YANKS TAKE LEAD AS CARDS SLIP UP TO LOSE ANOTHER

New York Team Displays Good Brand of Baseball To Win

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(INS)—While the Yankees were sitting pretty today following their gap over the battered Athletics to the top rung of the American League ladder, storm warnings fluttered in the camp of the St. Louis Cardinals, national league leaders.

The Cards have dropped four of their last seven starts. Another defeat by Pittsburgh yesterday left them only 2 1/2 games ahead of the Chicago Cubs, who handed Cincinnati a 2 to 0 whitewashing, when Guy Bush let the Reds down with two hits. The Cubs have captured five of their seven games.

Ferocious slugging by the Pirates gave them an 8 to 7 win over St. Louis yesterday. The Waner boys snaggled seven hits between them. After the Cards apparently had put the game on ice with a five run rally in the seventh, the Bugs retaliated by kayoing Grover Alexander and scoring five runs in the eighth.

Dazzy Vance is devoting the Fall season to squelching John McGraw's pennant ambitions. The Brooklyn mound star took a 3 to 2 decision from Larry Benton, New York ace, fanning 10 men and registering his 20th victory. Flower's hit in the ninth won the game after pinch hitter Gink Hendrick had clouted a homer with one on.

Philadelphia's 5 to 0 and 7 to 3 defeats at the hands of the Yanks snapped the Mackmen's winning streak of five games. They had captured 41 of their last 50 starts. The A's still have Lefty Grove in reserve to shoot at the champions, but are a game and a half behind and must take both of the two remaining games of the series to regain first place.

Turning to their eighth win in nine starts, the White Sox regained fourth place by smothering Cleveland 10 to 1 while Washington was dividing a double bill with the Red Sox. St. Louis' outslugged Detroit 8 to 6.

Shocker, Former Yank Star, Dies Of Illness

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(INS)—The elation of the New York Yankees because of their double victory over the Athletics was somewhat tempered today by news of the death of Urban Shocker, once their star pitcher. The chunky spitball pitcher passed away in Denver yesterday, a victim of pneumonia and heart trouble.

Shocker won 18 games for the Yanks last season. This Spring he announced his retirement. The lure of the diamond brought him back, but failing health prevented him from playing.

Shocker formerly pitched for St. Louis Browns. He was thirty-three years old.

AL SMITH'S TRIP THRU WEST TO BE BY SHORT TRIPS

At none of these in-between stops is the Governor scheduled to speak. But public receptions will be held in each instance, and those who know "Al's" weakness for crowds, are betting there will be some remarks from the candidate.

The train upon which the Governor will leave Albany next Sunday is to be the most pretentious, from the standpoint of equipment and personnel, that ever went west on a political trip.

It will consist of 11 coaches back of the engine. Governor Smith and his immediate party will occupy the private car, owned by observation car.

Four cars will be occupied by photographers, three of them as living quarters and one as a work room.

Smith plans a comparatively quiet week, preceding his bid for the West. He will deliver no prepared speeches. Considerable preliminary work is necessary in getting up the data which he will use in his Western addresses and a good part of his time this week will be devoted to this task.

Mrs. Smith went to New York today to register so that she may vote in November.

HELD FOR SHOOTING HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Sept. 10.—(INS)—Charles Adkins was shot three times and was reported dying in the hospital here today following an argument Sunday with Tappan Sharp, merchant of Dallas. Sharp surrendered to police and was held awaiting the outcome of Adkins' condition. Adkins was released from jail Saturday night following an automobile accident.

Sportwriter Attributes Yankee's Remarkable Win To Courage Of Players

Declares It Was One Thing New York Team Showed More Than The Athletics In Battle For Supremacy

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The difference between the champion and the also ran is courage! Courage! Chalk it down as number one in the attributes of greatness! Courage! or heart, if you prefer. Or old fashioned guts, if you want a shorter, uglier word. It's all the same.

It's the one thing the Yankees had one their side yesterday; the one thing which they showed more than the Athletics in a battle which sent them galloping back to the top of the American League horse.

And 85,000 customers who watched those two teams battle there yesterday went away from the ball park muttering to themselves that courage and heart were the thing, where fighting spirit was needed. The Yankees had it and they won.

Looking at the two games from a purely technical angle, there were other things on the side of the Yankees. There was the pitching of Pipgras and Heilmach, for instance, pitching that fairly sparkled with its brilliance. There was the hitting of the Yankees, timely and overwhelming. There was the smoothness with which they worked afield turning seeming two base hits into put-outs, and ground balls into ended innings.

But the Athletics had good pitching, too. And they had hitting of a sort. And they had fielding. What they didn't have was the fighting spirit that spurs men on and on beyond the confines of human strength and into the realm of nerve energy. And that's why they lost. The hero of the first game was Pipgras. Here was a youngster pitched against Jack Quinn, the craftiest veteran in the league; a youngster facing the largest crowd that ever attended a big league ball game, and knowing in his heart that out of that 85,000 throng, 60,000 at least were praying for him to be knocked out.

But he wasn't. Because he had courage—along with a surging fast ball, and a curvy ball that broke like a whip lash across the corner of the plate. The Athletics expected fast balls—but he fed them curves, using his fast ball only to cross their up.

Pipgras' 5 to 0 shutout marked his 23rd win of the season. Hits by Combs, Koenig, Gehrig and Lazzeri in the sixth spelled Quinn's doom.

The second game, which the Yanks won by a 7 to 3 score, hinged on a single ball, and Koenig pitched it wrong. He sent a fast ball through the middle to Meusel and Bob sent it back into the bleachers, three eager runners scoring ahead of him.

A home run, with the bases full, before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a baseball game! Best hit! You can't even tie it! And the glory goes to Robert Meusel—the fellow they've been panning because he couldn't hit.

As the two teams rested today the Yanks counted the pennant already in the bag. For you can't lick the guy that won't be licked—and the Yankees are just like that.

SHANAHAN SKETCHES SMITH

This drawing by Shanahan has been selected by the Smith campaign managers as the official campaign sketch of the Democratic nominee. Ray Shanahan is best known for his sketch of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh selected by Lindy himself as his favorite picture.

(Continued from Page One) connection with furnishing relief to thousands of starving people during the World War. Mr. Patterson described his own experiences with the Republican nominee in the Balkans and praised Mr. Hoover's genius for organization, natural leadership, and broad sympathies.

Mr. Howey described himself as an aspirant for public office for the first time, pointed to himself as a practical farmer and developer, praised Florida and asserted his desire to sit in Tallahassee for the expressed purpose of giving the state an economical administration, which, he said, was the crying need of the hour. The speaker praised his Democratic opponent, Doyle Carlton, as a man of proven ability but criticized the Tampa man's endorsement of Al Smith.

Mr. Howey emphasized his belief in a protective tariff and described it as an essential to Florida's success as an agricultural center. He recalled days when he grew bananas in Mexico, selling them for five cents a bunch and making a profit. Cheap labor enabled him to make money, he said, but declared that American farmers must be given protection to compete with products grown in other countries where growing costs are so small.

Judge Hainum preceded Mr. Howey and Mr. Biggers followed him. Mr. Lawson was the last speaker. Others who occupied the truck from which the speakers talked were J. P. Hall, Sanford postmaster, a Mr. Woster of Daytona Beach and Luther Ferguson of Orlando.

SHIP TOWED IN WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(INS)—The steamer Cordus, of the Planet Line, New York City, today was refueling at the Port of Spain, Trinidad, after being towed in by the U. S. mine sweeper Grebe, from the St. Thomas naval base in the Virgin Isles, naval officials reported. The steamer, bound from Rio de Janeiro to Baltimore with a load of ore ran out of fuel oil Friday. The mine sweeper was dispatched to her aid.

Huenefeld Cap Is All Rage In Germany Now

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—(INS)—American girls had their "Lindbergh hat" and German girls are now wearing "Huenefeld caps." The "Huenefeld cap" is modeled after the fier's cap of Baron Guntner von Huenefeld, member of "Bremen" crew that flew to America.

The "Huenefeld cap" has a monocle sewed to it. This because the monocle is one of the characteristic symbols of the "flying baron," and though the number of monocle-wearing girls has been increasing in Germany as well, it is not so easy for every girl to hold it steadfastly and still make her face look natural. The "flying baron" wore his monocle all across the Atlantic and lost it only when a rose thrown by a fair hand at the auto of the "Bremen" crew during the reception in Bremen struck him in the eye.

WEATHER DRIVES FRENCH CAPITAL TO DRINK WATER

Recent Heat Wave in Paris Establishes New Record and Brings About Unbelievable Increase in Water Drinking PARIS, Sept. 10.—1928. The recent short heat wave in the French capital established another record and convinced a few skeptics that the French really do drink water. On one hot day Parisians consumed 650,000 cubic metres of drinking water, the previous highest figure, which was 10,000 cubic metres less, having been recorded two years ago. The large reservoirs around the city are, however, full and show no signs of going dry this summer. The new water works at Salm-Maur and Ivry which are equipped with the latest filtering devices, will be ready before long. These new sources will add 500,000 cubic metres of water a day to the city supply.

The heat wave also caused the loss of a large number of fish in the large pond called "La Piece d'Esau des Suisses," in the gardens of the palace of Versailles. There was plenty of water for them but the gases arising from the mud and rotting vegetable matter in the bottom of the pond poisoned them. The pond needs a good cleaning for it has not had one since it was constructed under Louis XVI. It would cost a mint of money to do it so nothing is done about it and the fish have to die every year when there is a heat wave.

The Gas Company in Paris is anything but accommodating. If a gas pipe breaks or the stove explodes, one must write a letter or go a round to nearest office. There is a telephone but the number is not to be found in the telephone book and more than that, if one calls, "information" he will not receive it either. The Gas Company simply doesn't want to be bothered answering calls and does not hesitate to hike its Montmartre, well-known to all visiting American, and others is up in arms again over another attempt to spoil the rapidly disappearing picturesque hill-tops. There is a proposal, it seems, to build a big block of cheap houses in the vicinity of the old rue de Saules which would do away with one of the best beloved squares which the old inhabitants prize highly. Unless the Mayor and other members of the community can bring action to bear, the famous haunt of artists and tourists will be lost for ever. Paris policemen will soon be wearing green goggles. The recent heat wave will also be allowed to stand in the shade when it is possible and have frequent rest periods. And yet, no word has been given to supply them with thinner uniforms and lighter headgear, but white trousers are not taboo if they care to wear them. Apparently very few of the policemen are a little "coquetish" in Paris.

Speaking of uniforms, it is whispered that several of the Marshals and generals of the army are agitating the return of the old red trousers which French first was in war. They argue that the present blue ones are too plain and soiled. A new boom for the sleeping cars on certain trains to the Riviera which has been introduced within a short time is one of the most recent moves made in the French travelling for war and is certain to prove a means and leisure for many thousands who are travelling, who long for sunshine but are prevented from it by the long journey of the high expense of the sleepers and the increased the cheaper classes.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

OUR GOD IS HERE—The Lord is high unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth.—Psalm 145:18.

PRAYER—Closer art Thou, O Lord, than breathing, nearer than hands or feet.

Don't forget to mark your ballot and send it to The Herald office.

The Republicans are making mountains out of Hovey Hills.—Tarpon Springs Leader.

The world's shortest acceptance speech is when a young lady says "Yes".—Gainesville Sun.

Another reason for not bolting the Democratic party is that that is just what Sidney Catts did.

The silver lining of most clouds is on the upper side. Most of us fly too low ever to see it.—Florida State News.

Douglass Fairbanks, Jr. of Hollywood is engaged to be married. This is Number One. The boy is young.

"Uxoricide Charge Is Filed Against Former City Man", says a headline in the Clearwater Sun. What is that? Some kind of new acid?

There's but one way to settle all the current arguments, and that is to declare a moratorium and everybody go fishing.—The Arkansas Democrat.

If you don't want to be bothered with Post-Card Week, roll up your copy of The Sanford Herald and mail that to some friend in the north.

The gossip tells all she knows and borrows a great deal of information from the neighbors.—Times-Union. And what she doesn't know she "nosies".—Lakeworth Herald.

Any man who reads all the political propaganda sent out during the next two months is going to find himself pretty ignorant along other lines on election day.

What we would like to know is if some of these big racketeers have to pay income tax on their (illegal) incomes and if they don't, why does the government show them so much partiality.

Instead of dodging reporters, Al Smith plans to take forty newspaper correspondents with him on his campaign trip. That is just one difference between a presidential candidate and a peanut politician.

Building permits for 1928 in Tallahassee went to over six hundred thousand with the closing days of August. Haven't those people over there learned that the boom is over or is it just another one coming back?

In the past two years there have been two hundred and fifteen murders in Chicago, without a single conviction. It would appear that the Republican administration could find better work for the Marines to do closer to home than Nicaragua.

They are still digging for oil on the Tamiand Trail. At Glenview the foundations of a tremendous sugar industry are being laid. In the Cape Sable country scientists have found rich deposits of nitrogen which can be used in the manufacture of valuable nitrate fertilizers. Neon gas is a possibility. Without any doubt the next few years will see the development of some industry in Florida to rival the moving picture business of California.

The big fight in the present campaign seems to be over the East. There "big business" will play an important part. Hoover is said to be one of the best business men in the world. That is why "big business" is afraid of him. People don't like anyone to tell them how to run their business.

Soviet Russia

Rabbi Jacob Kaplan of Miami who has just returned to that city after several months spent in studying conditions in Russia, tells an interesting story of what has happened to the country once ruled by the proud and powerful Romanoffs. The solution of the problem, which to him seems so awful, is that Russia must be destroyed.

"I went to Russia in the hope that I would find something to love," he says. "I have come back utterly disgusted with what I saw. Russia is a great comic tragedy because the people think they can run the government—everything, and haven't brains to run anything. The government has control of the state, industry, everything. Personal ownership of property is not allowed under Soviet rule and all details of life are regulated by the government."

"Russia is a workingman's country," continued Dr. Kaplan, "but favored as workingmen are they are not as well off as in America or other countries. Government control and ownership of all means and commodities of life leave little incentive to work. But the lot of the workingman is far better than that of the disinherited class, who are oppressed and face starvation, because in Russia only men of the working class are given work. Business and professional men and their families rank below the working class and their ultimate extinction through privation and starvation must come to pass."

Dr. Kaplan pointed out that there are no illegitimate children in Russia since the government has made legal all children born out of wedlock. Marriage and divorce are as easy to obtain as hunting licenses. It is no uncommon thing for a man to have as many as a dozen different wives in one year. And the women apparently enjoy the same privileges.

There are no automobiles in Russia except those which were brought there before the revolution according to Dr. Kaplan. All homes have been confiscated by the state and are now being rented in many cases to former owners. He says one never sees good clothes in Russia, and a white collar is almost unknown. Hotels and places of amusement are operated by the government.

Such accounts as this are certainly enlightening to those of us who are unable to gather these facts from first hand experiences. It gives us some idea of why our own government persists in not recognizing the Soviet. It would be very difficult to recognize such a country as a civilized nation.

Ruth Ran And Got It

William Jennings Bryan ran for president three times and was defeated. So far as we know, the only time he was ever elected to anything was when he ran in Florida as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1924. Yet he was in public life for nearly fifty years.

A few months ago his daughter, Ruth Bryan Owen ran for a seat in Congress from the Fourth Florida District and got there several leaps ahead of her opponent Joe Sears. We understand there is still someone running against her from the Republican side, but we do not know what his name is. We have every reason to believe that in this respect at least she will differ from her father and be elected.

Bob Holland who writes a very interesting column in the Miami Herald comments on this characteristic of Mrs. Owen in the following manner:

"Ruth was going to school in Lincoln, making the trips uptown from the family home at Normal every day. She was then a long legged sort of tomboyish girl in spite of her famous, dignified father, William Jennings Bryan, who had just been defeated for president.

"One morning Ruth was late but the conductor saw her racing down the hill and so he held the car and waited for her. She swung aboard, reached and out of breath, grinned at the other passengers and shouted.

"Thank the Lord, the Bryan who can run for something and get it."

WHERE ARE THE SMITH VIGILANTS?

PALM BEACH INDEPENDENT

(By Joe Earman) Some few days ago I read in one of the New York daily papers that John Jacob Raskob, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, made the statement that MORE NEWSPAPERS in the United States were supporting Hoover than were for Governor Smith.

To combat this Mr. Raskob stated that the National Democratic Committee will expend approximately SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS broadcasting Smith propaganda over radios.

I read in the same newspaper where one of the nation's prominent Democrats and a close friend and, advisor of Governor Smith made the statement that this was a WHISPERING campaign against Mr. Smith and that the standard Democrats should come out in the open, defend and support the Democratic candidate.

THAT'S ALL RIGHT. The only thing to do is to put the issue squarely before the people.

I HAVEN'T HEARD ANY WHISPERING. On the contrary, I have heard more LOUD political talk and SCIENTIFIC CUSSING in the past two months than I ever heard before in my whole life.

The cussing is of stereotyped order and is practiced universally, same being: "DAM'D IF I AM GOING TO PURIFY MY CONSCIENCE ON THE ALTAR OF PARTY LOYALTY."

I have not heard of a WHEEL HORSE of the Democratic party in the state of Florida that has made an offer of his services to stump the state for Governor Smith.

It's a suggestion that Reverend W. J. Carpenter, of Palatka, Hon. Don C. McMullen of Tampa and Ben Rogers, the RED HEADED preacher of Lakeland, all of whom are opposed to Governor Smith, issue a BLANKET CHALLENGE to any and all of Smith's creators IF ANY THERE BE to meet them in a joint debate at Miami, West

Palm Beach, Daytona Beach, Palatka, Jacksonville, Orlando, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Fort Myers, Ocala, Gainesville, Live Oak, Perry, Tallahassee, Marianna and Pensacola.

These joint debates would be a political "CHUNK" thrown into the fire and there would be lots of "SPARKS" flying about.

The subject to be discussed being: First: WHY I AM FOR SMITH FOR PRESIDENT. Second: WHY I AM AGAINST SMITH FOR PRESIDENT.

There would not be standing room within a block of such joint debates. Somehow or another many doubt that Smith people, or supporters, would debate this question. But just as sure as gun's iron, if Smith leaders in Florida refuse to debate him and his candidacy, it will indicate a YELLOW STREAK and do the leaders and the Democratic party that they are leading great and much harm.

FLORIDA AND THE ELECTION

SARASOTA HERALD

With all due respect to the politicians, we rise to suggest to the people of Florida that the matter of greatest importance to us is not the election of Al Smith or Herb Hoover. The thing of greatest importance is the maintenance of a spirit of good will and hearty co-operation among our citizens in the solution of the economic problems which came to us through the collapse of the recent so-called boom. Neither Al Smith nor Herb Hoover will be able to do very much for Florida in respect to these matters. The high powered politicians, who are managing their respective campaigns will be able to do less for us. In this political campaign they are but exploiting us in the interest of their respective party organizations and the distribution of government patronage.

If the people of Florida are wise they will not allow themselves to get unduly excited over the election, much less thrown into a state of hostility toward one another over the issues in the election. About the worst fate that could befall Florida at this time would be a condition of animosity, discord and mutual suspicion among its own citizens.

Florida is face to face with many and perplexing questions in its own bailiwick. It is going to require the united wisdom and co-operation of all our citizens to extricate us from the slough of despond. It will readily be seen that if in the present political campaign we permit the discussion of political issues to embitter us toward one another and create deep and broad schisms in our ranks, the after effect will make it exceedingly difficult for us to get together on our own local problems in order to effect a wise solution of them. In this work we shall get no aid from either Al Smith or Herb Hoover, nor from the respective political organizations which are seeking to compass their election. After the election we shall be left to our own devices and allowed to paddle our own canoe as best we can through the troubled waters of financial distress. And what a sorry plight we shall be in, if, in this campaign, we permit ourselves to be thrown by the politicians at one another's throats and incited to tear out one another's eyes.

There is grave danger of this very thing. It is becoming more and more apparent as the campaign progresses. There are being foisted into the campaign personal matters that will have a tendency to set neighbor against neighbor in bitter enmity if we are not wise enough to mediate before hand the evil of the situation and take measures to avert it. The wisest council, it seems to us, for the voters of Florida to follow is to go through the campaign quietly and calmly as possible. Let there be no drastic efforts to control the voters in the free exercise of their choice of candidates. Let there be no "bribe" through what will happen if some of the voters in the free exercise of their liberty, choose to cast their vote in an unusual way. There are Republicans who will vote Democratic ticket and there are dry Democrats who will vote Republican ticket. So let there shall all be good friends and neighbors and be in a position to get together in seeking the solution of our own problems far more important than the selection of a president.

THE TIME IS SHORT!

WIN THIS BEAUTIFUL PONY

First Period Ends Next Saturday

The First Period of The Sanford Herald's Shetland Pony and Bicycle Campaign will come to a close next Saturday night. Votes will not count as much in the second period which begins Monday Sept. 17 and ends Saturday night Sept. 22. Right now is the time to pile up votes while they count the most. Right now is the time to get in your best efforts.

Now Is The Time To Pile Up Votes

The boys and girls who are working to win the beautiful Shetland Pony offered by The Sanford Herald in this campaign should pile up as many votes as possible before next Saturday night. Votes count more in the first period than in the last two weeks of the campaign. A big lead now may easily be held until the close.

Only Three Short Weeks Left!

The lovely Shetland Pony offered as the major prize in this campaign and the sturdy Ray-O Bicycle, purchased from Geo. Deetch in the McLander Arcade, which is second prize, are two awards well worth the slight effort it takes to win. This campaign will end in just three short weeks! Some boy or girl is going to be the proud owner of these valuable awards on Saturday night Sept. 29th. If you have not yet entered this campaign do so at once—there is yet time to win—the first period does not end for another week and a big lead in votes can be piled up in just a few days.

Momenteers & Visioneers

CONFIDENCE is the empire builder. It is the dynamic force which penetrates mountains, breathes life into desert places and sends the human voice riding winds of the universe toward the stars. It is the pulse of achievement and the glory of ambition. Confidence knows no moment. It measures its strength by long reaches of time. A single realization does not satisfy it; a single disappointment does not destroy it. When Flagler had his dream of shining rails through the wildernesses of Florida he was justified in it only through confidence, through a faith more penetrating than the headlights which have followed it; and in the face of discouragement and advice inspired by the moment he set his stakes ---and carried on! Plant was of the same caliber, a man of vision, and in more recent years and in the same pioneering spirit Warfield created new arteries of transportation which have opened great areas to commercial contact with the world. In other endeavors thousands of believers have proved themselves, proved their confidence by challenging the future, are still proving the courage of the faith. The momenteer thinks everything should measure up to his expectations all the time and complains if it doesn't. The visioneer realizes that progress is a gradual upward movement filled with valleys and peaks and that confidence and work are its motive power. Florida must ignore the momenteer and enshrine the visioneer. The future is so great, so promising and so challenging that only confidence and work are justified, and practicing these virtues our rewards will exceed our fondest hopes.

Bobby Jones Fails To Deliver Usual Golf Performance

BRAEBURN COUNTRY CLUB, WEST NEWTON, MASS., Sept. 10.—Bobby Jones, usually the master golfer, found his technique unequal to the task of conquering Braeburn's twisting terrain today the champion taking a 40-37-77 in the first half of the qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship. The performance, far from Jones customary speed, placed him a stroke behind the nominal leader. At this point, Robert Gorton, of the home club, who got a 76.

Francis Ouimet, who made golfing history on the nearby course at Brookline, in 1923, played well within himself to score two 39's for a total of 78. He beat Maurice McCarthy, intercollegiate champion, by a stroke, the latter wanting one in the rough on the edge of the "eighteenth". He shanked his chip shot at this point, barely getting it hole high, but chipped well up with his next and sank a 5 foot putt for a 5. Ouimet was wide of the green with his approach and chipped on over a trap none too staunchly. He took two putts from 25 feet for his five.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—(INS)—Large amounts of lace are a noticeable feature of all the smart dress collections now being shown in the French capital, and seems to mean that lace frocks will be as popular this winter as they have been all summer.

Black lace over metallic cloth in gold and silver is shown with slim lines and floating skirts. In some cases the order is reversed and the metallic lace is used over a satin background.

Nicole Groult is using a new kind of woolen lace for pretty daytime jumpers and there are exquisite frocks in crisp lace sprinkled with tiny rhinestones, one of which in pale pink is certainly fit for Queen Mab. Others come in taffeta embroidered in bands, scallops or silver beads and paillettes. A long-bodied frock in black has a full flounce of crisp lace at the bottom which sways in most graceful manner. A robe de style in black chiffon and taffeta has wide insets of lovely fine lace.

Organdie is also blossoming out or late summer-wear in frocks of delightful crispness and ravishing colors. One with a tight-fitting bodice has a demure little cape in the back and the skirt is made of petals and petals of black organdie edged with white thread in sprays of field flowers. The silver slip which is worn beneath gleams and shimmers in lovely fashion.

There are frocks of tilleul lemon and Empire yellow organdie, of perverche-blue, turquoise and lovely rose tones. They are perfect for the summer garden-party or the week-end at a chateau in France.

Shoes For Summer Are Separated Into 2 Distinct Groups

PARIS, Sept. 11.—(INS)—Seaside shoes are divided into two classes, the summer—those for sand and those for water.

The best of the sand shoes have wooden soles which may have high or flat heels as one may choose. In any event, they are merely caught about the feet with wide straps of leather which are gilded, painted or embroidered in a variety of patterns. Some of them have quaint little velvet tops over the toes which make one think of the little "clogs" the Italian mountaineers wear.

The rubber shoes for those who dare go near the water are as supple as a ballet slipper and come in the brightest combinations possible.

Sandals entirely woven of narrow strands of leather are very smart for holiday wear. They are very closely interwoven so as to insure a perfect fit. Low or medium heels are the rule. Three-color themes are popular and can be chosen to harmonize with a dozen frocks.

Crepe, soled shoes with the tops of plaited leather are very comfortable for country wear. They are made in simple sandal models in white or brown leather with low heels or a bit higher for afternoon wear.

Straps are still an important feature of smart shoes, but they are arranged in such a way that they do not hide any of the grace of the foot, while the shoe itself is often cut away near the instep to show the beauty of a dainty arch. Edith is showing a lovely lizard skin in beige with heels and straps in kid to match. Another in kid pastel tint is perforated and woven in squares with leather in deeper tones than the shoe itself.

COTTON: $5,000 A BALE

Photo shows Mayor James J. Walker as auctioneer and Senator Pat Harrison from Mississippi, an assistant when they auctioned the first bale of the new crop of cotton between the acts of "Show Boat" at the Ziegfeld Theatre last week. Barron G. Collier, Advertising Magnate, paid $5,000 for the bale. The money awells the coffers of the Smith campaign fund while Mr. Collier sent the bale back to Georgia whence it came.

OIL MAGNATE IS UNPERTURBED BY BIG DAMAGE SUIT

Joe Porter's Common Law Wife Asks Him For Several Million

HOWARD KANSAS, Sept. 11.—(INS)—Joe H. Porter, cattleman, capitalist and pioneer plainsman who was once the captive of the turbulent Indian Chief Sitting Bull, is not worried over the prospect of losing half of his several millions to a woman claiming to be his common law wife.

So casual about the whole situation, he is, that he has not even filed an answer to the petition of Lena May Byers who claimed half of his fortune should be hers with the dissolution of the bonds of their common law marriage.

Porter acted pleasantly and unbothered when served with papers of the suit, now pending in the Elk County District Court, by Sheriff W. P. Brown. The papers were served on him at his ranch near Beaumont.

Legal Battle Waits
But the legal battle has not yet begun. Perhaps that is the reason for the unassuming attitude taken by Porter. It is believed that the opening of the suit will be in the September term of court.

Neither has a statement from the Byers woman been obtainable regarding the suit. In her petition she claims to have been the common law wife of Porter from September 1915 to 1927. Porter's lawful wife died in November, 1918, a suicide.

Porter is a colorful character in the two-counties, Elk and Butler, where he has built up a reputation as a shrewd cattle buyer. He was rated as comfortably rich even before the Carter Oil Company developed a pool on one of his farms and made him tremendously wealthy.

He became a financier after the discovery of the oil and was vice president of a finance and trust company in Wichita. In Wichita he purchased a home and extended his dealings in capital to Texas real estate and land development.

Life of Plainsman
Porter has lived the rough rigorous life of the plainsman. Perhaps it is this which accounts for his rough dress, his frugal ways of living and his rough speech. Many are the colloquial tales which surround this man's history, and the history of the Porter ranch near Beaumont, which is called a "shanty."

He has always shunned newspaper men. But one enterprising reporter was able to draw on his hearstrings to obtain a story of his life.

In that story he is quoted as saying that he is the son of a freighter on the Mississippi river and that he was born aboard his father's boat not far from New Orleans.

As soon as he was able at the age of six he ran away from home and homed his way to Chicago, where he was employed in a restaurant for a time. Since he departed from home he has not seen or heard from any of his relatives. In that restaurant he formed the acquaintance of a prominent cattleman, Mr. Scott, who took him west into Colorado, Wyoming, Texas and Kansas.

Three years later at the age of 10 he was taken prisoner by the Sioux Indians in Nebraska. The Indians did not harm him. After a long sojourn over the Kansas and Nebraska plains he became the personal attendant of Sitting Bull.

Sent To Omaha
When the old chief became sick, Porter attended him and won a unique place in the camp, so unique that when the old chief believed he was dying he sent young Porter to Omaha, for fear that the boy would be killed when he, Sitting Bull, was dead.

His career began when he was yet in his teens as a range rider. He picked up a small stake and a string of cattle and began a prosperous career even in those hard times of the cattle business.

His activities were centered in Kansas. He purchased the Porter Ranch near Beaumont, always his favorite residence, and to this added other farms. Among the other farms, two yielded him immense profits from the productive pools of oil. At one time he was reported as owning 9,000 acres of land in Kansas alone.

His short residence in Wichita was climaxed by the death of his wife who gave a portion of alcohol and carbolic acid to their two grand children, killing them. She then committed suicide in the same manner because she said she "was tired of living."

Daily Fashion Hint

THE SURFICER MANNER

Slenderizing and smart is this stunning frock in the surfic manner with the clever side sections inserted to form pleats in the front and back. The straight-line silhouette is such good taste for early fall and winter that the woman of fashion will do well to include a frock of this type in her wardrobe. In wool crepe or flannel with revers of contrasting material, this makes an ideal street dress, while in satin or bat crepe it may be used for afternoon. A collar may be substituted for the revers if preferred.

Federal Pattern No. 4491. Sizes 34 to 48 bust, 50 cents. An attractive belted model will be illustrated separately.

The little things

AWAY back in the year 1757, in his maxims prefixed to Poor Richard's Almanac, Benjamin Franklin said: "For want of a nail, the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe, the horse was lost; and for want of a horse, the rider was lost." So you see the importance of a little thing like a horse-shoe nail!

If you are disposed to neglect the smaller advertisements in this paper, you are making a mistake. You are missing money-saving opportunities. You are missing important information about something that some day you are going to buy. You are throwing away your road-map and following your nose.

The big stores of today were little stores years ago. They used advertising space judiciously and became large. At first, their announcements were smaller than they are today. But those small advertisements told about real values, real savings for their customers.

In other words, the size of an advertisement is no indication of its importance to you. The message is the thing. Some of the most important merchandise news is often printed in tiny type. Even in the largest advertisements you will find small type. Read the small type as well as the big black type. Read the little advertisements as well as the large ones. It pays.

Advertisements come in all sizes—but the smallest one may carry the biggest news for you. Read them all
