More Phony Money Around Now

Christmas Shopper Out $20, Thanks To Counterfeiter

By TENI YARBOROUGH Herald Staff Writer

With all the money that changes hands during the Christmas season, few notice if the cash they carry is counterfeit or not. But one Sanford woman found out that at least one $20 bill she possessed was phony and to her dismay, she's $20 poorer.

Mrs. Debble Pleasant of 2413 S. Summerlin Ave., contacted the Evening Herald asking what she could do to be reimbursed for the bogus bill. Unfortunately, according to Florida law, when a counterfeit bill is found, it is confiscated by the U.S. Treasury Department and the last one holding the bill is out of luck and cash.

According to Mrs. Pleasant, she received $300 cash in $20 bills from the Flagship Bank of Seminole at 200 W. First St., in Sanford on Monday. But when she tried to deposit the money into her account at the Tropic Bank of Seminole at 101 E. 25th St., in Sanford, the teller informed her that one of the $20 bills was counterfeit.

The teller confiscated the phony money, notified the U.S. Treasury office in Orlando, as directed by law, and Mrs. Pleasant is out $20, she said.

"It isn't fair to anyone," said Margaret Cobb, manager of the Tropic Bank. "The only one who gets away with it is the counterfelter."

"When Mrs. Pleasant and her four children came in, she handed the money to the teller but when the teller was counting it, she found that one of the bills was phony," Mrs. Cobh said. "She has no other choice but to confiscate the bill. What is said, is that we get an awful lot of counterfeits this time of year because of all the money changing hands.

"Mrs. Pleasant was upset as anyone would be," she continued. "The last one with the bill loses, I'm afraid. And, she told us that she had gotten the bills from another bank. Another woman making a deposit earlier told us the same thing when we found one of her bills was phony, too.

"Had we known that one of the bills we gave Mrs. Pleasant was not good, we would have suffered the loss and reimbursed her," said Wayne Keeling manager of the Flagship bank. "Mrs. Pleasant, though, intermingled the cash that we gave her with her own cash, left the bank and as I understand it, even did some shopping before going to Tropic Bank," he said. "We have no way of knowing if the bill came from our bank, if she already had it in her purse or if she got it from a store as change for her purchases."

Keeling said people should make "a conscious effort" to compare bills that they think might be suspicious and possibly counterfeits.

"I know it's hard for the average person to be able to tell what's good and what isn't." Mrs. Cobb said. "Our tellers have a lot of experience in handling money so it's easier for them to spot it. But if someone thinks one of the bills may be a phony, have it checked before leaving the store or bank."

Mrs. Cobb said that during the Christmas season "it isn't uncommon to see $20s, $50s, and $100s that are fake. I'd say, that $20s and $100s are the most common but the counterfeiters make them all and pass them all.

"Maybe one day we'll come up with something to stop it all,"

PALM TREES AND SNOW

Sanford youngsters had a ball (snowball, that is) at the grand opening celebration of the Sanford branch office of ComBank at 201 N. Park Ave. They took advantage of the manmade snow banked around the palm trees in front of the new bank building Monday to stage an impromptu snow fight following the ribbon cutting. But to Santa, shown with Ann Ekern, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ekern Jr. of 510 Burton Lane in Sanford, it was old hat. Children can have their photo taken free with Santa in the bank lobby through Thursday. ComBank of Seminole President John Squires presided at the ceremony assisted by County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn. Sanford area supervisor is Joe. Justice; branch manager, Betty Driggs, and her assistant is Harriet Cook.

DAYS UNTIL

Herndon Ambulance Working On Problems

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Wirter

Herndon Ambulance Service is making a goodfaith attempt to correct problems that have affected its service in Seminole County, the county's emergency services coordinator said today.

Coordinator Barbara Smith said Herndon is "making an attempt to solve the problems."

Mrs. Smith said a communication gap has existed between the company and county officials for several years. But she added the appointment of Linda Goetter, a paramedic in Herndon's Orange County operation, as supervisor for Seminole and Orange counties, may be a first step to solving the communication problem.

"She has a good reputation in Orange County," Mrs. Smith said. "She has a reputation as a strong individual. That may be precisely what they need." Her appointment gives the ambulance service its first full time supervisor. In the past, supervisors have been appointed but they have had road duties

"If you're out on the road all day you don't want to do paperwork at the end of the day," Mrs. Smith

The appointment will provide a person for county officials to work with on a day-to-day basis. Previously, Bob Chewning, general manager of the ambulance service, was the only full-time super-

Hidden Lake Area Odors Investigated

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Something stinks in the Hidden Lake area and county officials are investigating to see what the problem is. Meanwhile, residents of the Hidden Lake subdivision in Sanford have signed petitions seeking a solution to rid the area of the pungent smell which some say brings tears to their eyes and causes nausea in others.

The sulphur-like aroma has permeated the area for the past couple weeks. A complaint to the city of Sanford Monday brought an inspection tour by City Manager

W.E. "Pete" Knowles and Public Works Director Bob Kelly Monday. Knowles and Kelly were directed by Hidden Lake residents to a private landfill on the west side of Art Lane in the unincorporated county territory. Knowles said the air in that area was

"odoriferous" with a stench similar to that around pulp and paper mills. "There was a pit with a lot of water in it where someone has been putting stuff," the city manager said. Knowles said the problem was reported to the county sanitarian's office.

· Kelly said similar problems with odors were reported several months ago from the same

He said that it does not appear that garbage is being thrown there. "It's building materials such as wall boarding and sawdust," Kelly

Russ Miller, director of the environmental health section of the Seminole County Health Department, said he received the complaint Monday afternoon and inspectors from his unit will be looking at the pit today.

"After this is investigated by us today, we will be making a report to the state Department of Environmental Regulation," he said. "DER has the ultimate authority in landfills. If no health hazard exists, this would fall totally under their jurisdiction," Miller said. "If a health hazard does exist, we would have to consider what action is necessary,"

See Dangerous Dumps List On Page 3A

Miller added that one will almost always hit the water table when excavating in the Hidden Lake area and "if someone is putting waste and stuff into the water table, there will be a problem."

fice, said that if a dump is being operated off Art Lane, it is being done without a state license.

Currently there is only one privately operated dump in Seminole County which is licensed by DER and that one is off Douglas Road and operated by Allen Pyle.

McManarny said while awaiting a report from Miller, he is contacting DER enforcement officers in the interim to be on standby if Miller reports that an illegal dump is being operated. At the same time, Chief Bill Kinley of the county's Department of Public Safety said that Hidden Lake residents called in officers from his department Monday night with a complaint of a gas odor from that area. Kinley said the safety department officers believe the odors are caused by pockets of swamp gas, uncovered in extensive land clearing in the area.

Kinley said the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has been notified of the problem and as further land is cleared it is likely additional pockets of swamp gas will be encountered.

A Longwood woman, interviewed on WCPX-TV, said she was stunned when she heard the message.

Another doll was purchased by an Osteen woman for her 2-year-old daughter. Angie Veino, Osteen, said, "It very plainly said 'Kill Mommy.' When I heard that little doll talk, it just scared the hell out of me." The Longwood woman's doll was purchased at Flea World along U.S. Highway 17-92 near Sanford. An official with Flea World said she has received only the one complaint.

The flea market management does not control what vendors sell, she explained. Ms. Velno's doll was purchased at the Volusia Mall by a co-worker at Strombergabout the dolls. Reports of the "Kill Mommy" message from the cherubic Baby Darling dolls have been coming from around the South for the past people are making it say what they want it to say," said Freddie Smith, sales manager for Bits & Pieces of Gastonia. "We wouldn't put out anything that would do this."

Smith said his company sold about 600 of the Baby Darling dolls to distributors about three months ago. Reports about the dolls and their apparently menacing suggestion began appearing in the Carolinas last week.

Smith said the toys have a speed control that can be used to keep the recording of the doll's voice sounding normal even when the battery becomes weak. But the doll may speak too fast if the battery is new and the speed control is set in the wrong position, Smith said.

"We brought it to a man with high-class radio equipment and put the words on tape and slowed the tape down and we could hear it says 'Kim loves mommy," Smith said.

He said the recorded voice is on a small plastic disc. On one side of the disc, the doll cries and says "Kim-loves mommy." The flip side of the disc has a recording of a baby laughing.

Smith said his company, which sells only wholesale, bought the dolls from Bentley International of New York. The dolls are made by the Hip On Toy Co. of Hong Kong.

Gas Tax And Money Bill Finally Pass Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)-The lame duck 97th Congress, which worked until the early morning passing legislation to keep the government running and to raise gasoline taxes a nickel, finally appears ready to adjourn.

The Senate early today voted 56-34 to send the gas tax bill, with its jobs-creating highway construction program, back to the House for negotiations on a final version to give President Reagan.

The bill, long delayed in the Senate by a hardy filibuster by four GOP conservatives, would then bounce back to the Senate for final congressional approval.

The White House said early today that Reagan will sign the funding bill despite Congress' refusal to include nearly $1 billion of production funds for the MX

The gasoline tax increase, which would put an estimated 320,000 people to work rebuilding dilapidated roads, bridges and mass transit systems, was on Reagan's "must" list, although he added it to the postelection agenda after requesting that legislators return only to pass regular appropriations bills.

DeLorean Had IRA Support?

LOS ANGELES (UPI)-Maverick automaker John DeLorean boasted of a "very tight relationship" with the Irish Republican Army and told a government informant the IRA would help finance a cocaine deal to save his sportscar company, federal papers said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney James Walsh Jr. submitted a sworn affidavit Monday citing statements allegedly made by DeLorean during a Spt. 4 meeting with an unidentified government informant at the L'Enfant Plaza Hotel in Washington.

"Delorean claimed that the IRA was a partial sponsor of 'our project' and that the IRA was 'our protectors," the affidavit said.

SLOW GOING

Poll workers at the Sanford Civic Center polling place were waiting for Sanford voters to show up this morning. By 8 a.m., 29 Sanford voters had cast their ballots, with 13 of that number from the poll workers themselves. Polls will close at 7 p.m. today. City Clerk Henry Tamm has predicted that 12 percent or 1,060 of the city's 8,830 registered voters will turn out today at the polls. Today's runoff election was necessary because none of the three charter issues on the Dec. 7 ballot carried the necessary 50 percent plus one vote to win the voters' approval. Elections were also being held today in Lake Mary and Casselberry to select City Commission members.

Consumer Prices Inch Upward

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Consumer prices rose just 0.1 percent in November in a strong indication that 1982's inflation rate will be under 5 percent, the lowest since at least 1976, the Labor Department said today.

Through November the year's inflation rate was only 4.5

Housing and clothing prices dropped in November, entertainment stayed at October's level and food prices increased by 0.1 percent, the department said.

Weldon Pleased With SCC Audit

The president of Seminole Community College sald today he is pleased with the findings of an audit of the college's fiscal 1980-81 financial report.

"The audit report was in general very positive," said Earl Weldon, SCC president. "There were a few minor things but we have addressed them." The audit was conducted by the state auditor general's staff and pointed out several procedural problems with college policies concerning food service, accounting procedures, disposal of property and collection of student fees. Weldon's response to the findings also were included in the report on the college's annual report for fiscal 1960-81.

The report criticized the college for not having adequate records of students who had not paid fees. According to the audit, there were several instances of students receiving grades in courses after they had failed to make payments for the previous semester.

Weldon said the college was at that time developing its computer registration system and had to keep such records by hand. Under the new system, a daily summary can be developed to track students who owe the college money. The audit report also cited the renewal of a contract with the college's food service vendor, Wirnetco Enterprises of Orlando. The firm first started providing food service at the college in 1974 and has had the contract since then.

Weldon said the college obtained price comparisons on certain food items with other colleges and local fast food vendors but did not put the contract out for bid. The report said it was unclear how the contract was renewed without the bld process. Weldon said the college "has not been concerned with making a profit, only with giving the students food service at the lowest possible price." The contract will be put up for bid before the next school year begins, Weldon said.

The audit also cited the use of one employee in the school's business office with the responsibility for all financial matters. Those duties should belegated to several employees to improve internal control.

several situations which could threaten Herndon's contract with the county. The county is set to renew its agreement with the ambulance firm along with a $100,000 subsidy on Dec. 30.

Mrs. Smith said Herndon officials failed to notify her when two paramedics quit recently, leaving Herndon units operating from Casselberry without trained personnel to operate advanced life support units.

In one instance, Mrs. Smith said, the ambulance was called to Winter Springs to transport a heart patient. But when Winter Springs paramedics discovered the ambulance had no paramedics they had to ride with the ambulance, taking Winter Springs crews out of service.

"These things could be solved more easily if Herndon would call in," she said. "We could look at other ways of covering the county.'

The county is working to upgrade communciations with the ambulance crews. Mrs. Smith said the county has purchased radios which will be installed in the ambulances early next year.

"They will have a link to the Seminole County Operations Center. We've never had that before," she said. The ambulances work from a dispatch center in Orange County and have had no direct link with Seminole County emergency personnel. The new radios will allow them to communicate with county emergency staff as well as emergency personnel in the cities.

The ambulance drivers will be required to notify the county of their status and location at all times, Mrs. Smith said. But the key to keeping tabs on the crews will be Ms. Goetter. "We've got to have someone up here to see that things get

The three-judge panel said it did so because of the "serious impact" its ruling could have on the public defender system.

In its ruling, the 1st DCA overturned a lower court and unanimously rejected a claim that public defenders enjoy the same judicial immunity granted judges

"While the prosecutor is an officer of the state whose duty it is to see that impartial justice is done, the public defender is an advocate who once appointed owes a duty only to his client, the indigent defendant," the three-judge panel said. "His role does not differ from that of privately retained counsel."

Stemming The Red Tide

SARASOTA (UP1) - Scientists hope to be ready next fall to test a theory that a minute pea-green marine micro-organism may be the answer to controlling fishkilling outbreaks of the red tide.

Scientists want to put their theory to the test in the open Gulf waters next fall after additional tests are run. Those tests include how best to introduce G. aponina to waters with heavy concentrations of red tide organisms, and how to determine the growth timing of G. aponina.

IN BRIEF Soviets Plan To Match

MX And Cruise Missiles

MOSCOW (UPI) - Kremlin chief Yuri Andropov said today the Soviet Union will deploy similar weapons to meet the challenge of the U.S. cruise and MX missile systems in an international situation that has reached "dangerous limits."

The Soviet leader said President Reagan's war eparations have reached "unheard-of proportions" and his proposal for elimination of medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe was a "mockery."

The Soviet leader said Moscow is ready to reduce its medium-range nuclear forces on the continent to equal the missile forces of Britain and France, "not a single one more."

OPEC Faces Pricing Crisis

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) - Dispirited OPEC oil mind, the $34 price will become invalid." ministers returned home today with their cartel facing a "free-for-all" price war because of failure

The 66th formal meeting of the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries crumbled Monday after ministers could not agree on any key issue - except a previously agreed decision to keep the base price of crude oil at $34 a

The only other item agreed on was a cosmetic raising of OPEC's collective ceiling of 17.5 million barrels daily.

Fallure by the ministers to solve the crucial problems of production quotas and price differentials during two days of fruitless talks could force a sharp decline in crude petroleum prices, industry experts said.

"Without a production sharing agreement, the base price means nothing," a senior OPEC economist who asked not to be identified said. "It will collanse."

Although the ministers officially raised the cumulative total output to 18.5 million barrels a day, the move was superficial since daily production is currently at 20 million barrels as a result of individual quota violations.

Central America Arms Race—No!

Central America, "the slim waist of the Americas," as poet Ruben Daric once called it, is being slung with a holster. And the Caribbean Basin, studded with islands of swaying calypso and steel drums, is now beating a martial tattoo.

Central America and the Caribbean have never been the happy, idyllic places conjured by poets and songs. If the life force bubbling in Jamaican regae and glowing in Mayan tapestries shows a vibrant spirit, it is because that spirit has been forged by poverty, disease, exploitation and revolution. Even the natural order is violent: earthquakes regularly flatten Central American capitals, and hurricanes lash Caribbean islands. History has been cruel: Haiti, the first black republic in the world, was bled penniless by France, its former colonial power. Britain stripped Belize bare of trees to build the wooden hulls of its indomitable fleet. Spanish conquistadores slaughtered natives with the sword and infected them with disease, leaving a tradition of hatred between European and Indian.

Economically, America's back yard has often been used as a sordid sweatshop and plantation, where conditions bordering on slavery produce fresh bananas and coffee for our tables. Beaches are spruced up for tourists, but the visitor cannot help but see the eyes of natives staring from the darkness of shacks with earthern floors, where flies buzz around babies.

And babies are everywhere. The birthrate in this region is among the highest in the world. In homes where material prosperity is an impossible dream, large families provide a sense of wealth, but the hungry mouths decree a self-fulfilling prophecy of poverty for the next generation.

To these timeless blights, our era has brought another - the drawing of Central America and the Caribbean into the world arms race. Soviet military involvement in Cuba threw the Caribbean into the Cold War battlefield between the superpowers. Step-by-step escalation by communist and U.S. military strategists in Central America is threatening to hurl the region into

The State Department reports that Cuba now has 200 MiG jet fighters, two torpedo attack submarines and numerous T-62 tanks. Cuba's armed forces are the biggest in all of Latin America, except Brazil, and their fighting capacity has been shown in Africa. Cuba is building a 9,000-foot runway in Grenada, and has sent about 2,000 military advisers to Nicaragua. But Cuba, which receives $3 billion a year in economic and military aid from the Soviet Union, is suffering economic hardship. Even this bankrolled colony of the Soviet Union can illafford its military buildup.

At the same time, the United States is pouring millions of dollars of military assistance into Central America. In 1982, El Salvador received $81 million in U.S. military ald, nearly three times what it received in food assistance. In 1982, Honduras received $10 million in U.S. military aid, about equal to its food assistance.

Congress has budgeted a $350 million aid package to the Caribbean Basin, but it has stalled on the trade and investment incentives President Reagan advocated. Economic development is clearly the best way to win the region over to democracy. But aid for schools and hospitals is being overshadowed by guns and bombs.

The focus of superpower confrontation is now the Honduras-Nicaragua border, where Sandinistas are relocating Indians and the CIA is backing former National Guardsmen. These followers of deposed and assassinated dictator Anastasio Somoza, are trying to overthrow the Nicaraguan government, which has grown increasingly totalitarian.

Democratic leaders in Costa Rica, Mexico and the non-aligned Caribbean countries fear that superpower intervention could trigger a Central American land war.

America and the Soviet Union should back off. The reasons for suspicion are documented, but Central America poses no military threat to either side and the victims of intervention will only be the people both sides claim to be trying to help. Central America has suffered virtually every tragedy known to man. If it becomes embroiled in a regional war fought with modern weaponry, the slim waist of the Americas will become a wasteland.

'Tis the season to be jolly, and in honor of the upcoming holidays, the Council of Arts & Sciences will present the third annual December Fest, a feast of holiday music and merriment. The gaiety lasts 10 days, Dec. 12-23, and during that time there will be 20 performances in public institutions and public places throughout the community. Co-sponsored by the Council and the First Unitarian Church, December Fest will feature LeRoy Fisher and his merry troup of professional musicians, including an acoustic group and a brass ensemble. Also on hand will be the December Fest character, "Festy," played by Shirley Ramirez of the Talent Store. The music for this occasion is being provided in part through the cooperation of the Orlando Musicians' Association, Local 389, on a grant from the Musicians' Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry.

Each performance, lasting approximately 20 minutes, will be identified by the fanciful December Fest pole of bells and ribbons. "Festy" will gather the crowd and place the December Fest pole to signal the beginning of the merriment, and she will distribute holiday cards and tidings of good cheer to all.

Seminole County December Fest performances Monday were at Florida Living Nursing Home, Forest City, Life Care Center in Altamonte Springs, and Life Concepts, Inc.,

Forest City. On Tuesday they spread cheer at Sanford Nursing Home, Seminole Work Opportunity Program workshop in Sanford and the Good Samaritan Home in Sanford.

Tis the season to be jolly, but not everyone shares in the joys of the season.

Ask the volunteers and staff of We Care. They know it is also the season for holiday stress and loneliness... for an increase in suicide attempts ... and for an influx of people into this area who have no money, food or housing. Many of them turn to We Care and other local agencies for

Who will turn to We Care?

- People like Ann and Jack who came down from New York City looking for a better life, but economic pressures resulted in their breakup and now Jack is falling apart.

- People like 75-year-old Ruth, who lives alone with no friends or family willing to listen to her. - People like Steven who has tried suicide several times and always becomes more depressed over the holidays. - People like Ann and Ricky, teenagers who get angry and depressed and feel they have no one who will listen.

- People like Marie whose alcoholic husband uses holidays for an excuse to go on a binge and spends his paycheck on drinking and is abusive to her and the children.

These people and many others will turn to We Care during the holidays. We Care is the area's seven-day, 24-hour crisis intervention and suicide prevention center. Those in need of help may call 628-1227.

Volunteers always are needed. Orientation classes to become a We Care volunteer will begin Jan. 10 at 316 E. Marks St. in Orlando. The 10 training sessions will be on Mondays and Thursdays, 7-10 p.m. Persons may call 644-2027 for information. The free sessions will be conducted by mental health professionals and will emphasize communication techniques to enhance the listening skills of telephone volunteers.

Volunteers serving We Care's crisis intervention and teen hot lines respond to approximately 6,000 contacts each month.

Some of the topics covered in the orientation include substance abuse, grief, divorce, aging, understanding youth, problem pregnancy, sexuality, depression and suicide, anger and fear, domestic violence and sexual assault.

Charles Fritch, executive director of the Grove in Longwood, Chris Kupha, counselor for the Seminole County Mental Health Center, Mickey Adams, associate director of the Information and Referral Center, and Beth Fussell, counselor of Florida United Methodist Children's Home in Enterprise, are among the instructors from local agencies who will be speaking.

A Text For All Students

NEW YORK (NEA)-As everyone but college students is well aware, such students are easily impressed and enormously influenced by what they are told at college. Coming at a time when the young mind is most susceptible to fresh impressions, the college years confront a student with brandnew insights and experiences that seem manifestly superior to any he or she has received earlier. Under such circumstances, bending the twig is one of the easiest of all human occupations.

Among its practitioners, quite possibly the most influential are the instructors in economics. What students are told about this subject-how wealth is created and distributed-is perhaps the most important secular information a young person ever receives. And, since college economics courses are necessarily based to a large extent on textbooks, the major college economics texts are among the most important books published in the U

As you probably suspected, the great majority of college texts in use in America today are dotted with aly half-truths and outright talsehoods, often presented as uncontroversial and incontrovertible scientific wisdom, calculated to lead the student to believe that the free market is a deeply flawed mechanism whose "cruel" operations are mercifully thwarted by the constant interventions of a wise and compassionate government. For 90 percent of college students, this guff is further enriched and supplemented by the comments of their local instructors. The result is a badly misinformed population of college graduates, on whom nevertheless a democratic society must depend heavily for its leadership.

Rejoice with me, then, that a comprehensive survey of college economic texts, together with corrective comments rendered from a free market perspective, has at last become available. It is "American Economic Texts: A Free Market Critique," published by Young America's Foundation, with a forward by former Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. The Foundation, an offshoot of the conservative youth organization called Young Americans for Freedom, intends to update and republish its critique every two years henceforth, and it may just possibly revolutionize the teaching of college economics in the process. Certainly the book will be of tremendous assistance to those relatively few economics instructors, and also those isolated students, who long for authoritative rebuttals of the sacred texts of Samuelson, McConnell, et al.

Each text is reviewed by a separate writer. all of whom are themselves professors of economics. Take, for example, Alan C. Stockman's review of the eleventh edition of "Economics" by Paul Samuelson, the Yale professor and Nobel laureate who is arguably responsible for more, and more widespread, misinformation about economics.

Hill's Unfinished Business

The public has reason to be disturbed at the inability of the Congress to take constructive

When plans were made for a lameduck session, it was hoped that Congress would complete action on appropriations bills and tackle the hard issue of social security reform. It is now clear that the lameduck session will leave unfinished business unfinished.

To date, the principal action in the House of Representatives has been the lopsided vote against President Reagan's plan to begin work on the MX missile. One wonders: what has happened to the constituency for the rebuilding of America's deteriorated

Only days before the vote was taken in the House, the Soviets test-fired a new missile. There is not the slightest reason to believe that the USSR will slow its crash program for widening its lead in weaponry. By its vote, the House has sent a signal to Moscow that it's unlikely the United States will attempt to catch up with the Soviet military colossus.

The members of the House of Representatives who voted against the MX did so out of extreme short-sightedness, to say the least.

Many of them may have done so because of the huge propaganda campaign waged by the nuclear freeze movement in which many churches are so deeply involved. Similar pacifist elements opposed the draft in 1940, which was approved by only one vote.

Ironically, the opponents of the MX have heightened the chances of nuclear blackmail by the Soviets.

The Congress also is unwilling to come to grips with the social security issue. The next session of Congress is unlikely to demonstrate more political courage, "Gray power" is an important factor in American politics. No recipient of social security wants automatic increases eliminated, as they must be eliminated if the system is to survive.

Congress feels the pressure, and responds on the basis of fear. If social security reforms aren't enacted, the entire system will collapse like a house of cards. Distinguished students of the subject in both parties acknowledge this to be a fact.

There's a long list of issues on which Congress is unwilling to act decisively. Sen Danforth of Missouri has introduced legislation calling for reciprocity in international trade. Today, the U.S. is the victim of one-way free trade. Congress has not been sufficiently stirred to act, despite a huge trade deficit.

Immigration law reform is essential if the U.S. is not to be successfully invaded by millions of new illegal workers. Again, Congress can't make up its mind as to what to

Indecision and political fear characterize much of the Congress. This may be one of the low points in the history of this branch of our government. Tragically, this low point comes at a time when the U.S. faces great dangers abroad and on the economically distressed

Beware Of Denial In Arms Race

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Group psychological factors such as mutual distortion of perception pose major obstacles to nonviolent solutions to the issues dividing the East and West, a past president of the American Psychiatric Association says.

Dr. Judd Marmor says leaders on both sides have a tendency to see events from the narrow standpoint of their own group's interests, magnifying its virtues and overlooking its faults while exaggerating the evils of the adversary and ignoring his vir-

"Thus, each side clings to a self-righteous image of itself and a paranoid view of the other," Marmor said in an essay in the Archives of Internal Medicine, a publication of the American Medical Association.

"Each side sees the other as evil and threatening, which heightens mutual fears and increases the potential for acts of hostility."

This, he said, inevitably leads to the expectation that no agreement can be reached because the other side cannot be trusted. The danger is that this can become a self-fulfilling

Marmor sald denial is a basic psychological reaction that can play a major role in the nuclear arms race. He said denial is an appropriate response to something that cannot be eliminated like the inevitability of one's own death, but he said it is not appropriate when used in connection with threats that can be dealt with. "To ignore the threat of nuclear destruction exposes us to the danger that it will happen,'

Closely related to denial is the desensitization that can occur when nuclear warfare is constantly discussed as a possibility, Marmor said.

"The unthinkable then becomes thinkable, and first strike strategies are seriously debated as if they could lead to victory rather than to total destruction of civilization as we know it.

"Another aspect of denial is the myth of invulnerability that many people cling to in the face of life-threatening situations. The idea that 'it won't happen to us' and that somehow we will be among the survivors is a pervasive and dangerous assumption."

Marmor said public protests to the nuclear arms race "can assist in overcoming the sense of personal helplessness that contributes to denial."

But he said a more fundamental change is required in thinking about international conflicts in terms of total victory for one side and total defeat for the other. "The needed leap in our thinking is the recognition that, in a nuclear world, international conflict can be resolved only by solutions in which neither side loses and both sides stand to gain."

Wilson Linked To 'Killer Cameras'

WASHINGTON - In the 1940 film classic. "Foreign Correspondent," an assassin posing as a news photographer trains his camera on a world statesman, trips the flash, and simultaneously fires a fatal builet.

That fictional scene could happen at any moment in real life, with only one small change in the script: The bullet would be fired right through the camera lens.

There could be upwards of 300 of these "assassination" cameras currently in the hands of terrorists around the world courtesy of Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddaff and his erstwhile supplier, ex-CIA agent Edwin Wilson. Each of the diabolical devices is capable of firing two .22 callber bullets through the lens with deadly ac-

The story was provided to my associate Dale Van Atta by a former Wilson employee. It has been corroborated by other sources. documents, and transcripts of secret testimony before the House Intelligence

Through his attorney, Wilson denied any role in the manufacture of the murderous cameras. But the former associate emphatically asserted: (1) that Wilson had requested that a prototype be developed for Qaddaff; and (2) that Wilson was "the one who tried it out."

Here are the details:

In April 1978, Wilson gave the associate a list of assassination devices he wanted to procure for Libya. At the top of the list were the camera guns, to be equipped with silencers, if possible. "I want a lot of them and I want them accurate," Wilson told the associate. "You take care of the details and tell me how much it costs." After a successful prototype was developed, the former associate said, Wilson planned to set up a shop on his Virginia farm to make them.

The associate and a companion flew to Tampa, Pla., and arranged for a mechanically talented acquaintance to build the prototype. According to a Wilson com-, pany voucher and National Airlines ticket records, the flight was made on April 23, 1978.

Leaving his companion behind to assist the inventor, the associate returned to Washington. In less than a month, the inventor and the assistant arrived in the capital by rented car, bringing with them a working camera-gun. The associate picked the pair up at the rental-car office and paid the bill with Wilson company money.

The following day, the inventor and the associate drove to a secluded site in Virginia to test the device. Firing at a can floating in a stream, they found the camera-gun to be remarkably accurate.

When they delivered the weapon to Wilson at his spawling estate in Upperville, Va., he couldn't wait to test it. He instructed the associate, the inventor and another aide to climb into his Cadillac, and the gang of four careened across rocks and ruts to a remote corner of the farm. "I thought he was crazy," said the associate. The camera gun "worked like a charm," the associate said, and Wilson "thought it was great." But Wilson didn't want to risk carrying it to Qaddafi on his person, so he inveigled the inventor into toting it. A telex copy of the ticket purchase shows that the two took the same flight to Libya on May 21, 1978. Wilson quickly wired the associate that the

Sizzling Seminoles Scorch Jones With 67% Shooting

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Jones coach Lenny Carmichael scratched his head and wondered out loud, "What are you going to do? When a team shoots like that and gets every key rebound, how can you beat them?"

The object of Carmichael's wonderment and dismay was Sanford's Fighting Seminoles who shot a sizzling 67 percent from the floor en route to a 68-64 victory over the Jones Tigers in the first round of the Burger-King Metro Basketball Tournament (Whopper shoot out) Monday at Valencia Community College.

Today at 4, coach Chris Marlette's Tribe takes on Bishop Moore, a 58-56 winner over Winter Park. A victory today would propel the 'Noles into the final four on Wednesday against either Oak Ridge or Edgewater.

Monday's win upped the Seminole record to 5-2, including a string of three straight. It also enabled the Tribe to even its mark at 2-2 with the tough Metro

The performance was nothing short of spectacular. Seminole hit 28 of 42 field goals for 67 percent. Jones, using its spread out and fire offense, shot a good 54 percent, but it wouldn't be good enough.

After William Wynn missed a cripple to open the game, Sanford connected on its next nine attempts and only one — a three-point play by sharpshooter Calvin "Kiki" Bryant - was within five feet of the basket.

"I didn't think they'd ever miss," said a dazed Carmichael. When Bryant finally did miss a shot the hit 6 of 7 in the first half), Seminole had a comfortable 19-6 lead.

The game, however, was far from over. Tony Wright, the younger brother of former all-stater Lester Wright, threw in two baskets and when Ron Reynolds and Thedrick Stephens hit two more for another one, and Wright and Terry Mitchell maneuvered inside brilliantly

"We had a mental letdown after we got that big lead," Marlette said about the semi-collapse. "We had people taking the ball out of bounds that had no business touching the ball."

In the second quarter, Seminole regained its composure quickly when Wynn made a great move to the basketball, scored and was fouled. The 6-I junior missed the free throw, but he hit a bucket the next time down which was followed by baskets from Bryant and Willie Mitchell for a 29-18 lead.

The margin stayed at 11 when Torie Hendricks hit two jumpers and junior Tommy Stiffey dropped in a short bank shot for a 35-24 lead.

Then Wright went to work. The 5-5

Seminoles flustered.

"The guards we brought off the bench weren't in the right place and there was a lot of pressure," said Marlette who had to protect Vernon Law (three fouls) and Bryant (three fouls) the last three minutes. "It was a tough situation for the kids (Steve Grey and James Rouse) to handle the pressure."

Jones took its only lead of the game 20 seconds into the second half when Vorry Robinson hit a lay up. It was short-lived, though, as Hendricks and Mitchell combined on two steals for buckets while Law and Bryant hit two free tosses each for a 47-40 lead.

"Coach (Wayne) Talbot recommended we go back to our man-to-man defense and that was the difference," said Marlette. "Jones really had the big Mo (mentum) going for them, but we held up under the pressure."

Especially in the last two minutes. Streater hit two free throws to move Jones within 64-62 with 2:16 to play. And when Mitchell missed a free throw, Jones forced a jump ball which it won. But a long pass was intercepted and controlled with one hand by Bryant who was fouled with 52 seconds to play.

The calm senior dropped both free throws for a four-point lead but Willie Williams came back with a bucket with 44 seconds to go.

Mitchell was intentionally fouled by Jones with 14 seconds to go after he and Law ran 30 seconds off the clock with the 'Noles' delay game.

He missed the first one but hit the second for a three-point lead and when the Tigers missed two shots at the other end, it was over.

Bryant finished with 19 points, five senior hit five points, Ron Streater added rebounds, three steals and three assists.

for 17 points while Law, Wynn and Hendricks added eight apiece.

Law, as usual, ran the show with 10 assists, two which came on superb passes after driving to the basket. Mitchell had eight rebounds while Hendricks and Wynn had six each. The Tribe controlled the backboards, 32-15.

"This was a crucial game," said Marlette after the contest. "These guys (Jones) are really talented. Vernon (Law) was the difference the second half. and Willie (Mitchell) was doing anything he wanted inside."

Bishop Moore, meanwhile, took care of Winter Park on two free throws by sophomore sensation Jimmy Kuhl with 16 seconds left. Maurice Bullard tossed up an airball at the buzzer which Kuhl controlled to preserve the win.

The Hornets took a six-point lead early in the game as Kuhl, a younger brother of former Evans' standouts Eddie and Donny, had a game-high 20 points.

In other games, Fred Callaway threw in a rebound basket in overtime to give Oak Ridge a 65-61 victory over DeLand. The Bulldogs squandered one chance to win at the end of regulation and another when they turned it over in overtime with 42 seconds to play. JONES (64)

Everett, Whitney Rout Kaskaskia

By BRENT SMARTT Herald Sports Writer

Storming out of the locker room, the Raiders of Seminole Community College played rude host to Kaskaskia (Ill.) College. After struggling to a slim 36-33 halftime edge, coach Bill Payne's Raiders totally dominated the Devils, in all phases of the game to take a 87-65 rout and up their record to 9-5 on the year.

"We had a very nice second half, everybody got a chance to contribute," offered Payne.

In the initial half the up-and-down Raiders got the ball inside to 6-6 Luis Phelps who had nine points in the half.

Pesky Kaskaskia hung tough, though, with balanced scoring and foul problems for Phelps who was sidelined with four fouls late in the half.

With Phelps out, Seminole had to rely on sophomore guard Keith Whitney's outside shooting. Whitney poured in 10 in the half.

After intermission, the outmanned visitors, who only dressed seven players, began to wear down. The Raiders bolted to a 63-47 bulge at 9:30 in the half as Apopka's Delvin Everett and sophomore Ricky Sutton totally cleaned the glass.

Only Joe Krieger's outside shooting kept it a semi-respectable contest, but the Devils never got close.

"Delvin had a fine second half and game and Luis (Phelps) really tried to rebound tonight," said Payne. "In the second half, we just controlled the back- Total 37-69 13-21 87. boards."

Susan Sallee and Robert Aubrey Gammon were united in Holy Matrimony on Dec. 18, at 6 p.m. at First Baptist Church of Sanford. The Rev. Paul E. Murphy Jr. performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Sallee, 309 E. Lake Mary Blvd., Lake Mary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Aubrey Gammon, 1169 Meadowlark Ave., Miami Springs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an exquisite formal ivory silk organza gown over peau de soie. Venice lace flowers appliqued on English net accentuated the fitted bodice, Juliet sleeves and high neckline which terminated in a V in the back. Cascades of crystal pleating and lace formed the graceful train which cascaded into a traditional chapel sweep. A Venice lace cap held her waltz-length veil of imported silk illusion edged in scalloped lace. She carried a crescent-shaped arrangement of orchids, carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

Donna Wilkins attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a full-length Christmas red taffeta gown with a wide ruffle enhancing the off-the-shoulder neckline. She carried a crescent of Christmas holly, red carnations and white mums with gold accents.

Bridesmaids were Darlinda Gammon, sister of the bridegroom, Susan Hunt, Donna Routh and Angle Duncan. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Timothy Kimmons served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Greg Knight, Doug Barnes, James Toro and

For Dry Mouth Sufferers

DEAR ABBY: A while back you recommended a "saliva substitute" for people who suffer from dry mouth. Having suffered from that condition for two years. I called my dentist and he had never heard of a saliva substitute either. Abby, can you tell me the name of this product and where it can be purchased?

NEEDS IT IN ILLINOIS DEAR NEEDS: I had no idea that the problem of "dry mouth" was so widespread until I mentloped it in my column and was promptly deluged with letters from readers seeking relief from that condition.

There are at least four brands of saliva substitutes on the market today. Ask your pharmacist to check the "Annual Pharmacists" Reference Red Book." "Facts and Comparisons" or "Physicians' Desk Reference For Non-Prescription Drugs," under "Saliva Substitutes." Readers, for your information, "xerostomia" (dry mouth) can be caused by disease, medication, radiation therapy or the normal aging process. This

Last summer I went back to my old hometown and ran into my first love by accident. I could tell it was him a block away. We had coffee and talked over old times, and I knew the spark was still there. He never married. I was married twice and widowed twice.

I just turned 71 and he's 70. Do you think we're too old to get married now? Sign this... JUNE IN JANUARY

DEAR SECRET: My experts tell me that there is no way a doctor can feel the difference or tell by sight or a physical examination.

P.S. A bit of unsolicited advice: Please share your secret with your fiance. If it changes his feelings for you, he might not be the man for you. Also, such "secrets" sometimes surface later. creating much misery for all concerned.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the li-year-old girl who complained because her boyfriend, age 12, dumped her for an "uglier" girl:

Last year our 12-year-old son had his first "girlfriend" another seventh-grader. She invited him to school followed him to football have a "girlfriend." She pursued him. They had a fight, which ended in some name-calling. Then he refused to talk to her.

We discussed the situation with him, trying to help him understand that it wasn't his fault - that reacting with anger to the pressure she had put on him was only natural. We encouraged him to talk to her and explain that he didn't "hate" her, he was just not ready for the kind of relationship she wanted. They are now on speaking terms, but the friendship was

ONE MOTHER'S VOICE DEAR VOICE: You have voiced an important message for which I thank you But a still louder voice is being heard throughout the land. Peer pressure!

During any given week, no less than 300 letters from "desperate" girls between 10 and 13 cross my desk with this sad refrain: "Other girls my age have boyfrlends, why can't I get one? There must be something wrong with me."

Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, I wish that girl's mother sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), the rest of the chasing. Even if addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923; Hollywood, Calif. 90031.
