

Republican Ranks Split Over Platform

By William J. Eaton
 United Press International
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Republican Convention was split today over a Goldwater-dominated party platform that promised a new cold war militancy but lacked enough muscle on home-front issues to satisfy Scranton backers.

As expected, the document emerged as a symbol of the broader power struggle between the forces of Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. William W. Scranton for, what one Republican termed, "the soul" of the party.

Anti-Goldwater forces promised a floor fight Tuesday night, to insert into the platform stronger language on civil rights, "extremist" political action groups, and presidential control of nuclear weapons.

The preliminary draft of the platform was written by the GOP Resolutions Committee during two week-end sessions wracked with conflict. It left these dominant impressions:

—The committee draft was a total victory for the Goldwaterites which the Scranton supporters seemed unlikely to reverse in a convention floor showdown.

—The most prominent theme was the new non-nonsense attitude toward dealing with the Communist bloc nations—a much tougher statement than the 1960 platform pronouncement on the subject.

—The platform endorsed the 1964 civil rights law, but devoted less space to the civil rights struggle than the document adopted by the GOP convention four years ago.

—The committee draft turned down Scranton's request to reaffirm the constitutionality of the civil rights law, but instead pledged:

"Full implementation and faithful execution of the civil rights act of 1964, and all other civil rights statutes, to assure equal rights and opportunities guaranteed by the constitution to every citizen."

Scranton's backers focused their attack in this area because Goldwater voted against the civil rights bill. They probably will seek to insert into the document a stronger commitment than "full implementation and faithful execution" of the statute.

On the question of political extremism, the 8,500-word platform was silent except for a gibe at the Democrats it accused of being "federal extremists." Pro-Goldwater forces beat back attempts by the Scranton-led bloc to place the GOP on record against extremist groups on the right and left, particularly the John Birch Society.

The platform committee also spurned efforts by the Scranton group to assert the GOP's belief that the president should control the use of all nuclear weapons. Goldwater has contended that the NATO commander should be given greater supervision over use of tactical nuclear arms in case of a surprise attack.

The conservative forces which dominated the platform drafting did not adhere strictly to the Goldwater handbook on all domestic issues, but on foreign policy it was the senator's viewpoint all the way.

It preached "victory for freedom and stressed the finality of the current cold war struggle. "There can be no peace, there can be no security, until this goal is won," the platform said.

"As long as Communist leaders remain ideologically fixed upon ruling the world, there can be no lesser goal," it added. "This is the supreme test of America's foreign policy. It must not be defaulted."

The accomplish "total victory" the pro-Goldwater platform cited:

—The threat of withdrawing diplomatic recognition from the Soviet Union in order to get Communist concessions.

—Establishment of sensible, continuing reviews of the nuclear test ban treaty. This section contained the same lingering doubt that the treaty is a tactical disadvantage that was expressed by Goldwater in voting against it.

A cold war strategy emphasizing the attack. It advocated pressing more "decisively" for victory in South Viet Nam, recognition of a Cuban government in exile and reorganization of the United Nations.

Scranton forces evidently were hoping that they could point up what they consider deficiencies in the platform during a convention floor debate viewed by a nationwide television audience.

There were reports that they were prepared to use their "biggest names" in such a fight, including New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Michigan Gov. George Romney.

However, the big fight may very well shrink to the status of a minor skirmish that will end almost before it starts. Goldwater forces who control the convention were expected to have the parliamentary authority to determine how long the debate will continue.

The Scranton camp was reported pressing for at least three hours of talk. However, those in the seat of convention power were disposed to allow only one hour debate for all proposed platform changes—30 minutes for each side.

Ike Holds To Convention Neutrality

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower persisted in his convention neutrality today but was "grateful" to Gov. William W. Scranton for sparking a Republican platform debate.

Bowing Sunday night as a GOP convention commentator for the American Broadcasting Co., Eisenhower refused to take sides in Scranton's seemingly futile battle with Sen. Barry Goldwater for the party's presidential nomination.

Slayer's Girl Asks Release

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Attorneys for Caril Ann Fugate, who as a teen-ager made the homicidal rounds with mass-killer Charles Starkweather, were seeking her freedom today under a recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling that could open prison doors across the nation.

Miss Fugate is currently serving a life term in the Nebraska Women's Reformatory at York. After her conviction on a first degree murder charge, Starkweather was executed for one of 11 slayings he was involved in.

Miss Fugate, who is now 20, argued in a petition filed in U. S. district court at Lincoln Thursday that her constitutional rights were violated after her capture and during her 1958 trial. She was 14 at the time.

She was found guilty of helping slay Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, Neb., Jensen's girl-friend Carol King, 17, Bennet, was also found dead, and originally the prosecution announced it intended to try Caril on a charge involving the girl's death.

Miss Hicks 4th In Contest

 Miss Paula Hicks of Altamonte Springs, Florida's entry in the "Miss Smile, U.S.A." contest held this weekend at Cypress Gardens, was third runner-up for the national title.

Winner was 17 year old Joe-Ann Sedars of Clear Lake, Iowa. First runner-up was Jane Olmstead of the University of Kentucky and second runner-up was Jan Phelps of Colorado Springs, Colo.

A total of 25 girls representing 19 states participated in the contest.

Tshombe Sworn As Premier

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Moise Tshombe began his first week as premier of the Congo which he once fought in a vain two-year war of secession.

Tshombe, former president of Katanga, pulled that province out of the newly-independent Congo just four years ago. United Nations forces eventually ended the secessionist movement and Tshombe went into exile in Europe.

He returned only two weeks ago when President Joseph Kasavubu asked him to form a new central government for the rebellion-riddled country.

Three Development Proposals Placed Before City

dredging, on which would be constructed a yacht club, marine service facilities and driveways. The entrance to this is at Sanford Ave. To the right of this is the proposed 25 acre landfill area, also filled by dredging, on which could be constructed a motel restaurant and night club, with ample parking, and garden park area. In the right foreground is another yacht club boat-basin area, proposed in the long range development plan. Entrance to this would be on the east side of the Mayfair Inn, (which is the large building seen in the photo.)

Council Calls Study Session

After years of being ignored, Sanford's undeveloped waterfront was suddenly the focus of attention at Monday's City Commission meeting as three different groups presented proposals for doing something about it.

Commissioners took no action after hearing all the proposals. Mayor A. L. Wilson set a closed session meeting to mull over the proposals at 8 p. m. Thursday.

George Touhy, spokesman for the "Banker's group" pointed out that it was entirely possible that all three proposals could be dovetailed in such a way that all could be used.

"But," he pleaded with commissioners, "we urge that you not consider leasing any portion of the waterfront to any private parties, until you have decided on a comprehensive, over-all, long range development plan which will make all plans a part of the whole."

(It was pointed out that members of the "banker's group," including George Touhy, T. E. Tucker, Howard Hodges and John Burton had put up more than $8,000 to develop the plan which they presented to the commissioners Monday. Burton's offices were not "hired" but participated on an equal basis with the others.) Francis Roumillat, former president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and John Krider, executive director, were instrumental in the formulation of the plan.)

Commissioner Joe Baker insisted that he could not see how leasing to one of the smaller groups would be detrimental but this aroused a storm of protest from the packed auditorium.

Members of the commission floor agreed that the waterfront development program as presented by the "banker's group" was a "tremendous plan" and all said that they were "in favor of it."

John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce manager pointed out to commissioners,

"The only guarantee you have from these private groups is a rental of $1 a year for three years. They may never show any profit—and you have tied up the waterfront for 40 years for $3!"

"Our group, (the banker's) are not proposing this plan with the idea of any financial profit to ourselves. We want to see Sanford put on the 'map' in a big way; we want to create an entirely new image of the city; we don't want to see the city lose control of the greatest asset we have, our waterfront, by chopping it up and parceling it out to small private investors, who are interested in personal gain," he pointed out.

A Page Of Facts

A waterfront development program, aimed at "creating an entirely new image of Sanford" was presented for the first time in public at the meeting of City Commissioners Monday.

This long-range plan is of such scope and magnitude that the Herald is devoting an entire page to attempting to present it as fully as possible to our readers.

This is the so-called "Banker's Plan," because it was originated by three local bank executives, George Touhy, T. E. Tucker and Howard Hodges, working in conjunction with John Krider, Seminole Chamber of Commerce manager, and John Burton, IV, architect.

This plan involves an over-all development program for the entire waterfront from Park Avenue to Melonville Avenue, involving half a million dollars and remaining under municipal control.

Two other plans which were presented to the City Commission involve only the present boat basin area and the old bandshell pier with a financial outlay from private capital of about $25,000 each.

One of these plans was presented by the "Chapman group," headed by James Chapman, architect, and the other by Ansel Snow and Grover Todd.

These proposals will also be defined separately in other stories on this page.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Think Big

They thought BIG! Nearly every one of Florida's major cities has grown and developed around some major feature or well known attraction.

Only a few of them have become great economic centers such as Jacksonville, Tampa and Orlando.

The majority of them have some other feature of attraction which keeps them in the limelight and draws their share of the valuable tourism dollar that means so much to the basic economy of the area.

Sarasota, for example, has the Ringling Museum, Ocala has Silver Springs, Daytona its world famed beaches, Miami Beach its resort hotels and top flight entertainment plus its thoroughbred racing.

Sanford has tried everything that's come along without success — mainly because it's never thought BIG enough to develop its one and only major asset, the St. Johns River.

After 100 years of toying with one idea after another concerning the river, after 100 years of talk, the moment of truth has arrived.

Sanford's banking institutions—coincidentally Sanford's critical downtown situation—have "engineered" a plan which will accomplish a host of things.

The marina and lakefront center will provide Sanford with a major attraction, it will develop one major aspect of the river, it will revitalize the downtown economy, and it will enable Sanford eventually to become the inland boating capital of Florida, a new phase of tourism.

It's BIG. There's no doubt about that. But if Sanford wants to be BIG in this day and time it must THINK BIG and do BIG things.

The development of Sanford's lakefront is the answer!

Waterfront Locations Attract Industries

Development of industrial waterfront facilities on waterside sites boomed in the second quarter of 1964. The American Waterways Operators, Inc., reported today.

The inland water carrier association attributed the surge of plant construction along navigable waters, in part at least, to the desire of management to take advantage of low-cost barge transportation for handling bulk-loading commodities.

Production industries constructed or announced plans to construct or expand 137 plant facilities along navigable waterways during the second quarter of 1964. This compares with 95 such facilities in the first quarter of 1964.

Layout Of Lakefront Project Described

A group of Sanford businessmen, headed by three local bankers, endorsed by the manager of the Chamber of Commerce and several other of the most progressive and forward-looking citizens have presented to the City of Sanford Commissioners a plan, the magnitude of which has never been proposed in the history of the City.

Their aim is to prevent the Sanford business area from slipping into obscurity and halting the economy in the city's future. The project, as presented, proposes construction of lake front facilities extending from the former location of the band shell eastward to a point approximately in line with Melonville Ave.

It is proposed that facilities would be developed to accommodate yachts from a size of approximately 30 feet and up, in a yacht basin. Small boat anchorage would be provided in connection with the present area, bounded by the former bandshell bulkhead and the newly created breakwater constructed by the City.

The plan envisions the accommodation of approximately 150 yachts in the new basin.

At the same time, it is proposed that a new land-fill project in the basin will provide area for service buildings to provide for the requirements of the boats therein as well as a small private club for the use of the yacht owners and local interested parties.

It is also proposed to create a new land area of approximately 25 acres which will ultimately accommodate a three- to four-hundred room motel, restaurant, night club and other facilities. This facility should have accommodations for large meetings such as conventions. These facilities would be constructed and operated by parties such as one of the major oil companies or chain companies, with the land being leased from the City.

Cost Estimated At $500,000

How much is it going to cost?

This is the first and major question to be asked of the proposers the waterfront development presented to the City Commissioners.

Bluntly, it is estimated at about $500,000.

The figures were derived from inquiries and investigations made by the office of John A. Burton IV, architect, who designed the waterfront development project.

Burton's offices retained the services of an engineer who was responsible for the design and construction of the Daytona Beach Yacht Basin, along with various other facilities of a similar nature in the state.

The half million dollars would be spent by the City to constitute the original yacht basin and the land fill area. It includes such items as water service, electric service, sewage service, construction of bulkheads, pumped in land areas, construction of docks and piers.

The actual design of the piers and docks has already been formulated, and the figures are prepared to be well within reason.

Bankers' Letter To Council Backs Plan

Three Sanford bankers, concerned over the future of the city's business area, searching for a way to stop the downward trend, stem the flow of business away from the city and bolster a sagging economy, put their heads together and came up with an idea.

They feel that the greatest untapped resource of the City of Sanford is in the waterfront, which is not just another lake, but a waterway, leading all the way to Jacksonville and on up to Jacksonville and on up to Jacksonville.

They have come up with a feasible, financially possible plan to develop that waterfront—and do it in big way—a way that will put Sanford on the map—will draw people and money from everywhere.

Here, in its entirety is their co-signed letter to the City Commissioners which accompanied the presentation of their plan:

Gentlemen:
The Sanford Atlantic National Bank, Florida State Bank and First Federal Savings and Loan Association, as a further indica-of intense interest in municipal development of Lake Monroe facilities, have carefully investigated the financing feasibility of the project.

We feel that such development is financially feasible and that necessary financing can be obtained by utilization of a pledge of the revenues derived from the Florida Power and Light Company franchise. The anticipated revenues and the life of the franchise would appear to be sufficient, if economic conditions remain unchanged, to make the sale of the $500,000 certificate issue a bankable transaction.

We would like to impress you with the vital interest of all three organizations in this project and to assure you of our wholehearted cooperation in planning, design and financing.

Very truly yours,

George Touhy, executive vice president, First Federal

T. E. Tucker, president, Florida State Bank

Howard Hodges, president, Sanford Atlantic National Bank

John Krider, Seminole County Chamber of Commerce manager pointed out to commissioners,

Mrs. C. L. Fitzpatrick, a member of the RVAH-3 officers wives club, was elected president of the Naval Officers Wives Club at the group's semi-annual election and change of board coffee Thursday.

Mrs. J. D. Moloney, of the VAH-11—Det. 8 wives club, was elected first vice president. Their opponents were Mrs. W. E. Yelinek, president for the past six months and Mrs. C. C. Smith.

Mrs. Smith was nominated at the election after members approved a constitutional amendment allowing for the election of the first vice president from club members at large. Former procedure was to choose the vice president from the representatives to the board.

Officers wives of RVAH-3 were hostesses for the event. This year's national elections inspired the decor of the ballroom which was turned into a "convention hall" for the day.

Red, white and blue streamers, banners and flags decorated the ceiling and tables. Each table was centered with pennants carrying the name of a state.

Also carrying out the theme was the refreshment center in the form of a concession which "sold" sandwiches, doughnuts, coffee and tea. Red capped concession girls passed the refreshments around during the voting and "campaigning."

A highlight of the coffee was the presentation by each squadron wives group of a campaign issue in the form of a "float" or placard carrying delegates.

Officers wives of RVAH-5, dressed in Indian squaw costumes as the wives of Savage Sons and yelling war whoops, stole the show with their "togetherness" theme. Their husbands are presently on the West Coast and will deploy shortly for the Western Pacific.

Other presentations included the "float" of the station wives calling for an "O" club in 1964, which was driven by Mrs. John Williams and Mrs. Earl Unger on roller skates. Mrs. C. C. Smith of the RVAH-9 wives club came dressed in a box advocating more dining out. RVAH-3 wives plugged Mrs. George Kimmons for Chief of Naval Operations. The VAH-11—Det. 8 Checkertail wives wore black and white checkered hats or bows for their demonstration. The Peacemaker wives of VAH-77 wore blue picture hats.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Yelinek who took the occasion to introduce Mrs. Chandler Swanson, wife of the new commanding officer of NAS.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Ed Foy before the group voted on the constitutional amendment. Other business included the treasurer and Thrift Shop reports and a summary of events during the past six months. Old and new board members were also introduced.

Before adjourning the meeting the new president, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, turned the microphones to Mrs. Kimmons who congratulated retiring president, Mrs. Yelinek, on a job well done and expressed the appreciation and regards of the group for her.

New officers of the VAH-1 enlisted men's wives club were installed at a luncheon Wednesday in the NAS ballroom. The Tigerette wives were hostesses to Mrs. Jesse Taft and Mrs. V. G. Matula, wives of the commanding officer and executive officer of the squadron, respectively.

Those installed were Mrs. Marvin Koozer, the new president. She accepted the gavel from Mrs. Marshall Russell, the retiring president.

Others installed were Mrs. William Orzal, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. Lyle Saroney, treasurer and Mrs. David Ferrier, chaplain.

The luncheon of ham, roast beef, potato salad, beans and relishes was served buffet style. Individual tables were covered with white cloths and held red, white and blue candles and flags. The officers table was centered with candles and a planter of philodendron and baby mums. Mrs. Al Moylan won the centerpiece as a door prize.

The next meeting of the club will be Thursday evening at 7:30 in the ballroom. All VAH-1 enlisted wives are invited to attend and free baby sitting service will be available. For further information call Mrs. Koozer at 322-7472.

Officers and their wives and guests of VAH-1 met at the officers pool aboard the station Friday evening for a steak dinner and splash party. The party served as a welcome to Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Larocca and as a farewell to Lt. and Mrs. W. L. Goodman, Lt.(jg) Edmond Condy and Lt.(jg) and Mrs. Russell Germain.

In other ceremonies, North American representative Dan Danklefs gave silver mugs to pilots and bombardier-navigators who had made 100 carrier landings. They are Lt. Goodman, Lt. Dick Barnes, Lt. Cdr. James Bell, Lt. Finn Wilster, Cdr. Taft and Lt.(jg) Bill Pullinger. Lt.(jg) Paul Haney and Lt. John Barger also qualified for the mug.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fallin were guests of Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Bell at the party. Others present included Cdr. and Mrs. V. G. Matula, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Barger, Mrs. Barnes, Miss Martha Phillips, Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Thomas Conroy, Lt.(jg) and Mrs. Jerry Drummerhausen, Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Gilmore, Lt. and Mrs. Carl Gronquist, Lt.(jg) and Mrs. Robert Guest.

Mrs. Haney, Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. George Klett, Lt. and Mrs. Paul McKenna, Lt.(jg) Bill Sherrill, Mrs. Debbie Trepanier, Ena. and Mrs. Robert Recknor, Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Edward Williams, and Mrs. Wilster.

Three newcomers were welcomed to the staff officers wives club at their July meeting by Mrs. J. O. Mayo. The coffee was held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Holton.

The new members are Mrs. Robert Lavender, Mrs. Marlon Willhauck and Mrs. Tom Conroy.

Mrs. Mayo also presented farewell gifts to Mrs. John Hoganson and Mrs. Howard Harrison.

NOW club representative, Mrs. Cliff Nelson, reported to the group on NOW business and Mrs. Warren Hoeller was named as Thrift Shop chairman for the staff wives group.

Also present at the coffee were Mrs. Herbert Morsland, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. Don Ethell, Mrs. Ed Miller, Mrs. Tom Markley, Mrs. Sam Day and Mrs. Leigh Ebbert.

Bicycle Safety Day Held At Pinecrest

Friday was Bicycle Safety Day at the Pine Crest School Summer Recreation Program. The bikes were inspected by recreation directors and cards were given the owners stating what needed to be done to make their bikes safer.

Skill riding and various races were held, with prizes of candy and bubble gum to the winners as well as to those having the best kept, the safest, and the oldest bikes. This safety program was followed by a watermelon feast, the second such event for this year's summer recreation.

Earlier in the week softball games were held between Westside-Grammar School and on Thursday with the team from South Side School. Boys and girls of all ages were allowed to play and showed good sportsmanship as well as skills, directors said.

Future plans include a Doll and Hobby Show Friday. Soft drinks will again be on sale, the profits of which will be used to buy more art supplies or more recreation equipment.

Wednesday will be the last day for those wishing to make ceramics to do so. A very interesting art program is planned for each day of the week for the next three weeks.

Many boys and girls are enjoying the summer dance schedule, especially the acrobatics and tumbling. The last three days of the summer Recreation Program it is hoped that Pine Crest can be host to Westside-Grammar and South Side School for a Play Day, the winners of these events receiving prizes.

Equalization Hearing Set

The County Commission has set Aug. 3 as the date on which it will sit as a board of equalization to act on any complaints concerning property assessments for the 1964-65 tax year.

The date was suggested by Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, tax assessor, when she announced last week that assessment notices would be mailed to tax payers during the week of July 20.

The Commission today began meeting with various department heads in an effort to finalize the budget in time for a public hearing which the Commissioners have set for Aug. 11.

The doctor should be called immediately when a stroke occurs so that he can determine the proper individualized treatment for each patient. Florida Heart Association says.

Florida Split Tops GOP Delegation Infighting

The Sanford Herald July 14, 1964 — Page 5

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two controversies continued to boil among the Southern delegations today. One involved Florida's split delegation and the other a dissident Negro in the Georgia group.

Both states tentatively scheduled caucuses to clear the air. The Negro delegate said he would leave the convention floor if Sen. Barry Goldwater gets the presidential nomination.

Florida's group has been split for months and even in the first day of the convention Monday. Chairman Tom Fairfield Brown said he was unable to arrange a caucus to poll the unpledged delegates.

Both Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. William W. Scranton appeared before the Florida delegates Sunday in bids to swing the Floridians into their camps. Brown has announced his support for Goldwater since arriving in San Francisco and Mrs. Janet Shewalter of Vero Beach has declared for Scranton.

Georgia's group was embroiled in a fight centering around Negro alternate delegate Q. V. Williamson's contention that he should vote for S. J. Levinson.

Both Levinson and Williamson are from the 5th district (Atlanta). Levinson is attempting to wrangle out of voting for Goldwater by passing his vote to an alternate.

Chevrolet dealers sell more cars than anybody Because they sell great cars

Chevrolet has brought a whole new kind of excitement to everyday driving this year. It's a fifty-yard-line, ten-rows-up kind of excitement.

And whether you're cushioned in the bucket seat of a luxurious Chevrolet Impala Super Sport, or behind the wheel of the surprisingly roomy Chevelle, you'll feel it.

Whether you're gobbling up a hill in a thrifty rear-engined Corvair, you'll feel it. Whether you're just looking at a Corvette or kicking up some dust with one, you'll feel it.

Altogether you've got five different kinds of cars and up to 45 different models to choose from. And each one is looking even more attractive as the '64 car-year closes out.

You couldn't pick a better time to build on the model you like either, for behind each one is a list of special Chevrolet options as long as your arm.

So stop in at your Chevrolet dealer's now and see what all the excitement is about. Get behind the wheel of America's most popular car. Or all five wheels. And don't be surprised if you see your neighbor doing the same thing.

Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

You gotta hand it to those boys on the Elks Junior Boys League team. After losing to the Shriners in the playoff for the loop title they bounced right back in the league's tournament to go right to the finals and meet the Shriners again.

However, this time the Elks did the trick. They defeated the Shriners even though they got only one hit.

"This is the week of all weeks," says Manager Frank Thomas of Post 53's American Legion Junior baseball team. Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 Thomas takes his charges to Colonial Field in Orlando for an engagement with Post 242 of that city. On Friday night they'll be at home to entertain (and whip, we hope) the club from Post 19 of Orlando.

Right now the two clubs are tied for the Sixth District league lead. Both have won 12 games and have lost five. This game could tell the story. If Sanford wins the district title they'll represent this area in the state finals to be played in West Palm Beach starting Aug. 2. Donnie Smith is to chuck for Sanford Wednesday afternoon and Jim Courier will go to the hill for the locals in Friday night's all important encounter.

Seminole Swim Association's swimmers, after doing right well in Eustis last weekend, are getting ready for their next outings. According to the group's publicist, Ida B. Wilson, the locals will go to Mount Dora on July 17-18 and to the Junior Olympic Preliminaries at Leesburg for District Two on July 20-21.

By the way, have you noticed that none of the Seminole Swim Association's meets have been held here in Sanford. Wonder why?

And talking about that meet in Eustis, there was plenty of excitement. But the spectators say that the boys (13-14 age group) 100-yard butterfly splash was a thriller. Mett Morgan, son of Nancy and John Morgan, has been working hard on his technique. Sanfordites have hoped he would win top honors in this event — but he came in second. Second only to the Florida AAU record breaking time of 1:00.2 of Eustis' Williams — that's all. Mett pushed the leader right into a record. Just to give you an idea of what was going on, the time established by the winner of the same event for boys 15 through 17 was 1:03.8.

Back to Legion baseball for a moment, one of the reasons why the Thomas-Kuykendall coached club is a consistent contender is due to some stellar mound work by the hurling corps. During the last three games the locals have not given up a single run. What's more the defensive work has contributed some flaps play, too.

Have you joined the SHS Boosters yet? They sure need your help. An annual membership is only $1. You can mail your buck to Jim Grant, 552 Valencia Drive, Sanford.

Bunning's Relief Work Ends Phils' Losing Streak

Yankees Gain As Baltimore Loses

By Fred Down
UPI Sports Writer

Jim Bunning spells perfection as far as the Philadelphia Phillies are concerned—and in more ways than one. The veteran right-hander pitched the first perfect game in modern National League history, June 21, against the New York Mets.

Bunning's Monday night relief effort gave the Phillies a big "lift" for three reasons: It snapped their four-game losing streak, it ended their string of failures against lefthandlers with a victory over Warren Spahn and it also helped end Hank Aaron's 16-game hitting streak. The St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 in 13 innings and 12-5, and the Chicago Cubs scored a 10-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers in other National League games.

Kingswood Wins Second Half In Men's Circuit

The Kingswood Builders ran their winning streak to 18 games in a row and at the same time did the expected — they won the second half championship of the City Recreation Department's Men's Six-Pitch Softball League.

Bud Moncrief scattered four hits over the distance to register his 13 victory in 14 decisions. Every Builder, 11 in all, hit safely in Kingswood's 19 to 2 win over Florida State Bank. There were a total of 24 hits posted by the Builders.

Scouters Bound For National Jamboree

By Jane Casselberry

Representing Central Florida Council at the 1964 National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., will be 111 area boy scouts and explorers and their 14 adult leaders. The contingent left Camp Lenoche at Palatka Saturday night aboard three chartered buses for an exciting two weeks.

Among the adult leaders are Scout Executive Al Fiori of Altamonte Springs who will serve as section 21 cooking officer and Walter Krohne Jr., assistant scoutmaster of Casselberry Troop 341, who is serving as tour leader and scoutmaster of Council Jamboree Troop 62. The Central Florida group will form three Jamboree Troops, 60, 61 and 62 to be located in section 21 of Valley Forge. The theme of this year's Jamboree will be "Strengthen America's Heritage" and the boys can hardly help becoming imbued with a greater knowledge of the country's heritage after visiting the many places so important to its history during the trip.

Sunday they were scheduled to have breakfast and attend church in Charleston, S. C. before touring Fort Sumter. At Wilmington, N. C., they toured the USS North Carolina war memorial and spent the night at Camp Lejeune, U. S. Marine Corps base at Jacksonville, N. C.

Monday called for a tour of historic Williamsburg, Va. and an overnight stop at Fort Houston. They were to tour Washington, D. C. on Tuesday and Wednesday morning before proceeding to Valley Forge State Park where they will join the estimated 50,000 boys participating in the Jamboree which officially opens Friday.

A tour of the historic area of Philadelphia is scheduled for Thursday.

At the Jamboree there will be demonstrations of scouting skills, fellowship and pageantry emphasizing American heritage.

The group will leave by bus for home on Friday, July 24, driving through Pennsylvania south on the Skyline Drive to Shenandoah National Park where they will camp for the night. The next day they plan to tour Luray Caverns in Virginia, continuing on the Skyline Drive to Fayetteville, N. C.

They are scheduled to arrive home late Sunday night. Lodge continued optimistic

Lodge Predicts Scranton 'Bombshell'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Henry Cabot Lodge predicted today that backers of Gov. William W. Scranton will come up with a "bombshell" issue in their effort to win the GOP presidential nomination for the Pennsylvania governor.

The former ambassador to South Viet Nam declined to reveal what he had in mind, but he said Scranton forces are "cooking up two or three real hot ones to present to the convention." He said one could be described as a "bombshell."

"They should have a very tremendous impact on public opinion," Lodge told UPI in an interview. He said Scranton strategists—including the governor—have been working on them for about two weeks. Lodge continued optimistic over Scranton's chances despite what appeared to be the unstoppable lead of Sen. Barry Goldwater who counts some 800 delegate votes for his cause.

Lodge said there is "a broad trend in public opinion" favoring Scranton and that it is "getting stronger all the time." He mentioned public opinion polls and letters being sent to delegates.

"I refuse to believe this convention is going to be indifferent to public opinion," Lodge said. "I don't believe the delegates are going to ignore public opinion."

Ike Pleads For Loyalty

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to appeal to Republicans tonight to place party loyalty ahead of personalities and unite in a campaign for victory in November.

The five-star general, appearing as a self-described "emeritus politician," billed his GOP convention speech in advance as one in which "I am going to stress the party, and what I think it has stood for since the time of Lincoln."

Tonight's address at the Cow Palace is the former Chief Executive's major item of participation in the convention. But from the sidelines Monday, he had a busy day of activity including: —Visits at his St. Francis Hotel suite from front-runner Barry Goldwater and challenger William W. Scranton, engaging in social chitchat with both and maintaining neutrality in their hot fight for the presidential nomination.

—A news conference in which he generally endorsed the platform on which the convention is deciding today and said Goldwater, if nominated, "can't go far wrong" in running on that document.

—Appeared twice on television as a "political consultant" for the American Broadcasting Co. which has a special studio down the hall from his sixth floor hotel suite.

It was on the first of those telecasts, Sunday evening, that Eisenhower spoke about his speech for tonight and asserted:

"The whole purpose of that talk is to try to show these people that Republicans and Republicanism are more important than is any one individual. And if we have made a mistake in the particular nominee we have set up to lead us during the next campaign, we have got to live with that mistake and still be true to our party."

Miss Darlene Roberts, K. R. Collette Exchange Vows In Impressive Rites

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Miss Darlene Lorelle Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Orval Roberts, of Lake Monroe, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Ayers, of Lake Mary, became the bride of Kenneth Richard Collette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Collette, of Stafford Springs, Conn., on Tuesday, June 30, at 7:00 p.m. at All Souls Catholic Church.

Rev. Father Ralph Kaiser, of Sanford Naval Air Station, performed the impressive candlelight double ring ceremony before an altar embellished with palms and vases of white glads and mums.

Mrs. Francis Roumillat Sr., organist, furnished the traditional nuptial hymns in the prelude and recessional with Mrs. Louise Hickson presenting "Oh, Perfect Love," and "Wither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a formal gown of chantilly lace, featuring a scalloped neckline, with fitted bodice coming to a point in front and back and traditional tapered pointed sleeves, with a full voluminous skirt touching the floor. The gown was high lighted with seed pearls. The imported illusion veil was attached to a seed pearl crown, and the bride carried a white Bible of seed pearls, topped with an orchid.

Mrs. Shirley Leopoles served the bride as matron of honor. She was gowned in orchid tulle featuring a round neckline, small sleeves and a fitted bodice coming to a point in front and back. The skirt fell in soft folds and her veil was attached to an orchid satin pill box hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink carnations complemented with pink leaves and ribbon.

The maid of honor was Miss Sandra Burk and bridesmaids were Patricia Muse and Carol Muse, who were gowned identically to the matron of honor. They carried cascade bouquets of lighter pink carnations with pink leaves and ribbon.

Little Miss Pam Lee was flower girl, attired in orchid tulle and carrying a basket of pastel petals and ring-bearer was Bobby Roberts, brother of the bride.

Joseph R. Collette, father of the groom, served his son as best man. Ushers were Wayne Roberts, brother of the bride, Joseph H. Collette, brother of the groom, and Douglas Atkinson.

The bride's mother was attired in a stunning aqua brocade sheath with matching hat and accessories. Her corsage was of carnations spray-ed aqua with aqua leaves and ribbon.

The groom's mother was lovely in a blue lace sheath, with white lace accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations with white leaves and ribbon.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the community building in Lake Monroe. The bride's table was overlaid with white net over orchid linen, draped at the corners and across the front with small orchids, Lily of the Valley and ferns. A three tiered wedding cake was centered in the middle of the table. Orchid candles were placed in silver candle holders on each side of the cake. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl with a white flower floating in the center of the ice ring. Fern was placed around the punch bowl, cake, and the candle holders. Mints and nuts were served in crystal dishes. Baskets of white glads and mums were used. Wedding bells hung from the ceiling.

Those assisting at the reception were Mrs. Dave Eber, Mrs. D. C. Spivey and Miss Janice Boston.

The bride's book was kept by Miss Diane Boston. For her going away outfit, the bride chose a smart three piece yellow linen ensemble with white accessories and wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Collette left on a wedding trip to Daytona Beach and will be home after July 12, at 2525 Narcissus Avenue. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Collette and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Collette, all of Stafford Springs, Conn.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know how you feel about women who fall in love with married men, but I am the exception. I have loved a professional man for six years. I work for him. He is married in name only, if you know what I mean. We have never been seen together in public as I wouldn't want to hurt his good name. He has children (three of them) and in nine years, his youngest will be 21. At that time he plans to divorce his wife and live with her comfortably provided for, and marry me. I am not a homemaker, and have no desire to take a man away from his wife and family. He tells me every time we are together how much he loves and respects me for my patience and fairness. Perhaps this will give other women who share my situation an idea, Sign me—

DEAR ABBY: When you write someone a letter, do you think that person has the right to send it to someone else? I have a mother-in-law who does this. She has sent ME letters she has received from others, and I know that she has sent MY letters to her friends and relatives. Not that I would ever write anything about anyone that might cause trouble, but it is difficult for me to write her a letter, not knowing where it will end up. How can this be handled tactfully? Maybe if you print this, my problem will be solved. She reads your column.

DEAR ABBY: My husband married a girl when he was very young. Without first getting a divorce he moved to another state and married again. Again without getting a divorce, he married me—telling me only that he had been "married and divorced." When our baby was two years old, he got a summons for non-support from his second wife. I learned then that there had been two marriages and no divorces. He obtained a legal divorce from his second wife (but not from his first). Am I living in sin because of this? I am pregnant again and if my husband doesn't get this thing cleared up, I am going to end up in the nut house. Can you help me?

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

When a woman makes a complimentary statement about another woman and then adds "but," what follows is what she really means. She's really a nice person—but awfully boring.

She used to be a good-looking woman—but she has certainly let herself go. She has beautiful clothes—but she always looks a bit overdressed for the occasion.

of course, she's his third wife. When one woman is describing another—it's what comes after the "but . . ." that counts.

Warning Issued On Danger Of Snakes

By Julian Stenstrom
 "It's true," said Dr. Frank Leone, director of the county's Health Department, "that only three persons in Florida died last year from snake bite — all from rattlers."
 But the doctor warned, "That's three more than enough to cause all of us to exercise extreme caution, particularly at this time of the year."
 There have been three deaths, already for 1964 — one by rattler, one by moccasin and another by cobra. The latter was a suicide in Dade County.

Perhaps the reason is that the State Board of Health keeps a constant supply of antivenom serum as do 20 hospital poison control centers in 19 cities throughout Florida. Venom can be obtained within 30 minutes for 90 percent of the state's population.

Also important is the fact that a bite victim can get information very quickly by contacting his county health department or a poison control center.

This county's nearest poison control center, according to Dr. Leone, is Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando.

But getting back to the coral snake, its bite is the most deadly in Florida although there is the least likelihood of being bitten by one. This is because the snake is slow to arouse and because it licks rather than strikes. To bite it must first get its teeth around an object such as a finger. It cannot get its teeth into a flat surface.

Florida's supply of serum comes directly from a firm in Brazil, the only place in the world where it is manufactured. The state board of health cannot sell the serum, it must be dispensed free.

A person bitten by a coral snake will almost surely die unless the serum can be administered in time.

About that coral snake — it's slender, grows to about 20 inches. It's a beautiful reptile and most attractive to children. Its nose is black and its red and yellow bands touch each other, separated by black bands. It lurks in cool spots, usually under trash, stones or planks.

There's a false coral but it has a red nose and black bands between its red and yellow bands.

Learn to tell the difference. It might save your life. Remember this little rhyme:

"If its red on yellow it will kill a fellow. If its red on black, it's okay Jack."

If you can't remember that one, perhaps this will stick with you: "If his nose is black, stay back."

Talented Youth Does School Wall Mural

By Jane Casselberry

One of Seminole's most promising young artists, 14 year old Danny Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith of Longwood, has been commissioned by Principal John Angel of the South Seminole Junior High School at Casselberry to paint a mural on the wall of the school cafeteria.

Danny is a ninth grader at South Seminole and is in his second year as a pupil of artist Beth Gregory of Lake Mary. He is a member of the Sanford-Seminole Art Association and took first prize in the junior division at the organization's annual art exhibit.

The talented youngster has designed and is executing a mural done in shades of brown and tan to blend with the beige wall. It depicts the many facets of learning taught at the junior high level, such as social studies, math, science, English, music, industrial arts and sports.

in a dramatic manner. Danny prefers to work in oils and is partial to landscapes painted from nature. His ambition is to be an art major in college studying for a career in commercial art. Who knows, perhaps we have a future Thomas Hart Benton, Diego Rivera, or even a Michelangelo in our midst and someday we may point with pride and say "I knew him when..."

Record Cold

Record cold in which men have survived was the 90 below zero recorded in Siberia in 1933; 18 Americans at the South Pole came within a degree of that mark on April 2, 1957, when they reported a minus 89.
