School Jobs OK'd To Satisfy Feds

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

In an effort to comply with federal requirements, the Seminole County School Board Wednesday voted 4-1 to create two new staff positions for bilingual persons to aid in the registration of foreign language-speaking students.

The board also approved 61 new teacher appointments despite protest from the teachers' union representatives who said teachers with good recommendations who taught in the district last year should be rehired before new people are brought in.

The new staff positions call for a Spanish-speaking registrar who will receive an annual salary of at least $11,000 and a registrar's aide who must be fluent in English and another language other than Spanish and who will receive an annual salary of at least $5,700.

Board members said they hope the two new positions will satisfy federal officials who charged that the district does not adequately identify students whose primary or home language is other than English, does not adequately assess and classify those students by the level of their English proficiency and does not adequately communicate with non-English-speaking parents.

Dan Dagg, assistant superintendent of instruction, said representative of the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights indicated to him the jobs would correct those problems, but he said they did not guarantee it.

"I'm reluctant to approve this and employ people if it won't satisfy the stipulations that were laid down (by the federal government)," said board chairman Allan Keeth. "But if it will help to a better job with our initial screening, then I think it's important we have this type of operation going on."

"It's a positive direction to take," said board member Roland Williams.

But board member William Kroll, the only member to vote against the proposal, said he was adamantly opposed to the proposal.

"It's the federal government that's letting the people into this country," Kroll said. "The federal government should pay for their education."

"I feel the same way Bill (Kroll) does," said board member Robert Feather. "But these children are in our community and we have to move forward to do what we can."

Before approving the registrar's position, Williams suggested that the person should be certified to teach Spanish and the stipulation was included.

It was suggested that the registrar's aide speak Vietnamese, but so far no specific language has been specified.

The board also approved a job description for a consultant-coordinator who will provide services to all schools in regard to federal projects in Exceptional Student Education. The position is federally funded.

In approving the 61 teaching appointments, the board faced a familiar objection from Seminole Education Association (SEA) members.

"There are still a number of (laid-off) teachers who taught in the system last year who have not been reappointed," said Bill Moore, interim executive director of the SEA. "They should be rehired before approving brand new people."

Williams voted against the appointments because he agreed teachers with satisfactory records should be reappointed first as openings arise.

Feather disagreed.

"With 3,000 active applications on file, why should we hire teachers that are not satisfactory?" Feather asked. "Among those we must be able to find teachers that are better than satisfactory."

Earlier, Seminole County Schools Personnel Director Owen McCarron said his office does not know the exact number of active teacher applications on file.

FOOTBALL IS FUN, RIGHT?
No, that isn't a smile coming from Lake Howell High School's Larry Otis. The Silver Hawk gridder is one of a little blood, sweat and tears. All part of fall football practices that are in full swing at Seminole County's five high school campuses. Otis and his Silver Hawk teammates are busy preparing for the Sept. 12 season opener against the Bishop Moore High School Hornets.

Crash Pilot Was Inexperienced

Volusia County investigators say the pilot of a marijuana laden plane that crashed and killed two men Tuesday had been licensed just 38 days and was not qualified to fly the twin-engine Cessna Skymaster.

Authorities have identified the pilot as Myron Monroe Lewenthal III, 23, of Maitland. Also killed in the crash when the plane clipped a pine tree in the fog and burrowed its right wing in a field, was James A. Zello, 27, of Longwood.

L. Bill Smith of the Volusia County Narcotics Task Force said flight records showed the two had gone to Jamaica and had returned to Florida with 625 pounds of pot worth $312,000.

Smith said the two victims were pulled from the plane by people on the ground who unhooked the marijuana and stacked it for transport near the plane on a sandy roadside. Twenty-five bags were recovered.

High Costs May Force Port To Shelve 4th Mini-Mall

The Seminole County Port Authority's fourth "mini-mall" to house industrial tenants may not get off the drawing board due to the high cost of construction and financing.

The port's long-range plans call for nine multi-tenant buildings to be built on an "as demand" basis. So far, mini-malls I, II and VII have been constructed and are fully occupied. And, according to Port Administrator Dennis Dolgner, there has been a demand for more rental space at the port.

But, Dolgner told the port's board of directors Wednesday, the prospects for Mini-Mall III don't look good unless interest rates drop.

A preliminary cost analysis, Dolgner said, shows that the planned 16,000-square-foot building could be constructed for about $200,000.

That would mean space would have to be rented at about 17 cents per square foot, he said.

"I'm not sure that's a rate the Seminole County market can bear," he said. "And I don't want to be uncompetitive and stuck with a mortgage payment due every month and no tenants."

"The demand for the space has been there," he said, "but I'm not sure the demand would accommodate the price we would have to charge."

He said he will continue to study the matter and report back to the board no later than their next regularly scheduled meeting next month.

Mini-Mall I, with 10,000 square feet, Mini-Mall II, with 14,000 square feet, and Mini-Mall VII with 7,500 square feet, rent for an average of 14 cents per square foot, Dolgner said. And for renters of large spaces, the price could start as low as 11 cents, he said.

Mini-Mall III was envisioned as a building with up to eight 2,000-square-foot bays. It would accommodate up to eight tenants or fewer tenants with some utilizing more than one increment of 2,000 square feet.

Dolgner said the port will become more selective concerning industrial tenants. He said he hopes within two years to require all new tenants be those who intend to use the port's large-berthing facilities. Or, he said, they would be tenants who would lease Seminole County if not permitted to locate at the port.

In other action Wednesday, the port authority board ratified guidelines and procedures for the issuance of industrial revenue bonds.

The port has the authority to issue such bonds under Florida statute.

The guidelines are to help the applicant and the authority coordinate their activities, Dolgner said. They formalize procedures that have already been used. Now, however, is a fee schedule for the authority's service in processing bond applications.

Approved are a $350 application fee, $500 attorney's fee, and $1,000 minimum-financing fee.

Industrial revenue bonds may be used for up to 100 percent financing of industrial projects.

Billy Says He Stressed His Lack Of Influence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's brother Billy told a special Senate committee today he went out of his way on his first visit to Libya in the fall of 1978 to stress he was a friend but not "a vehicle through which Libya could affect United States policy."

"And just in case any government officials in Lybia had the idea that I would be a vehicle through which Libya could affect United States policy, I stated to various Lybian officials during the first visit that I had absolutely no influence over the policy or decisions made by the United States or made by my brother," Carter said.

"If the people and government of Lybia wanted to deal with me as a man of potential influence, they had chosen the wrong person, and I so informed them."

The president's brother was the major witness scheduled to testify before the third day of the special Senate Judiciary subcommittee's public sessions in the crowded Senate Caucus Room, scene of the Joe McCarthy and Watergate hearings.

The committee, among other things, wants to know if the $200,000 Billy Carter received from Libya in December and the $200,000 in April was part of a $600,000 loan Libya promised him, or if these payments were part of a separate deal.

Billy Carter said he decided to visit Libya because he knew it was "one of the two most radical governments in the world and I wanted to see how such a government was run." Also, he said he was "interested in agriculture" and had never traveled to that part of the world.

Poland Replaces Strike Negotiator
GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — The government today removed the head of a special commission trying to negotiate with shipyard strikers and brought in the vice premier who had settled the first serious outbreak of strikes last month.

Tadeusz Pyka, the deputy premier who was named during the weekend to head the commission, was transferred to other duties, the government radio announced.

President Defends His Defense Record

BOSTON (UPI) — President Carter today defended his defense spending record as wise and prudent and said it would do "no good" to seek absolute superiority over the Soviet Union.

He gave the message in a speech to the national convention of the American Legion, which heard Ronald Reagan soundly criticize U.S. military strength around the world on Wednesday.

"The destructive power of the world's strategic arsenal is already adequate for total devastation," the president said.

"It does no good to increase that destructive power in search of a temporary edge or in pursuit of the illusion of absolute superiority. Chasing either advantage can undercut the stability and assured deterrence that is our real goal and need."

Carter did not mention Reagan by name today, but he clearly countered many of the Republican presidential candidate's accusations in laying out what he sees as the nation's defense needs for the 1980s.

"We could have spent more money, but we could not have spent more wisely. We could have placed our chips on the B-bomber — that would have been in service quickly — and obsolete almost as quickly," said Carter.

The president said he decided instead to opt for rapid development of the U.S. Cruise missile, one of the nation's major weapons. The little unmanned aircraft are capable of avoiding enemy radar and delivering nuclear payloads over thousands of miles via low-altitude flights.

Four years ago, presidential candidate Jimmy Carter spoke to the American Legion convention in Seattle and was boored when he vowed to give a blanket pardon to Vietnam War draft resisters. He later made that his first official act as president.

Reagan, in his address to the group's convention Wednesday, sharply criticized Carter's foreign policy and even suggested Carter invented statistics showing the United States is stronger militarily than it really is. Reagan's speech was interrupted by applause 20 times as he called for major increases in defense spending.

"We need — and we are getting — the right answer for the long haul" in weaponry, Carter said today.

"To capitalize on advanced American technology and to deal with Soviet advances in air defense, I decided instead to accelerate the development of Cruise Missiles."

"Four years ago there was no program for long range air launched Cruise Missiles. We will begin production. Because of their accuracy and ability to penetrate Soviet defenses, they represent a far more effective deterrent than the B-1."

The Defense Department announced on March 25 that Boeing Co. won — in fly-off contest with General Dynamics — a $141 million contract to produce 225 Cruise Missiles this year. Another 400 are scheduled for fiscal 1981.

The version is a subsonic missile, air launched from B-52s, which can deliver conventional or nuclear warheads up to 2,000 miles within 30 yards of target.

On April 2, General Dynamics granted contract to build a tactical version of the Cruise Missile with a 300-mile range to be launched from Navy and Air Force fighters with conventional warheads.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Soviet Nuclear Submarine Catches Fire, Killing 9

TOYOBU (UPI)—Fire broke out on a Soviet nuclear submarine off Okinawa today, crippling the vessel, killing nine crewmen and injuring three others, Japanese officials said. The Defense Agency began an investigation to determine if there was any radiation leakage.

Japan's Maritime Safety Agency said the 1,000-ton, 375-foot Echo I-class submarine from the Soviet Far East fleet refused help from a Japanese helicopter sent to the burning vessel 87 miles east of the Okinawa in the East China Sea.

Early today, a Defense Agency patrol plane reported no smoke from the submarine, indicating the blaze was under control, but it said makeshift first-aid tents had been pitched on the deck of the vessel.

The Safety Agency reported the sub, built in the 1960s, would not even identify itself to a sister Russian ship beyond saying it carried 100 men and came from Vladivostok, the base of the Soviet Far East fleet.

U.S. Abstains On Jerusalem

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Secretary of State Edmund Muskie called a Security Council resolution censuring Israel "fundamentally flawed" and abstained in the body's 14-vote vote on the matter with embassies in Jerusalem to withdraw them.

Muskie, who interrupted a vacation in Maine Wednesday to make his first appearance before the Council, denounced the U.N.'s recent resolutions attacking Israel as attempts to hurt the prospects for peace in the Middle East.

"I believe that in its work on the Middle East over the past five months the United Nations has been the focus of attempts not to advance the cause of peace, but to restrain it, contrary to the ideals and purposes of this institution," Muskie said.

The Council's recent actions, he said, "have failed the critical tests of reason, of balance."

Muskie said he ended the Council session "out of deep respect" for the United Nations but also "with a feeling of sorrow."

Stoves Caused Jet Fire?

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia (UPI)—Mecca-bound Moslem pilgrims using gas stoves to brew tea on a crowded Saudi Arabian jetliner may have started the fire that engulfed the plane at Riyadh airport, killing all 301 people, a preliminary report said.

Officials sifting through the charred bulk of the Saudi Arabian Airways 1-1011 TriStar say they found a small gas stove in the center of the aircraft and another in the rear "where the fire was concentrated." A fire extinguisher was found nearby.

Officials stopped short of blaming one of the pilgrims for sparking the Wednesday blaze, who apparently panicked passengers into jamming the exits and prevented rescue teams from forcing their way into the burning plane.

The in-flight blaze, which spread through the cabin to the cockpit, forced the American-made plane on a flight from Karachi, Pakistan to Jeddah via Riyadh, to turn back to the Saudi capital. It successfully landed but all aboard were burned to death as rescue workers helplessly watched, unable to open the emergency doors.

Palestinians Shell Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—Palestinian gunmen fired Soviet-made rockets against northern Israeli settlements today, sending residents scurrying into bomb shelters, and a top defense official warned Israel will not tolerate constant shelling.

Several Katyusha rockets fell during the night in the panhandle region of the eastern Galilee, causing damage to electric lines and structures but no casualties, military officials said.

Bank Sets Voter Registration

Attorney: Schools May Owe Architect

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

School Board Attorney Ned Julian Jr. told board members Wednesday that architect Eoghan Kelley may have a legitimate claim to more money.

Kelley has been asking the board for about $55,000 more for his work on Rock Lake Middle School to cover the cost of options that were planned but not constructed and costs incurred when a majority of the school had to be redesigned following a change in state requirements.

School officials earlier said the remainder owed was only about $1,500.

But following a two-hour meeting with Kelley Tuesday, Julian told the board "there may be some other areas to be considered."

Julian said the board's contract with the architect stipulated a method of compensation for designs ordered but not built.

"But he (Kelley) has presented no documents under that provision of the contract," Julian said.

The attorney suggested Kelley be given more time to put together the supporting material.

The board agreed to hold a work session on the matter at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 10.

In other action Wednesday, the board ratified contracts for 1980-81 with the Seminole Educational Clerical Association (SECA) and the Non-Instructional Personnel of Seminole County (NIPSCO). The contracts call for base salary increases of approximately 9.8 percent over last year.

The ratification came following overwhelming votes of approval by SECA and NIPSCO members for the contracts negotiated, said chief negotiator Bill Moore.

Teachers and bus drivers will be voting to approve their contracts today, Moore said.

Lake Mary To Mull Annexation

The Lake Mary City Council, at a 7:30 p.m. meeting today, will consider annexing a 1.42-acre triangularly shaped parcel of land near County Road 427 and U.S. 17-92.

City Manager Phil Kulbes said the tract would be added to an 83-acre parcel where single-family homes are to be built.

The homes, Kulbes said, are to be built on one-acre sites. Former State Sen. Walter Sims has been representing the developer in annexation of the two parcels.

In other business, the council will consider passing on first reading its comprehensive land use plan, mandated by the Legislature is also to be considered an agreement calling for the city and Seminole County to work together on planning.

Kulbes said the "joint planning agency" to be created under the proposal would provide for the two governmental bodies to have input on zoning which effects both.

The council also will consider an ordinance doubling in some cases occupational license fees. The Legislature during its session earlier this year authorized increases in occupational license fees for the first time since 1971.

Kulbes said the law permits the city to double fees which have been less than $100; to raise by 50 percent fees which have been $101 to $300 and to raise by 25 percent fees which have been over $300.

The city, under the old fee schedule, has received revenues from occupational licenses of $3,000 to $5,000 annually. The new fees are estimated to give the city revenues totaling $10,000 annually.

The city manager said that cable TV service may eventually be available to city residents. He said a representative of Orange Cablevision toured the city with Kulbes and Mayor Walter Sorrensen recently and will be making a report at a later time on when the service can be available.

State To Drop Case Of Man Who Killed Gator

"I would have done the same thing... this is not a case for the criminal justice system," said Chief Assistant State Attorney Chris Ray as he announced a Longwood man will not be prosecuted for killing an alligator crawling 4 feet from his 2-year-old daughter.

Terry Ellsworth, of the Mobile Manor trailer park, State Road 434, Longwood, was ordered into court by state officials who came to his home Monday to pick up the dead alligator.

Ellsworth had called the Game and Freshwater Fish Commission moments after he shot the animal Sunday. He told them he had shot it with a .22 caliber rifle after hearing his daughter scream and seeing it near her outside his home.

Game officials issued Ellsworth a citation under the state's anti-poaching statute, accusing him of a crime carrying a $5,000 fine and five-year prison sentence as maximum penalties.

But Ray said the case against Ellsworth will be dropped. "If I was to take the case to trial, I would have the jury lynch me," Ray said. "That statute is for poachers. If he was poaching, why would he call the commission and ask them to come pick it up?"

Teen-Age Gang Arrested In Abduction Of Boy, 10

SCOTCH PLAINS, N.J. (UPI)—A teen-age gang looking to strike it rich in a hurry randomly stalked the well-paved streets of an affluent neighborhood until they came upon a likely victim—a 10-year-old newspaper boy, police say.

Eight juveniles, including a 12-year-old boy and a 15-year-old girl, were in custody today for the abduction of Thomas Beattie, a sandy-haired fifth grader who was held 12 hours before being released unharmed by his captors Tuesday.

Another youth was expected to be arrested soon. The gang had demanded $12,000 from Beattie's parents for their son's release. But police and FBI caught the gang's two alleged ringleaders after a helicopter and plane pursuit in Plainfield, N.J., where the money was dropped off.

$22 Billion Tax Cut Backed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Planning to tie the loose ends later, the Senate Finance Committee has agreed to a $22 billion tax cut for individuals in 1981 and a substantial speedup in the schedule for writing off business investments.

The committee, headed by Sen. Russell Long, D-La., planned to continue working on more specialized tax provisions today and to meet its self-imposed deadline of final committee approval by noon Friday.

Long, who is anxious to get back to Louisiana to campaign for his Sept. 13 primary, deftly steered the committee through the complicated tax-cut proposals in a series of closed caucuses and brief public rebuttal sessions.

AFL-CIO Endorses Carter

CHICAGO (UPI)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council is supporting President Carter, saying he is a far better friend of the American labor movement than Ronald Reagan or Rep. John Anderson.

The Council voted 231 Wednesday—with two abstentions—to recommend endorsement of Carter for re-election and AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland predicted "mounting enthusiasm" for the president among workers.

"President Carter and his administration recognize the legitimate role of the labor movement in American society," the resolution stated. "Ronald Reagan does not."

Kunstler To Appeal Ruling

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—Attorney William M. Kunstler says he'll appeal a federal judge's ruling upholding criminal contempt convictions against himself and three defendants at the Chicago Seven conspiracy trial.

Kunstler was chief defense attorney for seven defendants charged with conspiring to incite riots at the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Williams Admits Role In Abscam

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., has admitted for the first time he was involved in the FBI Abscam probe of official corruption but insists he did nothing "improper, unethical or illegal."

Williams made the admission Wednesday, after a tape played at the corruption trial of four politically powerful men depicted con man and Abscam architect Melvin Weinberg coaching Williams on how to behave before the phony Arab bell.

On the tape, Weinberg, who designed the Arab scam operation for the FBI in exchange for leniency in a previous scam he ran, urged Williams to tell the sheik "how important you are."

"You've got to tell him how important you are, who you are. I'm the man. I'm the man who's going to open the doors. I'm the man who's going to do this and use my influence and I guarantee this," Weinberg said.

Later, through a spokesman, Williams acknowledged he met with Weinberg, the prosecution's star witness, and with Camden, N.J., Mayor Angelo Ricciardi just before the he met with a phony sheik on June 28, 1979.

Williams previously had denied any involvement in Abscam, but his lawyer, George Koelzer, claimed the senator had never been asked about his involvement in the probe and added, "Williams never denied he had a meeting with the sheik."

"This was the first time the question ever arose, and the senator readily stated he had," Koelzer said. "There was no question he met with these people. Nobody ever denied that."

Sharks Prowling For Humans In Gulf

United Press International

Swarms of sharks are prowling the warm waters off Florida's Gulf Coast—where two men have disappeared without a trace. On the West Coast, angry tuna fishermen blamed government regulations for the shark-bite death of a tuna fisherman.

Commercial fishermen say they have never seen so many sharks in the Gulf of Mexico off western Florida—and some have bitten holes in their nets "big enough to drive an automobile through."

There have been no reports of shark attacks, but two men—a sport fisherman and a water skier—have disappeared off the coast and schools of sharks were sighted around the drifting boat of the fisherman.

Some 150 miles south of San Diego off the coast of Mexico, a shark lurked unseen in a fishing net tore a 5-inch gash in the arm of Gerald Correria, 22, as he descended to free a trapped porpoise. He later went into convulsions and died Monday. His horrified father, the boat's skipper, had sent him to free the porpoise.

Fellow tuna fishermen blamed Correria's death Wednesday on strict government regulations, supported by environmental groups, which limit the number of porpoises allowed to be killed accidentally in tuna nets. Porpoises swim with tuna schools and often get caught in the nets.

"The cost of saving porpoises is getting too high when we lose a fisherman," complained Ed Silva, executive vice president of the American Tunaboat Association.

It was the first U.S. fatality relating to the rules on porpoises. Industry sources said there were several instances this year in which tuna fishermen were bitten by sharks while trying to free porpoises.

Government observers accompany about one-third of all U.S. tuna runs to enforce the regulations. One of the observers witnessed Monday's tragedy.

Off the western Florida coast, fisherman David Wilson, 45, of Albany, Ga., was reported missing Aug. 10 and a weeklong search failed to produce any trace of him.

Searchers found a dead, 24-foot shark, in the boat and a helicopter pilot participating in the search reported sighting "schools of sharks in the water," Wakulla County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Landrum said.

"We surmise he may have leaved overboard," Landrum said. "There's no question there was a lot of shark activity and if anything hit the water, the sharks would hit it."

The other missing man, John Powell Brown, fell off his water skis off St. George Island July 9. Friends saw him come up once, then disappear.

Reagan Can't Price Arms Plan

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Ronald Reagan says he will not keep the cost of his proposals for drastic increases in spending for weapons, veterans benefits and military pay until he becomes president.

Returning to Los Angeles Wednesday after a three-city campaign swing, the Republican presidential nominee said his staff was working on a price tag for his military proposals but the cost could not be finally estimated until after he took office and had "all the information."

In his appearances this week before the national conventions of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, Reagan attacked the administration for cutting defense spending and reiterated his call for "peace through strength."

Reagan criticized President Carter for canceling the B-1 bomber program, stopping production of the Minuteman III, delaying the MX missile program and postponing production of the Trident II missile.

Speaking before the veterans and in a third major address before 4,000 shipyard workers near Philadelphia, Reagan also called for increasing the U.S. naval force, the pay of military personnel and veterans benefits.

Asked how much his proposals would cost taxpayers, Reagan replied, "We are a number of us, discussing things of this kind and costing out some of these things. But I think you... can't finalize that until you actually are in a position to have all the information that a president could have as to be able to set priorities."

Reagan, however, said the same reasoning could not be applied to the campaign promises he has accused Carter of breaking.

He said Carter's broken promises were not the type that could be explained by "suddenly finding out realities."

"He just deliberately and apparently turned 180 degrees and went in different directions than he had talked about," Reagan said.

Asked to explain the chilly official reception that greeted his running mate George Bush when he arrived in China, Reagan said his views on official U.S. recognition of Taiwan were "exaggerated."

"I never talked about diplomatic recognition that would mean an ambassador," Reagan said. "I don't think there is any reason for it (the Chinese to be afraid of a Reagan administration) and I think George will convince them and settle down any of this fuss."

Iranian Student Injured In Berkeley Bomb Blast

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Two bomb explosions cut short a cultural exchange meeting of Iranian and Middle Eastern students, injuring one Iranian among the 500 students at the gathering.

Two devices believed to be pipe bombs disrupted the meeting at the auditorium of the west campus of Berkeley High School, where members of the International Students Association gathered Wednesday night for a Middle Eastern culture, dance and folk art celebration.

One of the bombs exploded in a garbage can just inside the door of the auditorium; the other device went off in a garbage can in the building's lobby, police said.

Police received an anonymous phone call at 8:55 p.m. PDT warning a series of bombs had been planted at the building, but officers received a cool reception when they arrived at the auditorium to evacuate the students.

A student spokesman who identified himself only as "Said" said police met with some skepticism initially, but all the students fled out without panic after the first explosion ripped through a plastic garbage can near the main entrance at 8:10 p.m.

CHEAP TO KEEP

THE TOYOTA COROLLA SPORT COUPE

It may not look it, but the Toyota Corolla may be one of the most inexpensive automobiles you'll ever own. Because it's built on the concept of total economy of operation. That means:

It's Inexpensive To Maintain
 According to a recent study of 52 new 1979 competitive models, Toyota Corolla owners had the fewest problems. That means they didn't spend a lot of extra money on service.

It's Dependable
 By having the fewest problems and saving extra money on servicing, we think Toyota Corolla is one of the most dependable cars in its class.

It's Economical
 Even though it comes with a larger 1.8 liter, 4-cylinder engine, the 1980 Toyota Corolla is more fuel efficient than ever. 41 EPA Est. Hwy MPG. 27 EPA Est. MPG.*

Helping to squeeze more miles out of every gallon are such standard features as:

- a 5-speed overdrive manual transmission, fully transistorized ignition system and steel belted radial tires. Plus an aerodynamic shape that simply slips through the wind.

Don't let the beauty fool you. There's plenty of room—front and rear. The long expanses of glass give you a wide-open, comfortable feeling all around. Plus an easy-loading rear hatch and split fold-down rear seats for more cargo-carrying capacity than you would have thought possible in a car of this kind. The Corolla Sport Coupe.

OH WHAT A FEELING TOYOTA

Source: 1979 Toyota Consolidated Owners Study. *Member: Compare this estimate to the EPA Estimated MPG of other cars. You may get different mileage, depending on how fast you drive, weather conditions and top length. Actual highway mileage will probably be less than the EPA Highway Estimate.

Inflation Rate Plummets To Zero

But Some Private Economists Call It A Statistical Farce

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in 13 years, the cost of living for Americans did not increase in July, the government reported today. A dramatic decline in mortgage interest rates canceled out higher prices for food and other goods. As a result, the Labor Department said its Consumer Price Index, after seasonal adjustments, remained in July exactly where it was in June. It was the first time the index has held steady since March 1967. Before July, prices had risen 0.9 percent or more every month for a year and a half. In June, inflation was running at a compound annual rate of 12.3 percent. "The compound annual rate in July was a big, fat zero," said one department statistician. But private economists quickly labeled the government report a statistical farce, saying the index gives too much weight to mortgage rates. "We should have a CPI less housing," said Michael Evans of Evans Economics in Washington. "Essentially, everything that consumers buy went up. Food went up. Transportation went up. Clothing went up. Medical care went up. New York economist Alan Greenspan, a former adviser to President Gerald Ford, said "it's fairly obvious" the strong influence of mortgage interest rates in the CPI makes it "not very useful in judging the underlying inflation rate in the United States. The underlying rate at this stage is probably about 9 percent," he said.

Bank Raises Prime Rate
NEW YORK (UPI) — Citibank, the nation's second largest bank, today raised its prime lending rate to 11 1/2 percent from 11 percent. Chase Manhattan, third largest in the nation, made the move to 11 1/2 percent on Tuesday, saying market conditions forced the decision. Other banks are expected to follow. The prime rate increases apparently have been sparked by Federal Reserve policies, which appear to be getting a bit more restrictive. Over the past few weeks, the board has allowed the federal funds rate banks charge one another for overnight loans to rise to near 10 percent from the 8 percent level. Most economists, including those in the administration, figure inflation will be growing at an annual rate of about 10 percent by year's end. The CPI now stands at 247.8, which means goods that cost $100 in 1967 now cost $247.80. Stated another way, the 1967 dollar is now worth only 40.4 cents. The Labor Department said a 5.7 percent decline in mortgage interest rates was almost entirely responsible for keeping the cost of living unchanged between June and July. That decline wiped out the negative impact of higher prices for food, clothing, medical care and transportation. Average prices were up a hefty 0.9 percent in July, following a 0.3 percent increase the previous month. The decline in the housing costs was the first in that category in seven years and followed 15 straight months of increases of 1 percent or more. The only other category to show improvement in July was gasoline prices, which declined after seasonal adjustments for the third consecutive month although not by as much as in May and June. In an accompanying report today, the Labor Department said the purchasing power of the typical American city dweller with a wife and two children remained virtually unchanged in June. But the department said over the past year, inflation has reduced the urban worker's "real" spendable income by 7.4 percent.

Feds Arrest 13 In Huge Area Drug Bust

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer
Federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents backed up by Seminole County deputies arrested 13 persons and seized a ton of marijuana, about $250,000, eight vehicles and six guns just west of Sanford Thursday afternoon. Don Harper, agent in charge of the Orlando DEA office, said today all 13 individuals were arrested in the vicinity of the Holiday Inn at State Road 44 and Interstate-4. At least one man was arrested at the Inn and several more in the streets around it, he said. Harper declined to say exactly where the deals were being made or the exact nature of the transfers. He also said the agency did not know how or when the pot had been brought into the county.

DEA agents backed up by 10 Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies and 10 Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies and 10 Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies. The arrests were completed within a short time without incident, he said. Sheriff's department spokesman John Spolaki said the county had nothing to do with the investigation which led to the arrest, and had only supplied backup to help with the raid and overnight space for the arrestees at County Jail. Harper said he did not know whether the specific group of persons arrested had ever gathered together to buy and sell drugs before, but said deals of this nature had been going on in the county for at least the four years he has been working for DEA.

Seminole deputies gave the following list of persons arrested in the raid: Joseph Giardina, 23, of Deertfield, Fla., possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute; James W. Frankum, 26, of Chicago, possession with intent to distribute; James R. Ham, 29, Court Sunshine, Fla., possession with intent to distribute; Ronald Dawson, 38, Fort Lauderdale, possession of a controlled substance; William J. Purvis, 26, Pensacola, possession; controlled substance; Kenneth L. Craig, 31, Fort Lauderdale, possession-controlled substance; Joseph Laing, 31, Hatfield, Pa., possession-controlled substance; James R. Rotenberg, 29, Pensacola, possession-controlled substance; Robert Karmly, 27, Fort Lauderdale, possession-controlled substance; Gary Gianni, 28, Rochester, N.Y., possession-controlled substance; Kenneth Young, 28, Chicago, possession-controlled substance; Richard L. Holland, 37, Broward-Sunshine, Fla., possession-controlled substance; and David Warner, 34, Fort Lauderdale, possession-controlled substance.

Opposition Petitions Seek Referendum On Paulucci Townhouse Project

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
Paulucci Enterprises' plan to build a comprehensive area and 160 townhouses and apartments on a 25.5-acre tract at Rantoul Lane and State Road 46A in Lake Mary is in trouble. Petitions were to begin circulating today to overturn the zoning approved by the Lake Mary City Council on Aug. 7 to permit the development. The zoning was granted on a 3-2 vote with Councilmen Burt Perichief and Gene McDonald opposing. McDonald, leading the movement for repeal of the ordinance, said documents will be filed at city hall today, naming the five-person committee in charge of circulating petitions, calling for a referendum on the issue. The petitions, requesting repeal of the zoning be placed on the Dec. 2 city election ballot, must contain the signatures of 174 registered voters and be returned completed to city hall by Sept. 5, City Clerk Connie Major said today. McDonald said, "I think we will have some pretty good support with the petitions adding that Perichief and several members of the planning and zoning commission have offered assistance. McDonald listed his reasons for opposing the zoning as follows: the planning and zoning board and city planning consultants indicate the rezoning is not in the best interests of the land, the community and its future growth; it is a violation of the city's proposed comprehensive plan and some ecological damage could result from this type of development; the proposed development does not answer the need for low-cost housing in the city; this zoning coupled with the property already zoned for adjacent Sanford and Seminole County land will further congest the area; improvements to 46A to handle additional traffic is a low priority of county planners; an additional tax increase could be needed to support the development; and additional fire and police protection would be needed. The planned development has been named "Dorchester" by Paulucci Enterprises. Mrs. Major said after the petitions are returned to the city, they will be forwarded to Seminole County regional Supervisor Camilla Bruce's office for certification. At that point the council will determine whether it wants to repeal the zoning ordinance or place the matter on the ballot. Tom Stevenson, director of real estate for Paulucci Enterprises, was out of town today and unavailable for comment. Because of the petition movement, the city council Thursday night delayed consideration of adopting the city's proposed comprehensive land-use plan.

SPRAY DAY
Firefighter Mike Hoening of the Sanford Fire Department drafts water from Lake Monroe at the Sanford Marina as he does periodic check to make sure the pumper truck is working at its capacity of 750 gallons a minute. With the latter at such a low level the firemen barely had enough water for the test.

Advisory Panel Rejects Deltona Hospital Idea

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer
All proposals for a hospital in Deltona were turned down Thursday by an advisory committee of the Health Systems Agency of North East Florida (HSA-NEF) in Jacksonville. "This decision may be the turning point in favor of the Hospital Corporation of America and medical care for a regional hospital in Sanford," said Seminole Memorial Hospital Chief of Staff Dr. Kenneth M. Wing. Wing, Seminole Memorial Hospital Administrator, James Teasar, and Seminole Memorial Board of Trustees member Dr. Robert Gay attended the meeting of the HSA-NEF's Needs and Priorities Committee and Teasar said they were pleased with the committee's decision. Sanford doctors had expressed concern that a hospital in Deltona would adversely affect plans for a 250-bed regional hospital in Sanford to replace Seminole Memorial, since about one-third of the hospital's patients come from Deltona and hospital construction must have government approval based on area need. Plans for the Sanford hospital would be reviewed by the Health Systems Agency of East Central Florida, but a spokesman for that agency said it would have to take into consideration the Deltona situation when reviewing the application, even though Deltona is under the jurisdiction of the HSA-NEF. Although the HSA-NEF full board of directors must still make a final decision on three proposals for a hospital in Deltona, the Needs and Priorities Committee's recommendation is expected to carry weight. The recommendation is based on the fact that Volusia county has too many hospital beds, said Fred Huerkamp, HSA-NEF director. He said the committee's recommendation to the full board states that there will be a need for a short-term acute-care hospital in Deltona in the near future. But, he said, the committee, recognizing there are surplus beds in Volusia county, said this should be accomplished without adding to the total bed count. The committee said the present three applications, from West Volusia Memorial Hospital, Deland; Southern Health Services, Altamonte; and Gateway Hospital, Deltona, are not a "buffoon . . . boob or a wack." "Dole asked who had called him that. . . . As Carter began saying those words had been used in news reports, Chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., spoke up, saying, "I called him a boob." Bayh referred to a publicized remark he had made about Carter several weeks ago. Bayh said he should not have done so because, "I was supposed to sit on the jury." Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., vice-chairman of the committee, began a terse cross-examination of Carter about his first day of testimony Thursday. "I'm skeptical on a number of points," Thurmond said. "I believe we will have to probe deeper into some of those points." Thurmond asked Carter why he had refused Thursday to tell how much money he earned from profitable public appearances he made after his brother was elected president. Both of Carter's Washington lawyers sprang to Carter's defense as they had also done on Thursday. Henry Ruth said the question was "whether Carter has any shred of privacy left." Stephen Pollak said a Senate resolution creating the special committee on Aug. 1 stated it would have authority to obtain Carter's income tax returns.

President's Brother Can't Prove Loan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Billy Carter today told a Senate committee he has no proof that $20,000 received from Libya last December was an advance on a promised $500,000 loan instead of a gift to gain Libyan influence over U.S. policy. "Right now, just my word," the president's brother said during cross examination by Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont. "I have no written agreement — no written anything." Billy Carter — who has to date received a total of $200,000 from the radical Arab government of Libya as part of a $500,000 loan — also denied he ever received an expression of either approval or disapproval of the loan deal from the president or anyone in the administration. "I personally disapprove of such activity and publicly tell you so," Baucus told Carter of his dealings with Libya. The special Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is investigating major questions raised by Billy Carter's Libyan affairs — including whether he should have been punished for delaying registration as a foreign agent and whether U.S. policies were influenced. In his initial appearance before the committee Wednesday, Carter denied the loan was anything more than a personal gesture of Libyan friendship. He said the Libyans did not seek to use him to influence U.S.

Drug Probe Revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators have revealed that two California friends of Billy Carter, the president's brother, are under investigation by the U.S. Customs Service for alleged currency violations and drug smuggling. Philip Stone, special prosecutor of the Senate Judiciary subcommittee investigating Billy Carter's ties with Libya, emphasized in his surprise announcement Carter is not under investigation and has no information linking him to drug trafficking. In his disclosure at the subcommittee hearing Thursday, Stone said George Bellorini, and Bellorini's former son-in-law, Ronald Sprague,
