Scores Of U.S. Banks Will Lend Money For Repair Of Homes

Moffett Credits Bankers With Fine Response To Invitation To Assist In Move

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—By nightfall the Federal Housing Administration expects every city to have at least one bank where property owners can obtain insured loans for repairs and improvements.

Roger Steffan, director of modernization credits, said today as telegrams from bankers piled upon his desk.

His chief, James A. Moffett, backed him up with an optimistic statement about bankers' willingness to make such loans.

"Enough banks already have accepted the loan insurance plan," he said, "to handle more business than we can send them immediately. The response of the bankers has been fine. They may not come in 100 percent but that isn't necessary, and we never expected it."

The Housing Administration announced the names of bankers selected in co-operation with the American Bankers Association to advise and inform financial institutions in each state on the modernization program.

Bankers so appointed are "liaison officers" to disseminate information and advise banks in their states. J. N. Greening, Lakeland, was appointed for Florida.

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO KEEP PRICES LOW

President Discusses Relief For Farmers; Necessity For Holding Food Costs Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday discussed means to assuage drought devastation by assuring adequate relief for stricken farmers and sufficient food supplies at reasonable prices for the nation's consumers.

At the same time he re-emphasized his decree against political activity by relief workers and approved dismissal of any federal agents running for political office or participating in political campaigns.

He asked Secretary Wallace and Aubrey Williams, acting federal relief administrator, to work out a system to permit federal surplus of surplus foodstuffs and feed which might otherwise go to waste.

Both Wallace and Williams asserted there was no danger whatsoever of a serious food shortage. The purchase plan was arranged for a double purpose: to help growers and to make certain no food is wasted.

In this connection, it was said, without government purchases persons who raised small quantities of food and feed might not think it worth while to harvest their crops.

Some observers said the program might have a secondary purpose of preventing possible profiteering in food, although there was no official confirmation of any such intention in direct connection with the new plan.

An accumulation of government supplies might, it was pointed out, prevent wide price fluctuations caused by speculation.

The practice of buying surplus crops for relief distribution is nothing new. The Federal Surplus Relief Corporation and the Farm Administration have already spent millions that way. An example is cattle purchases in the West. More than 2,000,000 head already have been bought by the government.

One official said the purchases might be as small as quantities of one carload in a community. Detailed plans are to be worked out later.

Secretary Wallace indicated after leaving the White House that there was no prospect of any fundamental change in Farm Administration plans.

Early in the drought it became evident that more acres for many principal crops would be planted next year. The secretary and his aides have contended they intended to abandon restriction campaigns all along once they had eliminated surpluses.

Wallace said the farm act had the flexibility to meet the drought problem, including any needed surpluses.

Riddle also commented on the closing of some stores in Sulphur Springs, which he said was "a symptom of the FERA or should be."

CITY COMMISSION HOLDS UP OKEY OF NEW TAX ROLL

Further Study To Be Made Of Complaints Lodged Last Night

Approval of the 1934-35 tax assessment roll was ordered delayed for two weeks during a City Commission meeting last night so that the Commissioners might study several complaints which were lodged during the meeting, particularly one relating to the personal property assessment of the Florida Power and Light Co.

The Commissioners found themselves in a spending mood last night, after they had diagnosed a few other tax assessment complaints, for they not only authorized City Clerk F. S. Lawson to make arrangements to buy another city dump truck and a new car for the police department, but also to find out how much it would cost to install road police cars, to light Municipal Airport if the equipment is donated, and to lay a new water line from Second Street between Magnolia and Park Avenues.

In addition they authorized $455 to repair the pavilion at Evergreen Cemetery, purchased seven locally built garbage receptacles at $15 each, set up a $500 fund to be used to start construction of some of the 500 sanitary toilets said to be needed inside the city limits, purchased two motorcars for the Fire Department for $40, and finally, authorized City Attorney F. R. Wilson to protect the nearly $3000 which the City has in taxes and special assessments, on three firehouse homes that are about to be foreclosed upon.

The Commissioners further gave some consideration to a $600 bid made by J. S. Hall of Winter Park for removing all the wooden piling in the yacht basin. No action was taken pending further investigation of a possible cut in this connection.

H. H. Coleman and A. B. Crosby, of Miami, representing the Florida Power and Light Co., appeared before the Commission at the meeting opened to ask for a reduction in the firm's personal property assessment.

The Commissioners cut short a discussion of the subject by asking Mr. Coleman and Mr. Crosby to tender an inventory of the property owned by the firm in the city limits, and the amount that has been removed from various property recently.

STOCK MARTS MUST BARE SELVES TO ALL

New Control Board Orders All Exchanges To Disclose Details Of Organization

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The nation's stock exchanges were required yesterday by the federal securities and exchange commission to tell the world about themselves as a prerequisite to doing business.

The commission issued its first rules and regulations for the registration of exchanges and listed securities. For the most part, they were searching questions, designed to lay the basis for future and more drastic supervision.

The commission also required that corporations whose securities are now listed must file a registration statement with the SEC. This statement is virtually only a form, to be superseded later by much more detailed data.

Registration means simply that exchanges and corporations must file with the commission certain specified information about themselves, which information will be available to the public in general, and on which the public may decide whether to buy or sell securities.

Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy, at a press conference, said the rules did not as yet constitute safeguards for investors, but they will give the information on which such protection still be based.

Kennedy emphasized also that the commission's control was no guarantee of the soundness of a stock, and that any person who expected government supervision to make the market "go up where he was long, or down, when he was short" was mistaken.

The rules and regulations do make a few absolute requirements of exchanges in conformity with the exchange act. Exchanges must have a rule for the suspension and expulsion of members, and must specifically agree to abide by and enforce the exchange act and the commission's regulations.

Officers, directors and principal stock holders must, beginning in November, inform the commission if they trade in their company's stock. The exchange act provides that profits made from such transactions must go into the company's treasury.

The rule also exempts certain securities from registration, and Chairman Kennedy emphasized the exemption of foreign government and corporation securities. It was necessary to exempt these, he said, to protect American investors, who might otherwise suffer if foreign agencies decided not to list their securities.

430,000 Homes In U.S. Hands Are Mortgaged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The government holds the mortgages on more than 430,000 American homes, a survey showed yesterday, and before the activities of the Home Owners Loan Corporation are completed the total may reach nearly 1,000,000.

The HOLC's bonds, guaranteed by the government, have been exchanged for mortgages, totaling $1,300,000,000. This leaves the corporation with $1,700,000,000 in bonds it can still put out.

Besides the 400,000 homes already noted, another 400,000 cases are nearly ready to go through the HOLC mill. Almost 700,000 more home owners have applied for loans.

Seek Wheat Reduction In European Nations

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Obtaining of commitments for acreage reduction from the big European countries as well as from the chief exporting nations appeared to be the first objective of the wheat conference.

It was learned from a private source that acreage reduction is the first point on the closely guarded agenda of the international gathering which opened today.

The new scheme for quarterly export quotas, it was stated, probably will not be reached for several days.

A reduction of at least 10 percent in wheat acreage in the nations classified as exporters, such as France, Italy and Germany, in addition to a cut of 15 percent or more by the big exporters is expected to be sought.

Sholtz Suspends Constable, Registrar On Charges Of Misconduct In Office

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Governor Dave Sholtz yesterday suspended a constable and a county supervisor of registration, on charges of misconduct in office.

The constable was M. E. Law of District 11 in Polk county. Governor Sholtz said he would not appoint a successor as he considered the office unnecessary and "so I'll save the taxpayers some money."

He recommended to the 1935 legislature that it abolish the offices of constable and justice of the peace.

The County Supervisor of Registration was Mrs. L. E. Wells of Pasco county. Joe C. Greer of Dade City was appointed successor.

In his suspension order, the Governor said Law collected fees to which he had no lawful claim; failed to record all his collections; interfered with the operation of the justice of peace court; cursed and swore at the justice; refused to serve legal papers at times and had been guilty of drunkenness.

The order suspending Mrs. Wells said she certified as qualified voters names of persons who had not paid their poll taxes; certified as exempt from poll taxes persons who were not exempt and was guilty of neglect of her duty.

Serious Trouble Averted In Business District Last Night As Armed Negro Picked Up

The "nick of time" arrival of local police and their subsequent technical arrest of an armed negro who was virtually holding a mob of over 100 white men at bay, is held as having averted serious trouble in the business district early last night.

The negro, J. B. McIntyre, operator of the Sanford Atlantic Bank building elevator, and Chief of Police Roy G. Williams removed him to another city late last night for safe-keeping, although at midnight Chief Williams was of the opinion that "The trouble would blow over."

Gathering of the mob and the excitement which followed, came as the result of a dramatic scene in police court late yesterday, a scene in which L. B. Woods, white man, resenting a remark made by McIntyre, went after the negro with a knife.

This scene and the near riot at the bank later in the evening, had their beginnings on First Street near Magnolia Avenue on Saturday night, Aug. 4.

According to testimony introduced in Police Court, stories told by Judge S. A. B. Wilkinson and Chief Williams, and the negro when interviewed in the County Jail late last night, Mr. and Mrs. Woods were in a throng of Saturday night shoppers when a young negro later identified as Sally Luten, passed between the Woods.

In passing, the negro is said to have justed Mrs. Woods, and Mr. Woods reached out, held the negro by the arm, and asked what she meant by coming between the pair.

The negro is alleged to have said "I didn't know that she was your — woman," upon which remark, Woods shoved her off the sidewalk into the street.

In falling, the negro's nose struck an automobile bumper and she was cut deeply.

Officer Bob Wilcox reached the scene a few moments later, and ordered Mr. and Mrs. Woods and the negro to appear in court on Monday, Aug. 6. Other persons, witnesses to the affair, also were instructed to appear.

The negro, under treatment of physicians, was not able to appear in court last Monday, and the case was continued until yesterday.

According to Judge Wilkinson, the case had proceeded smoothly before him yesterday until he called upon McIntyre, who as the (Continued On Page Three)

Cattlemen Attend Sale Of Cows At Kissimmee Monday

Party of Seminole County Cattlemen returned from Kissimmee late yesterday with County Agent C. R. Dawson to report an interesting day spent in observing the first of a series of FERA cattle purchase sales held in Florida.

The government purchased 250 head of native range cattle from Henry O. Partin of Kissimmee in what was considered as a demonstration sale.

According to Agent Dawson, the cattle were appraised by two Kissimmee cattlemen, and "very good prices were allowed." One hundred and twenty five of the animals were classed as two years old and over while six of these animals were condemned by the U. S. meat inspector and ordered not shipped.

The cattle were purchased by the government for $6 per head, Mr. Dawson stated, with a $6 per head benefit payment, or a total of $12 to Mr. Partin for each cow in that group.

Five cows were valued at $13, 27 at $14, 30 at $15, 35 at $16, 14 at $17, and eight at $18, or a total for the 125 cows of $1867.

Of the 80 cows classed as yearlings, two were condemned as being unfit for human consumption. The average value of these animals was $5 per head, with a benefit payment of $5, or a total of $10 per head.

In addition, 10 yearlings were appraised at $11.39 at $12.32 at $13, seven at $14, or a total of $1299 paid for the 80 yearlings.

Forty five calves were included in the sale and they brought $294, Mr. Dawson stated.

The average for the entire sale of 250 head of cattle was about $14 per head.

Since at present there is little or no market for beef cattle over two years old, all cattlemen present considered the sale a success.

Mr. Dawson sees as a result of yesterday's sale, a possible increase of from 7000 to 15,000 of the number of cattle that will be offered to the government.

E. S. Rigney Fined $25 For Selling Lottery Tickets

Continuing their drive against persons selling or possessing lottery tickets of any kind, local police made two arrests last week, the defendants being E. S. Rigney, white man, and Fred "Smooles" Clair, a negro.

Arraigned before Judge S. A. B. Wilkinson in Police Court yesterday afternoon they were each fined $25. They were charged with selling lottery tickets.

As reported in another column of The Herald, the excitement attending the case of L. B. Woods, white, and Sallie Luten, young negro, both charged with disorderly conduct, was the feature of the court session.

Mr. Woods was dismissed of the charge while the girl was fined $5, with the fine later dismissed.

Joe Williams, white, charged with drunkenness, was fined $3. Herbert Brinsh, drunk, fined $5.

David Jeffries, larceny, given a suspended sentence of $5.

Jeff Waymer, drunk and disorderly, fined $5.

Jim Black alias James McMullen, larceny, fined $50. He had stolen a $2 slip from the McCrory Store on First Street.

D. D. Curry, breaking and entering, transferred to Lake county constable.

DIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD'S WONDERFUL LOVE: For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

Isn't it funny that when a woman is "around twenty," she may be either nineteen, twenty, or twenty-one, but when she is "around forty," she may be any age up to sixty.

The government, so Harry Hopkins says, is determined to do something to help the white collar workers. After all they have been through during the past few years, a fresh collar would not be frowned upon.

We read in the Tampa Tribune, a definition of budgets, by the New York Times, as it might have been found in "Alice in Wonderland." "And what are budgets?" asked little Alice. "You know mid-gets?" countered the professor. "Yes, said Alice, 'I have seen pictures of them.' "Well," said the professor, "budgets are just the opposite, and they're getting bigger every year."

Denque mosquitoes do not breed in "ground water," says a public health department official. "They breed only in the stagnant water found in tin cans, broken bottles, and other discarded containers." It should be easy then to prevent the spread of denque. Get housekeepers to destroy such things in the future, get yard men to bury them where they have already been thrown away.

The Long-Walmaley fiasco in New Orleans reminds us very strongly of a couple of small boys standing on opposite sides of the street thumbing their noses at each other and calling ugly names. We honestly believe, that if someone unexpectedly dropped a lighted firecracker in the middle of the street, both of them would dive into the nearest bushes the instant it exploded.

If William Jennings Bryan were alive today it is doubtful whether his satisfaction over the New Deal's silver policy would counterbalance his disapproval of its attitude toward the candidacy of his brother, Charles, for the United States Senate. Brother Charles is running against Arthur F. Miller in Nebraska, Roosevelt's full leader at the Chicago convention, said to have been brought out by the Administration because Bryan is not in sympathy with the NEA or the AAA.

Cubans won their independence from the tyrant, Machado, one year ago this week, in a bloody revolution which has lasted more or less continuously ever since. The events in Cuba during the past year emphasize very strongly the unhappy condition of a people who have overthrown their government but still are not free. They do not often better their standards of living or their business opportunities. In the case of Cuba, revolution has followed in the wake of revolution, and today, after a long weary year, the immolation of another revolution, a communist revolution, is feared.

Hitler is continuing his drive against various religious sects in Germany, to be continued chiefly with Protestants and Catholics as well as Jews. Sunday many evangelists passed, denouncing in their pulpits against these practices, were seized by government police, and thrown into jail. President of Christians has been arrested in many places, but it is believed that he will not alter his policy of non-resistance.

Housing Loans

With the appointment of Dr. Foss A. Hathaway, former chairman of the State Road Department and one time candidate for governor, as state administrator of the Federal Housing Administration, the campaign in Florida for the repair and renovation of homes gets under way. One has only to drive around town or take a trip along some country highway to obtain first hand information as to the need for just such a program as is now being launched. Everywhere one finds houses that need painting, roofs which leak, screens which ought to be replaced, dilapidated porches, and all too frequently, floors rotting through and walls about to collapse. Everywhere it is evident that men have been more concerned with supplying their families with food than in preventing their homes from deterioration.

This attitude on the part of the public generally, while it could not be avoided, has resulted in the almost complete destruction of one of America's foremost industries. The so-called building trades have had almost nothing to do for several years. Even the recovery of the past year, which has been enjoyed by most businesses, has had little effect on building trades. Throughout the country many thousands of men are unemployed because the people have not had the necessary funds with which to repair their homes or to build new ones.

It is the purpose of this Federal Housing Administration to relieve this situation. The banks, building and loan associations, and other lending agencies, are being encouraged by the government to make loans at a low rate of interest for the purpose of repairing houses. As a special inducement to the banks, and so as to guarantee them against any unfortunate consequences with respect to these loans, the government will insure the banks against losses on housing loans, and has arranged facilities for redissolving the notes so that the banks can get their money back immediately if they need it.

At the same time borrowers are not required to provide security for their notes or to mortgage their homes in order to get the money to repair them. It is the purpose of the Act that loans be made on the basis of the borrower's personal credit, without regard to existing mortgages, except that they must be in good standing and that all taxes must be paid. A home owner may borrow from $100 to $2,000 at five percent interest, repaying it over a period of three years. The money may be used either for repairs, renovation, or additions to a man's home.

In view of the fact that the banks are adequately insured against losses on these loans, that they pay five percent interest, as compared with an average of approximately two percent for government bonds and treasury certificates, that a great need exists throughout the country for the extension of this type of credit, and that credit must be extended if business is to improve sufficiently for the banks and industry generally to escape complete socialization, it seems to us that the Federal Housing Administration is offering an opportunity to the whole people to work together and pull themselves out of the depression.

Learning To Drive

"In driving an automobile," an expert told us once, "You not only want to know the rules of the road, you want to be able to drive your car; you want to be able to knock the paint off a lamp post without nicking your fender."

This seems to be the idea which Stu Hawley, Texaco's National Road reporter, had when he wrote his recent little article on "Clearance" in his Advice to Motorists. Stu says you want to know always where your right front fender is.

It's that right front fender which gets so many drivers into trouble when they're trying to park, and more seriously, when they're trying to pass another car going in the same direction they are. How many times have you seen such a driver leave four feet between his right front fender and the car he is trying to pass, while he barely misses the telephone pole on the side of the road at the left?

Stu says that every driver ought to practice knocking over lath standards with his right front fender until he knows just exactly where it really is. He says to nail a board across a light lath so that it will stand up, and then select some nice quiet street, where the exercises may go on indefinitely without interruption, and then practice knocking it over.

After you get so that you can knock the wings off a mosquito, make several of these lath standards, and set them up on opposite sides of the street, in a sort of zig-zag fashion. Then run through the street, knocking one down on one side, and then one down on the other side. When you get so that you can knock every one of them down, without breaking a single lath with the wheel, you're getting good.

Now while it might not be a good idea for every motorist in the city to go out on Sunday afternoon and practice this driving exercise at the same time—it might get you into trouble with the police—yet it would seem that more people would really practice driving. Most people are content from the very first to drive, without practicing.

It is just as if a young pianist should spend all his time playing the compositions of Mozart and Beethoven, and neglect completely the drudgery of running the scales and improving his technique. Skillful drivers become skillful because they practice. They learn how to stop in a hurry before they have to apply their art in the face of an oncoming locomotive.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

PARIS, Aug. 14.—An official communication says the 20th anniversary of the battle of the Marne is being celebrated in the city and that the Belgians are on the offensive, and after a sharp struggle drove the Germans back and recaptured ground that they had. The Belgians have blown up a number of bridges on the railway lines in the German zone, in the Luxembourg district thus cutting them off from the base of their supplies.

LAYMEN'S GUIDE TO SILVER'S RISK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Here are some of the most frequently asked questions about nationalization of silver and answers given by the Treasury Department and financial experts:

How does it affect the average person? Not at all directly unless you have a hoard of raw silver. In that case it will have to be turned in to the Government.

Will there be some indirect effects?—Does it cause inflation? This order in itself will only add about $100,000,000 to the nation's currency. That's not inflation. If followed by other action it might bring inflation and higher prices.

Just what does nationalization mean? It means the Government has condemned all silver stocks under the law of eminent domain. All silver, except that exempted becomes the property of the Government upon payment of the specified rate. How much will the Government pay for silver?

The mints will pay 60.61 cents per ounce, less handling charges. Do all silver articles, like spoons, knives, and forks, and jewelry have to be turned in? No. All such articles are exempted.

Is newly mined silver included? No, this was exempted last spring. It is being accepted at the Treasury at 64.5 cents an ounce.

Does it mean that silver dollars will buy more or less than before? It is not expected that any change will be noticeable. The whole silver program is designed to reduce the buying power of the dollar and thus raise prices.

How will it affect the price of wheat and corn? Not at all unless foreign buying is stimulated, which would put prices up.

deliberately and impressively: "So help me God."

The President's faith in a personal God is well illustrated by an occurrence which now can be told for the first time.

In September, 1927, Hindenburg, speaking at the dedication of the monument commemorating the Battle of Tannenberg, in East Prussia, caused an international ripple by abandoning his reserve in matters political and telling the world that he did not believe Germany was responsible for the World War.

According to the late Gustav Stizemann, then foreign minister, who, however, requested the writer not to publish the story until both he and Hindenburg were dead, the President explained his motive for the "war guilt" speech in these simple terms:

"I shall soon be 80 years old. Who knows how much longer I shall live! I shall soon have to render an account to my Maker. I do not want to face Him without being able to look Him squarely in the eye and say:

"I have gone on record before all the world and have asserted my firm belief that Germany did not want that war and was not responsible for it."

During the first years of his presidency, his side in matters of foreign policy was Otto von Erdmannsdorff, later counselor of embassy in Tokyo and former secretary of legation in Mexico. A baby was born to the Erdmannsdorffs.

In congratulating his aide upon the event, one of the President's first questions was: "And when are you going to have the child baptized? I want to come on that occasion."

Von Erdmannsdorff, deeply touched, replied he could not accept a four-day "wait up."

"Well, then I'll stop to catch my breath on the landings," was the reply, and Hindenburg allowed this religious ceremony.

As a grandchild was given up and after another year came in the baptizing, church and every distance to attend the confirmation exercises.

One reason why Hindenburg and Chancellor Helldorf, Brüning got along so well was the fact that each respected in the other his staunch belief in the tenets of the Christian faith.

There are those who say a parallel to this in the close friendship between Hindenburg and Frau von Papen, a bond which the President to put the vice-chancellor under protection of the law during the recent "Reichstag" fire.

REPAIR PROGRAM

OWNERS OF STORES, FACTORIES, GARAGES ARE ELIGIBLE FOR LOANS

Owners of stores, factories, garages are eligible for loans under the Federal Housing Administration's program.

There are many reasons why the owners of store buildings, warehouses, factories, garages, theaters and apartment houses should invest money at this time in needed repairs and improvements.

Keeping property in first class condition makes for increased economy, efficiency, safety, sanitation, and reduced maintenance charges. All of these have a direct bearing on income, profits and property values.

I believe I am safe in saying that just a little checking up on the average business structure will uncover many places where repairs may be made or improvements introduced that would yield splendid returns on the money invested in such alterations.

The modernization of a store front should increase a merchant's business. The liberal use of paint outside and within the premises will in many instances have the same effect. It is true that an attractive store has an advantage over an unattractive one, then money can be spent in beautifying and modernizing places of this kind to very good advantage.

As an indication of our interest in the modernizing of store buildings, one of the qualifications for loan insurance by the Federal Housing Administration sets forth that "notes may be signed by lessors, other than those which may be classed as owners, provided the lease requires the lessee to make alterations, repairs and improvements. And provided, further, that the final termination date of the lease is at least six months beyond the final maturity of the note. In such cases, a certified copy of the lease must be furnished to the financial institution at the time the note is purchased and must be retained by it as part of its documentary evidence of the transaction."

In the operation of all types of commercial structures, economy is achieved through efficient use of equipment developing power, light, heat and ventilation.

It is not difficult to imagine that there are countless business buildings in this country today that are susceptible to some modernizing or repairing in the interests of greater economy. An economy in such cases means increased earnings.

In many cases, too, the modernizing of buildings means changing them to a different type of structure that will cause an increase of rents. For example, a warehouse might with comparatively small expense be converted into a profitable garage. Apartments on the first floor might be changed to stores with high rental values. Likewise, structures that are not profitable would be well to consider with the aid of a building contractor or architect or contractor suggestions and ideas for putting the building in the profit-making class.

Factory buildings offer a splendid field for profitable modernization work. Many of them are susceptible to alterations that will give the workers better light, ventilation, sanitary conditions and safety. Consideration of these factors should increase efficiency and comfort of workers.

A liberal use of paint on the outside will add to the beauty of the plant while the same treatment applied to work rooms will make more cheerful and inviting surroundings for the workers.

Many industrial concerns have built houses for their workers and in recent years these dwellings have been allowed to deteriorate. Here is a fruitful field for modernization. To fix up these homes, making them more attractive, would not only add greatly to the morale of the workers but also would increase their efficiency.

Marion County Refund Program Near End

OCALA, Aug. 14.—Marion county's bond refunding program closed upon earlier this year has been nearly carried out, it was learned at the court house yesterday. Unable to meet the entire $294,000 maturing this year, the board of county commissioners decided to pay off half and to refund the other half.

Under the plan adopted, a $800 refunding bond and $500 in cash would be issued for each $1,000 bond. Thus, every bondholder would have to agree to the plan, although if a few held out the program could still be put through.

Only 57 of the 294 bonds involved have not yet been turned in to the state treasurer's office in Tallahassee, the commissioners have been advised. When the bonds were called in, no deadline was set, but it is probable that the refunding will be consummated soon.

Negro Is Arrested Serious Trouble Is Averted As Armed

Judge Wilkinson said that the negroes admitted walking between the couple, but that she did so because of the crowd on the sidewalks and because it appeared the best way to move on down the street.

Judge Wilkinson also said that the negroes admitted turning to Mr. Woods and saying "I didn't know that she was your woman," but she denied knowing Mr. Woods as testified by Mr. Woods and other witnesses.

McIntyre, who claimed that he was standing about 30 feet away from the scene, told his story in a manner which Chief Williams said indicated that he was thoroughly angered.

While McIntyre was describing what he saw, Mr. Woods interrupted to ask him whether or not he had been subpoenaed to court. McIntyre did not stop speaking, and again Mr. Woods asked him the question.

Turning away from Judge Wilkinson, McIntyre, according to the story he told in the jail last night, made a remark in which he inferred that he wasn't a girl, and that Woods should jump on somebody else's size. "Jump on me."

With that, Mr. Woods reached for a pocket knife which he opened as he sprang toward the negro. Police and other witnesses in the side the railing intervened, and before order was restored, Mr. Woods is said to have offered to fight the negro without a knife.

Judge Wilkinson immediately ordered Officer A. R. Marshall to take the negro to his home, and the case was continued.

Mr. Woods later apologized to the court for his action, and the case was concluded when Judge Wilkinson fined the negro $5, a sum he later suspended, and imposed the charge against Mr. Woods.

At about 7:00 o'clock last night, a small crowd of men began gathering near the bank building where the negro was at work.

Within half an hour, the mob had increased to over 100, and some of the leaders had moved across the street in front of the bank.

McIntyre, as well as his wife, who also was a witness in the case could be seen along the small lobby. At intervals McIntyre would walk to the entrance of the lobby and stand in the doorway.

Two or three of the leaders of the mob walked toward McIntyre, but they did not molest him for he appeared to have a gun in his right hand pocket, and when anyone approached, he would place his hand on his hip.

In the meantime, business men Chief Williams reached the scene, sensing the temper of the mob, telephoned police. Officer Roy Till, Officer Bob Wilcox and Chief Williams reached the scene only a few minutes before one of the leaders of the mob had secured a sawed-off billiard cue, only weapon noted as in possession of any member of the mob.

The negro had little to say to police when they searched him. A .22 caliber pistol was taken from his person, while Chief Williams took an ice pick from his wife, although it was learned later that the woman, an assistant elevator operator, used the pick every night to pry open the door of the elevator.

McIntyre was taken through the mob to a police car and lodged in the County Jail. Twenty minutes later, police had returned for his wife, who was taken to her home, and within an hour and a half, the mob had dispersed.

City Commission Holds Up Okey Of New Tax Roll

Albert Hall, blacksmith who sought a permit to build a sheet iron building at Sanford Avenue and Eleventh Street, was granted this permission provided he constructs the building of new steel iron.

S. G. Gray, local accountant, discussed plans for a probable re-financing or refinancing of the City's outstanding debt, and outlined a plan of gathering considerable data which he said could be whipped into condition to form a true picture of the tax-paying abilities of the people of Sanford.

During Mr. Gray's talk, the discussion turned to the Florida League of Municipalities meeting in Orlando next Wednesday and Thursday, and the entire Commission expressed an intention of attending.

Mr. Gray's suggestions were ordered held up until this afternoon when he was to have met with the Commission in an informal conference at 4:00 o'clock.

Clarence Smith was awarded the contract to rebuild the pavilion at Evergreen Cemetery. He bid $475. Other bidders were H. A. Speir with $624, and T. A. Butler with $592.30.

Clark Lamson reported that the cost of materials to lay 1800 feet of water mains from Second to Sixth Street between Magnolia and Park Avenues would be $1100, not including cost of fire hydrants.

Clark Lamson was instructed to advertise for bids for the materials needed in this work.

The Commissioners authorized a payment of $411 to DeCotter and Boggs on account.

Advised that the PERA office in Sanford had approved a project whereby it would furnish the labor to erect 850 sanitary toilets, the Commissioners voted to set up a $500 revolving fund to make a start on this project.

It was stated that the toilets could be erected for about $5 each, and that the City had to buy the material. A small rental will be asked of every property owner as fast as the toilets are completed.

Advised that the PERA office will provide five men to conduct a campaign against dengue fever mosquitoes, the Commissioners approved this project, and moved to place it in the hands of a City employee.

The Commissioners also voted to ask the PERA to apply men enough to make a census of the city.

Although the State Board of Health reported Sanford's water supply as tested in July, as being "excellent," Mayor W. A. Lottier announced that he wished to discontinue the water supply at the next meeting because "I am not satisfied with it. I think we ought to look into it a little."

Commissioner Y. A. Speer's suggestion that bids be sought for installing a police car radio system that would replace the present telephone system, was ordered followed up.

The Commissioners voted to advertise for bids for a new car for the Police Department, one of the

A force of workmen yesterday began removing partitions and old shelves at the rear of what once was the LuBeth Cafeteria in the Melch Building to prepare it for occupancy by the Florida Power and Light Co. The latter firm will move its offices from its present location so as to permit an out-of-town grocery firm the privilege of using two store-rooms when it opens a new grocery here late this autumn.

A poison bait developed by the Bureau of Entomology is the most effective in the control of gladiolus thrips, it was decided at the office of County Agent C. R. Dawson, last night by a group of eight gladiolus bulb growers. The bait consists of a round tablespoon of Paris green, two pounds of brown sugar and three gallons of water, to be mixed and applied as a spray. When the adult thrip feeds upon this poison, he dies. Agent Dawson advised that it is necessary to spray constantly with this mixture, at least every three days and particularly after a heavy rain. This spraying method should continue for about two weeks, when all the young thrip have become adults and have been poisoned.

Extending her duties into still another section of the county, Josephine Boynton, Home Demonstration Agent for Seminole County, announced today that she will organize classes at Longwood and Altamonte Springs tomorrow afternoon, and that all women residing in those sections are urged to meet with her. The Longwood meeting will be held at the library at 3:00 o'clock, while the Altamonte Springs meeting is scheduled for the Community House at 4:00 o'clock.

(4) After paying one dollar for the stamp, is there any additional fee payable to the postmaster or collector?

Answer—No.

Answer—One year—from July 1 to June 30.

(6) Does the stamp permit one to hunt in more than one state, or may a stamp be purchased in one state wherein the applicant intends to hunt migratory waterfowl?

Answer—Only one Federal stamp is necessary, but its possession does not relieve the hunter of any license requirements imposed by state laws. All states require the nonresident hunter to take out a nonresident license.

(7) In case a person has hunting licenses in more than one state, to which of them should the Federal stamp be fixed?

Answer—It does not matter whether the stamp is affixed to the license of the state in which the sportsman is actually hunting at the time, provided that he has on his person a valid stamp, attached to any state hunting license or to the postmaster's certificate.

(8) To whom must the stamp be shown?

Answer—On request to United States Game Administrative Agents, United States Deputy Game Wardens, and to any officer of any state or subdivision authorized to enforce the game laws.

(9) Is the stamp transferable?

Answer—No.

(10) Is the holder of a scientific collecting permit required to carry a stamp?

Answer—Yes. Collectors must have the stamp.

(11) Does the law require a person who holds a Federal permit and who is engaged in taking wildfowl for propagating purposes, to purchase a stamp?

Answer—No. This does not mean, however, that anyone with only a propagating permit is authorized to hunt wildfowl without the Federal stamp.

(12) Does the law require possession of stamp by a person authorized by permit of the Secretary of Agriculture to kill wildfowl damaging crops or property?

Answer—No. The stamp is not required in such cases.

(13) What are the maximum penalties for violation of this law?

Answer—$500 or six months' confinement, or both.

(14) What is done with the money collected from the sale of these stamps?

Answer—It is to be used by the Federal government to increase the supply of waterfowl. Of the total proceeds, ninety percent will be spent in buying or leasing and administering marsh and water areas to be set aside forever as migratory waterfowl sanctuaries. The first of these refuges will be set up along the flight lines from the breeding grounds to the Gulf Coast. The remaining ten percent will be used in issuing the stamps and administering the act.

(15) May stamp collectors and other non-hunters buy stamps?

Answer—Certainly. No one is under any obligation to kill a Federal hunting stamp, nor is there any rule to prevent anyone who wants to help restore the migratory waterfowl from purchasing any number of these "duck-saving" stamps.

YANKS FAVORED TO TAKE SERIES FROM TIGERS

Sensational Play Of Cochrane's Outfit Discouraged, 7-10

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Riding the crest of the baseball season's most sensational winning streak, the rampant Detroit Tigers came to town today to begin a five-game series with their arch rivals, the second-place New York Yankees. They were scheduled for a doubleheader today followed by three successive single games, in a battle that should go a long way toward deciding the outcome of the American League pennant race.

Under the dynamic leadership of Mickey Cochrane, in his first year as catcher-manager, the Tigers start their final swing around the eastern half of the circuit fortified by a lead of four and one-half games. This advantage has been built up during a twelve-game winning streak that has electrified the baseball-following public generally and aroused the greatest baseball enthusiasm Detroit has known since its last pennant-winning days, exactly 25 years ago.

Despite the sharp contrast between the inspired rush of these battering Bengals, wielding their bats at an amazing .310 clip, and the highly erratic performances lately of the Yankees, in quest of their eighth pennant since 1921, Broadway betting commissioners last night made the New Yorkers favorites in the impending crucial series.

The theory seems to be that the Yankees, well known for their recuperative powers, will rise to the challenge on home grounds, whereas the Tigers are due to experience a reaction from their swift pace.

At any rate, Jack Doyle quoted 7 to 10 against the Yankees, for the opening game of today's doubleheader, and even money against the Tigers. Doyle's book showed 2-1-2 to 1 against the Yankees winning the series and 3 to 1 against the Tigers on the same proposition.

The Tigers will be a 1 to 2 shot to win the pennant, however; if they succeed in taking at least three out of the five games, Doyle predicted.

Yankee officials anticipated a turnout of close to 40,000 fans for the double bill, in which it is expected that Vernon (Lefty) Gomez and Charles (Red) Ruffing will be the Yankee choices to buy against the twin Tiger ace, Tommy Bridges and Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe.

Leon Lawson Nabs Honors In Boxing Bouts Last Night

Leon Lawson, 18-year-old Sanford boy who at 125 pounds is said to be a coming fighter, stole the show at the old McCall fight store on Myrtle Avenue at Fourth Street last night where nearly 200 persons had gathered to see another series of boxing bouts under the auspices of the Boys' Boxing Club.

Lawson, in the ring with Wylie Vickery, a 16-year-old boy who weighs 134 pounds, blugged his way to victory by being awarded a technical knockout decision over slugged away during their fight.

Lawson and Vickery both the former knocking Vickery down four times in one round. The bout was the fastest of the evening.

Raymond Locke, 16, scored a technical knockout victory over Theodore Duncan, 15, in the fourth round of their bout when Duncan stubbed his toe and threw it out of joint, making him unable to continue the fight. They were mixing it well until this accident.

Kenneth Stalaker, seven, won three out of four rounds from Walter Beal, seven. They weighed 48 and 60 pounds respectively.

H. C. Tippin beat Buddy Bennett by taking three out of five rounds in the opinion of the judges. The boys are 11 years of age, and they weighed 68 and 80 pounds respectively.

Robert May, 12, weighed 98 pounds, won three out of four rounds from Leslie Howard, 13, at 84 pounds weight.

Billy Wilkinson, seven, and Billy Tippin, 10, fought five rounds to a draw decision.

Judges were Hugh Whelchel and S. A. B. Wilkinson, while referees were Lester Phillips and Herbert Lawson.

In a short announcement this morning Judge Wilkinson stated that "It certainly is great to see these boys can take it. They fight in earnest, and the people seem to enjoy the bouts as much as the boys do. If the public realized just what these little fellows are learning, we'd have more people out to see them and encourage them. We are trying to start these boys right, and we do not intend to let them hurt each other. Come out next Monday night."

Stop Chills and Fever! Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attacks.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2-1/2 times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25 percent more for your money.—Adv.

thority for increased production. The act was framed, he asserted, with the idea of adjusting the ever-changing agriculture situation to the needs of the people.

Adjustment programs for next year, he added, had not been worked out, but would be so adjusted as to prevent burdensome surpluses or any shortage of foodstuffs.

The secretary warned that the government was ready and had the means to deal with profiteers, agreeing that prices "inevitably" would rise somewhat as a result of the drought.

Williams expressed the opinion the $525,000,000 already appropriated for drought relief would be sufficient for relief purposes alone but he was inclined to think more money might be needed for work relief later on.

"It is the worst drought in this country," said Wallace, "but there will be plenty of food if we use common sense."

water draining from these lakes spilled through streams on top of the high ridges here and there.

At the far edge of a ridge, the stream formed a falls, and this plunging water in turn cut back upriver toward the lake, just as Niagara Falls is doing. The contours of some of the present valleys indicate primitive grandeur in some of these falls.

Niagara came into existence possibly later than the now dry

FRETTY CHILDREN MAY HAVE WORMS

Children who play in dirt, sand, grass, and weeds, especially in the summer months, are likely to pick up worms. These worms are not only annoying but they can cause serious illness. It is important to keep children clean and to wash their hands frequently. Also, avoid eating anything that has been in contact with the ground.
