New Conception of Wall Street
In "The Stepping Stone," the new Triangle-Ince photoplay starring Frank Keenan and Mary Boland, there is a new conception of Wall Street, the popular field for scenario-writers. The action makes it the direct instrument of a "captain of industry" in securing the woman of his choice, who happens to be the wife of another man.

Marie Doro Monday at Star

Marie Doro, one of the most celebrated dramatic artists of stage or screen, and formerly a Frohman star will be seen at the Star on Monday in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "Common Ground," a thrilling drama of social conditions written especially for the Paramount Program by Marian Fairfax, and produced under the personal direction of William C. DeMolle.

"Common Ground" shows the mental and spiritual awakening through love, of a child of the slums, employed in an artificial flower factory.

How she meets, falls in love with, and eventually saves it from ruin, at the hands of political grafters, a young judge, is the basis of this most unusual play. The methods of the army of parasites connected with the city institution, and their dealings with the underworld, are vividly exposed.

Marie Doro in "Common Ground" at the Star Monday.

How these grafters, to further their own ends, manufacture false conditions to harm their enemies, is brought out through a series of most unusual scenes.

The Lasky Company has surrounded Miss Doro with a cast of unusual consisting of such distinguished artists as Thomas Meighan, as the young judge, Theodore Roberts, Mary Mersch, Horace B. Carpenter and Vera McEvers, and a number of other members of the Lasky all-star organization.

The picture has the usual Lasky thoroughness of detail and splendid photoplay.

Rita Jolivet, the star in the Morosco-Paramount photoplay "An International Marriage," at Star Theatre tonight was a passenger on the Lusitania when it made its fatal voyage, and the memory of having stood beside the courageous presence of Charles Frohman during the catastrophe is probably one of the factors of Miss Jolivet's great ability to express strong emotion.

At the Star Tonight
"An International Marriage" is an almost everyday newspaper headline. The prominence given the event and the participants shows that it is a subject of much interest to the public.

What their after marriage life is like is usually a point of ignorance with most people. The supposition is that they live happily ever after.

The best possible insight into the true conditions, so different from American home life as on the Morosco-Paramount photoplay, "An International Marriage" starring Rita Jolivet.

Miss Jolivet's extraordinary skill and her ability to convey an Italian family life.

The quality of photoplay under the direction of William C. DeMolle.

It is a story of a young girl who is brought to the attention of a young man who is a member of the aristocracy.

By the use of the camera, the picture of the life of the girl is shown in a most interesting manner.

By this method he has conveyed the interest about the picture of the life of the girl.

chief characters of the play, and although giving the spectators an occasional view of the substantial properties that make up a millionaire's home, has allowed only a suggestion of the environment in which they appear.

In the scene, that of a dining room in a pretentious home, Keenan, Miss Boland and Robert McKim, who play the part of the egotistical and worthless husband are shown seated at dinner. A great dining-room lamp throws its rays of light directly down, illuminating the table and the three persons seated about it, while the butler stands faintly outlined against the obscurity of the background.

In another scene a tragedy has occurred. Instead of showing the gruesome details, a body is dimly discernible lying on the floor of a room that is obscured in darkness just as it would be in real life, if a door were opened and the light from a brilliantly lighted room cast into a dark apartment.

A very beautiful star displaying her charms and graces in the perfection of Parisian gowns is one of the attractive features of the strong photodrama "An International Marriage," at the Star tonight.

Rita Jolivet (Countess Cippico) portrays the part of the American daughter of a multi-millionaire with compelling power and great attractiveness.

Gather Round, Girls, and See What Everybody's Wearing

Fashions shown at the same time in leading newspapers, leading department stores, and leading moving picture theatres will result from the program that made the J. A. Ross, now president and general manager of Parke Exchange Inc.

These fashions will be produced in the picture, "The Fashion Show," which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre, Monday night.

The picture will be produced by the Lyric Theatre, Monday night, at 7:30 p. m. It will be shown at the Lyric Theatre, Monday night, at 7:30 p. m. It will be shown at the Lyric Theatre, Monday night, at 7:30 p. m.

This means that the women of the city will be able to see the latest fashions in the picture, "The Fashion Show," which shows her from the time she wakes up in the morning until she leaves the Charity Bazaar that night. Twelve beautiful girls will be shown in thirty of the latest creations ranging from boudoir caps and night gowns to the latest style in evening dresses and a feature of the release is a scene at the Englewood Golf Club.

The picture presents in advance what the most fashionable women will wear in September, October and November. It will show thousands of dollars worth of furs, shags, hats and gowns. The following list of newspapers merely marks a beginning: Chicago Daily News, St. Paul News, Minneapolis News, Omaha News, Louisville Times, Pittsburgh Dispatch, Buffalo Enquirer, Baltimore American, Boston Traveller, Syracuse Post-Standard, Utica Observer and Cleveland News.

The first release will present some of New York's latest Fall fashions. A pretty story will be woven into each reel to increase the interest of the audience.

"The Masked Rider" Brimful of Thrills

Lockwood, Allison Picture next offering on the Metro Program.

"The Masked Rider," a sensational five part Metro Quality production with Harold Lockwood and May Allison in the stellar roles, will be the next feature attraction at the Star Theatre on Tuesday.

This wonderful play is brimful of thrills, especially in the big scenes staged in the mountains of North Carolina. There are many exciting moments in this part of the story, which deals with the moonshiners of that section.

The outlaws are brought to justice through the daring exploits of "The Masked Rider," played by Mr. Lockwood, who poses as a mountain parson until he gathers his evidence against them. Before they are corralled the fighting parson is obliged to display his prowess in one of the most remarkable encounters ever shown upon the screen.

The central characters in this play are Mr. Lockwood and Lester Cannon, who plays the villain in the role of "Squad Archer," the leader of the moonshiners. Miss Allison is seen in the delightful role of a beautiful mountain girl whom the fighting parson saves from the clutches of the moonshiners.

Mr. Lockwood's play, "The Masked Rider," is an exceptional production. It is a story of a young man who is brought to justice through the daring exploits of "The Masked Rider," played by Mr. Lockwood, who poses as a mountain parson until he gathers his evidence against them.

NEW YORK CENTER OF ALL POLITICIANS

Both Parties Establish Headquarters in Metropolis.

EMPIRE STATE TO DECIDE.

Not Since 1868 Has a President Been Chosen Without the Vote of New York—Same Old Methods Will Prevail This Year, and Various Bureaus Are Busy.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

New York, Aug. 1.—[Special].—This is the place where they make presidents. No doubt there are 15,000,000 men and women between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans and the great lakes and the Rio Grande who think that they make the president and are looking forward to the performance of that duty next November.

Of course all those voting people are very useful in this quadrennial performance, and everything possible is going to be done for them. They are going to be shown how to elect the next president, but the operators of the scheme will be in New York. In other words, New York is to be the political center from now until the polls close on the 7th of November.

The first thing after the national conventions is the establishment of political headquarters in New York. In one or two campaigns Chicago has been made the political headquarters, but only nominally. New York is the political center of the country in a presidential year.

New York Will Decide.

New York the state will decide who shall be the next president. I know that clever political mathematicians can sit down with a pencil and a sheet of note paper and figure out how one party or the other can elect a president without New York. But being somewhat practical in his political opinions, I am sure that no one will for Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes to carry New York.

Not since 1868 has a president been chosen without the support of New York. It is the only state which has ever elected a president without the support of New York. It is the only state which has ever elected a president without the support of New York.

Same Great Game.

The same great game is being played and is being played by the same men. There is a number of new faces, of course, but the machinery is run by old hands. The people are being told that they are going to elect a president, but they are going to elect a president who will be elected by the same old hands.

Four Year Plants.

Who are all the men who are elected to the presidency? They are the men who are elected to the presidency. They are the men who are elected to the presidency. They are the men who are elected to the presidency.

Movement Uptown.

When I first began looking after national campaigns the headquarters of the committee were down about Twenty-third street. This year the Democrats are on Forty-second street near Fifth avenue, and the Republicans are on Forty-third street near Fifth avenue. The location of the political headquarters is an indication of the general uptown movement.

Willcox and McCormick.

Both of the chairmen are now in the national political game. Neither Mr. Willcox nor Mr. McCormick has ever been associated with the management of national campaigns, and their faces are not familiar to the politicians. But they will be known before the election since it is not to meet a great many people. He not only sees the real men of his own party, but a vast army of workers, many trying to work him.

Wilson's Legislative Program.

The fact that President Wilson has gone ahead with his legislative program is regarded by Democrats as of great importance. His determination to put through the child labor bill in spite of opposition of southern men, they say, will help him. The fact that he runs over the southern senators, who for local reasons oppose the child labor bill, rather helps Wilson.

Let Hogs Dip Themselves Lice and fleas are so prevalent in Florida that every hog farmer should make some provision against them. There are two ways of combatting lice. One is to pour oil over the hogs at feeding time and the other is to let the hogs dip themselves. This is the easiest way and it is perhaps more efficient.

A. P. Spencer, district agent for the University of Florida Extension Division, suggests that the oil be poured over the water in the hog wallow. In this way, the animals will keep the parasite without further trouble to the owner. Since the wallow is necessary, it had just as well be used as a dipping vat at the same time.

Farmers Tired of Hog Cholera Florida farmers are growing tired of hog cholera. They are beginning to realize that they can't soon lose enough to pay for losses and sanitary precautions that will avoid cholera.

Dr. A. H. Logan, veterinary field agent for the United States Department of Agriculture who is stationed at the University of Florida, says that the farmers are just now reaching the place where they want to control the disease. They have seen their profits go, and their herds wiped out in a few days. They have also seen the benefits of pure bred hogs and sanitary precautions.

Interest in pure bred hogs is growing steadily and it is not idle or speculative interest. It is being manifested in the purchase of pure bred animals, some counties report a decrease of from 10 to 20 per cent in the number of hogs raised, and the fact that they must give better care on certain greater losses. The fact that annual cannot stand the neglect which is accorded native stock and consequently they will be fenced. This lessens the chances of contracting cholera.

Business in Sanford will be practically suspended next Thursday a temporary and everybody will go out and see the games. This Booster Day is arranged as one of the Ball Association and in attending the game Thursday you will be helping your home club in several ways. Great Thursday, and see that all your friends do likewise. Plan to be the biggest of the ball game.

This is a Regular Big Week at the Star Theatre Manager Herndon, commonly known as "The King of The Movies" who has given the people of Sanford a picture program that is seldom equaled and never surpassed for the past four years is truly on the job, judging from the cream of the features to be exhibited at the Star, better known as "The Theatre Just Like Home" this week. As an introduction of the week's pictures the noted Marie Doro was shown last night and many movie fans stayed through the second show. Tonight Harold Lockwood and May Allison will grace the program. On Wednesday "Mysteries of Myra" will be the features. Then comes to Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the favorite stars. Marguerite Clark will be in evidence Thursday and Mary Pickford Friday and Saturday.

Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Thrifty Hogs Resist Disease Sanitation and wholesome feed are the best assurances against hog diseases. Hogs that are kept on clean premises are not likely to become sick. Thrifty hogs are less susceptible to diseases than hogs that are poorly nourished. Therefore the first precautions are clean premises, plenty of pure water and air and well balanced rations. Hogs kept under such conditions will not be sick.

Farmers depend too much on patent medicines and proprietary compounds to keep their animals well. If the foregoing precautions are taken there will be no use for condition powders, according to Dr. A. H. Logan, veterinary field agent for the United States Department of Agriculture, who is stationed at the University of Florida. A sick hog is hard to cure, but a well hog is easy to keep well. Good feed, pure water, pure air, sunlight, exercise and proper sanitary conditions are the only remedies which the hog needs.

Weevils in Peas Want to know how to keep dry peas from weevils and bugs. Is it best to hull them or leave them in the pod? Answer: Shell the peas and put them in a tightly closed box or barrel. Put the bisulphide in a shallow dish on top of the peas. A tablespoonful of bisulphide is plenty for a barrel. Leave the container closed for thirty-six to forty-eight hours. Since this fumigation does not kill the eggs, it must be repeated in four or five weeks and possibly yet again after a like period. You can determine this by careful watching. Since the weevil begins to lay eggs about six weeks from hatching you must get out the barrel before fumigations extend over this time. Bear in mind always the extreme inflammability of bisulphide fumes.

Strawberry Plants If you have sold strawberry plants produce better here the second year. Is this correct? Answer: Generally speaking the strawberry plant does not produce as well the second year as the first. There are, however, exceptions to this rule. It all depends upon the care that is taken to keep off the surplus runners and to produce vigorous young plants. It is the preference throughout the state to set out each year new plants from the north but one most successful grower says he does better to raise his own plants. He has only a small acreage and gives the greatest attention to that, and we think he invariably sets new plants each year.

Stock Raising at Large The fact is that there are some of the farmers don't want to go to the expense to build

Answer: Though it is later than corn is usually planted, there is no reason why a crop should not be made before there is the least danger of frost, since it takes from seventy to ninety days for the crop to mature, this according to variety. Climatic conditions, however, would have a great influence. We might have such a dry, hot August and early September that it would be impossible for the corn to start, this particularly since you are planning to raise it on such very light soil. You could not expect to get a good crop of corn on the typical pineapple land, and in our opinion, you would do much better to plant velvet beans or cow peas than to attempt the corn.

Answer: Shell the peas and put them in a tightly closed box or barrel. Put the bisulphide in a shallow dish on top of the peas. A tablespoonful of bisulphide is plenty for a barrel. Leave the container closed for thirty-six to forty-eight hours. Since this fumigation does not kill the eggs, it must be repeated in four or five weeks and possibly yet again after a like period. He has only a small acreage and gives the greatest attention to that, and we think he invariably sets new plants each year.

The fact is that there are some of the farmers don't want to go to the expense to build walls around their farms and it would take a wall to keep some of the stock out. Nothing can be planted and grown in five or six feet of a fence. It will be eaten by some of the stock that is running at large. There is no one, after doing their day's work wants to get up in the night and chase a cow or a horse an hour or two to get it out of their garden. School time will soon be here and last year some of the school children had to stay at home lots of days because they were afraid to go to catch the jitney bus. They were afraid of some of the cattle. Their parents were too busy in their gardens to go with them.

It is hoped that some one will have a petition signed by all the people that are in favor of having the stock shut up in the trucking section signed and have it ready for the board of county commissioners at their meeting in September to call an election to vote the running at large to be penned up and if this cannot be done a petition will be sent to the next legislature containing the names of several hundred growers which cannot be turned down. This is not a cattle section and our lands are too valuable to have them overrun by worthless Florida cows.

West Side Grower.

LAROCHE IS HOME AGAIN

Well Known Empire Returns From Georgia and Will Officiate Here

Sam LaRoche, ex-Big Leaguer, ex-Big League Umpire and for the past two years umpire in the southern minors and resident of this city during the winter season arrived in the city yesterday and his many friends are glad to see him again. Especially glad since the ball season is at its height right now and a good umpire is in demand. Mr. LaRoche many years ago (we hate to tell his age) was a big leaguer and ball player as she was played in the early days romping around the big circuits and getting the bouquets and the long green. Age laying its unavoidable hand upon him he retired to the bush leagues first and finally, came to the inevitable end of many big players, he took up the indicator and began his career as umpire. He held positions in many leagues and his work carried him from the Pacific slope to the Atlantic seaboard and into Canada. Getting married and settling down for the winter season made Sam think of sunny Florida where his wife had relatives and he located in Sanford several years ago, where he carries on the business of the Sanitary Pressing Club while the frost is on the pumpkin in the northern states. When the spring training starts he goes with the clubs that bid for his services, never getting very far away from Sanford on account of his home ties and this season umpiring in the Georgia state league.

He will officiate at the Orlando-Sanford series if satisfactory arrangements can be made, and it is safe to assert that the games will now be umpired according to the real rules of the game if Sam LaRoche officiates. All of which means that the Sanford-Orlando teams are professional players and have a professional umpire.

HORSEPOWER" is a misleading phrase. It is sometimes wrongly used to carry the idea of something unusual, exceptional—some startling innovation.

We don't claim anything we can't prove. We don't mislead by reference to a technical subject you don't understand.

We've got something real to talk about. Examine the Maxwell car—its complete equipment. Note the attractive appearance. Consider its reputation and its unequalled record for performance.

The price includes all the horsepower you need to take you anywhere and as fast as you want to go.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED IMMEDIATELY BY MRS. N. M. G. PRANGE. WILSON & JACKSON FERTILIZER CO. Jacksonville, Florida.

Rust Mite I have been using 7 soda-sulfur with oil spray, 1-66 which has been strong enough to burn the new foliage slightly and yet it does not seem to effectively dispose of rust mite. What do you suppose is the trouble? Answer: The burning was undoubtedly caused by some free oil, not the soda-sulphur. Soda sulphur is not supposed to be anywhere near as good for control of rust mite as lime sulphur. Lime sulphur used at the rate of one gallon 43 degrees Baume lime sulphur to 75 gallons kills not only the adult mites, but the eggs. Your oil spray should also have helped, for though it is never recommended as a rust mite spray, it so reduces the rust mite when it is used for scale or whitefly, as it greatly lessens the damage by these insects.

A Tailored Frock for Mild Days.

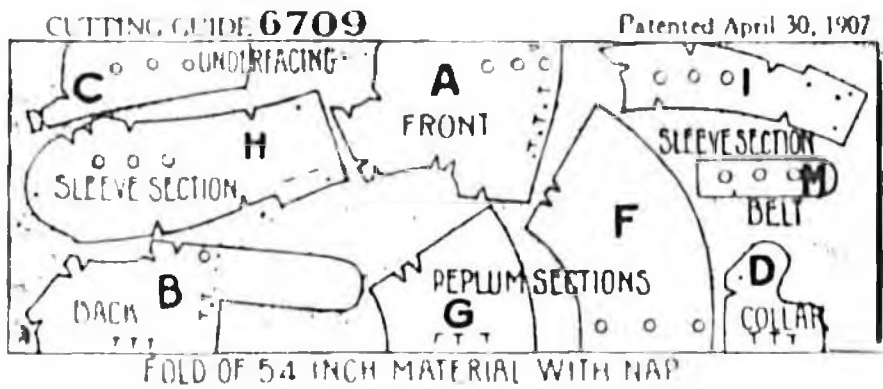

Blue faille makes up this charming suit for mild days although silk poplin or gray de Londres may be substituted.

Particularly enchanting are the tailored suits for mild days—days when it is too cool to be without a jacket, and yet too warm for a serge or gabardine. Faille is used for this costume, the color dark blue. Nothing is smarter than blue or wears better. The interesting feature of the suit is the jacket, which has a convertible collar. The back may be made with or without tab extensions, while the circular peplum is cut in three pieces. To make the entire costume requires 5 1/2 yards 44-inch or 4 1/2 yards 54-inch material.

As two styles of sleeves are provided, the home dressmaker should be careful to distinguish between the coat sleeve and the fancy sleeve when cutting. These are marked "H" and "I", respectively, and plainly shown on the cutting guide. The back of the jacket and back of the peplum, with the collar, are laid on a lengthwise fold of the silk, while the front section of the peplum is placed on a lengthwise thread. The underfacing, sleeve section and front of the jacket are laid on a lengthwise thread.

If the back of the jacket is desired without extension cut off 1/2 inch below small "O" perforations. Next to blue, gray is exceedingly popular for these silk tailors. A soft, medium light tone, rather like a light castor, is the most favored. Quite as effective as faille and less expensive are the silk poplins. Gros de Londres and lightweight satins also make charming tailored costumes for summer.

Embroidered Voiles Much Worn.

The summer wardrobe can not afford to be without a smocked frock. This design in embroidered voile, is trimmed with a vest and collar of white organdy.

front edge of the waist about 1 inch deep. Then gather the upper edge of front and lower edge of front and back between double "TT" perforations. Gather 1/2 inches above lower edge of front and back and fold over as in sketch. Make stay to position under front gathers, center back even small "O" perforation stay at under arm seam and bring front edge to center front.

Long Sleeve. Close seams of sleeve and cuff as notched leaving back seam of cuff free below small "O" perforation and finish for closing.

ing. Gather sleeve between double "TT" perforations. Sew cuff to sleeve as notched, bring the front seam of cuff to seam of sleeve and bring the back seam of cuff to large "O" perforation to sleeve. Sew sleeve in armhole, notches and small "O" perforations even casing in any fullness.

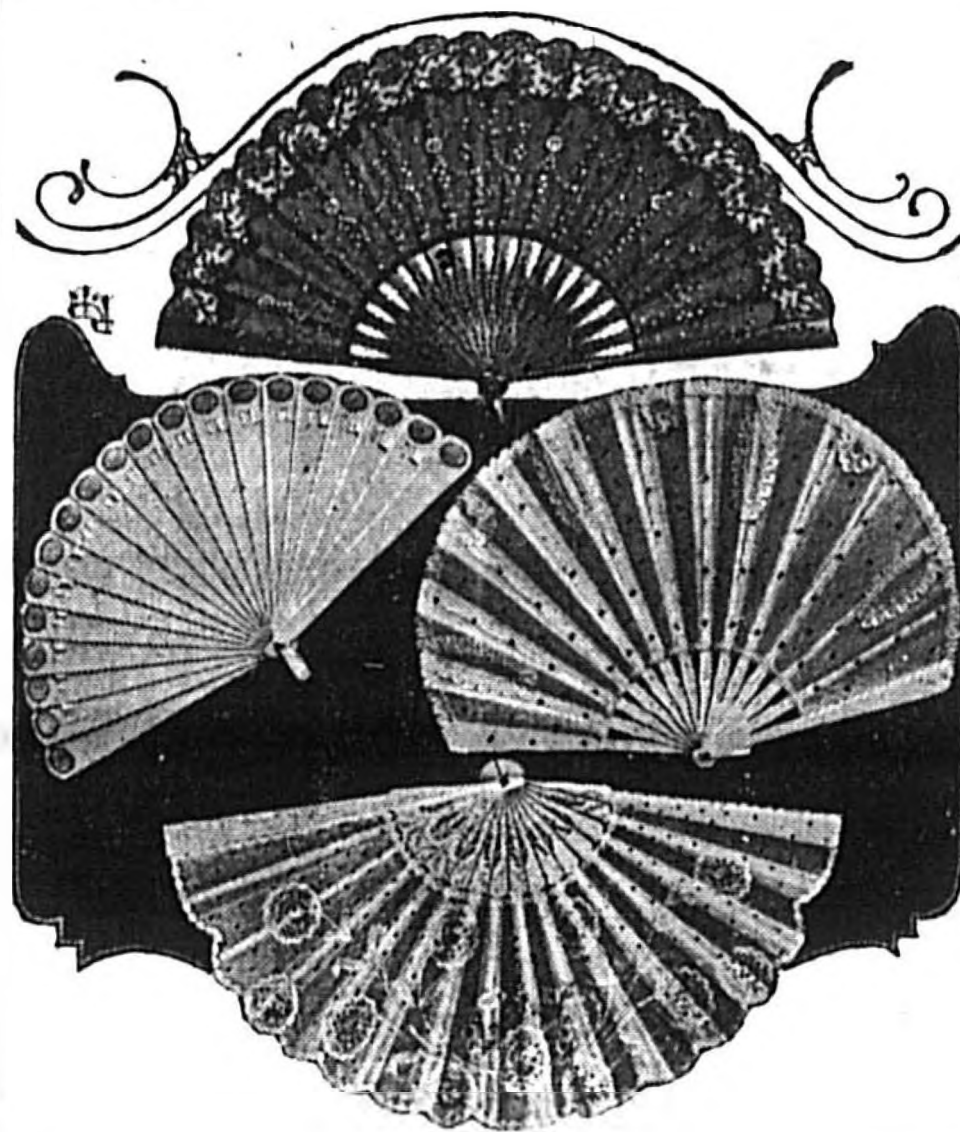

If the plaited skirt is used, cut off the left back end along double "O" perforations. If trimmed with smocking, use a pattern for the trimming and smock the space between double "TT" perforations, gather upper edge between double "TT" perforations. If desired shirred, gather between double "TT" perforations, and make 4 rows of gathers below upper edge, 1 1/2 inch apart. Form plait, creasing on line of slot perforations, bring the folded edges to corresponding small "O" perforations, stitch to position any depth desired leaving edges to left of center-front free above single "O" perforation for an opening close seam. Turn hem at lower edge of skirt on small "O" perforations.

Adjust skirt to position stitching upper edge over upper row of gathers in waist, center fronts and center-backs even.

Permanent Styles in Fans

There is nothing very new to report in fans, and there hardly need be, for, like flowers, they suit us as they are. They are medium or small in size and composed of the fragile and fair materials we are used to. Silk gauze or lace or both combined make airy backgrounds for flowers painted in festoons and wreaths in miniature, but perfect art. Spangles, thicker than stars in the sky, sparkle over all. They were never so liberally used. Ivory, mother of pearl, or wood with much carving and picking out in gold or silver paint, form the sticks. Even in the least expensive fans there is an unusual amount of beautiful decoration. The imitation ivory sticks are quite as beautifully handled as the genuine. It takes a good judge to tell the difference.

Fans of white gauze with medallions and borders of princess lace braid and thickly spangled with tiny silver sequins have proved their captivating qualities by heading the list of "best sellers." In the month of roses, when graduates and brides must be remembered to all the points of the compass. Fans of black gauze with many spangles put on in a set design and scattered over the surface besides, have proved as alluring as ever. Small celluloid fans that may be carried in the handbag are decorated with gold borders in set figures or are gay with painted flowers. One of these is a novelty having a small coin carrier at the base of the stick, just large enough to hold dimes. Pretty as they are, none of these fans are expensive unless one chooses those with pearl sticks or having much carving.

Among the very cheap fans, such as sell for twenty-five cents or not more than fifty the Japanese designs offer really good colorings and fascinating surfaces. They are well made and more than tasteful. They are often fine examples of Japanese art. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

Knitted Silk Sports Coats

Knitted silk sports coats are not sweaters. True, they can be used for many of the purposes for which a sweater is used, but there is quite a difference in the garments. Various kinds of knitted silk fabrics are used for the purpose, but unlike the sweater they are lined, and sometimes with a silk strongly contrasting with the outer material. Not infrequently this silk runs over into cuffs and collar. The coats are made along loose wrap lines, sometimes belted or cuffed. Semi Norfolk jackets of knitted silk are very fetching and among the most popular coats in the knitted silk fabrics.

Collar and Cuff Sets of Organdie

Just at the moment the Quaker collar and cuff sets of plain fine organdie are the most popular of all the designs at the neckwear counter. For decoration they confine themselves to fine sprays of embroidery in floral patterns or hemstitching, or edgings and ascotons of very narrow lingerie lace. But there are numbers of novelties, less plain, about to make their entry for the Christmas shopper's benefit. Among them is the pretty set of plaited and embroidered organdie shown in the picture above. This is designed to be worn with the simple one-piece afternoon frock of silk or the plain blouse of a dark color. The collar is made in three parts. A necklet at the back of the plaited organdie is finished with hemstitching and adorned with very small sprays of embroidery. The shaped rovers at the front are plain, finished about the edges with hemstitching and carry sprays of fine embroidery that almost cover them. The cuffs are plaited and the ends are rounded, showing the same pattern in embroidery that appears on the collar. At the center of each cuff is a narrow panel of embroidery. Nothing does the beholder or the wearer more good than these fresh and dainty sets. They are modest in price, even when bought ready-made and cost next to nothing when made by the capable needlewoman for herself. They wear well and launder perfectly. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

TICKS REDUCE VALUE OF CATTLE

A tick infested Florida steer which had survived the ravages of numerous ticks during his two years of life and had reached the weight of about 400 pounds soured on the futility of trying to become a real beef animal.
"Tick free cattle of my age are more than twice as large as I am, although I have labored faithfully gathering grass and converting it into blood to build up fat and fine tissue in the hope that some day I might be large and fat and my finish would be as choice steaks and roasts to tickle the appetites of particular people."
"The United States Bureau of Animal Industry officials state that a 1,000 pound animal loses 200 pounds of blood a year to the ticks, and I surely am being bled for my full proportion on the basis of my weight."
Handicapped By Ticks
"I have been greatly handicapped by the numerous cattle ticks which have lived on my blood and caused me to remain thin, even when the supply of pasture was plentiful. And when the pasture was dry and the forage was short for a few months, I could hardly gather enough energy to continue life."
"Why does my owner permit the ticks to take so much of my strength and ambition when the ticks can be eradicated so cheaply. I wish he would give me a chance to show what I can do in the way of growth when all of my food, which is converted into blood, goes to increase my flesh and bones."
"I feel like a piece of dried beef right now, as there is so little blood coursing through my veins. If I could talk to my owner so he would understand that the ticks are costing him a lot of money, I know he would eradicate the ticks."
"What a fine state this would then be for our ambitious cattle."
Grow Fast in Tick-Free States
"One of those Texas animals which was shipped in here this spring told me that some fine steers are raised in all of the tick free states. He had heard of 100 grade Hereford calves out in Texas county, Kansas, which sold for $35 each at weaning time, which was about seven months old. My 14 get get large enough to bring that much, I surely will have blue ribbons on my horns."
The new owner kept that bunch of lucky calves on Buffalo grass, what ever that is, for seven months and sold them for $35 a piece. I know those cattle men out in Kansas do not let any cattle ticks live on their stock.

NOT MUCH BEEF

A typical two-year-old ticky Florida steer weighing about 400 pounds. Eradicate the ticks so you can get more weight on your cattle and better prices per hundred pounds.

guess that there is not much of a future for me.
Low Price For Ticky Cattle
"If I live long enough I may weigh as much as 650 pounds, and then my owner will sell me to the packers for about three-fifths of what tick-free stock brings, and when I walk into the killing room the boss will say, 'Here comes another of those Florida ticks steers; don't waste much time getting the hide off of him as it is full of tick holes and not very valuable.' So I will die in disgrace and what little meat there is on my bones will be sold to a restaurant where hungry people want a lot of chewing for their thirty cents worth of dinner."
The steer had the right information about the low price obtained for ticky Florida cattle as its head of three-year-old steers averaged 95 pounds each on the East St. Louis market on July 17th of this year and brought $5.40 per hundred weight. The same price was paid for a lot of 18 head which averaged 670 pounds. But 21 head which averaged only 430 pounds each, brought only $6.10 per hundred weight, and a mixed lot of 100 head of all sizes brought only $4.70 per hundred weight.
At the same market last day 16 head of yearling steers, from the same stock, averaged 90 pounds each and brought $6.50 per hundred weight, which is a price that is not likely to be obtained for ticky Florida cattle.

Wide Brims the Midsummer Vogue

About the only debatable question in midsummer millinery lies in its width of brim, and there are three widths to choose from. They are wide, wider, widest. The hats shown in the illustration are far from extremes and they are very pleasing developments of three entirely different styles.
The pretty model at the center is a hemp shape with low crown and flat brim only moderately wide. It is covered with crepe georgette and trimmed with crepe roses all in pale tones of shell pink. The finest of black mesh veils is draped over it, and this with a narrow band of black velvet draped at the base of the crown gives an attractive depth of color. A wreath of roses rests on the hair in a prim row set close to the underbrim.
At the left an odd development of the "cane-seat" hat lends daintiness to the substantial but cool-looking shape. The brim is edged with lace hair braid and outlined on the under side with lines of French blue. Picot-edged ribbon in the same shade of blue is drawn about the crown, and tiny chiffon roses with long stems appear to clamber over the crown, the stems threaded through the open spaces in the straw shape.
A familiar and always pretty hat of leghorn appears at the right, of the sort that is never entirely out of style. It has a round crown, covered with crepe georgette, and a wide and floppy brim. Its designer has confined herself to proven methods in trimming it, with a big pink tulle and a wreath of forget-me-nots posed at the front. Black velvet ribbon is tied across and around the crown, ending in loops and ends at the right side near the back. The model is so convincingly pretty for young faces that the milliner need never worry to look for better means of decoration.

Julia Bottomley
A Bit of Spanish Influence.
Ball trimming of silk or woolen floss in brilliant colors is used to trim the brim and crown of a new sports hat which is very popular just now at the country meets. Leghorn or milan hemp is chosen for the hats, which have rather high crowns and flaring broad brims.
Lucile's Girdles.
In all her new dresses, especially those of filmy lace and net and chiffon Lucile has made girdles of silk, well boned and fitted to a nipped-in waist and pointed at the lower front. These are corded all around and are fastened invisibly at the underarm.
Shaded Ostrich Boas.
In order to stimulate the interest in feathery neck trimmings, the manufacturers are now putting out shaded ostrich boas, very long and fluffy. Beginning with a faint color at one end, it gradually deepens until at the other it is of deepest hue.

MARY PICKFORD SUPREME

Surpasses Herself in Famous Player Screen Version of Madame Butterfly

Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly" at the Star Saturday

It is rarely that motion picture spectators are privileged to witness so exquisitely artistic a performance as that of Mary Pickford in "Madame Butterfly," the Famous Players Film Company's magnificent adaptation of John Luther Long's classic, which has already become familiar through the medium of opera, novel and play. All the poetic beauty of this sad tale has been preserved and enhanced in the film production which is the Paramount Picture at the Star Saturday.

The pathetic story of Cho Cho San, "Madame Butterfly," as translated into American English by Long, is told with intricate artistry and skill. There is no pretense of show, the production is the starting of the story, and the assistance of as possible, except in the case of the scenes of the Japanese garden, which are the only scenes of the Japanese garden.

lightful little episodes in which three adorable children are seen with the star "Hulda From Holland" that she will undoubtedly rank as one of Mary Pickford's greatest contributions to motion picture humor.

Opening in picturesque Holland, the action shifts to New York when, on the invitation of her uncle—a typical Pennsylvania Dutchman—Hulda brings her three little brothers to the land of opportunity. But a of Hulda's opportunities are not showered upon her at once. In fact her uncle has barely met her when he is injured and taken to the hospital, where he lies without any means of identification. Hulda alone in New York with three little children and not a soul that she knows.

But the brave little girl finds a counselor and friend in the keeper of a boarding house with whom she finds temporary employment. The injury to Uncle Peter is almost as serious a blow to President Walton of the New Central Railway for he has been trying to force a right of way through the obstinate old man's farm, and now when he has only three more days in which to bring matters to a head, Uncle Peter has suddenly disappeared.

Hulda meanwhile has interested an Italian organ grinder by her eccentric dances and while rehearsing, she falls through a skylight, arriving very unceremoniously in the studio of young Walton, the son of the railway man. The unconventional meeting results in a deep friendship between the pair and when the elder Walton hits upon the scheme of using his son as a means of reaching the old man through his beloved niece, the plan gains momentum further than his parent had out-

In the new Triangle-Ince feature play, "Civilization's Child," which will be shown at the Lyric Theatre Friday, old Peter Saramoff, in the city of Kiev, Russia, decides that his little grand niece, Berna, who has been left an orphan up in the mountains should be brought to civilization; but barely has his little bird arrived in Kiev when a massacre of Jews takes place and Berna is left alone again.

Old Peter had planned to send her to America to an uncle, and Berna goes to New York to the home of Jacob Weil, a sweatshop worker. Weil has risen to affluence through the favor of McManus, a political boss; and when McManus casts his evil eye upon pretty Berna, Weil has naught to do but give her up.

As McManus has done to many another maid, he ruins Berna and throws her to the street to live a life of shame. But as time goes on Berna meets Turgenev, a young Russian musician who is struggling to get along, and they fall in love. They go to live together. And when the baby comes she persuades him to marry her.

In due course and with Berna's unswerving aid, Turgenev rises to fame and position. There he meets the beloved daughter of McManus. Learning that divorce for Turgenev is all his daughter wants to complete her happiness, McManus, now an honored jurist, undertakes to secure it. With a man "planted" in her rooms, he secures the necessary evidence and Turgenev is freed.

When Berna tries to fight the case in court she finds the presiding judge is McManus; and for her effort she is sent to the "island," while her baby is placed in a home with persons alleged to be better fitted to bring it up.

What is there left for Berna? Just a revenge—which brings one of the most thrilling moments in an intensely interesting film.

"Still Waters" Famous Players' Feature tells dramatic tales of circus and canal-boat life.

Marguerite Clark in "Still Waters" at the Star Thursday

Though there have been many songs extolling life on the ocean wave and innumerable plays that picture the deeds and misdeeds of the socially elect, life on our inland waterways has seldom aroused the interest of the playwright. Hence, "Still Waters," the story of canal-boat life and of the circus, in which Marguerite Clark is featured by the Famous Players Film Company on the Paramount Program at the Star

Thursday will prove of special interest.

A company of players spent three weeks on the banks of one of our great canals in order to get the scenes which show little Neta (Marguerite Clark) and her old grandfather on the canal boat, which is their home. An entire circus was leased for the purpose of getting the action which transpires in and around the tent, when the ring master, having marked Neta for his prey attempts to force his attentions upon her.

In this remarkable combination of pastoral romance and gripping drama, Marguerite has the best opportunity yet afforded her of displaying her wonderful versatility. Already acknowledges as superb in the art of screen coquetry and generally recognized as one of the most winsome little misses in motion pictures, Miss Clark, by her tremendous powers as a dramatic actress will add to her laurels as a photoplayer. It is seldom that a young actress who gains popularity as an ingenue rises to any considerable heights in emotional expression. Therefore the performance of Miss Clark in "Still Waters" is one of the most notable of recent screen achievements.

For the scenes which transpire in and about the circus, an entire traveling show was leased by the Famous Players and Harry La Pearl, one of the most celebrated clowns that ever appeared at the New York Hippodrome was especially engaged to play opposite Miss Clark. These circus scenes, many of which combine daring performances with thrilling dramatic action, are the best that have ever been obtained in any tent show.

Wm. H. Thompson as a Ward Boss Triangle Star has forceful part in New Drama, "Civilization's Child"

For the first time he scored such a marked success in support of Billie Burke in "Peggy" William H. Thompson, the dean of the American stage will be seen in a Triangle feature play which he is presented by Thomas H. Ince as to star with Anna Lehr in "Civilization's Child." The story is a gripping tale of a ward boss who is responsible for the striking of a young Russian girl.

In the character of Boss McManus of the underworld power, Thompson has a part totally different from that of Andrew Cameron in "Peggy," but which is equally as gripping. The story is a gripping tale of a ward boss who is responsible for the striking of a young Russian girl.

Others in the cast are Jack Standing as Nicola Turgenev, Dorothy Dalton as Ellen McManus, Gladys Benson as Jacob Weil, J. P. Long as Peter Saramoff and J. B. Perry as Berna's baby. The production was directed by J. S. Blackton.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison Tonight

Harold Lockwood and May Allison have after considerable persuasion and large offers signed long time contracts with the Metro Pictures Corporation and will appear exclusively in their productions. Manager Herndon of the Star holds the contract for the use of Metro Pictures in Sanford will grace his program with these noted characters as they appear and their first picture will be the "Masked Rider" which will be exhibited at the Star tonight. This feature which is in five interesting acts differs from most of the pictures by having some unusual incidents and some very exciting situations.

MISS FLORENCE ROSE

In Fashion Film Showing All the Latest Styles that Will be Worn This Season Lyric Thursday

As fashion films these are good. They show everything from silk nightgowns and satin negligees to street and evening wear. Head gear is exhibited too, sometimes on very pretty heads, and for that matter the wearers of the clothing are attractive, so the pictures may be of slight interest to men if they are not married. The married fellows will instinctively start to count their spare bills.

The poses were done under the supervision of Miss Rose, who evidently knows her business. A personal touch is put in here and there for slight relief, and these are almost always good for a laugh, even though not intended for such. The photography is not specially distinct but good enough to answer the purpose.

In concluding; women like to look at clothes and as the picture theatre relies heavily on women for existence, these films should easily get over and add to the popularity of the theatre showing them.

PARALYSIS TAKING TOLL IN NORTH

HOT WEATHER MAKES INCREASE IN INFANT MORTALITY

New York, Aug. 9.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis broke all previous death records here today. The plague killed 57 children during the 24 hours' period ending at 10 a. m. One hundred and eighty-three new cases were reported.

Philadelphia, Aug. 9.—Efforts of the Pennsylvania health authorities to enforce a rigid interstate quarantine against possible cases of infantile paralysis are being nullified by the lax methods of officials in adjoining states, some of whom, it is said are, issuing health certificates to all who apply, without making an investigation.

All that is required to get a certificate in Camden, N. J., according to statements made here today, is the furnishing of the name, residence and point of destination to the health authorities.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state health commissioner, declared that if the Camden authorities continue the promiscuous issuance of the certificates he probably would be forced to order the Pennsylvania inspectors not to issue any certificates issued by the Camden department of health.

Three deaths from the disease and 15 new cases were reported today during the last 24 hour period, making a total of 26 deaths since the epidemic broke out here. Eight new cases were reported in the state capital of Philadelphia, increasing the total to 94.

Funeral of Mrs. Rand The funeral of Mrs. Frederick H. Rand was held yesterday at 4 p. m. from St. Luke's cathedral, Dean Remson conducting the service.

The impressive and beautiful service was attended by a large number of friends, those of Sanford and Longwood uniting with others in this last tribute of esteem and affection. Two favorite hymns were used, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me."

Quantities of exquisite flowers bore their message of love for her, of deepest sympathy for her family with also their note of the resurrection, light and peace and triumph. That "Death is swallowed up in victory."

The pallbearers were Messrs. R. J. Whitner, F. P. Forster and Randall Chase of Sanford, and John C. Jones, C. B. Robinson, Dr. A. B. Whitman, Dr. Hal Beardall and Dr. J. W. Estes of Orlando. The interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Rev. I. A. Spencer spent yesterday here, having obtained a brief leave of absence from his duties as chaplain of the Second regiment to attend the funeral of Mrs. Rand. Reporter-Star.

Print Paper Famine

Newspaper publishers of this country are faced with a crisis that is imperiling the very existence of hundreds, if not thousands, of the smaller publications of the country, and there is no indication as to when, if ever, there will be any relief.

Within the past few months there has been an increase in the price of print paper from thirty to fifty per cent, and the country is actually threatened with a famine of paper.

Conflicting opinions were given this week before the federal trade commission as to the cause of the rapid and disastrous increase in the price. Publishers charged, before that commission, that manufacturers had entered into a combination to control prices. These charges were, of course, denied by the manufacturers, who were virtually defendants before the commission.

Manufacturers claimed that they are making paper practically at a loss, and that no new mills have been constructed in this country since a Republican congress placed print paper on the free list. They declare that as the Dominion of Canada has prohibited the exportation of the wood used in the manufacture of paper they have not been able to obtain an adequate supply of this raw material. They insist, too, that an increase of 25 per cent in the demand has contributed to the shortage.

Publishers showed that while the cost of manufacture had really decreased 5 per cent, yet the manufacturers had consistently and persistently boosted the price.

Whether the federal commission will be able to obtain relief for the harassed publishers is not known, but it is certain that many of the smaller publications are going out of business because they cannot afford to pay the prices now demanded for print paper.

One effect is already felt in New York City and even among the greatest of dailies, who have had the advantage of the lowest prices obtainable. They have taken action looking toward the decreasing of the number of pages they will issue, hereafter. They will decrease their weekly output an average of one hundred and twenty-one pages in an attempt to relieve the situation.

Smaller dailies over the country will be compelled to follow their example, besides being obliged to cut every possible extra copy, complimentary, exchanges and the like.

Many an anxious publisher is wondering what the future will bring forth. Miami Herald.

Biennial School Election Thursday

A biennial school election was held Thursday for the purpose of determining who should serve as trustees for the next two years, and the number of pupils to be admitted to the school for the next year.

The election was held at the school building, and was attended by a large number of voters. The results of the election were as follows:

Trustees: R. J. Whitner, F. P. Forster, Randall Chase, John C. Jones, C. B. Robinson, Dr. A. B. Whitman, Dr. Hal Beardall, Dr. J. W. Estes.

The number of pupils to be admitted to the school for the next year was determined to be 100.

The election was held in a spirit of harmony and good will, and the results were accepted by all parties.

The school trustees will meet next week to discuss the results of the election and to make arrangements for the next school year.

The school trustees will also discuss the question of the school building, and will make recommendations to the board of trustees.

To Cut Price of Gas

Washington, Aug. 11.—The Federal Trade Commission has completed its final report on the causes for the rise in gasoline prices, and probably will send it to congress next week. It is understood it will be more specific than the preliminary report sent to congress several months ago, in which the commission sent forth facts discovered but made no deductions or recommendations for legislation.

The final report, it was said, will go into detail as to an apparent lack of sufficient competition between companies producing gasoline.

No recommendations for prosecution of any concerns are expected and some have been made to the Department of Justice.

It is understood, however, that congress will be told that the remedy for the present conditions lie in some sort of regulation of gasoline manufacture to insure real competition or as a last resort in creation of government machinery authorized to fix prices.

Legislation by congress would be necessary, to effect either proposal.

THE RAILROAD PRISONERS CONTROVERSY IN EUROPE TAKING PLACE DOUBLE ARMY

LIKELY TO BE SETTLED IN FEW DAYS IS THE HOPE

New York, N. Y., Aug. 10.—A crisis in the strike situation involving virtually all the railroads of the country and about 400,000 employes thereof, is forecasted today. The outcome hinges on the question whether the national conference committee of the railroad managers make a proposal to the representatives of the four brotherhoods at the joint conference which meets here today that will be satisfactory.

The managers met yesterday, but refused to say at the conclusion, whether they had any counter proposal to submit to the men. The joint conference today will be preceded by another meeting of the employers to consider what reply to make to the warning of the men that they would strike if necessary to enforce their demands for an eight hour day and pay at the rate of time and a half for over time.

The substance of the situation was contained in the notification to the managers by A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who said at that time:

All the members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Truck Drivers, the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Engine Drivers, the International Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and the International Brotherhood of Steam Engine and Firemen, are united in their protest against the proposed eight hour day and pay at the rate of time and a half for over time.

Birthday Party

A birthday party was given for the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hayes on Myrtle avenue.

The occasion was the celebration of her sixth birthday. The children were entertained on the lawn by Mrs. Hayes, assisted by Miss Allie Anderson, where games and other things were indulged in. At 5:30 o'clock they were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served.

The color scheme which was carried out in the flowers and the decoration of the attractive table was pink and white. The table was laid with a handsome, embroidered cloth, centered with a frosted birthday cake which was adorned with six lighted pink tapers. The refreshments consisted of ice cream, cake and fruits.

Many pretty gifts were received by the little honoree. The invited guests were Misses Olive Newman, Sara Elizabeth Williams, Emily Griffin, R. E. Griffin, Beatrice O'Connor, Marion Francis Hoolehan, Marjorie Hoskins, Nell Messenger, Mary Elizabeth Moye, Maria Moye, Velma Shipp, Mary Fields-Louise Fields, Genevieve and Lois Edwards of Chattahoochee, Fla., Masters Joseph O'Connor and Frederick Williams.

Regular services will be held next Sunday at 11 o'clock at the Woman's Club on Oak avenue, between Third and Fourth streets. Subject, Soul. You are cordially invited to attend these services. Welcome.

OVER FIVE MILLION MEN ARE HELD CAPTIVE

THE RAILROAD PRISONERS CONTROVERSY IN EUROPE TAKING PLACE DOUBLE ARMY

New York, Aug. 10.—More than 5,000,000 prisoners, double the number of men engaged in any previous war that the world has known, now are confined in prison camps of the belligerent nations, according to Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, who arrived here today on the Danish steamship Oscar II from Copenhagen. Dr. Mott has visited the prison camps of nearly all the countries at war since May.

Dr. Mott said that of the prisoners, Germany has the greatest number, approximately 1,750,000. Russia, with about 1,500,000 comes next, then Austria with one million, followed in order by France, Italy, Great Britain and Turkey. Russia's prisoners, he added, are rapidly increasing, more than 100,000 have been added to the camps since the beginning of the last Russian drive in the Caucasus. Dr. Mott added 200,000 passed through Kiev.

"I found," Dr. Mott said, "that reports of the treatment of prisoners of war received here have been greatly exaggerated. In all of the countries visited, the prisoners are treated with the utmost consideration and respect. Every thing possible is done for their comfort and health."

Dr. Mott said that the prisoners are held in camps all over the world, and that the number of prisoners is increasing rapidly. He said that the prisoners are held in camps all over the world, and that the number of prisoners is increasing rapidly.

Rube Has Jim Jams

Oh, ho! And so Sir Sidney Curtis is going to run for governor in November whether a perfectly proper recount gives him enough votes or not, and the mugwump editors applaud and attack the courts and laid out, "Fraud! Fraud!" We voted for Wood, the only candidate with a sane platform, so-and-so-for-Knott, and now we see it was not a democratic primary at all, as the anarchists claim the victory. Clear a space and give us air. If this continues we'll choke or smother or suffocate or smother or smother or smother. Is it the hot weather of the United States or not? All night the lapping surf said:

"Catt-Kott, Knott-Knott; Catt-Kott, Knott-Knott. And the clock echoed: "Knott-Caught; Kitt-Knott; Knott-Catt's Fat-Ratt."

Daylight found us sitting on the stool, an exchange in hand; the lantern still burned dimly through smoky begrimed glass; exchanges piled high on the desk, each bearing its editorial mush of the Catt-Knott tangle—all save a few rare ones who patiently await the verdict after the evidence is in. These alone helped restore a glimmering of sanity. Sarasota Sun

Quiet Home Wedding

Much cordial interest surrounds the wedding of Miss Allie Anderson and Mr. Andrew L. Myers which took place Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Anderson. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Steinhilber of the Methodist church.

Owing to a recent death in the family the wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate family and a few intimate friends witnessing the ceremony.

The rooms of the lower floor were prettily and appropriately decorated with garden flowers and ferns. In the living room where the ceremony took place an arch of roses and asparagus ferns was erected, beneath this the young couple were married.

The bride was very sweet and attractive in her traveling suit of blue silk taffeta. It was made coat effect and worn with a white crepe de chine blouse. A modish hat in blue completed the pretty costume. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Misses Lucille and Agnes Anderson. They wore dainty white lingerie frocks.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers left immediately after the ceremony for South Carolina where the honeymoon will be spent.

Mrs. Myers is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Anderson, her sweet and winsome disposition making her a popular favorite among a large circle of friends. The groom is a valuable employee of the Atlantic Coast Line.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Myers will reside with the family of the bride.

ITALIANS VICTORIOUS

Capture Gorizia and Many Austrian Prisoners

Rome, Italy, Aug. 10.—Notwithstanding the desperate fighting around Gorizia, the city was not burned by the Austrians or destroyed by the Italian artillery fire, nor were the inhabitants injured. Due to the number of 20,000 having previously left the city, a general capture of the town from the Austrians was accomplished. After taking the mountain tops of San Michele and San Vito, the Italian army entered Gorizia and captured the city.

When the Italian army entered Gorizia, the Austrians were in a state of confusion. The Italian army captured many Austrian prisoners and a large amount of military supplies.

General Bay Advances

John H. Huddleston, assistant postmaster in the United States navy has been assigned to duty on the station ship Scorpion at Constantinople.

This is the choicest station possible at this time and the young officers all coveted it. He will sail from New York for Rotterdam August 10, then go by rail to Vienna thence to Constantinople, and will have the opportunity of observing what is going on in the biggest war in the world's history.

Assistant Postmaster Huddleston is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Huddleston of Geneva, and a brother of Mrs. F. G. Yerkes of Jacksonville and of Mrs. E. G. Baxter of Gainesville. He is a young man of sterling character, wide acquaintance and is popular and will represent Florida and the navy with great credit.

Humidity High in New York

New York, N. Y.—With two persons dead and many prostrations during the last twelve hours, indications were that today would break all previous records for humidity. Although the temperature at 10 a. m. was only seventy-eight, three degrees lower than at the same hour yesterday, the humidity registered 99 per cent.

Social at Moore's Station

There will be an ice cream and cake social at Moore's Station church Thursday evening, Aug. 17, given by the Epworth League. Every one invited.

Mrs. Ruth Vaughn who has just returned from Tampa will leave again shortly for that city.

CHILD LABOR LAW PASSED BY SENATE

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION ALL CAME FROM THE SOUTH

Washington, Aug. 11.—The senate late on Tuesday passed the bill to prevent interstate commerce in products of child labor, by a vote of 52 to 12. The measure, which already had passed the house, was brought to a vote in the senate upon the insistence of President Wilson after the Democratic senate caucus once had decided to defer its consideration until next December.

Senators who voted against the bill were: Bankhead, Alabama; Bryan and Fletcher, Florida; Overman and Simmons, North Carolina; Smith and Tillman, South Carolina; Smith and Hardwick, Georgia; Williams, Mississippi (Democrat), and Oliver and Penrose, Pennsylvania (Republicans).

Opposition to the measure had come chiefly from southern cotton mill owners, and the group of southern Democrats who voted against it had fought it in caucuses and maintained their opposition during the senate debate on the ground that the regulation proposed is unconstitutional and would interfere with the rights of the states. Eleven Democrats from the south, Senators Swann, McPherson, Alexander, Tyler, Wood, A. S. Stephens, Vestalman, Mississippi, Jones and Benjamin, Kentucky, Callahan and Sheppard, Texas, Russell, Louisiana, Robinson, Arkansas, and Shields, Tennessee, voted against the bill.

Senators from the north, including Charles McNary, Ohio and Owen, Oklahoma and Tom Fenwick, were absent and did not vote.

In order to expedite consideration of the measure in conference senate conferees were appointed immediately after the final vote. The only amendment adopted would extend the bill's provisions to bar all products of establishments employing children from interstate commerce.

Senator Hiram Bland, Texas, introduced an amendment to prohibit interstate commerce in the product of any mine in which children under sixteen years old have been employed or in the product of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment in which children under fourteen have been employed or in which children between fourteen and sixteen have been employed more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week, before 6 o'clock in the morning or later than seven o'clock in the evening. It would take effect one year after enactment.

Congress Will Adjourn

Washington, Aug. 10.—September 1 is the latest date now suggested by Senate leaders for adjournment of Congress.

The plan, as formulated in conference yesterday provides that no important legislation be considered at the present session, except the shipping, revenue, employers' liability and supply bills and conference reports, with a view to adjournment by the end of this month. It would eliminate the corrupt practices bill and the bill to enlarge the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Senate Republicans, in conference today, were to act on the proposal which had been submitted in writing by the Democratic steering committee. It already has been favorably received by the Republican steering committee and prospects were that it would be agreed to by the party conferees.
