The Bakers of Southern Bread realized this eight years ago. They were the first bakers in Dixie to introduce bread enriched with vitamins. This important trend has been steadily growing. Recently Government Agencies recommended ENRICHED bread as a powerful aid because it helps supply extra vitamins and minerals needed for proper nourishment. In quick cooperation with our Government the bakers of Southern Bread are now making not one — but three different ENRICHED loaves. And each loaf is immediately identified by the brand name "Southern" and the word "ENRICHED" on every wrapper.

SOUTHERN ENRICHED BREAD IS A BASIC VICTORY FOOD

It looks and tastes the same as always. But Southern Bread in its new wrapper gives you a great extra value. It's ENRICHED with important health B-vitamins and minerals as recommended by the National Research Council.

Bread is the food bargain of 1942 and Southern ENRICHED Bread is one of the best and cheapest sources of food energy your money can buy. Sold at better stores everywhere. Serve it today — and every day!

A Federal Government Nutrition Authority Says: "It is a patriotic duty to accept only white bread which carried the word 'Enriched' on the wrapper."

The Bakers of Southern Bread quickly cooperated with Government's recommendations — that's why all three styles of Southern Bread are "ENRICHED!"

Braves Tally In Ninth To Win Thriller From Cincinnati, 2-1

BOSTON, May 20—(AP)—Johnny Cooney's third hit in the ninth inning gave the Boston Braves a 2 to 1 victory over Cincinnati yesterday after Al Javery and Johnny Vander Meer staged a tight seven-innings pitching duel. There was no score until the seventh inning, when doubles by Ernie Lombardi and Frank Demaree brought in the first Braves run. Javery had pitched eight scoreless innings and had allowed but five hits when the Cincinnati Reds came to bat in the ninth. With one out, successive singles by Frank McCormick, Lonnie Frey and George Walker tied the score and Johnny Sain took over the Boston pitching, retiring the side.

With Elmer Riddle pitching for Cincinnati in the ninth, Ernie Lombardi walked and Al Roberge sent for him. Demaree sacrificed Roberge to second and Chet Ross was given an intentional walk. An error by Eddie Joost filled the bases. Chet Kintz pitched hitting for Sain, forced Roberge at the plate on a grounder to McCormick.

Then Cooney, with two out, got his third hit of the game, a single to center, to score the winning run.

Students Will Get "Break" On Football Slates

ATLANTA, May 20—(AP)—Charge it up to war and the OPA—but the biggest of southern collegiate football may play next Fall in comparative solitude; a sport by the students, for the students, and far from the maddening crowd.

Many headline games will be played in populous cities like Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans, Nashville, Louisville and Knoxville. But just as many are scheduled for little campus towns 50 or 100 miles from the nearest large city. And coaches are enthusiastic about shifting games to bigger centers.

The University of Alabama, for instance, plans to play two of its most important games at Tuscaloosa, 60 miles from Birmingham. The first will match the Crimson Tide Oct. 3 with Mississippi State, winner over Alabama in their last two encounters and unofficial defending champion of the Southeastern conference. The second brings South Carolina's strong team to the campus Nov. 7 for homecoming.

Georgia, 1942 Orange bowl champion, is to play Tulane at Athens Oct. 17 and concludes its season Nov. 23 with the traditional wind-up against Georgia Tech. One source at the university predicted neither game would draw well, but said both were expected to be played as scheduled.

Mississippi State is to play Duquesne at Starkville Nov. 14, and the University of Mississippi Nov. 25. Coach Allyn McKeen said no change was anticipated in either contest.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and his Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large—but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Keep Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right... but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch... sort of like a wayward kid.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "clean up or close up" offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do... particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

Well, it was a crazy idea out the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad Hoskins did get a little time for himself.

Red Armies Continue To Smash Forward In Bitter Kharkov Fight

Both Sides Claim Advantage As Nazi Counter-Attacks Are Said Crushed

(By Associated Press) Russian armies crushed desperate German counter-attacks today and smashed forward on Kharkov over fields littered with Nazi dead and the wreckage of 600 enemy tanks.

The Germans acknowledged violent battles are raging with the Red army pressing toward Belgorod, 50 miles north of Kharkov. The heaviest fighting apparently is raging 20 miles southeast of the Soviet goal with both sides claiming a slight advantage.

Rumanian reports admitted the Russians are "still fighting sharply" at many points in the eastern Crimea as Russian resistance continued on the Kerch peninsula in the face of violent Nazi attacks.

Our troops fighting toward Kharkov waged offensive battles, repulsed enemy panzer attacks and advanced, the high command announced. "In the region of Iyum and Barvenkov, our troops repulsed several enemy attacks."

Earlier unofficial Soviet reports from the Ukraine said an increasingly powerful Red army offensive was wiping out or turning back in shattered confusion seemingly endless columns of German tanks and big fleets of enemy planes.

The late communique said fighting still raged on the Kerch peninsula, where the Soviet radio said the Red army had been reinforced by 20,000 troops and 100 tanks. The Red army was said to be in defense of the Crimea short cut to the Caucasus.

Twenty-seven German planes were reported destroyed over the Russian front Tuesday, while the loss of 12 by the Red air force was acknowledged officially. Three German transports aggregating 30,000 tons were sent to the bottom of the Barents Sea Monday, the communique said.

It was stated this morning by Mrs. F. E. Roan, local Red Cross chairman.

Mrs. J. G. Patterson is chairman of the Camp and Hospital committee, which is working in cooperation with every phase of the Office of Civilian Defense of which Mrs. Daisy Knox is chairman of the local council. It was stated.

The committee will be organized by the Red Cross, it was explained, but will be handled directly through the field directors at local posts, thereby eliminating the possibility of duplications and maintaining the unity of each organization participating.
