County Facing 'Light' Agenda

For the first time in many weeks, County Commissioners face a light agenda at tomorrow's meeting. In addition to routine reports only three items will be discussed.

A discussion will be held relative to execution of a contract with the county publicity advisory committee for a $20,000 advertising campaign to attract business and industry to the county. Advertisements will be placed in such national news media as the Wall Street Journal, Field and Stream and the 34 publications of McGraw Hill. The campaign also will include brochures and billboards, although the discussion will omit the latter, since it will be handled separately. The matter had been continued by the commission pending further discussions with the advisory committee.

Also on the agenda is a resolution approving a canoe trail upon the Wekiva River. Ney Landrum, director of parks and recreation division, State Department of Natural Resources, has stated that the Wekiva could be designated as an official canoe trail within two to four months. Initially, he said, the river would be marked for canoeists, and later-paddling facilities and a recreation area could be provided. There would be periodic inspections for navigability and powered water craft would be allowed. Objective of the plan, according to Landrum, is to designate the smaller Florida scenic rivers for canoe trails, offering outdoor recreation such as fishing, swimming and camping.

Who Are The Needy Of This County?

Herald feature writer Ray Knight deals with the image of Seminole County With Heart, and the challenge of poverty on our doorstep. This revealing eight-part series will begin in tomorrow's Sanford Herald. It's an eye-opener.

'BRING US TOGETHER'

City-Candidates Theme Was 'Bring Us Together'

By BILL SCOTT

Writing legislation requested by the city.

FULFORD REPLIES
Rep. Fulford replied to Moore, and indicated his unwillingness to interfere with local government, unless that government refuses to serve the people.

William Carter, candidate for Dist. 41 representative post, agreed with Fulford that the delegation should not try to be "lord and master" over the local governmental groups.

Margaret Murray, candidate for Dist. 39 representative, who lost Seminole County in the Democratic runoff said she had heard that Seminole County doesn't like female candidates and wished to make all the friends she could here; therefore, she would do all she could to serve local people.

It was A. S. Johnston, candidate for District 43 representative seat, who gave the most ringing criticism of the present delegation when he rallied on them for "setting themselves up as a veto authority."

"I KNOW," Johnston said, "I know what they have done with your airport authority legislation," referring to the bill that was re-

A Sanford man was arrested Saturday night and charged with murder in the shooting death of another Sanfordite.

Harold Scott, 1207 West 14th Street, was charged by Dets. Ralph Russell and Roy Williams after J. C. Johnson, of Goldboro, was killed in a parking lot at Pearl's Mae Brown's Tavern, located at 1000 West 13th Street.

A .24 caliber pistol was located by detectives conducting an investigation of the incident.

Maconville, Seminole County authorities continue their unraveling of a large burglary ring with the arrest of three young persons, bringing to six the number of youths and teenagers charged in the investigation that could involve the solving of over 20 burglaries, according to information from Sgt. George Abbey.

Abbey and Sgt. Clarence Smith spent the weekend working to solve burglaries as far back as two years.

Sgt. Abbey said today that Clifford Turington, 18 James Chapman St. and Gary Messier, all from South Seminole, were jailed along with three juveniles arrested Thursday, when the case was cracked after long investigation.

Abbey said the mastermind of the group is still at large and a warrant has been issued for his arrest, but he declined to release his name at this time.

"The detective stated that the man was also wanted in the several hundred dollars worth of stolen merchandise, including television sets, furniture and guns have been recovered."

Osborne And Adams Tangle

By JIM PURKIS

Associated Press Writer TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne demanded today that Secretary of State Tom Adams—his foe in the gubernatorial ticket race—divulge the names of persons to whom he owes $100,000 in campaign debts.

Adams replied that all his finances in public office have been fully and publicly reported and charged in return that Osborne apparently is Republican Gov. Claude Kirk's "hatchet man."

Osborne made his demands at a news conference; Adams replied in a telephone interview.

Pocketbook Issues Keep Soaring To The Top

Monday is a fine day for politicians to wake up to the fact that the pocketbook issues are becoming the key issues of the Nov. 3rd general elections. Householders all over the nation have undergone the foods and merchandise which they must buy and returned home with the knowledge that the dollar bill is still shrinking.

This is not economic theory. It is economic fact. It is deeply disturbing to the vast majority of the electorate — the not-so-silent majority.

Politicians may talk all they want to about what they plan to do. Ronald Reagan can extol the effectiveness of the Nixon economic plans to halt inflation. They create a stable fiscal climate.

This is so much baloney to the housewife who has gone shopping and found that the lowly baloney is now a fancy expensive item or that bread is in the fancy-price class.

Talking with responsible candidates for office.

We have been informed that the public, those who have taken the time to go to rallies and who have been among the very few who ask questions, put crime and law-on-the-streets as the only issue which is more important than the pocketbook.

There is also another factor which is becoming widespread. This is the unhappy unemployment statistic. For by the many who have been cut-off from gainful employment by the General Motors-UAW strike, this statistic is now in Seminole County stands in excess of six per cent. A two per cent rate is considered tolerable.

The stand-off in the Indiana war and in the Midwest has lowered that profile — to use a Nixon phrase — but crime and pocketbook profiles are high and will go higher.

Rollster Lewis Harris has researched what we have been talking about and has come to this conclusion: Voters are in a rebellious mood over rising prices and job layoffs.

"Most telling politically," observed the Harris survey, "is that 70 per cent don't think these things had to happen in order to bring inflation under control."

Neither do we. We continue to believe that a strong hand should be extended from the White House and it should branch the club of wage-and-price control which the Congress has provided.

The Nixon control plan appears to be tailored so that the big corporations, the powerful banking interests (who can wait without suffering) will survive the Nixon cure which, we are now assured by Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, is beginning to pay off.

Political impact of the failure of President Nixon to exert strong, definitive and effective leadership in this economic battle has alarmed Republican hopes for wins in the U.S. Senatorial battles, where victory is so yearned for.

Those who follow the statistics, (and few voters do this when deciding what candidate to support) might very well come to an intellectual conclusion that the money control, which is the basic Nixon doctrine, is working, slow but sure.

But that is not the point when the Nov. 3rd elections are considered. That is not the point where every week those who are still on payrolls find that their pay envelope is less and less able to meet their essential living costs.

That is not the point when the small business man finds that inflated operating costs — there has been no deflation with them — make management unable to keep the payroll in balance with the cost of living.

Pocketbook issues — living costs, money costs, job loss — let those be debated, discussed and resolved. Voters have the ballots in November. After that — the long silence! We need answers and action now!

"Bull's-Eye—I Think"

The Lighter Side

Now An "Information Utility"

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — When we think of public utilities, we generally think of gas, telephones and electricity, give or take an occasional furnace breakdown, busy circuit or brownout.

But there is now, I should say, a new one to be added to the utility lineup upon the horizon — the "information utility."

In another few years, God help us, we'll all be hooked into a network of computers that way we are presently spliced into the power company's lines. And then we'll be at its mercy, too.

I learned of this unsettling prospect from the American Federation of Information Processing Societies, which has just published a book titled "The Information Utility and Social Change."

It defines information utilities as "mass communication systems in which the consumer interacts directly with a network of computers via a remote terminal at his home, office or school."

The book, it says, provides "a clear picture of what we may expect and how our lives will be affected" by this development. Shucks, I don't need a book for that.

I can see it all quite clearly in the following futuristic news story:

WASHINGTON — Large sections of the U.S. Eastern Seaboard were hit today by information blackouts caused by a data shortage in the computer network.

Herschel McAlbini, chairman of the Federal Information Commission, said the shortage developed when a computer in the Philadelphia area copied out a difficult question.

Its failure to provide an answer created an overload along the rest of the network during the peak period of information-seeking on the East Coast. McAlbini explained.

Don Oakley Says:

Agnew's Speech Appraised

By DON OAKLEY,
NEA Editor-at-Large

In a recent television debate with four representative college students, Spiro Agnew defended his celebrated attacks on "effete snobs," "radical liberals" and the like against the students' charges that he was polarizing the country.

"Let me tell you one thing," said the vice president. "I am not going to stop saying what I have to say about them in a way that I want to say it, because this is my right of free speech. I don't have an idea of allowing anybody to suppress me, any more than you do."

Nobody ever came to his defense, he reminded them, when unkind things were said about "That politician."

But even a moderate statement by a president or vice president—a simple reference to "campus snobs," for instance—can make headlines blossom and cause all kinds of repercussions.

That may not be fair, it may be an infringement on their rights of free speech, but it is one of the inescapable disabilities of the office they hold.

It is a stupid to say, as one student did, that Spiro Agnew is responsible for some of the violence in this country. But this student and others like him think he is, and that may be just as bad.

Of course, if the vice president were not around they would blame somebody else. But the vice president is around.

Spiro Agnew says he is not going to change his act—not when he's stacking them in—and "willows like he never does."

But all things eventually pass, and there is such a thing as reaching the point of diminishing returns.

Quotes

The cry of youth is that we politicians must be stopped—the rich, but also of poor people by the poor nation by people by rich people, a problem which exists today in both the developed and developing nations of the world.

—Steven R. Latta, Fargo, N.D., a delegate to the United Nations World Youth Assembly.

It is not the task of universities to pacify youth any more than it is to inculcate their fanatics. Our task is to educate them. If universities are ever free of controversy or project a feeling of comfort and security to all, then that is when we should worry most about them.

—Robert W. Morse, president of Case-Western Reserve University.

You know, I can still catch some of those good, year-old vines.

—Craig Schmeidloth, 21, of Bensenville, Ill., winning Woodstock, N.Y., where a year ago the first big rock festival was held.

Senatorial Star Prizefight

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Glad they met for the heavyweight championship of the world, the match would have been a promoter's dream and a sportswriter's heaven.

Ervin — Bayh. Four rounds. Senate chamber. Secluded crowd. No closed-circuit television.

In this corner, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, the 44-year-old veteran of countless legislative bouts. A crowd pleaser with a Southern style. A sportsman with many wins.

And in this corner, the young challenger, 42-year-old Birch Bayh from Indiana. Ambitious, talented, hoping to use the match as a steppingstone to bigger things.

Within the last two years, Ervin—Bayh have clashed head on four times on four vital issues.

Round one: In the fall of 1969, President Nixon asked the Senate to confirm the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. to the Supreme Court.

Ervin, along with all Southern senators, immediately embraced and endorsed Haynsworth, a conservative Republican from South Carolina. Bayh led the opposition.

On the Senate floor, Ervin fought for the confirmation to vote Haynsworth. Bayh battled for his defeat.

The nomination was rejected. Score: the first round for Bayh.

Round two: Ervin placed his legislative skill, influence, and energy at Carwell's disposal. At first reluctant, Bayh again led the fight to defeat the nomination.

Round three: After a long delay, the Senate began consideration of a constitutional amendment calling for direct popular elections of presidents.

For the first time, Bayh was on the defensive. As floor manager of the constitutional amendment, the Hoover senator was forced to pick up a two-thirds majority, not only to pass the amendment but to kill the filibuster.

And right in Bayh's path was Ervin, leading the opposition to the direct popular elections proposal.

Three times Bayh sought to bring the amendment to a vote. Three times, Ervin roused up enough votes to deny him.

Finally, the constitutional amendment was passed by a slim margin—this one designed to prevent discrimination between the sexes.

Using the same tactics which served him so well before, Ervin prevented the Senate from voting. In fact, he added an amendment—specifically exempting women from the draft—which Bayh said would kill everything.

The Senate recessed Wednesday until after the elections with still no vote. Score round four tentatively for Ervin.

Round five: In November, after the elections, Bayh plans to make a new effort at passing a constitutional amendment with a revised version designed to eliminate some of the objections. There was no immediate indication whether Ervin would counter-punch.

Global Comment:

Canada-White Paper-Red China

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A Canadian government white paper in June listed relationships with the United States as the most important in Canada's foreign policy. The white paper also declared that Canada would continue to treat the United States as her "closest friend and ally," but with policies distinctly independent.

Both were in line with the announced thinking of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau even before he took over his job in April, 1968.

In the United States there was some grumbling that a desire to sell Canadian wheat weighed nearly as much as estrangement in Trudeau's decision, but Washington resigned itself and so there was no great surprise Tuesday when simultaneous announcements in Ottawa and Peking disclosed the links actually had been forged.

For a decade Red China has been Canada's best customer for wheat.

Washington's low-key reaction was that its concern mostly was for the adverse international effect of the Canadian decision might have on Nationalist China.

Washington did not say so, but it was noteworthy that the Peking and Ottawa announcements came only a few weeks from the time when the question of Red Chinese membership again will come before the United Nations. In the past, Canada either has opposed admission for the Communist Chinese or abstained.

This year, it is expected Canada will vote in favor.

Even with Canada's vote, Red China is not expected to win UN membership this year, but that does not speak for next year or the year after that.

And, while the United States disapproves of Trudeau's own policy toward Red China, it also is forced to admit that Red China does exist and is a factor that must be reckoned with.

Bow To Industry

Nothing could be more timely and welcome than the observance of "Industry Appreciation Week" which is being done all over Florida this week.

The phenomenal growth of industry within the Sunshine State in the past decade has been the subject of national interest.

Originally attracted to the state by the attractions of climate, bountiful water supplies and the very simple fact that industries found their employees not only willing but anxious to enjoy Florida living, industry has been in step with the times.

At the present there is a feeling of change, a reviewing of the past as to what has been done in terms of the new awareness of the ecological necessities.

Here in Seminole County the industrial growth has been slow. It remains one of the few areas where industrialists can find the kind and amount of land which has attracted in the past. Sanford is moving into a time when its unequalled transportation facilities will allure industry of all kinds.

Thus this appreciation week is being observed with applause for the past and a keen awareness of the need for the wisest decisions by those who attract and locate industries to maintain the delights of the past — fine and gracious living.

The City Commission and the Sanford Industrial Commission could not have struck on a more happy way to express this official "appreciation" than a luncheon at Lake Golden on October 23rd where industrialists and their key men and women will be gathered.

Governor Claude R. Kirk, Jr., proclaimed the week. Now Mayor Lee P. Moore has put the appreciation of all of Sanford into focus with the luncheon. We join with the governor and the mayor in applauding the past and extend a welcome hand to the future industrialists.

FBI Hunting Murderess

LEESBURG, Fla. (AP) — Florida authorities are hoping for a break soon in the 19-month coast-to-coast hunt for convicted murderer Marie Dean Arrington who, under a death sentence, singled her way to freedom with a book of matches in a spectacular prison escape.

The petite, chain-smoking Negro, second woman ever named to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals, burned and weakened a mesh screen cell window, then slid through in pajamas and disappeared March 1, 1969.

A combined force of county, state and federal authorities using bloodhounds never picked up her trail, and she has managed to elude them ever since.

After Mrs. Arrington, two more prisoners escaped from the Women's State Prison at Lowell, triggering a staff shake-up that ended with five employees suspended and demoted and later, even the superintendent himself. It is not a maximum security institution.

"We are hoping for a break soon," says state attorney Gordon Oldham.

"If we are working on any close leads we can't say," commented an FBI agent in Tampa Friday. "We get alleged sightings all the time after her picture is shown around and check each one out. Past experience shows sightings have been a big help in locating the top 10."

Veteran Pilot Fired For Causing Delays

MIAMI (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines pilot fired because he would not fly until small amounts of excess fuel were removed from jet engines said Sunday. "If air pollution was gold dust, engineers would find a way to recover it by 10 o'clock tonight."

William L. Guthrie, 54, a 30-year veteran of the airline which paid him $170,000 annually to fly its jets, was dismissed Saturday. Eastern said he was fired for causing delays "ranging from 15 to 30 minutes over the six flights he had commanded since August."

Guthrie said he was late getting his jets airborne because he wouldn't take off until a few pints of unburned kerosene had been removed from his aircraft's engines. He demanded its removal because he said it pollutes the air.

Jim Ashlock, regional public relations director for EAL, said studies by Boeing Corp. and McDonnell-Douglas Corp., makers of Eastern's jets, show the fuel does not cause a pollution problem when it is dumped after the plane is in the sky.

"It vaporizes and does not come to earth," Ashlock said. "It isn't dumped until the plane reaches an altitude of 200 knots, and by that time it's at 2,000 feet."

But all things eventually pass, and there is such a thing as reaching the point of diminishing returns.

Battle Looms In Fight To Eradicate Fire Ants

By JOHN VAN GIESON
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Plans to eradicate fire ants by bombarding the pests with a deadly chemical dropped from the skies are triggering another all-out battle between conservationists and agriculturalists.

So far the battle runs like a replay of the DDT dispute, essentially a conservationist victory as use of that pesticide has been largely curtailed.

At issue in the fire ant eradication dispute is Mirex, the DDT a chlorinated hydrocarbon that is persistent in the environment.

Research indicates that Mirex, manufactured by the Allied Chemical Co., is just as effective as DDT.

Little, however, is known of the consequences of widespread use of Mirex.

"It's like the large canal," said Conservation 70s Director Loring Lovell. "You should be absolutely certain before you tamper with the natural environment."

A national conservation organization, the Environmental Defense Fund, has filed suit in Washington, D.C., against the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plans to bombard fire ants in a nine-state crescent between North Carolina and Texas.

It is possible, therefore, that the courts will eradicate the $200 million program. If not, the bombardment will begin shortly in Florida with the state Department of Agriculture contributing $24,000 as its share of the program.

"Our plant people say Mirex is a safe and positive treatment," said Hal Jones, director of the department's Division of Plant Industry. "The techniques for eradication of the fire ant have been proven and eradication is both possible and feasible."

Conservationists counter that although research on Mirex is slim, the available evidence strongly indicates that the massive fire ant eradication program will result in unforeseen devastation of the environment.

Attorney Key Man In UF Campaign

Fred Leone heads the professional division of the United Fund for this year's campaign. The overall goal is to raise $60,000 to support the county's 10 UF agencies. Leone, an attorney, is attempting to raise $4,500 of that amount from the professional people of the county. Last year, with Leone heading the same division, the professionals donated $1,200. Leone is a vestryman at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, where he also teaches Sunday School. He is member of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees, and has served as an officer for that organization. Campaign Dollars Given Thru Loopholes Solons Raise $ In Hidden Groups

By JAMES K. FOLK Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of dollars in campaign money have been given in U.S. senators through hidden fundraising groups set up in Washington, where a loophole lets the lawmakers keep the contributions secret. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and his GOP counterpart, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, head the list of candidates using the hidden committees to help bankroll their re-election races this year. Labor groups are making large donations to another Washington committee set up by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., who is in line to become chairman of the Senate Labor Committee if he wins. In political circles, the hidden campaign groups are known as "D.C. committees."

But Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who observed his 51st birthday Sunday in a day of national mourning and crisis, indicated no willingness to bargain with the two small bands of interests who hold Cross and already have assassinated Quebec Labor Minister Pierre LaPorte. Denouncing the FLQ as "a small band of twisted minds who offer Canada 'no solutions except murder,'" Trudeau said in a television report to the nation. "We must expect that these vicious men may attempt again to shake our will. But he predicted they would fail. The FLQ has sown the seeds of their own destruction," he said. Spurring the demand of the Quebec Liberation Front — which seeks an independent and socialist Quebec nation — for the release of 23 FLQ agents and the payment of $500,000 ransom in gold bullion, Trudeau would not go beyond his earlier offer of free passage to Cuba for Cross' captors if they would release the 45-year-old Briton. LaPorte's bloody body, his hands bound behind his back, was found Saturday night in the trunk of the car in which he had been kidnapped Oct. 1. The Canadian government hunter also suspect FLQ kidnapers today despite the chilling knowledge finding them could cost the life of British diplomat James R. Cross, who pleaded for captivities to his captors' demands.

As a result, dozens of senators and congressmen have "D.C. committees" set up here to raise campaign funds, particularly from lobbyists. Names of the hidden committees came to light in a study of the detailed list of donations that other political groups, such as those for labor organizations or industry lobbies, must file with Congress. The records show groups representing restaurants, coal, the TV, steelworkers, Teamsters, shipping and savings and associations are among the contributors to "D.C. committees." Even the Republican and Democratic national campaign chests have funneled large chunks of money to their candidates through these groups. Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., locked in a tough battle this fall, has at least four "D.C. committees" set up to get money from the GOP. His Democratic foe, former Gov. Philip H. Hoff, has at least two committees here. Among others using the device are: Sen. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.; Frank E. Moss, D-Utah;

2 Kidnap-Killers Sought By Canadian Government

By TERRANCE W. MCGARRY MONTREAL (UPI) — The Canadian government hunter today suspect FLQ kidnapers despite the chilling knowledge finding them could cost the life of British diplomat James R. Cross, who pleaded for captivities to his captors' demands. A plane from Cross in two handwritten notes left in a telephone booth Sunday, echoed the pathetic message LaPorte addressed to his close friend and political leader, Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa, five days before his murder. "The success of this search," he had written, "would be my death warrant." Bourassa went on radio and television and replied: "The government will face this crisis with firmness and will not let itself be destroyed." Experiencing for the first time in 162 years the harsh reality of cold-blooded political assassination, Canadians differed about how their government should respond to the terrorists and ever whether it had gone too far in assuming unprecedented peacetime powers.

Voting Age Law Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new federal law lowering the voting age of 18 and easing other requirements for voters came under Supreme Court scrutiny today. The nine justices set aside four hours to hear lawsuits involving Oregon, Texas, Arizona and Idaho. The suits were filed directly with the high court and have not been heard elsewhere, although a special federal court in the District of Columbia previously upheld the law in a separate suit brought by five New Yorkers. In addition to lowering the voting age, the law wipes out literacy requirements and cuts down to 30 days the period a voter must reside in a new location before he can vote for president and vice president. Only Idaho and Indiana refuse to comply with the 30-day residency requirement which would become effective for the 1972 presidential election. While the case is in court, potential voters who cannot pass the literacy tests are being registered anyway with the thought their names can be eliminated from the rolls if the federal law is struck down. RIGHT ON! WRITE IN! ... TITUS KING

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD

In view of the apparent need for county government in Seminole County to be fully representative of and responsive to all of its citizens, we are appealing to every fair-minded citizen of Seminole County to vigorously support the write-in candidacy of Titus King for County Commissioner, District 4 on November 3, 1970.

The disheartened and apathetic voter turnout in the First Primary Election in support of this candidate by those of us who know and have heard of his achievements and qualifications is inexcusable and certainly unacceptable. We now make the appeal that this shortcoming be fully rectified. Thus, we have prevailed upon this most worthy candidate to once again make his talent, experience and dedication available for public service to benefit all the people of the Seminole County Community.

With unusual compassion and courage, he has accepted this challenge. Our real aim is to further his cause to "BRING COUNTY GOVERNMENT BACK TO THE PEOPLE." King pledges to advocate the following:

1. A thorough survey of the hazardous conditions under which our school children must walk to and from schools so that wherever sidewalks are warranted, they can be installed. The safety of our children must not be jeopardized because of political pay-offs or plain unwise spending priorities of tax monies. Whenever applicable, coordination of such efforts between county, school board and cities involved should be encouraged.
2. A more equitable system of selecting streets to be paved must be instituted. In too many instances of the past, certain other criteria have been used rather than the number of dwellings on a particular street and whether or not the road is indeed a "collecting" street.
3. More effective coordination of efforts between the Sanford Industrial Commission, the Port Authority, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Seminole County Publicity Advisory Committee in luring considerably more industries to Seminole County. Increasing availability of jobs is paramount to our growing economy.
4. The proposed Parklands Acquisition Program is a worthwhile investment in the future of both our natural and human resources.
5. As an alternative in reducing costs of local government, the one-city merger feasibility should be fully explored and analyzed in minute detail, allowing for the formation of objective recommendations relative to the same.
6. Extensive planning and effort must be made to seek and obtain Federal funds to initiate community improvement projects. One of such projects should provide assistance to the county in installing proper drainage facilities throughout the county where unsanitary open ditches are a breeding place for mosquitoes, a hiding place for snakes and a constant threat to the safety of small children in particular. These ditches are a hoax to the progress of which we speak.
7. Vigorous promotion of County government truly representative of all residents of Seminole County.

You can write a page in the history of democratic government in Seminole County. Start November 3, 1970 by writing in "TITUS KING" on your ballot for County Commissioner, District 4. KING WANTS TO SERVE YOU!

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two questions to ask you, both about plastic surgery. How old must a girl be before she can have plastic surgery on her nose? My daughter is 17, and fully developed and mature for her age. She needs to have her nose made smaller and can hardly walk, but I was told that no reputable plastic surgeon would do that operation on a girl until she was 18. Is that true?

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a couple were considering adoption of a child to be a companion for their 7-year-old daughter, and I was shocked at your suggestion that they take a foster child for a while to see how it works out.

Notre Dame Not Just 'Second Best'

By HERSCHEL NISSWENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Last week it was Michigan State's Edy Doughty who is hailed as the No. 1 and Notre Dame No. 1-A. Now it's Minnesota's Murray Warmath and Missouri's Dave Devine who rate them as close.
"You sort of wonder if they are No. 1 when you come in here, but they are," said Warmath after dropping a 20-8 decision in top-ranked Ohio State Sunday. "The crowd got the ball away from them in the first quarter."
"I don't want to get into a No. 1 hassle, but if there's anybody better than Notre Dame I have not seen them yet," said Devine, whose team actually led the Irish 7-3 in the third period before losing 24-7.
For the time being, though, Ohio State and Notre Dame will have to settle for being No. 2 and No. 3, respectively, in The Associated Press College Football poll. Second-ranked Texas, 10-0, was the only team to have a bye week. It was No. 1 when you come in here, but they are," said Warmath after dropping a 20-8 decision in top-ranked Ohio State Sunday. Raider Of The Week

For the second straight week a Boone High graduate has been named Sanford Herald and Seminoles Junior College "Raider of the Week." Duane Wallace, like the past two Raiders recognized for their feats, is a member of Coach Terry Long's SAC Cross Country team.
Wallace played a key role in an SAC in a three-way meet last week in Lake City. Showing vast improvement, the freshman came in third. Just ahead of him, running in the top spot for the Raiders, was Rex Frederick, last week "Raider of the Week."
Wallace has been improving with every practice and every meet run. He has gained the recognition of being the number three runner on the team. He also looks to play a key in the track program at the school.

Gators Will Have Plenty To Get Emotional About

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — This kind of game," said defender end Jack Youngblood. "We'll just have to get ready the next three Saturdays, the ball so we are capable of we can beat the Vols."
Linebacker and co-captain Mike Kelly predicted: "We can beat Tennessee if we just play together. We'll be playing for Dickey, ourselves and the team."
One of the most encouraging things to Dickey as Florida built a 5-1 record without showing any consistency, has been the way some sophomores have developed.
He mentioned defensive backs John Clifford and John Sillman, offensive guard Dennis Tucker and fullback Duane Doel. Doel had a big day against Richmond, filling in for the injured Mike Rich. He scored all three touchdowns, showing a versatility to match star player back Tommy Durrance, who was Florida's big score as a sophomore last year.
"Doel ranks with Durrance as our most determined runners," Dickey said. "He has earned the No. 1 fullback job this week."
Rich and center David Peek won't be able to play this week, but center Richard Kenner is expected back.

Middies Have Seen Much Nicer Hosts

OOOEE - The Cardinals proved to be a terrible host, at least as far as the Sanford Naval Academy Middies are concerned. The Middies looked good enough to carry the lead for the faltering offense, but their biggest problem was with the visiting Winter Garden Lakeview eleven as the Red Devils smashed the Lions 50-0.
It was the second loss for the Lions in four games.
Minutes before the end of the first half the Lions lost their defensive backfield ace, Duane Boston, suffering a torn ligament in his left ankle and had to be taken to Winter Park Memorial Hospital. Boston, who has led the defensive backfield for the Lions, will in all probability be out of action for the remainder of the season. Flanker Greg Hutchinson was also injured and will be a questionable starter for the Lions' Homecoming tilt this Friday night. Sideline until at least Tuesday, Hutchinson bruised his hip in the first half.
A missed field goal by Joe Mickler gave the Red Devils the ball on their own 20 yard line which they proceeded to march the distance to the Ovie's goal and race some 60 yards for the second OOOE TD of the first half. The half came to an end shortly afterwards, and the Cardinals had a 12-0 lead.
The third quarter was a scoreless display of defenses. At one time, the Middle defense stopped an OOOE drive within the 10 yard line. This series of downs kept the final score from being a much wider margin.
Quarterback Kenneth Anderson completed the OOOE scoring for the night when he fired a 31-yard aerial to Trowel. The final two points were added when Lenzy Terry barreled through the Middle line on the conversion. For Anderson, the

Oviedo Can't Handle Lakeview

Oviedo eight yard line, but the Lion defense came alive and held their ground. Oviedo's defensive effort seemed to be for no avail as the Lions turned the ball over to Lakeview at the opening of the first period. David Waters scooped up the Oviedo fumble on the 18 yard line.
The final period was simply the addition of insult to injury as the Red Devils added 20 points to their already unbeatable edge. Stan Underwood picked up an Oviedo fumble on the Lions' 31 yard line to set up the six yard scoring effort of Rusty Jenkins. Lakeview held the ball, fourth and one, moments later, when Ron Smith plunged the final feet to the Oviedo goal line. Rogers kicked the PAT for both TD's.
Lakeview appeared to have completed its scoring birrage

Quarry Ready For Clay

ATLANTA (UPI) — As the old saying goes, the best way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Jerry Quarry obviously believes that's also the best route to a shot at the heavyweight title.
Quarry kept pounding away at his sparring partners midweek. Sunday, in five bright rounds no doubt feeling it is here where he can do the most damage when he faces Cassius Clay next Monday night in a 15-rounder which probably will earn one of them a title bid.
"I'm a great body puncher," Quarry said. "And I may have an advantage because of that. My advantage will be from side to side."
Alan Daniel picked off a Barfield pass to stop Lakeview's Quarry said. "And I may have an advantage because of that. My advantage will be from side to side."

Suffer 50-0 Loss

Among Second Ten teams, No. 11 Southern California held off Washington 28-23. No. 12 Arizona State, however, and the Rebels dropped a shocking 30-14 decision. Arizona State, Dartmouth, San Diego State, Toledo and Yale.
John Brackington, who rambled for 187 yards, and Rex Kern each scored twice in the first 21 minutes as Ohio State shot ahead of Minnesota 41-0 and took over the Big Eight as time as we've looked," said Coach Woody Hayes. "I was our best running game. I hate to admit it, but I think we got tired after that."
Joe Theismann, bothered by a knee injury, sped up his delivery and rallied Notre Dame over the Tigers with "ouchdown passes to Tom Gaiter and Ed Coles," donor 4. Brigham Young 27-3 and Oklahoma intercepted four passes to turn back 13th-ranked Colorado 25-13.
Tennessee, ranked 14th, swept eight Alabama passes and gave Bill Battle a 24-6 victory over his former coach Bear Bryant, No. 15 Louisiana State made two first-half touchdowns stand up for a 14-7 triumph over Kentucky but Texas Tech, No. 17, fell to Mississippi State 20-16.

Trinity Preparatory School Slates Founders' Week November 2-7

Plans for Founders' Week at Trinity Preparatory School, Nov. 2-7, will involve many well-known persons of Central Florida. Presenting citations to founders at the founders' banquet will be Capt. Ender P. Huey, commander of Winter Park, and Dr. Charles Milliam, president of Florida Technological University. Carl Langford, mayor of Orlando, and Daniel Hunter, mayor of Winter Park, will be present.

Founders' Week will begin with the Bishop William H. Foote, celebrating a communion service at the school. This will be followed by the Navy band playing for the hoisting of colors and the opening of the week-long Science Fair. Martin Marietta Corporation will be one of the main exhibitors, together with student participation showing special scientific work in progress.

Featured on the opening day will be "Buy-a-Mile" like. Students from Trinity will sell the miles they produce to walk to friends of Trinity as a contribution to the building fund.

Nov. 2, 1968, included, have been sent to persons in Central Florida to tour the school during the week. They will be greeted by hostesses arranged for by Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Science Fair but a one-man, water color show presented by Drury whose books on the poll-on life of the nation have won him world fame.

On Saturday morning the alumni of Trinity will hold their first meeting. This will be followed by a horse show featuring the best of the county through national news media.

The delay was caused by the request of John Krider, manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, who said he wished to examine the contract and stated that the Chamber of Commerce might wish to submit a counter proposal.

Krider queried if the contract was "a closed matter" and if any other proposals had been requested. He further questioned whether the advisory committee had sought other proposals and received the reply from Commission Chairman John Alexander that the proposal of the advisory committee in his opinion "is a good layout for the expenditure."

Krider went on to say that he and William Rock felt that the county might get a better balanced program and that the Chamber should have an opportunity to look at the contract. Alexander said that he would request John Spolski, chairman of the Publicity Advisory Committee, to call a meeting to review the proposal.

Afterward, Krider requested the county might get a better

Altamonte Eyes Balanced Budget

By MARION BETHEA

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A public hearing on the budget was to be held this afternoon at City Hall at 4:30 p.m. Administrative Assistant Rolfe Wagner has advised that the budget in the amount of $316,782 is a balanced one.

Council will consider a request from Dr. J. W. Hickman to vacate and abandon a portion of 22nd Street.

Also to be considered is a request from three individuals regarding rights-of-way on unused city property at the city water well.

A discussion will be held on the increased fee for occupational licenses in the municipality. At the last council meeting, T. A. Radloff, of Custom Builders, told the council that the business firms in the city believe the fee to be excessive in the amount of $100 per year, and enumerated the fees of other cities which ranged from $10 to $75 yearly. Radloff said that the fee would create a hardship on businesses in the municipality, and said that the council "ought to have considered the business people before passing the law."

Also under discussion will be a request from the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce for funding for a promotional brochure.

Council is also expected to draft an expression of sympathy at the passing of D. Kirk Gundy, fiscal agent for the municipality, who died Saturday. Gundy was instrumental in the federal funding of the water and sewer system in the municipality.

County Publicity Plan Stalemated

County Commissioners in a meeting this morning held a stalemate over the execution of a contract for the Seminole County publicity advisory committee in the amount of $29,000, which would attract business and industry to the county through national news media.

The delay was caused by the request of John Krider, manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, who said he wished to examine the contract and stated that the Chamber of Commerce might wish to submit a counter proposal.

Food Fair 100% For U-F Goal

By JANE CASSELLBERRY

Employees of Food Fair at 25th and Park have reported in 100 per cent Fair Food Share Giving for United Fund as well as being the first grocery store to report.

Mrs. Margaret Ganas, UF secretary, said that this is the first time she knows of any firm in the county being 100 per cent in "Fair Share" giving, which means the employees pledge to donate one hour pay per month or more to UF for the coming year. (Related photo Page 2A)

With the Victory dinner scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center a little over 50 per cent of 42 has been reached or approximately $30,900 as of this morning.

Mrs. Ganas is still optimistic, however, and expects to go over goal. She credits the low total to slow reporting and late-starters, but says those reports that have been received were high above goal. She and several thousand dollars has been received from new donors.

One of the latest to report is Butter Knitting Mills which, together with the employees, gave $642.

Concert Series Opens

By CHERYL FRIDAY

The Seminole Mutual Concert Association is opening its season with Peter Nero at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Sanford Civic Center.

Nero is just one-fifth of what makes the 1970-71 concert season special... and special it is the Alpha Theater Group which will present Shostakovich's "Candide."

Harry James is January's attraction, while Sally and Jack Jenkins appear in March. The Seminole Junior College Chorus closes out the concert season with its annual concert, no one will want to miss out on buying a membership. Membership prices are students, $6; adults, $12; family, $25. Saturday is opening night and Peter Nero will be here.

2,000 Families Destitute

By RAY KNIGHT

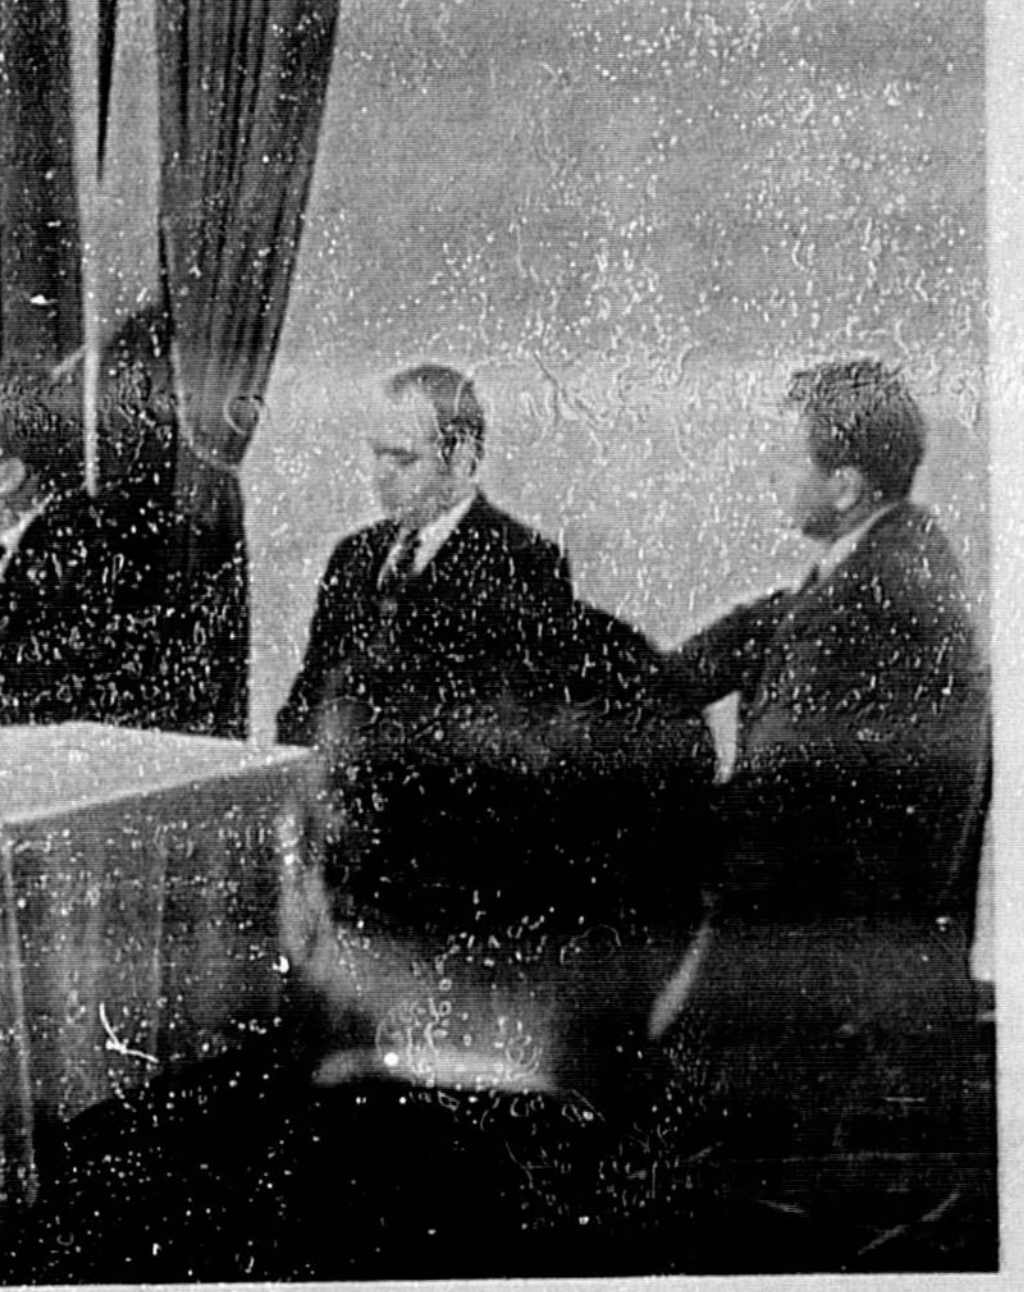

The Sanford Herald is steadily developing the image of Seminole County as a county with the heart to solve its own problems and be the best place to live. The Herald's staff is dedicated to uniting the best of Northern industry with the best of Southern prairie. Such a combination is assured success.

Based on these things driving forces — industry, pride, and brotherhood on the part of all — this series proposes the goal of total victory over poverty in Seminole County. Then we may "get out" of special poverty remedies in favor of living a "normal" life of total brotherhood or concern.

Many of us may feel that Seminole County's big poverty problem is caused by those "Florida Migrants," who slip in, harvest our produce from field and grove, then disappear. It is impossible to plan ahead for such gypsies, except in a vague way, for emergency clothes and food for the kids at Christmas.

We think "A good citrus worker can make $10 a day," we have heard. So if they come here to take our jobs, why should they need any help at all? And we are appreciating a bigger truth. Migrants, even though they do suffer great deprivations and need help, still do not present the greatest problem of stark destitution in Seminole County. They at least do travel North for summer work.

But in honesty, it must be admitted they are merely "coming back home" to Seminole to take up their own old jobs. Their return is backed up by our growers and schools. Their residence is here; quite a few are home-owners and taxpayers. Some even leave the families behind here the whole year. Yet their numbers are small and getting smaller each year. (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 2)
