Oviedo Stands Alone In Supporting Tax To Meet County's 'Desperate Needs'

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer
(Last of a three-part series)

Mayor Bob Whittier says Oviedo city commissioners are "just trying to do the right thing" in supporting a Seminole County Commission proposal for distribution of a proposed 4-cent gasoline tax.

"The county has desperate needs just like the cities do," Whittier said.

Oviedo is the only city that has voted in support of a county commission plan to split gas tax revenues, which can be used only for transportation needs, on a 3-1 basis between the county and the cities.

According to that plan, proposed by Commissioner Sandra Glenn, the county would get 3 cents and the cities would get 1 cent. But the plan has run into a brick wall from the county's other six cities who have rejected the distribution plan.

Their reluctance has led commissioners to consider following a state format for distribution of the funds. That format would total the dollars spent by each governing body in the county on roads during the past five years and then award funds to them on a percentage basis.

Unofficial estimates by county officials put the county's share at 85 percent, with the remainder divided between the seven cities.

But Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff has proposed rewarding Oviedo City Commissioners for supporting the county plan and offering an incentive to other cities to reconsider their position.

Kirchhoff has suggested that the county give Oviedo what it would have received from the 3-to-1 distribution plan rather than the state formula. The county would make up the difference from its own gas tax receipts.

County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said he believes the Kirchhoff proposal will make city officials reflect further on the gas tax.

And Whittier believes a deal will be worked out between the county and cities.

He said a tax rollback referendum on the ballot in November 1984 will probably affect the cities drastically. That rollback will push some cities to the limit, he said.

"The cities, when they stop to look at it, I think they'll realize that the county has recognized its needs and the cities' needs and has made a responsible offer," Whittier said.

The mayor said Oviedo is in the midst of cataloging its road needs. But the city like many other cities and the county and state has never spent enough on its road needs.

"There are always too many other needs, trying to operate a fire department and a police department," Whittier said. "The priority for roads is just never high enough."

Whittier said the gas tax should not be used to cope with the needs of new developments. Those should pay their own way. "But all of us who are already here have an obligation to improve the roads we have now."

New Trash Ordinance Proposed

Seminole County's Osceola landfill near Oviedo is receiving 80 to 90 tons per week more refuse since the closing of an Orange City landfill last month, which is partly responsible for a proposed refuse ordinance being drafted.

About 50 tons per week is coming from Sanford, which is using the Upsala transfer station west of Sanford. Another 30 to 40 tons of refuse is being dumped at the landfill by private refuse companies.

Seminole County officials have stepped up hauling from the transfer station to accommodate the extra trash. Two new drivers have been hired and two more are likely to be hired, Environmental Services Director Ken Hooper said. County commissioners have given Hooper authority to hire up to six drivers for six months while a continuous shuttle system is being developed between the county's transfer stations and the landfill.

The landfill's hours have also been extended to accommodate the increased use at the landfill.

The refuse division normally employs 10 drivers and receives about 500 tons of trash a week.

Seminole's increase is the result of the closing of the Lake Marie landfill in Orange City on May 24. The owners of that landfill quit the business rather than try to meet stiff state and federal guidelines.

Hooper told commissioners he will present a new refuse ordinance in July to clear up problems in three existing ordinances.

Under the new resolution, Hooper said, refuse companies will be given 25 days to pay their bills. After the 25 days a 5 percent late charge will be added. Additionally, the new ordinance will increase the hours the landfill can be open, will require haulers to pay a $400 deposit until they have one year of good service with no late charges, charge haulers $100 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity application and allow the department to correct billing errors.

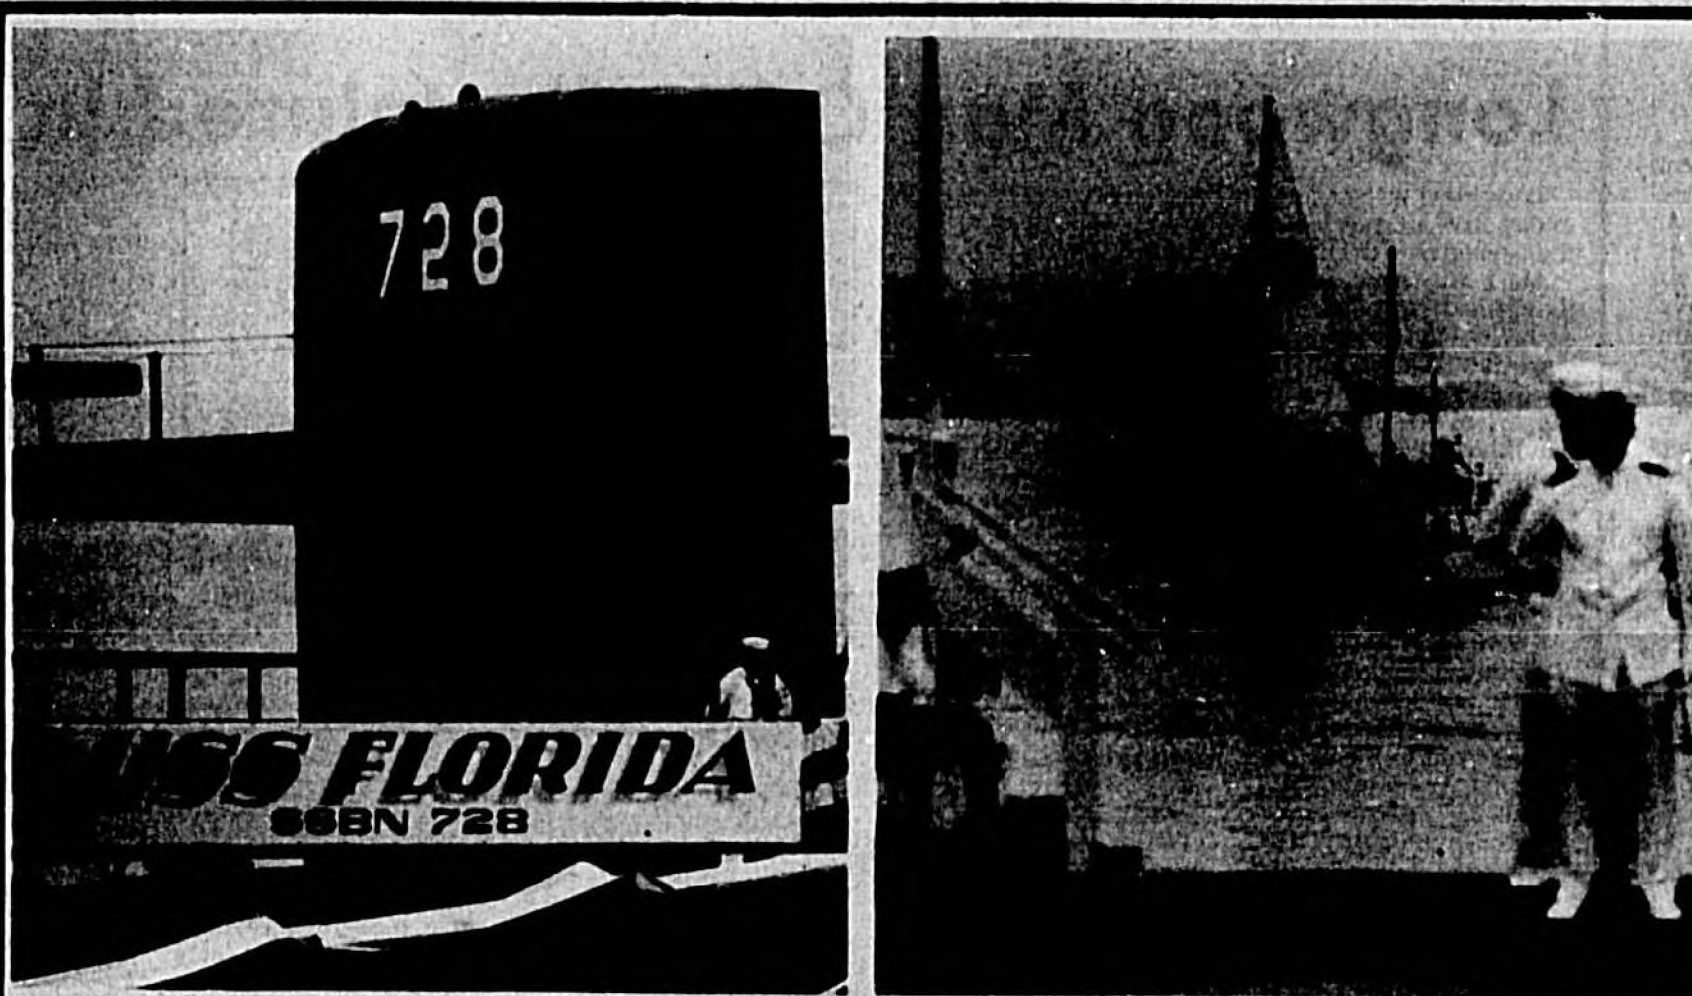

He said the existing ordinance only gives haulers 10 days to make payments. That has led to complaints from firms with out-of-state ownership who say they don't have time to process the bills.

The existing late charge is 1.5 percent after 10 days and 3 percent after 20 days, Hooper said. That system is unwieldy and has not been uniformly applied.

Hooper said by making new haulers pay deposits and a $100 application fee for the certificate of convenience, the division will be able to compel to deliver good service and to follow existing ordinances.

The current ordinance also does not give anyone the power to make adjustments to bills. Hooper said the change would allow him to correct billing in cases of incorrect data, errors of computation or corrections.

The USS Florida, the newest Trident missile submarine to join the fleet, was being commissioned in ceremonies, protesters demonstrated outside the immediate area and sailed in a ship just beyond the program.

USS Florida Sub Commissioned Amid Nuclear Arms Protests

By Tom Giordano
Herald Managing Editor

GROTON, Conn.— The commissioning ceremonies for the USS Florida, the nation's third Trident submarine, were disrupted Saturday by protesters from a coalition of peace groups.

The three-day weapons protest against nuclear arms by a dozen groups known collectively as the June 18-20 Coalition at the Electric Boat shipyard was expected to conclude today.

Among the dignitaries for Florida on the speakers platform at the time were U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins, U.S. Rep. Bill Young, Gov. Bob Graham and Secretary of State George Firestone.

Sen. Lawton Chiles was unable to attend because of illness in his family.

No one was more proud than Ted and Marie Lewis of 613 Camellia Court, Sanford, parents of Master Chief Petty Officer Bob Lewis, 38, of Sanford who attended the ceremonies. Lewis, one of 30 Floridians assigned to the sub, is the chief of the boat, the highest ranking non-commissioned officer aboard.

Lewis delayed his retirement in order to serve on the Florida, the first sub and the sixth Navy vessel to bear the name.

Hawkins, principal speaker at the Florida commissioning, said many people misunderstood the reason behind building the submarine.

"Many people mistake the purpose for weapons such as that we are commissioning here today. We call them warships and yet their very purpose is to preserve the peace," she said.

Rep. C.W. "Bill" Young, R-Fla., was the only speaker to mention the protest. He said the Florida and its crew would be protecting the freedoms "that allow our friends put on the water trying to interrupt this ceremony."

Majority Of Cities Oppose Gas Tax

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

To Altamonte Springs Mayor Ray Ambrose's way of thinking, the City Commission in that city refused support of a county gas tax of up to 4 cents per gallon because the proposed split of the revenues wasn't equitable.

The proposed split of revenues from the tax was 75 percent for the county and 25 percent for the cities.

Under that formula, Altamonte Springs would receive $214,000 annually for the next five years.

The county would receive $2.55 million annually for five years.

Ambrose said it doesn't take a great mathematician to figure out the inequity.

If only half, about 13,500, of Altamonte's population has a car and if (County Commission Chairman) Sandra Glenn's estimate is correct that each car owner would pay an average of $52 per year more in gas taxes, Altamonte residents would be paying $702,000 more into the system each year," Ambrose said.

"Altamonte Springs would be getting back about 1 cent for every 3 cents it pays in and that's not a fair proportion," the mayor said.

"The Altamonte Springs City Commission might have supported the tax if the distribution of revenues had been fair," he said.

If Ambrose didn't like the original idea for the distribution of revenues from the tax, he isn't any fonder of the latest proposal.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff with support from County Commissioner Barbara Christensen is suggesting the proceeds be split with the cities based on the amount of money each spent on transportation in the past five years compared with the amount of money the county has spent. In addition, he has suggested that Oviedo, the only city to support the tax, be rewarded with extra funds for that support.

"It would seem that county officials would be more respectful of the opinions of the cities than to attempt to apply pressure because of their own interests," Ambrose said.

Kirchhoff estimates the new method of distribution, if the tax is imposed, would give the county 85 percent of the resulting revenues. The remaining 15 percent would be split among the cities.

In supporting Kirchhoff's idea, Mrs. Christensen said it "would be an incentive for the cities to stand up and say we want those funds."

Sanford City Commissioner Milton Smith was puzzled about the newest attitude.

"I don't know why the county is taking that attitude. We were supportive the first time a 3-cent tax was talked about and then the county commissioners wouldn't go along with it. They have delayed and don't seem to be able to make up their minds of what is equitable and fair to the taxpayers. It seems they should want to treat each city as fair as possible whether they got support or not."

"We in Sanford want to support the County Commission if they will just let us know what they are going to do. One reason they haven't got solid support from the cities is because they haven't made up their minds," Smith said.

But he added, "I would just as soon have no taxes at all if a way can be found of meeting the needs of the people without them."

Sanford early supported a distribution of revenues from a 3-cent tax urged by Mrs. Glenn. She said early that she preferred a 3-cent tax with the revenues split three ways with one-third to the cities, one-third to the unincorporated area and one-third to the county. But she couldn't get support for her position from her fellow commissioners.

Summer School Program Begins

School may be out for the students but there are still lots of people working in the Seminole County schools.

"We're very close to year-round schools," said Karen Coleman, administrative trainee for the district. Many schools will have summer school and other summer recreation programs.

Summer school began today and will end on July 27. The district will use a four-day week for all summer activities.

Elementary school classes will meet from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Secondary classes will meet from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. School district personnel will work four 10-hour days. Schools and district offices will be closed on Friday through the summer.

About 5,000 students are participating in summer school classes at the county's six high schools and at Forest City, Lake Orienta, Sterling Park, Winter Springs, Goldsboro and Pine Crest elementary schools.

Self-contained special education students will be bused to the schools. Transportation for other students will be provided by parents.

A computer program is offered at nine county schools.

The program, sponsored by Rollins College and CACI Inc. of Altamonte Springs, will be offered at Seminole, Lake Mary, Lake Howell, Lake Brantley, Lyman and Oviedo high schools and at Lake Orienta, Forest City and Sterling Park elementary schools.

Summer is also a time for refurbishing the schools. Maintenance workers are shampooing carpets, polishing floors and making other repairs that couldn't be done during the school year.

Buses are having year-end inspections and already are being prepared for the 1983-84 school year.

Many school administrators are working on year-end reports. "They couldn't be completed until the children had actually left the schools," Ms. Coleman said.

And many teachers are taking refresher courses or working in master's or doctorate degree programs.

Construction work on new trails at the district's environmental center near Winter Springs is also taking place.

And the district is preparing for school next year in a different way. Ms. Coleman said she has already gotten a request for opening remarks at a welcome back to teachers.

IN BRIEF

Former Tylenol Suspect Charged With Murder

CHICAGO (UPI) — A man questioned in the seven Tylenol-cyanide deaths last fall was held without bond today in the slaying of a man he mistakenly believed implicated him in the poisonings.

Cook County Circuit Judge Carl McCormick Sunday ordered Roger Arnold, 49, held in the Cook County Jail pending a preliminary hearing today.

John Stanisha, 48, was fatally shot in the stomach early Saturday after leaving a North Side tavern with three other people.

Arnold surrendered to police and reportedly told them he mistook Stanisha for another man who informed authorities that Arnold may have been involved in the Tylenol deaths last fall, Sgt. Edward W. Adorjan said.

Arnold was questioned by police in the Tylenol deaths from Sept. 29 and Oct. 1 and released. Seven Chicago-area residents died after swallowing the Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules laced with cyanide. The case, which prompted a rash of copycat poisonings, has remained unsolved.

Eavesdropping On Shuttle

BEDMINSTER, N.J. (UPI) — About a quarter-million people phoned in this weekend to hear conversations between Mission Control and the space shuttle Challenger, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. says.

The service went into operation about an hour before the Challenger's spectacular launch at 7:33 a.m. Saturday and will continue until several hours after the Challenger ends its six-day mission.

The phone number from the United States and Bermuda is 900-410-8272. Overseas callers must dial their country's international access code plus 307-410-8272.

Domestic calls cost 50 cents for the first minute and 35 cents for every minute thereafter. Overseas callers are billed at the normal overseas rates in effect in their country.

Budget: One More Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate-House negotiators, their efforts to reach agreement on a 1984 federal budget last week having failed, were ready to make one more last-ditch effort today.

Technically, time ran out on the conferees last Friday. But Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said the negotiators had until the end of today to try to agree. They did not meet during the weekend.

Domenici was forced to cancel a meeting of the negotiators Friday in which an announcement of agreement was expected, because the potential deal did not fall into place.

Senate and House budget leaders refused to disclose the points in dispute but aides said one major problem involves the amount of spending cuts to be made in the Medicare-Medicaid programs.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Another day of soaring temperatures — due to top 100 degrees in the desert Southwest — speeded the melting of mountain snow from Idaho to California today, threatening floods that could keep people from their homes along the lower Colorado River for a month. Thunderstorms rumbled from Colorado across Nebraska into South Dakota in a repeat of drenching storms Sunday that spun off tornadoes from the Plains to Pennsylvania and Florida. Flood warnings covered the Colorado River between California, Nevada and Arizona, the Arkansas and Cache La Poudre rivers in Colorado, the Snake and Boise rivers in Idaho, the Carson River in Nevada, and Turkey Creek in Nebraska. The mighty Colorado below Hoover Dam southeast of Las Vegas, Nev., rushed toward a 4-foot rise as far south as Yuma, Ariz. It threatened to rise 5 to 8 feet south of Yuma as it pushed into northwestern Mexico before spilling into the Gulf of California.

... Florida Commissioned

When the speakers began to speak, demonstrators aboard a sailing boat on the river attempted to drown them out with recordings of air raid sirens and anti-nuclear protests shouted over a public address system. This made it difficult for the invited audience to hear for about 20 minutes until the demonstrators were informed that if they didn't stop the noise they would be arrested.

John Prentiss, 40, of Colombia, Md., was charged with criminal trespass and disorderly conduct when he broke from the 250 invited visitors at the commissioning and tried to scale a ladder on the Florida. Prentiss stood up and started shouting, "Peace now, peace now!" A man in front of him jumped on him, but Prentiss got away and ran toward the sub, until he was subdued by security officers. He was later turned over to the Groton Police.

Rick Gaumer, a member of the War Resisters League in Norwich, part of the coalition, said the activities are part of a worldwide peace demonstration, centering in Connecticut on Electric Boat.

"There may be a number of facilities involved, although the first target will undoubtedly be Electric Boat," he said. "The major focus in this area would be the major weapons system being produced here, which is the Trident submarine."

Five people were arrested Saturday in and around the shipyard as about 500 nuclear arms opponents protested the commissioning of the USS Florida, the third missile-firing Trident submarine put into Navy service.

Two protesters were arrested inside the shipyard, site of the commissioning, and three others were arrested in the Thames River as they tried to swim from a nearby submarine museum to the shipyard. They will be arraigned today in New London Superior Court.

The arrested swimmers were identified as John Bach, 35, of Hartford; Stephen Miller, 23, of New Haven; and Garry Clausheide, 37, of Guilford, Vt. They were charged with disorderly conduct, police said.

Valerie Sklarevsky, 38, of the Uncasville section of Montville, was arrested inside the shipyard an hour before the ceremonies were to begin, and was charged with criminal trespass and disorderly conduct.

Police said the five arrested demonstrators were held on $150 cash bond after refusing to sign bond papers.

Electric Boat, a division of General Dynamics and the Navy's sole contractor for the Tridents, holds contracts to build seven more Tridents, the Navy's largest submarines, and at $1.2 billion each, the most expensive.

Some 2,100 striking master draftsmen, who had been picketing Electric Boat the day before because their contract had expired, called off their picketing on Saturday as they did not want to be connected with the demonstration by the anti-nuclear coalition.

About two dozen people wore Groucho Marx masks as police snapped pictures of the crowd. Some of the protesters aimed their own cameras at police. Other demonstrators were camouflaged as grim reapers in black robes and whiteface.

On the river, within sight of the ceremony, a sailing vessel played a recording of an air raid siren and broadcast anti-nuclear statements in an effort to disrupt the ceremonies.

About a half dozen one- and two-man inflatable boats were put out from the vessel and rowed around near the EB dock.

Longwood Man Critically Injured In 2-Car Crash

Longwood police are continuing their investigation today into a Saturday night traffic accident that left a Longwood man in critical condition.

Mark Raymond Rice, 20, of 345 E. Palmetto Ave., Longwood, was listed in critical but stable condition today in Florida Hospital-Orlando's orthopedic intensive care unit.

Rice was injured just after 11 p.m. Saturday when he apparently lost control of his 1973 Datsun while diving southbound on U.S. Highway 17-92 and the car flipped over, according to Longwood police Lt. Terry Baker.

Seconds later, Baker said, a pick-up truck driven by a Sanford man smashed into the overturned vehicle. Barry Eugene Hillman, 27, of 2206 South Park Ave., driver of the pick-up, was treated and released at Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

Baker said the impact of the pick-up pushed the Datsun approximately 100 feet.

The accident occurred on 17-92 between General Hutchinson Parkway and Shepherd Road. Rice was transferred to Florida Hospital in Orlando from Florida Hospital Altamonte.

No charges have been filed in the incident, Baker said, but the investigation is not complete.

DIAMONDS GONE

Three diamond rings valued at $700 were taken from a dresser top in the home of Ann Worley, 2427-A Chase Ave., Sanford, between 6 a.m. and 2 p.m. Friday, police report.

BURGLARY BOTCHED BY BOTTLES

Bottles tied to a string stretched across his living room saved Charles David Horton from a second burglary Sunday.

Horton, of 229 Squire One Apts., Casselberry, was a recent burglary victim. He didn't want it to happen again so he set the bottles trap.

It worked. At 4:20 a.m. Sunday he was awakened by the sound of bottles clinking. When he got up and examined the living room scene he found a window screen had been removed from a window on the south side of the room.

Thanks to the bottle, the would-be thieves probably got nothing. But police got their fingerprints from the window ledge and frame.

Personal Income Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans' take-home pay jumped 1.2 percent in May, the biggest surge in personal income since Social Security recipients won a cost-of-living raise in July 1981, the Commerce Department said today.

Personal spending, a key ingredient of a sustained recovery, also was up a healthy 1.4 percent in May. When figured at yearly rates, personal income gained $32.3 billion in May to a seasonally adjusted $2.710 trillion.

In April, personal income was up 0.8 percent and spending was up 1.1 percent.

The new report showed the fuel for economic recovery is still building, reassuring news to economists who wonder if interest rates are low enough to keep the improvement rolling through the end of the year.

Wages and salaries of private and government workers climbed at an annual rate of $21.1 billion in May, compared with $12.8 billion in April, for their biggest surge since October 1981, the government report said.

After income taxes the take-home pay available to spend was up only 0.7 percent in May, somewhat less than the 0.9 percent increase in April.

With spending strong, the savings rate slipped to 5.3 percent in May, the lowest in over a year, department analysts said.

The income figures were given a little boost by one factor unrelated to recovery, a retroactive wage payment of nearly $300 million to Postal Service employees as a result of a settlement of a lawsuit charging wage and overtime violations from 1974 through May 1978.

BICYCLES TAKEN

A 24-inch bicycle valued at $125 was taken from the front yard at 110 Laguna Court between 9:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday, police said. The bike belongs to Terry Decker.

A 10-speed Schwinn bike valued at $200 was taken from Apt. 40, Seminole Gardens, at 11 p.m. Tuesday. The bike belongs to Fannie S. Powell, 1805 West 15th St., Sanford.

A 20-inch red and blue Huffy dirt bike was taken from the front porch at 321 Barado Drive, Sanford, between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Wednesday. The bike belongs to Jeffrey Powell and is valued at $140.

A 20-inch Schwinn bicycle, grey frame with blue mag wheels, was taken from the Knart parking lot in Sanford around 4 p.m. Friday, police said. The bike, valued at $150, belongs to Cliff Chorpene, 2535 Palmetto Ave., Sanford.

NET: $1.80 AND ARREST

Two Casselberry residents were arrested shortly after 9 p.m. Thursday following police observation of their tampering with an Evening Herald newspaper vending machine.

Police said they observed a man and a woman loitering around the machine, at the Winn-Dixie supermarket on State Road 434 at U.S. Highway 17-92, for about two hours. At 9:19 p.m. they were arrested inside the Eckers drug store after being observed tampering with the box and its lock. The pair netted $1.80.

Charged in connection with the heist were Steven Coas, 20, and Karen Ann Garcia, both of 663 Spanish Moss Drive.

CARPOT HEIST

Police report someone entered the carport at 1074 Mango Drive, Casselberry, and took a Sears sewing machine valued at $200, a Black and Decker 7-inch circular saw valued at $40 and a Gibson box guitar and black case valued at $54. The items belong to George E. Fisher and were removed between noon Sunday and 1:45 p.m. Tuesday.

LAWNMOWERS TAKEN

A Snapper self-propelled lawnmower valued at $250 was taken from an open garage at the Charles E. Budzian residence, 1001 Hobson St., in south Seminole County, between 6:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, police report.

A lawnmower valued at $150 was taken at an unknown date and time from the Helen Deren residence, 332 Hidden Lake Drive, Sanford, police reported.

DUI ARRESTS

In other arrests for driving under the influence over the weekend in Seminole County, arrested were: Larry Markey Rankin, 39, of 876 Division St., Oviedo, at 12:55 a.m. Saturday at State Road 436 at Casselberry Creek. His arrest followed involvement in an automobile accident.

Philip Vernon Perryman, 57, of 3141 Cecelia, Apopka, at 1:29 a.m. Saturday on State Road 436 eastbound from Hermita Trail.

John Scott Clark, 23, of 2500 Howell Branch Road, at 1:18 a.m. Friday on State Road 436 between Lake Howell and Howell Branch roads. He was also charged with failure to maintain a single lane.

Castro's Spy Network Infiltrates Exile Groups

MIAMI (UPI) — Fidel Castro's spy network, so effective it has infiltrated virtually every anti-Castro organization in the United States, has even helped FBI agents foil assassination attempts on the Cuban leader, officials say.

"The Cubans have all the exile organizations and even the terrorist organizations ... thoroughly penetrated," said Wayne Smith, a former State Department specialist on Cuban affairs.

Leaders of exile groups like Brigade 2506, Alpha 66 and Abdala all say they have encountered Cuban spies in their midst, according to a story in the Miami Herald.

FBI agent Jim Freeman, second in charge of the Miami office, says the agents do not attempt to apprehend Cuban spies because they do not consider them a serious threat to national security.

The FBI considers bombings by anti-Castro terrorists a more urgent problem, he said.

West German Police Quash Riot In Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Baton-wielding riot police fired tear gas at about 1,000 rioters who hurled stones, smashed windows and overturned cars in a night of violence against neo-Nazis that left 46 policemen injured, police said.

Police said the violence, which lasted into the early hours of Sunday morning, was the worst in west Berlin in two years. A spokesman said 203 rioters were arrested but only 13 remained in custody awaiting court appearances today.

The violence followed a march of more than 10,000 people protesting the anti-Turkish activities of a neo-Nazi group called "Conservative Action" that had planned a demonstration in the city.

Chanting "foreigners stay here, we'll chase away the Nazis," some of the crowd began attacking police with stones and tin cans as they tried to remove a pro-Turkish banner from a bridge, police said. Berlin has a large number of foreign workers, including Turks.

Will Walesa Meet Pope?

GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — Former Solidarity leader Lech Walesa can expect no meeting with Pope John Paul II until Wednesday at the earliest, a Vatican official says.

"We'll talk about it again when we get to Krakow," the Rev. Romeo Pancirolli, the Vatican's chief press spokesman, said in Czesochowa Sunday night. John Paul does not arrive in Krakow until 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EDT) Tuesday.

Several sources close to Walesa reasoned that the meeting would not come until Thursday, the last day of John Paul's second papal tour of his native land. The pope has reserved that day for "private matters" and it could suit both church and state if no Pope-Walesa meeting stole the limelight from the pope's major public activities.

Challenger 'Perking Along'

Sally Ride
...everything going by the book

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — With its paying cargo safely delivered to orbit, the coed crew of the shuttle Challenger today turned its attention to the test satellite that Sally Ride and John Fabian will pluck out of orbit Wednesday.

Robert Crippen, Frederick Hauck, Norman Thagard, Ms. Ride and Fabian have been performing by the book since Saturday's blastoff and so has their spacecraft.

"We're just perking along doing all the work we have scheduled," flight director Tommy Holloway said after the second communications satellite popped out of Challenger's cargo bay Sunday.

The satellite remaining in the cargo compartment is a boxy affair built by a West German company as a platform for rent to anyone who wants to fly instruments in space. It is called SPAS for shuttle pallet satellite.

Ms. Ride and Fabian will use the ship's 50-foot mechanical arm Wednesday to lift the 3,307-pound assembly out of the payload bay and drop it off in space. They will grab it later and bring it back to Earth.

Today's operation centered on use of the satellite as a platform anchored to the shuttle for scientific experiments.

Gas Tax May Fuel Tax Cutting Drive

By United Press International

Irate gasoline retailers say that new gas taxes levied in several Florida counties would trigger a groundswell of support for Proposition 1, an anti-tax referendum that would roll back government spending to 1980 levels.

Gasoline dealers angered by new gas taxes have vowed to get even by rallying statewide support for Proposition 1, and are uniting in a statewide effort to recruit candidates to oppose county commissioners who vote for gas taxes.

Proposition 1, also called the Citizen's Choice Amendment, is on the November 1984 ballot. If passed, it would reduce the state budget to levels that existed in the 1980-81 budget, and limit property tax increases to five percent annually.

. . .Most Cities Oppose 4-Cent Gas Tax

A week ago, the Sanford commission voted to rescind the resolution supporting the 3-cent tax, saying it would consider the matter again when the county makes up its mind what it wants to do.

At this point the commissioners have adopted a resolution of intent to levy a 4-cent gas tax and set a public hearing for 7 p.m. July 28 on the matter. At the same time the commissioners have said the adoption of the resolution does not necessarily mean a tax will be levied.

Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Christensen and Commissioner Bob Sturm are supporting a 4-cent tax while Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather is refusing support unless it is tied directly to improvements of certain roads. Kirchhoff hasn't taken any position.

State law requires a simple majority of three to impose a 1 or 2-cent tax and an extraordinary majority of four to impose a 3 or 4-cent tax.

The Casselberry City Council also voted to oppose the tax. Its council chairman, Carl Robertson Jr., said, "The County Commission has done nothing but set up a smokescreen. They will do anything except take a stand. All they are worrying about is themselves, not the taxpayers.

Winter Springs Mayor John Torcaso called the Kirchhoff proposal "foolish," adding, "Bill is known for odd statements sometimes."

"If they are going to run the program like that and if they think that's the fair way, fine. That's like saying the ball and bat belong to me. If I can't pitch I'm going home," Torcaso said.

Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine said since the seven cities did not back the county plan for a gas tax, the county now "has a nice way of giving themselves all the dollars.

"Since the county gets the majority of those road dollars from the state, obviously they are spending the most money for roads," Constantine said. "I think the cities that did not vote for the gas tax were not looking at the big picture. I personally favored the gas tax."

Constantine concluded that he hopes the lines of communication between the county and the cities are still open and other alternatives will be developed for spending the gas tax dollars generated, if a tax is approved by the county.

Let's Double Peace Corps By 1986

Nobody is against the Peace Corps. But neither is there much of a constituency in this country for foreign assistance. As a result, the Peace Corps has suffered.

In 1966, the Peace Corps fielded 15,000 volunteers at a cost of $114 million. In 1983, the Peace Corps fields 5,200 volunteers at a cost of $105 million.

At first glance, this looks like the American people are getting less for their money. But in fact the Peace Corps is getting $9 million less than it did 17 years ago. During that same period, the dollar declined to a third of its 1966 value in purchasing power. U.S. foreign military aid rose from $1.2 billion to $8.7 billion, an eightfold increase.

The comparison with military aid is valid, not because the Peace Corps is always an alternative to sending guns to trouble spots, but because development and improved health are the best ways to help impoverished peoples improve their lot without resorting to strife.

Every day in sweltering jungles and crowded shanty towns Peace Corps volunteers are bringing American technologies and American values to help people feed and clothe themselves and save lives. Blind, deaf and crippled Peace Corps volunteers are now teaching handicapped people abroad to learn skills and self-respect. Peace Corps volunteers are people like William Landis, who is now in Thailand, teaching English. They are fishermen who are teaching farmers to create fisheries. They are nurses and midwives. They are college graduates who can hook up garden hoses to heat homes through bio-gas.

It is harder to live with people, to try to understand them and to help them help themselves than to give them a gun to kill each other. In the long run it is also less expensive, in lives and in debts.

The Peace Corps has no shortage of applicants, but it lacks funds to send them to all the places they are needed. Rep. Jim Leach, R-Iowa, has proposed two amendments to the foreign aid bill that would give the Peace Corps the support it needs. The first would increase the Peace Corps' 1984 budget from the $108 million proposed by the administration, to $118.5 million. The second would set a goal of doubling the number of Peace Corps volunteers from 5,000 to 10,000 by 1986. The House Foreign Relations Committee passed both amendments April 26.

We urge Congress to adopt the Leach amendments and appropriate the necessary funds. The Peace Corps says it can double its volunteers by increasing the budget only by 60 to 70 percent, because the support system is already established.

The Peace Corps can't survive on lip service. It needs more money and more volunteers to carry on its real service for America and the world.

The Real Sting

News flash: Harvard and Yale scientists assert Soviet "yellow rain" may be plain bee excrement! U.S. charges discounted! State Department pooh-poos new theory!

Skeptics of all ages have been called on to perform feats of agility and daring — imagine the flat-world holdouts of the 15th century — but none more so than today's apologists for Soviet chemical atrocities in Cambodia and Afghanistan. Working without a net, these intellectual trapeze artists continue to gainsay a growing pile of evidence against the Soviets.

Consider: Hundreds of direct witnesses to Soviet chemical attacks. Independent confirmation from Italian and Canadian and French doctors. Direct urine and blood samples from yellow rain victims. Investigative teams from ABC news and even interviews by U.N. investigators conducted with yellow rain victims. Soviet gas masks with yellow rain samples recovered from Afghanistan. In short, an interlocking grid of expert, journalistic, and personal testimony.

The latest counter-theory is that some yellow rain samples contain bits of bee excrement. The correct response is, "So what?" The scrapings of chemical toxins come from plants and huts that were the object of Soviet attack. Bees live near the huts and on the plants. It doesn't take a Harvard or Yale scientist to figure out that we'd expect to find bee droppings somewhere in the area. (Birds do it; bees do it.)

And, it shouldn't take a Harvard or Yale logician to understand that the existence of bee droppings doesn't prove the non-existence of yellow rain droppings. What amazes is not the discovery of yet another Soviet treaty violation, but the acrobatic lengths to which some Westerners will go to blame Mother Nature.

BERRY'S WORLD

"It is so nice to finally meet someone here who doesn't have any more brains than I do!"

The Seminole County School Board can't be accused of skirting the issue anymore.

The board got a leg up on dealing with the question of miniskirts in the schools by agreeing to include in the student code on conduct and discipline a ban on skirts and shorts above the knee.

Perhaps this is much ado about nothing. But for several boys at Lyman High School who put on skirts to protest the board's ban on shorts it had become quite a hot issue. The boys complained it was unfair that girls could wear short skirts but the boys couldn't wear shorts.

And most other students apparently share their feelings. A recent school survey revealed that two-thirds of the students opposed the ban on shorts.

The boys got their equality. And it was a mixed blessing. Now the boys still aren't allowed to wear shorts and the girls aren't allowed to wear short skirts either.

That's probably not what they intended. The 1982-83 school year was a good one for Seminole County Schools, according to Superintendent Robert Hughes.

The district had its first ever state PRIDE award winner, Joseph DiFonzo of Lake Howell High School brought home state honors for his knowledge of social studies.

Another Seminole student, Charles Jones of Lyman high School, came in second in the state in mathematics.

Eighteen Seminole County seniors, including Jones and DiFonzo, were National Merit Scholarship finalists. Twenty others were semi-finalists.

Six Seminole County students won state vocational awards. Charles Allen from Rock Lake Middle School was named the state's Vocational Teacher of the Year.

A middle school student won first place at the state science fair while seven others won awards in the state contest.

Democrats' School Rx: It's Money

By Clay F. Richards
UPI Political Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the rush to make political gain over what is called the crisis in the nation's public education system, Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., has proposed a government-paid $5,000 raise for every teacher.

Setting aside whether or not such a raise is deserved, that is a pretty radical proposal from a senator who based his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination on the proposal that a budget freeze is the answer to the nation's economic problems.

Education has boomed onto the national political scene in the past month, erupting like a long-forgotten volcano.

Education Secretary Terrel Bell, the forgotten man of the administration, was described by Republican National Chairman Frank Rostenkopf as the second most important public officials in the nation today, next only to President Reagan.

Bell, brought to Washington to carry out Reagan's campaign pledge to dismantle the Department of Education, has probably given more speeches in the past month than he did in the entire previous time since he joined the Cabinet.

When Bell spoke at the Republican National Committee Meeting in Dallas week before last, he handed out a 66-page briefing book that party leaders could take home to explain where the administration stands on every aspect of the education issue.

The nation's two major teachers unions — the National Education Association and the American Federation of Teachers — seeking to flex their political clout in the presidential campaign, have tried to make Democratic contenders toe the line and endorse their long-held positions.

So former Vice President Walter Mondale was one of the first to propose a costly government program, with a price tag of $11 billion, to cure the education crisis.

The Democrats have tried to make Reagan the villain in the education crisis. They say he is the man who has made the problem worse by cutting student loans and other federal education programs.

But Reagan is working skillfully to try and make the education issue backfire on the Democrats.

He is going around the country telling people more federal money is not going to solve the problem. The problem, he insists, is a lack of discipline in the schools, a lack of demand for excellence, and a failure to reward good teachers and weed out bad ones.

One of the main criticisms of Reagan over the years has been that he had tried to simplify complex issues — showing critics say, that he really doesn't understand them.

But to the American parent, education is a very simple issue to understand. Parents believe if they send their children to school where they are disciplined, where quality is stressed and teaching is good, there is a fair chance their children will learn.

JACK ANDERSON

Reagan's Liaison Chief Is A Fighter

WASHINGTON — This is an autopsy of a power struggle between two of President Reagan's women advisers, Faith Ryan Whitlesey and Virginia Knauer, both strong-willed individuals skilled in the Washington arts of infighting and manipulating.

Whitlesey has risen by dint of ferocious single-mindedness from the Pennsylvania state Legislature to the White House, where she has just taken charge of the public liaison office. Colleagues describe her as abrasive and dictatorial. She fired most of the staff almost before she hung up her coat. "Tough is too nice a word" to characterize her, according to some stunned White House staffers.

Knauer is a 68-year-old, grandmotherly, arsenic-and-egg-lace type, who has served as consumer affairs chief in three Republican administrations. Technically, she comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Health and Human Services. But her office was located on Whitlesey's turf in the Old Executive Office Building next to the White House.

The new public liaison boss wanted Knauer out of there. But Knauer knew her way around the refined atmosphere of the White House, and she realized that being moved physically and of close proximity to the Oval Office would weaken her influence. Her access to the president would be more difficult if she were moved out of the White House. That's the way things work in Washington.

So Knauer resisted Whitlesey's effort to move her office. She quietly enlisted Whitlesey's predecessor, Elizabeth Dole, who moved up to the Cabinet as Transportation Secretary.

Obligingly, Dole slipped through the back door of the White House and pleaded Knauer's case with the president's chief of staff, James Baker. Dole went away convinced that she had left Knauer safely ensconced next door to the White House and reassured her that everything was okay.

But they had underestimated Whitlesey's viciousness and determination. While Baker's attention was distracted by the Williamsburg summit meeting, Whitlesey quietly huddled with top White House honcho, Michael Deaver.

I am not privy to the details of that meeting. But later the same day, a Whitlesey aide told my associate Vicki Warren that Knauer would be "moving back to HHS."

This was technically inaccurate, since Knauer had never been housed at HHS. But the import was clear: Knauer had lost. Whitlesey had won. Whitlesey's objectives in life had gone awry, she had triumphed over the consumer chief.

Of course, Knauer got a nice letter from President Reagan. It praised her work and conferred upon her a more imposing title: Special Adviser to the President for Consumer Affairs.

Evidently suspecting the worst, Knauer wrote a thank-you note to Reagan but arranged a meeting with Baker. She wanted to know whether the president's letter meant what she was afraid it did.

On June 8, she learned the worst: She was indeed being moved out of the White House complex. She could still use White House stationery, and she could keep her White House pass. But she would no longer be a short walk from the Oval Office. She has been banished to the obscurity of a downtown office building.

Investigators for the Department of Energy are having a tough time trying to look into charges of mismanagement at the Los Alamos National Laboratory in New Mexico, even though the lab gets most of its $500 million budget from DOE.

The laboratory's administrators — the ones who would be embarrassed if the charges are confirmed — have tried to use a technicality to keep DOE's inspector general from investigating the facility.

DICK WEST

Poultry Power Time

By Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — News reports the United States had successfully test-fired a "chicken gun" hit this town with a resounding splat.

A 20-foot cannon, developed at the Air Force base in Langley, Va., was said to be capable of propelling 4-pound chickens through the lower atmosphere at speeds of up to 700 miles per hour.

No less an authority than Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker, whose home state gave the world the recipe for Tennessee fried chicken, called attention to "this newest strategic development."

Asserting that biddy ballistics directly involved "our nation's safety and might even change the focus of the defense budget debate," Baker wondered "how far along the Soviet Union is with their deployment of the chicken gun?"

A good question.

The Air Force claims it is shooting chickens at jet engines, windshields and landing gear to gain information about damage caused by aircraft colliding with birds. That sounds like a typical Pentagon cover story to me.

Oh, I suppose the data could be valuable to pilots who must take off or land near large flocks of seagulls. Of much greater concern, however, is the impact a 20-foot cannon loaded with chickens might have on the current arms control talks with the Russians.

Thus far, negotiators mainly have discussed the proposed introduction of U.S. medium-range missiles in Western Europe.

What if the Soviets became convinced some of those missiles, aimed at targets in their territory, would have chicken payloads?

Would they then feel compelled to beef up their own fleet of medium-range missiles? Might some of the intercontinental rockets aimed at strategic areas in the United States be converted to chicken warheads?

The Soviet Union is reported far ahead of the United States in civil defense preparations. There is, however, no known defense against dead chickens dropping from the sky at supersonic speeds.

You can picture for yourself what would happen if this type of ammunition landed in civilian population centers, particularly during rush hour.

Disarmament advocates have gained some strength from the "nuclear freeze" movement in this country and abroad. But pacifists tell me little would be gained by freezing chickens.

If anything, the damage caused by a frozen chicken striking a military aircraft — or, God forbid, a commuter's automobile — would be even more devastating than a direct hit of fresh pullets.

The danger of escalation also is ever-present. Once chickens begin to figure in the arms race, it is only a matter of time before someone develops a turkey bomb.

It is, I suppose, unfair to demand that the United States unilaterally stop atmospheric chicken gun testing.

Nelson, Watson Duel Suspended

OAKMONT, Pa. (UPI) — Larry Nelson took his chances with lightning and putted out on the 15th hole of the suspended fourth round Sunday — a gamble he hoped would pay off today in his match play-like duel with Tom Watson in the morning completion of the U.S. Open golf championship.

Nelson and Watson were tied at 4-under par overall and with a three-stroke lead over nearest competitor Gil Morgan when the siren sounded suspension of play at 5:29 p.m. EDT because of lightning on the Oakmont Country Club course.

Nelson, Watson, Morgan and three other golfers were to finish the round at 10 a.m., and if the round ended in a tie, a one-round playoff would start at noon.

Officials waited one hour, 20 minutes Sunday while the second vicious thunderstorm of the tournament flooded the course before calling it a day.

When the warning siren sounded, Watson was lying on the green of the par-4 No. 14 — 35 feet from the pin — and Nelson was looking at a chance to take a one-stroke lead over Watson by sinking an eight-foot birdie putt on the par-4 15th.

Watson packed up his clubs and headed for the clubhouse, but Nelson decided to putt out — not just because he had a chance to break the tie but because he feared conditions might change and affect the putt if he waited until after the rain.

"My only concern was if the lightning hit, I wouldn't get to finish the hole," Nelson said after he settled for par and the suspended tie.

"I had felt like if it rained, the speed of the greens might change. The putt I had was fairly easy, and I hit it about as good as I could. It was just unfortunate that it didn't break, and I didn't get it."

Still, he felt confident the chance he took playing in the lightning might pay off today, and Watson conceded that Nelson just might be right.

"In any Open, you'd rather have the fewest holes to play," Nelson said. "Besides, 15 (453 yards) just might be the hardest hole to play on this course. I'm glad to have it finished, and I'm looking forward to playing 16, 17 and 18."

Watson, hoping to become the first player to win back-to-back Opens since Ben Hogan in 1950-51, said he still liked his chances, but agreed Nelson had a slight edge.

"I have to finish 14 and then I have to play 15, which is a very difficult hole," Watson said. "Larry has a slight advantage right now."

Still, he said, "I feel if I can finish the last four holes 4-under I'll win the tournament. I figure I can't afford maybe more than one mistake. I make two mistakes, and I'll probably shoot myself out of the tournament."

Nelson, who shot an Open-record 31 over the par-36 front nine, nor Nelson, who shot 10-under-par over his last 33 holes, made many mistakes over the weekend, and both were confident of being able to continue that way today.

"I've been playing better and better every day and better as each day went on," Watson said in explaining his confidence.

"I'm just going to play the last three holes as well as I can play and not worry about what Tom does," Nelson said.

Watson said that Morgan, at 1-under par with two holes to play, "might have a chance" to win if he finished 2-under par.

But all other golfers had to be considered out of the running.

Masters champion Seve Ballesteros, tied with Watson going into the final round at 1-under-par, was 1-over-par with four and a half holes to play. Calvin Peete, who started the fourth round one shot off the pace, also was 1-over-par with three holes to play.

Stephenson Wins Keystone

HERSHEY, Pa. (UPI) — Jan Stephenson says her stomach was in a knot as she stepped to the green for the final hole at the Lady Keystone Open at Hershey Country Club.

"I was sick," Stephenson said. "I really had a lump in my stomach coming up to the green and when I was standing over the putt, I was thinking, 'I can't go to a playoff.' Then I looked up and saw I had a perfect line."

Stephenson stroked the putt firmly and it hit the back of the cup and dropped in to give her her second consecutive title in the $200,000 match.

Stephenson finished her round Sunday with a 3-under 69 to wind up at 205, 11 under par for the 54-hole tournament and one shot ahead of runner-up Pat Bradley, who also shot a 69 Sunday to finish at 206.

Stephenson had opened a two-stroke lead over the rest of the field after knocking in a birdie at 16, but Bradley, playing in the group ahead of Stephenson, birdied at 18 to close within a stroke and put the pressure on Stephenson.

After missing a potential birdie putt on 17, Stephenson said she lost some of her concentration. She hit her drive to the left of the fairway, then hit a five wood on her approach, but left the ball at the edge of the bunker on the left side of the green.

Her shot out of the sand bounced and rolled past the hole, leaving her with a 12-foot putt for par.

Stephenson's concern over a playoff arose from the fact that a steady rain was falling. She doesn't wear a glove and in wet weather, has trouble holding her clubs because of the wet grip.

Sunday's victory marked the first time that Stephenson has ever successfully defended a championship.

Altamonte, Oviedo Eye Rematch With 3-0 Eustis

Seniors

EUSTIS — Both the Altamonte and Oviedo Senior League teams feel they have a score to settle with the Eustis Rangers. Eustis is sitting in the driver's seat of the Division II Top Team Tournament after sending both Altamonte and Oviedo into the losers' bracket.

Eustis advanced to the tourney finals with a 6-1 victory over Oviedo's Giants Saturday night. On the other hand, the Altamonte Phillies stayed alive with a 13-0 rout of St. Johns Saturday night. Altamonte dropped a 5-1 decision to Eustis on Friday night. Now, both Altamonte and Oviedo have to win two games to reach the finals, and they may go up against each other in the semi-finals.

Tonight at 7:30, Oviedo will clash with Southwest Volusia at the West Volusia complex in DeLand while the Phillies tangle with Lady Lake at 7:30 in Eustis. If Oviedo and Altamonte win, the two teams will face each other on Tuesday night at 7:30 in DeLand with the winner advancing to the finals against Eustis.

Oviedo outhit Eustis, 8-4, Saturday but the Giants could not produce the runs with men in scoring position. Eustis took a 2-0 lead after two innings and rode the strong pitching arm of Dave Westgate. Oviedo loaded the bases with two outs in the second inning, but could not score as Ron Magoutas took a called third strike.

The Giants pulled to within one run, 2-1, with a run in the top of the third on an RBI single by Randy Ferguson. Oviedo, which loaded the bases in the second, third and sixth innings, could not chase home another run off Westgate. Eustis' pitching has allowed only two runs in the last two games.

Eustis added a run in the third and took a 5-1 lead in the fourth on a two-run double by Jimmy Curry. Rich Curry also doubled for Eustis. Ferguson had a pair of hits for Oviedo while Duncan went 1 for 2 and pinch-hitter Charles Warner was 1 for 1. Terry Gammons took the loss for the Giants.

Oviedo manager Tommy Ferguson wasn't too happy with the umpires and he was thrown out of the game in the sixth inning. Ferguson apparently wasn't too pleased that the home plate umpire had two sons on the Eustis team, according to Altamonte manager Gene Letterio.

While the Giants were having trouble with Eustis, Altamonte got a two-hit pitching performance from Mike Schmit Saturday night and the Phillies broke open a close game with four runs in the fourth inning and three more in the fifth. Schmit struck out 15 St. Johns' hitters and walked only two.

Altamonte took a 1-0 lead in the second inning as Dan Beatty and Bill

Henley stroked consecutive singles and Beatty scored on a sacrifice fly to center by Sean Casterline.

Up until the fourth, the Phillies were still clinging to the 1-0 lead, but four runs gave Altamonte and Schmit a comfortable 5-0 lead. Mike Pinckes walked to lead off the fourth, Beatty lined a single and Henley walked to load the bases. Pat Lusk followed with a two-run single sending Henley to third. Lusk then stole second to put runners on second and third and Henley scored on Casterline's RBI groundout. Lusk scored the fourth run on a perfectly executed squeeze play by Sandy Hovis.

Altamonte added three more runs in the fifth to take a 8-0 lead. Shane Letterio led off with a double and, two outs later, scored when Beatty reached on an error. Beatty then scored when Henley reached on an error. Henley stole third and scored the third run of the frame on a passed ball.

The Phillies put the game away for good with five runs in the top of the seventh. Letterio led off with a triple, Schmit drew a walk and stole second and both Letterio and Schmit scored on a two-run double by Pinckes who took third on the throw home. Beatty then drew a walk and stole second to put runners on second and third. One out later, Lusk slapped a grounder to the first baseman whose throw home was late as Pinckes came across with the third run. Beatty then scored on a passed ball and Lusk scored on Hovis' RBI groundout.

Letterio, Lusk and Beatty had two hits each for Altamonte who also took advantage of seven walks by losing pitcher Otis Washington. Letterio, who catches and plays second base, has five hits in his last two games.

Altamonte manager Gene Letterio said he was pleased with his team's performance but he would like to get the bats going earlier in the game. "In each of the games we have played in this tournament we have not gotten anything started early. We have to be a seven-inning ballclub if we want to win this tournament."

Letterio will go with Henley on the mound tonight against Lady Lake and he will come back with Schmit if Altamonte gets by the Lakers. "My only concern about Lady Lake is I know nothing about them. We've played four games in the tournament and they have only played two, yet we've advanced to the same point. I feel we're in a good bracket and the pitching rotation is working out well."

Wainscott Lifts Indians; Astros Fall

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

After two rounds of the of the District 14 Major League Top Team Tournament, Altamonte's two entries — the Indians and the Astros — stand even with one victory and one loss apiece.

Manager Don Birle's American League Indians stayed alive Saturday at Oviedo by outlasting the Oviedo Orioles, 9-7, as Kevin Wainscott drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a groundout in Division II action. The setback knocked Oviedo from the double-elimination tournament.

The win moves the Indians into Monday's 5:30 p.m. game against the West Volusia Nationals at Maitland. West Volusia lost to St. Johns in the winner's bracket Saturday. Coach Kelly Wainscott said Alex Birle, the Americans' ace right-hander, will be on the mound. Birle lost a 4-2 decision to South West Volusia last Monday.

The Indians had to overcome a 4-1 deficit built on Richard Cobb's two-run homer following Todd Kraft's single in the first inning. Altamonte discovered three Oviedo bats were 2 1/4 inches wide and the bats were tossed out of the game. The allowable width is 2 1/4. Cobb's homer came with one of the wide ones, but he later added a double with an allowable aluminum.

In the bottom of the first, Altamonte scored when Wainscott reached on an error, moved up on a single by Kevin DeFrancesco, and scored when Kent Brubaker delivered a base hit.

The Indians went ahead for good in the bottom of the third with five runs. Todd Christensen singled, Brubaker reached on an error and Tony Ganci did the same to load the bases. Raulson Morningfiane singled home one run before Sean Lanagan forced Brubaker at the plate. Kevin Lovett got on on an error by the shortstop to plate another run and Wainscott singled up the middle to chase home two more. The last run scored on a fielder's choice for a 6-4 lead.

Oviedo picked up a run in the bottom of the fourth to pull within one, but Altamonte put a three-spot on the board to put the game out of reach. Morningfiane singled and 10-year-old William Thompson moved him up when the shortstop kicked his groundball. Brian Lovett then squared around and when all the infielders charged, Lovett deftly bunted the ball past them for a hit. The pitcher then threw the ball past first allowing two runs to score and Lovett to cruise into third. Wainscott followed with a groundball to the pitcher on which Lovett scored.

Altamonte's Astros, meanwhile, jumped to an early 3-0 lead after two innings, but saw it dissipate against a strong Apopka ballclub in a 5-3 setback at Winter Garden in Division I play.

Altamonte starter Jerrey Thurston turned in a strong effort, striking out 10 hitters and walking four in five innings while allowing just five hits, but Apopka's tall right-hander John Charlie was up to the task. "Jerrey pitched a whale of a game," said statistician Doug Heiser. "But Charlie was really a horse. He started us with heat and then went to his changeups in the later innings."

Scotty Conklin got Altamonte off one the right foot when he powered a home run over the left-center field fence to open the game. In the second, the Astros added two more when Andy Spolaki walked, Jeff Burton reached on an error and Rod Dudley walked to load the bases. After Brian Cleveland struck out, Scotty Conklin lifted a towering fly ball which the shortstop misplayed, letting in the two runs.

Apopka bounced back in the third to tie the score and won the game in the fifth when John Eubanks deposited a hanging curve over the fence after Charlie had walked for a two-run homer and a 5-3 lead.

Altamonte will play an yet to be determined opponent Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Apopka. Burton, Wes Weger and Thurston each had singles to go with Scotty Conklin's homer. Weger, who tossed a no-hitter at Windermere in the tournament's opener last Monday, will be on the hill.

Casselberry I Seeks 11th

Manager Bruce Bonaventure's Casselberry I Cardinals nosed out Longwood for the first-round championship in the Seminole Pony Baseball Colt League at Five Points near Winter Springs by winning all five games. Longwood finished 4-1.

Tonight at 8:30, the Cardinals can take a big step toward the second-round crown when they take on Sanford. Casselberry I is 5-0 while the Sanford entry, coached by Seminole High's Mike Ferrell, is 4-1.

Riding a 10-game winning streak, the Cardinals haven't had too much to worry about, though. Bolstered by several Lake Howell standouts — Jeff Poldexter, Jimmy Daniel and Vic Roberts — Casselberry I is in a position to sweep all three rounds. The second round consists of eight games while the third is just four games.

Last Tuesday, the Cardinals blitzed Sanford, 10-2, as Rob Dinkelacker drove in four runs and Poldexter doubled home a run and scored three times. Todd Manotti tossed a five-hitter to pick up the win. Two days later, Vic Roberts chased home four runs with a double and a single and winning pitcher Bruce Bonaventure, II had three singles and a double as the Cardinals bombed Winter Springs, 19-4. Jim Palmer also doubled home two runs.

Tonight, the Cardinals will go with their ace against Sanford, right-hander Jimmy Daniel. The Silver Hawk junior has a 3-0 record with two saves while throwing to catcher Randy Cavanaugh. Sanford is expected to counter with junior right-hander James Herney.

Juniors Battle West Oak Ridge

While the Altamonte Majors and Seniors began Division 14 Top Team Tournament play last, coach Terry Hagen's Altamonte Astros have been chomping at the bit to begin their Junior (13 year olds) tournament.

They won't have to wait much longer. Tonight at 7:30, the Astros host West Oak Ridge at Eastmonte Field in Altamonte Springs.

Hagen will send his son, Jeff, a crafty left-hander against West Oak Ridge.

The younger Hagen will be throwing to one of the top power hitters in the loop in catcher Randy Green. "We'll bat Randy third because everybody's been walking him," said Hagen. "Centerfielder Chris Brock will do a good job of batting behind him. Chris is a racehorse in center. He can really cover the ground."

The Martinez twins — Eric and Ernest — will fill in the second and fifth batting slots respectively. Eric is a left-handed first baseman and Ernest is a right-handed shortstop.

Batting sixth and playing third base will be Ricky Parents while second baseman Mark Strott will fill in the seventh spot. Leftfielder Tye Cohen will be penciled in the eighth hole and rightfielder Chris Baumann will bat ninth. Outfielders Derek Sims and Shawn Heister provide bench strength.

Patient Raines Drowns Mets With Triple

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal Expos' left fielder Tim Raines is quickly learning that patience can be a productive virtue.

Raines' two-run triple highlighted a three-run fourth inning Sunday that helped Steve Rogers to his ninth victory and led the Expos to a 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets.

"I had an opportunity earlier in the game to drive in a run with the bases loaded, but I wasn't patient enough," he said. "But in the fourth inning, I waited until the count was 3-2 and then I got a fastball and just smashed it as hard as I could."

The Expos' speedster, who collected his sixth game-winning RBI this season, figures his club is just beginning to hit its peak.

"I think we're going now because we're really swinging the bats," said Raines. "When we get hot, I think we'll blow a lot of the teams out of the ballpark."

The win, coupled with St. Louis losing to Chicago, moved the Expos into a first-place tie with the Cardinals in the National League East. The loss left the Mets in last place, but Manager Frank Howard remained philosophical.

"In the world of professional sports, I feel we dwell on the negative too much," he said. "The way I look at things is that if you think positively, something good is bound to happen."

The Expos were trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth when Chris Speier drew a leadoff walk from loser Ed Lynch, 4-3. Bobby Ramos followed with a single before Raines tripled off the wall in center field to give the Expos a 3-2 lead. Rookie Bryan Little hit a sacrifice fly to center field to score Raines.

The Expos got their first run in the third inning when Al Oliver hit his fourth homer of the year.

The Mets took a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Danny Heep singled and scored when Bob Bailor's double was misplayed by center fielder Andre Dawson for an error. Bailor went to third on the play and scored on a sacrifice fly by Ron Hodges.

Rusty Staub accounted for the Mets' final run with a pinch hit homer in the ninth inning. It was Staub's sixth consecutive pinch hit and his 11th of the season.

Rogers, 9-3, was relieved by Jeff Reardon after surrendering Staub's homer and Reardon got the final out for his 10th save.

Phillies 14, Pirates 2

On Father's Day it was rather fitting that the son of a former big leaguer would have his best game in the major leagues.

Ozzie Virgil, son of former major league infielder and current San Diego Padres' coach Ozzie Virgil, had three hits and knocked in four runs Sunday to spark the Philadelphia Phillies to a 14-2 rout of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Virgil, who had played in only 70 major league games before Sunday, was inserted into the lineup Saturday night and again Sunday because Bo Diaz, who has a sore left leg, was not able to play. Diaz is listed as day-to-day.

"I'd say it was my best day," Virgil understated.

Virgil singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth, singled and scored a run in the sixth and belted a three-run homer in the eighth to highlight a seven-run uprising.

Charlie Hudson benefitted from the Phillies' heavy hitting to win his first major league game in five starts. Hudson scattered eight hits and struck out five in going the distance.

Cubs 4, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Gary Woods and Ryne Sandberg drove in two runs each in a four-run second inning and Dick Ruthven pitched a two-hitter to spark the Cubs. Ruthven, 4-4, allowed just one hit — a leadoff single by George Hendrick in the second — before Steve Braun hit his first homer since 1980 over the right field wall with one out in the fifth.

Dodgers 5, Reds 1

At Los Angeles, Burt Hooton tossed a three-hitter for his fifth straight victory and Dusty Baker cracked a first-inning home run to lift the Dodgers. Hooton, who entered the game with only four lifetime victories in 18 decisions against Cincinnati, struck out one, walked one and allowed one unearned run in improving his record to 6-2. It was only his second complete game in 14 starts.

Padres 6, Astros 4

At San Diego, Garry Templeton's second of three doubles drove in two runs in a four-run fifth inning and carried the Padres. Elias Sosa, who took over for starter Andy Hawkins in the fourth after the Astros took a 4-1 lead, notched his first triumph of the year.

Giants 6, Braves 6

Jack Clark drove in four runs with a homer and two sacrifice flies to help the Giants complete a three-game sweep of the Braves. Clark, who hit a homer in each of the three games, helped Mike Krukow, 4-4, to the victory. Gary Lavelle posted his 10th save. It was the fourth straight setback for Atlanta, the first time it has happened this year. The Braves trail Los Angeles by 5 1/2 games in the National League West.

Royals 4, Mariners 3

Until the seventh inning, Cliff Pastornicky's batting average hurt more than George Brett's damaged toe. With one swing, however, the rookie put some kick back into Kansas City's attack.

Pastornicky's first major-league hit, a three-run homer in the seventh inning, lifted the Kansas City Royals to a 4-2 victory Sunday over his hometown Seattle Mariners.

Pastornicky was called up from Kansas City's Triple A affiliate at Omaha last week to take the place of Brett, who broke his toe in a household accident.

The native of Bellevue, Wash., was hitless in his first 14 major-league at-bats before driving a Matt Young pitch into the left field bleachers to lift the Royals to a 4-2 lead.

Willie Aikens opened by reaching first on an error by shortstop Domingo Ramos and pinch runner Joe Simpson took third on a hit-and-run single to right by Don Slaught. Pastornicky then delivered his homer to give Kansas City a three-game sweep of the Mariners and drop Young to 7-6.

"Cloyd Boyer (Kansas City pitching coach) told me in the dugout you can go up there three times and look bad," Pastornicky said, "but on the fourth time you can come back a hero. That's the way it worked out."

"It's a great feeling. I couldn't think of a better time for my first big league hit — against Seattle with the game televised back home and my folks and friends watching on a big screen. I would have been happy just to get a hit in that situation. But a home run... that's hard to even imagine."

Bill Castro, 2-0, picked up the victory in relief with Mike Armstrong pitching out of a ninth inning jam to notch his second save.

Blue Jays 6, Angels 1

At Toronto, Luis Leal tossed a three-hitter and Ernie Whitt and Barry Bonnell each drove in two runs for the Blue Jays. Leal, 8-6, struck out five, walked four and hit two batters. Jesse Barfield added a home run for Toronto. Dave Goltz fell to 0-6.

Orioles 6, Red Sox 3

At Baltimore, Eddie Murray blasted his 10th and 11th home runs and Leo Hernandez and Dan Ford delivered sacrifice flies in support of Jim Palmer's 265th career victory to lead the Orioles. Trailing 6-0, Boston scored in the ninth on an RBI double by Ed Jurak and a two-run single by Jerry Remy.

White Sox 1, A's 0

At Chicago, Harold Baines' opposite-field double scored Ron Kittle in the fourth and Britt Burns outdueling Oakland's Tom Underwood, 4-4 with a three-hitter. It was the first complete game this season for Burns, who began the season on the disabled list and didn't make his first start until May 6.

Yankees 8, Brewers 3

At New York, Lbu Piniella, who entered the game with only five RBI, drove in five runs and Matt Keough, in his first appearance since being acquired in a trade on June 15, became New York's first right-handed starter to register a victory this season. Rick Waite, 0-2, took the loss.

Indians 7, Tigers 3

At Cleveland, rookie shortstop Julio Franco raised his RBI total to 39 by doubling home the go-ahead run and Alan Bannister followed with a two-run double to highlight a five-run seventh. Larry Sorensen, 4-8, picked up only his second victory since May 1. Dan Petry fell to 6-5.

Rangers 4, Twins 1

At Arlington, Texas, Charlie Hough pitched a six-hitter and George Wright collected three hits, including a two-run triple, to lead the Rangers. It was the second straight complete game for Hough, 5-6, and his third complete game this season.

Bye Bye Billy?

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Editor

Billy Martin is gone. Only the time frame has not been decided. But he will not be managing the New York Yankees anymore by Monday, when they begin a road trip in Baltimore. He could even be fired for the third time by the club by Sunday.

UPI learned Saturday that American League president Lee MacPhail has contacted the Yankees regarding Martin's latest controversial episode in which a female researcher from The New York Times complained that Martin used obscene language Friday while she was questioning him on a survey story.

Yankees principal owner George Steinbrenner personally apologized to the researcher, Deborah Henschel, but the Baseball Writers Association of America, through its president, Randy Galloway of the Dallas Morning News, sent a strongly worded wire of protest to MacPhail Saturday over Martin's conduct.

UPI also learned MacPhail is considering a possible second suspension of Martin over the incident and indicated to the Yankees he planned to take action. Martin was suspended six weeks ago for abusing umpire Drew Coble and has also been reprimanded by the league for attempting to bar New York Post sports writer Henry Hecht from his office.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Davis Leads Deltona Win; Seger Fans 14 Schoolers

Sanford's Alton Davis doubled and tripled and drove in a run as the Deltona Inn remained unbeaten in the Buddy Lake Summer League with a 3-1 victory over the B & R Family Sunday. In the second game, Dave Farr's Real Estate Supermarket blanked the winless Florida Baseball School, 3-0.

Davis, who plays for Seminole Community College, also scored a run to back the three-hit pitching of winning hurler Eddie Trembley. Deltona is 6-0 while B & R is 2-4. Steve Covert suffered the loss. John Brenner single home B & R's only run in the first inning.

In the other game, Mike Seger, a Kentucky Wesleyan product, struck out 14 and allowed just four hits. Player-Manager had a single and a double for the losers who are 0-6.

Troy Rendley drove in two runs for 4-2 Dave Farr's with a pair of singles. Ovelo righthander Dwayne Johnson suffered the loss, giving up seven hits and striking out six.

In Tuesday night games, B & R Family plays Dave Farr's at 6:30 while Florida Baseball School and the Deltona Inn meet in the second game.

Seminole 16's Finish 2nd

Injuries and exhaustion plagued the Seminole AAU 16 and under girls basketball team this past weekend, but the team composed of top players from around the county still managed a second place at the state tournament in Gainesville.

Seminole lost center Laura Glass to injury in the first game and lost Mona Benton in the last game. Exhaustion took its toll on Seminole which had to play back-to-back games on Sunday at 10 a.m. and 12 noon. Seminole, the defending state champion, ended up losing to Ft. Lauderdale by five points in the finals.

Chiquita Miller (Lake Howell), Maxine Campbell (Seminole) and Dieder Hillery (Seminole) made the All-Tournament team.

Another team from Seminole County, made up of mostly players from Lake Mary High, lost its first two games of the tournament.

The AAU 18 and Under Girls State Tournament will be held this week at Lake Mary High with the brackets to be released within the next few days.

Cale Takes Michigan 400

BROOKLYN, Mich. (UPI) — Cale Yarborough's solutions cause problems for everybody else.

Yarborough's pit crew tightened up a loose chassis midway through the race Sunday and the veteran NASCAR driver from Timmonsville, S.C. took control in the last 40 miles to win his second straight Michigan 400 at Michigan International Speedway.

It was his third June triumph in four years, sixth overall in the Michigan 400, and seventh at MIS for Yarborough, whose winning speed was 138.726 mph and whose margin of victory was 1.01 seconds.

Soaring Satellites

Dottie Bryant, a youth coach for Sanford's Bowl America, presents first place trophies to (left to right) Neal Fowler, Don Gorman and Dan Thompson for having the best team in the Satellite's League. Gorman had a 599 series and a 223 game, tops for the year.

Pair Honored On 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Meade Cooper receive guests at their golden wedding anniversary celebration at the Sanora Club in Sanford.

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Meade Cooper of Sanora Boulevard, Sanford, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on June 11 at a reception at the Sanora Club. About 120 friends and relatives called during the appointed hours, 4 to 6 p.m.

The celebration was hosted by the couple's three children (and their spouses), Patricia Cooper McCoy, Las Cruces, N.M.; Winifred Cooper Bishop, Abingdon, Va.; and John Meade Cooper, Westminster, Md. Also assisting at the reception were several of the couple's 13 grandchildren.

Mrs. Cooper received the guests wearing a brown brocade gown over beige, wrap style, fashioned with a wide gathered collar that dipped low in the front and back. Mr. Cooper wore a boutonniere in the lapel of his white jacket.

The couple's children presented them with a memory book in which friends shared their experiences. Son John proposed a toast "to the most wonderful parents in the world" before they cut the three-tiered cake.

Two tall epergne arrangements of candles and assorted flowers centered the refreshment table that featured a variety of party foods.

Melba Delanie Fuquay, born in Caswell County, N.C., and Harrison Meade Cooper, born in Baltimore, Md., were married June 2, 1933 in St. John's Episcopal Church, Huntington. They made their home in Linthicum Heights, Md. for nearly 42 years until their retirement in Sanford in 1978.

Mr. Cooper worked for the E.I. Du Pont de Nemours and Co. Inc. until his first retirement in the early 1970s and served the City of Baltimore as electrical contracting inspector from that time until they moved to Sanford. He took an active role in the programs of the Lions Club and in the establishment of an Episcopal mission church in Linthicum Heights. Today, he says he enjoys gardening in his spare time.

Mrs. Cooper, a registered nurse, has always been involved in church work, women's clubs and civic organizations as well as a health center which she was instrumental in forming.

A homemaker until her children became teen-agers, Mrs. Cooper returned to her alma mater, Franklin Square Hospital, Baltimore, where she eventually advanced to the position of Director of Nurses. During her administration, the hospital expanded and relocated from inner city to an eastern suburb. She retired from the hospital in 1977.

While living in Maryland, the Coopers built long-lasting friendships over a 30-year period with other couples belonging to the Saturday Night Bridge Club. When four of the couples retired to the Orlando area, the bridge club resumed under the name, Linthicum, South.

The Coopers are members of other bridge clubs, Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Seminole Mutual Concert Association, Sanora Homeowners Association and Friends of the Library.

Mrs. Cooper is a member of the Woman's Club of Sanford and is president of the club's Epitaph Sigma Omicron, an honorary educational sorority.

The Coopers and family members departed for a beach retreat following the gala golden wedding anniversary celebration.

Mrs. Cooper is the sister of Mrs. Walter A. Gielow of Sanford. Among the out-of-town relatives attending the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Page (niece), Jacksonville, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sharpe (niece) and son, Brent, Raleigh, N.C.; Mrs. William Abernathy (niece), Auburndale; Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hunter (nephew), Panama City; and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Soder (niece), Jacksonville.

'Squeal Law' Hasn't Yet Uttered A Peep

BARBS

Phil Pastoret

If there is any justice in the world, retribution must await those who put strawberries on spongecake and sell it as shortcake.

Optimists see things through rose-colored glasses; pessimists, everything is in the red.

After totting-up the prizes on the beauty shows, one may be forgiven for suggesting they be renamed "booty" contests.

Let the chips fall where they may, and they'll land on all but the winning number.

Do you ever feel that life's "in" basket for you is filled with all the problems everyone else wants to rid themselves of?

DEAR ABBY: Will you please do something for teens, and for all of us who work daily to prevent teen pregnancy?

Please let young people know that the Parental Notification Regulation — also known as the "squeal law" — is not in effect; that teen-age girls can still get birth control devices from family planning agencies and Planned Parenthood without fearing that their parents will be informed.

By letting teens know that they are still guaranteed confidential services, you could prevent much anxiety and many unplanned pregnancies.

Thank you, Abby.

NAN SCHWEIGER,
PLANNED
PARENTHOOD,
LINCOLN, NEB.

DEAR MS. SCHWEIGER: I appreciate the input. And it's important to add that whether the "squeal law" goes into effect or not, teen-agers requesting examinations and/or treatment for venereal disease will not be reported to their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 and have been dating the same young man exclusively for four years. We've talked about getting married for some time, but even though he has given me a lovely ring, he refuses to let me officially announce our engagement. He says he doesn't believe in long engagements, and when he is "ready," we will announce our engagement and set a wedding date.

Abby, I told him that after four years of dating, enough is enough, so he agreed that we should both date other people until we decide to get married. The problem is that every time I date someone else he gets jealous and angry and wants to go back to the exclusive dating arrangement.

I can't see my life without him, yet I'm fed up with waiting. What's wrong? And what should I do?

TIED OF NO
COMMITMENTS

DEAR TIED: He isn't ready for marriage, but he'd like to put you on "hold" indefinitely. If it's marriage you want, return his ring and tell him you've had enough waiting.

Dear

And if he isn't knocking on your door within three months begging you to marry him, forget him.

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago I began dating a man who has been a widower for seven years. He is still very much attached to his dead wife and admits that he still "loves" her.

He talks about her constantly (including intimate details) and his home is a living monument to her memory. He has not touched any of her clothing, cosmetics, medicines, or any of her personal belongings since her death.

A week ago I threw away some medicine prescribed for her, and it seemed to upset him. He had previously talked about our being married, but since I got rid of her medicine he backed off. I have never lost anyone who was close to me, and I don't know if I should be more understanding and give him more time or not.

Friends have told me that he has said he would never marry again, but that's not what he told me. How much longer should I wait for him to get over her?

ALIVE AND EAGER
 DEAR ALIVE: Waiting won't help. He clearly needs professional help. Don't consider him eligible for marriage until he has had sufficient therapy to resolve his grief, let go of the past, enjoy the present and plan for the future.

You're never too old (or too young) to learn how to make friends and be popular. For Abby's booklet on popularity, send $1, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Cable TV Company Must Serve All Of Lake Mary

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Despite a report from a Storer Cablevision official that the firm went in the red by $70,000 serving Lake Mary during the past year, Mayor Walter Sorenson has made it clear the company must provide cablevision to the entire city.

Sorenson's particular concern is the Dorchester apartments and other residents in the Paola Road area.

Pat Southward, former city commissioner and current chairman of the city's board of adjustment, said she lives in that area, adding the cable TV service is not available.

Noting that Storer has an "exclusive franchise" to serve Lake Mary, Sorenson said the firm is mandated to serve all the city whether it is profitable or not.

Three officials from Storer — Carol Joyner, operations manager; George Nanna, special project coordinator, and Ray Clemons, Storer's west Florida manager — were invited to the meeting to give an informal report on Storer's Lake Mary operations.

The officials agreed to appear, but noted that the time had expired for the city to attempt to regulate its rates and that the appearance was purely voluntary.

Storer's Lake Mary customers were notified early in May that rates for the service were increasing June 1. The rate for primary service rose from $5.50 monthly to $7.50; the fee for service to each additional set went up from $1.50 monthly to $3 and the charge for box office climbed to $9.50 from $8.

When the City Commission announced its intention to hold a public hearing on the rate increase, City Attorney Robert Petree found that the city franchise with the company required that Storer be notified 60 days before the end of its first two years of operations if it wished to review the rate structure.

The first two years of service ended in March and the deadline passed by unnoticed. The City Commission ordered the staff to search through other city agreements to make sure that no other deadlines slip by unnoticed.

Petree said at the time that Storer was willing to have its representatives appear at an informal hearing.

Nanna told the Commission that the Storer operation in Lake Mary over the past year actually had a $70,000 deficit. He said that 1,229 dwelling units receive the city service and a much larger number of customers had been expected.

Ms. Joyner said Thursday night even with the $2 increase in rates, Lake Mary customers are paying less than other cablevision subscribers in the surrounding areas and Nanna added that the customers in Lake Mary are being offered 35 channels.

City Commissioner Burt Perinchief said perhaps 12 of those 35 channels are of value, noting that he has no interest in Spanish flamenco dancing, or a price comparison of cabbage shown on another channel or some of the other programming offered.

Former City Commissioner Martin Bacon Sr. complained from the audience that he is not happy with the service since a New York and a Chicago channel were omitted from the programming. Fire Chief and Public Works Director Jim Orleas complained again that a cablevision company representative told him some months ago that the two channels were too expensive to keep.

Outbreak Of Plague Alarms Experts

The bubonic plague, once the scourge of Medieval Europe, has killed an Oregon youngster and left an Arizona 5-year-old critically ill in outbreaks that have health officials throughout the West concerned about a sudden increase in plague cases this year.

Dr. Thomas Quan, of the Centers for Disease Control's plague center in Fort Collins, Colo., said that there had "been an unusual number of cases of the plague throughout the West this year."

Quan said there had been 15 reported cases so far and a number of others that were being investigated as possible cases.

"Our heaviest year was 1975," he said. "That year we handled 25 cases. We just don't know what has caused the outbreak."

Quan said most of the cases have been in Arizona and New Mexico with individual cases being reported in Oregon and Utah.

In Oregon, health officials said they were trying to determine the potential for an outbreak of the plague, following the death Wednesday of a 9-year-old Klamath Falls boy.

Allan Barnes, also with CDC's Fort Collins center, flew into Oregon to handle the investigation of the case.

Barnes said officials are finding dead rodents in the area of the outskirts of Klamath Falls, which sometimes indicates an outbreak of bubonic plague. However, Barnes said the dead rodents have not been linked to a plague outbreak.

He said health officials in the area would continue to trap and examine rodents near the home of the dead boy to try to find the source of his infection.

A spokesman for the State Health Division said plague can be contracted from flea bites or from rodents infected by fleas.

Officials advised Klamath Falls area residents not to panic, but to take precautions by powdering domestic animals for fleas and staying away from rodents.

In Albuquerque, the Arizona boy was reported in serious condition at the University of New Mexico Hospital.

Dr. Jonathan Mann, New Mexico state epidemiologist, said the boy, whose name was not released, had been hospitalized at Chino, Ariz. but was transferred to the UNM Hospital Tuesday night.

Mann said he thought there would be many more cases before the summer ends.

"The fact that we have a larger number of cases early in the season is of concern," Mann said. "The peak plague season in New Mexico is July, August and September."

Mann said the state had already had seven reported cases this year.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JUNE 21, 1983

A secret desire for which you have worked hard looks like it will come to pass this coming year. Luck will not be a factor. It's something you deserve.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Under your direction, family matters requiring a collective involvement can be carried off today so that all will take pride in participating. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Important matters can be worked out to your satisfaction today if you focus on priorities, not probabilities. Don't make life a guessing game.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If expenditures seem to be getting a little out of hand, take charge of managing the family funds today. Show everyone how to trim spending.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Sometimes it's necessary to take an unyielding position regarding things about which you feel strongly. Today, such a stance might be required.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your charitable instincts will be easily aroused today, but only for those you feel are truly deserving. Moochers won't fool you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be fortunate at forming lasting relationships at this time. If there is a special friendship you wish to cultivate, do so today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Where your career is concerned, this could be a good day to play important trump cards you've been holding back. Size things up carefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A seemingly difficult situation can be resolved today if you use the same tactics which worked for you in the past. Trust what you already know.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is a possibility that you might get a boost today from someone who seldom goes out of his or her way to help others.

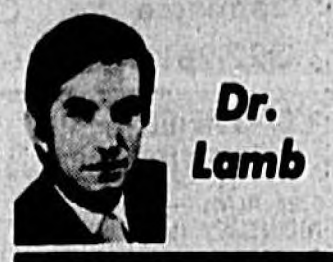

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Making the right decision won't be difficult today if you attempt to treat others as fairly as you would like to be treated yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You should be able to figure out ways to put your ingenuity to good uses today, especially in situations which others have given up on, or discarded.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An opportunity may present itself today that will give you a chance to get together with someone who has been rather elusive.

Screening Out Sun Helps Health Of Skin

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 36-year-old female. We spend a lot of time outdoors and to protect my skin I use a sunscreen with a number 15 rating on my face every day. I also use a moisturizer but nothing else.

Dr. Lamb

I have heard that sunscreens have a deleterious effect on the skin. This concerns me. Would you please comment on this?

DEAR READER — The number on a sunscreen is a rating of its effectiveness in blocking out harmful ultraviolet rays. No, sunscreens are not harmful to your skin. They protect your skin. The ultraviolet radiation in sunlight is what's harmful.

Lotions or liquids that are effective sunscreens contain PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid). It has a chemical action deep within the skin that helps protect the deep structures and the elastic fibers in the skin. It literally helps to prevent the aging response that is inevitable from repeated exposure to the sun.

Rather than putting the sunscreen on when you are already out in the sun, you will get better results if you apply it an hour before exposure to the sun and allow it to soak in.

Moisturizers will not protect you from the sun's radiation. They will help retain the fluid in your skin to prevent wrinkling on a temporary basis.

You can do more to protect your skin. You can avoid the time when the sun's rays are strongest, the midday hours from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Clothing, including hats with large brims, helps too but most people are more interested in taking clothes off than putting them on — resulting in wrinkled, prematurely old skin.

Avoiding a sunburn is important. The least harmful suntan is the one you obtain gradually. A suntan is really the skin's reaction to radiation injury rather than a sign of health.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have had anorexia for over 14 years. I am now seven months pregnant with my second child. During my first pregnancy I was able to control this disorder. I ate sensibly, but gained steadily.

This time I have not controlled my bulimia. I haven't taken diuretics or laxatives as I did earlier in my disease. But I have been vomiting daily. I have not discussed this with my doctor as I am too embarrassed. He tells me I am doing fine. I feel great but I worry that I may be harming the baby. As long as my tests are OK and the baby is growing, do I have any reason for concern about gorging and vomiting?

DEAR READER — What counts is that you retain enough calories, vitamins and minerals to meet both yours and your developing baby's needs. As crude as it sounds, to know that you would need to subtract what you vomit from what you eat.

Your blood and urine tests are helpful but there is much more to nutritional balance than will show on such standard tests. For example, your tests would not show if you are providing enough calcium for you and your baby. I think you should discuss this with your doctor as soon as possible.

bad eyesight makes it impossible for him to play tournament bridge.

Oswald: "Waldy is Life Master No. 4 and was one of the world's greatest players from the late days of auction until that 1970 win. For the record, the last two years that auction championships were played the winning team was Waldy, Dave Bruce (Life Master No. 1), P. Hal Sims (No. 5), and I."

Jim: "You were No. 2 of that list. Here is one of Waldy's hands from that 1970 win. Barbara Brier's immediate club raise kept North-South out of the spade slam, which would fall, and it took great skill on Waldy's part to bring home six clubs."

Oswald: "He ruffed a diamond at trick two, played ace of hearts, ruffed a heart, ruffed a diamond, cashed dummy's last trump, came to hand with the ace of spades, ran all but one trump, and led a spade."

Jim: "He planned to finesse dummy's 10 as a safety play, but West played the queen so Waldy let him hold the trick. West led his last diamond. Waldy ruffed, took the proven spade finesse and had all the match points."

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Jim: "In 1970 when you captained the team of which I was a member and which won the World Championship in Stockholm, Waldemar von Zedtwitz, age 74, won the Mixed Paris Championship with Barbara Brier. The league honored him this year at the Spring Nationals in Hawaii. His mind is still young, but
