SHS hurdler has hopes in 3A meet

SANFORD — Alan Seward, Seminole High School senior, is looking forward to returning to Showalter Field in Winter Park for the state Class 3A track meet, where he will compete in both the 120 high hurdles and the 330 intermediate hurdles.

Seward won both events at the district meet two weeks ago on the same track.

Organization seeking poems from Floridians

HOLMES BEACH — The Library Benevolent Association is seeking submissions of poetry by Florida residents for inclusion in its anthology The Florida Poet, to be published this fall. Poems must be original, unpublished work of Florida residents.

Up to four typed poems may be submitted, along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to the association at P.O. Box 1187, Holmes Beach 34218-1187.

Board members get Just Say No labels

Representatives from Southern Bell presented Seminole County School Board members with "just say no" lapel labels and bumper stickers during Wednesday's board meeting. The presentation was part of Red Ribbon week, May 9-12, which is part of an ongoing drug prevention awareness program.

Southern Bell's Telephone Pioneers "Clown Corp" dropped in on students at Bear Lake Elementary and Sterling Park Elementary. The students were encouraged to wear red clothes and red balloons were released as part of the festivities.

Airport businessman, aviator, age 60, dies

Retired Air Force Maj. William B. "Robbie" Roberts Jr. died Wednesday afternoon at Florida Hospital, Altamonte at the age of 60.

Roberts, who lived at 2461 Worthington Road, Fern Park, was admitted to the hospital on Wednesday morning according to his wife, Barbara. She said the cause of death has not yet been determined but doctors think it is heart-related. Story on 12A.

SCC teacher, 3 others face cocaine charges

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer
LAKE MARY — A part-time Seminole Community College English teacher, her husband and two other men have been arrested on various drug-related charges.

And, law officers said today videotapes found at the teacher's home showing a number of people "in compromising positions and smoking cocaine" will probably lead to other arrests.

Arrested at their home Wednesday night were Terese Gigi

Derballe, 29, and her husband Sayed Derballe, 38, of 353 Bush Hill Court. They were charged with possession of cocaine.

Also arrested at about 12:25 a.m. today were Mrs. Derballe's brother, Richard Anthony DeLude, 48, of 103 E. Lauren Court, Fern Park, and Michael Gunn, 36, of Houston, Texas. They were charged with purchasing cocaine.

Investigators with the City County Investigative Bureau gave this account of the arrests: The Derballe's were at home around 8 p.m. Wednesday when an undercover agent arrived, reportedly to buy cocaine. Instead, the agent and other CCIB agents, armed with a warrant, searched the house, discovered cocaine and arrested the couple on charges of possession.

While the search was being conducted, Derballe received a pager call, which an agent answered. The caller, agents said, was Mrs. Derballe's brother DeLude. DeLude, apparently believing the agent was acting

Pilot Edna Whyte (left), 85, and copilot Donna Kenney, go over their flight plan for the 1,116-mile, two-day, Great Southern Air Race, which began today at the Sanford

Municipal Airport. Whyte and Kenney look off in Whyte's (No. 27) 400-horsepower Piper Comanche.

Edna Whyte, 85, still loves to compete in airplane races

By Wayne Mize Herald Staff Writer
SANFORD — She is 85 years old with white and silver hair and sparkling eyes.

She could serve as a poster girl for Grandmothers of America.

However, Edna Gardner Whyte is not an average senior citizen. She loves to race airplanes.

Whyte, from Roanoke, Tex., took off this morning from Sanford Municipal Airport, along with 50 other competitors in the Great Southern Air Race.

As her airplane lifted off the runway, it marked the beginning of her fifth such race this year.

Whyte and her copilot, Donna Kenney, will fly the 1,116-mile, two-day race in a 400-horsepower Piper Comanche. Whyte always brings a young flying student with her to races, and Kenney got her pilot's license just three weeks ago.

"I want them to get a taste of flying and learn to love it like I do," said Whyte of her young copilots. Whyte is a living legend among aviation enthusiasts. She enjoyed a seven-year friendship with Amelia Earhart and had many pictures taken with her before Earhart disappeared July 2, 1937.

Whyte owns her own school, Aero-Valley Flight School, in Roanoke, Tex., and teaches flying "seven days a week."

She taught army personnel how to fly during World War II, from 1941-44, as part of a war training contract for civilians. She has been a nurse and has built two airports.

"It is not often that you get to meet people that are part of our aviation history," said Don Miller, of Tampa, a race participant. See WHYTE, page 12A

It's official now: old high school will come down

By Carol Rumsey UCF Intern

SANFORD — It's final—there will be no restoration for the main Sanford Middle School building. Instead, the 61-year-old structure will be demolished in favor of a new building, which will incorporate the architectural design, and possibly even some materials, from the old building.

Four Seminole County School Board members gave unanimous approval to the building project during Wednesday's meeting. Board member Ann Neiswender was not in attendance.

The board's decision received applause from several teachers and parents at the meeting.

Decision made
● By who: Seminole County School Board
● Why: Board members determined it would cost more to restore the old building than build a new one.
● A possible state grant for restoration can't be applied for until next year.

The issue has been an emotional one. Many in the community see the school that fronts Highway 17-92 as a city landmark. See School, page 12A

Resignations in Lake Mary on hold

By Joyce Herald UCF Intern

LAKE MARY — One of two Lake Mary Board of Adjustment members who gave their resignations to city commissioners during last week's city commission meeting has reconsidered his offer, and the other will allow the commission to decide his fate during its May 19 meeting.

Harry Beckham, chairman of the Board of Adjustment, gave the commission a choice in a letter to Mayor Dick Fess. He said the commission should accept his resignation, if the commissioners think he has "failed to carry out its (the commission's) policy." However, he will continue to serve on the board if the commissioners agree that policy was followed.

John Hauck has withdrawn his resignation asking that a workshop be held to discuss the issue that led to his resignation. The two men had resigned during a dispute over the 104-foot setback along Lake Mary Boulevard and a variance the Board of Adjustment had granted a developer along that property.

The setback was created some time ago to allow for future road widening, aesthetics and safety.

Seminole County recently completed its plans for Lake Mary Boulevard's widening and mapped out land requirements for the project. That paved the way for the setback to be reconsidered.

Based on the county's decision on the widening, Beckham, Hauck and other members of the Board of Adjustment approved a variance along a portion of Lake Mary Boulevard governed by the setback.

Milt Gelfen of Gelfen Construction was granted the variance to build a professional medical office for his two physician clients.

However, at the end of a long commission meeting last week, Commissioner Randy Morris requested an ordinance placing a 180-day moratorium on construction along the corridor.

Morris asked that "no site application be considered and no See RESIGN, page 12A

Spring Hammock purchases nearing goal

By J. Mark Barfield Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Despite a continuing slide on the state priority list for land purchases in Spring Hammock, state and county officials remain dedicated to completing the purchase of more than 1,300 acres for the nature preserve by the end of this year.

The Spring Hammock site, a sensitive wetland area, flanks Soldier's Creek west of Lake Jessup and extends east to County Road 427 General Hutchinson Parkway area.

"We're getting close," said Tony Vanderworp, Seminole County planning director. "It's not looking too bad."

"Around here, we call it a 'black hole' project," says Gerald Ivester, an acquisition agent for the state land acquisition bureau. "It's time to get it out of the hole and get it out of here."

Customarily, Ivester said, only the top 15 projects on the state's Conservation and Recreation Land (CARL) acquisition program are purchased. Spring Hammock has slipped in priority from 15 to 19 but negotiations to purchase the remaining 241 acres are continuing with 20 landowners. The lower ranking is expected to be formalized by the state land acquisition committee June 22.

Ivester said despite the ranking, Spring Hammock purchases are more than 70 percent complete, so department policy dictates that negotiations and purchases should continue. More than 1,000 acres, about 80 percent of the Spring Hammock lands, have been purchased or are under contract for purchase. The lower ranking allows negotiations to begin on other projects, he said.

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Mother arrested after allegedly striking son with metal cookpan

SANFORD — A Sanford woman who allegedly hit her 15-year-old son on the head with a metal pan faces a charge of aggravated child abuse and remains jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sanford police report arresting Ernestine Williams, 39, of 79 Seminole Gardens, when officers arrived to investigate a dispute at about 10:44 p.m. Tuesday.

Williams and her son were outside in front of a neighboring apartment when police arrived and began questioning the boy, whose head was bleeding, according to reports.

Officers said the woman admitted hitting the child with a pot.

The suspect had an additional charge, resisting without violence, added after allegedly swinging at the arresting officers.

Man charged with spouse abuse

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — An Altamonte Springs man has been arrested and charged with spouse abuse/battery after his wife contacted police from a nearby telephone and told officers her husband had beaten her.

Gerald Ramirez Hernandez, 25, of 876-C Orienta Ave., was arrested at his home at 3:10 a.m. Wednesday.

Police said Kathy Hernandez left her home after the alleged attack and called police from a nearby grocery store.

Officers met the woman at the store before going to the residence and taking her husband into custody. The victim told police the man punched her in the face with his fist and cut her lip.

The suspect was released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court on June 8.

Stolen property charges filed

SANFORD — A second man faces charges of dealing in stolen property in connection with the theft and sale of diesel motors and related items.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies report charging Robert Thomas McMullen, 45, of DeLand, in connection with a case involving goods stolen from Coastal Power Products. McMullen was arrested after questioning at the sheriff's department at about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff's investigators reported linking McMullen to the case after his alleged offer to sell stolen items to a Euatist company.

A co-defendant, Mike Richmond, was arrested Monday after allegedly attempting to sell stolen items to an undercover Seminole County sheriff's deputy at the westbound rest area off Interstate 4 near Longwood.

69-year-old woman reports rape

CASSELBERRY — Seminole County sheriff's deputies continue to investigate the alleged rape of a 69-year-old Casselberry woman who said she was attacked by a stranger in her home at about 10:45 p.m. Tuesday.

The woman told police that a man entered her home through a window and waited in a guest room until she went to the bathroom.

The victim alleges the assailant approached her from behind, grabbed her and forced her to the bedroom floor.

The woman said the man told her he had a knife and would kill her.

Sheriff's deputies incorporated the use of a tracking dog at the scene but were unable to trace the suspect, according to reports.

TV, computer reported stolen

SANFORD — The Peoples Work Force, 405 E. Fourth St., was the scene of a theft Wednesday, according to Sanford police.

A television and computer, value unknown, were taken from the business, which was entered by removing an air conditioner from a wall, according to the police report. Police have no suspects and are still investigating.

Principal feels sorry, relieved after arrest of student's mother

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The principal of Longwood Elementary School says he hopes some good will come from the situation of a fifth-grader at his school informing police of her mother's alleged drug possession this week.

"I'm sorry for the little girl that she is going through what she is going through," says Longwood principal David Scott. "But I'm relieved that her life situation has a chance to be straightened out."

Described by a neighbor as "very nice little girl who kept to herself," Scott said the girl's schoolmates are asking her a lot of questions, but haven't taunted her for her actions.

Forecast changed when rain sighted

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

"It only rains when we forecast it," proudly asserted the National Weather Service meteorologist. Then he proceeded to decline to forecast any rain, citing only a 20 percent chance for any precipitation in Seminole County. So, he didn't, but it did. What is the explanation? "Oh, it only rained 20 percent of what could be considered a good rain! Besides, we changed the forecast when it started raining."

yesterday with the same forecast. Temperatures will be in the 80s down to the 60s. Partly cloudy skies and a 20 to 30 percent chance of rain. Tomorrow, the chance of rain goes up to 40 percent. But we'll think about tomorrow tomorrow.

The highest high in the nation Wednesday was at Palm Springs, California with a reading of 112 degrees. Lowest was in the same place as most days—Gunnison, Colorado with 16 degrees.

A heavy downpour turned the Texas Gulf Coast soggy, but rain that dampened the nation's northern Atlantic Coast drifted to sea today and forecasters predicted sunny skies for most of the United States.

Thunderstorms along a stationary front hugging the Gulf Coast brought heavy rain in south Texas Wednesday night and early today, causing urban flooding, the National Weather Service said.

In a six-hour period ending early today, 2 1/4 inches of rain was recorded at coastal Corpus Christi and more than 3 inches fell at nearby Beeville.

Showers along the Atlantic Coast early Wednesday evening moved out to sea by early today. Rain was widespread from eastern New York state through most of New England, and hail and heavy rain pelted parts of Maryland and eastern Pennsylvania Wednesday.

Forecaster Hugh Crowther said showers and thunderstorms would be scattered across the upper and eastern Great Lakes regions as well as the western and central Gulf Coast today.

Scott said the 10-year-old girl told a playmate Monday afternoon her mother may have drugs in the house. The friend told her own mother, who took the two girls to the school about 4:30 p.m. Scott listened to the allegation and although school policy was to keep such charges confidential, he called police.

"I felt this was more than small potatoes," Scott said.

The girl told agents from the City County Investigation Bureau she had seen her mother snort cocaine through a rolled-up dollar bill and told agents in separate collaborating interviews where the cocaine was stored in the house and how it was packaged.

"She wasn't emotional," said Lt. Don Eslinger, CCIB commander. "She was very calm. She told us she didn't want to live like that anymore."

Eslinger said as a result of the school's drug awareness programs, the girl was able to describe her mother's mood swings caused by the drug abuse.

With a warrant, CCIB agents searched the girl's home that evening and arrested the girl's mother, Migdalia Quinones, 29, 321 E. Church Ave., Longwood. They also arrested Quinones' live-in boyfriend, Albert Cortes, 28. They were charged with possession of cocaine and possession of cocaine with the intent to distribute. Bond was set at $2,000 for each of them.

Agents reported finding 24 grams of cocaine, scales and other drug paraphernalia. Eslinger said agents also found business cards with Cortes name, his business listed as "entrepreneur," and his beeper number.

Scott is proud of his school's four-year-old drug awareness program, which possibly led to a 12-year-old former Longwood Elementary student telling police about her mother's drug abuse.

The girl's mother, Kathleen Andriola, 30, of Winter Springs, was sentenced to three years probation and 50 hours of community service last year after the South Seminole Middle School seventh-grader informed police she was concerned about her parents' marijuana use. It was the first reported case in the state of a child informing officers of a parents' drug abuse.

Scott said the school's program for fifth-graders focuses on the effects of drug abuse and the consequences and penalties for drug abusers. He said Andriola was probably first exposed to anti-drug programs in his school and following South Seminole's programs, was led to tell police about her mother's drug abuse.

Quinones' daughter may have been led to tell authorities by the school's Drug Awareness Week, beginning March 7. Fifth-graders are shown samples of drugs, films about the effects and Longwood police tell them about the possible legal penalties of drug abuse. Seniors from Lyman High School visit the students to tell them of the peer pressures involved in refusing drugs.

Although Scott says the program informs children to tell a proper authority — a parent, teacher or guidance counselor — if they see drug use and tells them if the drug use involves a family member, to tell a school guidance counselor, who will keep the matter confidential.

However, Scott says the school's guidance counselor, Jean Lange, had already left for the day Monday afternoon, and after the mother of the girl's friend told him of the circumstances, he decided to call police.

Even after Quinones faces a grand jury investigation, possible trial and possible sentencing in Seminole County, she still faces charges in Hawaii.

Joseph Cardoza, prosecuting attorney for Maui County in Hawaii, said Quinones has been indicted for first degree theft for taking more than $200 from a business, CSI, Inc. between August 1986 and February 1987. Cardoza has notified Florida authorities after they have completed their investigation and any sentencing, he will pursue extradition of her. Bond has been set at $20,000, he said.

Cardoza would not disclose additional details of the Hawaii charges.

Marine slays ex-wife, son

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — A Marine corporal apparently slipped in the back door of a mobile home where his estranged wife and 6-year-old son slept and fatally shot each once in the head before killing himself, authorities said Wednesday.

A co-worker discovered the three bodies Tuesday after Mrs. Young failed to show up for work at a local business.

Elementary dinner theater

Longwood Elementary School students present their patriotic dinner theater production of Give Thanks America. The play takes George Washington on a journey through time and into the future where he sees firsthand that the country became strong and independent. Ticket reservations for Friday evening and Sunday's matinee lasagna dinner and performance can be made through the school by phoning 831-6700. Friday night's dinner begins at 6:30 p.m., with the show scheduled to start at 7:30. Sunday's times are 1 and 2 for the dinner and show, respectively.

Child burned after attempted punishment

TAMPA (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy was in serious but stable condition at Tampa General Hospital Wednesday with burns over 30 percent of his body after being doused with flaming alcohol.

Police said the boy was burned Monday night as his mother sought to punish him for taking money from a piggy bank.

She allegedly ordered the boy to put his hands into a tray of flaming rubbing alcohol but the frightened youth jerked away, fell to his knees begging and tipping the flaming ice tray.

Esther Tujetro, 35, was booked into Hillsborough County jail without bond on a charge of aggravated child abuse.

Congress should fine-tune FAA

There are numerous structural deficiencies in the Federal Aviation Administration that must be corrected if the margin of safety in the nation's air-transportation system is to be increased. Nevertheless, it would be foolhardy to make the FAA an independent agency, removing it from the Department of Transportation (DOT), where it belongs.

That misguided recommendation was made in mid-April by a presidential commission, which has spent the last 10 months considering ways to make the FAA more accountable. Transportation Secretary James Burnley correctly warns that air-safety regulation and enforcement "must remain subject to strict federal control and oversight by the federal government." Transferring the FAA's regulatory responsibility away from cabinet-level control could further erode the safety system instead of strengthening it.

Otherwise, we believe the commission is correct with most of its recommendations.

For example, the cumbersome procurement process must be streamlined because it has prevented the FAA from modernizing the air-traffic control system. It is outrageous that the agency must obtain 163 approvals from the DOT and then wait as long as 95 weeks before it can make a major purchase to upgrade antiquated equipment.

There should be a change in federal personnel policies that prohibit the FAA from recruiting and training top-flight people and placing them where they are most needed. A case in point is the agency's inability to offer financial incentives to experienced controllers who are needed in large cities with congested airports.

Nor is there any excuse for the FAA's underfunded safety-inspection program. Last year, the FAA had about 2,000 inspectors, an increase of some 500 during the last five years. Many more inspectors are required to keep pace with the dramatic increase in commercial flights promoted by deregulation.

Air safety could also be enhanced if the FAA were more aggressive. Instead of assigning inspectors to specific airlines, the agency should rotate them to discourage their becoming too friendly with the carriers.

There should also be more surprise inspections. Incredibly, most of the airlines are now notified well in advance of safety checks and are thus able to prepare for them. There should be priority inspections of carriers undergoing major changes. Tighter safety rules should be imposed on commuter airlines and small planes that operate near the busiest airport should be equipped with transponders that enable air controllers to monitor their altitudes.

Finally, the commission urges the appointment of a safety czar to implement its reforms. We have no quarrel with that, even though many improvements could be initiated by the FAA chief. Indeed, practically all of the changes could be accomplished soon by the FAA, provided the DOT revises some of its hidebound rules and procedures.

Such fine-tuning makes infinitely more sense than charging user fees to finance the creation of a safety czar and an independent FAA, which is to say one more bureaucratic fiefdom. The Reagan administration believes that aviation safety should remain a cabinet-level responsibility. Congress should conclude as much when it considers the commission's recommendations.

Potential for greatness faces next president

Political observers have said that 1988 is a year when Democrats should want to lose the presidential election.

The reason cited for this unusual diagnosis is that the huge federal deficits of the Reagan years have placed the next president in an impossible political dilemma: If he tries to reduce the annual deficit and the national debt by raising taxes and cutting government expenditures, he may arouse the ire of the taxpayers and those hurt by spending cutbacks. Such a course might also bring on a recession, which in turn could add to the deficit rather than reduce it.

On the other hand, if the next president ignores the problem and refuses either a tax increase or a spending cut, the deficit and the cumulative national debt will continue to soar. Faced with such uncomfortable choices, say Democratic pessimists, why not let the Republicans inherit the Reagan White House and take the political flack involved in paying the piper for the Reagan deficit orgy?

There is a certain smug appeal to this line of political reasoning — but, fortunately, it has not been adopted by most Democrats. Nor is it a responsible position for a major party to assume.

The next president does face enormous problems because of the wastefulness of the Reagan years. It is a lot more fun to write $200 billion dollars in hot checks every year, as Reagan has done, than it is to raise the money to cover the overdrawn account.

But a responsible political party does not run away from a tough challenge of this kind. Abraham Lincoln saw his administration beset by a terrible Civil War, but he stands today in the minds of many Americans as our greatest president. Franklin Roosevelt presided over the Great Depression and the carnage of World War II. But he was probably the most important and influential president of this century.

I believe that the next president has a similar opportunity for greatness. He will come to power at a time when the Cold War is passing from the scene after dominating American foreign policy for four decades.

The Soviet Union for the first time is led by a hard-headed realist who is calling for an end to war games and the bankrupting arms race so that his country can turn its attention to its economy. To accomplish the objective, Mikhail Gorbachev needs a series of mutual, verifiable arms reduction deals with the United States. This presents the next American president with the best opportunity we have had in 40 years to end the arms race and reduce military spending by a substantial amount, freeing up resources for rebuilding the nation's deteriorating infrastructure.

Beyond that, the next president will come to office with other hopeful possibilities: The Soviets are now moving out of Afghanistan instead of moving in, the Contras and the Sandinistas of Nicaragua are now talking to each other instead of killing each other, and the time is ripe for new initiatives to restore relations with Cuba, Angola and Vietnam.

Despite great challenges, the coming four years could be a very rewarding time for the next president.

Campus thought control

WASHINGTON — Some of the famous names in American higher education have become infamous for their lack of fairness and balance.

One is reminded of this in reading of the continuing efforts by Dartmouth College authorities to silence conservative students who object to the value-free type of education in vogue at the college these days.

The Wall Street Journal recently reported on the suspension of four Dartmouth students who criticized a liberal professor. They were accused of a "vexatious oral exchange." The Journal judged that "a pretext has been found here to rid the school of some conservatives whose opinions are indeed vexatious—nagging, annoying, disturbing and often irritating."

This isn't the first time Dartmouth authorities have endeavored to apply sanctions against students who decline to accept liberal-left orthodoxy. For several years, Dartmouth authorities have fumed at The Dartmouth Review, a sharply edited campus conservative newspaper that has punctured the liberal myths fed to Dartmouth students. The college's attempts to silence conservative students haven't worked, however. Many alumni support the students. And conservatives continue to manage to enroll at Dartmouth despite what must be tough screening procedures.

The Wall Street Journal also reported that The Yale Law Journal "canceled the results of a secret staff vote that nominated first Richard Nixon, then Robert Bork as their annual banquet speaker." This action would be understandable if Yale openly admitted that it wanted only one view to be presented—the liberal-left view; but the university pretends to be fair.

The situation at Dartmouth and Yale should not be viewed as a phenomenon limited to Ivy League schools in the Northeast. Radical views are pushed on campuses across the country. This winter, for instance, Carleton College in Minnesota invited Angela Davis to be featured speaker for Black History Week. The Minneapolis Star Tribune pointed out that in 1970 Angela Davis was "on the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List" and "she's still a communist."

JACK ANDERSON

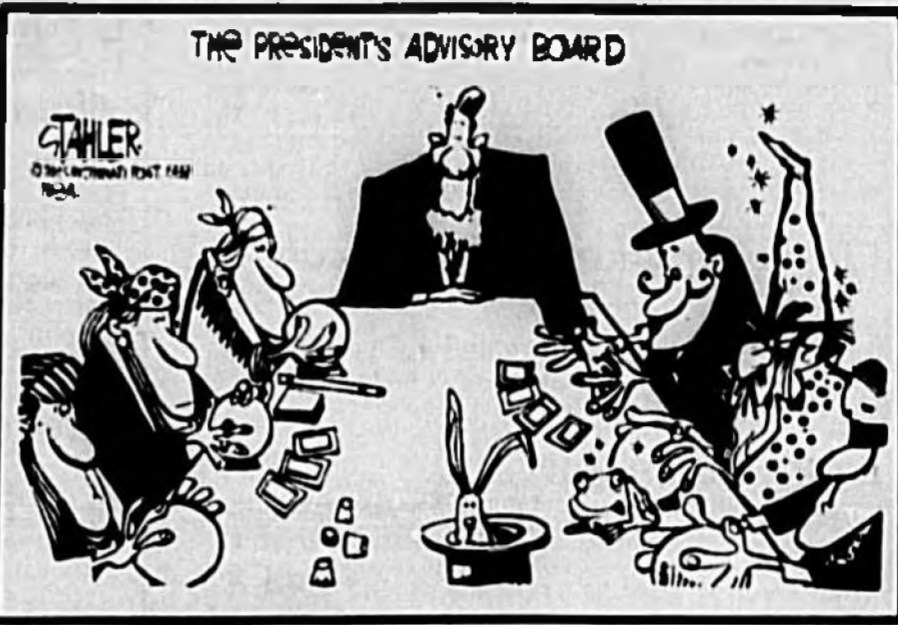

Probe finds security problems at VA

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The whistleblower who was fired after telling graphic tales of brutality at a Veterans Administration hospital won't get his job back. But a federal investigation into the case shows that there is plenty of room for reform in the VA.

Among the revelations in the investigators' report is this story from an emergency room technician at the Cincinnati Veterans Hospital: The technician saw the hospital's police chief take a former patient into a guard office. The patient had been discharged, but returned to the hospital and refused to leave. As the technician turned away, he heard "a loud crack" and looked back to see blood on the office door. Then he heard the former patient tell the chief, "Ow! You didn't have to bang my head against the door."

The police chief was Daniel Wilson, who was transferred to a VA hospital in Chicago last year as the investigation was winding down. The story told by the emergency room technician was just one of many revealed in a federal in-

BEN WATTENBERG

Exact predictions

Pollsters ask respondents: Who would you vote for president if the election were held today? But the results are meaningless. Why? Because the election is not being held today. The trick is to figure out what is likely to happen between now and Election Day, and THEN make a prediction.

My thought about the political future: The key to the Bush-Dukakis race will be the issues of "Jackson" vs. "Sleaze," with the Jackson issue more potent.

Jesse Jackson has been the most publicized candidate. He has presented the most vigorous views. He is powerful enough to serve as a Republican theme. He is, in fact, a walking Republican commercial.

After all, the Republicans have been trying to convince Americans that the national Democratic Party has been taken over by very-liberals, hyper-liberals and/or radicals. Jackson, as has been endlessly explored in this space, qualifies as one of the above.

Moreover, Jackson's policies weren't challenged by his Democratic opponents, including Gov. Michael Dukakis who has said publicly that he sees no basic distinction between his message about the country's future and that offered by Mr. Jackson. It will take Dukakis a while to shed that statement.

I doubt Dukakis will pick Jackson for vice president or offer him a big job before the election. But Jackson will have an army of delegates at the Atlanta convention. They will express their typically at-least-very-liberal views to all the television cameras present. Jackson will be treated royally, cloaked in political ermine, in order to keep him and his faithful working hard for the ticket. (Remember: In the rather recent past, Jackson threatened to start a third party.) Many Democrats will say — as they've already said — "Jackson is the conscience of the party." Jackson will give a spellbinding prime-time oration. As Robert Strauss recently said, Jackson will leave Atlanta and become "one of the great political leaders for the next 20 years."

What the Republicans will try to do is take this image and wrap it around Dukakis — dealing only with Jackson's views, staying far away from any question of race. They will say to the public that if Jesse Jackson is your conscience, vote Democratic. If not, vote for George Bush. Jackson tends to prove the exaggerated Republican case of Democratic hyper-liberalism. He is the walking metaphor. Every time a Democrat publicly says Jackson is "the conscience of the party," ring up more votes for Bush.

However, the Democrats also have a walking metaphor: Attorney General Ed Meese. The issue, alas for Meese, is no longer innocence or guilt. He has come to symbolize 7½ years of Reaganaut sleaze, recalling a Washington axiom: Democrats get in trouble about women, Republicans get in trouble about money.

So then: which is a more powerful theme: Jacksonism or Meeseleaze?

Take your choice. I think Jacksonism is harder to rebut. Because only idiots make fuzzy predictions about the political future, I offer a precise one. As it stands now, Bush will win by 52.4 to 47.6, which is close enough to be wrong.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Who caused deficit?

The embittered Don Regan now tells us that poor Nancy Reagan, frightened almost out of her wits by the March 1981 assassination attempt on her husband, took to consulting a San Francisco astrologer as to the dates on which it would be safest — for him to travel. And it appears that, where possible, her husband good naturedly indulged her wishes in such matters.

Just as these revelations were enlightening Washington's spring Silly Season, the Labor Department reported that the nation's civilian unemployment rate fell in April to 5.4 percent — the lowest level in 14 years.

Question for thoughtful readers: Which of these stories do you think is likely to have the bigger impact on George Bush's election prospects in November?

The plight of the Democrats would be comical if it weren't so desperate. Their whole act consists of portraying America as in economic ruins, from which it can be rescued only by their patented combination of cheap money, punitive taxes and government checks-for-all.

Yet here is this wretch Reagan, who actually dared to cut everybody's taxes, presiding over the 65th month of the longest economic boom in postwar history, with inflation well under control and unemployment still falling month by month! As Hugh Johnson used to say, it's enough to bring tears to the eyes of a brass Buddha.

You know just how bad things must be for the Democrats when they start complaining about the size of the federal deficit. That's like W.C. Fields leading a temperance parade. Theirs after all is the party that invented deficit spending.

Nevertheless, one makes do with what is available; so nowadays people who never used to show the slightest interest in such statistics are bewailing the vast deficit that "Reagan has run up."

Federal deficits are the result of an imbalance between revenues and expenditures. As to revenues, not only must Congress approve all revenue-raising measures, but under the Constitution these must all originate in the House of Representatives — which has been under Democratic control from Day 1 of the "Reagan revolution."

vestigation into allegation made by the whistleblower, John Berter. The probe began in 1986 when Berter, a VA security officer, and other VA security officers told the FBI stories of Wilson gouging a disabled vet in the eyes over a parking violation, choking a patient who was in restraints, and kicking a panhandler in the groin, according to the report and repeated testimony before Congress.

Berter was fired after blowing the whistle. He appealed the dismissal to a federal personnel board, calling it retaliation for his candor. A scrappy group of whistleblower advocates known as the Government Accountability Project investigated and made Berter's case a national issue. Details of the report and other problems with the VA security service will be reviewed May 19 at a hearing before the Veterans Affairs Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations.

Last year we reported on Berter's claims. Now our associate Stewart Harris has obtained the report of the Office of Special Counsel's investigation of Berter's charges. The OSC has the job of investigating reprisals against government whistleblowers. The report zeroes in on discrepancies in various accounts of alleged brutality. Even if the investigation had confirmed the allegations, a legal analysis prepared by the OSC said the firing was still legitimate because Berter had been AWOL from work.

But the report also gives disturbing details about Wilson's background, including evidence that he had a history of making violent arrests and lied about his professional background. Wilson quit the VA after his transfer to Chicago.

In sworn testimony, Wilson said he had worked for two and a half years in the Chicago Police Department. Under questioning by OSC investigators, Wilson admitted he never worked for Chicago P.D.

A training officer at another police department told the OSC that Wilson overreacted and was a hot-head. The mayor of a town where Wilson worked said he could not make an arrest without aggravating someone and that Wilson blamed others for his troubles. A police chief who once commanded Wilson said "Wilson's badge may have gone to his head."

On the other hand, officials at the VA hospital where Wilson worked before going to Cincinnati gave the OSC no complaints about his work.

Wilson himself admitted to the OSC that he has been involved in bar fights. "I'm an Irishman. I get upset," he said. "I get vocal. I get loud."

Wilson denied the allegation of brutality when he talked to investigators. We could not reach Wilson for comment on the report. In the past he has declined to talk about the specifics of his case.

Based on its investigation, the OSC also made recommendations on how the VA security service could be improved.

Among other things, the OSC suggested that the members of the security service get better training if the VA is going to continue using them as a police force. Police also should not be used to subdue patients, a job that rightfully belongs to medical staff. If VA police are used to quiet patients, the OSC recommended that a report should be made of each incident.

Carson ends holdout, will write own material

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — After 10 weeks of self-imposed exile in sympathy with striking writers, late night TV king Johnny Carson returned to the air with a self-written monologue that sounded remarkably like those cranked out by his highly paid jokesters.

When "The Tonight Show" returned Wednesday night after more than two months of reruns, and the studio audience gave Carson a standing ovation.

Carson, one of the highest paid TV stars in the world, made a few jokes about the writers' strike, quipping that their picket signs had nothing written on them.

His decision to return and to write his own material was greeted amicably by the Writers Guild of America because he is not a member, a guild spokeswoman said.

"(Carson) asked us for a waiver (to allow his writers to work) when the strike began," said Cheryl Rhoden of the WGA. "We were negotiating an independent contract with Carson and 'Tonight,' but technically he never needed to leave the air if he didn't want to."

"He made a decision of conscience to stay out. Now he has made an economic decision that his company cannot afford to stay off the air," Rhoden said.

Fred De Cordova, executive producer of "The Tonight Show," was not immediately available for comment, but an executive at Carson Productions said Carson decided to come back only after concluding that lengthy strike had reached a stalemate.

"He called all of his writers to see how they felt, and they were all on his side," said David

Tebet, executive vice president of Carson Productions. "He waited long enough that he would just go crazy if he didn't go back to work."

No similar plans were announced for David Letterman, whose "Late Night with David Letterman" is in reruns on NBC and is produced by Carson Productions.

But Letterman, "is also chafing at the bit," Tebet said. Carson said when he announced he was coming back on the air that he would write his own material.

Of his lengthy absence from the late night airwaves, Carson joked that "things were getting a little teaty" at home during the hiatus.

"I mean after nine weeks at home, when the day starts with your wife saying, 'Honey, where do you want your coffee?' and your response is, 'Stick it up your nose.' It's time to get back to work."

The monologue, which is always based on current events, also went after the uproar over revelations that Nancy Reagan consulted an astrologer whose advice was used to plan the president's schedule.

"I am not an expert in astrology, I know a little bit about it, but I understand the horoscope with the chart, as they call it, is divided into the so called 12 houses and I just didn't know the White House was one of them," Carson quipped.

"Apparently, the astrologers say that Reagan's sign is the rising house of Aquarius. Nancy's house is, I think, in the house of Adolfo," referring to the first lady's dress designer.

Tebet said Carson's return raises the possibility other independent producers may sign their own agreements with the 9,600-member Writers Guild, which has been on strike since March 7 against the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers.

'Super spy' dies in Moscow at age 76

LONDON (UPI) — Kim Philby, who died in Moscow at the age of 76, was called the spy of the century because the charming double agent nearly became head of British intelligence while serving his true master — the Soviet KGB.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Wednesday night that the Soviet Embassy in London had informed the British government that Philby had died in Moscow earlier in the day.

But the details of his death initially were as shadowy as his life.

"We were told by the Soviet Embassy that he died today," the spokesman said. "We don't know what of, or how, or the circumstances, just that he died."

Philby defected to the Soviet Union in 1951 when he was about to be unmasked as possibly the most important agent ever to serve Moscow from inside the Western intelligence apparatus.

A "mole" who gained official access to the most sensitive secrets of Britain and the United States at the height of the Cold War, Philby was called the spy of the century.

Philip Knightley, who interviewed Philby extensively for a revealing article that appeared in March in The Sunday Times of London, said Philby was "the last of Stalin's Englishmen" and Britain's biggest spy.

"He must go down in history as the most remarkable penetration agent in the whole history of espionage," Knightley said. "He was well on his way to becoming head of British intelligence that the head of British intelligence could have been a serving KGB officer just boggles the mind."

Born on New Year's Day 1912, Philby attended Cambridge and, after working as a journalist, joined the British Secret Intelligence Service, also known as MI6, in 1940. He revealed later that he started working for the KGB right out of college, 1933.

Philby impressed his British superiors and in 1944 was named head of a new section charged with countering Soviet intelligence, a post that doubtless delighted his Soviet masters.

The Soviet investment in Philby began to pay off on a grand scale in 1949 when he was transferred to Washington as liaison between the British SIS and the newly formed CIA, giving Philby incomparable access to state secrets on both sides of the Atlantic.

The posting also was widely seen as a stepping stone for him to become head of British intelligence. He was mentioned as a candidate for the top job until suspicion began to fall on him in the United States.

Philby did not work alone. At Cambridge he met Anthony Blunt, revealed in 1979 as the so-called "fourth man" in the spy affair that also included Philby, Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Panama media reports Reagan, Gen. Noriega in direct contact

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — Panama's state-run media said President Reagan made "direct contact" with Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega this week, but denied a deal had been struck to drop U.S. drug indictments against the strongman in exchange for his resignation and departure.

The U.S. Embassy also denied Wednesday that an agreement had been reached to end Panama's 4-month-old political and economic crisis sparked by the drug indictments against Noriega. But an embassy statement said discussions have been held between Noriega and his representatives and the United States.

"Many subjects have been discussed but this is not just a matter of one man," said the embassy statement. "The situation in Panama has many aspects and there has been no agreement at this time."

U.S. network news reports said the Reagan administration had agreed to drop the federal drug indictments filed against Noriega last February in return for the armed forces chief stepping down.

Panamanian state-run television, quoting "reliable sources," said Reagan and Noriega established contact after secret talks in Panama this week involving Michael Kovak, a State Department official assigned to negotiate with Noriega.

Robber wielding BB gun shot, killed by elderly store owner

JACKSONVILLE, (UPI) — A man wielding a BB gun was killed by an elderly merchant, who had been robbed six days earlier, in the third fatal shooting of a suspect by a shop owner since March, police said Wednesday.

None of the businessmen have been charged and it is unlikely Lindsey Calhoun, 72, will be arrested in Tuesday's incident, said chief assistant state attorney John Delaney. He said merchants generally are not charged in cases where their lives are in danger.

"If you walk in with a gun to a merchant's place of business, you assume the risk," he said.

Anthony Brown, 30, was shot in the chest at Calhoun's Sweet Shop about 7:35 a.m. He died later at University Hospital.

He was the third person to be killed by a shop owner in the last six weeks. Another suspected robber was wounded.

U.S. Customs seizes jet, boat

MIAMI (UPI) — The U.S. Customs Service seized a Colombian jet Wednesday and detained an expensive boat under the tough new anti-drug policy that calls for seizure of vehicles if even small amounts of illegal drugs are found on board.

Customs officials said the Avianca Airlines 727 airliner arrived in Miami March 27 as a passenger flight that originated from Pereira, Colombia.

Agents found an unmanifested wooden box on board marked as holding phonographic needles. It actually contained 35.8 pounds of cocaine, customs officials said.

Customs officials Monday detained a $500,000, 52-foot Hatteras sport fishing boat, Sheehan said. The boat, the "Miss Mindy," was detained as it returned from a two-month stay at Walker's Cay in the Bahamas.

William Silverman, a spokesman for the boat's owner, Cigarette Racing Team, said Wednesday the company had not been officially notified of why the vessel was detained.

Closing arguments heard in Lehder case

JACKSONVILLE, (UPI) — The case against reputed Colombian cocaine baron Carlos Lehder is based on the government's passion to win the drug war instead of focusing on the charges, a defense lawyer said Wednesday in his closing arguments.

Miami lawyer Edward Shohat told jurors U.S. Attorney Robert Merkle "glossed over" facts in Lehder's 11-count indictment to paint a broader picture of a massive cocaine operation responsible for 80 percent of the U.S. drug supply.

"Put simply, the way this case has been tried amounts to an assault in every way on your duty to try this case with an open mind," Shohat said.

Shohat said Merkle's action in moving a table with 128 kilograms of cocaine in front of the jury Tuesday during his closing statements was an attempt to get the jury to bring a verdict out of hatred for America's drug problem.

"I suggest that when he tells you not to do that, he speaks with a forked tongue," he said.

Before Shohat began, Merkle concluded his eight hours of closing arguments in the seven-month trial by saying common sense and statements made by Lehder during interviews show he is guilty of operating a cocaine trafficking empire.

He said Lehder, during interviews at his Colombian jungle hideout five years ago, called drug smuggling "a badge of honor."

"He says he grew up around drugs. How can anyone criticize anyone for doing what he knows?" Merkle asked. "That's an admission."

Merkle said Lehder had been running a race with the Drug Enforcement Administration and finally got caught.

"He has reached a point in his life that he has had coming for a long time," Merkle said. "He cannot buy, he cannot charm, or he cannot force his way out of a just verdict in this case."

The jury was expected to get the case late Thursday or early Friday.

In his statement, Shohat said the government was working on a cause. Lehder's trial is said to be the most important drug case in history and the government wanted to get Lehder at any cost.

"You are not here to strike a blow against drugs," he told the panel. "You are not here to strike a blow against Colombians. That is not what this trial is about."

"This trial is about one thing and one thing only: To determine whether Lehder is guilty of the charges in his indictment."

Shohat again described government witness Ed Ward, who said he ran a marijuana business on Norman's Cay in the Bahamas, as leader of the smuggling operation. Ward was forced to switch to cocaine traffic when Lehder moved to the island.

Lehder planned to develop the island into a resort, Shohat said, but his plans were stymied when U.S. drug agents began investigating Ward's activities.

"That investigation brought the DEA to the island," he said. "There were DEA agents crawling all over the island."

Shohat said one witness admitted that an inmate thinks only of ways to get out of jail. "Tell the people it was Colombia!" he shouted while pointing to his client.

Merkle has tried to show Lehder's Bahamian drug smuggling operation formed the basis for a violent and powerful cartel in Medellin, Colombia.

He said Lehder, whose extradition from Colombia was hailed as a victory in the fight against drug smuggling, tried to use cocaine "as a means of sapping the strength of the United States."

He rejected claims by Shohat that Ward led the vast cocaine smuggling network stretching from Medellin through the Bahamas into the United States.

Merkle described Ward and his marijuana smugglers on Norman's Cay as a "rag tag bunch of Americans."

Reagan to 'campaign as hard as I can' for George Bush

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Celebrating a primary campaign that had a worrisome start in Iowa, George Bush today at last could lay full claim to his party's White House nomination with the backing of his boss, President Reagan.

Now the hard part begins. Even as Republicans were toasting their recent past under Reagan and their hopes for future under Bush, Democrats Michael Dukakis and Jesse Jackson kept campaigning Wednesday for the right to oppose the vice president in November.

Today Dukakis, who expects to win his party's nomination, was in Washington for a political pilgrimage to Capitol Hill. Jackson was on the West Coast and Bush, upbeat from the outpouring of partisan support at a fund-raising dinner Wednesday night, was headed back to California to rejoin the campaign.

It was a well-orchestrated chain of events Wednesday that saw Bush become the lone survivor of the battle for the GOP nomination and pick up the formal, if tepid, endorsement of the most popular president in years. At a mid-morning White House meeting, ex-television evangelist Pat Robertson announced he no longer would be the last major Republican competing with Bush and was "wholeheartedly endorsing" the vice president.

"We're going to work harmoniously and in unity together," said Robertson, who stunned Bush just three months ago by finishing second to Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas in the Iowa presidential caucuses.

Bush, of course, fought back from that defeat — and Wednesday night, as almost 4,000 well-connected Republicans dined on roast filet of beef at a fund-raiser that garnered more than $5 million for congressional campaign coffers, he received what a campaign aide called "the jewel in the crown."

Reagan mentioned Bush only three times in the course of an endorsement speech that exceeded 20 minutes and even mispronounced his name at the end. But the event — hardly a surprise — was exploited for maximum media exposure.

"I intend to campaign as hard as I can," Reagan declared in breaking a self-imposed silence on the campaign. "My candidate is a former member of Congress, ambassador to China, director of the CIA and national chairman of the Republican Party. I'm going to work as hard as I can to make George Bush the next president of the United States."

On cue, the crowd roared, balloons dropped from the rafters and the Bushes joined the Reagans on stage, their hands clasped and arms raised in a scene that could preface August's Republican National Convention in New Orleans. The president then stepped back to the microphone and crowed, "Now it's on to New Orleans and on to the White House!"

Despite the grand finale, a frequently restrained atmosphere Wednesday night signaled possible problems ahead for Bush.

Reagan's endorsement was not surprising, Dukakis spokesman Steve Akey said tartly, "because Aquariuses get along better with Gemini than Scorpios."

Shultz, Soviets appear near INF agreement

GENEVA (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze appeared today to be nearing agreement on one of the conflicting points delaying Senate ratification of the INF missile treaty.

American aides offered qualified but generally hopeful comments that the important fine-print disputes were nearing resolution in the second of two days of talks between the ministers and their top arms control advisers.

"There have been some tentative solutions," a senior American aide who is closely involved in the talks told reporters Wednesday night.

The two officials largely focused on the heart of the treaty — its provision that American and Soviet inspectors will be at production plants and missile sites in the other superpowers' country to guard against cheating.

The details of how this unprecedented and complex procedure should work were included on a list of nine points of discussion that the Americans brought to Geneva.

"We are working through the list," the official said, cautiously avoiding saying that any are solved until Shultz and Shevardnadze "give their final blessings. Some are in relatively better shape than others."

President Reagan and the Senate want these points settled before the Senate begins debate on the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces treaty. Despite the conflicts, the treaty is expected to win a wide vote of ratification, although probably no final action will occur before Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev meet at the Moscow summit beginning May 29.

The American official said there has been progress on counting warheads on submarine low-flying cruise missiles fired from airplanes, as well as how to verify the numbers of mobile, intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Other issues involve the right of on-site inspectors to photograph what they see and to examine the smallest container that could possibly hold the stage of one of the banned missiles with ranges of 300 to 4,400 miles.

"It is our expectation we will get this resolved this visit," the American official said.

A Soviet official told reporters that the talks are progressing and are satisfactory.

Shultz appeared confident Wednesday that the last-minute differences could be resolved.

"He (Shevardnadze) wants to see the INF completed and into operation as much as I do and we all do," Shultz told reporters. "I think it would be good to have ratification before the summit meeting."

Both major powers clearly gave up any remaining hopes for completion before the summit of a far more ambitious treaty on 30 to 50 percent cuts in long-range strategic nuclear arms.

Hospital-Moblite Ho, Connection triumphs

SANFORD — Central Florida Regional Hospital and Moblite hooked up in a 9-9 battle with the Tim Raines Connection pulling out a 10-8 victory over Stromberg Carlson in Sanford Recreational men's softball action.

In the first game Gary Snell led the offense with three singles, a run batted in and two runs scored. Steve Letchworth added two singles with two runs as Ray Wilburn stroked a single and a double with a run batted in and a run scored. Jim Hephill added a single with two RBI's. Mark Snell contributed a run scoring single with Don Causeaux adding a double and a single with one run scored.

Bill Nunes led Moblite with a triple, a double and a single with two RBI's and a run scored. Kewick Lashley added a pair of singles with one run batted in and one run scored. Darrell Lowery added a double with one run batted in and two scored. Angel Ficarora added two singles with a RBI. Chris Brooks also hit a run scoring single with Jim Hopper adding two singles. Alonzo Hind added a triple with a run scored as John Conn and Jack Lataford each singled and scored with Gene Baker adding a double and a single with a run batted in and two runs scored.

In the second game Ernest Shuler came up with the big hits to keep TRC rolling. Shuler finished with a home run and a single with three runs batted in and two scored. Billy Griffith added a pair of doubles with one RBI and two runs. Terrell Ervin added two singles and two runs. Burnett Washington stroked a pair of singles for two RBI's with Joe Ervin and Ned Raines each adding a single with Raines also scoring a run. Fred Washington came up with two singles and a run batted in with Eddie Jackson ripping a double and a single to round out the hitting.

Junior: Ball Motor, Knights victorious

SANFORD — Ball Motor Line edged out Woodman, 8-6, and the Knights of Columbus ripped Rotary, 10-0, in Sanford Junior League baseball action last week.

Tony Holly had two doubles for Ball Motor Line along with three runs batted in and one scored. Leon Bradley added two singles with three RBIs. Mike Dillon added a run scoring double and added a run scored as Clarence Ferrell rounded out the attack with a double and a single and two runs batted in. Tim Gilchrist led the Woodman with three runs as they were held hitless but used the aid of 11 walks and three errors.

Corey Williams led the Knights with a triple and a double good for five RBI's while scoring three other runs. Anthony Roberts added a single with one run batted in and one scored. Mac Wilk added a triple and a double with two RBI's and two runs.

King tosses no-hitter for Cardinal Industries

SANFORD — In Little American League action Wednesday night Seminole Ford edged First Union, 10-9, with Cardinal blanking Carriage Cove, 10-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Jamie King.

Seminole Ford did not come up with a hit but used 13 walks along with some wild pitches and passed balls to score its 10 runs. Ricky Justis and Scott Hanson each scored three runs to lead the Seminole attack. Matthew Harris stroked a triple and two doubles to lead First Union with Harry Flowers and Chris Wright each adding a single.

King came up with a brilliant pitching performance and helped himself at the plate as he ripped a solo home run to finish with one RBI and two runs scored. Quentin Hunt added two singles and a double with two runs scored and two RBI's with Lloyd Dixon adding two singles and a run.

Untouchable?

SHS mile relay goes after state record

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Editor
SANFORD — Emory Blake may not go as far as to say his mile relay team is untouchable, but he's confident that if a state title is on the line, the fantastic foursome can come through.

The Seminole High mile relay team of sophomore Yolanda Baker, senior Dorchelle Webster, Junior Adrian Hillman and senior Shownda Martin has been together for two years and no team in the state has been able to beat them in that time.

A year ago, the mile relay team turned in the best time in the nation in the event. Currently, they are ranked second in the nation with a time of 3:51.3. A squad from New York has run a 3:48.

Seminole's mile relay team will look to keep its unbeaten streak going Friday night at the Class 3A State Championships at Winter Park's Showalter Field.

"We did that (3:51.3) without anyone pushing us," Blake said. "I hope there is someone who will push us at state. If the girls get someone to push them, they will hit their peak."

Seminole has been a force in the mile relay for the past four years. The Lady 'Noles hold the Class 4A state record of 3:48.2

which was run in 1985. Martin and Webster, then freshmen, ran on that team along with Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass.

The following year, Seminole finished second in the mile relay but it was good enough to clinch the 4A team championship. In 1987, the current Seminole foursome ran away with first place to sew up a second consecutive team title.

So far in 1988, the SHS team has yet to be challenged and that could be the only thing that has kept the Lady 'Noles from breaking 3:50.

"If you watch a girl after she has run a quarter, she is usually exhausted," Blake said. "When our girls finish after running their leg on the mile relay, they are hardly even tired."

Blake says there are some teams in the state capable of pushing the Lady 'Noles.

"We haven't seen it yet, but I know there are some teams out there who are close to us," Blake said. "We are capable of running a 3:45 with no problem and if someone is close to us and we go all out, we could go as low as 3:40."

Even if it isn't pushed, Seminole should break the Class

3A record in the mile relay. That record is a 3:54.2 set in 1984 by South Plantation.

DON'T FORGET 440

While the SHS mile relay will go after another record, the Seminole 440 relay team is seeking a third consecutive state title. It was the 440 relay team that gave Seminole a big boost in both of its state team titles.

Two runners return from the 440 foursome that won last year's state crown including senior LaShon Cash and Junior Adrian Hillman. Baker, a sophomore, and Nadrian McGill, a sophomore, complete the team.

Seminole's best time in the 440 relay team this year is a 48.3. The 3A state record is 47.0 by Pensacola Washington in 1983.

Going into this year's state meet, though, Seminole is not the favorite in the 440 relay. Orlando Jones is seen as the team to beat as it has outtraced Seminole in the last two meets. Glades Central usually puts together a good team as well so Seminole will have plenty of competition.

But the 440 relay team has the experience of going against tough competition. Last year, they defeated the Orlando Oak Ridge team that was said to be unbeatable with Jovenie McDuffie on the anchor.

Herald Photo by Tommy Vincent

Shownda Martin and the Seminole High mile relay team will go after a Class 3A state record Friday night at Showalter Field in Winter Park. The Lady 'Noles have already run a 3:51.3 this season which is three seconds better than the current state mark held by South Plantation.

Seward hopes to hurdle way to title

By Mark Mythe
Herald Sports Writer
SANFORD — Seminole High School senior Alan Seward will look to put his best foot forward as he enters the class 3A state meet in both the 120 high and 330 intermediate hurdles.

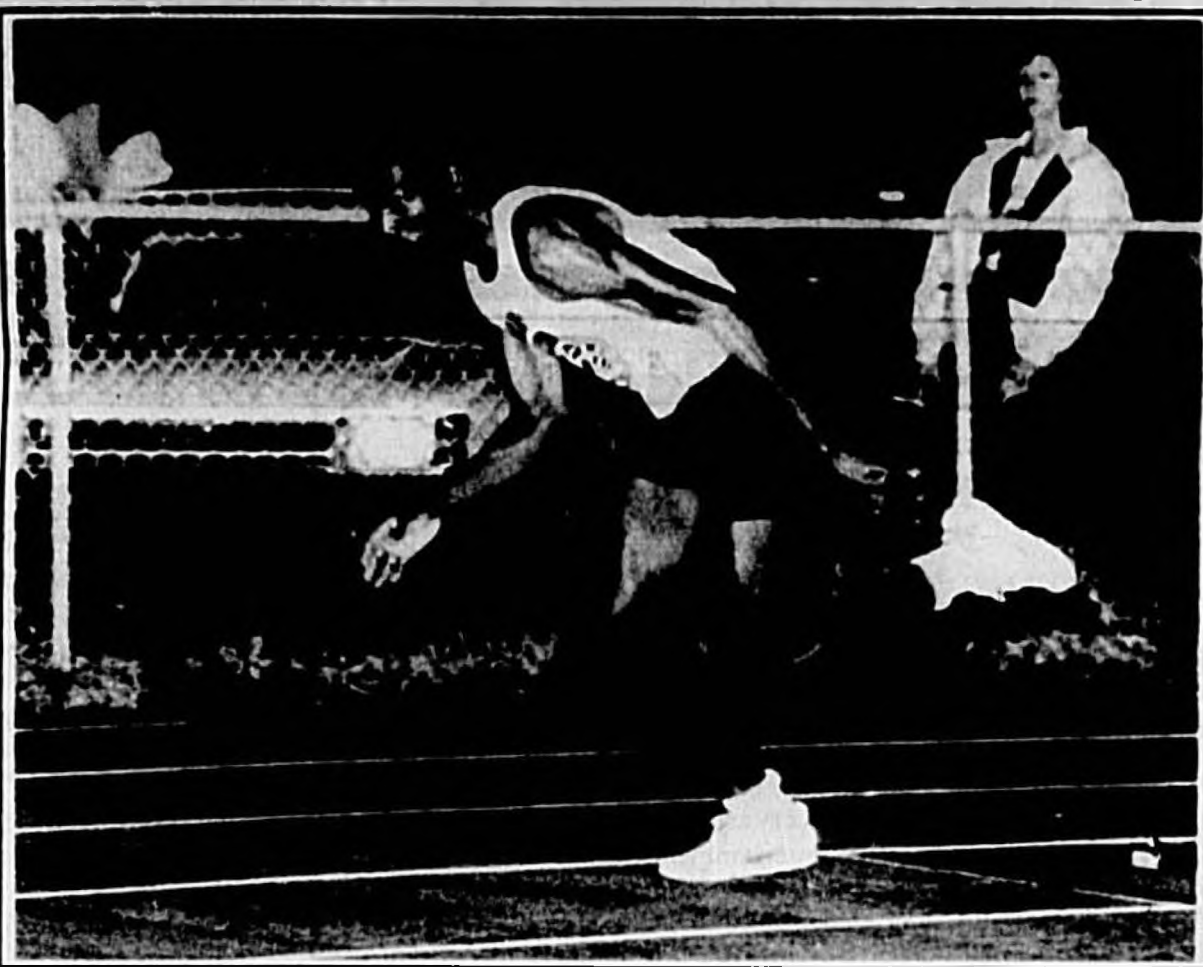

Seward won the 120s in the regional meet while finishing fourth in the 330s last week in Gainesville. This week Seward will return to Showalter Field in Winter Park, a site where he won both events two weeks ago in the district meet.

"The 120s should be a very tight race, there is a real tough field with a lot of quality times," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "Craig Johnson of Quincy Shanks has the fastest time coming in with a 13.7 with Jamie Morris of Deerfield Beach at 13.8."

There are two other hurdlers at 14.0 with another at 14.1 so Seward will need to get out early in the prelims and come up with a good clocking to reach the finals.

Seward has been consistently around 14.3 all season and has run against many tough competitors including Oviedo's Karl Wright. Seward has run against Wright all season and knows the caliber of his opponents as Wright was one of the state leaders in the event until he went down in the district meet.

"He knows he'll have to run a good race if he wants to place," Brauman said. "He's state exper-rienced and knows exactly what it takes, he knows it will be tough and he'll have to run his best to finish in the top six."

Seward is ranked fourth in the 330s going into the state meet with all of the leaders beating him in the regional meet. Seward has an edge by having seen the leaders already this season and knows what he must do Friday.

"Allen will have to run very hard to place in either event," Brauman said. "He is very capable of placing in either and both if he's on a good night."

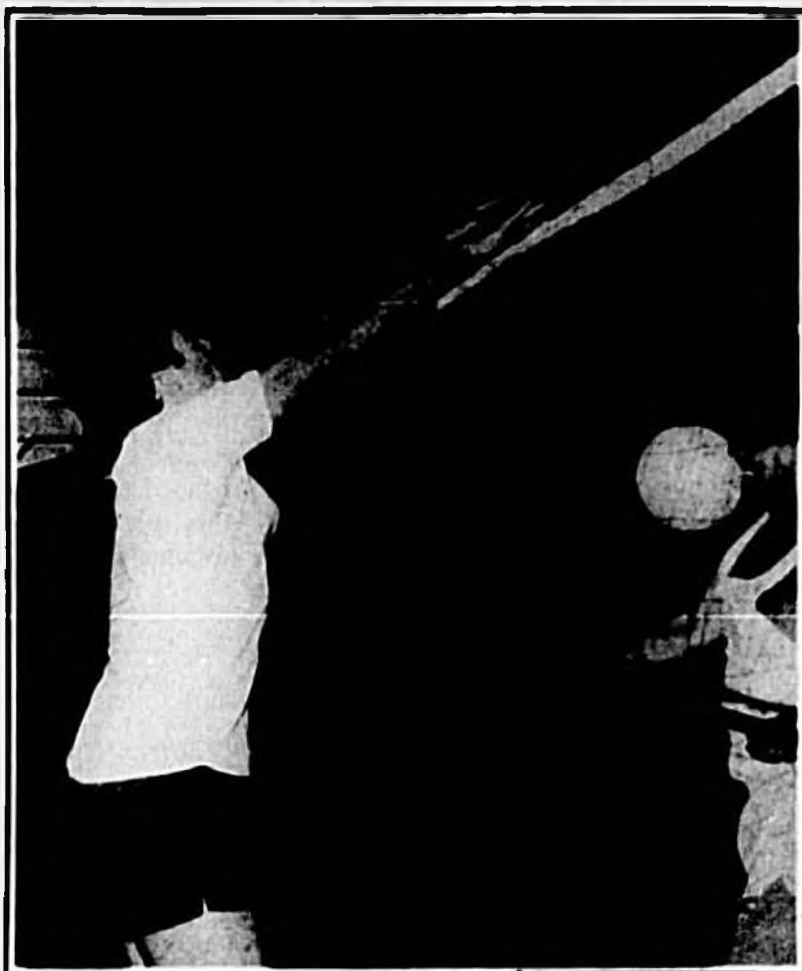

Seward has beaten a number of quality hurdlers by staying very consistent over his final season and running strong in the big meets. Seward has been around the same time all year and is hoping to drop.

"He's run 14.3 several times now and I think he's ready to drop again," Brauman said. "He edged out Horace Grant from Ocala Forrest at the regional meet and he had run 14.1 coming into the race. He knows how to run his race and hopefully he can put together a quality effort."

Seward has concentrated on strictly speed work this week to prep himself for the meet and in hopes of bringing his time down. Another thing Seward has in his mind is that it is the effort that counts and not the time.

"He's won quite a few races at 14.3," Brauman said. "The state meet is like the Olympics, it's the effort that is important. There aren't too many records broken and it just seems the medals go to the people who go after them the most."

How to keep bait alive

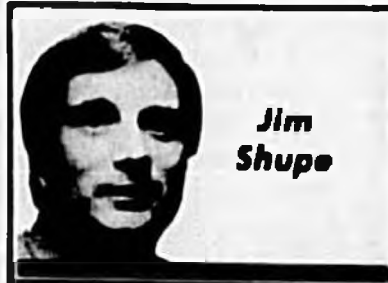

Many fishermen do not use live bait because it is either too expensive or too much trouble to catch and keep alive. It is much simpler to grab some lures and hit the water.

Many a bass fisherman has been cooled off on fishing wild shiners when he recovers from the sticker shock of $10-12/dozen. Even if the fisherman decides to spring for the expensive baits, he is faced with the perennial problem of keeping the baits alive.

Small baits, such as Missouri minnows or shrimp, pose less of a problem than large baits to keep alive. Air pumps that operate off D-cell batteries will keep these baits frisky.

Larger baits, such as finger mullet or shiners require more oxygen and cooler water temperatures to keep them alive for extended periods of time. A 12-volt air pump will suffice for keeping these baits alive, providing you change the water once or twice a day.

Better methods of keeping bait alive involve either water agitation or water circulation. As you would guess, an agitation system oxygenates the water by frothing it up. The primary disadvantage of the agitation system is that it is a closed system and does not allow for fresh water. Anglers using the agitation system must change water in their container at least once or twice a day.

The absolute best system for keeping bait alive is the water circulation method. The concept is simple. A bilge pump keeps recirculating the water through a hose, and usually, but not necessarily, out a capped, multi-holed pipe. A filter over the intake helps to trap debris that would clog the system.

Naturally, pump size is a factor. Smaller baits in a well of 20 gallons or less would get by with a 300-400 gallon-per-hour pump. For larger wells and bigger baits, a 500 gallon-per-hour or larger pump should be used.

The water circulation method is made even more efficient by allowing for a continual flow of fresh water and a discharge of spent water. The particular system I employ features a bracket that is mounted on the back of the stern. The bracket has an intake tube and also holds an 800 gallon-per-hour bilge pump. When cruising, the bilge pump can be turned off and fresh water will be forced through the intake tube and into the well. Spent water exits the well from an overflow hose that drains over the stern. When slow-trolling or anchored, the bilge pump is turned on and 800 gallons of fresh water per hour circulates through the 30-gallon container, keeping the baits unbelievably lively.

Yes, live bait is a lot of trouble, but the fishermen who take the time and the effort can reap huge benefits from frisky baits.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

If you have a closed live bait system, one of the best ways to reduce water temperature is to simply put a bag of ice in your live well. Leave the ice in the bag and remove the bag after the ice has melted.

Bird's 38 lead Celtics

BOSTON (UPI) — Larry Bird played above even the lofty standards expected of him.

Bird scored 24 of his 38 points in the first quarter Wednesday night, leading the Boston Celtics to a 110-101 victory over the Atlanta Hawks in their Eastern conference semifinal playoff game.

Bird hit 10 of 11 shots in the first quarter, setting a team record for points in a quarter. He also outscored the Hawks, who trailed 38-23 after the quarter.

He was phenomenal. Atlanta guard Glenn Rivers said. Larry Bird is a great player. He's the best. Sometimes, when he's the best above his game, all you can do is pray.

Hawks Coach Mike Fratello was equally awed by Bird. "Larry is magnificent," Hawks Coach Mike Fratello said. "What he showed is why he's in the upper, upper echelon of players."

The loss was the Hawks' 12th in a row at Boston Garden, where they have not won since March 1985. Game 2 of the best-of-seven series will be played Friday night in Boston.

"We didn't come out loose," Rivers said. "We came out playing badly."

Atlanta used a 14-5 run to pull within 48-45 at 2:47 of the second period.

"Our defense got very lachrymical when we got up by 17 points," Celtics center Robert Parish said.

The Hawks were within 58-52 early in the third quarter when Boston ran off 10 straight points over a 3:50 span. The Hawks were unable to mount another comeback and Boston retained a lead of at least 7 points over the final 16 minutes.

For Boston, Kevin McHale scored 21 of his 25 points in the second half. Parish added 22 points and 14 rebounds. The Celtics starting frontline of Bird, McHale and Parish totalled 85 points.

Boston finished with 23 turnovers and relaxed in the final minutes, causing Coach K.C. Jones to remark, "We were up 14 (points) in the fourth quarter when we started throwing the ball around like it was Saturday Night Live instead of putting the game away."

The Hawks were led by Dominique Wilkins' 25 points, but the forward managed only 7 points in the first 36 minutes. Rivers had 18 points and Kevin Willis 13.

In this year's Eastern Conference playoffs, the home team has won 19 of 20 games. The Celtics have won 67 of their last 68 home playoff games against Eastern teams.

Boston opened the game with a 12-4 run. Bird scored 18 of Boston's first 24 points, hitting a variety of long jumpers, scoop layups and running push shots, plus two of his three 3-pointers. The Hawks committed five turnovers in the first four minutes of the game.

The Celtics led 30-13 on Parish's layin at 3:58. Boston shot 74 percent in the first quarter, hitting 17 of 23 shots. Atlanta connected on only 39 percent of their field-goal attempts, making 9 of 23.

Rangers rip Orioles, move into 2nd place

United Press International With the Texas Rangers maintaining a big lead, left-hander Paul Kilgus made sure his manager knew the score.

The Rangers, winners of five straight, climbed into second place in the American League West Wednesday night by blanking the visiting Baltimore Orioles 6-0.

"From about the seventh inning I made sure I let (Texas Manager) Bobby (Valentine) know I wanted to stay in the game," Kilgus said.

"The last couple of games have been close and they have taken me out. I wanted to make sure I could get my first complete game shutout."

Kilgus became the first Texas southpaw to hurl a shutout since September 1986. He held Baltimore hitless through 5 2-3 innings.

Kilgus lowered his earned run average to 2.03 with his third-straight victory. He has been with the Rangers for less than a year (posting a 7-9 career record) and, in a freakish stat, all of his victories had come in the daytime until he beat the Yankees in Arlington last Friday night.

He was supported by a 13-hit attack, the fifth-straight night the Rangers managed at least 10 hits. Before that, they had one 10-hit game in 24 contests. Baltimore's Mark Williamson, 1-1, surrendered 12 hits and eight runs through seven innings as the Orioles' record dropped to 4-28.

BASEBALL

"We haven't been hitting anybody very well," said Baltimore Manager Frank Robinson, whose team is last in the American League with a .212 batting average. "But Kilgus was really tough on us. It looks like he is going to be a good one."

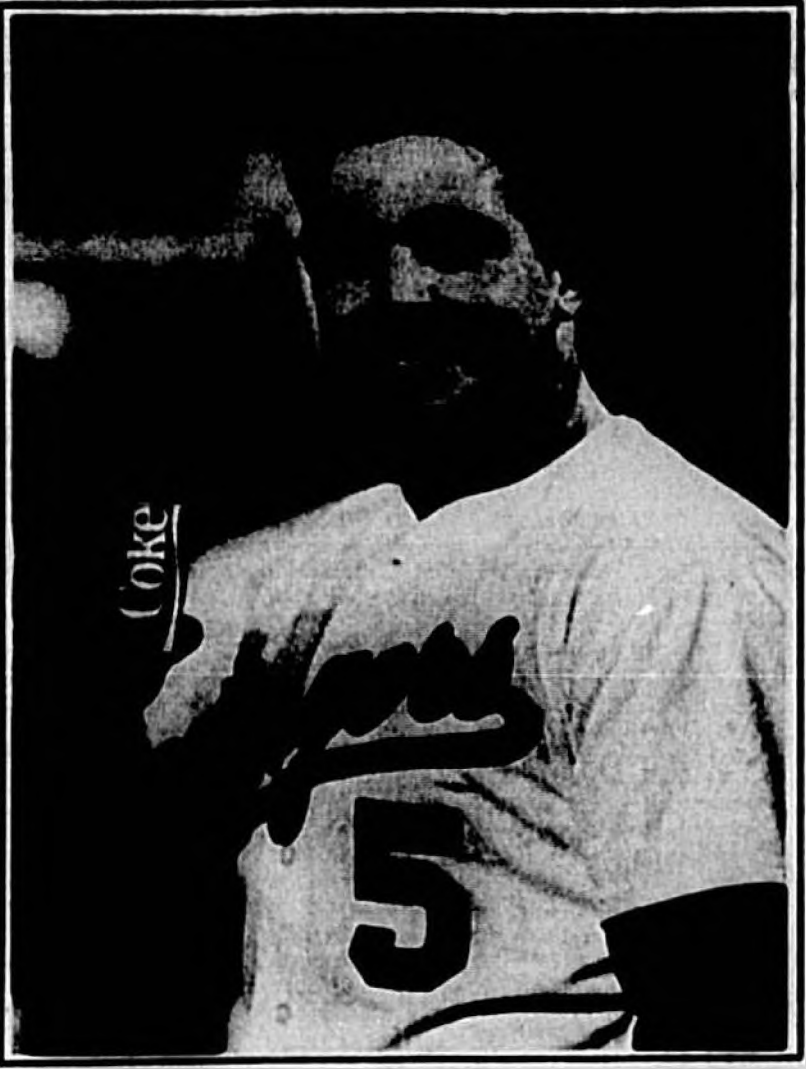

Kilgus walked four and struck out six, preserving the shutout by working his way out of a bases loaded, one-out jam in the seventh.

In the first, Jerry Browne singled and scored on Ruben Sierra's double. Incaiviglia then ripped his seventh home run. One out later, Parrish clubbed his third homer to stake Kilgus to a 4-0 lead.

Tigers 6, A's 4 At Oakland, Calif.. Mike Heath's two-run single sparked a four-run Detroit ninth. The loss was Oakland's second straight after winning 14 in a row, the most in the majors since Kansas City won 16 straight in 1977.

Yankees 12, White Sox 3 At New York, Richard Dotson pitched a four-hitter against his former team and Jack Clark belted a two-run homer to fuel the Yankees. Dotson improved to 5-0 with his second complete game.

Twins 2, Brewers 1 At Minneapolis, Gene Larkin delivered a one-out, RBI double in the eighth to snap a tie and lift Minnesota. After Randy Bush reached base on an error, Larkin doubled off Chris Bosio, 5-3.

Pete Incaiviglia and the Texas Rangers have had plenty to smile about lately. Incaiviglia hit a first-inning homer Wednesday and Dave Kilgus tossed a shutout as the Rangers downed Baltimore, 6-0, and moved into second place in the AL West.

Keith Atherton, 1-1, hurled 1 1/3 innings of hitless relief and Jeff Reardon pitched the ninth for his sixth save.

Indians 4, Angels 3 At Anaheim, Calif., Julio Franco scored on a balk by Bryan Harvey with one out in the 13th to lift Cleveland. With the bases loaded and one out in the 13th, second-base umpire Derryl Cousins called Harvey, 1-1, for a balk. Doug Jones, 1-1, worked four innings, allowing two hits and striking out five.

Atlanta (UPI) — Gary Roenicke doubled in two runs and scored on Gerald Perry's single to highlight a three-run sixth inning Wednesday, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The Braves captured two of three from Montreal, representing the first time this season Atlanta has won a series. The Braves, at 9-21, have the National League's worst record.

With Montreal leading 2-0 in the sixth, Andre Thomas singled with two outs in the sixth off starter Neal Heaton, 0-2. Dale Murphy walked and Roenicke followed with a two-run double. Perry connected on the game-winner, a sharp single to center field.

Starter Kevin Coffman, 2-2, went 6 2-3 innings and yielded three hits and five walks. Paul Assenmacher pitched one-hit ball over 1 1/3 and Bruce Sutler went one hitless inning to earn his third save. Sutler saved both victories by Atlanta over Montreal.

The Expos scored both their runs in the first. Tim Raines reached when shortstop Thomas booted a grounder. Johnny Paredes walked and a wild pitch moved both runners a base. Hubie Brooks doubled home two runs.

Paredes left the game in the seventh after getting hit on the helmet by a Coffman pitch. He laid on the ground for several minutes before walking off under his own power. His condition was not immediately known.

Mets outslug Astros, 9-8

United Press International Wednesday night's game between the New York Mets and Houston Astros had an unexpected ending considering it featured the 1985 and '86 Cy Young Award winners and one of baseball's top relievers.

The Mets, who started Dwight Gooden, and the Astros, starting Mike Scott and using Dave Smith in relief, combined for 17 runs and 24 hits in New York's 9-8, 10-inning triumph.

Both Gooden, the 1985 Cy Young winner, and Scott, the '86 recipient, exited the game after pitching six innings. Scott was in line for his fifth victory and Gooden for his first defeat until Smith entered.

After Houston's Juan Agosto hurled two scoreless innings, Smith began the ninth with an 8-5 lead. Five batters later, it was 8-8.

"It was a very frustrating loss," Astros Manager Hal Lanier said through a spokesman. "Dave Smith is only human. He's one of the best in the game, and he's our best, and it was just one of those things that happens to relievers."

Howard Johnson led off the ninth with a single and Mackey Sasser hit into a fielder's choice. Pinch-hitter Kevin McReynolds reached on third baseman Denny Walling's error. Mookie Wilson's infield single loaded the bases. Tim Lincecum then drilled a shot off the left-center-field wall to tie the score.

"I threw some very good pitches, but the one to Teufel stayed up," Smith said. "It was a terrible pitch. They hit some balls we couldn't come up with. My curveball wasn't working very well. There's no excuse."

One inning after costing Scott the victory, Smith, 1-2, inherited the loss. Gary Carter drew a lead-off walk in the 10th and Howard Johnson followed with a single. Sasser forced Carter at third. McReynolds singled to left to score Johnson and make a winner of Terry Leach, 1-0.

"It's a kind of like '86,'" said Carter, referring to the club's World Series championship season. "We never say die. We battle until the last out. We have a lot of character and a lot of guys who can make things happen. It's a nice feeling."

The Mets have won 10 games this season with late-inning rallies. The Astros scored twice in the first against Gooden. Bill Doran scored the second run by stealing home, barely beating the tag of catcher Carter.

New York tied the score in the fourth when Darryl Strawberry hit a two-run homer to become the first major-leaguer to reach 10 homers this season.

Houston struck for three runs in the fourth, two coming on Glenn Davis' eighth homer, to go ahead 5-2.

The Mets tied the score with three runs in the fifth. The Astros regained the lead with two runs in the sixth and made it 8-5 with a run in the eighth.

Cubs 1, Padres 0 At Chicago, Greg Maddux pitched a three-hitter and Mark Grace scored on Vance Law's squeeze with one out in the 10th to lift the Cubs. Maddux, 6-2, struck out eight, walked none and retired the last 20 men he faced in earning his second shutout and fourth complete game.

Pirates 2, Dodgers 1 At Pittsburgh, Randy Milligan doubled home Andy Van Slyke to make a winner of Scott Medvin, 1-0. In his second major-league appearance, Los Angeles' Fernando Valenzuela had a shutout until the eighth. The Pirates received 12 walks and left 17 men on base.

Phillies 4, Reds 3 At Philadelphia, Mike Young singled home Von Hayes to provide the game-winner off John Franco, 0-3. The Phillies scored twice in the seventh to tie the score 3-3 and chase Reds starter Dennis Rasmussen.

Giants 5, Cardinals 4 At St. Louis, Kevin Mitchell homered to end the 4 hour, 48 minute marathon.

Mitchell's blast came off Bob Forsch, 2-3, the fifth Cardinals pitcher. Altee Hamman, the fourth Giants pitcher, went three innings, improving to 3-0. St. Louis stranded 19 runners.

FREE ON DL NEW YORK (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox placed catcher Carlton Fisk on the 15-day disabled list Wednesday and recalled Ron Karkovice from Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

Fisk, 40, fractured his right hand during Tuesday night's game against the Yankees and will be lost to the team for four to six weeks. He was hit by a foul tip off the bat of Jack Clark in the eighth inning and left the game.

He returned Wednesday to Chicago, where he was to be examined by team physician Dr. James Boscardin. This marks the first time Fisk has been on the DL since 1984 when he suffered an abdominal muscle pull.

The loss leaves the White Sox without Fisk's right-handed power a young staff without a veteran catcher.

Aside from Karkovice, the White Sox catcher are Mark Salas and Steve Lyons.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Yankees pitcher Rick Rhoden, on the 15-day disabled list since April 29 because of a strained back muscle, threw Tuesday for about 25 minutes and said he felt fine.

The right-hander, 1-3 with a 6.04 ERA, said he would throw a few more times this week before he is eligible to come off the DL Saturday.

TORONTO (UPI) — Home hasn't been to kind to the Blue Jays.

Going into Wednesday night's game with the Seattle Mariners, Toronto was 5-10 at Exhibition Stadium. Only Baltimore, 3-11, and Atlanta, 4-13, had worse home records.

"Maybe we're trying too hard," Jesse Barfield said. "The fans have been more than patient."

Baseball players live longer

BOSTON (UPI) — Professional baseball players tend to live longer than average men, a study released Wednesday said.

And players who played the longest and had the best records lived the longest. Infielders had the lowest mortality rate while catchers had the highest.

The study is the first to examine whether long-term physical fitness associated with being a professional athlete affects longevity, and provides new evidence being fit extends life, said Dr. John Waterbor, who headed the study.

"Many people's impression is that a trained professional athlete would less often die from heart disease and live a long life," he said in a telephone interview. But that has not ever really been studied.

"I think the implication [of the study] is that there is evidence ... that being athletic and being physically fit is a good thing in terms of long-term effect."

Waterbor is an associate professor of epidemiology at the

BASEBALL

University of Alabama School of Public Health in Birmingham, Ala. His study was published in The New England Journal of Medicine. In the same issue, a 1987 survey of 265 members of seven professional baseball teams found more than one-third used smokeless tobacco.

Waterbor's study involved 958 men who began their careers as professional baseball players in the United States between 1911 and 1915.

When the researchers compared the players' death rate by 1984 with what would have been expected for a group of white men their age, they found the overall death rate among the baseball players was 6 percent lower.

The teams surveyed were the St. Louis Cardinals, Minnesota Twins, Toronto Blue Jays, Montreal Expos, Philadelphia Phillies, Pittsburgh Pirates and Houston Astros.

Mustangs: Manufacturing soars

Pitchers Appling, Meeks turn in solid performances

FIVE POINTS — Metal Manufacturing came up with a pair of wins in Mustang Division baseball action, downing Ace Hardware, 13-8, and Winter Springs VI, 14-9, at Five Points Field.

In the opening game Billy Appling finished as the winning pitcher as he allowed just two hits, striking out six while walking eight and surrendering six runs. Shaun St. Dennis led the offense with two triples and two runs batted in with a run scored with Brian Zaladonis adding a triple and two singles with two RBI's and two runs. Mario Dellaccio led Ace with a double and a single and a run scored.

In the second matchup Ricky Meeks took the win as he also tossed a two hitter while fanning three batters, walking four and gave up two runs. Nathan Fakens led the hitting with a triple and a double, with two RBI's and two runs. St. Dennis added a triple and a double with a run batted in and two scored. Zaladonis ripped a double and a single with a RBI and three runs scored. Chris Louwsma added two singles with two runs batted in and two scored with Mike Wagner rounding out the attack with a triple and a run scored. Travis Wright led Winter Springs with a double and a single and one run batted in with CJ Meert adding a single and two runs scored.

In other Mustang action Team Sports Supplies edged Rose Mary's Beverage Barn, 14-9, and Dan's Restaurant whipped 15-6.

Jimmy Rabun was the winning pitcher for Team Sports as he gave up two hits while striking out two and walking three while being aided by some nice defensive plays. Brad Klinger led the offense with a double and two singles to finish with five runs batted in and three scored. Tim Raines Jr. added two singles with two RBI's and a run as Stephen Lueringer slapped a triple for a run batted in and two scored.

Matt Thompson finished as the winning pitcher for Dan's as he gave up just two hits, struck out eight and walked non in four innings of work. Chris Kapelka provided the offense with a triple and a single to drive in two runs. Kevin Bishop and Thompson each added a single with Thompson picking up a pair of RBI's. Shaka Hilton added a double with a run batted in to round out the attack. Scott DeGraff led Seminole with a single and a run batted in with John Keelan adding a triple and a run scored.

In Pinto action Florida Carbonica whipped Regency Construction, 17-5, and Advanced Brake crushed Oviedo Material in the only two games played.

Barry Sommer led Florida Carbonica with a grand slam homer and two doubles to finish with six runs batted in and one run scored. Randy Jonda added a double and three singles with one RBI and four runs. Jamie Tolpecki added a double and two singles with three RBI's and three runs as Patrick Reynolds stroked a double and three singles to finish with two runs batted in and four scored.

Kevin Johnson was the story in the second game as he blasted two three run homers to power Advanced Brake to its victory.

In Bronco play Midland Construction downed the Lake Mary Fire Department, 19-3, and Sun State downed Midland, 9-1, in the only two games.

Jeff Chumat led the way in the first game with a home run and a double to drive in four runs. Brian Dwyer added a pair of doubles with Todd Braden adding a triple and single. Micheal Genter added two singles with Deon Daniels stroking another single to round out the hitting attack.

In the second game Will Martin threw a no hitter to take the win as he struck out 12 batters while walking seven and giving up just one run. Jacob Brunner led the offense with two singles and a run scored. Jon Mallozi added a single with two RBI's and two runs. Brian Lowe added a double, a single and a run with Brad Butterfield adding a double. Mike White added a double as Mike Macdonald and Mike Siebert each scored two runs as Martin scored another run.

In Pony action HD Realty downed Commonwealth Engineers, 10-4, behind the two hit pitching of David Hudick. Hudick struck out six batters while walking one before giving way in the fourth inning with an 8-2 lead.

Hudick also led the offense with three singles and two runs scored. Matt Freeman added three runs as he was walked four times. Scott Ferguson came up with two singles and two runs batted in to lead the attack.

Possible deal with White Sox

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — The White Sox have agreed to remain in Chicago if lawmakers approve a deal reached between the team owners and the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority. Gov. James R. Thompson says.

"The White Sox have authorized me to say if this agreement is contained in a lease and if the bill passes, they will stay in Chicago," Thompson said during a Capitol press conference. "I will work as diligently as I know how to enact this legislation, as with the General Assembly leaders and the mayor of the city of Chicago. It will not be an easy fight."

Thompson said the legislation could be submitted to the General Assembly as early as Tuesday. At this point there only is a verbal deal and no written agreement, the governor said.

The agreement does not prevent the White Sox from continuing talks with officials from St. Petersburg. That earlier request by the state this week resulted in a stalemate.

Thompson said it was impossible for Illinois officials to meet or beat the offer from Florida. The extra cost to the state for the new deal could not be estimated, as it depends on attendance at the ballpark.

crickets are working the best, and limits of 50 beam are not uncommon. Bass fishing is slow, but should improve with dropping water levels as fish will be concentrated in the main river channel. The cut has been providing steady bass action, and so will submerged sandbars where bass lie in wait for a meal to come their way.

Snook are still rated as good at Sebastian Inlet, with most of the linesides running from 8-15 pounds. One-ounce jigs are still the top producers, but Mavericks, Rebels and Rapalas are a close second. Some bluefish and flounder are also being caught.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral said that a lot of dolphin are being caught by big boats that are able to handle the high seas. If the seas subside by this weekend, look for good trolling in as close as 120' for dolphin, wahoo and sailfish. The buoy line is very slow, with only a few tripletail and Spanish mackerel being caught. Inside the Port, bluefish, jack crevalle, flounder and sheepshead continue to bite. Trout are going strong in the Banana and Indian Rivers. Look for them on the grass flats and around the spoil mounds. Topwater plugs and gold or silver spoons work best. It has been rough at the New Smyrna jetties, but bluefish, sheepshead, flounder, whiting and other bottomfish are being caught by anglers on the rocks.

Wright is the state leader in the 330s with a time of 37.6, followed by Grant and Maurice Hall of Ocala Vanguard with Seward a few steps behind at 39.0. If Seward is on a good night his time could easily drop down to where he's running with Wright for most of the race.

It has been to Seward's advantage all season to pressure other hurdlers as he has not cracked in a pressure situation and has become accustomed to being an underdog.

His consistency should bring him at least one state medal this weekend with the strong possibility of two. Seward will look to apply the pressure and be one of the athletes going after the medals.

"He knows what it'll take from him to score," Brauman said. "We want him to do as well as he can, there are a lot of good hurdlers in this meet. He knows it's how you place in this meet and not time that counts and he should be ready to go Friday."

Market active, prices up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 37.80 Wednesday, was up 8.45 to 1974.30 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 522-308 among the 1,306 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 27,344,000 shares.

Wall Street's fears of higher interest rates proved justified Wednesday and the stock market reacted by sending prices sharply lower even before major banks announced a hefty increase in the prime lending rate.

Dollar drifts higher; gold, silver mixed

By United Press International

The dollar drifted slightly higher in light trading today on major foreign currency markets. Gold was mixed.

Market watchers said the dollar gained marginally following a hike by major U.S. banks in the prime lending rate on Wednesday.

In early New York trading, the dollar was slightly higher against key foreign currencies in thin trading.

Currency traders in New York said the market will be watching Friday's April Japanese trade figures and the U.S. producer price index, a key inflation indicator, for some direction.

Traders noted, however, the market should remain calm until next Tuesday's release of the March U.S. trade statistics.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar closed slightly higher against the Japanese yen in light trading.

The dollar closed at 124.39 yen, up 0.15 from 124.24 yen on Wednesday, ending four straight losing sessions.

Currency traders in Japan noted trading was calm in the absence of fresh market-affecting news.

In Europe, currency markets, banks, government offices and most businesses were closed in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Switzerland and Sweden for the Ascension Day holiday.

In London, the pound opened at $1.8795 compared with $1.886 on Wednesday.

William B. Roberts Jr.

Local airport businessman dead at 60

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

"He was one of a kind, once you met him you didn't forget him," J.S. "Red" Cleveland, director of aviation for the Sanford Airport Authority, said of Retired Air Force Maj. William B. "Robbie" Roberts Jr., who died Wednesday afternoon at Florida Hospital-Altamonte at the age of 60.

Cleveland said Roberts, who had operated Robbie Roberts Aircraft at the Sanford Airport for 18 years, was a very close friend and is going to be missed. He said Roberts had approached him last week and said he was tired and planned on shutting down his business in the near future and moving back to his home state of Mississippi.

Roberts, who lived at 2461 Worthington Road, Fern Park, was admitted to the hospital on Wednesday morning, according to his wife, Barbara. She said the cause of death has not yet been determined, but doctors think it is heart-related.

Tests showed he was not having or hadn't just had a heart attack and his heart failed to respond to treatment. Roberts underwent heart surgery about five years ago.

"He loved flying," Mrs. Roberts said. "He flew 22 years in the Air Force and has been flying ever since, but never flew commercially."

While in the Air Force during the Korean and Vietnam wars, Roberts flew tankers that refueled planes in the air for the Strategic Air Command and also flew helicopter rescue missions for seven or eight years.

"He was a landmark out here," said Wayne Edwards, whose business, Southern Aviation, has been next to Roberts' Aircraft at the airport for the past four years. "He was always there to help everybody. He was a super guy and he's going to be missed."

Edwards said he had known Roberts for seven or eight years through flying associations and had bought a couple of airplanes from him. "There's not enough words to describe Robbie," he added.

"It was a terrible shock to all of us at the airport," Bill Jack, owner of Sanford Heating and Air Conditioning, said. "We were extremely close. We had put airplanes together and sold them and flown together for 15 years. He was well-known and well-liked by everyone. He was straightforward and you always knew exactly where he stood."

Whyte

"Especially a woman like her with what she has done in the last 50 years."

Whyte met Earhart in 1931 at the naval hospital in Newport, Va., where she was a nurse. They became friends and always stayed in touch, said Whyte.

Whyte's favorite photograph of Earhart was taken in 1937. Earhart's co-pilot Fred Noonan, who disappeared with her later that year; and George Palmer Putman, her husband, are also in the picture.

"I remember when she got out of her plane," said Whyte, recalling when the picture was taken. "There were reporters and cameras all over the place. She walked right past them and came over to me and gave me a big hug."

Whyte's interest in flying began at 12 years old. "I couldn't understand why women couldn't vote," said Whyte. "It did something to my mind. Right then I knew I was either going to be a doctor or a flyer. I don't know why the Lord made me do it."

Whyte said she enjoyed herself as a young woman flyer in what many believed was a man's profession.

"I had my pick (of men)," said Whyte. "I'd look at a man and I'd look at the plane. I always took the plane until I met my husband."

Whyte was married to George Murphy Whyte for 24 years before he died in 1970. She has never remarried.

"Ever since then the airplanes have been better than the men," said Whyte.

She is proud of her business exploits, which have provided her with financial security. She bought some Fort Worth land in 1968 for $600 an acre and built an airfield. It is now being sold for $48,000 an acre.

Whyte is especially proud of her career as a nurse. She helped in the rehabilitation of returning prisoners of war after World War II.

The experience was evidently a lasting one. Her face sobered and her bright smile leaves when she speaks of it. "We were taking care of our boys and that was the most important thing," she said.

However, for Edna Gardner Whyte, born 1902, flying is now the most important thing.

"I'm just grateful I can pass my physical and still fly," she said.

Regionals raise prime rate

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Three North Carolina-based regional banks quickly followed New York banks in boosting the prime lending rate and economists predicted today a new round of higher consumer credit rates has begun.

Chase-Manhattan Bank Wednesday led the lenders in boosting the prime rate a half-point to 9 percent. Competitors quickly followed, including Charlotte-based First Union Corp. and N C N B Corp., and Winston-Salem-based First Wachovia Corp.

The prime is the rate banks charge preferred customers, but a number of consumer credit rates are tied to it, including home equity loans, adjustable mortgages and some car loans.

"It's hard to say what the immediate affect will be. Typically when interest rates are moving up, housing is the primary area affected," said Daniel Friel and economist with NCNB Corp. "This doesn't bode well for housing which has been down for some time."

building permit be issued during a moratorium period of 180 days pending a firm resolution of the issue of the 104-foot setback."

Then, in front of a dwindled audience of about five people and staff members, who remained as the commission meeting dragged on after midnight, Beckham and Hauck quit.

According to Beckham, the Board of Adjustment was not made aware of the proposed moratorium prior to its decision to grant the variance. If they had been informed, he said, they may have tabled the request.

Caught in the middle is the developer, Geffen Construction. The variance has a 30-day waiting period during which it may be appealed, and therefore construction on his project stopped. Geffen said the moratorium was a "backdoor around the Board of Adjustment."

In a letter sent to Mayor Fess, Beckham explained that his resignation was not because the Board's decision was overruled.

He said the board has tried to "carry out the direction of the commission." However, he said the commission failed to indicate its plans for the setback. As a result, the Board of Adjustment worked long and hard on the decision that may be killed, Beckham said.

In his letter, Beckham said "if policy is to be changed after a vote, when there was clear opportunity to set policy before the vote, then the serving Boards of this City will constantly be 'second guessing' on every issue before them."

"I'm leaving it up to the commission to vote on the 19th," Beckham said about the status of his resignation.

Last week, Hauck said comments made during the meeting showed a lack of confidence in the board's decision. "We felt we had done a lot of hard work and made a good decision," he said.

"I didn't feel I wanted to put that much effort into something that wouldn't be returned to me," he explained.

Arrests

on behalf of the Derballas, allegedly ordered three grams of cocaine to be delivered to him and a companion later that night at the parking lot of a 7-Eleven store at County Road 15 and Lake Mary Boulevard.

That led to the arrest of Gunn and DeLude in the store parking lot at 12:25 a.m. today.

CCIB Commander Lt. Donald Estlinger said an undercover agent allegedly bought cocaine at the Derballa home earlier this week. When agents raided the home Wednesday night, Estlinger said, they found a pipe containing cocaine, which was still smoking. Other drug paraphernalia were confiscated along with the video tapes.

Estlinger said agents expect the tapes to lead to drug-related charges against additional suspects, but he declined to say who the suspects are or where they live until the probe is completed.

When the agent met with DeLude and Gunn at the convenience store parking lot DeLude allegedly bought cocaine from the agent and the two were arrested on charges of purchasing cocaine.

Estlinger said that "obscene material" was confiscated from DeLude's vehicle. He expects that find to lead to additional charges against those two men.

Indications are that Derballa was an active supplier of cocaine in the area, Estlinger said. CCIB agents have no indication that the three men arrested are employed, he said.

About three months ago CCIB agents were told by an informant and Lake Mary police of the Derballas' suspected involvement with cocaine, Estlinger said. In addition to DeLude's alleged call to the Durbella home during the search, Estlinger said agents intercepted other calls from persons who indicated they wanted to buy cocaine.

The Derballas have been released on $2,000 bond each to appear in court June 6. The other two suspects remained jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond each and were scheduled for first appearances in court today.

SCC officials confirmed that Mrs. Derballa has been employed there as a part-time English teacher since Jan. 10, 1986.

Dr. Jim Sawyer, vice president for information for SCC said today that based on a preliminary investigation by college officials Mrs. Derballa will be suspended and the matter will be referred to the college's attorney. The probe will continue and ultimately the Board of Trustees will decide if she will remain associated with SCC.

Sawyer pointed out that Mrs. Derballa is only a part-time employee who works on an "as needed basis. She is not under contract to us. She was scheduled to teach one course this term," he said.

landmark and want it preserved and restored. Supt. Robert Hughes referred to a previous work session in which board members discussed historic preservation grant money. The Department of Education supplemental school plant survey was presented at that session, along with a cost engineer's report and input from the public.

According to Hughes, it would cost between $1 million and $1.5 million more to renovate the old building than it would to construct a new building.

In regard to a grant application, Hughes said: "The board would be criticized for taking a very nebulous approach to making decisions based on a grant application. Maybe we would receive the funds and maybe we would not. And, if the grants we receive did not offset additional costs of what engineers, etc., we are asking for, then the whole project is in jeopardy. The entire credibility and integrity of the project has to be within the budget."

Board Chairman Joseph Williams Jr. said there was neither time nor dollars to preserve the building. "We have student needs and a lot of things we just can't hold back on," he said.

Although the decision pleases Dan Pelham, Sanford Middle School principal, it will come as a blow to many area residents.

"I feel like I'm in mourning," said Lorraine Fiorelli, Fiorelli and other members of Sisters, Inc., a Sanford women's organization, have been vocal about their support of maintaining the old school.

"We do not want to see the school join the list of extinct marks of our city's past," she said. "I'm really disappointed. We don't feel the board checked into the available grant money." Fiorelli had gained the support of the Florida Historical Trust and some members of the state legislature to preserve the building.

Mayor Bettye Smith said, "I believe in preservation. I don't believe in preservation just for preservation's sake. However, I am pleased it was a decision I did not have to make. I don't wish to get into a fight with the school board, but I don't want to see any building torn down."

Before voting, Hughes told board members to consider what is best for the students of Sanford Middle School in the 50 years ahead.

Health fair slated for seniors

SANFORD — Seniors interested in learning about and receiving a wide variety of health services may attend the annual Senior Health and Services Fair, to take place Friday, May 20, at the Sanford Civic Center.

From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., health care professionals will be on hand to check vision, hearing, hemoglobin, blood pressure and to evaluate the findings.

Aaron J. Thomas, a humorous

speaker from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, will be the keynote speaker at noon, speaking on "Life Begins at Eighty."

Lunch is available if reservations are received by 4:30 p.m., May 17. To make lunch reservations, call 831-1631. A $2 donation is requested.

The fair is being sponsored by the Senior Citizens Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, with the assistance of the Community Services System for Seminole County.

Refreshments will be served, door prizes will be given and there is no charge for attending. Legal assistance and senior service information also will be available.

For additional information, call 831-HELP.

Know a great dad? Write us a letter

As quickly as Mother's Day came and went, its companion occasion is upon us. Father's Day is June 19.

We at the Sanford Herald are searching for our Outstanding Dad. But we need our readers—whatever their relation to the nominee—to help us by writing letters of nomination, to be reviewed by a panel of judges.

Write us a letter about your nominee, telling us why this dad is so special. We are asking for local, men who are able to be interviewed. The judging will be based on the quality of letters, not the quantity of letters, so only one letter should be written per nominee.

Please follow these instructions carefully: Letters should be typed or printed clearly. Write the nominee's name, street address, city and day phone number at the top of the page. Then write his qualifications. At the end of the letter, write your name, address, telephone number and age (if under 18). Mail to the PEOPLE Editor, P.O. Box 1657, Sanford 32771, or deliver to 300 N. French Ave.

Deadline for entries is noon on Wednesday, June 1.

The top three winners will be featured in the Herald on Father's Day.

Woman gains district Toastmasters position

LAKE MARY — Rosella Bonham of Lake Mary has been elected educational lieutenant governor for District 47 of Toastmasters International, a district comprised of Florida and the Bahamas and to which 4,000 members belong.

Bonham

Elected Saturday in Melbourne to the position—the second highest office in the district—

Bonham will be responsible for chairing the district's educational programs, including how to speak, listen and think effectively.

In her former position of member orientation chairman, Bonham gave training seminars in communication and leadership throughout the district. She also gives youth leadership programs at Lake Brantley High School each fall, teaching how to speak impromptu and how to give a speech.

She belongs to the Toastmasters chapter meeting at Seminole Community College in Sanford.

Junior woman's club wins 'Emmy'

Donation for children's sake

Barbara Tashlin (right), from the Adam Walsh Child Resource Center, accepts a check of $100 recently from Sylvia Smith of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford. The check, from the club's public affairs department, was given at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The Adam Walsh center informs and guides parents in teaching children safety as well as helps locate missing children.

WINTER SPRINGS — The Semoran Junior Woman's Club, based in the Tusawilla area of Winter Springs, has received the Emmy Award at the state convention of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs of Florida.

At the convention, which took place April 23 and 24 in Orlando, the Winter Springs club of 14 members received a trophy for being the No. 1 club in its size category in Florida.

State judges were impressed with the Semoran Juniors' involvement in public affairs. The club donated money to and helped to landscape the new Seminole Children's Village child abuse shelter. They also became involved with the Ursula Sunshine child abuse foundation and the Florida Hospital Circle of Friends Homes, which house families of cancer patients undergoing therapy.

Regarding home life, the Semorans helped provide support during 1987 to a needy family of ill grandparents who were raising seven children. Club members repeatedly assisted the Spouse Abuse Center as well as the DePugh Nursing Home in Winter Park.

Judges also noted that many of the Semorans were active on the boards of Keeth Elementary School and Jackson Heights Middle School.

The club also received honors in leadership, programs and membership.

"The members of Semoran Juniors try to help others by pursuing the ideal rather than the material, because ideals give meaning to life," said spokeswoman Laura Kramer. "It gives us a very warm feeling inside to know how much we are helping others, and it just puts icing on the cake to learn that we've been so publicly recognized for it."

Feature Restaurant Of The Week!

16th ANNIVERSARY

Thanks Sanford

Your continued support has made your Sanford Famous Recipe number one in the southeast U.S.A. We are very happy to serve you.

Famous Recipe of Sanford was opened May 2, 1972, the first Famous Recipe in Florida and the south. It was billed as "The Taste That Made The South Love Chicken". Within eight months after opening, the taste was liked so much that the Sanford restaurant was pushed to No. 4 in a chain of 110 units. During the past 16 years the Sullivans have received top line awards for service and sales. Then in 1980 the unit was No. 6 out of 224. The sales have kept us in the top 20 over all these years.

During his 20 years with Famous Recipe, Jerry has been directly involved in the opening of many Famous Recipe units and feels this No. 72 is the most fun so far. This is the sixth restaurant Jerry and Marguerite have opened for operations themselves. They currently operate 3 units, Sanford, Casselberry and one in Waycross, Ga.

In Sanford the large dining room will seat 56 customers in cool comfort and the large parking lot with Tak-A-Way window is more convenient for our many customers.

Jerry and Marguerite wish to thank the loyal employees for all their help in making our customers happy.

Reader surprised, angered when aunt's burial ashes appear in mail

DEAR ABBY: In a letter to you, a reader protested the calloused manner in which he learned of the death of a friend in a nursing home. Wait until you hear what happened to me: My cousins in Texas asked me if I would handle the funeral arrangements for their mother (my aunt) who had died while visiting them. She was to be cremated there, and her remains sent to me (in California) to be taken to a nearby cemetery and placed in the crypt she had previously purchased.

Of course, I agreed, assuming the remains would arrive by registered mail and I would be notified either by my cousins or the crematory as to the date of arrival.

Imagine my horror when I opened my curbside mailbox one morning to find a box with these words stamped on the outside: CREMATED REMAINS OF MRS. _____ (my aunt's name).

That was 10 years ago, and I still get furious when I think of it. Talk about unfeeling and calloused! I can't believe it's common practice to send cremated remains through the regular mails. Is it?

M.L.E., MONROVIA, CALIF.

Abigail Van Buren

air filter became plugged. The husband removed the plugged filter, borrowed his wife's pantyhose, wrapped them around as a filter, and continued their trip in safety.

They were stopped by a highway patrolman near Moses Lake, Wash., where there was up to 7 inches of the stuff on the ground. (You can still see it.) The patrolman asked how they could keep going. They explained that they had shaken the ashes from the pantyhose each time the engine quit.

The Highway Patrol then purchased pantyhose for their cars and continued to help stranded motorists in that area. Pantyhose saved many engines until proper filters could be installed.

KEN THELANDER, SEATTLE

DEAR KEN: Thank you for sharing your unusual story.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter from Mary Jane who married Jack McCartney when he was 61 and she was 14, and now, two years later, she writes to say that they are very happily married and the parents of two beautiful children:

Perhaps your readers would be interested in some other marriages with similar age differences:

- Justice William O. Douglas was 64; his bride was 29.
- Melvin Belli, 64; his bride, 29.
- Henry Miller, 79; his bride, 29.
- Edgar Allan Poe, 26; his bride, 13.
- President Grover Cleveland, 49; his bride, 21.
- Bing Crosby, 53; his bride, 23.
- Pablo Casals, 81; his bride, 21.
- Luther Burbank, 67; his bride, 28.
- Leopold Stokowski, 63; his bride, Gloria Vanderbilt, 21. Darwin would probably say that such marriages were eugenically good. But I know a woman's libber who says a girl has to marry a much older man to find maturity similar to her own.

GILBERT VAN VRANKEN, CLAREMONT, CALIF.

DEAR MR. VAN VRANKEN: Forgive the old cliché, but just because there's snow on the roof doesn't mean there's no fire in the furnace.

DEAR ABBY: Every time my wife and I go to pick out wallpaper, we end up in a big argument. This time, I told her to go to the store and pick out the three patterns she liked the best, and I would make the final decision from one of the three.

Well, she picked out three patterns from which I selected one. We hired a professional wallpaper hanger because my wife says I don't know how to hang wallpaper. After spending a lot of money for wallpaper and having it installed, my wife decided she hated the wallpaper.

I have to agree, it doesn't look as good on the wall as I thought it would, and now my wife says wallpaper should be wife's choice entirely because the wife has to look at it all day.

What do you say? We agreed to abide by your decision because we are going to replace it, although it's only been up for two weeks.

WONDERING IN CAPE CORAL, FLA.

DEAR WONDERING: Wallpaper should be a joint decision, but since your wife selected the three patterns she preferred, and agreed to let you make the final decision, she should have no complaints.

P.S. Next time, consult a decorator, and let him or her take the heat.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

Brunch raises thousands for beauty

Brunch-munchers chat after the 12th annual May Day Brunch, sponsored by the Civic Improvement Project Committee of the Sanford Woman's Club. Proceeds from the event, which took place in the Sanford Civic Center, amounted to more than $52,000 and will be used to beautify the park between Eighth and Nine streets in Sanford. About 600 people reportedly attended the event, making for a record turnout at the brunch. Previous brunches have raised around a total $18,000 for civic improvement.

Optimist club may be founded in Lake Mary

LAKE MARY — Those interested in becoming charter members of the Optimist Club of Lake Mary are invited to a membership drive luncheon Wednesday, May 18, from noon to 1 p.m. at the CIA building on Country Club Road in Lake Mary.

Community leaders have noted the need for more youth activities and programs in Lake Mary, said Robert G. Howe, past governor for the Florida District of Optimist International. In response, the Optimist Club of Sanford and its president, A.J. Vinet, are forming the Lake Mary club.

Among activities sponsored by the 18-year-old Sanford club are: Youth Appreciation Week (honoring outstanding students), county high school band festival, international high school track meet, elementary school incentive program, essay contest, oratorical contest, and Bicycle Safety Week.

The Lake Mary Optimists will be involved in similar programs plus new activities to meet the community's needs.

Anyone planning to attend the luncheon or who cannot attend but wishes to know more about the Optimist Club of Lake Mary may call Herb Salyer, secretary-treasurer for Sanford's club, at 365-5365 before 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Market active, prices up

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which fell 37.80 Wednesday, was up 8.45 to 1974.30 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 522-308 among the 1,306 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 27,344,000 shares.

Wall Street's fears of higher interest rates proved justified Wednesday and the stock market reacted by sending prices sharply lower even before major banks announced a hefty increase in the prime lending rate.

Dollar drifts higher; gold, silver mixed

By United Press International

The dollar drifted slightly higher in light trading today on major foreign currency markets.

Gold was mixed.

Market watchers said the dollar gained marginally following a hike by major U.S. banks in the prime lending rate on Wednesday.

In early New York trading, the dollar was slightly higher against key foreign currencies in thin trading.

Currency traders in New York said the market will be watching Friday's April Japanese trade figures and the U.S. producer price index, a key inflation indicator, for some direction.

Traders noted, however, the market should remain calm until next Tuesday's release of the March U.S. trade statistics.

In earlier trading in the Far East, the dollar closed slightly higher against the Japanese yen in light trading.

The dollar closed at 124.39 yen, up 0.15 from 124.24 yen on Wednesday, ending four straight losing sessions.

Currency traders in Japan noted trading was calm in the absence of fresh market-affecting news.

In Europe, currency markets, banks, government offices and most businesses were closed in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Switzerland and Sweden for the Ascension Day holiday.

In London, the pound opened at $1.8795 compared with $1.886 on Wednesday.

William B. Roberts Jr.

Local airport businessman dead at 60

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

"He was one of a kind, once you met him you didn't forget him," J.S. "Red" Cleveland, director of aviation for the Sanford Airport Authority, said of Retired Air Force Maj. William B. "Robbie" Roberts Jr., who died Wednesday afternoon at Florida Hospital-Altamonte at the age of 60.

Cleveland said Roberts, who had operated Robbie Roberts Aircraft at the Sanford Airport for 18 years, was a very close friend and is going to be missed. He said Roberts had approached him last week and said he was tired and planned on shutting down his business in the near future and moving back to his home state of Mississippi.

Roberts, who lived at 2461 Worthington Road, Fern Park, was admitted to the hospital on Wednesday morning, according to his wife, Barbara. She said the cause of death has not yet been determined, but doctors think it is heart-related.

Tests showed he was not having or hadn't just had a heart attack and his heart failed to respond to treatment. Roberts underwent heart surgery about five years ago.

"He loved flying," Mrs. Roberts said. "He flew 22 years in the Air Force and has been flying ever since, but never flew commercially."

While in the Air Force during the Korean and Vietnam wars, Roberts flew tankers that refueled planes in the air for the Strategic Air Command and also flew helicopter rescue missions for seven or eight years.

"He was a landmark out here," said Wayne Edwards, whose business, Southern Aviation, has been next to Roberts' Aircraft at the airport for the past four years. "He was always there to help everybody. He was a super guy and he's going to be missed."

Edwards said he had known Roberts for seven or eight years through flying associations and had bought a couple of airplanes from him. "There's not enough words to describe Robbie," he added.

"It was a terrible shock to all of us at the airport," Bill Jack, owner of Sanford Heating and Air Conditioning, said. "We were extremely close. We had put airplanes together and sold them and flown together for 15 years. He was well-known and well-liked by everyone. He was straightforward and you always knew exactly where he stood."

Regionals raise prime rate

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Three North Carolina-based regional banks quickly followed New York banks in boosting the prime lending rate and economists predicted today a new round of higher consumer credit rates has begun.

Chase-Manhattan Bank Wednesday led the lenders in boosting the prime rate a half-point to 9 percent. Competitors quickly followed, including Charlotte-based First Union Corp. and N C N B Corp. and Winston-Salem-based First Wachovia Corp.

The prime is the rate banks charge preferred customers, but a number of consumer credit rates are tied to it, including home equity loans, adjustable mortgages and some car loans.

"It's hard to say what the immediate affect will be. Typically when interest rates are moving up, housing is the primary area affected," said Daniel Friel and economist with NCNB Corp. "This doesn't bode well for housing which has been down for some time."

building permit be issued during a moratorium period of 180 days pending a firm resolution of the issue of the 104-foot setback."

Then, in front of a dwindled audience of about five people and staff members, who remained as the commission meeting dragged on after midnight, Beckham and Hauck quit.

According to Beckham, the Board of Adjustment was not made aware of the proposed moratorium prior to its decision to grant the variance. If they had been informed, he said, they may have tabled the request.

Caught in the middle is the developer, Geffen Construction. The variance has a 30-day waiting period during which it may be appealed, and therefore construction on his project stopped. Geffen said the moratorium was a "backdoor around the Board of Adjustment."

In a letter sent to Mayor Fess, Beckham explained that his resignation was not because the Board's decision was overruled.

He said the board has tried to "carry out the direction of the commission." However, he said the commission failed to indicate its plans for the setback. As a result, the Board of Adjustment worked long and hard on the decision that may be killed, Beckham said.

In his letter, Beckham said "If policy is to be changed after a vote, when there was clear opportunity to set policy before the vote, then the serving Boards of this City will constantly be 'second guessing' on every issue before them."

"I'm leaving it up to the commission to vote on the 19th," Beckham said about the status of his resignation.

Last week, Hauck said comments made during the meeting showed a lack of confidence in the board's decision. "We felt we had done a lot of hard work and made a good decision," he said.

"I didn't feel I wanted to put that much effort into something that wouldn't be returned to me," he explained.

"Especially a woman like her with what she has done in the last 50 years."

Whyte met Earhart in 1931 at the naval hospital in Newport, Va., where she was a nurse. They became friends and always stayed in touch, said Whyte.

Whyte's favorite photograph of Earhart was taken in 1937. Earhart's co-pilot Fred Noonan, who disappeared with her later that year, and George Palmer Putman, her husband, are also in the picture.

"I remember when she got out of her plane," said Whyte, recalling when the picture was taken. "There were reporters and cameras all over the place. She walked right past them and came over to me and gave me a big hug."

Whyte's interest in flying began at 12 years old. "I couldn't understand why women couldn't vote," said Whyte. "It did something to my mind. Right then I knew I was either going to be a doctor or a flyer. I don't know why the Lord made me do it."

Whyte said she enjoyed herself as a young woman flyer in what many believed was a man's profession.

"I had my pick (of men)," said Whyte. "I'd look at a man and I'd look at the plane. I always took the plane until I met my husband."

Whyte was married to George Murphy Whyte for 24 years before he died in 1970. She has never remarried.

"Ever since then the airplanes have been better than the men," said Whyte.

She is proud of her business exploits, which have provided her with financial security. She bought some Fort Worth land in 1969 for $800 an acre and built an airfield. It is now being sold for $48,000 an acre.

Whyte is especially proud of her career as a nurse. She helped in the rehabilitation of returning prisoners of war after World War II.

The experience was evidently a lasting one. Her face soars and her bright smile leaves when she speaks of it. "We were taking care of our boys and that was the most important thing," she said.

However, for Edna Gardner Whyte, born 1902, flying is now the most important thing.

"I'm just grateful I can pass my physical and still fly," she said.

on behalf of the Derballas, allegedly ordered three grams of cocaine to be delivered to him and a companion later that night at the parking lot of a 7-Eleven store at County Road 15 and Lake Mary Boulevard.

That led to the arrest of Gunn and DeLude in the store parking lot at 12:25 a.m. today.

CCIB Commander Lt. Donald Estlinger said an undercover agent allegedly bought cocaine at the Derballa home earlier this week. When agents raided the home Wednesday night, Estlinger said, they found a pipe containing cocaine, which was still smoking. Other drug paraphernalia were confiscated along with the video tapes.

Estlinger said agents expect the tapes to lead to drug-related charges against additional suspects, but he declined to say who the suspects are or where they live until the probe is completed.

When the agent met with DeLude and Gunn at the convenience store parking lot DeLude allegedly bought cocaine from the agent and the two were arrested on charges of purchasing cocaine.

Estlinger said that "obscene material" was confiscated from DeLude's vehicle. He expects that had led to lead to additional charges against those two men.

Indications are that Derballa was an active supplier of cocaine in the area, Estlinger said. CCIB agents have no indication that the three men arrested are employed, he said.

About three months ago CCIB agents were told by an informant and Lake Mary police of the Derballas' suspected involvement with cocaine. Estlinger said. In addition to DeLude's alleged call to the Durbella home during the search, Estlinger said agents intercepted other calls from persons who indicated they wanted to buy cocaine.

The Derballas have been released on $2,000 bond each to appear in court June 6. The other two suspects remained jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond each and were scheduled for first appearances in court today.

SCC officials confirmed that Mrs. Derballa has been employed there as a part-time English teacher since Jan. 10, 1986.

Dr. Jim Sawyer, vice president for information for SCC said today that based on a preliminary investigation by college officials Mrs. Derballa will be suspended and the matter will be referred to the college's attorney. The probe will continue and ultimately the Board of Trustees will decide if she will remain associated with SCC.

Sawyer pointed out that Mrs. Derballa is only a part-time employee who works on an "as needed basis. She is not under contract to us. She was scheduled to teach one course this term," he said.

landmark and want it preserved and restored. Supt. Robert Hughes referred to a previous work session in which board members discussed historic preservation grant money. The Department of Education supplemental school plant survey was presented at that session, along with a cost engineer's report and input from the public.

According to Hughes, it would cost between $1 million and $1.5 million more to renovate the old building than it would to construct a new building.

In regard to a grant application, Hughes said: "The board would be criticized for taking a very nebulous approach to making decisions based on a grant application. Maybe we would receive the funds and maybe we would not. And, if the grants we receive did not offset additional costs of what engineers, etc., we are asking for, then the whole project is in jeopardy. The entire credibility and integrity of the project has to be within the budget."

Board Chairman Joseph Williams Jr. said there was neither time nor dollars to preserve the building. "We have student needs and a lot of things we just can't hold back on," he said.

Although the decision pleases Dan Pelham, Sanford Middle School principal, it will come as a blow to many area residents.

"I feel like I'm in mourning," said Lorraine Fiorelli. Fiorelli and other members of Sisters, Inc., a Sanford women's organization, have been vocal about their support of maintaining the old school.

"We do not want to see the school join the list of extinct marks of our city's past," she said. "I'm really disappointed. We don't feel the board checked into the available grant money." Fiorelli had gained the support of the Florida Historical Trust and some members of the state legislature to preserve the building.

Mayor Bettye Smith said, "I believe in preservation. I don't believe in preservation just for preservation's sake. However, I am pleased it was a decision I did not have to make. I don't wish to get into a fight with the school board, but I don't want to see any building torn down."

Before voting, Hughes told board members to consider what is best for the students of Sanford Middle School in the 50 years ahead.

Five generations and counting

mother, and Sonni Christina Burch, both of Taylors, S.C.; and Della Small, great-great-grandmother, Sanford. They are spending the week together in honor of Mother's Day.

Health fair slated for seniors

SANFORD — Seniors interested in learning about and receiving a wide variety of health services may attend the annual Senior Health and Services Fair, to take place Friday, May 20, at the Sanford Civic Center.

From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., health care professionals will be on hand to check vision, hearing, hemoglobin, blood pressure and to evaluate the findings.

Aaron J. Thomas, a humorous

speaker from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, will be the keynote speaker at noon, speaking on "Life Begins at Eighty."

Lunch is available if reservations are received by 4:30 p.m., May 17. To make lunch reservations, call 831-1631. A $2 donation is requested.

The fair is being sponsored by the Senior Citizens Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, with the assistance of the Community Services System for Seminole County.

Refreshments will be served, door prizes will be given and there is no charge for attending. Legal assistance and senior service information also will be available.

For additional information, call 831-HELP.

Know a great dad? Write us a letter

As quickly as Mother's Day came and went, its companion occasion is upon us. Father's Day is June 19.

We at the Sanford Herald are searching for our Outstanding Dad. But we need our readers—whatever their relation to the nominee—to help us by writing letters of nomination, to be reviewed by a panel of judges.

Write us a letter about your nominee, telling us why this dad is so special. We are asking for local, men who are able to be interviewed. The judging will be based on the quality of letters, not the quantity of letters, so only one letter should be written per nominee.

Please follow these instructions carefully: Letters should be typed or printed clearly. Write the nominee's name, street address, city and day phone number at the top of the page. Then write his qualifications. At the end of the letter, write your name, address, telephone number and age (if under 18). Mail to the PEOPLE Editor, P.O. Box 1857, Sanford 32771, or deliver to 300 N. French Ave.

Deadline for entries is noon on Wednesday, June 1.

The top three winners will be featured in the Herald on Father's Day.

It's an honor

Annie B. Wright, Sanford, holds a plaque and other gifts given to her for her 20 years of service at Sprague Electronics in Sanford. Her co-workers surprised her with a retirement dinner at Lake Monroe Inn recently. Wright plans to spend more time with her family and serve more at her church, St. James AME in Sanford.

Woman gains district Toastmasters position

LAKE MARY

— Rosella Bonham of Lake Mary has been elected educational lieutenant governor for District 47 of Toastmasters International, a district comprised of Florida and the Bahamas and to which 4,000 members belong.

Bonham

Elected Saturday in Melbourne to the position—the second highest office in the district—

Bonham will be responsible for chairing the district's educational programs, including how to speak, listen and think effectively.

In her former position of member orientation chairman, Bonham gave training seminars in communication and leadership throughout the district. She also gives youth leadership programs at Lake Brantley High School each fall, teaching how to speak impromptu and how to give a speech.

She belongs to the Toastmasters chapter meeting at Seminole Community College in Sanford.

Junior woman's club wins 'Emmy'

Donation for children's sake

Barbara Tashlin (right), from the Adam Walsh Child Resource Center, accepts a check of $100 recently from Sylvia Smith of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford. The check, from the club's public affairs department, was given at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The Adam Walsh center informs and guides parents in teaching children safety as well as helps locate missing children.

WINTER SPRINGS — The Semoran Junior Woman's Club, based in the Tusawilla area of Winter Springs, has received the Emmy Award at the state convention of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs of Florida.

At the convention, which took place April 23 and 24 in Orlando, the Winter Springs club of 14 members received a trophy for being the No. 1 club in its size category in Florida.

State judges were impressed with the Semoran Juniors' involvement in public affairs. The club donated money to and helped to landscape the new Seminole Children's Village child abuse shelter. They also became involved with the Ursula Sunshine child abuse foundation and the Florida Hospital Circle of Friends Homes, which house families of cancer patients undergoing therapy.

Regarding home life, the Semorans helped provide support during 1987 to a needy family of ill grandparents who were raising seven children. Club members repeatedly assisted the Spouse Abuse Center as well as the DePugh Nursing Home in Winter Park.

Judges also noted that many of the Semorans were active on the boards of Keeth Elementary School and Jackson Heights Middle School.

The club also received honors in leadership, programs and membership.

"The members of Semoran Juniors try to help others by pursuing the ideal rather than the material, because ideals give meaning to life," said spokeswoman Laura Kramer. "It gives us a very warm feeling inside to know how much we are helping others, and it just puts icing on the cake to learn that we've been so publicly recognized for it."

Thanks Sanford

Your continued support has made your Sanford Famous Recipe number one in the southeast U.S.A. We are very happy to serve you.

Famous Recipe of Sanford was opened May 2, 1972, the first Famous Recipe in Florida and the south. It was billed as "The Taste That Made The South Love Chicken". Within eight months after opening, the taste was liked so much that the Sanford restaurant was pushed to No. 4 in a chain of 110 units. During the past 16 years the Sullivans have received top line awards for service and sales. Then in 1980 the unit was No. 6 out of 224. The sales have kept us in the top 20 over all these years.

During his 20 years with Famous Recipe, Jerry has been directly involved in the opening of many Famous Recipe units and feels this No. 72 is the most fun so far. This is the sixth restaurant Jerry and Marguerite have opened for operations themselves. They currently operate 3 units, Sanford, Casselberry and one in Waycross, Ga.

In Sanford the large dining room will seat 56 customers in cool comfort and the large parking lot with Tak-A-Way window is more convenient for our many customers.

Jerry and Marguerite wish to thank the loyal employees for all their help in making our customers happy.

Reader surprised, angered when aunt's burial ashes appear in mail

DEAR ABBY: In a letter to you, a reader protested the calloused manner in which he learned of the death of a friend in a nursing home. Wait until you hear what happened to me: My cousin in Texas asked me if I would handle the funeral arrangements for their mother (my aunt) who had died while visiting them. She was to be cremated there, and her remains sent to me (in California) to be taken to a nearby cemetery and placed in the crypt she had previously purchased.

Of course, I agreed, assuming the remains would arrive by registered mail and I would be notified either by my cousins or the crematory as to the date of arrival.

Imagine my horror when I opened my curbside mailbox one morning to find a box with these words stamped on the outside: CREMATED REMAINS OF MRS. ----- (my aunt's name).

That was 10 years ago, and I still get furious when I think of it. Talk about unfeeling and calloused! I can't believe it's common practice to send cremated remains through the regular mails. Is it?

air filter became plugged. The husband removed the plugged filter, borrowed his wife's pantyhose, wrapped them around as a filter, and continued their trip in safety.

They were stopped by a highway patrolman near Moses Lake, Wash., where there was up to 7 inches of the stuff on the ground. (You can still see it.) The patrolman asked how they could keep going. They explained that they had shaken the ashes from the pantyhose each time the engine quit.

The Highway Patrol then purchased pantyhose for their cars and continued to help stranded motorists in that area. Pantyhose saved many engines until proper filters could be installed.

KEN THELANDER, SEATTLE

DEAR KEN: Thank you for sharing your unusual story.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the letter from Mary Jane who married Jack McCartney when he was 81 and she was 14, and now, two years later, she writes to say that they are very happily married and the parents of two beautiful children:

Perhaps your readers would be interested in some other marriages with similar age differences:

- Justice William O. Douglas was 64; his bride was 29.
- Melvin Belli, 64; his bride, 29.
- Henry Miller, 79; his bride, 29.
- Edgar Allan Poe, 26; his bride, 13.
- President Grover Cleveland, 49; his bride, 21.
- Bing Crosby, 53; his bride, 23.
- Pablo Casals, 81; his bride, 21.
- Luther Burbank, 67; his bride, 28.
- Leopold Stokowski, 63; his bride, Gloria Vanderbilt, 21. Darwin would probably say that such marriages were eugenically good. But I know a women's libber who says a girl has to marry a much older man to find maturity similar to her own.

GILBERT VAN VRANKEN, CLAREMONT, CALIF.

DEAR MR. VAN VRANKEN: Forgive the old cliché, but just because there's snow on the roof doesn't mean there's no fire in the furnace.

DEAR ABBY: Every time my wife and I go to pick out wallpaper, we end up in a big argument. This time, I told her to go to the store and pick out the three patterns she liked the best, and I would make the final decision from one of the three.

Well, she picked out three patterns from which I selected one. We hired a professional wallpaper hanger because my wife says I don't know how to hang wallpaper. After spending a lot of money for wallpaper and having it installed, my wife decided she hated the wallpaper.

I have to agree, it doesn't look as good on the wall as I thought it would, and now my wife says wallpaper should be wife's choice entirely because the wife has to look at it all day.

What do you say? We agreed to abide by your decision because we are going to replace it, although it's only been up for two weeks.

WONDERING IN CAPE CORAL, FLA.

DEAR WONDERING: Wallpaper should be a joint decision, but since your wife selected the three patterns she preferred, and agreed to let you make the final decision, she should have no complaints.

P.S. Next time, consult a decorator, and let him or her take the heat.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)

Brunch raises thousands for beauty

Brunch-munchers chat after the 12th annual May Day Brunch, sponsored by the Civic Improvement Project Committee of the Sanford Woman's Club. Proceeds from the event, which took place in the Sanford Civic Center, amounted to more than $52,000 and will be used to beautify the park between Eighth and Nine streets in Sanford. About 400 people reportedly attended the event, making for a record turnout at the brunch. Previous brunches have raised around a total $18,000 for civic improvement.

Optimist club may be founded in Lake Mary

LAKE MARY — Those interested in becoming charter members of the Optimist Club of Lake Mary are invited to a membership drive luncheon Wednesday, May 18, from noon to 1 p.m. at the CIA building on Country Club Road in Lake Mary.

Community leaders have noted the need for more youth activities and programs in Lake Mary, said Robert G. Howe, past governor for the Florida District of Optimist International. In response, the Optimist Club of Sanford and its president, A.J. Vincel, are forming the Lake Mary club.

Among activities sponsored by the 18-year-old Sanford club are: Youth Appreciation Week (honoring outstanding students), county high school band festival, international high school track meet, elementary school incentive program, essay contest, oratorical contest, and Bicycle Safety Week.

The Lake Mary Optimists will be involved in similar programs plus new activities to meet the community's needs.

Anyone planning to attend the luncheon or who cannot attend the Optimist Club of Lake Mary may call Herb Salyer, secretary-treasurer for Sanford's club, at 385-5365 before 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Puffiness remains after operation

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had an operation to remove a small lump in my vagina, and the doctor removed some lymph glands. Now my legs and ankles look puffy. Is this dangerous?

DEAR READER: Probably not. Lymph nodes act as filters; the glands in the groin filter lymph, a clear fluid derived from the blood, that drains from the legs. When these nodes are removed, a temporary buildup of excess lymph fluid can cause puffiness of the leg on the same side as the operation.

If both your legs are swollen, I'd blame the condition on the normal tissue swelling that is present after any operation. However, to be sure, I would have to know the type of lump removed and the reason for lymph node surgery. For example, the doctor may have suspected that the lump was a tumor. If it were, it might have spread to the lymph nodes in your groin and pelvis, thus causing blockage and swelling. I think that you should check this out with your surgeon; I am sure that he or she can give you a satisfactory explanation.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a hiatal hernia and intestinal gas. I take four grains of activated charcoal daily. Will this practice harm me?

DEAR READER: Activated charcoal is safe to use. The material absorbs many substances and has, for years, been part of old-fashioned products for digestive disturbances.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report, DIGESTIVE GAS. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: First there was the disposable tissue. Then there was the throwaway contraceptive sponge. Now I hear there are disposable contact lenses. What can you tell me about this new vision product?

DEAR READER: The new disposable contact lenses are marketed by Johnson & Johnson under the name Acuvue. These soft lenses were developed to enhance patient compliance and safety. They are worn for about a week, discarded and replaced with a fresh, sterile set. The company claims that the lenses do not collect de-

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It seems a bit much for South to jump to three no-trump with those cards, but it takes all kinds to fill the seats at a bridge table. Anyway South was eager to show that he was familiar with a play called the Bath coup. The Bath coup occurs when declarer's left-hand opponent leads the king from K-Q into declarer's A-J. Declarer then holds up to prevent the defender from continuing the suit without sacrificing a trick. But look what effect it had on this deal.

When the king of spades held the first trick, West realized the futility of a continuation, so he switched to a low diamond. Declarer played low from dummy; East won the 10 and continued the suit. Eventually declarer won the diamond ace and got to his hand with the heart ace to take a club finesse. East won the king and cashed the fourth diamond for down one.

In view of the bidding, the unusual play that South should make to persuade West to continue spades is to play the spade jack under the king on the first trick. That will create the illusion for West that declarer started with A-J alone, and a second spade will certainly be played. Declarer can now win the ace and take a club finesse with impunity. Though East has the club king, he does not have another spade. Even if he did, that would mean that West had overcalled on a four-card suit, and the defenders could not take enough spade tricks to defeat three no-trump.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bode Ouel

YOUR BIRTHDAY MAY 13, 1988

You're going to be taking on greater responsibility in the year ahead in all of your involvements, both businesswise and socially. These new inclinations will heighten your chances for success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Circumstances appear rather fortunate for you today in several situations where you have a strong, personal interest. Don't be afraid to aim for multiple goals. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH, 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An enterprise in which you're presently involved can produce greater benefits if you make a few adjustments. Make improvements.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Friends who are prepared to assist you today might not be willing or available tomorrow. If you want to utilize their support, don't postpone matters.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others will be playing a big hand today in a matter that is of personal significance to you. Fortunately, they will be proponents operating on your behalf.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today, you might fall heir to several situations that are a bit too tough for others to handle. However, you'll enjoy, rather than resent, these impositions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your thoughtfulness towards another today might not reap instantaneous compensation, but it will not be forgotten quickly. The account will be balanced later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) One of the reasons you have so many friends is that you're a person of unquestionable loyalty. Today, this noble quality will be put to use.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your financial trend could take a pleasant turn for the better today. However, it might be of short duration, so make "moala" while the sun shines.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Several matters you've been reluctant to tackle can be managed with relative ease today if you're willing to try. Don't be afraid of challenges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If your priorities are taken care of in proper order today, the results will be gratifying. Handle domestic and financial situations first.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are still in a favorable cycle where the fulfillment of your hopes are concerned. Don't be discouraged if your schedule appears to be backed up a bit.

ARIAS (March 21-April 19) You could be extremely lucky in achieving your material objectives today, so this is a good area on which to place your focus. Think money.

Irving Berlin marks his 100th birthday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irving Berlin, who wrote songs to which America marched, made love and celebrated life for eight decades, marked his 100th birthday in seclusion Wednesday, while fans and friends honored the writer of "God Bless America," "White Christmas" and countless other immortal melodies.

At the top of the celebrations was an all-star gala at Carnegie Hall feting the best of the legendary composer's more than 1,500 songs.

Berlin, who has led a reclusive life for more than 20 years, did not plan to attend, nor did his wife, Ellin, who has been ailing, but his three daughters and grandchildren were scheduled to be there.

Earlier in the day, the family gathered at the Berlin's Manhattan townhouse on exclusive Beekman Place for a birthday luncheon.

The celebration actually had begun for Berlin on the stroke of midnight when about 50 neighborhood fans and well-wishers from as far away as Toronto serenaded him from the street with "Happy Birthday" and one of his most famous romantic songs, "I'll Be Loving You Always."

Berlin, who is alert and reasonably active for a centenarian, came to an upstairs window and looked out but did not come out.

Instead, a woman believed to be a housekeeper called down. "He says to say, 'Thank you.' He's very grateful to you all."

The Carnegie Hall

gala was a fitting program for the author of "There's No Business Like Show Business" and hundreds of other standards that made him a multi-millionaire, beginning with "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in 1911.

Berlin will see a tape of the show as soon as it is edited by CBS-TV for national broadcast May 27.

At Berlin's midnight birthday serenade, songwriter John Wallowitch, who arranged a medley of Berlin songs for the occasion including "God Bless America," shushed the crowd and urged them to leave Berlin in peace after the serenade, saying the composer likely was concerned about his wife being disturbed.

"I think that he loves her so much, I mean the old-fashioned kind of love," said Wallowitch, a devoted fan who has serenaded outside Berlin's window every Christmas for 20 years.

"He adores her and he protects her. Thank God he has the wherewithal to do it."

The Carnegie Hall gala was arranged by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, of which Berlin was a founder, with the authorization of the composer.

PREVIOUS SOLUTION: "Sex appeal is fifty percent what you've got and fifty percent what people think you've got." — Sophia Loren

United Way

"If any good can come from such a tragedy, we just hope others can learn a lesson from it."

We hear that sometimes after writing about an event we wish had never happened.

The world it is our obligation to cover isn't always the world we'd prefer to write about. The victims of circumstance are our neighbors, too.

Still, we owe you the complete truth for only through knowing the whole story can a community learn from our mistakes, recognize problems that deserve our attention, appreciate human valor worthy of all our respect.

It's our job to honestly reflect all the news around us. And it's our duty to cover developments likely to affect you, even if some of those stories are unpleasant to photograph and share.

We claim no special privilege as your designated messenger of news — the bad as well as the good.

Yet we know this. Frequently the victims of tragedy are helped most as our community comes to know of their needs through newspaper stories and even some of those unpleasant pictures showing the victims of circumstance.

As we learn through such pictures, we know where to pitch in. And that produces human reactions we can share through more pleasant pictures. Such as this one, showing a volunteer helping move a flood victim to a Red Cross shelter.

Our assignment is clear: You count on your newspaper to reflect reality. Our responsibility is just as evident. You expect us to be tactful in gathering this information.

Reasonable expectations.

We respect your feelings in the stories we write, in the pictures we print and in our personal dealings. We're determined to remain sensitive, to the humans involved in the news and the audience we serve.

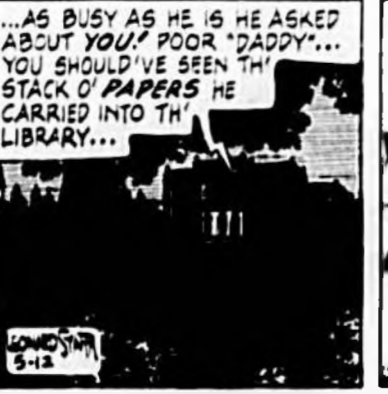

We're committed to earning your continued trust. No one should expect less from a good friend.

YOUR REAL WORLD

Because we care...

We'll tell you today's less pleasant news, too.
