

The Sanford Herald

Published every afternoon except Sunday at Sanford, Florida
111 Magnolia Avenue

Entered as second class matter
October 27, 1919 at the Post Office at Sanford, Florida, under act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

HOLLAND L. DEAN — Editor
EDWARD BEIG — Manager
CHARLES E. JONES Managing Editor

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

One Year $1.00
Six Months .50
Three Months .33
By Carrier per Week .10

The Herald is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, an International Association of Newspaper Advertising Agents which requires each Publisher member to submit to a thorough audit of circulation.
In order to certify circulation, all claims of circulation as well as business methods.

The Herald, Sanford's pioneer newspaper subscriber to the International News Service, receives from that service news wire messages twenty thousand words daily covering all the leading events of the entire world. The I. N. S. is especially affectionate to Florida in its manner of handling state news is without equal.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Matthew 7: 11.—If ye then be ing evil know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in Heaven give good things to them that ask Him.

ANY DEAD TO ANY LIVING

Boast not about our score.
Think this: There was no need
For such Sack of Youth
As burned our lives.
We, and the millions more,
Were Waste, from want of heed.
From worldwide hate of truth.
And us in gyves.

Let us dead bury the dead.
Let the great graveyard be.
Life had not health to climb,
It could not strength hat saves.
Purchase our million graves
As records of a crime;
But give our brother a hand,
Unfetter heart and head.
Set prisoned angels free.
JOHN MAGEE, D.D.

One of the world's intelligence tests is used to aid men in their quest for prosperity.—Louisville Courier

The earlier you get your auto plates the sooner you can quit worrying about how long the police will let you wear your old ones.—Indianapolis News.

Five more persons have been killed at a grade crossing. Some day maybe motorists will learn it is futile to attempt to beat a train to the crossing.

Americans spent five billion dollars on their Christmas shopping. Which is another indication of prosperity, whether we felt it or not.

Our office boy tells us that if a certain Sanford woman were entered in that world's championship gabfest she'd win hands down.

With one film star in the hospital and two others under arrest in connection with a free-for-all that occurred during a party, we understand that Hollywood had a very merry Christmas.

Congress seems to be coming to the rather dilatory conclusion that if it is going to conform to the constitutional requirement that a congressional report shall be made definitely, it will have to get a move on. And, gosh, how it dreads it!—Indianapolis News.

The influenza epidemic is spreading rapidly, more than a million cases being reported thus far by the Public Health Service.
That news serves to emphasize the necessity for taking all possible precautions to prevent the outbreak of an epidemic in Sanford.

President-elect Hoover is reported to be very much interested in Major Chester Mills' plan for placing prohibition enforcement on a more efficient basis. If the incoming executive finds some of the suggestions worthy of adoption, Mr. Duran's contest will become something more than a mere gesture.

We are indebted to the Times-Union for the information that the correct name for Irish potato is solanum tuberosum. If we are compelled to use the correct name every time we wished the potatoes passed at the dinner table, we fear our consumption of that particular article of food would be greatly reduced.

In the controversy that has arisen over the question
as to who signed himself
"Obstruction," writes that
"Obstruction" and "Obstructionist"
will be greatly reduced.

After the controversy that has
arisen over the question
as to who signed himself
"Obstruction," writes that
"Obstruction" and "Obstructionist"
will be greatly reduced.

What Others Think

J. C. Penney, millionaire chain store operator who has demonstrated his faith in Florida by investing many of his millions in various kinds of projects, has recently proposed to develop considerable land in Collier county for the purpose of ascertaining the possibilities for producing tung-oil. That Mr. Penney is confident of success of the venture is attested by the generous amount of money which he proposes to expend. The possibilities of tung-oil production in Florida have already been recognized in Alachua county, but the chain store operator feels that Collier county soil offers even better prospects than this part of the state.

How others look upon the project may be gathered from an editorial appearing recently in the Augusta Chronicle which declares that "whatever helps Florida benefit the South." Among other things the Chronicle has this to say:

"Information is to the effect that J. C. Penney, founder of the well known chain of stores, is still sold on Florida. That is encouraging news, anything that tends to advance and develop Florida naturally reflects advantageously on the whole Southeast, certainly on the Atlanta territory. United States highway No. 1 links Florida with the rest of the world, especially the thickly congested section of the Eastern seaboard and the way to Florida, by most direct route is by way of Augusta on this highway."

"Mr. Penney has been interested in Florida for a number of years and like the late Walter Rockefeller comfort, Augusta winter resident, held out for Florida against all odds in time of stress. Now Mr. Penney is demonstrating his faith in the future of Florida by adding 1,000 acres to the cultivated area in Collier county. This addition includes 500 acres in the new business of tung-oil production, 250 acres more of satsuma oranges, fifty-seven acres of table grapes, thirty-five acres of Japanese persimmons and 250 acres to the big dairy farm already in operation.

"This manifestation of interest by the Penney Town Corporation ought to provoke in prudential capitalists and developers throughout the country. The company now has sixty acres in tung-oil. Five years old, and with 150 acres in satsuma oranges, and the dairy farm has heretofore had 467 acres under high pasture and food production operations, much forage being grown.

"The plan of developing agricultural lands along an idea of showing just what can be done in a community and then opening up new territory to the general public at nominal prices, purchasing on easy terms, including long time periods and low rates of interest, will do more to develop and sustain agriculture than most of the so-called farm relief measures."

Who Will Be Champion?

Ordinarily, we are opposed to the new fangled idea of staging marathon contests to demonstrate man's prowess in every kind of endeavor. They serve no good purpose but merely divert public attention when it might be more usefully employed. Generally speaking they are publicity stunts designed to bring someone fame and fortune without the formality of having to work for it. In short, such exhibitions constitute more of a nuisance than a benefit.

We well recall the long distance dance craze which gripped the country a few months ago. We remember that the fad lasted only a short time, only to give way to others equally as foolish. Skating contests, pole-sitting and lantern-throwing exhibitions had their time. Someone established a new coffee-drinking record and another was crowned the champion oyster-eater. A westerner called hogs from the crack of dawn to the sunset and automatically became the world's foremost hog-eater. Every other conceivable test was suggested and tried out to the accompaniment of ballyhoo that far outstripped that of the foremost cinema feature. Ideas became scarce and promoters became desperate. Casting about frantically for something new and novel, they hit upon one, which we believe has some merit.

There was inaugurated yesterday in New York the world's championship "gabfest," the purpose of which is to crown the talking king of the universe. The possibilities to a general rule but in this instance our interest has been so aroused as to overcome all the objections we have enumerated. We are not so concerned with the fact that this contest will disclose which particular individual in this world can talk the longest as we are with another feature. It has occurred to us that since both men and women are entered in the marathon, we will, for the first time, have some opportunity to judge which species of the human race has the edge in this business of talking.

It has long been said that woman more than holds her own when it comes to "gabbing." On the other hand, there have been in recent years many women to dispute the accusation. They have countered with a gentle reminder that women cannot even keep up with man, much less surpass him, in demonstrating the elasticity of the tonsils. It appears that this moot question may be finally decided in this instance. We await with bated breath the outcome of the marathon.

FLORIDA PRODUCTS
MIAMI HERALD

Florida's greatest product is sunshine. It cannot be exported, but thousands come here to enjoy the rays. No other state can take this away from us. It is permanent and its value cannot be compared.

Next in importance at present are probably the products of the soil. This year their value is placed at $93,078,000 by the department of agriculture, an increase of about $1,000,000 over the preceding year. The production of citrus fruit was not large, but the prices were higher. The staple crop estimate is $24,776,000 as against $23,800,000 for 1927. The truck crops showed the biggest gain, from $21,220,000 in 1927 to $31,220,000 in 1928. Fruit and nut valuations decreased from $48,947,000 to $42,044,000.

These figures show the importance that attach to the orange products, which are raised elsewhere also. In citrus fruit there is little competition, except in certain kinds of fruit from California. That production would be considerably increased.

An illustration of the possibilities was given in the ship-

SAME OLD FAMILIAR HOWL*ELSEWHERE THAN IN NORTH CAROLINA

JACKSONVILLE TIMES-UNION

What is being done in North Carolina in the matter of industrial and agricultural development and progress can be done elsewhere in the South in Florida. In fact, it has provided the stimulus and the most strenuous efforts of all the states in the South in making the industrial and agricultural economy of the South more complete development of the South's agricultural resources.

The News Letter of the Chamber of Commerce of North Carolina recently gave a summary of the facts as suggested in the economic article which appeared in the state's agricultural and industrial and manufacturing districts, in which summary it was said that "The annual output of the farms and factories of North Carolina is more than one billion dollars."

The statement then is made that "it has been only a decade since North Carolina was held as a billion-dollar state," to which was added the prediction that "It will be but a short time until we will be held as a two-billion-dollar state."

When we consider the distinguished dignity of our fellow ignoramus, how could we be expected to know what Ed Lambright didn't?

It is well known that in the course of time the state of North Carolina is to be a leader in agriculture and industrial development, and second, to urge every other state in the South to make its best efforts in what the Old North State is doing by way of turning to good account the abundant and varied natural resources and advantages possessed and thereby making greater and better industries of all kinds in North Carolina.

The only way by which a state can succeed in that matter is by the efforts of its own people. When local practical and aggressive activity, by home people first, is to be found the next or within a period of time.

It has been stated in connection with agricultural and industrial progress that is being made in North Carolina, that 513,000 agricultural workers in that state produced products that had a total value of $453,000,000 and that the Christmas may be over but the Florida state chamber of commerce about to establish itself a year round resident agent in Santa Claus in this state. "Business in the north," says one of Wall Street cannot go on forever, is casting about for opportunities for investment when the stock market tipples from its peak and enough of it already is turning toward Florida to warrant the prediction that millions of dollars will become active here in the not distant future. Few Floridians are aware of what is actually in progress at the present time. For many reasons individual projects cannot be discussed because they are not yet ready for announcement, but enough can be divulged to indicate something of the situation.

With this prelude the chamber editorial then outlines a number of specific projects and developments recently launched in Florida which have all of the glowing ear-mark of none of the fatal blood pressure of the boom days.

What is the greatest book outside the Bible, ever written? There is no measure for a positive decision but the opinion of some of Florida's leading men on the subject would be an interesting sidelight on the men rendering such opinion.

ments of Dade county strawberries to New York by airplane. The North will take all that we can raise and don't consume here, and they can be produced at a time when there is no competition from domestic sources.

Out of Florida's sunshine and soil may be drawn inestimable fortunes if we but take full advantage of the opportunities.

POCKET VETOES
NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

In order to nullify the pocket veto of the Muscle Shoals bill, Senator Norris has been trying to pass the revolutionary doctrine that a pocket veto does not affect bills that have passed both houses of Congress. In response to this the Department of Justice has submitted to the Senate a history of acts sent to the White House within ten days of the adjournment of various Congresses. This record shows that all bills have been killed by pocket veto for the last six months and eight sessions.

The language of the Constitution is clear enough. It says: "If it shall not be returned by the President within ten days after it is sent to him, it shall be law." It is not clear whether the pocket veto is in conflict with this provision.

President Wilson, in his veto message, declared that he had signed it, unless Congress, in their adjournment, had taken action in which case it could not be a law. These provisions were intended to protect against undue delay in the Senate by disapproving of legislation that did not receive the support of the President.

Unfortunately the symptoms of influenza are spreading rapidly throughout the country. At the end of the session in the final week of the last session the Muscle Shoals act was passed Congress adjourned without debate. Both the Speaker of the House and the Vice-President announced in the close of the session that it could take effect at once, just as it was, over the Christmas holidays, but did not choose to do so.

It prevented the President from sending in a veto message due to the adjournment of the Senate until the beginning of the next session. But probably Congress will not be in session again before January 1st.

Fortunately the symptoms of influenza are extremely mild, and the disease seems to be spreading more slowly than was apprehended.

The new theory advanced is that Congress does not adjourn at the end of the long session, but continues it for several weeks until the beginning of a new session.

Unfortunately the symptoms of influenza are spreading rapidly throughout the country. At the end of the session in the final week of the last session the Muscle Shoals act was passed Congress adjourned without debate. Both the Speaker of the House and the Vice-President announced in the close of the session that it could take effect at once, just as it was, over the Christmas holidays, but did not choose to do so.

It prevented the President from sending in a veto message due to the adjournment of the Senate until the beginning of the next session. But probably Congress will not be in session again before January 1st.

It prevented the President from sending in a veto message due to the adjournment of the Senate until the beginning of the next session. But probably Congress will not be in session again before January 1st.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The present epidemic of influenza seems to have begun on the west coast and to have spread eastward over the rest of the United States by the middle of December.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The present epidemic of influenza seems to have begun on the west coast and to have spread eastward over the rest of the United States by the middle of December.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

The word grippe is used as a prefix, apparently as is, of course, in Europe.

THE "FLU" EPIDEMIC

DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

IN PALM BEACH POST

Various epidemics of diseases affecting the nose, throat and lungs have been recorded under the name of influenza.

One outbreak was fully described occurring in France in 1769, another occurring as far back as 1417.

Since the great epidemic of 1918 investigators have been attempting to ascertain whether that was similar in character to the one which occurred in 1847 and the one that took place in 1889. It has now been rather generally agreed that the condition was essentially the same and that such attacks occur in cycles of approximately three years.

In epidemic influenza the person suddenly seized with mild fever, headache, pain in the back and in the legs. There is running at the nose and a remarkable degree of prostration out of proportion to the severity of the symptoms.

There is also a multiple liability secondary bronchitis and pneumonia. There seems to have been much more pneumonia in 1918 and 1920 in the epidemics of 1889 and 1890.

Dr. E. O. Jordan in his survey of influenza epidemics which have swept the world considers particularly those of 1802-1803, 1805-1806, 1830-1

LAEMMLE DENIES MOVIE THEFT OF BIG PRODUCTION

Asserts "Cohens And Kellys" Not Taken From Nicholas Play

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Anne Nichols, who says that Carl Laemmle borrowed from her "Abe's Irish Rose" in the picture, "The Cohens and the Kellys," resumed her effort yesterday to collect $3,000,000 from Mr. Laemmle and the Universal Pictures Corporation.

Mr. Laemmle took the witness stand in United States District Court. He told Judge Henry W. Goddard "there is not one word of truth to the charge." The picture, he said, was an adaptation of Aaron Hoffman's "Two Blocks Away."

Miss Nichols had volunteered the incredible bit of news that "Abe's Irish Rose" had been a failure as a motion picture.

"It was withdrawn as a failure," she said, "but I understand they are fixing it up with some sound sequences now."

"Don't you know?" Isaac R. Oland, attorney for Miss Nichols, "that 'Two Blocks Away' was simply used as a smoke screen to protect the piracy of 'Abe's Irish Rose'?"

Has A "Ghoul" Writer

The producer said he was not aware of this. He asked for a glass of water, indicating with his hand that his throat was parched. He denied in "The Saturday Evening Post" under his signature describing advertising "hokum." He said they were written for him by an employee named Gallan, "I helping him what little I can."

Mr. Oland then introduced a bit of advertising which which declared: "It is predicted that this photoplay will be to the screen what 'Abe's Irish Rose' was to the stage."

"The advertising department," Mr. Laemmle replied, "uses it him once in a while just as pictures do."

Miss Nichols Give Hit Reel

Before Mr. Laemmle took the stand Nathan L. Miller, former Governor, his attorney resumed his cross-examination of Miss Nichols, attempting to show as much literary precedent for the "Cohens and the Kellys" as for "Abe's Irish Rose."

It was a tilt in which names of authors such as St. John Ervine were mixed up with Thomas Grant Springer and the magazine, "Telling Tales." Miss Nichols, wrapped in a brown fur coat, exuded Christmas cheer, revealed a distaste for George Jean Nathan and gave a recipe for writing hits;

"An author's work is an inspiration coming from the heart. You get a situation, do the best you can to get it on paper and then get it to Washington to be pyrified as soon as possible."

Like Mr. Laemmle, Miss Nichols confessed that she was not always the author of articles that appeared under her name. She again denied knowing about an article that appeared in "Theater Magazine" in which she was credited with revealing a well-known strain existing in "Abe's Irish Rose."

Mr. Miller asked Miss Nichols if she had read Mr. Nathan's criticism of "Abe's Irish Rose," likening it to "Krausmeyer's Alley." Miss Nichols said that she hadn't.

Doesn't Like Criticism

"Don't you read criticisms about play?" Mr. Miller asked her.

"No," she said, "I don't like it. First I was hurt too much by it. Then I stopped."

"Don't you read George Jean Nathan?"

"No, I don't like him. He's too smug."

Mr. Miller pointed out that "The Rabbi and the Priest," "Downstairs and Up," "The Marriage Broker" and "Joseph Lewis & Son" had all pretended "Abe's Irish Rose." He pointed out what he thought were striking similarities in each.

"These are other plays," Miss Nichols replied. "Each play receives different treatment. I was born in Georgia and didn't ever hear any of the plays there, which you have been reading."

"I don't know anything of what you say about the construction. I don't care about the heart. There are thirty-six different situations and only so many ways to handle them."

"You claim a monopoly on 'Abe's Irish Rose,'" Mr. Miller said.

"I never even read the book in those long descriptive parts of the author," replied.

"I don't read them. I don't care about the heart."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl. I like the thirty-six! Alice in Wonderland."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

"I like the love of a boy for a girl."

SANFORD DAILY HERALD WANT AD RATES

Terms: Cash in Advance.

Telephone ads. will be received and patrons and customers sent immediately for payment.

Time rates—$1.00 a line

10 lines—$1.00 a line

20 lines—$1.00 a line

Time rates on request.

The reduced rates are for consecutive insertions.

Five words of average length are counted a line.

No ad under 1 line accepted.

All advertising is restricted to upper classification.

If an error is made, The Sanford Herald will be responsible for only the incorrect part in the advertiser for subsequent insertions. The office will be notified immediately in case of error.

TO ADVERTISERS

A Herald representative thoroughly familiar with rates rules and classifications will give you complete information.

And if you wish, we will assist you in wording your want ad to make it more effective.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

PALACHICOLA systems fresh

daily. W. H. Long Market.

N. NIPPER Signs of all kinds in Sanford Paint and Paper Co. Phone 303.

CLEAN UP YOUR OLD WALLS

WITH THE NEW WALL

PAINT. SOMETHING NEW

AND BETTER. FOR FURTHER

INFORMATION, CALL PHONE

RE 3-SEE V. C. COLLIER

SANFORD, FLA.

PIANO TUNING—By expert with 17 years experience. Also

PHOTOGRAPH repairing. Sanford Hair and Gift Shoppe, Mc-

Leland Arcade. Phone 8-32.

Automobile

BUSINESS CARDS will bring in business during the winter months. New residents always turn to the Classified ads for what they want. Your card in the Classified Column will bring results. Low monthly rates. Call 118

a representative.

DODGE

Power cars and Graham trucks

20 and 15th Street. Phone 3.

LUP-MARMONS

Mordor Automobiles Co.

Magnolia Ave. Phone 147.

Postmen Service

BUILDING BLOCKS—Irrigation

and general cement work.

Concrete Co. J. E. Ter-

rrell, Proctor and Elm.

Business Cards—Don't send your business cards away. We have a stock priced right. Night

Post Shop.

JAMES' DRUG STORE—Prescriptions, Drugs, Soda. We are as near as your phone. Call 118.

METAL ROOFING: The Roof Everlasting. Metal shingles standing seam tin and galvanized sheet. See James H. Cowan, Oak

Iva and Third St. Phone 111.

SANFORD STOVE AND FURNI-

TURE CO., 321 E. First St. We will make it interesting for you to see us before buying. Cash or

Phone 49 W.

Help Wanted (Male)

WANTED 50 MEN

to work in woods clearing.

M. S. Nelson near Elder

Springs.

BOYS WANTED TO SELL

THE SANFORD HERALD

ON THE STREETS

Boys can make good money. Only boys who want a fair job every afternoon need apply.

CIRCULATION MANAGER

THE SANFORD HERALD

10 B—Rabbits

RABBITS FOR SALE—Pedigreed

and registered breeding stock,

young pedigree stock eligible

registration. Chinchillas, blue eyed beavers and New

White. St. Johns Rab-

Indian Mound Village, San-

P. O. Box, 938.

PLANTS

SALE—Color plants,

R. U. Hutchinson,

325 W.

Planted

LAND TO BUY—Gasoline or water. Must be in good condition. General Herald.

Want to rent small house in 1929. Am Michigan farm land and truck grower

wants some with two bedrooms, wares and

furniture. General Designs for Rent.

Apartment, 612 Park

Ave. 118 Park

Apartment, 118 Park

Purchased Cosmopolitan Apartment

screened porch and bath. 211 Laurel Ave. Price per sq. ft.

Palmetto Lodge Apartments. All

modern conveniences. Reasonable rents. 318 Palmetto Ave.

Apartment, 118 Park Avenue.

Apts. 118 Park Ave. Water and gas included. Phone 18-18.

118 Park Ave.

Houses for Rent

118 Park Ave. 118 Park Ave.

118 Park Ave. 118 Park Ave.