

Sanford Ready to Launch New Comprehensive Land Plan

Sanford is slated to have a new comprehensive land use plan by early May. The city's Planning and Zoning Commission, with assistance from engineering consultant Mack LaZenby, has been working on the proposed plan since mid-January, meeting twice monthly.

The group will meet at 7 p.m. today in the city manager's conference room at city hall for their regular workshop on the plan.

LaZenby, former Sanford city engineer and now engineer for the Sanford Airport Authority, said the board members, in addition to attending semi-monthly meetings hammering out the new plan, are doing homework on specific study areas between meetings.

Noting that the city of Sanford was the first city in Florida to complete a comprehensive development plan and have it approved by the state 10 years ago, LaZenby said the city's growth pattern to the southwest (the Hidden Lake area) in the intervening decade has followed the direction of that plan.

The board, he said, is concentrating on the planning portion of its responsibilities.

"A lot of the development that has been done in Sanford in the past 10 years was in accordance with the plan and everytime the plan has needed to be changed, it has been changed.

"The changes brought improvements in some areas. In most cases, the city has stuck with the plan in the development that has been allowed," he said.

LaZenby said Sanford because of its study and the plan has avoided having to call moratoriums on new construction, something seen in other cities in recent months.

"The board is looking at all areas of the city, considering what Sanford will need as far as utilities and transportation are concerned. Before we are done we will know what city improvements are necessary and how much they will cost," he said.

"We will have a plan for the city's growth and expansion when we are finished."

Man Wins $6 Million Lawsuit

An Altamonte Springs man in a semicomatose state since an Aug. 26 traffic accident has won a workers' compensation lawsuit which may provide up to $6 million for his long-term medical care.

Francis Stoppello, 59, in the Holiday Hospital of the Orlando Regional Medical Center, was awarded the claim following a ruling Wednesday by a state deputy commissioner, according to Stoppello's attorney, Robert Buckmaster.

Commissioner Stephen Johnson of the state Division Workers' Compensation in Orlando ruled Stoppello was entitled to medical care, including 24-hour-a-day attention. The ruling went against Tiffany Inn east of Orlando, Stoppello's employer at the time of the accident, and against the inn's insurance company, Eagle Star Insurance Co. of New York.

They are expected to appeal the decision, Buckmaster said.

He said Stoppello was working as a parking lot attendant at the inn when a pedestrian was struck and killed nearby on Colonial Drive. Stoppello went to aid the man and was struck by a car. Tiffany Inn's attorneys unsuccessfully argued that Stoppello was not entitled to workers' compensation because he was

Baffling Bones

Comparing observations on human bones found Feb. 21 in Winter Springs, Dr. G.V. Garay, left, Seminole County medical examiner, and anthropologist Dr. William R. Maples agree the victim was male, probably white and between age 25 and 30. He was a slim man and has been deceased probably 3 to 5 years. Maples, curator of physical anthropology for the Florida State Museum at the University of Gainesville, met with Garay at his Central Florida Regional Hospital office. He will take the bones to Gainesville for further examination in hopes finding more clues to the man's identity.

Toxic Waste Sites Picked For County

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission didn't designate two locations in the county for possible hazardous waste storage sites, so the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council has done it for them.

The sites chosen by the council at a meeting in Winter Park Wednesday are:

- The Seaboard Railroad Corridor, south of Lake Monroe and north and south of state Road 46, partly within Sanford and partially in the county's unincorporated area.

- Central Florida Industrial Park area, north of Charlotte Street, partly within the city of Longwood and partially in the county's unincorporated area.

County Commissioner Sandra Glenn, a representative to the planning council for Seminole County, said today she really couldn't find fault with the choices made by the council.

"The council did the best it could, under the circumstances," she said. "But I still feel Seminole County is not an ideal county for hazardous waste storage facilities. Because the law says the planning council has to designate sites, it did the only thing it could."

Mrs. Glenn did not vote on the issue with other members of the council, however. "I felt I had already voted against hazardous waste facilities in Seminole County at the commissions January public hearing."

The county commission's other representative on the council, Fred Streetman, was absent. Of Seminole's city representatives, Lee Constantine, city commissioner of Altamonte Springs, voted against the choices because he said both sites should be in Sanford, and Winter Springs Commissioner Jim Hartman voted for the selection.

A committee was named to consider all sites designated before the council makes its regional selection in May. The committee is to include a Seminole County representative, representatives from Sanford and Longwood, where the two county sites are located, two Orange County representatives, two Osceola County representatives and representatives from the St. Johns River Water Management District and the state Department of Environmental Regulation.

The council at its Wednesday meeting was told the largest hazardous waste site now in the six-county region is at the Regency Industrial Park in Orange County.

The Florida Water Quality Assurance Act, passed by the Florida Legislature in 1983, required counties to designate at least two areas within their boundaries as potential regional hazardous waste storage facilities.

The law charged regional planning councils with the responsibility to choose sites if counties failed to do so.

The planning council is expected to select one or more sites for regional hazardous waste storage facilities from among sites selected in each of the six counties of the region. That selection is expected to be made in May.

The hazardous waste storage facilities are intended to provide for the temporary collection and storage of hazardous wastes for periods up to 90 days, regional planning council staff say.

The regional facilities are to provide for the proper handling, management and disposal of hazardous wastes by shipment to recycling companies or to other states for landfilling, neutralization or incineration.

After two public hearings jammed with protesters, Seminole commissioners on Jan. 8 voted unanimously to send a letter to the regional planning council saying that they could

Prior Offense Brings Stiffer Penalty

Man Gets 9 Years For Lewd Assault

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford man once convicted and sentenced in Maine for gross sexual misconduct was sentenced to nine years Wednesday for lewd and lascivious assault on a 4-year-old boy. Before a presentencing investigation, which revealed the man's prior record, the prosecutor had recommended one year imprisonment and 15 years probation.

Leon Merton Palmer, 30, of 911 A. Park Ave., was sentenced by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. who gave Palmer the maximum sentence under Florida's sentencing guidelines.

The sentence was greater than what the state had asked for, but was in line with what the prosecutor in the case, Steven Brady, ultimately wanted Palmer to receive.

Brady said he asked for a sentence of one year in the county jail and 15 years probation because the victim refused to testify and the state was forced to accept Palmer's plea of lewd assault, a lesser charge.

Palmer originally was charged with sexual battery to the child which carries a mandatory life sentence.

Brady said that without the child's testimony the state did not have a case. He said earlier that Davis was not bound by the state's recommendation and could hand Palmer a stiffer sentence than recommended because of his previous convictions. Davis also recommended that Palmer receive therapy as a mentally disordered sex offender.

Palmer served two years in prison and a year of probation for the sexual crimes in Lewiston, Maine, in 1979, he said.

According to court records, Palmer forced the child to engage in a sex act with him on June 23.

Palmer, married with two children, was indicted by a Seminole County grand jury Aug. 22. Davis gave him credit for 209 days he has served since his Aug. 3 arrest.

Many Flights Cancelled

Pan Am Mechanics Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mechanics struck Pan American World Airways today after contract negotiations collapsed, with union officials declaring they would ground the airline and the carrier would not give into workers' demands.

Within hours of the strike call, pickets were set up at Kennedy International Airport and in Honolulu, but only scattered pickets were reported at other airports around the nation.

Pan Am's other four unions have said they would honor the strike by the Transport Workers Union.

Ann White, a Pan Am spokeswoman, said supervisors "will operate a number of selected flights," but the company has also set up arrangements with other airlines to accommodate any passengers who are grounded by the strike.

"The last flight tonight left from Los Angeles bound for Sydney at 9:45 p.m. on the West Coast," White said. "That means they took off shortly after the strike seems to have gone into effect and it didn't affect it, but we have set up (contingency plans)."

Flights were expected to arrive at Kennedy Airport early today from the Middle East, South America and Africa. "Supervisory personnel will take care of those planes when they arrive," said Pan Am spokesman James Arey.

The strike, originally set for 12:01 a.m. EST today, was called after talks between the carrier and TWU officials broke off shortly after 12:15 a.m. with no agreement on the issues of wages, benefits and job security.

It was not known when the talks would resume.

Negotiators had gathered at the Roosevelt Hotel and Pan Am headquarters for a marathon bargaining session Wednesday in an effort to avert the strike.

"We are eager for an expeditious settlement," Pan Am Chairman C. Edward Acker said in a statement. "But to give in to TWU demands would seriously jeopardize Pan Am's financial recovery."

Pan Am has not made a profit since 1980 and lost $206 million last year.

After the strike call, pickets appeared almost immediately at Kennedy International Airport. At Honolulu International Airport, about 60 pickets began protesting a flight bound for Los Angeles.

Farm Aid Bills Pass; Veto Threat Defied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defying President Reagan's veto threat, Congress heeded the grass-roots pleas of Farm Belt governors and state lawmakers and approved millions of dollars in relief for heavily indebted farmers.

But Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, reiterating his support for the administration's farm program, wrote off the legislative defeat. "It's never going to become law anyway."

The GOP-controlled Senate, with eight Republicans ignoring administration arm-twisting that the measure was "budget-busting," joined Democrats Wednesday in voting for new help for as many as 300,000 debt-strapped farmers.

The next action comes today as the House takes up its second debt relief measure of the week — $1 billion in loan guarantees for farmers with the heaviest loads.

Senate and House votes come after a massive lobbying campaign this week by farm state governors and hundreds of state legislators, who told of farmers back home burdened by high interest rates who cannot be aided by Reagan's debt relief program.

Smoke Filled And Likely To Stay That Way

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Opponents turned back efforts of legislators who wanted to clear the air in the largest smoke-filled room at the Capitol, narrowly defeating a proposed ban on smoking on the House floor.

"It's going to take two or three of you to get me off this floor if I decide to smoke," Rep. John Monks, D-Muskogee, said prior to the 47-52 vote.

"I know many of you that have habits worse than I have of smoking," Monks said. "I'm not trying to pass any rules or regulations to make you quit your bad habits."

Rep. Jim Henshaw, R-Tulsa, author of the proposed ban, said studies have shown tobacco smoke can cause health problems for those who breathe it. "It does cause cancer and cardiovascular problems," he said.

The House already bars visitors in its gallery from eating, drinking or smoking. Smoke from House members' rises, he said, causing problems for people in the gallery.

Rep. Sue Milton, R-Midwest City, said lawmakers should know "smoke-filled rooms" are a part of politics.

"Anyone that ran for office should have been well-warned that the hazards inherent in running for the office were that you would be in 'smoke-filled rooms,'" she said.

"Now you are trying to change the rules on those of us who accepted and took those risks," Milton said.

Lawyer: Mitchell Not Liable For Vietnam-Era Wiretaps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General John Mitchell should not have to pay damages for authorizing wiretaps on private conversations during the Vietnam War protest days, his lawyer told the Supreme Court.

Mitchell, who was President Nixon's chief law enforcer, was sued for tapping private conversations in response to reports that war protesters planned to bomb Washington, D.C., utility tunnels and to kidnap Henry Kissinger.

Paul Bator, a Justice Department lawyer representing Mitchell, told the justices during oral arguments Wednesday that his client and other top government officials should be immune from facing trial or paying money damages when they wiretap citizens in the name of national security.

Unless such sweeping protection is given, "it still leaves government officials open to debilitating exposure to personal damages," he said.

Bator insisted that Mitchell acted to prevent the bombing and kidnapping.

But opposition attorney David Rudovsky said there was no lower court ruling on whether Mitchell acted to uncover "legitimate political activity" or protect national security.

Intruders Go On Killing Rampage

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four to six men burst into a Brooklyn house, shot and killed three men execution style and then went on a rampage, shooting and stabbing eight other people in the house, police said.

Police said before the men finished, they also raped one woman in the house, tried to strangle one child and drown another in the toilet bowl.

The men forced their way into the two-story house in Brooklyn at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, looking for Mark Johnson, who was there at the time, police said.

The gunmen tied up three other men and shot them in the back of the head and went on a shooting rampage, firing at everyone in sight, police said. When they ran out of bullets, they took out knives and stabbed the rest of the people, police said.

Police were notified of rampage when Johnson, who was stabbed in the arm, staggered into a precinct station at 12:15 a.m. today. Police did not say why the men were looking for Johnson.

Trade Deficit $10.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite record-breaking exports, U.S. merchandise trade with the rest of the world was in deficit by $10.3 billion during January, the Commerce Department reported today.

That equaled the average monthly trade deficit during 1984 when the total red ink in trade reached an unprecedented $123.3 billion, hurting many U.S. industries and raising protectionist pressures in Congress.

January exports were a record $19.4 billion, the department said, topping the previous high of $19.2 billion in July 1984.

January imports totaled $29.7 billion, their highest since $29.8 billion in September 1984.

The trade deficit, which means the United States is buying more goods from abroad than it is selling abroad, has been sharply affected by the recently strong dollar, which makes U.S. goods more expensive for foreigners to buy and makes it harder for domestic firms to compete with imports.

Dead Battery Cell Delays Shuttle Launch

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Next week's shuttle flight of Sen. Jake Garn, a Frenchman and five American astronauts has been delayed another three days, to March 7, because of trouble with part of Challenger's cargo.

The setback forced a corresponding delay in the launch of the shuttle Discovery two weeks later, cutting in half the period during which the mission can get underway.

NASA spokesman Charles Redmond said Challenger's new launch time at Cape Canaveral is 8:33 a.m. March 7, with landing at the Florida spaceport set for 9:38 a.m. March 11.

The new trouble involved the $100 million tracking and data relay satellite designed to complete the space agency's two-satellite network for communicating with shuttles and unmanned satellites.

One of 24 cells in one of the satellite's three batteries was dead, and engineers decided to open up the satellite to rewire the battery system so the faulty cell would be bypassed. The work is expected to be completed Sunday.

Artists Shun Bombers Benefit

PENSACOLA (UPI) — Christian musical artists who have been asked to appear at a benefit concert for four people accused of bombing buildings have declined for fear of being associated with abortion clinic violence, says a pro-life leader.

John Burt, who is organizing the concert to raise money to defend the suspects, says there have been no takers so far, but he's "most definitely not" giving up and hopes to hold it before the March 11 trial.

Matthew Goldaby, James Simmons, Kathy Simmons and Kaye Wiggins face federal conspiracy and explosive charges in the Dec. 25 bombing of three clinics. The men are also accused of a bombing June 25.

C'mon, Let's Move To Pittsburgh

Study Taps Steel City As Best Place To Live In U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city of Pittsburgh, for years suffering an image as a smoky steel town, is the best place to live in the United States, according to a new study by Rand McNally. The worst places are Yuba City, Calif., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

Orlando ranked 91st on the list. Other large Florida cities — Miami-Hialeah, Jacksonville, and Tampa-St. Petersburg — came in 52nd, 48th and 35th respectively.

Rand McNally announced its findings Wednesday in its new "Places Rated Almanac."

Factors taken into consideration for the study of 329 metropolitan areas were climate and terrain, housing, health care, transportation, education, the arts, recreation and economic outlook.

Pittsburgh officials were delighted with their No. 1 rating.

"Why, I am really glad to hear it," said city Controller Thomas Flaherty. "This will be one more giant step to change the city's image that it's a smoky steel town. Pittsburgh is not utopia, but where is utopia?"

Officials in Yuba City were not too glad to hear about their rating. But then, they didn't really care.

"We like where we're at," said Mary Knapp, executive director of the Yuba-Sutter Chamber of Commerce. "We're proud of our community. It (the almanac) doesn't particularly impress us."

The rest of the top 10 were Boston; Raleigh-Durham, N.C.; San Francisco; Philadelphia; Nassau-Suffolk on New York's Long Island; St. Louis; Louisville, Ky.; Norwalk, Conn., and Seattle.

The 10 worst metropolitan areas after

Yuba City and Pine Bluff were Modesto, Calif.; Dothan, Ala.; Albany, Ga.; Benton Harbor, Mich.; Gadsden, Ala.; Casper, Wyo.; Rockford, Ill., and Anderson, Ind.

The aggregate scores took all factors into account, but the almanac also listed the best areas in individual categories.

New York, ranked 25th, is still the worst crime area and one of the worst for tax bite, but far and away the winner in the arts.

Seattle has the best recreation facilities. Idaho led the list of millionaires per capita by state, while Wyoming came in last.

Of major cities, Atlanta ranked 11th; Dallas 12th; Washington, D.C. 15th; Chicago 26th; Denver 30th; Los Angeles-Long Beach 38th; Minneapolis-St. Paul 51st; New Orleans 53rd; Detroit 87th. Las Vegas came in 230th.

Banking The Final Frontier

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A science fiction writer has become the first human being to open a bank account on the moon, saying he hopes the move will pay off in lunar "walking around money."

Ben Bova said he has placed a $1,000 deposit in the lunar branch account of the Lamar Savings and Loan in Austin, Texas. The bank recently applied to the Texas banking commission for permission to put a bank on the moon, whenever it's feasible.

Bova said he wants to have "walking around money" when he gets to the moon and is fully convinced he'll get there.

With the growth of space industries in Texas, the bankers at Lamar "feel that that's where the new frontier is," Bova said.

Sex Scandal Prompts Teacher's Resignation

A Seminole County High School teacher and cross country coach accused of sexual misconduct with a 16-year-old female student has resigned.

Ted Tombras, 30, of 151 Shadow Trail, Longwood, was suspended with pay Feb. 15 by Superintendent Robert Hughes on the recommendation of Seminole High School Principal Wayne Epps after Epps received accusations of "sexual misconduct or sexual abuse" from the girl's mother, Hughes said.

The woman brought the accusations after reportedly reading some her daughter's notes allegedly referring to the teacher. The alleged incidents reportedly occurred off the grounds of the high school, Hughes said.

Tombras, who could not be reached for comment, denies any sexual improprieties with the girl, school officials said.

He submitted his resignation Tuesday and the Seminole County School Board accepted it without comment at its meeting Wednesday night.

After the meeting, Hughes said if Tombras hadn't resigned by the time of the meeting he would have sought to dismiss him.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and the Education Practices Commission, the state board which monitors teacher certifications, is continuing an investigation into the accusations, Hughes said. If not vindicated, Tombras could be suspended up to five years, have his certification revoked indefinitely or permanently and face criminal charges, Hughes said.

Tombras, who is married ac-

Ted Tombras ...accused of sexual improprieties with student

ording to school board records, has been a teacher at SHS for one year, Epps said. In addition to coaching the boys' and girls' cross country teams, he was the assistant track coach and taught driver's education. Under his coaching, the cross country teams made it to state competition for the first time in the school's history in 1984. His annual salary was $21,664.

Tombras was hired by Seminole County schools in 1978 but didn't start teaching at SHS until 1984. Prior to teaching in Seminole County he was a substitute teacher at MacArthur High School in Broward County, according to school records.

According to HRS policy, the resignation of Tombras will not stymie its investigation of the case.

Syd McCallister, deputy district administrator, said the department is bound by statute to complete any investigation it starts of alleged sex or child abuse regardless of the actions of the accused.

He said the department usually submits its report of a case to the State Attorney's Office within 30 days after notification of an alleged offense.

School Named But Not Without Some Discord

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

As expected, the Seminole County School Board has voted unanimously to name its newest middle school "Greenwood Lakes Middle School."

The name, which was recommended by Superintendent Robert Hughes and was suggested by the developer which donated part of the land and the chairman of the Seminole County Commission, won out over seven others.

The $7.5 million, 160,327-square-foot proposed school had been referred to as "Middle School X" since its inception. It is to be located at 601 Lake Park Drive in Lake Mary, directly behind Lake Mary High School and is scheduled to be completed in July 1986.

The site is near "The Crossings" residential development in an area of the county commonly referred to as Greenwood Lakes. The Crossings' developer, Stuart Kramer, donated 15 acres of land for a school. But since school board policy requires middle schools be on 25 acres, an additional 10 were needed.

Kramer sold the board the needed land for $250,000, according to Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation.

At the school's Jan. 21 groundbreaking, Kramer and Seminole County Commissioner Robert Sturm suggested to Hughes that the school be named "Greenwood Lakes Middle School," according to a memo Hughes sent to school board members.

At Wednesday's school board meeting, Hughes backed the suggestion and the name was approved unanimously. Immediately after it was approved, Vice Chairman Jean Bryant asked, "What was the rationale behind choosing that name?"

Hughes said because the name would help identify the school with the area and that it was the recommendation of the Parent-Teacher Association, Kramer and Sturm.

"So the county commission named it," chimed in board member Pat Telson.

"No, the school board named it," responded board member Bill Kroll.

Hughes said after the meeting that when land is donated by a developer "people need to realize" his or her wishes "come into play."

Kramer's other choice was "The Crossings Middle School," Hughes said. But Hughes said he was happy the board went with "Greenwood Lakes."

"Greenwood Lakes sounded more like a school than The Crossings," he said.

Hughes said unlike name searches for other schools, the quest for a moniker for "Middle School X" generated little interest.

The seven other names and their number of recommendations were:

- Greenwood Middle School, 3.
- Frank Evans Middle School, 1.
- The Crossings Middle School, 1.
- William P. Laver Middle School, 1. (Laver requested his name be withdrawn).
- Jackson Middle School, 1.
- Harold Kastner Middle School, submitted by the Sanford Kiwanis Club.
- Robert True Middle School, the Lake Mary City Commission.

Evans was a three-time county commissioner who donated land to the school system. He died in 1964. Hughes said if the school would have been named after Evans the name may have been confused with John Evans, the Oviedo educator.

Kastner moved to Seminole County in 1934 and was a business and civic leader until his death in 1977.

Laver was superintendent of schools from 1972 until 1980 and Trice was an educator and a longtime resident of Lake Mary.

Hughes said he was just happy it wasn't named after the city of Lake Mary. Two schools with that name are confusing enough, he said.

"You would not believe the amount of mail and phone calls that get confused between Lake Mary High School and Lake Mary Elementary."

Tobacco Program Repeal Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Thomas Petri, R-Wisc., with the support of health groups and some tobacco growers, Wednesday introduced legislation to repeal the federal tobacco program. Petri, who saw similar legislation go nowhere in the last session of Congress, said the subsidy program "makes no sense" when the government is warning people about the dangers of smoking. "In this year of concern over the budget deficit, the trade deficit, and the farm crisis, there can be no better place to start putting our house in order than right here," Petri told a news conference. "It is time to put the tobacco program out of its misery," he said.

Sign Denial Sore Spot With Dentist

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer
If you have a dental appointment for the first time with Dr. William Runge, don't look for a sign in the yard to help you find his office on Park Avenue in Sanford. While there is lettering on the building noting the doctor's name and the fact that he is a dentist, Runge said he needs a sign more visible from the road so motorists can see it as they drive by. The Sanford City Commission, adhering to its new policy of refusing variances to city law, turned down the dentist's request for permission to erect a sign in the front yard of his building at 2105 Park Ave., noting his name and office hours.

The vote was 4-1 with only Commissioner David Farr voting against denial. Runge, who was out of town and unable to attend Monday night's city commission meeting, said he was disappointed when he learned Tuesday that his request was turned down. "It is kind of hard to have a dental office and not have a sign to let people know it," Runge said. "I'm not quite sure just what I'll do about it. My only recourse is to apply for a change of zoning." Farr said that only one of the property owners in the immediate vicinity of his office opposes rezoning. Farr said the Runge property is an asset to the community, and it would be better to grant a variance than see a change of zoning there.

Runge said he requested permission to erect a sign approximately two feet by three feet. The sign would have his name and list his office hours, he said. Along with his request for permission to erect the sign, he submitted a petition from four of five adjacent property owners approving a rezoning of his property RMOL, which allows offices. One neighbor did not approve. Monday night Commissioner John Mercer, pointing to the commission's effort to make Sanford beautiful, made the motion to deny Runge's request. Commissioner Milton Smith seconded the motion. Smith has noted in the past that former city commissioners lost a court case

Dr. William Runge's Park Avenue office is identified by on the face of the building. A Ray Of Hope

"When I use the word, 'Humpty-Dumpty' said, 'it means just what I choose it to mean — neither more nor less.'"

Justice Harry Blackmun of the U.S. Supreme Court says federalism means whatever Congress and the president want it to mean. If states and cities think the concept of federalism embodied in the U.S. Constitution gives them an immunity to federal regulatory power, they're mistaken.

Such is the extraordinary premise of Justice Blackmun's opinion explaining the recent 5-4 decision marking a major change of direction in the Supreme Court's approach to issues of federal and state powers. The decision pulls the rug from under the "new federalism" that presidents going back to Richard Nixon have been promoting in an effort to strengthen state governments.

Specifically, the court ruled that public transit employees in San Antonio, Texas, are subject to coverage of federal wage-and-hour laws. One likely result is that labor costs, and thus transit fares, will rise, and by extension the same effect can be expected in any other areas of public employment at the state and local level that might be out of conformity with federal labor laws. By one estimate, the decision will bring an increase of $100 million a year in expenses for transit agencies alone, not counting any broader effect on payrolls of state and local government.

The greater significance of the Supreme Court ruling lies in what it does to the balance of power between the federal governments and the states — a balance presumably spelled out in the Constitution. The court overturned its own 1976 decision, which granted the states immunity to federal regulation when they are performing their "traditional governmental functions," relying on the 10th Amendment, which reserves for the states whatever powers are not assigned to the federal government.

Justice Blackmun, writing for the majority, now advances the novel idea that the Founding Fathers didn't intend for the 10th Amendment to be a check on federal authority over the states. The federal government itself is a creature of the states, he says, and it is through the political process of electing a congress and a president that the states express their will about how power shall be divided between the two levels of government.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, in his vigorous dissent, points out that what Justice Blackmun really is saying is that federal officials shall be the sole judges of the limits of their own power over the states. The 10th Amendment, he writes, is reduced to "meaningless rhetoric" any time Congress chooses to act under the Constitution's so-called Commerce Clause, which gives it power to regulate commerce among the states and is the basis for most federal regulatory laws.

This is a new brand of federalism with a vengeance! Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, another dissenter, sees the intention of the Founding Fathers in a clearer light than Justice Blackmun. "They ... envisioned a republic whose vitality was assured by the diffusion of power not only among the branches of the federal government, but also between the federal government and the states." She decries the court's retreat from that principle.

So should anyone who appreciates having the privilege of electing state and local governments to manage public affairs that do not need direction from Washington. The 5-4 split on the court in the San Antonio case offers a ray of hope for the future. If the court can reverse itself on an issue it decided as recently as 1976, there's a chance it will do another turnaround, and preferably sooner.

Volcker Didn't Cause Bond Market Stutter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The conventional wisdom is that the bond market stuttered recently because of Paul Volcker's comments to the Senate Banking Committee, but the truth is somewhat more complex.

The market declined because of very basic fundamental economic reasons. The recovery is strong. Money and credit growth are excessive. And inflation is once again trying to make a comeback. Under those conditions, interest rates will have to rise later in the year.

Further signs of strengthening were evident when the Commerce Department revised fourth quarter GNP to show a growth rate of 4.9 percent last quarter, compared to the already upward-revised 3.9 percent. Furthermore, first quarter growth is quite strong.

The January consumer figures and housing starts both support that viewpoint, and it is quite possible that real growth this quarter could be as high as 5 percent instead of the current consensus viewpoint of 4 percent.

The fact that wages and salaries only rose 0.3

percent because wage rates reportedly declined probably has very little to do with the actual state of the economy. If it really is true, all it means is that profits will be that much stronger this quarter.

In what has been a surprisingly accurate survey over the past several years, the National Federation of Independent Business announced their latest survey results earlier this week.

This survey of small businesses pointed out that (a) hiring plans were very vigorous, with an expected increase of 0.3 million new jobs per month in the first half; (b) businesses were planning to restock inventories in view of the wipeout last quarter; (c) on the basis of this, real GNP would rise 5 percent to 5½ percent this quarter; and (d) in spite of lower commodity prices, more domestic businesses than usual were planning to raise prices in the next few months.

If this report is to be believed — and it was unique in its ability to predict the 8 percent growth rate during the first half of 1984 — interest rates are going to rise a lot more and a lot sooner than even we have predicted.

We had some evidence of this move toward higher prices in the January PPI report. The overall figure of no change in the PPI - finished goods camouflaged what we consider to be an extremely important development, namely that prices excluding food and energy rose 0.4 percent.

Higher interest rates do not necessarily mean lower stock prices, since the strong growth in the economy and somewhat higher prices will certainly fatten profit margins again. Hence we are not pulling our prediction of higher stock prices in the next three to four months.

However, in view of these new developments in interest rates, we would be more cautious about plunging into the market, and would only buy selected situations where profit increases are reliably expected to be substantial.

Regan Reign Relaxing

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A couple of Irishmen are running the White House now — Reagan and Regan — and they seem to get along fine.

President Reagan is a man who delegates duty easily and does not have massive ego regarding his prerogatives, as did some of his predecessors. In that respect he is secure.

And so is former Treasury Secretary Donald Regan, the new chief of staff at the White House, who swapped jobs with James Baker.

Regan, like the president, says he likes to operate as chairman of the board, which he was at one time on Wall Street.

He has taken over White House turf that once was carved up between Baker, deputy chief Michael Deaver and counselor Edwin Meese. Deaver will be departing in May. Meese has become attorney general.

The "troika" days are over. "Three becomes one," says Regan, who makes it clear that he is running the show and that all papers and problems pass through him.

Regan says he does not want aides to "clone" themselves in his image. He is a take charge man and one of his first assertive jobs was to admonish budget director David Stockman, who publicly railed against the debt-ridden farmers and military pensioners.

Regan had a talk with Stockman and told him that many of the things he charged had been "better left unsaid or could have been better expressed."

Regan says the reshuffling of the staff is still going on, and there will be more changes. One of his surprise moves was to bring confrontational conservative columnist Pat Buchanan into the White House to advise on how to better communicate the president's policies and to hone Reagan speeches.

"Pat's a punny cat," says Regan rejecting the image of a hard nosed anti-media Buchanan.

Regan is putting his own stamp on the White House and his style is less tension producing. He has a reputation for being tough, having said, "I don't get ulcers. I give them."

But so far, he has managed to step into the powerful shoes with comparative ease and no big blunders.

The atmosphere is more relaxed since he took over. There is no question that several of the first term holdovers, having got over their initial jitters at the newcomers moving in — Regan brought five aides with him — are breathing a sigh of relief.

Spirit Of Defiance Lives On In Poland

WASHINGTON — Twice in recent months I've tried to get into Poland, but the country's communist military dictatorship wouldn't grant me a visa.

The Polish authorities clearly didn't want me to meet Lech Walesa, the dynamic leader of the outlawed Solidarity union.

The Polish government partially relented, however, and let my associate Lucette Lagnado travel freely through the country recently. Here is what she found:

— Even before arrival in Poland, a visitor is surprised to hear outspoken criticism of the communist regime from Poles flying home from abroad. These were Polish citizens who were among the most privileged and presumably trusted by the regime, having been allowed to leave the country — and they made their remarks within earshot of other passengers who must have included secret police. Temporary Heart?

By Al Rossiter Jr.
UPI Science Editor

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — In a different approach to using artificial hearts, doctors at Penn State's Hershey Medical Center are preparing to implant a plastic heart on a temporary basis until it can be replaced by a heart transplant.

The Penn State heart, designed and manufactured at the medical center built on a chocolate fortune, would remain in a critically ill patient for only a matter of days or weeks.

The Jarvik-7 heart being implanted by Dr. William DeVries at Humana Hospital Audubon in Louisville, Ky., is sewed in patients' chests on a permanent basis.

The Hershey team has had a request before the federal Food and Drug Administration since December for permission to proceed with the first implant as soon as a suitable candidate becomes available. A decision is expected by mid-March.

"It is only to be used as a bridge or temporary device until an organ donor is found," said Dr. William Pierce, professor of surgery and chief of the division of artificial organs at the medical center founded 20 years ago with $50 million from the Hershey Foundation.

"The device wouldn't be as forgettable as a transplant (but) would at least be something to tide him over temporarily," said Gerson Rosenberg, assistant chief of the division of artificial organs at the medical center.

Dr. William DeVries, head of the Humana artificial heart team, praised Pierce "as one of the really good (artificial heart) investigators in the world." But DeVries said the problem with using an artificial heart temporarily is that once implanted, complications might develop that would prevent the patient from receiving a transplant.

"My objection to the people saying it should only be used as a temporary device is that basically if you get a consent from the patient to use it as a temporary device, you pretty well have to guarantee him that you're going to get him a transplant," DeVries said.

"But what if the patient has a stroke or an infection and you can't have a transplant? Then the device is a permanent device and the patient ought to be aware of the fact that although it is a temporary device, it may become a permanent device."

The first two recipients of artificial hearts on a permanent basis — Barney Clark in Salt Lake City and William Schroeder in Louisville — developed neurological problems. Clark had seizures and Schroeder suffered a stroke 2½ weeks after his implant Nov. 25.

A major difference between the Louisville and Hershey programs is that Pierce's patients must be suitable for transplants. That means they must be under 55 and must be in good health except for the heart.

Sugar And Subsidies

KAHULUI, Hawaii (NEA) — Sugar production remains one of Hawaii's dominant industries, but the industry has lost a substantial share of its market to corn-based substitutes, notably high-fructose corn syrup, and to artificial sweeteners such as saccharin and aspartame.

In contrast to that legitimate competition, sugar also is being assaulted by critics relying upon specious arguments to strip the crop of protection offered by a relatively modest federal price-support program.

Included in that category are industries determined to drive down the price of sugar because they use large quantities of sweeteners. Notable among them are the country's soft drink and candy producers as well as a Washington-based consumer organization.

Public Voice for Food and Health Policy, a reputable public interest group that ought to know better, has joined in a nationwide campaign that misleads consumers into believing that sugar producers receive a "subsidy" of more than $3 billion annually authorized by federal farm legislation.

To reach that conclusion, Public Voice and the major purchasers of sugar assume that all sugar consumed in this country (about 8.5 million tons annually) could be purchased at the international "spot market" price, which has dipped as low as 4 cents per pound in recent months.

But 80 percent to 90 percent of all the world's sugar is bought and sold under the provisions of long-term contracts and trade agreements, whose purchase prices range from 20 to 25 cents per pound.

The omnibus farm bill, which was enacted in 1981 and must be renewed this year, does include a price-support program for sugar, but it is far less expensive than the assistance provided to other crops.

The sugar program involves no subsidies, direct payments or production controls. It does allow producers to use unsold sugar as collateral for government loans, at 18 cents per pound, if the market price falls below their production costs.

That program provides a measure of economic stability for sugar cane growers not only in Hawaii but also in the three other producing states — Florida, Louisiana and Texas. In addition, it benefits sugar beet growers in California, Idaho, Minnesota, North Dakota and almost a dozen other states.

firmed at least the part about the workers' lack of motivation to produce. And he hinted that the inefficiency of Polish industry was partly the government's fault. "Our factories cannot compete with yours," he said. "They are backward."

— The police-state repression, though not as overpoweringly obvious as in other Soviet-bloc countries, is nevertheless in evidence where it counts.

Even on internal flights in small, antique, propeller-driven planes, security is tight. Passengers and their belongings are carefully checked, and there is a minimum of two "anti-terrorist" security officers, armed with rifles and knives, aboard the plane. One officer sits at the back of the passenger compartment, the other in the cockpit. Their purpose is to prevent hijackings to the West.

Shop & Go Clerks Arrested In Sale Of Beer To Minor

Two Seminole County convenience store clerks have been released from jail on $100 bond each after being charged with selling an alcoholic beverage to a minor.

The Shop & Go clerks, at two separate stores, were charged around 9 p.m. Wednesday after they reportedly sold beer to an underage informant.

Patricia May Fowler, 39, of 179 Lori Ann Lane, Winter Springs, was arrested on the job at the Shop & Go, state Road 434, Winter Springs.

Harold Thomas Canning, 25, of #79, 4220 South Orlando Ave., Sanford, was arrested while working at the shop on state Road 427 at Charlotte St., Longwood.

FORGERY FAMILY
An Oviedo woman who reportedly tried to cash a forged $100 check at a Longwood Sun Bank has been charged with forgery and uttering a forgery. Her husband, who was reportedly in the car with her when she handed the check to a drive-in teller, has been charged as a principal to the crime, Longwood police said.

The woman reportedly drove away from the bank without getting the cash when the teller began to question her, a police report said. Police were called by the bank and the pair were nabbed in the parking lot of a nearby restaurant on state Road 434, the report said.

Arrested Tuesday were Melissa

Lee Mock, 20, and Johnny Craig Mock, 38, both of P.O. Box 4423, Sunset Lane. They were released on $5,000 bond each and are scheduled to appear in court March 18.

BATTERING GIRL
Sanford police responded to a disturbance call and reported hearing a girl scream for help as they approached a house at 303 Krider Road.

Officers entered the house and found a man sitting on top of his 17-year-old sister. He was described in a police report as being uncooperative, illogical and surly.

Police spokesman Keith Wright said the girl had been doing her homework when the man reportedly grabbed a dictionary from her. She tried to get it back and he kicked her in the stomach and eventually pinned her down on the floor.

George Lee Karnes, 19, of 303 Krider Road, was charged with battery and resisting arrest without violence at his home at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday. He was later freed on $500 bond.

GUNS ONE, POT THE OTHER

butt of a .32-caliber revolver partially concealed under the driver's seat of the suspect's vehicle. He found a second revolver, a .357-magnum, in the same location, an arrest report said. Both weapons were loaded.

When the passenger was asked to identify himself he called to not have a wallet, so Smith asked to see the wallet he had seen in the man's back pocket, the report said.

A search of the wallet turned up two marijuana cigarettes, the report said.

Arrested on the weapons charge was Stermon Williams, 27, Route 2, Box 2401, Sanford. Arrested on the drug charge, Tyrone Christopher English, 18, of 805 Brentwood Ave., Altamonte Springs. Both were arrested at 3:15 a.m. Tuesday. Williams was later freed on $5,000 bond and English on $500 bond.

CLUBBERS CAUGHT

Longwood police report charging two men with aggravated battery following the clubbing of a Longwood man.

The victim, James Farmer, 18, was found by police lying in the street in the 300 block of Church Street, Longwood.

Farmer was hit in the head with a wooden club, allegedly wielded by the two suspects around 10:20 p.m. Tuesday, police said.

Police today said they were trying to determine a motive behind the attack. Witnesses gave statements to police that led to arrest of the pair, the report said.

Farmer was treated South Seminole Community Hospital, Longwood, and released.

James Everett Gentile, 18, of 104 Dorchester St., Lake Mary, was arrested following questioning at the Longwood Police Department at 12:45 a.m. Wednesday.

William Bruce Marshall, 20, of 258 Short St., Longwood, was arrested at his home. Both were being held in lieu of $8,000 bond each.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Almost $2,000 worth of items including jewelry, paint supplies, a radio and an air compressor were stolen from a camper and the home of John Richard Booth, 46, of 70 Academy Drive, Frost City. The theft occurred Saturday or Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

A Yamaha moped worth $300 was stolen from the parking lot at Lake Howell High School, Dike Road, Altamonte Springs, on Friday. The 1980 vehicle belongs to Brian C. Yaroah, 16, of 851 Huckleberry Lane, Casselberry, who told deputies he may have lost the keys to the moped.

"Jake," a German shepherd belonging to James Smith of Academy Manor, Sanford, recently gave birth to 15 male puppies. She doesn't have enough milk to feed the 12 surviving puppies so she gets some help from her owner, right, and his sister, Gail what is THATCH?

One lawn expert labeled it "The accumulation of a dense mat of undecomposed roots, stems and grass clippings between the soil surface and the visible green vegetation." He went on to say that this mat often was several inches thick. Yet this build-up can easily go unnoticed.

With a severe thatch build-up, fertilizers could not penetrate and do their job. Water could not easily be absorbed into the soil. Thatch also creates a breeding ground for insects that destroy the lawn, as well as offering an excellent place for fungus to reproduce. Fertilizer manufacturers found that for the best results, thatch must be removed prior to application.

HOW CAN WE GET RID OF IT?

Using a hand rake is not only back-breaking work, but impossible from a time-and-labor standpoint, and the result is disappointing. This is why the "Thatch" Lawn Comber was developed. A compact yet rugged machine with sufficient power to remove virtually all the thatch in a lawn with one pass. Nothing can match the performance, thoroughness and dependability of the Lawn Comber.

Creek Survives Tribe, 56-54

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
PORT ORANGE — Whenever a player intentionally scores at the other team's end, you know you're in for one wild basketball game. Spruce Creek's Johnnie Bennett mistakenly dropped in a layup for Seminole Wednesday night, but what the Tribe really needed was another three-point play by the Hawks' forward.

"Bennett was wide open and he made a nice shot," teased Spruce Creek coach Roger Dorio about the third-quarter play. "If we had any luck, he would have missed."

The Hawks' luck came later. Holding a one-point lead with 1:25 to play, Seminole failed to cash in on three golden scoring opportunities and eventually lost a 56-54 nailbiter to the Hawks in the opening round of the District 4A-9 Basketball Tournament at Spruce Creek High School.

"The setback eliminates Seminole from the tournament and leaves it with a 15-12 final record. Spruce Creek, 17-10, will play DeLand, a 61-54 winner over Lake Brantley, in Friday's 8:30 p.m. semifinal.

"Everything was going like we wanted it," said Seminole coach Chris Marlette. "We held (6-8 Jon) Fedor to 10 points but we didn't get the breaks when we needed them."

Although the 'Noles held down Fedor, they didn't do much with Bennett or Kenny Southall. Bennett tossed in 13 points which counted for his team while Southall added 15. "We stopped (Kenny) Gordon and (James) Rouse in the second half," said Dorio. "That was the difference. Gordon had 10 at half and finished with 12. Rouse only scored six the second half."

Along with the second half defensive shackles on the two seniors, Spruce Creek effectively clogged the middle against Rod Henderson. The 6-3 sophomore had just eight points and couldn't break loose all night.

Spruce Creek, which split with the Tribe during the regular season, used balanced scoring from Southall, Bennett and sophomore guard Lavon Darthard jump ahead in the first quarter.

After Fedor's reverse slam pushed the Creek ahead, 22-17, early in the second, Seminole started to click. Freshman Andre Whitney stuck in two free throws and Gordon hit a jumper to pull the 'Noles within 22-21.

A bank shot by Rouse and then a three-point play by the senior guard evened the count at 26 with 3:42 left in the half. It also sent Fedor to the bench with his second foul where he joined 6-10 Mark Nichols, who was saddled with three.

Matt Maxwell put Seminole ahead, 28-26, with 2:38 left and Gordon dropped in a jump shot to push the Tribe up, 30-28, at halftime. Gordon and Rouse had 19 of the 30 while Bennett and Southall had 16 of the 28.

Neither team could build a lead bigger than four points in the turnover-plagued second half. A basket by Cedric Holomon closed out the third quarter scoring with Spruce Creek on top, 42-38, with two minutes left.

Bennett's wrong way layup came after a jump ball two minutes into the fourth quarter pulled the Tribe within 44-42. It seemed to awaken the 'Noles who then tallied on a steal and bucket by Rouse, which caused a Spruce Creek timeout. Two Fedor free throws and a two Southall buckets pushed the lead to 50-44, but Whitney tossed one in to cut it to four. The Tribe then had three chances to draw closer but missed all three efforts. Maxwell.

DeLand Ruins Patriot Upset Recipe, 61-54

PORT ORANGE — Lake Brantley's Patriots had the upset recipe in the bowl Wednesday night. They received strong inside games from Greg Courtney and Rex Black. They converted 12 of 13 free throws. DeLand was also minus two starters which added to the mixture.

But when it came time to toss the batch into the oven, DeLand's Randy Anderson and Kevin Weickel were the ones who started cooking. Anderson hit two key buckets at the end of the third quarter and Weickel popped in a hoop and four free throws in the final minute as DeLand staved off Lake Brantley, 61-54, in the District 4A-9 Basketball Tournament at Spruce Creek High School.

"I'm real proud of our effort," said Lake Brantley mentor Bob Peterson. "Courtney played extremely well (19 points and 12 rebounds). In the end, they went to the (free throw) line and made them.

The Patriots closed out the season with a 22-8 mark. Coach John Zeoli's Bulldogs improved to 20-8. They will play Spruce Creek Friday night at 8:30 in the semifinal round. The Creek nipped Seminole, 56-54, in Wednesday's second game.

"We couldn't have been much more flat," said Zeoli. "But Lake Brantley is playing good ball. (Seminole coach Chris) Marlette told me that we'd have trouble with them. They have made a lot of improvement since the last time we played them (20-point DeLand win)."

The Bulldogs were without point guard Terry Williams and power forward Marcus Johnson. Zeoli said Williams is still recovering from a broken pelvis and his availability is doubtful for the tournament. Zeoli said Johnson has been dismissed from the team for disciplinary reasons.

DeLand jumped to a quick 13-4 lead in the first quarter as Black's two inside hoops were the only Patriot scores. Brantley cut the lead in the second quarter as Courtney started to get cranked up but the Patriots still trailed by seven, 28-21, at halftime.

The Big Blue made its run midway through the third quarter and finally pared the deficit to 40-37 with 1:11 left when Wade Wittig, who was held to four points, stuck in a rebound bucket.

DeLand then turned the ball over to Anderson. "Anderson hurt us on the offensive boards the other two times," said Peterson. "We controlled that part of his game and forced him out a little more. I wondered what kind of perimeter game he had."

Peterson found out in the last 40 seconds. The 6-5 Stearns-bound senior slipped in a baseline jumper to push the lead to five and then drilled home another 13-footer for a 44-37 lead entering the final eight.

The Patriots, though, refused to wilt. Courtney and Darrin Nealy traded buckets before Mark Moser and Courtney combined on three free throws to pull the Pats within 48-42.

DeLand then called a timeout and went to its spread offense. Anderson converted two free throws to push the edge to six but David Hardwick and Mark Shorey connected to slice it to 50-46 with 2:40 to go.

Both team missed opportunities as Hardwick's twisted layup rolled off and Weickel blew a wide open layup. It was the 6-4 senior's last miss, however. After Anderson and Hardwick traded free throws with 1:22, Weickel scored on a nice twisting baseline drive. He added four free throws in the last 41 seconds to preserve the win.

"Weickel played a great game," said Zeoli about his senior's 25-point effort. "He's been in kind of a shooting slump the past few games. But he's had his confidence the past two games and it's made a difference."

Peterson agreed. "That Weickel kid shot the eyes out," he said. "Some of those shots were ungodly."

Anderson finished with 17 points and 11 rebounds. No other Bulldog had more than five. Moser added nine and Hardwick eight for the Big Blue.

Bass' Single Helps Patriots Outlast Lake Howell, 15-14

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — With all the ailing arms on the Lake Brantley and Lake Howell pitching staffs and all the potent bats in the respective lineups, a high-scoring game between the two Seminole County foes was not too surprising.

But the way the two clubs kept coming back at each other Wednesday night was a tribute to the caliber of baseball in the county. Fortunately for the Patriots they were the host team and had the last at bat.

Kevin Bass lashed a two-run single up the middle in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift the Patriots to a 15-14 victory in a Five Star Conference slugathon at Lake Brantley High.

Brantley improved to 7-3 overall with the win and 2-0 in the Five Star. Lake Brantley has a big conference clash Saturday when it hosts Apopka's Blue Darters. Lake Howell, 5-3 overall and 0-2 in the conference, hosts Seminole Friday at 3:30 p.m.

Wednesday was the kind of night in which the pitchers would just like to crawl into a fox hole. The shelling started early and didn't stop until Bass blasted his game-winning single. Lake Howell pounded out 18 hits while Lake Brantley rapped 15.

"The kids showed a lot of composure and class tonight," Lake Brantley coach Gary Smith said. "We got down early but we didn't quit. We buckled down and battled back."

The Silver Hawks jumped on Brantley starter Brad Dunn for six runs on four hits in the top of the first inning. Ernest Martinez led off with a single and, with two outs, Scott "Thurman" Munson unloaded a mammoth shot over the fence in right center for a 2-0 lead.

Bobby Miller beat out an infield single and both Vic Roberts and Dave Marlette walked to load the bases. Ed Taubensee then stepped up and killed the percentages as the lefthanded hitter drilled a grand slam homer to left off the Brantley southpaw that gave the Hawks a 6-0 lead. Smith then went with Bass in relief and the big righthander caught Tom Boucher looking at a third strike to end the frame.

Lake Howell starter Ted Ramroth retired the first two Patriots in order but Mark Coffey came up and slammed a double off the fence in right center. Ramroth got Mike Beams, though, on a called third strike to end the inning.

The Silver Hawks mounted another rally in the top of the second, but a couple of baserunning errors took them out of it. Ernest Martinez led off with a double down the right field line and his brother, Eric Martinez, followed with a single to put runners on the corners with no outs.

John Canfield then hit a hard grounder to Coffey at third. Ernest Martinez broke with the crack of the bat and Coffey cut him down at the plate. Next, Munson blistered a shot back at Bass and the 6-6 hurler snared it and threw to shortstop Andy Dunn for the force. Canfield went out of the baseline to try to break up the double play and the umpire ruled it an automatic double play.

Lake Brantley came back with six runs on five hits in the bottom of the second to tie it at 6-6. Mike Davis led off with an infield single and went to second on a wild pitch. With one out, Bass crunched a fast ball over the center fielder's head for a double to drive in Davis. Scott Salmon then drew a walk and

Saunders' RBI Single Lifts Lady Hawks Past Colonial

Beth Saunders delivered an RBI single in the bottom of the eighth inning Wednesday to lift Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks to a 6-5 victory over Colonial's Lady Grenadiers in prep softball action at Lake Howell High.

It was the first win for the Lady Hawks who dropped their first two decisions of the season. Lake Howell broke out of its hitting slump Wednesday with 14 hits.

Colonial jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the top of the first but Lake Howell rallied for four runs in the bottom of the second for a 4-1 lead. With one out, Ava Gardner singled and went all the way around to third on a throwing error. Christy Tibbitts followed with a RBI single. Alicia Dinkelacker then singled and Saunders drew a walk to load the bases.

Erin Hankins then stepped up and ripped a single to drive in Tibbitts and Jennifer Wallace, the 10th hitter in the batting order, smacked a single to drive in both Dinkelacker and Saunders.

Lake Howell increased its lead to 5-1 with a run in the bottom of the third. Sandy Gillies, who singled, scored the run on a single off the bat of Eileen Thiebaut.

Colonial bounced back with four runs in the top of the fourth to tie it at 5-5. Neither team scored in the next three innings and the game went into extra frames.

Tibbitts, Lake Howell's junior pitcher, then retired the Grenadiers in order in the top of the eighth. Tibbitts allowed seven hits in the game and had outstanding control with no walks.

"Colonial had their first three batters up in the top of the eighth," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "And she did a good job on those batters."

In the bottom of the frame, Gillies led off with a single and advanced to second on Thiebaut's long fly ball in foul territory down the right field line. Gardner was intentionally walked and Tibbitts followed with a single to load the bases. Pinch hitter Susan Hayden hit into a force play, with Gillies out at the plate, but Saunders then came through with her game winning single to left field that drove in Gardner to make it 6-5.

Tribe's Bats Remain Asleep; Brubaker Lifts Lyman To 9th

DELAND — DeLand's Stan Johnson stymied Seminole on six hits as the Bulldogs dropped the Tribe, 7-2, in Five Star Conference baseball Wednesday night at Conrad Park.

The setback was the fourth of the year against four wins for the Tribe. It is 0-2 in conference. DeLand improved to 2-5 and 1-1. In other action Wednesday, Lake Brantley outslugged Lake Howell, 15-14. Lake Mary's game with Mainland was postponed by the Bucs. Seminole travels to Lake Howell Friday for a 3:30 p.m. game. Brian Sheffield will pitch for the 'Noles.

Seminole picked up a first inning run Wednesday when Larry Thomas drew a one-out walk and stole second. James Hersey followed with a single to move Thomas to third. When Hersey stole second, the second baseman misplayed the throw, allowing Thomas to score.

Seminole's other run came in the third when Thomas singled and stole second. Hersey's groundout moved him to third and Tony Cox delivered a double down the left field line to score Thomas. Roy Jensen followed with a single but Sheffield hit into a forceout to end the inning.

Seminole coach Mike Ferrell was again bothered by the Tribe's lack of hitting. "I didn't think he (Johnson) was that good but we're in a hitting slump as a team," said Ferrell. "We can't seem to get hit when we need it."

Alonzo Gainey, Seminole's sophomore right fielder, had his hitting streak snapped at seven games.

In one other game Wednesday night at Spruce Creek, Lyman erupted for 10 runs in the eighth inning to hang a 14-5 extra-inning loss on the Hawks to keep its record unblemished at 9-0.

Kyle Brubaker had four hits in five at-bats for the Greyhounds. Clint Baker hurled the final three innings to pick up the win for Lyman.

Transmitters Chart Bass — Farmton Plans Workday

Biologists are equipping bass in the upper St. Johns River with radio transmitters. These transmitters help biologists track the bass' movements. Six of these transmitters are already installed and the goal is to have 20 in place between State Road 20 and Lake Sawgrass, west of Melbourne.

The transmitter cost is $195. It is embedded in the fish's belly. The bass are then marked with two yellow spaghetti tags in the area of the dorsal fin.

Biologists would like to know when a tagged bass is caught so that it can be tagged and measured before release. It will be monitored again. If the bass is killed by the fisherman, the commission asks that the device be returned for future use. Call the Melbourne office of the Commission at (904) 724-1575 if one of these bass is caught.

A $100 reward is offered for the turn of the whole king mackerel tagged with orange belly tags numbered 070000 through 07150 and 072000 through 06850. These king mackerel were tagged by scientists of the National Marine Fisheries Service in Panama City during the fall of 1984 in an effort to verify previous estimates of the age and growth of this species.

Most king mackerel tagged in the fall off the Florida panhandle apparently migrate southward and winter in the Florida Keys and Southeast Florida, returning to the northern Gulf the following spring. If you catch one of these tagged mackerel, please freeze it and call (904) 234-6541 collect. Arrangements will be made to have the fish shipped or picked up and the $100 will be rewarded.

On Saturday, the Farmton Hunters and Sportsmen Association will have a workday at Bellridge beginning at 8 a.m. Members will meet at Cecil Carlton's camp at Bellridge and then will divide up into smaller work groups.

Members are asked to bring shovels, hoes and other tools that might be needed. The purpose of this work-day is to install five new cattle gaps on Farmton Wildlife Management Area. These cattle gaps will allow gates to remain opened next hunting season.

If time permits, feed plots will also be worked in. All members, their families and the general public is invited to this work-day. Bring a lunch as the work will probably last all day.

On Sunday Osteen Bridge Fish Camp will have a bass tournament. Fishermen will leave the fish camp at safe-light and return no later than 3:30 p.m. Most pounds caught and largest bass each have a chance to win.

This tournament occurs every month on the first Sunday of the month. For more information contact Dell Abernethy at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp.

"It looks like right now (Thursday) the speckled perch have moved to the evening," said Abernethy. "I hate to say that because I'm closed in the evening. We're getting a few here but the best place to catch them is on the Sanford sea wall."

Abernethy said the bluegills and shellcrackers are doing real well with worms as bait. J.D. Jones, a native Kentuckian, caught a load of blue gills, shellcrackers and catfish.

"The catfish are in the deep holes," continued Abernethy. "Fresh water muscles, grass shrimp and worms are your best bait for your catfish, blue gills and shellcrackers. If you can find a muscel bed, you'll find bluegills and shellcrackers."

Speck fishing is good in most lakes and rivers. Most specks are being caught in shallow water around lily pads. Some specks are being caught in deeper water using minnows. Shad fishing is excellent. For best trolling, try the Mullet Lake Park area of the river and also near Lemon Bluff. Bass are being caught on crankbaits and plastic worms. Use spinners for catching larger bass. Be sure and fish the grassy shorelines.

While squirrel and quail seasons wind down to a Sunday closing date, the Fresh Water Fish Commission is gearing up to mail out 36,000 questionnaires to Florida hunters. This survey is an annual project to provide data for wise management of this state's natural heritage.

The questionnaires won't be processed in connection with the name of the hunter. The state isn't interested about individuals, but the state needs to know how much hunting was done, where it was done, and how much game was harvested by hunters.

Sportmen who fail to respond to the questionnaire will receive second and third notices from the Commission.

urging them to send in their answers.

On Saturday, March 23, 1985, Ducks Unlimited's Seminole Chapter has announced that its sixth annual banquet will be held at the Sanford Civic Center. The banquet is unique in that attendance is limited to 200 people and quality is stressed. Tickets, which are $35 each, include a one-year DU membership and a subscription to the organization's magazine. Call Jeff Suber at 869-9761 for tickets and further details.

On Sunday, March 24, 1985, more than 800 fishermen are expected to compete for a $20,000 first-prize purse in the Red Lobster/March of Dimes Bass Tournament along the Kissimmee Chain of Lake Tohopekaliga. The tournament will benefit the Central Florida Chapter of the March of Dimes to help continue the organization's fight against crippling birth defects. Bass anglers from throughout the state will be competing in the tournament which will begin at sunrise. Registration forms are available at most bait or tackle shops throughout the Orlando area. Red Lobster Restaurants and at WHOO Radio, or call Jim Schreck at (305) 896-5906.

Whether you are hunting, fishing, or just enjoying the great outdoors, good luck.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

LaRussa Works On Sox Minds Before Conditioning Bodies

United Press International
Before he starts getting his players' bodies in shape, Chicago White Sox manager Tony LaRussa is working on getting their minds right.

The White Sox, American League Western Division champions in 1983, obviously did a poor job of coping with success last season, tumbling to a tie for fifth place. So this year, LaRussa opened spring training with a lecture by sports psychologist Dr. Dan Smith at Sarasota, Fla. The topic: "How to handle stress, relax and concentrate."

At St. Petersburg, the Mets took steps to help Dwight Gooden relax and concentrate, signing the 1984 National League Rookie of the Year to a 1-year contract. The deal could allow the 20-year-old right-hander to earn as much as $500,000.

"I'm glad it's all done now," Gooden said. "I can just concentrate on baseball from here on in."

Under terms of a complex contract signed in the presence of his parents, Dan and Ella Gooden, prior to the Mets' first official full-team workout, the all-time rookie strikeout king could become the highest-paid second-year player in baseball history. Fernando Valenzuela received $350,000 from Los Angeles in 1982.

No Double In Phoenix This Year

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Unlike last year, when Chris Johnson swept the Phoenix and Tucson LPGA tournaments, there will be no Arizona double this year.

Amy Alcott, who won the Tucson Open last week with an eagle on the final hole, has withdrawn from this week's $150,000 Turquoise Classic because of a previous commitment in her hometown of Los Angeles.

That leaves the favorite's role to 1984 LPGA Player of the Year Betsy King, who finished second last week in Tucson. She was among the leaders throughout the week, but fell short when Alcott sank her eagle putt.

"I'm obviously pleased with last week, but I just didn't make the putts I needed," she said. "It was a good finish."

King, who is currently fourth on the LPGA money list this year, is a resident of Phoenix during the off-season and is excited about playing in front of a hometown crowd.

"It's always good to play at home and I'm looking forward to the week," she said. "I'll have friends out here watching me play and that's a fun."

Despite finishing in a tie for 66th place last week, Johnson says she is looking forward to defending her title.

Dolphins-Faculty Game Sunday

Fifteen hundred tickets have been printed and Seminole High athletic director Jerry Posey said he hopes all will be sold when the Miami Dolphins basketball team comes to Seminole High School's Bill Fleming Gymnasium Sunday for an exhibition basketball game.

Advance tickets are $3 and available at the high school (323-4352). The Dolphins, and the Seminole faculty, will tip-off at 7 p.m. Nat Moore is expected to be the featured player for Miami white assistant principal La Marr Richardson, former coach Bill Payne and dean of students Bobby Lundquist are the faculty mainstays.

last time up, the Lake Howell righty went to the breaking stuff. But Ramroth hung a curve right in Coffey's wheelhouse and he deposited it over the left field fence to tie the score at 6-6.

Coffey broke out of a 0 for 15 slump in a big way Wednesday night. "I've been practicing a lot and hitting off the tee," he said about the turnaround.

The two teams traded runs in the third inning but Lake Brantley broke on top with a pair of runs in the bottom of the fourth. With one out, Coffey drew a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. Mike Beams grounded to second for the second out, sending Coffey to third, and Davis stroked a double to right center to chase home

Coffey. Dan Beaty beat out an infield single and Davis scored on an overthrow on the play to give the Patriots a 9-7 lead.

Lake Howell then went with Jim Daniel in relief but Daniel, one of the top hurlers in the county a year ago, was nursing a sore arm and was not as effective as he usually is. Daniel got out of the inning without any further damage when Beaty was tagged out in a run down between third base and home.

Bass set the Hawks down in order in the top of the fifth but he also started to get a sore arm and had to be lifted in the top of the sixth. Daniel got out of the bottom of the fifth without any problem and the score stayed 9-7 going into the sixth.

Lake Howell's Eddie Taubensee hammered a grand slam Wednesday.

St. John's, Sweater Taken To Cleaners By Hoyas

United Press International
St. John's and the lucky sweater of Coach Lou Carnesecca had much in common Wednesday night — both were taken to the cleaners.

No. 2 Georgetown overpowered No. 1 St. John's 85-69, avenging an early-season loss to the Redmen with a victory certain to send the Hoyas back to the top of the national rankings.

Since mid-January, Carnesecca has taken to wearing a brown sweater with red and turquoise stripes. Under no circumstances was it ever mistaken for high fashion.

But he won 13 straight with the woolen pullover on his back — until his team was fleece by Georgetown before a sellout crowd of 19,591 at Madison Square Garden in New York.

"Even the sweater couldn't help us tonight," said Carnesecca, who had promised to burn the garment following a loss but now says he'll give it one more try.

though, scored the next time down the floor to bring Seminole within 50-48 with 3:11 to play.

After a Bennett free throw, Whitney took it to the hole and drew a foul. The smooth freshman dropped both free throws and 30 seconds later tossed a nice alley oop pass to Henderson who laid it in for a 53-52 game.

Spruce Creek then went into a spread offense and Fedor broke free down the middle. The big forward, however, missed his dunk. A Seminole travel, though, gave the Hawks the ball. Fedor again missed on a drive with one minute left and Seminole another chance.

Gordon outletted the ball to Henderson who went tearing down the middle of the court. At the foul line he dashed it off to Whitney who sent airborne with his layup. He collided with Darthard and after some confusion among the tangled up bodies, the referee called Whitney for a charging foul.

Eight seconds later, Bennett drew a foul and breathed a sigh of relief as he hit both free throw for a 55-52 lead with 45 seconds to play. Seminole then broke Rouse free at the foul line. He appeared to go up for the shot and draw the foul as he released the ball. It went in as the official whistled a foul.

Much to Mariette's dismay, however, the referee said the foul came before Rouse attempted the shot, negating the bucket. Rouse made the two free throws anyway, bring Seminole within 55-54 with 39 seconds to play.

Spruce Creek again went to its spread and uncovered the 6-10 Nichols underneath. As he went up to slam it, Henderson flew up by the rim and fouled him, saving a sure two points.

Nichols, nevertheless, hit one free throw to push the Hawks on top, 56-54. On Nichols' miss, Henderson rebounded the ball but in his haste to get it up court tossed it to Darthard.

Darthard whipped it to Fedor, who Rouse fouled. It was his fifth, sending the Tribe's best clutch player to the bench. Fedor obliged the Tribe chances, however, by missing the free throw and Henderson grabbed his 10th rebound.

Henderson hit Whitney who moved it quickly up court, giving it back to Henderson near the foul line. Bennett fouled him with five second left, giving the "Noles another chance to tie.

Henderson, though, was short and to the left with his free throw. Fedor came up with the ball and was fouled with two seconds to play. The big junior again missed the free throw but followed it up, tipping it out of bounds with just one tick to go.

Spruce Creek and Seminole then traded timeouts, positioning players for the final try. Gordon threw a desperation pass which was picked off by Southall, preserving the 56-54 win.

"We were trying to get Whitney open with a double pick," said Mariette. "But anything in that situation is just luck. It was just a prayer."

not designate two hazardous waste locations within the county because there are no sites where people or water supplies would not be affected. An effort to persuade Orange County to share its selected site on Orange Blossom Trail within the Regency Industrial Park where a hazardous waste disposal business is already located was unsuccessful.

The Orange County Commission urged instead that Seminole's commissioners choose their own sites within their own county, as mandated by state law.

Seminole County staff picked out 10 areas within the county as potential sites, but after study the staff said the one which would affect the least people and have the least potential hazard to public water supplies would be the Port of Sanford.

However, in testimony at the public hearing it was shown that the Sanford port is within 300 feet of a public water supply serving a community in Volusia County as well as several homes in St. Johns River Estates near Sanford.

All of Seminole's cities protested sites proposed within or near their boundaries.

Both sites chosen by the planning council are partially within the cities of Longwood and Sanford.

The Central Florida Industrial Park in Longwood is three-quarters of a mile south of downtown Longwood and two miles northeast of Altamonte Springs.

The Seaboard System Railroad Corridor in Sanford is about two miles west of downtown Sanford, south of Lake Monroe.

The planning council staff in its report to the council said there are at least 504 business firms, considered small generators of hazardous waste, in Seminole, generating 3.1 million pounds of hazardous waste annually.

This waste includes oil, greases and lubricants, lead-acid batteries, spent solvents, strongly acidic or alkaline wastes, sludges containing heavy metals, washing and rinsing solutions containing heavy metals and paint wastes with solvents.

The staff recommended that the county commission establish policy to permit one or more state and federally certified hazardous waste storage-transfer facilities within the county.

The county should move quickly, the staff recommended.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Nicaragua Announces Arms Freeze, Cuban Withdrawal

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Daniel Ortega, under pressure from the Reagan administration, unexpectedly declared he will halt Soviet arms imports and send 100 Cuban military advisers home.

Ortega said he will present his Central American peace plan to officials of nations assembled for the inauguration Friday of Uruguayan President-elect Julio Maria Sanguinetti in Montevideo.

Ortega said he is confident the new initiative will prompt other Central American countries to accept a regional peace treaty proposed by the Contadora group, made up of Mexico, Venezuela, Panama and Colombia.

An estimated 12,000 U.S.-backed rebels are fighting the leftist Sandinistas, who toppled the regime of right-wing dictator Anastasio Somoza in 1979 and set up a pro-Soviet government in Managua.

U.S. estimates say there are some 10,000 Cubans in Nicaragua, of which 3,500 are military advisers.

Western diplomats were reported to be skeptical of Ortega's plans, warning it could be a ploy to ensure Congress will not provide $14 million in covert aid to the U.S.-backed rebels fighting the Nicaraguan government.

Congress cut off the covert funds for the rebels last year, but planned to vote in April or May on $14 million in renewed aid for the guerrillas.

Gromyko Strikes Out In Rome

ROME (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko ended his first trip to Italy in six years today without persuading Italian officials to join Moscow's campaign against President Reagan's "Star Wars" program.

The veteran Soviet diplomat's three-day visit came two weeks before a new round of U.S.-Soviet arms control talks in Geneva and a week before Prime Minister Bettino Craxi was to meet with Reagan at the White House.

A joint statement late Wednesday by Italian and Soviet officials underscored Gromyko's unsuccessful bid at trying to change the Italian position on Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative, also known as "Star Wars."

The statement stressed a need to prevent an arms race in space, but the Italians praised U.S. plans to go ahead with research into the space-based system as "an important step toward overcoming international tensions."

She's A Real Sweetheart

Cassandra "Casey" Lee McGowan, 12 1/2, of Altamonte Springs, with her mother, Penny, was the overall winner in the free Baby Sweetheart Pageant held at St. Mary Magdalen Church, Altamonte Springs. Although she has a slight handicap, "Casey" raised $270 to help stage the event sponsored by The Immaculate Entertainment and Evangelism Corp. and the Deal Education Awareness Foundation which will receive the proceeds for educational equipment. A panel of nine judges evaluated the 55 contestants with a total of 49 trophies awarded. Peg DiLello of Fern Park, is the pageant founder.

Sanford Student Inducted Into Honor Society

Dionne Nicole Green, daughter of Mrs. Sharon G. Smith and the late Eddie L. Green, was recently tapped and inducted into the National Junior Honor Society in ceremonies held at Lake Highland Preparatory School in Orlando.

The 12-year old eighth grader has been on the President's List each grading period maintaining an overall average of 3.7. Nicole hopes that her high scholastic achievements will enable her to be accepted at MIT in Cambridge where she plans to study aeronautical engineering.

Nicole also recently won first place in the Middle School Science Fair at Lake Highland and went on to compete in the regional Science Fair held at the Expo Centre in Orlando.

In addition to her academic work, Nicole is an eighth grade representative to the Student Council, a member of the Dance Club, and she is also a member

Jackson-Eaton Vows Exchanged

Church Rites Unite Couple

Tamara Sue Jackson of Longwood, and Thomas Benjamin Eaton, 100 E. Citrus St., Altamonte Springs, were married at 3 p.m., Feb. 2, at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford. The Rev. George A. Buie III, church pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Jackson, 1635 Oak Valley Drive, Longwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Eaton, 536 Seminole Blvd., Longwood.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white matte taffeta gown designed by Michele Piccione. The high neck fashioned of schiffli embroidery and English net was enhanced with white maribou fur outlining the Chantilly lace ruffle attached to the fitted bodice. Three layers form the full skirt that cascades into a sweeping semi-cathedral train. White satin Cinderella bows accent the scalloped top layer bordered in maribou. Ruffled Chantilly lace forms the two lower layers. The leg of mutton sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, end at the elbow to join Chantilly open lace on the forearms to the flowering appliques that extend over the hands.

Mrs. Thomas Benjamin Eaton

A satin cap accented with a halo of maribou held her fingertip veil of imported illusion edged in satin ribbons and showered with embroidered medallions. She carried a curved cascade of tiger lilies, English ivy, stephanotis and baby's breath.

The bride's mother was the matron of honor. She wore a deep ruby colored gown with maribou fur accenting the neck and bustle-style bodice. Her headpiece was a comb arranged with a spray of baby day lilies and baby's breath to complement her matching nosegay.

Bridesmaids were Mitzl Molden and Julie Thompson, cousins of the bride. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Stirling C. Murphy served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Robin W. Jackson and Bradley P. Jackson, brothers of the bride.

A reception, held at Mayfair Country Club, Sanford, followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Nashville, Tenn., newlyweds are making their home in Altamonte Springs. The bridegroom is employed by Merch-A-Vend, Orlando, and the bride is employed at Kokomo Tool Co., Sanford.

Successful Father Hesitates To Reveal Humiliating Past

DEAR ABBY: I've been wanting to write to you for years, but never had the courage.

My children, now middle-aged, are demanding that I write a family history, as I've had a very successful, colorful life, have traveled extensively and have many grandchildren.

I have avoided doing so because I was illegitimate and had a very unhappy and humiliating childhood.

Should I confess all to the entire family and brazen it out? As for friends, I doubt that they would care. I'm nearly 75 and have few contemporaries left.

At the time of my birth, my mother was in her teens and my father was in his mid-40s, married, fairly well-off and the father of three. I remember seeing him only once when I was 9 or 10. That's all I know about him, as my mother became hysterical whenever my father's name was mentioned and refused to discuss the matter. She did marry, but it was a brief and unhappy marriage. I took care of her until she died 10 years ago.

Do my children and grandchildren need to hear this dismal story?

Dear Abby

DEAR LIND: Yes! It's a fascinating story and a part of their heritage. You have nothing to be ashamed of. If you fear that your family will think less of you, you're wrong. They will probably value you even more.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Too Much in Texas," the woman who said, "If I had an extra $2,000 lying around, I would treat myself to breast-reduction surgery."

Unlike breast implants, which are considered cosmetic surgery, breast reduction operations are covered by most health insurance companies because overly large breasts are considered a health hazard.

Until my early 20s, I, too, had breasts much too large for my body frame. I was leered at, and sometimes grabbed (if you're big-breasted, it's erroneously assumed you're loose). Another stereotype I endured was the unconscious assumption many people have that women with big breasts are stupid. It really is true that if you're treated like you're dumb, you'll begin to believe it after a while.

I also had back problems and red marks on my shoulders from the constant chafing of my bra straps. I felt as if I were carrying an albatross around my neck.

The operation changed the way others treated me and the way I felt about myself.

There's no age limit for the operation; I've heard of women in their 50s having it.

I hope the woman in Texas will get in touch with her health insurance company to see if her policy covers it.

GLAD I DID IT

DEAR GLAD: I have heard from many women who have had breast reduction surgery. They tell me it is neither painless nor inexpensive, but all have said it was well worth it.

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you wrote: "Confidential to You: If you are not registered, you cannot vote."

Abby, North Dakota does not require registration. In our state, any U.S. citizen over the age of 18 can vote if he or she has lived here for 30 days.

While your statement was valid for the vast majority of U.S. citizens, it doesn't apply in North Dakota. Our unique, hassle-free voting system works well here.

TIMOTHY W. RAND IN GRAND FORKS

DEAR TIMOTHY: No registration? I'll vote for that. It would be interesting to know what percentage of eligible voters vote in North Dakota as compared with the states in which registration is required.

Know Your Ballet Guild Dancers

Have 'The Time Of Your Life'

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor
The Time Of Your Life is the exciting offering to herald the 17th anniversary of Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole, a non-profit dance company based in Sanford.

Regular Ballet Guild supporters recall the past spectacular performances of high-stepping dancers, and this year is no different. The Time Of Your Life is a real dazzler.

The performance is scheduled Saturday, March 23, at 8 p.m., and will be repeated again Sunday, March 24, at 3 p.m., in the auditorium of Lake Mary High School.

And all 24 company dancers, on their toes with their tutus in place, are all "go" for the big show.

Guest dancers lending their talents to supplement the company artistry are as follows: Holley Kurimal Ricker, Miriam Wright, Charmly Mann, Tammy Kaleel, Todd Clontz, Jay Miller, Jackie Hansen, Brian Roberts, Bobby Scott, Richie Scott, Bob Meyers, Marty Brister, Eddie Korgan, Ed Korgan, Shawn O'Donnell, Phil Ricker, Richard Ferguson and Ben Galarza.

Seventeen years ago, the guild was the brainstorm of the Rye sisters who had moved to Sanford from Jacksonville. The two sisters, Valerie Weld and Miriam Wright, have continued as the choreographers and artistic directors throughout the years. And through the years, Mildred M. Caskey of Sanford, has added her professional and artistic expertise to the exceptional performances. Miss Caskey, a former president of the BGS Board of Directors, has written another ballet for the 17th anniversary performance. The story is no secret. Don't miss a struggling caterpillar's squirming metamorphosis into a liltling flitting butterfly. Public auditions are held annually for Ballet Guild company dancers. Area dancers are invited to the auditions conducted by non-partisan dance masters.

Display Rose Garden Open Free To Public

Since 1938 newly introduced varieties of roses have undergone stringent testing for two years at test gardens throughout the United States. Then the All American Rose Selections honors the finest and they are displayed only in about 100 public display gardens where visitors can get a preview of them before their names are announced Sept. 1.

The AARS has announced that the Sturgeon Memorial Rose Garden, 13401 Indian Rocks Road, Largo, just south of Clearwater has been selected as only the third such display garden in Florida. The garden is open free to the public at all times.

It will give rose fanciers of Florida an opportunity to see how the new varieties perform in this climate. Three All American winners for 1986, all Hybrid Teas, are a carnation pink and an orange-red introduced by Armstrong Nurseries, California and an orange bi-color by Co-operative Rose Growers, Texas. They should be in bloom and available for viewing about May 1.

NBC, ABC Tie For Weekly Lead

CBS Leads In Both Nielsen And Arbitron 'Sweeps'

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC and ABC tied for first place in the prime time network Nielsen ratings last week, thanks in part to "Hollywood Wives" for ABC and "Evergreen" for NBC.

The A.C. Nielsen Co. prime time ratings for the week ending Feb. 24 gave both NBC and ABC a 17.0 rating and a 26 percent share of the audience. CBS had a 16.8 rating with a 26 share.

The good news for CBS was that "Dallas" was the most watched show of the week. In second place was ABC's glibly "Hollywood Wives" (part 3). Part 2 of "Hollywood Wives" ranked 13th. NBC did well with the first episode of its three-part "Evergreen," tying for 10th with "Cheers," also from NBC.

Other winners for NBC were the Bob Hope show (14th) and Disney's 30th anniversary special (tied for 18th).

ABC's airing of "Star Trek II" came in 38th, while the trio of Helen Hayes, Bette Davis and Agatha Christie in "Murder With Mirrors" for CBS came up 41st. ABC's "Deadly Messages" ranked 61, and a CBS rerun of "Rocky" placed 65th on a list of 87 shows.

In both the Nielsen and Arbitron "sweeps" ratings to date, CBS leads, followed by NBC, with ABC in third place. If that's the order in which the "sweeps" end later this week, it will be the first time in 10 years that NBC didn't come in last on the February list.

On the season to date, CBS leads with a 17.2 rating and a 27 share, while NBC has a 16.3 rating and a 26 share and ABC a 15.7 rating and a 25 share.

"CBS Evening News with Dan Rather" was still the No. 1 evening news show, with a 13.5 rating and 23 share. "NBC Nightly News" came in second with a 11.7 rating and a 20 share, and ABC's "World News Tonight" had a 10.9 rating and a 19 share.

The top prime time shows for the week ending Feb. 24, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1. Dallas (CBS)
2. "Hollywood Wives," part 3 (ABC)
3. The Cosby Show (NBC)
4. Dynasty (ABC)
5. Family Ties (NBC)
6. 60 Minutes (CBS)
7. Who's the Boss? (ABC)
8. Simon & Simon (CBS)
9. (tie) Cheers (NBC)
- "Evergreen," part 1 (NBC)

Cause Of Depression Just May Be Physical

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently you wrote about a person who was depressed, suicidal and had lost 25 pounds in two months. I was certain you'd tell her to have a complete checkup to be sure there was no physical problem before she went to a psychiatrist. That sounded like me eight years ago. It was the time of my life. I lost 40 pounds in two months, couldn't sleep and was extremely depressed. The thought of ending it all was constantly in my mind.

My thyroid was causing the problem. I'm now on medication for my thyroid and am a new person.

DEAR READER — I can understand why you would think the woman referred to might have a thyroid problem. However, anyone who has any suicidal tendencies must be under the care of a psychiatrist. If there is a medical problem underlying the condition, a physician, can discover it through an examination and proceed accordingly.

Suicides are more common than the public realizes. Suicide is the 10th most common cause of death in the United States. Since many suicides are listed as accidents or other things, there may be twice as many suicides as we believe.

Depressions are common, too. About one in five people who live to age 80 will have a major depressive episode. Many of these get no treatment, and these are the ones most likely to commit suicide.

It is now clear that mood swings and depressions are related to fundamental changes in brain chemistry. That is the basis of the medical treatment of depressions.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 22-year-old male. I'm 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weigh 215. I stopped growing about six years ago. Could this have resulted from not using milk, eggs and other dairy products? I don't take calcium pills, either.

I heard there is a method to increase your height two or four inches. I want to be 6 feet tall. Is there any truth in this? If so, can you send me some information on it?

DEAR READER — You will not

The long bones have a zone at each end of the shaft that is made of cartilage. This is the growth plate. As long as it is still cartilage, you can grow, but when it calcifies, you cannot. Calcification is normally complete before age 22.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Sometimes the bidding does nothing to reveal the opponents' distribution, but the play of the cards can help you find the best percentage play.

North used the Gerber convention to ask for aces and kings after his partner's opening one no-trump bid. When he discovered that his side had all of them, he bid seven no-trump. That was aggressive, but South as declarer justified North's confidence.

South won the ace of clubs and played five rounds of diamonds, discarding two clubs from dummy. West discarded one club and one spade. East discarded a club and two spades.

South then played the three top spades, West following on all three rounds and East throwing a club and a heart on the second and third rounds. Now the club king was cashed. It was now apparent that West had started with four spades, two hearts, three diamonds and four clubs. If East began with five hearts, it was likely that he held the queen.

Accordingly declarer finessed against East in the heart suit and made his grand slam.

Of course there was no certainty of declarer's finessing succeeding. But five-to-two odds are a lot better than just flipping a coin to decide who has the heart queen.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 1, 1968

It's important this coming year that you get out and circulate socially. Many valuable contacts can be established and they will be able to help you in other areas of your life.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of being straightforward in conversations with friends today, you might feel inclined to express your remarks in ways that camouflage their true meanings.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be cautious and practical in your financial affairs today, but don't be unreasonably suspicious of the motives of others or they may begin to question yours.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Adopt a cooperative attitude today but don't let others do all your thinking for you. Where important decisions are concerned, utilize your own judgment.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) People who have been helpful to you are entitled to special consideration, but don't feel you have an obligation to reward the uncerveing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It will prove unwise to expect too much from others today. Even those exceptionally fond of you may be limited as to what they can do.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not discuss your plans today with an individual you suspect may be jealous of your achievements. However, it's OK to keep loyal pals informed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't contribute to conversations today where friends are speaking unkindly about another pal who isn't present. The authors of gossip will be eventually identified.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you want to accomplish what you set out to do today, being timid can have no role in your actions. Be bold and assertive without being reckless.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally you are sincere and forthright, but today you may be tempted to make a promise to another that you know you can't keep.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You must have your head together in your business dealings today. If you're lackadaisical or indifferent, you'll be outwitted by a shrewd opponent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be your own person in important involvements today. Make others measure up to your standards, instead of lowering yours in order to appease them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are ambitious today, much of value can be accomplished. However, if you expect things to fall in your lap without expending effort, you'll be disappointed.
