AROUND THE CLOCK

BY JOHN A. SPOLSKI
This one is going to be long... but, I wouldn't cut one word from this column which appeared in the SAN FRANCISCO SUNDAY EXAMINER & CHRONICLE on Dec. 26th. (That date is important in helping to establish the theme of writer Guy Wright's thoughts on the POW issue.)
Normally, I wouldn't spend too much time on a letter which the writer didn't have the courage to sign his name to it, but this one had the feminine touch to it, and if I'm not too badly mistaken, the Sanford postmark on the envelope would confirm my suspicions that it probably was mailed to me by a wife of a POW.

There's so much I'd like to say on this subject. Thankfully, reporter Wright has taken the words out of my mouth and created an excellent column on this matter.
Read it carefully, won't you? If our prisoners of war aren't home from Hanoi by next Christmas, I shall suggest that every house in America display a black wreath of mourning instead of holly and mistletoe.
I mean that most sincerely and urge you to think on it.
As this Christmas season progresses I found myself thinking more and more about those men and finding it harder and harder to justify the limbo in which we have left them.
For their families this Christmas must be a warmwood time. Our festivities must strike them like an affront.
Lt. Everett Alvarez Jr. of Santa Clara has been held prisoner since Aug. 5, 1971. He and his wife had been married only two months when he was shot down on his first mission.
Major Robert L. Sturm of Fort City has four young children who haven't seen him for five Christmases.
The list is long.
To hope these men will be home next Christmas is to hope the war will be over by then. There is no other way to bring them back.
Appeals to Hanoi for mercy won't do it.
Pilgrimages to Paris won't do it.
Payment of ransom, a la Bob Hope's offer, won't set them free.
People who attempt to obtain their release in these ways simply don't understand what the men in Hanoi want, although they have told us clearly enough.
They want us to get out and let them take over.
And they won't settle for anything less.
People who try to bargain for release of the prisoners only confirm the wisdom of holding them hostage toward that goal.
Nor does it do any good to try to whip world opinion against Hanoi for refusing to release them.
Prisoners of war customarily are kept until the war ends. The rest of the world knows this, even though we may try to obscure it.
If we make a moral issue of the imprisonment of our men, the debate must be among ourselves, not with Hanoi.
The debt a nation owes its war prisoners is more complicated than its debt to its war dead.
Death is a random bullet. The

Exceptional Child Program Is Slated

Mrs. Mary Wilensky, co-ordinator of exceptional child education for Seminole County, will be the guest speaker at the Seminole Mental Health Association general meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening, Feb. 14, in the Mental Health Center 103 Robin Road Altamonte Springs.
Her topic "The Emotionally Socially Maladjusted Child" will be followed by color film "Gateway To Tomorrow" which concerns the Gateway School in Orange County where many of the disturbed Seminole County children are being sent.
The program arranged by Mrs. Angeline Taylor SMHA program chairman and audio-visual aide supervisor for Seminole County will be brief timely and enlightening on some of the problems and remedies for the high percentage of disturbed children in the area. All interested persons are urged to attend and bring friends.
Chairman Douglas Stenstrom said that State Secretary of Transportation Ed Mueller had accepted the invitation to the Feb. 16 luncheon meeting in Sanford, at which time support will be generated for Lake County in its quest to improve the "link" of SR 46 between Mt. Dora and Sanford. When this stretch of road is finally improved, it will provide a more preferable route connecting I-75 and I-95, a portion of the ultimate Atlantic Gulf Highway.
After hearing a presentation by Seminole County Engineer Bill Bush in regards to the problems the county is encountering in getting two "bottlenecks" resolved — the intersections of 14 and SR 438 (Priority No. 1) and SR 438 and U.S. 1792 (Priority No. 2), the Sanford Chamber passed a motion to direct its efforts to also aid in eliminating the traffic congestion at these two points.
Bush said that the county had earmarked over a quarter-million dollars of secondary road funds for the state's use in handling these two areas, but the state had "done nothing in the past year" other than reshuffle these same plans around and offer all kinds of answers "but have nothing done physically."
It was stated that a by-pass of SR 436 was needed to alleviate the traffic count on this heavily-travelled artery.
County Commissioner Sid Vihlen said that a meeting of the Regional Planning Council has preliminary plans which would take approximately eight years prior to fruition for an eastern bottleneck from McCoy Airport leading into Seminole County.

State Registration Of Voters Is Urged By Seminole Council

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole Neighborhood United Council (SNUC), a predominantly black citizens group, today petitioned Florida Secretary of State Richard Stone to assign a state registrar to Seminole County to register voters.
In a telegram to Stone, SNUC accused Mrs. Camilla Bruce, county election supervisor, of contradicting state statute 98.01, covering voter registration as well as Gov. Reubin Askew's proclamation of voter registration month.
The telegram to Stone declared: "Seminole County election supervisor has refused requests for a table to bring voter registration books to black communities of the county."
The commission continued: "Since only a small percentage of eligible Negro voters are presently registered, this is an urgent matter. We request you immediately assign a state registrar to register work in Seminole County during the evenings of Feb. 7, 9, 10, 11, and 12; from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.
SNUC promised to provide deputy registrars as well as appropriate buildings for the registration drive.
The urgency of the receipt of the communication and anticipated action by Stone is borne out by the fact that registrations books are scheduled to close Feb. 12, nine days from now, according to the Governor's voting proclamation, the county registrars are urged to "make efforts to register voters in the ghetto, nursing homes, colleges and wherever else the citizens of Florida may be reached."

Fred Morley, SNUC political chairman, said his organization had been endeavoring to register Negro voters county-wide but quoted Mrs. Bruce there was so way the registration books could be brought out before the March 14 presidential preference primary.
Contacted this morning at her court house office, Mrs. Bruce said she did not refuse to register voters in black communities but could not do it before the March 14 primary.

Mueller Accepts Bid To Meeting Here

Chairman Douglas Stenstrom said that State Secretary of Transportation Ed Mueller had accepted the invitation to the Feb. 16 luncheon meeting in Sanford, at which time support will be generated for Lake County in its quest to improve the "link" of SR 46 between Mt. Dora and Sanford. When this stretch of road is finally improved, it will provide a more preferable route connecting I-75 and I-95, a portion of the ultimate Atlantic Gulf Highway.

It was stated that a by-pass of SR 436 was needed to alleviate the traffic count on this heavily-travelled artery.
County Commissioner Sid Vihlen said that a meeting of the Regional Planning Council has preliminary plans which would take approximately eight years prior to fruition for an eastern bottleneck from McCoy Airport leading into Seminole County.

This would also greatly reduce the traffic count on SR 436 when it is completed according to Vihlen.
Stenstrom urged full attendance for a public meeting scheduled for the Sanford Civic Center on Tuesday, February 29 at 7:30 p.m. which will include the plans for the location of the Sanford-New Smyrna Bridge. Construction of the bridge is not included in this budget year, although special funds are set aside for this project regardless of when construction will actually start.

Air Control Tower Need Discussed

Sanford Airport Authority this morning approved preliminary steps that may lead to the establishing of a control tower at Sanford Airport.
Authority approved a motion by Dr. Robert Rosemond, chairman of a three-man tower committee, to pursue certain phases that would ultimately lead to the revamping of the old Navy control tower to house the air control unit. Dr. Rosemond appointed John Filpatrick and Joe Baker, authority members, to explore financing the staffing and rehabilitating the old tower. Dr. Rosemond will examine costs of equipping the unit.
Authority attorney W. C. Hutchison cautioned that under the lease with Page Airways, Inc., airport's front base operator is committed to establishing the tower. "Page benefits from a tower more than the authority and documented to us when they came here what they would do," he continued. "It was documented in the lease that they would establish a tower when needed." He cautioned the three-man committee to explore more financial participation by Page.
The fixed base operator has offered to increase its return from sales of aviation fuel by one cent a gallon for one year to bring in an estimated $3,500 a year as its share toward the tower, according to J. S. Cleveland, airport manager.
Dr. Rosemond mentioned the overall costs of equipping, staffing and revamping the old tower for use would run at $25,000. After the initial investment for equipment and rehabilitation, the only costs would be for staffing.
Replying to Hutchison's comments on more participation by Page, Dr. Rosemond declared, "I don't want to see a hassle with Page delaying the airport getting a tower."
Hutchison replied, "But, that's what they said the tower would do." He added, "I'm already in a hassle with Page over the interpretation of the fuel agreement."
The attorney concluded: "I don't believe the offer of a cent a gallon for fuel would fulfill Page's agreement."

Fulmer's Chart Confirmed

The jaw bone dug from the site of the Little Wekiva River just off SR 436 near Altamonte Springs located in October 1958, Michigan youth who came to Orlando in Kari and disappeared a few days later.
This was confirmed today by Sanford dentist Dr. John W. Epps, who compared the dental charts sent here by Dr. Paul Spoelker, Gross Point, Mich. for comparison with the jaw bone recovered by searchers, acting on a tip from a long-haired informant that Fulmer was murdered and his body left in the undergrowth along the Little Wekiva.
Dr. Epps opinion was "the dental records and mandible (jaw bone) are on the same person."
While the state was giving final identification on Fulmer's body the Seminole County Grand Jury today was in session to consider indicting Louis Gattis, former Winter Park man, for the youth's murder. Fulmer was arrested Friday on first degree murder charges and is lodged in the county jail.

Combined Fire District Urged

By DONNA ESTES
 NORTH ORLANDO—Creation of a fire central district of sorts to encompass the territories of the cities of South Seminole was suggested last night by North Orlando Mayor Granville Brown at the meeting of the CALMO Council of Local Governments.

Brown's idea is to retain the fire departments, facilities and equipment of each of the four cities in their current locations, but to have the services interconnected through one chief and one central dispatch station.

Building Permits Postponed For Few Druid Hills Lots

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
 County Engineer William Bush and Zoning Director Robert Brown came to the County Commissioners with construction problems in Druid Hills Park.

Longwood's Mayor Kenneth Brown mentioned letters received recently from County Attorney Thom Rumberger warning that the county might decide to withhold road and bridge funds if the amount collected within the cities back to the municipal governments.

Bush said if the county is forced to grant a permit on those two lots, it is imperative that the house be elevated, with the side and rear lot lines left to receive the anticipated storm water and allow it to percolate.

County Engineer William Bush and Zoning Director Robert Brown came to the County Commissioners with construction problems in Druid Hills Park.

CHARLES G. McWATERS of Sanford displays an unusual catch made by his son-in-law, Cecil Pressley, also of Sanford, which was snagged off of Cabbage Point in Lake Jessup. The catch is actually the South American plecostomus or sucker catfish. The fish feeds on algae. Baby plecostomus, two to four inches long, are sold for aquarium use. McWaters said he plans to give the fish to Linda Boston of Lake Monroe for addition to her aquarium.

Harmony Homes Plat Having Water Problem

By ANN RILEY
 Southern State Utilities is on the carpet again for gross water pollution. This is the second time in two weeks this company has been brought to task by the county health department for this problem.

When a man is captured, the nation becomes responsible for continuing responsibility to him. He goes into battle with a tacit understanding that the war will be carried to a reasonable conclusion. If he is captured, the nation will free him by victory. Or it will free him by surrender.

John Cather of SCIDA and David Kelley, its executive director, appeared before the organization to inform of the plans being made by the authority and to request appointment of qualified persons from each city to serve as "ambassadors" for the authority.

Cather said current members of the board in addition to himself are John McGuinness, Longwood industrialist, John Mercer, Sanford banker, George Gaudin, F.T.U. professor and resident of Casselberry and James Ryan, director of the Seminole County Port Authority.

Cather said SCIDA was formed in January of last year and has been working with the county with the county-wide board. He said even though a city might not want industrial development, a city ambassador is needed to determine if county efforts to create industrial parks in areas bounding cities would be compatible.

The letter to Southern States Utilities from Level states, "A microscopic physical character of the Harmony Homes subdivision. The water was made during the evening of Feb. 1. The results of the examination were that:

"(1) Tremendous quantities of disintegrated organic matter were evident.
 "(2) An abundance of live protozoa, both flagellate and ciliate forms, were observed.
 "(3) Living algae spores were seen moving about.
 "To terms of Chapter 10D (4)(7) Florida Sanitary Code, the above is considered gross pollution."
 "In conclusion, the referenced water system is a health hazard as defined by Chapter 10D (4)(7) Florida Sanitary Code. Consequently, this is a correction order by certified mail to eliminate the above health hazard within 72 hours after receipt of this letter."

MAYOR LAWRENCE SWOFFORD and Vice Mayor Helen Keyser broke ground to begin construction of Altamonte Springs' new $220,000 civic center on a 20-acre tract south of SR 436. Attending the ceremonies were city officials, department heads and employees. Mayors Granville Brown, Curtis Blow and Kenneth Brown and Councilmen William Klossy of North Orlando, Casselberry and Longwood, respectively. Also present were Russ Hulbert of Winter Park Telephone Company, Ron Smith of Florida Power Corp., George Foster, Barnett Bank of Seminole County N.A. and James Cooper of First Federal Savings and Loan, Altamonte General Contractor for the facility expected to be completed before Labor Day is Sorenson and Fletcher and architect is Robert Webb.

Dean Trial Is Near Jury

By MARION BETHEA
 Following a delay in proceedings for over an hour this morning while counsel discussed various aspects of the charge to the victim, State Attorney Albert Herring presented closing arguments in the rape trial of Joseph Dean.

Herring disclosed that the defense would try to make a "big thing" of the fact that even in the face of a gun and the force of a 190-pound man, she should have offered more resistance. However, she testified that she was "too scared to resist."

Land Use Revision Bid

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
 County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond and Andrew Pugh, representing the Florida Apartments Association, engaged in a lengthy discussion on the proposed comprehensive land use density formula revision at the County commission session.

Drummond was of the opinion that no other body was needed to study the situation. "I believe our professional working for the county in the planning and zoning departments and those who work with them are quite capable of making the determinations for us," Pugh then said. "It is highly unlikely that we can live with the formula as you have it. We would like to see that high density figure opened considerably."

Every year, between January and April, all about deductions for child care or millions of people sit down to do battle with Uncle Sam. Some are "self-employed" last year, you may be able to save a few dollars doing it themselves—no why not. The sad truth is, however, no matter what their reason may be starting, many of them end the same. On the short end.

Profile Of A Mayor's Wife: Rose Blow Enjoys Great Outdoors

By DONNA ESTES
Casselberry's first lady, Rose Blow, readily admits she does not relish the idea of her husband's reelection to office. She has spent the past December in his record-breaking third consecutive two-year term as chief executive of Seminole's second largest city. "I did not want him to run for re-election," the attractive Mrs. Blow said. A major reason she "hates" involved in politics, the untruths, half truths, twisted facts and the political hot spot occupied by everyone in public life that is really offensive to her.

MRS. CURTIS BLOW has two Shitzu dogs, an unusual and rare breed in the United States. The mother dog is Chufuro and the one-half month old puppy is tentatively called "Hot Stuff." (Donna Estes Photo)

CHULUOTA
By LIZA BAKER
If you have any news of interest, please contact me at 265-5207. I'll be most happy to read for our Sanford Herald subscribers. Let's keep Chuluoata in the news. If you are having company or have returned from a visit, tour, flight, etc. or if you have an interesting background, it all makes interesting reading.

Glenn and Grace Shupe of Second Street, have returned from a week's tour in their camper, visiting Fort Myers, Bonita Springs and Naples, staying at camp grounds as they go. Grace says that the life and don't all we travelers agree?

Mr. and Mrs. George Creech have sold their home on Seventh Street and have moved back to their home town in Ashland, Ky. Their many friends in Chuluoata will miss them.

New owners of the Creech home are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gingrich, who are now making their home in Chuluoata.

Have you all noticed the new roof going on the shopping building in downtown Chuluoata? Keep watching for I understand the building will have a new coat of paint inside as well as outside. As of the moment, the building houses the local grocery store, barber shop and post office. And that is not all, new changes at the entrances to Chuluoata are promised to appear in the very near future.

Junior Woman's Club Sponsoring Contest Who Is Favorite Family Of Year?

Junior Woman's Club of Sanford is searching for the "Family of the Year" in the first annual contest which the club is sponsoring.

Who is your favorite family? Everybody is invited to submit an entry on their favorite family in the Sanford area. Use your own words to write a summation to include the name of the family (must live in the Sanford area), the activities in which the family has participated, the family's contribution to the community, summary of why this family should be selected and the name of the family sponsor (someone other than an immediate family member).

All entries should be in by March 6 and mailed to Mrs. John Crabtree, 103 N. Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

A panel of Judges will make the final selection which will be announced March 16.

For additional information call Linda Reek, 322-1400 or 322-0546 or Eve Crabtree, 322-4975.

Pediatrician Speaks On Aid For Handicapped Children

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI
Dr. Raymond D. Scala, director of the Harbor School, a Children's Developmental Disabilities Center located in Winter Park, was guest speaker for the Lake Mary Women's Club meeting held at Gigli's Italian Restaurant in Regency Square.

Dr. Scala, a pediatrician, said that his love for children was really the motivating force behind his founding of the school. It is a non-profit organization, whose goal is to build a facility as a campus style setting to provide both medical and educational diagnoses for the handicapped child.

Special educational programs closely coordinated with the medical and paramedical staffs, providing an imaginative team approach to the complex handicaps which affect more children and families in the world today than any other single problem.

The center will serve the mentally and physically handicapped child to help him attain and function at his maximal potential. This will be accomplished by a coordinated effort of physicians, psychologists, sociologists, speech pathologists, audiologists and other paramedical professionals.

Once evaluation of the problem is completed, the team then outlines an individual program of education and recommend treatment, with frequent re-evaluations to best serve the individual child's needs.

There are currently 40 children enrolled in the program at the school with a staff of 14 professionals providing the diagnostic and therapeutic needs as well as educational programs. The State of Florida has approved a grant to the school which will take care of children from families with low income or for other reasons unable to pay for help.

Dr. Scala urged that if anyone in this area has questions or needs help, they should call his at 644-8222 or write to the school at P.O. Box 1900, Winter Park.

The Business Mirror Easier To Lose Than Win In Stocks

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) - Can the small investor who is barely able to set aside $3 a week actually make money in the stock market?

"I'm convinced," says Nicholson. "It is possible for people to achieve a goal of $20,000 in investments in a 20 to 30 year period by budgeting $30 to $25 a month for such a purpose."

Nicholson, research partner in a Detroit brokerage firm, happens also to be a member of the advisory board of the National Association of Investment Clubs, which perhaps would tend to color his opinion.

What are the secrets? None, says Nicholson. "Investment clubs which succeed are the ones which follow our philosophy that investing is a long-term proposition."

Mrs. Muskie Keeps Her Foot Out Of Husband's Mouth

By DONNA ESTES
Major issues in the presidential election campaign will be (1) the war in Vietnam; (2) the economy and (3) the environment, the drug problem, crime in the streets and women's rights.

President had made the offer a year ago. I am going to be optimistic until North Vietnam absolutely rejects it."
During a personal interview with The Herald last joined by a reporter for Cocoa Today, Mrs. Muskie said she has some reservations about the Nixon proposal.
"I don't know if North Vietnam will buy all of the proposal," she said. "In the end North Vietnam will probably agree to few concessions."
"It is most important that the safe return of POW's and MIAs are assured. We have to let the Thieu regime stand on its own. My husband's only condition for withdrawal would be the safe return of all our men," she said.
Mrs. Muskie expressed her deep concern for the wives and families of men held prisoner by North Vietnam. "I feel so sorry for the wives who do not even know if their husbands are alive."
Wearing a bracelet engraved with the name of POW Spec. 5 Wade Groth who was captured on Feb. 12, 1968, the candidate's wife said she has promised to continue wearing the bracelet as a reminder until the man is home. She also wears a similar bracelet, she said.
"I am sure the possibility of her husband selecting a disaffiliated man, Mrs. Muskie said a woman will certainly be considered. But, she added, a running mate will be chosen on the basis of qualification—whether man, black or white.
Concerning Muskie's remarks some weeks ago that the people of the country are not willing as yet to elect a black vice president, the Maine senator's wife said her husband's answer had been a "frank" one. She said her husband does not think this situation anymore than any one else, but this is the climate at this time.
Mrs. Muskie said hopefully this attitude of the people will change just as the attitude concerning the election of a Catholic changed following John Kennedy's win in 1960.
Would a southerner be added to the ticket? While not giving a direct answer, she took the opportunity to praise the many qualified southerners such as "your governor (Reubin Askew) and your senator (Lawton Chiles)."
Mrs. Muskie said her husband "agonized" over whether to seek the presidency for some time. "Last year was painful. He traveled around the country and the people in so many places indicated they were for him and the decision was final made."
"I cannot honestly say he has opposition for the nomination," she said. "We have always considered Richard Nixon his opposition and not anyone in the Democratic party."
"The Florida primary may not be the one to show anyone in the lead. And we realize Governor (George) Wallace is a threat to him." She admitted she is somewhat more sensitive to bad press than her husband, but added that her children are more sensitive than she.
"Ed is the best hope for America," the pretty brunette said with conviction. "He has rapport with the people—with the young people who have lost faith, with the old people who believe no one cares for them, with the black people who feel they do not have a voice."
She described her husband as a very organized person who likes to take time to consider things rationally. She said he formed his campaign organization across the land to have a good base from which to campaign.
"It has been an extra long campaign election year. The campaign started immediately after the 1968 election," Mrs. Muskie said and she expressed the fear that the people will get "bored."
Asked if she plans to have both a California and a Florida white house if her husband wins, she said her family has never been financially able to maintain more than one home at a time, but "we will maintain our home in Maine," she said.
Concerning the scope of the Florida campaign effort, she said she will return to the state on Feb. 15 via train and "would love to visit Seminole County."

DeBary Players Slated For Lake Mary Boards

By ANN SIECKOWSKI

The DeBary Players will appear in the auditorium at Lake Mary Elementary School for two appearances, Feb. 11 and 12 at 8 p.m.

They will present an original musical, "We Need an Expert," written by two Lake Mary residents, George Wester and George Dodson.

Defensive Driving Scheduled

DELTONA — "Defensive Driving" is Deltona Civic Association's answer to Florida's ever mounting traffic accidents. Four classes to help combat this problem have been scheduled by its adequate protection of persons and property committee, as announced by Charles Wyman, chairman. Eighty-five area restaurants have been awarded certificates of completion to date in the first two-eight hour sessions completed so far.

The current class scheduled to start Monday will meet on four successive Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m., at the fire station on East Lombardy Drive under the direction of Lt. Paul Pounds of the Deltona police department, certified instructor.

"Practice defensive driving! — Make full stops at all stop signs! — Arrive alive!" is the motto which should be followed by all drivers cautious Wyman and in summarizing the committee objectives, added "Drive as if your life depended upon it — it does!"
Wyman announces that the February class is filled, but registration for the March class are currently being accepted. Persons wishing to enroll in the March session should write him c/o Box 67, Deltona, giving their name, address and telephone number and enclosing a check for the fee. Check should be made payable to Wyman but designated on the back "For defensive driving class."

San Quentin Tough Old Prison Dies

By JOE BROOKS
Copley News Service
SAN QUENTIN PRISON—If present plans materialize, the curtain will ring down in 1974 on a colorful state institution which is almost as old as the state of California itself.

The institution is "Q," the yellow-walled San Quentin Prison, which this year is 120 years old — if you count the ship built in which prisoners were housed at Quentin Point before the first building was constructed — only two years younger than the state of California.

San Quentin is being abandoned because of old age. A state Board of Corrections study recommended its closing on grounds the prison is too old and large and should be replaced by a smaller and more modern facility.

"Q" may soon be gone, but it certainly will not be forgotten. Through the years it has become known for riots, slayings, executions and also advances in penology administered by officials like the famous Warden Clinton Duffy, who now lives in retirement in Walnut Creek, Calif.

San Quentin is well known, for one thing, because it houses California's Death Row, cur-

There's Grace, Harmony In The Body Mechanics

By BARBARA BECKLEY
Copley News Service
LOS ANGELES — Every woman is born with the potential of a figure as graceful and sleek as that of an ancient Greek.

But civilization has deprived her of carrying out nature's promise.

The instinct for correct posture and movement has been lost as man moved from nature to civilization. Lyuba Durdakova-Janousek, Czechoslovakian sculptress and gymnast, explains.

"Ancient civilizations understood how nature governs the body. Through the natural laws of body mechanics and muscle function they developed the harmony and beauty of the body, she says.

Mrs. Durdakova-Janousek is helping today's woman recapture the lost instinct.

She teaches women to sculpt their bodies with grace and harmony by means of an exercise system based on the ancient theories.

"Each of us has the instinct for natural, graceful movement, but we have forgotten how to use it," she says.

"When you get in church you don't go down with your buttocks out and back humped. That would be irreverent. You consciously hold your buttocks under and go down on one leg, back straight, weight balanced."
