Man's Injury Award $1.9 Million, But...

Herald Managing Editor

What may be the largest sum awarded for personal injury in the past eight years in Seminole County - $1.9 million - was made Friday by a county court jury to a Forest City man paralyzed in an automobile accident last year. But, there's a possibility only $100,000 of that total may be according to the man's lawyer.

The suit was filed on behalf of Clinton Marshall, 71, Magnolia Drive, in connection with injuries he suffered in a anuary, 1978 automobile accident.

Marshall, according to his lawyer, Christian Searcy of West alm Beach, has been paralyzed from the neck down since the ccident and his medical bills will be about $50,000 a year for the rest of his life. Searcy said Marshall's medical bills over the past year already have hit $50,000.

Named as defendants in the case were State Farm Insurance Co., Lisa Tyus, 18, of Longwood, driver of one of the vehicles involved in the accident, and her father, William Tyus, owner of the car she was driving.

Searcy pointed out the problems of how much of the award actually will be paid arise out of the policy limits issued by State Farm on Tyus' car - $100.000.

"The liability portion of the policy issued Tvus' car is limited to $100,000. So, if after hausted we can't force State Farm to p million, the other defendants would have to pay th and we're not sure at this point if they'd be able to, or even if my client. Mr. Marshall, would want to pursue

Syria Calls For Sadat's

Ouster; No Embargo Seen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)-Syria joined Arab calls today for the overthrowing of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, but ruled out an oil embargo against the United States in retalistion for President Carter's peace initiative.

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam, / London for talks with British officials, told a reporter from the Kuwaiti newspaper Al Watan that Syria and her fellow Arabs "will not ask Arab oil-producing states to cut off petroleum shipments ot the United States." The reported statement, coming on the heels repeated Palestine Liberation Organisation calls for such a move, said an oil embargo would simply "divert attention from the high treason being committed by the Egyptian president against his people and the Arab world as well as from Israel's continued occupation of Arab

Anarchists Riot In Paris

PARIS (UPI)- Helmeted anarchists took advantage of a massive steelworkers' protest to stage the most spec-tacular Paris riot since 1968, looting luxury perfume and leather shops, smashing 103 shop windows and overturning cars.

Forty persons were arrested and some 50 police went to nospitals with injuries during the melee Friday at the end of the march to protest 20,000 layoffs in the steel industry and government threats to throw more people out of work. The riot was the most spectacular in Paris since the May 1968 student "revolution." The "Autonome Brigades" anarchist group claimed responsibility for the riot in a communique to news agencies. The estimated 100 anarchists, most wearing motorcycle helmets, began clashing with riot police as the steelworkers' march ended at the historic Place De L'Opera, which quickly filled with clouds of tear gas fired by the police.

Guerrillas Free Hostages

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)- Four anti-Somona guerrilles holding nine hostages in a bank for three days have agreed to surrender and free their victims unharmed today, police said.

Authorities said the four guerrillas, including a woman, agreed to give up after President Anastasio Somoza rejected any deal and warned he would send in national guard troops to attack the bank.

The guerrillas have been holed up in a branch of the Nicaraguan Savings & Loan Co. since an abortive robbery attempt Wednesday. The took 16 hostages but freed three in the last two days and four escaped Thursday.

Dutch police, searching vainly for clues in Thursday's murder of the 58-year-old envoy and his footman, in-vestigated that and other telephone calls to the media, but were skeptical about their authenticity. "We get so many cranks," one official said.

His Fate In Foe's Hands

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI)- The Pakistan Supreme Court today upheld the death sentence of Zulfikar Ali Bhutto but left the decision on whether the former prime minister would be hanged to the man who cooled him from power.

Although the court refused to review Bhutto's murder conspiracy conviction and death sentence, it made clear the fate of the man who ruled Pakistan for five years was in the hands of President Gen. Zia ul-Hag.

Despite Bhutto's consistent refusal to seek mercy, the court said submissions made to the court on his behalf during the appeals process could be used by Zia to grant clemency, if he wished.

THE TRUTH ABOUT LIFE-CARE RETIREMENT LIVING

FACT: An important part of Life-Care is the availability of Med-Center care close at hand should the need arise. And it's a comfort to know that, even if you are in good health. But Life-Care means much more. It is an active community of retirement age people who find it stimulating to be involved in various recreational and social events, who find it relaxing to leave heavy maintenance and housekeeping chores to the staff to handle and who look forward to enjoying a meal with friends in the level dining room or serving a homemade dinner prepared in the privacy of their own homes. An oftheard comment from residents is, "I love it here - just wish I'd moved in securer."

Defense Expert Freeman Nominated To Head GSA

WASHINGTON (UPI)- The man nominated by President Carter to head the General Services

Administration has pledged to complete the investigation of the scandal-ridden agency. Carter made no mention Friday of the complex problems at GSA when he nominated Rear Adm. Rowland G. Freeman III, a defense procurement expert, for the job. But Freeman did. "My first concern will be to work closely with the Department of Justice and the GSA inspector general to complete the ongoing investigation of GSA progams and actions," Freeman said.

Freeman would succeed Jay Solomon, who resigned effective today after helping expose and investigate a bribery and payoff scandal in the government's housekeeping and purchasing agency.

MONROE, La. (UPI)- Former Rep. Otto Passman, D-La. pressured the U. S. Agriculture Department into accepting a "Food for Peace" policy proposed by South Korean rice dealer Tongsun Park, a former department official savs.

Frank McKnight, a onetime assistant in the Agriculture Department export marketing service, testified Friday at Passman's bribery trial that the former congressman repeatedly demanded changes in sale regulations and an increase in the sale of rice in the program to favor the Korean government. McKnight will undergo cross-examination Monday. His testimony Frdiday ended the third week of trial for Passman, 78, who represented northern Louisiana in the House for 30 years. Passman is accused of bribery, conspiracy and tax evasion for accepting cash payments from Park in exchange for using his influence to aid Park.

Obscenity Testimony Excluded

ATLANTA (UPI) - Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt's attorney said Friday his defense against obscenity charges is left with "nowhere else to go" after repeated failures to introduce testimony regarding local attitudes toward sex.

Flynt, who could face up to 11 years in prison if found guilty of 11 misdemeanor charges of distributing ob-scenity, has lost virtually all of the attempts by his attorneys to present evidence that Atlanta area readers do not consider Hustler obscene. "We are in a unique position of having every single piece of evidence introduced about community standards excluded," said defense attorney Herald P. Fahrenger. "We have exhausted every avenue and there is nowhere else to go."

Railroad Changes Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter and Transportation Secretary Brock Adams feel federal regulation of the railroad industry is a throwback to the 19th century when robber barons exploited a public needing protection. But today there are no robber barons, at least not in railroading, and the industry is in deep financial trouble with a return on investment of less than 1 percent. Federal regulation, therefore is choking a dying in-dustry just at a time when energy-efficient and inexpensive rail freight service is needed, say Carter and Adams, and the time has come to allow railroads greater freedom to set rates, merge and consolidate lines, and abandon unprofitable routes.

"Without the changes I am recommedning, we will face a catastrophic series of rail bankruptcies, sharply declining service, and massive federal expenditures,' Carter said Friday in a message to Congress.

The Off-Balance Budget Dilemma

Lo and behold, the federal deficit for the current fiscal year has been reduced by $4.2 billion. Did Washington get the message and cut federal spending

Not on your life. The government actually has been spending more than was anticipated when the last calculation of the budget deficit was made in January. So what's going on? Its simple. Economic growth and inflation have pushed up the earnings of Americans faster than Budget Director James McIntyre expected when he estimated two months ago that the deficit would be $37.4 billion. Hence, the Internal Revenue Service has been collecting more than anticipated in withholding tax, and Uncle Sam expects to pocket an extra $5.8 billion by the end of Sep-

The high inflation rate is also driving up federal expenditures, but only by an estimated $1.6 billion for the year. So, when the new calculation of $461.8 billion in revenues is subtracted from the new estimate of $495 billion in spending, the deficit is only $33.2 billion instead of $37.4 billion.

This shuffling of billions in the budget office is instructive. It demonstrates that reducing the federal deficit, or even balancing the federal budget, is not synonymous with reducing federal spending. Congress could balance the budget tomorrow simply by increasing taxes in the amount of the deficit.

As Mr. McIntyre's figures show, Congress can si on its hands and let inflation raise taxes instead. Cost-of-living pay increases, although they buy no more groceries, put Americans in higher tax brackets and increase the government's share of their earnings. Without major surgery on government spending programs, the federal budget i expected to come into balance in the fiscal year beginning in 1960 - even though the budget by then will increase by nearly 20 percent to $587 billion.

A balanced budget would reduce inflationary pressures on the economy, which makes it a goal worth pursuing. But economist Milton Freidman and the National Tax-Limitation Committee among others are pointing out that if taxpayers think a balanced budget will automatically reduce or control federal spending, they're barking up the wrong tree. The debate over whether there should be a constitutional amendment requiring balanced budget drones on and on, but the taxlimitation committee is putting its chips on a different kind of amendment - one that would actually limit growth in federal spending.

Obviously this would put a more effective curb on the government's spending habits than a constitutional requirement that it keep taxes high enough to feed whatever programs it keeps on the books, which is all that a budget-balancing amendment would do.

Those who are making political hay with the balanced budget issue may want us to think they are responding to popular discontent with big government and excessive spending. They aren't. Why not talk about the Justice Department's new estimate that as much as 10 percent of the federal budget is going down the drain through waste mismanagement and outright fraud? That amounts to about $50 billion - enough to wipe out the deficit and then some.

What are the major influences on teen-agers today and how should those influences be ranked? This question was asked of Beverly DeVoney, head of the Seminole County Chapter of the Florida Alliance for Responsible Parenting, at this week's school board meeting by School Superinendent William P. Layer.

Mrs. DeVoney said her opinion is: first would be family, but in some instances the family does not hold first place. Secondly would be the schools, followed by peer groups and the media. Although Layer in explaining his question to the former Seminole County public health nurse suggested the order may be family, school, church, television and peer group, Mrs. DeVoney said the church is no longer the influence it once was.

For her to have placed peer group in third place while not including the church at all may have sounded shocking to some: many others would probably agree. Mrs. DeVoney noted the reasons behind increased sexual activity by teen-agers may be their seeking to fulfill a need for love and close personal ties. A Mrs. DeVoney was making her lengthy presentation which answered in some cases questions posed by school board members the week before, a woman who identified herself as Betty Maddox from the audience said she participated in the organization when it was first founded.

the cooks have a lot to be defensive about.

The U.S. Army, acting on the old military theory that the best defense is a good offense, has mounted an elaborate campaign to improve the image of its cooks. But as yet the FBI theory can't be corroborated by proof that will suffice in court. As for witnesses, the FBI says that Salvatore Briguglio, believed to be one of Hoffa's killers, was a potential informer but he was assassinated last year. And so the costly investigation will continue until some proof is found.

Right now, over 3½ years later, FBI agent Lowie has "several" men working full time on the case. The U.S. Attorney's office here is also supplying manpower. One source says that if people from Washington and the Northeast are counted, more than a dozen federal officers spend all of their time on Hoffa.

Of course, the probe hasn't been a total mob, the federal interest may only be Teamster evils. His split grew with the domos. But is Jimmy Hoffa really worth $3 million in public funds? Too late, many

Maybe - just maybe - this is the only talent r possibility the "writer" has to stay n the opinion page and fill columns. Take a look at your morgue for the past several years. It could be very interesting.

If the "factions" would stay out of it, hopefully we (the commission and I) will do what the citizens, all of them, elected us to do. There is no room for party politics, special interest groups, or majorities at the municipal level other than the registered citizens who vote. It is their decision instead of a minority. I think that all local elected officials understand this fact of life. If we do not, then the majority will make that decision for us. This country is built on that principle. Local government is a service oriented entity to serve the citizen and should be nonpertisen working for all.

Auctioneer's Spiel Was 'Speed's' Ticket To Fame

By FRANCES YOUNG ANAHEIM, Calif. - Those who lived through the Golden Years of Radio probably recall the rhythmic but unintelligible chant he delivered on numerous starstudded programs. The television generation will remember him as a familiar figure delivering catchy cigarette commercials.

Those who may have forgotten the name A.L. "Speed" Riggs - always imentioned at the close of each program on which he appeared - have surely never forgotten ihis auctioneer's spiel that sounded like gibberish to the untrained ear but was actually a rapid litany of tobacco prices and phrases:

"Thirrrrrrty-one, 31, one, one, one, one, grab it, grab it, grab it, 32,32, two, two two, two, wheeler, wheeler, wheeler, 33,33, three, three, three, three, turn aloo, turn aloo, loo, loo, loo, and a B-F two and a B-F three and a L-C three and a K-L five, 34, 34, four, four, four, roll it, roll it, no, no, no, 35, 35, five, five, five, Soooooold to American,"

Although the words lose something in the translation, Riggs can still deliver them in that rough, guttural, rapid-fire staccato that made him famous as the voice of Lucky Strike for were banned from the airwaves in 1969, Riggs delivered some of the catchiest, best-remembered phrases in American advertising: "With men who know tobacco best, it's Luckys two-toone," "LS-MFT (Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco)," "Show me a cigarette milder than Lucky Strike and I'll eat my hat," and "Lucky Strike green has gone to war."

Riggs' association with show people left him with many friends in the business, among them Dinah Shore, Glenn Ford, Joseph Cotton, Dale Robertson and Frank Sinatra.

"Frank (Sinatra) always took his job seriously but, like me, could sometimes be a great prankster," Riggs recalls. "He was always trying to break me up, trying to make me laugh, but could never do it.

Shavers Norton's Next Heavyweight Challenger

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) -Larry Holmes kept his World Boxing Council heavyweight title, as expected, Friday night. Unexpectedly, Earnie Shavers sarned a crack at that title. It will be Shavers - not Ken Norton - who will provide Holmes with his next major opponent Sept. 14 in either Las egas or New York. Before Holmes, in his second title defense, stopped previously unbeaten Puerto Rican challenger Ossie Ocasio at 2:38 of the seventh round, the 34-yearold Shavers showed he was still a viable contender by knocking out Norton in 1:02 of the first round of a scheduled 12-round elimination bout.

The only big question after Friday night's nationally televised heavyweight doubleheader was the future of Norton. The 13-year veteran has been a major force in the heavyweight ranks since he broke Muhammad Ali's jaw in San Diego March 31, 1973. Norton, who lists his age at 33 but is said to be older, never got started against Shavers. He was backed against the ropes and knocked down twice.

"I haven't made up my mind," said Norton when asked if he planned to retire from boxing and concentrate entirely on his acting career. "If I said yes I'd be lying. If I said no, I'd be lying, too." While Shavers needed just 62 seconds to take care of Norton, who entered the ring as a 9-5 favorite, Holmes took 20 minutes and 38 seconds against a prohibitive underdog. Going into the seventh round,

Holmes was ahead, 59-55, on two of the judge's scorecards and 59-56 on the card of the third judge. Holmes knocked Ocasio down with, in order : a left jab, a right cross, a righthand lead and a left hook - all to the head. "You fight experts said this fight would be nothing,"

Holmes said, chastising reporters. "You said that Ocasio would be nothing. But, remember, he's the man who beat Jimmy Young twice and Jimmy Young is the man who retired George Foreman." The crowd of 5,376 that turned out at the Hilton Hotel and paid a gross gate of $345,000 saw the 29-year-old WBC heavyweight king from Easton, Pa., now 30-0 with 21 knockouts, do a pretty good impersonation o television's "Incredible Hulk." In the fifth round he stepped back from Ocasio and yelled at him. Then he yelled three more times during the round. The 6-foot-3 champion appeared to be taunting his outgunned foe from San Juan but that wasn't the case, Holmes explained after the scheduled 15-rounder.

"He (Ocasio) hit me with a couple of punches," Holmes said, "and I felt so good that I let out with my "Hulk yell." Shavers got $100,000, slightly less than the $1.5 million Holmes got Friday.

The first years saw members working with was printed, and has been printed annually to date, and members reserved a shelf at the Sanford Library for books on gardening etc. The energetic and enthusiastic gardeners launched beautification, conservation and home planting programs and protested unsightly road signs. They held flower shows and were members of the Audubon Club and Forestry Association. Street parks and hospital grounds were beautified by members.

In 1942 the local club joined in wartime emergencies and supported victory gardens and made bandages for the Red Cross. Members were hostesses at the USO and furnished candy and plants for Navy hospitals. Money from plant sales was donated to the local Blood Bank. A lot on Mellonville Avenue and First Street was given to the club in 1945-46 with a 99-year lease on which to build a garden club. Burt Foster landscaped the grounds. ### Superstars Sell State

Universities TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) - Superstars Burt Reynolds,

Bob Hope, Patrick O'Neal and Pat Summerall have been recruited to promote the state's university system.

Some suspect their mission is to drum up public support for a $100 million quality education appropriation being sought by ] the universities over opposition of Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet. University officials deny it, saying their aim is only to make Floridians aware of their university system and the need for excellence.

Actor O'Neal graduated from the University of Florida and the son of sportscaster Summerall is a student there now. Reynolds once played football for Florida State University.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - With President Carter looking on, Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Menachem Begin ended 30 over the weekend. years of bitter enmity and open warfare today by signing the first peace treaty between an Arab nation and the Jewish state. The Egyptian president and Israeli prime minister, in the shadows of the bare, gnarled trees on the front lawn of the White House, put their names to a peace package opening a new chapter in the history of the Middle East.

With the signing of a Mideast peace treaty just hours away this morning, the Herald set out to ask some of its readers what they think of the momentous occasion. The question asked: The Mideast peace treaty is to be signed today - what in your opinion is the most significant aspect of this historical event and what do you think it means for the United States?

Begin hailed the event as "the great turning point in the Middle East," Sadat saw it as "the holy pursuit of peace" and Carter predicted "this peace will be permanent." But the euphoria was tempered by warnings that the tough treaty talks would seem like child's play compared to the next stage in the peace process - negotiations for an overall Mideast
