Police Explode Bomb Found In Oakland Federal Building

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Helmeted demolition experts who found a bomb planted in the federal building here today carried the device out of the building in a metal tub and detonated it in the street.

Two small blasts set fire to an attache case containing the bomb, and it exploded with a roar that shook nearby buildings. A couple of windows on the third floor of the federal building were broken.

"That's it! That's the big one!" police officers yelled after the explosion. Several demolition experts wearing white helmets had carried the bomb out of the George P. Miller Federal Building in a metal tub with a lid on it.

They used ropes to carry the tub and set it in the middle of the street near the side entrance to the building.

"Get back, get back! If that thing goes off, you're all going to be hurt!" police and federal agents yelled to nearby newsmen.

Authorities cordoned off a four-block area around the building after calling identifying themselves as members of the Weather Underground said a bomb they had planted was set to go off Tuesday night.

In addition to sealing off the area, authorities called two fire engines to the scene and an ambulance was parked across the street from the building, which houses the Armed Forces Induction Center.

A group identifying itself as the Weather Underground Organization, charging that the United States was providing illegal aid to Cambodia, said it had planted the bomb.

The Weatherman also claimed responsibility for the bombing early today that damaged four floors at the State Department in Washington.

Shortly before the agents entered the building here, a woman identifying herself only as a member of the Weather Underground called the Oakland Tribune and warned searchers to stay away from the explosive, which she said was on the seventh floor.

"In trying to open it, it could go off. It's very powerful," she said.

She said she and other Weather Underground members could not understand why the bomb did not go off late Tuesday night as planned.

After the initial search this morning, more than a dozen federal agents entered the building. They were joined by two men from the Navy Explosive Ordnance Disposal Unit.

The two Navy men were wearing protective body equipment.

The building was sealed off Tuesday night after local news media received telephone calls warning that a bomb would go off at 10 p.m.

Authorities waited throughout the night and when no explosion occurred, the search began.

Seminole Power Rate Slash Seen In New Tariff Plan

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

Relief may be in sight for soaring electricity costs in Seminole County because of new estimates on President Ford's oil import tariff plan, according to U.S. Rep. Lou Frey Jr.

The Winter Park Republican said a flexible plan was discussed Monday at the White House that would lower the predicted increase in electric bills for Florida residents.

Utility officials said today Seminole County power bills will go up about $1.50 to $2.50 instead of the $2 to $5 hike predicted under Ford's proposal to raise oil import fees by $3 a barrel.

Although the $3 hike on crude oil is still in the making, Frey said the tax on residual oil — the type used in power plants — will be raised only $1.20.

"That would knock it (the predicted increase) in half — or probably a little more," said Scott Burns, Florida Power & Light Co.'s commercial manager.

Frey said it was his understanding the lower price hikes on imported oil will give Florida and New England a break because both areas use a great deal of residual oil.

Bud Fowler, manager of consumer affairs for Florida Power Corp., said if Frey's predictions come true, the firm's tariff will be about $2.50 a month.

"All this guesswork until we see what they come up with. I still haven't seen it in writing," Fowler said.

According to Frey, residual oil used for home heating and power generation will be raised only $1.20 — a 60 cents increase in March and 60 cents in April.

Ford says that he is adamant that the first phase of his tariff — a $1 increase on each barrel of imported oil — will go into effect Saturday.

But Al Ullman, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is still seeking a way to delay the tariffs, which would total $3 per barrel of imported oil by April 1.

Congressional tax writers are still hopeful that a way can be found to delay the oil import tariff program despite Ford's insistence that it get underway.

What it all means is that eventually the Federal Energy Administration will get around to notifying Florida power companies of the new costs of oil.

Once that happens, those costs will be passed on to consumers via their monthly electric bills.

And, Ford's imposition of a tariff also will begin pushing up the cost of gasoline by as much as a penny or more a gallon.

Both FPL, which serves customers in the Sanford area, and Florida Power, which for the most part provides electric current to South Seminole, have applied for rate increases.

Consumers here will be digging in their pockets next month for an extra $2 to $4 to pay electric bills as a result of interim rate hikes granted both firms.

FPL customers will pay about $2.15 more a month, while Florida Power customers using an average 1,000 kilowatt hours per month will pay about $3.23 more.

Both firms won interim rate relief totaling $69 million for FPL and $33.3 million for Florida Power. FPL has asked for a total $143 million, and Florida Power has requested $65.5 million.

The requests are pending before the Public Service Commission (PSC).

Mall Gets $27.5 Million Loan

By MICKEY LOCHRIDGE
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford titling agent yesterday closed a $27.5 million mortgage financing arrangement, reportedly the largest title mortgage loan in Florida, for the Altamonte Mall in Altamonte Springs.

The Abstract Corporation, an agent for Lawyer's Title of Richmond, Va., closed the permanent mortgage deal through Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Springfield, Mass.

The loan is representative of the faith the insurance company has in the strength of Seminole County's economy during a time when loans for mortgages are reportedly hard to acquire, according to Tom McDonald, president of the local company.

"Massachusetts Mutual has faith in the economy and they have faith in the area," McDonald said today. "This is demonstrated by the loan."

McDonald went to Springfield, Mass., yesterday to assist in closing the deal with Massachusetts

Mutual and the officials of the Altamonte Mall Corporation.

The mall corporation is a joint venture of Homart Development Co., a subsidiary of Sears Roebuck and Co., and Altamonte Inc., a local company for DeHartelo Corporation.

McDonald placed the mortgage assignment on record this morning at the Seminole Courthouse.

"Normally, closings take place at the property, but the lenders wanted to have the closing in Springfield because the loan was so large," McDonald said.

"The loan is one of the largest ever recorded for a single developer, to my knowledge," McDonald said.

McDonald said although he did not know what the interest rate was on the loan, he said the interest cost was approximately $8,000 to $10,000 per day.

McDonald was assisted in arranging the loan by Perry Lane, vice-president of the Abstract Company.

The Abstract Company was selected by the Altamonte Corporation in 1972 to handle the title insurance for the construction mortgage for the mall.

A $22 million dollar mortgage was assigned in 1973 through Connecticut General Life Insurance.

When the construction was completed the financing was assigned to Massachusetts Mutual and an additional $5.5 million were added for the permanent mortgage.

Massachusetts Mutual will transfer the $22 million to Connecticut General to "pay off" the construction mortgage and disburse the remaining $5.5 million to the developers, according to McDonald.

"This pretty well does the financing of the mall," McDonald said. There are 120 leases on the individual shops in the mall with the developers.

"We don't know of anything in the State of Florida that is insured for this amount through title insurance," McDonald said.

Cities Offer Longwood Police Aid

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Police chiefs of two new neighboring cities — John Govorukh of Winter Springs and Justus East of Altamonte Springs — today offered any assistance needed to this city's new acting public safety director, Police Lt. James Pleicones, who took over the reins of the police department this week.

Problems with coverage may develop at a future time, he said, when vacation time arrives or if any of the officers become ill.

Lt. Pleicones was appointed to the acting public safety director slot in the wake of the resignation of former Police Chief Tom Hennigan and two officers, Sgt. Tom Ling and Patrolman Jordan Paddeck.

Pleicones, in an interview with The Herald this morning, said in spite of the resignations he foresees no lack in police coverage in the community of 5,500 and will be pulling a shift himself.

"While we worked together, Jim was a very dedicated officer who tried to get all the schooling he could and put in quite a lot of overtime without seeking compensation," Govorukh said. He added that he and his department stand ready to give whatever help needed.

Pleicones said he was "extremely surprised" when Councilman Jerry Connell made the motion appointing him to the post. "I had talked to Councilman Connell on the telephone twice and saw him for the first time face to face at Monday night's council meeting," he said.

Pleicones is to celebrate his third anniversary with the force Friday and only one other man has more seniority than he does. He has worked under three police chiefs and for the past eight months Pleicones has served as a lieutenant.

Govorukh, who was one of Pleicones' superiors before Govorukh left the Longwood department for the Winter Springs police chief position, had high praise today for the 27-year-old officer.

"We will be meeting with City Accountant Harold Hartcock for a budget review and make a report to council next week, as instructed, on budgets cuts in the department."

The Pleicones family including three-year-old James Jr.—J. J.—lives in Forest City.

Chief East said, "We will give him anything he wants — everything from back-up help to administrative advice if he needs it," East said. "He need only ask."

Pleicones has not decided whether he will seek the chief's post on a permanent basis. He will be meeting with City Accountant Harold Hartcock for a budget review and make a report to council next week, as instructed, on budgets cuts in the department.

Fanne's Charges Dismissed

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Court Judge Harold Johnson has dismissed indecent exposure and promoting an indecent show charges against stripper Fanne Foxe and Casselberry nightclub operator Michael Finer.

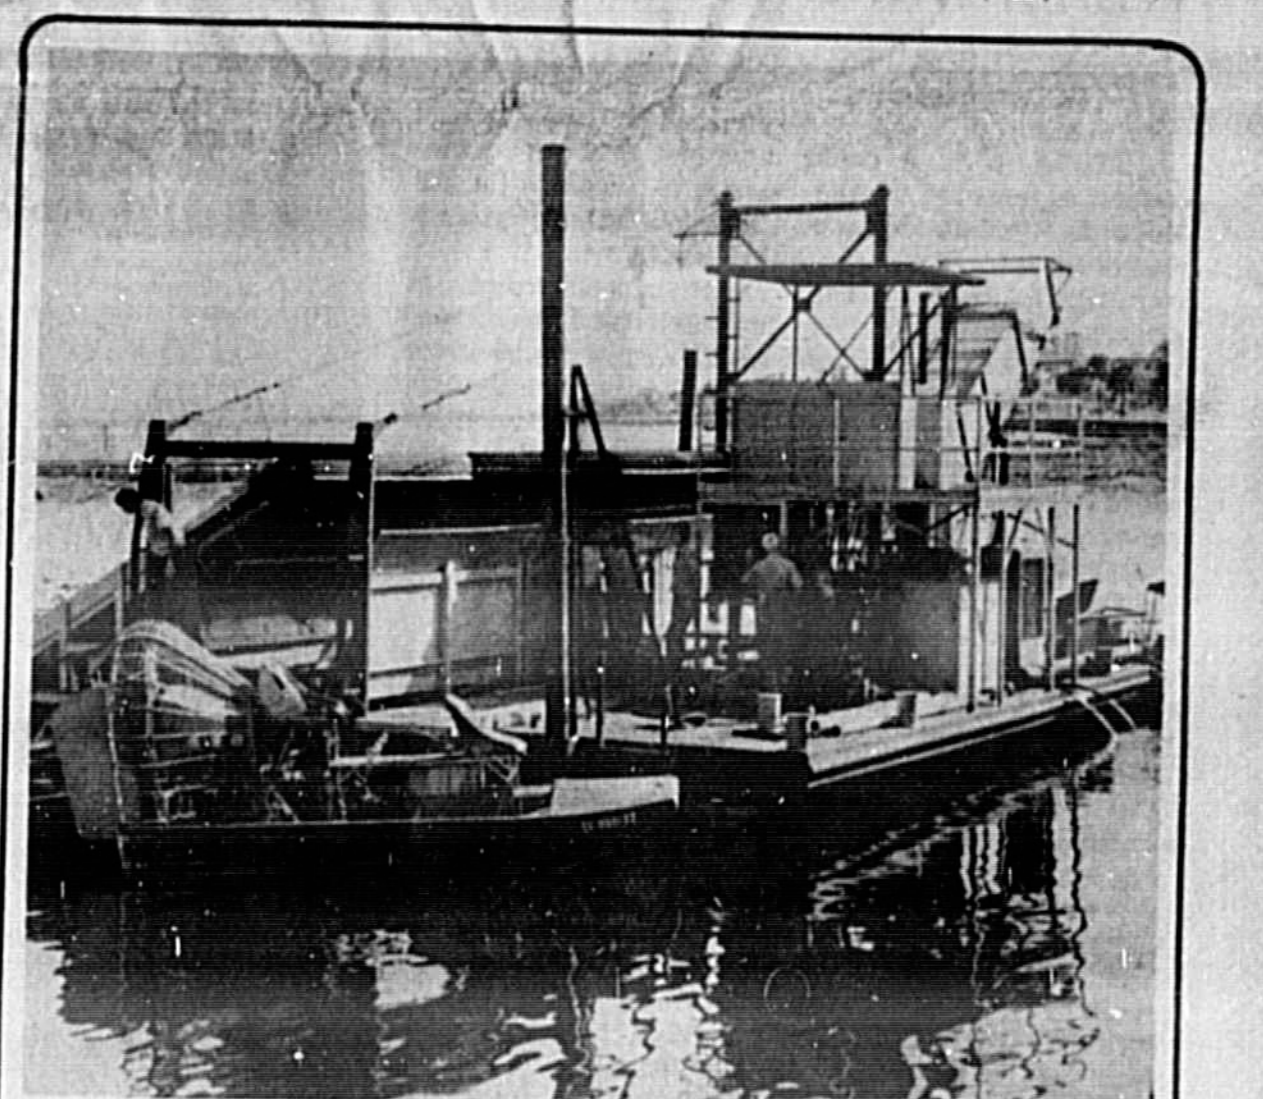

Johnson took the act yesterday in granting a defense motion by Orlando lawyer Edward Hanlon Jr.

The court noted that the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled nudity without obscenity isn't illegal. Johnson said Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Abbott Herring's office failed to present evidence that a "flash of nudity" when Miss Foxe appeared onstage in a full-length robe following her act Dec. 12 at Club Juana was an obscene or indecent show.

MOVING DAY—OR IS IT?

The hyacinth harvester is stuck! The legendary plant-gobbling machine (above), renowned in Lake Monroe for its mammoth appetite for the pesky and often hazardous water weed, just stayed in one place too long.

When the time came to move it to waterboat to its permanent site near the Osteen Bridge yesterday, it was discovered that while the water level near the Lake Monroe harbor had gone down, so had the barge that harbored the harvester.

County Pollution Control Director Langley Adair (with perplexed look on the right) inspects the site.

According to Del Enga, local representative of the state Department of Natural Resources, there's another problem in the water. "Raw sewage from a city storm drain is pouring into the lake next to the Harvester," Enga said.

And that's a diet beyond even the realm of the harvester!

NATION IN BRIEF

U.S. Steel Profits

Top 17 Year Record

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp. reports the highest sales in history during 1974 and profits that topped a 17-year-old record by more than 50 per cent.

The nation's largest steelmaker reported Tuesday that it earned $634.9 million, or $11.72 per share, on sales of $9.34 billion for the year. Earnings were up 92 per cent from the $2.8 million, or $6.01 per share, returned in 1973 on sales of $7 billion.

Board Chairman E. B. Spear said the 1974 profit return, equalling 6.8 per cent of sales, was well below the 9.3 per cent returned in 1973, when the company set its previous earnings record of $419 million.

U.S. Steel has raised its prices 43 per cent in the past three years, with most of the increases coming since federal wage-price controls expired last spring.

A 24-day nationwide coal strike which began Nov. 12 was cited for holding down production and sales figures in the fourth quarter.

Ziegler Faces Picketing

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The student government at Michigan State University has withdrawn its $125,000 financial support for a campus appearance by former presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

On a 7-3 vote Tuesday night, the Associated Students of Michigan State University also called for "mass picketing and a boycott of the speech" if the university goes ahead with plans to bring Ziegler to the campus on Feb. 27.

Ken Brachler, director of the university's lecture-contract series, said the school will honor the $250,000 contract with Ziegler. The university and the student council recently voted to split the cost.

Texaco Endorses Plan

Texaco Inc.'s board chairman has endorsed the basic principles of President Ford's energy program and the Exxon chairman says a gasoline tax as Ford proposes is better than rationing fuel.

Memphis, American Petroleum Institute president Frank Kard said government should help lower income groups in fuel-tight years ahead.

Maurice F. Granville of Texaco, the third largest oil company, praised Ford for "talking frankly" and for an energy program "designed to reduce dependence on imported supplies, and over the longer term, to increase domestic supply."

Stocks Center Stage In Financial World Market Explodes In Heavy Activity

NEW YORK (AP) In the midst of a recession, after months of neglect, stocks are suddenly center stage in the financial world.

With little warning, the market has exploded with activity. The New York Stock Exchange has just completed its two heaviest trading days on record.

Though the widely watched Dow Jones industrial average only advanced 2.11 to 694.77 on Tuesday, the indicator has now climbed 52.87 points in five sessions and more than 100 points since its 12-year low in December.

Whether the price gains can hold or continue, no one is sure, but traders and analysts are hopeful, based on the pickup in trading.

Because interest rates have fallen, cutting the attractiveness of fixed-income securities, investors have begun to look more closely at stocks.

"Investment comes in when you're the only game in town," said Arthur Winner, a floor trader at Reich & Co.

Some brokers cautioned that this week's activity might not signal the beginning of a long term rise in the market.

Both Monday and Tuesday, institutional activity was heavy, with some pickup of public interest Tuesday.

Toward the afternoon a greater number of small transactions crossed the Big Board's stock ticker.

Around the exchange there was cheer and hope Tuesday.

"I've never seen it when you're the only game in town," said Richard Winner, a floor trader at Reich & Co.

Welding may stop thieves

Manhole Covers Welded In Place

While some thieves will take anything that's not nailed down, you would at least think there's a limit to their ransacking. Not so.

In the last two to three months, the county has lost over 50 per cent of its manhole covers to thieves who sell them for scrap from $2 to $3 apiece, according to County Roads Superintendent J. C. Lavender. Replacing these cast iron covers at $22 apiece, will cost the county $3,000, Lavender said yesterday.

"There's no use putting in new ones. They'll just get 'em too," Lavender philosophically explained.

Lavender's solution is to weld down the remaining covers, which would be a discouragement at least to the torch-less cover snatcher.

If the economy continues on its downswing trend, manhole covers — like wooden Indians and nickel gum — may soon be a thing of the past.

Quitters On 'Gravy Train'

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

ALAMONTE SPRINGS—The city will appeal demands from the state that it pay from 19 per cent to 100 per cent of the unemployment compensation for 10 persons who have either quit or been fired from city jobs, Mayor Norman Floyd informed city commissioners last night.

"The city is getting bombarded by the unemployment insurance people," Floyd said, calling the state law which granted municipal employees the right to unemployment compensation "an automatic gravy train."

"No money was budgeted for this," he said, adding the law permits a person to collect unemployment compensation when he has quit or been fired from a job for cause in "a bad law."

Floyd said that the cities are not being treated equally with private enterprise. He said while private enterprise can pay a percentage of its payroll for unemployment insurance, cities must pick up the entire bill for benefits actually paid or at least a percentage of actual money paid.

He noted that one employee resigned his city job "of his own free will and accord" to go to school and now the state is demanding that the city pay 100 per cent of the man's benefits.

Chou's Ally Named Chief Of Army Staff

TOKYO (AP)—An ally of Premier Chou En-lai, Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping, has been named chief of the Chinese army's general staff, the Kyodo news agency reported from Peking today.

The Japanese agency also reported that Vice Premier Chang Chun-chiao has been named director of the army's general political department. Both were named vice premiers at the National People's Congress in Peking Jan. 13-17. Their appointments to the army posts surprised China watchers in Tokyo, who expected the posts to be filled by military men.

Danes Eye Government

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Former Prime Minister Anker Joergensen declared himself ready today to try to form a new government after Denmark's new parliament at its first meeting voted Prime Minister Poul Hartling's minority Liberal government out of office by one vote.

Joergensen's Social Democrats, the country's largest party, sponsored the motion Tuesday in the Folketing (parliament) and called on the government to step aside to permit negotiations for "a broad majority government."

Egypt Buys French Jets

PARIS (AP)—President Anwar Sadat of Egypt announced today he had purchased a number of French supersonic jet fighters to make up for a lack of supplies from the Soviet Union.

Sadat said he could not reveal the exact number of jets he has bought but said they were "much less than" the 120 previously said to be involved in the deal. Sadat said delivery of the planes will be "in years to come."

Vietnam Fighting Lulls

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Fighting in South Vietnam continued at a low level for the fourth successive day today.

The Saigon command said Communist troops appeared to be regrouping for a new wave of attacks during Tet, the festival of the lunar new year beginning Feb. 11. Only one sizable ground action was reported.

Bear Lake Industrial Park Is Denied

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer

A proposed zoning change that would have allowed the development of an industrial park near high-priced homes in the Bear Lake area of the county was denied "without prejudice" by the County Commission last night.

Almost 125 Bear Lake residents and property owners, wearing "Save Bear Lake!" stickers, loudly applauded the denial.

The residents had strongly protested the proposed park, saying that it would create noise and drainage problems in the area and that it would be incompatible with the nearby high-quality residential homes.

David Farr, representing the developers (Orlando Land Co.) had asked for a change from general retail commercial (C-2) and agricultural (A-1) to wholesale commercial (C-3) for 30 acres of land between Bear Lake and US 41 in southwest Seminole County.

The Planning and Zoning Department had recommended against the request, reasoning that a buffer zone planned to

Police Probe Vandalism Cases

Police are investigating $10,000 in vandalism damage to two vacant Sanora townhouse apartments in Sanford and have arrested six persons in connection with two unrelated burglaries.

In a weekend incident discovered Tuesday, vandals broke into the apartment units owned by First Federal of Mid-Florida electrical fixtures destroyed and appliances before turning on water faucets and leaving the apartments to flood.

H.A. Moreland, of First Federal of Mid-Florida, said today that the damages will amount "to over $10,000" and said the flooding caused a ceiling to collapse in one of the two-story units.

Sanford police detectives Sgt. Edward Hughes and Walter Jones jailed four persons yesterday in connection with a burglary recently at the Ninth Street Tavern.

John Junior Burgess, 24, of 1019 W. Ninth St.; Isaac Fletcher, 31, of 1822 Lincoln Ave. and Anthony J. Robinson, 18, of 1509 W. 15th St., all were in county jail today on $15,000 bond on charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny.

Joyce Ann Inman, 23, of Apt. 11 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, was being held on $5,000 bond on a charge of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property.

Sheriff's deputy C.L. Nickles arrested Mark Edward Dyal, 18, of 565 Plumosa Drive, and Donald Edward Hampton, 20, of 310 W. Third St., both Sanford, early today in connection with a burglary at Packaging Systems Corporation, 507 Airport Boulevard.

Dyal and Hampton were in county jail on $13,000 bond each on charges of burglary and possession of controlled substance.

Deputies said the business was entered by pulling metal sheeting from the building and four vending machines inside were broken open and an undetermined amount of cigarettes and money taken.

Casselberry police have just a customer buying beer as an accessory after the fact in the attempted robbery Sunday night of the Tenneco service station-food store at SR-495 and Red Bug Road.

Police patrolman Francis Roche arrived at the store and the manager yelled he was being robbed and a man ran from the store and fled in a car owned by Michael L. Barry, of Summerfield, Fla. Police chased the fleeing car at speeds reaching 100-miles-per-hour at Azelea Park near the Orlando East-West Expressway but the driver eluded capture.

Barry, who told officers he had stopped at the store to buy beer, was in county jail at Sanford today on $5,000 bond on the accessory charge.

Jumped into the Washington Tidal Basin after the car in which she and others were riding with Mills, former chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mills appeared on stage with Miss Foxe later in Boston, and then entered Bethesda Naval Hospital Dec. 3 where he was treated for nearly two months for alcoholism. He was discharged from the hospital Monday evening. He didn't appear at Capital Hill yesterday and could not be reached at his apartment in suburban Virginia or his home at Kenett, Ark.

On Dec. 30, Mills issued a statement admitting he was an alcoholic and blamed drinking for his involvement with the stripper.

Miss Foxe announced her retirement from the stage after the Casselberry incident.

Hanon admitted yesterday that Miss Foxe "flashed" when she opened the robe at the nightclub but told the store she made no indecent gestures and that there was no one on stage with her at the time. "I maintain there was nothing obscene or lascivious," he said, and referred to a 1971 opinion by State Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin quoting courts saying that "nudity alone isn't unlawful."

Erickson unsuccessfully argued that "the startling nature of the way she did it was lewd."

Hanon said state laws also deal with exposure of sexual organs and noted that there has been no complaint by the state in the Foxe-Pinter cases about topless dancers in the nightclub show.

Mobile Manor residents, concerned that partial filling of a large canal in their neighborhood would ruin the fishing there, went away happy last night after the county commission denied a dredge and fill permit for the canal.

Commissioners, in a split 3-2 vote, denied the permit of businessman Mario LaPoma on the grounds that it would take too long for him to fill the canal, and that the filling would be inappropriate in that neighborhood. Filling the canal over a period of several years would be too inconvenient and unsightly to LaPoma's residential neighbors, they said.

LaPoma had asked for the permit in order to fill in the last 150 feet of a 75-foot-wide canal that stopped on his property behind his business, "Tymberpan Modular Homes," off SR 44 near Longwood.

LaPoma said he would make the filled area into a parking lot for cars for an office building, which would be built on the rest of his property.

But Mobile Manor residents, who complained at an initial hearing two weeks ago, said that LaPoma's action would disturb the fishing in the remainder of the canal. In addition, they said, he had already begun filling there without a county permit.

County Pollution Control (CPC) Director Langley Adair recommended in favor of granting the permit. Neighbor's claims that a "spring" existed in the proposed fill area were incorrect, Adair told the Board.

But resident Edward Rice, who opposed the filling, told commissioners that he was sure springs existed in the center of the deadened canal area.

Planning Of Estate Told To Optimists

G. Jeffrey Garland, Sanford estate planning specialist amazed Sanford Optimist Club members at its meeting yesterday with methods of saving up to one-half of estate taxes due the government at the time of death.

Garland explained that husbands and wives could save their families thousands of dollars at the time of a spouse's death by proper planning. As an example, Garland noted, a wife "owning" an insurance policy instead of being simply beneficiary could present a distinct advantage.

The Optimists were reminded that taking advantage of trusts that could be changed from time to time presented great tax savings that often are overlooked.

Deltona To Close Center, Withdraw Funds By June 1

By FANNIETTE EDWARDS Herald Correspondent

DELTONA — At a press conference yesterday, Charles McCarthy, assistant vice president in charge of recreation for Deltona Corp., announced that Deltona Corp. would close the doors of the Deltona Community Center, Arts and Crafts building and Little Red Schoolhouse and withdraw financial services for maintenance by June 1.

McCarthy said the facilities will have to be closed unless some concrete arrangements could be made with Deltona residents to take complete jurisdiction over maintenance and support of the buildings.

He feels this could be accomplished by combined efforts of the two leading organizations — Deltona Civic Association and the Presidents Council (composed of presidents of the many clubs that meet in the community center) — or either group.

He said the edict also includes the discontinuance of all maintenance services in the recreation areas, including Vann Park, Campbell Park and Saxon Park — all of which have shuffleboard courts and baseball fields.

U.S. Must Act To Reverse U.N.

During the almost 30 years since its birth at San Francisco in 1945, the United Nations has been a necessary instrument of peace in the world. However, the U.N.'s days of standing as a symbol of mutual conciliation among nations may be ending. It has embarked on a course certain to alienate many of those in this nation who have long endorsed its continuation.

There have been sufficient warnings of disenchantment among officials as well as citizens. President Ford himself urged the U.N. to guard preservation of the "proper interest of a minority." This theme later became the subject of a widely quoted speech in which U.S. Ambassador to the U.N., John Scali, condemned "the tyranny of the majority" — a warning to the Third World that the patience of the United States of America is not unlimited.

The offenses by the U.N. majority are many. The most profane was the 95 to 17 vote for a resolution granting the terrorist Palestine Liberation Organization permanent status as a non-voting observer at the U.N. Yasir Arafat, the leader of the PLO, had the impudence to address the General Assembly with a holster strapped openly to his belt.

Another affront to the sanctity of the U.N. was a vote by the General Assembly to suspend South Africa's participation, a clear violation of the Charter. Still another came when the U.N. Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization suspended cultural aid to Israel and voted to exclude her from participation in European regional meetings. And there were many other offenses.

The question citizens are asking is whether the United States should turn its back on the U.N. The answer, of course, is no. To leave like a petulant child, head bowed, would not befit the most powerful and most benevolent nation in the world. However, it would be prudent for the U.S. representatives to refuse to attend General Assembly meetings when they are devoted to discussions that are clearly calculated to embarrass the United States.

It also is proper for America to review its contribution of 25 per cent of the U.N. budget. It is unacceptable that we should underwrite our own ignominy.

In short, the United States no longer can be a silent giant. It must bestir itself in righteous indignation on those occasions when its good name is at stake. To be inactive is to abandon principle.

Investors Are Wary

The bidder offering the highest price for gold at the U.S. Treasury's auction was a jeweler from Indianapolis who specializes in making college rings. This, together with the meager turnout of individual bidders at the auction, seems to tell us that most Americans still regard gold as something to wear rather than something to invest in.

There was no great rush to buy gold from private sources when its sale was legalized Dec. 31, and the Treasury auction bears out that Americans are not succumbing to any speculative fever based on the increase in gold prices in recent years. Those who anticipated a stampede to the gold dealers appear to have underestimated the ability of the average American to use sober judgment when it comes to investing.

It turns out that most of the bidders for the Treasury gold were foreign banks or their U.S. agents. There is nothing wrong with that if they plan to sell the gold in the American market later on. However, it would be contrary to the intention of the Treasury sale if this gold is going to be shipped out of the country.

The purpose of offering some of the government's gold for sale was to prevent a big flow of dollars out of the country. If Americans decided to start buying it in large quantities, that doesn't seem to be the case, so the Treasury might as well close its gold window again — until we need more for college rings.

Around The Clock

Have you given much thought to what your contribution will be to this coming year's Bicentennial Celebration?
Mrs. Robert Smith has been busy for quite some time on an original play pertaining to the history of this area.
Feel like you have acting talent? Or maybe be a stage hand, or whatever? Then volunteer your services.

In the same vein, perhaps you're one of those who has musical talents . . .
There's an effort to organize a local drum and bugle corps!
Now don't laugh, darn you.
It lends itself to all kinds of appropriate appearances during the centennial.

The spark plug behind this endeavor is Sanford City Commissioner Julian Stenstrom — working in cooperation with Sanford C. D. director Jack Horner.
Understand there are two names already being bandied as potential music makers . . . Scott Burns and Bill Beasley.

"Tell you what, if Stenstrom promises to pull the big drum (providing there is one in the corps), I'll march alongside him and whomp it once or twice (Nah, not him you jokers. . . I mean the drum!)"

Despite some of the cold, early-morning temperature readings we've been having lately, Sonny Haberman asks, "Can Spring be far behind?" He's basing his optimism after seeing the year's first robin red-breast on Jan. 17. (Keep lookin', Sonny, . . . and in the meantime I'll keep a couple loaves in the fireplace — just in case that bird came down with the other 'snow birds,' or whatever.)

My other time does fly . . .
It's been 30 years since the 'big war.' The 58th Bomb Wing (40th, 44th, 46th, 48th, 49th Bomb Groups), veterans of WWII are planning their 30th reunion at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.
Those who are interested in getting additional information are requested to write to John Kavulich, 143 N. Fifth Street, Indiana, Pa., 15701.

A couple months back it was Auto Train which promoted us with some additional TV exposure, thanks to their including the name of Sanford in all their advertising.

Well, it's happened again. This time the thanks go to insurance-man Don Tabor and the giant of the baseball scouting world, Zim Beck.
Tabor called The Sporting News — The Source for any and all sporting news — and told them of Mr. Beck and his outstanding record.
"Wouldn't it be a nice idea if your nationwide readers had a story written for them about this 80-year-old dean of scouts?" asked Tabor.
Sporting News liked the idea and I was invited to do the report on the indomitable Beck.

To make a good story short (and for me, a very happy ending, too), the highlights of Mr. Beck's illustrious career are featured in the Feb. 1, issue of The Sporting News.
Sanford makes the 'big scene' again . . . thanks to Tabor, Sporting News, and, of course, Zim Beck!

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Lawmakers Urge Askew To Break Maitland Pact

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew and the Cabinet should throw out a $7.7 million prison construction contract awarded to a controversial Maitland firm, says a House Appropriations subcommittee.
Members of the Fixed Capital Outlay Subcommittee met Tuesday for Cabinet cancellation of the contract with Standard Construction Co. of Florida Inc. in a unanimous 5-0 vote.
"If they don't do it, then it's on their shoulders," said House Majority Leader Dick Clark, D-Miami, a leader in efforts to revoke the controversial contract.

License Confusion Told

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Ralph Davis, state highway safety and motor vehicles director, says he was misinformed about whether retrofitted license plates reduce rear-end auto collisions.
At Gov. Reubin Askew's budget hearings last week, Davis said the National Highway Safety Council reported that retrofitted plates don't necessarily prevent rear-end collisions. He said Florida should use painted plates at half the cost.
Tuesday, Davis wrote Askew to say the safety council had advised him it hadn't made such a report.

Floyd Given Life

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Cecil Henry Floyd, an itinerant house painter wanted for murder and robbery in four states, has been sentenced to three consecutive life terms in three 1974 slayings in Orange County.
Circuit Judge B. C. Muzynski delayed formal sentencing until Floyd, 34, enters pleas in murder charges in Kansas, Nebraska and Indiana.
Richard Rhodes, Floyd's attorney, said his client decided to change his pleas in all four states because of a desire to serve all his sentences in Indiana, his home state.

"You Were Great, Mom," young Bill Glascock tells his mother, Elizabeth Glascock and daughter, Lisa, agrees.

'Sadie' Stops Show For Altamonte Crew

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Elizabeth Glascock playing the part of "Sadie," the Jewish mother, is the hit of the Altamonte Springs Players' (ASP), current production of "Ready When You Are C.B." The diminutive mother of nine and wife of Casselberry Councilman Charles Glascock in real life received applause as she left the stage Saturday night from the sparse audience attending the ASP's second production of the current season.
Playing the part of the mother of the show's lead role "Jonas," by Gregg Phillips, Ms. Glascock took on the role with gusto, jabbing away at her stage son with an elbow and slapping him with a folded newspaper. Ms. Glascock's portrayal of the maid in ASP's earlier production of "The Night of Jan. 16" was also notable.
Ms. Glascock, who participated in many shows during her college days, had devoted all her time to raising her large brood and aiding her husband in his Longwood hardware store before the first ASP play.
Phillips' rendition as the Hollywood love idol was reminiscent of "All in the Family's" meathard, Rob Reiner, while his voice sounded like Jackie Gleason's sidekick, Art Carney. Phillips was also popular with the audience.
Act One of the Susan Slade play went rather slowly, but the second act was pepped up by Ms. Glascock's appearance and Ms. Anna Hagle's stripping to bra and half slip in a "strip blackjack" sequence. The strip routine brought an "ah" from the audience.
Ms. Hagle was almost too pretty for the role of "Annie," a pinch penny would-be actress who keeps food — salmon — in a wall safe and has an alarm attached to a desk drawer to keep tenant "Jonas" from helping himself to light bulbs.
Ms. Joan Hagle's performance as "Annie's" girl friend was lighter and more believable.
Jane Taylor who gave a strong performance in the lead of "Night of Jan. 16" plays her "Felicja" role ala Tallulah Bankhead.
Additional performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Saturday at the Altamonte Springs Civic Center.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — No one attending a Public Service Commission hearing Tuesday said that electric bills prepared by the utility industry are likely to be based on costs. But a "rate structures" should track costs.
G. Pierce Wood, Tampa Electric Co. vice president who was due to testify today, said Tuesday that "electric rates should be based primarily on cost to serve."
Jay Kennedy, PSC economist who is presenting the PSC staff proposal calling for a complete revision of the manner in which electric bills are figured, said in his prepared testimony that "rate structures should track costs."
They split from there.
Wood took exception to the proposal to charge more for electricity during peak hours, when it costs more to generate. He said he doubted that the higher cost would discourage use during peak hours.
He said the peak-rate proposal was an experiment that would require huge expenditures for new meters with no guarantee that it would be effective.
In the first day of what was scheduled for a four-day hearing, Wood said Tampa Electric would be charged for electricity determined by its cost by being a "fully allocated cost study method."
Public Counsel Frederick Karl asked if the cost study made a difference in charges to an industrial plant close to a generating plant and one far away, since transmitting the power raises the cost.
"No," Wood replied, "And there is no difference for a residence in the heart of Tampa and one in a rural area. Costs are based on classes of customers."
Another witness, Dr. Robert Young, said under Karl's questioning that determining costs depended on how the figures were used and that costs factors were accurate only within 5 to 15 per cent.
Young, testifying for a holding company of retail stores, also supported declining rates for higher electric use.
Commissioner Paula Hawkins said that a lot of the costs are dropped by the time the lower end of the rate scale is reached to justify the reduced charges.
"They can shift the figures around to justify anything," she said.
The PSC staff has recommended a constant rate, no matter how much power an industry uses, and only two steps in a declining rate for volume use by homes.

FBI Arrests Two In Altamonte

Two suspects in the Jan. 5 armed robbery of a Winn-Dixie store in Altamonte Springs have been arrested in Orlando by FBI agents.
Nick Stames, special agent in charge of the Tampa FBI district, said today that Richard L. Skates, 23, of Forest City Road, Orange County, and Gary L. Glavin, 23, of the Apopka area, were charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and armed robbery. Both men were being held without bond today in Orange County Jail at Orlando.
The federal warrants were in connection with the armed robbery of a Winn-Dixie store in Vero Beach, agents said, but the men were also charged with the Jan. 5 armed robbery of the Winn-Dixie store at Lake Brantley Square shopping center, Altamonte Springs.
Agents said Glavin crashed a roadblock yesterday in Azalea Park near a home where he had been staying and was apprehended after a four-mile high speed chase.
Altamonte Springs police said two men pulled guns at closing time Jan. 5 and forced the food store manager to open the safe. Officers said one gunman was apparently in the store when it closed and the second is believed to have slipped through the entrance just before the store closed. The robbers left the store quietly with an undischarged amount of money and fled in a waiting car, police said.

Scrap Pick-Up Slated

The Reynolds Metals Company mobile recycling unit has scheduled four dates during February to pick up aluminum scrap in Sanford for recycling purposes.
The mobile unit will be located at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce parking lot on E. First Street each Wednesday in February from 2-4 p.m.
The company pays 15 cents per pound for all aluminum cans and other all-aluminum scrap. Other metals are not accepted.
The majority of all aluminum cans carry an identifiable recyclable symbol stamped on the side, are light, seamless, non-magnetic and can be easily crushed by hand.
The aluminum can be recycled into new aluminum products in less than five per cent of the energy used to make it originally.

RAY CROMLEY President Ignoring The Facts

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — At about 25 minutes after one o'clock on Jan. 15, President Ford announced that his energy proposals, if adopted by Congress, would enable this nation to cut its need for foreign petroleum to three to five million barrels a day by 1985, thus making us independent of Arab oil in a crisis.

Fifty minutes later, I was at a meeting of 19 of Mr. Ford's energy experts, a group which has been working on these same energy proposals for six months.
These men and women had just heard the President's words on television, but couldn't believe their ears. They asked their chairman to read that part about self-sufficiency again, not once, but twice. For their own calculations, based on essentially the same energy-saving, energy-substitution and energy-production programs, indicated the United States in 1985 would need to import between seven million and 13 million barrels of petroleum a day, a far cry from independence.

The evidence assembled by these experts suggests that Mr. Ford has assumed an unrealistically low demand for energy in 1985, a better — than — likely output of continental and outer continental shelf oil and gas, and a nuclear program blossoming at an unbelievable pace.
Even making allowances for the normal exaggeration in political speeches, Mr. Ford's statement was the stuff of which credibility gaps are created.
"If we are to make progress in the energy field, we will have to face our problems with no such self-hypnosis.
As men working in the field know, the government moves ponderously. What a scientist might calculate as possible in two years, will take four, six, eight or 10 years moving through bureaucratic, legal and committee channels.
The energy experts I've talked to are sold on most of the President's technical proposals — as objectives. That is, they think his goals are right. But the agreement stops there.
Mr. Ford depends heavily on oil and gas from the outer continental shelf. The specialist report that no one is at all certain whether the great hoped-for explorable deposits actually exist. As of today, the outer continental shelf is a hope, and can't be counted on to solve our problems, even with heavy investment.
Mr. Ford proposes one-million barrels of synthetic fuels and shale oil production a day by 1985. A considerable number of his specialists do not share that optimism. They say they're not convinced by research findings to date that shale oil can be produced economically in the reasonable future.
Mr. Ford is enthusiastic about nuclear power. So are the advisers I have reached. They're of the opinion it's safer than news accounts would lead us to believe. But they're not absolutely certain. And they are convinced that the stepped-up research on safety and on the disposal of radioactive waste is going to take longer than the President seems to think.

In previous columns, we have reported how the Texas oil tycoon, H. L. Hunt, led to a botched wiretap job back in 1970. To avoid implication in the scandal, the old man's sons, Bunker and Herbert, frantically began evasive maneuvers. They turned to Percy Foreman, whose celebrated clients range from James Earl Ray, the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, to a host of social butterflies.
Bunker Hunt wanted Foreman to represent the wiretappers who were potentially the most dangerous witnesses against the Hunts, according to the evidence before the grand jury.
As an intermediary, Bunker used a wealthy friend and businessman, Ed Hudson, who kept detailed notes on his talks with both Hunt and Foreman. But one of the wiretappers, Jon Kelly, who had been hired by Hudson, made off with the notes.
These have now been turned over to the grand

WILLIAM RUSHER This Midwinter Madness

BANGKOK — One of the side benefits of foreign travel is the opportunity to look at the United States from outside, for a change. I wish I could report that the experience, these days, is an uplifting one — like those cogent views of the planet Earth, with its rusty continents and royal-blue oceans — and swirling clouds, that our astronauts used to enjoy on the way to the moon. Unfortunately the United States today, as viewed from abroad, looks rather like some village idiot mindlessly banging his head against a wall.
Take the announcement of Ron Nessen, President Ford's press secretary, that the government would bill Richard Nixon some $3000 for the cost of so much of his final flight to Los Angeles last August 9 as took place after he officially ceased to be President at 11:35 a.m., at a point near Jefferson City, Missouri. Mr. Nessen was later prevailed upon to retract this particular piece of nuttiness, but the damage had already been done.
In case you haven't heard, the rest of the world (give or take a Swede or two) feels far less ill-disposed toward Mr. Nixon than most of our domestic critics. Nor is it merely the familiar story of the prophet not having honor save in his own country.
In the particular case of Richard Nixon, the rest of the world simply hasn't been able to summon up the indignation over his conduct that billions feel so effortlessly from, say, Lowell Weicker. I have a friend in Italy, and not even a terribly anti-clerical one at that, who is convinced that the Pope writes the cardinals — a preposterous idea, to be sure, but one that nicely illustrates the blasé European attitude toward that sort of thing.
Little do they realize the heights (as it is depths?) of vindictiveness that millions of Americans have attained on the subject of Richard Nixon. I have no doubt that Messrs. Gallup and Harris could find plenty of people who would agree that, once the presidential jet reached Missouri and the sands ran out on the Nixon presidency, the pilot ought to have switched off the engines, bailed out, and let the crashed thing crash.
Or take the still-continuing brouhaha over allegedly "illegal" files on anti-war Americans kept by the CIA during the 1960s. This flap is almost 100 per cent pure propaganda: a controversy deliberately manufactured by Seymour M. Hersh and his superiors at the "New York Times," abetted by the usual publicity-thirsty liberals in the Congress, solely for the purpose of embarrassing and, if possible, crippling the CIA.

DON OAKLEY Government Not Part Of Motto

Americans' trust in their government, which has been deteriorating since 1964, seems to have bottomed out in the past year.
So reports the Center for Political Studies of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research.
Among the Center's recent findings:
— There was a slight increase in the low level of trust just after Richard Nixon resigned the presidency, but the slight rise in trust disappeared following President Ford's pardoning of Nixon. Some 76 per cent of the people questioned thought that the pardon was a mistake.
— Republicans and Democrats are about equal in their disillusionment with government. Specifically, 49 per cent of Republicans and 51 per cent of Democrats express distrust.
— However, even those people who still have a high level of political trust are becoming increasingly cynical about how the government is handling the worsening problems of inflation and unemployment.
— "Clearly," says Arthur Miller of the Center, "American citizens expect the government to assist them in solving their problems — particularly economic problems." But combined with severe and prolonged economic troubles, it makes the people's faith in the government's ability to handle any kind of problem just about nonexistent.

This present lack of popular confidence is preventing President Ford from being able to convince the nation that his policies will benefit the economy. Only until and if the government adopts policies that are successful in halting inflation and holding off recession, says Miller, would he expect confidence in government to begin to rise.

"Way back in 1868, when the race for naval guns was in its infancy, the first edition of the authoritative "Jane's Fighting Ships" appeared. In 1909, when World War I was in its full swing, the second edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" was published.
Now of all times, when the superpowers are armed to the teeth with nation-destroying nuclear weapons, the first edition of a new series, "Jane's Infantry Weapons," has been published by Franklin Watts, Inc. in New York and simultaneously in London.
There's a reason, says the editor, Maj. F. W. A. Hobart, an acknowledged expert and lecturer on small arms.
In a foreword to the new volume, he points out that the large numbers of nuclear weapons in the world today have ironically made the well-armed infantryman more necessary than ever before.
It is the ability of the infantry to hold back an enemy that would give politicians time to evaluate and negotiate before resorting to nuclear weapons. The lack of such an ability, says the editor, might lead to the earlier use of nuclear weapons in case of an attack.
Thus the sword still reigns supreme, and we will not in our time see the publication of something called "Jane's All the World's Plowshares."

Foreman Finds Roles Are Reversed

WASHINGTON — Famed criminal lawyer Percy Foreman, who has saved so many clients from jail or worse, is now himself the target of a federal grand jury investigation.
A grand jury in Dallas is looking into charges that he received $100,000 to obstruct justice in the Texas Watergate case. According to evidence in the case, he was supposed to "control" potential witnesses against the millionaire brothers, Bunker and Herbert Hunt.
In previous columns, we have reported how the Texas oil tycoon, H. L. Hunt, led to a botched wiretap job back in 1970. To avoid implication in the scandal, the old man's sons, Bunker and Herbert, frantically began evasive maneuvers. They turned to Percy Foreman, whose celebrated clients range from James Earl Ray, the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, to a host of social butterflies.
Bunker Hunt wanted Foreman to represent the wiretappers who were potentially the most dangerous witnesses against the Hunts, according to the evidence before the grand jury.
As an intermediary, Bunker used a wealthy friend and businessman, Ed Hudson, who kept detailed notes on his talks with both Hunt and Foreman. But one of the wiretappers, Jon Kelly, who had been hired by Hudson, made off with the notes.
These have now been turned over to the grand

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — No one attending a Public Service Commission hearing Tuesday said that electric bills prepared by the utility industry are likely to be based on costs. But a "rate structures" should track costs.
G. Pierce Wood, Tampa Electric Co. vice president who was due to testify today, said Tuesday that "electric rates should be based primarily on cost to serve."
Jay Kennedy, PSC economist who is presenting the PSC staff proposal calling for a complete revision of the manner in which electric bills are figured, said in his prepared testimony that "rate structures should track costs."
They split from there.
Wood took exception to the proposal to charge more for electricity during peak hours, when it costs more to generate. He said he doubted that the higher cost would discourage use during peak hours.
He said the peak-rate proposal was an experiment that would require huge expenditures for new meters with no guarantee that it would be effective.
In the first day of what was scheduled for a four-day hearing, Wood said Tampa Electric would be charged for electricity determined by its cost by being a "fully allocated cost study method."
Public Counsel Frederick Karl asked if the cost study made a difference in charges to an industrial plant close to a generating plant and one far away, since transmitting the power raises the cost.
"No," Wood replied, "And there is no difference for a residence in the heart of Tampa and one in a rural area. Costs are based on classes of customers."
Another witness, Dr. Robert Young, said under Karl's questioning that determining costs depended on how the figures were used and that costs factors were accurate only within 5 to 15 per cent.
Young, testifying for a holding company of retail stores, also supported declining rates for higher electric use.
Commissioner Paula Hawkins said that a lot of the costs are dropped by the time the lower end of the rate scale is reached to justify the reduced charges.
"They can shift the figures around to justify anything," she said.
The PSC staff has recommended a constant rate, no matter how much power an industry uses, and only two steps in a declining rate for volume use by homes.

FBI Arrests Two In Altamonte

Two suspects in the Jan. 5 armed robbery of a Winn-Dixie store in Altamonte Springs have been arrested in Orlando by FBI agents.
Nick Stames, special agent in charge of the Tampa FBI district, said today that Richard L. Skates, 23, of Forest City Road, Orange County, and Gary L. Glavin, 23, of the Apopka area, were charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and armed robbery. Both men were being held without bond today in Orange County Jail at Orlando.
The federal warrants were in connection with the armed robbery of a Winn-Dixie store in Vero Beach, agents said, but the men were also charged with the Jan. 5 armed robbery of the Winn-Dixie store at Lake Brantley Square shopping center, Altamonte Springs.
Agents said Glavin crashed a roadblock yesterday in Azalea Park near a home where he had been staying and was apprehended after a four-mile high speed chase.
Altamonte Springs police said two men pulled guns at closing time Jan. 5 and forced the food store manager to open the safe. Officers said one gunman was apparently in the store when it closed and the second is believed to have slipped through the entrance just before the store closed. The robbers left the store quietly with an undischarged amount of money and fled in a waiting car, police said.

Tigers Quiet Hounds' Bark With Easy Win

By MICKEY LOCKRIDGE Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A Jones Tiger fan yelled from the stands, "I want 100, I want 100!"

And the Tiger cagers did their best to comply as they ran over the Lyman Greyhounds Tuesday night 91-65 on the Hounds' home floor.

The Tigers, 8-9, were headed by the two big powerhouses, Anthony Givens and Hank Rayam.

Rayam and Givens traded off grabbing rebounds and hitting lay ups, much to the dismay of the Hounds and Coach Rick Steinke.

Givens hit 25 points with 11 field goals and Rayam hit 25 with 10 from the field.

The Less pushed Lyman down another notch to 3-16. The Greyhounds took the game's opening lead and broke into an early lead in the first quarter behind the accurate outside shooting of Clyde Hudson, but the Tigers' hustle and defense turned the game around.

By halftime the Tigers held a 17-point lead, 45-28.

Just before the second half began, Steinke said, "I hope we're ready to play this half. We're just jogging around. We've got to move."

And when the third quarter opened it seemed that the Hounds has been rejuvenated as Greg Rawlins capitalized on fast breaks.

But the Tigers would not alter and kicked their lead up to 20 points mid-way in the third period.

A brief Lyman rally started and ended in the last two minutes of the third quarter as they narrowed the lead to 60-46.

The final period was topping on the cake for the Tigers as they continued to add points on the scoreboard with razzle dazzle long court passing and the steady shooting of Rayam and Givens.

Hudson scored 12 points and Bernard Wright had 17 points for the Greyhounds.

The Lyman JV's also had a rough time with Jones as they lost a narrow lead at the end of regular play and went into overtime 70-70. In the three-minute overtime, Jones ate up Lyman by scoring 13 points and allowing Lyman only two.

Final score was Jones 83-Lyman 72

Apopka downed the Sanford Naval Academy soccer team 3-1 Tuesday, but Navy's big test comes Friday against Florida Central Academy.

Navy and Florida Central are tied for the Land and Hills Conference lead with one loss each. Florida Central bombed Navy 13-1 two weeks ago.

"Our offense and defense played a helluva game," Navy Coach Steve Gilmore said. "There's been a complete change come about in our gettings. I think they're finally getting it all together... that's just about the size of it."

The game Friday is 4 p.m. at Navy's field.

In other soccer battles, Lake Howell is away against the Orlando Edgewater junior varsity today at 3:30 p.m.

Colonial Drops Seminole 53-45

By CHUCK MCCLUNG Herald Correspondent

A small, scrappy and aggressive Orlando Colonial basketball team jumped to an early eight-point lead, then survived a Seminole comeback in the final period to can a 53-45 triumph Tuesday night.

The visiting Grenadiers took immediate control of the low scoring contest, and continued the trend, leading by 13 in the third period.

Colonial capitalized early on Tribe mistakes resulting from a Colonial press.

Rocky Sorice led the Grenadiers in the first quarter, sinking eight of his final 12 points and fronting the smothering press.

In the second period, Colonial led by 12 before a Fred Washington two-pointer broke a two-minute Seminole cold streak.

Washington dropped six points to cut Colonial's lead to 29-23 at halftime.

Colonial tossed in eight unanswered points in the first two and a half minutes of the third quarter to increase its lead to 37-22.

Randy Brown broke the streak with 5:25 left in the period.

The Tribe began slowly to erode the Colonial advantage. After the Brown field goal, the Tribe rallied to outscore the visitors 10-5. Excellent defensive play by 215-pound

Navy Wins Second Straight, 43-39

By SCOTT ABRAHAM Herald Correspondent

Navy's Bill Ross came off the bench early in the second half with three consecutive steals and six straight points to boost Sanford to a 30-22 advantage.

But Montverde's Kirby and Woeller whittled Navy's margin to 35-32 by quarter's end.

The win boosted the midshipmen to 4-11. Two of the victories are over Montverde. The still climaxed a fourth quarter see-saw struggle that saw Steve Mock and Mark Bassett sink four crucial free throws to insure the Navy win. Montverde could not score during the stall.

Top scorer was Montverde's Kirby Rogers with 18 points. Navy's high man Hubert Kerkow had 12 points.

An even game throughout, the Naval Academy and Montverde tied 10-10 in the first period. Navy outscored the Eagle's 14-12 in the second period to lead at the half 24-22.

The Vikings increased their record to 7-1 in the junior boys' league with a 75-40 win over the Lions. The Vikings led 31-9 at halftime.

Robin Cutler led the Vikes with 26 points and teammates Kenneth Bentley had 22 and Joseph Stalling, 15.

Derek Martin was high for the Lions with 24 points.

Bernard Edwards scored eight of his 10 points in the third quarter to head the Jets' 33-30 win over the Rams. Mark Bernard had 12 points for the winners.

What's your little boy doing right now?

Chances are he's doing what a lot of other little boys and girls are doing. Riding his bike. Fishing in a canal. Or climbing a tree.

Now we're sure you've warned him about the obvious dangers of outdoor play. Like traffic in the streets, falling into a canal, or out of a tree. But have you also warned him of the obvious danger of climbing trees near power lines?

It seems that some people are unaware that trees near power lines can be accidentally charged with electricity. All it takes is for a branch to come in contact with a hot power line.

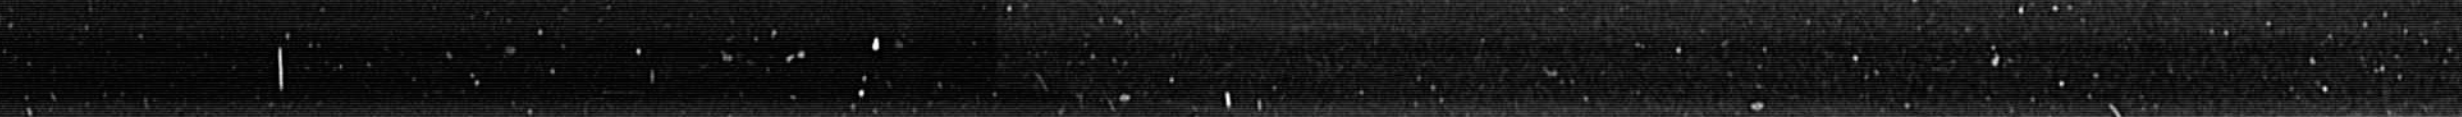

If someone gets close to the point of contact, they're liable to get a severe shock. But under certain conditions, like wet weather for example, the electric current can be carried all the way to the ground. This means it's also possible to get a shock from simply touching the trunk of the tree.

Naturally we're doing all we can to keep your trees clear of our lines. But we also know little boys, being little boys, love to climb them.

What we're concerned about is that you and your child are aware of the dangers, so that if he should climb a tree without your knowing, you can take comfort knowing he looked before he climbed.

This safety message has been brought to you by Florida Power & Light as a public service, because serving the public is really what we're here for.

Publicity Could Benefit The 'Meat Middlemen'

Editor's Note: This is the second of three articles on meat prices and how they are being affected by the farmer, packer and retailer.

By NICK DAGGER
The Herald Staff

CHICAGO — During the 1973 meat shortage, perhaps more than ever before, attention was focused on agriculture and on the farmer and his profits.

Since then, farm organizations have taken great pains to publicize the difficulties that farmers face.

That publicity campaign is one reason that the farmer today is seen more as a victim than a villain.

"The farmer is in the position he's always been in," said one agriculture spokesman. "Somebody down the road," he offered, "is doing pretty good."

Meat packers — the so-called middlemen "down the road" — are just beginning to learn to play the public relations game.

In the eyes of many they are the ones who are making great profits in the current meat market situation.

"The farmer's not the only one that's getting hurt," said Roy Green, a public relations man for Swift.

Green cited the current wholesale price of turkeys as an example that packers are not receiving under profits.

In November, 1973, Green said, the average wholesale price for a 16-24 pound tom turkey was 58.6 cents per pound.

The same bird now will sell for 49.3 cents per pound on the wholesale market, he said, or a reduction of 16 per cent.

In 1973 farmers were paid about 53 cents per pound for tom turkeys. Now the farmer is paid only about 28 cents per pound.

Green explained the discrepancy by saying first that farmers are paid for the turkey's live weight and Swift sells only the meat.

Moreover, he said, when the price was up in 1973, many turkey farmers sold their livestock and the result was "too much of a supply at the prices that prevailed." The price had to come down.

Similar surpluses in the cattle supply have kept the wholesale price of beef down as well, said John Huston, of the Livestock and Meat Board.

That board is funded by the meat industry and, said Huston, its main function is to keep the public informed about the various parts of the industry.

Huston said the wholesale price of beef "hasn't changed much" in the last year. The average wholesale price for a pound of beef in 1973 was 74 cents, he said. The average price for a pound of beef in October was 73 cents.

In turn, in 1973, farmers received an average of about 43 cents per pound of beef. "They got a lot higher than that," said Huston, "but that was the average."

The farmer's share now has dropped to "a little less than 40 cents" a pound, he said.

But meat packers and wholesalers are not receiving any undue rewards. "I have no evidence of that if they are," said Huston.

Meat packers and wholesalers sympathize with the plight of the farmer but they insist that they are doing everything they can.

The middlemen tend to believe that the farmer is not the villain. But when they look on down the meat production line at the retailers they aren't so sure anymore.

Huston, for his part, maintains that inflation and weather are to blame. And, he said, the toughest job the Livestock and Meat Board has is keeping the various members of the meat industry away from each other's throats.

As intense government investigation of all phases of the meat industry gets under way many people are assuming that retail supermarkets will be exposed as profiteers.

That assumption, retailers insist, is false and will be proved false by the closest scrutiny.

Linda Anderson, director of consumer affairs for National Tea Co. in Chicago, and many of her counterparts at other retail food chains, are beginning a campaign to clean up their image as the profiteers of the meat industry.

"If you don't say anything," said Anderson, "then people do think you're profiteering."

Gifting figures to substantiate what she said, Anderson explained that, at the meat counter, "We aren't earning anymore than we did a year ago."

Anderson said the overall retail price of meat at National Tea stores has dropped seven to eight cents a pound in the last year.

Retail food merchants couldn't afford to charge too much, said Anderson, or their competitors would underprice them out of business.

"It's probably one of the most competitive businesses that there is," she said, adding, "nobody's really trying to build a profit. They can't afford to."

Other studies of retail food prices comparing 1973 to 1974 tend to support retailers' claims.

"Beef is down over-all from 1973," said Bill Newby, vice president of public relations and consumer affairs for Jewel Foods in Chicago.

He said that meat will continue to be "a good value" for the next few months.

One problem that retailers face, said Newby, is the short turnover for the meat they handle.

"What we buy this week we're selling in the stores next week," he said.

Newby said retailers are at the mercy of the market because "we have to buy something every week regardless of what the market is."

Although the mechanics of meat and potatoes and lots of fried eggs and bacon, he said.

And steak, of course. The inmates get steak once a month.

"When you put a steak meat out they tear you up," Vandergriff said. "Then you've got to follow it up with a meal that doesn't cost much" to bring the budget back in line.

Vandergriff manages to provide a balanced diet at a cost of $1.25 to $1.26 per man per day. His food cost is wholesale, based on state purchasing or assessments against his budget for use of foods produced by farm operations of the Division of Corrections.

To keep the budget that low Vandergriff says he must avoid waste, avoid purchasing prepared foods, and purchase items in season to get the lowest prices.

"You've got to make everything for yourself that you can," he said. In his kitchen the staff of 11 employees and up to 135 inmates produce bread, syrups, sauces and other items which could be purchased ready-made.

He Is Cutting Down Cooking Costs By Ton

Waste is avoided a number of ways at UCI. For instance, when some of a meat item is left over from a noon meal, it is set out near the evening meal serving line as a second serving, he said.

Meat substitutes and extenders play a big part in Vandergriff's battle of the budget.

Meat extenders cost little and double the amount of meat left when cooking is done, he said. Meat substitutes made from soy beans look and taste very nearly the same as meat and are just as good in many dishes, such as salads, omelets, and other dishes in which meat is mixed with other foods, he added.

The use of liquid sweeteners and powdered milk also save in cooking, he added.

"We buy liquid sweetener and use it in everything we can," he said. "It's much cheaper."

Powdered milk is also good and cheap for cooking, but not generally acceptable to inmates for drinking, Vandergriff said. But in a pinch it can be made acceptable by adding a little sugar and vanilla "to sweeten it up," he noted.

Reoffer vegetables usually prepared as an ingredient of something served at the next meal.

Butter is put on a serving line, and its use is not restricted. But before it gets to the serving line, someone in the kitchen has shipped it, thus increasing its volume three to four times.

Vandergriff has been developing means of cooking economically for eight years at UCI. Prior to that he was a U.S. Air Force mess sergeant. Some of the recipes used at UCI are the same as the Air Force recipes, he said.

If you plan to feed 1,800 people or so anytime, you might consider this recipe from the Union Correctional Institution kitchen:

MEAT TAMALELOAF

Meat, cooked, ground 40 lbs.
Milk, evaporated 30 lbs.
Water 16 gallons
Cornmeal 105 lbs
Onions, finely chopped 42 lbs.
Fat 20 1/2 lbs
Tomatoes 7 cases
Corn 7 cases
Eggs 53 doz.
Salt 18 1/2 lbs.
Chili powder As needed
Garlic As needed.

Mix milk and water, add cornmeal, heat to boiling point and reduce heat and cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Cook onions and garlic in fat until soft, then add tomatoes and corn.

Combine cornmeal, vegetables, cooked meat, eggs, chili powder and salt. Heat to boiling point.

Form into baking pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 to 400 degrees F.) about 45 minutes.

Start The Day Heartily

OATMEAL CINNAMON ROLLS

1 pkg. active dry yeast
1/4 c. warm water (110 F.)
1/2 c. butter
1 c. water
1 c. cooked 3-minute brand oats
1 tsp. salt
1/2 c. white sugar
1/2 c. non-fat dry milk
1 egg
5/8 to 6 c. flour

FILLING

1/2 c. butter, softened
1 c. sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon

FROSTING

2 c. powdered sugar
1/4 c. warm coffee
Dash of salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. nutmeg

Sprinkle yeast over warm water. Set aside for 5 minutes. Combine dissolved yeast, butter, water, cooked oats, salt, sugar, dry milk, and egg in blender. Blend until smooth (about 20 seconds). Pour mixture into a bowl. Stir in flour, adding only until a soft dough is formed. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease surface. Cover and let rise until double in bulk (takes about 2 hours). Punch down and turn out onto a lightly floured board. Roll into a rectangle about 1/2 inch thick. Apply filling by spreading with butter and sprinkling with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up dough like a jelly roll. Cut in one inch rolls and place into a large, greased baking pan. Cover and let rise until double in size. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown.

Prices Compared: Six Of One, Half Dozen Of Other

By RON WELLS
The Herald Services

The rising cost of food has American consumers in an uproar. Yet just how bad is it for the harried American housewife compared to her counterpart in England?

Recently a random price check was made of 55 items at the Safeway supermarket on Edgewater Road in London, England. These prices were then compared with the same or comparable items found on the shelves of a Safeway market in San Diego, Calif.

Safeway is one of the larger supermarket chains in the western United States. Like most big chains, Safeway has products which bear its name. These were used wherever possible.

Out of the 55 items compared, 31 sold at lower prices in the London Safeway and 24 sold at lower prices in the San Diego Safeway.

There are several factors which should be considered. Across the board, the British standard of living is lower than that of the United States. Wages are also considerably lower, especially among middle- and lower-income workers. And Britain's annual inflation rate of 20 per cent far outstrips the annual 5 to 6 per cent inflation rate in the United States.

Still, 17 of the items compared were within five cents of each other, 27 were within 10 cents and 36 were within 20 cents.

Both markets featured some excellent bargains which shoppers in the respective stores would probably jump at if air travel were considerably faster and much less expensive.

At the time the check was made, the British pound was equal in exchange to $2.30 U.S. currency.

Here is how the prices compared. All prices have been converted into dollars and cents with London prices quoted first.

Among the fresh fruits: apples were 37 cents and 29 cents per pound; oranges were 18 cents and 19 cents per pound; bananas were 69 cents and 15 cents per pound; and grapefruits were 15 cents and 25 cents each.

In the fresh vegetable bins mushrooms were 61 cents and $1.09 a pound; a package of carrots was 22 cents and 19 cents; a 10-pound sack of potatoes in London sold for 76 cents while a five-pound sack in San Diego sold for 69 cents; a five-pound bag of onions was 30 cents in London while onions were 10 cents per pound in San Diego; lettuce was 18 cents and 19 cents a head.

Prices on frozen foods followed the same trend. A one-pound box of french fries sold for 44 cents and 43 cents; a regular-size can of orange juice was 66 cents and 34 cents; an eight-ounce bag of sliced green beans in London was 33 cents while a nine-ounce bag was 35 cents in San Diego; and two large ears of corn were 70 cents in London while four large ears sold for 77 cents in San Diego.

Canned goods such as Campbell's tomato and cream mushroom soups were 24 cents in London and 23 cents in San Diego; Safeway sliced yellow cling peaches were 44 cents (fifteen-and-one-fourth-ounce can) and 32 cents (16-ounce can); and Safeway garden peas were 31 cents (18-ounce can) and 32 cents (16-ounce can).

Among the meat, fish and poultry products, an eight-ounce package of bacon in London was 89 cents while a 16-ounce package in San Diego sold for $1.29; a four-pound, 10-ounce roasting chicken in London was $2.29 and a three-pound, six-ounce one in San Diego was $2.09; a pound of lean hamburger was $1.15 and $1.04; a pound of lean pork chops was $1.43 and $1.54; one-third pound of lamb chops was 92 cents and $2.39.

One-third pound of cube steak was $1.24 and $1.25; and a 10-ounce package of cod filets was 93 cents in London while a 16-ounce package in San Diego was $1.39.

Among the wines and liquors, Maltes wine was $2.42 and $3.39 and Smirnoff vodka (four-fifths) was $6.10 and $5.35.

Sundry items such as the medium-size of Johnson baby powder was 62 cents and 88 cents; a 22-ounce bottle of Palmolive dishwashing liquid was 70 cents and 80 cents; a can of Kwik shoe polish was 21 cents and 45 cents; a package of 10 Wilkinson razor blades in London was 79 cents compared to 83 cents for five Wilkinson blades in San Diego; and a jar of Vaseline petroleum jelly was 39 cents and 54 cents.

And in case you need it after all this, a 30-tablet bottle of Alka-Seltzer sold for 83 cents in London compared to $1.04 for a 25-tablet bottle or 58 cents for a 25-tablet container in San Diego.

Today's Breakfast Must Be Quick, Nutritious

American tradition calls for what has long been thought of as a "good, hearty breakfast." But today, "quick and nutritious" might be more suitable adjectives.

Studies show that individuals without breakfast have impaired muscular ability, impaired perception and a low resistance to fatigue.

Children, who eat or don't eat in the chaotic breakfast routine, are often listless and inattentive during the morning hours. In fact, many youngsters receive an adequate diet only one day in five. It's hard to make up for the nutrients missed at breakfast. So, start the day right.

Maybe you're wondering what makes a good breakfast. Nutritionists recommend that about one fourth of the daily food intake, nutrients and calories be eaten at breakfast.

One way to be sure you get a wide variety of nutrients is to include food from at least three of the basic four food groups. This doesn't mean breakfast has to be overloaded with calories.

If you select an egg (meat group), buttered toast (bread and cereal group) and a glass of orange juice (fruit and vegetable group) three food groups are represented. The total caloric content of this meal is less than 300. Add a glass of milk, skim or whole, and the meal includes all four food groups.

A breakfast such as this contributes vitamins, minerals, protein, carbohydrate and fat. All these nutrients are necessary and work together to help you meet daily demands and stresses.

Carbohydrate, supplied by breads and cereals, is especially important because it is the only food source that supplies energy to the brain. A breakfast without carbohydrate could make morning decisions and work more difficult.

Protein is indispensable to body growth and repair. It helps ward off illnesses and heal cuts and bruises. But excess protein may also be an energy source. Eggs, meat, poultry, milk, bread and cereals contribute dietary protein.

Adding some butter or other fat to breakfast gives it staying power.

CHEESY POPUP BREAD
2 loaves

3 to 3 1/2 cups enriched self-rising flour
1 package dry yeast
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup oil
2 eggs, room temperature
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese

Stir together 1 1/2 cups flour and yeast. Beat milk, water, oil and sugar over low heat only until warm, (120 to 130 degrees). Add liquid ingredients to flour-yeast mixture and beat until smooth, about 2 minutes on medium speed or 130 strokes by hand. Divide into 2 well greased 1-pound coffee cans. Let rise in warm place 80 to 85 degrees until light and bubbly, about 1 hour. (Batter should be about 1/4 to 1/2 inch below upper rim.) Bake in a preheated 375 degrees oven 30 to 35 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 15 minutes in the can before removing.

Cheddar Waffles provide a quick morning meal. Prepare them ahead and freeze. To serve the waffles, pop into a toaster — and presto a quick breakfast. Add canned apple slices or apple sauce and cottage cheese for a nourishing breakfast fare. For additional waffle variations, try adding ham bits or cooked sausage to the batter.

Country Sausage Muffins and Bacon Cornpufts are easy to make ahead and reheat for breakfast. Wrap them in foil and heat in a 450 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Then watch your hungry family enjoy these tasty breakfast treats.

Serve special breads to eliminate breakfast "to-humans." Try Honey of A Date Bread with a scoop of ice cream and a glass of orange juice. This nutritious breakfast sounds more like dessert.

Quick breads or fruit-nut breads add a festive flavor to any breakfast menu. And whether you serve these breads fresh from the oven, toasted or cold, they are bound to make breakfast a success.

Another way to perk up breakfast is to add a different flavor to traditional breakfast foods. Imagine bananas and peanut butter in a warm light cake — and you have Peanut Butter Banana Pancakes. This flavorful variation of an old standby is sure to be a hit, especially with the youngsters. Serve some sausage links and fresh fruit or juice for a well-balanced meal.

To get the most from breakfast, plan ahead. Make breakfast fast, just like any other meal. Avoid the same thing every day. Use your imagination and creativity to devise breakfast menus that will wake up the drowsiest lasterbuds. And remember, a Good Breakfast starts a Good day.

SPEEDY CHEDDAR WAFFLES
6 servings

1 egg
2 cups milk
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1-3 cup oil
2 1/4 cups enriched self-rising flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 egg, beaten
6 slices bacon, cooked crisp, crumbled
1/4 cup oil

Stir together flour, corn meal, sugar and baking soda. Combine milk, egg, crumbled bacon and oil. Add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes. Invert and remove from pan.

BACON CORNPUFTS
12 medium-size muffins

COUNTY SAUSAGE MUFFINS

HONEY OF A DATE BREAD

12 muffins

1 cup enriched self-rising flour
1 cup enriched self-rising corn meal
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 egg, beaten
6 slices bacon, cooked crisp, crumbled
1/4 cup oil

Stir together flour, corn meal, sugar and baking soda. Combine milk, egg, crumbled bacon and oil. Add to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes. Invert and remove from pan.

6 to 8 servings

BACON PEANUT BUTTER CORN STICKS
14 corn sticks

2 cups enriched self-rising corn meal
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup finely chopped pecans
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 cups enriched self-rising corn meal
Ice cream, optional

Beat together eggs, orange juice, honey and oil. Stir in dates, pecans and orange peel. Add to corn meal, stirring until smooth. Pour into a greased and paper lined 9-inch round baking pan. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 45 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 10 minutes. Invert and remove from pan. Cut in wedges and serve with ice cream if desired.

16 to 18 pancakes

1 1/2 cups enriched self-rising flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup mashed banana
1/4 cup peanut butter
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cups milk
1 egg, slightly beaten

Stir together flour, sugar and baking soda. Blend banana, peanut butter and lemon juice. Stir in milk, egg and oil; stir to combine. Add liquid ingredients all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Batter may be lumpy. Bake on greased hot griddle.

PEANUT BUTTER BANANA PANCAKES

GERMAN TOAST

4 1-inch slices rye bread
2 medium eggs, well beaten
2 large apples (approx. 1 lb.)
1 1/2 oz. package pre-cooked Bratwurst (or your favorite sausage)
3/4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 slices Moenster cheese (approx. 3 1/2" square slices)
1 medium green pepper, cut into 4 circles
1 whole canned pimiento, halved

Soak bread slices in beaten eggs, turning occasionally to moisten both sides. Set aside.

Quarter, core and pare apples; cut into thin slices (approx. 3 cups).

Cut each bratwurst in half lengthwise and then into four pieces crosswise.

In a large skillet saute onion until golden in 2 tablespoons butter. Add apple slices, cover and cook over low heat until partially tender. Add cinnamon, lemon juice and bratwurst pieces, mixing thoroughly. Cover and cook over low heat 5 to 8 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Place skillet contents in a bowl.

Clean skillet and then heat 1 1/2 tablespoons butter. Brown soaked bread on both sides.

Scoop the apple-sausage mixture generously over each bread slice in skillet. Top with sliced cheese, green pepper and pimiento. Cover. Heat until cheese begins to melt.

Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings German Toast.

THE PAPER TEST.
The Pap test can detect cancer of the cervix when it's virtually 100% curable. The test takes only a few minutes and doesn't hurt. Your doctor takes a sample of the cells of your cervix and smears it on a slide. This sample is easily and painlessly taken. Your cells are then studied under a microscope and if cancer is present, the microscope will reveal it. Reveal it in its earliest stage when chances for cure are greatest. This test can save your life because it catches cancer long before any symptoms appear. And you won't need a Pap test for another year.

Exercise Is Not Enough

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I've just come off a successful diet, going down to 170 pounds. I'm 50, five-feet six, stock build and a college professor, which makes me somewhat sedentary in habits.

I've read your book on fitness and follow your exercise routine. I use a stationary bicycle each night to help out about 60 minutes or so. I do extensive exercises for my abdomen.

What is the relation between breathing and exercise? At what point in the exercise is it best to breathe in and out? When, after a meal, is it best to exercise? Also, what is the biochemical involution for? Does one increase the usage of calories if he exercises right before a meal?

What self tests can one apply to determine the success of abdominal exercises? I've been at this for more than a year, doing most of your exercises. I have extensive fat around my waist and do not seem to be getting rid of it.

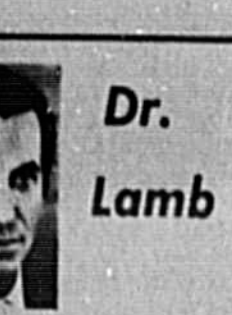

On the basis of my description would you say that a daily intake of 1,600 to 1,700 calories should stabilize my weight once I get to 160 pounds?

DEAR READER—You may have still more weight to lose than you realize.

I don't think it makes much difference when you breathe during your exercises. Whatever is comfortable for you is all that matters. For weight training, it is usually recommended that you breathe in during the lift and out while returning the weight to the starting position.

You should avoid holding your breath in deep inspiration as you might do during a chin-up. Breath holding can trigger powerful reflexes that lead to fainting or collapse in some people. You should also avoid overbreathing or breathing too fast. This induces chemical changes in the body that also lead to fainting.

Exercise before a meal if you are doing strenuous exercise. This is particularly true for heart patients, since digestion alone increases the work of the heart. Fatty foods increase the clumping tendency of the blood and decrease optimal circulatory function. Wait at least two hours after a fairly adequate meal before exercising vigorously. A good walk after a meal, in healthy people, is no strain and is often helpful. Healthy people don't need to sit or lie down for long periods after eating. You will use the same number of calories with the same task whether it is before or after the meal.

The best test for abdominal fat is your waistline and the amount of fat under the skin. You can tighten up your abdomen with exercise but exercise won't eliminate abdominal fat.

Abdominal fat means you still have a lot of excess fat to lose, and that means more restriction and continued exercise routines. For more information write to me at P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10101, and ask for the booklet on weight loss. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

You'll have to judge yourself how many calories you need after you have eliminated all the significant fat deposits under the skin. In general eat only enough to control your weight and still have an adequate supply of energy. If you are reasonably active I would hope that might be at least 2,000 calories a day for you.

Sports Being Used To Brighten Classes

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Math was a struggle for Craig Baffler as an 8-year-old. But as a 10-year-old he's learning fast—and having fun while he's at it—in a remedial program that uses sports as a teaching aid. "I was flunking out in math in public school two years ago but batting averages are fun," he says. Pupils who reject conventional teaching methods are enthusiastic about studying when it means learning to figure batting averages for a math assignment, describing how Paul Warfield of the Miami Dolphins catches a football in an English assignment or completing a geography task by locating on a map the site of the recent heavyweight championship fight. University School in Davie, a private school operated by Nova University, began its Sports Learning Center in November to aid 14 fourth and fifth graders who were having trouble learning. "This is actually a bait center," says center director Leonard Tom asello. "We bait a child through what he is interested in and then proceed to teach him reading and math and language. "As far as I know, this is the only course of its kind in the nation." Classroom walls are covered with bubble gum cards, posters and biographies of various sports heroes. Teacher Elaine Emerson says boys who "have to struggle to sit down and write" do it now in order to send letters to places such as the National Football League office for photographs and information. "Football is something they're interested in, and if they're interested in knowing more about Joe Namath they have to write away for information," she explains.

Osteen Bridge Start May Not Be Far Off

By JOHN SPOLSKI Associate Editor

"I know we've said it many times before and it didn't happen, but I feel confident that the time is at hand for the replacement of the dilapidated Osteen Bridge."

This was the statement today from Deputy District Engineer Charles Sylvester, Department of Transportation (DOT) in the District Office in Deland as he spoke with Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the Road and Bridges Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce which met at the chamber office this morning. Stenstrom told the board, "According to Sylvester, the actual construction should start in July."

DOUGLAS STENSTROM

The new bridge, according to Sylvester, will be built on the site of a tragedy last October when five persons lost their lives. It is located on SR 415, approximately two miles east of Sanford and spans the St. Johns River.

The new bridge, according to Sylvester, will be built on the site of a tragedy last October when five persons lost their lives. It is located on SR 415, approximately two miles east of Sanford and spans the St. Johns River.

County Engineer Bill Bush challenged Sylvester's position on an overpass at the railroad crossing, citing the resolution, passed Dec. 17 by the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, which sought the necessary funding for this project through the U.S. Federal Highway Act.

According to Bush there is $90 million budgeted for this act covering 12 highway vs. railroad conflicts and said "there's no hope of ever getting State and County funds for a project like this. Even if it takes five or six years to qualify for assistance under this program, it's the only way we can ever expect an overpass to be built and the only route to go for the funding."

Man Gets 20 Years For Robbery

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer

John Perkins, 18, of Apt. 33 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, has been sentenced to 20 years in prison for the July 31 robbery of Robert L. Harper of Sanford. Circuit Court Judge Roger Dykes meted the sentence yesterday. Perkins pleaded guilty to the charge Sept. 5 and the state dropped a companion charge of possession of a stolen motor vehicle.

State Atty. Abner Herring's office, according to court records, also agreed to drop robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony charge against Perkins in connection with a robbery at Village Rest Truck Stop, Sanford.

The court yesterday delayed indefinitely the scheduled sentencing of a 14-year-old Sanford boy who has pleaded guilty to robbery. Robert Horn Jr., 14, Apt. 23 Castle Brewer Court Sanford, was originally indicted by the Seminole County Grand Jury for the alleged robbery and rape June 13 of a Sanford woman. The rape charge was dropped by Herring's office after the boy pleaded guilty Oct. 14 to robbery in the case.

In other actions before Circuit Court Judge Joe A. Cowart Jr., a jury found Daniel Williams, 38, of Sanford guilty on a charge of lewd act in the presence of a child. Cowart ordered Williams held pending a pre-sentence investigation.

The case involved a two-year-old girl who was visiting friends in Sanford Dec. 27 with her mother. Wednesday afternoon a circuit court jury found a 25-year-old Sanford man guilty of aggravated assault after a trial that Assistant Public Defender George Sprinkel characterized as a "swearing contest."

Sentencing for Earl Jack Williams, 25, of 400 Pine Ave., Sanford, was delayed and he was transferred to Volusia County for a pending trial there.

In the Seminole case, Williams was accused of four points higher. This year's scores showed a noticeable drop in English and in reading.

Other test results presented by Bowers show reading and vocabulary off by two months in the third grade. But by the fifth, students pick up two months and repeat that performance in the seventh grade.

Bowers wasn't perturbed by the scores. He pointed out they were intelligence tests only and were used to aid administrators in finding weaknesses in the system and correcting them. "I'm glad to see we're making them smarter every year," Layer said in reply to the low third grade reading scores.

However, Board Member Pat Tolson wanted to know why so many students in the county have reading problems. Mrs. Mary-Groome, the director of elementary education, quickly pointed out that intelligence tests vary on any given day and should never be construed to mean "Seminole County children are dumb."

Assistant Superintendent Dan Dagg stressed the fact that the tests are used as tools and show only what a child has done in the classroom.

Search Under Way For 'Litter-Luggers'

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer

The "Litter-Luggers" are gone, but not forgotten! The two-man road crew responsible for policing the trash and debris alongside the 500-odd miles of county roads have been absent from the county work force for almost a year now.

Since they were part of the economically autonomous Arthropod Control Department, they were among the first to go when revenue from dump sites and transfer stations began to slip. When the two men quit, they were not replaced.

Their disappearance seemed to go unnoticed—save an errant ton or two of debris left untouched alongside the roads—until County Commissioner Mike Hattaway needed their services this week. Hattaway wanted to have Tuscowilla Road from Red Bag to SR 415 cleaned of unsightly litter that had accumulated there.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. decided to seek help from Sheriff John Polk's prisoners who were languishing away in the county jail.

But out of 90 inmates, only 11 would be available for such a program, Polk told The Herald.

Of these 11, six are trustees whose services

Students To Work For Credit, Not Pay

By MICKEY LOCHRIDGE Herald Staff Writer

Seminole High School is implementing a new student community service program on the practical theory that students learn more in a working situation than in class.

The Community Action Program (CAP), expected to be underway by mid-February, will place high school students in jobs with non-profit organizations and "pay" the students with credit towards graduation, instead of money as in other student work programs.

SHS is the first high school in Seminole County to initiate the CAP, but Principal Don Reynolds said if the program is a "success" he expects other area schools will start the program.

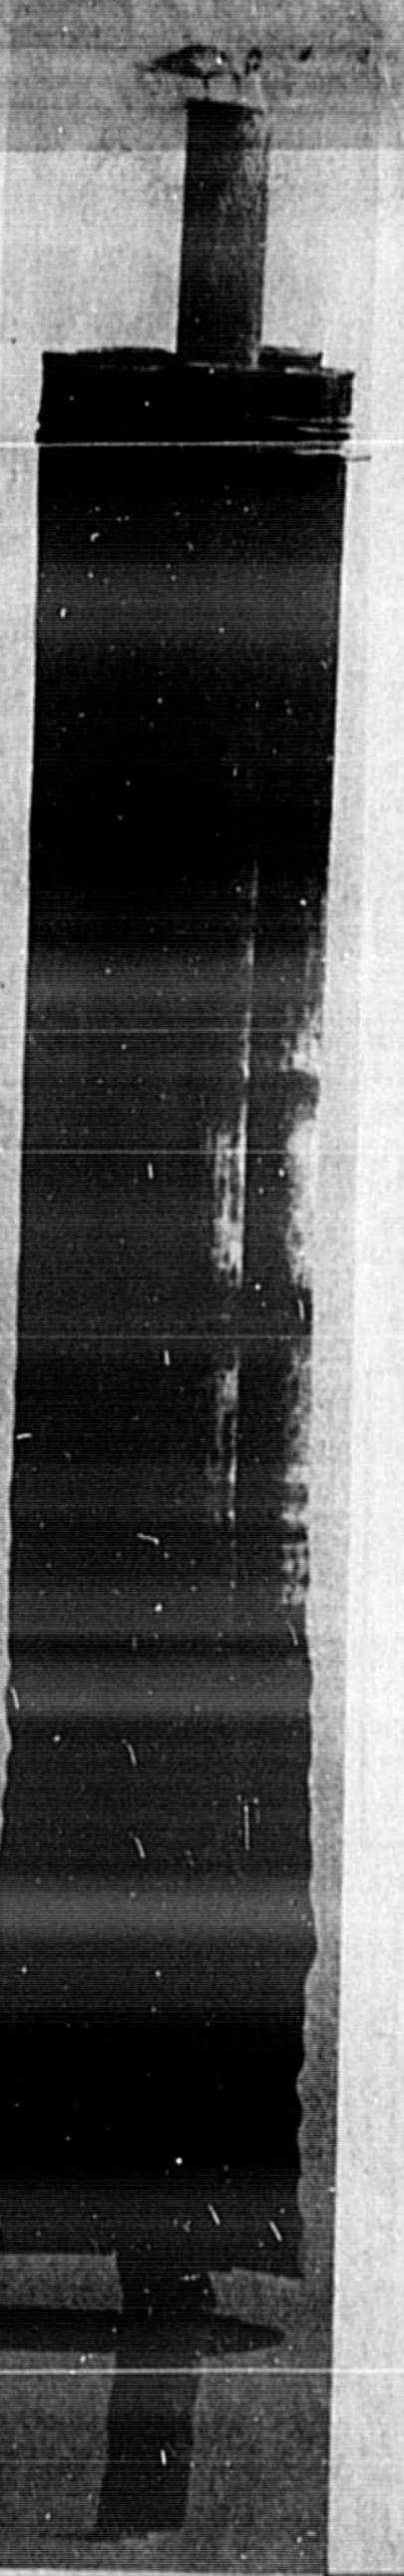

Occupational specialists from the high school are currently contacting area non-profit organizations in the city to arrange for employers for the students.

The specialists will check regularly with both the student and the employer to insure that the student is learning while on the job and that he is meeting the employer's requirements.

"The object is to get a one adult-student relationship so the student can learn," Reynolds said. "All of us know you learn more on the job than in school."

Students will receive one credit for 20 hours of work, which averages out to one hour in class for nine months.

Efforts are being made to place students at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, Sanford Police Department, Seminole Memorial Hospital, the courthouse, area schools,

PROFESSIONAL POLE SITTER

It's usually college students who are breaking records for crowding into telephone booths, wrecking planes and sitting for days atop tall poles, but none can compare with the sea gulls over Lake Monroe which perch daily atop pilings to preen their feathers and watch for prey in the waters below. Can Johnny Read? Seminole Says Yes

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer

Can Johnny and Mary read? That's a question parents and educators alike continually ask themselves as they go about the uneasy task of preparing tomorrow's leaders from today's followers.

Ivan Bowers believes Seminole County students not only can read, they can write, spell and just generally outscore all other Florida students on the 12th grade test.

And Bowers, the county school system's director of pupil personnel, has the statistics to back him up.

Yesterday, he told the Seminole School Board the sum of the percentages on five basic tests show students here with a total score of 255.85, compared to 253.23 for the State of Florida.

"I think that's fantastic," School Board Chairman R.G. "Bud" Feather said. And School Superintendent William Layer added, "You can't get much better."

The test was administered in September. Almost 80,000 students across the state took it, and 1,007 Seminole seniors did the same.

But all the results presented by Bowers weren't as rosy. In fact, Board Member Dave Sims questioned the 256 scoring range on a test that has a 494 possible and requires a score of 300 to enter most state universities.

"Fifty to 60 per cent can't qualify to get into the state universities," Sims told Bowers.

But Bowers said many students here have no intention of continuing their academic education and plan, instead, to work in vocational fields.

Also, Bowers said, if a student wants to go on to college and can't pass the test, that student can always go the first two years to a junior college, where entrance requirements aren't strict.

Seminole County seniors this year did not score as well as last year's seniors, either. Last year the sum was 299.50, about four points higher. This year's scores showed a noticeable drop in English and in reading.

Other test results presented by Bowers show reading and vocabulary off by two months in the third grade. But by the fifth, students pick up two months and repeat that performance in the seventh grade.

Bowers wasn't perturbed by the scores. He pointed out they were intelligence tests only and were used to aid administrators in finding weaknesses in the system and correcting them. "I'm glad to see we're making them smarter every year," Layer said in reply to the low third grade reading scores.

However, Board Member Pat Tolson wanted to know why so many students in the county have reading problems. Assistant Superintendent Dan Dagg stressed the fact that the tests are used as tools and show only what a child has done in the classroom.

Board Searching For Central Site

The Seminole County School Board is on the lookout for a site to locate an administration building to uncramp administration offices and gather them at one location.

"Because we're spread all over the county, we're wasting the taxpayer's money through inefficiency of administration," School Board Chairman R.G. "Bud" Feather said.

School Superintendent William Layer, at a work session yesterday, proposed locating a "complete complex" on 38 to 40 acres somewhere in the central part of the county.

As to location, Layer presented six proposals to school board members. Layer said the money for the complex has been incorporated in the 1975-76 budget.

Layer's proposals include:

- The office's quarters at the air base. The quarters could be rented from the city, but would require extensive renovation, he said.
- Phase out some of the older elementary schools and use the structures for the complex.
- Locate the administration building in the old Sanford Middle School, or across from it.
- Build on the Sunland site. Twenty acres are available there.
- Expand facilities at the garage in Longwood into a full complex which would house all school operations.
- Lease part of a motel complex at SR 46 and Interstate 4.

SEEDCO, the Seminole Economic and Employment Development Co., sought to persuade the board to locate at the complex. It's being developed by the federal agency.

"They might give us a deal we can't refuse," Layer said of SEEDCO's offer.

SEEDCO President Horace Orr offered school officials 30 acres or more for a school complex and promised the best deal in the county if the board agreed to locate there.

Board member Allan Keeth advised his fellow board members to do an in-depth study before making any decision.
