Sanford Hosts State Finals Of Youth Safe Driving Test

State eliminations will be held in Sanford Wednesday, at Seminole High School to determine the Sunshine State representative in the 15th annual national finals of Operation Driver Excellence, a youth safe driving competition sponsored by the AMVETS and Dodge Divison of Chrysler Corporation. Students who completed a high school driver education class during the past 12 months and who are recommended by their instructor are eligible for the eliminations that start at 10 a.m. on the school's driving range.

Members of the city's police department, Semimole County Sheriff's Department and Florida State Highway Patrol will serve as monitors and judges as the young drivers match their skills and knowledge of safe driving.

Sponsored by AMVETS Post 17, the eliminations are under the direction of Florida Operation D. E. Chairman Jerry Hester, Sanford. Cars are being furnished by Luke Potter Dodge, Winter Park.

At stake in the national finals to be held May 15-17 in St. Louis, is a new Dodge Aries K car and a $2,000 scholarship for the winner. Second through fifth place national finalists received $1,500, $1,000, $750 and $500 scholarships, respectively.

New Toll Service System

The Winter Park Telephone Company has announced completion of the new $3.5 million Traffic Assistance Service System (TASS) developed by Nippon Company, Ltd., and designed to provide increased efficiency to toll calling service for the Company's subscribers.

TASS, a digital, stored program controlled callhandling system for the telephone operators, will be connected to the Winter Park Telephone Toll Digital Switching System which the Company placed into service last January. The TASS system is the first of its kind in the world and is connected to Assistance Service Consoles at which Winter Park Telephone long distance operators are stationed. The Company currently has 42 operator positions in service and another eight positions are scheduled to be in service by the end of March. The Winter Park Telephone Toll Center, located in Winter Park, processes over 22,000 toll calls per business day for Company subscribers in the cities of Winter Park, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Eatonville, Fern Park, Forest City, Goldenrod, Longwood, Maitland and Winter Springs.

In addition, the company plans to re-route long distance call service to the Winter Park Toll Center for the Orange City Telephone Company which serves the cities of Orange City, Lake Helen, Cassadega and Deltona, Florida. The re-routing is planned to become effective in July 1981.

In addition, the clubhouse has been redecorated and all residences are being re-painted and re-carpeted. The sales office opened March 14 in the clubhouse at Destiny Springs.

Forest Oil & Gas Leasing

Oil and gas leasing on the Ocala National Forest will recommence within the year, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has announced. BLM has been given permission to resume leasing, which was suspended on the Ocala in 1971 by the Secretary of the Interior, pending a full environmental review. That review was completed by the U.S. Forest Service (USFS), and leasing is to resume with a special simultaneous oil and gas drawing - a noncompetitive procedure through which winners are selected at random from among all qualified applicants. The special drawing will be scheduled after a series of administrative steps have been taken by BLM and USFS.

"We anticipate that the entire 381,000-acre forest will be offered for oil and gas leasing," says BLM Eastern States Director Roger L. Hildebeidel. "Forty to 50 parcels will be delineated, ranging in size from approximately 2,000 acres to 10,240 acres, the maximum area that can be offered through a single lease. The winner of the drawing for each parcel will be eligible to enter into a 10-year lease with the United States, at an annual rental fee of $1 per acre."

Scientist Guilty Of Unauthorized Clone Experiments

SAN DIEGO (UPI) - Internationally recognized scientist Ian Kennedy has been convicted of violating national cloning guidelines and conducting unauthorized experiments by an investigative unit of the National Institute of Health.

Kennedy, a 38-year-old virologist at the University of California, San Diego, cloned the genetic material of a rare virus not permitted to be cloned under federal safety guidelines, the unit found. When word of the cloning incident leaked, Kennedy's research in the university's recobinant DNA laboratory generated a worldwide controversy and triggered fears among some scientists of a public backlash against all "genetic engineering" projects. On Sunday, the National Institute of Health's Executive Recombinant DNA Committee released its final report on the incident and ordered sanctions that may end Kennedy's research career.

The investigators found Kennedy guilty of cloning fragments of genetic material from semlici forest virus instead of sindbis virus, which he had received approval to work with. Kennedy has steadfastly denied he deliberately cloned the prohibited virus.

In Apartment House Fire

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - Three bodies were recovered Sunday from a century-old apartment house gutted by a raging fire that forced as many as 30 residents to jump from upper story windows - at least one with his clothes ablaze. Two others were missing and seven persons were injured jumping from second-and third-floor windows in the converted orphanage located in a predominantly black lower-middle income area. Driving rain and hail hampered firefighting efforts. The bodies of two children and an adult were recovered from the top floor of the three-story structure. The victims and the missing may have been four children being cared for by an aunt, fire officials said.

Court To Mull Draft Fairness

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The outcome of a challenge to the all-male draft now before the Supreme Court could fundamentally affect the operation of the armed services and the role of women in the military.

The issue, to be argued before the nine justices Tuesday, is whether the male-only draft registration system discriminates against men. But the case has blossomed to include whether the system violates women's rights by excluding them from possible conscription.

A three-judge federal court in Philadelphia, ruling in a case originally brought by Vietnam War protesters. found last July that male-only registration discriminates against men. It said Congress must decide whether to include women or give up the draft idea altogether.

"I do not feel the average woman is equipped physically or emotionally to handle it. Weise made the comments as he watched female recruits receive defensive combat training at Parris Island.

But the weekly tabloid is the defendant, and after five years int he making and two weeks in the courtroom, jurors were expected to begin deliberations today in Carol Burnett's $10 million libel suit against the Enquirer.

At issue is a March 13, 1976 gossip item in the weekly tabloid stating that Miss Burnett was loud and boisterous in Washington's Rive Gauche restaurant where she allegedly argued with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and spilled wine on a diner.

Sigmon then drove to a trailer park and fired two shots into Mark Lechler's trailer home. Lechler, who according to neighbors, was "having an affair" with Mrs. Sigmon, escaped through a window unharmed, Marshall said.

After firing at Lechler, Sigmon fled, dodging at least two police roadblocks, before pulling over and shooting himself in the head. deputies said. Officers who closed in on him a short time later found him dead.

Cold Cuts Into Beach Traffic

DAYTONA BEACH, (UPI) - Cool weather has slowed the annual pilgrimage of thousands of winterweary northern college students to Florida's beaches, but police and merchants think the end of the lingering winter will bring them in sun-worshipping droves. "Right now, business is a little bit slow. We're not running too full, but we will be," said a desk clerk at the 196-room Holiday Inn Boardwalk in Daytona Beach over the rainy, chilly weekend. Doug Jacob, a bartender at Jake's Place, the hotel's patio bar, said the crowd isn't as big as in the past.

Interferon Works, So Far

DAYTONA BEACH. (UPI) - Drug companies jumping on the interferon bandwagon have started producing a much purer form of the promising antiviral drug in bacteria and initial tests indicate it works in humans.

Dr. Frank Rauscher, vice president of the American Cancer Society, which has pioneered in the interferon studies, reported Sunday that the first batches of the protein made by bacteria "factories" were given to three cancer patients in January.

Initial and very preliminary results indicate the new interferon has a strong anti-virus action. Rauscher said it is too soon to know whether the interferon from bacteria will have anti-cancer activity.

Arson is suspected in the noon Saturday fire which did an estimated $75,000 damage to an Auto-Train passenger car being stored at the Rand Rail Yard off First Street west of Sanford. Above, Seminole County firefighters scramble around the single car damaged by the flames. At left, a fireman peers from one of the charred windows which, resisting the ax, had to be cut out with a power saw in order to vent the extreme heat. The inside of the car was completely gutter. There were no injuries reported in the blaze which took 10 to 12 firefighters about one hour to extinguish, but three to four hours to bring fully under control. Chief County Fire Investigator Ray Pippin said arson is suspected at this point "because we eliminated all of the possible accidental causes."

Fourth Vigilante Nabbed In Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI) - Chanting blacks protested the arrests of four armed vigilantes patrolling a city housing project, but other project residents say they fear publicity about the patrols will attract rather than frighten the city's child slaver. The vigilante patrol was started last Friday at the city's largest public housing project over strong objections of police, who insist the investigation into the deaths of 20 black children and the disappearance of two others be left to law enforcement officials.

Three of the four vigilantes arrested during the weekend -Chimurenga Jenga, Gene Ferguson and Jerome Gibbs - were to appear in court today for arraignment on weapons violations.

The fourth, Modido Kadalie, was being held in city jail on $2,900 bond after being picked up Sunday on charges of obstructing justice, disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon.

About 50 residents of the Techwood Homes housing project went to the police headquarters Sunday night to protest the arrests.

They chanted "Free Modido" and crowded into the lobby of the building, but dispersed and returned to the project at the urging of some members of the group.

Marion Green, one of the organizers of the patrol, said Sunday the group - which carries baseball bats - had grown from 25 to 44 people since it began Friday. "We're gaining support," she added.

The new Amtrak budget was lower than the corporation had proposed just last month. Boyd testified that Amtrak, "by taking some rather difficult actions," had lopped another $120 million off its own budget request, lowering it to $853 million. Boyd did not elaborate on which routes might be dropped under the Amtrak budget plan, but Amtrak already has proposed ending service on lightly patronized routes from Washington to Cincinatti and cutting back service to three days a week between Chicago and San Antonio.

Amtrak also released a fact sheet showing that 284 new bilevel passenger cars built for midwestern and western service would be useless since they cannot run in the East because of tunnel restrictions. In addition, 313 other rebuilt passenger cars and 259 diesel locomotives would be idled because they also would not be suitable for the Washingtonboston run.

Amtrak was formed on May 1, 1971, to save the country's deteriorating passenger service. It was originally supposed to be a "for profit" corporation, but federal subsidies have steadily increased year by year despite increasing ridership.

Combat Team Leader: 'What's All The Fuss?'

DOLOMITE, Ala. (UPI) - The leader of a band of rag-tag mercenaries arrested while training in guerrilla warfare near a Florida nuclear plant says he doesn't know what all the fuss is about.

"We weren't doing anything illegal," Joseph Franklin Camper said Sunday. Camper and 12 cohorts dressed in jungle camouflaged military fatigues were arrested last week at a make-shift training camp near Florida Power Corp.'s nuclear generating plant at Crystal River. The men were charged with felony trespassing. A large cache of weapons and other military gear were seized but only four of the weapons, all semi-automatics, were operable. They were all later released on $1,050 bond each.

Here's A Lesson Out Of The Past

Some people, alas, learn too little from the past. Among these, we must conclude, are the critics who complain that the Reagan administration's tax cut proposals favor the rich.

The initial effect of a 10 percent, across-theboard reduction in income tax rates for each of the next three years would be to return more to those who pay more. Any uniform cut in income tax rates will yield more dollars in tax relief to, say, the person now paying $50,000 per year in taxes than to those paying a 10th of that.

That doesn't "favor" the rich, it simply treats them proportionately the same as everyone else. Predictably, this offends those who believe that federal tax policy should have among its desired ends the redistribution of wealth.

Those who share this philosophy occupied positions of particular power in Congress and the executive branch for most of the last two decades.

Their legacy, roughly speaking, is the economic mess the Reagan administration inherited: double-digit inflation, falling productivity, rising unemployment and zero growth in the economy.

Every public opinion poll proclaims that the Reagan administration was elected, in large measure, to change this - to blaze a trail out of a dismal economic swamp. To this end, Mr. Reagan and his chief advisers have decided that the redistribution of wealth in the United States has long since reached the point of diminishing. returns.

Indeed, its returns measured in sagging productivity and an absence of economic growth are now negative in absolute terms.

One requirement of an economic strategy capable of resuscitating the American economy is the generation of vast amounts of investment capital desperately needed by such basic national industries as autos and steel.

As most economists know, tax relief for those in the higher income brackets is more likely to increase investment capital simply because a higher proportion of middle and upper incomes is available for savings and other forms of economic investment including stock purchases.

Thus, those portions of Mr. Reagan's tax relief proposals now generating the most criticism among liberals in Congress are precisely the components most likely to spur a revitalizatin of the American economy.

Readers may recall the demagogic rhetoric leveled against the reduction in capital gains taxes approved by Congress two years ago over the vigorous objections of the Carter administration. Yet, there are now multiple indications that this tax cut, derided by Carter as welfare for the rich," helped to boost a badly depressed stock market and thus saved the economy from an even worse recession than that recently experienced.

There is every reason to believe that the more sweeping tax rate cuts proposed by the Ragan team will do even more, much more, to cure the chronically sick economy bequeathed the current administration by its present critics.

Inasmuch as lower income families are less able to weather the consequences of a stagnating economy than their more affluent neighbors, the tax reduction strategy now pursued by the Reagan administration should properly be seen as pleasant enough for those in the upper-income brackets but nothing short of salvation for those at the bottom.

JEFFREY HART Soviets And Terrorism

Reagan and Haig have been telling some blunt truths about the Soviet Union, and the habit seems to be catching - even to the New York Times.

Actually, the Times has exhibited a curious schizoid quality lately. When Reagan talked about the Soviet drive for world domination, and about its Machiavellian morality, and when Haig mentioned Soviet sponsorship of global terrorism, the Times tut-tutted editorially. In his famous interview with Reagan, Walter Cronkite made the same sort of response.

But, as I live and breathe, what do we find in the Times Sunday Magazine but a solid article by Claire Sterling, a foreign correspondent based in Italy, which pins the tail of terrorism right on the Soviet donkey. Now in its substance, this is not news. Richard Nixon in his book, "The Real War" covered the subject thoroughly. Robert Moss and Brian Crozier have written extensively on it. The news is that the Times now considers the subject fit to print. 'I have spent the last two and a half years," writes Sterling, "researching leftist terrorist groups, talking to government officials and police in 10 countries from Sweden to Lebanon, examining court records and interviews in the public prints ... There is massive proof that the Soviet Union and its surrogates, over the last decade, have provided the weapons, training, and sanctuary for a worldwide terror network aimed at the destabilization of Western democracy society."

In short, the Soviet Union is literally at war with the non-Soviet world, and particularly with the West.

Now James Burnham said that in his classic study, which began as a Princeton seminar, "The Suicide of the West." Robert Strausz-Hupe said it in "The Protracted Conflict." Richard Nixon said it in "The Real War." The big news, to repeat, is that now, at last, the New York Times is saying it.

Claire Steling, in fact, stresses the liberating effect of Secretary Haig's charges: "Not until Secretary Haig's charges, and a similar statement a day earlier by the President of Italy, Alessandro Petrini, had any Western government publicity accused Moscow of a major role in fostering the network. Most of the governments under siege are still reluctant to do so. They are unwilling to risk their relations with Moscoe..." There we have it, the real meaning of 'detente." Far from providing us with leverage over Moscow, as Henry Kissinger fondly imagined, detente provides Moscow with a cover under which its war against the West can be safely carried on. Haig and

Reagan have ripped off that cover. "The heart of the Russians' strategy,' writes Claire Sterling, "is to provide the terrorist network with the goods and services necessary to undermine the democracies of the West. More than half of the international terrorist attacks since 1968, according to the C.I.A., have taken place in Western Europe and North America. The most deadly have come in a strategic crescent from Turkey westward through Italy and up to Ireland. And, as Italy's Red Brigades have made clear, the ultimate objective is 'the supreme symbol of multinational imperialism' the United States."

Sterling traces the current phase of the war against the West to the Tricontinental Congress held in Havana in January 1966. Some 500 delegates passed resolutions reaffirming the solidarity of the socialist, e.g., Soviet, bloc, and avowing support for "national liberation movements." Significantly, Sterling points out, the solidarity and support were not confined to the Third World but extended to include "democratic workers and student movements" in Western Europe and North America.

Terrorist training camps exist in the Soviet Union, East Europe, Cuba and elsewhere. "It was," writes Sterling, "in South Yeman - by then a Soviet satellite state tightly controlled by the K.G.B. - that a kind of post-graduate school in international terrorism emerged. The list of foreign guests in the camps around Aden included members of West Germany's Baader-Meinhof gang, Italy's Red Brigades, the Basque E.T.A., the Provisional I.R.A., the Japanese Red Army, the Tupamaros of Uruguary and the Turkish and ... anian undergrounds."

The whole deadly network has been organized, equipped and financed by Moscow. It's a healthy sign that we now have a government in Washington willing to say so. You can hardly fight effectively against an enemy you are too polite, or too afraid, to name. The enemy, not "adversary," is the Soviet Union

Still the plundering goes on unchecked. Baby Doc's wife, 29-year-old Michelle Bennett Duvalier, for example, reportedly draws a $100,000 monthly salary for her duties as "Mrs. President." The title distinguishes her from Papa Doc's widow, who is known as "First Lady for Life," even though she is currently on the outs with her son and was arrested and detained briefly a couple of weeks ago by Baby Doc's police.

Baby Doc's father-in-law, Ernst Bennett, is definitely "in," however. According to a are under no such constraints. confidential cable signed by former ambassador Henry Kimelman, Bennett will make a bundle by taking advantage of last year's worldwide drop in coffee prices. Haitian farmers hoped to hold their crop harvest until prices went up, but will have to sell at ruinously low prices just to buy food.

"In this situation, someone stands to make a great deal of money by buying low and selling high as the international price recovers," Kimelman reported. And that left for Poland Feb. 14.

because of its inherent flaws. The CPI has become the government's bestknown statistical index because it is the most widely publicized and popularly accepted measure of the periodic changes in the retail prices of goods and services offered to the public But the CPI is, at best, an imprecise means of measuring fluctuating prices. That was convincingly documented in a little-noticed White House report issued only five days before President Carter left office.

Perhaps the most glaring deficiency of the CPI is the manner in which it distorts the mportance of housing costs, the most heavily weighted component of the index, which presumably accounts for almost one-fourth (24.9 percent) of all consumer expenses.

Because home-purchase costs and mortgage-interest rates are included in every monthly revision of the CPI, the index is forced to rely upon what Rep. Paul M. Simon, D-Ill., describes as "the ridiculous assumption that every American buys a new home each month.

During an era of rapidly escalating realestate values and mortgage costs, the practice distorts the overall pattern of price changes, thus severely impairing the CPI's reliability.

During the first six months of last year, for example, the price of all items except housing increased by 11.4 percent - but housing costs soared a phenomenal 25.3 percent. As a result, the composite index rose 14.8 percent. Another serious problem stems from the fact that the CPI figures are derived from a "market basket" of goods and services that is both badly outdated and relatively inflexible. Although that "market basket" is supposed to reflect the composition of a typical family's comtemporary purchases, it is based on a survey of buying patterns conducted in 1972-

74 but never revised since that time. Moreover, that rigid "market basket" formula fails to reflect shifts in consumer preferences caused by the relentless inflation measured by the CPI.

Thus, the CPI has faithfully recorded the steep increase in the price of gasoline, but has failed to take account of the fact that those high prices have led many people to substantially modify their "market basket" by driving less and buying less gasoline.

The federal government already produces several price indexes that are more accurate than the CPI, and the report issued by the Carter White House recommended that one of them be substituted for the CPI.

Dr. Otto Eckstein, a highly respected economist, has praised that report as "the most significant document produced in the four years of the Carter administration." But Simon notes that " the difficulty with correcting the CPI is that many powerful toes must be stepped on".

Tough Problem To Swallow

Everybody knows that kids don't live by bread alone. They have to have a layer of peanut butter on it.

But now, the p-nuttiest thing has happened. I'm talking about the peanut-butter shortage brought on by last summer's drought. For the first time in 26 years, the peanut crop failed, making 1981 the Year of the Peanut Butter Crunch. For the kids I know, that's a problem as tough to swallow as peanut butter when it sticks to the roof of the mouth. In true Old Mother Hubbard fashion.

mothers everywhere are finding the supermarket cupboards bare where the jars of peanut butter used to be. They dread going home and telling this to their small fry, who live and grow on peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches.

The girl across the street is typical. She lathers peanut putter on her toast every morning, then, four days out of five, takes peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches for lunch at school. She is such a "p.b. aficionado" that she can tell the difference between Peter Pan and Skippy and prefer one over the other.

The peanut butter-and-jelly sandwich is not only the first food fad of most kids, it is often the first food they can fix themselves. Many a working mother caught late at the office is relieved to be able to call her offspring and tell them: "Make a peanut-butter sandwich. I'll be home in an hour."

I talked to a class of 13-year-olds the other day and found that 16 of the 18 knew all about the dwindling supply of peanut butter. Some knew because they were having to go without; others knew because their mothers were warning them to "spread thin and use more jelly than peanut butter."

One youngster said, "My mother won't buy it, even when she finds it, because of what it costs." I know. The nearly empty 18-ounce jar on our shelf is marked $1.17. The same-size jar cost $2.09 last week. I don't need my pocket calculator to tell me that's about a quarter teaspoon from a 100-percent markup The fact is that peanut production is only half what it was, and the price, which in 1979 was $455 a ton, is now $500 a ton. As a result, peanuts and their byproducts are no longer found on the menu of any federally funded school-lunch program.

"We used to have a lot of peanut cake in the school cafeteria," said a fifth grader, "but we don't now." She said that a handful of peanuts and raisins used to be standard on the school lunch tray. No more. That's too bad, because that was one sure source of protein for a lot of kids. What's worse, the shortage may go on into next year. This winter was one of the driest in 20 years. and that could mean another skimpy year in the peanut fields of Georgia, Texas, Alabama and elsewhere. We are being told that we are a nation of wasteful, indulgent consumers bent on devouring kilowatts, Btu, gasoline and wildlife in a hedonistic frenzy. Even when told we can't go on like this, we do.

Spreading thin the peanut butter may be the first step in self-denial for the younger generation. Just as kids who grew up in the Depression are ingrained with the value of a buck, so these youngsters may be the first to learn early that scarcity is the mother of

Monday, Mar. 23, 1981-5A Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. An American Requiem' Set For Atlanta

By JAMES M. EVANS ATLANTA (UPI) - For David Kosis, a five-year-old dream is about to become a reality. At 42, Kosis spends his days in the flight analysis section of Delta Air Lines' operations department, and is currently preparing a book for the pilots who will be using a new onboard computer on the company's L-1011 jet.

"It's a very creative job," he said, "just like orchestrating a Requiem." The comparison is particularly apt since Kosis' "An American Requiem" will be presented in a world premiere performance Saturday, March 28, by the Choral Guild of Atlanta and the Atlanta Civic Opera Orchestra under the direction of William Noll. A second performance follows the next day.

The concert date is about four months short of six years since July 1975 when Kosis began the work that was completed about two years later. His early works were largely simple affairs, designed mainly for piano and chorus, but the success of those led him to a more ambitious undertaking, the Requiem. The dictionary says a Requiem is "a Mass for the respose of the soul of the dead," and Kosis said his work "mourns the passing of the 'American dream' from our way of life ... and offers hope for its future." He said the first two of the seven movements were completed within a matter of months, but almost a year elapsed before he met composer David Diamond and resumed work on the final five movements. The full work was completed in May

Almost four years later, Kosis said he looks forward to hearing the full orchestral and choral version, but he said even the early rehearsals have pleased him. "I thought I'm glad I wrote that because if I hadn't, I would have wished I did," he said. Both Noll and Kosis agreed that the Requiem was a departure from the normal choral work which Kosis called mostly "multi-voice concertos."

"This is not that," the composer said. "It is a departure since the orchestra is not an accompanying force." Noll described it as "a work for orchestra and chorus." "They both play a very dominant role in the whole scenario of the work," he said. Both men also said they had no problem with the concept of having the premiere performance by the Choral Guild, which is composed of more than 100 volunteers. "I had no problem with that," Kosis said. "I don't regard them as amateur." Noll called the Requiem "an extraordinary example of 20th Century composition both in orchestral and choral terms. "My hope is that we give it the best performance possible in order that the musical world will accept both the performance and the piece." he added. Noll and Kosis said there was no conflict between them in polishing the piece. "Sometimes the composer will find that a conductor will have a better idea for musical performance," said Noll, who has suggested minor changes in the rehearsals that began in January

"At other times the composer will help work out a particular passage that doesn't seem to work," he added. Kosis said there had been no clashes with Noll, but he said he would have no hesitancy in objecting if necessary. "I'm pretty new at this game and I don't feel nervous abo learning," Kosis said. "I created it, but there are probably several different ways to put it across. "My only objective," he said, "is in getting the end product to sound the way I thought it would." Born in Aurora, Ill., Kosis began his piano studies at the age of 9 and performed twice with the Chicago Symphony when he was 14. His family moved to Atlanta in 1954, and a year later, at the age of 17, he entered New York's Julliard School of Music to prepare for the concert stage.

But Kosis says, "Julliard, New York City and myself didn't get along. I was only 17 at the time, and it was just a little bit too much to take."

HARDY WEEKEND

Tony Leads Track Team To Relays Title; Named Third Team All-State Basketball

Seminole softball Coach Beth Corso jokingly tells two-sport standout Tony Hardy she better run the bases as fast as she runs the track. Hardy paced Emory Blake's girls track team to the Seabreeze Relays title Saturday. Blake (right) gets a chuckle out of the goings on.

It was a Hardy weekend for Seminole High School.

That's Hardy as in Tony Hardy. The Tribe's talented junior made off with four medals and two plaques to help the girls track team grab the Seabreeze Relays Saturday in Daytona Beach with 97 points. For her excellent all-around performance, the two-sport star was named the most valuable sprinter and the most valuable field performer.

Seminole County swept the top three places as Lyman was second with 92 and Lake Brantley third with 83. Mainland followed with 53 and the host Sand Crabs compiled 38.

"We didn't have a girl that didn't win a medal," said a proud Emory Blake about his speedy track team. "Tony did a great job."

Hardy's biggest leap came in the long ump where she went 18-feet-1 and three-fourth. The jump is the second ongest in the state this year.

Thrown together with a 15-feet-10 rom Arlene Jones and Rovonda Caldwell's 15-feet-5, it gave the Tribe first place.

In the 440-yard shuttle relay, Hardy combined with Jones, Lisa Morse and Revenia Burch for the top spot in 1:08. Hardy's anchor split was a sizzling 14.9.

'We didn't have a girl that didn't win a medal. - Track Coach Emory Blake

The Hardy-Jones act got together again in the 440-yard relay along with Brenda Davis and Crystal Caldwell for a quick 50 seconds flat and first place. Hardy's last medal came in the mile place. Hardy's split was 58.7.

relay where the fast junior joined Davis, Crystal Caldwell and Sharon Newell for a 4:09.1 clocking and first Seminole's other victories came in the sprint medley and 880-yard medley relay. Verna Perry, Tracy Brown, Burch and Jenkins took the sprint medley in 2:20. In the 880, sophomore Jackie Fort, Perry, Revonda Caldwell and Jenkins combined for a 1:59 first place.

All-Stater

On Saturday, Hardy was selected to the 4A girls All-State basketball team. Hardy, a 5-foot-10 super-quick scoring forward for Cheryl Klein's Seminole squad, was just a second team choice in the Five Star Conference.

Senator Not A Spokesman For Japanese-Americans

DEAR ABBY: You were right the first time and need not have apologized for using the term "concentration camps" in connection with the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War was one of 110,000 Americans of Japanese descent who were interned in delighted to read your what was euphemistically referred to as a "war misuse of the word relocation center" for the "hopefully," which is wasn't good enough to suit them duration of the war. It was a probably the second most them. Two days later I called concentration camp. What commonly misused word in and tried to explain again, but else would you call row after our language today-the first there was just no talking to row of tar-papered barracks being "feel." (one room per family) Ever since it became acfences and guard towers with armed soldiers on duty night and day?

This in no way belittles the experience of the Nazi good idea." In almost all Holocaust victims. That their cases, they mean, "I think" or concentration camps were "I believe." also death camps and ours were not is hardly cause for patriotic pride. Senator Hayakawa may be a recognized authority on semantics, but he can hardly be considered a spokesman for Japanese-Americans. He was born in Canada and spent the war comfortably in Chicago. HISAKO TAKAMI, CHICAGO DEAR MR. TAKAMI: Thank you (and the many defines "concentration for him. There wasn't enough of war, political prisoners or the church in time for the refugees) are detained or confined."

Code Board Meets Soon Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete"

Knowles will be convening the city's new six-member "Code Enforcement Board" in the next few days to handle a thorny problem for the city.

The problem involves a vehicle repair shop at 1214 Elm Avenue operating without the required occupational license and without a required site plan having been submited to the city authorities. Knowles told commissioners Monday night he looked into a complaint about the repair shop operation. The recently formed board is also to consider the "logging" operation at U.S. 17-92 and Park Drive. The operation was brought to the commission's attention by Commissioner David Farr. The code enforcement board is composed of six laymen - J.Q. "Slim" Galloway, chairman of the city's planning and zoning commission; Ron Dycus, Ernest Horrell, Edward Korgan, Robert Good and LeRoy Robb.

Its function is to enforce city ordinances. The board has authority to levy fines up to $500 per day. Knowles said City Attorney Bill Colbert

Idle, But Rich

LONDON (UPI) - Eight years ago, Liverpool extinguished its last gas lamp. Now, the town council wants to know why three lamp lighters are still on the city payroll. David Croft, chairman of the highways committee, ordered an investigation Monday into why the three, plus a helper, are still collecting paychecks that over the past eight years have totaled $550,000. Liverpool's chief engineer, Ian Cucksey, said, "They have been completely idle for eight years. "Naturally with there being no gas lamps, they do not have a lot to
