AMERICANS TAKE FOREIGN BONDS WORTH A MILLION

Shows Financial Year To Have Been One of Most Unusual in History; Rail Bonds Lead All in Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—American investors during 1924 subscribed more than a billion dollars for foreign loans, an outstanding achievement in a year that passed into financial history as one of the most remarkable on record in the point of new financing.

Not only did the volume of foreign financing establish a new record, but the total of all new capital flotations as well ranked among the highest in history. Although accurate compilations are not yet available, preliminary estimates indicate that public offerings of all stocks and bonds during the year approximated $6,000,000,000, contrasted with $4,700,000,000 in 1923.

Foreign bonds ran a close race with state and municipal offerings for first place in the amount of new business handled. Flotations of the latter aggregating almost $1,000,000,000 eclipsed all previous records, while the latest figures on foreign loans indicated that the total would reach slightly more than $1,200,000,000.

Trading in the bond market throughout the year was marked by a progressive forward movement, governed largely by the easy money situation. As 1924 drew to a close the price average of 40 representative issues was the highest in several years and approximately 6 points above the low mark reached early in the year.

An abundance of idle funds, attracted by gradual reductions in the rate for time and call money and sharp cuts in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate, contributed to the bond market's strength. The flow of idle cash into investment securities carried the price of U. S. government obligations well above par and brought about a steady appreciation in the quoted values of all types of corporation and foreign government issues.

The most striking performances of the year were given by semi-speculative railroad bonds, which led the market in turnover and in the extent of individual gains. The great improvement in the general railroad situation during the year, which was reflected in the leading part played by rail shares in the post-election stock market boom, also enlivened trading in the bonds of the carriers. Net gains of 100 points or more for the year were scored by some of the income and adjustment lens, most directly affected by favorable earnings and dividends developments.

Maintenance of easy money rates throughout the year resulted in the saving of millions of dollars to foreign governments and domestic corporations, which carried out tentative refunding operations at lower interest charges. The bulk of more than $100,000,000 in bond and note offerings by government of Argentina was used to retire maturing issues. The largest refunding program completed during the year was by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad which sold more than $100,000,000 in new bonds to meet 1925 maturities. Satisfactory progress was reported late in the year by the New Haven and St. Paul railroads on their 1925 refunding plans.

The prompt absorption of new financing was one of the favorable developments of the investment market. At no time during the year did the market experience difficulty in digesting new issues, despite the expansion in business. With the investment appetite whetted by the ease of money, virtually all offerings were over-subscribed, many of them three or four times. An unusually large number of high grade note issues was placed privately among institutions without recourse to public offering.

A fair measure of the investment demand was supplied by the heavy over-subscription of the United States Treasury's long-term 4 per cent bond issue to which the government turned late in the year after financing its requirements for several years by short term notes. Within a few days subscriptions for the issue, on which cash purchases were limited to $200,000,000, had exceeded $1,000,000,000. Bankers estimated that total subscriptions, including the exchange of third Liberty 4 1/2 per cent bonds and maturing certificates, would run close to $2,000,000,000.

Overshadowing all other individual bond offerings in importance and widespread interest was the American participation in the international loan to Germany. The $110,000,000 portion of the $200,000,000 financing offered in the United States was more than five

Florida Continues To Increase Its Merchandise Exports In Last Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Florida continued to increase its merchandise exports and during the three months ended Sept. 30, 1924, reached valuations of $9,937,174, as compared with $5,935,587 and $6,929,861 for the first and second quarters of the year, respectively, according to statistics released Thursday by the Department of Commerce. Incidentally, it maintained its 28th place in the relative standing of the states of the union.

Plank boards and scantlings maintained the lead of commodities exported and were valued at $2,012,868 for the quarter under review, an increase of $345,763 over the figures of the previous quarter. Rosin took second place in the list from fertilizers, and reached valuations of $1,424,684 as compared with $1,191,039 for the earlier three-month period. Fertilizer and fertilizer materials, in third place, were valued at $1,200,709, and registered a dip of $120,581 from the figure for the quarter ended June 30, 1924. Next in order came spirits of turpentine amounting to $1,066,182, representing a substantial gain over $730,447, the figures of the previous three months. Non-metallic minerals, valued at $231,134, and textile products at $95,080 also appear in the statistics released.

The first ten states in the tabulation and the amounts of their export trade are New York with figures of $175,909,180; Texas $163,205,839; Pennsylvania, $71,834,632; Illinois, $70,755,613; California $54,374,555; New Jersey $49,852,174; Louisiana, $46,470,829; Michigan, $39,715,774; Ohio, $31,071,984; and Massachusetts, with figures of $27,702,446.

Mississippi just ahead of Florida in the standing, had an advantage of $512,172 in this phase of foreign trade, while Florida in turn led Oklahoma, its runner-up, by $427,278.

Grand totals for the first nine months of the year give Florida figures of $19,532,622 and 31st place in the standing of the different states. Oklahoma in thirteenth place led Florida by $1,679,937, but Florida had the substantial advantage of $2,378,127 over the figures of South Carolina, its runner-up in the race.

Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.

Appetite Ruins The Chances Of Boy Fifteen, To Become Radio Magnate

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 1.—Failed to obtain credit and inability to cope with a hearty appetite brought about the downfall of Arthur Hartman of New York City, when he attempted with a capital of $80, to make a million in the radio business in Albany. Hartman, who is more than six feet tall and said he is only 15, has gone home. He went with a full stomach, but his purse was empty and his hopes to corner the Albany radio supply market were blasted. Hartman told the police he had proposed to his father, a salesman that they embark in the radio supply business. He explained friends had made millions, one of them starting with a capital of only $60. The father was deaf to his proposals, however so he collected a capital of $80 and came to Albany. That was three weeks ago. He wanted an office equipped with second hand furniture, obtained a hotel room for himself and set out to do business. Wholesale radio houses refused to extend credit. He tried firms in nearby cities with the same results. His capital stock shrank and he sold his furniture to get a new start. Luck again went against him. He gave up his hotel room and tried again to collect a stock. His efforts were fruitless, however, and finally he reached the point where both purse and stomach were empty. He realized his failure. His appetite began to bother him then, and so Hartman took his troubles to the police. They turned him over to the humane society and officials of that organization after seeing to it his stomach was filled, gave him some business advice and notified his father. The father came to this city and took the boy back home.

Not So Far A Cry To Sing-Sing

"For the Lord's sake, take this nickel, go get yourself an ice-cream cone, and SHUT UP!"

The little fellow smeared the tears away with his dirty little fist in which the precious nickel was tightly clutched, and started off to the store to get the ice-cream cone. He had not been crying for ice-cream. He had been tagging his nervous mother about the house, up-stairs and down, asking "fool questions", until in desperation she had slapped him. His walls were worse than his question, so the nickel took him away from the house, and gave her a quiet hour.

The child had to cross two streets on the way to the store. He also had the supreme pleasure of stopping to play with a much older boy who was known for his vulgar speech and ugly temper. The place where he bought the cone was unsanitary and the ice-cream was taken from a dirty container.

It was only an incident in the day's happenings, just one of the little things that chanced to come to the reporter's attention. But somehow we see in it a connection with that recent comment of Rev. William E. Cashin, Roman Catholic chaplain at Sing Sing. The Rev. Mr. Cashin says:

"It is perhaps a far cry from answering the endless questions of a child to the clanging of the big gates of Sing Sing and yet the two are related. From 70 to 80 per cent of the criminals come from unsympathetic homes. There is no greater preventive for wrong doing than a great desire on the part of parents to understand their children, to pay attention to them and become their confidants."

Wary men and women are sorely tried sometimes trying to be patient Fathers and Mothers. Usually, however, if they try they can be unselfish—that means putting the needs and the happiness of their children before their own. When this is done, there is pretty certain to be the love and understanding that does more than anything else in the world to keep a child straight, and sweet.

It is then indeed "a far cry to Sing-Sing."

Put Them In Your Lists

As each of us is more or less unconsciously creating our own Litany and our own Beattitudes, it is interesting to take an hour now and then to inscribe the lists in an indexed file.

For instance, don't you like to say right fervently: "From the trouble-hunters, Good Lord deliver us" or "Blessed are the gloom-dispellers"—you very likely have a collection of good phrases that would make a volume of Litanies and Beattitudes.

As for the trouble-hunter, he is one who either has no reasoning power or no faith in God. When Edward Everett Hale said: "Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three, all they have had, all they have now, and all they expect to have."

Then that kind of person "expects" to have every trouble that man or the Devil can devise. Failing utterly to comprehend the truth of the saying that "what we fear will surely come upon us" such a person goes about looking for something to worry about; and finds it every time.

The trouble-hunter, the more the pity, apparently enjoys his misery so much he passes on all the worry possible to the people about him. He goes about carrying gloom and invoking sadness. And in every instance of which we have had any knowledge, the trouble-hunter is blissfully certain that he is "all right" and the rest of the world "all wrong".

So consciously or not, most of us have a paragraph in our personal litany that prays for deliverance from the "trouble-hunter". We also are pretty certain to subscribe to a Beatitude that blesses the gloom-dispeller—not the vacuous optimist who is irritatingly cheerful, but that real gloom-dispeller who believes and knows that God is good.

Cherish your Beattitudes and use your litany as a practical working law.

THAT MAN LIVES happy and in command of himself, who from day to day can say I have lived. Whether clouds obscure, or the sun illumines the following day, that which is past is beyond recall.—Horace.

THE UGLIEST OF trades have their moments of pleasure. Now, if I were a grave-digger, or even a hangman, there are some people I could work for with a great deal of enjoyment.—Douglas Jerrold.

SATURDAY EVENING SERMON

By Rev. Thomas J. Armstrong

"Sleep on now and take your rest—rise, let us be going."—Matthew 26:45-46.

The net of the Pharisees, the environs and the discontented has been drawing steadily closer around Jesus until it would seem for once that the ill will of man and the good will of God are to have their opposite ways with the same man. It is the beginning of that night dark with much uncertainty for the future of mankind—that night on which Jesus Christ is given for a time into the hands of his enemies. The night of the betrayal.

Jesus knows that the critical hour has arrived; hence He takes Peter, James and John apart in Gethsemane for a final secret prayer with His Father. It is necessary that he be undisturbed before he has finished so these men are to form the human bulwark between the rabble and that holy conference of God and His Son! One final opportunity to prove by their acts, their devotion to the Master, before He goes hence.

It is Watch Night, and Peter, James and John are on duty while Jesus goes to prayer. He returns three times only to find them sleeping on their job! And the third time He said unto them: "Sleep on now and take your rest; Behold the hour is at hand and the Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners." It is due to no devotion or diligence of theirs that Jesus is protected from prying eyes. They can claim no thanks that the devotion of Jesus are unbroken by the enemy. They are sleeping on their job.

We Christians have been sleeping on the greatest privilege ever given to man. We have allowed our work to become entangled. The evidence is against us. Not long ago you heard it said that a world war was impossible because economic alliances and diplomatic relations would prevent it. But the war came. Nowhere did you hear it proclaimed that a united church of God would prevent a war.

We need to be aroused to the many opportunities that are constantly presenting themselves for the building of the Kingdom of God. The work of the year 1924 has closed. The opportunities have gone forever. Ponder for a few moments some of the things we had our hearts set on, but which did not come to pass.

The wonderful Jesus has great hopes for a man when he has none for himself. And so He calls, Peter, James and John to meet a new chance—a Golden Opportunity—while there is yet life. He looks into the future when they shall be gripped with the power of the Holy Spirit, and shall boldly carry on His work. "Rise, let us be going." Going to meet face to face, the havoc wrought while they slept—Going to build on their ruined hopes a greater hope yet! While Jesus goes to His death these Disciples of the Lost Opportunity are going to cross safely on Him and His Promise into a new day, in which they can build anew and their lives, on Him as a foundation.

Then let us take courage because we have been permitted to cross from the Old Year into the New Year; rejoicing because Christ has called us to be co-workers with Him.

"Remark, My Soul, the narrow bounds Of the revolving year How swift the weeks complete their rounds How short the months appear! Waken, O God, my lifting heart Its great concern to see, That I may act the Christian part And give the year to Thee."

Mr. Warfield's Plan. Kill Potato Bugs. Queer Justice. Snakes on Stockings. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

S. DAVIES WARFIELD, president of the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, plans an increase in profits for railroads and better freight service for the public through common sense consolidation of box car service.

There are in the country 1,100,000 ordinary box cars owned by the different railroads. The life of these cars is wasted in being hauled back and forth, or stored on sidings, empty. Mr. Warfield suggests a central agency to handle cars for the benefit of all railroads and all carrying business. That would be legal under the plan that Mr. Warfield suggests. It couldn't be accomplished otherwise, except by putting all railroads into one great consolidation. That doubtless will come.

BRITAIN FORBIDS importation of United States potatoes; too many potato bugs. Canada also has potato bugs, but Canadian potatoes are not shut out.

Secretary Hughes' protest calls for equal treatment with Canada. He will learn from Great Britain that potato bugs within the Empire have important redeeming qualities.

The British Empire takes care of the British Empire and all inside it. Therein it differs from some of our mushy imitation statesmen, everlastingly worrying about outside nations.

WHY NOT take a few of the millions we lavish on foreign countries and use them to kill off systematically all potato bugs, mosquitos and such enemies. If cattle ticks can be killed off, why not other pests? How many billions would it be worth to get rid of flies, potato bugs and mosquitos? What would that mean to the public health?

JUSTICE WORKS in her own queer way. The distinguished prize fighter, "Kid" McCoy, in private life Norman Selby was accused of murdering a woman. A bullet went into the back of her head. He says she killed herself. The prosecutor says he killed her and planned to kill her.

THE JURY brings a verdict of manslaughter, in spite of the fact that it was either murder or not murder. Mr. "Kid" McCoy, now safe from hanging, at all events will appeal and can only be convicted of manslaughter.

Judging by recent juries, it has probably been decided that he has "suffered enough" and he'll get off.

LADIES IN Berlin wear snakes embroidered on their stockings, and golden snakes for garters. It's eccentric, but based on gratitude. Ladies would not have any stockings but, perhaps, for the original snake, that walked on the tip of his tail until sentenced.

Woman, the restless element in humanity, is certainly working out some important step in evolution and no one should presumptuously judge her.

COLLINS, CHIEF of police in Chicago, says there are 93,000 men out of work in the city, and predicts, "more crime," where there is already plenty. It might be cheaper to find work for men, instead of waiting to find prison room for them.

The trouble is that it's paternalism, almost socialism, to suggest creating government jobs, whereas it is quite right to give the man free board in prison, after he has started as a criminal.

TO DISCOURAGE crime might seem unfair to lawyers. The gentlemen who saved Leopold and Loeb from the gallows have been paid $150,000 for their work. It was worth it to the parents. They kept hangings out of the family record, so far as is known.

The doctors got even more money than the lawyers. It's worth more to swear that a murderer is crazy than merely to tell the judge that the murderer is innocent.

LORD ROBERT Cecil, an able Britisher, working for the British Empire, says the United States would inspire the League of Nations. It would do more important work than that. It would finance the League if this country were foolish enough to become a member.

"Your money first, inspiration as much as you please, afterwards," would be the League programme.

HIS DEAF EAR

JUST IN PASSING

By R. J. HOLLY

Smith Bros., in the advertisements for cough syrup have long whiskers, but Smith Bros., of Sanford have no whiskers on them and never will have any spinach or moss on them. They are go-getters in the business line and when it comes to having confidence in their home city they are there with the big "mitt" and are buying more city property than any other group of men in Sanford.

There is considerable controversy just now about the by-products of gasoline. With that I am not worried but there is one thing noticeable along the country roads today—most of the by-products are being taken to the hospital.

Most of the college students coming home for the holidays brought good reports with them. For instance one of them received a grade of 100 per cent in his studies—50 in algebra and 60 in Latin.

In June of last year I predicted to some of my fellow conspirators here that business property on First Street would bring $1,000 a front foot in twelve months from that date. It has and is. Just Thursday some of it sold at that figure.

The Herald man asked me the other day what I thought about the future of Sanford. I am not thinking any more, old son. Several years ago I thought and thought and thought. Today I do not think anything about it—I KNOW—that Sanford with a tourist hotel will be a city of twenty-five thousand people in the next three years.

That picture presented in the daily newspapers this week of the young girl who ran away with a bandit only to have him killed and then to be arrested and sent back home should be a lesson to other young girls who marry strangers without knowing who they are or where they came from. Marriage at the best is a lottery and usually your parents know what is best—they have been all through it.

Now that the holidays are over we should all settle down to real business again and make the next three months the greatest months in the history of Sanford. We have so much ahead of us in the way of real prosperity that there is no time to sit down and look backward. We face the greatest year in our history and should be taking advantage of this fact.

Sanford's golf links are the best in the state barring none. Sanford has a country clubhouse that is one of the most comfortable, has one of the best chefs who can supply you with the best accommodations of the best in the country. We should advertise these facts to the world at large and every filling station and business house in the city should tell strangers about it. Sanford has a wonderful asset in the golf links and the Country Club.

From every part of south Florida comes the word of big improvements and real estate changing hands every day. It shows that the people have confidence in Florida and are putting up their money with the idea in mind of one of the greatest developments in latter years. It is a safe and sane investment, shorn of all the glamor of the boom days and filled with wonderful possibilities. Get some real estate in Florida today—you cannot make a mistake.

Headlines in newspapers said "Zero Weather Kills Eight" This will never be a headline coming from Florida but this sort of weather will bring the visitors to Florida on the run and this state will be crowded with them in the next two months.

The Chamber of Commerce is making strenuous efforts to get all the road signs up in the next few weeks. We need some big ones at the various intersections of the main high ways and will have them where the travellers can see them.

At the meeting of the County Commissioners next Tuesday the question of voting bonds for good roads to the tune of one and one-half million dollars will come up for discussion and as it is one of the most important questions before us today the meeting will be most interesting and mark an epoch along the lines of greater improvements. Be there and express yourself.

Paved streets in city and paved roads in counties are the means of bringing in new people, making the older residents closer relationship. This is the time to bond for streets and more comfortable and bringing every part of the country into roads and bond for enough to carry out the wishes of the people in every respect. And when the bonds are voted the commissioners should get the best roads that money can buy and see to it that the money is well spent.

According to an expert in the Yale Forestry School the time is coming when water will be so scarce in the United States that it will be apportioned out to the people at so much a day. Well, this will never happen in Florida and those New England people had better make arrangements to come to Sanford right away. We have plenty of water now and the supply is unlimited.

KAPLAN IS NEW FEATHER KING; BEATS KRAMER

Connecticut Boxer Wins Title In Ninth Round of Bout at New York City Friday Night

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Louis ("Kid") Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., is the new featherweight champion of the world. He stopped Danny Kramer of Philadelphia in 1 minute and 11 seconds of the ninth round in a bout scheduled to go 15 rounds, at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The road to a title is a rough one and brave little Kramer just couldn't make it, that's all. The towel was tossed in to save him from further punishment when it was seen that he would be knocked off his feet and out any second to come. He had made a heartbreak- ing effort to win the crown, but he was not fighter enough. The little Hebrew who, came to this country in the steerage is a real champion and he will be a proud crown-bearer for some time to come. Johnny Dundee and all the others notwithstanding.

Kaplan's speed as was predicted, was too much for Kramer, utterly so. He really didn't cut loose at his usual clip until the sixth round had been turned on and then he was the real Meriden terror. He simply swarmed all over Kramer, whose forte is a one-punch attack, usually the left to the body. He is a southpaw and not a particularly speedy one. He faced speed last night and couldn't checkmate it no- how.

As nearly as the end of the sixth round he began to shake his head doubtfully. He seemed to realize that he was up against it. He had thrown his all into the cage and was being ground up, piece by piece. They pleaded frantically in his corner after the seventh and eighth rounds for him to keep going to take the fight away from Kaplan.

He wasn't up to the job. He tried all that he knew but Kaplan knew so much more, so much more of varied milling that Kramer was simply snowed under. Maxie Hoff, Kramer's manager and chief sec- ond, delayed throwing the towel for a round at least in the hope that Kramer would land a single punch for the title.

It didn't come, and with tears in his eyes Hoff shielded the damp token of surrender. It was a thrilling, bitter fight from first to last and the best man won without any shadow of a doubt. Kaplan now occupies Johnny Dundee's throne, the latter having "vacated" the title, declaring that he could no longer make the weight.

The boxing commission inaugu- rated a featherweight elimination tournament with six starters. Kap- lan is the lone survivor, and the new champion. He's a fighting champion. You can bet your sweet life on that.

A Hint for Beginners

The cross-word puzzle dia- gram is merely a means of con- cealing words which are synony- mous to those listed and which will interlock perfectly and so read equally well crosswise or downwards. Always look for the number of the synonym on the diagram. If horizontal, you must find a word to fit between that number and the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, you must fit your word between the number and the first shaded stop below.
