The Republican Convention

With the date of the National Republican Convention in Philadelphia already set, the question is not only as to the party's probable standard bearer but also as to its attitude on foreign affairs.

YES, HOW DO THOSE THINGS HAPPEN?

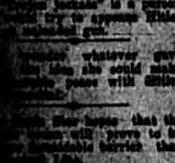

WE MUSTN'T HAVE ANY TALK WITH HITLERS!

ALL HONOR TO COLONEL KNOX

Colonel Frank Knox, publisher and owner of The Chicago Daily News, made with Teddy Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" in Cuba in 1898.

THE NAZIS, FASCISTS AND OTHERS HAVE BEEN GETTING MORE SOUTH AMERICAN NOW THAN THE NAZIS!

BLUE BLOOD IN FLANDERS

Blue blood as well as red sank at the battle of Flanders. The ranks of the British and the American forces were broken by the German tanks and heavy artillery.

AN "HONORABLE PEACE"

Latest reports from Europe indicate that the English terms for French peace were for harsh. France will fight on. At least France will fight on in North Africa.

The Republican Convention

There is one school of thought which believes the Republicans should avoid making an issue of the foreign situation and in the interest of political expediency with respect to European conditions, grant a nomination to a candidate who is not a Republican.

It seems to us that it is unfortunate that the crisis in Europe had to come during an election year in the United States. It may be that the Administration is taking this way as it certainly to some extent at least the hands of the Administration with respect to any year of election it may adopt.

With the development of the European crisis, a considerable shift in the strength of probable Republican presidential nominees has taken place. Six months ago it appeared that Senator Taft had the nomination in the bag.

Wendell Willkie, the guilty executive has stood in the front line a caution bell during the last few weeks. As the seriousness of world conditions has become more evident, a growing feeling has developed that any man worthy of the nomination of either party should be a big man and not just a politician; in fact, he should be the biggest man in the country.

Through similar reasoning Herbert Hoover seems to be rising in public estimation. Robert Moses, writing in the Saturday Evening Post, said of Mr. Hoover, "He is by all odds the most intelligent, the most patriotic and the best equipped mind in the Republican party today."

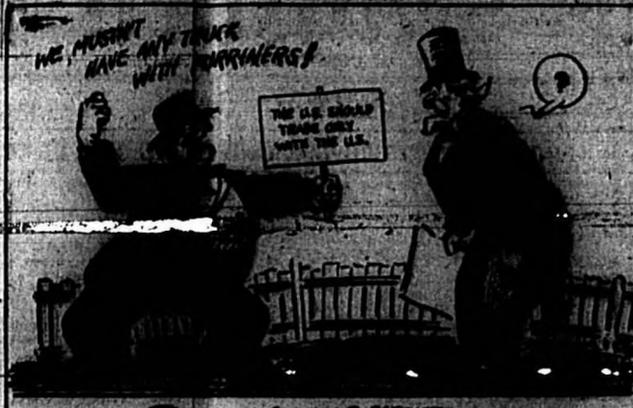

And perhaps the greatest feather in Mr. Hoover's cap on his comeback trail was his almost total endorsement this week by CIO leader, John L. Lewis, who contributed $500,000 to the Democratic war chest in 1932. While denouncing Hoover of any responsibility for the 1932 crash, Mr. Lewis declared, "New Deal policies and weaknesses at the bottom have kept this country in depression for seven more years although it was on its way out of economic collapse in 1932 under policies Hoover pursued in co-operation with other nations."

AN "HONORABLE PEACE"

Latest reports from Europe indicate that the English terms for French peace were for harsh. France will fight on. At least France will fight on in North Africa. In the Near East, France will fight on wherever she can find a machine gun or a spot big enough to land an airplane.

But why Marshal Petain and Weygand thought they could be the kind of a peace with Germany and Italy which the French people would accept, it is difficult to understand. Undoubtedly the Allies are disappointed in the British government which has broken the peace terms of the 1919 Versailles Treaty.

YES, HOW DO THOSE THINGS HAPPEN?

ALL HONOR TO COLONEL KNOX

Colonel Frank Knox, publisher and owner of The Chicago Daily News, made with Teddy Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" in Cuba in 1898.

With the president in a spirit of national unity which the grave danger of the hour demands, we will look in the future to "better" the world generally, to "better" our country, and to "better" ourselves. We will extend to the opponents of force the universal principle of the nation and, at the same time, we will address and appeal to the men of these nations in order that we may solve in the American way the equipment and training equal to the best in the world.

This is the voice of America, speaking through Franklin D. Roosevelt. "It will wrap through the body of the nation, and it will be the voice of every American who wishes to see the privilege of citizenship. It will be the voice of every American who wishes to see the privilege of citizenship. It will be the voice of every American who wishes to see the privilege of citizenship."

Colonel Knox is not personally known in Alabama. It does not seem to have ever been in this section of the state. The advertiser hopes that after the reading of this page have read his enthusiastic editorial declaration of his by writing him a letter. This man truly is a great American! It would be a privilege to write him because the column is under fire in his own name.

Colonel Knox's moving front page editorial is as follows: "Loving peace, and with no national aspirations that clash with other rights, we have, as a people, been slow to believe that we had lost our freedom or our security. We really thought that the world was really incredible that the world that had supplied Western Europe in a moment of famine, the bleeding hole could close the ocean and cut us off from the world. We are now faced with the possibility of a world war that will be a world war. We are now faced with the possibility of a world war that will be a world war. We are now faced with the possibility of a world war that will be a world war."

Miss Caroline Hill Is Entertained At Party

Miss Caroline Hill was entertained Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock with a "no-name" party given by Mrs. W. G. Fleming at her home on Sanford Avenue. The party was opened with the following poem composed by the hostess:

Brides have so many things They all should be happy. They have parties large and small Luncheon, bridge and tea. So this party has no name—of great use in her own household. You'll just giggle, gabble, gobble and get But in between we'll play a game.

For the occasion, Mrs. Fleming decorated the room with bright colored streamers and daisies. On the mantle in the living room a refreshment table was placed which included a bridal party against a background of pink roses and fern arranged in a bubble bowl.

Questions in rhyme were asked the guests and those not being able to answer were required to pay a forfeit. Each guest brought to the bride-to-be an old article that had been of great use in her own household. As the honoree opened these gifts she found many clever verses of direction and advice.

Bridal Party Is Guest Of Miss Jane Sharon

Entertaining the members of the bridal party for the wedding of Miss Eleanor Hickson to Charles Betts which is to be solemnized this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Miss Jane Sharon was hostess last evening at her home on Magnolia Avenue following the wedding rehearsal.

Lavender gladioli were arranged in the living room of the home and an arrangement of white gladioli was placed on the lace covered dining table with white-ribbed napkins burning at each end of the bridal arrangement. Pink crepe myrtle decorated the hall.

Miss Hickson presented her bridesmaids, Miss Jane Sharon, Miss Jane Lloyd, Mrs. Edward Nelson, Mrs. Correll Tally and Mrs. James Boyd, each a gold necklace.

As a gift to the groomsmen: E. G. Hickson, Jr., William Thigpen, Wilson Smith, Braxton Perkins and Richard Deas, Mr. Betts gave tie and handkerchief sets.

The hostess was assisted in serving a buffet supper by Mrs. James Sharon, Jr., and Mrs. Harry B. Lewis. Present with the engaged couple were: Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Hickson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stineshiper, and Rev. and Mrs. Martin Bram.

MOVIE MUSINGS

By CHARLIE MORRISON

DID YOU KNOW?
That Clark Gable got his first big break in pictures as a cowboy?
That Claudette Colbert topped the Hollywood salary list for 1937?
That the first speech ever recorded for talking pictures was made by Will Hays?
That Judy Garland's real name is Frances Ethel Gumm?
That Spencer Tracy is one of the best polo players in Hollywood?
That Greta Garbo's constant snort is an expert on health foods?
That "Cimarron," her first picture, made Irene Dunne a star?
That Ralph Bellamy and Charles Farrell own the popular Racquet Club in Palm Springs?
That Vivien Leigh will probably be Mrs. Vivien Leigh very long?
That "My Favorite Wife" is one of the funniest pictures ever made?

The fact that Sid Hudson, former member of last year's local championship team, is now pitching for the Washington "Senators," recalls to my mind the choice quip about the latter team used by so many sports writers on big city papers. It goes something like this: "Washington—First in the field and first in the hearts of Sanford fans." Isn't it a shame that we're practically last in the matter of attendance?

The picture, "Dr. Cyclops," to be shown tomorrow and Saturday, at the Ritz, is one of the most weird tales ever perpetrated on an audience. It's a story of mad scientists who find a radium mine and makes people shrink to the size of rabbits. How I wish he could reach Herr Hitler. Boy, howdy!

Time schedule for Friday:
Dr. Cyclops: 1:05—3:35—5:45—9:35.
The Showdown: 2:55—5:45—8:35

600 people of many races, creeds and cultures. The administration of the colonies has been directed by the Ministry of Colonies. Most have enjoyed some measure of self-government; the older ones have been directly represented in the French Parliament.

To France—short of many raw materials at home—her overseas possessions have presented a tremendous reservoir of economic wealth, much of it still untapped, as well as markets in which to sell French factory-made goods.

The roll call of French possessions and dependencies around the globe reads like the index to a gazetteer. In northern, central and western Africa are Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia. Sources of wine, minerals, animal products, grains and other farm goods; French Equatorial Africa, French Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, French Sudan, Mauritania, Niger and Dakar (producing timber and wood products, oils and oil seeds, ivory, gold and other metals, fruits, ground-nuts, cocoa, coffee, gum and cotton). French Somaliland is a small patch of land on the east coast of Africa which holds Djibouti, the best port for Italy's Ethiopian hinterland.

In northern South America is rich, sultry and undeveloped French Guiana. Such Oriental longspine waters as Pindisbery, Marika, Chandernagor, Malis and Yanaon are French specks on the map of India. French Indo-China made up of Cochin-China, Annam, Cambodia, Tonkin and Laos, plus Kwangchowan, leased from China, are other Asiatic possessions. Indo-China, with its teeming population, has especially rich and varied raw material resources, and exports rice, rubber, fish, silk, cotton and hides, corn, pepper, tin and tin ore.

To all these far-flung continental regions must also be added a French island empire that dots the Mediterranean and New Caledonia, the Loyalty Islands, the New Hebrides, (shared with Great Britain), the Marquesas, the Comoros, Society and Toubaout Islands in the south Pacific, to St. Pierre and Miquelon in the north Atlantic, and sugar-producing Martinique, Guadeloupe and a few smaller islands in the Caribbean.

"Madagascar, off the coast of southeast Africa, is something more than an ocean 'dot' of French territory. Bigger than France itself and the world's fourth largest island, it covers an area of some 540,000 square miles, with more than 3,000,000 inhabitants. Madagascar exports coffee, hides, ginned meats, vanilla, sugar, opium, vegetable fibers and minerals. Within a few hundred miles of Madagascar are Reunion and a few other scattered French islands.

to display their products and win prize awards, Mr. Kienholz said. Assistance will also be given for rural youth activities, with Kiwanis assisting young farm people financially to carry on farm projects, to purchase purchased stock and poultry and to give farm youth an opportunity to be contestants in country, state and provincial fairs. Calif. pig, egg, poultry and corn clubs sponsored by the service organization are popular among "rural" boys and girls all over the North American continent.

Susan Myrick, of Macon, Ga., technical advisor on manners, customs and Southern accent for the film "Gone With the Wind," told Kiwanis that had the picture been a failure she could never have returned to Georgia. "If the movie did not live up to the Southerners' idea of their accent and to the picture of the Old South, as painted by Margaret Mitchell, I might have been blamed for it," said Miss Myrick.

Especially did she fear, Miss Myrick said, that David O. Selznick, producer of the picture would expect her to teach the sort of Southern accent she had heard in many movies of the South and from many radio speakers who attempted to imitate Southern speech.

"I was scared they'd want me to teach Clark Gable to say something like this: 'Honey Chile, yall show at the next little ole gull Ah evah done seen.' 'I knew if I did that, I could never go home again!' she said.

Expected To Government For Planes

DETROIT, June 20.—(AP)—Although the Ford Motor company has not yet received an order from the government to swing airplane production, all the preliminary steps short of actual output have been taken or contemplated, it was learned yesterday.

Operations for the production of Rolls-Royce Merlin engines are under way at the Ford plants and studies of large construction and assembly problems are going forward rapidly. This was announced yesterday in a statement from London in which the British government has indicated that it has ordered the production of 10,000 Merlin engines for the Ford company.

It was explained at the Ford plant that while the order has not yet reached here it has been ordered and that parts for the engines with which Ford engineers are working already are being made.

The engine, stepped up to 1,400 horsepower, is the one Ford has said Henry Ford has had in mind in contemplating the production of as many as 10,000 a day within six months from the government.

That experiments also have been made for several years in the Ford laboratories

Small Apparatus Is Now Required For Television

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Television is showing indications to expand—that is in all respects except the amount of apparatus required, particularly for picture pickup.

For instance, when New York's tele-announcer, operated by the National Broadcasting Company with the RCA system, went into operation in the Spring of last year, two healthy-sized vans were required to carry the equipment to televising football and other outdoor events. One had the apparatus to make the camera function, the other carried the transmitter.

Now this all has been reduced to such an extent that only about one-tenth as much material in weight is needed. In fact, instead of two motor vans, a station wagon or even a limousine can haul the equipment around. What's more, the cost of the other

He Knew The Judge But He Paid More

PUEBLO, Colo., June 20.—(AP)—It's six dollars extra if you "know the judge" in Justice S. A. Bates' court.

A speeder, arrested by State Patrolman Earl Ormsted, made a grandiloquent gesture. "Okay, give me a ticket," said he. "I know the judge."

Those were costly words, for Justice Bates made no sign of recognition next morning when he assessed a $5 fine, $6 more than a first offender pays when he admits he was moving too rapidly.

Decline in the exchange value of the Chinese dollar has resulted in a drastic curtailment of American tobacco and Shanghai authorities believe that higher prices for cigarettes will cause smokers in the interior to go back to native tobacco.

Small Apparatus Is Now Required For Television

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—Television is showing indications to expand—that is in all respects except the amount of apparatus required, particularly for picture pickup.

For instance, when New York's tele-announcer, operated by the National Broadcasting Company with the RCA system, went into operation in the Spring of last year, two healthy-sized vans were required to carry the equipment to televising football and other outdoor events. One had the apparatus to make the camera function, the other carried the transmitter.

Now this all has been reduced to such an extent that only about one-tenth as much material in weight is needed. In fact, instead of two motor vans, a station wagon or even a limousine can haul the equipment around. What's more, the cost of the other

Nazi Resources And Production Stuns Washington

Opinion Seems To Be That Germans Lied About Their Wealth

BY JACK STINNETT
 WASHINGTON, June 21 (AP)—Washington has been pinching itself ever since the Nazi blitzkrieg started, trying to find out if it had been completely asleep during those months when the experts warned them that Germany couldn't last six months in a major war.

Undoubtedly Great Britain, France and a lot of small neutrals have been wondering the same thing, but they didn't need to pinch themselves. The Nazis walked them up to a living nightmare of losses.

But the nation that economic observers said couldn't last has been able to throw into fighting resources which would burden the wealthiest country in the world.

Fleets of huge tanks, armored with the most invulnerable steel, using as callions of fuel to a mile, will relentlessly cross hundreds of miles from Germany to the thousands of great bombers daily burning gas and oil by the thousands tons, sweep devastation ahead of the tanks. Hundreds of thousands of well-fed, well clothed, well-armed soldiers pour into the paths of death cut by the machines.

Portable bridges, parachutes by the thousands, a mosquito fleet that threatens to descend in hordes on the English navy, thousands of rubber boats to clear the rivers and pontoon the rivers—all appear as if by the wave of a wand from a nation that had rebelled against Europe.

Only because it was hungry and destitute in the midst of its neighbors' plenty.

The only answer you'll find in these parts is that Germany lied about its production, its imports, its consumption. The Nazis must have been lying for years, say the economists.

Greater Germany, with the countries under its thumb today, according to best guesses, is able to get hold of more than 8,000,000 tons of oil products annually. Synthetic oil products alone will be produced in Germany this year to the tune of 4,000,000 tons and the Reich already has commitments for 1,500,000 tons from Rumania, where the price has risen from $15 to $45 a ton since the war started.

The slaughter of 3,000,000 fin-Danish cattle, 4,000,000 pigs and more than 20,000,000 hens already is well under way, with estimates that 20 per cent of the cattle, a third of the hogs and half of the chickens will be gone by autumn. If need be, the farms of Holland and Belgium can be turned to producing food for the Reich's army.

There is no doubt that Germany's economy was not geared for a long war, but neither is there any doubt now, say figure tracers, that her reserves were far in excess of what anyone had been led to believe.

Desperation breeds ingenuity, but the boys who make up the records for your government can't find in the light of their new enlightenment—that there is any indication yet that the Nazis are being called upon to strain their ingenuity.

Australia's purchases of American aeronautical products in the first four months of this year totaled over $5,000,000.

Gold mined in East Africa this year is expected to total nearly $5,000,000. Truck chassis and wheat are the principal United States imports of Hong Kong.

Italians Expect France Will Stop Fight By Saturday

BORDEAUX, France, June 20.—(AP)—Reports were widely circulated last night without official confirmation—that Germany's major peace terms are unacceptable to the French and that President LeBrun and other leaders have gone, or may go, to Algiers to preserve the framework of a fighting government.

LeBrun one report said, was or would be government, as of the presidents of the chamber of deputies and senate, respectively Edouard Herriot and Jules Jeanneney.

The reports seemed to converge in the sense that France may try to fight on.

Officially it was stated merely that the French government has submitted the terms of its negotiations to the Germans and is awaiting an answer.

However, tonight's reports said the government of Marshal Pétain had learned the gist of the main German terms, and had found them too harsh.

A British radio broadcast placed up tonight by NBC said three French representatives, General Huntziger, Paul Baudouin and Leon Noel, had left for an undisclosed destination.

If France does continue the fight, it was thought likely she would eventually fall back on her north African possessions from which her armies and those of Britain could squeeze Italian Libya.

There has been no let up in the slow withdrawal of weary French armies.

Latest German pushes apparently were aimed at a quick cleanup of France's English Channel coast, and the cutting off of France's third city, Lyons.

Two strong German columns converged on Lyons—one from the Swiss frontier to the northeast, the other past Nevers, to the northwest.

Along the Swiss frontier, the French said the battlefront is too confused for a clear picture of what has happened. Resistance there was described as probably "very weak."

The French government publicly repudiated a recent cabinet member for having urged from London a continuance of resistance against Germany.

The rebels was addressed bluntly by General de Gaulle, the undersecretary for national defense in the Reynaud war cabinet which resigned Sunday.

General de Gaulle was taken to task specifically by Interior Minister Pomaret for having addressed in a London broadcast the night a French-British mission, with the industrial help of the United States, "to crush our enemies."

Pomaret said de Gaulle had been ordered to return to France from London.

The cabinet, with Spanish Ambassador Leizaola, the axis intermediary, reported sitting in, appointed a group of plenipotentiaries to go to whatever place is designated by Germany and there to learn the price fixed by Hitler and Mussolini, and to accept or reject it.

The names of these emissaries were not disclosed officially. (Dispatches from Madrid indicated, however, that Henry Berganger, former France ambassador to the United States, would head them.)

Credited reports mentioned Madrid, and specifically the residence there of Generalissimo Franco of Spain, as the likely meeting place.

The French communiqué said nothing on the question of when and where, beyond this:

"The government of the republic will make known the date and the place when these plenipotentiaries will be received."

The possibility that some Frenchmen, at least, might be prepared to continue resistance away from the homeland if they felt it made necessary by the axis terms was seen in a declaration over the French radio that France's maritime communications had been assured in the western Mediterranean.

This appeared to mean that Algeria was standing fast.

Hoover Discusses Reasons For Rise Of Dictatorship

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, discussed the reasons for the rise of dictatorship in a speech before the American Bar Association.

Hoover said that democracy is a fragile plant, and that it can be destroyed by a few bad apples.

He said that the rise of dictatorship is often the result of economic hardship and social unrest.

Hoover said that the only way to prevent the rise of dictatorship is to maintain a strong and healthy democracy.

He said that the American people must be vigilant and must not allow themselves to be misled by demagogues.

Great Britain To Send Children To Overseas Havens

LONDON, June 20.—(AP)—Great Britain has created a reception board to handle migration of British children to overseas havens, including the United States.

Announcing the organization in the House of Commons yesterday, Clement E. Attlee, lord privy seal, said that removal of part of Britain's child population was a "matter of the utmost urgency."

The board proposes to send as many of England's 6,000,000 school-age youngsters as available ships can carry and overseas reception areas would be prepared to take.

Sponsors say the dominions are hoping the older children will find a new life from which they will not return. They admit that, to such extent, it might be considered a step toward shifting the British empire's center of gravity away from home.

Already Canada is asking for 10,000, Australia for 5,000, New Zealand for 2,500, South America for several thousand.

United States requests have come from various unnamed associations. No estimate of the number wanted is available and details of the plan, so far as the United States is concerned, are incomplete.

Premature estimates in the British press say 200,000 children could be moved. Informed persons say it is not anticipated that any such number could be transferred quickly, in view of the war's demand on ships.

Only children under 16 are eligible. If they are to be granted schools their transportation will be free. Otherwise parents must pay about $50 to Canada or $80 to Australia. Once the children are in reception areas their parents will contribute on the basis of ability to pay, or pay nothing (about $1.20) weekly per child with no questions asked about ability.

The phrase "balanced migration" is used, because it is planned to select the children carefully—all must pass physical examinations—and place them with due consideration to standards of living, type of schools and climate of reception areas and so on. Each area would get a cross-section of British citizenship.

Clothing will be provided. Children will be accompanied by staff, but not by any parents—with the possible exception of mothers who are soldiers' widows. Migrants will go to individual families. Informants in many quarters said it was hardly likely British ships used for the transportation of children could be specially marked or lighted, because of their other war uses, but they will be carefully guarded.

Long lines of parents sought information today as to the possibility of sending their children to Canada. WAR—

Democracy Based On Belief In God, Says Stettinius

NEW YORK, June 20.—A firm belief in God is declared by Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., who has resigned as Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation to join President Roosevelt's Advisory National Defense Commission, to be the basis of democracy and freedom.

"We earthly powers can prevail against the trinity—faith, hope and charity—for they spring from and can exist only in the possession of a firm and enduring belief in a Supreme Being Who is all-wise and all-powerful," says Mr. Stettinius. "Our nation was founded on that belief."

The founding fathers did not present us how we were to worship. But by their every word and deed they acknowledged God and established the principle that the State should never presume to take to itself the attributes of absolute power.

"Today there seems to be a tendency in many quarters to neglect the material above the spiritual. The simple, idealistic devotion to be as good as our fathers were. Yet these ideals are not the very roots of our rights as free men. If we permit these ideals to be destroyed our freedom will leave with them."

"If it is not by some chance that some nations which are governed by absolute dictators make you an idolater. They must destroy the dignity and importance of the individual and the individual's right to be a free man."

Mr. Stettinius said it is his conviction that the only way to prevent the rise of dictatorship is to maintain a strong and healthy democracy.

He said that the American people must be vigilant and must not allow themselves to be misled by demagogues.

City Asks Funds For Bureau Of Entomology Here

FDR Plans Economic Defense For Americas

Par-American Co-operation Would Supplement Military New World Defense Program For Unity Okeyed

Plan Ordered Submitted To Other Nations For Approval

HYDE PARK, June 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today his program for Pan-American economic co-operation involved "economic defense designed to supplement our military defense program. In a statement issued shortly after he arrived from Washington, President Roosevelt asserted the contemplated measures for achieving economic unity among the Pan-American republics were intended as a further safeguard for peace in this hemisphere and as a means for protecting our economy and the economies of the other American republics from the repercussions of the disturbed international situation. He omitted any reference to Canada, although presidential aides previously said the Dominion would be invited to participate in the program for economic unity. The program for economic unity was approved by the President last night and ordered submitted to the other American re-

Red Cross Has $1652 Of Its Quota Of $2400

Enlargement Of Production Program Planned By Chapter

Contributions toward the second Red Cross quota of $2400 have reached a total of $1652.42, about 69 percent of the goal which the local chapter hopes to attain by June 30, Mrs. James G. Sharpe, Jr., chairman of the chapter, said today.

Mrs. Sharpe also announced that in addition to its efforts toward raising funds, the local chapter will concentrate on another phase of work, the production program, and a call was made for assistance in the making of dress suits and other items of wearing apparel for refugees.

Mrs. Sharpe said that the Red Cross headquarters at 151 Palm Avenue will be open every morning in the week from 9:30 to 12:30 o'clock for the purpose of receiving inquiries, receiving orders, and have kept made up, and having all materials to be used for making clothing.

The Sanford Women's Club has adopted this production as one of its major projects, and a number of sewing machines will be loaned to the chapter.

Dowling Favors Improvement Of Florida Roads

Commissioners Told $140,000,000 Needed For Modern System

More than $140,000,000 is needed to make Florida's highway system adequate for national defense, J. H. Dowling, chief engineer of the State Road Department, told the annual convention of the Florida Association of Boards of County Commissioners in Miami today.

Seminole County officials, including the Commissioners, the County Clerk and the County Attorney heard Mr. Dowling graphically picture the weaknesses of the Florida road system and the need for strengthening the system which he said occupies a new and vital place in the national defense program.

"National defense is the all-consuming theme in official circles, in newspapers, magazines and on the street," Dowling said. "We know that we have been extremely careless and negligent in matters pertaining to national defense. Now that the day is here when we must take an account of our facilities for defense, we find ourselves woefully lacking in even the most fundamental and simple things."

"I pointed out last night by the GOP publicity director, Frank W. Wallman, 'How would you do it?' he asked.

Individual leaders also stated it was necessary to use the nation's resources in relation to the road system. They emphasized the importance of the road system in the national defense program, and the need for a modern system of roads.

Knox and Stimson Are Unanimously Ousted From Ranks Of Republicans

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—The Republican caucus today ousted from its ranks both Frank L. Knox, Secretary of War, and Henry H. Stimson, Secretary of State, by a vote of 100 to 0.

The caucus, held in the House of Representatives, was the first since the party's nomination of Wendell Willkie for President last November. It was held to elect a new Secretary of War and Secretary of State.

The vote was unanimous, and the ouster of Knox and Stimson was a major victory for the party's right wing.

The new Secretary of War is Gen. George C. Kennerly, and the new Secretary of State is Mr. Clegg.

Senate Group To Probe New Appointments

Debate Over Defense Policies Shapes Up Around Selection Of Knox And Stimson

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(AP)—The Senate Military committee today ordered hearings on President Roosevelt's nomination of Henry Stimson as Secretary of War. Stimson himself will be called to testify. As the momentous Senate debate over foreign and defense policies shaped up around the Stimson appointment and that of Frank L. Knox for Secretary of the Navy, it appeared there would be no action on their confirmation for more than a week.

Members of the Military Committee said the demands for hearings on Stimson came chiefly from Republicans. Knox said in Chicago the President had asked him to manage the Navy on a non-political basis. He accepted "on that basis."

An opposite view was taken by some Democrats and other leading Republicans, including former President Hoover and Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for the Republican nomination.

Hoover said no question of a coalition cabinet was involved and that Knox and Stimson are not representing the Republican party. Dewey charged the appointments were designed to camouflage the administration's failure to prepare the nation's defense.

Democratic Senators Wheeler of Montana and Clark of Missouri said Roosevelt was forming a "war cabinet" and had chosen two "notorious interventionists."

Clark said he would oppose confirmation of both appointments if they come to the Senate floor.

The appointments, neither of which would be official until confirmed by the Senate, astounded the capital. It had been reported for weeks that Roosevelt was rejecting the Republican label.

Roosevelt confirmed this in effect when he used the term "national solidarity."

Formation of a bi-partisan cabinet, one that would include both parties, might mean a "coalition" was without precedent since Abraham Lincoln's fusion administration in 1861, although Roosevelt's officials already contained two former Republicans—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Secretary of the Interior Ickes.

Knox, 1936 Republican vice-presidential candidate and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, will succeed Secretary Charles E. Wilson, who has resigned, effective Monday, to run as an independent candidate for governor of New Jersey.

Stimson, secretary of war and secretary of state under two Republican administrations, will succeed Secretary Harry Woodring, who tendered his resignation, effective immediately, only an hour before the appointments were announced.

Stimson Urges U. S. Open Bases To Allied Fleets

Says No Troops Need Be Sent Abroad To Combat Nazi Menace

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 21.—(AP)—Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of State in the Hoover Cabinet, recommended in a nationwide broadcast that, in view of the collapse in Europe of resistance to the totalitarian armies, the United States should open its naval bases in the Atlantic Ocean to the Allied fleet to enable them to patrol the ocean.

"Such co-operation could be made effective and could probably do its work without the necessity of sending any American soldiers abroad," he said. "On the other hand, if no such co-operation were given and if the British fleet were rendered helpless or fell into German power, our men would soon be fighting for their own and our lives on American soil, and our citizens' homes would be thrown open to destruction from hostile air forces operating from a base easily commanding air bases."

Mr. Stimson, who was in New Haven to attend commencement at Yale University, spoke over the blue network of the National Broadcasting Co. (Continued on Page Five)

Italy Announces Plan For Separate Peace Discussions

Sumner Bows To Snow Flurry In Upper New York

ROME, June 21.—(AP)—Italy announced last night that France already talking peace terms with Adolf Hitler, has asked Italy to negotiate for a separate armistice.

The government disclosed the request was relayed to Rome through Spanish intermediaries, and through the same channel Italy sent her reply "in the name of Germany's."

France was told to advise Italy the names of its plenipotentiaries. The date and place then would be fixed.

Even before the discussion of terms, Mussolini's troops were preparing to occupy the Savoy region of southern France.

The newspaper La Tribuna's military expert said the Italian action would be joined by the German army along a line from St. Didier, on the Italo-French border, through Lyons to Clermont-Ferrand. The zone of German occupation in eastern France thus would find its southern limit on the edge of Savoy.

Italian occupation of the Savoy regions is not, apparently, expected to meet serious French resistance. The official Stefani agency circulated a Bern, Switzerland, dispatch stating hostilities between France and the axis powers were expected to cease today "or at the latest Saturday."

Two Autos Damaged Badly In Collision

Two cars were badly damaged but no one injured when James May, Sanford negro, and L. P. Barrow of DeLand collided at the intersection of State Road 77 and the road from Lake Monroe about 1:30 o'clock yesterday evening. The sheriff's office reported this morning.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Williams said Barrow pulled into the highway in front of the approaching May who was traveling westward. Williams made the report.

May's car was damaged by the collision.

Hitler Personally Hands His Peace Terms In Railway Car At Compiegne

French Action Is Unreported

German Troops Take French Battleships Under Construction

Hitler personally handed his peace terms—described as not humiliating for France—to the French armistice envoys in the historic railway car in the French forest of Compiegne.

The scene was the identical spot where Imperial Germany surrendered to the victorious Allies at the end of the World War, Nov. 11, 1918.

No immediate hour was given for the "cease firing" order, which is expected to follow swiftly—unless France rejects the Axis-dictated terms.

German troops still are mopping up sections of France's now abandoned Maginot Line. Two 35,000-ton French battleships, the Clemenceau and Richelieu were captured at Brest, where they were being built.

The Nazi Fuehrer met the French plenipotentiaries in the same historic railway car in which Marshal Foch dictated the terms on which Kaiser Wilhelm's Imperial armies laid down their arms.

Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the Nazi high command, first read the preamble to the armistice conditions, with Hitler remaining silent nearby.

Four aims of the German armistice terms were announced:

To prevent continuance of the war in France, there would have to be:

(1) Complete demilitarization of the French coast.

(2) Full guarantee "necessary for the continuance of the war against Great Britain."

(3) French industries, materials, wealth to be taken over by Germany to fight England.

(4) Pre-conditions for a new European peace.

In that car, at 11 o'clock of the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, Maxime Weygand, the losing Allied generalissimo of the war, stood with Foch while the conquering marshal signed with a sorrowful German delegation a peace dictated on Allied terms. This was three days after the terms had been made known.

For Germany, today is an anniversary in time as well as in memory. For on Friday, June 21, 1919, the German battle fleet was scuttled at Scapa Flow—just one week before the signing of the treaty of Versailles, against which Hitler has thundered so long.

While that armistice of a generation ago was yesterdays on the conditions that the Allies had made, this one is expected to be no less firm on conditions—but Germany has made.

While this new ceremony between victor and vanquished was being prepared, Hitler's air force gathered strength for the battle already launched against Britain.

Four French emissaries, in a white plane, flew yesterday to a rendezvous with Hitler and his delegates to learn at what further cost to France Germany would halt the lightning war which has engulfed half of that nation.

German conquest of most of the western European coast—the last success being the capture of the French naval base of Brest, reported as strategically placed for blitzkrieg against the British even while peace is being concluded with France.

The German press and radio acknowledged in repeated reports that French officials disagreed over laying down arms, but added that this was of no importance.

"No logical mind in England or France... is able to make a decision which envisages putting up resistance against German troops on French soil," one newspaper commented.

Mercury Falls To Record Lows In Many Sections Of North

Sumner bowed into upper New York State today—in a flurry of sub-freezing temperatures and a coat of snow. Bathing suits were routed by sweaters and topcoats throughout the northern part of the state, and at Whiteface Mountain near Lake Placid the temperature skidded into an amazing 26 degrees. Nearly an inch of snow cloaked the summit following the storm.

While mass cold air moving down from Canada carried the uncomfortable chill along the border, its front portion brought welcome success from the heat of the southern states.

Low readings: Concord, New Hampshire, 36; Grand Rapids, Mich., 39; Chicago and Cleveland, 47; Louisville and Asheville, 50; Nashville, 57. The southward sweep of the cool mass promised relief to the southeast where high yesterday ran to 99 in Jacksonville.

Are You Counted In Census For 1940?

"If the census enumerator has not visited you, please leave your name and address at The Sanford Herald or at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce building so that you can be contacted and counted in the 1940 census of this county," Secretary Edward Higgins of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce said today. Pointing out that it is important that Seminole County show as much progress as possible in the last 16 years, Mr. Higgins stated that every family that is not counted will be a blot on the county's record for the census since the last one in 1920.
