

'Check Is In Mail' For Seminole Head Start

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board's application for a $360,000 federal grant to operate a Head Start Program has been approved for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 and Sammie L. Tomblin, the board's director of special projects, has been told "the check is in the mail."

Tomblin, who has been named the director of the Head Start program for underprivileged three and four-year-olds, said he was told on the phone that the notification of the release of funds should have been received Wednesday. He said funds will be retroactive to Nov. 1.

Tomblin expects it to take 2 1/2 to 3 weeks from the time funding is received for the first Head Start center to open at Midway Elementary School. Using existing facilities, it will serve children from low income families in the Midway area east of Sanford.

"We have to get our license approved from the District 7 Health and Rehabilitative Services office in Orlando, train the staff and get classrooms set up," he said. "We have in excess of 150 youngsters already signed up and we are going through the forms to make sure everything is proper."

Coordinator for the program Bob Leidner, a former teacher at Geneva Elementary School with a background of supervising day care centers and preschool training and supervision. His salary range is $27,000 to $29,000 and it will be paid for entirely by Head Start funds.

Seminole County School Board is providing an in-kind contribution of $100,000. Included in this is a $20,000 portion of Tomblin's regular salary and 50 percent of the Head Start Community Resource Coordinator E.L. Blackshear's $43,000 salary.

Tomblin said Blackshear's position, which includes community fundraising, is extremely important.

Volcano Victims Buried In Mass Graves

Toll May Reach 20,000

MARIQUITA, Colombia (UPI) — Workers today began burying the thousands of victims of Colombia's devastating volcano into mass graves — often with no attempt at identification — to prevent an epidemic and took mud-covered survivors to hospital tent camps.

The death toll still could rise to between 15,000 and 20,000, said Health Minister Rafael de Zuburba, speaking some 24 hours after the first bodies were recovered from the volcano's debris-strewn river of mud and ash.

U.N. Disaster Relief Organization officials said in a statement Thursday night that "4,000 bodies have already been recovered and the eventual death toll may reach 15,000 in the town of Armero," the worst-hit community.

The 17,116-foot volcano Nevado del Ruiz, about 100 miles west of Bogota, erupted at about 11 p.m. Wednesday. Heat from the blast melted ice and snow that covered the volcano, sending a torrent of water and mud roaring through nearby towns.

Officials feared more flooding and mudslides today. In Mariquita, 18 miles north of Armero, officials evacuated residents because of possible flooding from the swollen Guali River.

Red Cross official Walter Cotte said many of the dead were being buried in common graves without identification. He said there was neither the means nor the time to take photographs or fingerprints of the dead to assist in future identification.

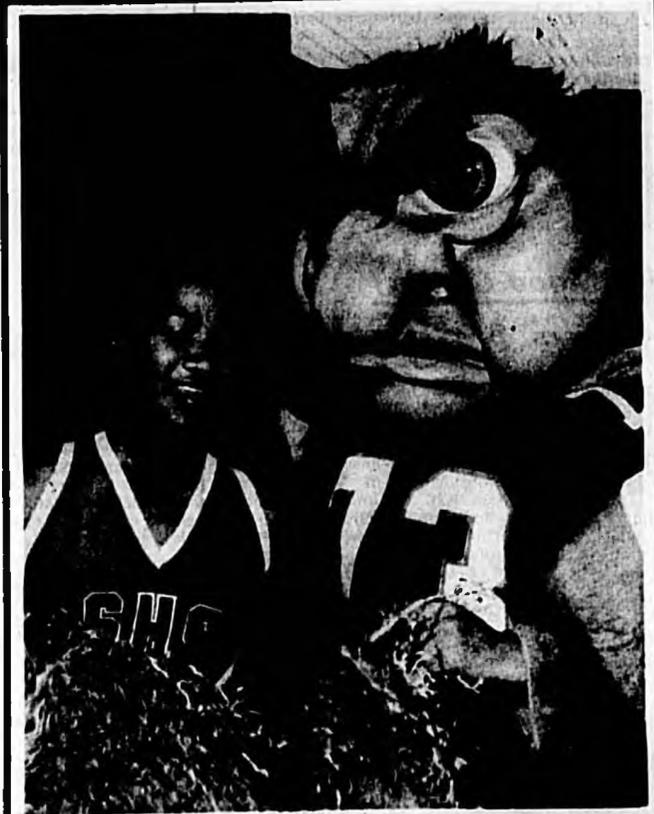

"It will be almost impossible to identify many of the dead," Cotte said. "In fact, many bodies won't even be recovered because they're lost under the mud."

Civil Defense spokeswoman Aura de Leyva said, "We have to bury the dead quickly or there will be an epidemic" that could threaten an estimated 20,000 wounded or homeless survivors.

In Los Angeles, a spokesman for World Vision, an international Christian relief organization, said he feared the victims will include 178 children cared for in Armero by the Southern California-based agency.

Brian Bird said reports from World Vision workers surveying the region from helicopters and vehicles indicate the children and about seven staff members died. "I don't know how anybody can hold out hope for them," he said.

Fondling Conviction Nets 15-Year Probation

A Sanford man convicted of fondling a 12-year-old girl was sentenced to 15 years probation and must serve one weekend a month for 12 months in the Seminole County jail.

Thomas Leroy Davis, 38, of 141 Anthony Drive, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Robert McGregor. Assistant State Attorney Thomas Hastings had asked McGregor to sentence Davis to 15 years in prison followed by 15 years probation. The recommended guideline sentence was 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 years.

Davis was found guilty by jury in August of two lewd and lascivious assaults on the girl. He was acquitted on four other child-sex charges. If he had been convicted as charged he could have received up to 105 years.

Davis' attorney, Thomas Greene of Sanford asked McGregor to sentence Davis to less than the recommended sentence because the incidents were related to alcohol abuse borne out of his experiences in Vietnam.

Davis had been accused of assaulting the girl in various ways six times during a 16-month period from May 1983 to Sept., 1984. The girl, now 13, reported the incidents to a social worker at her school. —Deane Jordan

Paulucci Made Offer To Sell Yankee Lake Site To County

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer
(First in a series)

The effluent treatment and disposal complex Seminole County plans to build at Yankee Lake will have the capacity to service all of northwest Seminole County, including Sanford and Lake Mary, County Administrator Ken Hooper said today.

Hooper, along with County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff, also said that Jeno Paulucci, not the county, made the first overture regarding sale of the Yankee Lake property the plant will be located on. This is being disputed by Sanford City Manager Frank Faison who said he "knew" earlier this fall "the county made the first move."

Until the county purchased the property last week, Faison repeatedly said he had "no proof" the county was interested in Yankee Lake for a wastewater management program. However, he said on Wednesday, "I saw a letter early on that the county sent to Paulucci. It was sent to open up negotiations."

Faison said this "formal contact" earlier in the fall, was then followed up by "a visit between the county and Paulucci's people."

"The visit I can't swear to," Faison said, "But I saw the letter." Hooper, however, said no such letter exists.

Both the county and Sanford had targeted the 2,867-acre Yankee Lake property for their wastewater management programs. Paulucci sold to the county last week and two days later Sanford filed a condemnation proceeding to invalidate the county's purchase.

After the contract to purchase, Faison said the county's disclosure of its interest in the site "was less than forthcoming."

And during this fall, the county commissioners have been described in much the same way by their Sanford counterparts. Sanford commissioners assert the county "walked away" from wastewater management joint-venture discussions the municipalities conducted last summer.

One of the more recent references to this alleged lack of communication came from Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith last Friday, during the specially called commission meeting to sanction the condemnation action.

Mayor Smith said Commissioner Kirchhoff, the city's district representative on the county commission, "has not been of any great assistance in the matter (of a joint-venture agreement)."

Kirchhoff, however, said today "They never contacted me."

"I haven't received any calls from the mayor, the city manager or the city commission," he said. "There just weren't any requests for help."

Mayor Smith acknowledged today Kirchhoff was not contacted after the joint-venture discussions broke off. "It wasn't proper to contact him," she said. "I felt it was appropriate for our government head to contact theirs."

The mayor's statement is in reference to the letter she sent County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm in late October. It requests the resumption of joint-venture discussions and resulted in the scheduling of a Dec. 18 meeting between the city and the county. It will be held at the county services building five days after the city's condemnation action is expected to be heard in court — Dec. 13.

According to Mayor Smith, regardless of the condemnation suit's outcome, "We want to cooperate with the county."

According to Hooper, the county is "already on its way" toward building "a true regional plant" that will have at least an 11-million gallon per day

Preacher Quits Due To Lawsuit

Outspoken Baptist preacher Rev. George Crossley has resigned as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lake Monroe.

The resignation was for personal reasons he said are related to libel/slander litigation in which he has been embroiled for several months. He's being sued by a Leesburg city commissioner for inferences he made about the commissioner's political contributions.

Crossley, who had served at the Lake Monroe church for four years, said he expects soon to be involved fulltime in Christian broadcasting, on both radio and television, with an Orlando firm. He is host of In Defense of Liberty, an hour long program on WJYE-Channel 55 and has a leader in the Citizens for Decency activist group he has attacked many controversial issues. He led protests against the Seminole County School Board policy which he said is "discrimination against Christians" after a second grade student at Pine Crest Elementary School was prohibited from distributing Christmas cards and stickers to her classmates, while her teacher was allowed to light a menorah and explain the Jewish celebration of Hanukkah the same day. As the result of talks with a committee of local ministers, the school board is rewriting its policy.

Courthouse Security Nabs 5th Violator

A woman stopped at the entrance of the Seminole County Courthouse today was arrested on a charge of possession of marijuana after a security bailiff spied the drug during a weapons check.

The woman's arrest is the fifth at the courthouse involving security bailiffs since they began screening visitors Oct. 1.

Security at the courthouse was increased to intercept persons who might be carrying weapons into the building. Since October, four people have been arrested on weapons charges. The weapons have included a bayonet, bullets, an electric stun gun, a hunting knife, and a tear gas gun.

In today's 8:55 a.m. incident, according to an arrest report, a woman, who reportedly was accompanying a boyfriend to traffic court, was asked at the courthouse doors by a security bailiff if she was carrying any weapons and if the contents of her purse could be examined.

The woman agreed to the inspection and while she was moving items around in her purse, bailiff Orleander Csiko noticed a sandwich baggie containing marijuana. The woman then hastily closed her purse and went to traffic court in city hall.

Ms. Csiko notified Lt. Robert Kunkler, head of the sheriff's judicial division at the courthouse, who then went to the courtroom in Sanford City Hall.

Teen Charged With Manslaughter

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 17-year-old Sanford boy charged with manslaughter as an adult in the sprinkler stake stabbing death of a 24-year-old Sanford man was being held today in lieu of $8,000 bond.

Karry Anthony Hunter of 118 Scott Drive, surrendered to a Seminole County sheriff's deputy at his home at about 3 p.m. Thursday after his parents learned he was wanted in connection with the death of Mark Sanders, 2007 Adams Ave. a sheriff's report said.

Sanders died Oct. 25 at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, following an Oct. 6 incident where Hunter, a Seminole High School student, allegedly stabbed him in the right forehead with a lawn sprinkler stake. Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett said.

The sprinkler stake had penetrated several inches into Sanders' head, Harriett said.

The incident occurred at Lake Gem Park on 24th Street in Sanford at about 6 p.m. Oct. 6.

According to police records, Harriett said, police were called to the park because of a disturbance involving several persons.

Witnesses at the scene told police six to eight persons had been in-involved in a dispute with Sanders after he reportedly knocked a can of beer from Hunter's hand using a martial arts weapon, nun chakus, Harriett said.

The suspect had fled before police arrived. The injured Sanders, a maintenance worker who moved to Sanford from Port St. Luce in 1961, was transported to the hospital where he remained until his death, Harriett said.

A police investigation was conducted and its finding was turned over to the state attorney's office, which issued a warrant for Hunter's arrest, Harriett said.

Mother Pulls Daughter From Crocodile's Jaws

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Esha Wako was drawing water from the Tana River in northeast Kenya Wednesday when a crocodile grabbed her daughter, Samaha, 10, from the bank and dragged her into the water.

Esha jumped into the river in pursuit with a 9-month-old baby strapped in between her breasts, a Kenya news agency said Thursday.

She grabbed Samaha's leg from the crocodile's snapping jaws, and a 90-minute lifesaving battle began, the agency said.

Anja Wako, who is married to the same man as Esha, heard the ruckus, entered the water and jabbed the crocodile in the eyes with a stick, forcing the reptile to release his grip on the girl.

Samaha received about 40 stitches in her legs and buttocks but was not admitted to a hospital, the news agency said. Esha Wako was treated for exhaustion.

Judge Demands Made Whipping Boy Of Handcuffing Sheriff

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A federal judge said a sheriff who handcuffed 12 inmates from his crowded jail to a prison fence was a "whipping boy" in a confrontation prompted by the demands of another angry federal judge.

Shelby County Sheriff Gene Barksdale refused Tennessee's prisons crisis by taking 12 convicts from his crowded jail to the West Tennessee Reception Center and handcuffing them to a fence when the warden wouldn't admit them.

Barksdale said he is under orders from U.S. District Judge Robert McRae not to overcrowd his jail or keep convicted felons longer than five days.

The reception center warden refused to admit the convicts Wednesday because state prisons are under Oct. 23 orders from U.S. District Judge Thomas Higgins not to accept new inmates until they relieve overcrowding.

Higgins, visibly angry, blasted Barksdale for "dumping" the inmates and told prison officials to release any convicts dumped on them in the future — "even if it means cutting off their handcuffs."

Bhagwan Bids Bye Bye

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, banished from the United States for five years and fined $400,000 for immigration fraud, headed out of the country today on a chartered jet vowing never to return.

The 53-year-old rich man's guru flew from Oregon Thursday night aboard the jet — apparently bound for his native India — after pleading guilty to two felony counts of federal immigration fraud.

Leavy also ordered Rajneesh to pay $400,000 in fines and court costs.

As part of his plea-bargaining agreement, the guru admitted lying about his reasons for entering the country on a temporary visa in 1981 and conspiring to arrange 412 sham marriages to help his followers evade immigration laws.

Evacuation Ends At Leak Site

MALDEN, W.Va. (UPI) — About 2,600 gallons of toxic bromine has been emptied from a leaking chemical plant tank, ending another Kanawha Valley spill that forced the evacuation of 5,500 people.

Officials said no one was hospitalized and the evacuation of a one-mile area around the J.Q. Dickinson Co. plant was lifted Thursday night after the bromine was pumped into a tanker truck and hauled away.

The bromine began leaking about noon Wednesday from a 25-year-old storage tank at the Dickinson plant.

Treasury Dipped Too Deep

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee chairman says the U.S. Treasury "illegally" dipped further into a government trust fund for railroad pensions than was needed to cover the retirees' benefit checks this month.

Mechanical Heart Recipient Dies

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — Anthony Mandia, the first Penn State heart recipient, died of an "overwhelming" chest infection and organ failure after a series of setbacks that followed surgery replacing his mechanical heart with a human one.

Mandia, 44, crippled by a childhood gunshot wound to his head and forced to retire from his job as a Philadelphia city clerk by his diseased heart, died Thursday, Hershey Medical Center spokesman Carl Andrews said.

Andrews said the primary cause of Mandia's death was an "overwhelming infection" in his massive chest incision. The secondary cause was "organ system failure," he said.

Mandia lived for 10 1/2 days with the plastic Penn State pump before receiving a natural heart Oct. 28 from a 30-year-old woman who died in West Virginia.

The heart kept Mandia alive for 17 days that were marred by the infection, high blood pressure, poor kidney function and temporary problems with an inflamed pancreas, clogged lungs and a fever. No heart problems were reported.

Mandia's family visited him Thursday, but the patient, plagued by unstable blood pressure, was unconscious, Andrews said. Mandia had been in critical and unstable condition since Nov. 6.

Andrews said Mandia's doctors at the Pennsylvania State University teaching hospital would comment further on his death at a briefing today in Harrisburg.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, a family member said.

Mandia became the first recipient of the white, one-pound mechanical heart Oct. 18. Doctors said Mandia had less than 24 hours to live with his diseased heart, and needed the pump because a donor was unavailable.

He was the world's 10th artificial heart patient and the fifth to receive one on a temporary basis. Of 11 artificial heart recipients — one after Mandia — five are alive. Three have Jarvik-7 bionic hearts, and two have received human transplants.

Waite Has Made Contact

Hostage Negotiations 'Go Underground'

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Church of England troublemaker Terry Waite today sought a face-to-face meeting with Moslem fundamentalists holding at least four Americans hostage.

Less than 24 hours after arriving in Beirut, Waite revealed Thursday that he was in contact with the kidnappers.

"We have reached a very critical point and a very dangerous and difficult point. A wrong move and people could lose their lives — including myself," said Waite, who is protected by a group of Moslem militiamen.

The 46-year-old secretary to Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie said he would go underground in Moslem west Beirut today in a quest to meet with the kidnappers face to face.

Meanwhile, political sources said the hostage case was discussed at a meeting in Beirut Thursday between Col. Ghazi Kanaan, who heads Syrian army intelligence in Lebanon, and Sheikh Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah, the powerful leader of Hezbollah, the pro-Iranian Party of God.

Details of the talks were not revealed but Syrian sources said Kanaan "raised the issue of the kidnapped Americans and Frenchmen with Sheikh Fadlallah."

Fadlallah has on several occasions denied involvement in the kidnappings.

Neither Kanaan nor Fadlallah had any comment on their talks. Emerging from his hide-out in west Beirut, Waite Thursday appealed for newsmen not to follow him "because if that happens then that will jeopardize my safety and the safety of other people" — including the kidnappers.

"I really do have to just drop out of the picture," he told an impromptu news conference called after he spotted network cameramen outside his hideaway.

"I'm prepared to go anywhere ... within reason," he said. The bearded envoy was spirited out of his west Beirut hotel late Wednesday night in an attempt to arrange a meeting with the kidnappers.

"It's extremely important because of the great sensitivity of the situation that I am left totally alone because anything I have to do beyond this point will have to be entirely by myself," he told reporters.

Waite flew to Beirut Wednesday in response to a letter sent to Runcie by four American hostages appealing for him to help negotiate their release. The only condition for Waite's trip was that he had to seek out the kidnappers. The Moslem fundamentalist kidnappers holding six American hostages have demanded release of 17 of their comrades imprisoned in Kuwait for a series of bomb attacks on U.S., French and Kuwaiti targets in December 1983. But Kuwait has refused to release the prisoners.

The pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad movement has said it is holding the Americans as well as four Frenchmen also kidnapped in Lebanon.

Waite previously mediated the release of an American Presbyterian minister held by Islamic Jihad and hostages in Iran and Libya.

Peres Accepts Sharon's Apology Ending Government Crisis

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Shimon Peres today accepted Ariel Sharon's apology for criticisms of Peres' Middle East peace moves, averting a crisis that threatened to topple Israel's fragile national unity government.

Education Minister Yitzhak Navon said Peres' decision ended the worst crisis to hit the 14-month old coalition between the prime minister's Labor Party and Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir's rightist Likud bloc. Sharon, a controversial war hero, serves as Likud minister of trade.

Navon, a former president, quoted on Israel Army radio, warned the burly Sharon would be fired if he repeated his criticisms.

Main Moslem Militias Meet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Representatives of Lebanon's main Moslem militias were invited to Damascus today in hope of ending a stalemate over a Syrian-backed militia agreement to end a decade of civil war in Lebanon.

Members of the Christian Lebanese Forces militia met with Syrian officials in Damascus Thursday. Officials of the Shiite Moslem Amal and Druze Progressive Socialist Party planned similar meetings with Syrian officials today.

The Lebanese Forces officers held talks late in the night with Syrian Vice President Abdel Halim Khaddam to detail their objections to the draft peace agreement.

Nurses' Arrests Prompts Protest

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police shot and killed a black man in their first fatal clash with rioters in more than two weeks in the sprawling Soweto black township outside Johannesburg, authorities said.

The shooting Thursday came shortly after police arrested 718 student nurses and auxiliary staff for holding an illegal strike at the townships Baragwanath Hospital, the biggest infirmary in the Southern Hemisphere.

It brought the death toll for racial violence that has swept South Africa to at least 843.

Two black women were killed in clashes with police in Cape Province — in the southern part of the country — earlier this week but it was the first fatal police shooting in Soweto in more than two weeks.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Snow, sleet and freezing rain spewed across the Plains today as a week-old wintry storm pushed out of the mountains after walloping the West with up to 5 feet of snow, leaving roads strewn with abandoned cars and closing schools in Colorado. Residents in the Southeast and along the Atlantic Coast enjoyed unseasonably warm temperatures — except in Alexandria, Va., where thousands of migrating blackbirds, mistaking the historic port city for their winter haven, swooped down and scared children and soiled the streets.

A high-powered winter storm, which earlier this week stranded hundreds of elk hunters in Washington state and killed two skiers in an avalanche in Utah, regained strength as it zeroed in on the Plains. "Obviously it hasn't died out," said Paul Fike of the National Weather Service.

"It's still there. It lost some definition as it climbed over the mountains, but it came back and has remained a fairly strong system." A total of 29 deaths have been blamed on snow, sleet, rain and fog since Saturday. Snow fell from eastern Colorado across southeast Wyoming and into Nebraska early today, but the brunt of the nasty weather was moving into Kansas. Sleet, freezing drizzle and light snow combined to make travel dangerous and conditions unpleasant. "We've had a little bit of everything here," said Fike in Kansas City. "I feel like it's been raining here for two weeks." The storm dumped 18 inches of snow near Pueblo, Colo., Thursday. Workers with snowplows and sand trucks battled low visibility, blowing snow and miles of abandoned cars to clear Interstate 25.

"It's coming down by the buckets," said Sgt. Dan Studen. "We've got vehicles stalled, spun, stuck from one end of town to the other." Schools in much of southeastern Colorado were closed Thursday. The weather service warned the storm could move south and spew up to 4 inches of snow today on the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle, where heavy sleet fell Thursday. Balmey weather warmed the Southeast Thursday. Record high temperatures were set or tied in nine cities, including a reading of 78 degrees in Lynchburg, Va., which surpassed a record 77 set in 1941. In Alexandria, Va., about 10,000 confused blackbirds settled in for the winter. "I thought Hitchcock was filming something," said Janice Banja, whose son, Justin, 4, refused to go outside. "I have never seen so many birds. They were in trees, in the sky. As far as you could see there were screeching birds." Robert Pritchett, the city's environmental health director, said the birds left droppings over patios, cars and laundry hanging out to dry. He said the droppings could be hazardous because they feed a dangerous soil fungus that, if inhaled, can cause histoplasmosis, a respiratory ailment similar to tuberculosis. Health officials plan to shoot fireworks "like the Fourth of July" next week to scare the flocks away. Good news was in store today for Buffalo, N.Y., where rain has fallen for 13 consecutive days in the city's rainiest November in history. "They're finally going to get the sun out," Fike said.

Shuttle Enterprise Bound For Museum

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Perched atop a NASA jumbo jet, the prototype shuttle Enterprise makes its final flight Saturday, a city-hopping jaunt from Florida to Baltimore and then to Washington to become part of a museum display.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday that 747 pilot A.J. Roy and co-pilot Gordon Fullerton, a veteran shuttle commander, will fly the big transport plane a scant 2,000 feet over 12 cities along the way to give the public a unique opportunity to view a shuttle.

Once in Washington, the research glider will be turned over to the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum for permanent display at a planned museum annex at Dulles International Airport.

Enterprise, which was not built to fly in space, was used to verify the flight characteristics of the shuttle in a series of gliding approach and landing tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., in 1977.

The shuttle is scheduled to leave the Kennedy Space Center at about 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Landing at Dulles is scheduled for around 2 p.m. and the shuttle will be removed from the 747 Sunday.

Enterprise will remain on a runway apron until a permanent hangar can be provided at the airport by the museum. In the meantime, an interim structure will be erected to protect the ship from the weather.

The shuttle's flight plan and arrival times:

- Jacksonville, Fla.: descend to 2,000 feet, arrival about 10 a.m.
- Washington: descend to 2,000 feet, arrives at Capital Beltway and Maryland Route 50, about 1:30 p.m.; proceeds east to west around the Beltway for one complete pass then around a second time to the Wilson Bridge. Shuttle then proceeds up Potomac River to Cabin John Bridge and then onto Dulles. Landing scheduled about 2 p.m.

Because of possible traffic congestion, the landing at Dulles will not be open to the public.

Geneva Man Arrested On A Lascivious Assault Charge

A 31-year-old Geneva man has been charged with committing a lewd and lascivious act upon a child in connection with alleged sexual assaults on an 8-year-old boy at the man's home four or five times between August and Nov. 1.

A Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services counselor and the boy reported the incidents to Seminole County sheriff's investigator Terry Huffman on Wednesday.

Anthony Avery Long, 34, of 4709 State Road 426, was arrested at the sheriff's department at 5:03 p.m. Wednesday and was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

SPEED, WEAPONS, POT
Lake Mary police reported charging a man with carrying concealed weapons and possession of over 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia after they stopped his car that was reportedly speeding.

Police gave the man a speeding warning, but while talking with him reportedly spotted a scale and a pipe believed to be used to smoke pot in his car, a police report said.

They asked for and got the man's permission to search the vehicle and reported finding additional drug paraphernalia, some marijuana and two martial arts weapons in the vehicle.

Ramone Felipe Perez, 19, of 181 5th St., Lake Mary, was arrested at 1 a.m. Thursday on County Road 15 at Lake Mary Boulevard.

A LITTLE POT
A 22-year-old Winter Springs man charged by Winter Springs police for driving with a suspended license was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana after police reportedly spotted some partially smoked pot cigarettes in the car.

The suspect was stopped by police after he allegedly sped out of a parking lot on State Road 434.

Charles David Poe of 639 Marlin St., was arrested at 1:51 a.m. Thursday and was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

CAUGHT AT WORK
A Sanford man tried to flee a deputy who was serving an arrest warrant for burglary. According to a deputy's report, he was serving the warrant Friday at 8 a.m. where the man worked on Lake Howell Road when the man tried to escape in his car. The subject was caught and arrested on a charge of burglary. The warrant was issued by the State Attorney's office in connection with a burglary Oct. 9 at 52 Willima Clark Court in Sanford.

Released from the jail on $5,000 bond was Tony Anthony Jones, 18, of 1405 W. 16th St., Sanford.

SENTENCING
A bandit who brandished a toy plastic handgun and took $158 and a rosary from a woman in the parking lot of the Altamonte Mall has been sentenced to 3 years in prison. He was one of 19 people whose cases were heard Tuesday.

Kenneth Lee Pinkey, 28, of Apopka, was sentenced by semi-retired Circuit Judge Volle Williams Jr. Williams gave Pinkey credit for 159 days already served.

According to court records, Altamonte Springs police were called to Sears at the State Road 436 mall May 31. There, security guards turned over Pinkey to them, and the witness who caught him identified him.

The victim told police Pinkey approached her at her car, pulled a gun and put it against her chest. He took her wallet and rosary and ran. The items were recovered.

When taken into custody, Pinkey had a black, realistic-looking, plastic handgun in his possession, according to a police report. He was charged with armed robbery.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Jesse D. Parks, 34, of 712 Honeysuckle Lane, Casselberry, arrested at 11:16 p.m. Wednesday after his van with one headlight ran onto the paved median of U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

—Michael M. Guthrie, 26, of P.O. Box 172, Lake Mary, at 11:30 p.m. Wednesday after he was seen driving with his lights out on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, and his vehicle reportedly ran a red light.

The first-time offenders have had their driver license suspended for 6 months, been ordered to pay a $250 fine and court costs of $27.50, and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentences differ, the actual sentence is reported:

—Rocky Lee Butler, 19, of P.O. Box 1794, Sanford, arrested Oct. 23 after his car ran off the roadway of U.S. Highway 17-92 at 24th St., in Sanford.

—Jerry Lee Moreland, 32, of 209 Wilshire Road, Casselberry, arrested Oct. 23 after his car was seen weaving on State Road 436 in Casselberry.

DUI, has his license suspended for 10 years and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and one year of probation. County Judge Harold Johnson also stipulated that Mason not receive a business-only driving permit.

—Richard D. Weddle, 34, of 863 N. Winter Park Drive, Casselberry, arrested Sept. 1 on SR 436 in Altamonte Springs after his pickup truck hit the median while he was making a U-turn. —Shanon I. Harmon, 41, of 433 Murcott St., Oviedo, arrested July 24 after her car traveled erratically on 17-92 in Sanford. She was also arrested on a second DUI charge Sept. 16 on State Road 419 in Oviedo after being asked by police for identification when parked at a convenience store. Police reported smelling alcohol on her breath. She was fined $500, ordered to complete 75 hours of community service and serve 30 days in the county jail on weekends.

—Laura Ann Pendergast, 20, of Box 1410 Wilson Place, Sanford, arrested Sept. 14 after her car failed to maintain a single lane on State Road 46 in Sanford.

The following persons arrested on a charge of DUI have been found guilty of the lesser charge of willful and wanton reckless driving:

—James Larry Clark, 41, of Orlando, arrested June 8 after his car was involved in an accident on Interstate 4. He was fined $300 and was placed on 6 months probation.

—Mary Corrine Doney, 35 of 1297 Wynne St., Sanford, arrested Aug. 1 after she drove north in the southbound lane of 17-92 in Sanford. She was fined $300 and placed on 6 months probation.

New Home For Lake Mary Police

The Lake Mary Police Department has a new home and, like the structure it will occupy, it is temporary.

Diamond Engineered Space of Orlando, manufacturers of modular building units, has put a 1,344 square foot 24 by 58 feet unit in place at the Lake Mary Police Department.

The police department is presently located at 145 E. Wilbur and the police share space there with the volunteer fire department.

Police Chief Harry Benson said he hopes his force can be in the new building next month and he is anticipating they will be calling the unit home for the next two or three years.

Benson said the additional space was needed to facilitate moving men and equipment and to house some new gear the force plans to purchase. Benson said the purchase was originally approved in September by the city commission.

According to Diamond Engineered salesman Andy Fox the lease purchase plan specifies a two year lease with an option to buy and with an option to extend the lease if requested to do so by the city.

Madeline Mims, assistant city clerk for Lake Mary, said the double-wide trailer costs the city $667 a month and will be temporarily used to house equipment necessary for implementation of Seminole County's E-911 system. Ms. Mims also said the structure, which is now in place next to police headquarters, will house the police department until a permanent site can be found for a new building.

"The only thing left to be done is some electrical work and carpentry," Benson said. "Until the city can allocate funds for a new site and a new building, we will have to make do with what we have. It's tough on a city this size to provide facilities."

City commissioner Buzz Peltos has expressed displeasure about setting a precedent in Lake Mary by allowing a temporary structure to be erected within the city limits. But Peltos agreed to forego his criticism in lieu of the cramped quarters the police have been laboring in. He also said he had the assurance of the mayor and other officials that the building would be temporary and wouldn't set a standard for other buildings in the city.

Because the building is not furnished, some furnishings from the permanent building will be moved next door and other space will be taken up by electronic gear needed to make the Seminole County 911 emergency phone system work.

Benson said officials plan a trip to the state surplus property warehouse at Starke to purchase surplus gear and to buy used furniture. A capital facilities committee has been formed to look into purchasing land and drawing up plans for facilities, including such things as a new police station, Benson said.

He also said he would personally favor a combined city hall-police-fire headquarters similar to the facility Winter Springs recently built but he said any addition to the present site would be greatly appreciated.

Among the offices to be moved next door, Benson said, are: the Chief's office, the detective bureau (under Detective Jim Taggart), the crime prevention unit, a juvenile detention room, the dispatcher's office and Lieutenant Samuel Belfiore's office.

Also additional space will be set aside for conference, interrogation and waiting rooms; things not presently found in the old building, Benson said.

Fox said the city had given his company an Oct. 1 deadline to begin installation of the temporary structure and he said City Manager Kathy Rice told him exactly what the city wanted in terms of size and function. This type of building is less expensive and works well for people with space and size limitations and carries with it an option to extend the lease if need be, Fox said.

Superfund Needed But Not Supertax

Federal efforts to clean up the country's worst toxic waste dumps are grinding to a halt because Congress has failed to extend the Superfund program. Authorization for the 5-year-old program expired Sept. 30, and the House and Senate have failed to reach agreement on the amount or source of future Superfund appropriations.

During its first five years, Superfund's $1.6 billion budget came almost entirely from a special tax on petroleum and other chemicals that produce toxic materials. Under this system, the oil and chemical companies that produce toxics pay taxes to finance the clean-up of abandoned toxic dumps. Fair enough. But the oil and chemical companies now have convinced a majority in Congress that their contribution to Superfund should not be increased, even though clean-up costs have been higher than expected and continue to rise.

The Reagan administration has asked Congress for a $5.3 billion Superfund during the next five years. This is all the money that Environmental Protection Agency officials say they can spend wisely. Nevertheless, both the House and the Senate want an even larger Superfund — and appear willing to impose a new, insidious supertax to fund it.

Throwing fresh money at a problem as usual, the Senate passed a $7.5 billion Superfund bill in September. The House Ways and Means Committee raised the ante and approved a $10.3 billion bill that could come to the floor for a final vote this week.

The House and Senate versions each retain the tax on the petroleum and chemical industries. But each has introduced an alarming new tax levy that supporters call a manufacturer's environmental excise tax. This tax would be paid by thousands of manufacturers, many of whom produce no toxic wastes whatsoever. Inasmuch as this so-called excise tax would be imposed on a manufacturer's gross receipts minus its cost of labor, it is a value-added tax, a form of national sales tax imposed at every step in the manufacturing process. Such taxes, commonplace in Europe, had received little support in the United States until the Superfund debate began.

A value-added tax is a hidden tax that never shows up on a cash-register receipt or a payroll check stub. For tax-and-spend politicians, this is a big plus. For taxpayers, it's a disaster.

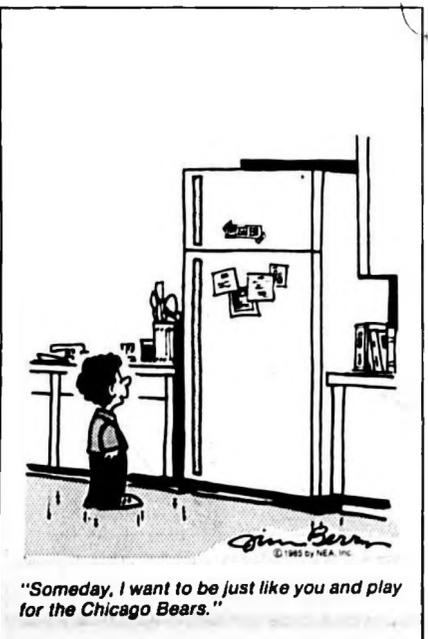

Because it is a hidden tax, the value-added tax is an easy tax for politicians to increase. Every European country that has a VAT, except Norway, has increased its rate at least once. Britain has increased its value-added tax by 50 percent, Denmark by 112 percent, and Sweden by 112 percent. Does anyone believe members of Congress have more willpower than their counterparts in the parliaments of Europe?

The value-added tax is a whole new issue. If Congress wants to consider this method of taxation, it should do so as part of the debate over deficit-reduction or tax-reform. Congress should not make such a critical decision on federal tax policy while, in the words of Rep. Thomas J. Downey, D-N.Y., "hiding behind the skirt of Superfund."

There is a wide consensus in this country for Congress to continue the Superfund and clean up toxic wastes during the next five years. The outlay should be no more than the administration is asking, $5.3 billion, and this should be funded through the chemical feedstocks tax and other existing revenue sources.

America needs the Superfund; it does not need a supertax.

Reagan Delays Affirmative Action Decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is holding off on a decision to issue a directive overturning a 20-year-old affirmative action executive order dealing with goals and timetables for federal contracts.

There are indications that he did not want to rock the boat while he is summit bound.

But nevertheless, opponents are convinced that Reagan, who has an anathema for quotas, will follow through on a recommendation by Attorney General Edwin Meese and conservative supporters to torpedo affirmative action.

On the other side of the fence is Labor Secretary William Brock, who is opposed to destroying affirmative action policies, which also affect municipalities, hiring in police and fire departments as well as private industry. Brock supports voluntary goals.

The presidential order affects minorities, including blacks and hispanics, as well as women.

The president opposes most of the conventional ways of wiping out discrimination, the methods that have been in effect since 1954 when the Supreme Court said in Brown vs. the Board of Education that separate but equal is not equal.

Since then the successors to Dwight D. Eisenhower have sought through laws and through Justice Department action to promote civil rights. With great reluctance, Reagan signed legislation extending the Voting Rights Act in 1982.

His feelings in all complaints of discrimination is for the individual to prove it. That is a long process and a costly one.

Without the federal government as a watchdog to protect the rights of many who are helpless to fight a deeply engrained system, they may suffer.

The main issue is the attitude of the administration and how it's conveyed both in and out of government.

In the Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon eras, civil rights had a high priority. In this administration, there is no impetus to protect and enhance the opportunities for those who have been deprived throughout the nation's history.

Blacks have had to struggle to win their rights. Women did not get the vote until 1920 and laws discriminating against them still exist in many areas.

Both Meese and Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, in charge of the civil rights division, have trained their sights on civil rights leaders, saying that they do not represent their constituencies. Meese compared Reynolds to the great civil rights advocates of the recent past.

Both oppose forced busing and even plans, as in the St. Louis case, that would permit voluntary busing.

Meese has tried to approach the issue from several different directions, starting with the attempt to give tax breaks to segregated private schools.

He appears determined to get the federal government, and he hopes state and local governments, out of the business of watching out for short circuiting orders to end discrimination.

The attorney general believes that the Constitution should be adhered to in the way the founding fathers perceived their society 200 years ago. There was slavery then for which the nation paid heavily.

That is no longer the case, and they could not force all of the problems ahead.

DONALD LAMBRO

NCI Urges Strategy Change

WASHINGTON — A recent analysis of the National Cancer Institute's $12 billion war on cancer, which finds little progress on the treatment front, urges a major shift in strategy: a greater effort in cancer prevention and less emphasis on chemotherapy.

"When any major disease is tackled on a national scale, the chief effort should be to prevent its occurrence," writes Harvard microbiologist Dr. John Cairns in the November issue of Scientific American. "To put most of the effort into treatment is to deny all precedent."

Throughout modern medical history, none of the important causes of death has been primarily controlled by treatment. The scourge of cancer, which kills 462,000 Americans a year, has proved no different.

"It remains a depressing truth," says Cairns, "that fewer than 50 percent of cancer patients can be cured by surgery." Despite more than $1.2 billion spent each year on federally funded research, the gains from other forms of treatment have been limited. The record of successful chemotherapy advances has been largely confined to unusual cancers like Hodgkin's disease and childhood leukemia, which account for only a small fraction of cancer death rates.

"Whether any of the common cancers can be cured by chemotherapy has yet to be established," says Cairns.

NCI officials prefer to measure progress in terms of five-year survival rates, rather than simple mortality statistics. They attribute steady increases in the fraction of cancer patients who are still alive, five years after diagnosis, to improvements in methods of treatment.

But Cairns finds such calculations misleading when applied across the board to cancers that, when left untreated, are not invariably fatal. "It turns out that we have no certain way of estimating how many lives are waiting to be saved," he observes. For example, the reported increase in survival of men with prostate cancer is due to more men being classified as having cancers of the prostate (90 percent of which are small, nonfatal and produce no symptoms), rather than to fewer men dying from the disease.

Khadafy Wants To Wage War With Water

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — No one in the American Southwest needs to be told that access to such water sources as the Colorado River can spell the difference between lush farmland and jackrabbit country. Powerful interests have battled in the courts for decades over the right to share the limited water supplies that can turn a desert green.

Half a world away, Libyan dictator Muammar Khadafy is planning a "water war" of his own. But he'll fight it with earth-moving equipment — and tanks and planes if necessary. His long-range objective, intelligence sources suspect, is to bring Egypt to its knees by cutting off the waters of the Nile, which have sustained Egypt for millennia.

Ostensibly, Khadafy's grandiose scheme to run a pipeline 1,200 miles from an underground lake in southern Libya to the Mediterranean coast is simply an ambitious plan to make the desert bloom

Luxury Prices Stable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most Americans, particularly those whose incomes are tied to inflation, watch the cost-of-living index for economic clues.

But those figures only cover basic commodities. What about the cost of living well?

The Washington Dossier, a local magazine, has started keeping an eye on the prices of such consumer items as imported champagne and caviar and perfume.

"Republicans have done a good job of keeping it fairly stable," a spokesman says of the Cost-of-Living-Well Index.

For example, October prices, as published in the November issue, were only .0002 points higher than in September.

The October prices certainly bode well for Republicans and others who hold with the belief that living well is the best revenge, or who simply cleave to the good life without any sort of political motivation.

Last month, they could buy an ounce of Beluga caviar for a mere $35, the same as during September. Joy de Jan Patou a Paris, a fragrance guaranteed to make the wearer smell better, also was unchanged at $200 an ounce.

It is true the price of Roederer Cristal champagne was up $6 a bottle to $56, but offsetting that boost was an $85 drop in the cost of a Burberry trench coat.

The upward swing of champagne might have been balanced by the downward trend of trench coats, depending, of course, on such variables as the weather and how much of the bubbly you drink.

That element, however, needn't be figured in the prices of such items as Russian sable coats, unchanged in October at $35,000 and hotel rooms on the French Riviera.

I mean, if you can afford to pay $155 a night to stay at the Grand Hotel du Cap Ferrat, what's another $15, which brought the rates to $170?

Other market basket goods and the October prices cited in the index included Piaget Polo watches ($35,000), Rolls-Royce limousines ($159,000), dinner for two at Le Lion d'Or ($125), Washington-to-London tickets on the Concorde ($2,423) and ski lift tickets at St. Moritz ($80 a week).

Although Dossier doesn't say so, I assume the Concorde ticket was for mid-week coach travel and had to be purchased at least six months in advance.

Coffee: It Is Or Isn't

By Gayle Young
UPI Science Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Caffeine seeps into the blood stream through the lining of the stomach and prods red blood cells into a race to the heart.

As the heart pumps faster to accommodate the rush, caffeine-laden blood feeds into the nervous system where it makes nerve messengers so sensitive some scientists describe them as "trigger happy".

It is a chemical alteration of the body almost everyone feels when they drink coffee or tea, sip on a cola or pop an aspirin. And for years the medical community has had the sinking suspicion that something so pervasive in the body must be harmful.

But no one has proved it.

Although studies linking coffee to cancer, heart disease and stunted growth have received much publicity, doctors say none of them have conclusively proven caffeine to be dangerous.

"People have been saying for years caffeine is bad for you," says Geoffrey Kabot, a researcher at the American Health Foundation in New York. "But a lot of studies linking it to disease have not panned out. People drink tons of the stuff all over the world. If there was something really wrong we'd be seeing it, like cigarettes."

The Food and Drug Administration also reports no conclusive evidence linking caffeine to long-term health effects. The FDA only advises pregnant women against consuming it because of incomplete studies suggesting the chemical causes birth defects in mice, says Lawrence Lin, FDA consumer safety officer.

The latest piece of evidence against coffee was released Nov. 11 at a meeting of the American Heart Association. Researchers from Johns Hopkins Medical School reported a long-term study of 1,130 male medical students indicated those who drank five cups of coffee or more a day were almost three times more likely to develop heart disease.

The scientist added, however, the study did not constitute enough evidence to advise Americans unequivocally to cut down on coffee. He did suggest it wouldn't hurt to drink two cups a day or less as part of a moderate lifestyle.

Doctors say excessive coffee consumption is often indicative of an unhealthy lifestyle. People who drink 10 cups of coffee a day usually have stressful lives, bad eating habits and smoke, they say.

The link between heavy caffeine consumption and unhealthy lifestyles may have had an effect on studies showing some link between the chemical and disease.

Longwood City Commission Denies Zoning Changes

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Protests by residents of the Lake Ruth and Lake Wildmere areas of Longwood against a proposed annexation and zoning changes in their neighborhoods brought city commission denial of the requests.

Most of the protesters were from the Wildmere area upset over a request by Vite Investments of Altamonte Springs, Charles Jordan of 664 Oxford St. and Edward Moore, 666 Oxford St. to rezone three parcels for a proposed office complex on State Road 434 west of Oxford Street.

There was confusion over Monday night's public hearings on the amendment to the Land Use Plan from low density residential to offices, commercial and rezoning complying with the amendment. The original motion set the hearing for Dec. 9, but in transcribing the minutes from tape and newspaper advertising City Clerk Don Terry inadvertently used the Nov. 11 date. The minutes were approved with the Nov. 11 date, but the developer had been told it would be Dec. 9 and he did not have the site plan ready Monday night. He asked that he be allowed to make his presentation on Dec. 9 or the city might be leaving itself open to a suit.

Leading the pack of protestors was Longwood developer Georges St. Laurent, who lives on Lake Wildmere and has threatened to sue the city if the zoning is changed from R-1A Residential to C-2 Commercial.

came to the meeting with his representative Philip Tatch, his attorney and a court stenographer.

Since the hearing was on the agenda and the chamber was packed with residents interested in the item, the commission decided to let them have their say. The city attorney, Gerald Korman advised the hearing be continued to Dec. 9 because of the confusion over the date.

City Commissioner June Lormann, who made the motion to close the public hearing, said she "fully intended after listening to the clerk and the attorney to give the developer an opportunity to be heard on Dec. 9, but due to the fact all of these people are in my neighborhood, I'm not worried about court reporters or being sued, these people out there elected me."

The commissioners voted 3-2 to deny the request to amend the Land Use Plan with Ed Myers and Larry Goldberg voting no because the developer did not get a chance to present his side. The rezoning request was then denied because it did not comply with the plan.

City Planner Chris Nagle in a memo to the commission stated "In my opinion the Jordan property and other residential properties which abut either C-2 or C-3 commercial zoning districts should be considered for rezoning to a limited retail/professional (RP) district. A new RP zoning district is sorely needed to provide transitional downzoning between commercial and residentially zoned lands."

"Although the requested rezoning does have merit, and I sympathize with Jordan and Moore, a C-2 rezoning is not the answer to our problem," Nagle said.

Nagle warned the commission that Vite Investments does not have a contract for purchase or use of the Moore property and there is no guarantee that they will develop all three parcels as one project.

Residents protested that commercial development would be an encroachment, would pollute the lake, ruin their view and cause additional traffic.

Annexation of seven acres of Nelson's Lake View Heights at 1485 N. County Road 427 was requested by John Wilson. The property is currently zoned A-1 Agricultural in Seminole County with a C-1 Commercial special exception to allow Wilson to sell produce grown by him on the property, but Wilson was asking for C-3 Commercial zoning in the city to operate a retail and wholesale produce business.

The property is adjacent to Lake Ruth Drive and across the road from commercially zoned property in the city. Residents of the Lake Ruth subdivision objected to the proposed rezoning that Smith hoped to get if annexed into the city saying it would "encroach on and destroy the residential character of the neighborhood."

Linda Ray of 429 Lake Ruth

Drive said when Wilson had previously sold produce there rotten garbage had been dumped along the fence attracting rodents and flies and residents had called the County Health Department. She also said the property was listed for sale and if sold under the new zoning some other type of business could be opened.

"We definitely intend to open a produce stand and guarantee it will be a first class operation," Earl Fisher, a partner with Wilson in the business, said.

Ray's husband, Richard, and her parents, Jack and Betty Waltman of 431 Lake Ruth Drive, also stated their objections. Wilson presented a petition with 40 names of people who said they had no objections.

John McCoy, who owns property next to Wilson, said he had no objection. "I don't see any other use for property on County Road 427 than commercial," he said, "what other good use would there be? No one would build houses along there now."

The commission voted unanimously to deny the annexation. In other business the commission:

- Unanimously approved a site plan submitted by the developer Ken Martin Construction, Inc., for Florida Central Commerce Point, a condominium in Florida Central Commerce Park.

- Turned down a request by John Leaman, National Child Safety Council representative, for endorsement for a Child Safety Program in Longwood schools, which would be funded by local donations.

- Authorized purchase of a multi-program, multi-user computer system from Information Management System of America at a cost of $31,000 to serve all the financial accounting needs of the city. Financial Director Barry Weeks said bids ranged up to $105,000 and this system was one of the lowest and contained the best features.

- Approved the hook-up to the city's sewer system for Park

Square Shopping Center requested by John Schneeman, thus putting to rest the on-going controversy over the development being illegally connected to the system. The developer had given the city $15,000 to reserve capacity at the Skylark treatment plant when it became available. Korman said the developer was promised the project would be on sewer and the city had been charging him a sewage fee for several years. "There's no way the city can deny having knowledge it was going to be used."

Key To Transfer

Heathrow developer Jeno Paulucci, left, hands over symbolic key to Heathrow Utilities wastewater treatment facilities to Seminole County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm. In exchange for taking over the plant and a payment of $7.5 million, Paulucci has agreed to sell Seminole County land near Yankee Lake on which to build a regional wastewater treatment plant. The city of Sanford has protested the sale and is attempting to take the land by condemnation proceedings. The city hopes to build a landspreading effluent disposal system on the site.

McGovern: 'Rambo' Administration Threatens NATO, Summit Prospects

OXFORD, England (UPI) — Former U.S. senator George McGovern said Thursday President Reagan's "Rambo" administration has hurt prospects for next week's summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

"The spirit of 'Rambo' is not only riding the crest of Hollywood, it is in the White House and to some extent the Pentagon," McGovern said during a debate at Oxford University, using the reference to the film hero about a Green Beret veteran who acts as one-man army.

McGovern, who unsuccessfully challenged Richard Nixon for the presidency in 1972, said Reagan's "global unilateralism" has weakened NATO and hurt chances for a successful summit.

He said the Reagan administration's policies on Nicaragua, the United Nations and consultations with the allies had made the world a more dangerous place.

"Whether he has frightened the Soviet Union I do not know," McGovern said, "but I do know he has frightened me and a lot of others. I regret the scandals of Watergate destroyed the (Nixon) presidency. A wonder of wonders happened, I find myself longing for the days of Richard Nixon."

U.S. Navy Secretary John Lehman defended the Reagan administration and said the president's policies have helped "to counter the massive Soviet (military) buildup in the '60s and '70s."

"The prospects for arms control are better than they have ever been," Lehman said. Reagan had allowed Washington to negotiate from strength.

He defended the Star Wars proposals as a diversion "from weapons that can hurt people to those that can protect them."

The motion debated by Oxford's historic student debating society was whether the Reagan administration had undermined the unity of NATO. By a roughly 3-1 margin the students voted it had.

Oil-Gas Leasing Terms Outrage State Officials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department's final terms for the mid-December sale of oil and gas leases in the eastern Gulf of Mexico have prompted outraged reactions from Florida officials.

Interior announced Thursday it will offer for sale 6,297 unleased blocks covering 36.2 million acres in the Gulf off of Florida and Alabama — 1,847 blocks and 10.6 million acres more than Gov. Bob Graham had wanted.

The final terms removed from the sale two areas — totaling 986,000 acres — that Graham and other state officials has requested be removed but left in two larger areas, the ones totaling the 10.6 million acres.

"The final terms and sale configuration represent what I believe to be a fair balance between the national interest and the interest of the states of Florida and Alabama," Interior Secretary Donald Hodel said in a statement.

Graham, in a statement, noted that Interior had "recognized the validity of several concerns expressed by the state." But he added, "the dangers of oil and gas exploration and production in the areas off southwest Florida and the Florida Keys and the Florida Middle Ground remain of concern given the uncertain and potentially devastating impact this activity could cause."

Ireland said it was "particularly appalling" that Interior "failed to recognize the environmental significance" of the waters off Collier and Monroe counties.

Rep. Andy Ireland, R-Fla., said he was "shocked" Interior had decided to proceed with the sale.

"While some of the deferrals we suggested have been accepted and will not be leased, this most important section remains part of the proposed sale," he said.

The sale, in which land goes for a minimum $150 per acre, will be held Dec. 18 in New Orleans.

Catch A Glimpse Of Halley's Comet This Weekend

By William Harwood
UPI Science Writer

Star gazers armed with binoculars and favored by clear, dark sky have a golden opportunity to catch a glimpse of Halley's comet this weekend in the saggy field of view as an easily located star cluster.

"It is right now brighter than it was anticipated but I don't think anybody can make a judgment of what's likely to happen over the next few months," said Steve Edberg, a scientist at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif.

Edberg and a colleague last Friday made the first reported sighting of the comet with the unaided eye since its last appearance in 1910. They benefited from excellent "seeing" conditions in the San Gabriel Mountains, however, and knew exactly where to look.

The comet is not expected to be easily visible to the naked eye until January and even then it will remain a dim object.

"I would not call it easy but it was clearly there," Edberg said. "It was very dim. It was not even distinct but it was clearly extended. It was not a star by any means."

This weekend, even unpracticed observers will have a chance to track down history's most famous interplanetary voyager because the comet will be in the same field of view through reasonably good binoculars as the Pleiades star cluster.

To find the Pleiades, face the eastern horizon several hours after sunset and locate a point about halfway between the horizon and straight overhead. Scan the area for a group of tightly packed stars that resembles a small dipper.

Once the Pleiades has been found, carefully study the area through binoculars and look for an extremely faint, ghostly-looking object below the cluster that looks like an out-of-focus star.

That is Halley's comet, making its 29th recorded visit to the inner solar system since Chinese astronomers first noted it in 239 B.C.

Regardless of the comet's fame, observers should be prepared to see a less-than-dazzling display. Because of the relative positions of the comet, the sun and the Earth, Halley is making one of its most unspectacular showings in the past two millennia.

A key to spotting Halley is clear, dark sky well away from city lights. Observers also should allow plenty of time for their eyes to fully adapt to night vision.

Through 10-by-40 binoculars used inside the city limits of Cape Canaveral, for example, the comet is just barely detectable and no detail is observable even through an 8-inch telescope.

On Nov. 27, Halley passes about 58 million miles from Earth on the inbound leg of its long orbit around the sun. After making its closest approach to the sun on Feb. 9, the comet will head back for deep space, passing about 39 million miles from Earth on April 11.

City Backs Bottle Bill

The Sanford City Commission has lent its support to a mandatory bottle deposit bill which will be introduced by Senator Jeanne Malchon during the 1988 state legislative session.

Jane Ferguson, legislative chairman of the north Brevard environmental committees requested the commission's support and expressed optimism at the bill's passing. "Last session," she said, "for the first time in Florida history, the 'bottle bill' was not killed; it was placed on a year's study of the litter problem."

The 'bottle bill' will, according to Ms. Ferguson, "reduce litter (and) reduce the need for landfills." She said her goal is to supply Senator Malchon with more than 300 support resolutions by Jan. 1, for the next legislative session.

The commission has also approved bids totalling $83,712, for utility extensions on Upsala Road to service the Sanford central park project. The expenditure consists of $65,800 for 16 inch water main piping, $10,150 for 6 inch sewer main piping, $7,332 for fittings and $430 for repair clamps.

Astronauts Encounter Line At The Bathroom

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The commander of Challenger's just-concluded Spacelab mission says his crew of eight probably represents the upper limit on the number of passengers that can be carried on a single shuttle flight.

"We had the largest crew that's ever flown," commander Henry Hartsfield said Thursday at a news conference to review the mission. "I had trouble keeping up with them in the usual fashion, I had to count them all the time to make sure we had them all."

Challenger's crew — five NASA astronauts, two West Germans and a Dutchman — landed Nov. 6 at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to close a successful weeklong science mission paid for by West Germany.

Hartsfield's NASA crewmates for the mission were co-pilot Steven Nagel, James Buchli, Guion Bluford and Bonnie Dunbar. Joining them were Ernst Messerschmid and Reinhard Furrer, both of West Germany, and Wubbo Ockels of the Netherlands.

The crew worked in two shifts to operate a battery of experiments in the Spacelab research module in Challenger's cargo bay, most of them devoted to materials processing and life science.

"I regret we didn't have enough time to look out of the window," Furrer said. "I think the view of the Earth and the view of how it looks down there is something that impresses me."

Hartsfield said while having the Spacelab module available reduced crowding somewhat, eight crew members appeared to be the limit for shuttle flights.

"Sometimes during the handover periods (between shifts) when there got to be five or six or seven people in the middeck area, it got rather crowded," he said. "There'd be a line at the bathroom and a line at the lockers where all our clothing was stowed."

Doctor Candid: Schroeder In Poor Physical, Mental Shape

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A doctor said three strokes and bouts of depression had left artificial heart patient William Schroeder in such poor physical and mental condition that "I don't think I would want to live that way."

Dr. Gary Fox, a neurologist, said in a candid medical briefing Wednesday at Humana Hospital Audubon that the world's longest surviving artificial heart patient had few spontaneous reactions and suffered bouts of agitation and depression which were treated with sedatives.

Fox, who sees Schroeder two or three times weekly, said the 53-year-old retired munitions inspector's mood deteriorated when his wife of 33 years, Margaret, returned to their Jasper, Ind., home more than a month ago after suffering a dizzy spell.

"It's a psychological type thing," Fox said. "He seems to do better when Margaret's around." Hospital spokeswoman Donna Hazle said

Schroeder showed "increased strength and is more alert" and could move his limbs better.

"He is attempting to speak this morning," said Hazle, who said his condition had been upgraded from serious to satisfactory.

The latest stroke was confirmed with computer-aided X-rays Sunday night and Monday.

Schroeder has not spoken since suffering the third stroke, which doctors confirmed with computer-enhanced X-rays Sunday night and Monday, Fox said.

The two strokes Schroeder suffered earlier this year slurred his speech, impaired his right side movements and left him unable to walk without assistance.

"Most of his reactions are not spontaneous," Fox said. "I don't think that I would want to live that way."

Fair To Benefit Alzheimer's Research

A "Country Fair" to benefit Alzheimer's disease research will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Twenty area craftsmen will display their works for sale at the fair, which will take place in the Kmart parking lot, 3101 Orlando Blvd., Sanford, said Rene Rowan, Kmart personnel director.

The Longwood and Lake Mary Cloggers will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Also on tap for the day is a demonstration of skateboard routines by state champion Jim McCall and a show by local gymnasts.

A classic and antique car show, pony rides and 'moon walk' will be featured. Refreshments, including barbecued chicken dinners, hot dogs and soft drinks, will be sold.

The event is open to the public and there is no admission charge. All proceeds from sales will go to Alzheimer's research, Ms. Rowan said. Further information may be obtained by calling 3233-5760.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Sanctuary Season Begins Today Amid Hope For Manatee Safety

As winter approaches, the friendly "sea cow" is in mortal danger again and wildlife officials hope Florida's manatees will survive better than they did last year.

The 1985 manatee sanctuary season begins today. Marine biologists hope for a safer winter than last year, when a record 128 of the endangered sea cows were killed in Florida waters.

The animals inhabit Florida's coastal waters from Miami to Jacksonville on the east coast and from the Keys to the Suwannee River on the west coast. They also migrate into the St. Johns River from Jacksonville to Lake Monroe during the cold months.

Florida law requires boaters to reduce speeds to idle in manatee sanctuaries during the season, which runs from Nov. 15 to March 31.

Smuggler Could Tap President

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A drug smuggler's warehouse uncovered by a deputy yielded lists of radio frequencies used by President Reagan, the Secret Service, federal and local law enforcement agencies, Broward County Sheriff Nick Navarro says.

Navarro confirmed Thursday reports that the lists, seized two months ago, detailed frequencies used to communicate with Air Force One and the presidential limousine, as well as those used by several Florida missile bases and NASA security officials.

Investigators believe the group using the warehouse was responsible for smuggling up to 1,000 pounds of cocaine and several tons of marijuana into the United States each month, detective reports said.

City Recruiter Roots For Bucks

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — An little-known agreement between the city and some of its employees several years ago is giving some workers who drive their cars very little — if at all — about $4 a mile auto expense compensation.

Walter Ponder, chief recruiter for the city's personnel department, earlier this week hit the Mayor's Budget Review Committee with an auto expense bill for $2,610, that dates back to 1981.

"As we used to say in the Legislature," said City Personnel Director Lynwood Arnold, a former state senator, "Even blind hogs root for acorns."

Claims Innocent Were Executed

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Capital punishment opponents are hoping the release of a study that claims 25 innocent people — including one Florida man last year — have been executed since 1900 will help abolish the death penalty.

Professors Michael Radelet, of the University of Florida, and Hugo Adam Bedau, of Tufts University, said their study, which took several years to complete, concluded that of the 7,000 persons executed this century, 25 were erroneously put to death. The results of their study would, they hoped, help abolish the death penalty, Radelet said Thursday.

But, Radelet said, he and Bedau had to use their own judgment in determining innocence because "The states would never admit to putting a man to death by mistake."

Reagan; A Mission For Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, in his last public appearance before the Geneva summit, softened decades of rancor against the Kremlin by envisioning a world of peaceful competition linked by "a durable bridge to the future."

In a 17-minute nationally broadcast speech Thursday night, Reagan articulated the view spread by senior officials in recent days that no specific results should be expected.

"Success at the summit ... should not be measured by any short-term agreements that may be signed," he cautioned. "Only the passage of time will tell us whether we constructed a durable bridge to the future."

Reagan flies to Geneva Saturday morning to prepare for two days of meetings Tuesday and Wednesday, his first summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

While it would be naive to think a single summit can establish a permanent peace, this conference can begin a dialogue for peace," he said.

"My mission, stated simply, is a mission for peace," Reagan declared. "It is to engage the new Soviet leader in what I hope will be a dialogue for peace that endures beyond my presidency."

Reagan said his agenda would include an attempt to "reduce the weapons of war," a plan he enunciated at the United Nations last month to stop regional wars, educational and cultural exchanges with Moscow and human rights.

He did not directly mention the "Star Wars" space defense system the Soviets have said is a barrier to arms control and did not specifically point to Soviet abuses of human rights, although he said he would be firm with Gorbachev on the issue.

"This affirmation of freedom is not only our duty as Americans, it is essential for success at Geneva," he said. "A government which does not respect its citizens' rights is not likely to respect its other international undertakings. That is why we must and will speak in Geneva on behalf of those who cannot speak for themselves."

The core of Reagan's speech was an appeal for peace based on "openness, honest communications and opportunities for our people to get to know one another directly ... I have hopes that we can lessen the distrust between us, reduce the levels of secrecy and bring forth a more open world."

He said the two countries are close to a new agreement on educational and cultural exchanges and suggested a tour of the United States by the famed Bolshoi Ballet "while Soviet citizens could see American plays and hear groups like the Beach Boys. And how about Soviet children watching 'Sesame Street'?"

treatment capacity by 1990 and also be designed so that additional capacity can be phased in during the next 20 years. "Sanford and Lake Mary are included in these plans," Hooper said.

Regarding disposal of the treated waste, Sanford and Lake Mary are again included, although they are in the same situation as developments in unincorporated northwest Seminole. "We have to work out an arrangement for give-backs (of treated effluent) over and above what can be disposed of at the site," Hooper said.

Hooper said although the county will hire its project engineers on Nov. 26, tests already done by county engineers have indicated between 7.5 million and 10 million gallons of effluent can be disposed of each day at the Yankee Lake property. Three hundred of the site's 2,867 acres are "prime disposal area" Hooper said, and filtration from this site will cover much of the property's entire acreage.

Hooper said the county and the cities would have to find other means of disposing of the treated effluent beyond the 7.5-million-gallon to 10-million-gallon estimated disposal capacity.

Hooper said spraying the treated effluent over golf courses will be utilized in unincorporated northwest Seminole and Falsion has said during the last few months that Sanford has been looking into the same. Falsion also said there is a possibility the effluent could be sprayed over the city's airport open land area.

If technologically feasible, Mayor Smith said Sanford would consider turning its Lake

Monroe plant into a regional facility and/or building a plant with the county at Yankee Lake.

Unincorporated northwest Seminole alone will need a service capacity of 10 million gallons a day by 1995, Hooper said, and Sanford is already treating 5½ million gallons a day at the Lake Monroe plant, according to Falsion.

Of the county's saying its plant would treat Sanford and Lake Mary effluent, Falsion said, "I think the county engineers know better than to suggest it. The numbers just don't add up."

However, if Sanford were to gain title to the property, the situation would apparently reverse itself, leaving unincorporated northwest Seminole without sufficient treatment facilities, Hooper said.

Regarding this, Falsion said two regional plants, one at Lake Monroe, the other at Yankee Lake, "are a possibility, but only speculation at this point." He said "communications" the county and city have at the Dec. 18 meeting "will address this and many other options."

The wounded were attended to at hastily erected tent hospitals in Mariquita, Lerida and Guayabal in line with a promise from Alberto Vasquez Restrepo, governor of the Colombian state of Antioquia, to devote all efforts to caring for the injured.

"Those who are dead are dead," he said Thursday. "We have to take care of the injured."

Cotte said the Red Cross sent two trucks from Bogota early today, one with equipment for a fourth camp hospital and the other with food and drugs. A total of 24 army and police helicopters were ferrying supplies and medical personnel to the disaster area.

U.S. officials in the Panama Canal Zone prepared eight Army helicopters to lift supplies and medical teams into Colombia. A Venezuelan air force plane loaded with relief supplies landed in Bogota late Thursday.

First-aid volunteers helped doctors and nurses to treat an estimated 10,000 homeless, Cotte said, while plumbers and electricians helped provide shelter for an equal number left without homes.

Hardest hit by the volcano was Armero, a city of 45,000, 93 miles west of Bogota in the nation's coffee-growing region. Only rooftops, the steeple of a church and a cemetery located on high ground were visible above the mud that covered the town.

"God, what have you done to us?" said one resident of Armero who fled to Mariquita and took refuge in a treetop.

"Armero has disappeared and there is only mud," Osberio Hernandez, a resident of the town known as the "White City" for its cotton and rice production, told a Bogota radio station.

The powerful eruption was the deadliest since New Guinea's Mount Lamington exploded in 1951, killing between 3,000 and 5,000 people.

It was the Western Hemisphere's deadliest eruption this century. The worst before was in 1968, when Mount Arenal in Costa Rica erupted and killed 80. The explosive eruption of Mount St. Helens in Washington left 63 dead.

President Belisario Betancur, who flew over the region Thursday, called it an "unimaginable tragedy" and placed himself in command of relief operations.

Many people in the region refused to leave the area despite a warning last week that an eruption was imminent.

"The Colombians were attempting to become prepared," U.S. Geological Survey official Derrell Herd said in Washington.

"As best as I can tell the eruption occurred before their plans and activities could be fully implemented."

Officials said the melting snow and ice caused little damage close to the volcano, but gained force as it moved down the Chinchina, Languilla, Guali, Cloro and Molino rivers, sweeping away trees and causing widespread damage.

"A wave of trees, people and furniture hit my building and knocked it down," said Lozano Pacheco. "It carried me to the city limits, where I saw the top of a tree and I climbed. I was there all night and all I could hear were shouts and cries."

When asked if he foreses resuming the role of a church pastor again after the suit is settled, Crossley said it is too early to say, but if he had to guess it would be that he would be involved in fulltime broadcasting and evangelism.

He said the Lake Monroe church has its own structure and will continue to function with an interim preacher until a new pastor is found.

Since he is no longer pastor of the Lake Monroe church, Crossley said, he does not think it would be prudent to continue attending there so has returned to Aloma Baptist Church, where he formerly was a member.

HOMECOMING

Seniors Deserve Bright Lights And Packed Stadium

There are more than a few people in Sanford who have never driven west on Florida Street (27th Street) on the night of a home football game.

Those people have never experienced the anticipation of Seminole High's football stadium lights. Then, the feeling that goes through you once those lights become visible and you imagine all of things that will go on underneath them.

The Seminole football players, who have worked feverishly all week, will have their two hours under the spotlights. Those of you who have played football know how tedious the practices can be. But you also know the exhilaration of the games.

There is something very special about the excitement of Friday night during the football season. Practices on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday crawl past. But Friday makes it all worth it for the player.

Bright lights and packed stadium. That's when the player realizes that all the work is worthwhile. For the Seminole player, add Saturday to the workload. There probably aren't many teams in the state that practice on Saturday.

But the Seminoles do. Why? Because they want to excel and become better. These young men have a lot of proud and dedication. That's coach Dave Mosure's way. He's a "footballaholic" and so are his players. And, they do it without complaint. Because they want to excel as much as their coach.

The rewards haven't come easy this year. They came hard. Very hard. Four consecutive losses greeted the Seminoles to open the 1985 season.

Friday losses don't make Saturday practices much fun. But the Seminoles all showed up anyway. And the practices went well. The spirit and determination have been there all year.

The extra effort started to pay off Oct. 11. That's when Seminole whipped Lake Brantley. The next week, however, the Tribe lost a tough one to then No. 8-ranked Seabreeze. That dropped the 'Noles to 1-5.

It was decision time for the seniors. Do they pack it in? Go through the motions for the final five games? Or do they work even harder and try to make something of their last harrah?

Seminole Leery Of NSB's Passing

New Smyrna Beach went into last Friday's football game against Lake Weir as an overwhelming favorite. The Dunkel Index line had the Barracudas as a 28-point choice to devour the winless Candler school. Las Vegas wouldn't even place it on the board.

Six fumbles later, Lake Weir dampened the New Smyrna Beach homecoming, 10-0.

"New Smyrna played their worst game of the season," Seminole coach Dave Mosure said. "Which probably means they'll rebound and play their best game of the season Friday against us."

Tonight the Barracudas, 2-6 and 1-2, invade Seminole High School's stadium playing the role of Lake Weir. They would like to spoil Seminole's homecoming. Kickoff is 8 p.m. between the two District 4A-5 teams.

Seminole's Dexter Franklin, for one, said it isn't going to happen. The senior defensive back pointed to Seminole's modest two-game winning streak and said, "We're going to win. That's all there is to it."

There's substance to his decree. After a shaky 0-4 beginning the maturing Seminoles, 3-5 and 1-2, have put it together the past four games. They have whipped Lake Brantley, Lyman and Oviedo while losing a 7-0 contest to Spruce Creek. A win tonight and a victory at DeLand next Friday closes out the campaign at 5-5, something that looked unreachable after four weeks.

"To be 0-4 and go 5-5 would be quite an accomplishment," Mosure said. "Our defense has come a long way. We still need to tighten up and turn the ball over to our offense more, though."

"Teams are running 12 to 15 more plays a week than our offense. We need more three downs and out (on defense). We've been scoring when the opportunity presents itself. That's a good sign. We need to be more consistent in that area."

Franklin said the turnaround has brought the team closer together. "I think everybody has started to do his job," the county's sixth-leading tackler said. "It's like a big family right now. No one is pointing the finger at anybody else (for a mistake)."

Dwayne Willis, a junior running back, said Seminole has a great chance to win last two games. "It's been a great experience for the team for come back from 0-4," he said. "After we won those three games, it was like the team got up on its feet and wanted to play ball."

Willis said one of the keys to the turnaround has been the offensive line. "The line is coming off the ball a lot better," Willis said. "Our receivers have caught the ball well. And, we haven't had many turnovers."

Turnovers were the undoing of NSB last week and Mosure said he expects the Barracudas to hold onto the ball much better tonight. Rodney Chatman, a junior, is the fourth-ranked passer in Central Florida. His favorite receiver is wideout Pat Calhoun. Chatman also uses his tight ends well, both who have good size, according to Mosure.

Chatman fared pretty well against the last county team he faced. So did the Barracudas. Chatman hit 16 of 27 passes for 288 yards as NSB broke a 22-game losing streak. The two 'Cuda running backs, Oscar Bevins and Jimmy Hardy, each ran for 60 yards.

Brian Brinson, Seminole's county-leading linebacker, said stopping Chatman will be the defensive key. "If we give him a good pass rush and the linebackers drop off into their areas, we should be able to stop him."

While the Tribe defense is concentrating on Chatman and company, Seminole's improving offense will be trying to hold up its end. Two weeks ago, the 'Noles put 21 points on the board against Oviedo, its highest output of the season.

Parade's Revival Generates Spirit

While the Fighting Seminole High School football team is concentrating on tonight's homecoming game, the students, faculty, fans and community have been whooping it up like it's the Super Bowl.

"If there's one game you want to win it has got to be homecoming," said a nervous Alan Kendall, who is a starting offensive lineman for the Tribe. "I worry about it because we're getting distracted and off track."

The reason for Kendall and the rest of the Seminoles' worries is the fact that during the week everything has happened except football.

To start things off Monday, the homecoming court received its traditional silk corsages. This year's candidates for homecoming queen include seniors Temika Alexander, Linda Cushing, Sharon Gaines, Kayla Givens, Jodi Jones, Kristin Merrifield, Suzi Nye and Vera Ramassar. One of those girls will succeed last year's homecoming queen, Dana Ray, who is now attending the University of Florida.

To add to the festivities during this week of celebration, every day represented a spirit led activity where each student showed his/her support by wearing the clothes of the day.

Monday, for instance, was "Nerd Day." The rest of the week included such days as "Tacky Tourist Day," "Shoes, Shorts and Sneakers Day," "Dress-up Day" and "Spirit Day" where students wore the school colors — black and orange.

Even though spirit days have been a tradition for many years, an old tradition was rekindled when the Seminoles' homecoming parade was brought back after a three-year absence.

The parade, sponsored by the Sanford Youth Recreation Committee in conjunction with the SHS homecoming, was a huge success, according to senior defensive back Dexter Franklin.

"The parade was fun," Franklin said. "There was a lot of people in the streets and it really made the team feel good knowing the whole town is behind us."

For the parade, each club made a float to signify the spirit of the school and community. Prizes were awarded for the three best floats.

Rams Build Momentum Toward District Clash

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's Rams are trying not to let the distractions of homecoming week keep them from building momentum for the season finale, a 5A-4 District title showdown against Lyman.

Tonight, the Rams take on Orlando Boone's Braves in the school's second ever homecoming game. Although Boone comes in bruised and battered and with a record of 2-6, Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said Boone is no pushover.

"Boone is capable," Nelson said. "They have an excellent passing attack which has bothered us in the past. With a few less injuries and a couple more breaks, they could have had a good season."

"Now, they're looking to cap off the year by knocking off the Lake Mary Rams," added Nelson. "We have to do something about that."

Lake Mary, which now stands at 6-2, can do something about it by getting off to a good start. Last week, the Rams fell behind quickly, 13-0, against a winless Lake Brantley team.

Establishing the rushing attack on a Boone defense that has little depth would be a good way to start. The Lake Mary ground game is led by sophomore John Curry who, in seven games, ranks third in Seminole County in rushing with 799 yards on 134 carries. Two good games in a row could put Curry over the 1,000 yard mark.

Behind Curry, quarterback Shane Letterio has picked up 289 yards and fullback Brett Molle 216.

Football

Lake Mary's passing game is one of the leaders in Central Florida, averaging over 100 yards per outing. Letterio has completed 49 of 97 passes (51 percent) for 824 yards. If Letterio gets his average the next two games, the Rams could have a rusher and a passer with over 1,000 yards — that's balance.

The Rams' leading pass receiver is Ray Hartsfield who is second in the county with 24 catches and leads in yards with 430. Byron Washington has hauled in 15 passes.

Defensively, Molle leads the way from his linebacker spot. The senior standout ranks second in the county in tackles with 119. Ryan Lisle (80 tackles), Robb Reddington (69), Scott Ross (64), Marty Hopkins (61) and Shannon Porter (58) have also had outstanding seasons.

Although Boone is suffering through a disappointing season, Nelson isn't taking them lightly. One reason is the Rams have lost to a weaker opponent (Spruce Creek) and Nelson's teams traditionally don't play as well on homecoming.

"I'm definitely getting prepared," Nelson said. "Nobody on our schedule is worse than Spruce Creek and Spruce Creek beat us."

Although homecoming has its share of distractions, Nelson said the team had a good week of practice. "The spirits are up and the seniors are really getting fired up. They're looking forward to the Lyman game."

Raines Is Expo MVP

Tim Raines, who produced the highest batting average (.320) of his major-league career this past season, was chosen as the Montreal Expos' Player of the Year for 1985 by the Montreal chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America Thursday.

Raines, who shared the honor with Andre Dawson two years ago, outscored shortstop Hubie Brooks, 128-95. Raines, a five-time member of the National League All-Star team during his five-year career, led the Expos in stolen bases with 70, triples with 13 and on-base-percentage with .405.

The former Seminole High three-sport standout was named the team's player of the month three times.

'Homey' Lyman Battles Satellite

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Usually, if possible, a team likes to play a non-conference, non-district opponent for homecoming. It also helps if that team coming in isn't very highly regarded.

Lyman High did manage to schedule a non-conference, non-district opponent for tonight's homecoming game, but Satellite High is certainly no wienie.

While Satellite is a stronger than usual homecoming foe, Lyman's Greyhounds have played their best football at home. Lyman, 4-4, is 4-0 at home. The Greyhounds hope to do well this week in preparation for next week's 5A-4 District showdown against Lake Mary.

"It'll be good to get home," Lyman coach Bill Scott said after losing on the road to Lake Howell last week. "We haven't played too well on the road (0-4)."

Satellite comes in with a record of 5-3 but has just went through the toughest part of its schedule and dropped three straight. Satellite has scored just five points in the last three games which include losses to Melbourne (16-0), Merritt Island (23-5) and Vero Beach (7-0).

Lyman will try to get its rushing attack back on track tonight after being held to 104 yards rushing last week in a 21-13 loss to Lake Howell. Scott said the main reason for the anemic rushing attack was lack of blocking. A week earlier, the offensive line had a tremendous game as Lyman rolled up 349 yards rushing in a 22-11 victory over Spruce Creek.

Junior running back Robert Thomas is looking for the offensive line to reopen some holes for him to scoot through. Thomas was held to 54 yards a week ago. For the season, the fleet-footed tailback has gained 845 yards on 185 carries which ranks second in the county. Thomas can push closer to the magic 1,000 yard mark with a good outing against Satellite.

Defensively, senior linebacker Byron Overstreet leads the way with 93 tackles. Also having excellent seasons are Scott Radcliff (52 tackles), Mike Whitaker (44) and Vince Campbell (42). Radcliff, a defensive back, is also tied for the county lead in interceptions with four and leads the county in punting with a 39.6 average.

Although a victory tonight would give the 'Hounds hopes of a winning season, the team is still in the running for the district title. And, even though tonight is homecoming and all, the battle against Lake Mary will be in the back of the players' minds.

"We're really looking forward to the Lake Mary game," Radcliff said. "We've surprised a lot of people this year and it would be great if we could win the district."

Mets' Franchise Plans Winter Visit To Fort Knox

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maybe it was natural withdrawal pains or only because he yearned so much for that old satisfying feeling of soft green grass under his feet again.

Or then again maybe despite the fact he won't be 21 until this Saturday, he regarded himself something of a veteran now after two full seasons in the big leagues and that made him curious to see how some of the Mets' other kid pitchers were shaping up.

Whatever the reason, Dwight "Doc" Gooden got in his car a few weeks ago and drove the 21 miles he knows so well from his Tampa home to St. Petersburg, the Mets' regular spring training site and where they also maintain a base of operations in the Winter Instructional League for their young players.

One of the people Gooden ran into was Dave Johnson, who had come over from his home in Orlando for an organizational meeting. The Mets' manager smiled seeing Gooden looking so relaxed.

"You keeping low and staying outta the public eye pretty much?" Johnson asked the ace of his staff and the best pitcher in baseball.

"Pretty much." Gooden said. "I'm not going too many places. Just spending most of the time with my family."

"Make sure you take good care of yourself," Johnson urged, fully realizing the 1986 season for the Mets could easily go right down the drain before it even starts if anything happens to their 6-foot-4 fireballer between now and then.

Dwight Gooden already is close to being the franchise for the Mets. He will come equally close to becoming their Fort Knox when he signs his new contract with them sometime this winter.

He made another trip from his home Wednesday with his sister, Betty Gooden Jones, and his fiance, Carlene Pearson, to Shea Stadium so he could be on hand to answer reporters' questions about how it felt being the youngest pitcher to win the Cy Young Award in either league.

Joe Mellvane, the Mets' director of player personnel, stood in for Mets' general manager Frank Cashen, who was in Florida, and he put it quite well

Milton Richman
UPI EDITOR/Sports

I thought when he brought Gooden to the mike.

"There are no adequate words to introduce Dwight," Mellvane said. "Everything that can be said about him has been said."

With ample reason.

Gooden was the unanimous choice of the 24-man Cy Young Award committee winding up with 124 points to runner-up John Tudor's 65 and third-place finisher Orel Hershiser's 17.

There really couldn't be any other choice even though the left-handed Tudor won 21 games for the Cardinals, including 20 of his last 21 decisions, and Hershiser was instrumental in helping the Dodgers capture the Western Division title with his 19-3 record and 2.03 ERA.

Gooden did everything for the Mets except win the pennant for them personally and he came very close to doing that. He even dispelled the long-held notion there is such a thing as the sophomore jinx.

Among everything else, he led the majors in victories (24), strikeouts (268) and earned run average (1.53). In so doing, he became the first man to lead the majors in the Triple Crown of pitching categories since Sandy Koufax in 1966. Koufax also did it in 1963 and 1965.

Gooden is completely ingenious so he didn't do any pretending when he was officially informed of his award by Jack Lang, the Secretary of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, as he walked into Shea Stadium Wednesday evening. He had an appointment in New York that had nothing to do with his award. So he had to be in the city, anyway.

"Congratulations," Lang greeted him. "I counted the votes right."

"Thanks," said Gooden, always low-key. "I'm happy."

Later, when asked if he were surprised he won, Gooden said: "Not really. I figured Tudor might've got a few votes."

Gooden watched the World Series on TV and said he was "very impressed" with Kansas City's Bret Saberhagen, the American League's Cy Young winner, who beat the Cardinals twice in the seven-game set.

"I saw him do it and wished it was me," Gooden said.

The Mets had a busy day Wednesday, one that would've made George Steinbrenner more than a little envious. In addition to the pride they felt over Gooden, they engineered an eight-player deal with the Red Sox that brings them another pitcher, left-hander Bob Ojeda.

Dave Johnson learned of Gooden's award in Orlando and was about as shocked as anyone else.

"I thought he had it won before his last five starts back in late August," said the Mets' manager. "Why shouldn't he win it? He's the best pitcher in our league."

SCC, VCC Square Off

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole Community College is 3-0. Valencia Community College is 0-3. Seminole has posted two impressive wins and a lackluster victory. Valencia was blown out by Florida College but played St. Petersburg and Lake-Sumter tough.

Tonight at 8, SCC and VCC will meet in the second game of the Raider Tournament at the SCC Health Center. It is a renewal of a rivalry, one which has always been lopsided in the Seminole's favor.

But SCC coach Bill Payne will also remember the time two years ago that VCC denied his team a berth to the state tournament. Cleve Williams, who now teams with Oviedo's Ronnie Murphy at Jacksonville, and Tony Fluker, put on a shooting exhibition to win the Mid-Florida Conference's post-season tournament.

It's a sore point which will always have Payne and assistant coach Dean Smith leery of the Matadors. "For some reason they always give us trouble," Smith said Thursday night. "They do unorthodox things. We're so structured sometimes we can't adjust."

SCC will have to wait for the unorthodox. Brevard, 2-1, battles Indian River, 1-1, in the tournament's first game at 6 p.m. Friday's winners play for the title Saturday at 8 p.m. The losers meet for the consolation game at 6 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

SCC won its first two games on the road (Brevard and North Florida) before dispatching Polk, 87-73, Tuesday. The Raiders have received excellent all-around play from Tony Roberts, a transfer from Western Kentucky.

The 6-1 freshman is averaging 17.3 points, 10 rebounds and 5.3 assists per game. Roberts is a deadly outside shooter who runs well with point guard David Gallagher. The 5-10 Gallagher is averaging 13.3 points and 6.3 assists.

"Valencia will play that scrambling zone defense," Smith said. "It's almost like a triangle and two. They may have a hard time covering the third outside guy, though."

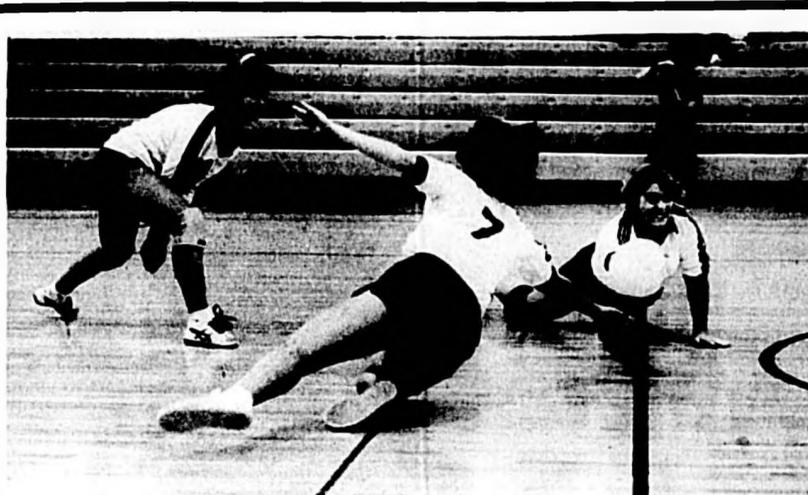

Which means third guard Mike Landell should have a few open shots. Landell is averaging 11 points per outing. He had 17 in the big win at North Florida and 12 against Polk.

Along with the three guards, the Raiders start 6-7 Greg "Slim" Johnson at forward and 6-8 Vance Hall at center. Johnson carried the rebounding load while Hall encountered foul problems in the first two games. Johnson is averaging 12.6 points and 11.3 rebounds. Hall, who played just 28 minutes in the first two games, came on against Polk with 13 points, 11 boards and 3 blocks in 30 minutes. Despite the limited time, the big freshman is still averaging 8.6 boards and almost 10 points per game.

Lake Howell's Efreem Brooks and Edgewater's Darris Gallagher along with Orlando Jones' James Morris and 6-5 forward Carl Poellnitz have supplied reserve strength.

In tonight's lidlifter, Brevard will be trying to make it two wins in four days over Indian River. The Titans knocked off the Pioneers by eight on Tuesday behind 25 points by Milton Moore.

The 6-2 jumping jack is considered one of the top talents in the state. Against the Raiders, Moore had 31 points and 16 rebounds. He hit 12 of 19 shots from the floor and 7 of 8 free throws.

Second-Game Blues Signals The End For Lyman, Oviedo

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The "Second-Game Blues" plagued both Lyman's Lady Greyhounds and Oviedo's Lady Lion in postseason play. Both were within one game of advancing further in the playoffs, only to suffer a let down in game two and see their seasons come to an end.

Lyman's spectacular season came to a disappointing end when it dropped a three-game match to DeLand in the 4A-9 District finals. Oviedo's hopes of a state tournament berth were dashed Tuesday night in a three-game loss to Ocala Vanguard.

The Lady Greyhounds zipped to a 15-8 victory over DeLand in the opening game and seemed to have the district title in the bag. But Lyman wasn't as dominating in game two and, although the Greyhounds once served for the match, DeLand battled back to win it, 16-14. The third game was close all the way but DeLand rallied for a 15-10 win and its third straight district crown.

"We weren't a good second-game team," Lyman coach Jerri Kelly said. "Every match we lost this year, we had problems in the second game. We would come out intense in the first game but let down in the second."

Earlier in the district tournament, Lyman had to go three games to pull out a victory over Lake Brantley. The Lady Greyhounds breezed through the first game but lost their intensity in the second. Lyman pulled it out in game three as Tami Foss served 11 straight points.

In the semifinals against Spruce Creek, the Lady Greyhounds rolled in the opening game but had to come from behind to win the second. Earlier in the year, Lyman dropped a three-game match to Spruce Creek in which the Lady Greyhounds won the first game, 15-1.

The team the ousted Lyman, DeLand's Lady Bulldogs, dropped a 15-12, 15-12 decision to Orlando Evans in Tuesday's regional playoffs.

Oviedo's Lady Lions played very few three-game matches in the regular season but they played them back-to-back in the postseason. And it was the second game that gave the Lions fits.

In the 3A-6 District finals, Oviedo upended Kissimmee Osecola, 15-10, in the opening game and came back to take a 9-3 lead in the second. Osecola then ran off 12 straight points to force a third game. Oviedo rebounded to win the third, 15-8. "The girls just stopped playing," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said of the second game.

After winning the district, Oviedo went against Ocala Vanguard Tuesday night at Ocala in the 3A-3 Region playoff. Like it did in the district final, Oviedo won the first game, 17-15, then built a big lead in the second, 10-2.

But Vanguard came back to win the second as Oviedo's attack, which had been so effective in the opening game and early in the second, fell apart. The third game was close all the way, but Vanguard pulled it out in the end, 15-12.

It was a heartbreaking season in more ways than one for the Lady Greyhounds. On Oct. 12, their coach, Karren Newman, was tragically injured in an automobile accident and missed the rest of the season. She was paralyzed from the chest down in the mishap and her loss was felt in many ways.

Newman is considered one of the top volleyball teachers in Florida and is also a good strategist. She is also a sound psychologist and motivator of her players.

As hard as the girls tried, it was evident that something was missing after Oct. 12. "I know it's tough on them," Miss Newman said before the district tournament. "They have a lot on their minds. It hurts their concentration."

While the "Second-Game Blues" did in both Lyman and Oviedo in postseason play, both teams enjoyed tremendous success in the 1985 season. And both finished with records of 19-4.

Williams Relishes Homecoming; FSU Eyes Bowl

It is homecoming week for Florida State and the Fighting Seminoles are set to take on Western Carolina, 3-5-1, this Saturday at 7 p.m. at Doak Campbell Stadium in the state capital.

It will also be the last time for FSU, 7-2, to show off its qualifications to bowl representatives because bowl selections are extended on Nov. 23 and the 'Noles are idle that Saturday before taking on the rival Florida Gators Nov. 30 in the annual state grudge match.

Homecoming is a special time for all the Seminole players, especially Sanford's Isaac Williams and the other FSU seniors. Williams was recently named as a defensive tackle on an All-Florida team (pooling the talent from the state's college football teams) selected by the Miami Herald.

Williams, who came up with three sacks in the Seminoles' tough loss to Miami, was again in the South Carolina backfield most of the night, making things tough for the Gamecocks.

Lenny Sutton, a fullback on Seminole High's district and conference championships with Williams in 1981, dressed out with the varsity for the first time last week. Sutton was in on several downs as a defensive back.

Senior offensive guard Jamie Dukes, a native of Orlando who played for Evans High, was also named to the All-Florida team. Dukes, who offensive co-ordinator Wayne McDuffie says "is the best player I've ever coached," had this to say about homecoming: "Homecoming is a special time for the alumni. It also means a lot to us seniors as this will be our last home football game of our careers."

"I think we will want to play a good game so it will give the fans something to remember this class by. I'm looking forward to it."

The Seminoles are coming off a 56-14 shelling of South Carolina last week in which the freshman backfield of quarterback Chip Ferguson and running backs Victor Floyd and Keith Ross performed outstanding. Ferguson completed eight of 10 passes for 106 yards and three touchdowns. Floyd rushed for 221 yards on 15 carries, including touchdown runs of 61 and 10 yards and Ross was 23-163 and had a touchdown rushing and receiving.

In the only other game involving a Florida college, the Gators will host Kentucky Saturday.

Enough has been said about the Gators loss to Georgia. Florida still has one of the best teams in the country and can still finish with the best record in the SEC — no small task considering it is probably the best conference in the country.

PICKS — A pretty fair record last week at 8-2 if I may say so myself, especially since I didn't even have to use my crystal ball. Mr. Sports Editor, For the season: 52-29 (17-12 in preps, 23-11 in college and 12-6 in pros).

High School: Seminole and Lake Mary will have successful homecomings; Seminole over New Smyrna by 6 and Lake Mary by 14 over Boone. Satellite by 3 over Lyman in its homecoming to hand the Greyhounds just their first loss at home all season, Oviedo by 7 over Titusville and Lake Howell over Lake Brantley by 4.

College: FSU by 30 over West Carolina and Florida by 20 over Kentucky. Top-ranked Penn St. remembers last year's 44-7 loss to Notre Dame and this year it will be the Nittany Lions turn to take it out on the Irish; Penn St. by 21.

Pro: Mark Super Duper and Dolphins by 17 over the Colts and Jets by 10 over the Bucs (they didn't really win, did they?).

Lady Raiders Win In Overtime; Merthie Hits 19, Scots Unbeaten

Anita Smith's only basket of the game, a short jumper in overtime, propelled the Seminole Community College Lady Raiders to a 62-59 victory over Indian River in junior college basketball Thursday night at Fort Pierce.

Darryl Merthie

The victory was the third in four outings for coach Ileana Gallagher's team. The SCC women travel to Winter Haven Tuesday for a 5 p.m. game with Polk Community College.

While Smith hit the key bucket in overtime, it was the stellar play of sophomore Kim Lemon and freshman Lisa Starks which turned the game in the second half.

Lemon, who finished with 21 points by hitting 7 of 11 field goal and 7 of 7 free throws, tossed in 12 second-half markers. Starks also contributed 12 points in the final 20 minutes as SCC erased a 25-23 halftime deficit.

Carol King and Fatima Lafond added nine and eight points, respectively while Vikki McMurrer chipped in six. Lemon had eight rebounds and King handed out six assists.

In other junior college basketball Thursday, Sanford's Darryl Merthie pumped in 19 points to help the Daytona Beach Community College Scots to a 75-59 victory over St. Petersburg at St. Petersburg. The Scots are 3-0.

Merthie, a Lake Mary High graduate, hit 9 of 13 field goals and added a free throw for his 19 points. Ex-Lake Mary standout Fred Miller contributed 13 points while ex-Seminole great Willie Mitchell grabbed eight rebounds.

Brown: Investigation Ludicrous

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana State basketball coach Dale Brown said a grand jury investigation into the university's athletic department was "ludicrous," but he refused to discuss his 90-minute appearance before the panel.

Brown was four hours late for his scheduled appearance before the grand jury, which was investigating electronic bugging equipment FBI agents confiscated in the office of Athletic Director Bob Brodhead.

"In America today we are more concerned about speeding and parking than rape and murder. It's ludicrous," Brown said Thursday.

While refusing to discuss his testimony, Brown vehemently denied the bugging incident was connected to his bizarre, ill-fated recruitment of Alfredo "Tito" Horford. The 7-foot-1 center who came to LSU amid intense controversy spent two months on the Baton Rouge campus before he disappeared several weeks ago.

Wildcats Capture Flag Crown

Tony Holley ran for a touchdown and passed for another score as the Wildcats upended the Bulldogs, 12-8, Thursday to win the Sanford Recreation Department Junior League Flag Football championship at Chase Park.

The Wildcats finished with a 5-1 record while the Bulldogs were second at 4-2. The Cowboys were third at 3-3 and the Rams were fourth at 0-6.

Holley opened the scoring for the 'Cats with a two-yard run. The PAT failed but the Wildcats took a 6-0 lead into halftime. In the second half, Holley zipped a 10-yard pass to Wesley O'Neill for the second TD. The PAT again failed but the 'Cats still held a 12-0 lead.

The Bulldogs finally scored when Jeffrey Ingram picked off a pass and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown. The Bulldogs later added a safety for their final two points.

Gators Sign Brandon 7-Footer

The University of Florida announced it signed Dwayne Schintzius, a 7-1 center from Brandon High School. He is the second player in two days the Gators have signed to a letter of intent.

Schintzius averaged 13 points, 10 rebounds and 7 blocks a game last year at Brandon.

Pavin Leads Kapalua By 1

KAPALUA, Hawaii (UPI) — By his own admission, a "weird" round has carried Corey Pavin into the lead at the $500,000 Kapalua International Tournament.

Pavin, who will celebrate his 25th birthday Saturday, shot a 6-under-par 66 over the 6,879-yard Kapalua Bay Course to take a 1-shot lead over Hawaii professional David Ishii in the battle for the $125,000 first prize.

up with a picture-perfect 26-yard scoring toss to Dave Rape. Willie Evans steamed over from two yards out after a poor snap had given Seminole the ball at the Oviedo 2. Blake lead the county in passing yardage with 835 and TDs with six. Rape is third with 18 receptions. Willis (405), sophomore Curtis Rudolph (211), Blake (198) and Evans (169) have combined for 983 yards.

Mosure said NSB has good size defensively. "Their tackles weigh 270 each and there isn't a defensive lineman or linebacker less than 200," Mosure said. "They blitz a lot inside. (Linebacker) David Fernandez and (end) Jeremiah McRae make most of the tackles."

Mosure said Seminole's inside veer game should go along with the traps and the quick pass to the tight end. "The week off gave us time to evaluate where we're at," the first-year coach said. "We've added a couple of wrinkles but we haven't made that many changes."
Mosure said homecoming is on everybody's mind but he and the players are trying to keep things in perspective. "First of all, personality, I'm pretty tight. I want the kids to end on a positive note. We're trying to keep them from being too distracted and keep their minds on the game.

They've made such a comeback from 0-4. It could be a storybook ending." Chapter four begins tonight.

WIGWAM WHISPERS — Mosure promoted 18 junior varsity and eight freshman to the varsity to join his small but mighty band of 35. "They've all stayed with us," Mosure said. "I haven't seen so many kids since I've left Miami."
The JV and frosh each posted solid 6-2 records.

...Parade

After the conclusion of the parade, Seminole High students and faculty put on a tremendous pep rally. The motive was to include the city of Sanford in the cheering and fun, according to Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist.
"The Downtown Merchants' Association provided us with judges and prizes," Lundquist, a Seminole alumnus, said. "We felt it was a good idea to show the town one of Seminole High's pep rallies."
All of the build-up was geared to today where the festivities come to a close — the pre-game celebration that is. Today, each class constructed a door display showing the 'Noles destroying the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas. The best door prize was free admission to the homecoming game.

To cap the activities, the official tally of the "Pin the 'Cuda" contest was announced. To raise money for the junior class and to show school spirit, each class paid a nickel to pin a colored flag on a four foot long, stuffed Barracuda. The class with the most flags was declared the winner.
Along with the vast jubilation which has run rampant through the hallways of Sanford's only high school, the classes combined for a last-ditch effort to inspire their team to victory — an earth-shattering pep rally.
"The senior class, drama club, Mr. Mendez' masonry class and coach (Ernie) McPherson's wood working class constructed a stage on the center of the field," Lundquist said. "The freshman and junior class are going to do a skit."

At the pep rally, the freshman, junior varsity and varsity cheerleaders combined to do cheers of encouragement for the Seminoles. Each football player was announced and given a special tommyhawk — which may be used for barracuda fishing if necessary.
The closing of the week comes tonight as the Sanford Seminoles battle the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas at 8 p.m. The homecoming queen will be chosen from the eight girls on the court and she will be crowned at midfield by Principal Wayne Epps at halftime.
After the game, the traditional homecoming dance will take place in the Knights of Columbus banquet hall. Thus ending another homecoming year of football tradition and school spirit.

Flyers Honor Goalie

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Spectrum was darkened, a wreath of flowers depicting the number 31 was placed at center ice and a capacity crowd stood silently as Philadelphia Flyers goalie Pelle Lindbergh was remembered.

"This is not the mourning of a death but a celebration of a life that we in Philadelphia were fortunate to share," said Flyers' broadcaster Gene Hart.
Lindbergh, who was killed earlier this week in an auto accident, was hailed Thursday night as a man who loved life in a 23-minute memorial service.
"Most of all, Pelle loved life," said Flyers goaltending coach Bernie Parent. "And the saddest thing about this tragedy is that while his positive attitude helped him overcome defeat, he could not defeat death."

Lindbergh, 26, the winner of the Vezina Trophy last season as the best goaltender in the NHL, was honored before the start of the game between the Flyers and Stanley Cup champion Edmonton Oilers, which Philadelphia won 5-2.
Parent, who was Lindbergh's idol, said the young player's death was a great loss.

"Pelle Lindbergh had become without question one of the greatest goalies," he said. "When death defeats greatness, we all mourn. When death defeats youth, we mourn all the more."

Lindbergh was killed early Sunday morning when he lost control of his car in Somerdale, N.J., and crashed into concrete steps at a school. Two passengers were injured in the accident and police said tests showed Lindbergh was legally intoxicated at the time of the crash.

Lindbergh had left an after-hours club at the Flyers' practice facility shortly before the accident occurred.
He was declared brain dead on Sunday but his body remained on life-support systems. He was officially declared dead Monday morning and his family granted permission on Tuesday for his organs to be transplanted.

Kings Defense Short, Warriors

United Press International
The NBA and Northern California have a new rivalry, and judging from the Golden State Warriors' first visit to the Kings in their new Sacramento home Thursday night, it looks like a hot one.

NBA Roundup

"My only problem was Purvis Short being viciously manhandled," Warriors coach John Bach said. "I just don't like any player being manhandled on any side. I look at it as manhandling. If somebody else looks at it, it might be aggressive defense."

The Warriors had won their last four games, all since holdouts Purvis Short and Chris Mullin came to terms with the team, but the Kings were prepared to defend their home turf. Short finished with 32 points, but Mark Olberding held him to 1 point in the last quarter, and his methodology sparked a scuffle in the final seconds of Sacramento's 112-103 victory.

In other games, Cleveland topped Indiana 112-104, Houston stopped New Jersey 112-107, Denver downed San Antonio 112-109, and the Los Angeles Lakers whipped Portland 114-102.

...Seniors

Bright lights and packed stadium. They didn't pack it in. They went back to work on Saturday morning and every other day of the week. They worked hard. The juniors and sophomores worked hard, too. But they'll work hard anyway. They have next year and the next. It paid off again. They salvaged the season. The Seminoles won their next two games. They beat Lyman and Oviedo.

That made three wins in their last four games. With homecoming tonight at 8 and a game at DeLand Nov. 22, they can finish with a .500 record. A month ago, they would have needed binoculars to see a .500 season.

The personal satisfaction of turning around this season is probably reward enough for these fine young men. But I think they deserve something more than personal satisfaction.

Bright lights and packed stadium. There is nothing more inspiring to a football team than a packed stadium. There haven't been many packed stadiums in Sanford the past few years. There haven't been many big winners either. Big winners and packed stadiums usually go hand in hand.

Bright lights and packed stadium. That's unfortunate sometimes. Because these young men are big winners. Especially the seniors. They have suffered through numerous losses the past four years. But while they have suffered they have learned. I've watched them play every game this year. I've watched them improve. I've watched them mature. I've talked to them when they win. And I've talked to them when they lose. They always conduct themselves with the class and dignity of a winner.

Dexter Franklin is one of those winners. Here's how badly he wants you to come. "Friday is our last game in front of the home crowd. It's the last game most people will see us playing as a team. A big crowd would be AWESOME."

"You get into the game much more when the crowd is into it. I like big crowds myself. I'll always remember the Apopka game last year. That was a big crowd. Everybody was into it. They kept chanting 'Let's Go Offense.' That was a great feeling when we upset Apopka."

Carl Tipton is another one of those winners. Here's how badly he wants you to come. "This is my last homecoming. I'll never have this experience again. A big crowd would be real great. I'm not sure if I can remember when we've had a full stadium.

"It would be nice to have all that support even though we're not at the top of the district or conference. It's real important. We seem to get a lot of students. And the parents are there."

"But the people who don't really have anything to do with Seminole are missing. We're Sanford's team. We represent this town."

Franklin and Tipton share the feelings of all the seniors. Tonight's spotlight is for them. It's their last time around before the hometown. It's a last time that should be greeted by a packed house. It's time to say goodbye to a class group of young men. And there's no better way to say goodbye than homecoming night.

See you on Florida Avenue.
Bright lights and packed stadium.
They deserve it.

Fearless Tires Of Flak, Boldly Selects 3 Upsets

Chris Fister
SPORTS WRITER

Okay, I'm tired of taking all this flak about percentages. So, for those of you interested in that kind of deal, let me explain the Fearless Fister Forecast.

I pick 10 games a week, starting with the county high school teams, followed by the Florida colleges and the Florida pros. If I don't have 10 games after that, I look for the biggest pro or college games of the week to pick.

Another thing this forecaster attempts to do is pick the upsets. You've just got a boring mess if you're a frontrunner.

So, after picking upsets and the most difficult games, is it any wonder my percentage inhales pond scum?

And what about the Dunkel Index that rates high school teams? Sure it's going to have a good percentage. All it picks are favorites. That's about as much fun as watching Leon Spinks eat corn on the cob.

This week's Fearless Fister Forecast includes three upset picks. And these are legitimate upsets.

Last week, the forecast was 6-4. For the season, 55-35-1. What kind of percentage is that? Don't even ask, okay.

NEW SMYRNA AT SEMINOLE
If Seminole High could have flip-flopped its schedule it could have finished with a record more like 6-4 or 7-3. All the Tribe can do now is finish with a 5-5 mark. And New Smyrna Beach won't stop the Seminoles. — 'Noses by 10

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson said his teams traditionally don't play very well on homecoming. Boone's Braves traditionally don't play very well, period. Lake Mary has much too much talent for the Braves to handle. — Rams by 20

SATELLITE AT LYMAN
Satellite plays one of the toughest schedules around and it is just coming off the roughest part of its slate. OVIDEO AT TITUSVILLE
Both of these teams have played well enough to have winning records but Oviedo stands at 3-5 while Titusville is just 1-7. The possibility of a .500 season will keep the Lions going while Titusville just wants to get it over with and look forward to next year. — Oviedo by 8

LAKE HOWELL AT LAKE BRANTLEY
This is the last chance for Lake Brantley's Patriots to win one at home as their season finale next week is at Orlando Boone. Look for the Patriots to be fired up after blowing a 13-0 lead against Lake Mary a week ago. In another upset — Patriots by 7

KENTUCKY AT FLORIDA
Kentucky is the type of team that can pull off the major upset, but not after the Gators were knocked off by Georgia last week. When a powerhouse loses for the first time, it unmercifully pummels its next foe. — Gators by 30

Desperately Seeking Patriots Try Again Against Lake Howell

By Tim Horn
Special to the Herald

While the Lake Brantley Patriots were watching a season long losing streak reach eight games last Friday when they dropped a 24-13 heartbreaker to Lake Mary, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks were busy putting an end to a four-game slide of their own with a 21-13 win over Lyman.

These two teams will square off tonight when Lake Howell and Lake Brantley meet at 8 p.m. at Lake Brantley Stadium in a Seminole Athletic Conference and District 5A-5 matchup. The Silver Hawks, 4-4, will be trying for their third victory in four SAC contests while the winless Patriots will be looking for their first SAC win against four defeats.

Lake Brantley was up, 13-0, against Lake Mary before the Rams were able to come back and hand the Patriots and first-year head coach Fred Almon an eighth consecutive setback. After coming so close to a lasting victory, Almon said the loss was particularly hard to take for the team.

"Well, we showed that we can play but that one really drained us," he said. "Everyone was just so emotional all week about playing Lake Mary and we came out and played them so hard and so tough and had our chance to win, but we didn't. It was a real emotional letdown for us."

But just like the Patriots have done all season long, Almon said the team will continue to give it all they've got.

"We worked on building a little enthusiasm back up in practice this week," he said. "We had some good practices. We worked a little and laughed a lot and had a good time out here. We'll be ready to go out here Friday against Lake Howell and play hard."

However, Almon said Lake

Football

Howell has a solid football team and he expects the Silver Hawks to be tough to beat.

"Oh yeah, there is no doubt about it that we have our work cut out for us against Lake Howell," he said. "Lake Mary is a good football team but I think Lake Howell is better."

"They are just so much bigger than us that they'll be able to push around our little defense. But we'll try to keep the ball away from them and move it on offense. We'll have our hands full though."

Despite an 0-8 record of Lake Brantley, Lake Howell coach Mike Biscaglia said the Silver Hawks are not at all taking the Patriots lightly.

"It is obvious they are a lot better than their record when you see them on film," he said. "They are a hard hitting team and I think they pass the ball real well."

"Lake Brantley has just had a lot of tough breaks this year. And don't forget, they have played a very difficult (District 5A-5) schedule like us. Playing teams like Apopka, Evans and Winter Park is not easy at all."

In their win over Lyman last week, the Silver Hawks played strong team defense and got outstanding offensive performances from quarterback Mark Wainwright, wide receiver Craig Derington and running back Mark Schnitker. Wainwright and Derington hooked up for touchdown passes of 23 and 60 yards while Schnitker rumbled for 101 yards on the ground.

Wainwright now has six touchdown passes to lead the county (along with Seminole's Jeff Blake) and is fourth in total yardage through the air with 605 yards while completing 48 percent of his attempts. Derington leads the county with an average of 20.8 yards per catch while hauling in 13 receptions.

However, Derington suffered an injury against Lyman, has not practiced this week and will not play tonight. Biscaglia said.

Schnitker, who is making a late season run for 1,000 yards, has gained 748 yards rushing on 141 attempts (5.3 yards per carry) and has scored 4 touchdowns.

Bill Wasson, who plays on offense and defense for the Silver Hawks, has caught 15 passes for 173 yards and four touchdowns from his slotback position on offense and has intercepted 3 passes as a safety on defense. Linebacker Jeff Harris leads the Silver Hawk defense in tackles with 79 and defensive end Ron Campbell has recovered four fumbles, which is tops in the county along with Oviedo's Pete Lingard.

Offensively for the Patriots, quarterback Dave Dellafico is third in the county with 602 yards passing and is second in touchdown passes with five. Wide receiver Sammy Sears continues to lead the county in receptions with a total of 26 now.

Steve Stark, who has made 72 stops and has picked off three passes from his safety slot, heads the Patriot defensive unit. Stark intercepted a Lake Mary pass last week to stop one drive inside the 20-yard line.

Oviedo Won't Take 1-7 Titusville Lightly

By Tim Horn
Special to the Herald

On the road for the second consecutive week tonight, the Oviedo Lions, 3-5, travel to Titusville to take on the 1-7 Titusville High Terriers. Despite the Terriers' won-loss record, the Lions are not expecting their fourth victory to come that easily.

"Titusville has a lot of size and they have lost a lot of close games like us," said Oviedo offensive coordinator Ken Kroog. "They don't score a lot of points but they have a good defense. It should be a tough ballgame."

The Lions, who are coming off an impressive 28-11 win at Cocoa Beach last week to halt a three game losing skid, rolled up 341 total yards on offense against the Minuteman. Running back Andrew Smith, who leads Seminole county runners with an incredible 1,386 yards rushing and 13 touchdowns, paved the way for the Oviedo win with 214 yards on the ground and scored twice.

"Cocoa Beach shut Andrew down early but then we made some adjustments and its defense couldn't stop him," Kroog said. "From what we have seen on film, Titusville runs the same type of defense as Cocoa Beach does."

"If they don't change it they will run a 50 defense. It will be tough to beat that because of their size."

Before their win over Cocoa Beach, Oviedo had lost to Lyman 17-10, Lake Mary 15-12 and Seminole 21-15 (Seminole is the only team Titusville has beaten, a 20-13 win back in the second week of the season). If the Lions could have eliminated a few turnovers in those three losses, they could easily have won all three. "Turnovers in crucial situations have killed us," Kroog said.

But the Lions were able to bounce back last week from all the tough defeats and will try to keep moving forward now against Titusville. Head coach Jack Blanton said last week he felt his team has lost some they should have won, but that he would be happy if the Lions could win their last two games against the Terriers and the Lake Howell Silver Hawks to earn a 5-5 season.

Kroog said last week's win was important for the team.

"It was a vindication for us," he said. "The players and staff were really down after all those hard losses and another loss last week would have really hurt. But instead we were able to win and it has really been an up week for us."

Along with the workhorse running of Smith, the Lion offense has been successful at using Bernell Simmons on miss-direction running plays. Simmons has rushed for 292 yards on just 28 carries for an amazing 10.4 yards per carry. He rushed for 62 yards on just six carries last week. Center Andy Palmer, along with guard Gordon King and tackle James Walker pave the way up front.

"When Andrew runs the ball as many times as he does (29 times last week) during a game, it sets up Bernell on the counter play," Kroog said. "It has been a big yardage play for us but we don't like to use Bernell that much on offense because he plays defense too."

Simmons leads the Oviedo defense in tackles with 95 from his linebacker slot, which is fourth in the county.

Quarterback John Morrow has thrown for 533 yards for the Lions while directing the Run 'N Shoot attack. Wide receiver Mark Stewart has caught 13 passes for 266 yards for an average of 20.5 yards per catch and two touchdowns.

Gardening

Add To Plant Collection By Propagation

If you're looking for ways to increase your house plant collection without spending a lot of money, why not propagate your own? This means producing new plants from existing ones. And, you have a choice of methods, too. You can grow new plants from seed, cuttings (slips), divisions, and by layering.

Seeds are probably the least used method because it takes so long to grow the plants. When you grow from seeds, you can't be sure that you will end up with anything that resembles the parent plant. Individual seedlings from the same parent plant may differ in shape, color and growth habit. Another problem is that house plants seldom flower indoors. And, without flowers, you won't have seeds.

The most common method, and usually the most satisfactory, is to propagate by cuttings. A cutting is a portion of a plant which is removed and rooted in its own growing medium. Leaf and stem cuttings are most commonly used. Leaf cuttings can be used to propagate African violets, begonias, gloxinias, sansevierias, and most succulents and cacti. There are two kinds of leaf cuttings, too. One, new plants grow from the leaf tissue itself. In the other, the roots and new shoots grow from the base of the leaf stem.

To propagate sansevierias, cut leaf sections about three or four inches long. Then, place each piece about an inch deep in the growing medium. Be sure you keep the leaf sections right side up! Roots and shoots should appear from these leaf sections at the base. When each is three or four inches long, you can cut off the parent leaf section.

Fibrous-rooted and Rex begonias can be propagated by laying a leaf, right side up, flat on the rooting medium. Before placing the leaf on the rooting medium, make small cuts across the larger veins on the underside of the leaf. Use hair pins to hold the leaf in place on the medium. Small plants will begin to develop from these veins in about two weeks. Transplant the new shoots into their own pots when they reach about two or three inches high.

For African violets and gloxinias, use the entire leaf blade and about an inch or two of leaf stem. The stem should be placed in the rooting medium deep enough for the leaf to stand upright. Keep the rooting medium away from the leaf blade itself. New growth will develop at the base of the stem.

Just about all house plants root well from stem cuttings. Take your cuttings about four to six inches long from vigorous, healthy mother plants. Place the cuttings upright, about an inch or so deep in the rooting medium. You can cover the cuttings with a clear plastic bag, which allows the plants to breathe, but prevents loss of too much moisture. With this method, the cutting usually will not need more water until they're rooted.

One of the easiest methods of increasing house plants is by division. You simply pull apart and divide a large plant into two or more separate plants. This is commonly used with sansevierias, African violets, and others that produce several shoots off the central growing point. Division can be done by hand, or by cutting with a sharp knife. Handle the plants carefully to leave as many roots intact as possible. After dividing, place each new section in its own pot, and give it the same care as the mother plant.

Layering is a much more complicated method of increasing plants. This encourages plant stems to root while still attached to the mother plant. Air, tip, mound, and trench are all layering techniques. The mother plant continues to provide newly developing plants with nutrients and moisture until their roots begin to develop.

For air layering, select a young, healthy, vigorously growing branch, whose leaves are exposed to light. Branches from pencil-sized to about three-quarter-inch in diameter are best. You'll need a sharp knife, a handful of sphagnum moss, a six-by-eight-inch piece of plastic film, and a couple of rubber bands or plastic ties.

Your first step is to remove leaves and twigs about four inches above and below where you plan to make your cut. Slant your cut upwards from beneath about one-fourth to one-half way through the branch. Now, insert a match stick, or toothpick in the cut to separate the stem and prevent new tissue from forming and healing the wound.

Then, encase the cut area with a wrapping of moist sphagnum moss about the size of a baseball. Wrap the moss with the plastic film and close the ends with the plant ties to seal out air and hold moisture in. It may take from two weeks to several months for roots to form. You can watch the progress through the clear plastic film. When at least six roots have formed, cut off the layered portion from the mother plant, just below the root ball, and pot it up.

Tip layering works well for drooping and vining plants. Simply choose a low branch which you can easily bend to the soil surface. Scrape the bark from a small area on the underside of the branch about six to 12 inches back from the tip. Bring the branch down to the soil surface and cover the scraped section with soil and soon roots will appear. When well rooted, cut the layered tip section from the mother plant and pot it up.

Now, you can enjoy your new plants with pride, and with very little cash spent. But, remember that the offsprings plants will only be as healthy as the mother plant. Happy gardening!

Reader Wants Abby's Face Replaced

DEAR ABBY: With so many children missing, why don't you replace the picture you run with your column with a picture of a missing child? With readers all over the country and your column printed daily, you could possibly help hundreds of families locate a missing child.

If there is a reason this isn't possible, I would like to hear it. After all, Abby, you claim you "care"; why not prove it?

R.F. IN EAST AURORA, N.Y.

DEAR R.F.: I think it's a wonderful idea. If any of my editors wants to replace my picture with that of a missing child, he has my permission!

DEAR ABBY: The man in my life is my age (early 60s). We've known each other platonically for 12 years, and intimately for a year. I have fallen for him like a ton of bricks, and he knows it because I've told him so. He keeps hinting about our "future" together, but he's careful not to commit himself.

Here are a few things that are wrong with him: He's always late. We have missed the beginnings of stage plays, concerts, weddings, parties and sports events because he is never on time.

He procrastinates. He keeps putting things off until it's too late. He promises to call me the next day at a certain time, but he never does. Meanwhile, I have turned down other invitations waiting for his call.

He goes on weekend vacations without me, which tears me apart. He's well-fixed financially and could easily take me.

Otherwise, we get along fantastically well. We do silly, impulsive things together, and I feel like a schoolgirl when I'm with him. We have a lot in common and many mutual friends we both enjoy. I'm miserable when he doesn't call me.

What is wrong with him?
A FOOL IN LOVE

DEAR FOOL: "What is wrong with him," you ask? He's spoiled, inconsiderate and selfish. And why should he change for you when you put up with his broken promises, late arrivals and evasiveness?

Perhaps you should more appropriately ask yourself, "What is wrong with me?"

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that there is always one couple who thinks you can't mean their child when you specify "no children" at a wedding?

Their child's voice came through loud and clear throughout the entire ceremony, and of course, it's forever recorded on the video.

Our daughter's wedding was ruined because this young couple brought their child, even though they were asked not to. Please print this. Although it's too late to help us, it may prevent other parents from ruining somebody's wedding.

WEDDING RUINED

DEAR WEDDING: I hope so, but I'm sure some parents will continue to bring their children to weddings hoping for the best, but getting the worst. My congratulations. And condolences.

DEAR ABBY: How odd of you to choose to do what sister did in a day or two. Is this an example of twin ESP? I'm sending a copy of this to your sister.

JOHN

DEAR JOHN: It must have been twin ESP. For I knew not. And neither did she.

Foot Fetish Needs Psychiatric Help

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've got a sex problem involving women's feet. I date girls and the first thing I have in mind is to take off their shoes and feel their feet. But the thing I love to do is smell their feet. The point is, is it normal or do I have a problem? Am I the only one? I'm 17.

DEAR DR. GOTT — You are suffering — and I mean suffering — from a disorder called "foot fetishism." To the extent that your preference for feet interferes with normal activity and healthy relations, it is abnormal. You are not alone; the condition is not unique. You can be helped by therapy. I think your life would become immensely happier and more satisfying if you would talk to a psychiatrist.

I know that people who read my column do not like being told to seek psychiatric help. However, I think that, under the circumstances, I would be serving you badly by sidestepping the issue you raised. Your behavior is not average and your compulsion is out of the ordinary. You may not agree with me, but I believe that most reputable physicians would unhesitatingly recommend psychiatric counseling.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm too embarrassed to bring this to my doctor's attention. In the past couple of years I have developed hair growing on my breasts, especially around the nipple area. Is this normal for some women? I'm in my mid-30s.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Breast hair may tend to develop in women as they age. A few strands can easily be pulled out, but if you are experiencing significant hair growth — particularly between the breasts — I suggest you see a doctor who can evaluate your endocrine (hormonal) balance. If you are reluctant to discuss this situation with a male doctor, find a female physician with whom you can be more comfortable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I would like to inquire about the use of steroids in young (16) male athletes. I would like to understand the long-term effects on one's body.

DEAR READER — Anabolic steroids in anybody can be dangerous for anyone. In adolescents, they can be disastrous. All steroids alter immunity, growth patterns and sexual development. They may cause acne and diabetes. Do not rely on drugs to improve your physique and athletic performance. Devote your energy to training. Instead of looking for shortcuts that may harm more than help.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

An item that should be on your shopping list this time of year is Frank Stewart's new book, "A Christmas Stocking" P.O. Box 14099 Memphis, Tenn. 38114 including postage and shipping. This hardbound volume probably won't strain anyone's December budget.

Frank's work, a fictional account of the activities of a bridge club's members at Yuletide, is well served by the disclaimer: "Any resemblance to persons living or dead is purely coincidental."

Today we feature Minnie Bottoms, so named not because of any physical characteristics but rather for her ability to earn low scores on any tournament hand. After collecting 1100 on the previous deal from Minnie, West was delighted to double four diamonds on the hand shown today.

The opening spade lead went to East's ace, and the spade return was won by Minnie's king. At trick three, Minnie dropped the king of hearts on the table. "Oh dear," she sighed. "I meant to lead trumps." East won the heart ace, but what then? The eight of diamonds loomed in dummy as a safeguard against West's ruffing a spade with a low trump. Making four diamonds doubled was only 510, but it was as big a top for Minnie as 1100 on the first hand was a bottom.

Notice that playing ace and a diamond instead of the king of hearts would enable West to win the king, put East on lead with the heart ace, and then get a spade ruff to set Minnie one more time.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY NOVEMBER 16, 1985

Restrictive conditions that have hampered your progress will be alleviated in the year ahead. You will now have an open channel to new heights.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something that has been disturbing you for quite a while is going to be lifted from your mind today as if by magic. You'll soon feel like a new person. Looking for unusual Christmas stocking stuffers? Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead makes the perfect gift for the entire family. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph for each, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state each zodiac sign desired.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This could turn out to be a pretty good day for you where your material interests are concerned. Someone who likes you is going to see to it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your friends won't be upset if you step in and take charge of activities today. Assume the responsibilities and be a leader.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This should be a rather pleasant day for you because people in the position to do so might do favors for you they wouldn't do for others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It looks like you're going to receive some good news, which you'll be anxious to share with a few choice friends. The information will be revealed in a unique way.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions that have an effect upon your standing in the eyes of your peers are quite favorable today. Good deeds will win you extra points.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Harmony will prevail today in a situation that has long caused you concern. The crux of this problem is finally being laid to rest.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If there is a positive change you've been wanting to make in your life, don't wait for another to initiate it. Take control of matters and do it yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your greatest benefits are likely to come from partnership arrangements today. There's a chance you'll be let in on something that will prove much to your liking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Vent your creative urges today, especially those that impel you to perform little tasks around the house. You'll take pride in your accomplishments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You warm, wit and good humor will win you a bevy of admirers today. Let the natural you emerge in all of your social involvements.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something good is now stirring that will make both you and your family feel more materially secure. It will come about rather suddenly.

ANNIE by Leonard Starr

YOU MAY HAVE SAVED MY LIFE, ANNIE! IT WAS THIS MORNING OVER ON DADDY'S GROUNDS! ...

BUT IT COULDN'T HAVE BEEN ME, ANNIE...

MAMA WON'T ALLOW ME TO GO BEYOND OUR PROPERTY LINES.

HUH? OH-I GET IT! IF SHE MEANS NEVER THERE, RIGHT?

YES, ANNIE PLAYS WITH AMITY DODSON. DO YOU MIND HER, MR. DODSON?

YOU MIGHT SAY SO... I USED TO PLAY WITH AMITY HER, MR. DODSON?

NO!

America's Native Dance Is Alive And Kicking In Florida

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

You don't have to be country to take to clogging. In fact you can even be a clutz and still pick up the basics of what some say is America's native dance.

Champion clogger Scotty Bilz, 16, of Altamonte Springs, who has done some fancy stepping to move from clutz, to clogger and then into the most advanced form of clogging — buck dancing, said this Appalachian mountaineer's dance is the forerunner to tap dancing.

In the past, this hillbilly dance — a hybrid mountain-mix early settlers blended from Scottish reels, Irish jigs and German, Dutch and American Indian dances — might have been seen as a bit too country to count as a pleasure the cityfied could go public with, Bilz said.

However, with increased interest in country music, clogging and bucking, traditionally done to the tune of those country favorites the fiddle, banjo and bass, have turned the heads of many high-steppers who are taking a turn at the fancy footwork of this folk dance.

Geneva's Reba Yarborough who calls herself a "dancing fool," says clogging is her favorite form of footwork, mainly because she loves the music. A rancher's daughter, country-goodtimes are a natural for this 18-year-old who started clogging about seven years ago.

Miss Yarborough, like Bilz, has also taught clogging to others and said the basics are easy to pick up, but as you advance into bucking natural coordination pays off.

Sanford's Foreman Heard, 39, who along with Bilz is a member of the "Buckin' Mule Mountain Dance Team," the current universal champs in "Four Couple Precision" and "Running Set Hoedown," said he had shyed away from dancing until he discovered clogging about four years ago. That Seminole County dance group brought home nine trophies from the Fontana Village, N.C., National Clogging and Hoedown Council's recent dance-off.

"It was easy to pick up," Heard, formerly a non-dancer, said of clogging. After being exposed to some "two-steppers," he decided their style of dancing looked like such fun that he just couldn't resist joining in the foot tapping.

Bilz said foot-tapping, enhanced with taps added to the shoes, and high stepping and fancy leg work characterize clogging. The upper body is held stiff, while from the waist down the dancers make their moves, creating a "smooth" illusion to viewers that the dancer is almost floating, he said.

There are about 50,000 cloggers in the nation. Out of that number, Bilz said there are about 3,000 hard-core cloggers in the southeast and another equal-sized hard-core group in the west.

It's good, clean, family fun that draws dancers to folksy festivals through the nation, Bilz said. And he has been tapped by the Possum Trot Workshop, based in Georgia, to travel for the past year to those festivals to teach the dance.

You can learn to clog for about $30 for a 12 week course, Bilz said. Add about $40 more for shoes with taps and you're ready to dance, Heard said. But if you go for dancing on a grand scale, as he does, you might spend about $3,000 a year traveling to clogging meets.

You can clog in whatever clothing is comfortable, but some dancers Bilz said go for garb similar to square dance costumes.

The dancing draws families and most cloggers fall in the age range of 25 to 40 and most are country music fans, but Heard said the oldest he has seen is 84. And at 39, he says he's not as fleet on his feet as the youngsters.

Although clogging's country roots are deep, some cloggers dance to a different tune. Bilz said he choreographs traditional clogging steps to contemporary music for a change of pace. Heard, too, is a clogging choreographer and in his first choreographing effort, Heard said, he put clogging steps to the tune of the "William Tell Overture," also known as the opening theme to the Lone Ranger television series.

Fitness is a factor in this creative exercise. "It's good exercise. A lot of people who can't jog or do other exercises clog," Bilz said, and he and Heard teach clogging to some handicapped youngsters in Orange County.

But how did Bilz, the clogging whiz, get a toe in at the top as trainer of other country-type tappers?

Bang! You're Dead! Are The Movies Getting Deadlier?

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Zap!
Zap! Zap! Dead. Dead. Dead.
Movies get deadlier every day.

It has become a contest among producers of box office hits to see how many characters can be zapped, blasted and blown away by the fifth reel.

Who's killed more people? Eastwood. Stallone. Schwarzenegger. Bronson. Norris?

How much violence do such movies as "Commando," "Rambo" and "Death Wish" inspire in the young and impressionable?

Do violent films reflect contemporary American political feelings? Are they suggesting vigilante law as a way of life?

Director Michael Winner, notorious for his free-wheeling violence directed last week's No. 1 box office film, Charles Bronson's "Death Wish 3."

He was infuriated the action-packed picture was given an X rating for excessive violence (later up-graded to an R) by the Motion Picture Association of America's movie rating system.)

Englishman Winner justifies violence as entertainment and says it is not injurious emotionally or psychologically to the audience. There are those who disagree.

"As a director I say killing people is irrelevant," said Winner. "Historically, villains are killed. Violence was out there in the world before cinema and television.

"I'm sure people who complain about violence today had distant ancestors who stood outside the Globe theater and objected to Shakespeare's characters gouging eyes and placing severed heads on poles. They must have thought Shakespeare a terrible chap.

"Well drama has always been about conflict and not all of it is meant to be taken seriously.

"The Rambo pictures are tongue-in-cheek. They're so far over the top they lend a touch of comedy because they are so much larger than life. As far as I'm concerned, 'Death Wish 3' is unquestionably a comedy. Charlie Bronson probably doesn't think so, but I do. You couldn't possibly take it seriously."

Winner wasn't laughing when the MPAA board tacked the X on his picture.

He excuses the mass killings saying an entire community rises up, under Bronson's leadership, to knock off a brutal gang of street people.

"The body count was higher than in the other 'Death Wish' pictures," Winner admitted. "The script was written a year ago and happens to have a lot of people knocked off.

"After the X rating I made some cuts and they still refused to change it to an R. Their objection was the number of people killed. I saw 'Rambo' four times and counted 83 people killed. There are only 60 killed in 'Death Wish 3.' I brought this to the attention of a woman on the ratings board.

"She told me, 'Yes but most of the people killed in 'Rambo' are Vietnamese.' I said I was sure that on reflection she wouldn't want to stand by that remark and all that it implies.

"I took my case to the appeals board of 12 people, four from the rating board, four theater owners and four distributors. I got the two-thirds majority needed to change it. But that's only happened twice in the past three years."

Winner said he feels an enormous responsibility to audiences. He is chairman of the Police Memorial Trust in England and is chief censorship officer of the English Directors Guild.

"There are many things I wouldn't put in a film," he said. "But reproducing violence on a laughable level of what goes on in society seems to be perfectly harmless.

"I've cut films in the past for censors in various countries for what was described as gratuitous violence. On this picture Don Jakoby, the writer, took his name off the credits because he thought it was too violent. When he saw the finished film he got a last-minute attack of liberalism. He saw the film without eight scenes of violence he'd written."

Winner believes violence is acceptable if it is absurd enough to be considered a cartoon. "Death Wish 3" includes mortar and hand grenade explosions in the middle of New York City.

"What we depict has happened in many cities in the past. In the case of vigilante law, we give the ordinary citizen the courage on the screen that he doesn't have in real life.

Charles Manson's Madness Now Available On Cassette

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —
"Manson," the ultimate horror film, is now on video tape.

"The Exorcist," "Friday The 13th" and other occult horror films pale into insignificance compared with the eerie madness of Charles Manson and the black arts practiced by his cult in the late 1960s.

It is the horror of reality. The central characters in the documentary film are murderously real, their crimes zealously committed. "Manson" needs no special effects or tricky plot twists.

On Aug. 9, 1969, Manson sent four of his followers out to butcher actress Sharon Tate and four other innocent victims in a bloodbath in the pregnant actress' posh Beverly Hills home. Her husband, Roman Polanski, was absent.

The following night Manson dispatched another kill squad to murder Leno and Rosemary La Bianca.

Bodies of the victims in both cases were carved with knives. Bloody messages were scrawled on doors and walls.

Manson and four of his "family" — Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel, Leslie Van Houten and Tex Watson — were convicted of murder and imprisoned.

Their trial, which cost $1 million, was the most publicized in the country's history. It was also the longest — 9½ months — murder trial to that time.

The gory history of the messianic Manson and his devoted adherents is recorded in "Manson." The movie, was released in 1976 and received critical acclaim. "Helter Skelter," a book about the Manson gang, written by prosecuting attorney Vincent Bugliosi, became a TV movie.

But both films were released at a time when the public had become inured to the atrocities committed by the cult's dedication to drugs, sex orgies and murder.

Some sociologists believe

Manson contributed significantly to public outrage to end the hippie craze and extinguish the rebellious 60s movement.

Released this month, 16 years after the vicious killings, the video version of the original 88-minute film "Manson" puts more clearly into perspective who and what Manson and his ragtag group of social misfits were all about.

The shock value of the film is greater now than ever with footage of the killers in prison, interviews with other family members along with scenes of cult life on the infamous Spahn Ranch, Manson's satanic headquarters.

A final interview with Manson clearly exposes his madness.

Producer Robert Hendrickson said there was a seven-year moratorium on cassette rights, accounting in part for its delayed appearance on the market.

Hendrickson says he captured 10,000 feet of film of the family during those months in 1969 when Manson was a fugitive and then jailed and during the investigation of the murders.

"It was a difficult thing to do," said Hendrickson, who was only 25 at the time. "But I won their respect and trust by standing up to them from time to time. They let me film almost anything I wanted.

"But I backed off when they asked me to shoot their black art rituals. I didn't know what might happen.

"I wasn't sure I was involved with a murderous cult at first. Nobody had been convicted of anything. But as time went on I realized just what they were involved in."

Hendrickson gained the confidence of such other members of the clan as Sandra Goode, Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, Steve Grogan and Bruce Davis, all of whom have served time in prison. Fromme later attempted to assassinate President Gerald Ford.

"By the time I began filming the family their lifestyle had changed," Hendrickson said. "Manson worked his power over the women with drugs and sex. But he turned to his Helter Skelter plan, a race war between blacks and whites.

"Altogether there were between 50 and 100 family members at one time or another and they infiltrated communes all over the Southwest. They've almost all disappeared back into society.

"Some blew away their brains on acid and some of them are still believers. They were brainwashed by Manson. From what I learned, I'd say if the family could be re-grouped under Manson they'd continue to do what they did before.

"If Manson were released from prison tomorrow some members of the family would be with him instantly. And they'd be just as dangerous as they were before."

Singer Lacy J. Dalton Rebuilding Past Fame

By Jim Lewis

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Lacy J. Dalton says she's been spending too much time worrying about the future and it's time to stop and look around.

First, she's disappointed in the lack of chart action from her latest album, "Can't Run Away From Your Heart." It's been critically acclaimed, but cuts from the LP are getting precious little airplay.

Dalton, a year away from being 40, took a two-year hiatus from recording and now thinks it hurt her career. And she recently broke up with her long-time boyfriend.

In a candid interview from her home in the mountains just above Santa Cruz, Calif., Dalton reflected on the way things are going.

"I've had so many ups and downs, changing managers and problems with the record company that have interfered with my career. Unfortunately, there is nobody that will do it for you. I spend so much time on the road just trying to keep this thing afloat that it's really hard to balance out the rest of it and produce like you could with a real liberal budget. We're really close to the bone."

"When you stay off the (record) market for a couple of years, you're not a safe artist for radio. They are afraid to play you. The system is not geared to somebody dropping out for a couple of years in country music."

Choosing not to record for a couple of years was a mistake but it was "something I really had to do," she said.

"People thought I didn't work, but the odd thing was I was on the road constantly."

But Dalton says she's always lived in the future.

"I was always thinking ahead — what am I going to do next week, where will I be, I'm trying to curb it. I'm in my 30s. It's time to slow down and take a look and be more careful about the way you observe and experience things."

Dalton, who has a 14-year-old son, says she's not concerning about turning 40 next year.

"I could go crazy trying to compete with beautiful young things that are making lots of money. That's not who I am. I can't compete and I don't."

She's not even worried about living near the San Andreas Fault, ironically in the same house where she lived when she was on food stamps after the death of her husband in 1974. He died three years after being paralyzed in a freak swimming accident.

Asked how tragedy has affected her, she replied:

"I think it has affected me. Anytime you have any sort of life experience that you can draw upon it makes your writing a little bit deeper. You can understand or you've been places that perhaps some people haven't been yet. And maybe you can throw a little light back at them and show them it's not the end of the world.

"I don't dwell too much on the past. Really, I don't think too much about the past. If anything I live too much in the future. I really think art is experiencing each and every moment. You know, really stop and smell the flowers.

"In the past seven years I don't think I've done that. But recently I decided to become less attached to those future things and just try to take life at one moment at a time and of course I'm a million miles from the (career) goal.

"When you stay off the (record) market for a couple of years, you're not a safe artist for radio. They are afraid to play you. The system is not geared to somebody dropping out for a couple of years in country music."

"But I think I'm enjoying it a lot more this year. Certainly success has eluded me this year with the new album. We've had some chart action on it but it certainly hasn't been as great as my previous chart though a lot of the music is better."

But if anyone thinks Lacy J. Dalton is feeling sorry for herself or unhappy, look again.

"I'm a very happy person. I'm not happy with the career. It's extremely difficult and a pain in the butt a lot of times. But I'm happy and grateful to be on the planet."

Dalton plans to live in the Santa Cruz mountains "until the big earthquake" and is thinking about spending more time writing.

"I think I have talent as a writer. I haven't even begun to write what I am able to write. If there is any chance to pull back from the road and do more writing, I'll take it."

Perhaps Lacy J.'s temporary blues will spawn a great song with commercial success and then, down the road, she can be asked, "has success spoiled Lacy?"

Movie Review

By Dick Kleiner

FANTASIA (G) — (Animated Fantasy) Dancing hippos, gaspewing mountains, mushroom rooms transforming into mandarins, belligerent broomsticks springing to life and nearly drowning Mickey Mouse. To celebrate its 45th anniversary, Walt Disney's animated 1940 fantasy has been re-released in Digital Stereo and, in this era of Rambos and renegades, it's never been more welcome. It took three years, 11 directors and more than 1,000 artists to create this hallucinogenic two-hour video. The screen bursts with sound, color and motion as images soar to music by such classical composers as Stravinsky, Tchaikovsky and Bach.

A joyous triumph to discover — or re-discover. GRADE: A-plus.

Kelly Honored
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gene Kelly has been named grand marshal of the second annual Beverly Hills St. Patrick's Day Parade at the celebrity-studded March 16th celebration.

Ed McMahon, last year's grand marshal, passed the shillelagh to Kelly in a brief ceremony and crowned the actor-dancer with a green derby, which Kelly will wear along the parade route.

The parade will be nationally televised through syndication and is expected to lure more than 350,000 spectators to see some 100 celebrity participants, Irish musicians, dancers and floats.

Rogers Hosts
 Kenny Rogers will host the 28th Grammy Awards to be televised from Los Angeles Feb. 26.

It will be the second outing for Rogers as host of The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences awards presentations. A multiple Grammy Award nominee and a two-time winner in the past, Rogers first played host at the 1980 awards ceremonies.

Rogers won the award for best country vocal in 1977 for "Lucille" and then for "The Gambler" in 1978. His most recent recording is "The Heart of the Matter."

Sanford Actor To Appear On Thrillers

Sanford actor Hardy and appeared on television "Buddy" Rawls is scheduled to appear on two television thrillers this month.

On Sunday, Nov. 17, Rawls, who is a 1970 graduate of Seminole High School and who studied acting at Seminole Community College, is slated to appear on Alfred Hitchcock Presents. The episode is titled "Human Interest Story" and is scheduled to air on NBC, WESH Channel 2, at 8:30 p.m.

On Friday, Nov. 27, Rawls is set to appear in "Dead Woman's Shoes," on the new Twilight Zone at 8 p.m. on CBS, WCPX Channel 6.

Rawls' all-American, paunchy, balding look along with his ever present plaid shirt and baseball cap win him many "good ol' boy" roles in television commercials. He has also performed in the theater and appeared on television programs including soap operas. He was featured in the movie D.A.R.Y.L. filmed early this year in Orlando and Sanford.

Rawl portrayed a baseball coach in that film and said his burly looks often pit him against well-know sports figures, turned actors, when auditioning for a part.

Rawls, 32, is the son of Eva Bell Rawls of Sanford and the late Hardy Rawls Sr. He turned to acting after a stint in the U.S. Navy. When on trying to break into the business in his late 20s he took odd jobs to support himself and said "I bused table. I felt like I was the oldest busboy in New York City."

But Rawls persistence and talent are beginning to pay off.

It all began about 4 years ago when at his mother's request Bliz accompanied a new friend to a clogging class. He had never danced before and although he was born in Kentucky, clogging country, a family move to Florida at age three took the boy out of the country, and it took a Florida clogging class to bring the country back out in the boy.

"I didn't choose clogging. My mom made me take it. I didn't even know what it was when they first mentioned it to me," Bliz said. "I loved it."

He had never danced before and said, "They used to call me a clutz." But it's clutz no more, because Bliz it seems is was born to clog and his enthusiasm singled him out to be selected by the Possum Trot Workshop to teach.

Although many youngsters clog, including his 14-year-old brother Stacy, Bliz said, as a teacher he is unique.

If you'd like to tap your country roots, Heard said, you can connect with cloggers and track down lessons at the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Department, Longwood Square Dance Center and the Maitland Civic Center.

How To See Phil Donahue Show In Person

DEAR DICK — Could you tell me from where in New York City the Phil Donahue show is broadcast? Also, how does one obtain tickets to be an audience participant? — S.B., Kenhorst, Pa.

The Donahue show is telecast from the WNBC theater in Rockefeller Center in New York. For tickets, write to the show at 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y., 10112.

DEAR DICK — Is John Gavin, the ambassador to Mexico, the same John Gavin who played opposite Susan Hayward in a story where she was his mistress and it took place in Paris? I can't recall the name of the picture, can you? — C.F., Williamsport, Pa.

The very same John Gavin, another actor who made good. The picture was "Back Street," a 1961 release.

DEAR DICK — When I was young I made a huge scrapbook of movie stars' pictures. I have photographs of Clara Bow, John Gilbert, John Barrymore and all the heartthrobs of the '20s. The book is tearing and bits have come off but the photos are intact. Some friends feel it is valuable. Can you tell me if it is, and how to go about selling it if it is? — P.I.B., Ojai, Calif.

It depends on what you consider "valuable." A friend of mine, who is an expert on movie memorabilia says, "I am very familiar with this type of scrapbook. The value ranges from $35 to $50." If that amount interests you, contact one of the movie memorabilia stores or collectors. Find them in the Yellow Pages of the Los Angeles telephone book.

DEAR DICK — Some time ago, I watched a movie starring Carol Channing, Mary Tyler Moore and Julie Andrews. It was set back in the early 1920s. Could you please tell me the name of this movie? — T.R., Fort Mill, S.C.

Yes, that was the delightful "Thoroughly Modern Millie," which was made in 1967.

DEAR DICK — My sister was telling me that the actor, Stoney Jackson, who is on the new TV show "The Insiders," is the same one that played Dwayne on "What's Happening?" Can you please tell me if this is true? — J.J.A., Clute, Texas.

Yes. It's not true. Haywood Nelson was Dwayne.

DEAR DICK — Your column is the only place I can think of to answer my question. I recently saw a rerun of the movie "The Magic of Laurel," with Stephanie Zimbalist, and was wondering if she used to play one of the girls on "The Waltons." If she did, which girl did she play? — E.L.W., Portage, Mich.

She was never a regular on "The Waltons."

DEAR DICK — A few years ago, there was a TV sitcom called "All Together Now." I saw one episode, then it almost immediately left the air. How long was it on the air, and why did it leave? Also, Bea Arthur, of the new sitcom, "The Golden Girls," was on another show a few years back, where she ran a boarding house. Was this called "Amanda's By the Sea"? — K.G.H., Rock Island, Ill.

I can find no record of a show called "All Together Now." The little horror that poor Bea did in 1983 was just called "Amanda's."

DEAR DICK — My mother and I saw a TV movie, "License to Kill," and I told her the guy who played John Peterson used to play Robert Laurence on "The Young and the Restless." She said he wasn't. We have a large bet. Could you confirm this and tell us who he is and did he play on "The Young and the Restless"? — A.D., Houston, Texas.

I am sorry to have to inform you that you lose. James Farentino played John Peterson, and Peter Brown was Robert Laurence on "The Young and the Restless."
