

U.S. Industry Passes Post-War Expansion Peak

Election Chases Uncertainty In Investment, Bankers Find

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY, HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 7, (AP)—American industry has passed the peak of its post-war expansion, but probably will continue to spend on a large scale in 1949, a special committee of the Investment Bankers Association of America reported today.

The bankers who deal in public investment in industrial enterprises, found that "the unexpected result of the presidential and congressional elections has again caused a great deal of uncertainty about the investment outlook."

"Positive result of the election, so far as its investment implications are concerned, has been the revival of demand for fixed income securities on the basis of the belief that a Democratic administration means a relatively lower interest rate policy than a Republican administration would have meant," the report said.

Large companies, such as U. S. Steel, General Electric and Johns-Manville, which made an early start on their post-war expansion and spending programs, "are apparently scheduled to cut back their outlays by one-third or more in 1949, as compared with 1948," the committee said.

"Additional concerns which have already witnessed a down turn in demand for their products will cut back more sharply," the committee reported. "And yet manufacturers as a group are not expected to cut back by more than 20 per cent, and other enterprises in the mining, railroad, public utilities and commercial fields may well hold their budgets at high level, so that total business expenditures may be down only 10 per cent."

This could mean a decline in business capital spending of from two to three billion dollars, the committee observed.

"On the assumption that business earnings next year can hold up to within about 15 per cent below 1948," the committee said, "the internal generation of capital funds would be approximately adequate to meet this spending program and continue dividends at the 1948 level."

"Demand for new capital would then hinge on inventory and working capital requirements. Unfilled inventory requirements were $7,000,000,000 in 1947, and about $6,400,000,000 in 1948. If no new money is needed for building up 1949 inventories, these business will be able to supply most of its own capital needs."

The committee said there was a question whether the results of the election "will have an even more adverse effect on earnings than has been assumed."

Spy Case

Hiss formerly was a high official in the department. He now is president of Carnegie Foundation for International Peace. He has denied "without qualification the accusation." Chambers made his testimony in Baltimore.

The testimony was in connection with a libel suit Hiss has brought against Chambers for making charges that Hiss was part of a pro-Soviet Red underground in this country.

At the time Chambers says he got secret papers from Hiss, Weller was undersecretary of state. The committee since has consulted him on the advisability of releasing or keeping secret some of the documents it has obtained from Chambers.

The committee's decision came as 1. A grand jury in New York continued an inquiry into the whole question of Communist espionage. The Chambers-Hiss exchange figures in its inquiry.

2. The White House said President Truman had made no comment on the developments.

3. Nixon announced he plans to seek authority from the committee to put everything that it has learned before the grand jury. He said he will suggest to the Justice Department that it appoint a special attorney to handle the case before the grand jury.

Among the documents the committee has gathered are various sets, some that were produced in the libel suit, some that were obtained by printing microfilms. Chambers had hidden in a pumpkin on his Maryland farm, and some obtained from Chambers separately.

Mundi said he didn't know when Chambers might be available for public hearings. Chambers now is appearing before the New York Grand Jury.

In advance of the renewed public hearings, Mundi arranged to talk with a representative of the FBI and two people from the State Department. He said one of the departmental representatives is a high official but wouldn't name him.

The FBI and State Department callers, he said, asked for appointment with him.

Mundi said there was a "chance" the committee might make some documents public this afternoon and he said he thought there could be something new in Stroh's testimony. But he said there would be no naming of the source of the microfilms obtained from Chambers.

"Chambers," Nixon broke in, "has to name that source."

Mundi said the House investigators will "get Chambers just the first minute the grand jury will let him come."

The ordinance re-zoning the southwest corner of French Avenue and Eighteenth Street from residential to commercial status was given its first reading, and is due to be approved at the next regular meeting, said Mr. Bayer.

The rezoning is necessary to enable the County School Board to purchase the property, said Mr. Bayer.

A 90 day extension of the trial rental program of airport facilities was granted to the Showalter Corp.

Produce Sales

(Continued From Page One) units have dropped from $4.76 to $2.01 and eggplant from $4.34 average to $3.39. Cabbage has dropped from $2.74 to $1.26 a crate.

Oranges have declined from $2.00 average last year to $1.70 average and tangerines from $2.27 to $1.80 during the season. Market men, however, are optimistic that further price rises will come soon as the fruit, warmed and ripened in favorable warm weather, is of fine flavor and sweetness.

Tomatoes have been somewhat scarce during the past month and 2,300 units brought an average price of $7.24 a crate. They are nicely polished and displayed with red and green cellophane ties on top of crates packed by William Williams. Jack Flynn has gone in favor of the cellophane containers, each holding four tomatoes and with 30 containers to the paper carton. He revealed that quality like the appearance and preservation quality of the containers.

First picking of snap beans is now taking place in the Pompano section and are tender and of fine quality, market men report. They are bringing $1.75 to $3.00 a bushel. The Sunford bean deal is about over. Red radishes are bringing $2.25 to $2.50 for five dozen to the hundred. Local cauliflower is bringing from $2.75 to $3.50 a unit. Turnips are coming in from Zellwood and are usually eggplant from Georgia.

Mundy was a relatively quiet day at the market due to light supplies. The yard was packed with huge vans of trucks from out of the state, waiting until out for supplies.

Sanford has developed into the central landing port for fruit and vegetables of the state. Mr. Anderson pointed out. He is the trucker from Southern or seaboard states to get a solid load of vegetables, a mixed load of citrus and vegetables.

Harvesting of crops in the Central Florida area is not hampered this year by labor shortages as during past seasons, and the supply at present is adequate declared R. A. U. S. Ready To Open Austria Treaty Talk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7. (AP)—The United States notified Austria today it is ready to resume Big Four negotiations for an Austrian peace treaty.

Austria yesterday asked that the Big Four—the United States, Britain, France and Russia—revive the talks, which reached a stalemate in London last May.

A note handed the legation today said this government is "fully prepared" to take part in renewed discussions. It said that as soon as the other powers reply, the American chairman of the Foreign Minister's deputies will act.

A preliminary survey of the station and Sanford was made in October by Mr. Beck, and he said today that his initial impression was that Sanford is an attractive and progressive community.

Mr. Beck has been an active member of the Community Church of Glenview near Chicago and is Shrine. Mrs. Beck is a Methodist. She is the former Marjorie Hamman and appeared in network shows for a number of years. Among her radio roles were that of "Eddy" in "Maw Perkins" and as "Bath Ann" in "Bachelors' Children."

Mr. Beck is a member of the Laymen's Council of the church.

In holding that in the Laymen's Council a daily newspaper may, under particular circumstances, publish a false news dispatch without liability, the Florida Supreme Court has aligned itself with those courts which believe that the public interests are better served by an extension than by a restriction of the privilege.

"But in making plain the narrowness of the way and the strictness of the path when taken, the court declares that wantonness, recklessness, or carelessness in making such publications would be an abuse of the privilege.

Attorneys for the magazine contend that the editorial was fair comment, accurate and duty-bound to the utmost to bar assembly action on Korea in the five working days left here.

Dulles declared the Communist regime of North Korea asserts pretensions to govern the entire country and threatens to back those pretensions with force and violence.

"Already it has incited acts of terrorism and cruelty that shock all decent people," he said. "Yet that regime, born in obscurity, in defiance of the United Nations has been recognized by three members states: the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and is, it seems, supported morally and materially by the forces in North Korea of the Soviet Union."

The Korean case came up yesterday but the entire day was spent in unsuccessful Soviet attempt to get the committee to invite representatives of North Korea to the debate. The committee did not invite representatives of the Republic of Korea to take part.

Dulles said the U.N. should approve the government of the Republic which was set up under auspices of the U.N. Korean Commission. He urged the committee to approve the joint American-Australian-Chinese resolution backing the Republic.

Dulles called on the U.N. to continue a Korean commission to help the new government and the wartime military occupation.

The U.N. decided to adjourn its Paris meeting Saturday or Sunday and reconvene the General Assembly in New York April 1.

Meanwhile two-thirds of the office staff of the power company of blocked Berlin left for duty at a new office in Western Berlin. It was another wide split in the divided city government.

Communist politicians, stunned by the 1,310,820 votes cast Sunday in Western Berlin against them, talked of their own election in the Russian sector. The Russians in both Berlin and Moscow denounced the Western balloting. The Social

The industrial boom in Western Germany began leveling off at 40 per cent above levels of June. The American and British zones delivered $62,000,000 of exports last month, a new record.

Russian planes flew in all the Allied airfield corridors but stopped no deliveries of food and coal.

And in Palestine Mediator Ralph Bunche asserted peace is not far off in Israel. The U.N. Security Council membership committee ended its study of Israel's application but made no recommendation.

China War

These sources said the three trapped army groups have been compressed on a front eight miles long and five miles in depth. They were trapped by the Communists as they marched south from Suchow to rescue other encircled government forces.

Eight or nine Red columns, commanded by General Chen Yi, were said to have completed the encirclement of this former Suchow garrison. The trap was sprung about 50 miles southwest of their former base.

Civil officials, evacuated from Suchow with the troops, were reported hampering operations of the encircled armies.

The bulk of Chen Yi's forces were reported concentrated south of the government pocket to prevent an attempted break through in an effort to contact the encircled 12th Army Group.

Last night the Communist radio claimed 20,000 casualties already have been inflicted on the 2nd, 10th and 16th Army Groups caught in "air tight encirclement." All other Communist broadcast said Nationalist troops attempting to march south were "stampeded."

when they came under attack.

A Nationalist military press spokesman described the reported Communist encirclement as "not probable." He said he had "no received such reports." Government communiques are usually late reporting reverses.

BIBLE VERSE TODAY

WE NEED ALL OUR FACULTIES AT THEIR BEST—Ep. 6: 18: Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess.

We agree with the speaker at the Lions Club luncheon the other day who stressed the importance of training for parenthood, but we do not believe that the children are the ones to provide it.

We see where Fuller Warren's inauguration is going to cost $125,000. But that's nothing! If he makes as good a Governor as he said he was going to make, he will be worth it.

When James Caesar Petillo tried to organize the Salvation Army when he heard their band playing on a street corner, he was stampeded when told, "We already belong to a union, the Union of God." It would be a good thing if we could get all of us into that union.

Another reason why prices are high, if you are interested, is high taxes. Tom Bernard, in the American Magazine, says that every pair of shoes, by the time they have reached your feet, has paid 280 federal taxes, 136 state taxes, and 86 local taxes. There are 58 taxes of various kinds on every loaf of bread.

We were afraid that Secretary of State Marshall might not be in as good health as the exacting requirements of his office demanded. What he has been through during the past ten years has been enough to last an ordinary man half his age. We hope for his own sake, as well as for the sake of the country, that he recovers swiftly and regains the best of health.

Buy a ticket to the benefit dance at the Mayfair Inn Saturday night, whether you intend to go or not. The Fernand-Lauthon Memorial Hospital needs funds, need them badly if it is to continue to give the kind of service handicapped people need when they are sick. Too many of us are inclined to forget the hospital and its problems when we are well, but we wish to heaven we had remembered when we get sick.

Americans who are want to be part of the South's racial problem should rejoice, if they had heard Oliver K. Eaton's talk at the Rotary Club Monday, that it is not as bad, by even a small degree, as South Africa's, where only one-fourth of the population is white, where three-fourths of the natives are primitive savages. Negroes of the South should also rejoice that they enjoy the freedom and the opportunities of America and are not subject to the witchcraft practices of the South African gaolers.

You may not make as much money if you live in Sanford, as you might if you lived in Orlando, Jacksonville, or New York City, but you have more fun. That is, more good clean wholesome fun. Figures released the other day by Judge Ware reveal that over 2,625 persons in this county have secured fishing licenses since the season started on July 1. That is to say that about one out of every ten persons, including infants, sick and infirm, and aged, enjoys the sport of fishing and is in a position to satisfy his appetite for it in this vicinity.

Sometimes when we get letters taking a very strong stand on some controversial issue, but winding up with this stereotyped request, "Please publish this letter but do not use my name," we wonder how long democracy would last in country if any real effort were made either by a foreign power or internal "strong man" such as have been made in various European countries, to set up a dictatorship.

How many of us would stand and be counted, when the person being a democrat might mean, as worse, a concentration

How Much Food?

The Department of Agriculture has arrived at its food production goals for the coming year. In announcing its estimates of future needs, the Department said that the record-breaking crops of this year gave the country 14 per cent more food than in the years 1935 to 1939.

If this is an accurate estimate of total supply, Americans can individuals probably have less food available from the 1948 crop than in a pre-war year. A gain of 14 per cent in food production probably is not enough even to compensate for the rise in population in the same years. The Census Bureau estimated that the population increased slightly less than 14 per cent from 1940 to 1945. The rate of growth since 1945 certainly has not been materially less than in the war years.

Thus it makes good sense that the Department of Agriculture should recommend greater production next year of most food crops. Exceptions are potatoes, supply of which for more than a year has exceeded demand at the supported market price, wheat and eggs, among basic foods. A market excess of wheat is expected from this year's crop, and a market excess of eggs has existed previously.

What are called excess supplies of any food are only the result of market conditions. The fact is that in this period of the highest prosperity the country has ever known the food buying of most American families still is restricted by the limits of their budgets. The average American housewife does not have enough money to buy as much food as she would like to offer her family. Until she does, it can never be said that enough food has been produced. Nor does this take any account of food lags among other peoples.

Health Insurance

The American Medical Association approves a proposal for a national agency to help coordinate prepaid health insurance plans, such as those in which subscribers, for a fixed monthly fee, receive hospital care or other specified medical attention when needed. Such schemes have become common, operated by private concerns, mostly on a localized basis.

The idea of a national agency is to make it possible for a subscriber to one of these plans to receive medical care not only in the institutions co-operating with the plan to which he subscribes, but anywhere he might happen to be when needing attention.

The Association is opposed to compulsory medical insurance on a federal basis, commonly referred to as "socialized medicine". Prepaid medical care plans have to some degree nullified the arguments in favor of a federal plan, and national co-ordination of these plans would go still further in this direction. But there is at least one point which such private plans do not cover.

Those persons who neglect their health, whether because of lack of money or their own improvidence, endanger not only themselves but also the other people around them. This is one argument for a federal system of medical care which is hard to meet.

Baby Talk

The little boy obviously was just learning to speak, and it also was clear that he was examining a toy train at close range for the first time. Under his mother's coaching, with a great concentration of effort he produced a distinct pronunciation of the word "train".

All the while fond grand-parent, standing by, was placidly assuring him that it was a "choo-choo" on a "tweak".

One of the trials of the modern mother's life is the baby talk which well-meaning oldsters insistently push at the youngster to whom she is trying to teach English.

English Retires

Punta Gorda Herald

Colin English, who gave up the opportunity to be reelected without opposition to the office of state superintendent of public instruction to conduct an unsuccessful campaign for the governorship, retires from office January 4th.

During his 12-year tenure as head of Florida's educational system, the children of this state have enjoyed tremendously improved opportunities for education. The state's schools today have the best trained teachers in the south, and they are the best paid. A retirement system for teachers that is among the most liberal in the nation is in effect. Funds are made available for needed buildings, buses and other facilities, in addition to teacher and bus driver salaries, from state sources. Text books are furnished without charge to public school students.

State funds for the support of county school systems have been placed on a parity with other state appropriations, assuring teachers they will get the same consideration as other employees of the state if the money gets short.

Several of the outstanding men in the nation in their particular fields have been brought into the state to modernize and insure the progress of education in the state.

These things, and many others, accomplished under the leadership of Colin English, have brought Florida's south to the forefront in the south and have earned for them the wholesale respect of every part of the nation.

Mississippi Gives Warm Welcome To Lowell High Team

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 8, (AP)—Mississippians let loose an avalanche of enthusiasm in their official greetings to a Lowell, Mass., High School team here for the annual Memorial Bowl clash.

Crowds, bands and Governor Fielding Wright were on hand in Meridian yesterday to welcome the northern football stars.

Lowell high school is co-champion of Massachusetts. They will play against Bogalusa high school of Louisiana in the Jackson Touchdown Club's Memorial Bowl Friday night.

The Louisiana squad will arrive tomorrow.

Lowell Sports Writer Joe McGarry, one of the group of New Englanders accompanying the visitors, said he was "frankly overwhelmed" at the Mississippi reception.

"Every where we went in Mississippi," McGarry said, "people lined the road to wave at us. At Newton, it looked as if the whole town turned out to see us. Look, I even got a bag of pecans from somebody there."

At Meridian, the Massachusetts delegation were handed a cheering salute to the loud strains of "Dixie."

On hand with Governor Wright in the reception committee were Jackson Mayor elect Allen Thompson, Memorial Bowl Chairman B. E. Grantham, and other touch-down club members.

Wells Awarded $100 Fish Tourney Prize

George E. Wells of 2105 Magnolia Avenue was today awarded a $100 first prize for catching the largest channel bass entered in the Second Annual City of Daytona Beach Fishing Tournament, he announced.

The fish weighed 42 pounds and 8 ounces and was caught south of New Smyrna Beach, it was revealed. "There were people from all over the United States entered in the contest," he declared.

Maxim Awaits Shot At Louis' Title

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8, (AP)—Joe Maxim today joined the assorted flock of heavyweight title aspirants waiting in the reception room to do business with Joe Louis.

The fancy-boxing Cleveland last night outpointed Jimmy Bivins in a 10-round. Maxim weighed 182½, Bivins 178.

Bivins, a top ranker during the war years, was in the midst of a comeback campaign that included an impressive performance against Louis in an exhibition a few weeks ago.

ST. LOUIS WINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 8, (AP)—St. Louis University, expected to be one of the country's top collegiate basketball teams for the second straight year, whipped Baylor in its opening game last night.

The Billikens, sparked by All-America "Easy Ed" MacAuley, downed the Southwest Conference champions, 59-44, but there was some uneasy moments for the 10,186 fans who witnessed the game at St. Louis.

Baylor, beaten by Canisius and New York University in the East, trailed by only one point at half-time, 21-20. The Bears took the lead early in the third period before St. Louis exhibited the speed that it showed last year in winning the national invitation tourney at Madison Square Garden.

TRENT NAMED

WEST POINT, N. Y. Dec. 8—(AP)—John C. Trent, rangy end from Memphis, Tenn., will lead Army's football team next year. The six-foot-two, 195-pound senior was named last night to succeed center Bill Youman, who led the Cadets through an unbeaten season; Trent was elected by a vote of lettermen.

Rauch Named Most Valuable In SEC Raise $500,000 For Football Fund

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 8, (AP)—Johnny Rauch, quarterback who led Georgia to the Southeastern Conference football title and the Orange Bowl, today was selected as the most valuable player in the conference in the Nashville ban-nning 16th annual poll.

Hal Hall, the SEC coaches' voting in the poll, gave Rauch their first-place votes. He received 9 points in the voting with first, second and third choices counting three and 3 points, respectively.

Rauch will be presented a silver football at the banner's annual all-star sports banquet here in January.

Second in the voting was half-back Eddie Price of Tulane with 33 points. Mississippi's quarter-back Farley Salmon, the only player except Rauch to get more than one first place vote, was third with 23 points. He barely edged out Florida's Chuck Hunsinger, who got 22 points to take fourth place. Hunsinger received no first-place votes.

Doak Walker Is Not Interested In Pros

NEW YORK, Dec. 8, (AP)—Southern Methodist's Doak Walker, outstanding of the nation's present college grid crop, may forego professional football for a coaching career.

The two-time All-American half-back, who still has another year of eligibility, expressed faint interest in the money game last night in informal talk with newsmen after receiving the Helms Trophy as the outstanding college player of the year.

"I'm majoring in physical education," he said. "I'd like to coach when I'm through." He added that in pro grid career didn't appeal to him.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Are sportsmen in densely populated states like Connecticut forever doomed to do their hunting and angling on a "put-and-take" basis?

A member of the Connecticut Board of Fisheries and Game thinks not, if they realize what must be done and help do it.

John P. Montgomery, sportsman-industrialist and former president of the Connecticut League of Sportsmen's Clubs, says "artificial reproduction very definitely isn't the answer to the problem."

In this connection he cites Connecticut's expenditure over ten years of more than a million dollars on pheasants, and the state's yearly need to spend more and more to give the gunners an average of less than one bird per gun.

"That is put-and-take with the taker on the losing end," he says.

Montgomery says he thinks "the taker will continue to be the loser" in states like Connecticut "until someone comes up with an educational program designed to dispel popular misconceptions as to rights and privileges, duties and responsibilities."

"It is pretty generally agreed that destroyed environment, more than hunting pressure, is responsible for the plight of our wildlife," he says. "It has been pretty thoroughly demonstrated that, given suitable conditions, the valuable wildlife species will reproduce themselves. The better the conditions, the more abundant the reproduction."

"It also has been demonstrated that artificially propagated game cannot be liberated in unsuitable environments, except at a loss."

Montgomery continued. "That is one reason Connecticut's unsuccessful pheasant program has been so costly."

"What game restorationists are up against in states like this is a 'slum' clearance problem," he went on. "Slums have been created everywhere by pollution of our waters, the lack of flood control, soil erosion and our failure to replace the trees we've cut away."

The problem will be solved when agreement has been reached as to whose duty it is to clear these slums. Realization by the sportsmen that no wildlife agency, or combination of them, is going to be able to do it, will be an important forward step toward developing an optimum game population.

"This will take education, and it will require more education to place the responsibility where it belongs, and to convince those who should assume it that it is theirs.

"Restoration of conditions which can produce better hunting and angling is the responsibility of every individual and every public and private agency in this state," Montgomery asserted. "Starting as it is, it is so.

"And that is because the conditions which have depleted our game population affect every man, woman and child, either economically or from a health standpoint," he went on.

"For instance, the pollution of our streams and other waters is a demonstrable health hazard, endangering everyone, and thus a problem for all."

"Erosion, which destroys the soil's fertility, also destroys its tax value, and may spread to damage the property of others. Halting it is the problem of the owner of the land on which it occurs, of all his neighbors, and of the taxing authority of the community."

"And so is the problem of our destroyed woodlands, which must be restored for their economic value, as well as to prevent soil erosion and preserve and increase our ground water."

"The chore for the sportsmen then is to initiate the necessary program which would de-emphasize their interests, and emphasize the general public good which can and will result in slum clearance."

"The alternative is to spend more for less game each year."

OF TIMBER NEEDED TO MEET LARGER DEMANDS

At the rate we're cutting our forests now, it will not be many years before we will be in either implement procurement or timber and trees are concerned. That is, unless we do something considerate about the matter.

It's sort of like a business house that we've been building up a substantial bank account through savings, but then goes to work withdrawing funds from that account faster than it can be accumulated at a safe level. In a business house, that sort of thing long enough will fail. Well, the American people are cutting more timber than they're producing each year, and if they keep that up long enough they're going to run out of trees and timber.

So foresters, wood using industries, and others interested are becoming more and more concerned about our national timber picture.

The situation isn't confined to one state or region, but to the whole country. Take Florida, for example. Hardly a half century ago, Florida had thousands of acres of great forests. There just seemed to be a almost unlimited supply of timber. No wonder that the lumbermen in those days thought very little about forestation and timber needs of the future. As they had the tools of cutting trees by electric sawing, enough seed trees and young trees to provide continuous growth and other measures for protecting the timber supply our forefathers today would be far more favorable. However, in 1948, we still have timber in their states, and the rest of the world does, but we are running out of the cutting power generated and the resources left. The result is that we are in a difficult position, but there is still time to turn things around.

Miami Recall Move Goes To High Court

MIAMI, Dec. 8 (AP)—The recall movement against three Miami city commissioners will go to Florida's Supreme Court, perhaps on Friday, attorney Joe Creel said today.

A record of proceedings will be submitted to the court, probably on Friday, along with a petition to strike out, a local court decision that temporarily halted the recall action.

Creel, attorney for the Junior Chamber of Commerce which circulated recall petitions against Commissioners R. C. Gardner, H. Leslie Quigley and William W. Charles, said he did not expect the court to hear the case until after the holidays.

tainty of future military requirements, together with the important position the Fort Lauderdale station occupies in the Navy's mobilization and readiness plans, the future availability of the property for military use must be assured.

"The Navy will not relinquish the title as it considers it detrimental to the interest of national security."

Brown said the Navy was willing to grant an extension of use of the premises with provision that actual occupancy will be assured until May 1, 1949. At any time after May 1, upon the Navy having given 90 days notice, it must be able to gain possession, he added.

"You may be sure that the Navy deeply appreciates the assistance and cooperation Broward County has given in the presentation of the Fort Lauderdale Naval Air Station and desires to make every possible effort compatible with our own obligations and requirements to insure that the community will benefit from that property," Brown wrote.

Brown informed Holland that the "county commissioners have been most cooperative and the Navy will do all possible to assist the county's project at the air station."

Reactivation also was halted at the Opa Locka Naval Air Station at Miami at the same time.

Both stations were being occupied by civilian lessees.

States, a non member of the League.

In 1926, she pointed out, the Trans Jordan was ceded to the Arab King Abdullah, an area three and a half times as large as that taken by the Jews and about the size of New Hampshire.

In the early twenties, she said, Palestine had large areas, owned by large Arab land holders. The terrain was neglected and once terraced and cultivated areas had become sand dunes or malaria infested swamps. Following the Balfour declaration, many Jews made homeless by World War I, immigrated to the land, drained the swamps and built new and modern cities such as Tel Aviv and Haifa.

Very low standard of health prevailed prior to this transformation, said Mrs. Bear. An eye disease infected 44 per cent of every 100 inhabitants and there was much malaria. These diseases were eliminated and during World War II infant mortality had dropped to a rate of less than two out of 100.

Jewish medical organizations raised the health standards of Jews and Arabs alike and even during recent fighting the Arab patients came by back roads to hospitals and were treated.

New factories and homes were built upon land which had been bought from the Arabs, declared Mrs. Bear. She told of Jewish contributions to the Allied cause during the fighting against the Germans in North Africa, when the Jews fought valiantly in advanced units, worked as mechanics and aided Allied armies in reducing disease.

A dream of 2,000 years was realized last May when the UN voted for partition of Palestine. Twenty-four hours after the British had pulled out a stable regime had been set up by the Jews, she said.

Their government is patterned after the democratic government of this country.

Guests today were Col. S. G. Harriman, Bert Alford and Frank Weatherbee of the ACL, Grady Galloway of Ocala, J. L. Hurt, Lewis Doty and R. L. Dean.

The figure compares with $0.36 a week ago, and is 14 per cent below the all-time peak of July 13, and 11.1 percent below the corresponding week a year ago. The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Probably the internal prestige of the Soviet leaders, as much as any military reason, makes it pretty important for them to attempt to produce one. Dr. Compton, discussing peace-time uses of atomic energy, predicted that some nuclear plants may be producing power within a couple of years, but it would be only experimental.

"I don't believe atomic energy will be of any economic significance (as power) for at least ten years," he declared.

But possibly, he said, nuclear energy may be in use before that time. "In some location where it is extremely difficult to get conventional fuel."

1 China Army Government Files Anti-Trust Suit To Break Up Chicago Bank Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—Attorney General Clark said today the government has filed an anti-trust suit to break up the Chicago Mortgage Bankers Association.

The action Clark said, was brought this morning in the federal district court at Chicago. He said it names the association and 35 of its member mortgage banks as participants in an alleged "combination and conspiracy to suppress competition in the mortgage loan business in the Chicago area in violation of the Sherman Act."

In addition to dissolution of the association, the suit asks a court order directing the defendant banks to refund certain fees to customers. These allegedly were collected by the banks and paid over to brokers for the placing of federal Housing Administration mortgages.

The Justice Department said the members of the association have made mortgage loans of excess of $100,000,000 since 1942, and that

Bartender Admits Killing Painter For $1,000 Ring

Police Doubt Gravedigger's Story On Philadelphia Murder

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—A 21-year-old bartender who hoped to be a policeman was charged with murder today in the hotel room slaying of Charles J. Hines, 48, Melvyn, Wis., painter.

The charge was placed against Captain Harry Perez less than 10 hours after Hines' body was found bound, hand and gagged in his room at the Ambassador Hotel.

Perez was arrested at 1:00 A. M. today. Assistant Chief of Detectives Robert V. Murray said the bartender confessed to killing Hines for his $1,000 diamond ring.

Murray said Perez told him he struck up an acquaintance with the painter in a tavern and went with him to his hotel room Tuesday night, after noticing the ring on Hines' finger. The ring was found in a davenport in the bartender's room.

Perez was ordered held pending a coroner's inquest tomorrow.

"I wasn't going to kill him," Murray quoted the young Mexican-American as saying.

Perez is married and has a stepdaughter. His wife, Betty, told reporters after seeing her husband at police headquarters,

"I don't know why Chris killed that man. But it must have been because he was drunk. When he started drinking, he was like a madman."

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8. (AP)—The homicide squad today doubted a former grave digger's story that he committed a Philadelphia murder.

Anchors Inn Bought By Jimmy Spencers

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. (Jim) Spencer have purchased the Anchors Inn from Mr. and Mrs. Walter High, and last evening opened the dining room which was crowded to capacity. The Inn is located at the junction of Fourth Avenue and the Orlando Highway.

This morning Mr. Spencer declared that in the near future he plans attractive re-decorations. The large dining room in the rear of the Inn has a seating capacity of 60, and in addition there is a large private dining room available for private parties. An attractive cocktail lounge and bar is in front.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, who for the past two years and eight months have operated Angel's Eat Shack on Sanford Avenue, will personally operate the Inn, which they declare they have always admired for its cleanliness and pleasant surroundings. For the time being, they will be open from 8:00 P.M. until midnight.

Kitchen improvements include a 16 cubic foot capacity refrigerator, and a full size Garland gas range and oven.

Mr. and Mrs. King will personally operate the restaurant for some time after the opening of this, the 10th of their chain of restaurants in Florida. Mr. King revealed that for seven years he had the McDonald chain of restaurants in Los Angeles, Calif., and operated lunch places in San Diego and on Del Coronado Island. One of the King restaurants is now operated in Deland.

America Must Put Christian Pattern In World Relations
