STEEL LABOR JOINS MINERS IN WALKOUTS

Union Dispute Behind Action Which Is Said To Be Spreading Into Ohio Territory

To the strike picture today was added a segment of the steel industry as 10,000 steel workers in the Pittsburgh area joined nearly 70,000 coal miners in a labor walkout.

The steel troubles had their inception at Weirton, West Virginia, over a union dispute and union leaders said the movement is spreading into Eastern Ohio.

The strike of the Ford Motor Company employees starting with a walkout of 2,000 at Chester, Penna., spread to Edgewater, New Jersey today when 500 employees quit their work in sympathy.

Police, said by police to be workers, took up posts to force out the remaining thousand workers of the Edgewater plant.

Philadelphia, bakers are deserting bread under police guard as they sought court action to prevent interference by striking truckmen. In New York Governor Whalen, city NRA head, reported mediation efforts had sent 165,000 strikers back to work.

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Officials of the Ford Motor Company today said the plant will be operated five days, 40 hours each week with a complete shutdown to 30 hours prescribed by the NRA automobile code which the company has signed.

Officials said they originally planned to operate the plant four days, 28-hour basis followed by a five-day, 40-hour operation in being the average to 20 hours but this plan was abandoned.

R. J. Holly Resigns As Representative From This County

In accordance with regulations governing the postmasterhip of any United States Post Office, R. J. Holly, acting postmaster today offered Governor Dave Sholtz his resignation as state representative from this county. The resignation is to take effect immediately.

The United States Postoffice department requires that a postmaster shall hold no other office. Mr. Holly's resignation followed his appointment as acting postmaster, succeeding J. P. Hill. A special election will be necessary in Seminole County in order to choose a successor for Mr. Holly in the Legislature and it is believed at the pleasure of Gov. Sholtz. Unless a special session of the Legislature is held, there is small likelihood of a special election since the regular election will be in November. Governor Sholtz's resignation and the new regular session in 1935.

Soldiers Depart For Trouble Area In Interior Cuba

HAVANA, Sept. 28.—(AP)—American machine gun units sent to the interior today to trouble area. Army commanders said the troops were sent to Camaguey province to the sugar mills against the rebels. The purpose was to prevent revolution.

The military sugar interests and provinces because of the Hareley Electric between Havana and Matanzas remained tense at the sugar factory at where men workers at-tempted employees, one of whom was wounded. The strike of the employees and a group of members of a group working to prevent revolution which might lead to a revolution.

Gunman Admits Part In Urchel Kidnaping

MEMPHIS, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Probed by federal authorities, George "Machine Gun" Kelly has talked. W. A. Rorer, department of justice agent, announced late last night that the "bad man" from the Southwest had confessed a part in the kidnaping of Charles Urchel, Oklahoma City oil man, but stoutly denied two other crimes with which officers expect to link him. "You've got me right on the Urchel kidnaping but not the Chicago job and the Kansas City Union Station job," Rorer quoted Kelly as saying.

CAROL REPORTED AS PREPARING TO MARRY LUPESCU

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Following reports current here which emanated from Vienna that King Carol of Rumania is making all necessary preparations to marry Mrs. Marda Lupescu, the woman for whom he once deserted his queen and throne, the belief is expressed in diplomatic circles that the playboy monarch is again flirting with the loss of his crown should he persist in the course attributed to him.

For almost 16 years, Carol of Rumania has occupied a prominent place in the world's news papers with his antics as a royal Romeo, and it is only the statecraft of his mother, the dowager Queen Marie, that has kept him on the throne up to now. For it is an open secret in European diplomatic circles that Carol is a complete failure as a ruler.

His subjects know that the cases of state weigh lightly upon the handsome head of their king. His enemies charge Carol with hating something of a burlesque of his dignified position. He gave it up twice for two different women, and they say he would do it a third time for any pretty face that captivated his fickle fancy.

Carol began sowing his crop of wild oats in 1918 at Odessa, Russia, when he married Zizi Lambrino, a beautiful commere, for whom he deserted his regiment and his country. But after a brief honeymoon Carol's father sent him on a world tour, and while he was gone had the marriage annulled.

Diplomatic Circles Believe He May Consider His Throne

The bank refused to return it, contending it should be turned over to the government in compliance with the executive orders of the complaint set forth.

"The two cases have no relationship at all," Dewey declared. "The indictment charges Campbell with failure to file a report on gold held by him."

Such a return should have been made by Sept. 18, Dewey added. Federal authorities said the indictment made Campbell the first defendant in a prosecution resulting from the Harding orders.

Violation of these orders, on conviction, carry penalties up to a ten-year prison term and a $10,000 fine.

The attorney's action against the Chase Bank cited the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the seizure of property without due process of law and without payment. Campbell said he turned $13 bars over to the bank Oct. 11, 1932, and 14 bars on Jan. 25, last.

$30,000 Received At Local Office Of Farm Loan Group

Checks amounting to $30,000, loaned by the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, S. C., and made payable to local farmers have been received by the secretary of the Seminole County National Farm Loan Association who this morning said that other large checks are expected to follow immediately.

S. E. Andrews, secretary and treasurer of the county farm loan group, stated that one check for $20,000 was received Monday and a second for $10,000 was forwarded to him yesterday.

He also stated that the two appraisers, who have been checking up on applications under authorization from the Federal Land Bank Commission at Washington, D. C. have almost completed their work.

He suggested that those who have not made application for farm loans and desire to do so make application at once before the appraisers leave the city.

Under a temporary organization applications involving approximately $500,000 in farm loans have been received and forwarded to Columbia from this county, since June, according to Mr. Andrews who said that already over $100,000 in loans had been approved.

Domestic Workers Register For Jobs With Local Office

An interview with Directors E. H. Cullum and R. C. Maxwell of the National Re-employment Office, located at 116 Main Street, today brought forth the fact that a number of women, both white and colored, experienced in domestic work, have registered for jobs. Most of these women have small children depending upon them for support and are in dire need, it was stated.

The re-employment office announced that it is anxious to place this class of help as quickly as possible, and requests that all parties who need cooks, maids, or laundry workers, get in touch with the office at once.

The office also has several white women registered who are experienced in plain and fancy sewing, and anyone needing this class of help can be supplied on short notice.

Snow Home Entered, Robbed By Burglars

Sometime during the early hours of Wednesday morning one or more persons made their way into the home of J. W. Snow, West Third Street, and escaped with a watch, over $30 in money and several other small articles, while the occupants of the home, Mr. Snow and his wife were asleep.

The theft was not discovered until after 7:00 o'clock yesterday morning when it was reported to the police. Chief Roy G. Williams, who made an investigation, said that burglars entered the house by prying a screen door with the use of an ice pick. He also said that several other robberies have been reported recently and it is his opinion that night prowlers are responsible.

STORM IN FRANCE

MARSEILLE, France, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Sixteen dead and two missing was the known toll last night of a storm and floods which affected a 50 mile strip from Toulon to the Pyrenees along the Mediterranean. It was feared other lives also have been lost.

GOLD HOARDER IS INDICTED BY FEDERAL JURY

U.S. Charges Wealthy Attorney With Failure To File Report On Big Bullion Sum

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Violation of President Roosevelt's gold hoarding orders was charged in a Federal indictment yesterday against Frederick Barber Campbell, wealthy attorney who has filed a civil suit to test the constitutionality of these orders.

Campbell, a director in numerous English and American insurance companies, was specifically charged with failing to file a report on $200,574 in gold bullion.

United States Attorney George Z. Medalle and an assistant, Thomas E. Dewey, presented the evidence to the grand jury and the indictment was quickly returned.

Midnight last night, Dewey said was the deadline for returning gold to the assay office. Should the attorney fail to return the bullion, the assistant United States attorney said, he would be subject to a second indictment.

The civil action was brought by Campbell Tuesday to compel the Chase National Bank to return the bullion—27 bars of it—which he said was entrusted to the bank as guardian for hire.

The bank refused to return it, contending it should be turned over to the government in compliance with the executive orders of the complaint set forth.

"The two cases have no relationship at all," Dewey declared. "The indictment charges Campbell with failure to file a report on gold held by him."

Such a return should have been made by Sept. 18, Dewey added. Federal authorities said the indictment made Campbell the first defendant in a prosecution resulting from the Harding orders.

Violation of these orders, on conviction, carry penalties up to a ten-year prison term and a $10,000 fine.

The attorney's action against the Chase Bank cited the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the seizure of property without due process of law and without payment. Campbell said he turned $13 bars over to the bank Oct. 11, 1932, and 14 bars on Jan. 25, last.

"Pa" Ferguson Is Charged With Having Deposited Big Sums In Banks Recently

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 28.—(AP)—James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, declined to comment today on testimony before the state senate by a former associate that he had deposited in banks in recent months $22,100 in cash, including several $1,000 bills, and had received the transactions in a "little black book."

The testimony cropped up in an investigation into expenditures of public funds and was given by Frank C. Chudel, who resigned last Aug. 19 as president of the Ferguson Forum, a weekly publication edited by Ferguson.

Reading what he identified as a photographic copy of ledger sheets he had kept in duplicate, Chudel testified Ferguson had handed him the money in cash at various times between Jan. 4 and Aug. 17 for deposit in the accounts of the Ferguson Forum and the House Creamery.

The witness said the "little black book" of the former governor, who was suspended and removed from office in 1917, had disappeared about six weeks before he left Ferguson's employ.

Chudel said the amounts he deposited for Ferguson were not receipts from circulation or advertising in the Forum, and not for sales of creamery products. He added in answer to questions that he did not know of any other places in which Ferguson was engaged.

Ferguson's order, Chudel related, he had drawn checks on the creamery account for bills, including insurance and "miscellaneous" bills. He said $100 or $200 had been transferred monthly from other accounts to one labeled "Mrs. Ferguson's separate bank account."

Senator Will H. Harkin asked if Chudel had not advised his former employer that Ferguson had deposited the money in banks, and if he had not advised a member of the state board of control, the witness replied:

"During the hearing conducted by the board of control, I testified to Ferguson as a former associate of mine, and I have never seen him since."

"It would be true that I was not present at the hearing, but I was not present at any time," the witness replied.

TROOPS CALLED TO HELP HUNT FOR CONVICTS

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Two hundred National Guardsmen were mobilized in Indiana's "war zone" last night to hunt for a group of escaped killers and robbers from the state penitentiary.

They were sent by automobile with machine guns, rifles and gas bombs into a region near Chesterton, Ind., 25 miles to the southeast where five of the desperadoes were last seen. With the exception of perhaps one, was Sheriff Charles Neel, kidnaped as they fled the prison here.

There was an atmosphere of intensity at the prison, crowded over acres of ground. Every one of the 700 inmates crowded with in the walls was being questioned about the evidence long plotted against the convicts.

A rally call which for weeks had been carried over the speaker of prison was reported today over the city's radio, through which the warden, Governor, and other officials were being questioned about the evidence long plotted against the convicts.

Ferguson's order, Chudel related, he had drawn checks on the creamery account for bills, including insurance and "miscellaneous" bills. He said $100 or $200 had been transferred monthly from other accounts to one labeled "Mrs. Ferguson's separate bank account."

Senator Will H. Harkin asked if Chudel had not advised his former employer that Ferguson had deposited the money in banks, and if he had not advised a member of the state board of control, the witness replied:

"It would be true that I was not present at the hearing, but I was not present at any time," the witness replied.

UNIONS START MOVE TO GET 30-HOUR WEEK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—Unionized workers started a movement yesterday to take full advantage of opportunities allowed them under the recovery act and demand officially, through the American Federation of Labor, that forthcoming NRA codes limit their hours on the job to 30 a week.

Two meetings preparatory to the federation convention next week were under way—the metal and building trades departments. Official reports to both said a week longer than 30 hours would not re-employ the jobless. Officers of the union labor trades department, which begins its convention today, said similar recommendations would be made to that group.

Resolutions already being drafted suggesting that each of these trades covering hundreds of thousands of workers, inform the federation of their desire for a 30-hour work week. Officers of all these trades agreed these resolutions would top their list of proposals to the federation convention beginning Monday.

All groups also heard yesterday renewed plans to organize every worker as their strength will be greater for the collective bargaining allowed by the recovery act.

To the building trades department, President McDonough's report said:

"A sharp reduction in hours is essential under this (recovery) code in order to employ, in the industry back to its pre-depression level. We maintain that the 30-hour week is the longest work week which can be considered if the essential purpose of the act is fulfilled, and any considerable number of the unemployed workers attached to the building trades are re-employed.

"Even a 35-hour week," he added, "would delay the reabsorption of the unemployed, if not create more unemployment, since the prevailing number, actually 40 hours in many instances, are less than 35."

William Barlow of the NRA's labor advisory board, told the building trades delegates "a 30-hour week is imperative if a direct check is to be made on unemployment." The 30-hour week, he said, would be short enough to make a significant impression on the employment situation and long enough to provide a basic income."

To the metal trades went a report from John P. Fry, their secretary-treasurer, saying:

"It is plainly evident from federal statistics of employment that a 40-hour week is much too long. The available federal statistics for industry as a whole indicate that it would require a work week of a little less than 30 hours to give employment to the army of unemployed."

Fry recommended his organization submit to the general federation a resolution calling for federal licensing of all industry, a provision which under the recovery act is applicable only when industry refuse to cooperate.

The objectives of labor, Barlow, should be to "insist upon the strict observance of the spirit and letter of the construction code, so that labor's share of the recovery of the industry is commensurate with their contributions to its efficiency, that the industry does not develop along anti-social and wasteful lines, that thereby which has prevailed will no longer exist, that progress is made toward the balanced development of the industry."

THURSDAY, SEPT. 28, 1933

TABLE VERSE FOR TODAY

And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.—Philippians 4: 7.

No man is broke who still has his optimism.

When the storm struck Tampico no one seemed to think about pouring oil on the troubled waters.

Wonder if the two million who have been put back to work include those who are out on strikes.

We are all for this code the housewives are getting up. As we understand it, the husbands will only have to wash the dishes two nights a week.

The point is if you are A. W. O. L. from the A. A. A. or the P. R. A. of the N. R. A., you are apt to be S. O. L. when you discover your S. O. S. won't help you.

Gov. Sholtz complains that the federal census bureau said Florida owes $878,000,000 when the total debt is really only $508,000,000. But shucks! What's a few hundred millions among friends!

According to testimony submitted at the code hearing for the federal supply industry there were 1,553,000 deaths during the year of 1932. Business was good, but some difficulty was experienced with collections.

A state court injunction restraining the state of Florida from borrowing money from the federal government for public works to relieve unemployment. This will not save the federal government. Other states will borrow to the limit. Nor will it save the state of Florida. Certainly the federal government could not expect any state to repay such borrowings if their repayment would work a hardship on the taxpayers.

Death from snake bites have been reduced in the United States in recent years, not through a reduction in the number of poisonous snakes or in the frequency of their attacks, but through a better understanding of the proper methods of treating snake bites. Surgeon General Patterson of the United States Army says that the best thing to do in case of a snake bite is to suck the poison out, cut the wound and suck some more. He says it is no ten or fifteen minute job either. The safest way is to continue the suction treatment for at least fifteen hours as fatalities usually do not occur for 24 to 36 hours.

Henry Ford who just now is involved in a strike growing out of his opposition to the NRA program is an interesting personality. Once he got a notion that he wanted to lengthen his yacht, the Sialia. Marine engineers told him it could not be done. That aroused Ford's ire and he determined to show them it could be done. So he had the boat cut right in two in the middle, and then inserted 21 feet and seven inches, at a cost of $550,000, which was $50,000 more than the yacht cost in the first place and $400,000 more than he sold it for shortly afterward. A man as stubborn as that is apt to die for a principle.

Another thing you probably don't know before is that besides the NBA, we have the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps), IWA (Public Works Administration), RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation), FERA (Federal Emergency Relief Administration), HOLC (Home Owners Loan Corporation), FCOE (Federal Coordinator of Transportation), FPCA (Federal Farm Credit Administration), TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority), AAA (Agricultural Adjustment Administration), SAE (Science Advisory Board), NLS (National Labor Board), FIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation), CBE (Central Statistical Board). No wonder the man in the street is confused.

The Burden Of Debt

The total interest-bearing debt, public and private, of the people of the United States was $154,761,000,000 in 1929, on which the annual interest charges were $8,407,000,000, according to an estimate made public recently by the National Industrial Conference Board. Since 1922, when the debt stood at $114,866,000,000, it has increased 34.7 per cent.

Of this 1929 total debt, the private debt constituted $124,566,000,000, and the combined public debt, federal, state and local was $30,195,000,000. In 1922 the public debt was $30,150,000,000, and the private debt was $84,716,000,000. Thus it will be seen that the major portion of the increase in the total debt is to be found in the increase of the private debt by 47 per cent between 1922 and 1929.

In the Conference Board estimate the borrowers are classified into four mutually exclusive groups, namely: farmers, non-farm individuals and partnerships, corporations and governments. The following table gives the board's estimate for 1922 and 1929, showing in each case the principal of the debt and the annual interest charge ($100,000 omitted):

Table with columns: Borrower, Principal, Int. (1922), Principal, Int. (1929). Rows include: Mfg., end of year; Other debt; Individuals, non farm, incl. partnerships; Corporations, non-farm; Total private debt; Governmental debt; State and local; Total debt.

This estimate is considerably lower than other estimates heretofore commonly accepted. The statisticians of the board state that this is due to two important considerations: first, the figures are limited to interest-bearing debt; second, the danger of duplication was eliminated by considering only the obligations of borrowers throughout.

The limitation to interest-bearing debt was dictated by the consideration that as non-interest bearing debt is currently liquidated in the usual course of business, it is the interest-bearing debt, more particularly the long-term debt, that is significant in connection with the recent drastic decline in prices, which, together with the decreased volume of business activity, has been responsible for the relatively greater burden of debt.

In the light of these figures one is inclined to wonder if the simplest way out might not be the cancellation of all debt. But what a blow that would be to bank depositors, to the policy holders of insurance companies, to institutions, societies and individuals dependent on endowments, to all others whose income is derived from bonds, notes or mortgages. It is perhaps unfortunate, but nevertheless true, that every debt represents a credit.

Putting Men To Work

With all the money which is being spent by the federal government, it would seem that many much needed public improvements might well be expected to be effected during the next few years. If all the money is wisely appropriated and efficiently spent, this should be a much better country in which to live when nothing remains in the treasury but the debts to be paid.

All of us have had the experience of seeing "unemployed" workmen, in companies along the highways, pulling weeds, making places for new weeds to grow. We like the appearance of these highway shoulders immediately after their treatment, but the permanent improvement is apt to be negligible. In fact, within a month or two they look as bad as they ever did.

Undoubtedly it is better that these men pull weeds in order to receive their relief funds than to be placed on an outright dole where the money is handed out for the asking, but it would seem that in a country as big as the United States and with as many possibilities, something could be found for these men to do which would have more lasting beneficial effects.

Arthur Brisbane calls attention to an epidemic of the bubonic plague which has made its appearance in Manchuria and which is known to be carried from place to place by rats and other rodents. Although it is a far cry from Manchuria to the attics of this country, and the chance of the disease's spread to the United States is slim, nevertheless Mr. Brisbane sees fit to recommend that the government use some of its R.F.C. millions for the establishment of a "pied-piper" division of rat catchers.

That seems to us to be something which might have lasting benefits. Rats are something which this country would be infinitely better off without. They not only spread disease, but they are destructive to grains and chickens in the fields and to the foods on the pantry shelves. Why not put some of the unemployed to work exterminating rats? Intelligently directed, with plenty of money, such a campaign could be wholly successful, and rats could be entirely eliminated from this country.

And then there are snakes. Of course some snakes are harmless and serve some useful purpose in the world. But rattlesnakes and moccasins are extremely dangerous and destructive, and are found fairly generally throughout the United States being particularly numerous in the South. If the unemployed were assigned to the job of killing these snakes and were paid so much a head, by the time the depression was over, there would be no more poisonous snakes in this country.

And wouldn't it be too bad to find when the government runs out of money that we had spent our time pulling weeds?

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

BY EDWARD H. COLLINS

The N. R. A. whose progress has been followed and discussed almost to the complete exclusion of other matters in the business and financial community since late summer, faded perceptibly into the background of public interest last week.

This was largely because other events of more than ordinary importance served to overshadow it—among them a fresh flood of contradictory and confusing dispatches from Washington concerning the prospects of currency inflation; the most serious break in the bond market in many months; and finally, the amazing revelation that the Stock Exchange really was very much in earnest in its plan to move, bag and baggage from Wall Street to New York, to avoid excessive state and city taxes.

Quite aside from these occurrences, however, there have been well as any man in it. Little Olive Newman, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Newman, celebrated her birthday anniversary with a most delightful birthday party Tuesday afternoon which was greatly enjoyed by her many friends. After entering into many games, which were led by Mrs. W. J. Hill and Mrs. Samuel Puleston, the happy children were seated on the lawn, a cloth spread, and the beautiful cake, with its pretty candles, was placed in the center when little Olive went through the ceremony of blowing out the candles.

That Florida may have an exhibit of a creditable nature at the Panama Pacific International Exposition, which will open in San Francisco in Feb. 1915, and continue for a period of 10 months, is now assured by the fact that Governor Park Trammell has appointed and designated Hon. A. V. French, of Sanford, as commissioner general for the entire state of Florida to take care of the state's interests at the exposition. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon and daughter, Norma, have returned from a trip to New York where they visited many points of interest. Mrs. Herndon and Norma spent a month at the seashore resorts on Long Island.

George F. Shipp, aged 73 years, who a few weeks ago was in this city the guest of his son, died at Columbus, Ga. yesterday. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mitchell, of Columbus, Ga., and a son, George Shipp, of this city.

There is striking evidence, surveying it at this distance, that the recovery act, like so much of the legislation enacted in the Hundred Days, was never clearly thought through. Aside from its details or the methods used in "putting it across," it has suffered, from the outset, from a Tug-William lack of realism.

In the first place, its objective should have been confined to the single important task of getting men back to work. The Hoover administration, in its spread-work proposals, had the right theory but no mechanism with which to carry it out; the Roosevelt administration contrived a mechanism and then proceeded to impair its usefulness. Instead of confining the machinery to the business of getting work for as many persons as possible, it placed upon it the extravagant and impossible burden of producing the millennium within three months—shorter hours, higher wages, and work for all. As ultimate social objectives no one can quarrel for a moment, it is not to be achieved piecemeal. The second principal weakness of the N. R. A. is revealed in the belated and somewhat bewildered discovery on the part of its sponsors that it had made little or no provision for resuscitating the heavy industries, although it has been the collapse of these industries that has accounted for the greatest part of our unemployment and suffering. It is true, the act provides for the expenditure of some $8,000,000,000 in public works; but public works, as Mr. R. G. Hawtrey points out, are merely a thinly veiled and hypocritical form of inflation. As Mr. Hawtrey does not point out, moreover, they constitute a wasteful and ineffectual device which has no legitimate place in a soundly conceived program of relief in a major depression.

What can be done for the heavy industries, it may be asked, if public works is not the solution? Nothing can be done directly, but a great deal can be done indirectly. It calls, however, for a fundamental change in the present approach to the whole problem of recovery. It demands that when the Administration comes, as it is coming now, to the next fork in the road, it must veer to the right instead of to the left.

If industry is to be helped, the capital markets must be reopened. And that requires two decisive moves: One is the renunciation, once and for all, of "inflationary" measures; the other is the modification of the Federal securities act so as to eliminate the heavy liabilities imposed upon corporate directors and investment bankers under its present terms.

By "inflationary measures" is meant primarily, of course, inflation through the emission of fiat money. Nevertheless, it is doubtful if any great amount of confidence can be restored by the mere substitution of notes for the printing press. The time is rapidly approaching when we must revise our present notion that so long as we can throw money around on all sorts of extravagant and unnecessary projects in unlimited quantities. We cannot continue indefinitely an expansion of the Federal debt which has already amounted to more than 30 per cent in three years.

However, much less public financing would be required if the Administration would take a firm and irrevocable stand on the question of the currency, for this would do more to "strengthen" the banks and the capital market than any amount of threatening and cajoling from Washington.

As to the modification of the securities act, that is only secondary in importance to the restoration of confidence in the future of the currency.

There are not a few persons who are honestly convinced that the securities act has been drawn in its present drastic form with the deliberate purpose of making private financing impossible. These persons attribute a Machiavellian cunning to the framers of the legislation. The measure, they insist, has been devised so as to drive industry to raise its funds directly from the government as the railroads have been doing, thus paving the way for a system of state capitalism.

This is, of course, an extreme view of the situation. Nevertheless the feeling of resentment against this measure is by no means confined to those who place such a sinister interpretation upon it. The other day a banker who bears an unimpeachable reputation, who is extremely friendly to the Administration, and who, above all, would be the last person to indulge in irresponsible statements, said to the writer:

"If I were compelled to choose

Car of Reported As Preparing To Marry Lupescu

For 10 years Mme. Lambino fought in Rumanian courts to have this son recognized. But it wasn't until 1930 that she was awarded the sum of $320,000 and a villa on condition she renounce all claims on Carol.

That first step was put down by Carol's doting family as a "mistake of youth," and when Carol and the beautiful Princess Helen of Greece married, the Rumanian royal family and millions of loyal subjects it ruled nodded sagely and said "now the boy will settle down."

But the boy didn't. While the first child of the marriage, the present Crown Prince Michael, was still an infant, the world learned that Carol was paying more attention to the red-haired Maeda Lupescu, daughter of a junkman, than he was to his wife and heir.

A few weeks before Christmas, 1925, Carol was dispatched as his country's representative to the funeral of Queen Alexandra in London. He was ordered on his return to purchase several planes for his government with national money he carried. Carol sent the planes back home, worthless crates, but refused to return to Rumania himself, announcing he would renounce his claim to the throne. He then settled down to a lotus-eater's life in Paris with Mme. Lupescu.

Humiliated by her royal spouse, Princess Helen asked for and was granted a divorce, winning custody of her child, Michael, who since his father's renunciation, became heir apparent. Following the death of his grandfather, young Michael became King of Rumania. But Carol was unhappy, even with his "charmer, out of the spotlight. Somehow he induced the dominant party in Rumania to arrange his return, and in 1930 he was restored to the throne. An attempt at reconciliation between Carol and Helen failed through when Helen discovered Mme. Lupescu had returned with Carol and was being kept in a villa near the capital. Since then, Carol has associated with his charmer more or less openly. Recently an attempt was made upon her life, but she returned with a minor wound in the arm.

City Girl Scouts Have Camp Which Is Not In Country

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—It really is so. The Girl Scouts say so. But would the police department like to have it told? Would the officials take it as evidence of the readiness of the force to meet human needs in the big city, or would they think the policeman should not have done it?

Well, anyway, it's being told so putting it in print is just a natural next step. Among the Girl Scouts who have had to spend the summer in camp and to whom the day camps have been such a great joy are some who just longed for the adventure of horseback riding. They wouldn't mind at all the asphalt streets and even being restricted to a playground pool instead of having the sea or lake to swim in, if only they could get out once at a time. They wouldn't expect a canoe or even a boat, just to have the horse, walk with them on a board, so to speak, would be a joy.

And to them a New York City mounted policeman looked like a fairy godfather with potent magical wand. For he listened. He understood. And he let them try it. So that it has gone down in the records as summer pastime about locating insects, birds, plants and minerals within sight of city skyscrapers, writing plays and pageants and then staying them in a day camp, together with tuckery, tending leather, and making bracelets.

With game of the girls at the handcraft table under a tree, others have lugged their pencils and pulled their curls and advised poems that rhyme and some that don't, songs that can be sung, and even a jolly newspaper or two.

The New York City camps are like hundreds of others all over the country which have mushroomed up in these past few years to take the place of those country camps where Scouts used to be able to stay for two weeks at a time.

In the day camp, which is all ways sufficiently near home to require only a 5-cent car fare, girls can practice camping from early in the morning until dark.

The camp may be tucked away in a park, or on a vacant lot of shade and water are handy, or on a skyscraper roof. New York girls are camping in Central Park near the Shakespeare Garden, in Bona Park not far from the Zoo on top of the Heckscher Building and in winter other attractive spots loaned for the purpose.

that this was only to ease day-to-day fluctuations and does not represent any attempt to interfere with the general trend of exchange.

Since his return to London the Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, has had conferences with such leading British and League of Nations financial and economic experts as Sir Josiah Stamp, Sir Arthur Salter and Mr. Alexander Loveday, and the British Government's policy at present is still that defined by Mr. MacDonald in his letter of Aug. 20 to the Clay Cross electorate. He then declared "for careful expansion."

Since then the pound's movement has been downward in relation to gold, but no attempts have been made to link it in any way with the dollar. Now, however, the time has come to define more and more exactly the position in this respect to be taken up by Sir Frederick Leith-Ross in the coming week's discussions in Washington, it being recognized here that no settlement upon this question is possible without knowing the future mutual relations between currencies on which payments may have to be made.

Sir Isaac Holt, one of the directors of the Bank of England, emphasized at Manchester Thursday the greatness of the obligation Britain is under to the United States in this connection. "I do not want to enter upon the question as to how far our gratitude should drive us in our efforts to pay," Sir Isaac said, "but I do want to remind you and myself that we were immensely and most generously helped by the Government and the people of the United States in finance, particularly during the last two years of the World War."

WHY WORRY (through the slipperiest months of the year on smooth worn, bald-treaded tires?)

Smart drivers know that they need new tires more in fall and winter than any other time in the year—they know that new rubber wears almost twice as well in cold weather, which means it will last almost twice as long in the spring—they know that it costs money and may be dangerous to wing out the last few hundred miles.

That's why it pays to buy new Goodyears now. By actual test on wet pavements, they stop your car quicker than any other tire regardless of make or design—and 77% quicker than smooth worn tires. They give you blowout protection in every ply—because every ply is built with that patented ply material, Supertwist. And they give more mileage today than Goodyear Tires ever gave before.

Get in on today's low prices—believe it or not, most Goodyears cost less today than they cost a year ago. Mead the prices and you'll agree—it certainly pays to buy tires right now.

WANT STILL LOWER PRICES?

MEXICAN POLICE WILL STUDY U. S. CRIME METHODS

Group Departs From Mexico City To Visit American Cities

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 28.—Police departments in five cities, and the United States Department of Justice are to be studied by an official representative of the Mexico City police department as part of the program for completely modernizing its operations. The cities to be visited are St. Louis, San Antonio, Chicago, Milwaukee and Washington.

As personal representative of Sen. Jose Juan Mendez, Mexico City's police chief, Senor Ted Gonzalez, assistant to Prof. Benjamin Martinez, head of the crime detection laboratory here, will leave Mexico City on Sept. 27. Senor Gonzalez's trip, which is to include classes at the special scientific crime detection course of the Northwestern University in Chicago, was made possible through the kindness of Mr. David Karver, Milwaukee knit goods manufacturer, who spent a short vacation in Mexico early this year and became interested in bettering law enforcement relations between the two countries.

Senor Gonzalez, known as the police department's "secretary of foreign relations," is usually instructed, besides his ordinary duties, with taking care of cases involving fugitive criminals from their countries, especially from the United States.

His knowledge of English—and incidentally Yiddish—was acquired in the East Side of New York City where he was reared after his family moved there from his native city of Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico.

The various chiefs of police have extended special invitations to Senor Gonzalez, who will not only visit and study police methods in the various cities, but will address

Better After Taking First Bottle of Cardul

After one bottle, I felt better and I took another after which I was greatly improved, so much so that I recommended Cardul to my friends."

STRIKE SCENES DOT U. S. FROM EAST TO WEST

Labor Troubles Mar Recovery Picture; 85,000 Mine Work- ers Are On Strike

(By The Associated Press)
Strike scenes dotted the country from coast to coast today with these as the highlights:
Colon Pittsburgh—Three to five thousand singing and shouting miners converged on the big Clairton plant of Carnegie Steel seeking to swing 6000 workers there into the holiday movement of 85,000 steel and mine workers in three states.

Detroit—Henry Ford had labor troubles on his hands. Workers in Chester, Pa., having gone on a strike, yesterday and started a strike in the Ford plant there. They threatened to proceed to Dearborn, Mich., to picket. Labor troubles also beset the Richmond, Cal. plant.

Flint, Mich.—The national labor board sought a settlement with several thousand auto tool and die makers. Bread was increasingly hard to get in Philadelphia as the strike of bakery drivers continued.

Washington—The national labor board is moving to settle many strikes including the one involving Ford.

Philadelphia police Wednesday arrested five strikers on charges of inciting to riot at the J. H. White leather manufacturing plant. Company officials denied the strike was called to protest violations of the NRA minimum wage. In the same city acid was hurled through a window of the home of a foreman of the Pennsylvania Sugar Company where employees are on strike. Bakers delivered bread under police guard against striking truck drivers.

Paterson, N. J., silk plants operated in the face of picketing. At Hazleton, Pa., silk workers on strike protested against Mayor A. Ryan's order forbidding picketing.

Chicago police arrested nine members of the international leather workers union as they picketed a plant in violation of a court injunction. A three-week strike has been in effect.

In Belleville, Ill., employees of an electrical appliance factory returned to work after a one-day walkout. Unionization problems were composed by the NRA mediation board.

One of Philadelphia's strikes was settled when 400 employees of a ball bearing manufacturing plant won demands of a 40-hour week, union shop and a 20 percent minimum increase in pay.

NEW DISORDERS FLARE IN CUBAN INTERIOR POINTS

Strikers Seize Match And Cigarette Facto- ries At Matanzas

HAVANA, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Renewed disorders flared in Matanzas yesterday to plague the Grau San Martin government as striking workers seized the Ymca match and cigarette factory at Matanzas city.

More trouble was reported at the town of San Jose de los Rios, where armed bandits were sack farmers' homes. The mayor of the town sent out a call for troops.

In Col in three communist leaders were arrested following an attempt to burn a Roman Catholic church. Authorities said that they had seized a quantity of literature at communist headquarters.

Strikers refused to let anyone enter the match company property at Matanzas.

The government apparently was willing to let political negotiations go by the board for the time being, as reports of an impending military revolt in Tampa province and the problem of ousting the nearly 500 army and navy officers from the National hotel here otherwise annoyed the officials.

Approximately 200 soldiers equipped with 27 machine guns arrived at Camagney from Havana, and the government said they were sent there to guard sugar mill properties.

The anti-government plans, it was said, were sponsored by a secret society. There were rumors of large secret arms deposits on a ranch near the town of Florida belonging to former Senator Celso Cuellar.

Officers at the National hotel had until midnight to leave the hotel for their homes or lose their status as a few have left.

Although President Grau has said that mediatory efforts of Felix Granados and Antonio Gonzalez de Mendoza ended in failure, Granados declared both were still trying to bring about a compromise between the government and its leading political opponents.

ARMY PLANES TO TRANSPORT TOUGH GUNMAN

"Machine Gun" Kelly Has Shackles On Feet And Guard Out- side His Steel Cell

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A sullen trapped gangster, George "Machine Gun" Kelly, with shackles on his feet and a heavy guard outside his steel cell, yesterday awaited his removal to Oklahoma City to stand trial for the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping.

As federal authorities delayed sending Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, to Oklahoma, forces of the government picked up a man at Ballinger, Texas, who was charged with giving the desperado refuge at his home on Aug. 16.

In announcing the arrest of W. P. Casey, of Ballinger, attorney General Cummings said at Washington that it was the purpose of the government in its drive against racketeers and kidnapers to prosecute not only the principal criminals involved, but those "giving them aid and comfort."

Department of Justice agents here professed to know nothing concerning the detention of two men at Charlotte, N. C., or the apprehension of five others at Minneapolis.

John M. Keith, special agent of the Department of Justice, continued to maintain silence concerning his plans for spotting the Kelly's to Oklahoma City by airplane, but indicated to reporters he was awaiting orders from J. E. Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation in Washington.

Keith said yesterday he attached no particular importance to Kelly's purported admission Wednesday night that he had participated in the Urschel abduction. The admission was announced by Agent W. A. Rover, and confirmed by Kelly Wednesday night. They quoted Kelly as saying he and Albert Bates were the actual abductors.

The admission, Keith said, was verbal, and "Kelly has never denied his connection with the kidnaping."

Other agents would not say whether the questioning of those held here had any connection with the arrest of Casey, or the activities at Minneapolis and Charlotte.

Judge Harry B. Anderson of the Federal District Court, signed warrants at Jackson, Tenn., providing for the removal of the Kellys after they had signed away their rights to a protest hearing.

Sixteen airplanes, some of them army ships, are in readiness at the municipal airport for the flight to Oklahoma City. Every highway entering Memphis, is under guard by the county jail with the Kellys are John Tichenor, at whose home the Kellys were captured Tuesday, Tichenor's brother-in-law, S. E. Travis and Langford Ramsey, a young attorney, brother of Kelly's first wife.

OPPONENTS AND SUPPORTERS OF SALES TAX CLASH

Views Are Expressed At Meet Of Florida Municipality League

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Sales tax opponents and advocates clashed at yesterday's meeting of the Florida League of Municipalities, with George M. Powell, Jacksonville, urging such a tax as a substitute for ad valorem taxes after Mayor Vincent Wyman of Coral Gables had denounced it as an almost certain result of adoption of the proposed $5000 homestead exemption measure.

Powell characterized the sales tax as the most convenient, economically collected and productive tax possible, an automatic assessment that has no improvement in the process of taxation.

This tax, the speaker said, would make it possible to abolish all ad valorem taxes except that required for school purposes, would produce a steadily increasing revenue, paid in the orderly course of every day business and do away with city council meetings constantly interrupted by complaints of taxpayers.

After an address by Mayor H. Clay Armstrong, of Pensacola, on "What Price Civilization Tradition in State Government," in which a plea was made for a new state constitution, the league approved a resolution calling for appointment of a committee to prepare a draft of a model constitution for Florida. A single legislative body of 50 or 60 members, working in harmony with the governor and his cabinet, was a provision of the proposed state government proposed by Mayor Armstrong.

The league's afternoon session was featured by an address of Mayor Wyman of Coral Gables, urging the defeat of the proposed state constitutional amendment exempting from taxation all homesteads up to a value of $5000.

The measure, Wyman said, is "clearly invalid as to outstanding bonds," increased and dangerous.

Wyman contended that if the state could exempt homesteads from tax on an existing security for the services of its debt, it could with equal propriety exempt all taxable property, of whatever kind or nature, from such taxation, and so make the bonds of its political existence mere scraps of worthless paper and cancel their debt in toto.

The league's annual dinner last night was featured by speeches by Chief Justice Davis of the state supreme court, Congressman Peterson, Lakeland; Attorney General Landis and James D. Bourne, of St. Petersburg.

Election of officers and transaction of unfinished business is on the concluding program of the convention today.

RE-ARMING OF GERMANY NOT O. K. TO FRANCE

Reich Official Says His Country Should Be Treated As Partner Among Nations

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—(AP)—France cannot sponsor any rearmament of Germany, Joseph Paul-Boncour, French foreign minister, made plain yesterday a short time after a Reich official had told correspondents his country should be treated as an honest partner in the reconstruction of a peaceful Europe.

The French stand was set out in a conference between Paul-Boncour with Konstantin von Neurath, the German foreign minister. The latter will go to Berlin today to submit the French, British and Italian disarmament plan to his chief, Chancellor Hitler.

Germany's desire for peace was made known by Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Reich minister of public enlightenment and propaganda, who said:

"To say that Germany desires war is shortsighted and discouraging in view of the fact that everywhere else there is no disarmament, but rearmament."

Germany was described by the minister as peace-loving, firmly determined to bring about reconstruction and as setting up a barrier against the spread of Bolshevism. Peace was necessary, he continued, for the carrying out of the nation's plans. The right of defense should not be removed, however, he warned.

"Germany cannot sign treaties which cannot be fulfilled," Goebbels continued, "but when she does sign she is determined to respect them."

It was learned authoritatively Paul Boncour had urged Germany to join the peace move by accepting a four-year trial period which would involve the control of existing armaments.

Dr. Goebbels denied the Nazis were exercising "cheap revenge" in their anti-Semitic campaign protested against the circulation of atrocity stories and declared any nation would have taken similar steps in dealing with the Jewish question.

He ascribed the Hitler action toward the Jews as humane, but admitted there had been some Jewish incidents during the revolution.

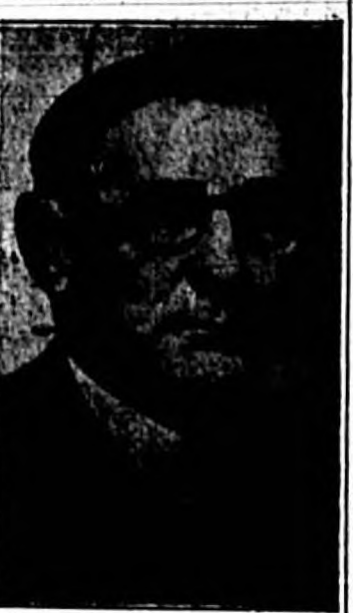

"The Jews," Goebbels continued, "were the absolute and unlimited masters of the press, literature, the theater and the cinema. They made public opinion, exercised a decisive influence on the stock exchange and were the rulers of parliament and its parties."

Paul Boncour said he had neither a good nor bad impression of the disarmament situation, but felt the conversations would continue.

Coming to Sanford only three months ago to visit relatives and try to regain his health, William H. Maple, 32, of Pittsburgh, Pa., became suddenly ill two days ago and was removed to the Fernald Laughton Memorial Hospital where he died at 9:50 o'clock last night from a heart attack.

STATES MAY BE FORCED TO USE 'WORKS' FUNDS

Those That Don't May Have Their Allot- ments Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Displeased and disappointed by the delay of 14 states in beginning highway construction with federal money allotted to them, the public works administration yesterday considered withdrawing the funds from the "dilatory" states.

The special board for public works, which approves allotments from the $3,300,000,000 fund, adopted a resolution instructing its general counsel, Henry T. Hunt, to advise whether allotments made to the states and so far lying unused, might be taken back.

The sum of $400,000,000 was set aside from the public works funds for road projects in the states and in all but 14 construction work was started. In some of the states where no construction has been begun, bids have been advertised but in some cases contracts have been let.

The 14 states and the sum which they were allowed from the $400,000,000 fund are: Alabama, $8,370,133; California, $15,607,354; Connecticut, $2,865,740; Florida, $5,231,834; Georgia, $10,091,185; Illinois, $17,570,770; Indiana, $10,037,843; Kentucky, $7,617,359; Maryland, $3,564,527; Mississippi, $6,978,675; New Jersey, $6,346,039; Oklahoma, $9,216,798; Pennsylvania, $18,891,004; and Tennessee, $8,492,619.

The funds were made available soon after the public works administration was set up in order that money could be employed in as large numbers as possible during the summer and fall months. The fact that winter is approaching without work being under way in some states has caused considerable disappointment.

Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator, made it plain yesterday that the public works administration is not concerning itself with limitations on the borrowing of funds which are written into some state constitutions and that such states cannot expect special help from the government.

President Roosevelt under the terms of the National Recovery Act is authorized to make outright grants of funds in such instances as he sees fit, but Ickes said there was involved a question of "abstract justice," since if outright grants were made to some states and partial grants and loans to others, the states which had to repay their loans would be discriminated against.

Probe Shows Federal Grants To Ship Lines

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The record of the Senate committee investigating ocean and air mail subsidies today revealed figures showing that in the Coolidge and Hoover administrations the Export Steamship Corporation obtained more than $45,250,000 in federal grants and that the line bought 23 shipping board vessels for $1,351,000 that had cost the government more than $42,000,000.

STAGE SET FOR "CRACKER DAY" CELEBRATION

Everything In Readiness To Entertain Guests Who Are Ex- pected Tomorrow

"Splendid co-operation on the part of the Sanford City Commissioners, the County Commissioners, Sanford citizens, merchants, the local newspaper, various organizations and individual contributors has been received and we are truly grateful because without this help we could not have possibly worked out all the details connected with our first annual celebration," declared Mrs. John Leonardy in a statement issued today in behalf of the sponsors of "Cracker Day."

Mrs. Leonardy continued by saying that "Everything is in readiness to receive and entertain the guests who are expected to arrive early tomorrow morning. We have been assured by letter and telegram that large crowds are coming from all parts of Central Florida, but we are ready for them. I believe we have enough fish and cornbread to feed two whole counties."

It was also announced this morning by the chairman that dinner will be served from 11:00 o'clock until noon for the benefit of those who have to work in local stress. The regular serving will begin at 12:00 o'clock and continue until 2 o'clock. However, Mrs. Leonardy continued, arrangements are being made to serve fish at all hours during the afternoon and at supper for the out-of-town guests who would like to remain here until a late hour.

Attention has been called to the fact that the fish dinner will be served on the Court House lawn where tables and other preparations have been made, the chairman pointed out saying that "many have expressed doubt as to the exact location."

The fiddlers contest, to take place immediately following the tournament riding late in the afternoon, will be held on east First Street. The "Cracker" square dance has been definitely called for 8:00 o'clock and it will also take place on East First Street.

Besides the principal speaker of the day, Joe Sears, United States Congressman at-large from Florida, J. J. Parrish, state senator from this district, will also be in the city as an honor guest. Arthur Yowell has been appointed to award the various prizes offered for contests during the day, it was announced this morning.
