The new U.S. Highway 17-92 bridge is about 25 percent completed. The project is expected to wind up in April, 1994.

Bridge closings announced

SANFORD — The U.S. Highway 17-92 bridge at the St. Johns River will continue to remain closed to large boats during the next two weeks, opening only during times the Rivership Grand Romance is scheduled to pass.

Other than periodic openings, the bridge will be closed from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. each business day while a barge drives pilings for the bridge replacement. Normal openings will occur throughout the evening and on weekends.

This week's scheduled openings are:

- Monday: no openings
- Tuesday: noon and 2 p.m.
- Wednesday: noon and 1 p.m.
- Thursday: noon and 2 p.m.
- Friday: no openings.

Next week, the opening schedule will be:

- Monday: normal openings.
- Tuesday: noon and 2 p.m.
- Wednesday: noon and 1 p.m.
- Thursday: no openings.
- Friday: noon and 2 p.m.

The bridge clearance is about 14 feet.

Sentencing delayed

The scheduled sentencing Friday of former professional football player Lewis Billups in a Federal Court in Lexington, Ky. was delayed one week when the defense attorney filed additional papers.

Billups' sentencing on a charge of making threats over interstate telephone lines is set for September 3.

After sentencing on the federal charge, Billups is expected to be returned to Seminole County to face charges of sexual battery on an impaired person, extortion, conspiracy and burglary.

Public discusses Bubble

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Members of the Geneva Freshwater Lens Task Force will listen to ideas and comments from members of the public on whether the Geneva Bubble needs additional protection and how to do it.

The task force was created by the Legislature this year to study current regulations and determine whether additional safeguards are needed to preserve the isolated water supply. The task force must report its recommendations to legislative leadership in December.

Anyone interested in commenting may do so between 12:45 p.m. until 2 p.m. Wednesday at Eastmonte Civic Center in Altamonte Springs. The center is located off Longwood Avenue, County Road 427, south of State Road 436.

Access Jeb Bush

Computerized politics, your dream has come true. Jeb Bush, prospective GOP candidate for governor, will communicate with the public in a live, computer forum Monday evening on the Florida Today NewsLink Forum on CompuServe.

Bush, son of former President George Bush, has opened his campaign account for the governor's race, but has yet to formally throw his hat in the ring.

Subscribers to the CompuServe service, equipped with computer and modem, can participate from 6:30 p.m. until 7 p.m. by accessing NewsLink at code GOFLATODAY.

Double murder

Bodies of man, woman found in Sanford apartment

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Apartment residents complaining about a foul odor led to the grisly discovery Friday of two badly decomposed bodies Sanford police believe were murdered.

Police Saturday had not confirmed the identity of the man and woman, but are treating the investigation of the deaths as a double homicide.

Though the cause of death was also not immediately evident, Sanford Police Commander Dennis Whitmire said there was evidence to point to a murder.

"All we really know for sure," he said, "is that there was a male and a female and that they had been there for five to six days."

He said the bodies were badly decomposed and it was difficult to tell much more based on an initial investigation.

"We are not sure even if they are the tenants of the apartment," he said.

SANFORD — Frustration. That's it. Pure and simple frustration with a system unwilling to budge on the issue of equal funding and equal programs for students on the north end of the county.

That, and nothing else, was what a group of parents said forced them to pull their children out of Sanford Middle School, take up residence in Lake Mary and ask the school board

SANFORD — Bill Moore, principal of Sanford Middle School, wrote a letter to Supt. Paul Hagerty when he first took over the helm of the school in November 1992.

In that letter he detailed what he saw as the problems and the advantages at his school. Some of the problems are the same as those presented by a group of parents who this year transferred their children out of Sanford Middle School, into GENEVA — What do Cherry, Bambi, Dudley, Bandit, Ricky, Rosie and Miss Piggy have in common?

They are all wild animals brought to the Hartlef Farms Wildlife Rehabilitation Center in Geneva because they were found injured in some manner. Joan Hartlef is the guardian angel of all these helpless critters. Daily she takes in these birds and animals, up to 1500 or better per year, and nurses them back to health.

Approximately 70-75 percent of them are released back into the wild when they show the obvious signs that they have recovered. Those, like Bambi, that cannot be released become permanent residents at HFWR and are cared for by Hartlef.

How Ramey Field got its name

Morning y'all! Remember the July 4th column about Duane LaFollette's letter concerning the Navy's naming the Sanford Naval Air Station "Ramey Field" back in June of 1958?

Folks, that letter opened the door to quite a yarn we're going to share with you today. Duane was just a youngster at the time. He told us about his Navy dad taking him to the base one Saturday morning for a haircut at the Navy Exchange. As they entered the gate, Duane wrote, there was a sign near the Marine guardhouse indicating SNAS was now "Ramey Field."

County focuses on your tax bill, again

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Once again Monday, Seminole County commissioners will take up their main tax proposals for the 1993-1994 budget.

Commissioners plan to reduce the property tax, but are considering increasing the gasoline tax, utility tax and garbage fee to pay for various programs. They were scheduled to vote on the three "revenue enhancements" last Tuesday, but due to the illness of commissioner Bob Sturm, decided to put off the decision until he could attend.

Despite the proposed increases, few people attended last week's meeting. Most did oppose the spending, but said they preferred them to be placed in the property tax so they could get an income tax write-off.

Monday's meeting will be held on the third floor of the County Services Building, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

To help raise about $1 million per year for mass transit services, commissioner will consider raising the countywide gasoline tax by a penny. The increase would add about $1 dollar to the annual cost of driving a car presuming 24,000 miles are driven in a 20 miles-per-gallon car.

The gasoline tax would be borne by anyone buying gas in Seminole County.

Commissioners will also consider increasing the county utility tax from 4 percent to a maximum 7 1/2 percent to raise about $3 million annually for stormwater studies and repairs. The county has been financing stormwater expenses through the property tax, but County Manager Ron Rabun suggests shifting it to a revenue source paid by only non-city folk.

According to county estimates, a resident paying $87 for electricity, $17.75 for water and $46 for local telephone service now pays $3.26

Family unisex bathrooms debut

PLANTATION — A unisex bathroom geared toward families opened Friday.

Instead of taking little girls into the men's room or little boys into the women's room, adults and youngsters of the opposite sex can both use the family restroom.

"I think it's a good idea," said mall shopper Kim Vickers of Hollywood, whose sons are 8 and 10 years old. "I won't let them go into the men's room (alone) and they feel uncomfortable in the ladies' room."

The unisex bathroom at the Broward Mall was designed to better meet the needs of shoppers with children, and features both junior-size and adult-size toilets and sinks. Even the hand driers and mirrors are at different levels.

The bathroom also has a couch for nursing mothers and a diaper changing area.

Parents say the new restroom, near the mall's food court, is a convenient alternative to the regular restrooms. The sign on the door reads Family Restroom.

"It's a great idea. It's unisex," said shopper Elizabeth Vega of Plantation.

Testing of addiction drug begins

3 MIAMI — Researchers at the University of Miami next month will conduct the first scientific human experiments in this country on a drug that could possibly cure cocaine, heroin and alcohol addiction.

The drug, ibogaine, is found in the root of a West African plant, the iboga. It was used by the Bwiti African tribe in ritual ceremonies.

Ibogaine was popular on the streets of San Francisco and New York before the federal government classified it in 1970 as having no medical use.

Researchers say addicts in the Netherlands have reported success with the drug.

Lead UM researcher Juan Sanchez-Ramos cautioned that ibogaine's potential as a treatment for drug addiction — and possible side effects — cannot be determined until the drug has been properly tested.

"It could have zero impact or it could revolutionize drug therapy," Sanchez-Ramos said.

But if ibogaine works, UM researcher Deborah Mash says, it could have lasting rewards for American taxpayers.

Another bitter custody feud

TAMPA — In another complex custody battle, baby Kara Goss is caught in a legal tug-of-war between a Florida couple and a Texas man who says he is her father and wants her.

"I hate to make them play King Solomon, but that's the way it is," Donald Carr said of the judges who will be asked to decide who should be Baby Kara's parents — he and his wife, Christine, who are trying to adopt Kara, or the young Texas man.

The Carrs, who live in Tampa, may have the odds against them in their attempt to adopt Kara, now a month old. William Jardina, 17, of San Leon, Texas, has said all along that he will not give her up.

"Your Tampa people are dead in the water," said University of Houston law professor Eugene Smith.

He said the situation is the same as the Baby Jessica case, in which a Michigan girl was returned to her biological parents last month after living most of her life with a couple that tried to adopt her.

"Under Texas law, which is going to govern this thing, the consent of the father of an illegitimate child is required," said Smith, who wrote the family code in Texas. "He would have rights in Texas, which is the place of the birth of a child, and in such of a situation, Florida would recognize Texas law."

Zigzagging Emily turns north

Floridians cross fingers that hurricane will keep going

By CAROL PUGH
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — Zigzagging Hurricane Emily took a slight northwest turn Saturday, eliciting a tentative collective sigh from Floridians and concern among those in South Carolina, where memories of Hurricane Hugo remain fresh.

"We would love to have it miss us," Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles said. "We'd love to have it miss the United States entirely, and just stay on a northern course."

Hurricane specialist Miles Lawrence said, "My own personal stress has eased up now that I know it appears it's not heading towards south Florida."

The National Hurricane Center in suburban Coral Gables said the storm was moving west-northwest at 9 mph Saturday, and was about 900 miles east of Florida and 400 miles south of Bermuda with top sustained winds near 80 mph. Forecasters say the storm could hit land Tuesday.

It was expected to increase in intensity to a Category 3 hurricane within 72 hours, with winds exceeding 111 mph. At 5 p.m. EDT, Emily was centered at latitude 28.3 north and longitude 67.9 west.

Hurricane watches may go up Sunday. Areas of concern ranged from central Florida to the Carolinas, said Bob Sheets, director of the hurricane center. But he wasn't ready to say the storm would miss south Florida: "I don't think we can sound the 'all clear' here."

Kate Hale, emergency chief for Dade County, was more optimistic: "This isn't our storm."

At the Windjammer lounge on the Isle of Palms, S.C., about 50 people paused from their revelry to watch a televised news conference and hear some words of caution from Charleston Mayor Joe Riley, who went through the devastating Hurricane Hugo in 1989.

"I think people are definitely worried about it," said Kal Dilling, a bartender at the Windjammer, known for its pre-hurricane parties. "I'd hate for it to hit here again. Hugo went right on through us last time."

Elsewhere in South Carolina, the Charleston County Emergency Preparedness Division has put all county agencies on 24-hour alert.

Red Cross: Central Florida not prepared

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

The Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross believes Central Florida is not prepared to handle a hurricane even if it strikes elsewhere in the state. The shortfall is in the lack of volunteer help.

When Hurricane Andrew struck South Florida last year, an estimated 6,300 people fled to be fed and sheltered by the Central Florida Red Cross unit. Experts estimate if another hurricane were to head toward Florida's coastal areas, Central Florida could be faced with sheltering as many as 100,000 evacuees.

In a statement released earlier this week, the organization reports, "Central Florida is not yet ready with enough volunteers to staff, for an extended period, the 25 to 30 shelters that would be needed."

They also say families, "who falsely believe that living inland is protection," are also poorly prepared.

The Red Cross suggests, "Families need to plan carefully by preparing a disaster plan and a well-stocked disaster supplies kit."

Volunteers would provide 95 percent of Red Cross services, are needed for damage assessment, feeding and sheltering, to administer health services, to obtain and disperse information regarding disaster victims and to serve as caseworkers. They are also needed to interview families to determine what assistance is needed.

The Central Florida Chapter of the Red Cross is offering several free training courses to prepare volunteers as disaster relief workers. Disaster planning brochures are also available free of charge at the Red Cross offices, 705 W. S.R. 434 in Longwood, and 5 N. Bumby in Orlando.

To register for the training courses, or for additional information, phone the Longwood office at 332-8200.

Sprucing up the schools

Seminole County schools superintendent, Dr. Paul Hagerty, helps Southern Bell regional manager Larry Strickler unload the Wanstay Moving and Storage truck provided by Customer Service manager Ariens Colbert in Sanford. On the truck are about 300 panels of various sizes and shapes donated by Southern Bell to the school system, which was polled previously for need. The panels, which can be used decoratively or as room dividers, will be distributed to area schools.

Third anniversary of Gainesville slayings: No trial

By RON WORD
Associated Press Writer

GAINESVILLE — It has been more than 1,000 days since a killer invaded the apartments of five young Gainesville college students in a bizarre orgy of sexual assault, mutilation and murder.

There has been no trial, no conviction — but there was an arrest after the most expensive murder investigation in state history.

Defense and prosecution attorneys have been working to prepare their cases for a trial or trials scheduled to begin in January for Danny Harold Rolling.

The 39-year-old Louisiana drifter, the prime suspect for more than 2½ years, faces five counts of first-degree murder and three charges each of sexual battery and burglary.

If Rolling is convicted, the state has said it plans to seek the death penalty. He already is serving five life terms for a series of burglaries and robberies in the days following the killings.

More than 100 hours of depositions have been taken this summer from dozens of witnesses in sessions attended by prosecutors and defense attorneys. There reportedly were 209 state witnesses.

"For Alachua County, this case has had the impact of a hurricane in several respects and has ravaged the coffers," said Will Irby, a spokesman for the State Attorney's Office.

"It was the most extraordinary and expensive murder investigation in Florida history," Irby said this week.

Current estimates place the cost of the case at $6 million, he said.

Alachua County is seeking $1.2 million from the state under Florida's new Violent Crimes Act to help pay the costs of Rolling's trial.

Circuit Judge Stan R. Morris is currently considering a defense motion and had held a closed hearing on breaking the case into three separate trials — one for each of three crime scenes.

Phone calls to the Public Defender's Office to discuss their trial preparations were not returned.

Three years ago, as students moved into apartments and prepared for classes in the stifling August heat, the murdered and mutilated bodies were of Christina Powell, 17, and Sonya Larson, 18, of Deerfield Beach, were found Sunday, Aug. 26, 1990, inside their apartment at Williamsburg Village.

The next horrifying discovery came a few hours later when the body of Christa Hoyt, 18, of Archer, was found in her apartment. Her decapitated head had been placed on a bookshelf and she had been sexually assaulted.

Students began huddling together in their apartments, arming themselves and fleeing Gainesville in terror.

The bodies of Manuel Taboda of Carol City and Tracy Paules, of Miami, both 23, were found on Tuesday, Aug. 28, at the apartment they shared at Gatorwood Apartments. They had been stabbed to death, just as the other victims were.

Investigators from the Gainesville Police Department, Florida Department of Law Enforcement, the Alachua County Sheriff's Office and the University of Florida Police Department formed a task force to investigate the serial slayings.

Suspect in thefts charged

Todd Andrew Greene, 30, 210 Acorn Drive, Longwood, was arrested at the sheriff's office in Sanford on Thursday. Deputies said on Aug. 17, someone had removed in excess of $300 in items from a residence on Spring Cove in Altamonte Springs. Greene was arrested after being called to the sheriff's office for questioning. Among items reported stolen were a ladies watch, a fondue pot, an air conditioning unit, two shirts and nine cans of beer. The pot and air conditioner were recovered by deputies. Greene has been charged with grand theft.

Arrest in bank robbery

Sheriff's deputies have arrested Dennis Emil Dangelo, 48, of Casselberry. The arrest report said Dangelo is accused of having robbed the Nations Bank on Howell Branch Road on Aug. 19. The robber wore a stocking mask and carried a large semi-automatic handgun. Deputies said after he obtained an undisclosed amount of money from the teller, he left the bank, took off the mask, and was seen by five witnesses. The witnesses eventually were able to learn his identity, and he was arrested at his residence Thursday. Dangelo has been charged with armed burglary.

Drug arrest

Darren Steven Lawrence, 23, 1313 Olive Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Tuesday. Officers said they saw him in a parking lot at French and 13th Street, involved in what was suspected as a drug deal. They followed him to Park Avenue and 13th Street and stopped his car. Following a check of his person, and his car by a K-9 drug-sniffing dog, he was placed under arrest. Lawrence has been charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute, and possession of cannabis, under 20 grams.

Stolen car spotted

Sanford police arrested James Lenard Pritchard, 29, 146 Academy Avenue, Sanford, within a block of his residence on Tuesday. An officer reported seeing a car which had been listed as stolen, being driven in the area. When the officer went to investigate, he reported finding the car parked, and Pritchard standing near a home in the 100 block of Academy Avenue. He was arrested on a charge of grand theft auto, and driving with a suspended/revoked license.

Victim identifies burglar

Festali Calderon, 39, 218 W. 12th Street, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday. He was apprehended in connection with a residential burglary on July 27 in the 600 block of Oak Avenue. At the time, the burglar was reportedly confronted by a woman resident, and fled from the area. The woman reportedly identified him from a photograph. Calderon was charged with burglary to an occupied dwelling.

Cigarette theft

Kenneth McGill, 27, 2450 Byrd Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday. Officers responded to a call from a convenience store on W. 25th Street, reporting a man had taken three cartons of cigarettes, and driven off without paying for them. Police located the car and stopped it in the Castle Brewer Court area. McGill was charged with retail theft, and resisting arrest without violence.

Schools OK construction program

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County school board approved plans this past week for the Academy of Construction Trades which began with the start of school on Monday at five of the six high schools in the district, including Seminole and Lake Mary.

For the last 12 months, district vocational-technical administrators and high school principals have been meeting to make the necessary arrangements with local building contractors.

They have set up a youth apprenticeship program, much like is done with the Academy of Health Careers and local medical professionals, which will find practical on-the-job study for about 100 students across the district this school year.

The program, this year will be open to juniors and seniors.

The juniors will do all of their learning in the classroom during the school year. During the summer, juniors will work in the field with their sponsoring contractor.

The seniors will receive classroom instruction the first semester of the year and then will be on the job their second semester and after graduation.

They will work full time during those periods of employment. The contractors will serve not only as employers, but also as mentors, encouraging them to work on their academics as well as on their construction skills.

"We hope this will be an opportunity for the students to see the practical applications of their school work in their work experience," Bette Hogle, the district's director of vocational and technical education, said.

In addition to encouraging the students to stick with their studies, the contractors have agreed to refuse to hire a student who drops out of school before graduation unless there are unusual circumstances and the district approves of the student's employment.

In addition to the high school academy, the middle schools will continue to offer exploration possibilities for those who believe they might be interested in a career in construction. Year-long survey courses will begin in the ninth grade with trade-specific courses beginning in the 10th grade.

The four high schools that have begun those trade-specific courses this year are: Seminole High which will offer carpentry and electrical; Lake Mary High which will offer carpentry; Lake Howell High which will offer electrical; and Lyman High which will offer electrical.

Plans are in the works for specific courses in fire sprinkler installation and plumbing.

"The program will be a vital part of the school-to-work transition strategies that are in place in the schools," Hogle said.

Dozens of burglary charges

By NICK PFEIPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Three additional charges were added to the almost three dozen others filed against Kevin Lee Smith, 19, of Sanford.

Sanford police said most of the charges against Smith are in connection with a series of burglaries and thefts in the downtown Sanford area. The latest charges were made Thursday. Police charged Smith with being involved in a burglary at Radio Shack, 3687 Orlando Drive on July 6, at which time a computer was reportedly stolen and the front window of the business was busted open. For this case, he has been charged with burglary, grand theft, and criminal mischief.

Smith also faces charges in Volusia County in connection with a sexual assault on an elderly woman.

People not professions commit crimes

A Lake Mary police officer was arrested last week and charged with armed burglary. In Jacksonville, a former minister pleaded guilty to sex charges.

These are saddening situations. Unfortunately, they are not the only incidents of authority figures being charged with crimes.

People who are entrusted with the safety and well-being of others are often held too high on a pedestal. We tend to forget they are human beings capable of yielding to ill and temptations.

In each of these cases, an accusation placed against a particular individual must not be allowed to reflect on all persons in that profession. Unfortunately, this is an all-too-common occurrence.

Jokes, or casual comments which could be of a sarcastic nature, can cause a great deal of harm. Attorneys, rightly so, object to having jokes told about them. Police officers, members of the clergy, school teachers, and others have similar feelings.

Regardless of a person's profession, no one likes to have it smeared by others. Most people are proud of what they are accomplishing. They feel the same way about those who work along side them.

Members of the Lake Mary Police Department are proud of what they do. Just as in any other type of profession, they are disappointed when one of their number is accused of a wrong-doing.

People will continue to be shocked at criminal activities, and disappointed whenever public people are involved. The actions of one however, must not be allowed to reflect on all.

The Jacksonville minister has pleaded guilty to the charges. The Lake Mary police officer's case is still under investigation.

Let's not allow such situations to cause harm or degradation to others. People, not professions, commit crimes and become involved in difficulties.

Thanks for article

Thanks so much for Kelley Mitchell's great article promoting breastfeeding! I happened to be at the World Walk for Breastfeeding on Sunday, August 1st, when a nurse working one of the exhibit booths came over to me and mentioned she had seen the article in your paper that morning. After speaking to other health professionals at the World Walk event we realized that the Sanford Herald was the only paper in the area to publish information about World Breastfeeding Week events.

In working to promote breastfeeding, I know it takes participation from the whole community, not just health professionals, to educate and inform the public. The Sanford Herald has been very supportive in covering breastfeeding issues including the World Breastfeeding Week events, legislation on breastfeeding in public, and also the Breastfeeding Peer Counselor Program at the Public Health units.

I also appreciated you sending the photographer to the Peer Counselor Bake Sale. The picture brought more attention to the article. Thanks again!

Concern prompted painful move

Linda Johnson is one of the parents concerned about the educational environment at Sanford Middle School. Johnson is a parent who has been genuinely concerned about education for years. Her concern has translated into support for students and schools.

Johnson served as the parent sponsor for the Wilson Elementary School student council for two years. Simultaneously, she was the vice president of the Parent Teacher Association. Teacher Appreciation Days were superlative and Johnson was leading the preparations.

Another effort to help children, the Bookertown Tutorial Program, was also of interest to Johnson. She served as a member of the Advisory Board. She encouraged others to help and shared her time, ideas and material blessings.

Johnson's appearance before the school board was prompted by her inability to resolve real problems in any other manner. She addressed the school board and requested a change for her son from Sanford Middle School to Greenwood Lake Middle School in Lake Mary.

This was a painful step for Johnson who two years ago had gone to Sanford Middle School anticipating continuing her volunteer work. She sincerely believed that she could make a positive contribution.

As a matter of fact the children and parents leaving Wilson for Sanford Middle School were impressed with the new physical plant. They made known to the principal their willingness and readiness to actively participate in the school's programs.

Johnson became a mentor for one of the students. She met with the student's mother and they jointly planned how she might be of help. Johnson endeavored to assist the student develop a better self concept and better command of rudimentary language arts and mathematics skills. She tried to interest the administration in providing a realistic educational plan for him to address his obvious needs. However, nothing really happened except for his being transferred to Crooms School of Choice. Johnson was disappointed and unable to understand why the student she mentored couldn't have been educated at Sanford Middle School. He was not a discipline problem.

Johnson's son wasn't faring very well either. He had experienced physical abuse and had even been knocked unconscious. No encouragement had been received from either the school administration or the superintendent that a better educational environment for all children would be provided, therefore, an apartment was rented in another school zone.

The fact that Sanford Middle School and Lakeview Middle School are different from all the other middle schools in Seminole County is apparent by reading pages 41 and 57 of the published agenda for August 24, 1993. Those two pages indicate that a $75,000 juvenile justice grant has been applied for to develop a pilot program to ostensibly combat truancy. The other page states "In order to provide for an additional level of control, two additional staff positions are to be used to implement the school student control plan."

The school board of Seminole County should go about the business of educating all of the children in Seminole County including those who attend Sanford Middle and Lakeview. Educating children in order that they elect to control themselves is preferable to adding "control staff."

Return to normal after vacation

BOSTON — There was a Catskill comedian who used to tell a story about his first time away from home and home cooking. After a week in Army boot camp his stomach started to feel funny. He was convinced that something was terribly wrong with his digestive system, maybe his entire body.

Well, after much medical consultation, the problem was diagnosed. For the first time in his life he wasn't suffering from heartburn.

I think about him every summer during the dangerous season of vacations. People, even presidents, get away from the office for a week or two, and if they're not careful, they lose their disequilibrium.

They wake up in the morning and feel funny. They realize that something's missing. Where has the stiffness in the neck gone? What happened to that old familiar stress lurking in the right quadrant of the brain?

They go through the checklist of personal items that are lost. The ironclad hinges that hold the jaw tight have let go and their teeth aren't doing the midnight shift of grinding. The tension band around the eyebrows has released its death grip on their mental outlook.

It becomes clear too that the medicine cabinet of over-the-counter items advertised on evening news shows has stayed untouched for days. The symptoms have disappeared. The symptom-bearers are feeling abnormal. Abnormally well.

Suddenly, the bio is feeding back subversive messages that say that unwork may be good for them. It begins to seep around the edges of their consciousness that maybe the work ethic is not the same as the pleasure principle. It occurs to them that if labor was all it's cracked up to be, we wouldn't celebrate Labor Day with a day off. We'd celebrate with overtime.

At this point in the season, any sensible adult with a decent job, a refinanced house, a non-vested pension plan, and a primal fear of ending up on a sidewalk with a shopping cart begins to panic. They begin to suffer from re-entry phobia.

For this reason, as a public service, I have assembled a handy reference sheet to grasp all during vacation. Let's not forget lest we fear this is to help us remember what is normal in the everyday workaday world.

Normal is...being woken up in the digital dawn by a radio playing a reveille of murder, mayhem, rock, roll and news of the latest failed foreign policy.

Normal is...saying the same six words to your children before the 7:30 a.m. school bus: Hurry up, hurry up, hurry up.

Normal is...getting dressed in clothes that you buy for work, driving through traffic in a car that you're still paying for, in order to get to the job that you need so you can pay for the clothes, car and, especially, the house that you leave empty all day in order to afford to live in

it. Normal is...following a time plan that requires you eat breakfast before you want it because otherwise you might be hungry for lunch before you can break for it.

Normal is...spending all day in a sick building with windows that don't open and a thermostat that is seasonally dysfunctional, in order to make the environment consistently comfy and user-friendly for the mainframe computer.

Normal is...solving complex emotional problems of sibling rivalry and adolescent moral dilemmas of right and wrong, in three-minute telephone segments in midafternoon under the disapproving eye of a supervisor who lives alone with a parakeet for which he has health insurance.

Normal is...socializing by E-mail with friends who work no more than 30 feet away.

Normal is...being required to wear a beeper so that your boss can call you out of an important meeting at the critical point in order to find out how it's going.

Normal is...sitting at a desk all day, under artificial light, eating machine food, hemmed in by four walls, with a plastic plant, a telephone, a Rolodex, a sense of "deja vu" and a manager who says you better alert "thinking outside the envelope."

And of course, normal is...being grateful for your job because in two more years, if they don't downsize or move the office to Singapore, if the company isn't bought out, the technology hasn't become obsolete, and the entire work force hasn't been put on part-time, you'll be entitled to "three" weeks off.

Now, there, don't you feel it? That old burning sensation creeping up the digestive tract. This vacation too shall pass. Pretty soon everything will be back to normal.

Unchecked arms sales

WASHINGTON — Borrowing from L.L. Bean, and seasoned with a touch of Soldier of Fortune magazine, the Russians have gone into the business of selling the wares of warfare — by catalog.

A casual browser might confuse the pictures in one publication for those of a Christmas catalog. A woman appears to be modeling a new winter coat. She's standing with a wide grin amid the snowy woods, leaning up against a tree in a down jacket.

But she's really sporting a new assault weapon, not some winter fashion.

Turn the pages of this Russian weapons catalog and one finds advertisements for 20 other types of military hardware on stock: SHMEL, flamethrowers ($3,500), "METIS-M" light anti-tank missile systems ($98,000), and "T-80U" tanks ($2 million).

"This material is perfect for the local warlord or small-time insurgent around the world," one Pentagon official told us. Over 14,000 aviation missiles and bombs are also being hawked — all available for pickup at a Black Sea port.

While the West worries about containing nuclear arms in the former Soviet Union, the Russians are auctioning off a small armada of machine guns, rockets, jets and other surplus conventional weapons around the world. Once fueled by the Cold War, Russian arms sales are now driven by the desperation for cold cash, by the imperative to turn guns into butter.

"Everybody and his brother is trying to get in on the sale of anything that will bring them hard currency, and armaments is one of the best," Dr. Edward Ezell, director of the Institute for Research on Small Arms and International Security, told our associate Dean Boyd.

At about $3 billion annually, Russian arms sales have fallen to a fraction of what they once were, and remain far below the levels sold by the United States. The American share of the global arms market has almost doubled in four years to $33 billion, while Russia has abandoned key customers in Libya and Iraq.

What alarms arms-control experts is the way these weapons are being sold. For decades, Russian arms exports were handled by a central agency, V.O. Oboronexport, which maintained sole rights to negotiate contracts and terms of delivery. Now the system has decentralized and destabilized, with numerous government agencies and even some private interests vying for market shares in munitions. Effective export policing is next to impossible. "One of the greatest concerns we have is who owns what and who has say over whether someone can sell the arms," says Ezell.

The Russians recognize the problem. During the days of the Soviet empire, the business of arms sales was a strict state secret. But in an interview with Military Technology magazine published last year, General S.A. Karaoglanov, chairman of V.O. Oboronexport, stated that the arms trade in Russia "should be centralized." Karaoglanov also took a shot at the profit-first purveyors of military hardware: "In the sphere of arms and combat material trade, nobody in Russia can equal V.O. Oboronexport... We value our reputation higher than some doubtful monetary gain, which unfortunately cannot be said of other Russian mediating organizations."

The Russians have gone into the business of selling the wares of warfare by catalog.

Parents

to allow their children to attend Greenwood Lakes Middle School.

"I just didn't see that the school system was meeting the needs of my children," said Linda Johnson, one of the parents. "It just gets to the point where you have to throw up your hands and say 'I'm not going to watch this any more.'"

All of the parents who removed their children from the school in the transfer have been very active in Sanford Middle School through PTSA activities and through Dividends' Mentoring programs.

According to the Dividends office records, the parents contributed a combined 634.5 hours of recorded volunteer hours at the school.

"We've worked very, very hard, but we've met nothing but resistance trying to go through the system," Simon Binge, who has an eighth grade son and a sixth grade daughter, said.

And the parents are not placing the blame on Sanford Middle School, though that school has been the brunt of much of their outcry.

"We are frustrated with the system that sends kids out of elementary school who can not read," she said. "When so many of those students come into the middle school there is only so much they can do for them. If they're going to send us those kids they should send us some help."

The parents pointed to standardized test scores from the feeder schools as examples of the problems the student body and teachers at Sanford Middle face.

At Midway Elementary School, for example, the fourth graders scored equal to or better than only 27 percent of all fourth graders who took the reading portion of the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS). At Pine Crest, the fourth graders scored equal to or better than 35 percent of all fourth graders who took the reading portion of the CTBS.

On the other hand, at Heathrow, the fourth graders scored equal to or better than 73 percent of all fourth graders who took the reading portion of CTBS; and at Wilson, the fourth graders scored equal to or better than 65 percent of all fourth graders who took the reading portion of the CTBS.

At Sanford Middle, the seventh graders scored equal to or better than 41 percent of all fourth graders who took the reading portion of the CTBS.

"I think they (Sanford Middle) are doing a good job against very difficult odds," she said.

The unfortunate aspect of the low test scores, she said, is that children who are unable to compete in the academic arena often seek to prove themselves physically.

"They may try to be successful through strength," she said. "It contributes to a difficult and dangerous environment."

Other parents believe there is a lack of consistent discipline that has its roots in a more lenient previous administration.

"Things have gotten better, but teachers have just gotten used to things a little more lax," Kathryn Binge said.

Johnson said her first concern was for her child. She wanted to remove him from the environment.

But she still cares about the school system and wants to see something done for the students of Sanford, who she says have been "ignored by the Seminole County school board for years."

Johnson said that the parents who have moved their students did not make a rash decision. The frustration level grew slowly over the years while the parents tried in vain to effect some changes and felt they were being humored or ignored by district officials.

"We met repeatedly with district officials," Simon Binge said. "Nothing ever seemed to change."

The parents documented nine times, over a one year period beginning in June of 1992, that they expressed concerns to district officials, through meetings and letters regarding safety, discipline, academics, heterogeneous versus homogeneous groupings in the classroom and drop out prevention.

They met with Supt. Paul Hagerty; Willie Holt, director of middle schools; Dr. Marion Dailey, executive director of instruction; principal Bill Moore; assistant principal Roger Gardner and the school resource officer.

"They were always polite, but nothing ever changed," Kathryn Binge said.

They said Moore "inherited a difficult situation," but that a lack of cooperation from the district has made a difficult situation even more so.

"We are not blaming the teachers, either," Kathryn Binge said. "Most of the teachers have supported and encouraged us in our efforts to improve the school."

Safety at Sanford Middle

The parents said they have spent many hours on the Sanford Middle School campus during school hours.

- students walking four and five abreast along the corridors and refusing to move, forcing others to walk around them.
- repeated acts of vandalism to school and personal property.
- older, much larger students, push smaller students around.
- students try to intimidate them personally.

Kathryn Binge said that she was once in the lunchroom when a small seventh grader was being forced from his seat by a group of much larger eighth graders. She went to the table and stood. One of the larger students stood over her, she said, and attempted to intimidate her, though she said she held her ground.

And, they said, they have seen general violations of the student code of conduct, from eating in class to violating the dress code to running, horseplay and loud shouting.

Their own children, they said, have been involved in unsafe situations, though they declined to discuss the specifics of those incidents.

"There simply isn't the control there needs to be," Kathryn Binge said. "The students see they can get away with the little things and they do a little more."

(COMPILED FROM 1991-1992 FLORIDA SCHOOL REPORT)

Herald graphic by Cheryl Brin

At Greenwood Lakes, for example, Kathryn Binge said, she saw a group of students beginning to get loud and the teachers moved in quickly to quiet them.

"Just like that," she said, snapping her fingers, "they took control."

They admit that the situation seems improved this year with controls placed on student movement and with more adult supervision, but they don't believe that it is enough.

"More has to be done to create a truly safe environment," Simon Binge said.

They point to statistics of repeat offenders in the student discipline area to show that the disciplinary measures employed by the school are, in their opinion, not working.

School district reports indicate that 32 percent of Sanford Middle students are disciplined for infractions of the code. At Greenwood Lakes, the recidivism rate is nine percent.

"We offered several possible solutions that might be acceptable," Simon Binge said, "but none of them was implemented."

He said, for example, they suggested an after school program that would be open only to those students who would meet certain behavioral standards.

"We thought we would offer them the carrot rather than the stick," Binge said.

The school has made several changes but, the parents said, it is not enough.

"It is still an unsafe environment," Kathryn Binge said. "We wanted our children out of that environment and now we can concentrate on making the Sanford schools better without fearing for our children."

The academics

The parents said that the disruptive students also do poorly in class and need special attention to correct deficiencies in their education and to get them on track for high school.

The problems begin in the elementary grades, they said. The feeder schools, especially those in some of the lower socio-economic areas, they said, are not doing an adequate job of educating the youngsters.

"They just don't have the money to offer the students the kind of attention and programs they need," Johnson said. "They aren't funded equally. They have to start with the elementary schools giving those who need it more money to help these students."

Kathryn Binge agreed. "It can't start in the middle schools," she said. "It has to start back in the elementary schools."

District statistics show that a majority of students at Sanford Middle School begin their education at schools in lower socio-economic areas: Hamilton Elementary, Goldsboro Elementary, and Midway Elementary, though there are some students from Wilson Elementary (where all the students in this transfer attended), Heathrow Elementary, and Lake Mary Elementary.

The former schools, the parents point out, are the ones that consistently score lower on standardized tests. The latter, they said, score toward the top of the scale.

The middle school is brought down when students who are reading at a second grade level, they said, are put into class with students who are reading at or above their own grade level.

"The move is more toward the heterogeneous style of teaching," Kathryn Binge said. In a heterogeneous classroom, students of all abilities are grouped together. The idea is, school district officials said, for the students of higher abilities to help those of less ability come up to their level.

On the whole, the district has moved away from homogeneous (students of similar abilities grouped together) groups and toward various styles of heterogeneous groupings.

At Sanford Middle School, for example, principal Bill Moore said, each team has one advanced class and the rest of the students are grouped together.

Moore said he believes that students of varying ability levels should be grouped together and believes it will be best for the students.

"It upsets me that parents would say, 'I don't want my kid in a class with someone with lower CTBS test scores,'" he said. "I don't know if that's very American."

At Greenwood Lakes Middle School, the students are also grouped heterogeneously as well, but the differences in their abilities is a bit less, principal Ted Barker said. Basic and some average students are grouped together and some average and advanced students are grouped together.

Barker said that grouping students of too divergent abilities benefits no one. "If you don't teach them where they're understanding,

SANFORD — School board member Larry Strickler said he is glad the Sanford Middle School parents did what they did.

Parents of four students came before the school board last week to tell officials they were renting an apartment in Lake Mary so they could put their children in Greenwood Lakes Middle in Lake Mary. The parents did not want to remain in the Sanford Middle School zone.

"It puts everything out on the table for everyone to see," he said. "We have to look at this and see why the parents who were so involved in the school have just given up hope."

He said the district has worn rose-colored glasses for far too long and they need to see what the problems are and really make some changes. The process has started, he said, but it isn't happening fast enough.

"If we don't get to the point where we're trying to meet some of the needs of these students," Strickler said. "We're going to have a continuing growing gap between the haves and the have nots."

Strickler said that he has suggested to Supt. Paul Hagerty that a county-wide task force be formed to identify problems in the schools and to recommend solutions.

He suggested that the group be formed and come back to the school board with solutions within six months.

"This is not something we can wait on," he said.

He said the group of 12 to 15 people made up of all ethnic groups and genders needs to be formed quickly and charged with identifying the problems in the school system.

The group should be comprised of parents, teachers, students, administrators, non-instructional employees, representatives of the business community and social service providers.

"They need to meet two or three times and come up with solutions," he said.

He added that Sanford Middle School's problems are no different than those at any other middle school in the district and that the committee would help make Sanford Middle a safer school with a more acceptable learning environment.

they (the students) get frustrated," he said.

The parents who had their youngsters transferred out of Sanford Middle School believe that Barker's philosophy is a more acceptable one.

"If you have too many students at the bottom of the scale," Simon Binge said, "you just bring the other kids down."

Will they give up?

The parents said they are not giving up on Sanford schools however.

They removed their students from what they believe is a dangerous environment and from a school that is not conducive to the best education they can give their children.

That, they said, frees them up to fight the battle to improve the Sanford schools on a new level.

"We don't have to worry about them and their safety," Kathryn Binge said. "But we want to continue doing what we can."

They said they will continue to mentor the students they have been working with during the last two years. They will continue to go to meetings and to try to work with district officials to bring about change.

"We still live in Sanford and we want to bring change to the Sanford schools," Simon Binge said. "Let's not try and blame anyone for this. Let's try to make some changes."

Greenwood Lakes Middle School in Lake Mary.

"They just didn't want to wait long enough for the solutions to take effect," Moore said of the parents. "Changes can't just come overnight."

Moore said he told Hagerty that there was a lack of black male role models in the teaching staff and administration at Sanford Middle. He believed that the minority male students at the school need to have strong males of their own race to give them guidance, encouragement and, if need be, discipline.

This year, the school has added a black male assistant principal, two black male teachers and a Hispanic teacher.

"We've added some very important role models for these students," he said.

Moore said he told Hagerty that the district needs to make changes in the feeder schools so that students do not come to his school unable to do the work at the middle school level. He said the district has begun to look into the problem, but that concrete changes have not yet been made.

"They can't expect to do everything all at once," Moore said. "It is a slow process."

He addressed a need for more social workers at the school.

"We need a full time social worker, one who can go out into the community and work with students and parents in the community," he said.

That has not yet come about and Moore said the school still needs more guidance counselors to deal with some problems

Animals

Bambi is a white-tailed deer, native to the Florida woods, swamp and secluded hammocks of Seminole County near Lake Harney. He was brought to HFWRC when several young boys rescued him from a pack of wild dogs. The same dogs had evidently killed his mother. Bambi's rescue at a young age, necessary attention provided from bottle feedings, and dependence on Hartlief, has made him unreleasable. To release him would spell certain death. He is oblivious to his natural predators and has replaced his fear of man with love. Bambi's companions are Molly and Nicky. Nicky is an offspring of Bambi and Molly. He will be released into the wild this fall when other young bucks are normally released from their mothers.

Cherry is a southern fox squirrel who has been at the refuge center for two years. Hartlief said, "Cherry broke her right forearm when she was young and has arthritis of the spine. Some people in Casselberry raised her in a small cage. She didn't exercise and never had any space to climb around in. She had no strength to her pectoral muscles. Well, she got loose, climbed a tree and fell. Cherry was brought to me to set her broken arm."

She continued, "I set it. She went into shock and I almost lost her so I took it off and the bones had to heal the way they are now. She later developed the arthritis in her spine. She spends her winters in an aquarium in the house on a heating pad. Her spine just virtually freezes up in the winter, but she does real well outside during the summer."

Hartlief is a former registered nurse. Her love for the outdoors and the animals drew her away from the environment of a hospital. Every little animal or bird that comes into her home is cared for with tender love that comes from her heart naturally. She is the doctor, nurse and administrator of this refuge. When it comes time to look for donations of food, cages, medicines or just about anything that can be used to make the critters more comfortable, who do you think does the job?

Dudley is a Muscovy duck who has had her trials and tribulations. She has been rescued and snatched from death several times. Hartlief said, "A lady found her with a bunch of little ducks that were being sold. She was the weakest of all. The other ducks were picking on her. The top of the beak is flesh coated and they picked that membrane off it. The beak then began to dry. The beak had to be lanced so that it could grow back normally."

"Later on she ate a bunch of nails and screws. My son picked her up one morning and she actually had a nail coming through her. A vet told us she couldn't live another year. That was about three years ago. We fed her and said prayers for her and she made it. In her last bout with death she got brilliant and stuck her head in a hawk's cage. The hawk thought she was food and ate half her head. So she lost half her head, part of her brains and an eye. She lived again and is still quacking."

Miss Piggy and her companion, Wilbur, are wild boars. "Not so wild," said Hartlief. "I have had them since they were babies. When Miss Piggy cleans herself off she smells just like maple syrup."

The yard is filled with cages that have been donated by many different people and clubs. One of the cages is the home of Ricky, Rosie and Bandit, three playful raccoons, who because of their physical handicaps, will never be released back into the wild. Another cage holds some of the more handicapped ducks and birds that cannot survive around the competition outside the cage.

Other cages include hawks that have broken wings and broken legs, peacocks that are too tame to be put back into the wild, and ducks that have been born blind or with cataracts. All these hurt animals are depending on one person's love to keep them going.

About mealtime, they all begin to get excited. It seems like every little critter recognizes this wonderful lady with the soft voice as she gets closer to their cages to feed and talk to them.

Hartlief Farms accepts any donations that anyone wants to give. If it can't be used to help the animals then it is held and used to barter for medicine and food that is in constant need. The phone number is 407-349-1127.

Molly and Nicky share a meal in the peaceful environment Hartlief has created for them.

facing the students.

He believed the behavior of students on his campus can be dealt with better through social services rather than through strict disciplinary action.

"You're not going to change behavior by being tougher on the kids," he said. He noted that the "needs are different here" at Sanford Middle and said that the staffing formulas have to be different at the school to meet those needs. He said that his staff has been very willing to accept change and direction and has made many adjustments to improve the school and the education for the students.

He said that many of the problems Sanford Middle School is facing are due to the attitude that dominated the district for a while before Hagerty took over the top spot in June of last year.

"We went through a period of time where they felt if it ain't broke don't fix it, but what they didn't realize that if you don't constantly work at something, it will break," he said.

Moore said that was "one of the advantages" of having an appointed superintendent. The school district, viewed as a business, will constantly monitor itself and make improvements. Under an elected superintendent, he said that attitude does not exist.

Moore said that at Sanford Middle there has been an increase in the visibility of the administrative staff. There has been a marked decrease in horseplay and running by students, he said, because of the visibility of the administrators around campus.

Moore said that his letter to Hagerty also included requests for improved facilities at the school and increased technology.

A $135,000 grant has brought some technological advances to the school, he said, and there have been some improvements to the campus. While the main buildings of the school are less than two years old, he noted, there are still parts of the campus that are older and are more deteriorated.

"That is something we are still working on," Moore said.

Moore said he is still "extremely disappointed" that the parents chose to remove their children this year.

"I just think they should have given us another year," Moore said.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Cross burning law held unconstitutional

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland's highest court struck down a state law against cross burnings, ruling that while such acts may be offensive, they are still protected as free speech by the U.S. Constitution.

U.S. Supreme Court rulings make clear that burning a cross or other religious symbol qualifies as speech under the First Amendment, the Maryland Court of Appeals said Friday in a unanimous ruling.

Assistant Attorney General Gary Bair said he did not know if the state would appeal to the Supreme Court.

The decision affirmed a lower court ruling dismissing charges in two cases. In one case, a cross was burned on the property of a black family; in the other case, on public property.

The Maryland law, adopted in 1966, made it illegal to burn a cross on private property without permission of the landowner and notifying the fire department. The state argued the law was constitutional because it was enacted to protect property owners from fires.

But the appeals court said arson laws already exist with much stiffer penalties than the cross burning law.

WORLD BRIEFS

Super-strength pot worries cops

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands — Tiptoe right on past the tulips, and take a whiff of the latest delight under the dikes. Or even take a toke.

The latest triumph of the Dutch green thumb is a super-strength marijuana dubbed "netherweed." And despite the Netherlands' live-and-let-live policy about pot use, the new crop has police worried and the government up in arms.

Netherweed is four times stronger than regular marijuana. Cultivation has more than quadrupled in recent years; what used to be a window-box hobby has developed into a cottage industry, with reports of police raids almost daily. The crop is recharging debate over the legal use of drugs in a nation that long ago dismissed the notion that illicit drugs are a public health threat.

Although neither soft nor hard drugs are legal in the Netherlands, possession for personal use is not prosecuted. Marijuana and hashish are sold in hundreds of "coffee shops," which draw droves of tourists.

But police fear netherweed could make the Netherlands a major exporter of a drug that until now was mainly imported from outside Europe.

Murder

According to Whitmire, police were called to the Country Lake Apartments on Ridgewood Avenue in Sanford late Friday afternoon after residents complained of a strong, foul odor in or around apartment 35.

Whitmire said that the management of the complex was planning to move a new tenant into the apartment above, but the strong odor, which they thought might have been a dead rodent in the walls, kept them from doing that. He said the odor became stronger and more unpleasant.

Neighbors told the manager, Whitmire said, that they had not seen the residents of apartment 35 for about a week.

The management called for a uniformed officer to come out and accompany her into the apartment to check on the residents.

"When the officer went in," Whitmire said, "he saw one of the bodies and came back out to call an investigator."

Whitmire said that investigators went into the apartment and discovered a second body.

Neighbors and management were questioned by investigators, but no one told them of anything unusual they had noticed except the odor, Whitmire said.

"It's very touching. It makes you want to cry to be that close and not know what's going on," said Lizzie Blake, a neighbor who lived near the apartment where the bodies were discovered. "I took a walk around and seen the car there and I didn't pay no mind."

An employee of the management office at the apartment complex, who identified herself only as Karen, said the residents were quiet and that they "didn't hear much from them."

She refused comment beyond that.

According to Whitmire, the autopsy will be done this afternoon. Dr. Sarah Irragange, the Seminole County medical examiner, told Whitmire that, if the evidence points to the identity of the bodies as being the residents of that apartment, she will have to send to New England to obtain dental records.

"That's where they just moved from recently," Whitmire said.

The cause of death will probably be determined this afternoon.

Whitmire said the evidence in the apartment suggests that the deaths were both murders rather than a murder-suicide.

"There are some things in the apartment to suggest that the deaths are suspicious," Whitmire said. "We are treating it as a double homicide."

Roger Harnack contributed to this report.

Duane asked why, and his father told him about a Navy flier who had been killed when his plane crashed after flying over civilian homes before coasting the pilot, Robert W. Ramey, his life when the aircraft crashed. Although he died he saved the lives of others.

I got the impression from Duane's letter the plane crashed here in Sanford. That was not the case at all. First, let me credit not only LaFollette but also retired Navy Commander J.S. "Red" Cleveland, retired Navy Commander Bill Malonowski, and retired Navy Senior Chief Bob Powell for providing the information or sources of information to present the entire story.

The plane, an A3D twin-engine carrier-based jet made by Douglas Aircraft was a photo/reconnaissance bomber. It was a part of Heavy Attack Squadron (VAH-11). It was piloted by Ramey when it departed Sanford for a bombing run on a dummy target in Lake George near Seville between Crescent City and Palatka.

Also aboard the plane was Ramey's bombardier/navigator, Aviation Ordnanceman Raymond W. Hite Jr., a 34-year-old Navy career enlisted man. A third flier aboard the ship was 33-year-old Aviation Electronics Technician Daniel H. Gerbis. It was to be a high speed run on the dummy target from an altitude of some 30,000 feet. The Sky Warrior started its dive, leveled off, dropped its bombs and began its climb back to its original altitude.

Ramey ordered Hite and Gerbis to eject. They did, but Ramey, to save the lives and homes of Seville residents, stayed with the ship.

Florida Highway Patrol officers told the Herald that when the aircraft came in over a swamp and neared the ground it exploded into two sections. The front part of the plane hit the ground first, killing Commander Ramey. The tail section then struck the ground. A portion of one of the wings struck a church causing considerable damage. However, no civilians in Seville sustained any injuries.

When Hite's parachute came down he was hurt. He was rescued and rushed to the Fish Memorial Hospital in DeLand. Meanwhile, Gerbis came through without a scratch and was flown back to Sanford by helicopter.

The only fatality was Commander Ramey. He was a 34-year-old native of Trinity, Texas. He resided in Loch Arbor during his tour of duty here with his wife, Wahnetta, his daughter April, 10, and son Robert, 8. Ramey, who would have been 73 last April 5, is buried in Oaklawn Cemetery near Lake Mary.

A story such as this spins off a number of what we newspaper folks call "sidebars." Let me share some with you. Bombardier/Navigator Hite was later commissioned a Navy officer. But in May 1961, he was killed in the crash of a Navy F4 Phantom near Albuquerque. We have no record of what happened to Gerbis.

Ramey's Sky Warrior was maintained by a crew headed by Powell who at the time was an aviation ordnanceman first class. He was known as the "plane captain." He retired as a senior chief. At 69, he resides with his wife, Alberta, (better known as "Bertie") at 2015 Holly Avenue, Sanford. Powell joined the Navy in 1941. He came to Sanford in 1956. He retired in September 1973 after 30 years.

Cleveland is a retired Navy commander, a pilot who once served at SNAS. When the base was moved in the 1960s to Turner Air Force Base at Albany, Ga., Cleveland, already retired, was named the executive director of the base by the Sanford Airport Authority after the base reverted to the City of Sanford. Red, now a longtime Rotarian, "let it slip" one day he was from Texas. Now if you believe that I've got a brand new bridge over Lake Jesup I'd like to sell you. I really think Red's middle name is "Texas" although his initials are J.S.

Malonowski enlisted in the Navy in 1940. The native of Jersey City was a chief petty officer when he first came to Sanford in 1953. In 1955 he was commissioned an ensign and retired as a full commander. He and his wife, Doty, have made Sanford their home and reside in Pinecrest.

I've encountered some folks who believe there was a James Ramey who also served at SNAS. We chased that down but found out they were actually referring to a one-time SNAS commanding officer by the name of Rammage. When Rammage left SNAS he and his wife, Ty, a Hawaiian, returned to the Pacific. He rose to the rank of rear admiral. When he was stationed at SNAS he lived at 370 Lake Kathryn Circle in Casselberry. He had the nicest landscaped home in the area. Why? Hibbard Casselberry told me once Rammage had his place on Lake Kathryn maintained by the boys from the SNAS brig.

How would I know that? When I returned from California to Florida in 1963, I bought my home from Rammage and his wife. It's a small world.

One more late item: A plaque honoring Lt. Cmdr. Ramey was placed on a building at the base. When the city of Sanford got the base back the plaque was removed and presented to the Ramey family.

per month for the tax. If commissioners approve the increase, the monthly tax expense would increase to $6.05.

Commissioners will also take up a proposed $5 per ton increase in the fee charged garbage haulers to unload refuse at the county dump. The county now charges $5. The added revenue would help fund dump environmental protection requirements and new solid waste programs. The increase will add an estimated 54 cents to the average garbage bill of both city and non-city residents.

Individual truckload rates would also increase under the proposal. A pickup truck-load of garbage taken to the dump would cost $7 to unload, up from $4.

IN BRIEF

PTSA sets meeting

SANFORD — The first Sanford Middle School PTSA meeting of the 1993-94 school year will be held on Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. After a brief meeting in the school gymnasium, parents will be invited to follow their students' schedules and to meet their students' teachers. Teachers will be discussing their programs and expectations for the new year.

Tran wins scholarship

SANFORD — Dustin Tran of Sanford is among 14 students who received scholarships from the Auxillary of Princeton Hospital. Tran got a portion of $10,000 in scholarship money. The scholarships are granted to students who are enrolled in a Central Florida academic institution and who are pursuing a career in the health care field. Tran is a student at the University of Central Florida.

SCC offers classes at high schools

SANFORD — Beginning Sept. 7, evening college classes will be offered at Lake Howell and Oviedo high schools. The classes are a part of the Seminole Community College offerings. A total of 29 college credit Arts and Sciences and Applied Technology classes have been divided between the two schools. There will be 17 classes at Oviedo and 12 at Lake Howell. Most of the classes meet one night a week from 6 to 9 p.m. and are taught by SCC staff members. For more information, call 322-1450, ext. 723, 725 or 726.

Superintendent sees good year ahead

Paul Hagerty

School for its new and highly-acclaimed Health Careers Academy.

At the middle school level, efforts to create smaller, more flexible sub-groups within our large middle schools have been particularly effective at Jackson Heights, Lakeview, Indian Trails and Sanford Middle Schools. At the elementary level, additional staff members were hired to help reduce class size at the lower grades in certain schools. In addition, all schools will be implementing their locally-developed school improvement plans.

As we are appropriately excited about the improvements scheduled for this year, we can be optimistic and enthusiastic. On the other hand, the problems of our society which impact our school in so many ways are becoming more intense.

While the opportunities for our motivated students have never been greater, the challenges we face with children coming to us from impoverished settings increases yearly.

In the school system, we struggle to reduce the drop out rate. The reality is that our society has an increasing number of parental drop outs.

On one hand we have the traditional problems that families in poverty have always had in trying to balance the priorities of struggling to make ends meet with the demands of providing nature and support for their children. On the other hand, we are seeing more and more children from all income levels losing out in the increasingly hectic pace of life today as parents' lives are programmed by increasing work, social and recreational commitments.

This creates the reality where more and more, the fundamental values necessary for a respectful, safe and caring society are left to children's peers, and less so in the day-to-day home setting.

In summary, our challenges are greater than ever before, but our commitment to make a significant difference in the educational lives of our community's children has deepened and intensified.

We look forward to a good year.

Dr. Paul Hagerty, who wrote this article, is Superintendent of Seminole County Schools.

Better watch out if you're skipping class

By BARABECCA ROSIER
Herald Columnist

Lake Mary High School has instituted an important and new attendance policy. Regular school attendance is imperative if high school students are to be successful in their classes. Students who miss classes are unable to participate in the experiences, discussions, activities and special projects that are an integral part of the learning process. Last year fifty-two percent of the referrals to the Discipline Office were for attendance problems. Parents often discover that their child has missed numerous days without their knowledge.

The faculty of Lake Mary High School believes they have a solution to these problems. They have developed a new attendance policy that they believe will guarantee students' consistent attendance. This new policy comes as a result of the school's ongoing school improvement process mandated by the state. At the school board meeting on Aug. 10, the board members approved and adopted the policy for Lake Mary High School. Their ultimate goal is to better prepare students for the future, and the first step in this preparation is to get them to school.

The attendance policy is:
1. To receive credit for a class, the student may be absent for no more than 8 days per semester.
A. Parents shall be notified by mail when their child has missed three, five and eight days.
B. Reinstatement of credit may be granted by a review committee. Parents must pick up a waiver form from the attendance office and appear before the review committee. At this time, they must present documentation for valid absences as listed here: Hospitalization; doctor's appointment; court appearance; funeral; extended illness; natural disaster; traffic accident that directly involved the student.

2. Parents must call the attendance office to report their child's absence. Since absences are no longer designated as "excused" or "unexcused," no reason need be given. The school only needs to know that the parent is aware of the child's absence. However, parents and students should maintain records of dates of absences and documented reasons.
3. Religious holidays and field trips do not count as absences. Students will be excused from any examination, study or work assignment for observance of a religious holiday or because the tenets of his religion forbid secular activity at such time. Students still need to make up all work missed due to these absences. They must inform the school in writing in advance of any religious holiday they observe.

4. If a student misses more than half of a class (30 minutes or more) this will count as an absence.
5. Students who miss no more than two days may choose to exempt their semester exams. If a student exempts his exam, the final grade will be determined by the average of the nine-week grades.
6. Students shall be given a reasonable amount of time to make up any work assignments that were missed during an absence. At least one day shall be allowed for each day of missed work. A student may negotiate an alternate schedule when he experiences difficulty with arrangements.

A. Students will be responsible for arranging make-up work with the teachers.
B. The teacher's decision on make-up schedules shall be final.
C. Students shall not be assessed fees for make-up opportunities.
D. The time and place for a make-up examinations shall be scheduled by the teacher(s).

E. Long-term projects and assignments which are announced in advance by a teacher shall be submitted on the due date whether the student is present or not.
F. Students who do not complete make-up work in a reasonable amount of time shall be given a zero as the grade.
G. Students who have been suspended (out-of-school) will be allowed to make up missed work for credit.

7. Students with nine or more absences will receive their grade and can be credited with that class for promotion purposes, but would be denied credit for graduation purposes.
8. Suspensions (out-of-school) will be considered absences and students who accumulate nine total absences, including suspensions, will appear before the review committee. In addition to the required documentation of absences, including suspensions, the committee may also request reports from the student's teacher(s) and the discipline office to help assess the student's overall progress since the suspension(s).

9. Guidelines for forming the Credit Review Committee:
A. The Credit Review Committee will consist of one administrator, one guidance counselor and three teachers.
B. At the beginning of the school year the principal will appoint the committee members. Teachers selected will be chosen from a list of volunteers. If necessary, additional committees can be formed.
C. The Credit Review Committee will meet as needed to determine credit reinstatement. In the case of seniors, the committee will meet two weeks prior to the end of the semester.

POP CULTURE™ by Steve McGarry

In the early 1980s, John Cleese appeared in a comedy revue that moved from London's West End - via New Zealand - to Broadway. During this U.S. visit Cleese met future "Monty Python" co-star Terry Gilliam, who was working on the magazine "Help." Gilliam used Cleese in a surreal photo-comic love story spoof.

1. For which show did Cleese win his 1987 Emmy for Outstanding Guest Performer (Comedy Series)?
2. Who was his co-writer on "Fawlty Towers"?
3. Whose performance opposite Cleese and Jamie Lee Curtis in "A Fish Called Wanda" won a Best Supporting Actor Oscar?

Answers: (1) Cheers, (2) The Fawlty Towers, (3) Carol O'Connell

DeLAND — Fall registration for Stetson University's Community School of Music will be held on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 2 and 3 from 2 to 8 p.m. in room 354 of Presser Hall.

Under the direction of Patrice Robinson, the Community School offers outstanding music education programs for people of all ages and levels of development. They serve more than 200 students each year, she said, many of them from Seminole County.

The school offers private instruction on piano, voice, guitar and all band and orchestral instruments, as well as Orff-Schulwerk classes for children. The Orff-Schulwerk classes allows children aged two and a half through fourth grade to actively experience music and movement in a stimulating and enjoyable environment.

There is also a children's choir for young people ages 8 to 16 and dance instruction for children ages four and up.

Seen around school...

Students at Seminole High School are wearing everything from the old reliable shorts and baggy shirt to high fashion off the shoulder southwestern-inspired sets. Skirts are way above the knee short and almost to the ankle. Shorts run the gamut, too, from revealing and clingy to long and baggy. Students say they are making their own fashion rules this year, but they do try to check out what the others are wearing to be sure they don't make any big fashion errors. Still, the most popular outfit (for both the guys and the girls) for school is a pair of broken in jeans and a comfortably worn t-shirt.

IN BRIEF

Free prostate exams offered

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, along with its staff urologists, is offering free prostate exams on Saturday, Sept. 18. The exams, part of Prostate Cancer Awareness Week, Sept. 20-30, will be done by appointment only, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the hospital.

Included in the exam process is a digital rectal exam, a physical exam performed by a urologist, and an investigational blood test known as the Prostate Specific Antigen or PSA. This test measures the blood level of PSA, a protein produced by prostate cells.

The board certified urologists donating their time to this program are Anthony Arciola, M.D., Michael Friedman, M.D. and Charles Witten, M.D.

Those wishing to make an appointment for the exam should call 321-4500 ext. 7738.

Churches, blood bank join forces

SANFORD — Central Florida Blood Bank, along with four churches in downtown Sanford, is asking area donors to come out for a special blood drive Sunday, Sept. 8, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Centennial Park on Park Avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets.

First Baptist, First United Methodist, First Presbyterian and Holy Cross Episcopal are sponsoring this blood drive during a critical time for the community blood supply, a long holiday weekend.

For more information, call Francie Lundquist at 260-2088.

SSCH changes name

LONGWOOD — South Seminole Community Hospital has changed its name to South Seminole Hospital. Additionally, West Lake Hospital has now become a Psychiatric Service of South Seminole Hospital.

Hospice to open Thrift & Gift

SANFORD — Hospice of Central Florida will celebrate the grand opening of its newest Thrift & Gift Store on Monday, Sept. 27.

Located in Sanford Town Square, 1516 French Ave., the store will feature furniture as well as a wide selection of quality merchandise. Proceeds from Hospice's three gift shops help fund the Martin Andersen Hospice House, a residential facility for patients with terminal illnesses who are unable to receive Hospice care in the home.

Furniture, household items, books, crafts, gift items, medical supplies, and good used clothing will be needed on an ongoing basis.

Seventy volunteers are needed now to price, stock and staff the store. The volunteer commitment includes a two hour orientation. To volunteer or make a donation, please contact Yolande Fiola at 875-0028, ext. 479.

Here's a sampling of Hospice of Central Florida, Inc., accomplishments last year:

• Hospice volunteers donated 25,152 hours and drove 152,063 miles, resulting in a $272,771 savings to the organization. This reflects a 44 percent increase over 1991.

• Direct home care volunteers provided patients and their families with 4,369 in-home visits.

• The T-Team filled 1,011 requests, volunteers staffed 22 health fairs, and bereavement volunteers made 196 contacts.

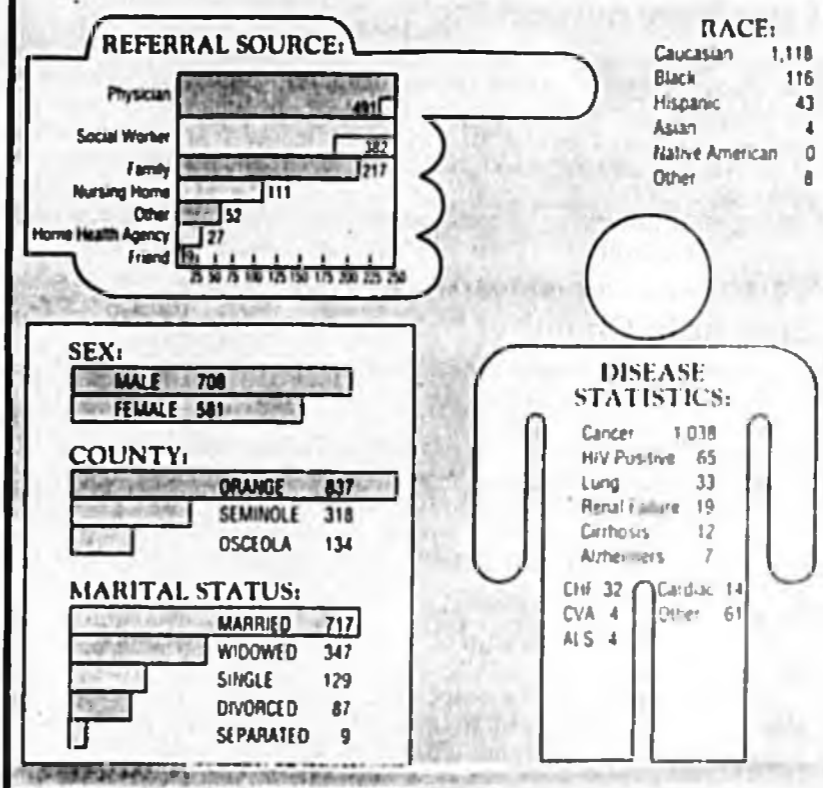

• Volunteers participated in 115 mailouts and processed more than 85,000 pieces of mail.

• Hospice benefited from 600 office shifts and 108 shifts for the Remembrance Tree.

• Twenty-six volunteers gave Hospice House a "spring cleaning," including interior painting. There were 950 Hospice House visits, including home-cooked meals on all major holidays.

• Thrift and Gift Shop I in Apopka celebrated its first anniversary in November 1992. Total sales exceeded $70,000, of which $50,000 went to benefit Hospice House. Over 1,100 donations were made to stock the store.

Head banger's whiplash a medical 'threat'

By IRA DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Rock music now has its own malady — "head banger's whiplash."

And Dr. Marilyn Kassirer warns that, after the music ends, the malady lingers on.

The neurologist at Boston University School of Medicine concedes that she is no expert on youth culture. But she does know injuries. And she wrote up these in a case report in The Clinical Journal of Pain.

Head banger's whiplash develops when muscles that control movement of the head and neck are flexed and extended about as much as they can be, so the head and neck are rhythmically and repetitively rotated, Kassirer said.

She found it among 37 Newton, Mass., eighth-graders who took part in a five-to-seven-hour dance marathon for charity. During three heavy metal songs, dancers got their heads moving with such force that many of them developed neck pain that lasted one to three days, the article said.

"My next-door neighbor is one of them, and she told me about it," Kassirer said. The doctor followed up by surveying the young dancers on the extent of their pain.

Nine of the 11 girls and one of the six boys who danced to the heavy metal music reported pain, the article said. The association was not statistically significant for boys. But for girls, the link between dancing and pain was so strong that researchers would not consider it the result of chance.

The girls had long hair and whipped it in a circle as they danced, adding centrifugal force to the strain of the movement, Kassirer said.

The injuries had healed by the time Kassirer found out about them. The youngsters used common remedies such as aspirin and ibuprofen, although one wore a cervical collar and another used her mother's biofeedback tape, the doctor said.

The injuries were self-limiting partly because they were self-induced, Kassirer said. In whiplash that results from impact, such as a car accident, the forces involved and therefore the extent of the injuries are greater, she said.

Also, people under 16 have remarkably elastic ligaments, which also probably helped recovery, Kassirer's article said.

Head banger's whiplash appears to be a simple case of too much strain on muscles and ligaments, commented Dr. Charles Anderson, associate coordinator of Primary Care Sports Medicine at Hennepin County Medical Center in Minneapolis.

Anderson also conceded that he is not up on all the latest dances. But he believes these dancers were stretching a bit too far and contracting a bit too forcefully.

As long as they are not banging into each other or into objects, the young head bangers should do fine, Anderson said.

In any case, listeners won't stand still. Movement gets you into the music, said Daniel Fidler, an assistant editor of Spin, a youth culture magazine in New York.

"It's kind of trippy, in a way. You get elated," Fidler said. "You are throwing your body into the music. It's like a joining thing." At a crowded dance or concert, throwing your head around is about all the movement there is room for, Fidler said.

And it's a lot safer than other things that can go on in a concert. One example is stage diving, where people jump from the stage in the hope that others below in the audience will catch them.

"Sometimes the crowd does not catch you, and you land on your head," Fidler said.

Business

IN BRIEF

MEETINGS

Lake Mary networking

The Business Network Int'l. is currently seeking members for the Lake Mary Chapter presently being formed. This close-contact networking and referral group will meet each Wednesday from 7 until 8:30 a.m. The purpose of the group is to increase business through a structured system of giving referrals.

For information, or details about the meeting locations, phone Nora Kramer, (407) 328-8910 or Lisa Nugent, (407) 869-2819.

Seminole Chamber money management

A three part successful money management seminar will be conducted at the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, 4590 S. highway 17-92 in Casselberry, during September and October. The seminar covers basic personal financial planning topics such as investments, lowering taxes, IRA's and other retirement plans.

The seminar is designed for people of all ages, income levels and occupations. The instructor is a registered investment advisor. No products or services will be offered or promoted at the seminar.

There is a fee of $49 which covers all costs for a couple or single plus materials.

The seminar will be held on consecutive Wednesday evenings from 6:15 until 9:45 beginning Sept. 29. Advance registration is recommended. Phone the Chamber at 834-4404.

Winter Park networking

The Florida Venture Group will hold its monthly luncheon meeting, 12 noon, Thursday, Sept. 2, at Langford Resort Hotel, 300 New England Ave., Winter Park. FVG provides a monthly forum where inventor/entrepreneurs, institutional and individual investors and service providers such as lawyers, accountants and marketing professionals can meet for networking and forming new businesses.

Guest speaker will be Kenneth Kirkham, MBA, CPA, who will speak on "Success Story: How we grew one BBQ restaurant into a $3 million business in three years."

For information and/or reservations, phone Dr. King in Oviedo, 365-5374.

BANKING

First Seminole celebrates

First Seminole Bank is celebrating its fifth anniversary with the announcement of record high assets, according to bank president Dennis Courson.

The bank, chartered in August, 1988 in Lake Mary, has grown from initial start-up capital of $3.2 million to assets of $36 million. A second office was opened in the Dr. Phillips area of Orlando in December, 1992. A third tri-county office opening is planned for late 1994.

First Seminole Bank, a locally owned and independent bank, is located at 531 W. Lake Mary Blvd., in Lake Mary.

PROPERTY

Duke sells warehouse

T.T.S. Enterprises, Inc., has leased a 5,400 square foot office warehouse building, located at 250 Power Court, Sanford. The lease is for a three year term. The lease was brokered by Jay Wood of Duke Properties, 2400 Maitland Center Parkway, in Maitland.

Stenstrom to handle Harris property

Stenstrom Realty of Sanford, 2565 Park Drive, has been named sales agent for two additional Neal W. Harris Company properties, according to Neal Harris, Jr., vice president of the company.

Stenstrom earlier had been named to handle the Harris managed property of Timacuan in Lake Mary.

Now, according to Harris, the firm will also handle sales at Lake Sylvan Cove with homes priced from $130,000, in north Seminole County, and Chelsea Ridge, an enclave of custom homes priced from the $150,000's located near Sweetwater Oaks.

Stenstrom Realty's total sales dollar volume exceeded $100 million during the last few years. The firm has been in business for 36 years.

In addition to the Sanford office, Stenstrom also maintains an office at 641 W. Lake Mary Blvd., in Lake Mary.

AWARDS

Lossing honored

A.J. Lossing Transfer, 307 S. Pine Avenue in Sanford, has been rated "Excellent" by Allied Van Lines. The award was presented to the local firm based on award point percentages for the four quarters ending June 30, 1993.

Live from Flea World

Bill Patti, publicity promotions director, left, broadcasts live from Flea World Fridays from 10 a.m. until noon, and Saturdays from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m., on WTRR Radio in Sanford. With Patti, right, is Pat Bradshaw, who won a $5 gift certificate for answering a trivia question.

Shop 24-hours at Winn Dixie

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — One Sanford location and 15 other Winn Dixie Stores across the state have now expanded to 24 hour service. The announcement was made by Larry Beck, marketing director for the Orlando area.

"Winn Dixie realizes in today's world people do not always work the same hours or have the same shopping schedules," Beck said. "To better accommodate our customers, we would like to make shopping as easy and convenient as possible."

He continued, "Scheduling these 16 stores to remain open 24 hours a day ensures that our customers can enjoy our variety, selection and everyday low prices at any time, day or night."

The 24 hour opening got underway this past Thursday.

In Sanford, the Winn Dixie store is located at 3818 S. Orlando Drive. The other Sanford locations will continue to operate at regular hours.

Elsewhere in Seminole County, Winn Dixie stores which are now on a 24 hour, seven day a week operation are located at 926 W. highway 436 in Altamonte Springs, and 944 S.R. 436 in Casselberry.

Beck said the stores were selected based on traffic flows in the area near the stores.

"We tried the full-day operation about four or five years ago, but it didn't work out as well as we would have liked," he said. "This time, we are doing it based on customer requests."

Beck indicated it may be a test situation. "If there is a good response, we may eventually add other stores," he said, "but in the middle of the night, there is no heavy customer flow, so we'll just be waiting to see what happens with these 16 stores."

Winn Dixie has 1,152 stores in 13 southeastern and southwestern states. The Winn Dixie Orlando area serves 105 stores in Central Florida.

Furniture store hosts gala re-opening

SANFORD — Farmer's Furniture, 2440 S. French Avenue in Sanford, was the setting for a ribbon cutting and re-opening celebration this past Thursday morning.

The ceremony was held by the Ambassadors of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, and visiting dignitaries from the Farmer's Furniture company.

The event was not actually a re-opening, as the store remained in operation during a complete renovation of the interior as well as exterior of the store. A number of new special rooms have been added to the store to feature items such as baby furniture, young children furniture, and Broyhill furnishings.

According to store manager Rob Moore, "I was extremely pleased that not only longtime customers and some new folks turned out, but we had such an excellent showing of business leaders from around Sanford. That's what it's all about, businesses helping each other and helping the overall city."

turned out for the special observance in the morning, with many others attending during the remainder of the day.

In conjunction with the visitation of company officials, Farmer's Furniture opened a new store in Orange City, in the Village Marketplace, 2399 Enterprise Road.

The new 28,000 square-foot Orange City store is a full-service operation with an expansive showroom, customer service areas and a multi-level warehouse. It also has the special Broyhill section.

The company, founded in 1949 has over 100 outlets in Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

Transformation at Arvida sales center

By NICK PFEIFAU

HEATHROW — As an ongoing re-positioning of Arvida's Heathrow, the community sales center has recently undergone a complete transformation from its early days.

To introduce the new look, Arvida hosted a grand opening ceremony at the office recently. With many of the area's top realtors and brokers at the event, the new center was unveiled to showcase a fresh, country French design.

planned residential community featuring homes priced from the low $100's to over $1 million, an 18 hole championship golf course, $4 million Racquet Club, a full-service shopping center and Heathrow Elementary School.

Heathrow is located just west of the Lake Mary Blvd. exit off Interstate 4.

For additional information, phone the Sales and Information Center, 333-1400.

"In keeping with Heathrow's constantly expanding target audience, the sales center needed to be as alive and exciting as the rest of the community," said Dick Larsen, vice president of Sales & Marketing.

He continued, "The dark mahoganies and traditional furnishings of the past were much too somber. Now the sales center has a bright, friendly environment that better expresses the warmth of the community."

In place of the old look, new wall designs and furnishings now decorate the new community and real estate displays.

Heathrow's sales manager, Mark Porter said, "It's hard to believe this is the same place. The new design is perfect for families shopping for a new home."

AROUND THE NATION

Long Beach repeats in LL WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — The United States has a Little League title, and this one's real.

Pinch-hitter Jeremy Hess, batting .167, hit a bases-loaded, two-out single to right field in the bottom of the sixth, giving Long Beach, Calif., a 3-2 victory over Panama in the championship game of the Little League World Series.

Long Beach became the first U.S. team to win consecutive titles. It was awarded last year's championship, 6-0, after the Philippines were found to be using ineligible, overage players.

The winners loaded the bases on a single by Timmy Lewis, a fielder's choice by Kevin Miller and singles by Chris Miller and Brent Kirkland.

The singles chased Panama starter Alex Betta (1-1), who had a no-hitter through 4 2-3 innings.

Billy Gwinn, batting .143, worked the count to 3-2, but after stopping twice to wipe the sweat from his palms, struck out. Hess then hit Abel Navarro's 0-1 fastball to the gap between Jaime Saldana and Onesimo Morales.

Seminoles, Pats, Rams post wins in jamboree

By RYAN ANDERSON
 Herald Correspondent

OVIDO — It was only August 27, but fall arrived in Seminole County Friday night as the six county high school's varsity football teams gathered for the Seminole Athletic Conference preseason jamboree at Oviedo High School's John Courier Field.

"Anytime you practice all fall hitting on each other, after a while, it's good to be able to bump heads with somebody else," said first-year Seminole coach Ernie McPherson after watching his Seminole Hawks, 21-2, in the first half of the jamboree.

"The guys have been waiting for this all year and tonight was the night," said McPherson. "I'm very pleased with the way we played tonight. However, we still have some wrinkles to iron out. Once we iron out a few wrinkles, we'll get better. We've got to go back to the drawing board and just work a little harder."

Seminole's first score came with 7:08 remaining in the opening period, Robert Ruffin rushing in from the 5-yard line. The touchdown was set up by Chris Bradley, who blocked a punt attempt by Lake Howell's Carlos Lantigua.

On after forcing the Silver Hawks to punt after three plays on their next series, Seminole doubled the score as Clifford Branch tossed a

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Top-ranked Florida State lived up to its billing.

Sean Jackson ran for two touchdowns and set up another with a halfback pass as the Seminole smothered Kansas 42-0 Saturday in the biggest rout in Kickoff Classic history.

The Seminole dominated college football's season opener from start to finish. Their "fast break" offense moved the ball at will and their defense, which lost six starters from last year's 11-1 team, preserved the shutout with a tremendous goal-line stand in the second quarter.

"We had too much skill for our opponent."

Florida State coach Bobby Bowden said. "Our defense surprised me. It was so much better than I thought it would be."

Florida State more than doubled Kansas in total yards (538-240) and first downs (31-12) even though the Seminole committed 15 penalties and played reserves most of the second half.

"We did pretty much everything we wanted," said Seminole quarterback Charlie Ward, who launched his Heisman Trophy campaign by completing 16 of 26 passes for 194 yards in 2½ quarters. "The line did a great job, and the receivers caught the ball."

Jackson, a senior tailback, scored on a 4-yard run in the first quarter and a 30-yard dash in the third period. He also connected with Kevin Knox on a spectacular 40-yard pass, which led to a 2-yard touchdown run by William Floyd shortly before halftime.

After building a 21-0 halftime lead, the Seminole put the game away in the third period on Jackson's second TD and an 11-yard scoring run by Lake Howell High School graduate Marquette Smith, who gained 105 yards on 11 carries.

Florida State made it 42-0 with 2:17 left in the game on a 21-yard TD pass from Jon Stark to Rodney Williams. That topped the previous record rout in the Kickoff Classic, Nebraska's 44-6 victory over Penn State in the inaugural 1983 game.

Richards, Brown blast way to top of BA honor roll

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — Barb Richards nearly stole the show as she rolled an amazing 532 series, which was just short of John Brown's 576 total for the highest series of the week to highlight play at Bowl America-Sanford.

Richards also bowled the highest individual game of the week for the women, rolling a 194, and again had the highest series score and high individual game in two of the three leagues in which she competed.

Gene Rogero rolled the highest individual game score for the men, as he tallied a 220.

League results reported for last week:
ODD BALLS LEAGUE
 Wednesday, Aug. 18

John Brown topped the league's men with his 576 series. Roland Crevier was second best with a 515 series and Don Bangs was third with a 514 total.

Bangs did post the highest individual game, however, rolling the only 200 game of the day, a 211. Brown's best was a 193, while Crevier rang up a high game of 184.

In the women's division, Dorine Macateer was the only bowler to roll a series over 500, posting a 512. Elenore Vishnesky was second with a 495 series and Grace Magonigly was third with a 468.

Macateer also had the best individual game, but it was close, as her 184 was two pins better than the 182 of Barb Richards and three better than Vishnesky's 181 high game.

SENIOR FUN LEAGUE (PINBUSTERS)
 Friday, Aug. 20

Marcel Vandebecq topped a highly competitive group in the men's division, rolling a 534 for the highest series total. Don Bangs was close behind with a 524, while Elmer Stufflet was third with a 474 total.

Bangs posted the highest individual game score of 204. Carl Moyer had the next-best game with a 193. Vandebecq was third with a 191.

The women's division was also a good battle, with Helen Dechelle tallying the highest series score of 504, edging Mary Duffey (486) and

Playtime leagues get tighter

Special to the Herald

SANFORD — Who said it's lonely at the top? Not much changed in the past week in the Playtime Darts League as no first-place team leads by more than seven games and 16 of the 37 teams are still within nine wins of their respective league's lead.

After 10 weeks of play, the biggest lead of any leader continues to be held by the Bamboo Bullets out of Bamboo Cafe. The Bullets increased their lead to seven games over Ron's Kids out of Uncle Nicks in the Mixed A League.

But the remainder of the leagues got tighter as no one else has more than a three-win lead.

The Men's B League is the closest with the Bamboosers from Bamboo Cafe holding the narrowest of leads, one win.

The Bushwackers from Sir Walters in the Mixed B League hold a slim two-win advantage, while Good Answer from Lake Mary Pub in the Ladies League and Sir Walters in the Men's A League hold three-win margins.

HOT SHOTS

Rick Marcello, who throws out of Bamboo Cafe for Ricks Team in the Men's A League and the Bamboo Bullets in the Men's Mixed A League, had the biggest week, collecting five wins, one bull and one nine-throw dartout.

Louise Morrow, who competes for Lake Mary Pub with Good Answer in the Ladies League and In't that nice in the Mixed A League, was the Ladies' Hot Shot as she also came away with

Beating the heat

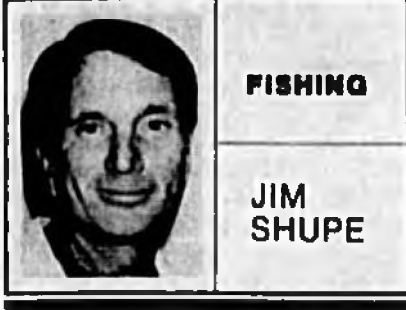

Waiting 'til the sun sets yields more comfortable, successful fishing

Night fishing can make for a successful fishing trip during the "dog days" of summer. Many fish spend a good part of the daylight hours seeking shade rather than food. The night's darkness and cooler temperatures set the fish to roaming and feeding, and the results can usually satisfy most any angler.

There are two basic methods of night fishing: one is to lure the fish to the angler and the other is to go where the fish "ought to be feeding." Boat fishing, dock fishing or walking the bank can yield equal success.

If you are fishing for panfish or speckled perch at night, using a lantern may be the best idea. A strong light (gas lanterns are probably most common) is suspended from a dock, bridge, or the side of a boat. The light attracts swarms of flying insects, which in turn draws small bait fish to feed on them.

Then it is just a matter of time before the larger fish locate this activity and begin to feed. Minnows and jigs fished in the midst of this commotion generally will provide a lot of action.

Many bass anglers learned long ago the value of casting large, noisy lures such as buzzballs or chugger-type plugs around a lake's shoreline at night. Unskilled night anglers are often fooled by striking bass. They are inclined to set their hooks on the sound of the splash rather than when they feel the fish taking their lure. Try trolling or drifting along the edges of vegetation, casting into shallow water.

Surface lures work best especially those that make a ruckus when retrieved. Fish also will see the silhouette against the sky so choose a lure such as a popper, chugger, or spinner with a black or dark color pattern.

Using surface lures and crankbaits requires accurate casting or else you may find yourself constantly hung-up in weeds. To avoid this, in areas with vegetation, try using plastic worms rigged weedless. Larger worms, eight to 12 inches or longer, are more effective at night because they emit more vibrations which bass can sense.

FISHING FORECAST
On the freshwater scene, it's mainly bream and catfish. Deep riverbends are providing the best action. If you must fish for bass, night fishing is a good option.

Snook (season closed), redfish, ladyfish, jack crevalle, tarpon, and flounder are hitting at Sebastian Inlet. Most of the snook are running from 8-15 pounds, with an occasional lunker over 20. Live bait such as finger mullet or shrimp is the key to good daytime action. Lures such as one-ounce jigs will take fish at night.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports fair offshore action. The barracuda seem to be thinning out, and anglers are catching some king mackerel, cobia, and dolphin. Some of the best action is taking place over reefs such as Pelican Flats. Inshore, a few king mackerel and huge jack crevalle are roaming in and out of the buoy line. Guide Troy Perez reports plenty of redfish in the south end of Mosquito Lagoon.

Ponce Inlet has been producing good action with a mixed variety of fish. Anglers fishing live or dead shrimp virtually have no idea what they will hook next. Redfish, drum, sheepshead, jack crevalle, bluefish, and even a few pompano. The north jetties seem to be the hotspot.

not," said Kansas coach Glen Mason, who last season led the Jayhawks to an 8-4 record and their first bowl game since 1981. "We got our butt beat."

The only thing hotter than Florida State was the weather. It was 91 degrees at kickoff, and the temperature on the field soared to 118 degrees.

Kansas had several scoring chances, but couldn't convert. Dan Eichloff, the school's all-time leading scorer, missed two field goals, had a punt blocked for a Florida State touchdown and saw his only successful field goal wiped out by a Seminoles' penalty that gave the Jayhawks a first down.

Kansas quarterback Fred Thomas also had a tough time in his first career start, completing 5 of 12 passes for 42 yards.

"They didn't intimidate us or beat us up physically," Kansas defensive tackle Chris Maumalanga said. "They just have so many weapons, and they executed very well."

Eichloff made a 38-yard field goal on the game's opening drive, but Florida State had too many men on the field and the Jayhawks accepted the penalty, giving them a first-and-goal at the Seminoles' 9. Kansas gained only three yards on the next three plays, however, and Eichloff then missed a 23-yard field goal.

Florida State linebacker Derrick Brooks, who had eight tackles and one sack, said he thought the Jayhawks made a mistake by taking points off the board.

"I thought they were crazy," he said.

Florida State made an even better defensive stand in the second quarter, stopping the Jayhawks on five straight attempts from the 1-yard line. On the last play, a gang of Seminoles tackled Charles Henley inches short of the goal, ending an 8½-minute drive that featured 21 snaps and seven penalties.

"I knew that if we could stop our team in practice, we could stop these guys," Brooks said. "We believed Kansas would not score. We kept telling ourselves, 'They can't get in.'"

Florida State took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter on a 4-yard run by Jackson, capping an 80-yard drive in which Ward completed 7 of 9 passes.

The Seminoles made it 14-0 with 29 seconds left in the period, when Eichloff's punt was blocked by Lonnie Johnson and recovered in the end zone by Florida State's Clifton Abraham.

53-yard touchdown pass to Andre Rawlings.

Ronald Moore gave the Tribe offense the ball on Lake Howell's 25-yard line when he sacked Lake Howell quarterback Maurice Smith and forced a fumble that was recovered by Seminole teammate John Nicholas.

Four plays later, Branch scored on a 4-yard run.

Jason Walraven kicked all three extra points.

Lake Howell's lone score came on a safety when a snap from center on a Seminole punt attempt sailed over Walraven's head. Rather than try and recover the ball in his own end zone, Walraven kicked it out of bounds and took the safety.

In the second half of the jamboree, Lake Brantley and Lyman faced off in a defensive duel with both teams seeing yellow. Between the two teams, 110 yards in penalties were walked off, including a holding penalty that negated a touchdown run of 65 yards by Lake Brantley's Jeff Butler.

The Patriots resumed their drive after the penalty and Butler scored five plays later from 15 yards out to give the Patriots a 7-0 lead with 7:09 left in the half.

Lake Brantley had another touchdown called back for a clipping call. On the play, Patriot quarterback Dee Brown was injured on a dead-ball foul and had to be taken to the hospital to have his right leg x-rayed.

The third half between host Oviedo and Lake Mary proved to be the closest contest, Lake Mary edging by Oviedo 7-6.

The Rams wasted little time getting the offense started scoring four plays after the kick off when Derrell Jackson connected with his brother, Terrell Jackson, for a 38-yard touchdown pass. David Henkel added the extra point giving the Rams a 7-0 lead with 10:07 left in the first quarter.

The teams' defenses took over for the remainder of the first quarter, keeping the opposing offenses in check.

The Lions' big offensive break seemed to come at the beginning of the second quarter when Shawn Lingard ran a punt 38 yards to the Lake Mary 5-yard line, setting up first and goal for the Lions.

Two plays later, however, the tables turned when the Rams defense came up with the loose ball after an Oviedo fumble, ending the drive.

The Lions defense returned the favor when Antijuan Battle intercepted a pass by Ram quarterback Tyson Hinshaw, setting up the Lions' scoring drive.

Ryan Hinshaw (Tyson's older brother who attends Oviedo) connected with Oscar Duncan on a 30-yard pass three plays later to pull the Lions within one. But the extra point fell short and the Rams defense closed the door on the Lions offense.

"The key for us this season is going to have to rely on playing together as a team," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters said. "We're not bigger than anybody. We're not faster than anybody. We're not more talented than anybody. But, if we play as a team, we are capable of winning some football games this year."

live wins.

Other top performances by the men were turned in by Rich Rosenblemer (Bamboo Cafe's A League) and Bobby Pilgrim (Sir Walters Men's A League team and the Bushwacker's in the Men's Mixed B League) with five wins and one bull each.

Other top weeks for the ladies was turned in by Bobbie Buckley (Bamboo Cafe's The Under Team in the Mixed A League), Leesa Rhoden (M.T. Muggs' Mugg Shots in the Ladies League and The Bud Team in the Mixed A League) and Michelle Kenney (Sir Walters' Bushwackers in the Mixed B League) as each collected four wins each.

MEN'S A LEAGUE

This league continues to be the closest battle for the lead among the five leagues.

Sir Walters has taken over the league lead with 76 victories, three better than The Family (73 wins) from Bamboo Cafe, four better than the Eliminators (72 wins) from Bamboo Cafe, five better than Bad Company (71 wins) from Bamboo Cafe and nine better than Rick's Team (67 wins) from Bamboo Cafe.

The Untouchables (57 wins) from Bamboo Cafe; Who Knows (56 wins) from Lake Mary Pub; and Salt & Pepper (49 wins) from M.T. Muggs complete the standings.

Donnie Tomlinson of Bad Company still has a league-best average of 43.

MEN'S B LEAGUE

The Bamboozlers from Bamboo Cafe held on to their one-win lead over The Alternates from Sir Walters, 75-74. The Pub Pounders from Lake Mary Pub fell farther behind, dropping five wins back with 69 victories.

Standing fourth through sixth are: the River Rats from Whiskey River (60 wins); Da Bassholes from Lee's Halftime Pub (56 wins) and the Bone Crushers from Bone Yard (47 wins).

Buddy Stumpf of the River Rats continues to hold the best league average, 43, which is just ahead of Rich Moreland, throwing for the Bamboozlers, who has a 40 average.

LADIES LEAGUE

The league appears to be turning into a two-team battle as a pair of Lake Mary Pub teams, Good Answer (85 wins) and Maimed Babies (82 wins), have pulled eight wins ahead of the third place Mugg Shots (74 wins) from M.T. Muggs.

Trailing the leaders are Nicks Nieces from Uncle Nicks (71 wins); Lee's B's No. 1 from Lee's Halftime Pub (63 wins); Watch Your Back from Bamboo Cafe (56 wins); Traction from Bone Yard (53 wins); and Lee's B's No. 2 from Lee's Halftime Pub (43 wins).

JoLynn Moreland, playing for Good Answer leads the league with a 37 average.

MIXED A LEAGUE

This division is strictly a two-team race between the Bamboo Bullets from Bamboo Cafe and Ron's Kids from Uncle Nicks. And with a seven-win lead, 96-89, it may be almost a no contest for the Bullets.

Completing the standings are The Under Team from Bamboo Cafe (65 wins); In't that Nice from Lake Mary Pub (63 wins); The Bud Team from M.T. Muggs (62 wins); the Playmates from Lake Mary Pub (54 wins); and Lee's Luggers from Lee's Halftime Pub (53 wins).

MIXED B LEAGUE

This league is the closest from top to bottom with just 26 wins separating the seven teams.

The Bushwackers from Sir Walters (77 wins) holds the two-win lead over Family Feud from Lake Mary Pub (75 wins) and a seven-win lead over Mom's Muggers from M.T. Muggs (70 wins).

Also hanging in there are Ace of Aces from Bamboo Cafe (68 wins); Crazy Darts from Bamboo Cafe (62 wins); Knuckleheads from Lake Mary Pub (61 wins); and Legends in Our Own Minds from Lake Mary Pub (51 wins).

Dechelle also had the league's highest individual game with a 191. Duffey was next with a 185 and Marilyn Thompson was third with a 178.

SENIOR FUN LEAGUE

Saturday, Aug. 21

Buck Benton continued to dominate the men's division in this league, but he was not alone at the top, as Charley Lukens also rolled a 505 series to the Benton for the top spot. Don Bangs tallied a 490 series score to make the league the closest fought of the week.

Lukens rolled a 195 individual high game, but it still was not good enough to be the best by itself. Bangs also knocking down a 195 game. Benton was an extremely close third with a best game of 193.

The women's division was not nearly as close as Barb Richards came out on top with a league-high series of 435. Grace Megonigly was second with a 399 series and Ester Lansing was third with a series of 352.

The top spot for best individual game was a lot closer, as Richards' 151 was four pins better than Megonigly's 147 and 16 pins better than Mary Duffey's 135.

SENIOR FUN LEAGUE

Monday, Aug. 23

Gene Rogero posted a 553 series to come out on top of a tightly contested men's division. Marcel Vandebeck was second with a 533 series and Fred Weston and Myron Gates tied for third with identical 522 series scores.

Rogero also had the best individual game with his 220. Weston and Vandebeck trailed with games of 201 and 193, respectively.

Barb Richards' big series (532) in the women's division was 107 pins better than the 425 turned in by Mary Duffey. Ester Lansing had the third best series, rolling a 403 for her three games.

Richards also dominated in the individual high game, as she posted a 194, which was 40 pins better than Duffey's 154 and 55 pins better than Lansing's 149.

Young people from Spain to spend many wonderful weeks with Lake Mary and surrounding area families.

Most recently Monserrate has been chosen by Gov. Lawton Chiles to be a member of the State Advisory Council for the Hearing Impaired. Monserrate, who himself has been hearing impaired since birth, is one of 13 members chosen to oversee any program dealing with Floridians with hearing loss.

The board will meet at least four times per year to discuss problems encountered by all of their members. At those meetings legislation is recommended. "A recent item on the agenda is for a law that all hearing aids have a Tele-Coil. A Tele-Coil is a mechanism allowing hearing aid consumers to take advantage of a telephone or loop system. This provides better hearing on a compatible telephone. Most modern telephone equipment is compatible for hearing aid consumers and so with the Tele-Coil in a hearing aid, consumers are better able to hear telephone conversations," said Monserrate.

"Originally the Florida Council for Hearing Impaired began a program with the use of a telephone that had an amplified hand set. At the present time the system is handled by Florida Telecommunications Relay Inc. This telephone system is available to any hearing impaired Floridian."

In order to receive this equipment free of charge, applicants must be See Activist, Page 7B

Tables were also set up for selling Lake Mary T-shirts and sweat shirts; refreshment tables and PTA tables were accepting membership on the spot. When students found their classrooms they were able to check the sheet posted on the door to see who else would be in their class this year, and both students and parents had an opportunity to meet his or her new teacher and chat awhile.

Missionary group hosts kids' self-esteem party

The Mission Department of Zion Hope Missionary Baptist Church, East Orange Ave. and 8th Street held their first back-to-school celebration and self-esteem party.

The missionary group of the church saw a need to help children whose parents were unable to outfit them for the new school year. Fifteen children from the church were selected and given new clothing to begin school. The children enjoyed a back-to-school celebration party of hot dogs, soda, cookies with plenty of fun and games.

Those mission workers making the affair possible were Betty Washington, president; Cara Major, vice president; Willie Agnes Knighton, secretary; Bernice King, Lizzie Caldwell, Alicia Caffey, Beverly Ellmore, Eugene Alexander, Nora Alexander, Eliza Pringle, Loretta Brooks, Faye Harris.

Which twin had the Toni? Local woman knows

Toni twins, Kathryn and Kathleene Ring, or is it Kathleene and Kathryn

Remember those ads years ago plugging a brand of home permanents that featured "Which Twin Has the Toni?" as its famous promotional pitch?

During this extensive advertising campaign, several sets of Toni twins showed their curly locks in magazine ads throughout the country including the Ring twins, Kathryn and Kathleene. These girls had recently studied dress designing at the Vogue Designing School in Chicago and were models.

Today, Kathryn (Kathy Carlson) makes her home in Deltona and is a member of the Sanford Laureate Alpha Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. On Aug. 17, she hosted her sorority sisters at the chapter's regular monthly meeting at her home.

Kathy's program about her and her sister in their original Toni twin roles was a delight to the group. Kathy related that modeling was a requirement of the designing course and that although they were designers, they were enrolled in the Patricia Stevens Modeling Agency. One day, Kathy said she and her twin were called in for a photo session with an advertising agency for a national ad campaign. The photos were taken in November 1946 and they appeared on Feb. 14, 1947 in magazines under the caption: which Twin Has the Toni?

The Ring twins were featured in the Toni Twin ads for about two years and in 1948, they were sent to Europe for a month to promote Toni home perms there.

Kathy and her sister enjoyed their days as celebrities and treasure their association with numerous VIPs. At the sorority meeting, she showed the group many photographs, press clippings and other memorabilia from her days as a celebrated Toni model.

Although they were under contract to Toni not to appear in any home perms or hair care products, the petite 22-year-old twins continued to model mostly teen fashions.

A dedicated Beta Sigma Phi member for 44 years, Kathy was the 1991 Valentine Queen in the Sanford Beta Sigma Phi competition. She was selected by representatives of the Daytona Beach Beta Sigma Phi City Council and reigned for a year in this capacity.

Incidentally, Kathleene had the Toni and Kathy's perm was given to her by a famous hair stylist of the day.

ENGAGEMENT

Robin Scott and Michael Pfeiffer

Scott, Pfeiffer plan November wedding

FERN PARK — David and Sandy Scott of Fern Park are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Robin Michelle Scott, to Michael Pfeiffer, son of Herbert and Jacqueline Pfeiffer of Orange Park.

Born in Sanford, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Tom and Virginia Sunheimer of Liverpool, N.Y. She is the paternal granddaughter of Julia Scott of Sanford and the late Mr. Damon C. Scott.

Miss Scott is a 1988 graduate of Lyman High School, Longwood where she graduated with honors. While there she was a member of the National Honor Society, Civettes and the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole. Miss Scott graduated cum laude from Florida State University in May 1992.

She is presently employed as a first grade teacher at Woodland Acres Elementary School in Jacksonville.

Her fiancé, born in Port Jefferson, N.Y., is the maternal grandson of Joe and Rose Buccell of Deer Park, N.Y. Pfeiffer is the paternal grandson of the late Max Pfeiffer and Helena Pfeiffer.

He is a 1988 graduate of Gulf High School, New Port Richey, where he was a member of the football team and the ecology club. He graduated from Florida State University in December 1992, where he was a member of Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Pfeiffer is currently employed as an English teacher at Highland Junior High School in Jacksonville.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 27, 1993, 2 p.m., at the Church of the Nativity, Lake Mary.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis (Andrea) Scarbro

Harper, Scarbro exchange vows in double ring ceremony

LAKE MARY — Andrea Jill Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Harper Jr. of Sanford and Curtis Warren Scarbro, son of Mrs. Lois Scarbro, Jacksonville, and the late Curtis M. Scarbro, were united in marriage at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 31, at Timacuan Golf and Country Club, Lake Mary.

The Rev. Tim Herring of Orlando performed the double ring ceremony before a white wrought iron arch decorated with white arrangements of gladioli, lilies, carnations, mums and ivy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style gown of Venetian shantung embellished with beadwork. The gown featured an off-the-shoulder scalloped fichu collar. The paneled skirt with matching beadwork over the hipline extended into a chapel-length train with a bustle bow. Her double elbow-length veil was held in place by an ornate beaded flower headpiece. She carried a free form cascade of white roses, white Japhet orchids, stephanotis, Star of Bethlehem, peach roses, and assorted foliage.

The matron of honor, Erica Wogaman of Fredricksburg, Va., along with the bridesmaids, Gill McGuinness of Winter Park, and Denise Larbig of Fort Lauderdale, wore off-the-shoulder tea length gowns in peach shantung with white sleeve trim and matching peach shoes. They each carried free form arrangements of miniature peach carnations, white freesia, stephanotis and peach roses with assorted foliage.

The groom wore a pinstripe grey tuxedo with tails and matching vest. He wore a white rose with stephanotis in his lapel.

Best man was Ted Miller of Sanford. Groomsmen were Bruce Taylor of Sanford and Otis Sjoblom of Osteen. The groom's attendants and the father of the bride wore twilight grey pinstripe tuxedos with matching vests and wore white rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a champagne pink silk shantung suit with matching shoes. The mother of the groom wore a tea-length mauve dress with lace overlay on the bodice. Both mothers wore white Japhet orchid corsages.

A reception followed at the country club. The table for the wedding party was decorated with ferns and arrangements of peach and white carnations, baby's breath, white lilies and greenery. All of the guest tables held small peach flower arrangements. An array of finger foods was served along with a beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake topped with white roses. Guests also enjoyed dancing to the music provided by disc jockey Vern Smith.

Assisting at the reception was the bride's sister, Dancan Read of Edgewater.

After a wedding trip to the mountains of North Georgia, the couple will be making their home in Sanford. The bride is employed by Standard Register Company, Sanford. The bridegroom is employed by Seminole County District Schools.

and to tell them who they have this year.

Donna Lane, President of PTA, informed parents that the first PTA meeting of the year would be on Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. Sgt. Belfiore of the Lake Mary Police Department would be on hand to discuss the DARE program being set up for Lake Mary Elementary School this year. Also, during the meeting there would be voting on this year's budget among other topics.

Welcome new family

A new family was on line to sign up for PTA membership at Lake Mary Elementary School. Olga Lizardo accompanied her son, Francis, who will be in Mr. Strater's 4th grade class, to open house. Daughter, Lorraine, accompanied her mother and brother, however, she will be going into 7th grade at Greenwood Lakes Middle School. The Lizardo family recently moved into a new home designed by Olga's husband, Francis Sr., in the Lake Mary Woods area. Mr. Lizardo is an accomplished architect.

Band camp ends

On Friday, Aug. 20, Lake Mary High School Band Camp came to its conclusion. Summer Band Camp ran from Monday, Aug. 16 through Friday, Aug. 20. Terry Pattishall, the Lake Mary High School band director, stated that the camp ran "eight hours per day, both marching and music rehearsals, preparing for the entire upcoming football season." There were 192 students attending camp and there "will be over 200 when school resumes on Monday, August 23." "The band president, Travis Bennett, worked with others on social activities to keep the spirits up so that it's not work, work, work," stated Pattishall.

"The Olive Garden Restaurant fixed dinner for the Friday evening, August 20th culmination of Band Camp. The dinner was held at the Lake Mary High School cafeteria for students, parents, siblings, relatives, friends and everyone who wanted to come. "Following dinner there was going to be a show of what the band accomplished." Pattishall concluded by saying that "we are looking forward to a good show and a good season. The kids have a great attitude and worked hard." The camp included freshmen through seniors.

faces at Wilson Elementary this fall one assistant principal.

Arthur H. McDaniel, a 20-year education veteran and father of four, replaces former administrator Emily Wilkerson, who transferred to Wekiva Elementary. He joins Principal Barbara Nixon who was new to the Wilson halls a year ago.

A 1971 graduate of Florida Southern College, Lakeland with a bachelor of arts degree, McDaniel's job history has been varied, including both the public and private sectors. He also holds a master's degree in education from Rollins College. His resume includes experience as dean of students, director of student activities, alternative education programs at the middle school level, the gifted program, and most recently, year round education at Goldsboro Elementary. He compares Wilson most closely to Geneva Elementary, both having been rural country schools that experienced tremendous growth in the past few years.

McDaniel, who beams that Wilson is "just great," plans to concentrate on community involvement in the school. That includes both parents and the local businesses. McDaniel will be responsible for recruiting new business partnerships through the Seminole County Dividends Partners in Excellence program. Even more importantly, he wants to boost parental involvement. "Each parent's contributing just two hours a year to a school enables that school to qualify for the Golden School Award," he said. He plans to enable Wilson to continue to qualify for this state recognition by involving an even larger number of parents.

McDaniel practices what he preaches. His children range in age from 8 months to 5th grade. He arranges some of his vacation time so he can accompany the three elementary age youngsters on field trips. And his wife, Jeri, is a first grade teacher at a local elementary school.

"I'm excited about new movements in education. The bottom line is improving education for all children," stated McDaniel.

Estranged son's message is better late than never

DEAR ABBY: Last Father's Day, we received a message on our answering machine that obviously was intended for someone else. The party who left the message did not leave his name or telephone number, so we had no way of letting him know that his message was never received.

hear from the above-mentioned father or son, I will let you know. Please send me your address.

DEAR ABBY: I know you have had quite a few letters on laughter at funerals, but I thought one more wouldn't hurt. I think it was my mother's (and God's) way of saying, "Please, don't be sad."

When my brother and I went to pick out our mother's casket, I told my brother that because Mom had such a deprived and hard life, I wanted her buried in something soft and pretty, lined with velvet. My brother walked over to a velvet-lined casket on display and leaned down to see if the pillow was velvet, too.

Well, the lid of the casket fell down and pinned my brother's head on the pillow! The mortician rushed over, and as he lifted the lid of the casket, he said, "My gosh, this is the first time I ever had a body just fall in!"

My brother and I laughed so hard we cried! It's been 15 years, and we still laugh when we think of it.

PATRICIA BUCK, MILWAUKEE

DEAR ABBY: Add this one to your collection of "Laughter at Funerals":

Years ago, funerals were held in the home of the deceased and friends brought their own flowers.

Just before the service started, a couple came in through the kitchen door and their flowers were handed up to the casket.

The preacher started the service, and when the name of the deceased was mentioned, there was a commotion in the kitchen. When my father asked what the commotion was about, he was told, "They want their flowers back. They're at the wrong funeral!"

sonville, recently went to a class reunion at the high school in West Virginia and ran into another classmate who told her Betty was in Sanford, So. Mary Lou reached out and touched her friend of years back.

The neat part about the reunion is that Mary Lou remembered Aug. 22 is Betty's birthday and wanted to come to Sanford for that weekend and celebrate.

Funny thing, though, is that the two friends became so engrossed with reminiscing and catching up they didn't seem to find room to do much celebrating.

Mary Lou brought a lot of pictures and movies and the weekend celebration was mostly wrapped up by indulging in the nostalgic "Remember When?" game.

Now, that the two lost friends have found each other, they promise not to wait too long before another reunion...like maybe three or four weeks.

Home again

Margaret and Jack Wiggins won't be on the road again any time soon after logging about 7,000 miles on a recent month-long motor trip out west.

Jack said, "It was a great trip, but long."

Margaret echoed, "It was very nice, I had a great time." Jack retired on July 22 before hitting the road on July 26 and the trip was on the planning board for about a year. This trip, the couple's dream for a long time, finally became reality.

A history buff, Jack said they traveled as far west as Montana and visited a number of attractions including Little Big Horn, Gen. Custer's and Bill Cody's stonemongering grounds and Buffalo Bill's Museum.

They also visited relatives in Nebraska where Jack graduated from high school and here they were honored at a mini school reunion. The trip also included visiting Minnesota and the Truman Museum at Independence, Mo.

In addition to the western states the couple got a birds-eye view of the recent flooding in the Midwest. They crossed the Mississippi River at St. Louis which Jack said, "I tell you it was awesome. You can't imagine the water outside the river banks." He also said the Missouri River at Kansas City was "nearly as bad."

Margaret was fascinated with the Dakotas including Mt. Rushmore where the faces of U.S. Presidents Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt are carved in granite. "Awesome," she said.

Jack is looking forward to retirement and doing some of the things he never had time for before. Then, who knows where the Wigginses will go next?

Sorority luau

Grace Marie Stinecipher was hostess at her home to a luau and swim party for members of Laureate Alpha Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The lovely pool and delicious tropical food was the perfect answer to the warm, balmy summer weather.

Members also held a planning session and plans were confirmed for the 1993-94 year. Several members plan to go on the golden Getaway Cruise to the Bahamas, scheduled for October 1994. This cruise is sponsored by a BSP chapter in Port St. Lucie with approximately 700 Florida BSPs and their families expected to be a part of the sailing party.

Chapter officers for the year are: Pam Hawkins, president; Kathy Carlson, vice president; Phyllis Hodge, recording secretary; Anoret LaRosa, corresponding secretary; and Grace Marie Stinecipher, treasurer. Others attending the luau were: Patricia Johnson, June Helms and Marlene Clausen. On leave of absence for the year are Joyce Sammet and Vertis Sauls.

Fashion show coming

With fall just around the corner, what is more appropriate than a "Fashions for Education" show to usher in the holiday season?

Previously, the Woman's Club of Sanford has held this annual show in the spring as a fundraiser to provide a scholarship for a deserving woman returning to the classroom. The annual event is being changed to the fall and will be held on Oct. 27 at the clubhouse.

Education Department Chairman Viola Frank, Co-chairman DeLores Lash and their committee will announce further plans as they progress.

Happy birthday

Two of Sanford's beloved retired schoolteachers have celebrated birthdays: Hazel Flynn, on Aug. 22, and Virginia Burney, on Aug. 25. Although both are octogenarians, they are in great form and appear as fit as a fiddle.

Celebrating her 97th birthday today is Doris Harriman, a grand lady who makes her home at Renaissance of Sanford, formerly Howell Place, where she has lived for the past few years.

Weekend happenings

Margaret Wright celebrated her 90th birthday Saturday with a gala luncheon at Timucuan Country Club. More on this later. Also, on Saturday, Rick Colegrove, Sanford attorney, took Collette Conk for his bride at the Saint Mary Magdalen Church, Altamonte Springs.

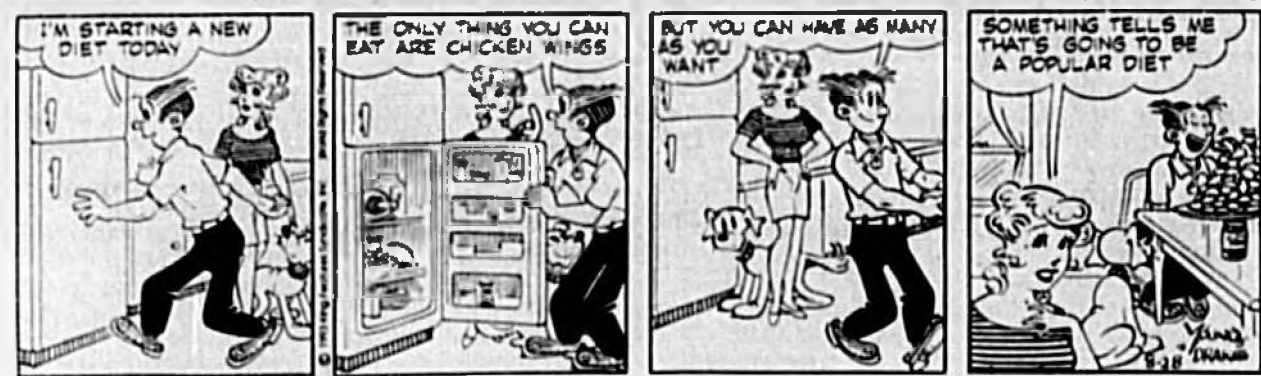

The couple will honeymoon in England, Wales and Scotland and upon returning will make their home in Geneva. More on this later.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY

Aug. 29, 1993 Conditions that directly affect you domestically could be subjected to favorable changes in the year ahead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Generally speaking you could be rather lucky today in anything you undertake.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might be told about a new venture or enterprise that appears to suit you to a 'T.'

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Interesting developments are stirring at this time which might be screened from your view.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Hopes and expectations can become realities in this cycle, provided you do something about them other than just dream.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today if you feel you can better your lot in life through taking a calculated risk, this could be a good time to give it a go.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Persons with whom you're involved today will be very interested in your ideas and suggestions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your best asset today is your ability to successfully capitalize on changes or shifting conditions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are presently in a good cycle for taking the constructive ideas and concepts of friends and expanding them into something mutually beneficial. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not waste your time on insignificant objectives today, because you're in an excellent achievement mode and have good probabilities for doing something big. It's up to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Instead of relegating yourself to a back bench today, it behooves you to become actively involved in matters or issues you feel requires your organizational touch and management.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are presently in a cycle where you may make a stronger than usual impression on others either for good or ill. If you're not careful today, it might be negative.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Partial victories will not have much significance today in the general scheme of things, so don't think of something unfinished as a fait accompli.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you do not think your moves through carefully today, there is a possibility you might repeat an error very similar to one you recently made, only this time the results could be more detrimental.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If possible today avoid both financial gambles as well as associates who are prone to take them. Either could cause you problems.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The rules must be clarified at this time regarding a partnership arrangement in which you're presently involved. If either party supersedes his/her authority, trouble is likely.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

In a pair event, every trick counts. Today's deal comes from the Guardian tournament, held last April in London. It was the final deal at one table and found North-South in a relaxed, jovial mood.

South opened with a weak no-trump, showing 12-14 points. North used a transfer bid and then showed his second suit. A moment later, South was in a slam.

West, Ashraf Sadek of Egypt, made the natural but unfortunate lead of a low spade. After winning with dummy's jack, declarer played a club to his ace and cashed the A-K of spades, discarding dummy's low diamonds.

After much thought, South continued with the heart queen, hoping that West didn't have a singleton king. West covered with the king, dummy won with the ace, and East - Tarek Sadek (no relation) - dropped the eight. Next came the heart jack, Tarek playing the nine.

South started laughing, saying how lucky he was that the eight and nine of hearts had dropped doubleton. South played a heart to his seven and finessed dummy's club jack, losing to the unguarded queen.

As you can see, if Tarek doesn't unblock in hearts, declarer is locked in the dummy and has no option but to cash the club king, dropping the queen. Conceding the overtrick would have cost East-West a lot of matchpoints. Obviously, though, when East followed to the third round of hearts, South should have worked it out. But he didn't notice that East had the last trump; his concentration had lapsed.

That's a good moral for us all
